Murder Mystery Is Cleared Up

Coming Suspect Admits Walters, Slaying

Charge Filed Against H. W. Pickell

WALTERS, Okla., July 19.—Attorney Gordon W. Coker today announced a murder charge today against Howard William Pickell, a prisoner, in the mutilating slaying of Leman Eugene Walters, near here June 25. Pickell pleaded guilty last week to the slaying of Walters, a 30-year-old Cheyenne at a picnic near Laramie June 30. He has been accused by a coroner's jury of implication in the slaying of a Southern Wyoming couple. Coker is rather doubtful due to the fact that Wyoming has three murder charges against Pickell, that he never be able to bring him back here," said Coker. "But he is going to be able to go after Walters' case there should happen some opportunity. Walters was accompanied Sheriff Tom Tomlinson from Walters to Laramie and obtained a statement from Pickell, he said, admitting both the slaying of Walters and the slaying of another 17-year-old Gene MacDonald, later that night. Turner lived at Walters, Okla. Walters died in a hospital of his wounds. MacDonald was taken to Wichita Falls, Texas, hospital in a serious condition and later moved to a Houston hos-

With Boys in Service

Pfc. Cecil Smith, who is an M. P. on duty at Washington, D. C., is home on a 15-day furlough visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Smith.

Petty Officer 3rd Class, Bill Bowman arrived this week from San Francisco, to visit a few days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Bowman. He has been assigned a ship since the middle of May.

The following letter was received from Stephen Marchand, Jr., who recently enlisted in the navy and has received a promotion to seaman 2nd class:

Sunday, July 11th.

Dear Fred: Probably all of us Burk guys in this Company will get shipped to sea in a few weeks. I just want to tell you the Burk Star has really been a friend indeed. We all enjoy laying around and reading the home town news. I only hope all of the guys get it. We are having a real time. I don't suppose there are many guys back in Burk, but tell the few that are there, hello for me. Stephen Marchand, Jr., A. S. Co. 43-198, U.S.N.T.S. San Diego, (23) Calif.

P. S. I would like to hear from the folks around town.

A cable was received July 5th from Cpl. Melvin J. C. Cauthorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cauthorn, stating he had landed safely overseas.

Letter received on July 18th reads:

Dear Mother and Dad: This has been my first day to work and so wonderful to do something worthwhile once more. It will take sometime for my mail to reach you as I am stationed in India. The food is grand and I have a very nice place to stay. We have nice wardrobes in our barracks and very nice beds. I am doing the very same work I did at Headquarters in the States. My two captains are from Oklahoma. Please, mother, don't worry about me, for I feel just as safe as if I were in the States, and I have very good treatment. I like my work and every one is so nice and willing to help. I have seen so much and have so much to tell you when I see you again. The days are very hot but cool in the evenings. When I left the States, I thought I would never taste iced tea again, but we have it every day. Ice chocolate and lemonade, and do I make use of it! We work six and a half days a week, but we don't mind for we have fun going all the time. Wish you could see what I am wearing—clothes that are very cool and comfortable. I wear khaki shorts and sport shirts through the day—at night we must wear long sleeves and long trousers to protect us from insects. I am having a nice sport bush coat made, which are very popular with all the soldiers here. I hope it will be ready for the dance Monday night. It is 20-minutes walk to town, if we do not wish to walk, we take a long-guch (horse and buggy). Please don't worry about me for I am having a time of my life. I am seeing things I never thought I would witness. Haven't received any letters or the BurkStar yet. All my love, Cpl. Melvin J. C. Cauthorn, 18124698 Hq. and Hq. Co. SOS, U.S.A. F.C.B.I. A.P.O. 885—c-o. Postmaster New York, N. Y.

The following letter was received this week from another Burk boy, T-Sgt. Al Ragsdale, who is doing his part in this war:

Dear Fred: It seems to me that you owe me a letter, however, I'll not argue too much about that if you will send me a couple of old papers, I say old, well anything less than three months here is brand new. Considering the fact that our nation is at war, we, here in Africa, spent a very quiet 4th of July. I hope you folks had a nice celebration and I hope we all have cause for greater celebration before the next 4th. Guess things have changed a great deal at home, in any event it is still the only home I have ever known and outside of the old girl holding the torch, I'd rather see it now than anything in the world. Tell all the 4-F's and men, women and children hello for me. Best Regards, T-S. A. F. Ragsdale, 38133126 701 So. E.P.D.U., A.P.O. 759 c-o. Postmaster, New York, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Northcott have received word that their son, Cpl. R. H. Northcott has been transferred to a larger hospital. He has been sick for some time, but is improving. He is located somewhere overseas.

Joe Tunnell, who is now in the U. S. Navy, and former high school teacher, writes the Star for the first time. His letter follows:

Dear Mr. Brokman: This letter came to advise that recently I have received several editions of the Burkburnett Star, which I have enjoyed very much. Especially, have I enjoyed reading the news of the school and of all the boys who are in various branches of the service. I note that Al Ragsdale is somewhere in North Africa and would like very much to know his complete address so that I could try to locate him. It might be that we are very near each other, and meeting someone from home whom you know would be better than a letter itself. One of my most pleasant experiences since coming here was my accidental meeting of my old high school teacher and coach, who incidentally, is a brother-in-law of Mr. Douglas, your high school principal. From Levi Garrett's letter which appeared in one issue of the Star, I detect that he's homesick and I know how to sympathize with him in that respect. I was glad to read news concerning my friend, Lester Hughes and others.

I note that Miss Ella Billingslea is the only high school teacher of the faculty who was there when I was, and I note also, that the group of students who were just entering high school the year I came here have just graduated. How times do change. I look forward with pleasure to each issue of the Star and for an early return to the states. Sincerely, Joe Tunnell, C.S.P., U.S.N.R.

And here's another letter from "Old Levi" as he likes to sign his name:

Hi Fred: Just a line to say hello to you and many other old friends back home. I'm o. k. and still going strong. Boy, what a life in the tropics. If Dorothy Lamour likes the tropics—what would I give to be back in good old Burk again. Fred, I was just thinking, things are not so bad—it's just the way a guy looks at them. Back in football days at home we played teams that was doped to beat us. We won rough games—we were champs. Well, I'm still playing on a team, an all-out Victory team, that won't be beat.

Well, Fred, tell my Boy Scout, the boys of the Texas Defense Guard and Fire department, hello and to stay in there and dig. I haven't received a Burk Star yet. Jean said I had one coming. So long Fred. Old Levi.

Geo Byerly, former Magnolia Wholesale agent, and whose address now is: Pvt. Geo. Byerly, 38514743, Co. A, 1st. Fin. Trng. Bn., Group 15, Platoon 1, Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. writes the following letter:

American Legion Members Elect Officers For Ensuing Year

Corner Drug Store To Change Opening And Closing Hours

The Corner Drug Store announces in their ad this week that beginning Sunday, July 25th, for the summer months, they are inaugurating a new opening and closing time. Geo. McClary, who has always had the interest of his help at heart, stated that the new time was observed in order to give his help a much needed rest and in order to meet present conditions to observe manpower. We feel that due to the shortage of sufficient help and the scarcity of merchandise that the shorter hours each week day except Saturday, we can better serve you and at the same time will allow our help time to work their victory garden, if the girls have one, and will allow Clark Gresham, our druggist, time to gather his corn and chop his cotton, said Mr. McClary. For details of their closing and opening time read their ad on page seven.

New Oil Well Near City Limits Wichita Falls

A new oil field within gunshot of the city limits of Wichita Falls cracked open Wednesday afternoon when the Consolidated Oil Company's No. 1 A. Laukhuf well blew in unexpectedly in a sandy lime at 4415-65 feet. The casing had been perforated and the well responded to treatment of 1,000 gallons of oil by blowing a stream of oil into the air through seven casing. The first flow came after 1 o'clock. The well closed in immediately, but reopened again at 4 o'clock and a stream of oil more than 100 feet into the air and visible from the city's higher build-

W. T. Knight, chairman of the board of the Consolidated Oil Company, estimated the well as good for "at least 1500 barrels a day". The nearest production is some two miles away and different formation. The new well is a mile and a half from the Falls' city limits. Traffic on the Jacksboro highway was held for a few minutes Wednesday afternoon as the well was allowed to flow again briefly by oil operators, geologists and reporters crowded around the location. Oil men present agreed the well was a "fine production" and should result in extensive explorations on the edge of the city. Bottom hole pressure given as 1950 pounds and the well pressure as 650 pounds.

SNAPPY FACTS ABOUT RUBBER

At a Navy yard, 3000 workers travel daily 60 to 85 miles round trip by automobile—a good reason why war workers must have tires.

Tire users now restricted because of rubber shortage will have to make do with less road traveling conditions open to them in post-war days.

BIBLE TEACHINGS ON THE COST OF DRINKING

LESSON TEXT—Deuteronomy 21:18-21; Proverbs 23:20, 21; 1 Corinthians 6:9-11. GOLDEN TEXT—Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?—1 Corinthians 6:9.

Billions of dollars—how many we cannot say—make up the annual cost of liquor to America in dollars and cents.

For it is not only a matter of dollars, but of blood and tears, or destroyed usefulness, lost virtue, wrecked homes, and so on and on and on.

Our lesson faces us with the cost of this despicable traffic in the life of the individual to the social order, and in the light of eternity.

I. The Personal Cost (Deut. 21: 18-21).

Liquor destroys individuals relentlessly, rapidly, and effectively. Have we forgotten that?

The passage in Deuteronomy presents a drastic remedy for a dreadful situation. Drink and gluttony were recognized as the deadly instrument which would bring a boy to the place where he was incorrigible.

If one thinks the penalty too harsh, he must remember that it was established in the early days of Israel when it was necessary for God to use such drastic remedies to stamp out incipient evil.

It must be remembered that in ancient Greece weak children were left out to die, and in Rome a father could at will put to death even a grown up son.

The point of this scripture for us is that a life of debauchery (and it can start with just a glass of wine) leads to the ultimate destruction of life.

II. The Social Cost (Prov. 23: 20, 21).

Drunkenness and gluttony lead to poverty and rags. The intemperate man cannot keep up with the high cost of supplying his growing appetite.

III. The Eternal Cost (1 Cor. 6: 9-11).

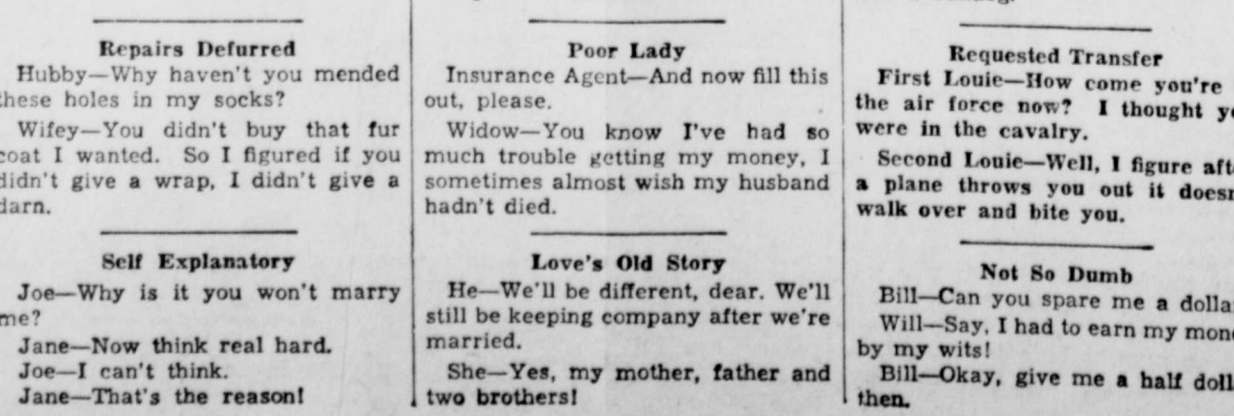

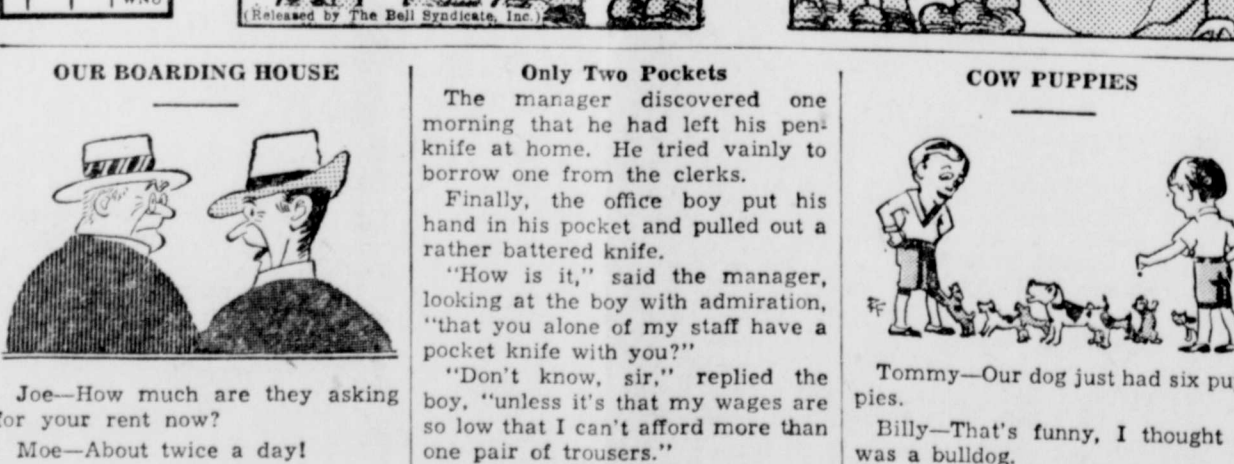

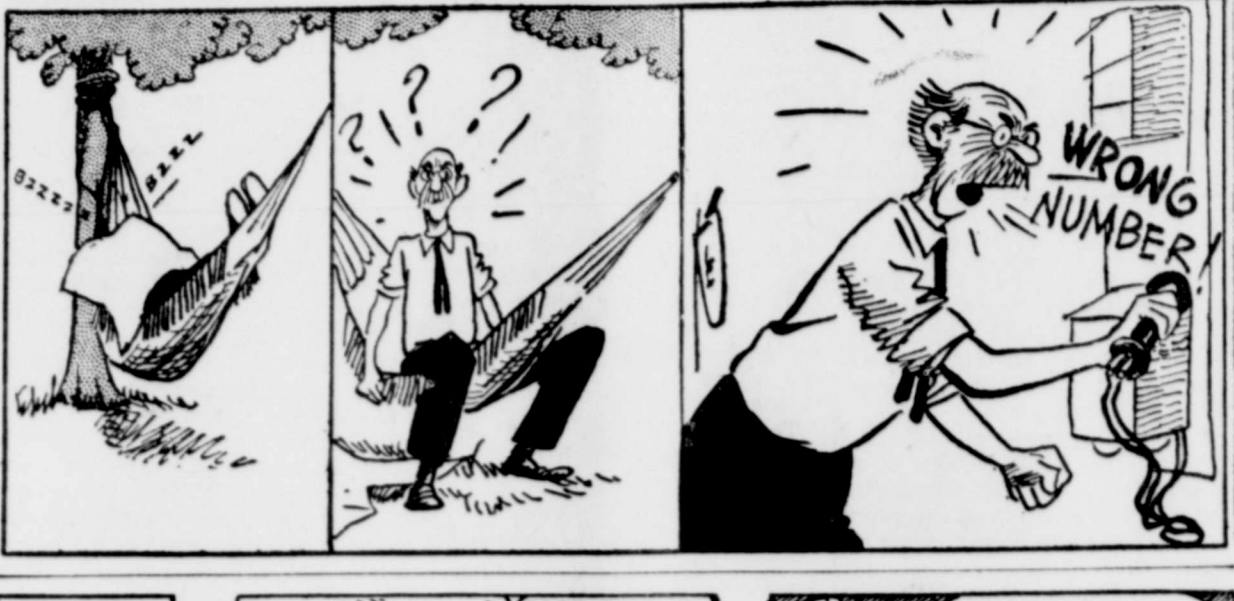

Money lost is serious. Life lost is far more serious. But the saddest cost of all is the eternal damnation of the drinker's soul.

We quote from Dr. Horace Martin these stirring and meaningful words: "It is my calm judgment that any man who names the name of Christ should take an attitude of horror and disgust at the liquor traffic and the use of liquor as a beverage.

Call it what it really is—sin, and then call on the One who can save from sin. You will then be washed from your sin, sanctified, and justified in the name of the Lord Jesus (v. 11).

In Christ there is hope for the drunkard. A spiritual revival is the real answer to the liquor problem. Let us seek to promote it even as we at the same time give ourselves to an intelligent and constructive battle against this destructive force in the life of our nation.

GAS-LESS AUTO RACE

An automobile race was staged in Brazil recently which should interest gas-less Americans. Thirty-two cars took part, and not one of them used a drop of gasoline.

Each car was equipped with a charcoal burning apparatus known as "gasogene," producing a charcoal gas whose combustion takes the place of the combustion of gasoline in the ordinary automobile engine.

These devices have been so successful in Brazil that they are being produced at the rate of 40 a day, selling for about $200 each.

Brazil has practically no petroleum resources of her own.

TANKERS DELIVER PLANES

Everybody knows that bombers have long been delivered to England under their own power. But the big problem has been to deliver fighter planes, which have had to be taken apart, crated, then reassembled on the other side.

Now, however, a new system has been devised whereby U. S. tankers are carrying fighters on deck—20 to each tanker—and setting them down a few days later in England.

The War Shipping Administration is keeping the army "cleaned out of fighters" by this method of delivery, and is rapidly building up the strength of the Eighth Air Forces command which is battering Germany.

Note: PT boats are also being delivered to England on the decks of tankers.

NO GERMAN SAUSAGE

The diplomats' grapevine reports that the German food supply is running low. A new cut has been made in the meat ration. This, coming at a time when the greatest muscle must be exerted in defense of the Vaterland, is expected to be a severe blow to German morale.

The basic ration of meat for normal uses was 400 grams at this time last year. But now the ration has been cut to 250 grams—which is about half a pound per week, including fat and bone.

During the winter, however, it was reduced to 300 grams. In the spring the cut was partially restored, when the ration was moved up to 350 grams, recognizing the necessity of more nourishment with the coming of the season of greater military activity.

ARMY AND GOLD MINING

American soldiers who spent dreary winters tracking through the Arctic forest to build the Alcan highway to Alaska frequently saw the sparkle of gold in the stream beds, and wanted to stake out claims for peacetime development. They were not allowed to do so.

Now, however, civilian construction crews are coming along the same trail, and are staking out claims for the gold which U. S. soldiers could not touch.

Boys from almost every state were sent to Alaska on that pioneering job—cutting a road through tall timber where none but Indians had passed before. They worked from Dawson Creek, in Alberta, to Fairbanks, Alaska, but the place where they saw the gleaming gold was in the Yukon, near Whitehorse.

At first, there was little time to think about private projects, for one battalion was racing against another to complete its 20-mile stretch of highway. But when a lull came in the work, the men asked permission to try their luck at panning gold. The officers, however, ruled this out.

Household Hints

Put all vegetable and seeds away in a box or can kept for that purpose only. This can be found quickly when needed.

When papering a room, roll the door the number of rolls and yards of border. This is very handy for reference the next time.

When digging post holes, dig hole 9 to 12 inches deeper than bottom of holes with stones. Water can drain easily. This gives the poles added life.

A sharp hoe will save blades and backaches in the garden. A flat file to give the business edge to the hoe a long beveled edge sharp as possible.

CARIBBEAN CONSPIRACY by BRENDA CONRAD

THE STORY SO FAR: Anne Heywood, beautiful daughter of a wealthy New York newspaper publisher, goes to Puerto Rico on an assignment for her father's paper. Also on the island are Pete Wilcox, a reporter on her father's paper, now a U. S. Army intelligence officer; Miguel Valera, a Puerto Rican educated in the United States whose orders to report to an army camp were abruptly cancelled; Richard Taussig, an engineer whose identity as a German agent is suspected but not yet proved; and Russell Porter, a young American engineer, and his wife, Sue. Aware that she must get the story she was sent for Anne follows Mr. Taussig to a secret rendezvous. Hiding in the shadows is Miguel Valera.

CHAPTER XI

Anne bent her head down and drew farther back into the darkness. Miguel's hand dropped hers, moved back to his hip pocket and rested there. Her heart beat faster. There must be four or five of them, she thought, trying to count the shrill-flying feet above her.

Anne hesitated. "If a member of my family seems to be involved," he said quietly, "don't hide it. I wouldn't—" "It's just your uncle," Anne said quickly, as if his uncle didn't matter. "You don't think your father..." His voice was a little unsteady. "I hope not. My father means very much to me. Go on."

There were only a few cars in front of the Escambron when Miguel pulled in to the curb. As they got to the door a car coming along the road stopped so suddenly that it sounded as if the brakes had been torn from their linings with an anguished shriek.

"The way you people here punish cars," Anne said without turning. Miguel looked back. The man at the wheel was not a Puerto Rican. He was Captain Peter Wilcox of the United States Army. He was sitting there stargazing. Miguel hesitated for an instant, turned and followed Anne inside. After all, it was a Saxon who said whatever it was about love and war. Furthermore he had the sharp impression that Captain Wilcox was drunk.

Mr. Richard Taussig had never taken the doctrine of the Master Race particularly seriously, nor did he regard himself, per se, as an example of it. He was a realist and a business man, and his business was Empire, or rather the undermining of existing empires leading to their destruction in the interests of what he referred to as World Order but thought of merely as New Empire for Old.

He had spent too many years in too many ends and corners and crossroads of the world to think that any one nation was in itself superior to all others and especially ordained by God for world domination. He was, however, aware that the desire for world domination, exclusively and without regard for existing concepts of law and ethics, and the acceptance of any and every means to attain it, were the most powerful weapons the human mind could forge. A realist by nature, he had become a cynic by necessity, and an eminently successful opportunist by scientific application of whatever means came to hand. He did not object to men or governments who respected the virtues of honesty, tolerance and sincerity. On the contrary, he preferred dealing with them, because they were always the slowest to recognize the Indian sign of the Double Cross, and by the time they did recognize it was too late.

On the other hand, and Mr. Taussig was thinking of it as he crossed the Granada lobby toward the newsstand, they were unknown and frequently unpredictable aspects, impalpable, he called them, that had to be recognized and dealt with. Sometimes it took the form of the honesty and unselfishness of a particular individual. More often, in his experience, it was what he'd tried to warn Diego Gongoro about that morning. He had in fact wondered many times whether the emotional equation, coming in with its attendant jealousy, wasn't actually more trouble than it was help. Graciela's rage against the American girl had been a help, certainly, but Miguel Valera's apparent entanglement with her was anything but. Young Wilcox's too. Wilcox fortunately wasn't particularly important. If he had a roving commission and was in his own country, it would be a horse of another color. As it was, his hands were tied, first by Army regulations and second by his unfamiliarity with either the people or the terrain.

Miguel Valera was different. He was, as far as Mr. Taussig could see, potentially much more useful than his uncle, slightly tarred by his connection with the war in Spain.

Perhaps he should have taken a chance and let Gongoro bring him to their meeting that night. Gongoro was positive his nephew was in complete agreement with them. His devotion to his father would make him ready to put Don Alvaro's passive ideas into action if he could be shown the way.

But Mr. Taussig wasn't so sure. It was the emotional equation coming in again. He'd seen him with Anne Heywood on the ship and seen them together in San Juan. He'd seen the look in Miguel's face. He'd seen it in other men's faces and knew what it meant.

Mr. Taussig bought a newspaper and made his way across the lobby to the desk to get his key. It was extraordinary, he was thinking, how Anne Heywood got in the way. Not only tangibly with Miguel and little Mrs. Porter, but intangibly too. The fact that she was at all serious about him was in effect a potential surveillance that he couldn't afford to risk.

He stopped in front of the counter. The clerk put his hand up in the pigeon-hole numbered 110, and turned back. "No, she hasn't come in."

The girl standing there hesitated, apparently reluctant to go. Mr. Taussig glanced her over with an appraising eye, wondering what she wanted with Miss Heywood. She was Puerto Rican, dark and full-blown at that brief attractive stage before avoirdupois and middle age set in at thirty. She was expensively dressed, almost too much so, and obviously nervous and ill at ease. She was also obviously determined.

The clerk handed Mr. Taussig his key and two call slips, said "Good evening, sir," in English and turned back to the girl. His attitude was interesting, Mr. Taussig thought. It was as if he had to be polite to her but nevertheless wanted to get her out as quickly as possible.

"You can leave a message for her," he said. "She's usually very late."

The girl moved away without answering, wandered over to the arcade and sat down, looking around with a kind of moody defiance in her set face. She apparently had made up her mind to see the American girl and was not going to be stopped. "Who is that young lady?" Mr. Taussig inquired, with a slight frown as if he knew her very well but couldn't quite place her at the moment.

The clerk looked at him politely but blankly. "I don't know her name," he said, with exactly the effect of saying "It's none of your business, sir."

Mr. Taussig looked at the slips in his hand. Mrs. Russell Porter had called him at six-thirty. Mrs. R. Porter had called at eight-thirty and left her telephone number. There were two more slips for calls in his room that had been left earlier. It was working out very nicely, on the whole. Mr. Taussig glanced back at the girl by the door. She was sitting tight. He looked at his watch. It was not quite ten, and this might be interesting. The girl obviously had something on her mind she intended getting off before she went away. On the other hand, time seemed to be important. She kept looking nervously at the clock and comparing it with the gold watch pinned on her dress.

Then she got up abruptly and went to the writing desk. Mr. Taussig watched her chewing the end of the pen, writing, crumpling up what she wrote and stuffing the paper into her bag. Suddenly, in something like despair, she threw the pen down and hurried out without having written anything.

Mr. Taussig went slowly over to the arcade. She was going quickly down the drive. He saw, indistinctly because of his short-range vision, that a car stopped for her to get in and went off toward Santurce, not San Juan.

He went over to the elevator. There was something about the incident that disturbed him without his being able to say exactly what it was. It was another of the intangibles that seemed to make action imperative, before they became tangibles to disrupt his plans. He walked slowly down the hall to his room. A letter that he had been writing in his head from time to time since he talked to Gongoro in the morning was going through his mind again. It was very clear to him. Tomorrow night he would put it on paper for the morning Clipper.

"My dear friend," the letter would say. "Thank you for the Guide Book to this beautiful and historic island. It has been interesting and invaluable."

"Have you heard of the tragic thing that happened here today? A beautiful American girl, Miss Anne Heywood, met her death by a frightful accident at the Central Valera. My efforts to save her very nearly resulted in the loss of my own life, which I should gladly have given to save hers."

"She and I were the guests of Senor Alvaro Valera on his sugar plantation outside of San Juan. Senor Valera was not with us, only the foreman of the mill and Senor Diego Gongoro. Senorita Gongoro was also along, but she did not go through the plant with us. Thank God she was spared that."

And Nary a Drop Was Spilt Along the Way

A young Scottish couple had moved from their country cottage into a modern house. All their goods and chattels arrived safely—with the exception of the rain water tub.

After the wife had pleaded with her husband that this was an asset to her household, he said he would go and get it that evening. As he had not arrived home at 12:30 a. m. his wife became worried. At 1:15 a. m. the back gate slammed and there was a dull thud. In a few seconds the door opened to reveal a dishevelled and perspiring man, who said: "Ee, lass, 'A've 'ad job wit' 'oob. Thee didn't tell me it were full o' watter."

Aborigines of Australia Still Live in Crude State

Although the white colonization of Australia began in 1788, the majority of its aborigines still do not know how to cultivate land, make clothes or build a shelter other than a windbreak, says Collier's. These people have always been looked upon as little more than animals. In fact, up to 40 years ago, a settler merely required a permit to "shoot, poison or otherwise kill" them at will.

IMPORTANT NOTICE TO HOME CANNERS

The Glass Top Seal Fruit Jar Cap for Home Canning was developed as a Wartime product to conserve metal. It consists of a Metal Band, Glass Lid and Rubber Ring.

Because of the difference in the nature of these three materials this Cap must be used differently from any other fruit jar cap. If used properly it will give excellent results. If not used properly, results will be bad, including failure to seal and breakage of jars. Following are simple instructions for use of the Glass Top Seal Cap and must be followed carefully.

- 1. Do NOT use in Oven Canning. 2. If processing, (cooking in jar), leave 1 inch space in top of jar. If using open kettle, leave 1/2 inch space in top of jar. 3. Fit rubber around projection on bottom side of lid. 4. Place lid so rubber lies between lid and top edge of jar. 5. Turn bands tight, then loosen slightly (about 1/4 turn). Bands must fit loosely during processing (cooking). This is important and must be done to insure best results. If using Open Kettle, screw bands tight as soon as jar is filled. 6. After processing, screw bands tight to complete seal. Remove bands 12 hours after canning.

National Religious Radio Programs Popular Here

Each Sunday morning as people are preparing for Sunday School there is a very inspiring Radio Program that tunes the heart for worship and prepares for the services in the local churches.

At the present time this program is received over the National Broadcasting Stations from 9 to 9:30 each Sunday morning. It may be heard clearly over W.F.A. A. The preacher of the 'National Radio Pulpit' now is Dr. Frederick K. Stamm. He has become very popular as a Radio Preacher under a series of sermons for the past years entitled "High Lights of The Bible".

Throughout the winter the speaker on this same service is Dr. Ralph W. Sockman. In a recent address to some 700 preachers, Dr. Sockman said that the radio was not supplanting the local pulpit in promoting the Kingdom of Jesus Christ. He said that radio preaching had its place, but that the inspiration of a human personality in preaching could not be replaced by a mechanical device of any kind. He likened radio preaching to pouring water on a ducks back, and said that the local churches still had to feed the ducks.

Response to sermons preached by these two men, show no difference in national preference, but these two men receive a large number of replies than any other national preachers.

Radio stations are very good to give their facilities to Church programs that are well prepared and planned. It is of great importance, in the continuation of good programs, for church people who hear and appreciate good programs to write to the station from which they hear the program and express their appreciation.

Another program put over a national hoop-up by the National Broadcasting Company that is well received and of great encouragement to many people is "THE ART OF LIVING" each Saturday afternoon at 5:30.

Show your appreciation of worth-while programs by writing the sponsors, or the station and expressing your appreciation.

Mr. Fred A. Fewin was presented in the East as the newly elected Father of Assembly 91 and presented with a gift of honor. The ballot was spread for Miss Kathryn Curd, after which she was initiated into the assembly. She was given a hearty welcome and hailed with the sign of the Rainbow.

Mr. Fewin expressed his appreciation for the honor of being chosen Father of the Assembly and for the lovely gift presented him.

Talks for the good of the order and compliments for the girls work were given. Interesting talks were given by the girls on their trip to Grand Assembly. At the close of the meeting the Masons honored the girls with refreshments.

Birthday Party

One of the finest birthday dinners that has occurred in the Bacon Switch Community was served in the honor of I. W. Hardin and Charlie Nails. Four courses of meats were served: roast beef, fresh ham, fried chicken, and fresh fish with all of the trimmings. Plum pudding, pumpkin pies, custard pies, ice cream and five different kinds of cake were also served. Cold drinks were served, ice tea, lemonade and soda pop.

After this grand birthday dinner was over everyone who attended started playing games. The young couples played different things while the married men and their wives played "42". Everyone stayed and at a late hour all who were present brought each a beautiful birthday present of a different kind.

The following attended this grand birthday party: Mrs. Majors O'Neil, better known among her host of friends as Grandma, she is 80 milestones in age, and is still spry for age. Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Griffith and family, Miss Charlean, Miss Marie Franks, Miss Bobbie, Miss Florence, and two small sons, Johnny and Charlie; Mr. Homer Grady and wife and their daughter, Miss Annie from Burk Burnett; Mr. R. A. Harris and wife and son, Edgar and daughter, Miss Alva of Randlett, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Claud Buck from Randlett, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Epps and their two sons of Wichita Falls, Texas.

As the evening sun began to drop low in the west everyone got into their cars to leave for their places of abode, each wishing Mr. Hardin and Mr. Nails many more happy birthdays for them and also a healthy one for the years to come.

Baptist Church Announcements

Sunday School, 9:45. Preaching, 11:00. Subject, "God's Great Challenge." Training Union, 7:30. Preaching services, 8:30.

"Old Man Summer Slump" did make his appearance at the First Baptist Church last Sunday, for our Sunday School attendance dropped to 241. The Sunday before with our 284 it looked like there would be no place for the unwelcome guest. What about it this Sunday? Are you going to give him a place? Why not let him know he is not welcome and be present to help drive him away?

Our Training Union attendance was a wee-bit off also. With the 74 who were present good programs were given. You are the loser if you did not avail yourself of the opportunity to tune-in on these good programs.

Sunday morning the pastor will speak on "An Inspiring Example" using Caleb's testimony in Joshua 14; for our lesson. Let's ask ourselves the question, "Am I Inspiring Any One to Live a Better Life?"

There are a great number of visitors in our city every Lord's Day. Are you inviting them? Are you helping them to find their church home? Many are "stranded" out in the world and need someone to help them. Let's be that one.

Welcome to all of our services. A. E. Harrison, Pastor.

Nichols, Kaiser Attend Lutheran District Convention

Loy Nichols and Rev. Paul Kaiser attended the district convention of Lutheran Churches held at Thorndale, Texas. Among the resolutions adopted at the meeting were an increase of missionaries salaries, expansion of mission work in old Mexico, and among the negroes in our state. An essay given by the Rev. Koehler of Chicago treated the subject of Christian education and during the meeting the following timely resolution was adopted:

WHEREAS, through the grace of the Triune of God the Lutheran Church has enjoyed countless blessings in this our beloved land since colonial days; and WHEREAS, our own Synod has especially enjoyed freedom of worship and conscience; and WHEREAS, Our nation is now in the midst of a bloody world conflict; and

WHEREAS, As Christians we recognize the hand of God in these affairs of nations; therefore be it

RESOLVED, That we as the Texas District sincerely repent for our many collective and individual sins and implore forgiveness in Christ Jesus, and further resolve to make use of every opportunity in the present crisis to extend the kingdom of God and further resolve to pledge our loyal support to our country in this critical hour, and finally resolve to lift our hearts to the heavenly Father, earnestly imploring Him for an early and honorable peace.

S. S. Attendance Continues Slump; Polio Scare Passing

Attendance in the Church Schools of the city so far this month have been falling below former averages for many months. The Polio scare is blamed by a good many for the decreasing attendance. Children are absent more than adults.

Methodist Heard Talk On Scouting By Carlos Baker

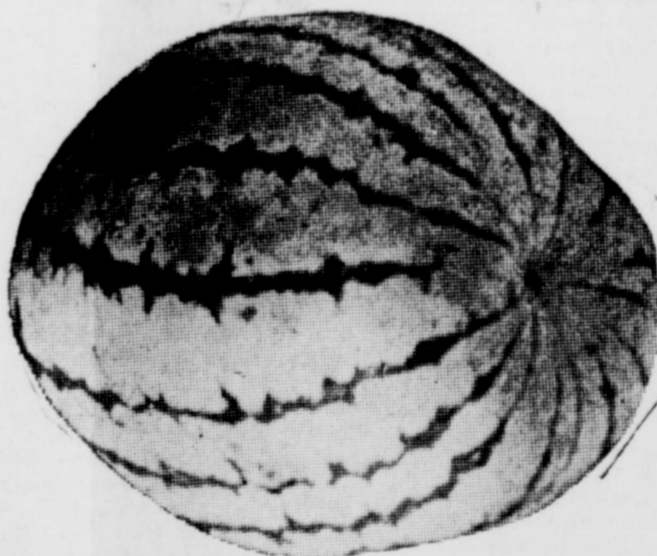

Last Sunday night Mr. Carlos Baker brought a very inspiring message on Boy Scout Work at the evening hour at the First Methodist Church.

For a good many months Carlos was Scoutmaster of Troop 155 and has done a grand job of leading Scouts in Burk Burnett. His month in New York City was of real inspiration to him and he gave a most interesting talk on the work of scouting in the local communities. Carlos is giving his full time work to Scouting and everybody is rejoicing in the success he is having in his chosen field. His District is in and Seymour.

Following his message Brother DeVere spoke from the text, "Be Not Deceived, God is Not Mocked, for Whatsoever a Man Soweth That Shall He Also Reap".

Write To A Friend In Service Every Day

The first point in the Government announcements, in keeping up the high morale of fighting men is "LETTERS". Many people want to do what they can for the war effort, and could do a fine thing for the war effort by writing to the boys in service. Write them often. It will pay large dividends in their lives and yours.

The government will furnish V-Mail envelopes and stationery free, and certainly this is a great help in encouraging people to write more often to these boys away from home.

If you have loved ones in service keep their pastor informed of their change of address. Frequently it takes as long to find the new address of a man who has moved as it takes to write several letters. It is a pleasure for many people to write, and a talent that can be put to good advantage today. Develop your writing talent.

A woman may forgive but she never forgets.

RED CROSS NEWS

Mrs. W. L. Minor, chairman of the local Red Cross, has announced that the knitting is progressing too slowly, and that all can knit or who would like to meet with her at the Red Room on either Wednesday or Thursday afternoons.

The requirements for beginners are the yarn and instructions. All are urged to attend and bring your own knitting. Soon be here and our sweaters, etc., will not be reached. A special attention is extended to all wives and newcomers in our community.

It is also noted that a number of mufflers have been made and as it is just straight knit even a beginner would be able to finish one.

A need for workers who sew is urgently felt. An agency call from Laredo, asking for convalescent soldiers our wounded soldier has been accepted, and we must fill our quota.

Ten From Wichita Fill Up Attendance At Rotary Here

Ten Rotarians from Wichita Falls made up their attendance here Tuesday noon. They were Earl Hodges, Everett McCullough, D. W. Wiley, Jr., J. K. Estes, M. E. Conkling, W. F. Sims, Jim Culbertson, Chas. J. Tucker, Chris Helmeamp, and E-Z Crump. Chaplain Boyd DeVore opened the meeting with prayer. President Garland presided and had charge of the program. He had secured Rotarian Dr. Harley Sullivan to make a report on Polio, but the doctor was unable to attend and Chas. J. Tucker made an impromptu address that was very much enjoyed. It looked for a-ingtohavetosi ngnderto take his while the president was going to have to sing in order to take up the time allotted for a program, but Chas. Tucker came to his rescue.

An honor roll was hung above the Rotary shield which contained the names of the following Rotarians who are serving in the armed forces: Ted Harwell, Gene Robertson, Woody Carter and Geo. Byerly. The club was well pleased with the committee work on securing the plaque.

The cigarette fund was announced by the secretary, Fred Brookman, as having reached $73.23. It was agreed to take up the milk bottles over town and discontinue the cigarette fund for the time being. Fifty cartons have been sent to the Loys in Africa, and the other 100 cartons will be sent to England and Australia.

The president appointed Harold VanLoh and Earl Armstrong as heads of two teams for an attendance contest starting next Tuesday. The club was divided into two sections. VanLoh's team includes Burn Alexander, Tom Boyd, Fred Brookman, Ralph Davis, Leo Dudley, I. C. Evans, Carl Morrison, Walter Riley and the chairman. Armstrong's team consists of Fred Boden, Boyd I. DeVore, Truman Garland, Alvin Hill, H. D. Smith, H. C. Sullivan, Bob Tevis, M. C. Tucker, and the chairman.

Alvin Hill has the program for next week.

Those absent Tuesday were Burn Alexander, H. D. Smith and Harley Sullivan.

Tribute To The "Country Editor"

By Boyce House
"Did you ever stop to think of the unselfish service rendered by the home town editors—the ones that we affectionately refer to as 'country editors'?" Boyce House widely known Texas author, asked 300,000 radio listeners on the Justin Boot and Shoe program, "I Give You Texas and the Great Southwest," heard each Sunday at 12:45 p. m. over Lone Star Chain stations. House continued:

"Confronted by a shortage of labor and supplies, with higher taxes which he must pay and his share of War Bonds to be bought, the home town editor is not only carrying on his peace-time service to the community but is contributing immeasurably to the war effort. The bond-selling campaigns, the Red Cross and the USO drives—these could not be a success without the tremendous aid that the home town press has freely given.

"The editors of Texas are contributing to the war also by helping to maintain the morale on the home front, in the army camp and on the firing line because they print soldiers' letters, which the folks at home crave; and the papers go to the men in uniform, with the news about the every day things and the institutions of normal life that they are fighting to preserve and that they look forward to coming back to, when this terrible war is over.

"If I were gifted with the wizardry of words possessed by a Henry Grady or a Charles Dickens, perhaps I could then give an adequate tribute to that grand fellow—the country editor. "My father was one."

"Did you ever hear of a Texas editor committing suicide? No—he weaves his life into the life of his community. His own personal affairs become small and unimportant along side the affairs of his own town and county. He has a wide perspective; he sees things in their proper proportions.

"And, by the way, there is not one newspaperman in the Texas penitentiary—not because that they are too smart to be caught but they are too busy and having too much fun doing things for others to do something wrong for their own selfish interest. "Where would the schools, the churches and government itself be if it were not for the editor? No man gives more in building civic enterprises and receives less in the form of material reward. And if words are lacking with which adequately to eulogize the country editor, then indeed is one at a loss to portray his loyal, sympathetic understanding, patient, hard-working, self-sacrificing life partner—the country editor's wife!

By Boyce House

"Crime doesn't pay" has been the theme of many speeches and editorials—but it does. Crime pays the writers for the true detective magazines.

Your columnist made more out of the Santa Claus bank robbery than the bandits did. They had possession of $12,000 for about 10 minutes—you figure the interest on that! whereas one of the detective magazines paid me $300 for an article on the crime.

The most harrowing experience this writer ever had in doing an article for the murder mystery magazines was in connection with the Snow case at Stephenville. Congressman Sam Russell was district attorney in the case and took the lead in solving the riddle which sent a three-time killer to the electric chair. Congressman Russell spent a quiet Sunday afternoon in outlining the case of the triple murder to me several years after it ended and then, late that afternoon, I went down to the newspaper office and worked well up into the night putting the story on paper in the dark and deserted building—that is, dark, except of course for the one light over the typewriter.

The chain of events began with two men who set forth to put out traps. They came to a cellar, partly caved in, beside the ashes of an old farmhouse. They decided the cellar would be a good place to put a trap and one of them clambered down. He noticed in the dimness a tow sack dangling from the rafters. He took it down and carried it outside, opened it and found a pair of eyes peering at him from the sack! It contained a man's head. Well, that was the start.

By the time I had written the full story of the three murders and the solution, my nerves were so jumpy that the scurrying of a rat across the floor in the rear caused me to knock over the chair in which I was sitting.

A darkey, asked by the draft board how many dependents he had, replied, "I has foah dependents, but I can't depend on none ob dem."

There was a traveling pianotuner who used to stop at the small hotel in the West Texas town where I ate. He was a good checker player and was very serious about it. One night, declared I could give him the full 12 checkers and I would take only four, not "kings", either, and wouldn't let him reach the king row.

He accepted the challenge and a group gathered around. He placed his men in regular position for the start of the game and I put my four in a line just one move from the front line of his men. It had been agreed that the first move would be mine, so I moved a checker forward and he jumped it. Then I moved another, which he jumped, while looking closely for a "trap." When I moved the third one to be jumped, everybody in the room except my opponent saw what I was doing.

Then I shoved the fourth and final man forward to be jumped and all the onlookers roared. I hadn't said I would beat him but only that I would not let him reach the king row. For a moment he glared across the board. Then the humor of the situation struck him and, as he jumped the last checker, he chuckled, "That's one on me all right."

My very first chum was the mascot of the town band. One day he went to the bayou and an older boy, who was a good swimmer, invited Stewart to climb on his shoulder. A treacherous undertown drowned them both. At the funeral of the little fellow, the band played softly "Nearer

My God, to Thee." You can understand why, all through the years, that song has been associated with the tragic remembrance of my friend.

Wise sayings: Useless laws diminish the authority of necessary ones.

The scalded cat dreads cold water.

One of the richest men in our town would pay a bill only when he had to. Maybe that's the reason he was rich—he kept his money so long. It is related that he put in a hilarious weekend and was sleeping late on Monday morning. Someone knocked at the door. Gotrox yelled, "Sue and be d—" then rolled over and went back to sleep.

"Harmless" REMARKS SOLVE THE AXIS AGENT'S PUZZLE...

Don't help the Axis spies complete their jigsaw puzzle. Every piece of information, loosely passed, helps them to solve it.

Freedom of Speech is a sacred heritage, but in wartime every American must be careful how he exercises the privilege. Unless we are cautious, harmless remarks give enemy agents information that may mean death for our fighting men.

In the Middle West, a mother remarks that her boy has just sailed . . . in the East a father says his son is being trained in coast invasion tactics . . . and in the Gulf South a war worker tells his neighbor how many parts he's turned out on his lathe. Harmless? Seemingly. But they're facts the enemy agents pick up—study, sift, check—until often a complete picture appears . . . a picture that gives America's plans to the enemy.

IT WILL HELP FOR ALL OF US TO REMEMBER THIS RULE!

- If you HEAR it from someone—don't repeat it.
- If you SEE it yourself—don't repeat it.
- But if you read it in the newspapers or magazines or hear it on the radio, then it's public property—and it may be discussed publicly without concern.

A Safe Bet

Secretary of the Navy Knox has predicted a crude oil shortage within a year, and exhaustion in 14 to 20 years of known supplies.

These same words were used during the last war, and then the oil industry evolved new drilling methods, found new fields, greatly increased the production of crude oil, and gave our nation the greatest supply of products on record.

It was incentive to do the job. If our lawmakers will but give the oil industry half a chance for a fair return for the risk involved, it is a safe bet this country won't be out of oil in one year, or more.

The red tape before an artificial shortage is created,
American enterprise a chance to meet any emergency other policy will be fatal to a nation that uses oil products almost as freely as water.

Burkburnett History

As revealed by the files of the Star 10
and 20 years ago.

Twenty Years Ago—

Mrs. Rosa Adams is reported to have been very seriously cut about the face and throat and also sustained a severe arm and hand injury when the Buick roadster in which she and her husband, Frank Adams, were riding overturned on the West Main pavement throwing her through the windshield.

At a meeting of the City Council of Burkburnett Monday night
the street improvement bonds were sold for $48,000 and the water works bonds for $35,000 to J. L. Arlitt, bond buyer of Austin, Texas, making a total sale of $83,000 which was at par value with accrued interest. Only a few bids were submitted for the bonds.

The Amici Omini Sunday School class met in a business meeting Wednesday afternoon,
with their president, Miss Mildred Ellis. They decided to hold an ice cream sale Saturday evening as a means of raising money
for their annual camping trip, which will be in August. The girls will be assisted by Mrs.
Majors and Mrs. Prinzing.

A free band concert will be given Wednesday night, July 25,
in Burkburnett on Main Street
by the Community Band. The band is composed of musicians
from the various towns in Wichita county including Wichita Falls and nearby Oklahoma towns. It is expected that 35 musicians will play. It is through the efforts of S. L. Travis that his band will play here next Wednesday, and he expects to be in position to give this concert monthly until winter comes.

The J. S. Campbell party who toured South Texas in a bungal-ow camping truck, returned on Thursday night and all report a delightful vacation trip, spent chiefly in Corpus Christi.

Reports from the J. H. Exley family that they plan to leave Niagra Falls this week, and will be at home about August 3rd
having six weeks stay completed
in the eastern states.

Ten Years Ago—

A concerted effort on the part of the Chamber of Commerce Fair Committee members is being made to gather fitting material for the Burkburnett booth at the Wichita County Fair, according to an announcement from the Chamber of Commerce offices this week. This booth to advertise Burkburnett will be in addition to the agricultural display
from this territory.

Members of the First Baptist Church gave a chicken dinner
and special program honoring Mr.
and Mrs. J. G. Harding Thursday evening of last week on the church lawn. The gathering was in appreciation of the note which Mr. and Mrs. Hardin presented the church recently.

Tentative plans are being made for the Cowboy Band to attend
the World's Fair in Chicago, according to an announcement this week from E. L. Nichols, director of the band. Letters were being mailed yesterday to 52 towns between here and Chicago, explaining that the Cowboy Band plans to attend the fair during the rodeo the latter part of August and the first part of September.

The first community night program of the season was a success Friday night of last week when all seats at the rodeo stadium
were filled by an enthusiastic audience. The next community program will be held July 28,
according to an announcement from Herman Brown, secretary of the local chamber of commerce,
under whose sponsorship the programs were presented.

Parents' Efforts to Keep Own Sons Home While Other Die in War, Are Hit

AUSTIN, July 17.—In a statement issued by Selective Service
headquarters Saturday, Director
J. Watt Page, "deplored" "the attitude" of "many parents who prefer that some other mother's son do their fighting.

Appended to the statement was a note showing that six officers attached to Selective Service headquarters had "sons serving in combat units".

General Page's statement:
"Sudden farmers' and 'youthful ministers', among other de-ferable occupations, come to our attention daily. Every imaginable dodge and reason is presented by mothers and fathers whose approach to their son's induction into the armed forces is to 'let George do it.' They resort to the most fantastic subterfuges. Quite often it is the 'friend of the family' who presents the case.

Overnight Experts
"Almost over night young men of 18 to 20 years of age become farmers of wide experience, while in most instances, investigation reveals that about the only time
they actually spent on the farm, up to the time of impending induction, was the time they spent sleeping there at night.

"An example of the 'sudden farmer' type came to my attention last week. A young man 19 years of age had been way from home at high school—a private boarding school—for about three years. During the last half of his senior year his order number came up for his induction.

War to Be Won Now
His local board deferred him until he could be graduated. As-tonishingly enough, immediately following his graduation, a member of his family filed a written request that the boy be classified
in Class II-C as a 'necessary man' on the family farm since he could not be replaced. Although the family had been doing without this young man for the past three years and he was barely 19 years of age, he suddenly became indispensable.

"Another case which has been brought to my attention is that of a young man just turned 18, who is a licensed preacher
in a certain religious denomination. His family claims that 'because of his background and his training' he is of more value to the country in his preaching than he would be in the Army' perhaps so, but I think there are reasonable grounds for doubt

while there are hundreds of thousands of other young men of his age and physical condition fighting and dying on the many American battle-fronts abroad.

"It is difficult to understand the thinking of the American mother and father who feel that it is right and just for their son to sideslip service in the armed forces in such manner, while other American boys are fighting and laying down their young lives to preserve the freedom and liberties of all our people.

"This is a war of all of us—war which demands the utmost in sacrifice and devotion of all of us—but it is the very young men of America who constitute the backbone of our military machine.

"There is a war to be won, now.
Time is extremely valuable. All manpower must be trained and utilized quickly."

EDITOR'S NOTE—The same thing that Director Page is talking about has happened here in Burkburnett. We know of one boy in particular who is on a farm that wanted to go into the service, but his parents objected.
This boy never worked on a farm
in his life and did not want to go to the farm. Our belief is that he will regret the day that he did not take the 'bull by the horns'
and join up.

Mrs. Melton to Speak On Methodist World Service Sunday Night

Next Sunday night Mrs. O. E.
Melton is to make a talk on "The World Service of Methodism".
She has just returned from a very inspiring 10 days at Mt. Sequoyah and is District President of the Woman's Society of Christian Service, and President of the Local Society.

Next Sunday is World Service
Sunday throughout Methodism
and the special Mission programs are given regularly on 4th Sundays and an offering is taken for this work. This offering has succeeded the former Conference Claims, or Benevolence that were collected by the Pastor each fall. This church has paid $310 to World Service on a pledge of $500 for this Year.

Parents would be shocked if they knew how much their children know at the age of five.

Auto Sales Boom To Come First

DETROIT, July 20.—Don't look for an immediate sky-filling boom
in civilian aviation after the war,
but rather for a preliminary recession and "feeling out" period,
says Harry Woodhead, president of Consolidated-Vultee Aircraft Corporation.

Declaring that he was speaking
as a "production man," Woodhead told a group of Detroit automotive and aircraft executives yesterday that his company was deferring postwar plans now in the interest of winning the war, "but we know that the minute the present contracts terminate there are going to be lots of idle factories and machines." He estimated that 20 per cent of present production would constitute "a good, healthy around Seymour.

Woodhead cautioned those who had visions of hundreds of thousands of young pilots returning from the war providing a ready-

Dollars-And-Cents Food Ceilings Set For Wichita Area

Wichita and surrounding counties were included in the 35 West Texas counties covered in an OPA order which Tuesday applied dollars-and-cents prices on nearly 1,400 staple food items.

According to an Associated Press story from Fort Worth, the new move will complete the fixing of such "market basket" maximum prices for the entire 49 counties in the Fort Worth District.

Copies of the list of new maximum prices were forwarded to local war price and rationing boards in each of the 35 counties, for distribution of food stores in their areas. The new ceilings will be effective at 12:01 a. m. Thursday.

All-Inclusive OPA price officials pointed out that the absence of any food item from the community maximum price list does not mean that it is exempt from price ceilings. These commodities, they said, still are governed by ceilings established by applicable price regulations.

The ceilings are set separately for four types of food stores, classified according to volume of business and whether independents or chain outlets.

The community maximums were based on reports from wholesalers of prices currently charged for food items distributed in the affected counties.

Without badge or nightstick, you will be asked to "police" violations at the butcher's and baker's and report them to local ration boards. OPA's Market-Basket Price Book setting forth the ABC's of price control will come along in the mail with the next ration book. Housewives are asked:

To check selling prices of items against OPA published prices every time they buy.

To report to price panels of local war price and rationing boards any violations either of price or of posting.

To pledge themselves never to buy rationed goods without giving full value of ration stamps.

Men have always loved home baked bread. Perhaps the commercial bakers' current difficulties with scarcity of help and shortness of supplies will revive an old American custom. So, roll up your sleeves, do some baking and presto!—watch that pleased expression on your man's face!

The whaling industry is back. California is handling an average of 12,000 pounds a day, and whale steaks are being shipped to Chicago, Kansas City and other West cities. They hope to step this up to 20,000 pounds if additional boats and experienced fishermen can be found.

A perfect example of how economics work is to be seen in the current price-supply tangle over beef, which has resulted in fewer animals being slaughtered. Less beef at your butcher's also means there will be trouble at the shoe-maker's, for hides are not flowing to the tanners and supplies of sole leather for repairs will be scarce. Half-soles, or even tips for worn shoes will be the order of the day. Instead of full soles. Also, shoe polish, elbow grease and the oil shinaloa for preservation will be with us from now on.

To help you save "War Time" on long distance calls. Sometimes—on some calls over war-congested channels—the long distance operator finds it necessary to ask: "Please limit your call to 5 minutes. Others are waiting." If your call is important and must go through please follow these suggestions. CALL BY NUMBER IF YOU CAN. It saves handling time on America's extra-busy long distance channels. PLACE A CALL FOR "ANYONE" at the given number—a station-to-station call—whenever possible. That means quicker handling, too. JOT DOWN A PLAN OR OUTLINE of the points to be covered in your call. BEGIN BY SAYING: "I have three things to talk to you about." If you state the total of points to be covered, it puts you both in the frame of mind to avoid waste words. And it often prevents closing the call with some point overlooked. You can say a lot in 5 minutes. Never mind discussing the weather—it's a military secret. If you keep your long distance calls short these days, you not only save money but help to make the peacetime telephone system do its wartime job. SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY
