The nomination of Jimmy Carter of Georgia by the Democrats as their presidential candidate has accomplished one thing already. It has called attention to the fact that the South is not the backward region filled with hickvilles and moreover that one stigma long associated with the old plantation regions—racial prejudice—is not more in evidence here than in other parts of the country.

Saturday Review has devoted most of its Sept. 4 issue to the subject, boldly proclaiming on its front cover, "The South as the New America ," which may be a bit much, even in the eyes of Southerners.

Inside, the issue is filled with articles on the land below the Mason-Dixon line, including special treatment of Atlanta, Houston and New Orleans, all three labeled as "supercities." Other articles deal with such subjects as "Cajun, Creole, and Corn Pone," "High Notes in the Honeysuckle," "Blues, and Other Noises in the Night," "In Search of Quail and Julep," and "Clarinet a la Creole."

But it is within an article on Carter that SR puts its finger on a surprising happening that has helped turn eyes on the South.

"When South Boston exploded with the same fury as South Georgia, there came the slow realization that racial prejudice was not buried behind soft Southern accents," declared SR.

This "realization," they say, helped propel Carter into the limelight on a nation-wide scope and ultimately got him the nomination.

Anyway, whatever the reason, there are people outside the states of New York and Massachusetts representing the major parties in the race for president, and some of the intellectuals now are beginning to concede that perhaps the South and the Midwest are "where it's at."

The SR issue tells a lot about the "new South" but not all. For example there are a couple of articles on Deep South type music, including blues and jazz as well as the "country" brand that comes out of Nashville. But they managed to do a complete article on the New Orleans sound without ever mentioning Al Hirt or Pete Fountain.

Obesity is one of the great American problems that probably won't be mentioned during the campaign, but it has created a major industry in the field of weight control. And the problem is not that excess pounds come from an unknown cause. Someone figured out that the average American in a lifetime of 68 years eats the equivalent of 33 hogs, 10 lambs, eight steers and four calves. When you consider that there are a few vegetarians here and there, that's a lot of meat per head.—WACIL McNAIR.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Tuesday, September 7, the 251st day of 1976. There are 115 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1940, German bombers began the World War II raids against London which were to become known as the "London blitz."

On this date:

In 1533, England's Queen Elizabeth I was born.

In 1812, the French defeated the Russians in the Battle of Borodino, southwest of Moscow.

In 1822, Brazil declared independence from Portugal.

In 1825, the French hero of the American Revolution, the Marquis de Lafayette, said his last farewells to President John Adams at the White House.

In 1930, work began on Boulder Dam, now known as Hoover Dam, on the Colorado River.

In 1963, the government of South Vietnam's President, Ngo Dinh Diem, had hundreds of students arrested for demonstrations against his rule.

Ten years ago: Fire engulfed the West German passenger liner Hanseatic alongside a New York City dock.

Five years ago: An attempt was made to assassinate the U.S. Ambassador in Cambodia. A bomb planted on a bicycle rolled at his car but failed to explode.

One year ago: The Republican party selected Kansas City for its 1976 nominating convention.

Experts Examine MIG25

SOVIET JET FIGHTER LANDS IN JAPAN—A Soviet MIG25 "Foxbat" jet fighter rests at the end of the field of Hakodate airport in northern Japan Monday. Police said the pilot was apparently seeking political asylum. The MIG 25 is believed to be the most advanced operational fighter in the Soviet Air Force. (AP Wirephoto)

Asylum Plea Is Weighed

By BARRY SCHLACHTER
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Experts have looked over the Soviet MIG25 fighter plane flown to Japan by a defecting Soviet air force pilot, Japanese officials reported today. But they refused to say whether American intelligence officers had looked at the plane, reportedly the hottest in the Soviet arsenal.

U.S. authorities refused to comment, referring all queries to Washington. But it was assumed the Americans would get a thorough examination of the plane before the Japanese government returned it to the Soviet Union.

The Kyodo news service quoted Japanese officials as saying the pilot who landed the plane Monday at a small airfield in Hakodate will be transferred to the United States on Wednesday.

But police and Foreign Ministry officials said they knew nothing of plans to transfer the pilot, and the U.S. Embassy refused comment. Police say the pilot has asked for political asylum in America.

Police referred the pilot's case to the Hakodate prosecutor's office on six charges: violating Japan's immigration control law, firearms control law, and gunpowder law, intimidation, and two violations of the aviation law — flying too low and overrunning the runway.

Police said the pilot fired a pistol into the air to keep startled airport workers away just after he screamed in for a surprise landing at the airfield in northern Japan. The MIG25 overshot the 6,700-foot runway by 800 feet and smashed two navigational antennas on the ground, they said.

In Washington, the State Department would say only that the matter of the pilot's request for asylum was under consideration.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said in Paris today that the United States "will probably grant asylum" to the pilot. "If we do not, you can assume I have been overruled," he said. Kissinger has been meeting with various European leaders on the brewing racial confrontation in southern Africa.

One Japanese source with good official connections said he heard that the plane might be moved by ship from Hakodate to the U.S. air base at Misawa, in northern Honshu, the main Japanese island.

Officials of the Japanese Defense Agency said they were primarily interested in the supersonic jet fighter's electronic firing control system. Experts from Tokyo and the Japanese Defense Force base at Chitose, near Hakodate, flew Monday to the Hakodate landing site.

Other Western embassies in Tokyo indicated keen desire to examine the plane. The British air attache was reported to have gone to Hakodate to try to get a close look at the craft.

The MIG25 has been kept largely under wraps by the Soviet Union, but it is believed to be Russia's most advanced jet fighter and capable of flying at 1,800 miles an hour.

The pilot of the plane was identified as Lt. Viktor I. Belenko, 29. Defense Agency officials said he was flown by police helicopter from Hakodate to an airbase at Chitose, near Sapporo, and then was taken by Japanese armed forces jet transport to the Iruma base near Tokyo.

Kissinger Asked To Begin African Shuttle

By KENNETH J. FREED
Associated Press Writer

HAMBURG, West Germany (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger has been asked by Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere to begin a diplomatic shuttle in Africa, a senior American official on Kissinger's plane revealed today.

The official, who talked to reporters during a flight from Paris to this north German port city, said the attempt to resolve the festering racial problem between blacks and whites in southern Africa probably will start no later than Monday.

The message reached Kissinger this morning in Paris as he was preparing to brief French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing on his three-day meeting in Zurich with South African Prime Minister John Vorster.

The message from Tanzania was on behalf of Nyerere only and did not speak for the four other black leaders who have just concluded a summit conference on the African situation in Dar es Salaam. However, the invitation is considered a positive development because Nyerere, although a moderate, has considerable influence with the more radical black leaders.

The senior official was definite in stating he would go to Africa, perhaps making his first stop in Dakar, Senegal.

But later, an aide to the secretary said a definite decision would not be made until after Kissinger hears from William E. Schaufele, assistant secretary of state for African affairs, who has been dispatched to the Tanzanian capital to brief black African leaders on the Zurich meeting and to hear their reactions.

The four visiting leaders to the black summit were expected to be gone from Dar es Salaam before Schaufele's arrival, leaving him to meet with only Nyerere.

Nevertheless, there was little indication that anything short of a collapse of prospects for negotiations would prevent Kissinger from going to Africa.

In discussing the planned shuttle, which will take Kissinger from black Africa to white-run South Africa and back to neighboring black states, the senior official judged the chances for success at 50 per cent at best.

Arriving at Hamburg's Fuhlsbuettel Airport for talks with West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and Foreign Minister Hans-Dietrich Genscher, who met Kissinger at the airport, the American secretary said he welcomed the opportunity to report to them on the discussions with Vorster — just as he had previously briefed British and French leaders.

Senior American officials had earlier estimated the first stage of the shuttle might last two to three weeks.

Rains Fall Over Area

Rains that covered much of West Texas dampened the Snyder area today. For some parts of Scurry County is was a continuation of showers that dotted the region on Labor Day.

Most of Snyder had a mere trace Monday evening, but a drizzle set in this morning that kept the town on the wet side.

Some of the heavier showers were reported around Lake J.B. Thomas, although there was not enough rainfall on the lake's watershed to put any runoff in the lake. A total of 1.30 inches was logged at the dam, with .60 of it coming Monday afternoon and .70 early this morning. Other heavy showers were reported Monday at Ira and across the south part of the county, although there were some gaps in the pattern.

The U.S. Weather Service reported that radar spotted some severe thunderstorms early today in the area from Alpine and Sonora to Guthrie, Brownfield and back to Alpine. Some of the worst of these, they said, were over an area west of Snyder and Sweetwater.

Flood threats existed west of the Pecos river and light thundershowers were reported in the east half of the Panhandle-Plains sector as far south as Lubbock, and also near San Angelo.

Brezhnev, Laotian Premier Meeting

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and Laotian Premier Kaysone Phomvihan are meeting in Moscow to discuss the future of Laos, the official Communist news agency Tass reported.

Brezhnev suggested at a meeting Monday that the new Southeast Asian state has an important role to play in supporting progressive movements in Asia.

Texas Counts 60 Violent Deaths

By The Associated Press

Taking no holiday, tragedy rode hard on Texas streets and highways through the Labor Day weekend.

Before the 78-hour period expired at midnight, there were reports of 44 traffic deaths — well over the 36 which state police experts had predicted. The count started at 6 p.m. Friday.

Altogether there were 60 violent deaths in the state during the extended end-of-summer holiday, also including six homicides, two drownings and six from assorted other causes.

Texas Department of Public Safety Director Wilson Speir cited speed and drinking as key factors in the rash of motor vehicle fatalities.

A crash 12 miles north of Amarillo claimed three lives Sunday night, giving the traffc toll a late upward boost. Officers reported cars driven by Lorraine Pool, 40, of Fritch, in the Panhandle near Lake Meredith, and Manuel Olivas, 38, smashed together broadside after one of the vehicles veered onto the wrong side of the road.

The crash killed Mrs. Pool and her husband Durwood, also 40, and their daughter Jada, 8. The Pools' son Todd, 13, and nine Amarillo residents in the other car suffered serious to critical injuries.

These were among other holiday dead:

Dennis Wayne Edwards, 25, of Houston, was killed while walking along a road in Harris County early Monday.

A one-car accident on U.S. 87 south of Dumas claimed the life of Thomas Steinke, 24, of Dumas.

Officers said William Sperry died when his motorcycle collided with a truck early Monday in Dallas.

Telethon 'Incredible'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "It's incredible," said entertainer Jerry Lewis of the record $21,723, 813 pledged during the annual Labor Day Jerry Lewis Telethon Against Muscular Dystrophy.

"Year after year for the last 11 years, Americans keep proving they have compassion and a lot of heart," he commented after the two-day marathon telecast ended Monday. "The totes keep getting higher and higher and the chances that we'll find a cure for muscular dystrophy soon are getting better as a result."

The figure was $2.9 million more than the total pledged a year ago, and a spokesman for the Muscular Dystrophy Foundation in New York said that about 3 per cent more than pledged was collected as a result of last year's telethon.

On Sunday, Lewis and Dean Martin were reunited on stage for the first time in more than 20 years when Frank Sinatra brought Martin in front of television cameras here.

Martin and Lewis starred together in many movies during the 1950s.

PESO FACES MAJOR TEST

Echeverria In San Antonio To Inaugurate Trade Show

By RICK SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mexican President Luis Echeverria arrived in San Antonio today to open the largest foreign trade show in his nation's history.

Mexfair 76 is seen by some financial experts as a major test of last week's sharp devaluation of the Mexican peso.

Echeverria was met at Kelly Air Force Base here by San Antonio Mayor Lila Cockrell, Texas Gov. Dolph Briscoe, other dignitaries and a crowd of about 350. An Air Force band played the Mexican national anthem.

Echeverria then attended a brief airport reception before leaving for a luncheon in his honor.

He was to officially inaugurate the Mexfair 76 trade show at 3:30 p.m. today.

The peso, which for 22 years was exchanged at 12.5 per U.S. dollar, was freed to float in the world money market in an effort to shore up Mexico's economy.

Late last week, the peso was being exchanged at a rate of about 20 per dollar, a rate which officials here said might spur sales at Mexfair 76 since dollars would buy more Mexican goods.

Mexfair, which was first held on an experimental basis in 1972 when sales were $1.6 million, is a major effort by Mexico to expand exports to the United States and reduce its balance of trade deficit with its northern neighbor.

Sales at the fair have jumped from $17 million in 1973 to $80 million last year.

And, with American dollars buying more pesos, many officials here predict sales this year will reach past $100 million.

The United States is Mexico's chief trading partner, with more than 60 per cent of Mexico's exports going to the United States. Conversely, 60 per cent of Mexico's imports come from the United States, Mexican trade figures show.

Security was expected to be tight during Echeverria's two-day visit, his first trip to this once Mexican city since 1972. He is scheduled to depart San Antonio for Mexico City at 6 p.m. Wednesday.

During his stay here, Echeverria is scheduled to attend luncheons, receptions, a state dinner tonight, a breakfast and receive an honorary degree from Our Lady of the Lake University on Wednesday.

President Ford turned down an invitation from the city to attend the state dinner at the St. Anthony Hotel, but is sending Frederick Dent

AMERICANS OBSERVE LABOR DAY

Death Toll Mars Holiday

By PAT SHERLOCK
Associated Press Writer

Union leaders marked Labor Day 1976 by recalling the crusaders of the early workers' movement, while politicians campaigned and many Americans celebrated summer's swan song by seeking sun at beaches and bargains at stores.

Warm temperatures and sunny skies that prevailed over most of the nation sent millions to the roads in their cars. The three-day death toll reached 476, 89 more than died during the same period last year.

The National Safety Council predicted from 360 to 460 deaths due to automobile accidents.

The Associated Press count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Monday in each time zone.

Last year, 407 persons died in Labor Day weekend traffic accidents. The worst Labor Day death toll was 688 in 1969.

A record $21,723,813 was pledged during the annual Labor Day Jerry Lewis Telethon Against Muscular Dystrophy, $2.9 million more than the total pledged a year ago for the televised marathon of entertainers.

In New Orleans, police officers staged a "blue flu" day protesting the city's refusal to pay double time and a half to officers assigned to work the holiday. Police officials said 135 of the 229 patrolmen assigned to work Labor Day called in sick.

More than 40,000 persons were on hand Monday night as Chicago honored James C. Petrillo, 84, for 40 years president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians and retired president of the American Federation of Musicians. Mayor Richard Daley told the crowd at the dedication of the James C. Petrillo Music Shell in Grant Park that Petrillo played an important role in helping musicians get jobs during the bleak days of the Depression.

Peter J. McGuire, an organizer for the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, was honored in ceremonies at Camden, N.J., as the man who first proposed a holiday to honor working people. McGuire made the first Labor Day speech in 1882. Congress proclaimed it a national holiday in 1894.

The United Rubber Workers, meanwhile, announced a tentative agreement with B.F. Goodrich Co., which could end the longest rubber workers strike in history — 140 days today.

In Detroit, the Ford Motor Co. said it will make a new offer to the United Auto Workers. Current negotiations for a new three-year contract had stalled, and the strike deadline is Sept. 14.

On the political scene, Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter formally launched his election campaign by addressing a crowd at the Warm Springs, Ga., "Little White House" frequently used by Franklin D. Roosevelt. Carter said the past eight years of Republican administration have been filled with scandal and mismanagement.

President Ford spent the day in the White House, but his 19-year-old daughter, Susan, was in Hagerstown, Md., where, riding in a horse-drawn open carriage, she was declared belle of the Bicentennial parade.

Shelley Concerned About Mom's Smoking

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1976 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am 8 years old and my name is Shelley Seibel. My Mom is 27 years old, and the reason I am writing to you is because my Mom smokes constantly.

Abby, please give me some suggestions as to how I can get her to quit smoking. I love my Mom and don't want her to die from lung cancer or heart failure at the age of 30.

WORRYING IN EVANS CITY, PA.

DEAR SHELLEY: What a beautiful daughter you are for being so worried about your Mom's health that you would write to me!

People who smoke "constantly" would like to quit, but they lack the strength. Perhaps when your Mom sees this and realizes how much you love her, it will motivate her to quit. I hope so.

Write to me again, Shelley, and let me know if my suggestion has helped. I care.

DEAR ABBY: Mac and I have been married for three years, and we went together for two years before that. He's a terrific husband in every way, but something has come up lately that bothers me.

Mac plays softball three times a week. I always enjoyed going to the park to watch him play, but now that we have a baby, I can't go so often.

One night, Mac said, "I wish you wouldn't come to so many games. You make me nervous."

He says he plays lousy when I'm there. Abby, I've been watching him for years and he never played lousy, and I never made him nervous before.

I got to thinking that another guy on his team tells his wife to stay home because she makes him nervous, but everybody knows he likes to flirt with other girls, and if his wife's around, it cramps his style.

One of my friends says, "Maybe Mac just wants a night out with the boys." Another one said, "I'll bet he just wants to fool around." What do you think?

MAC'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Since Mac has to contend with an umpire during the game, he doesn't need another "ump" when it's over. His overall batting average as a husband is what counts.

Some "boys" like to mourn their defeats and celebrate their victories sans wives occasionally, so don't be too possessive or suspicious.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a college graduate, and I only graduated from high school.

My problem is the way he is always putting me down in front of people, calling me a "dummy" and "stupid."

I worked in a factory so he could finish college. I have considered taking some courses at the local college, but if I start now, it will take me six years to get a degree, and in six years I will be 38!

PUT DOWN

DEAR PUT: And how old will you be in six years if you DON'T go to college? Start now!

Theft Suspect Is Questioned

Deputy Sheriffs said today they have arrested a 17-year-old man in connection with the theft of a pickup truck. The truck, reported stolen about three weeks ago from the home of Jackie D. Pylant, was recovered late Friday afternoon at the Scurry County Rodeo Grounds on West Thirtieth Street.

The arrest was made Saturday and the suspect was released from county jail later that afternoon after he posted a $2,000 bond. While charges have not been formally filed on the man, deputies reported his case will ge before the grand jury.

Floyd Stice, who was arrested Sept. 2 in Fort Worth in connection with the thefts of a truck, backhoe and trailer from the Sco-Mac Construction Co., has been charged with theft over $10,000. Late this morning he remained in county jail in lieu of $15,000 bond.

Mother Charged In Tot's Death

NEW YORK (AP) — A mother who left her five-day-old daughter alone with a starving German Shepherd while she went to get money for food returned to find the baby dead, partially eaten by the 15-pound dog.

The woman was charged with negligent homicide. The dog was destroyed.

"I left the baby on the floor with the dog to protect it.... The dog ate my baby," Joanne Bashold, 24, told police Monday when they arrived at her barren sixth-floor walkup apartment in Spanish Harlem.

Miss Bashold, who is unmarried and has lived on welfare since moving here from Ohio in June, was jailed overnight. She faced arraignment today in Manhattan Criminal Court.

The dog, a four-month-old female whose ribs protruded visibly, was destroyed for examination of its stomach contents to verify that it killed the baby. Police said the dog hadn't eaten for at least six days before the attack.

Miss Bashold gave birth to the baby, Carra, at Bellevue hospital on Wednesday. Authorities said she told them her pregnancy resulted from a rape that she never reported to police.

She returned Sunday night to her two-room apartment. The only furniture was a wooden folding chair and a brown rug folded in half on which mother and baby slept. The dog slept nearby.

A welfare worker had promised to give her a crib today, she said.

On Monday morning, Miss Bashold said, she left the apartment alone at 7 a.m. to pick up some belongings from the hospital, including $20 in cash with which to buy food for herself, the baby and the dog. The refriggrator in the apartment was empty.

Neighbors in the tenement said later that as far as they knew, she wasn't friends with anyone in the building.

When she returned 1½ hours later, Carra was dead, her tiny body torn, blood on the muzzle of the dog. Miss Bashold said she rushed down into the street to telephone police.

"It was the most shocking thing I've ever seen," Officer Al Dwyer said. "I felt outraged that something like that could happen."

Kate Smith Doing Well

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Kate Smith remains in satisfactory condition at Terrace Heights Hospital where she has spent a week for treatment of what the hospital describes as an upper respiratory infection.

Miss Smith, 67, best known for her stentorian rendition of "God Bless America," was transfered to the hospital in Queens last Tuesday.

Theft, Burglary Are Reported

The reports of a theft and a burglary over the Memorial Day weekend have trickled into the police station.

Police officers reported the theft of a $300 roto-tiller from the 1608 Seventeenth Street residence of Jack Goswick. The theft is believed to have occurred Sunday or Monday.

In another incident, a burglar with a taste for music broke into a car belonging to Terry Dunham and took 18 tapes valued at approximately $126. The car was parked at 4503 College Avenue when the burglary was discovered Monday evening.

Name Is Listed Incorrectly

The Snyder Daily News has been advised that information that was furnished for an obituary published on Wednesday, Sept. 1, had one name listed incorrectly. One of the survivors of the late Alvin C. Elkins is a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Hattie Lou Elkins of Visalia, Cal., whose name was incorrectly listed as Mrs. Hattie Lou Evans.

US Demands Accounting Of MIAs

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials say they are pleased that the government of Vietnam has identified a dozen U.S. airmen killed in the Vietnam war, but they are demanding a full accounting for the hundreds of other Americans still listed as missing in action.

"We're pleased that they've started to give us some information," said William Hyland, deputy national security affairs director to President Ford, after the Vietnamese government released the fliers' names in Paris on Monday. "What we want is a full accounting and without any further delay."

A State Department official repeated the call for a full accounting, saying, "We cannot believe that the Vietnamese wish to trade on the misery of American families."

The Vietnamese called their move a good will gesture. They said the 12 Americans had been listed as missing in action.

The Pentagon said one had been listed as killed in action, one as a prisoner of war and the others as missing in action.

The Pentagon still lists 795 Americans as missing in action in the war, including 527 in Vietnam itself. It lists 1,710 others as killed in action whose bodies were not recovered, including 1,347 in Vietnam.

Most of the missing are fliers and it is generally presumed they are dead.

Observers viewed the surprise Vietnamese move as an attempt to ease U.S. opposition to Vietnam's application for membership in the United Nations and to encourage the United States to provide war reparations under the 1973 Paris cease-fire accord.

The Vietnamese listed the names, ranks, birth dates and serial numbers of the 12 men.

The Pentagon refused to release their home towns until it notified all next of kin.

The mother of Air Force Capt. Samuel E. Waters, one of those listed, said she expected the bad news.

With the presidential election two months away, Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter stumped through the East for votes today while President Ford, emphasizing his incumbency, kept a high profile in the White House.

Carter told a college audience in New York that urban policy in the Nixon and Ford administrations has ruined city neighborhoods. He accused Republicans of paying only lip service to the people who live in those neighborhoods.

Carter began the second day of his fall campaign for the White House by telling Brooklyn College students: "Tight money, shrinking paychecks and a stagnant housing industry are some of the saddest products of the Republicans disastrous economic record."

The Democrat opened his battle Monday with a sharp attack on Ford, labeling him a latter-day Herbert Hoover and blaming the Republican party for a myriad of economic woes that Carter claims the Democrats will cure.

Ford stayed in the White House, by-passing the traditional Labor Day campaign start to take care of business, chide Congress for not completing work on a major tax-revision bill, give a television interview and prepare for his own campaign start next week.

While Carter continues a five-day whirlwind opening tour that carries him today from New York to Connecticut to Philadelphia, Ford plans more distinctly presidential activities today, including ceremonies at which he will sign bills providing aid for child day-care centers and for victims of the recent Teton Dam disaster in Idaho.

Ford let surrogates, including Sen. Bob Dole, the GOP vice presidential nominee, carry his banner and answer the criticisms Carter levied Monday on the front steps of Franklin D. Roosevelt's "Little White House" in Warm Springs, Ga.

Dole crossed paths with Carter later Monday at a stock car race in Darlington, S.C.

Carter's running mate, Sen. Walter F. Mondale, spoke Monday at labor rallies in Ohio and California. He charged in a Barberton, Ohio, address that Ford's economic policies have "betrayed" U.S. workers.

Carter, speaking from a podium bearing Roosevelt's portrait, said, "This year, as in 1932, our nation is divided, our people are out of work and our national leaders do not lead."

He recalled that in 1932, with the nation struggling in the grip of the Depression, Roosevelt defeated the incumbent Hoover. Carter described Hoover as "a decent and well-intentioned man" who sincerely believed that our government could not or should not with bold action attack the terrible economic and social ills of our nation. He was leading a Republican party which lacked the strength and vision to bring us out of those dark days."

But Carter also promised to fight inflation and balance the U.S. budget.

Carter assailed the Nixon and Ford administrations for budget deficits, inflation and unemployment. Later, in a Norfolk, Va., appearance he charged that "we have a quiet, dormant, timid leadership in Washington, closely tied to special interests."

In Washington, a spokesman for Ford's election committee, William I. Greener, later challenged Carter's statements about the economy and his capsule history of the Roosevelt era. Greener said:

"There isn't a serious economist in America today who would credit the elimination of unemployment during the Roosevelt administration to anything but the global holocaust of World War II.

"President Ford is bringing this nation economic stability, drastically reduced inflation and a lowered unemployment rate through peaceful means."

If all drivers, according to the National Automobile Club, wore their safety belts every time they used a car for transportation, some 14,000 persons who might be killed in an automobile accident each year might live.

"I'm trying to use less electricity this summer, so why is my bill still higher?"

UNDERSTANDING YOUR ELECTRIC BILL

We know your electric bill is probably higher this summer – a lot higher – than it was last year. Even though you're making an honest effort to conserve electricity by doing things like turning lights off, raising your air conditioning thermostat and checking filters regularly.

A higher electric bill isn't much of a reward for that kind of effort. But, we want you to understand the reasons for it, and why it's important to continue using electric energy wisely.

The main reason for higher bills is that it's costing more to make electricity. Our rates had to be increased early this year.

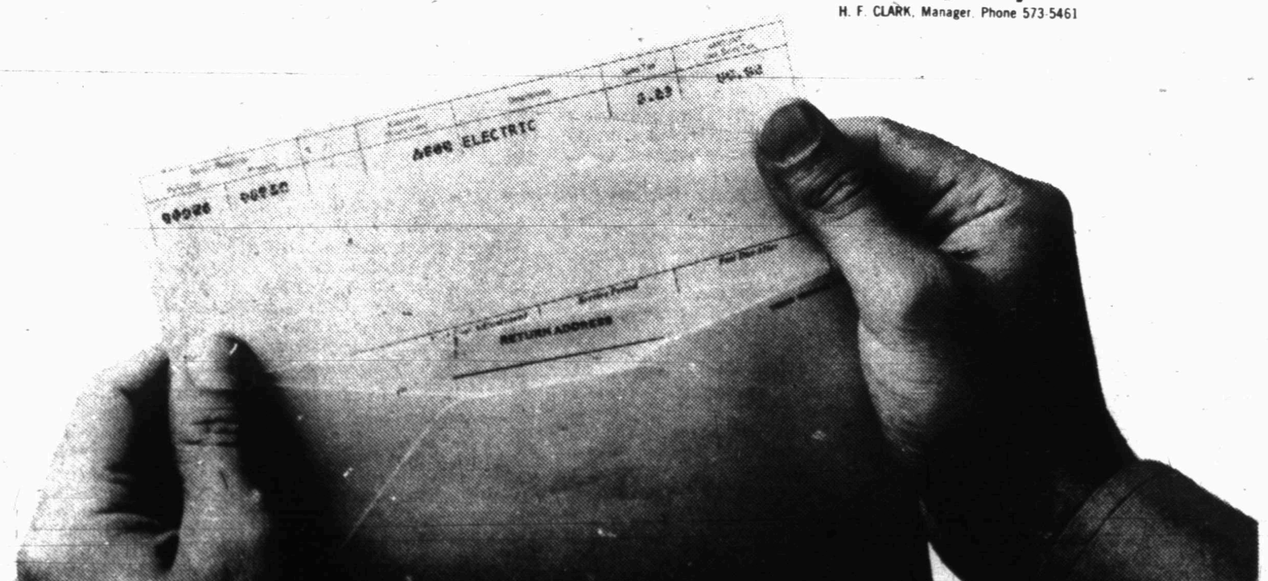

On top of that, fuel costs have gone up — although Texas Electric has been able to keep these increases to a minimum.

We'll continue doing everything we can to keep increases in your electric bills as low as possible. But it's just as important that you keep conserving electricity as much as you can.

For a free copy of our newest booklet on how to save electricity, give us a call. Or request one on the comment portion of your bill.

South wins the heart lead, draws trumps and goes after diamonds. The suit breaks 3-3 so he gets to discard two hearts and a club and wraps up 13 tricks.

This doesn't mean that seven was a good contract. It made because diamonds broke 3-3 and suits break 3-3 just 36 per cent of the time.

On the other hand, the contract of six was a very good one. It was sure to make irrespective of trump and diamond breaks since South could always discard his losing club on a high diamond and ruff his third heart with dummy's fourth trump.

The hand shows a weakness of standard American. When played in a matchpoint game the basic standard bidding went one spade-three spades-four spades-pass; or one spade-two diamonds-two spades-four spades-pass.

The bidding in the box shows one expert way of reaching six. Most experts play that the jump raise to three is invitational but not forcing. Hence, North's three-spade bid was forcing and asked South to make some below-game slam try if he could. South could and did when he bid four hearts. North showed the club ace and South bid the slam.

Frequent Cleaning Makes Chores Easier

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

Sometimes it is the little chores that drive us to distraction, especially when we've let the jobs lag during the vacation season.

Copper, carving boards, tile, marble, plastic, wood floors need care. Short cuts may be taken by giving these things more frequent care which may seem a bore, but in the long run it will pay off.

If you let a copper hood in the kitchen get very tarnished and greasy, it becomes a super cleaning job. But if it is washed regularly and shined with a soft cloth, it is a small chore. A neglected hood must be scrubbed with soap and water and dried before it is polished. Non-tarnish copper cleaners will keep a hood clean for a long time, and are great time savers if there is a large expanse of metal.

Wood cutting boards may warp, to the dismay of many housewives. That may be controlled by turning the board every once in a while. In fact, the underside should be scrubbed, dried and lightly oiled. Cooking oil has been tried successfully. It just happened to be at hand and it worked.

If the board warps a bit, scrub the underside well, let it dry — if you can put it outdoors all the better — and then apply a little oil. If it is mildewed in spots, it may require a light sanding before you apply oil. Then it should be reversed for use. Sometimes a board will get beyond the turnover stage with many mildewed stains, and you will want to use only one side of it. Even then the underside must always be kept clean.

No matter how careful you are, liquid and specks of food may be found under the board, so it should be tilted each day and the area underneath wiped with a dry cloth. Wiping it with a wet cloth will merely increase the chances of mildew, unless it is dried thoroughly each time.

As for ceramic tile, on countertops you may need to use an abrasive cleaning powder. Some people clean the grout lines with a toothbrush, making a paste of the cleaner. A mixture of chlorinated bleach and a little water can be used on the grout and blotted quickly, one woman advises. There are special tile cleaners in paint stores and these work well, although some women use little soap pads as they do on bathroom tiles.

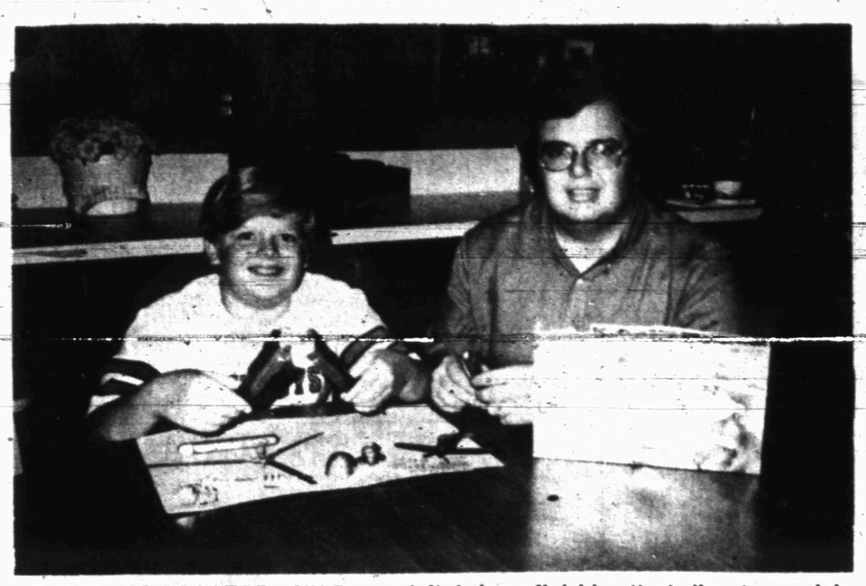

Advice on the care of clear plastic may be obtained from craft shops where the material is carried. It has been said that acrylics respond well to automobile polish which is rubbed on with a soft cloth. Scratches can be smoothed with a little buffing tool and pumice which are available in the craft shops.

Many methods are used for cleaning marble. Some work. Some don't. Knowing what made the stains makes the job easier. Light stains and rings may be removed with a mixture of hydrogen peroxide and ammonia which should then be removed with clear water, advise experts at the Weiman Co., makers of marble polish.

They claim fine scratches on marble may be sanded lightly and the entire surface repolished whenever necessary with putty powder applied on a damp cloth by hand or with an electric polisher. More serious stains should be treated with a poultice made of white blotting paper, paper napkins or cleansing tissues which may be soaked in the solution that is needed for the particular stain. Organic stains — tea, coffee, soft drinks that have no citric acid, wet bark and flowers — should have a poultice of the peroxide and ammonia. Oil stains — butter, milk, cream, hand cream, modeling clay and the like — should be wiped with a cloth dampened with ammonia, and a poultice of equal parts of amyl acetate and acetone, and then a poultice of the hydrogen peroxide and ammonia.

Old pieces of marble and firestained marble fireplaces should also respond to that treatment. Once restored or if it is new marble, it may need only regular care about twice a year. Remove surface dirt with a detergent and fibre brush. If dirt remains, make a thick paste of an alkaline cleaner and water and spread it over the marble with a trowel. Retard the drying action by covering it with a damp cloth for 24 hours, then let it dry for another 24. The mixture can be saved and reused.

Porker Defense Can Get 'Ugly' Declares Broyles

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — It's no wonder Arkansas coach Frank Broyles wanted to cut short the questions about his offense.

He was anxious to talk about the Razorbacks defense.

"We have exceptional speed even for us as a team and they play with an awful lot of emotion, and some of them are real ugly in their play," Broyles said when discussing the defense.

"Of the top 22 players on defense, we don't have any freshmen," he said. "We've got good depth...players who have played and have had success. And we have a closeness among the players and the coaches. The defense has dominated our practices completely."

Broyles said the defense must buy the inexperienced offense some time if the Razorbacks are to be successful this fall.

How good can this defense be?

"We were awfully good in 1969 (9-1) and we awfully good in 1964 (10-0)," he said. "If this defense stays healthy it will compare with those."

His enthusiasm was understandable.

"Our ends and linebackers are big and fast," he said. "They have the size and speed equal to anybody in the United States."

The ends are Dennis Winston, who weighs 224, and Johnnie Meadors, who weighs 214.

Winston runs 4.6 in the 40 and Meadors runs 4.7. Broyles said senior linebacker Curtis Townsend weighs 225 and runs 4.5 — faster than many backs. The other linebacker, sophomore William Hampton, weighs 218 and runs 4.6.

Broyles said the secondary is the most experienced he has ever had. The leader is free safety Bo Busby, a three-year letterman. Broyles began his review for the Southwest Conference reporters by telling them of the "wonderful attitude" of the 11 seniors.

"Since 1964 I don't beleive we have had a group that was closer as people or players," he said. "It has had a very positive effect on the younger players."

Broyles said he was excited about the offensive potential of running backs Ben Cowins, Micheal Forrest, Jerry Eckwood and quarterback Ron Calcagni.

Eckwood is a junior; the other three are sophomores.

Broyles said Calcagni, Cowins, and Forrest have had about 24 plays each in full-scale scrimmages this fall. Eckwood, who is still recovering from a knee injury, has had less.

"Because of the lack of depth we have had to decide whether to scrimmage or protect their bodies," Broyles said. "I chose to protect their bodies."

He said Calcagni has "probably eliminated any of the people who questioned his ability to execute the veer offense. If he can weather the pressure of the ball games, he will be real good. Ability-wise he is equivalent to any sophomore we have had play."

Broyles said center R. C. Thielemann and tackles Greg Koch and Gerald Skinner are "awfully, awfully, awfully good lineman."

He said the offense has the potential of the 1975 team that beat Georgia in the Cotton Bowl, but lacks that team's experience.

Broyles was asked to rate the conference which includes the University of Houston for the first time.

He said "the extra conference game is going to change history. It will mean the best team doesn't always win the conference championship. There are going to be so many close ball games a team will have to avoid injuries and things like key penalties. The time is very near where two losses will win or share the championship.

He said at least six of the nine conference teams have a chance to win the championship.

Marchibroda Is Rehired As Coach At Baltimore

By JIM WANNAMAKER
Associated Press Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—Ted Marchibroda, who quit as coach of the Baltimore Colts two days ago because of what he termed front-office interference, has been rehired for the post, the National Football League club announced today.

The Colts released a one-sentence statement which said: "By mutual agreement of all parties concerned, Ted Marchibroda is returning as head coach of the Baltimore Colts."

Barry Jones, a team spokesman, said Marchibroda would be at the Colts' training camp in suburban Catonsville around noon today. Marchibroda was not immediately available for comment.

Also unavailable for comment were Robert Irsay, the team owner, and Joe Thomas, Baltimore's general manager.

Marchibroda was the NFL Coach of the Year last season after he led the Colts—2-12 a year before—to a 10-4 mark and a division championship.

The 45-year-old Franklin, Pa., native announced his resignation Sunday after failing to get a promise of an end to the bickering that he said existed between him and the Colts' management for several months.

"Any coach, in order to lead his men, must have the authority to call the shots. I couldn't tolerate the interference I was getting," Marchibroda said at the time.

There had been rumors Monday that Marchobroda would be offered the job again. Defensive coordinator Maxie Baughan and running back Lydell Mitchell, among others, said they wanted the coach back.

There had been talk of a players' boycott if Marchibroda was not rehired, but quarterback Bert Jones admitted that most of the players could not afford to stop playing—even if they were not bound by contracts.

Irsay stormed into the Colts' locker room after their 24-9 loss to Detroit Thursday night and berated the players and coaches.

The owner said the next day that he wanted Marchibroda to stay on with the Colts but by then the coach had raised the issue of what he said was growing front office interference.

Marchibroda's resignation shocked fans and demoralized the team, which was preparing to open the season at New England Sunday. "I can't even tell them who to list in the program as coach," moaned public relations director Barry Jones.

Two of the club's six assistant coaches were reported to have told Thomas that they would resign if Marchibroda didn't return. According to the Baltimore Sun, one of the two was offered Marchibroda's job and turned it down.

Jenkins Pleased With 1st Game

Coach Mike Jenkins said he was pleased with the performance and enthusiasm of the Tigers in their victory over Monahans' Lobos last Friday night. He spoke at the regular weekly meeting of the Tiger Booster Club, held last night at the high school cafeteria.

Jenkins said it builds confidence when your defense can make a goal line stand and when your offense can move the ball 80 yards to a touchdown.

He said the Tigers came out of the Monahans game with a few bruises. Lee Allen Jarrell sustained an ankle injury, but is expected to see limited action Friday night against Borger. A couple of other boys had knee injuries, but they were sufficiently recovered to participate in a lengthy drill yesterday. Richard Willis sustained a "jammed neck" in workouts yesterday, but hopefully he will be ready for action Friday night.

Coach Ralph Harvey gave the scouting report on Borger. He said their offense and defense was similar to Monahans only they have a bigger team than the Lobos. He had special praise for the Borger fullback. Borger uses a Power I offense and a "27" defense. They lost, 14-6, to Lubbock High, but had the ball on the one yard line when the game ended. Harvey also said the quarterback likes to throw the ball to their two big tight ends.

The volleyball girls were special guests of the Booster Club. They were introduced by Coach Joyce Elrod.

The meeting was presided over by Erwin Pavlik, club president, who encourage local fans to watch the local sports events each week.

Real Wind Blows To Victory

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. (AP) — Jockey Garry Sumpter rode in his first All-American Futurity a year ago and finished last. He must have learned something, though, because this year the 26-year-old Sumpter won the world's richest horse race.

Sumpter, who said he began racing horses when he was 14, was aboard Real Wind when the filly blew to victory Monday in the 18th running of the nationally televised All-American, which carried a gross purse of $1 million.

"I tried to psyche myself out to get ready mentally for this," Sumpter said, in comparing Monday's run at Ruidoso Downs racetrack with the one a year ago when he was up on Watch A Native, who finished ninth in a nine horse field.

"This is the hardest race in the world to win...," he said. "It's a big gamble. A big gamble qualifying, another big gamble getting here (the winner's circle). One mistake and it's all over," Sumpter said.

The Raydon, Okla., jockey, who began riding race horses on parimutuel tracks seven years ago, described Monday's 440-yard dash as a "helluva race with a helluva of a field."

He said his major concern going into the race was keeping his horse running straight so she wouldn't get in trouble. Real Wind has had such problems in the past.

Sumpter said when Real Wind broke from the gate, "I poked the hell out of her with my left hand. I kept her as straight as I could.

"She ran real straight until she got down by the crowd," he said. "Then she got to looking around. She was ducking from the crowd. Luckily, we were out there far enough that it didn't seem to bother anyone."

LET'S JUST PRAISE THE LORD.

Schedule Could Slow Oakland's Bid For Another Division Title

By ERIC PREWITT
AP Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — The schedule could be the great equalizer — or at least prevent another runaway by the Oakland Raiders — in the American Football Conference West.

Several preseason injuries, along with personnel changes which included the forced retirement of 48-year-old kicker George Blanda two weeks ago, don't figure to slow the Raiders down that much as they go for their ninth division title in 10 years. They've always had good depth.

"But this year, we're getting to the depth sooner than I like," said Coach John Madden, who sends the Raiders against the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers in the most attractive matchup of the National Football League's opening weekend of games.

Fullback Marv Hubbard, defensive end Horace Jones and offensive lineman Henry Lawrence all have suffered injuries which will keep them out of games at least through October. They'll miss a lot of travel.

After facing the Steelers Sept. 12 in the Oakland Coliseum, the Raiders play five straight road games including three against their AFC West rivals, the Kansas City Chiefs, San Diego Chargers and Denver Broncos.

John Ralston's Broncos play their fourth home game of the year Oct. 17 against Oakland, which finished 11-3 last year to runnerup Denver's 6-8. Another scheduling factor is that when expansion caused changes, the Broncos lost the strong Los Angeles Rams as 1976 opponents while the Raiders lost the weaker New Orleans Saints.

One of the NFL's newest teams, the Tampa Bay Buccaneers coached by John McKay, will be listed in the AFC West standings but they won't be playing the usual home-and-home series.

McKay traded with the San Francisco 49ers for Steve Spurrier, the former Heisman Trophy winner from Florida who has thrown more NFL passes than the quarterbacks running the Denver, San Diego and Kansas City offenses.

Steve Ramsey takes over for the retired Charley Johnson as Denver's No. 1 quarterback, hoping running back Otis Armstrong can return to his 1,407-yard form of 1974, after sitting out last season, and that the offensive line stays healthy.

Len Dawson, 41, is an NFL television sportcaster now and Mike Livingston and Tony Adams are battling for the Chiefs' quarterback job. Dan Fouts, starting his fourth pro season, is No. 1 at San Diego backed up by newcomer Neal Jeffrey who has had some sensational summer performances.

Oakland's Ken Stabler has been one of the NFL's top passers the past three years and has two of the most dangerous receivers in the game, Fred Biletnikoff and Cliff Branch. Stabler also has had knee problems, such as on the day in Kansas City last season when the Raiders fell 42-10 to the Chiefs.

Bob Moore, starting Oakland tight end for three years, was left unprotected in the expansion draft and is now one of Spurrier's receivers. But former San Francisco 49er Ted Kwalick, third-year player Dave Casper and versatile veteran Warren Bankston are still available.

'We have three good tight ends and we'll use all three,' says Madden, adding that all three will be on the field at the same time in some situations.

The Raider's top college draft choice in the off season was Charles Philyaw, a 270-pound defensive lineman who may see more action than expected because of injuries to Jones, Kelvin Korver and Tony Cline. But fifth-round pick Fred Steinfort from Boston College is getting more attention, since he's in the placekicking job which Blanda handled, often spectacularly, for nine years.

Oklahoma's Leroy Selmon, the top college lineman of 1975, and his brother Dewey figure in Tampa Bay's defensive plans. Their Sooner teammate Jimbo Elrod is being groomed at Kansas City to take over for middle linebacker Willie Lanier.

But one of college football's flashiest runners, Joe Washington from Oklahoma, may miss his rookie season with San Diego because of knee surgery. Until he was hurt last month, Washington was playing tailback alongside Charger's Don Woods.

"Joe Washington can do everything,' said Woods, who gained more than 1,000 yards as a rookie tailback in 1974, missed most of last season because of injury and was switched to fullback this summer.

"So far, he looks like he's been running at fullback all his life," said Coach Tommy Prothro, who has acquired former Miami Dolphin Mercury Morrris since losing Washington.

DUANE GONE

98 For 40 Not Enough To Stay

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry gave running back Duane Thomas, who once called Landry a "plastic man," 40 chances to carry the football in six preseason games. Thomas gained 98 yards.

The club waived Thomas as the Cowboys reduced their squad Monday to the 43-man roster required by the National Football League.

Landry said Thomas, once regarded as one of pro football's most troublesome players, faced difficulties from the first day of practice but not because of his attitude.

Thomas, drafted by Dallas in the first round in 1970, pulled a hamstring muscle running sprints the opening day of preseason practice.

"I think there is a possibility he could have made the team if he had been able to practice," Landry said.

Others waived were running back Ron Johnson, acquired from the New York Giants in the off season; rookie linebacker Charles McShane of California Lutheran, rookie kicker Bill Farris of Mississippi and defensive lineman Jerry Lawrence, a second year man from South Dakota State.

The Cowboys placed rookie wide receiver Duke Fergerson of San Diego State, wide receiver Percy Howard and rookie linebacker John Smith on the injured reserve list.

They will join center Kyle Davis of Oklahoma in sitting out the season.

Dallas also traded placekicker Tony Fritsch to the San Diego Chargers for a future draft choice.

After Monday's cuts, Landry said veteran backs such as Thomas and Johnson should be among the top four on the club. The top spots had been nailed down by Robert Newhouse, Charley Young, Doug Dennison and Scott Laidlaw.

Landry said the fifth and sixth Cowboy backs should be players who could also help out on the specialty teams.

Thomas returned to his home town, Dallas, after a four-year absence when Hawaii of the World Football League folded, and signed on as a free agent. He had helped the Cowboys to the Super Bowl following the 1970 and 1971 seasons.

Thomas did not get along with Landry and other members of the team while playing with them in the early '70s and was traded.

From the Cowboys he went New England. But he would not submit to the unrine test and thus part of the trade was negated. He then was traded to San Diego, and never played in 1972. San Diego sent him to Washington, where he was used sparingly. There he played out his option and turned to the WFL. It was then that a friend, former Cowboy Pettis Norman, quietly began negotiations for Thomas' return to Dallas.

Thomas, moody and uncommunicative to team members and the press during his stint here before, then showed up in public this year, saying openly he would like to again play for the Cowboys and that he had his head "screwed on straight."

Five Teams Due Action

Five local football teams see action this week, highlighted by the varsity's clash in their home opener against Borger's Bulldogs Friday night. Kickoff is on tap for 8 o'clock.

Thursday, the 8th Grade Black will be at Big Spring Runnels for a 5:30 p.m. contest. At the same time, the 8th Grade Gold will host Big Spring Goliad at 5:30 p.m. on the Junior high field. The Freshmen will host Big Spring at 7:30 p.m. on the Junior High field. The Junior Varsity will be at Big Spring for a 7 p.m. tussle.

Elsewhere in District 3-AAA, Brownfield will be at Seminole, Andrews visits Lamesa, Dunbar takes on Lubbock Coronado, Estacado hosts Lubbock, Lake View is at home against Eagle Pass and Sweetwater journeys to Colorado City.

On the area scene, Gail will be at Forsan, Hobbs hosts Divide, Ira hosts Grady, and Hermleigh hosts Wellman.

Volleyballers Meet Cooper

The Snyder High School girls volleyball teams meet Abilene Cooper there today. The junior varsity match begins at 6 p.m., followed by the varsity match at 7 p.m.

The Tiger teams both are 1-1 for the season. Coach Joyce Elrod said probable starters for the varsity are Kim Nicholson, Valerie Wilson, Pam Kohl, Susan Walker, Della Braziel and either Andra Crenshaw or Gena Von Roeder.

Probable starters for the junior varsity include Sherry Neves, Debbie Meyers, Shana Smith, Cindy Koonsman, Connie Pollard and Danna Meyers.

Mrs. Elrod said Cooper, a 4 A team, has a lot of height and consequently probably will be strong at the net.

Women Bowlers Are Needed

Women bowlers are needed for the Wednesday Doubles League.

"We need some women to bowl Wednesday afternoons," said spokesmen for the league.

Anyone interested in bowling then may contact Marie Calvert in Hermleigh at 863-2424 or call 573-3707 or 573-2811.

Taxpayers Win More Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ordinary taxpayers are winning more benefits than they are losing as a Senate-House panel puts together a compromise tax-revision bill.

The final score may be known late this week, when members of the conference committee expect to finish the bill and send it to the House and Senate for one last vote.

Most issues concerning individual taxpayers were settled during the first seven days of the conference. Chief among these is a $15-billion-a-year tax-cut extension through Dec. 31, 1977.

Provisions generally affecting only taxpayers who earn more than $50,000 a year are the major points of contention remaining between the House and Senate conferees. There is some risk that if taxes on the rich are raised too sharply, the final bill could be in trouble in the Senate. But if too many tax shelters are left untouched, the measure could face rough going in the House.

Meanwhile, President Ford issued a statement Monday calling on Congress to approve a tax bill that meets the needs of all Americans.

"Unfortunately, Congress has become ensnarled in rewriting of detailed provisions of the tax code and has failed to recognize the broad interests of the country," Ford asserted.

Here is a summary of the conference committee's work.

PENDING

CHILD CARE — An expanded tax credit for child-care expenses is assured since such a provision was passed in both the House and Senate bills. The only question is how much bigger the credit will be.

The House and Senate bills agree that the current child-care deduction should be replaced with a tax credit, which will benefit even those families that do not itemize deductions.

The maximum credit — subtracted directly from taxes owed — would be $400 a year for the care of one child and $800 for two or more. The credit would apply even if one or both parents work only part-time.

SICK PAY — The House wants to eliminate the current law that allows tax-free treatment of up to $100 a week that is paid a sick worker by the employer, and replace it with a tax exemption of up to $5,200 a year for permanently and totally disabled retirees under age 65.

The Senate bill would keep sick pay for workers making $15,000 or less but phase it down between $15,000 and $20,000 and eliminate it above $20,000 income.

PENSIONS — Present law allows a worker who has no other pension plan to exempt from current taxes up to $1,500 a year to be set aside in an Individual Retirement Account (IRA). No tax is paid until the money is withdrawn at retirement.

The House voted to allow workers whose company pensions are inadequate to invest in an IRA on a limited basis. This would cost $502 million a year by 1981 and is not in the Senate bill.

APPROVED

HOUSEWIVES' PENSIONS — A worker who qualifies for an IRA could set aside an additional $250 a year for his spouse who does not work outside the home.

For Wednesday, Sept. 8, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You have the faculty today for creating problems that could easily be avoided. Be very careful. The toes you trod upon may be your own.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In dealing with your peers today, don't try to be the big cheese. Your associates will respond better to consultation.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have the authority over others, use it wisely today. Abuse of power will make enemies who are not likely to forget your transgressions.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Unpopular causes may be your lot to champion today. That's your prerogative. Just don't try to force them on other people.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your financial situation is extremely critical today. Be sure that in joint ventures everyone is carrying his share of the load or you won't make out.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) While you may feel domineering today, that's no indication that you're right. Friends could sense you're trying to impose your will on them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You've reached the outer limits of letting things slip by. Any more digression will make it hard for you to catch up.

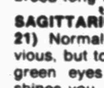

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) While you may be able to get things done by coercing friends, it won't be worth it in the end. Your methods could breed long-standing grudges.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Normally you're not envious, but today you could get green eyes if someone outshines you. You'd be wise not to let it show.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) You know that certain topics can agitate an acquaintance. Avoid them today. You are better off to let sleeping dogs lie.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) A very tricky day where your personal finances or business holdings are concerned. You'd be very smart to postpone decisions in these areas.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) One-to-one relationships could be difficult for you today. Let companions have their way even if they come on a little strong, but don't demean yourself.

Your Birthday

Shoppers Still Look For Price, Brand Name

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Americans are paying more attention to what goes into the food they eat these days, but supermarket shoppers still look for price and brand name before they check for ingredients or nutritional value.

That's one of the findings of a report by the consumer studies division of the Food and Drug Administration, which surveyed people in 1973 and again in 1975 to try to find out how much consumers know about food and nutrition.

Among the questions in the recently-released report was one asking people what they paid attention to when shopping for food.

Price was the item named most often. Almost three-fourths of those surveyed both in 1973 and 1975 said they looked at the cost of the item.

Brand name was second on the list, but it apparently is declining in importance. Fifty-eight per cent of those surveyed in 1973 and 54 per cent of those checked in 1975 said they paid attention to the brand name of a product.

The biggest change was in the number of people looking for some kind of date on the package — indicating either when the product was made or by when it should be used. Fifty-nine per cent of those questioned in 1975 said they paid attention to the date of manufacture or expiration, an increase of 16 percentage points from 1973.

Interest in nutritional value also increased. Only 27 per cent of those checked in 1973 said they looked for the calories, vitamins and minerals in a product; 41 per cent of the 1975 group said they paid attention to nutrition.

The number of people who paid attention to ingredient lists rose by five percentage points — from 42 per cent in 1973 to 47 per cent in 1975. Twenty-six per cent of those surveyed last year said they paid attention to the proportion of the major ingredient in a product — how much beef in canned beef goulash, for example. That was an increase of eight percentage points from 1973.

The FDA has been trying to learn what consumers think of nutritional labeling — now required for manufacturers who make a nutritional claim for their products — and whether shoppers actually will use the information. Some food industry officials claim there is not enough interest among the general public to justify the added costs.

While the regulators, the industry and the public debate what should — or shouldn't appear on the label — the Agricultural Research Center in Greenbelt, Md., is trying to determine exactly what goes into some 60,000 food items.

The center is setting up a Nutrient Composition Laboratory with an $800,000 annual budget and a staff of 36 scientists as part of its Nutrition Institute headed by Dr. Walter Mertz.

Thatcher Says Chances Not Bad

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — British Conservative party leader Margaret Thatcher, concluding a two-day visit to Pakistan, says her chances of becoming England's first woman prime minister are "not bad."

She made the statement at a news conference Monday following private meetings with Pakistani Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto.

Dr. Lamb

Blood sugar questions asked

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have high blood sugar, but I'm not diabetic, maybe borderline. I have quit eating sweets, also potatoes. Should I also quit eating bread?

DEAR READER—One high sugar (glucose) level does not make a diagnosis. If you are overweight you should concentrate on losing fat as your main goal. To that end eliminating high calorie sweets is a good idea.

Bread is an important part of most diets. The usual diabetic can eat bread. Even the diabetic, which you say you are not, has a diet plan that fits with his treatment. Should he require insulin, the amount is geared to his diet, whatever that may be, and his daily physical activity or life style. Changing any of these can upset the treatment program. This means that most diabetics can and do eat bread. You need some whole wheat bread or cereal to provide cereal fiber in your diet.

You should also consider eliminating all the excess fat in your diet, particularly if you have a weight problem. In recent years diabetic specialists have emphasized that the type of diet needed for diabetics is low in fat and cholesterol to help avoid the high incidence of heart attacks and vascular disease in diabetics.

To give you a better idea of the thinking about treating diabetes I am sending you The Health Letter number 3-11, Diabetes: Diagnosis, Prevention, and Management. Others who want this information can send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope with 50 cents for it. Just address your letter to me in care of this newspaper. P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My daughter who is 14 has not started her monthly period. She is very concerned because all her girlfriends have. She is small for her age, 4 feet 10 and weighs 80 pounds.

She doesn't want to go to the doctor. Please tell us about menstruation.

DEAR READER—The first thing to do is relax. The onset of menstruation varies from ages 10 to 16 for most girls. Five per cent do not have their first period until between the ages of 16 and 18 and one percent between ages 18 and 20.

Climate, habits and hereditary factors are all important in determining the onset. Unless your daughter has some definite signs of an endocrine deficiency or is not otherwise in good health I would recommend ignoring the situation until she is at least 16.

Sometimes menstruation is delayed because of obesity or more often these days from excessive preoccupation about weight, associated with ill-advised crash and fad diets.

Just be sure she has a good healthy diet, avoids obesity and remains normally active. Nature usually does the rest. So don't get upset about it and give nature a chance.

You may be interested to know that menstruation between the ages of 2 and 8, with pregnancy, has been reported occasionally in some apparently healthy young girls. In other instances of such early menstruation underlying medical problems caused the early menstruation..

Jeff Does Not RecommendPot

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Jeff Carter, 22-year-old son of Jimmy Carter, says that although he has tried marijuana "I don't recommend it to anybody."

Young Carter made the comment at a news conference Monday as he and his wife, Annette, joined Carter family members for the start of Carter's campaign in the South.

Jeff's mother, Rosalynn, disclosed in an interview last week that her three sons have smoked marijuana. Jeff told reporters, "I don't know why she said it. I kind of wish she hadn't."

While saying he does not recommend it, he said the laws agains marijuana in some places are too severe and that authorities should be "more lenient" about it.

If his father is elected president, he said, "I think he'll try to decriminalize marijuana."

The Democratic presidential nominee has said before that he favors a modified form of marijuana decriminalization, with civil penalties for possession of small amounts.

PUBLIC NOTICE

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
GENERAL ELECTION NOV. 2, 1976

NUMBER ONE ON THE BALLOT (S.J.R. 49)

Repealing Sections 49-d and 49-d-1 of Article III of the Texas Constitution, S.J.R. 49 amends Section 49-c of Article III of the Texas Constitution to provide for and authorize an additional $400 million in Texas water development bonds that may be issued on approval of two-thirds of the members of each house of the Legislature for such water development purposes as the Legislature may prescribe.

The amendment contains a specific prohibition against the use of state funds for the development of water resources from the Mississippi River and also requires that before any single water development project may be undertaken requiring the expenditure of more than $35 million in bond proceeds, it must be approved by resolution of the Legislature.

The amendment removes the constitutional requirement that certain revenues must be used to retire water development and water quality enhancement bonds and removes the constitutional interest rate limit on such bonds.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing an increase of $400 million in the amount of Texas Water Development Bonds that may be issued on approval of two-thirds of the legislature; amending and consolidating provisions of Sections 49-c, 49-d and 49-d-1 of Article III of the Texas Constitution; and repealing Sections 49-d and 49-d-1 of Article III of the Texas Constitution."

NUMBER TWO ON THE BALLOT (H.J.R. 99)

H.J.R. 99 proposes an amendment to the Texas Constitution to increase from $100 million to $200 million the aggregate principle amount of Texas water development bonds which may be issued and outstanding by the Texas Water Development Board to provide grants and loans for water quality enhancement purposes as established by the Legislature.

The wording of the proposed amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:

"A constitutional amendment to increase from $100 million to $200 million the amount of Texas Water Development Bonds that may be issued for water quality enhancement purposes."

Many Educational Aids Are Now On Hand At Snyder Book Store

The Snyder Book Store has a host of educational aids and supplementary reading materials for the boy or girl that is returning to school. It has a full line of Cliff and Monarch Notes that will make a difficult English class so much easier.

In addition to Cliff and Monarch Notes, the Snyder Book Store has a full line of dictionaries. Ranging from elementary to intermediate to collegiate levels, it has the dictionary for any student from elementary school to college.

Mrs. Betty Shelburne, owner and manager of the Snyder Book Store, said there is something for everyone at her book emporium. No matter what the occasion, there is a book at the Snyder Book Store to meet the need.

To get a youngster interested in reading, you must first expose him to something he wants to read and the Snyder Book Store has a whole series of children's books that is bound to interest any child. Among the series of books it has the following: the Harlequin Romance books, the Nancy Drew books, the Bobbsey Twins, the Hardy Boys, the Dana Girls, Tom Swift, Little House on the Prairie and the Bible Story books.

Mrs. Shelburne said she also has in stock at the Snyder Book Store a large collection of Bibles. Ranging from prices of $2.45 to $50, there is a Bible you can afford. Bibles make excellent gifts and to give a more personal meaning to the Bible, the name of the person receiving it can be imprinted on the cover. The Bibles are beautifully bound with hardback or leather covers and can make a beautiful display piece in the home.

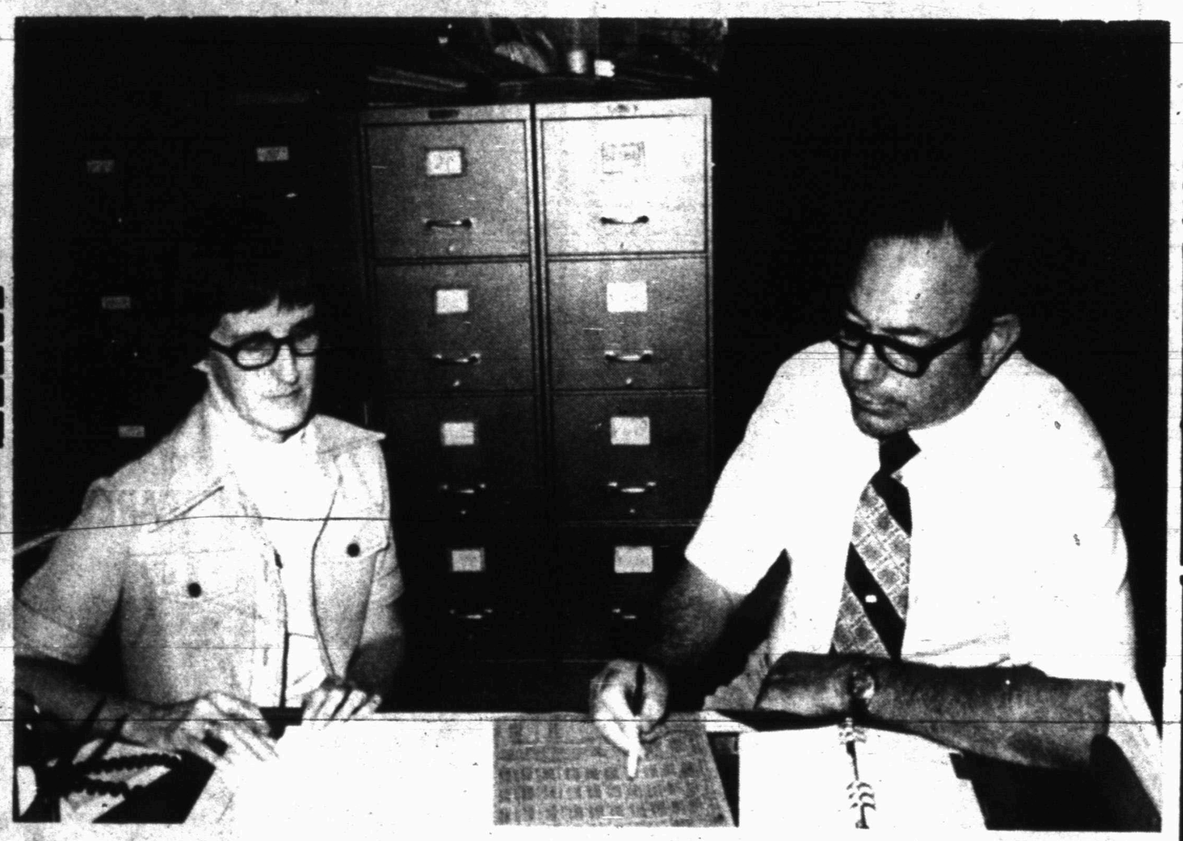

The Snyder Book Store has much more than just books, however. Greeting cards also abound there. The cards send cheer or sympathy and are designed to fit any occasion.

There are also records to be found there. And, the Snyder Book Store has something for the bride-to-be.

The Snyder Book Store can do imprinting work on thank you notes and napkins. Mrs. Shelburne said that she can order wedding invitations from four different companies.

Also in stock at the Snyder Book Store are cook books, napkins and party goods, and religious best sellers such as "Angels" by Billy Graham. Books explaining the Bible and biblical themes in easy-to-understand layman's language are also at the Snyder Book Store.

The Snyder Book Store, located at 3904 College Avenue, is open from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday. If you want to find a wholesome and interesting book, go by and browse around. You're sure to find something you need.

REVIEW POLICY—Roy J. McCloskey, local State Farm Agent and Vera Nell Harless, secretary, are reviewing the new hospitalization policy made available by State Farm on Sept. 1. The new policy provides for almost complete coverage for illness or accidents, depending upon the benefits selected. For those who may desire to cut the costs they may select a deductible. Also the new hospital-surgical policy now provides for almost complete maternity benefits, if the policyholder desires to add them.

New State Farm Medical Policy Became Available Here Sept. 1

State Farm's new Hospital-Surgical policy is the most up-to-date and competitive hospitalization policy available anywhere, according to Roy J. McCloskey, the local State Farm Agent. The new policy became available on Sept. 1 and was tailored to meet the needs of the policyholder.

For instance, McCloskey advises that the new policy provides for payment of a number of items that were not contained in the former policy of for that matter they are not contained in some of the hospitalization policies now being offered to the public. He enumerates the additional benefits as follows:

1. Pays for ambulance fees to and from hospital.
2. When intensive care is needed pays double the daily room rent for a maximum of 14 days.
3. Newborn child coverage is automatically provided for 31 days from moment of birth for any sickness or accident that may occur.
4. Complications of pregnancy are no longer excluded under the new policy.
5. When emergency room treatment is needed for an accidental injury, normally the full amount for the medical services and supplies will be paid.
6. For those policyholders who may desire maternity benefits, a rider can be added for an additional fee, that will provide for almost full coverage depending upon the daily room benefit selected.
7. Also the new policy provides for deductibles that may be elected, if a policyholder desires to reduce his premium.

McCloskey would encourage anyone who may be in need of Health Insurance to investigate State Farm's new policy before they buy. He invites you to call him or come by his office and let either he or his secretary, Mrs. Vera Harless explain the policy.
