

Banquet Trio

TESCO Plan To Double Generating

The president of Texas Electric Service Company revealed plans for more electric power here Monday, but he placed prime importance upon his company employees if customers get the best benefit from their electric service.

Hulsey put the value stick to employee service as he spoke to 250 members of the area TESCO "family" in Civic House.

It was the annual Quarter Century Club banquet when TESCO employees and their guests from Colorado City, Sweetwater and Snyder honor those employees who have 25 or more years of service with Texas Electric.

Two new members to the club -- L. T. Keller of Snyder and Mrs. Dorris Shillingburg of Sweetwater -- were recognized and presented service awards.

As he emphasized the responsibility of company employees, Hulsey reported that TESCO was moving ahead with more expansion.

"The continued economic growth of our area will require a growing power supply," the TESCO president said, "and more electric power will be needed to solve environmental problems--electricity for water purification, control of air pollution, treatment of sewage and industrial waste and the recycling of metal, glass and paper.

"We've not had any of the 'power crisis' problems that have plagued other parts of the country. But more important we have a planned program of new construction that will prevent future shortages. Our generating capability will be doubled by 1980.

"This expansion comes at a time when interest rates are at high levels and construction costs are at all-time highs. Our capital requirements in the next five years will be greater than in the last 13 years combined. New capital will have to be obtained in a very competitive money market and at interest rates that are almost twice as high as they were just six years ago."

Hulsey said the average cost per residential kilowatt hour has decreased about 43 per cent since 1945. Customers have lower rates and are buying more electricity for their dollar than they did 25 or even 10 years ago. "Economic pressures are about to reverse this downward trend in the price of electricity," he said, "and such changes have already occurred in most other parts of the country."

"The electric service our customers get is invisible," Hulsey said. "It is hard to define, and it is not easily understood. Therefore, we must be doubly concerned about what is visible. What our customers do see is our helpfulness, our friendliness, our promptness and our ability to perform all the jobs that create good electric service."

Hulsey outlined five basic requirements for backing up a theme TESCO has used recently in its advertising program, "People Power... at your service."

"First, we must have a strong power system--one that is capable of keeping pace with growing customer needs.

"Second, we must have dependable long-range fuel supplies.

"Third, we must maintain a strong financial condition in order to attract the large amount of capital needed."

Court Test For Tax Case

Dorn Claims City Taxes Unfair

A defendant in a city court suit for delinquent taxes will fight the suit claiming that the city's taxation is discriminatory, more than the law allows and that the annexation of his property was unconstitutional.

The unfair taxation is claimed by Huron Dorn, landowner defendant in the tax case, in his answer to the city's original plaintiff petition.

Dorn's answer was filed by his attorney, Tom L. Rees, in 32nd District Court here.

The court showdown has been expected since early September when Jack McCreary of Austin, contracted by the City of Colorado City, Mitchell County and Colorado Independent School District to collect delinquent taxes, filed 9 suits in 32nd District Court for back taxes.

Dorn, who owns property in vicinity of Interstate 20 at the city's north limits, was named as one of the defendants in those suits. However, he was named in a suit by the city only, while in the other 8 suits all three--city, county and school district--were parties to the action.

Dorn has contended for several years that his property should be supplied certain municipal services since it was brought into the city by annexation. And the city in its suit seeks $680.66 for municipal taxes on 160 acres he did not pay from 1966 through 1970.

The city lacks authority, Dorn contends, because the annexation of his property was unconstitutional as construed by both Texas and U.S. constitutions.

Dorn also contends that if the city does have the power of taxation pertaining to Dorn's property, then the city's taxes are "arbitrary, discriminatory and in excess allowed by law."

The discrimination results from the city's refusal to provide Dorn with "any and all city and municipal services, and thereby has not given true and adequate consideration for any taxes assessed" his real property, the defendant claims.

Dorn, in his answer to the suit, claims that he has "at all time requested municipal services" and "has continually been refused such services."

The city's action has damaged his property, Dorn contends, and he cannot sell his farm property for farm or rural residential properties since it has been within city classification and he "has been unable to sell the same for city property because the city has continued to refuse to provide any municipal services for such property."

Payment of the city taxes "would and does constitute taxation without any type of representation by the City of Colorado City," Dorn claims.

Man Held For Theft Of $900

Sheriff Lewis Claxton returned to Colorado City Tuesday night with Terry H. Purkey, who is charged here with theft of $900, a car and check forgery.

Purkey was arrested in Homa, La., after the charges were filed here in Precinct 1 Justice of Peace Leonard Henderson's Court.

He is accused of taking $900 unlawfully from Herman H. Osborne, local truck garage operator, last week.

In other complaints Purkey is charged with taking a 1964 Oldsmobile belonging to Osborne and with forging a $200 check on Osborne.

Officers reported that Osborne's car was taken after the owner had loaned the car to Purkey for an errand. Purkey had stopped here for truck repairs.

The accused man was taken into custody in Louisiana, where he lived, at the request of local authorities.

Second Arrest In Tire Theft

A second man has been taken into custody in connection with a recent theft here of expensive truck tires.

He is Sylvester Rose of Loraine, whose indictment by Mitchell County grand jury last week was not revealed until his recent arrest.

Rose is accused of fraudulently receiving 3 Cooper truck tires from Leon Molina of Colorado City, who is charged with stealing the tires from Les Fuller Trucktown.

The transaction between Rose and Molina is alleged to have been made Sept. 24.

the theft, the tires were valued at approximately $285.

Investigation into the theft here resulted after Texas Ranger Gene Graves reported that new truck tires had been sold in the Sweetwater area.

A check with Fuller revealed tires missing from his Interstate 20 firm and within a short time both Rose and Molina were questioned by sheriff's officers.

Two break-ins were reported here this week and one at Corner Drug puzzled police.

Doss Sought For Stabbing

A 36-year-old Colorado City man, whose car was found in Snyder, is being sought in connection with a Big Spring stabbing.

Albert (Sonny) Doss has been charged with assault with intent to commit murder.

The felony charge was filed in Big Spring after Melvin Altom, 24, a Big Spring resident, was seriously injured at a Big Spring tavern Saturday night.

Big Spring police said Altom was stabbed during an argument with four other men.

The other three--not named in the assault charge with Doss--were checked out here by Colorado City officers and 3 pocket knives were taken by police. And Big Spring was notified that Doss had left town.

Later the accused man's car was found in Snyder and Big Spring officers reported Tuesday he may be enroute to Florida.

Crop Group Maps Farm Programs

A hay show, intensified soil fertility program, farm education meetings and sprayer calibration clinics are on the agriculture calendar for Mitchell County's 1972 crop year.

Plans for the events were initiated here Tuesday in a meeting of the crops committee for Mitchell County's Program Building Committee.

Conferring with the 5 local members--Rex McKenney, Linden Solomon, Edward Roach, Royce Beights and Murrell Blessingame--were Dr. Bob Metzger of Lubbock, Extension Service area agronomist; County Agent Bobby Lemons and representatives from agricultural chemical firms.

The hay show will be planned in conjunction with the annual county farm tour and will emphasize methods for assuring quality hay.

A specialist will be invited to speak at the show, providing data for determining quality hay and pointing out time for cutting that will not minimize quality. Various classes of hay will be on display during the show.

The hay program will be of special benefit to producers who may be cutting and storing hay that is not of proper quality and, thus, of little or no value.

At the same time, the committee decided that the annual farm tour will be of more value next year with at least one stop for "in depth" study and inspection by the touring group.

The committee placed prime importance on soil fertility and decided to make a definite attempt to establish more intensified soil fertility program for both cotton and grain sorghums.

Farmers will also be urged to rely more on disease resistant crop varieties and rotation of their crops in the battle against cercarial and fusarium diseases. Both have increased within the county during the current year and are causing serious damage.

Four major topics will be included in a special agricultural education meeting planned by the committee for February. These include herbicides, adaptation of revised or new government program for the individual farm, discussion of a fall diapause in a more effective control program against the boll weevil, and prospects for new crops to fit into the county's agricultural income.

Sprayer calibration clinics are planned in the spring to coincide with the planting season so that herbicides may be applied for maximum benefit.

County Agent Lemons reported that demonstrations being observed during the current crop year show promise of being successful with good data. The 8 demonstrations plots include tests for herbicides, fertilizer, grain sorghum and cotton varieties.

The committee members--after an informal exchange of crop outlooks--reached a consensus prediction for Mitchell County's 1971 cotton crop, A-about 20,000 bales, they said.

Wolves Face Snyder Power

The Snyder Tigers are 9-4 point favorites over the Colorado City Wolves in Friday night's 3-AAA District Game to be played at Wolf Stadium, according to the Harris Poll.

The game is a must for both teams if they hope to have any chance at winning or sharing a lead of the district crown.

Snyder currently is tied for second in the district with wins over Sweetwater and Brownfield and one loss which came last week against powerful Dunbar of Lubbock.

Colorado City has lost two district games, to Lamesa, who shares second place with Snyder and to Estacado, who is undefeated in district play and leads the district.

The Wolves have one tie which came against Lakeview, who shares the district cellar with Colorado City.

Every game is now a must for Colorado City if there is to be any chance of being close to winning or sharing the district crown.

Although, a surprising Snyder team, which defeated Colorado City last year to the tune of 46-28, is favored in Friday night's game, members of the Colorado City team are determined to upset the Tigers.

This will be Snyder's last year in AAA as next year they will go to a AAAA district and will no longer play Colorado City.

And of course, Snyder will have to contend with what seems to be a jinx against them when they visit Colorado City.

It has been some time since Snyder has won a game at Wolf Stadium.

The Tigers have a powerful running game, lead by fullback Mike Glasscock who also plays a whale of a defensive game, according to Wolves' coach Weldon Brevard.

Snyder will be determined to bounce back from last week's See WOLVES

Eula Defeats Westbrook

The Westbrook girls' and boys' "A" teams were dropped from the ranks of the undefeated in basketball games Tuesday night against teams from Eula.

However, the Westbrook boys' "B" team was a winner over Eula by a score of 57-47 with Rodney Moore and Glenn Sullivan dropping in 16 points each for Westbrook.

The boys' "A" team lost by a score of 65-63 with Eulodoro Reyes scoring 17 points for Westbrook.

In the girls games, Westbrook was defeated 53-29 with Roxann Moore scoring 15 points for Westbrook.

Allowance Offered For Wiring

Colorado City electric appliance dealers and Texas Electric Service Co. are co-operating in a two-month "End Washday Hang-Ups With a Flameless Electric Dryer," campaign during October and November.

A special wiring allowance is being offered by dealers to purchasers of electric dryers installed in homes served by Texas Electric Service Company.

A wide selection of dryer models to fit the needs and pocketbooks of those who want to save time and work in drying the family clothes are being shown by electric dryer dealers.

Dealers here who are participating in the two-month campaign have been supplied with window signs designed around the "End Washday Hang-Ups" theme.

Dr. Maxine Kubecka is a graduate of Colorado High School and first attended A&M in 1966. She is granddaughter of the late Howard Rogers, a long time farmer and rancher in the county.

It's Birthday No. 1 For Shanna Byrd

Shanna Byrd of Westbrook is celebrating her first birthday today (Thursday).

As usual for a one-year-old she'll have a birthday cake with a single candle plus all the attention and best wishes of parents, grandparents, other relatives and friends.

And "as usual" or normal can be used to describe the baby girl as well as the birthday she'll have. . . a year ago, it was a different story.

The "miracle baby" as her parents, Dale and Elaine Byrd, called her was born in Root Memorial Hospital nine weeks premature.

She weighed only two pounds, 12 ounces at birth and lost a few more ounces before she got her hold on life. She remained in the hospital a month—that was when she reached three pounds, four ounces.

"She had no problems of breathing or eating," Mrs. Byrd said, "her body just wasn't big enough. We carried her in a shoe box when we first took her home, she was still so tiny."

And it was after she weighed five pounds that the Byrds got to take her out among people.

Today she's a happy, 15-pound red head who's learning to walk and stands 27 1/2 inches tall - 11 1/2 inches more than when she was born.

With Shanna for her birthday in addition to her parents will be her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Byrd, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hale of Westbrook, and her great-grandmother, Mrs. Leona Jones of Midland.

Shanna's middle name is Lynette, named for one of Mrs. Byrd's friends. It wasn't very long ago that the Byrds found out that Lynette in French means "little bird". How much more appropriate can a name be?

Blassingame Gets Honor At Ft. Polk

Specialist Four Larry F. Blassingame received awards in ceremonies Oct. 15 as Fort Polk's outstanding soldier of the quarter for the second quarter of fiscal year of 1972.

Schofield To Entertain At Fellowship

Joe Schofield, a former guitarist with television star Glen Campbell, will return to Colorado City for after-game fellowship Friday night at First Baptist Church.

Schofield, now a student at Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene, was featured during one of last year's after-game events at First Baptist.

Refreshments of hot dogs and soft drinks will be served.

All high school youths are invited to the after-game fete in the church's Fellowship Hall by Frank Previtt, minister of music, youth and education.

Blassingame, son of Mrs. Loda Blassingame of Buford Community, was one of two receiving the honor.

A company clerk, he received an engraved plaque, letter of commendation and $25 Savings Bond from Col. George H. Ried, deputy installation commander.

Criteria for awards are excellence in performance of duties and demonstrated qualities of leadership and professionalism.

Blassingame, a Mitchell County native, was inducted into service at Fort Ord, Cal., and they sent to Fort Campbell, Ky., for basic training.

The 25-year-old serviceman lives in DeRidder, with his wife, Jeanna, and their 20-month-old daughter, Catherine.

Group Hears Neal In Joint Meet

A program of projection pictures and comments from material of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department highlighted an open meeting sponsored Oct. 14 by Colorado City Garden Club and Chamber of Commerce Cultural Committee in Lone Wolf Medallion Room.

The discussion of "Wildlife Ecology" was based on information compiled by W. R. Long, regional information and education officer, and presented by Larry Neal, superintendent of Lake Colorado City State Park.

Neal, introduced by City Manager J. A. Sadler Jr., began by explaining that ecology is a study of the relationships of living things to their environment.

He described forest fires and volcanoes as forms of nature's pollution, saying, "Forest fires are nature's way of charring away the tree tops that are too dense giving sun and air to the under growth."

The speaker named salt as a water pollutant and insecticides, improperly used, a likely cause of death to birds, fish and animals.

Pictures included those of animals and birds threatened with extinction, those native to the immediate locale and others that have been imported.

In concluding remarks Neal said, "I would like to challenge each of you not to pollute. Show by actions, not words, not to be a non-polluter."

Mrs. Earl Brown, Garden Club president, presided in the meeting. Mrs. H. Jene Steakley poured punch during the refreshment hour.

Hostesses for the program were Mrs. Roy Davis Coles, Mrs. E. M. Owen, Mrs. Edwin Carlock and Mrs. Steakley.

Attending were Anita Bryant, Mary Jane Burson, Elizabeth Clark, Effie Kinman, Diana McClure, Theresa McClure, Kathy Moore, Terry Salmon, Rosie Sims and Mrs. George Bryant, class teacher.

Self Culture Club Studies Education 'Then and Now'

"Education - Then and Now" was topic of study during the last club meeting of Self Culture Study Club in home of Mrs. L. A. Strain.

A trio of speakers - Mrs. John Brown, Mrs. R. M. Reed and Mrs. Wilfred Fox - presented the program in three parts.

Mrs. Fox presented the thought that present etiquette customs may be centuries old.

She discussed several customs of today that have grown out of century old thoughtfulness.

The speaker named several customs as "regulations" but in violating customs today's generation does not necessarily show bad manners.

"Anything that offends is bad manners," Mrs. Fox explained, "and you can define good manners in just three words - consideration for others."

In concluding remarks Mrs. Fox said that manners must be taught, they're not instinctive.

Mrs. John Brown spoke about prayer in public schools reviewing the Supreme Court ruling of 1962 which "prohibited the offering of prayer to God" in schools.

She told of the House Judiciary Committee hearing concerning the issue of 1964 and then reviewed the events of July 24, 1969, when after watching the astronauts return from the moon President Nixon asked the ship's chaplain to speak a prayer of thanksgiving.

"Now, 1970-71, the trend is toward the revival of prayer and the teaching of the Bible in public schools," Mrs. Brown said, "Some teachers had never discontinued it!"

In speaking of "Getting An Education Then and Now," Mrs. Reed told of how an education was completed for the older generation.

"Many children walked two miles or more to school and were instructed by dedicated, no-nonsense teachers who flunked the non-achievers who didn't measure up. A father who had no sympathy for indolence provided the extra-curricular disciplines that made a monthly grade card look quite respectable," said Mrs. Reed.

She explained that there were no strikes, protests, demonstrations or psychiatric treatments.

After suggestions for today's schools, Mrs. Reed quoted James S. Coleman, professor at John Hopkins University, as saying, "Instead of protecting the young from labor and trying to isolate them from the social problems that surround them, let them be allowed to tackle these problems with physical labor."

"Dr. Coleman proposes that the federal government issue 'educational vouchers' so that each student can study math, reading or history at his own pace and in his own way from the seventh grade up," Mrs. Reed said.

In closing she reported that these ideas are now being tried in Texarkana, Ark., as well as on the Texas side of the city.

Club collect for the afternoon session was led by Mrs. L. B. Elliott.

In a business session club members voted to provide gifts for the Volunteer Council for the mentally retarded and tubercular patients at Sanatorium near San Angelo.

New Area Markers

Four Planned For Near Future

New historical markers have been approved by Mitchell County Historical Survey Committee.

And the local group has received notification from Texas Historical Survey Society for the approval of a third marker.

Members of the county committee Oct. 20 voted approval to markers honoring the late Dr. P. C. Coleman, an early day doctor here, and the late J. W. King, long time resident of Loraine.

The Coleman stone will be placed in Colorado City - the exact location will be determined at a later date by the committee. The King marker will be in J. W. King Park in Loraine.

Already approved by the state is a marker for the Conway Community, which is to be erected in the near future. Dedication ceremonies will be planned for a later date.

State application has been made by Mitchell County Historical Committee for still another marker - one for the recently renovated Colorado City Playhouse which was originally built in the early 1900's as an opera house.

Clubs Hear Future Told

A laser beam and a telephone system that will follow you around highlighted a program given by Southwestern Bell Science Demonstrator Roy Wickerham at Friday's meeting of the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs and at a Colorado City High School assembly.

The program, entitled "Innovation in Three Acts," features innovations developed by Bell System scientists and engineers.

Wickerham told the group that laser beams will be used in the future to carry music or voice signals, television programs, computer data and other types of communications.

He also passed telephones out in the audience to demonstrate future telephone services. He showed how you will be able to transfer calls to another number by dialing a code number.

"With this service, you will be able to have your calls follow you whenever you leave your home or office," Wickerham said.

Future telephones will also take over at the sound of a busy signal and complete your call when the busy party hangs up. Wickerham explained that it will also be possible to add parties to a conversation by dialing additional numbers without hanging up.

"Wickerham travels the western half of Texas demonstrating Bell System innovations," said Bill Gilliland, Southwestern Bell manager for Colorado City. "His 14 years of technical experience and his periodic visits to Bell Laboratories make him well-qualified to discuss what's happening in Bell System technology today."

DRIVE CAREFULLY

Halloween 1971 falls on this coming Sunday.

It'll be the time for Trick or Treaters. However, since Halloween falls on Sunday, the issue will be confused.

Some youngsters, whose costumes will range from simple masks to elaborate costumes, will hit the streets looking for candies and other goodies Thursday night following the school carnival.

For others Trick or Treat time will fall on Saturday night. And then still others will wait until it is actually Halloween on Sunday.

All this is to say that for the rest of this week, the early evening hours will see many youngsters on the streets. Their minds are imagining what kind of treats they will receive - not on watching for cars when they cross the street.

Please drive carefully.

Colorado Independent School District-Statement Of Cash Receipts And Disbursements-For The Fiscal Year Ending August 31, 1972

We have examined the Cash Receipts and Disbursements Statement, Comparison of the Official Budget with Revenues and Expenditures, Bond Schedule, and related records of the Colorado Independent School District for the year ended August 31, 1971. Our examination was made in accordance with generally accepted records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The accounting records for revenues are maintained on the cash basis with the exception of amounts due from state sources which are recorded on the accrual basis.

All transactions of the Consolidated Application Fund and Bilingual Title VII are reflected in this report on the school year basis (September 1 to August 31). Separate audit reports have been made for these funds on the dates required by regulations.

In our opinion, the accompanying statements of cash receipts and disbursements, the comparison of the official budget with revenues and expenditures, and the bond schedule present fairly the cash transactions, revenues and expenditures on a modified accrual basis, except as stated in paragraph two and the bonded indebtedness of the Colorado Independent School District for the year ended August 31, 1971, in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles for public school districts applied on a basis consistent with that of the preceding year. Respectfully submitted, disappointing loss to Dunbar. Snyder jumped out to a 14-0 lead early in the game only to lose 22-14.

Joe H. Morren

Colorado City suffered a disappointing loss during its homecoming last week to Lamesa, 17-0. The defense again was the strong part of the Wolves' game but the offense showed promise under the direction of David Matthews and the running of Dewain Nix at I-back.

Although the Wolves defense looked respectable to fans, Colorado High coaches rated the defense as only the fourth best effort this year behind the Lakeview, Coahoma and Estacado games.

Receiving top scores on defense were Larry Kinard, Gene Hunt, Scott Hudson, Bobby Benson and Tim Stansel. These are the men who should receive the top marks as the defense is geared for them to make the tackles, Brevard said.

In order to help the offense, Brevard said the coaches will begin grading the offensive players in the film of the game with Snyder.

Brevard said the team had a good workout Tuesday and are primed for the game against arch-rival Snyder.

Community Service Projects Selected By Maranatha Club

Two community service projects were okayed last Thursday by Maranatha Study Club during a meeting in home of Mrs. D. L. Crosthwait.

The group voted to again sponsor Mrs. Dorothy Fowler's special education class at Wallace School and to send a cash donation to Big Spring State Hospital to be used for patients' Christmas gifts.

First activity to be sponsored for the Wallace Elementary class will be a Halloween party this week. Other parties will be hosted at Christmas and Valentine Day by Maranathas.

"Every Day Faith" was topic of program introduced by Mrs. Woody Crabtree.

Mrs. Newt Miller presented the afternoon program, "Faith Is The Key To Radiant Living," beginning the year's course of study of faith.

She defined spiritual faith to mean "believing will all hearts that God's word is true; that God will do what He says He will do."

saving faith, but he does have to know the basic fact that faith in God is necessary," Mrs. Miller said. "One doesn't have to understand electricity to light a room, but one does have to flip the switch."

Faith brings salvation," the group was told, but "we must work it out, cultivate it so it will produce good fruit - that's abundant life."

The disciples ask Christ to teach them to pray because they knew that once they learned to pray the power of God was at their disposal.

The full, abundant life comes through the Holy Spirit, the speaker continued.

"The power of the Spirit is unlimited but He can operate in the individual life only as that individual is willing to surrender to Him.

"The Holy Spirit gives us a new way of seeing by which we can perceive spiritual truths where all before was darkness.

"When we really decide to surrender our lives to the Holy Spirit and commit ourselves to His guidance every day, then only will we be capable of living a radiant life," Mrs. Miller concluded.

Mrs. Charles Stevens spoke the club's opening prayer. Meeting was closed with members reading the club collect in unison.

Attending were Mrs. James Brown, Mrs. Crabtree, Mrs. Crosthwait, Mrs. Wilfred Fox, Mrs. Elmer Martin, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. W. A. Pattillo, Mrs. Wayne Shaw and Mrs. Stevens.
