

$60,000 LOAN CONNECTED TO BANKING BILLS PASSAGE?

Barnes Denies Stock Scandal 'Deal'

DALLAS (AP) — Convicted Houston promoter Frank Sharp has named Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes in connection with two controversial banking bills tied to the state stock-banking scandals. Barnes immediately denied the allegations vigorously.

The Houston businessman made the charge in a deposition given the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Sharp testified that a former business partner, John Osorio, told him that "Barnes was smarter than the others, that Barnes takes only cash," it was revealed Thursday.

Barnes, a candidate for governor, immediately denied the allegations and said they constituted another in a series of attempts "that have been made to destroy me politically."

Barnes was to address the state AFL-CIO convention today in Dallas.

The allegations were recalled Wednesday by Sharp in a conversation he said took place with Osorio shortly after passage of the two banking bills in 1969.

News Director Eddie Barker of KDFW-TV said sources told him that Sharp testified Osorio said in a 1969 conversation that Barnes "delivered as he said he would."

Sharp wanted enactment of the banking bills, which would have exempted his Sharpstown State Bank in Houston from Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. regulations. Gov. Preston Smith vetoed the measures after opening a special legislative session for them.

Sharp pleaded guilty earlier this year to charges arising from the SEC probe and a Houston judge assessed him a probation three-year prison term and a fine. The financier received immunity from further prosecution in exchange for grand jury testimony.

The Dallas News said in a copyrighted story today that Osorio, who now lives in New York, saw a copy of the deposition Thursday.

A source, the News said, related that Osorio scribbled in the margin of the transcript beside the mention of Barnes: "Cheap trick. Part of the SEC script. Nothing like this ever took place with Ben. (signed) John Osorio."

The News also said Sharp told the SEC this week that state Sen. A.R. "Babe" Schwartz of Galveston got a $30,000 loan from a Sharp-controlled bank in consideration for dropping his opposition to a banking bill in 1969.

"The facts show that nothing could be farther from the truth," Schwartz said Thursday night. He said he got two $15,000 loans in 1968 with two Sharp-controlled banks in Dallas, and still is paying off the combined note.

Schwartz said he never met Sharp until 1970.

Osorio, a former president of the Sharp-controlled National Bankers Life Insurance Co., is one of 28 firms and persons, including Sharp, who has been linked to a massive stock-fraud scheme by the SEC in a civil suit filed in Dallas Jan. 18.

"Did Osorio tell you that he had to take care of a prominent political figure in Texas to get the banking bills through the legislature?" an SEC investigator asked Sharp, according to sources at the deposition-taking.

"I do not recall Osorio saying," Sharp was quoted as replying at first. But then, the sources said, he added:

"I do recall that after the banking bills were passed and before Gov. Smith vetoed them, Osorio was in my Houston office and that Osorio stated that Ben delivered as he said he would."

Sharp then reportedly told the SEC he stopped Osorio and took him outside to continue the conversation because his office was "bugged."

Sharp then told the SEC, according to the sources: "I asked Osorio if I was financially obligated to Ben Barnes for passing the bills and Osorio replied, 'No, I have already taken care of that.'"

Sharp said he told Osorio, "Okay, as long as I don't know anything about it," the sources said. In testimony Thursday, Sharp quoted Osorio as telling him, "It takes $20,000 to $25,000 a month for Barnes to keep his boat afloat."

The Houston financier also made reference Thursday to a $60,000 loan he alleged was made to Barnes by Dallas Bank & Trust to win his support of the bills, the sources said.

Wallace Tries To Ease Nixon's Busing 'Pains'

TROY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace, challenging President Nixon and the federal courts, today ordered the reopening under a freedom-of-choice plan of a black school closed two weeks ago by a federal court to speed integration.

Wallace issued an executive order directing the Limestone County school board to open the New Hope Junior High School and allow residents of the predominantly Negro community to choose the county school their children will attend this fall.

PRETTY BLACK

The New Hope School, established in the early 1920s, had only black pupils for many years. At the end of the 1970-71 school year, there were 184 Negro and five white children in the student body.

Wallace ordered the school board to reinstitute the attendance zone plan in effect last school year which permitted pupils in the New Hope community to attend that school or any other of their choice in the county. He directed the board to provide transportation for those who elect to attend other schools.

'ECONOMIC BURDEN'

Acknowledging that his action will create an "economic burden" for the board, the governor said the state will contribute $30,000 "to help in renovating the New Hope School to provide adequate classrooms for all students in the New Hope community who desire to attend New Hope School."

Wallace said that under a federal court order handed down July 30, New Hope pupils were assigned to Tanner and East Limestone schools 20 to 22 miles away. Bus transportation to Tanner and East Limestone is dangerous, he said, because the route is heavily traveled, "bumper to bumper" at times.

New Hope is one of more than 140 Negro schools in Alabama closed by a three-judge federal court as part of a stepped-up integration formula. Their pupils were reassigned to predominantly white schools.

SINGLED OUT

Wallace said one of the reasons he singled out the Limestone County school in northwest Alabama as the first to reopen is that more than 100 black parents petitioned him to intervene.

The governor had said earlier he would order the reopening of an undisclosed number of the schools under the freedom of choice plan which has been rejected by the federal courts. Until today, he had not identified any of them.

He made the announcement at Troy State University while here to receive an honorary doctor of laws degree and to deliver the commencement address closing the summer term.

JOIN UP

Wallace on Thursday ordered a white pupil transferred from a predominantly black school to which she was assigned by a federal court desegregation plan.

He called on the Nixon administration to join him in fighting the federal court desegregation plan and told newsmen he was trying to assist the President in his announced opposition to massive busing to obtain school integration.

"You might say Gov. Wallace is working closely with the President to help carry out his desire not to have massive busing," the Alabama chief executive said.

"If President Nixon is against massive busing, I would expect his attorney general and the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to join with me."

President Nixon's press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, pointed out that the President also has stressed that "the federal government has an obligation to uphold the law of the land."

LET'S LOOK

Asked for the President's reaction to Wallace's statement, Ziegler replied: "What he said was: 'Let's look into the matter.'"

Meanwhile, the six-member U.S. Civil Rights Commission issued a statement sharply critical of Nixon's stand against massive busing as a means of achieving integration in the schools. On Aug. 4, Nixon said he wanted no more busing than "the minimum required by law."

Wallace also said Thursday he may intervene to prevent the predominantly Negro school at Hobson City, near Anniston, from being paired with a predominantly white school at nearby Oxford. Pairing would mean that the first three grades from Oxford would attend Hobson City and the 4th through the 12th grades at Hobson City would go to Oxford.

Asked whether he expected court reprisals, Wallace replied:

NEEDS HELP

"Do you think that the Justice Department is going to ask a contempt citation when Nixon is against busing?"

He said his action "is a good way to test the sincerity of the Nixon administration. I'm going to give President Nixon a chance to carry out his wishes. He needs some help."

In the transfer case, Wallace said he had written the Jefferson County-Birmingham school board and Supt. J. Revis Hall ordering the reassignment of Pamela Davis to a school nearer her home.

"He said the Davis girl, who lives near the mining community of Mulga, was assigned to Westfield school, 22 miles from her home, under an attendance zone plan. Minor High School, predominantly white and four miles from her home, is in another zone."

TRAFFIC HAZARD

In his letter, Wallace said the busing of students long distances is "wrong, unjust and exposes students to increased risks-of-traffic hazards which could result in death or permanent injuries."

Wallace said his action was prompted by a letter from the girl's mother, who wrote that the long bus ride would be an undue hardship and that her daughter "has threatened to drop out of school."

25 PERISH IN IRISH FIGHTS

Tide Of Violence Ebbs

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The tide of violence in Northern Ireland ebbed today after four days of rioting, shooting and firebombing that has left 25 dead and hundreds injured.

Despite the lull, which appeared to be a recess of exhaustion by British troops and the Irish Republican Army, more hundreds of Roman Catholics fled south to the Irish Republic.

Slowly as the day brought no fresh outbreaks of violence, the 412,000 residents of Belfast began filling the stores and the offices, to work and to shop in almost normal fashion.

FLOW OF REFUGEES

Wholesale trucks once more ventured on their rounds. Slowly they conquered the food shortages of the week. Belfast, except in the burned out trouble areas, began to look almost normal.

In Belfast, Londonderry and Newry, all centers of religious and IRA fury since last weekend, the snipers and the bombers went underground.

One blast marred the peace—an explosion that damaged a Northern Ireland government building near Castleberry.

Police, freed of fires and snipers, moved to stem the flow of refugees, the thousands of Roman Catholics and Protestants who fled their homes this week in fear. Police said they would deal harshly with any cases where militants intimidate residents.

An army spokesman said a pistol was found at the dead man's side.

EQUAL VOICE

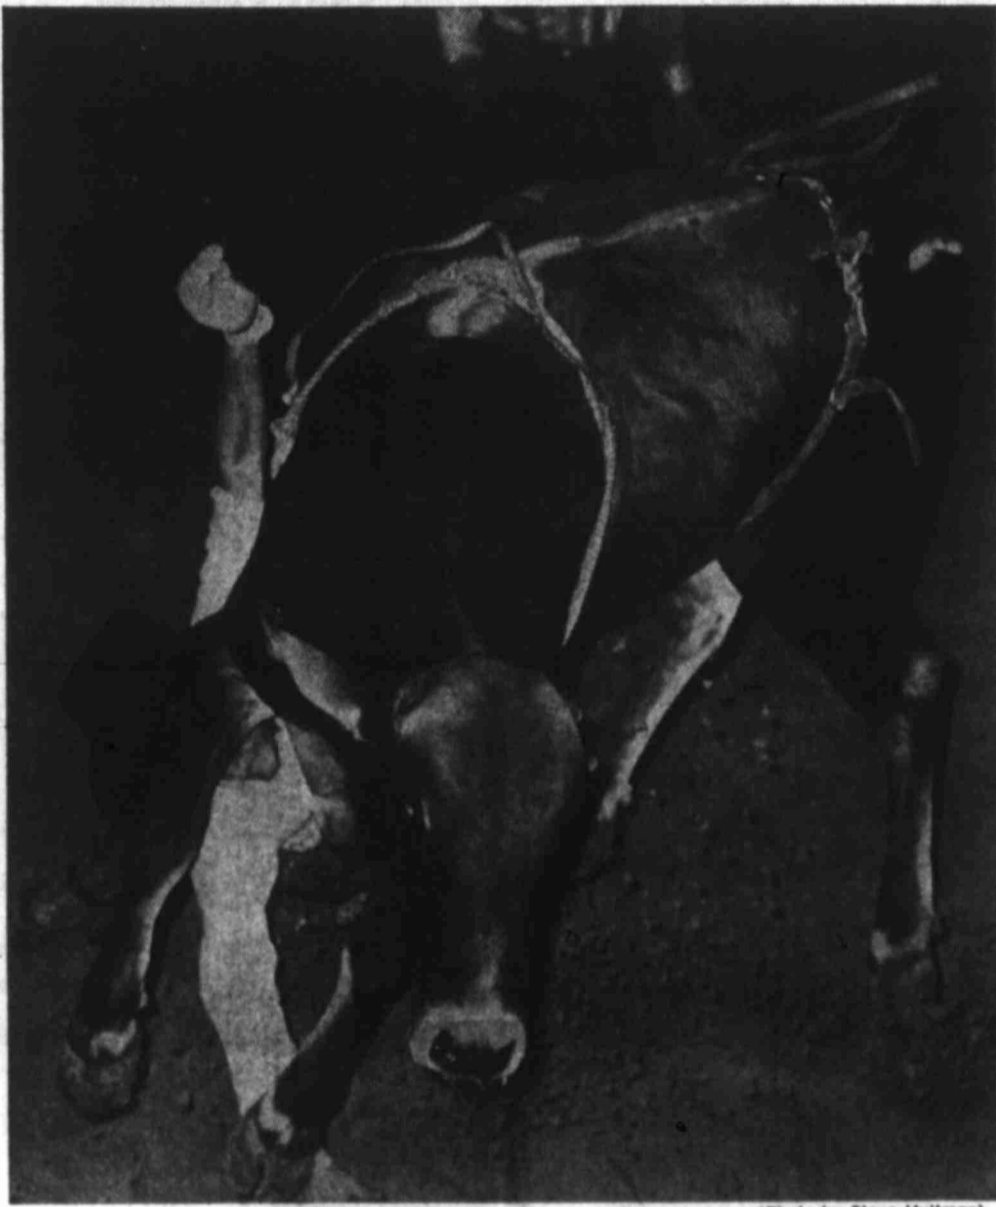

Troops and roaming gunmen in Belfast exchanged shots but no casualties were reported. Four explosions occurred in the town of Newry, near the Irish border, and a frontier road-block at Aghnacloy, County Tyrone, was peppered by a dozen shots from the Irish side of the border.

In Dublin, capital of the Irish Republic, Prime Minister Jack Lynch called for replacement of Northern Ireland's all-Protestant government by an administration giving equal voice to the province's Catholic minority and Protestant majority.

Lynch, regarded as a moderate in the Catholic South, also denounced the terrorists of the outlawed Irish Republican Army but blamed "the misgovernment to which the North has been subjected for so long" for the bloodshed.

THE FACE OF BELFAST'S TORMENT — Away from the horror, but the strain of life in Belfast shows in the faces of a mother — holding her son — and some of the children who disembarked at Princes Dock in Liverpool, England, today, as "refugees" from Northern Ireland. They were in a party of 82 Protestants who arrived only a few hours after terrorist guns had cracked on their housing estate.

WHOOOPS — Hanging on to a tough bucking bull is 'harder than it looks, as this Junior Rodeo cowboy is finding out. He is one of many thrown by the hard-bitten rodeo stock in the opening performance of the 4-H Junior Rodeo Thursday.

Contestants Battle Mud, Tough Rodeo Animals

By STEVE HULTMAN

Threatening skies frightened off some fans but didn't cool the enthusiasm of contestants in the opening performance of the Howard County Junior Rodeo at Rodeo Bowl Thursday evening.

Connie Hughes, Knott, was crowned as rodeo queen to climax the opening night. Young ropers and riders battled brawny and mean stock as well as a wet arena but kept the crowd excited throughout.

Times suffered from the slippery arena floor, and young cowboys and cowgirls took many a tumble before the whistle blew to end eight second rides.

The best rides were on the bareback broncs, where the high score was 74 and only one rider didn't make the whistle. More exciting, but less successful, were the bull rides. Only one rider completed his ride during the show. Three more finished in the slack, but 15 riders parted company with the tough bulls before their eight-second ride was finished.

A crowd-pleasing favorite was the wild steer race, in which three-man teams try to saddle and ride a full grown steer. The winning team, Roby Tindol, Monty Brooks and Roger Coates crossed the finish line amid gales of laughter.

The best calf roping time was 12.3, with most ropers having hard going in the wet arena. In the breakaway roping B. G. Cooper had a 4.4 second catch, in comparison to the no times most of the ropers had. Ribbon roping had girls running across a finish line after pulling a ribbon from the tail of a calf roped by their male partner.

The Junior Rodeo is sponsored by the Howard County 4-H Club as a money raising project. Admission to the show is $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children. The nightly shows (See RODEO, P. 6-A, C. 1)

Hill Country Flooding

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains fell in parts of South and Southwest Texas for the second straight day after taking the life of one man. Flooding was extensive.

Helicopters rescued some residents of D'Hanis, a town of about 500 persons west of San Antonio. Some evacuations also took place at Hondo nine miles west of D'Hanis. Hondo has a 6,000 population.

However, the downpours eased in the San Angelo area, where flooding occurred Thursday in some homes at Mertzon, 32 miles southwest of San Angelo.

Kerrville underwent another cloudburst today, with at least 8 inches falling after 6 inches or more poured down Thursday.

Widespread flooding occurred in the Hill Country around Kerrville. Water flowed two feet deep across the main highway in the city, while other streets under still higher water.

The Bear Hollow community seven miles north of Kerrville was isolated because of washed-out roads.

Some Kerrville workers could not get to their jobs today. Flooding in Kerrville caused some sewage backup problems Thursday.

A dozen or so counties, some of them as far east as Brownwood in the center of the state, were under flood warnings.

The Rio Grande was on a rise from rains earlier in the week.

There was joy in some quarters, however, in San Angelo, the center of a severe state drought only a short time ago. The city had a surplus of water.

AW, CHUTE, LET 'EM JUMP

ST. ALBANS, England (AP) — The Fiveaces Nudist Club wants to put on a nude parachute jump to raise money for the children's ward at the local hospital, but nobody will rent them a field to land in.

Four members of the club plan to come down from 10,000 feet with nothing on but their boots, and spectators would be charged for space around the landing strip.

STARTED BLAZE WHICH BURNED 34,000 ACRES

Convict-Firemen Trying To Help Land

LYTLE CREEK, Calif. (AP) — Last year Phillip J. Kelley caused a blaze that ravaged 34,000 acres of watershed worth $16 million and cost $1.25 million to put out. This summer he's back in the San Bernardino Mountains working to help the blackened lands recover, trying to prevent similar conflagrations while serving a four-month sentence. A judge ordered the 22-year-old Rialto, Calif., native to spend his jail term with a U.S. Forest Service fire crew.

Every weekday morning, Kelley climbs into the back of a truck with nine other prisoners and rides into the charred mountains 40 miles east of Los Angeles to help clear and restore the land. NIGHTMARE "I feel a lot of remorse, to say the least," said the hard-hatted Kelley, a base guitar player with a rock music group before the fire. "It was a nightmare."

The fire started Sept. 23, a day after Kelley's group finished a recording session in nearby Riverside. Kelley says he had gone to Lytle Creek in the mountains "to check on six marijuana plants I had there. "I brought along some fireworks I had purchased in Denver when the band was playing there. I started shooting them off. I was carefree, careless. I wasn't thinking how dry it was. "Suddenly one caught in a bush close to me. It began to flame up. I tried stepping on it. That was a mistake. All it did was spread it out. In seconds it was too late." PRAYED FOR RAIN As he fled from the fire he met a U.S. Forest Service crew. They questioned him and that night he admitted causing the blaze. As the fire spread during the next 36 hours, Kelley was in jail, feeling "pretty small, helpless." "I prayed for rain, but the fire kept spreading," he said. During his term, Kelley has "seen what the fire did. It's amazing. It looks like the moon completely devastated." He's also helped extinguish a 400-acre brush fire in nearby Apple Valley. Kelley, who considers himself lucky to have escaped a state prison term, plans to marry when he's released from jail. He also says he'll never smoke marijuana again and will become a Mormon.

Young Voters May Sign Up

Voting registration for the remainder of the 1971 election year is now open to all Howard County youths 18 to 20 years old, according to Mrs. Zirah L. Bednar, county tax assessor-collector. Mrs. Bednar received confirmation Thursday from Austin of Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr.'s new order Tuesday that 19 and 20 year-olds could register to vote this year. Previously, Dies had said that only those young people who had turned 18 since the close of 1971 voter registration could register. All 18 to 20 year-olds may register at any time between now and the March 1, 1972, closing of the current voting period. "There is one restriction put on all the young peoples' registrations," said Mrs. Bednar, "and that is that they cannot vote until 30 days after their voter registration application has been approved."

The last state officer from the Big Spring chapter was Easy Ezell, who served as district deputy to the state master councilor in 1966.

REJECTS WAGE-PRICE-CONTROL PROPOSAL Nixon's Magic Date For Turnabout

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is widening belief in the administration that September 21 is the magic date for a turnabout in President Nixon's anti-inflation policy. On that day Nixon will discuss with his 18-member National Commission on Productivity a recommendation for creating some form of wage-price review board—or perhaps separate boards for basic segments of industry. The meeting was mentioned by Nixon at his Aug. 4 news conference. He emphasized he would reject any wage-price-control proposal that would invite "a new bureaucracy with enormous criminal powers to fasten itself on the American economy." He said he had never seen a control plan without that flaw.

'INCOMES POLICY' But Nixon still left open the way to adoption of a purely voluntary program for reviewing pending major wage settlements and price decisions. Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur F. Burns has been plugging for such an "incomes policy" for months. The commission will look at industries in which major negotiations are pending, Nixon said, "and in addition to that we will consider a recommendation on wage-price boards." Nixon's avowed skepticism that any workable stabilization policy can be achieved by persuasion led many congressmen to express doubt that the proposal would get beyond the debate stage. But now a number of officials are convinced a White House decision for greater price-wage intervention has been all but made in principle, and that only the scale and structure of the effort remain in question. NO TAX RELIEF "I don't believe the President would have mentioned the Productivity Commission in this connection unless he was preparing to raise some recommendations with them," one ranking administration official said. An abrupt reversal of position by Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally was cited by another source as convincing evidence of a new official line. When Nixon named Connally his chief economic spokesman late in June, Connally told newsmen at the White House: "He (Nixon) isn't going to institute a wage-price review board. He isn't going to impose mandatory wage and price controls. He isn't going to ask Congress for any tax relief. He isn't going to increase fiscal spending." Yet on Aug. 4, when 13 Republican senators broke with administration policy and introduced a bill to create a wage-price review board, Connally issued a two-page statement saying the administration welcomed "a full-fledged debate" in Congress on the issue. Nixon said the slipping competitiveness of U.S. industry, as exemplified by the recent steel wage settlement—and the immediate steel price boost of 8 per cent—was a basic cause of his increased concern over inflation.

Harris Suggests Connally Change Policies Or Party

DALLAS (AP) — Sen. Fred Harris, D-Okla., attacked the Nixon administration's economic policies today as he spoke to the Texas AFL-CIO convention. It was an echo of the allegations made by other senators addressing the union leaders this week. He suggested that Treasury Secretary John Connally, only Democrat in the Cabinet, change policies or change parties. Connally is a former Texas governor and secretary of the Navy. BAD GAME PLAN Harris called Connally the "chief manager and defender" of Nixon's economic policies. He called the policies a "falling economic game plan." Harris said a recent study shows that when all taxes and special loopholes are considered—local, state and federal—Americans whether rich or poor pay approximately the same tax rate, around 33 1/3 per cent. "That's not fair," said Harris. "The Nixon administration favors tax relief for the big corporations through accelerated depreciation."

Bayh was the third Democratic senator to take a swipe at Nixon's economic policies. Sens. Edmund Muskie of Maine and Henry Jackson of Washington addressed the convention Wednesday. 'BAH' SAYS BAYH The Indiana senator also proposed an expanded public services-work program, an additional 13 weeks of federal unemployment compensation, postponement of Social Security tax increases, a speed-up of personal income tax cuts and an increase in the minimum wage to $2 an hour. Bayh also blasted Nixon for his stand on busing. "He's been for busing and against busing," Bayh said. "The President should not play one group of Americans against another. We must put aside this animosity and hatred. The polarization caused by the Southern strategy of Nixon is just to get votes, not govern a country." The senator told the press he had not gotten any official results of an investigation he asked into the shooting of a Dallas couple during a police hunt for two men later convicted for killing three sheriff's deputies in Dallas County. Bayh said he had no plans to meet with any Dallas city or county police officials while here.

Four Women Arrested As They Battered Safe

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Four women were arrested as they battered away at a safe trying to break in with hammers, hacksaws, knives and forks, police said. Police said an officer found them inside a Burger King restaurant early Thursday when he saw a ladder leaning against the wall and looked inside. He called for help and the arrests were made. Officers said the girls had managed to knock the combination lock off the safe door and were trying to saw off its hinges. The girls who ranged in age from 16 to 20 and shared an apartment, were charged with breaking and entering and intent to commit grand larceny and held in the city jail. Police said all were former employees of the Burger King, and entered with a stolen key.

Syria Breaks Relations With Jordan, Cites Raids

By The Associated Press
 Jordan charged today that the border clash that led Syria to break relations was caused by Syria's failure to keep a tight rein on the Palestinian guerrillas.
 A government spokesman, broadcasting over Amman Radio, said the fighting between Jordanian and Syrian forces Thursday was "regrettable but resulted from mounting and increased guerrilla raids across the border this week."

ASSASSINATION SITE OPENS TO PUBLIC — Aubrey Mayhew, Dallas, Tex., looks through the sixth floor window of the Texas School Depository Building in Dallas where Lee Harvey Oswald allegedly fired the fatal shots at the late President John F. Kennedy. Mayhew, owner of the building, announced that he is opening the building to the public on an admission basis beginning Wednesday, Aug. 18.

Syria closed its border with Jordan last month to protest King Hussein's successful crackdown on the guerrillas. On Thursday it became the third Arab country to sever relations with Jordan. Libya and Algeria did so earlier this year, and on July 19 Iraq closed its border with Jordan and barred all flights to and from Jordan over Iraqi air space.

VETOED PLAN

The Jordanian spokesman said his government proposed that a joint committee be formed to investigate the border incidents but Syria vetoed the plan.

Syria's official Radio Damascus claimed that the Jordanian tanks and armored cars opened fire Thursday on the Syrian border town of Dar's, but the broadcast said the attack was beaten back with the loss of four Jordanian tanks. The report said a Jordanian armored car ran over a wounded Syrian soldier and killed him.

The Jordanian spokesman said the fighting began when "a force whose identity could not be determined advanced toward Jordanian positions and opened fire. Our forces returned fire in self-defense and damaged five attacking tanks and two artillery positions. There were no casualties."

FACE TO FACE

The last time Syrian and Jordanian forces came face to face because of the guerrillas was during the Jordanian civil war last fall when Syria sent in tanks and planes to aid the embattled guerrillas in the same area as Thursday's clash. That time the Jordanians clobbered the Syrians.

The Jordanian reference to an unidentified force appeared to be a suggestion that units of the 8,000-man Palestinian Liberation Army, which has bases in southern Syria, were to blame for the fighting.

On the Arab-Israeli diplomatic front, President Anwar Sadat of Egypt expressed pessimism again over chances of Middle East peace and threatened Israel with "maximum punishment" in any new war.

In another development, Arab guerrillas lobbed a grenade into a crowded market in Gaza City today, killing one Arab and wounding six other persons. Among the injured were two 16-year-old Arab boys and two Israeli civilians.

Ike Dollars To Earn U.S. More Than $100 Million?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government hopes to earn more than $100 million from sale of the Eisenhower silver dollar, making it the most profitable U.S. coin ever minted. It also may be the last made of silver.

The profit will be stretched out over several years as the U.S. Mint disposes of some 150 million Ike silver dollars to collectors and others interested in buying it at a premium.

Mary T. Brooks, director of the mint, says she hopes the sale will net the Treasury well in excess of $100 million, although she said she can provide no exact profit estimate.

$10 PROOF COINS

"It goes to the taxpayer, right into the Treasury," she said. "The mint isn't trying to make any money."

The silver dollar, first one minted in the United States since 1935, is being sold at two prices to the public—$3 for a mass-produced uncirculated coin and $10 for the highly polished, high-relief proof coin.

According to Mrs. Brooks, orders for the silver coin bearing the likeness of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower "are coming in by the millions."

"We hope to make $1 each on the uncirculated dollars," she said. The mint plans to strike 130 million of those.

She would give no estimate of profit—or loss—on the $10 proof coins, which are minted by hand, polished with diamond dust, and sealed in a plastic case.

"We're very modest in our prices on our proof coins," he said. "A proof coin we sell for $5 here goes for $12 and $15 overseas."

END OF LINE

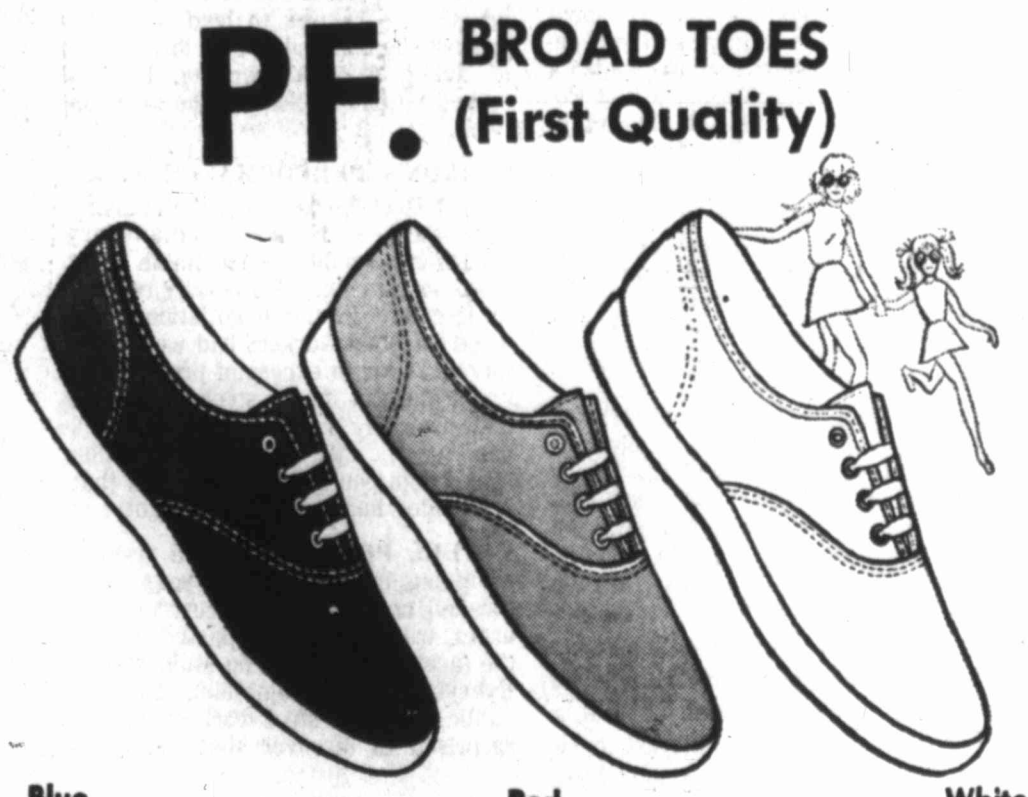

In the past, the Treasury has picked up no more than $4 million a year from its proof-coin sales. And, the total profit last year on both proof and uncirculated coins for collectors was about $9 million.

The Eisenhower proof dollar should double in value quickly,

Mrs. Brooks said, with the uncirculated dollar coin, doubling in value in five years.

She said it probably will be the last silver coin ever minted in the United States.

The Ike silver dollar is a limited issue. The mint hopes to start mass-producing this fall the Eisenhower copper-nickel dollar designed for general circulation, and to discourage collecting of the copper-nickel coin, the mint plans to strike an unlimited number.

Heeding A Hot Potato

Gov. Preston Smith challenged the state redistricting board to have the political courage to redistrict the Texas House as well as the state Senate. While this may be interpreted as a jibe at Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, the governor has a point. His is a hot potato that should be heeded.

Lt. Gov. Barnes reacted by observing "I don't know how he can tell what the commission is or isn't going to consider." Attorney General Crawford Martin, getting in on the act, said that while he would appeal the decision of District Judge Herman Jones (in holding the House re-districting invalid), he also would ask the commission to consider House redistricting also when it meets Aug. 24 to tackle the drawing of lines for the state senate.

The governor can take a somewhat dispassionate view of the matter, since the commission which is charged with redistricting, when the legislature fails to do so, is comprised of the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the House (Gus Mutscher), attorney general (Martin); land commissioner (Bob Armstrong); and comptroller (Robert S. Calvert). Note the governor is not on the panel.

But the governor's logic is sound in noting that regardless of what would happen to the appeal from Judge Jones' court the commission could go ahead with a plan of redistricting in the event the verdict is upheld. There is every reason to believe that the trial court verdict in tossing out the House redistricting will be upheld.

Gullibility Quotient

A new course is ready for high schools in the United States, called "The Man Made World." It's being tested among juniors and seniors at Huntington High School, Long Island, N.Y. Authors are Dr. Edward E. David Jr. and Dr. John Truxal, presidential science advisers and engineering researchers.

The study aims at improving student's problem-solving ability. The value of the course will be to induce

By proceeding on the assumption that there has been no redistricting other than for congressional purposes, the commission could spare the taxpayers the necessity of a special session. Discharging this job will create some political repercussions, but it is doubtful they will be serious, and certainly advantages of acting now outweigh those of temporizing or attempting to shift responsibility.

thinking, discourage snap judgment, avoid gullibility. The engineers want their students to understand the limits of technology, to be able dispassionately to evaluate probable consequences of any given action.

The "gullibility quotient" of Americans is higher than it ought to be. This course will help lower it by acquainting more people to the scientific — i.e. objective evaluation — method of making up their minds.

Sorry folks, but I'm very anti-Friday the 13th. I've never put much stock in its being unlucky, and after writing that, what do you want to bet I don't get hit by lightning on the way home?

HOWEVER, I realize I'm surrounded by gobs of people who do. So therefore I solemnly swear this will be the day in which I will not make one mistake.

The astronauts' commander David Scott, was a little testy with Mission Control, and small wonder.

EACH TIME we go into space, we leave more garbage behind. That may be the way mankind is best remembered in history.

Don't know who is authority for the tale, but the story circulating among Couden employees has it that a stunning, shapely blonde waitress in a certain Big Spring restaurant is often importuned by male customers for her telephone number.

And she always obliges. A little coyly, maybe, but with the look that implies "This is for you, alone, Tiger."

The Do-Nothings

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — It is good to leave this town for awhile, if only to get a whiff of the salt air at Cape May. Washington smells of decay and legal corruption, but mostly of do-nothingness. Leaving it, a man at least is spared the quiet horror of observing the entire governmental structure in the throes of inaction.

ONE MUST choose carefully before one throws the first stone. How do you decide between the White House and Capitol Hill? President Nixon is sitting on his hands while inflation gallops into the land of no recall. Congress is off on a preposterous month's vacation — until after Labor Day — while needed legislation wilts in the back rooms.

Well, President Nixon is our official leader, for better or for worse, and so far this year it has been for worse because he refuses to lead the fight against the continuing rise in the cost of living. At this writing, he has scored absolutely zero on the inflation front.

NIXON'S PERFORMANCE as the United Steel Workers and the industry negotiated a blatantly inflationary settlement would be laughable if it were not so tragic. He piously refused to interfere in the negotiations, and when the steel workers had won wage increases far in excess of productivity gains and the major steel companies had promptly raised prices about 8 per cent, all an administration spokesman could find to say was that both sides had been very naughty.

STEEL PRICES now have risen a whopping 15 per cent this year. Why the hell not? The added cost to steel users will simply be passed on to the faceless consumer on Main Street. Everybody gets something but the public, although steel workers will be surprised to discover that the extra money in their pay envelopes won't go very far when they buy something made of steel.

CONGRESS' PERFORMANCE has been just as sick a joke. Of the President's six major pieces of legislation submitted to the Hill this year, only one — welfare reform — has been given serious attention. That is to say, it has passed the House. The Senate has still to be heard from.

NOTHING HAS been done on a comprehensive health program, revenue sharing, something called "full prosperity in peacetime," environmental reform and Federal government reorganization. Despite another expensive railroad strike — settled, of course, along the usual inflationary lines — Congress hasn't touched Nixon's bill calling for compulsory arbitration which would permit an arbitration board to choose between the last best offers of both sides in a transportation strike.

Congress will be back, of course, perhaps even refreshed in mind and spirit. But the word has gone out to both House and Senate to prepare for an Oct. 15 adjournment date. Mustn't overdo, you know, even at $42,500 a year.

Better Roads Help

CHICAGO (AP) — Family vacationers traveling by automobile this summer will do about 57 per cent of their driving on the interstate highway system and then will cover more miles in less time than it took 10 years ago.

Comparing driving time maps in two Road Atlas editions of Rand McNally annuals shows that driving time from Chicago to San Francisco has been cut by 15 hours.

My Answer

Billy Graham

Ministers are always preaching about "Back to the Bible," and "Back to God." It seems to me that we should look forward and not back. Am I wrong in this? L.I.

You are half wrong and half right. The Bible for example, is a storehouse of the garnered wisdom of the ages. We should not ignore this wisdom, and go through the agony of trying to learn for ourselves what has been set down by the wise and learned of the ages. A student, for example, is majoring in mathematics. Let us suppose that he says: "I don't need a textbook. I am intelligent, I will work out trigonometry and calculus without a text; I will work it out by myself." It would be foolish not to refer to the textbook and take advantage of the lessons that have been ferreted out by many people before him. It is when people are inclined to throw away the "textbook," that we say, "Back to the Bible," or, "Back to God."

Mark Van Doren once said, "The past is a burden which crushes only those who ignore it." It is well for us who live today to take a look at history and see where men have made mistakes which we might avoid. The best way to move forward is by an occasional backward glance to get your bearings. "Let us remove not the ancient landmarks which our forefathers have set," says the Bible.

A Devotion For Today . . .

"Blessed are the peacemakers, for they shall be called sons of God." (Matthew 5:9, RSV)

PRAYER: Our Father, forgive us for stirring up trouble when, with prayerful thinking beforehand, we could have made peace. We want truly to be Your children. In Jesus' name. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

The Chinese People

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — With all the emphasis on the interviews and news dispatches from Peking about Premier Chou En-lai's forthcoming conferences with President Nixon, there is one subject being neglected which is far more important than technical arguments over admission of Red China to the United Nations. It is the story of what is happening to the 800 million persons on mainland China who are ruled by the Peking government.

SEVERAL QUESTIONS need to be answered: What is the living standard of the people? Do reporters have access to the poverty areas? Why are no regular meetings of a national party congress or peoples' assembly held except every few years? Have a substantial number of schools and colleges been reopened? What are they teaching, apart from the doctrines of Mao Tse-tung?

VERY LITTLE is known about the day-to-day life of the people of that vast country. Yet they make products which are sold in foreign markets, and the Peking regime uses a part of the money for military purposes. Foreign reporters are permitted to visit four or five cities, but are barred from touring the countryside. Certainly, it would be a humanitarian act for the government to open up the doors everywhere to the press so that the people of the world may learn something of Red China's problems and perhaps offer assistance in improving the economic welfare of the hundreds of millions of human beings on mainland China.

UNDER THE totalitarian system now in existence, American reporters have visited about half a dozen cities, and life throughout Communist China is virtually unknown to the rest of the world. People in America and elsewhere wonder how a nation of 800 million individuals can be sustained without a huge management process. But not much has been disclosed about the way Peking runs the country, except that the rules are strict and military order is applied.

Efforts to relieve the Chinese people of their centuries-old burden of poverty and backwardness could win the support of several nations in the world if there were an opportunity given them for cooperation.

IT IS EVIDENT from the recent expressions by Premier Chou En-lai that the Peking government is nervous about the possibility that Japanese militarism may be restored and become a threat in the Western Pacific. Unquestionably Premier Chou is seeking closer relations with the United States to offset the dangers he sees from two of his nearest neighbors — Japan and the Soviet Union. The debate over obstacles to the admission of Red China has begun. But in the immediate future one of the most urgent tasks for the United States is to reach accords and complete understanding with Japan, Taiwan and South Korea so that there will not be any impairment of America's friendship with these countries if the U.N. — with American agreement — admits mainland China.

AS PRESIDENT NIXON prepares with his counselors for his trip to Peking, he is well aware that the questions he will be discussing with Red China are not going to be settled merely by a meeting with Premier Chou En-lai or chairman Mao Tse-tung. What will be developed is a complete assessment of the future policies of the United States in Asia and a new examination of our foreign and military aid programs in the hope that we can advance the cause of peace and human betterment in the whole region.

Wallace Again

Marquis Childs

By WILLIAM S. WHITE (Substituting for Marquis Childs)

WASHINGTON — George Wallace's public declaration of a firm resolve to run again for the presidency next year has overnight altered the whole political landscape.

It is, first of all, a surprise, even to the sagest of Southern politicians. They had figured the Alabama governor to be actually out of it on the assumption that he had passed his hat for contributions too often and could not again raise enough money to barnstorm this country.

BUT IT IS MUCH more than a surprise. It is a blow directed to the heart of President Nixon's hopes for 1972. For on every present objective indicator the President simply must carry a substantial part of the South — if, that is, the Democrats do not nominate as his adversary some far-out, self-defeating, ultra-liberal isolationist as, say, Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota.

INDEED, the whole master strategy of the Nixon Administration has long been built upon an awareness that the President has little chance of doing much at the polls in the urban East and must rely upon a mural made up of the bulk of the Southern electoral votes — notably those of Texas — plus the Middle West and much of the Far West — in this case, most poignantly, his native California.

The President's great need of Texas for next year's election has, of course, long since been signalled in his choice of the former Democratic governor of the state, John Connally, to be at once his Secretary of the Treasury and his chief spokesman on all economic and fiscal affairs.

HIS EQUALLY urgent requirement to hold California has been spelled out more recently — in the decision to hold the 1972 Republican National Convention in San Diego. The fact of the matter in this connection is that White House informants will concede in deep privacy that if the election were held tomorrow Mr. Nixon probably would lose the state.

BEYOND ALL THIS, however, lies the ultimate meaning of the threat now openly posed by Wallace. While he is denouncing the Administration for school integration policies he calls too harsh (and the liberal Republicans are simultaneously assailing them as too soft), the core of the Wallace challenge is in the economic field. No man in the country could more adroitly exploit unemployment. For Wallace is only superficially a race-issue politician; at bottom he is an old-fashioned populist, appealing not so much to the color as to the thin pocketbooks of the lower economic classes.

SO WHEN Wallace says, as he has just done, that "only a meaningful change of direction in the Nixon Administration or the Democratic party" would cause him not to enter the field next year, the most reasonable conclusion, especially in the present circumstances, is that he really means it.

'I've Decided There's Something Phony About You'

Old, Old Problems

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Should automobile drivers be required to use color-coded license plates that identify them as good, poor or potentially dangerous drivers?

An Indiana professor who suggests the system be tried claims that several friends are dead "because they made average responses to situations where the cars around them were operated by much below average drivers."

He concludes: "They would be alive now if they had a chance to see in advance what they were really up against."

Should installment credit rates be determined by the risk the borrower represents instead of being regulated at about the same percentage for all?

A New York professor thinks it would cut down the number of deadbeats who don't pay. And he believes it would also make the industry more responsible in granting credit to those who might not be able to handle it.

These are two novel suggestions for old, old problems that have defied conventional thinking and which have, meanwhile, run up a toll in personal and financial tragedy. Modern societies are over-loaded with situations such as these that seem only to get worse.

Dr. Richard N. Farmer, professor of international business at Indiana University, finds it odd that license plates identify the automobile but tell nothing about the driver. "We are all anonymous to our fellow drivers," he says.

Farmer proposes that each driver be issued reflective plates with magnets attached. "No moving vehicle would be legal without these plates attached front and rear. The proper plates would belong to the driver, not the vehicle."

He would color-code them red, yellow, green and blue. In the red category would be "dangerous drivers, including all categories of persons who might reasonably be expected to be dangerous on the road."

To get out of the red category, he suggests, "a person would have to demonstrate that he deserved it. Such evidence would consist of usual driving tests, physical examinations, a clean moving-violations record and similar evidence." Prof. David Caplovitz spent four years studying the consumer credit system while a senior research associate at Columbia University's Bureau of Applied Social Research.

One of his recommendations is that the price of credit be based on a borrower's credit rating. This, he said, would discourage the granting of credit to obviously poor risks. And it would encourage prompt payment.

"To have one's credit rating drop can be a severe blow to one's happiness and this alone might serve as sufficient control of the credit system," he observes. And it would hurt the pocketbook too, as anyone could understand.

In his hypothesis, persons reaching the age of 21 might be permitted to assume debt at a maximum rate of interest irrespective of income. Should they prove prompt and reliable they would become eligible for a reduced rate on their next loan "until they earned the right to pay the low rate of say six or seven per cent."

Remarks We Dream About

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks we dream about hearing but rarely do.

"I'm sorry I led you to a dog's life all these years, Fred. You've been a wonderful man to put up with me."

"No, I don't want to borrow the car tonight, Dad. I just want to stay home and spend the evening talking with you and Mom. I want your advice on what I should try to do with my life."

"Well, since you're an old friend and it isn't too big a hermia, I'll cut my regular operating fee by $200. But promise—not a word to any other of my patients."

"Know who was in the four some following us: Arnold Palmer—no less! Know what he said about you? He said he couldn't help noticing what a beautiful drive you have, and that if you could get about 20 more yards on it, you'd have a good chance of making it on the pro tour."

"So you're the fine little lad who found my wallet and returned it. Well, I believe in encouraging honesty and youth, young fellow. I know that at 15 you have to get your parents' permission to work, but if that can be arranged, how would you like to join my firm as first junior vice president?"

"There won't be just a single door prize. Everyone who showed up here today will get a free trip to Hawaii as our guest."

"I know I've never let you kiss me before, Wilberforce, but something has made me feel so restless tonight—our pressed duck dinner, the ruby wine, the slow walk home, the full moon, the poetry you read to me by the fireside. No, not that way, Wilberforce—I'm sitting over here on the sofa—waiting."

"Why did your draft board send you here in the first place? You don't belong in the Army—you belong in a hospital bed."

"My wife took quite a fancy to you at the annual office dance, Timpkins. She'd like you to join us at dinner next Friday and meet our daughter, the one who was just made beauty queen at Yale. All right? Fine. After dinner you two kids can have the chauffeur and limousine for the evening. The chauffeur is off duty at midnight—but the limousine isn't."

"Both your rich uncle and the pet dog he planned to leave his money to died last week. Since the dog died first, that leaves you the only surviving heir."

A LOVELIER YOU Fatty Necks Easier To Avoid Than Cure

By MARY SUE MILLER
A fatty pad on the nape of the neck is aging, to say the least. Surely some years are required to develop the condition. On the subject of prevention and cure, reams of advice have been written. But boiled down, it amounts to this: 1. Make a habit of carrying your chin high — at least parallel to the floor. And do draw your neck up into a taut column. Letting the chin jut forward and the neck telescope into the shoulders are prime causes of the problem.

2. Try to keep your weight near-ideal. When weight is excessive, a pad of fat finds a good home in the nape. Once ensconced it grows plumper, if you do, and resists reduction even though you diet and lose.

3. For sure reduction, exercise is necessary. This routine brings excellent results: Stand erect, chin up and arms down at sides; stiffen elbows and make a loose fist. Leading with fists, swing arms up and back. Then break wrists — turn fists toward floor — and hold for 5 counts, pushing downward. Return to starting position and repeat 25 times.

Now clasp hands behind hips. Stretch arms up and back as you slowly drop head backward. Ten times.

Faithful work brings a youthful line. A goal worth the effort!

TRIMMERS, SLIMMERS

Let me help you with the problem of a too-fleshy arm, chest or upper back by sending you my leaflet, "Trimmers and Slimmers." It contains a set of coordinated spot reducing exercises — easy to do, quick to get results. Lodge Activities Begin Tonight

Rebekah Lodge members who are gathering here for the weekend conference of Texas Secretaries, Scribes and Clerks, will meet at 7:30 p.m. today for a salad supper in the IOOF Hall, Ninth and San Antonio.

Saturday's activities will climax with a dance at 9 p.m. in the Hotel Settles, and on Sunday, the Rev. Elra Phillips will conduct church services at 10:30 a.m. at the hotel, and a luncheon will be served.

Crochet Hook Has Knitting Use Too

The easiest way to pick up a dropped stitch when knitting in stockinette is to use a steel crochet hook.

With the right side of the work facing you, catch the stitch with the crochet hook and draw the first crosswise bar through the stitch. Continue doing this until the stitch is even with the other knitted stitches. Then, slip the picked up stitches onto the needle.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

This is a "thank you note" long overdue. One of your books of household hints saved my sanity.

When my baby was born I had a terrible time adjusting to the fact that I could no longer plan a schedule as I did when I taught school. After four years of doing what I wanted, when I wanted, it was like living with a time bomb. I never knew when he would go off!

I worried so much about my housework being neglected that my husband told me to relax. Then I read your book through and through. Parts I reread whenever I got to worrying too much.

Consequently I have settled down, relaxed, and now thoroughly enjoy my new life as wife and mother. I also learned that my baby is only a baby once and not for very long at that.

Thank you for your help, dear Heloise. . . . Jo Parker

Dear Heloise:

While cooking peach preserves recently I had a hard time keeping them from sticking and scorching.

I didn't have a heavy aluminum pan but got a bright thought.

I took the rack that is used inside my pressure sauce pan and put it on the stove burner under my pan.

No more scorching or sticking — and not nearly so much stirring. . . . Mrs. M.M.T.

Dear Heloise:

Here is a suggestion for mothers with a convalescent child:

Give him a cup of puffed cereal, a box of toothpicks and a tray.

He will find much enjoyment in making little animal figures with this simple equipment and it will help fill all those lonely hours. . . . Mrs. R.F.

Dear Heloise:

In these days when everyone is trying to reuse materials as much as possible, we have found a use for golf pencils after the game. You know there really isn't much you can do with them.

We always have so many old ballpoint pens lying around that aren't worth ordering fillers for. So we take the top part of the pen with the clip and wedge the golf pencil into it making a comfortably held pencil.

It can be resharpened and clipped to a coat. . . . Joseph Broderick

Dear Heloise:

Here is a helpful hint for the ladies who have synthetic wigs.

As you know, when they are washed, synthetic wigs should not be dried on a wig stand, but allowed to drip-dry.

Well, one day when I washed mine and was trying to find a place to hang it, I thought of my washer.

Just raised the lid, placed the wig over the post and left the lid up so the air would circulate and let it drip till dry. . . . Mary Cathey

Dear Heloise:

As an avid reader of your column, I would like to pass this hint along to my fellow housewives.

If you don't have an old linen tablecloth to cut up for dish towels, here is what I do.

There is nothing thirstier than gauze diapers. Just cut off the pinked edge, hem and launder. They are the best little kitchen helpers ever.

I was one of nine children, am 60 years old and still dislike doing dishes. . . . Grr! . . . Ruth

'Tumbleweed Smith' Speaks To Committee

Bob Lewis, known throughout Texas as "Tumbleweed Smith" for his radio presentations, "Sounds of Texas," was guest speaker for the Howard County Historical Survey Committee Tuesday evening at the Heritage Museum.

Smith played tapes of interviews with the late Shine Phillips, Earle Read and Nat Shick. Phillips was an early druggist often ended up also being the local doctor. His philosophy was that people have to live for each other, to help each other, and that if they don't, they have missed the whole point of life. Phillips authored the book "Big Spring."

Read, who now lives at 707 Highland, was a pioneer landowner in this area. He was the original owner of the former Read Hotel on Third Street.

Shick, another early resident of Big Spring, served the city as postmaster for many years, and is also well known for his hobby of making totem poles. He has made 23 totem poles, including the one at Comanche Trail Park and one at Six Flags. He carved the one in the park from an old telephone pole which measured 28 inches in diameter. Today they measure 14 inches.

Smith thinks tapes are an excellent means of preserving early day history and said they are an invaluable tool of museums. He enjoys talking to "unknown" personalities as well as to prominent people, and says lesser known people often have unique and interesting views of pioneer life in Texas. Copies of his tapes are kept in the libraries at Baylor and Texas Tech.

Mrs. Jimmy Morehead, secretary-treasurer, introduced Smith and presided at the business meeting. The next meeting is

Checks, Plaids Remain Favorite

Fabrics for fall will be softer than ever with a new emphasis on texture and drapability. Hand woven and rustic looks are in. Classic checks and plaids remain strong.

The easy-care synthetics have been improved to give them a softer look when blended with natural fibers.

Knits are the biggest story for fall and there are all kinds, ranging from double-knits and jerseys to raschel knits in both natural fibers and blends.

Patterns are becoming more complex, more interesting, with a greater use of color. They are soft and packable for today's young, mobile fashion set.

Government Sues House Speaker For $332,000

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. has filed a $332,000 suit against Texas House Speaker Gus Mutscher in connection with the liquidation of the defunct Sharpstown State Bank.

It was the second suit filed by the FDIC in as many days. A $170,000 suit was filed Wednesday against professional golfer Doug Sanders.

The suit against Mutscher alleges the Speaker owes $332,000 on a $340,000 loan from the bank for which he pledged 17,000 shares of National Bankers Life Insurance Co. stock as collateral.

Including penalty, interest and collection fees, the overall amount the FDIC is seeking from Mutscher could exceed $400,000.

Mutscher was testifying before a federal grand jury here when the FDIC filed the state court action. The grand jury is investigating the collapse of the financial empire of Frank W. Sharp.

Mutscher, Sanders and a number of state officials were named in SEC documents filed in Dallas as having purchased National Bankers Life Stock, in most cases with money borrowed from the Sharpstown Bank. None were named as defendants in the SEC action.

The FDIC took over the Sharp-controlled bank after Sharp, the bank and the Sharp-controlled National Bankers Life Insurance Co. were among the 28 defendants named in a Jan. 18 civil injunction suit filed in Dallas by the Securities and Exchange Commission alleging stock manipulation.

Mutscher said after testifying here Thursday before the grand jury that the suit against him "reflects that I have lost a substantial amount of money investing in National Bankers Life Insurance stock."

Mutscher spent about two hours with the jury Thursday afternoon. He followed Dallas stock broker J. Quincy Adams and former State Sen. Jack Strong of Longview.

Adams is alleged to have been the "made the market" in NBL stock. He is a defendant in the SEC suit against Sharp, NBL

13 Maids Fight Superstition

ATHENS (AP) — Surrounded by 13 aides and 13 maidens, the New Yorker banged a gong at 1313 hours this Friday the 13th to kick off a series of ceremonies to combat superstition.

Nick Matsoukas' group is called "The 13 Against Triskedecaphobia." Triskedecaphobia means "fear of the 13th" in Greek.

The public demonstration was held in a large stadium opposite the Temple of Zeus in central Athens.

The 13 "beautiful maids of Athens" carried laurel and American Indian peace pipes, broke mirrors and walked under ladders. To ward off evil spirits, they sprinkled salt on the broken pieces of glass.

The peace pipes were supplied by Gov. David Hall of Oklahoma as symbols of tolerance and open-mindedness.

Matsoukas has been defying superstition with public demonstrations for 28 years. The 68-year-old New Yorker has broken more than 500 mirrors. With seven years' bad luck for each broken mirror, this could mean more than 3,500 years of woe.

Matsoukas was born in southern Greece, the 13th child in a family of 13 children. He set out for the United States on his 13th birthday and arrived in New York on Feb. 13.

Matsoukas received a degree in anthropology and sociology from the University of Chicago on the 13th of the month. His name has 13 letters and his U.S. passport was issued on April 13th.

He returned to Greece two years ago.

Bank Scandals

Barnes' office acknowledged that there had been a loan but denied that it was in any way connected with the bill.

That loan, his office said, was made in January, 1970, and was repaid fully five months later.

"It was just a personal loan," sources close to Barnes said.

The lieutenant governor's denial said in part:

"I am advised that in his deposition testimony in Houston yesterday afternoon and this morning, Frank Sharp said that he had heard that I was paid money to help pass the Sharpstown bank bills in the Senate and then said that he was not sure about the money, but that he had heard that a loan was made to me by a Dallas bank in order to secure my help in passing those bills."

"Both of those allegations are absolutely false, and anyone who says that I ever received any money, loan or anything of value in connection with the Sharpstown bank bills is a liar. For example, the Dallas bank loan in question was not made until 1970 which was many months after the Sharpstown bank bills were killed in September, 1969."

Ella Can Expect To Regain Vision

BOSTON (AP) — Jazz singer Ella Fitzgerald can expect to regain useful vision after cataract surgery in both eyes, say specialists at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary.

Miss Fitzgerald, 53, is scheduled to be discharged from the infirmary today, then fly to Los Angeles to rest.

The singer entered the infirmary July 30. She broke off a European tour when she suffered eye trouble at Nice.

In Boston, she underwent an operation for removal of a cataract in her left eye. A cataract in the right eye had been removed earlier.

During her current stay she also underwent treatment for hemorrhage in part of her right eye.

Guilty Pleas End Court Session

No trials were held this week in Howard County Court, but docket call did cause 14 defendants to plead guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated, and 13 more have indicated that they will plead guilty.

Ten of the defendants pleading guilty were fined $50 and court costs ($41) and were given 30-day jail sentences probated for six months. One defendant was fined $100 instead of $50, and another's probation was lengthened to one year.

Four cases, which were appeals on city traffic citations, were dismissed because of errors in the complaints, three original appeal cases were upheld and the defendants fined, and four cases were reduced to justice of peace court cases where the fines were paid.

Teaching Certificate in Her Female Name teaching certificate in her female name. The board also wanted her to agree to switch from elementary to high school teaching.

Until last March, Mrs. Grossman was Paul Monroe Grossman, a music teacher at Cedar Hill Elementary School with a wife and three daughters.

After sex reassignment surgery in March, she returned to the classroom dressed as man.

In May, Mrs. Grossman told School Supt. Myron Headington of the sex change, and he notified the school board on June 1.

The board met privately with Mrs. Grossman and her attorney, Herbert Kostner.

At the board's request, Mrs.

Grossman Submitted to Two Psychiatric Examinations

Grossman submitted to two psychiatric examinations. The results were not made public by the board but Kostner said that Mrs. Grossman "passed with flying colors."

Despite controversy that has ensued in this affluent hill community 30 miles from New York City, Mrs. Grossman says she wants to keep her job and will continue to live with her wife of 19 years and their three children.

The board intends to ask the state Board of Education to remove Mrs. Grossman's tenure on grounds she is incompetent, which is the only basis on which such an action can be taken against a teacher.

Andrews Plant Due To Close; Orders Lacking

ANDREWS — Ronald Sopkin, president of Wentworth Manufacturing, Inc., of Lake City, S.C., told the industrial committee of the Andrews County Chamber of Commerce by telephone recently that the company's manufacturing plant in Andrews may cease operations.

No detailed information on the local plant situation could be learned today. Plant manager is Larry Gibbs.

He said, however, that interested businessmen and representatives of companies are examining the plant facilities.

Wentworth manufactures women's dresses, and presently employs 125 persons, according to Gibbs. The plant contains 117,000 square feet and has been in operation two years.

A spokesman at the Chamber of Commerce said that the plant apparently was unable to secure adequate orders for its product.

Fights To Keep Her Privileges After Sex Change Operation

BERNARDS TOWNSHIP, N.J. (AP) — A music teacher who underwent a sex change operation has rejected a school board offer allowing her to continue teaching if she gave up the 14 years tenure she earned as a man.

The school board made its compromise offer at an open meeting Thursday but Paula Miriam Grossman, 52, turned it down saying she will fight to keep her job and full privileges.

"I don't think their request was fair. But I expected it," Mrs. Grossman said.

Under the offer, Mrs. Grossman could have resumed teaching in September if she agreed to resign and to obtain a state DESTINATION: LAKE SPENCE — Water courses over the channel dam at the diversion works above Colorado City on its way to Lake E. V. Spence 30 miles downstream. At this time flow is half a foot deep over the structure which impounds normal flow which is salty but which allows the good quality full flow of the river to go downstream. Friday morning the overflow was estimated at two feet deep at this point on the Colorado River.

Lakes Continue Steady Increase

Area lakes continued to gain in level Friday, most of them slowly. The happy exception was the Twin Buttes Lake west of San Angelo where 40,000 acre-feet impounded. Estimates are that the ultimate recovery from flash floods upstream in the Mertzson area will be upwards of 90,000 acre-feet, whipping a critical water shortage San Angelo has faced for several years. The North Concho was also reported on a rise below Sterling City, so North Concho Lake at San Angelo also may pick up some runoff.

Lake E. V. Spence, one of two reservoirs of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, had reached elevation 1842.79 early Friday, and the rate of flow had dropped off School Violates Court Order By Firing 55 Profs?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has charged that the La Vega school district in Central Texas violated a court desegregation order by firing 55 black faculty members and three white staff members.

The department said Thursday the district fired the 58 persons the day after 1,415 black pupils were transferred from La Vega to Waco schools by the desegregation order July 28.

A motion filed in the U.S. District court in Austin asks that the district in Austin asks that the district be held in contempt for not giving any effect to the letters of dismissal sent to those fired, the Justice Department said.

The motion also asks an order to keep Waco schools from hiring any teachers except those fired by La Vega.

The department also asked that La Vega be required to demonstrate why it should not be required to develop non-racial personnel policies and that Waco schools be required to show why they should not be required to hire the 58 dismissed persons.

Governor Slates Highway Week

AUSTIN — The period Sept. 19-25 has been proclaimed as "Highway Week in Texas" by Gov. Preston Smith.

By official memorandum Gov. Smith pointed out that the Texas highway system encompasses some 70 thousand miles of the nation's finest roads and highways. "These vital travelways are essential to the continued growth of the Texas economy and form the 'Backbone of Total Transportation' in the Lone Star State," the governor said. He cited the Texas Highway Department for more than 40 years of leadership in highway beautification, safety, and service and efficiency of the highway system.

He described the Highway Department as "The State's Largest Gardener" which plants more trees, wildflowers and ornamental shrubs than any other organization in the State.

Highway Week in Texas has been under sponsorship of the Texas Good Roads Association since the first such observance a decade ago.

Creeks On Rampage Cause One Death, Families Flee

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Two creeks went on major rampages in Medina County Thursday, causing one death, closing numerous highways, washing out bridges and forcing many families to flee their homes.

The victim was identified as Clyde Jones, about 52, an employee of the Bexar County Hospital.

The car containing the body was spotted in San Geronimo Creek at the crossing on Farm Road 471 north of Rio Medina Creek by two youngsters on horseback.

The car apparently had been swept off the bridge and carried about a half-mile down the creek.

RUSHING WATER

Rains of up to eight inches Wednesday night and early Thursday sent Verde Creek and Hondo Creek rising.

Three helicopters from Ft. Sam Houston and one from Brooke Army Medical Center rescued approximately 25 people from houses around Quilhi and from the tops of cars and trucks.

Rushing water of Hondo Creek east of Hondo closed U. S. 90. Water was lapping at the span itself and cars were halted by the high waters which crossed the highway on both east and west approaches to the bridge.

Medina County Judge Jerome Decker said he could not get closer than one-half mile to the bridge.

George Gooding, a Medina County reserve deputy, said the flood on the Verde was the worst he had seen in 30 years.

The Verde empties into Hondo Creek just north of Highway 90 on its way to the juncture with the Hondo, the Verde washed out the bridge on Farm Road 689, Gooding said.

Hondo itself was not flooded badly. Judge Decker said one development in the north part of the city and another in the east part were hit by flooding. Hondo's rainfall was reported to be four inches.

The flood was reported receding slightly in the Hondo area late Thursday afternoon.

Hondo creek also closed Texas 173 from Devine to Hondo. All major highways were open again Thursday night.

Judge Decker reported that most of the evacuations were in the New Fountain and Quilhi areas of Medina County.

A Fifth Army public relations spokesman said the helicopters used the hoists for about seven rescues. He added that the choppers took some Girl Scouts from a camp near Utopia to higher ground.

Helicopter pilots also helped some stockmen save cattle by flying them to points where they cut fences, permitting the cattle to move to higher ground.

Another helicopter was sent out late Thursday to rescue two men from the top of a truck stuck in Seco Creek south of D'Hanis.

Texas Lake Might Cover Car Of Missing Women

WARR ACRES, Okla. (AP) — A car that may have belonged to a wealthy Oklahoma City woman and her daughter who disappeared seven years ago will be sought Saturday in a Texas lake.

Warr Acres Police Chief Nelson Beckett said Thursday he and a highway patrol diver looked for the car Tuesday in Lake Whitney, south of Fort Worth.

"We know it's there because we've talked to men who have been down to it," he said of the car believed to have been owned by Margery Elston, 41.

Mrs. Elston and her daughter, Melinda, 18, vanished Nov. 11, 1963. They were last seen driving in a 1963 Cadillac sedan.

Fort Worth authorities located bones in May that were believed to be those of the missing women, but a pathologist determined the bones were from an animal.

Beckett said a former resident of the Lake Whitney area told him of spotting a 1963 Cadillac car while diving in the lake.

Loaded To Gills Driver Explains

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — A 20-ton truck loaded to the gills with fish heads was bound for a pet food plant in the State of Washington last week when the driver had to make a sudden stop at an intersection. Result: fish heads all over the street.

This week, the same driver tried to make the same run and had the same accident. He commented to a service station attendant who was phoning authorities: "Tell the police it isn't as bad as the last one."

Opening lead: Queen of ♣. Altho South ran into extremely adverse distribution in his four heart contract, he managed to emerge unscathed on the deal.

Altho nine tricks can be scored at no trump as the cards lie, it is natural to glide into the major suit game. When North made a jump rebid of two no trump showing 19 high card points, South knew that game was in the offing [he had 8 points himself] and, holding a singleton diamond, he rebid three clubs. After North gave a heart preference, South carried on to four hearts.

West opened the queen of clubs, the three was played from dummy and East ruffed with the ten of hearts. He shifted to a spade putting the declarer in dummy. The play to the first two tricks had provided South with considerable information. West was known to have six clubs and, presumably, at least the three and seven of hearts. If he held any higher trumps, it would mark him as being extremely short in one or both of the other suits.

Fearing another adverse ruff, if he attempted to trump out his losing spade, declarer decided to lead trumps himself and the jack of hearts was played at trick three. East showed out, discarding a spade. West won the trick with the queen, cashed the ace of hearts and then exited with a heart.

South had by this time marked West with six clubs, four hearts and one spade. This meant that East probably held all the defensive strength in both spades and diamonds and a squeeze on the latter was in the offing if declarer ran down his winners in the other suits.

The king of clubs was cashed followed by a low club to the ace. East had disposed of one diamond and two spades on the three rounds of hearts. He now discarded the eight of spades and the five of diamonds.

South led the eight of hearts at trick nine. Dummy was down to the ace, king, jack, six of diamonds. East had to hold his remaining four diamonds to protect that suit, so he discarded the nine of spades. A spade was led to the ace dropping East's queen. The ace and king of diamonds were cashed as South disposed of his remaining club. He ruffed himself in with a diamond and cashed the jack of spades for his 10th trick.

If East had chosen to discard a diamond on the last heart, South could have established that suit by playing the ace, king and another diamond—ruffing in his hand. North's high spade provides access to the established jack of diamonds.

UF Budget Approved As New Agency Is Added

A 1971-72 campaign budget of $110,000 was approved Thursday afternoon by trustees of the United Fund. The figure is only $25 above last year's quota of $109,975.

Action was taken on recommendation of the UF budget and screening committee, which in July had held hearings with participating agencies. Allotments this year will go to 15 welfare and youth guidance associations.

Added this year was the Boys Club of Big Spring, but an allotment to the organization for its preliminary years was only a token $2,500. R. W. Thompson, chairman of the budget committee, said his group felt that the Boys Club qualifies for UF participation, "but at this time, we could not allocate all the group deserves, since it would have meant more drastic cuts for other agencies." Thompson indicated that this should have consideration a year hence.

THE LIMIT?

He pointed out that the total UF budget is about what the record indicates can be raised in the Big Spring area. He said, "the budget grants, in the opinion of the committee, represent less than the minimum support needed by the participating agencies to carry out their programs; however, we feel that the over-all total represents a budget that can be reached."

Agencies had requested a total of $147,224, against a total allocation of $97,725. The new budget includes $10,275 for campaign and operating expense and allows $2,900 for "shrinkage," or non-payment of pledges.

Funds recommended by the committee and adopted by trustees:

AGENCY TOTALS

YMCA $16,500; Lakeview YMCA $6,000; Girl Scouts $9,000; Salvation Army $17,000; West Side Youth Center $1,800; Summer Recreation Program $1,175; Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center $10,500; Boy Scouts $12,100; Milk and Medicine Fund $2,400; Red Cross $14,700; Texas Rehabilitation Center (Gonzales) $250; Air-Force Aid Society $2,750; Half-Way House $300; USO $750; Boys Club $2,500.

Serving on the committee with Thompson were J. D. Nelson, Alton Marwitz, Jimmie Taylor and Tom Locke. Ken Perry, UF president, and Morris Robertson, who will direct this year's fund-raising effort, sat in on the study sessions.

SOME RESERVE

A report from W. H. Wharton, treasurer, indicated that the UF would end its fiscal year with some $16,600 in reserve; this being predicated on payment of outstanding pledges, which now total $13,456.

Total collected in the current year has been $96,707. Disbursements to agencies so far total $74,195, and still owing these organization (on monthly remittances) is a total of $22,779. There remains a balance due on operating expense of $1,366.

B52 Bombers Mount Strikes

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese shelled two more South Vietnamese bases just below the demilitarized zone today in the second successive day of intensified action along the northern frontier.

U.S. B52 bombers countered with their heaviest strikes in more than two weeks in the region in an effort to keep the enemy from massing for a major offensive.

North Vietnamese gunners slammed 150 mortar and rocket shells into Alpha 1 and Alpha 2, bases at the eastern end of the DMZ.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, spokesman for the South Vietnamese command, said some government soldiers were wounded but none was killed in the predawn shellings. He said he did not know what damage was done. South Vietnamese tanks are based at Alpha 2, a half mile south of the DMZ. Alpha 1 is 1 1/2 miles south of the DMZ.

Hien also said he didn't know the locations of the enemy launching sites. The 82mm mortar and 107mm rockets used in the attacks could reach the two bases from positions inside the six-mile-wide buffer zone.

The attacks along the DMZ began Thursday, breaking a lull in the war.

The B52 Stratofortresses dropped 450 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese positions in the northern sector of South Vietnam.

Priest, An MS Victim, Visits Others And Performs Mass

By JOHN LUNDQUIST
Associated Press Writer

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Father Pascal Kelly makes a round of visits with patients, spreads cheer in the hospital lobby and occasionally says Mass in the chapel.

It's no more than you'd expect of any hospital chaplain. But Father Kelly spends most of his time flat on his back, helpless except for a little finger movement, turning his head and quietly talking with friends.

In the 67-year-old Roman Catholic priest, it's the spirit that blooms. Although a victim of multiple sclerosis more than 30 years, he counts his blessings.

Counts Blessings
"People have been so kind to me," he tells a visitor. "I'm so grateful for all the things that come my way."

Father Kelly regards himself as a self-appointed special chaplain at St. Mary's Hospital, where he has been confined nearly 15 years. And you can tell there's something unusual about Room 1016 at St. Mary's before you enter.

Planted in the hall at an angle just outside the room is a 20-by-12-inch mirror propped on a six-foot wooden stand anchored by a cement block. Except for the mirror, it's all painted hospital white.

The reflection shoots an image into a mirror propped on a chest near the foot of the priest's bed. This is aimed at another mirror suspended from the headboard, so Father Kelly can see what's doing out in the hall.

EYE PROPS
He has other props. A second mirror on the chest angles out the window. He can watch chugging barges or other traffic on the winding Mississippi River. To his prism-equipped glasses are fastened a curved mouthpiece and a small hearing aid. These enable him to converse on the phone when he presses his head slightly to the left, activating a special switch.

Another switch, mounted on a board just to the right of his head, flicks the color television set from one station to another. Father Kelly enjoys all the equipment, most of which was rigged up by hospital electronic specialist Ed Lanctot.

Helped into a wheel chair pushed by a nurse, Father Kelly visits rooms in the hospital or spends afternoons in the lobby, talking or reading newspapers. Sometimes, aided by a fellow priest, he says Mass in the chapel.

Born at Dover, N.J., Father Kelly grew up in Yonkers, N.Y., and Sayre, Pa.

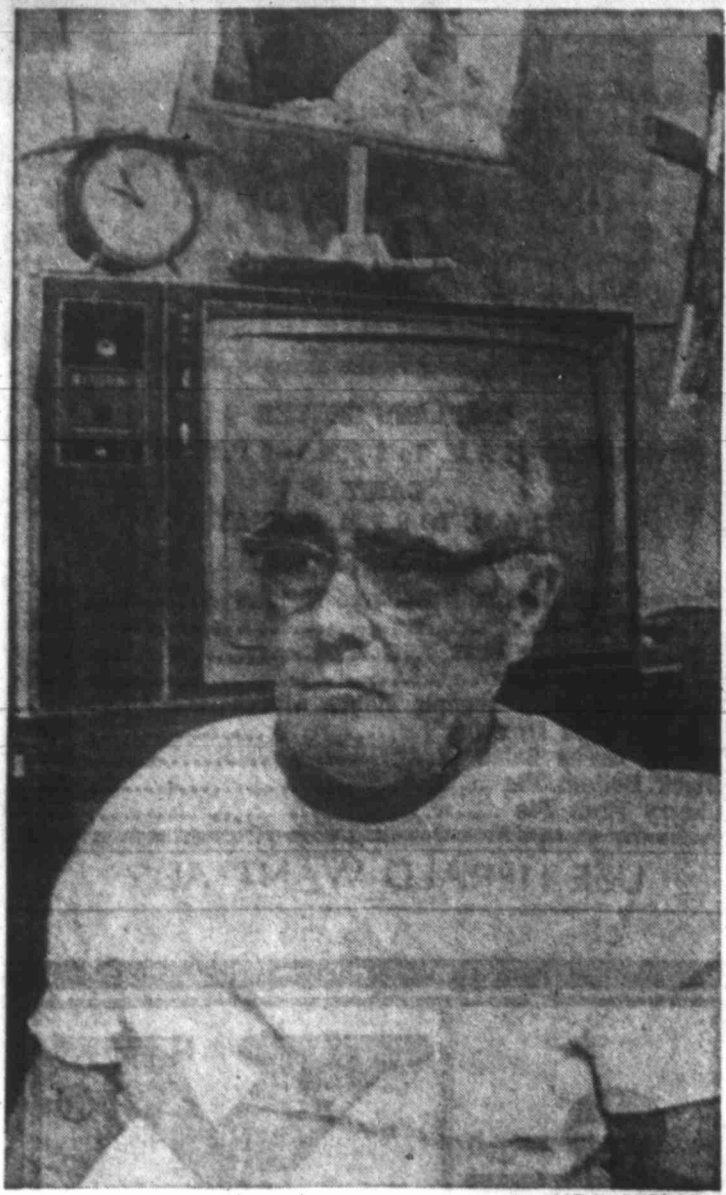

MS STRIKES
In 1934, he was stricken by multiple sclerosis and went to Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn. Despite the onset of the crippling disease, Father Kelly was an assistant pastor at Holy Rosary Church, Minneapolis, and said Mass from a wheelchair in the years 1944 to 1956.

Now, considering the view from his tenth-floor window of new buildings altering the city's skyline, Father Kelly regrets the loss of signs of earlier days. "They're turning this prairie village into a hodgepodge," he says in irritation.

He laments also that his generation is leaving young people with so many formidable problems.

"I'm a great admirer of these CO's (conscientious objectors)," he says. "These boys have the courage to stand up against the trend. Apparently the young breed doesn't want to be pushed around. And perhaps that is our salvation."

As for modern trends in religion, Father Kelly says the fundamentals are unchangeable. "They're there, as they always have been. These fribs about guitar playing don't bother me a bit."

PARALYZED PRIEST — Father Pascal Kelly, 67-year-old Catholic priest who is paralyzed with multiple sclerosis and confined to bed at St. Mary's Hospital in Minneapolis, is strapped to wheelchair waiting to be pushed through hospital for short visits with other patients. Visiting orderly Maynard Henning is reflected in mirror over TV, one of two mirrors he uses to watch out window or down hallway for his many friendly visitors.

Presbyterians Set Youth Expedition

The Youth Fellowships from First and St. Paul Presbyterian Churches of Big Spring are sponsoring a Youth Expedition to Garner State Park near Uvalde today through Sunday. Forty-two youth have registered to attend. They will be led by adult sponsors from both churches.

The weekend will feature a program on the theme "Jesus Was Real." Saturday evening the youth will view a multimedia presentation of the rock opera Jesus Christ—Superstar presented by the College Class of the Harlandale Presbyterian Church of San Antonio, Sunday morning they will be led in a folk worship service by Rev. Jim Collier, pastor of St. Paul church.

In addition to the formal program, the youth will take advantage of the many fine recreational facilities of Garner Park. "We're really excited at this opportunity to have all the kids together for this expedition and to see this new rock opera," said Mrs. Joe Horton, a sponsor of the group.

Rev. Collier commented: "We think this will be an opportunity to confront our young people with the person of Jesus as he lived like one of us. Both the music and worship will be designed to present Jesus, the friend who stands with us in our humanity."

Fr. R. Flores Leaves TCC

AUSTIN — The Rev. Father Robert S. Flores, O.F.M., has resigned as an associate director of the Texas Conference of Churches, effective Aug. 8.

An announcement of the resignation was made by Roy J. Cates, executive director, following acceptance "with profound regret" by the TCC executive committee.

The Rev. Flores has accepted a call to serve as executive director of the national office of PADRES, an organization of Mexican-American priests.

Associate director of the TCC since November, 1969, he has directed the Conference's Valley Service Project in the lower Rio Grande Valley, a priority program of the unique ecumenical organization.

"The Rev. Father Flores' sensitive abilities and commitment will be greatly missed by the thousands of persons whose lives he has touched while serving so admirably as director of the conference's program in the Lower Rio Grande Valley," Cates said.

"We are confident, however, that his Christian witness and work shall continue effectively in his new responsibility."

A priest of the Franciscan Province of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, the Rev. Father Flores was Southwest regional director of the division for the Spanish Speaking of the United States Catholic Conference prior to joining the TCC staff.

The 36-year-old priest received his BA degree in philosophy and psychology from Quincy College, the Lady of Angels extension in Cleveland, Ohio; the S.T.B. degree in theology from the Antonianum in Rome; extension in Teutopolis, Ill.; and the MS degree in languages and linguistics from Georgetown University, Washington, D.C.

In his new position, the Rev. Father Flores will administer affairs of the national office of PADRES in San Antonio and coordinate with the regional directors the total work being done by PADRES in the nation.

Baptists End Year's Study

DALLAS — A special hospital study committee has recommended that the Baptist General Convention of Texas allow its nine hospitals to accept federal grants and low interest loans to offset the difference between federal payments for services to government patients and the cost of providing the services.

After a year's study, the 58-man committee also recommended that the BGCT's executive board be empowered to release a hospital in case a financial emergency would necessitate such action before the next annual session. It would be a last resort.

The committee also recommended that hospitals be allowed to add a minority of non-Baptists to their boards of trustees to broaden badly needed community support.

The recommendations must be approved on Sept. 10 by the BGCT's executive board, which formed the study committee, and the annual session in Houston, Oct. 26-28.

Previous annual convention sessions have ruled decisively against acceptance of any federal aid by its institutions feeling that such aid would open the door to federal control.

The committee's report said that convention policy on church-state separation has been "valid up to this point and this committee is not taking issue with this position."

Noting that the situation in the health care field has changed "markedly" with "intrusion" of the government, the report said that hospitals now "are virtually dominated in their policies and practices by federal regulations."

The report indicated that unless the convention approves the recommendations on federal assistance, the hospitals may lose quality or become insolvent. A consequence of that would be withdrawal from the convention, which the committee and hospital officials hope to avoid.

McMurry College Receives $75,000

The first major gift in McMurry College's $500,000 Matching Fund Campaign for a new million-dollar Physical Education Center was announced Tuesday morning by President Thomas K. Kim and Campaign Chairman Morgan Jones, Jr.

Dr. Kim and Jones announced that two faithful McMurry supporters, Dr. and Mrs. Claude W. Brown of McCombs, were directing $75,000 to the Physical Education Center.

The gift heralded the beginning of special and major gift solicitation, to be conducted during August and early September. General gift solicitation in the campaign will begin with a series of kickoff meetings in West Texas and New Mexico during the first two weeks of September.

McMurry trustees voted to hold the Matching Fund Campaign at the March meeting, and organizational work got underway in April. Dr. Brown was named as chairman of the campaign's General Steering Committee. His committee then selected Jones, Walter Johnson, and other campaign leaders throughout the Texas-New Mexico area.

The $500,000 currently being sought in the Physical Education Center campaign will match more than $500,000 being given to the college by a Big Country family which has long been a supporter of McMurry. The family's gift is in the form of oil production in Scurry County and will bring in more than $100,000 a year for the Physical Education Center project.

Latest estimates by the architect indicate the Physical Education Center will cost more than $1,300,000. Plans are already complete for the facility and are ready to go to contractors. McMurry trustees indicated at the March meeting that bids on the center will be sought just as soon as the campaign goal is reached. Completion goal on the campaign is October 10, just prior to the fall meeting of the trustees.

Life is full of key challenges, but none is more important than "A Christian Challenge" (Heb. 12:1-2), topic for the pastor's 11 a.m. sermon. At 7 p.m. he contrasts "Carnality and Spirituality" (Romans 7:14-25). For the morning worship, the choir sings an anthem based on the familiar hymn, "Jesus Calls Us," in the evening two melodic favorites, "Ivory Palaces" and "Sweet, Sweet Spirit."

SURPRISE... OF A LIFETIME

As old as childhood itself is the game of surprise.

"Close your eyes, Mommy!" And Jimmy places his precious gift on the table.

"Now, open your eyes, Mommy!" And Jimmy watches rapturously for the flash of surprise on Mother's face.

But surprise isn't always a game. Parents whose eyes were closed to their own and their children's deepest needs have often beheld the shambles which religious indifference can make of promising youth.

The essential duty of parents is to provide thorough religious instruction for their children... and its natural ally, parental example.

The Church is enriching the spiritual life of millions of families. But your Jimmy's opportunity for religious training and a Christian home depends on how much you SEE of his soul's need—and yours.

Try Separation

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. We have been married for 10 years and have three children, ages 4 through 9.

My husband will not discipline the children. It is all left up to me. The only time he will do any correcting is if I am not at home. I work in a factory, eight hours a day, five days a week, and I am tired when I get home. When the kids fight among themselves, I yell at them, then my husband gets mad at me for yelling at the kids, but if they are fighting and I ask him to make them stop he says, "Leave me alone."

stand my yelling at the kids all the time, and if I don't quit it, he is going to move out of the house.

I love him and want him to be happy, but I'm being pulled between knowing the kids need to be yelled at, and trying to keep my husband home. Please help me.

PULLED BETWEEN
DEAR PULLED: Your method of disciplining the kids isn't working or you wouldn't be yelling all the time. Try another technique. When they fight, separate them until they get good and lonesome for each other. (Don't worry, they will.) And keep them apart until they learn to get along better. Time is in your favor. The older they get, the smarter they get.

DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about asking for a "doggie bag" in a high class restaurant? It is an acceptable practice in many places, but we have quite a debate going on at home about this.

DEAR GLENDALE: If I'm unable to do justice to the meal in a restaurant, I ask for a doggie bag, and I have no qualms. (I also have no dog, and the leftovers are delicious!)

DEAR ABBY: Below is a letter I have just received from my daughter-in-law, who is old enough to know better.

Dear Mother:
I am writing to thank you for the belated birthday gift you sent your only grandchild, Andrew. It was very nice of you to have sent such a generous gift, but I wish to express my feelings about your tardiness in sending gifts. I can understand a slip-up in the mails occasionally, but even that is no excuse for you, as you have nothing in the world to do but amuse yourself, and you are constantly shopping for yourself, so buying a gift well in advance of a special occasion should be no big chore.

I notice that when you send your son (my husband) a gift, it always arrives on time, but all gifts to ME and Andrew trail in late, which makes a birthday gift rather pointless when it arrives after the birthday.

Well, Abby, there it is. I am still in shock. What would you do about such a letter?

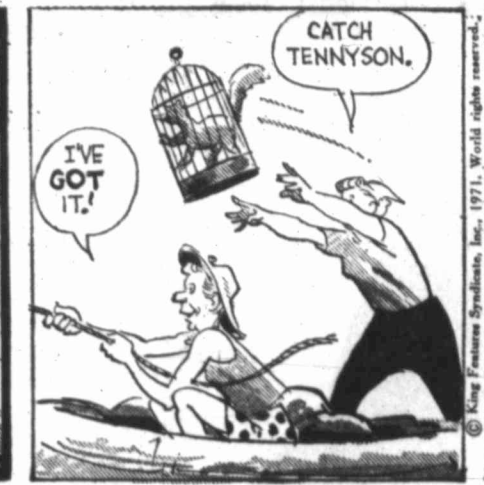

HER MOTHER-IN-LAW
DEAR MOTHER-IN-LAW: I would ignore it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO CONNIE: The biggest problem in the world could have been solved when it was small. What are you waiting for?

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Insulin To Pills

Your Good Health
Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Is it possible to switch from insulin to pills for diabetes? I am 67 and considered a mild diabetic, but since surgery for gall stones 10 years ago I have been on insulin. My physician expects to take me off insulin and I am wondering whether there is any possible cause for alarm. — D. B.L.

In your case no cause for alarm. There are patients with severe diabetes who have to stay on insulin. For them, pills just will not control the sugar, so there is no choice. But at your age, and with diabetes that is mild, I would see no reason why the attempt could not be made. One consideration is the amount of insulin you require. Conversion is more successful when the amount is small — say under 20 to 30 units a day. Your doctor will, I am certain, want to watch you closely over the first two or three months, keeping close tab on whether sugar begins appearing in the urine and also making appropriate blood sugar tests. If your sugar is not well controlled, you can go back to insulin and there will be no harm done. But if the pills do control your sugar, that's fine. A word of warning: you will have to be especially careful with your diet when you make the switch. Dear Dr. Thosteson: My doctor recently gave me a vaccination for smallpox as I expect to travel abroad. Nothing happened, no reaction, no swelling, no scar, and the doctor said this means I am immune. My wife's doctor, however, said this means it didn't "take" and should be done over. Who's right? — H.R.B.

Either could be. You needn't (and generally won't) develop a new scar when you have a booster vaccination. Nearly all of us retain some degree of protection from past vaccinations, much or not so much. If a tiny papule, or "blister," appears, that indicates, a "take." Without this sign, it may mean a failure, and a repeat vaccination, with another batch of vaccine, is advisable. If there is no reaction, or papule, the second time, then you probably really are immune to the extent that you can't have a "take."

Never take a chance on diabetes! For better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Herald for a copy of the booklet, "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Please enclose a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope and 35 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Woman Plunges From Skyscraper To Her Death

CHICAGO (AP) — A young woman hurtled nearly 1,000 feet to her death Thursday from the 90th floor of the 100-story John Hancock Center.

Police tentatively identified the victim as Lorraine Kowalski, 29, of Chicago.

Police said she went through a broken window in a man's apartment. The man told police he did not see what happened.

The huge skyscraper on the fashionable Near North Side is exceeded in height only by the Empire State Building and World Trade Center in New York.

There's Shortage Of Buses, Says Big D School Official

DALLAS (AP) — A shortage of buses in the Dallas school system to implement a federally ordered desegregation plan may affect almost 6,000 black pupils, a school official said Thursday.

The plan requires about 105 buses, the spokesman said, and only about 50 buses may be available.

Pupils having to travel the greatest distances may be given bus transportation priority when school begins Sept. 7, the spokesman said.

Dallas Mayor Wes Wise met with two White House aides Thursday and said afterwards he was convinced that President Nixon is receiving "good intelligence" on school desegregation problems in Dallas and other cities.

City and White House officials spent three hours going over Dallas maps.

Board said the freeze on new registrations for Catholic schools in Dallas County will continue indefinitely.

The freeze was put into effect July 8 as a reaction to the desegregation suit in the public school system. At the time board officials and the diocese an clergy said it was a move to keep the Catholic schools from becoming "havens for segregationists."

Dr. Emmett Conrad, the first Negro elected to the school board, cast the only negative vote against the plan because it mainly involves blacks.

The plan calls for the transfer of about 7,000 pupils, including about 6,000 blacks.

PURE HYPOCRITES

"We're trying to get buses now, but we might have to limit bus transportation only to those students with the greatest need, a school official said.

"If the community is really concerned about busing," Conrad said, "then they should be concerned about the five or six thousand blacks. If they're not, then people here are just pure hypocrites."

DIES CALLS HALT ON SALE OF VOTING MACHINES

AUSTIN (AP) — Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. has called a halt on the sale of new and used voting machines while his office makes a quick investigation.

Dies, Texas' chief election officer, said his office wanted to "update" its information on voting machines that have been approved for sale in the state.

He also said that before he would approve any further sales of used voting machines, the dealers would have to supply detailed information concerning the condition and former use of the machines.

"A recent study of the voting machine approval procedures indicated that certain equipment has been discontinued by the vendors and that other machines have not been inspected by this office for many years," Dies said.

"I feel that this review will take very little time if the voting machine companies cooperate and I do not feel that this temporary suspension of sales will hurt either the companies or the counties involved," he added.

SWEETWATER DROUTH AID

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced Thursday the extension of federal drouth aid programs into four more Texas counties.

Sale of government-owned feed grain at reduced prices and hay transportation subsidies were made available in Matagorda (Bay City), Montague and Nolan (Sweetwater) counties. Earlier 178 Texas counties had been designated for that assistance.

Haying and grazing privileges on cropland taken from production under the Cropland Adjustment Program were extended to Fayette County (La Grange). Previously 169 Texas counties had been approved for that program.
