Snyderites Spend Quiet Thanksgiving

Snyderites were observing a quiet Thanksgiving Day as most business activity in the city came to a halt for the holiday.

Several hundred persons gathered at the First Baptist Church last night for the citywide Thanksgiving service sponsored by the Jaycees and the Ministerial Alliance.

The Rev. Miller Robinson, pastor of Colonial Hill Baptist Church, who brought the Thanksgiving message, admonished the group to be thankful for material things, for their historical heritage, and, above all, for spiritual things.

The Rev. John Gordon, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, presided at the service. The Rev. Alan Lynch of First Christian Church led the opening prayer and Dr. John English of First Methodist Church the benediction. R. C. Patton welcomed those attending, while Bill Poe led the congregational singing and Jim Casey presented special music. Mrs. Nathan Mearse was organist and Barbara Carter pianist. Jaycees served as ushers.

Tanker Limps Into Harbor

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — A 273-foot oil tanker was anchored at New Bedford harbor today with a huge hole ripped high in its port side after it collided with a freighter near Cape Cod Canal.

The Coast Guard said much of the gash had been shored up and auxiliary pumps were put aboard to cope with water seeping in, until the vessel, the Maumee Sun, could be repaired.

The tanker collided Tuesday night with the 8,000-ton freighter, American Pilot. A total of 63 crewmen were aboard both vessels. To prevent the Maumee Sun from sinking, steel wires were used to bind the two ships together until the tanker's cargo of fuel oil was pumped into another vessel.

The Maumee Sun was towed to New Bedford for repairs.

One tanker crewman, Richard C. Walters of Allentown, Pa., suffered minor injuries when he was tossed from a bunk in the collision.

Seven Killed In Iowa Blast

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

KEOKUK, Iowa (AP)—A shattering explosion and flash fire demolished a National Guard armory Wednesday night, sending seven persons to a fiery death and tragically ending a gala Thanksgiving eve square dance.

"Four or five more are not expected to live," Sheriff H. R. Delahoyde said today.

Most of the other 60 to 70 persons in the building were burned or injured. "All our hospitals are filled," the sheriff said. "We had to send some patients to Quincy, Ill., Burlington and Iowa City."

Dr. R.E. Cooper, on duty at St. Joseph Hospital here, said eight persons were in critical condition, and three were transferred to University Hospital at Iowa City, the nearest burn center.

"It was a horrible sight," said Mrs. John Talbott. "There was screaming and everyone was hollering for people to call doctors and ambulances."

Mrs. Marilyn Chance said she saw people "running from the building. They were naked. Their clothes were burned off."

Fire Chief John Breheny and Delahoyde said the explosion was caused by gas. "There is a gas furnace out there," the sheriff said.

"The explosion blew the walls out and the top up," he said. "There was a terrific fire for a few seconds. It had to be gas."

Capt. James Baugher, 34, comander of the National Guard company based at the armory, said the blast apparently originated in the basement.

"It heaved that reinforced steel floor right up and it fell back down into the basement," he said.

Dr. Cooper said the dead included four women, one man and two children. Four of the dead were burned beyond recognition.

Congo Chief Ousted As Military Takes Control

By MICHAEL CODEL

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Lt. Gen. Joseph D. Mobutu ousted President Joseph Kasavubu today and declared himself president of the Congo for the next five years.

Mobutu, the army commander in chief, said he expected parliamentary "approval by acclamation" of his presidency later today. He also canceled the presidential elections which had been scheduled for next January and February.

"Since this morning I am the president," he told a news conference. It was his second seizure of power in the Congo since the former Belgian territory became indenendent in 1960."

Mobutu named Col. Leonard Mulamba, a career officer, to replace Premier-designate Evariste Kimba and said he would form a "government of national unity from all provinces" in which he and Mulamba would be the only military figures.

He said Mulamba would present his government to Parliament for approval by Saturday.

Mobutu said he would ask Parliament for "certain constitutional modifications." This presumably will include a change in the age qualification for the presidency. The minimum is 40. Mobutu is 35.

Mobutu said he staged his coup this morning because "the army believes its responsibility is to protect the people from anarchy and chaos."

He said that all members of the former government, including Kasavubu and Kimba, are "free to do what they want and live in the place of their own choice."

He announced that former Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga was freed from house arrest this morning. Gizenga, former leftist deputy of the late Premier Patrice Lumumba, set up a rebel regime in Stanleyville and has been under various forms of arrest since 1962.

Mobutu met with congressional leaders this morning. He assured them that the constitution would remain in force and the legislature would go its full five-year term.

Former Premier Moise Tshombe's Conaco party issued a statement calling the bloodless coup "an act of heroism."

Mobutu also named Maj. Gen. Louis Bobozo, the army's only other general, to Mobutu's place as commander in chief. Bobozo in Katanga Province, while Mulamba has been commander and political director in the northeast Congo since Stanleyville, its capital was retaken from the Communist-suported rebels a year ago Wednesday.

The coup apparently was peaceful and bloodless, and no opposition was evident in Leopoldville.

The whereabouts of Kasavubu and Kimba were not known, but political sources said neither they nor any members of Kimba's deposed caretaker government had been arrested.

Street dancing in celebration was reported in the native quarter of Leopoldville. A report from Elisabethville, capital of Katanga and the Congo's second largest city, said Mobutu's action was generally approved there. The prevailing opinion was that former Premier Moise Tshombe, who led the secession of Katanga after independence from Belgium in 1960, would be recalled to the government.

Congolese politics have been in crisis since Oct. 13, when Kasavubu, fearing Tshombe as a rival in the presidential election next year, ousted the premier and named Kimba to replace him.

Tshombe and his supporters in Parliament defeated Kimba on his first vote of confidence Nov. 14, but Kasavubu asked Kimba to try to form another government. With Parliament scheduled to recess on Dec. 6, political observers believed Kimba planned to delay naming his Cabinet until after that date. He then would not have had to face a vote in Parliament until March.

The rift between Kasavubu and Mobutu probably began when the president told the African summit conference in late October that he would expel the white mercenary soldiers who quelled the rebellion in the north Congo.

Mobutu, who valued the mercenaries, pressured Kimba into issuing a statement that "only those mercenaries not integrated into the army would be expelled."

Rumors also circulated that Kasavubu was planning to import Ghanian troops, ostensibly to replace Nigerian police who are training the local police force. Mobutu was reported to have said that if the Ghanaians tried to cross the Congo River from Brazzaville, "I will blow them out of the water."

News Strike Threatens In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO New York Newspaper Guild says it will strike the New York Daily News at 6 p.m. Friday unless agreement on a new contract is reached by then.

John J. Gaherin, president of the Publishers Association of New York City, says other newspapers in the association probably will shut down if the News is prevented from publishing.

The association represents six of the eight major newspapers of general circulation in the city.

The possibility of another newspaper dimout was announced Wednesday shortly after the Guild set the strike deadline. The Guild had broken off negotiations with the News Tuesday night after the talks became snagged.

Gaherin said:

"If a strike occurs, there is the probability that there would be a duplication of the New York Times situation."

When the Guild struck the Times in September, the News and other members of the publishers association shut down.

Gaherin said Wednesday there was no written agreement that all would shut down if one was struck. He said any decision [illegible] is subject to review by members at the "11th hour."

Meg Ends US Tour

LONDON (AP) — Princess Margaret and her husband, Lord Snowdon, returned from their American tour today to London rain.

Dressed in a mink coat and a hat of gold ostrich feathers, the princess walked to her waiting car under an umbrella.

She was met by U.S. Ambassador David Bruce and the Earl of Westmorland, who represented the queen.

After their three-week visit to the United States, the princess and her husband flew to London from New York via Bermuda where the princess presented colors to the Bermuda regiment during a six-hour stay.

Machinists Ok New Contract

By JERRY CURRY

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Thanksgiving holidays won't allow full production of jet fighters and Gemini spacecraft at McDonnell Aircraft Corp. to resume until Monday even though a six-day strike by 17,000 machinists has ended.

Members of District 9 of the International Association of Machinists approved a new contract with McDonnell in a boisterous meeting punctuated with boos.

The vote Wednesday was 6,387 to 2,841 for acceptance of the proposed agreement which had been worked out earlier in the day in Washington between union and company negotiators spurred on by federal mediators.

About two-thirds of the workers scheduled for the [illegible] shift Wednesday returned to work and most of the midnight shift employes were on hand at the production lines.

"But," a McDonnell spokesman said, "full production cannot be maintained until the day shift reports back. The Thanksgiving holiday and the day after, a holiday under the new contract, won't allow full production to resume until Monday."

Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and William E. Simkin, director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, telegraphed their thanks to McDonnell [illegible] officials when it was learned that the contract had been approved.

Approval of the contract was [illegible] machinists who crowded the St. Louis Arena, where the Central Hockey League St. Louis Braves play their games.

Eugene Glover, vice president of the AFL-CIO machinists and the union's top negotiator, was booed repeatedly by some dissident machinists as he attempted to read the proposed contract.

A controversy within the union had threatened the proposed agreement. Some machinists had been fighting with their own leaders ever since an extension for contract talks was granted by the leaders even though the union had rejected it.

The new contract provides general wage increases of nine cents per hour for each of the next three years. It also calls for additional increases of three to six cents an hour in about 70 job classifications.

Under the old contract, the union figured the hourly rate at $2.71 and the company at $2.98.

Destructive Floods Ease In California

By The Associated Press

Storm-weary Southern Californians cast wary eyes at a gray sky today, willing to settle for a cloudy Thanksgiving in place of the drenching rains that have wrought havoc over the past two weeks.

The forecast called for overcast skies, light rains and occasionally gusty winds today, with clearing skies Friday and excellent prospects for a sunny, brisk weekend.

Even gloomy weather today was a welcome relief from many days of thundering downpours that left a record 11 inches of rain and caused widespread death and destruction.

Authorities said at least eight Southern Californians perished in floods and another five persons, four of them children, were killed in the Mexican border town of Tijuana.

A fourth storm expected to follow on the heels of the preceding trio began drifting east instead of south, removing the threat from already-sodden Southern California.

The mildly wet weather today, forecasters said, was caused by a weak weather front expected to dissipate off the coast of California.

As the rains slackened Wednesday, homeowners on hillsides and in canyons continued sandbagging their property against the possibility of new rains.

Especially hard hit in the onslaught of unseasonal storms was Riverside County, declared a disaster area Wednesday by Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Flash floods isolated the desert resort of Palm Springs briefly, and officials said Wednesday that some roads were still impassable. Roads in town were also clogged with mud and debris that swept down from the San Jacinto Mountains.

Weather was also expected to improve today in Northern California, where main highways over the Sierras were blocked by snow.

In other parts of the nation, heavy snow covered Western mountain areas from Arizona to Montana. Four inches of snow fell in a one-hour period at Great Falls, Mont. The snow spread into the upper Great Lakes region with one to three inches across areas of northern Wisconsin. Amounts of six inches were reported in some sections.

Cold air moved southward from the northern Plains and northern Rockies. Temperatures edged to near zero along the Canadian border, and were in the teens across the Dakotas. Southerly winds held the mercury to near 70 along coastal areas of Texas and Louisiana.

Action Slows On Viet Battleground

By ROBERT MOOREFIELD

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. infantrymen clashed with the Viet Cong today in the jungle north of Saigon, but most American ground troops in South Viet Nam observed Thanksgiving Day without combat.

U.S. military sources reported one of the quietest days in two weeks in the Ia Drang Valley, where the Communists and U.S. troops last week fought their biggest battle of the war.

The Viet Cong kept up pressure, however, against South Vietnamese troops along the central coast, while an allied force of American, Australian and South Vietnamese troops [illegible] northeast of Saigon in Binh Tuy Province.

Several men of the U.S. Army's 1st Infantry Division were killed in a firefight with two Viet Cong platoons on the edge of the Communists' Zone D 30 miles northwest of Saigon. U.S. casualties were officially described as light.

Viet Cong casualties in the action were not known, but 210 bodies of enemy killed in previous fighting were found in scattered parts of the country, a spokesman said.

One hundred of the dead were only 15 miles north of the capital. Sixty additional bodies were found in shallow graves in the Ia Drang Valley. All were apparently the victims of U.S. artillery.

Government forces found 50 more Viet Cong bodies in mass graves in the northernmost province of Quang Tri. The troops made three unsuccessful attempts to penetrate an enemy position Wednesday night about 30 miles northwest of Hue, then moved across flooded fields only to find that the Communists had fled.

Other Viet Cong units overran a small post near Quang Ngai, 330 miles north of Saigon, and fired mortars at two other government positions. One of them was the district capital of Hiep Duc, which South Vietnamese soldiers recaptured last week after it had been overrun. The other was the village of Thach Tru, where a battalion of South Vietnamese rangers beat back an enemy regiment Monday.

Crisis And Controversy Wait While Nation Gives Thanks

By JERRY BUCK

Amid crisis and controversy, the nation pauses today to observe that most American of holidays, Thanksgiving.

For the first time in more than a decade American servicemen are fighting on foreign soil in a worsening war in Viet Nam.

And midway through the long holiday weekend an estimated [illegible] march in Washington. The demonstration is set for Saturday — and on the same day the American Legion plans to distribute 100,000 "Show Your Colors" lapel buttons at the Army-Navy football game in Philadelphia.

President Johnson, troubled by mounting casualties in Viet Nam, shares the traditional Thanksgiving turkey dinner with his family and friends at the Texas White House.

In a message to the troops in Viet Nam the President said: "Today we do not march in support of your unfinished task. We carry no placards to bolster your cause. We sign no petitions to show you our unity.

"But we do much more. Today we raise our voices in a single prayer of thanks for your courage and your dedication. [illegible] the most powerful force of all."

Thanksgiving is also a time for spectacular parades that are a [illegible] to Christmas. Down New York's Broadway comes the big parade of gigantic balloons and floats. Other parades are in Philadelphia, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Charlotte, N.C., and Toronto, Canada.

Across the nation families gathered for the holiday.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, recovering from a heart attack, will have turkey with his immediate family in Washington's Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her two children, Caroline and John Jr., are in Newport, R.I., where they are spending the holiday weekend with her mother, Mrs. Hugh Auchincloss.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My problem has not yet appeared in your column, and I wonder if I'm unusual, or perhaps if others have had the problem but are just too embarrassed to discuss it. I am 25 years old. I'm in good physical condition and am perfectly normal (I think) except that when I move, my bones "crack." When I'm dancing, I sound like an old bridge caving in. Abby, you have no idea how embarrassing this can be! I've even asked my doctor about it and he says it is only "nervous tension," and I should "relax." How can I "relax" when I'm [illegible] to crack and always [illegible] to crack?

SNAP, CRACKLE AND POP

DEAR S. C. AND P.: Don't get "oiled" in the joints. You'll still crack. Just accept this minor nuisance good-humoredly. One who can laugh at himself is seldom hurt by the laughter of others.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Last week I lost my keys. They were all on a key case and my identification was inside. The next day I received a telephone call from a woman asking if I had lost something. I told her yes, my keys. She said, "Well, I have them. I found them in my husband's pocket." Then she began to ask me all sorts of questions, such as how I knew her husband. I told her I was a married woman and didn't know her husband, but she didn't believe me. Then she said if I wanted my keys I would have to come to her house to "talk things over."

I needed the keys so I told her that my husband and I would be there at the appointed time. We went to this old dilapidated house and a man answered the door, handed me my keys and slammed the door. The woman was nowhere in sight. Now I am getting threatening phone calls from this woman at all hours, accusing and harassing me. I don't want trouble, but what can I do? She knows my name, address and phone number.

FEELING UNEASY

DEAR FEELING: If she bothers you, notify the police and tell them the whole story.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: As a nursing supervisor in a hospital, may I make a plea? Well-meaning friends and business associates send huge floral arrangements and plants to hospital patients without realizing what an inconvenience their generosity can create. There comes a point when a room simply cannot hold another bouquet. Then the embarrassing decision must be made. What flowers to "banish"? Whose feelings will be hurt when it is discovered? My plea is for smaller, but more artistic, arrangements. Or, why not send a plant to the home to greet the patient on his return? And if a long convalescence is in the offing, colleagues could confer so that fresh flowers arrived every few days.

SINCERELY,
AN R. N. IN SEATTLE

DEAR R. N.: Your plea makes sense, and I hope it's heeded. And while we're pleading, may I add the suggestion that only lightly scented (or virtually odorless) flowers be sent to hospitals.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your correspondent signed WORRIED said, "They tell me that the Bible prohibits marriages between cousins." Jacob fled to a far-away country and married two of his first cousins. They were Rachel and Leah, from whom Twelve Tribes of Israel sprang. And Mary and Joseph, the parents of Jesus of Nazareth, were also first cousins.

Respectfully,
E. McL.
Your Scotch Presbyterian fan

Bill Holden Licks Bug, Works Again

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Holiday notes and comments on the Hollywood scene—

William Holden has beaten the bug and is back at work. The actor picked up an ailment while in Louisiana on locations for "Alvarez Kelly" with Richard Widmark. At first it seemed like nothing worse than flu, but his condition worsened and he was hospitalized.

Doctors decided he had been infected with salmonella, a form of paratyphoid he may have picked up from the water supply after the recent hurricane.

"Alvarez Kelly" suspended for a month while Holden recuperated...

It's a big Thanksgiving dinner at Debbie Reynolds' house today. With the death of Marie McDonald, Debbie and husband Harry Karl assumed custody of the three children of his marriage to Marie.

Tina Marie Karl, 9, goes to school with Debbie's children, Carrie and Todd. Teen-agers Harrison and Dede Karl, who were adopted, continue at boarding schools and come home for the weekends.

"Now we're really an interfaith family," says Debbie. She and her two children are Protestants, Harry is Jewish, and the three newcomers are Catholics...

Jack Lemmon is still thawing out from his experience in Cleveland. He was there for "Fortune Cookie" locations, mostly in Municipal Stadium, home of the Cleveland Browns.

"The hospitality was wonderful but the weather was murder," Lemmon reports. "It was frigid, and the temperature in the stadium was 10 degrees lower than outside. I guess California has made me thin-blooded. I was never so cold in my life."

Snyderite Named To Who's Who

WICHITA FALLS — Connie Koonce of Snyder has been named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" at Midwestern University.

Graham Sees Threat In Lawlessness

HOUSTON (AP) — Evangelist [illegible] organized anarchy in America to downgrade the policeman. [illegible] and the form of rebellion against all authority," he told [illegible] persons at his crusade in Houston's [illegible] stadium Wednesday night.

"There is a breakdown of the law. Crime grosses nearly [illegible] per cent of the American national income and forms a state within a state. Crime costs the American people more than our education and welfare programs combined.

"Our city streets have been turned into jungles of terror, mugging, rape and death. The tragedy is that more than half of all criminals in some cities eventually go free.

"The American people have enacted the strongest civil rights laws in history. No nation in the world history has made an attempt to solve its racial problem as has the American. Yet laws and legislation are not enough.

"We must have a moral and spiritual awakening that changes the human heart. Hate, resentment and prejudice come from within and cannot be legislated out of man."

Graham said there is no other power in the world that can change the inside of man except the gospel.

"This should be the burning, authoritative, dramatic message of the church at this crisis hour of history," he said. "Man's nature can be changed. There is hope for the future — but it is only in Jesus Christ."

After the sermon 806 persons went forward at the evangelist's invitation, making 7,920 who have done so in six days.

Says Gambling Has Small Beginning

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Organized gambling in Connecticut is only part of a larger and uglier criminal operation, the governor's committee on gambling reported.

"If the people want to combat the evils of organized crime," the committee report said, "they will have to start by refusing to fill the criminal coffers with their 25 cent bets on numbers and their $2 bets on horses."

Paraplegics Join Festivities

By CHARLES WEST

CASTLE POINT, N.Y. (AP) — Americans introduced 26 paraplegic Vietnamese soldiers to [illegible] Thanksgiving at the Veterans Administration Hospital where they are learning to walk again.

From the happy reaction of the soldiers they thought it was a delightful custom.

But Wednesday when [illegible] Walter Mitchell [illegible] them the two 20-pound turkeys set aside for their dinner, Lt. Trinh Le Van joked:

"I'm allergic to turkeys."

He spoke through an interpreter. Only one of these men — wounded veterans, all paralyzed from the waist down, speaks fluent English.

Before they were flown here Nov. 3 on the personal order of President Johnson, there was little hope for these cripples, or for the 300 more still in Vietnam. A Vietnamese doctor said these 26 were the worst cases. When they arrived, they were [illegible] apparently bewildered and perhaps a bit frightened. [illegible] Since then, their spirits have soared.

"They are all better than when they came in," said Vincent W. Powers, hospital administrator. "Their morale is excellent."

The countrymen who came with them — two doctors, six nurses and six medical corpsmen — said they brightened when they first got wheelchairs. Many of them had lain helplessly in bed for months. Now they scoot through corridors like children on tricycles.

The two Vietnamese doctors — Capts. Lam Van Thach and Pham Nhut Hung — said the [illegible] understand that they will never be completely normal because of spinal damage.

"But they want to learn to walk and get around and to be able to work," said Dr. Hung. Doctors hope to accomplish this for each with the aid of braces, crutches, wheelchairs or other devices.

Afterwards, the Vietnamese medical personnel will return home to set up a rehabilitation center for other paraplegics.

One Killed In Blast

SEMINOLE, Tex. (AP) — An explosion and fire at a Pan American Oil Co. lease 7 miles southeast of Seminole killed one man and injured two others Wednesday.

Charles Shumake of Denver City, Tex., an employe of Lone Star Boiler and Welding Co., was fatally burned.

Robert Emory, 28, suffered bruises from flying debris and his brother, Eddie Emory, 26, was in critical condition with burns. Both are from Brownfield.

Witnesses said Shumake was using a cutting torch on a line to an empty oil tank when an explosion upended the tank. Fire broke out and spread over the area, destroying a winch truck and damaging a welding truck.

Bank Robber Faces 20-Year Sentence

FORT WORTH (AP) — Hile Tiner Jr. of Weatherford, who told of an "uncontrollable urge" to rob a bank, faces a 20-year prison term.

A jury found him sane at the time he robbed the First National Bank at Lipan of $2,000 Aug. 27 and fixed his sentence Wednesday.

Members of the Fluvanna junior high and high school girls basketball teams attended the 8th Annual Flying Queens Basketball Clinic at Plainview High School Gym last Saturday, November 13. The clinic lasted all day, and activities included observation of the Flying Queen Scrimmage during the morning session and examples of various techniques during the afternoon session.

The Flying Queens are all students at Wayland Baptist College. Fluvanna girls who attended the clinic included Nanette and Rinda Bruner, Cindy Patterson, Paula Turner, Charlotte Toombs, Donna Potter, Linda Daugherty, Sue Smith, Marsha and Debbie Mathis, Sandra Stansell, and Oralia Ynuagnzoa. Coach and Mrs. Oscar Bronniman and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Toombs accompanyed the group on the trip.

Also in Plainview for the day and attending College Preview Day on the Wayland Campus were Robert Miller, Mike Landrum, Bobby Hall and Joe Weldon Stansell. They were accompanied by Rev. Thomas Hall who also visited Douglas Hopper, a Wayland student who led the youth revival in Fluvanna last February. The Fluvanna group had lunch on the campus and attended a musical presentation of the Drama Department, Little Mary Sunshine.

On Friday night Rev. and Mrs. Hall were hosts for a party at their home following the basketball game. Guests were members of the high school classes, and refreshments were served to twenty-five boys and girls.

On November 9 Rev. and Mrs. Hall attended the Workers Conference at Ira. The meeting followed a dinner given for members of the Mitchell-Scurry County Baptist Association which meets monthly.

Ray Herring, busy member of the Fluvanna Young Farmers of Texas recently made a trip to El Paso.

Newcomers being welcomed around the community are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Staten who have built a home north of Fluvanna. Mrs. Staten is the former Ethel Glover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Glover.

Robertanne Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turner, has been feeling expecially lucky lately. She is recovering nicely after being accidentally shot in the eye with a bb rifle recently while visiting at Blackwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Warren and Nellie Joe were home to visit parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Warren, and other members of the family and to enjoy a big Sunday dinner recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Chick visited Saturday night and Sunday with Mrs. Chick's brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Panch McDonald.

Seaman Recruit Tommy Hall son of Rev. and Mrs. Thomas Hall writes that he is being tested for entrance to nuclear electronics school. Tommy is stationed at the San Diego Naval Training Station and anticipates a [illegible] the last of December when he will fly home.

After spending three months with grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Alford Browning, Stevie Hartness has returned home to Camp Hood, Texas. His father, Sgt. Aaron Hartness, was here recently to drive him home.

Also visiting the Brownings was a daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Grimes, Jackie and Danny, all of Forth Worth. Mrs. Browning has returned to Fluvanna after being with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Neugin. Mr. Neugin is confined to the hospital in Pampa.

A joint community Thanksgiving service will be observed at the Fluvanna Baptist Church on Thursday morning at 9:45 a.m. Rev. Thomas Hall will be directing the service. Ray Herring and Charlie Bley will be in charge of the music for the service. A lay speech with a theme appropriate to the Thanksgiving season will be given by Fowler Mathis. The sermon for the morning also based on a Thanksgiving theme will be delivered by Rev. Glel Quesenberry, pastor of the Fluvanna Methodist Church. A joint offering will be taken for the American Bible Society, a group which distributes Bibles throughout the world. Ministers of both churches have issued an invitation to all persons in the area and also added that the service will be short and persons working that day are cordially welcome to come in work clothes.

A day in the country is always anticipated by young children, and the grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fulford are no exception. Only perhaps the enthusiasm of the Fulfords equals that of Lance and Zan Fulford in this case. The children spent last Sunday in Fluvanna along with their parents Mr. and Mrs. Victor Fulford of Lubbock. Mrs. Fulford served Sunday dinner to her family and also Kay's parents and grandmother, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Keller and Mrs. Effie Keller, all of Snyder.

Mrs. White Given Going-Away Party

A coffee was given Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. A. V. Brumley honoring Mrs. Charles White, who is leaving Snyder soon.

Coffee and doughnuts were served to the following: Mmes. Benny Sims, Lou Disheroon, Harlin Morgan, Bessie Corbell, Blanch Williams, Frances Williams, and the honoree. Mrs. M. F. Allen and Mrs. R. R. Patterson were unable to attend.

A gift was presented Mrs. White.

Mr. Carroll Speaks To AAUW

Mr. Joe Carroll, city attorney, spoke to the Snyder Branch of the American Association of University Women on "Woman and the Law", recently. Mr. Carroll dealt with several phases of law including property and criminal laws, and proposed legislation bearing on women's rights.

Vice President Nellie Smith presided during the business session. Christmas project plans were completed.

Junior 4-H Club Makes Plans For Christmas Party

The Snyder Junior 4-H Club met in the county extension office recently. Mrs. Joe Williamson of Texas Electric gave a program on using small electrical appliances. She made cookies and baked them in an easy-bake oven and made punch in a blender.

The club planned their Christmas program. Debbie Kay Brown and Julie Burdett led recreation and played the game "Fruit basket turnover".

Six new members were present. Attending were; Shawn Shaw, Vickie Strickland, Vinita Blankenship, Debbie Brown, Jan Bellamy, Jannice Stuard, Debra Fields, Jana Easterling, Pam Buchanan, Shirley Craig, Kay Lockhart, Gloria Nell Green, Tomibeth Warren, Rosie Cervantez, Debbie Kincheloe, Ines Hernandez, Julie Lou Burdett, Clarsa Bickel, Sherry Johnson and Lesa Ball.

Donald G. Palmer Promoted By Army

Donald G. Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted L. Palmer, 901 Twenty-fourth, was promoted to private first class recently while serving with the School Support [illegible] School, Fort Bliss.

Palmer entered the Army in February, 1965, and completed basic combat training at Fort Polk, La.

The [illegible] soldier is a 1964 graduate of Snyder High School and attended Lubbock Christian College.

Says Apartment Must Go Unrented

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A landlady who refused to rent an apartment to a Negro has been ordered by Circuit Court not to rent it to anyone else.

Judge J. Robert Lacey acted on a motion filed by the State Civil Rights Commission.

Soldier Home For Holidays; Just Thankful He's Alive

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — A 2?-year-old Army sergeant shot in the head by an enemy officer in Viet Nam and left to die [illegible] the United States for Thanksgiving.

Sgt. John Eade, Toledo, Ohio, arrived on a stretcher Wednesday aboard a medical evacuation plane. He was transferred to the Valley Forge Army Hospital in Pennsylvania.

"I was the only guy left alive in my squad," Eade said after he talked on the telephone with his mother in Ohio. He was hit three times by enemy fire in a battle Nov. 17 at Plei Me near the Cambodian border.

"I was left half-conscious and was sitting at the base of a tree," he related. "An officer, maybe a Chinese, came up and shot me in the head while I was lying there. He left me for dead." Eade did not explain why he thought the officer might have been Chinese.

Eade was picked up 19 hours later by a helicopter rescue squad.

"I'm glad to be home, period," he said. Eade was in Viet Nam 2 months before he was wounded.

"I'm glad he's alive and I think this will be a good Thanksgiving after all," his mother, Catherine Eade, said over the telephone.

Eade said his rifle was taken after he was wounded but he found another M14 rifle and a grenade launcher that he kept by his side.

A majority of the 28 wounded who arrive at Travis Air Force Base Wednesday were from A through D companies of the 2nd Battalion, 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division. Eade came from A Company.

The evacuation plane began its flight from Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines, where Eade underwent surgery for his head wound.

Negroes Named To Birmingham Boards

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Five Negroes are among 16 persons appointed by the City Council to various city boards and agencies on housing, pensions and securities, the library board and the Jefferson County Committee for Economic Opportunity.

All were recommended for the posts by Mayor Albert Boutwell. The first Negro was appointed to an official city board in Birmingham almost a year ago.

Many Fear Historic Venice May Just Sink Into The Sea

EDITOR'S NOTE — When the jolly tourists go whooshing through its canals, Venice dies a little. City officials quietly work every hour to shore up the magnificent city which is in danger of sinking into the sea from which it arose.

By GERALD MILLER

VENICE, Italy (AP) — City officials of Venice are in something of panic. They fear this unique and magnificent city might collapse into the very canals that have made it a prime tourist attraction of the world.

Many things are blamed — salt water corrosion, the churning backwash kicked up by modern motorboats, dredging of canals to deepen them for more traffic, and the infirmities of age.

The panic is both old and new. Motorboats in the canals and steamships in the lagoon are a new cause for fear. But lovers of Venice have feared that she might sink into the sea almost from the time she rose from it 15 centuries ago.

The fears are reasonable enough. As a physical phenomenon the very existence of Venice is almost too much to believe.

Who could have thought that a city could rise on 100 little estuary islands so soggy that thousands of wooden stakes must be sunk into the ground to support the foundations of every building?

Venice has been a chancey business from the start. Her history is packed with chronicles of decay and collapse, of churches suddenly crashing into ruins, of towers tilting out of line until with a roar of yielding masonry, they crumbled out of existence.

Even in the best of times Venice has been a jumbled city of historical bric-a-brac, an eccentric old community of twisting lanes, uneven walls, swaying statues, crooked chimneys, bulging buildings and sagging stairs.

Almost nothing in Venice seems straight. Many of the ancient apalaces along the Grand Canal are so out of line it seems a miracle that they stand.

But the city fathers hope to keep everything around a little while longer. They work at their task with the experience derived from intimacy with the problem and the tools of modern technology.

If the motorboat backwash weakens foundations, Venetian engineers know how to strengthen them by building modern water-tight caissons around the house and squirting concrete into the foundations, the way a dentist fills a tooth.

Many a tottering tower is shored up with modern steel beams hidden from sight by artfully restored brickwork. Many a church and private home is buttressed by steel bands. As a city of art, restoration is something Venice knows well.

Though seldom seen by the tourist, divers in modern gear are constantly at work in the major canals, pushing through the slime to check on the city's substructures and to keep them in repair.

All this is tricky and expensive, but manageable. The mild sense of panic is always there, but officials and citizenry alike are sure that the proud old city will be standing for many centuries to come.

How dry it will be is another problem, for Venice is sinking into the sea. No one really knows for sure, but it is said the water level is rising about a fifth of an inch a year.

Specialists say the causes are both natural and human. Over the centuries the weight of the city has been causing a gradual compression of the subsoil. Italy is a land of earthquakes and the subterranean disturbances have accelerated the sinking of the soggy earth beneath Venice.

To accommodate modern shipping, deep-water entrances have been dredged in the lagoon and, together with the constant deepening of canals in the city, the rush of tides over the years has become ever stronger.

But the prospect of a Venice disappearing into the sea seems so remote that for the moment at least the city government has nothing specific in mind to prevent it.

The sea also has had an indirect effect on some of the city's outdoor artworks. The surface of the four famous bronze horses on the facade of St. Mark's Cathedral is corroding from a combination of the sea salt in the air mixed with factory fumes from the chimneys of industries on the mainland.

Experts want to take the horses indoors until some kind of anti-corrosion cover can be devised, but Venetians are reluctant to see the horses come down.

The popular belief is that this would be a bad omen.

Dayton Crash Kills Five

DAYTON, Tex. (AP) — Two automobiles collided 10 miles north of here Wednesday night and the head-on crash took five lives. A sixth motorist suffered critical injuries.

The crash killed Alton Wayne Mizell, 16, Cleveland, Tex., driver of one car; his father, Alton Willard Mizell, 39; Julian Earl Dennis, 46, Austin, Tex., driver of the second car; his granddaughter, Diana Dennis, 2, also of Austin; and Mrs. Robert Long, 39, of Houston.

Dennis' wife, Josephine, 43, was reported in grave condition at a Cleveland hospital.

State patrolman Ted Bowlin said the Mizell car was headed north on State Highway 321 with his father and Mrs. Long as passengers, and they collided with the car driven by Dennis.

Dennis' 6-month old granddaughter, Patricia Dennis, also of Austin, escaped injury.

When you line pans in which you bake rich fruit cakes, you can leave the lining around the cakes.

Court May Pick Redistrict Plan

HOUSTON (AP) — A three-judge federal court has been asked to throw out legislation redrawing the districts of state representatives and select one of three model plans before it for use in the 1966 election.

This request was made in a brief filed Wednesday by William Wright, lawyer for Harris County Democratic chairman Bill Kilgarlin and eight others in a suit attacking the constitutionality of the reapportionment bill.

The brief also asked the judges to postpone ordering the plan into use until Jan. 15, giving the legislature time to go into special session and draft a new redistricting plan of its own.

Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr asked the court earlier to give the legislature until .97. to adopt a new plan.

The court includes Judges James Noel, Joe Ingraham and John Brown. They mailed a letter Oct. 19 asking that parties to the suit comment on possible remedies the court might order if it found the flotorial districts set up by the redistricting bill are unconstitutional.

Wright's brief suggested the court adopt the Arnold Foundation monograph, a plan drawn up at Texas Christian University. The brief said it was the best of three model plans submitted to the court.

Wright said the Arnold plan calls for single-member districts while the other two plans, both prepared by the public research center of the University of Houston, call for at-large districts.

One solution suggested in the court's letter would strike out the flotorial districts, but would otherwise hold the bill a valid interim plan for the 1966 elections. Representatives from the flotorial districts would be elected at large from the member counties.

The brief filed by Wright argued that this plan could not be used since the house redistricting bill contains no severance clause.

"Therefore it must be assumed the legislature intended it to stand or fall in its entirety," Wright said.

The court has not indicated when it will act on the redistricting suit.

Tremors Are Under Study

HUNTSVILLE, Ala. (AP) — Space technicians are checking to see if reports of earth tremors in north Alabama could have been triggered by the testing of the Saturn 5 booster rocket.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration spokesmen said the 160-million horsepower booster was ground tested for its full flight duration of about 2½ minutes Wednesday at the Marshall Space Flight Center.

Within minutes after the testing was completed, reports of earth tremors poured into the Birmingham Weather Bureau about 100 miles away.

Britons Face Weekend Without Bread

By JAMES F. KING

LONDON (AP) — A three-day bakers' strike threatened 20 million Britons today with a breadless weekend.

After small lightning strikes for a 30 per cent wage increase, the bakers' union called out 9,000 members in half of England — including London.

The bakers are demanding that their minimum weekly pay be raised from $32.20 to $42. To head off a weekend bread famine, they offered to accept $2.80 a week until a settlement is reached.

The Labor government, trying to hold wages and prices in line, has set 3½ per cent as normal for wage raises in any industry.

Only the major bakeries are affected by the strike. Small independent bakeries were still operating, but their output was far below the normal demand.

Economics Minister George Brown, second man in the Labor government and Prime Minister Harold Wilson's all-around troubleshooter, called off a trip to Paris to mediate the dispute. The union rejected his proposal for arbitration.

The full effect of the strike won't be felt for 48 hours. But already housewives were stocking up on bread.

"The pinch will come tomorrow and on Saturday," one big bakery said.

Newspapers gave housewives recipes for baking bread.

The strikers will return to work Sunday morning, but their bread will not be on sale until the shops open on Monday.

Buck Deer Attacks Woman In Her Yard

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — A deer leaped the fence and attacked Mrs. Vernon Adams, 46, as she picked up the afternoon newspaper Wednesday at Aledo, 11 miles west of here.

In answer to his wife's screams Adams dashed from their house and the maddened buck turned on him.

AAA Playoff Round Begins

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer

Three games Thursday launch the most important weekend of Texas schoolboy football.

The top divisions—Classes AAAA and AAA—begin the state playoffs with Dumas, favorite for the Class AAA crown, among the early starters. Dumas clashes with Odessa Ector at Dumas Thursday afternoon.

Texarkana, the Class AAAA favorite, waits until Friday night to open its bid. The Tigers tangle with Denison at Denison.

Classes AA and A will be in their second round with 16 teams left in each division.

The headliner of Class AA sends Iowa Park against Denver City in a battle of unbeaten, untied teams. Alpine, the championship favorite, plays Fredericksburg, upsetter of undefeated, untied Granbury.

Class A's top game is between Coahoma and Sonora, two teams with perfect records and high scores. Coahoma has rolled up 481 points in 11 games, Sonora 394 in a like number of engagements.

Three Rivers, the Class A title favorite, goes against Woodsboro, which is also undefeated but has been tied.

Two of the Thursday games are in Class AAA where Dumas makes its early start toward the title. Lamesa and Brownwood clash at Abilene in the other Thursday contest.

The lone Thanksgiving Day game in the lower divisions is Forney vs. Honey Grove at Greenville in Class A.

All told there are 24 games scheduled in the four divisions, meaning that each class will be deciding quarter-finalists.

The record was 25 out of 32 last week. Here's how they look this time:

CLASS AAAA

Friday night: Dallas Hillcrest over Fort Worth Arlington Heights, Texarkana over Denison, Spring Branch Memorial over Houston Jones, Nederland over Freeport Brazosport, San Antonio Lee over San Antonio Harlandale; Saturday afternoon: Odessa Permian over Ysleta Bel Air, Wichita Falls Rider over Lubbock Monterey; Saturday night: Corsicana over Alice.

CLASS AAA

Thursday afternoon: Dumas over Odessa Ector, Brownwood over Lamesa; Friday night: McKinney over Weatherford, Nacogdoches over Duncanville, Bridge City over Conroe, Bay City over Dickinson, San Marcos over Austin Lanier; Saturday night: Donna over Del Rio.

CLASS AA

Friday night: Denver City over Iowa Park, Alpine over Fredericksburg, Mineola over DeKalb, Cameron over Bellville, Needville over Port Acres, Edna over Hondo; Saturday night: Plano over Lake Worth, Bishop over Edcouch-Elsa.

CLASS A

Thursday night: Forney over Honey Grove; Friday night: White Deer over Kress, DeLeon over Keller, Tidehaven over Smithville, Three Rivers over Woodsboro; Saturday night—Coahoma over Sonora, Wills Point over Hallsville, Elkhart over Rogers.

Nicklaus Got Start With La. Cajuns

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is the dominant name in golf today and the Nicklaus era undoubtedly began in this southwest Louisiana town.

Lafayette, home of the Hebert brothers —Jay and Lionel — puts on the PGA national tour's last and smallest tourney every year. But the pros love to come here, especially Nicklaus — the Golden Bear from Columbus, Ohio.

It was at the Cajun Classic that Nicklaus, in his second year on the tour, became the second man to earn more than $100,000 in official money.

It was at the Cajun Classic that the blond belter took away the money title from Arnold Palmer.

And, it was the Cajun Classic that got many pros started on the tour.

Nicklaus heads the field for this year's $30,000 Cajun Classic, which starts today over the beautifully contoured Oakbourne Country Club course.

He already has won $138,000 this year and is the leading money winner.

Big Jack, who has won five tournaments this year, including the prestige Masters, needs the Cajun Classic this year to qualify for PGA membership.

The PGA however, might not let him qualify anyway. To obtain a full-fledged membership in the organization, a golfer must play in 25 approved tourneys every year for five years (or work as a club pro for the same period).

Nicklaus has played in 23 tourneys this year. He had planned to enter both the Cajun Classic and the Miami Beach Open for his 25. But the Miami Beach open fell through and that meant Nicklaus would only have 24 if he played in the tourney here.

He asked the PGA to let him count the Cajun Classic as the 25th tourney of the year, since it wasn't his fault that the Florida tourney couldn't get off the ground.

The PGA has taken his request under advisement.

Besides Nicklaus, the field is full of unknown pros — many playing in the first official PGA tourney. A lot of them come here in hopes of at least finishing 72 holes — whether they win money or not.

Under PGA rules, a player who finishes 72 holes in an official tourney is automatically exempt from qualifying for the next tourney.

College Coaching Ranks Shaken Up

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Glenn Dobbs and Doug Weaver are two college football coaches who spent a pleasant Thanksgiving. Not so John Michelosen and Tommy O'Boyle.

Michelosen was dismissed Wednesday as head coach at the University of Pittsburgh after a 3-7 season in which the Panthers yielded 311 points, more than any other Pitt eleven.

O'Boyle resigned as head coach at Tulane after a 2-8 season capped by a 62-0 drubbing by archrival Louisiana State.

In contrast, Dobbs, head coach and athletic director at the University of Tulsa, was given a new five-year contract Wednesday by Tulsa's board of trustees.

Tulsa, 7-2, ended its regular season today against Colorado State University.

Weaver, head coach at Kansss State University whose team failed to win a game this season, was offered another three-year contract. Despite his record of 8-51 in six seasons at Kansas State, James A. McCain, president of the university, said, "Doug will continue as our football coach."

Michelosen and O'Boyle are the latest departures from the college grid scene.

Earlier in November, Jerry Burns was dismissed as head coach at Iowa and James W. Garrett resigned as head coach at Susquehanna University.

And just last Saturday, Bill Murray resigned as head coach at Duke University to become executive chairman of the American Football Coaches Association.

Another coaching change occurred at Indiana State University where Bill Jones resigned as head coach after nine years. He was succeeded by Jerry Huntsman.

No Party In Boston

By The Associated Press

The champion Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Association seldom lose on their home court.

They made it eight in a row at Boston Garden by crushing the New York Knicks 125-110 Wednesday night in one of four holiday-eve NBA games. In the others, the Detroit Pistons defeated the Baltimore Bullets 130-124, the Cincinnati Royals downed the St. Louis Hawks 112-108 and the Los Angeles Lakers took the Philadelphia 76ers 127-124.

Chief Eagle Flies Coop

ABILENE (AP)—Wally Bullington has resigned as coach of Abilene High School and will become national coordinator for a Church of Christ radio-television program, "The Herald of Truth."

Bullington has been a coach at Abilene High School for more than 12 years, the last six as head coach. He has a record of 40 victories, 19 losses and one tie. He had a 7-2-1 record this season.

Ag-'Horn Classic Today

By The Associated Press

Southwest Conference football teams have wound up the hard training and look toward this weekend to close out the season.

Texas and Texas A&M met today at College Station to finish the campaign for them.

Arkansas and Texas Tech wound up the season last week with Arkansas going to the Cotton Bowl and Texas Tech to the Gator Bowl. They will not resume practice for at least a week.

Texas Christian is being talked to by both the Sun and Bluebonnet Bowls. The Horned Frogs close out the season Saturday against Southern Methodist at Fort Worth.

Coach Abe Martin talked with Sun Bowl representatives Wednesday but nothing developed. Then he looked over his Frogs in practice and said it was draggy.

Martin indicated that the team that missed the Bluebonnet Bowl—either TCU or Tulsa—would probably wind up in the Sun Bowl, playing Texas Western Dec. 31.

Southern Methodist worked out lightly Wednesday and will hold another short practice today. The team will take the afternoon off to eat Thanksgiving dinner.

NFL GETS TOP TALENT

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the multimillion - dollar battle for top college football talent worth the money?

That question arises every year when the National and American football leagues prepare for the greenback war that immediately follows the annual draft of the nation's top college football stars. And the question will be the same after Saturday's drafts.

But there's little doubt that the NFL would consider it had received a solid return on its money this season while the AFL may feel somewhat shortchanged — mostly because of injuries.

Of 20 first-and second-round players signed by the NFL, 11 have made considerable contributions to their teams, four have grabbed jobs as reserves and only five have seen little or no action.

Four of the eight first-and second-round choices signed by the AFL, on the other hand, have been almost completely idle; three have won starting jobs and one has moved in as a top reserve.

Running back Gale Sayers and linebacker Dick Butkus, both with the Chicago Bears, head the list of NFL successes, while San Francisco and Los Angeles also have two starters each who were taken on the first round of last year's draft.

Running back Ken Willard and defensive back George Donnelly made it with the 49ers while defensive back Clancy Williams and split end Jack Snow are playing first-string with the Rams. The Rams acquired Snow in a trade with Minnesota.

Running back Tucker Frederickson, who was the No. 1 pick in the league, has been one of the league's leading ground gainers for the New York Giants.

In addition, Craig Morton has seen action at quarterback for Dallas, Mike Curtis is a reserve running back and linebacker for Baltimore and Tom Nowatzke is a reserve running back for Detroit.

Of the AFL's five signed first-round choices, quarterback Joe Namath of the New York Jets has been the most outstanding. In addition, Harry Schuh has moved in at defensive tackle for Oakland and Steve DeLong is the back-up defensive end for San Diego.

But two others — tackle Jim Davidson of Buffalo and flanker Larry Elkins of Houston, the league's No. 1 pick—have been out the entire year with injuries.

Quarterback John Huarte, a second-round choice, has remained on the Jets' taxi squad all season while linebacker Ron Caveness, who signed with Kansas City, was used sparingly before he was injured. Fred Biletnikoff, however, has won a starting flankers' berth with Oakland.

New Plan Ups Pressure For Direct Peking Contacts

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has reportedly asked Red China several times in secret diplomatic talks at Warsaw whether it was willing to enter into disarmament discussions and Red China has rejected the approach, officials said today.

A new proposal for direct disarmament talks and discussion of possible United Nations membership for the Chinese Communists is being put forward by a blue ribbon committee of private citizens with the argument that Red China must be brought into arms control questions eventually and "we see no point in delay."

This proposal formulated by a group preparing for next week's White House conference on international cooperation is the latest of several developments building pressure on the United States to establish more extensive contacts with the Peking regime.

Earlier this week the United States reluctantly yielded to an overwhelming majority view in the United Nations and agreed to a call for a worldwide disarmament conference to be preceded by a big-power preparatory meeting in which both Red China and the United States would participate.

The U.S. vote in the 117-nation Political Committee for the two-stage disarmament negotiations marked a change in American tactics with the recognition that on this issue American opposition would have been overwhelmed by the countries favoring such a project. As it turned out the vote for the program was 91-0.

Officials said today that in spite of the tactical change there would be no change in basic U.S. policy toward Red China, which the United States regards as an aggressor nation dedicated to expanding communism by force.

The basic American policy toward China includes as essential elements nonrecognition of the Peking regime, an economic boycott which bars trade between the United States and Communist China, and opposition to Chinese membership in the United Nations.

In spite of this hands-off policy the United States and Red China have been holding meetings through ambassadors, first in Geneva and more recently in Warsaw, for more than a decade.

Officials here said that at various times in these meetings the United States has undertaken to bring up the subject of disarmament and the Chinese response has invariably been that the first question to be settled between Peking and Washington is the Formosa question.

The island of Formosa is recognized and defended by the United States as the seat of the Chinese Nationalist regime; Red China claims Formosa as part of its territory.

There have been 127 U.S.-Red Chinese ambassadorial meetings and the next one is scheduled for Dec. 15 when the United States will be represented by President Johnson's new envoy to Poland, John A. Gronouski.

QUESTION: What does 'zip' mean in zip code, and how does the code work?

• • •

ANSWER: Postal service is important to the people of our country, for in our complex civilization, communication is absolutely necessary. The zip code is a modern system which postal authorities have worked out to speed letters for everybody's benefit. The use of numbers helps clerks sorting mail to move it quickly. If a letter is addressed "New York, 20," the clerk knows at once the general area of the city the letter is going to. The zip code is a further improvement on this.

[illegible] Improvement Plan! There are 5 numbers in the zip code. The one at the left stands for large areas: for example, 1 covers New York and Pennsylvania. The next two numbers mean a certain section of this area. 25, for example, if your zip code was 12550, would locate you in the Poughkeepsie-Newburg section. The last two numbers show communities within sections; so, 50 would show you were in the city limits of Newburgh, N.Y. Postmasters would like you to do two things: (1) put your own zip code after the return address on the upper left of your envelope and (2), if you know the zip code of the person addressed, put it to the right of the bottom line of address.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Find out your zip code and start using it. It's a good plan, too, to make a list of the zip codes of people you regularly write to, and use them too. If we all get into the zip code habit, all our mail is going to move more rapidly. 11-25

Boyle Finds Uses For Leftover Bird

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — What to do with leftover turkey?

This is the problem that will face many American families Friday.

Unlike a chicken, which quits growing when there is enough of it to satisfy anybody, a turkey is an architectural extravaganza.

People have been saying for some time that something ought to be done about the turkey, the wattled token of the noblest of American holidays—Thanksgiving.

As a matter of fact, something is being done about the turkey. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, whose bulletins I recommend as a remedy for middle-aged insomnia, the turkey is getting both larger and smaller.

I understand it now ranges in weight at maturity from eight to 75 pounds.

In our upside down civilization the size of the turkey on the Thanksgiving table is a status symbol.

The richer you are the smaller the turkey you order—and the more per pound you pay for it.

The poorer you are, the larger the turkey you buy—and the less per pound you pay for it.

The rich don't have much of a problem. They eat their turkey at a single meal, then sail the bones out their penthouse window and start looking forward to Christmas.

The poor, as ususl, are stuck.

To begin with, their turkey is so large that the children sprain their wrists trying to break the wishbone.

Their ordeal begins the day after Thanksgiving. What to do with leftover turkey?

For several days a wife can dice it and hash it. After that her husband and kids refuse to have anything to do with it. The dog won't eat it. The cat walks away from it.

Things that can be done:

It can be ground up and mixed with starch and used as wallpaper paste.

You can be patriotic about it, and offer it to the U.S. Navy as ballast.

You can wrap it in anonymous paper and mail it as a CARE package to wealthy friends.

On some dark midnight you can take it out and bury it in the back yard, muttering as you do so, "No one knows the real troubles of poverty."

Then, if you buckle down and work real hard, maybe by next Thanksgiving you can earn enough money to afford a smaller turkey.

Services Held For Palestine Banker

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP) — Funeral services were held today for Eugene R. Fish, 74, president of the Royal National Bank of Palestine. He died Wednesday after a long illness.

Fish had been with the bank since 1919 and its president since 1946. He was a former president of the Upper Neches River Water Authority.

Sealift Of Cubans Ends Wednesday

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — The sealift of Cuban refugees across the Florida Straits came to an end Wednesday night after bringing 4,598 Cubans to the United States.

The excursion boat Skipper K, chartered by the U.S. government after Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro agreed to stop the perilous small-boat exodus, made the last run with 83 persons.

The exodus from Cuba will continue by air. Beginning Dec. 1, between 3,000 to 4,000 Cubans are expected to arrive in the United States monthly.

Economy Again Nudges Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — Both consumers and the government are stepping up spending plans and taking over the role of economy-nudger that tax cuts played in months past.

This helps lift some of the worry that was felt earlier when the effects of the tax cuts were wearing off. Economy pushers began to look around for something else with which to keep the pace from slackening.

Now things are changing again.

Intentions of buying big ticket items are reported considerably more widespread among the public this fall than a year ago or even earlier this year. This means that the consumers will be pouring more money into the economy, where the effect is most quickly felt — at the retail level.

The U.S. Treasury also is now pouring money into the economy at a faster rate than it's taking it out. Earlier in the year the unexpected rise in tax collections kept the Treasury's cash books in the black. This fall they're moving back into the red.

This means that government money is going to industry for goods and services, and to the states, institutions and individuals faster than the Treasury is getting money back through tax collections at this season of the year. This outpouring is classified as a spur to the economy.

Industry also is doing its bit in making everything bigger and better. Its expansion plans grow steadily. Its high rate of operations makes larger markets for raw materials, more jobs, more sales, more profits — and more borrowing.

The job increase, and wage increases, seem to be working on consumer psychology. The Commerce Department reports a survey of consumer planning a month ago showed more people convinced their incomes would rise than were found in a July opinion sampling.

This apparently led more to say this October they expected to buy new cars, appliances, television sets, and other household big ticket items than were found with such intentions either in July or a year ago.

Increased government spending comes from many sides. The biggest boost is for the items needed to outfit and maintain a growing military force in Viet Nam.

One big drain on the U.S. Treasury in recent weeks was the lump sum poured out in retroactive Social Security payment hikes. But the Treasury will have a reverse problem after the first of the year. While regular Social Security payments will stay higher, Treasury collections will rise. Both the workers and the employer will be paying in more — the year's collection by the Treasury for this pension and insurance plan is expected to rise by $5 billion next year.

Two Texans Added To Casualty List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two Texans were listed among Viet Nam casualties Wednesday by the Defense Department.

Among 27 killed in action was Army Sgt. Roger Stone, husband of Mrs. Janice Stone of Winnsboro, Tex.

Dead from other than hostile causes was Army Spec. 4 John Modermott, son of Mrs. Frances Modermott of El Paso.

Rebel 'Anyanas' Terrorize Sudan

By GARVEN HUDGINS

KHARTOUM, Sudan (AP) — Three quarters of Sudan's army is locked in a violent struggle with terroristic rebels who call themselves Anyanas, after a lethal jungle insect.

The rebels, like the insects, stir fear throughout Sudan's great southern rain forests near the Congo and Uganda frontiers.

There, in three provinces inhabited entirely by Africans, the Sudanese army has sought for 10 years to stamp out the Anyanas, mutineers who sprang up after a century of colonial rule.

British officials once administered the predominantly Christian provinces of Equatoria, Upper Nile and Bar Al Gazal in the South Sudan. With independence in 1955, Arab governors from the Moslem north replaced the Britons.

"The two peoples never had a chance to know each other under British rule," a Khartoum government spokesman commented. "The British governed the North and South Sudan separately. They would not allow northerners to go south to live because, as they put it, they didn't want the south to be exploited by northern Arabs."

The British acknowledge these two Sudanese peoples became split so that the country developed as two units. One was Moslem; the other largely Christian.

To avoid Arab domination southerners sought a federal system in Sudan after the British pulled out. The central government in Khartoum approved in principle but never has moved to put such a system into effect.

As a result, southerners rebelled against the Arabs in a mutiny put down by the Sudanese army in 1956. It has been fighting to keep it down ever since.

The Anyanas today are reported stronger and better organized than ever. The Sudanese army, according to reliable informants, follows the trail of blood in the south only along main highways and in large towns.

"The Anyanas control the forests," says a southerner living in Khartoum, "but nobody controls the Anyanas."

Sudanese officials and impartial observers agree that the Anyanas are under the control of no single political party or creed.

"Over the past 10 years, they've developed a kind of Mau Mau philosophy, living off the land, plundering when necessary and fighting against central authority," says William Deng, leader of the Sudanese African National Union party.

"This means they will eventually have to be completely reeducated if normal conditions ever are to be restored in the south."

Sen. Kennedy Ends Tour Of Brazil

By JOSEPH NOVITSKI

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy is winding up a hard-driving tour of Brazil which seems more like an election campaign than a visit.

The New York Democrat has traveled this huge country from the industrial south to the poor agricultural regions of the northeast; tramping through canefields to shake hands with peasants, ducking into farmhouses and climbing onto car roofs to address enthusiastic crowds.

Kennedy's schedule in Rio Wednesday and today was relatively calm in comparison with the wild motorcades of the two previous days.

The senator dined privately with Brazilians Wednesday night after meeting for an hour and a half with President Humberto Castello Branco.

Today he was scheduled to speak to students at the Catholic University, attend Thanksgiving Day services at the U.S. Embassy and visit one of the city's favelas, the slums of squatters' shacks that cling to Rio's steep hillsides.

Kennedy and his wife spent his 40th birthday in the industrial city of Sao Paulo and the second anniversary of his brother's assassination two days later in three cities of the Brazilian northeast.

But if Kennedy was campaigning, it was for the Alliance for Progress, the hemispheric program of economic development and social reform launched by his brother in 1961.

"The whole idea of the Alliance for Progress was that people's lives be improved," Kennedy told the members of a rural cooperative in Carpina, 35 miles inland from Recife.

The senator's speeches have been published widely by newspapers which oppose the military dictatorship of Castello Branco. But Kennedy has steadily refused to comment on Brazilian politics.

Government spokesmen have so far refused to comment on the senator's statements.

A&M Sets Study On Coeducation

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — A new study on coeducation at traditionally all - male Texas A&M University was ordered Wednesday.

The A&M system's board president, H. C. Heldenfels of Corpus Christi, named Clyde Wells of Granbury chairman of a committee which will make the study.

Other committeemen are Sterling Evans and Gardiner Symonds of Houston and L. F. Peterson of Fort Worth.

Heldenfels asked the group to report to the full board after studying an Oct. 14 legal opinion by Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr.

Carr's opinion did not rule out coeducation at the university. Neither did he say the institution must accept female students.

The attorney general said the Civil Rights Act of 1964 did not apply in this case and the board had an "unquestioned right" to issue regulations making the university all male or coeducational.

Carr said, however, that the board's present policy of accepting only undergraduate females who are related to university employes or students was "discriminatory and an unreasonable class distinction.

The A&M directors voted a million - dollar improvement of Kyle Field which will increase the seating capacity to 53,000.

They deferred action on award of a $3 million contract for a new library on the College Station campus because of "complications."

American Consumers Eat More Peanuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The peanut has been gaining favor with American consumers.

Consumption has reached a per capita average of 7.1 pounds a year, the Agriculture Department reported.
