9 More POWs Arrive In U.S., Six On Litters

TRAVIS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif., Aug. 15 (AP) — Nine more American prisoners of war—all showing evidences of their long confinement in Red prison camps—were flown home from Korea today.

Six of them were carried off the plane in litters and the other three debarked on their own power; although one, Lt. Col. Thomas D. Harrison of Clovis, N. M., almost fell down the ramp. A jet fighter pilot, he lost his left leg when shot down over North Korea May 21, 1951.

Three of the six litter cases, their faces masked, are ill with tuberculosis. They are Sgt. Robert M. Wilkins of Detroit, Mich., Pfc. Edgar J. Hinton of St. Louis, Mo., and Pvt. William H. Hubbard of San Antonio, Tex. They and the other three litter cases were taken to the base hospital immediately.

Another returnee was Cpl. Lawrence A. Buxbee of Ruskin, Fla., who hurried from the plane to Oakland Airport, where a waiting American Airlines plane took off with him immediately for Tampa. Buxbee's father is gravely ill. The plane is due at Tampa at 9:45 p.m., EST.

The other litter patients were Pfc. James T. Thompson of Horatio, Ark., Sgt. James Davis of Mullins, S C., and Pfc. James H. Montgomery of Weston, W. VA.

The two who walked off unassisted with Col. Harrison were Buxbee and Pfc. Eugene W. Roid of Warranton, Va.

Harrison, who previously had how the Communists tortured him in an effort to obtain information about the American Air Force, was the only returnee greeted by his family.

Warning Given On Drouth Due In 23 Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—A veteran weather man took the plunge today.

He predicted the weather not just for tomorrow or the next five days, but for 1976.

The forecast: a dry spring and summer in the Southwest, with perhaps a worse and longer drought than the one this year.

Dr. Charles G. Abbott, 81-year-old former secretary of the Smithsonian Institution and one of the world's foremost authorities on solar radiation, made the long-range forecast in summing up his weather studies over more than half a century.

In a publication issued by the institution, Dr. Abbott said he believes "a definite relation between sun and weather must exist, even if it cannot as yet be adequately explained."

Dr. Abbott said his observations have shown that, roughly speaking, the weather repeats itself in cycles of 22¾ years, in rhythm with changes in heat energy coming from the sun.

The veteran scientist emphasized that "even after 50 years of observations—some of them among the most delicate ever made by astronomers—the threshold of this (solar radiation) system of meteorology has just been crossed."

But he said there is evidence that "a trend in the heat radiation of the sun is attended almost invariably by a trend in terrestrial weather."

"In some unknown and perhaps unknowable way," he said, "the changes in solar radiation act as triggers to set off forces that bring about, for instance, a dry July and a wet October or a cool June and a warm December."

On the basis of his cycle theory, Dr. Abbott predicted that by and large, this year's weather will repeat itself, so far as general trends are concerned, in 1976.

Foreseeing important economic results from his studies, Dr. Abbott envisioned a time when a map of predicted weather 10 years in advance might be available to the whole country.

"Then farmers, oil men, resort keepers, everybody, could prepare for wet and dry, hot and cold seasons long in advance," he said.

PITCHER LEAVES FIELD

Officials at Friday night's Rotary Rainmaker—Kiwanis Duster softball game are shown escorting Bob Crowell, erring pitcher from the field. The game ended in a 16-16 tie, and the playoff has been set for 1957 because games had already been scheduled between the two teams until that date. About 600 tickets to the game were sold. HUNDREDS DEAD IN JAPAN FLOOD

TOKYO, Sunday, Aug. 16 (AP)—The third devastating flood to hit Japan in less than a month left hundreds dead, missing or injured and scores of thousands driven from inundated homes in the narrow Kizu River valley today.

Latest police figures, as rescue squads waded through hip-deep yellow mud, were 143 dead, 170 injured and 234 missing.

The stricken area is near Kyoto, in the southern part of Honshu, the main Japanese island.

The great flash flood resulted from the breaking of the Taisho Dam at the head of the valley and the pouring of half a million tons of water from the reservoir into the already rain-swollen Kizu River, which burst its dikes in 700 places.

Rescue workers reported 506 homes washed away, 444 others smashed and 24,682 inundated and filled with the gummy, yellow mud. One hundred sixty-eight bridges were washed out.

Scores of land slides followed the wall of water which swept down the narrow valley.

The disaster struck without warning before dawn Saturday. Inhabitants of the quiet valley had gone to bed late Friday after celebrating the Buddhist "Bon" festival. At this time each year, the Buddhists say, the spirits of the dead return to their families.

Suits Against Prostitution Houses Filed

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Suits to ban use of three places as houses of prostitution in Galveston County were filed jointly today by Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd and Galveston County Attorney Raymond Magee.

Shepperd's office said the attorney general joined in the suits at the request of various citizens of Galveston County.

Named as defendants were Omer B. Coate, William W. Long, and Jessie Elliott, the latter identified as a woman.

The suits were filed in two district courts and asked injunctions against the use of certain places said to have been used habitually by prostitutes.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Robert P. Trotti said 10-day temporary restraining orders had been granted by judges of 56th and 10th District Courts, and hearing on temporary injunction were set for Aug. 25.

Copies of petitions filed with the courts said Coate, together with Helen Coate and Jo Jo Balch, has been maintaining a house used by prostitutes at 416 and 416½ 25th St. in Galveston; Long and wife, alias Gracie Cooper, a house on Center Street that would be the intersection of Avenue I if projected, just outside the corporate limits of Texas City; and Jessie Elliott and Jaspare Tramonite, a house at 305 25th St. in Galveston.

Charges Filed InBank Holdup

BOERNE, Aug. 15 (AP)—A charge of armed robbery was filed today against a polite young man who said he robbed the Comfort State Bank "to take care of my two children."

"I made one payment to pay it back, and I would have made another," William Henry Adley, 27, told Kendall County Sheriff Douglas Kugel in the presence of newspaper reporters.

Adley waived examining trial and was held in jail here under $5,000 bond.

The Comfort State Bank was robbed of $1,730 last July 21 by a man who first had asked the bank president for a loan and was denied it. Later, the bank received a money order for $36 and a note saying it was in part payment of the money taken in the holdup.

Adley was arrested in Three Rivers yesterday, where he had bought a small upholstery shop, opened Aug. 10. He said he had worked in Karnes City before going to Three Rivers.

He told Mrs. Molly Anstiss, an Associated Press correspondent in Boerne, that he took the money "because I needed it to take care of my two children."

He said he was divorced and had a housekeeper to take care of the children.

When he was arrested yesterday he first denied any knowledge of the robbery. But he changed his statement after Sheriff Harper Morris of Karnes County showed a pistol he said was used in the robbery.

Kugel said that Adley had no previous record and a good reputation.

Budget Smaller Than Expected, Bridges Says

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) forecast today that federal spending would total 72 billion dollars in the current financial year, two billion less than the latest Eisenhower administration estimate.

However, such a spending figure still would leave the budget unbalanced by 3½ billion dollars on the basis of the administration's revenue forecast.

Bridges' estimate was contained in a report on the record of the 1953 session of Congress on money bills. He is chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, as well as president pro tempore of the Senate.

He did not explain how spending could be pushed down to the 72 billion figure, which compares with the most recent estimate of $74,100,000,000 in spending for fiscal 1954 made by top administration officials.

But an Appropriations Committee aide who assisted in preparing the report said that Bridges believed the administration would find ways to cut off the additional two billion in the remaining 10½ months of the fiscal year.

The President and his budget director, Joseph M. Dodge, already have issued orders for strict economy in the months ahead.

Bridges reported that Congress cut $14,081,517,697 off the appropriations requests of former President Truman in the last session.

He called this "the largest cut in appropriations that has been made in the history of the United States in a single session of Congress."

President Eisenhower revised the Truman budget downward, but the lawmakers trimmed $4,578,210,207 more off the new President's requests.

The reduction in the Truman budget included about 13 billion slashed off what the former President asked for fiscal 1954, and one billion off supplementary bills he sent up in January for fiscal 1953.

Bridges said many persons appeared to be surprised that the Republicans could not achieve a balanced budget in fiscal 1954—their first full financial year in office—despite the big appropriations cuts.

The answer, he said, lies in the fact that much of the spending in fiscal 1954 will come from past commitments. By the same token, much of the money voted this year will be spent after fiscal 1954 ends next June 30.

Emotional Funerals For Ice Box Victims

WEST MEMPHIS, Ark., Aug. 15 (AP)—A grief-stricken father buried four sons and a daughter today, then got his ax and smashed the old icebox in which they were trapped and suffocated.

The victims were the youngest children of a tenant farmer, J. A. Hallman—the first to die in a recent series of icebox "death traps" that shocked the nation.

Hallman, eyes puffed with weeping, pounded the old box to splinters and burned the wreckage in a cotton patch beside his home.

"That old box cost me five dollars," he gasped, slamming the ax into the brittle wood, "but it sure lost me a lot more."

Two boys who perished in a similar tragedy were buried today at Haverhill, Mass.

Three of four boys who smothered in an old icebox at Richmond, Va., were interred yesterday. Funeral services for the fourth will be held in Taft, Tex.

The emotion-packed Hallman funeral drew about 200 neighbors and friends, many from out-of-state. The stiff, curiously doll-like bodies, in white coffins against a bank of flowers, reduced many to tears.

Mrs. Hallman, 28, shaken by sobs, her face streaming with bitter tears, kissed each child before the coffin lids were closed and cried over each blonde head:

"God bless you, darling . . . oh, God bless you."

Her lean, sun-dried husband bowed his head against her shoulder and covered his face during the brief, simple services—and held his two surviving children in comforting embrace afterward.

The cemetery, a flat stretch of green in the hot sun, was bordered by cotton fields similar to the one in which Mrs. Hallman was working when her children climbed into the icebox and somehow slammed the lid last Wednesday.

Hallman, 34, was in Rockford, Ill., when the accident happened. He had left to work in the city because a drought made it tough to make a living on the farm.

The chain of accidents will mean the end of many an old icebox—each a potential death trap for venturesome children. Over 100 youngsters have perished in such traps during the past five years.

Ten Dead In Train Wreck

MANCHESTER, England, Aug. 15 (AP)—Two speeding commuter trains collided headon today on a bridge killing 10 persons, injuring 58 and tossing one smashed coach 80 feet into the shallow Irk River.

The southbound Bury-Manchester electric train and the northbound Manchester-Bacup steam train crashed at 7:40 a.m. Many of the passengers were on their way to work in this city's industries.

A coach of the electric train crashed through the barrier of the viaduct-bridge, tore out a 30-foot wide hole and fell into the valley. One end of the car lay in the water.

The engine and two coaches of the steam train and three coaches of the electric train were derailed. Several passengers were thrown into the river.

Witnesses told of seeing a child stumbling among the wreckage crying "Mama" just after the crash. Passengers were seen frantically trying to escape and others, more lucky, staggering along the viaduct, dazed and bleeding.

Good Day For Suicides Along Niagara River

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Four bodies were pulled from the Niagara River yesterday and Thursday, and authorities listed all four as suicides.

The average number of bodies recovered from waters near this honeymoon resort during the summer is one a week. All this week's were believed residents of this area.

One was a 75-year-old woman, Mrs. Nora Schroyer of suburban Kenmore, who just before she leaped, mailed an envelope to her daughter containing only a $5 bill and three postage stamps.

SHOWS HIS WRATH

GLASGOW, Scotland, Aug. 15 (AP)—Alexander Brown was fined five pounds ($14) today for taking his false teeth out of his mouth and hurling them at an usher trying to get him out of a theater. His wife told the court: "He was sober when he left home."

Corn Is Saved From Quotas On 1954 Crops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—A loophole in farm legislation may lead Secretary of Agriculture Benson to announce that marketing quotas will not be invoked on the 1954 corn crop even though bit supplies might warrent them.

Unlike other crops subject to controls, the law fails to provide a penalty for farmers who oversell corn quotas. Hence, quotas in themselves would be without effect in restricting production, sale or use of this grain.

Department lawyers said congressional committees had indicated their intention of providing penalties, but the proper legislation was not passed.

Under quotas voted on the 1954 wheat crop by farmers Friday, sales of this grain in excess of a farm's quota would be subject to a penalty tax of about $1.10 a bushel, or more than half the current price of the grain.

Latest returns from the wheat quota referendum show the quotas were approved by an overwhelming margin. Figures announced by the Agriculture Department today showed 361,392 growers voting for the quotas, and 53,252 opposed. This was a favorable vote of 87.2 per cent, far larger than the 66 and two-thirds per cent required. The figures were still preliminary, but later tallies were not expected to change the percentages much.

As for corn, a department forecast this week of a 3,830,000,000-bushel crop raised the prospect of quotas on next year's crop. Benson said at the time that quotas might be necessary under the law, subject, of course, to approval by two-thirds of the growers voting in a referendum.

Later, department officials did some calculating and concluded that the prospective supply this year was slightly below a level which, under law, would require the secretary to propose quotas.

Editor Had Been Critical Of Senator

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) called on a group of newspaper editors today to investigate his charge that James Russell Wiggins, managing editor of the Washington Post and a critic of McCarthy, has "prostituted and endangered" freedom of the press.

Wiggins immediately issued a statement saying nothing would please him more than to have a study made of the Post's "full, accurate and fair news coverage of and editorial comment on the public career of Sen. McCarthy." He accused McCarthy of "evading the issues."

Wiggins was chairman of a special committee of the American Society of Newspaper Editors which studied the question whether McCarthy's closed-door questioning of James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, threatened freeom of the press.

The 11-member ASNE committee issued a report earlier in the week saying in effect that, after a 2-month study, they had failed to agree on any clear-cut answer.

However, four of the editors, including Wiggins, submitted a separate statement calling the interrogation of Wechsler a definite threat to freedom of the press.

The letter McCarthy made public today was addressed to the seven members of the ASNE committee who did not sign the minority statement—Paul Block Jr., co-publisher of the Toledo (Ohio) Blade and the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette; Raymond L. Crowley, managing editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch; William H. Fitzpatrick, associate editor of the Wall Street Journal; George W. Healy Jr., editor of the New Orleans Times-Picayune; L. D. Hotchkiss, editor of the Los Angeles Times; Joseph W. Lee, editorial director of the Topeka (Kan.) State Journal, and James S. Pope, executive editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and Times.

Editors who joined with Wiggins in criticizing McCarthy were Herbert Bruckner, editor of the Hartford (Conn) Courant; William M. Tugman, editor of the Eugene (Ore) Register-Guard, and Eugene S. Pulliam Jr., managing editor of the Indianapolis News.

Enclosed with McCarthy's letter to the seven editors was an Aug. 13 editorial from the Washington Post referring to the ASNE report and to the questioning of Wechsler last April 24 and May 5 by the Senate investigation subcommittee headed by McCarthy.

The editorial said Wechsler was summoned before the subcommittee under the pretext of questioning about books of his in the State Department's overseas libraries but that he "was subjected to intensive interrogation about editorials in his newspaper critical of Sen. McCarthy."

McCarthy's letter to the seven editors said that, since they had examined the testimony, they would "readily recognize the complete and deliberate falsity" of this charge.

"Obviously, it would have been improper to call an editor for the purpose of questioning him about editorials critical of the chairman of the committee," McCarthy wrote.

The Wisconsin senator has maintained that Wechsler, one of his severest critics, was summoned for questioning as part of the subcommittees probe of the overseas information program.

Historical Effort To Remove State Judge Starts Monday

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—The first hearing of its kind in Texas history is set to begin Monday on removal charges against a district judge in politically embroiled South Texas.

Short, stocky C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice faces eight charges challenging his fitness to serve on the 79th District bench.

Twenty-seven witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear. Two were called by the judge, the others by his opposition.

Laughlin, 39, contends the charges are "politics." His court serves four counties—Jim Wells, Brooks, Duval and Starr—long rocked by political feuds between friends and foes of political boss George Parr.

Laughlin won his office last year with Parr's backing in a bitter contest that ousted incumbent Sam G. Reams. Parr had split with Reams four years earlier.

A big array of legal talent has been lined up on the side of the 11 South Texas lawyers who brought the suit against the judge. Their counsel includes State Senator William H. Shireman, Corpus Christi, and Elton M. Hyder Jr., Fort Worth. In addition, the State Bar moved to enter the case on their side this week, bringing in the attorney general and Earl P. Hall, former judge of the 2nd Court of Civil Appeals at Fort Worth.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd assigned four top assistants to the job—Willis Gresham, Robert Trotti, Mrs. Mary K. Wall and Burnell Waldrop.

Only announced counsel for Laughlin so far is former State Senator C. C. Small of Austin. State Bar President Everett L. Looney of Austin had been retained as co-counsel but withdrew ten days ago. He said his reasons were illness and objections from his bar colleagues.

The hearing will be conducted before District Judge D. B. Wood of Georgetown, named master in chancery by the Supreme Court to take evidence and report back to the court by Oct. 1.

The high court ordered the hearing on eight of the 12 charges brought against Laughlin by the 11 attorneys, all of whom practice in his court. The procedure was written into the State Constitution in 1876 but has never before been used.

The charges allege that Laughlin:

1. Ordered impounded ballot boxes delivered to Parr's nephew, then sheriff of Duval County, subjecting them to possible inspection.
2. Obstructed a Jim Wells County grand jury's inquiry into the "murder-by-mistake" slaying of Jacob S. Floyd Jr., son of a Parr political foe.
3. Made his own selection of a judge to try two criminal cases involving Laughlin himself.
4. Dismissed 68 Starr County indictments including 60 based on allegations of fraud and irregularity in last July's primary.
5. Discharged a Jim Wells County grand jury before it could complete an investigation into a property sale by his brother, W. M. Laughlin, Jim Wells County commissioner.
6. Ordered Starr County jury commissioners to violate the code of criminal procedure by instructing them not to select grand jurors.
7. Permitted the state to be represented in a criminal case by an attorney he knew would not endeavor to obtain a conviction.
8. Continuously delayed acting in a suit involving D. C. Chapa of Duval County, active political leader of the party that elected Laughlin to office.

Grandma Wants Rent For Stuff Left In Yard, But Loses Vigil

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP)—Excitement did today what a construction company couldn't—it forced a 57-year-old grandmother to relax her vigil over construction equipment she's impounded in her front yard.

Only yesterday Mrs. Wanda S. Sienkelewski had driven off a landing party bent on recapturing some of the equipment.

Today she was in bed. "Too much excitement," her son, Raymond, explained.

He said she has been ordered to bed by a doctor. When she'll get up and resume her rifle guard over the equipment Raymond couldn't say.

All he knew was that the doctor had ordered her to take it easy.

Mrs. S. contends a construction firm has parked equipment on her lawn near Bear Creek without permission. And, she said, they haven't offered a fair rental fee.

Yank POWs Are Told To Lie About Conditions In Camps

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Sunday, Aug. 16 (AP) — Liberated Americans returned from Red prison camps said yesterday Chinese had threatened to halt their repatriation unless the Americans told Red Cross workers their camp treatment was good.

The Americans said that a Chinese interpreter threatened them at Kaesong, the last North Korean stop before their delivery for repatriation at Panmunjom.

Other American repatriates added to previous returned prisoners' stories that some of their buddies had been held back from repatriation at Camp 1, on the Yalu River, North Korea, on flimsy charges lodged against them by their captors.

The Kaesong incident was reported by Cpl. Stefano Salerno of Rochester, N. Y.; Pfc. William Ira Blackburn of Monroe, Wash., and Pfc. Stephen W. Barcylowski of Wilmington, Del.

They told of meeting the Red Cross team which, under the armistice agreement, was allowed to aid Allied prisoners on their way to freedom.

The truce agreement also permits a Red Cross team composed of Communist and Allied representatives to comfort Red prisoners being repatriated by the Allies.

Peiping Communist radio said Saturday the Allies had interfered with the work of the Red Cross team in South Korea. The broadcast said the Communists had lodged a protest with the repatriation commission.

Salerno said that when the freedom-bound Allies reached Kaesong Friday night a Chinese interpreter called him aside and told him to tell the Red Cross team stories of good treatment in the POW camp. The Chinese said that the American's story would support those told by British repatriates.

Salerno said the Chinese warned him that "they might hold me back unless I did" what he was told to do.

"I refused," Salerno said.

Blackburn said the Chinese told him that if he didn't do as requested "it would interfere with our repatriation."

He said he felt that he had to go see the Red Cross workers and he went in with seven British men, but "I never opened my mouth. The British did all the talking."

Pfc. Ernest R. Rodriguez, 23, of Watkins, Colo., said he talked with an Australian member of the Red Cross team at Kaesong Friday night but he couldn't say what he wanted to.

"There were so many English-speaking Chinese around that if I had said the things I wanted I probably wouldn't be here today," Rodriguez said.

Stories of trumped-up Red charges against Allied prisoners and the jailing of the men at Camp 1 were told by Pfc. George Pennington of Augusta, Ga.; Pfc. Thomas R. Peasner Jr., 23, of Lancaster, Tex., and Cpl. Bernard Renouf of West Hartford, Conn.

Renouf said six or seven Americans at Camp 1 had received sentences ranging from one to three years and had been removed from the camp about the time of the armistice July 27.

He said the charges against the men were "nothing but suspicions," and added: "I guess they were considered more hostile to the Chinese than the others."

Sgt. Wayne Cunningham of Wampum, Pa., said three Americans refused to leave the camp for home. He called them "progressives," the name applied by previous repatriates to men they said had swallowed the Communist propaganda line drummed at them.

Cunningham said he believed about 5 per cent of the 200 men in his company had turned "pros," and he thought this included some who had "squealed" on their buddies.

Hurricane Goes Out To Sea After Spree

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Hurricane B-for-Barbara boiled out to sea tonight, passing south of Nova Scotia after giving the New England coast a buffeting—but causing little damage.

The storm passed within 20 miles of the Massachusetts island of Nantucket—crowded with summer vacationers—during the night. Only minor damage was reported there despite 60 mile an hour winds and more than 2 inches of rain.

On the Mainland of Massachusetts and Rhode Island winds of 40 to 50 miles an hour lashed coastal cities and towns, and the storm left near-record rains in some places.

OPTIMISTS DONATE EQUIPMENT

It's going to cost a pretty kopeck to purge Lavrenty Pavlovich Beria.

It will be one of the toughest jobs today in the Soviet Union, and it will fall, primarily to a man named P. K. Ponomarenko, who is the minister of culture.

The process of purging does not mean simply arresting and trying the former interior minister and police boss. It means expunging the record of Beria, which is a real tough operation.

The job already has begun, at home and abroad. Word from Paris relayed by correspondents of the National Committee For a Free Europe, is that a team of Communists led by a high-ranking Soviet Embassy official, are busy buying up all existing copies of books mentioning Beria. This will be repeated in many capitals, and throughout the Soviet Union the party will have a monumental job gathering in the remnants.

One of the books the agents seek is Volume 5 of the "Great Soviet Encyclopedia," a work which apparently never will be really finished. Every time the Russians get somewhere with it, somebody is purged and the whole thing starts all over again.

After many revisions required by Stalin's purges, the "Great Soviet Encyclopedia" finally reached the 19th of 50 projected volumes. Volume 5 concerns the letter "B" and, naturally, Beria is in there, along with a big full-page, idealized portrait.

The encyclopedia embarrassingly refers to Beria as "one of the outstanding leaders of the CPSU (Communist Party of the Soviet Union) and the Soviet government, loyal follower and close companion-in-arms of J. V. Stalin . . ." It lists his medals, his achievements, his honors and calls him all sorts of glowing names. This is bad, now that Premier Georgi Malenkov has had to purge him.

Now Beria becomes "criminal," a "degenerate tool of the imperialists," a "vile enemy of the people and state, and an unbridled adventurer." These are among the milder epithets. So Beria will have to be expunged from the record, just as other purgees in the past had to be expunged.

So the Communist agents at home and abroad are calling in all sorts of books. Among them are "The History of the October Revolution" (3 volumes) and "The Minutes of the 19th Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union." The agents are paying high prices for these books in Europe, just to get them out of circulation.

But there are many, many books and records and mementoes of Beria's career which must be obliterated. A man who has won 15 of the highest decorations from the Soviet government is bound to pop up in many places. It's a long, hard job, and it will be difficult to clean up the Beria purge trial and punishment unless the job being done is well along.

Names of factories, villages, collective farms and mines will have to be changed because once they were named for Beria. Streets and squares will have to be renamed. Whole gobs of history will have to be rewritten, including the entire story of the 19th party congress last October. Beria had a big part in it.

All the pictures of Beria posing with Malenkov and Foreign Minister Molotov since the death of Stalin, when the triumvirate ruled in an uneasy coalition, will have to disappear.

A large sum must have been allocated to the expurgation of Beria in the recent budget. It doesn't show up under any particular heading—just under the general heading of "culture."

Entertainers At Barbecue Tuesday Night

Two entertainers have been scheduled to perform at the membership barbecue Tuesday night of the chamber of commerce, J. T. Hughes, barbecue chairman, said.

They are Don Jones and Miss Bobbie Sanderson of Abilene, both college students. Jones is a vocalist, and Miss Sanderson plays a piano.

Hughes said that more than 100 tickets have been sold, and that many cards were received from chamber members yesterday for tickets.

He urged that all requests for tickets be turned into the chamber office not later than tomorrow so the amount of barbecue needed could be determined.

Ralph Geisenhoner has been selected as master of ceremonies, and Dr. Cecil Yarbrough will introduce the speaker, Judge O. F. Dent of Lamb County.

The invocation will be by the Rev. Bill Lewis, a new Methodist minister here.

Chamber of commerce officials call this barbecue the first annual membership barbecue and say that it will become an annual affair.

Several out-of-town guests and officials of other chambers of commerce have accepted invitations to the barbecue, Hughes stated.

Borden Budget Hearing

A public hearing on the proposed budget of Borden County has been scheduled August 24, C. E. Nunnally, Borden County judge, has announced. The hearing will be held in the courthouse in Gail.

Class I railroads in the U.S. include virtually all but terminal systems.

School Lunch Prices Same As Last Year

Cafeteria meals for Snyder school students will be offered at the same prices as last year, A. T. Nicholas, business manager for the schools, has announced.

Students in grades one through six will pay 30 cents for meals and older students will pay 35 cents. Adults who are entitled to eat in the cafeterias will pay 50 cents per meal.

Meal tickets may be purchased for the students, ranging in price from $5 to $1.50, depending on the length of time which they are to cover and the age of the student for who they are purchased.

Surplus commodities, purchased under the federal price support program, will be supplied schools for use in lunch programs as in recent years. However, it is not yet known what commodities will be included, Nicholas said. Butter will be one of the major items, he said, with dried lentils and turkey on the probable list.

All Snyder schools are served by cafeterias. The Central Elementary School and Junior High School share the same cafeteria, while newer schools are equipped with their own cafeteria facilities.

Opening dates for cafeterias have not been set.

PMA To Hold Elections For Communties

Production & Marketing Administration community committees will be elected this week in a vote of farmers by mail, Irelan Finley, PMA director, said.

For community committee purposes the county is divided into four sections with the Clairemont-Round Top road and the Lamesa-Roby highways serving as divisions, Finley said.

Ballots were mailed to all farmers Friday containing the nominees for their communities and space for write-ins.

The names were placed on the ballots by special nominating committees appointed by the present community committees. Three regular committeemen and three alternates will be elected to each committee.

The community committees appoint delegates to the county committee and cannot serve on the county committee themselves, Finley said.

Rodeo In Colorado City Is Starting Wednesday

Colorado City's four-day rodeo will open Wednesday night with a variety of feature attractions in addition to rodeo events.

Dan Coates will be the show announcer. Charlie Shultz will be rodeo clown. Novelty acts will be presented by Jerry Portwood of Hollywood, Calif., Jo Barbee of Dublin, Tad Lucas of Fort Worth and Charlene Calvin of Shawnee, Okla.

Stock for the show will be furnished by Duke Gibbs of the Triangle Bell Rodeo Ranch in Belton.

Social Security Man

Glenn McNatt, representative of the Abilene Social Security office, will be in Snyder Tuesday for consultation with residents of this area. He will be in the department of public welfare in the courthouse from 2 until 4:30 that afternoon.

Dr. Rex F. Johnston, formerly associated with East Texas State Teachers College and Texas State College for Women, is now president of San Angelo College. Registration at the college for the fall term is to open Sept. 14.

Moans End Of Star System

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15 (AP) — Ronald Reagan, long one of the movie industry's more eloquent spokesmen, warns that the death of the star system may also mean the death of the movie industry itself.

"As an actor," says Reagan, "I personally love free lancing. It gives me complete freedom. But it can murder our industry."

One by one the majors are dropping their high-priced stars. Latest to get it was Betty Grable. She is one of the few actresses whose name on a marquee can guarantee the box office success of a picture.

The movie industry, currently in one of its periodic states of panic, should revert to the thinking of the late Irving Thalberg, says Reagan. Thalberg, the brilliant executive who is generally credited with making MGM the biggest studio in town, brought the star system to its greatest heights. The box office receipts kept pace.

"Thalberg had his fine hand in every move MGM stars made," says Reagan. "I'll give you four examples—all feminine—of the Thalberg genius."

The peripatus is believed by some scientists to be the "missing link" between worms and insects.

3rd Year For Tire Firm Here

With a report of steadily increasing business since its opening, the Goodyear Service Store, 1018 Twenty-fifth Street, is celebrating its third anniversary here next week.

Don Hire, manager of the store, said that the second year the firm's volume of business increased about 20 percent, a similar increase has been recorded the last year.

Door prizes valued at a total of $500 will be given to persons who register at the firm during the anniversary week, Hire said.

The store will remain open until 8 o'clock each night during next week.

Hire said that the store now employs five persons, an increase from its starting staff of three persons three years ago.

Cotton Burr Crushing With Larger Screen

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Texas farmers now may use a larger mesh screen in crushing cotton burrs and gin trash, State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White announced today.

Modification of the mandatory treatment of burrs and gin trash was ordered after experiments showed a 2-inch mesh screen was just as effective as the 1-inch in killing pink bollworm, White said.

The larger mesh will require less powerful grinders and permit processing of more burrs per hour.

New Tire Store Will Be Opened Tomorrow

A new tire firm is opening here tomorrow.

It is the Star Tire Store at 1604 Avenue S. The new firm is owned by James A. Clark, Sr. It is to be managed by D. C. Worley. Three other employes will aid in the operation of the store.

The offices of the Clark & Smith Butane Gas Co. will be moved to the tire store location from its former location on the Lubbock Highway. The former location will continue to be used as a storage place for the company.

More than 250 different kinds of birds and animals are found in Great Smoky National Park.

'Grandfather's Clock' Running Again After 166 Silent Years

NANTUCKET, Mass., Aug. 15 (AP)—It's the strangest clock in the world. Now, after more than a century of uncertainty and silence, it is solemnly ticking away again in the hush of the Friends' Meeting House here.

"To make that clock work again you'll have to bring back Walter Folger," folks used to say.

Folger died in 1849. As if he had built something of his strange self into his invention, the clock died soon afterward. A lot of people poked and prodded at it, but it was too complicated for them.

The little-schooled son of a whale oil merchant, Folger obviously was a genius. He had a life-long passion to learn how things were put together and understand the forces that made them go.

At the age of 20 he asked himself: "What is time?"

Then, in answer to his own question, he built his wonderful clock, completing it that same year—1787.

It is of massive grandfather clock dimensions. It tells the hours, of course. But this is what makes it unlike any other clock in the world:

Each New Year's Day it records the number of the new year. It records the date of the month. Behind the large brass dial, visible through horseshoe-shaped openings, moves a golden disc—the sun—and a silvered sphere—the moon. Through all the changing seasons they reproduce the motions of those heavenly bodies.

The model sun rises and sets each day at the same second as the true sun. Engraved scales show the hour of sunrise and sunset. The model moon rises and sets waxing from crescent to full and then waning as does the true moon over Nantucket, this Atlantic island off the Massachusetts coast. The clock's complex moon mechanism repeats itself only once in each 18 and two-thirds years.

Other scales show the angular distance from the celestial equator of both sun and moon—declination, it is called. Still another shows the 12 signs of the Zodiac in season.

When death stilled the master hand of Walter Folger, no deft fingers could work the astronomical parts of his clock. Often those who sought to repair it only damaged it further.

At last the Nantucket Historical Association began a search for a clock expert who also was an astronomer. For 10 years the search was fruitless. Then, at last, the National Association of Clock and Watch Collectors found the man: Arthur L. Rawlings of New York, consulting engineer of the Bulova research and development laboratories.

For Rawlings it was a labor of love. As a horologist-a scientist of the measurement of time—he spent six months on the strange clock. He had to undo some of the so-called repairing done by his predecessors. Then he had to master the principles evolved long ago by the youthful genius and fashion parts to replace some of those which had been removed.

A few days ago, just 166 years to the day when Walter Folger first set the clock's pendulum swinging, Rawlings met with the historical society in the Friends' Meeting House here and started the clock going once more.

"So far as is known," Rawlings told the society, "no other clock has yet been constructed which displays the time of moonrise and moonset in this way. This unique feature is an outstanding characteristic of the clock, and a monument to the ingenuity of young Walter Folger."

A small child adjusting his eyes to small print is doing hard work, says the Better Vision Institute.

Philippines President Is Heading For Home After Hospitalization

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino of The Philippines left here today bound for home via Washington and San Francisco after a 7-week stay in Johns Hopkins Hospital during which he underwent two stomach operations.

Doctors pronounced the 62-year-old President fit for the ardubus campaign for re-election he faces on his return to his homeland.

Dr. Agerico B. M. Sison, his personal physician, said the President had recovered well enough but would have to pace himself in the campaign. He was operated on July 25 for a stomach obstruction.

The President expects to be back in Manila Sept. 4.

Black Bass Crop Up

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Black bass fishing should be excellent in Texas next spring as the result of an unusually good 1953 production.

A high hatching rate, combined with favorable water temperature and food conditions, is responsible for the upswing in black bass population, said chief aquatic biologist Marion Toole of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

TO REACH MOON

Missiles May Be Sent Into Outer Space By Next Year

PASADENA, Calif., Aug. 15 (AP)—A ranking American scientist says he will be ready in a few months to shoot projectiles into outer space, missiles which never will return to earth.

The scientist is Dr. Fritz Zwicky, one of the country's top experts on jets and rockets. He is an astrophysicist of the California Institute of Technology here and the Carnegie Institution in Washington, whose centers of operation are Palomar Mountain and Mt. Wilson observatories.

He is the discoverer of supernovae, the almost unbelievably violent explosions in which stars destroy themselves in a few days. He says, of his plan:

1. Some of the missiles may strike the face of the moon, causing flashes which could be seen through large telescopes.

2. Others may reach and set fire to the combustible atmosphere of the planet Jupiter, more than 400 million miles away. Some may be shot out to Venus or Mars, which are much closer. Still others may go angling off in the upper atmosphere to become short-lived satellites of the earth.

3. Many of these manmade meteors will flash through the skies close to earth, much as do natural meteors, giving astronomers hitherto unobtainable data about the upper air and the earth's magnetism and electric field.

4. These things will be the little cousins—and forerunners—of space platforms and interplanetary rockets.

5. The know-how and the means of doing all this is already at hand—there need be no waiting for other inventions or discoveries. All he needs is a little time and a little money to buy the necessary materials.

Dr. Zwicky has commitments which will keep him busy for another six months or so. Then, given a few high altitude balloons and a minimum of $10,000, he says he will be ready to go.

Many laboratory tests, by other scientists as well as by Dr. Zwicky, have demonstrated that a certain kind of explosive, shaped in a certain way and lined with a thin sheet of metal, can produce missiles of such terrific speed that they will leave the earth and go on indefinitely into space.

This requires a projectile speed of at least seven miles per second, or 25,000 miles an hour. Speeds greater than this are easily obtainable, Dr. Zwicky says, by improving the design of the explosive charge and the metal liner. He calls the process ultraflight.

One group of researchers has reported achieving a speed of about 55 miles a second. So there is power and speed to spare.

The shooting probably will not be done in this country, because objections have been raised in some quarters that it might endanger people.

Either the Sahara Desert or Britain's great 3,000-mile rocket range in Australia are likely spots. Dr. Zwicky reported in an interview he has the necessary permission from both French and Australian authorities.

The remarkable explosive, made from commercially available substances, is packaged into a cone-shaped missile which produces a jet effect when set off. The hollow cone is lined with the thin sheet of metal. The blast breaks this metal into little pieces which form a jet as they come out the big end of the cone at terrific speed. The metal becomes the projectile.

This is not a new idea. Its principle was used during World War II to give the bazooka, a one-man tank killer, its striking power. But the explosive used in bazookas was not potent enough to drive a missile at the escape velocity.

Any bullet fired at seven miles per second through the relatively heavy lower part of the atmosphere would burn itself up while traveling a few feet. So Dr. Zwicky's charges will have to be lifted above the lower atmosphere before they are set off. For this he needs high altitude balloons such as have been used for cosmic ray research.

These balloons go up 20 miles or more. Their cargo of charges would have to be fired automatically or by electronic control from the ground.

MEN AND WOMEN TAKE OFF FAT
If you have decided to reduce, why not do it sensibly and easily; without starvation diet or back-breaking exercises. Just ask your druggist for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label. Then take according to directions.
If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat, just return the empty bottle for your money back.
Doyle H. Hooks, 2801 S. 14th St., Abilene, Texas, states he lost 12 pounds taking Barcentrate—and Eddie Faye Taylor, 2516 E. 8th St., Austin, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I have lost 25 pounds taking the new improved Barcentrate and five inches off my waist line. I am very pleased with the results I get from Barcentrate. It makes me feel so good and I have so much more energy."

Denver Investments Good; Old Scurry Countian Holds Forth

By HOUSTON HARTE

DENVER, Aug. 15 — This so-called "mile high" city is neither out of the heat or the drouth. It's high, dry and windy in Denver. Those who show you over the city tell you it is "very unusual weather."

Denver looks antiquated. Compared with Texas cities it is old fashioned and out of date. The only new buildings you find here are the motels. The great old Brown Palace Hotel, with its massive walls and splendid lobby, has made an effort to keep modern, but you cannot disguise its basic 1890 vintage.

Denver is to have a new Hotel Statler. It will be a 13 million dollar project, built on a downtown city block. The first four to six floors will be leased to department and other stores and the next 14 floors will be hotel rooms. No city needs a hotel much more.

TEXAS MONEY

There's a building boom on in Denver and Texas money is making some of the development possible.

The old Denver Club site has been purchased by Clint Murchison of Dallas and a 25-story building is going up there. The building is now up to the ground level. The Denver Club will occupy the four top floors. This will be almost the first modern office building for Denver.

New York money is making a heavy investment in Denver real estate near the Statler Hotel site. The city boosters say more than money is committed to downtown Denver business development for this year.

Denver residents say the city's trouble has been the lethargy of moneyed oldtimers. They won't sell. They won't build. They won't support any new projects. The city had to get into its present shape —a crying need for hotel and business space — before outsiders would come in and take advantage of the glorious business opportunities offered.

Denver has about a half-million people. The 1950 census gave it 412,000. But situated here in the mid-Rocky Mountain region, with all the great western railroads, its future growth seems certain. It has coal and iron, metals, livestock, sugar beets, wheat, fruit, and now has become a sizable oil center. Oil production in Colorado will run to a very unusual weight changes in the area.

Along with these, Colorado has uranium. In southern Colorado the most extensive uranium discoveries of the North American continent have been found.

RANCHER'S PLIGHT

Sheepmen and cattlemen have suffered here as they have in West and South Texas. The trouble has not been only the decline in prices, but price declines plus a steady decline in rainfall. Both the eastern and western slopes are dry. There is no green in Colorado except in the irrigated valleys and a few sub-irrigated vegas.

* * *

Holding forth in the lobby of the Brown Palace is an old familiar face to West Texans — the one and only Marcus Snyder. A fortunate turn of the wheel of fate has enthroned him in his regular seat in the lobby of the Brown Palace.

Here, where his father held forth before him, Marcus Snyder sits today, trying to solve an income tax problem which requires the most minute fulfillment of the famous Elliott Cowden case for a capital gain on the sale of an oil lease.

Ten years ago he leased 82,000 acres of land from the Kendrick Estate near Billings, Mont. He had the foresight to get both the grass and mineral lease. He built a great herd of Black Angus cattle and two years ago sold his 3,000 cows at $200 a head.

"I've had to take $30 for too many cows to keep them when they bring $200," he told last week. "Land is too high, cattle are too high, and the oilmen are living too high," he continued.

"I know all the signs of a bust. I think I could have got more money had I held on six months longer — but Marcus has been busted too many times before. I knew I was too old to 'come back' again. I sold out."

MONTANA OIL

A year ago Snyder telephoned his old friend Clint Murchison, and offered him a half interest in his 82,000-acre lease in the Williston Basin for a well.

Murchison said he'd send a geologist up to Billings to look it over but remarked that if the geologist turned down the deal, he'd drill the well anyway.

The first well came in for 250 barrels in the Strawn. Two offsets were a little better. They made 350 barrels each on the proration tests. Last week a deep test, 8,800 feet, on a structure 10 miles away came in for a big well. The exact amount has not be ascertained.

The 82,000 acres had been divided on a half-section basis, Murchison owning a half section and Snyder the other half. There are more than 150 sections.

Now Snyder sits in the Brown Palace and talks to the vice presidents of nearly all the oil companies operating in the Williston Basin. They want to buy his 41,000-acre spread.

RECALLS SCURRY

He recalls the sale of the lease on the Fuller Ranch in Scurry County, his old home, and he wants to see if he can't made a better deal than Marshall Fuller. He is trying and he has plenty of opportunity. But the only sale he is considering is "old age security" —a lease which must be paid for 20 years regardless of what happens in the Williston Basin or in Washington.

The old cow trader is teaching these oil boys something about how to make a deal.

Science Group Slated

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 15 (AP) — Dr. Odd Dahl, Norwegian nuclear scientist and group director of the European Organization of Nuclear Research, says the 12-nation body is expected to begin work in Geneva, Switzerland, early in 1954. He expressed belief the Parliaments of all the nations—Britain, Belgium, Holland, France, Denmark and Greece—would complete ratification of the necessary treaties by the end of 1953.

Naples Carriages Out

NAPLES, Italy, Aug. 15 (AP)—Naples' famous Carouzellas — the horse-drawn carriages visitors traditionally ride beside the romantic bay—are doomed. Municipal officials have decided they will be replaced by taxicabs as licenses expire.

Las Vegas Is New Capital Of Night Life

By JAMES BACON

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 15 (AP)—This fabulous, crapshooting, air-conditioned oasis in the middle of nowhere is the new night life capital of the United States.

New York, the former titleholder, may not yet be willing to concede, but it must. Variety, the bible of show business, lists Las Vegas as the nation's top buyer of night club talent. Hollywood and Miami are back in the distance.

Variety says that during July—a month when the desert thermometer can hit 120 degrees, and does—Las Vegas collected the greatest single concentration of high-priced talent ever.

There were some of the bookings: Red Skelton at the Sahara; Betty Hutton at the Desert Inn; Lena Horne and Milton Berle at the Sands; Spike Jones and Tony Martin at the Flamingo; Joe E. Lewis and Vic Damone at El Rancho Vegas; Gale (TV's My Little Margie) Storm at the Thunderbird and Herb Shriner at the Last Frontier.

Each hotel also has its own line of well-proportioned, lavishly costumed showgirls in elaborate production numbers, plus two or three supporting acts. For instance, the Sahara had Anna Maria Alberghetti, young Italian operatic star, working with Skelton. Gloria de Haven supported Lewis.

Salaries have reached astronomical heights—in print, at least. Press agents try to outshout each other, but Milton Prell, who operates the Sahara, insists he paid Skelton $85,000 for two weeks' work. It paid off, for the hotel did the biggest business since it opened last year.

Miss Hutton told me, and I have no reason to doubt her, that she got $100,000 for four weeks at the Desert Inn. The story is that Bing Crosby is mulling a hotel's offer for $50,000 a week.

Of course, these figures are package deals, and the headliner takes care of the other performers on the bill.

But for all the hotels, the total entertainment tab for July hit close to a million dollars. As one hotel owner commented, while insisting on not being identified:

"We spent so much it took two nights instead of one for the casino to get it back."

First step in processing the bark of the cork oak is to boil it to make it flexible.

A-3c Larry J. Price, 19, formerly of Snyder, has entered the aircraft mechanics school at Sheppard Air Force Base. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Price of Chicopee Falls, Mass., and attended Snyder High School before enlisting in the Air Force in May.

Maneuvers In Germany

BAD OEYNHAUSEN, Germany, Aug. 15 (AP)—More than three divisions of the northern army group—including British, Canadian, Dutch and Danish units—will take part in Operation Grand Repulse south of Bremen Sept. 18 to 23. The exercise is part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's autumn maneuvers testing the ability of Western Allies to repulse an aggressor.

Stock Market Still In Rut

NEW YORK, Aug. 14 (AP)—A spirited attempt by the stock market to break out of its narrow trading rut failed this week.

The market ended the present week right around the levels of two weeks ago, and in the interim there was little fluctuation in the overall price level.

The market this week ignored just about all outside influences. Russian boasts about the H-bomb went unnoticed in the market.

Breaks and recoveries in the Chicago wheat market caused a few caution signals to be hoisted, but stocks took little or no sympathetic action as a result of wheat gyrations.

Monday's stock market was down slightly with volume a bit over a million shares. The Tuesday market was almost exactly the same but with volume a little below a million shares.

It was on Wednesday that the recovery took place with a late rally in railroads, oils, chemicals and a long list of individual issues. That strength carried over into the following day, but the rally failed to do more than produce a few more gains than losses with narrow price changes.

Friday's market fell under the impact of weekend profit-taking and a general disappointment over failure of the Wednesday rally to carry through.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was down 20 cents on the week and ended at $108.90—only a dime above the closing level two weeks ago.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Columbia Gas up 1 at 13⅞ with 71,100 shares traded, American Telephone up ⅛ at 155⅝, Ohio Oil up ⅝ at 57⅛, Union Carbide up 1⅛ at 68⅛, and General Motors off 1⅛ at 59⅛.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

New Indria Mining up ½ at 1¼ with 53,400 shares traded, Continental Aviation up ⅝ at 6⅜, New British Dominion Oil up ⅛ at 2⅜, National Phoenix off ⅛ at 2⅜, and Central Explorers off ⅛ at 4⅛.

Israeli Citrus Higher

TEL AVIV, Israel, Aug. 15 (AP)—I. Isaaknon, president of the Israel Farmers' Association, says next season's citrus crop in this country is expected to reach 10 million cases. He expressed hope that exports to the Soviet Union would increase now that diplomatic relations have been renewed and added that efforts are being made to sell part of the next crop to Germany.

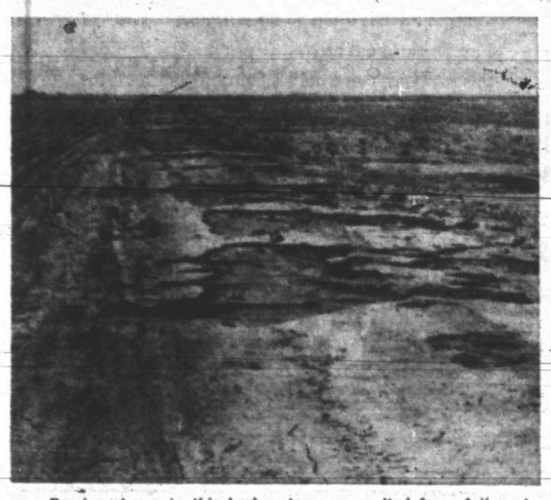
Herman Hundsnurcher, right, stands atop one of the properly maintained terraces on his farm, four miles south of Hermleigh. Shown with him is Edward Bigham of the Soil Conservation Service. Hundsnurcher has produced cotton when many neighbors failed and gives his terracing credit for whatever production he has in dry years and for better crops than he would otherwise have in good years. (Staff photographs)

Cotton damage shown above was caused by outside water entering the field from nearby fields which were not terraced. Wyatt Lipscomb, left, and Edward Bigham, technicians of the Soil Conservation Service, hold cotton stalks which are still barely anchored by the tips of their roots. The field shown here was properly terraced except for a few places in its end closures which allowed too much water to enter from the road and from the unterraced field above it.



Erosion shown in this broken terrace resulted from failure to maintain it. This terrace, like most of the others on the same field, was eroded in this manner throughout its length.

TERRACING HELPS KEEP CROPS UP IN DROUTH

Recent heavy rains in the Hermleigh area proved many farmland terraces to be of great value, while a few broke because of improper maintenance or none at all, according to Soil Conservation Service personnel here.

Terrace breakage was due in all cases either to lack of or improper maintenance or to inflowing and flooding water from outside the fields. Even in cases of terrace breakage from outside water, such was usually due to failure of someone to maintain or construct terraces.

Proper construction and maintenance of terraces has paid off for Herman Hundsnurcher, four miles south of Hermleigh. He takes pride in the terraces, believing that "if they were worth building, they are worth maintaining."

Hundsnurcher has reason to be proud of the terraces, for last year, he produced more cotton than anyone else in the area, and all he produced was along the terraces. His production, however, totaled only seven and a half bales on 140 acres.

In 1950, the last good year of farming here, Hundsnurcher's 61 acres in cotton produced 57½ bales. He says this production was high primarily because his terraces received and stored sufficient moisture in the fall of 1949 and the spring of 1950.

MORE THAN MOST

Last year, although Hundsnurcher made very little cotton, neighboring farms made less and in most cases none. He says all the cotton he harvested was just above the terraces where water was stored from the small rains in the spring.

Much of the area immediately south of Hermleigh has received seven inches of rain or more in the last two months. Hundsnurcher said that even with the heavy rains his terraces could have held much more water without danger of breakage. Besides water falling on his farm, water was turned into his fields from a roadside ditch on the east and from a pasture on the west.

His terrace system was constructed about 10 years ago, and today each terrace will measure about 18 to 24 inches high and 26 to 30 feet wide at the base.

MAINTENANCE

Asked his methods of maintenance, Hundsnurcher said he used his whirlwind terracer every two or three years to maintain height and add necessary width. In years that the whirlwind machine is not used, the terraces are maintained by using the one-way plow.

The Hundsnurcher farm also has effective closures at the ends of all terraces. The end closures, slightly lower than the terraces so that any overflow will be across the closures rather than the terraces, hold the water until it is soaked into the soil. Another purpose of the closures is to prevent erosion which would result if ends were left open.

Edward Bigham, of the Soil Conservation Unit here, said he and other technicians had observed considerable damage because of improper maintenance of terraces, especially around Hermleigh, Dunn, and Ira.

Some terraces which were properly maintained were broken or damaged because of the lack of terraces on land above them. Other terraces were overflowed because they were not maintained, resulting in erosion across them and below them and also resulting in loss of moisture.

EQUIPMENT ON HAND

Many farmers do not have equipment to repair and maintain their terraces, Bigham said. This however, is no real problem because the Upper Colorado Soil Conservation District has equipment on hand that can be used for that purpose.

If the terraces are washed out and fills need to be made, the district has two one-yard capacity soil movers that will operate behind most two-row farm tractors. The movers are easy to operate because they are equipped with hydraulic controls which make loading and unloading easy.

If terraces need a general building up from one end to the other, the District has whirlwind terracing machines. These can be used to add height, width, and to construct end closures.

Frank Kubala of Hermleigh, member of the board of supervisors of the district, said the district could assist farmers who have terraces to repair or maintain. He said damaged terraces should be repaired as soon as possible.

Those desiring information concerning the use of any equipment the district owns may contact Kubala or any other supervisor.

Supervisors of the District besides Kubala are Raymond House, Houston Kimbrell, Nolan von Roeder and Alton Milliken.

West Texas Counties Given 99 Oil Tests In 30th Week

West Texas drilling activity increased during the 30th week of 1953 with locations for 99 test for oil, including 18 wildcats, staked in 27 counties in Railroad Commission Districts 7-C and 8.

The number compares to 80 tests, including 18 wildcats, spotted the preceding week.

Totals for the first 30 weeks of 1953 now stand at 1,763 field tests, and 527 wildcats, a grand total of 2,290 tests for oil and a weekly average of 76.33.

Totals for the comparative period in 1952 were 2,555 field tests and 524 wildcats, a grand total of 3,079 tests for oil and a weekly average of 102.63. Totals for the first 30 weeks in 1951 were 3,250 field tests and 571 wildcats, totalling 3,821 tests and averaging 128 a week.

Eight counties in District 7-C shared 31 applications, including 11 for wildcats, while District 8 counties numbered 27, with 68 tests staked, including seven wildcats.

District 7-C wildcats were: Crockett, four; Coke, three; and Concho, Reagan, Runnels, and Upton, one each.

District 7-C field tests were: Runnels, nine; Schleicher and Upton, three each; Reagan, two; and Coke Crockett, and Sutton, one each.

District 8 wildcats were: Andrews, Brewster, Crane, Gaines, Garza, Howard, and King, one each.

District 8 field tests were: Pecos, eight; Andrews, seven; Midland, six; Ector and Glasscock, five each; Crane, Winkler, and Yoakum, four each; Cochran and Scurry, three each; Gaines, Garza, Hockley, Howard and Loving, two each; and Mitchell and Ward, one each.

Ike's Proposed Social Security Irks Some Professional Men

BY LaWAYNE HULSE

A federal bill expected to be introduced into legislation next year to broaden the social security program may fail to pass if members of Congress are as divided on the subject as the persons it would affect in Snyder.

President Eisenhower recently recommended that Congress next year add about 10,500,000 persons from groups never before included in the program to the social security rolls.

A limited survey of Snyder persons not now in the program shows a few more opposing than favoring the proposal.

Those to be affected by the bill, according to the President's proposal, would be from six groups. The groups and their approximate numbers are 500,000 self-employed professional persons, three million self-employed farm operators, 2,700,000 hired farm workers, 200,000 domestic workers, 200,000 ministers, and four million state and local government workers.

Only the ministers would be included on a voluntary basis, although the President was reported to have mentioned the government workers' inclusion as "by agreements." At least some government workers can be included by agreement, as were county employes and officials here late last year.

Of 14 persons polled here on the matter, eight opposed the President's proposal, and six favored it. The 14 were two ministers, three physicians, a dentist, a government worker, and seven attorneys, one of whom was also a government employe.

LAWYERS AGAINST IT

One of the attorneys, Gene Dulaney, was writing the President a letter of opposition to the proposal at the time he was questioned on the matter.

Five attorneys said they were against the proposal, and two favored it.

Dulaney said: "I am opposed to the social security program because it is discriminatory, inefficient, and unconstitutional."

Saying he believed that compulsion of a kind which the majority of citizens did not believe was absolutely necessary was contrary to American principles, Dulaney said he opposed any enlargement of the program.

"It is unconstitutional in that it is a form of compulsory insurance in which the people have no voice; it is an inefficient program due to graft, the cost of administration, and the relatively low benefits that only some persons can receive, although others may have supported the program the same as they; and it is discriminatory both because its benefits apply only to some instead of all who have participated and also because some can participate voluntarily while others are compelled to."

BENEFITS FEW

Garland Armstrong: "Social security would be all right for a nation, provided the program were set up and administered properly. I don't like our particular program because of both its setup and its administration. It is unfair. One employer of several persons may be responsible in many cases for supporting the program with thousands of dollars a year as his part of his employes' contributions; yet when he reaches 65, he may not receive a single benefit merely because he is not destitute. If the program must be compulsory, then compulsory insurance as a straight out-and-out insurance program, beneficial to all participants, would be better, although I won't say I would favor it either."

Robert R. Patterson said, "In view of the present existence of the social security program, I am in favor of its being broadened. If some are required by the government to participate in the program, all persons with incomes should be required to." He said, however, that he believed the present setup of the program was somewhat socialistic in nature.

W. W. Park merely said he did not favor any enlargement of the program.

James Rosser also said he did not favor any broadening of the program.

CONTRIBUTES NOW

Wayland Holt, included in the program because of his position as county attorney and the group agreement of courthouse employes to be included, said: "I am opposed to the federal social security program, and, therefore, I am opposed to any broadening of the program."

Holt indicated he did not think failure to include new groups in the program would be unfair as discriminatory since the program is in many other ways discriminatory. He said he believed the government overstepped its basic purposes by attempting to provide social security for its people and became also socialistic to that degree by making participation compulsory for most citizens.

J. Ray Martin: "As a whole, the program is good; and although we might have difficulty now in seeing the true and greater benefits of the program, I believe that in its benefits to the aged as proof that the program is good in the long run."

Concerning inclusion of self-employed professional men, Martin said, "Although as a rule, a professional person's productive career will not terminate as early as that of the average manual laborer, I think the professional people will realize benefits from the program sufficient to warrant our participation. We would not miss the small payments into the program too much. In a way, it appears unfair that a professional man, whose productive capacity would be of longer life than that of the laborer, would bear the expense of the program on the same basis; but the principle of the government's treating all persons alike so far as compelling participation in this expense is concerned should overcome this."

DOCTORS' STATEMENTS

Dr. Robert F. Wasson, a physician and surgeon, said: "I am strongly opposed to the broadening of the program and to the program as it is. I don't like to be forced to buy insurance from the government."

Dr. John Hamblen, a dentist, said, "We have too much government already. It has long been top-heavy with the federal government controlling and attempting to control many phases which should not be included in the realm of government at all. So far as inclusion of doctors is concerned, I believe most of them would never benefit personally from the program and should not be required to support it.

"Most doctors will either make good or fail in the first few years of their practice. If they fail as doctors, they will probably enter fields in which they would either be included in the federal program or some other insurance program, and if they succeed as doctors, they probably will never need the federal program and could never benefit from it unless they unfortunately should become destitute after reaching old age."

SOME LIKE IT

Dr. Carl Dillaha, physician, said, "The inclusion of physicians would probably be a good idea, for most of them have no retirement plan."

Dr. Thomas Hartley: "I think it would be an aid to most physicians, since few have any retirement program, most being unable to provide their own retirement means."

The American Medical Association last week recommended to the House Ways and Means Committee that self-employed professional persons be allowed to defer federal income tax payment on a limited amount of their earnings. these earnings would be put into pension funds subject to withdrawal only when the person retired or became permanently disabled. This plan, however, would differ in several ways from the present social security program.

MINISTERS OPINE

The Rev. Glenn Ricketts, Christian minister, said: "The principle of the social security program is good because each person should obtain at least some degree of security for the future. I would rather see the entire program on a voluntary basis with the government urging citizens to participate, since democracy functions better with more volition and less compulsion. On a voluntary basis, any citizen could participate in the government program or in some other retirement insurance program. I am included in another program and would not personally be interested in participation in the government program while in the other."

The Rev. W. W. Adcock: "With the exception of ministers, it seems to me that other groups should be included to make the program less discriminatory. I believe, however, it would be better if ministers, because of their representation of churches, were not included except on a voluntary basis because of our constitutional separation of church and state."

COUNTY EMPLOYES

All county employes were not polled, since they voted late last year to seek inclusion in the program. The only county employe making a sacrifice at the time of inclusion was Mrs. Dell Smith who favored the group inclusion for the benefit of others.

Mrs. Smith, at the time the courthouse personnel went into the program, was receiving monthly checks because of the accidental death of her husband. A person cannot pay into the program and draw benefits from it at the same time.

Mrs. Smith said: "I will stand up for social security anytime. I have seen it work and know its benefits. I think everyone should participate in the program."

When the courthouse polled its [illegible] to participation, only three voted against inclusion.

Poultry Mart In Good Week

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Texas poultry markets held steady again this week despite price drops in some areas, the state department of agriculture said today.

Prices were down one cent from last week's close in South Texas. Supplies of 2.5-2.75 pound birds were adequate for the light to fair demand but weights over 2.75 were short of the fair demand. Trading was light to moderate.

In East Texas closing prices were one-half cent lower to mostly unchanged at the close. Supplies of weights scarce for the good demand. Trading was normal.

Markets in the Waco-Corsicana area reported adequate supplies for a light to fair demand. Trading was moderate.

Undertone was steady at all points. Closing price in the south was 28 cents; east, 27½-28, mostly 28; Waco, 28; and Corsicana, 27-29.

Arkansas' northwest area markets were about steady. Light weight birds were adequate and heavier weights generally short. Demand was fair to good for heavier weights and light on others. Price range at the close was unchanged with the bulk of the sales one cent lower.

Invitation To Fair Comes 39 Years Late

ORLEANS, Vt. (AP)—An invitation to spend a day at the St. Johnsbury fairgrounds has arrived at the home of Mrs. Ray Morse—but 39 years late.

The invitation was posted in St. Johnsbury, about [illegible] on Sept. 7, 1914. The fairgrounds were dismantled not long afterward.

But there is one consolation. The stamp, one of a series of Panama-Pacific commemoratives issued between 1912 and 1915, is a collector's item.

North Carolina claims more miles [illegible] than any other state of the United States.

Tigers Champions From Pony League

The Courthouse Tigers became champions of the Pony League in the last games of the season Friday night, but a tie for second place resulted between the Scurry Butane Dodgers and Lions Club Phillies.

The Von Roeder Red Sox lost their eighth game of the season to end in last place in the league.

The Tigers had a 7-2 season record of wins and losses, while both the Dodgers and Phillies ended with five wins and four losses. The Red Sox won only one game during the nine-game season.

Friday night the Phillies beat the Red Sox 16 to 8, and the Tigers won over the Dodgers 6 to 3.

In the Phillies rout of the Red Sox, Robbie Robinson made three runs, Don McNew, Larry Dixon and Richard Snyder each made two, one run each was made by Jerry James, Dickie Martin, John Ward, Max Ware, Mickey Craig, Weldon Smith, and Carrol Wiley.

For the Red Sox Joe Overton made two runs, and one run each was made by David Hale, Gaston McHaney, Orville Paulk, Darrell Parrish, J. T. Meyers, and Billy Brashier.

Wiley was starting pitcher for the Phillies hurling two innings with two strike outs, allowing three hits and three walks. He was replaced in the third by Craig, who was given credit for the win. Craig pitched three innings and struck out one batter, gave up four hits, and four walks. Don McNew finished the game with four strikeouts, and giving up no hits or bases on balls.

Joe Overton started for the Red Sox and in three innings had three strikeouts, gave up five hits, and two walks. He was replaced by J. T. Meyers, the losing pitcher, who gave up six hits, seven walks, and fanned three batters.

One double play made by the Red Sox was a highlight of the first game. It was from pitcher, to second to first: Overton, to Hale, to Ronnie Baker.

Duane Prince was the winning pitcher for the Tigers in the second game. He struck out three, gave up four hits, and four walks. Tommy Pritchard replaced him in the bottom of the sixth and struckout three, walked none and allowed no hits in his two innings on the mound.

John Partain, losing pitcher for the Dodgers, went the full distance with 10 strikeouts, seven hits and four walks on his record.

Dodger scorers were Ronald Smith, Tommy Falls, and Roe Lashaway.

Tiger runners who crossed the home plate were Jimmy Allen and Pritchard with two runs each and Mack Hull and Bobby Joines with one each.

The tie between the Phillies and Dodgers for second place will not be played off.

White Sox In Loss To Tigers

DETROIT, Aug. 15 (AP)—Southpaw Al Aber of the Detroit Tigers gave up only one hit in 4 and 2-3 innings of sparkling relief pitching today to save a 5-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox, and prevent them from gaining ground on the New York Yankees.

Aber replaced starter Ted Gray in the fifth and the only hit off him was a meaningless single by Bob Wilson in the eighth inning.

By losing, the White Sox remained 6½ games behind the Yanks, who bowed in Philadelphia.

Led by Bob Nieman, who snapped out of a slump, the Tigers scored all their runs in the first three innings to tag Harry Dorish with his sixth setback.

Nieman, who had only 2 hits in 17 at bats, drilled a 2-run homer in the second inning and a run-scoring single in the third.

This helped to give Gray a 5-1 lead but the Tiger lefty weakened in the fifth and had to be bailed out by Aber after yielding three runs.

Bob Elliott hit a pinch-hit homer and Minnie Minoso a 2-run double but that's the closest the Sox ever got.

Football Officials Will Meet Aug. 22-23

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Southwest Football Officials Association will hold its annual meeting here Aug. 22-23 with a football rules interpretation by Dutch Meyer, member of the national rules committee, the major feature.

Meyer, athletic director of Texas Christian University, will be heard at 10 a.m. Aug. 22. This session is open to the general public.

Aug. 23 the officials will have their examinations.

R. J. Kidd, director, and Rhea Williams, athletic director, of the Texas Interscholastic League will discuss the high school rules.

Athletics In 9-8 Win Over Mighty Yanks

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 (AP)—The mighty New York Yankees rallied their home run sluggers, ace pitcher Allie Reynolds and even worked a squeeze bunt for a run, but it wasn't enough to beat the Philadelphia Athletics today as the A's staggered to a 9-8 victory on the strength of a walk to Cass Michaels and Loran Babe's double in the ninth inning.

A crowd of 7,502 saw Reynolds appear as a relief pitcher in the eighth and wind up with his sixth loss against 10 victories. Maurie Martin, the third pitcher for the A's, got credit for the win by holding the Yank's scoreless in the ninth.

Most of the action was packed into the eighth.

The Yankees counted four runs on a double by Gene Woodling, Irv Noren's single, a 2-run homer by Billy Martin, Phil Rizzuto's single and a triple by Joe Collins.

But the A's came back on Elmer Valo's double, Eddie Robinson's 2-run homer, singles by Cass Michaels and Loren Babe, a sacrifice by Eddie McGhee and pinch double by Carmen Mauro for four runs to tie the score. The game was Reynolds' first defeat as a relief pitcher since Aug. 22, 1951. In this span he has answered 30 emergency calls.

Braves Run Over Cubs 2-0 On Spahn's Homer

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Joe Adcock's 2-run homer in the fourth was all Lefty Warren Spahn needed behind his 5-hit twirling to give the Milwaukee Braves a 2-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs today.

It was the season's 16th triumph against five defeats for Spahn, the National League's top southpaw.

The loser was Bubba Church, who left for a pinch-hitter in the eighth, after Adcock's 13th homer of the season, a mighty poke over the left field wall, anchored him with his sixth defeat against seven victories.

Ancient Emil (Dutch) Leonard hurled the final inning for the Cubs and struck out Ed Mathews to shut out the National loop's home-run leader for the day.

A Saturday throng of 20,096, with heavy representation for the visiting Braves, watched Spahn bewilder the Cubs.

No One Able To Catch Up With Frazier

DALLAS, Aug. 15 (AP)—There seems no way for anybody to catch up with the Oklahoma City blaster—jolting Joe Frazier—in the Texas League batting race.

The past week found Frazier maintaining his average of .352, while Jim Clarkson, the Dallas third baseman, lost a little ground, falling from .333 to .332. In third place is Les Fleming, the big first sacker of the Beaumont Exporters, who slumped from .335 to .326

Jolting Joe also is the leader by a good margin in doubles with his 49 two-ply knocks.

Bobby Balcena, San Antonio, still leads in runs but is only one ahead of Frazier. Balcena has 88. Saturnino Escalera of Tulsa tops in triples with 18, Harry Heslet of Shreveport in homers with 36 and Forrest Jacobs, the Fort Worth pepper box, in hits with 158.

Russ Burns, Oklahoma City, is nearing the 100 mark in runs batted in. He has 97, five more than Frazier.

In stolen bases, two of the fleet men of Fort Worth are tied for the lead—Gale Wade and Jacobs. Each has 22.

If there's to be a 20-game winner among the pitchers this year, they better hurry. With fewer than 30 games to go, Wayne McLeland of Dallas is the leading winner with a 15-5 record.

Don Fracchia, Beaumont (14-9), Al Zillan, Oklahoma City (14-10), and Hugh Sooter, Shreveport (14-12) are next in line.

No Football Training Before September 1

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—High school football coaches were cautioned today not to start grid practice before Sept. 1.

Dr. Rhea Williams, interscholastic League athletic director, said some coaches mistakenly believed the new rules allowing earlier practice would go into effect this year.

New rules, under which some of the five conferences voted to allow earlier fall training, will not apply until next year.

Giants Win One, Lose One To Phillies, But Losing Streak Broken

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—The New York Giants broke their 6-game losing streak on Marv Grissom's 6-hit victory over Philadelphia in the opener today 4-1, but the Phillies bounced back to grab the second game 5-2 on Jim Konstanty's fine relief pitching.

Grissom, a 35-year-old American League refugee, worked his first complete game since the Giants bought him from the Boston Red Sox in mid season to whip Curt Simmons in the first game. The Giants had dropped 12 of their last 13 starts before the veteran righthander pulled them out of the tangle.

Del Ennis' double and an error by Catcher Ray Noble on Daryl Spencer's relay gave the Phils a 3-run lead in the first inning of the second game. Willie Jones' 2-run homer completed their scoring in the ninth.

THE ADVENTURES OF PATSY

Part of the two and three-fourths acres of truck garden and orchard owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Niedecken, 505 Nineteenth Street, furnishes a lively income for the couple. Three crops of different vegetables are usually harvested from all parts of the small tract of land each year. (Lee Watson photograph)

Garden Plot Brings Money To Elderly Couple Living Here

A Snyder man and his wife who celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary in September 1952 have one of the most profitable gardens in town.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Neidecken, 505 Nineteenth Street, sold $2,007 worth of vegetables from the garden which surrounds their house last year and are well on the way to increasing their income from the garden this year.

From the two and three-fourths acres of land they own in northeast Snyder—which includes space for their house— the couple harvest three crops of vegetables each year.

This year they have sold $585 worth of onions from 21 rows which were 55 feet long, and have a second crop of other vegetables ready to harvest from the same ground. They have sold $85 worth of blackeyed peas from a plot of ground hardly larger than some living rooms.

PEACH TREES

Probably one of the things the Niedeckens are proudest of is their five-year-old seedling peach trees that are bearing very large this year.

"Most persons say that peach trees that come up volunteer from seeds won't bear fruit, but our are," Niedecken said. As proof he pulled a peach from one of the trees that weighed 12 ounces, and measured 10 and three-fourths inches around.

The peach trees bloomed at the age of three years, but this is the first year they have borne any peaches.

TROUBLES, TOO

However, all is not well with the Niedecken garden project.

"Last year we had some watermelons that weighed as much as 66 pounds, and this year some weighing up to 50 pounds, and boys stole every one of them," he said.

"They pulled 15 good melons one night this year—all of them green," he said.

Niedecken says that he sells all his vegetables locally, much of it from his house where many persons come to buy.

"I sold one bushel of blackeyed peas for $6.20 last week," he said.

STORE BUY

He added that grocery stores here gladly purchase any surplus of vegetables that he does not sell at home.

"I sold $800 worth of okra from 17 rows last year and have a good crop coming on this year," he said.

The 73-year-old man and his 68-year-old wife do almost all the work in their gardens. "This year we have hired some plowing done but have done all the hoeing and irrigation ourselves," he said.

They irrigate the truck plot from a 60-gallon-per-minute water well on the place.

When the water is not being put directly on the garden, it is stored in three water tanks behind Niedecken's house for distribution later.

Most of the irrigation of the garden is by gravity flow through chanels through the garden, but the upper side of the garden is watered through a two-inch pipe.

"I'm going to change the direction the rows run next year so it will be easier to water evenly," he said.

The couple has 13 children, 44 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Farmers Here Favor Controls On 1953 Wheat

With only 47 farmers polling here Friday on the national issue of rigid controls on next year's wheat crop, the vote was almost the same percentage in accepting the proposal of Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson as the national vote.

Six of the Scurry County farmers opposed the issue and 41 favored it. That made the county's percentage favoring it slightly more than 86 per cent while the national percentage was 87.2 favoring it.

The total vote in the nation was approximately 410,000 with 361,392 favoring the proposal and 53,252 opposing it.

The polling place here was the Production & Marketing Administration office.

Rev. Adcock Not Hurt In Car Accident Near Breckenridge Friday

The Rev. Woodrow Adcock, pastor of the First Methodist Church, escaped personal injury in an accident Friday afternoon which extensively damaged his car.

Mr. Adcock was driving alone toward Breckenridge, where he was to conduct funeral services for Mrs. Cora Harper. He apparently went to sleep, allowing the right wheels of the car to go off the road. When he attempted to straighten the car, it crossed to the left side of the road and overturned.

Graveside Services For Cerda Infant Held

Graveside funeral services for James Manuella Cerda, 20-day old son of Mrs. Ramona Cerda, were held at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in Snyder Cemetery with the Rev. Edward Chrisman officiating.

The child died [illegible] in Battenfield Hospital. Bell Funeral Home directed funeral arrangements.

Big Reef Lime Discovery In Dawson County

Seaboard Oil Co. of Delaware may have a major discovery from the Pennsylvanian reef lime at its No. 1 Herman Pettaway, Southeast Dawson County wildcat.

The wildcat has already proven 98 feet of reef lime pay. It had flowing oil production on three drillstem tests and the zones covered by the last two of those tests have yielded large amounts of petroleum.

The last test was at 7,932-983 feet. The tool was open one hour and 20 minutes. Gas surfaced in five minutes and mud came to the top in 15 minutes.

Oil flowed out at the top in 17 minutes. The fluid was run to pits for three minutes to clean. That flow was not gauged or estimated.

It was then turned to tanks for one hour through a three-eighth-inch tubing choke. In 60 minutes of flowing the wildcat made 45.2 barrels of oil.

After the tester was closed 40 barrels of oil was unloaded from the drillpipe. Then an additional 15.48 barrels of oil was reversed out of the pipe.

Recovery from below the circulating sub was 360 feet of heavily oil and gas cut drilling mud. There was no water.

Open flowing bottom hole pressure during the test was between 2,675 pounds and 3,300 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure after 15 minutes was 3,450 pounds. Gas-oil ration was 396-1.

The prospector then cut a core 7,983-8,008 feet. That core was being pulled at last report.

This wildcat topped the reef at 7,885 feet on a datum of minus 4,969 feet.

Location is 15 miles southeast of Lamesa and in section 40-34-t5n-T&P.

Ward Stepout Planned

Argo Oil Corp. has filed application with the Railroad Commission requesting permission to start drilling at once on a stepout from production in the Quito-Delaware Sand field of West Ward County.

The project will be drilled as No. 1-B Monroe, 1,320 feet from northeast and 660 feet from southeast lines of section 195-34-H&TC.

The site is one-half miles west of production and is scheduled for a 5,200-foot bottom.

New Mexico County Gets Locations For Wildcats, Stepouts

Locations for two wildcats and three stepouts to field production have been announced in Lea County, New Mexico.

The Texas Co. No. 1 Byers, rotary wildcat in southeast Lea County, will be drilled 1,981 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 9-24s-38e. This prospector is northwest of production in the West Dollarhide multipay area. It is scheduled to 6,650 feet from tests of the Clear Fork.

Union Oil Co. of California No. 1 Vickers-State, wildcat in Southwest Lea County, is being drilled 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 27-21s-35e.

Now drilling below 3,550 feet, the project is to bottom at approximately 4,300 feet.

Texaco spotted location for No. 1-BA State, a stepout from Wolfcamp production in the East Caprock area of Northwest Lea County.

It is to be drilled to 9,200 feet. Site is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 22-12s-32e.

Two of the field stepouts are in the East Hobbs-San Andres area. One will be drilled by C. U. Bay as No. 2 Lowe-State, 330 feet from north and west lines of section 32-18s-39e.

Velma Petroleum Corp. will dig No. 1 Goode 330 feet from north and east lines of section 31-18s-39e.

Both these tests will drill to around 4,500 feet, starting at once.

Pumper From San Andres In Garza County

Clifton Thomas and others of San Angelo No. 1 Honolulu-Sims, Northwest Garza wildcat, has been completed as a pumping discovery from an upper San Andres zone.

The operator reported a 24-hour potential of 144 barrels of 36-gravity oil plus 50 per cent water. Production is from perforations at 3,481-491.5 feet which had been treated with 1,000 gallons of acid.

The No. 1 Honolulu-Sims is one-half mile northeast of a San Andres producer in the PHD field, but is producing from a higher section that the previously completed well. The new project is 2,460 feet from north and 2,309 feet from east lines of section 1282, BS&F survey.

The new oiler was drilled as the result of a deal turned by Harris and Walton of Midland, an independent oil operations concern. The firm took a farmout on 1,280 acres from Honolulu and turned it to Thomas to drill the well, keeping a working interest. Harris and Walton also hold 80 acres offsetting the new well.

North Scurry Test Preparing Casing For Production Try

The Texas Co. was running five and one-half-inch casing at No. 213 Fuller, stepout in Northeast Scurry County, after finding free oil on a drillstem test from 7,500-533 feet. Subsequent tests failed to develop oil, and salt water was found on a test from 7,560-585 feet.

Tool was open one hour on the test from 7,500-533 feet. Recovery was 2,440 feet of gas in the drillpipe, 25 feet of oil and 55 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud.

The next drillstem test was from 7,535-560 feet. Tool was open 45 minutes. Recovery was 30 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

The water test was from 7,560-585 feet with tool open 90 minutes. Recovery was 90 feet of drilling mud and 120 feet of salt water.

Operator will run five and one-half-inch casing in order to make production tests on the section from 7,500-533 feet.

This project originally was reported as preparing to plug and abandon. Before the orders could be carried out, operator decided to deepen the project further.

Northwest Upton Test Flowing From Reef

Magnolia Petroleum Co. was still flowing to test at No. 1-B Holzgraf, stepout from production in the Pegasus—Multipay field of Northwest Upton County.

During the last five hours of flowing, the project made 96 barrels of new oil and six barrels of acid water through a 16-64-inch choke from perforations opposite the Pennsylvanian at 10,550-575 feet. The flow came after pay had been acidized with 3,000 gallons of acid.

Gravity of the oil was 45.6 degrees. Gas-oil ration during the five hours of flowing was 1,820-1. Tubing pressure was from 1,300 to 1,250 pounds.

Location for No. 1-B Holzgraf is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 26, block 4l-t4s, T&P.

Two Spraberry Tests Staked In Reagan

Davison, Mascho & Pembrook of Midland filed applications with the Railroad Commission requesting permission to start drilling at once on two 7,600-foot Spraberry projects in the Spraberry Trend Area field of Northwest Reagan County.

The concern's No. 1 J. F. Priddy and others will be 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 5-B-L&SV.

No. 2 J. F. Priddy will be 660 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 5-B-L&SV.

Both tests are 13½ miles northwest of Stiles.

Shallow Sterling Test

Duncan Drilling Co. of Big Spring No. 1 R. T. Foster is to be a 2,000-foot cable tool wildcat in Central Sterling County. It is three miles southwest of Sterling City and 2,310 feet from north and west lines of section 13-T-T&P. Drilling is to begin at once.

10 Rotary Rigs Operating In This County

Scurry County, with 10 rotary rigs in operation on August 10, ranked fifteenth among Permian Basin counties in drilling activity.

Scurry and Terry Counties were tied with 10 each. Lea County New Mexico, was still by far the most active county with 111 rigs, an increase of two over July 25 when the previous survey was made by Reed Roller Bit Co.

The company's count showed 494 units in operation on August 10 as compared to 486 on July 25 and 500 on August 10, 1952. Four years ago, there were approximately 400 units running in the area, company records show.

A partial list of counties covered by the survey, with the number of active rigs, shows:

Producer For Borden County

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. No. 3-A R. H. Jordan has been completed as the newest producer in the Winfield-Ellenburger of Northeast Borden County.

The test finaled for a flowing potential of 98.39 barrels of 40-gravity oil through an 11-64th-inch choke. Production is from open hole from 8,359-390 feet. Gas-oil ratio on the test was 70-1, with tubing pressure 550 pounds. The pay was washed with 500 gallons of mud acid.

The No. 3-A Jordan is 2,006 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 579-97-H&TC. Derrick floor elevation is 2,781 feet.

In the Fluvanna field of Northeast Borden County, Texaco No. 1 C. D. Jones has filed a potential report with the Railroad Commission showing an initial production of 167.29 barrels of 39.9-gravity oil with no water. The No. 1 Jones is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of the lease in section 534-97-H&TC.

Temperatures in the Antarctic average 40 degrees colder than those in the Arctic.

New Wildcats Staked In Midland Vicinity

Three wildcats have been announced in the area northwest of Midland, two in Ector County and one in Midland County.

Stanolind Oil & Gas Co. and Anderson-Prichard Oil Corp. will dig No. 1-X Davis, a wildcat in Northeast Ector County 13 miles northwest of Midland.

It is 1,980 feet from north and west lines of section 31-41-tln-G&MMB&A survey.

Stanolind will drill the No. 1-AG Midland Farms nine miles west and slightly north of Midland in Northeast Ector County.

It is 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 23-41-tls-T&P.

In Northwest Midland County, five and one-half miles northwest of Midland, Stanolind will dig No. 1-AF Midland Farms. It is to be 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from east lines of section 1-40-tls-T&P.

All three projects are to to to 5,600 feet, starting at once.

Deep Well Slated For Drilling In Dawson

Seaboard Oil of Delaware has staked location for a 9,000-foot test in an undesignated area of Dawson County. The project will be drilled as the No. 2 M. J. Peterson.

The drillsite is 1,346.9 feet north of Seaboard's No. 1 Herman Pettaway, reef discovery nine miles southeast of Lamesa. It is 2,006.9 feet from north and 1,500 feet from west lines of section 40-434-t5n-T&P and one-half mile south of Midway.

Oil Corporation Is Formed By Snyderites

A corporation charter has been issued to Blake, Inc., of Snyder by the Texas secretary of state.

Incorporators of the firm are Nolan Watson, president of the West Texas State Bank, Sloan Wells and J. P. Nahas. Capital stock is listed at $3,000, all paid, with the business of the firm given as oil.

El Paso Wildcat Set

Jay Hodges of El Paso has made location for a 4,500-foot cable tool wildcat in Northeast El Paso County. The project will be his No. 1 Walter L. Parr.

It will be 30 miles northeast of El Paso and 2,390 feet from north and 1,916 feet from east lines of section 16-7-psl. Drilling is to start immediately.

Three Wildcats Are Abandoned

Two West Texas Counties have reported the plugging and abandoning of dry wildcats.

In South-Central Schleicher County, General American Oil Co. has quit No. 1 R. M. Thomson, Jr., et al, at 7,439 feet. Tests through perforations at 6,778-838 and 6,854-888 feet returned only fresh water.

No. 1 Thomson was plugged once at 7,439 feet and then was reentered and re-worked.

Location was 660 feet from north and west lines of section 70-A-HE&WT survey, seven miles south of Eldorado.

C. L. Norswirth, Jr., No. 1 J. Rogers, wildcat in East-Central Schleicher County, was abandoned at 5,580 feet after a one and one-half hour straddle test between 4,045-075 feet recovered 1,395 feet of salt water.

It was 660 feet from south and west lines of section 10-8-TW&NG, and 25 miles northeast of Eldorado.

C. L. Norsworth, Jr., No. 1 R. A. Halbert-Pure, North-Central Sutton wildcat, was plugged after a one-hour drillstem test of the Ellenburger from 6,689-907 feet recovered 450 feet of salt water. It was 660 feet from south and west lines of lease in section 49-9-TW&NG, and 10 miles southeast of Sonora.

Garza County Location

R. S. Anderson and Neville Penrose of Midland have filed application to drill the No. 3 Skelly-Stoker in the Rocker A field of Garza County.

The test will be drilled 1,666 feet from north and 990 feet from east lines of section 939-97-H&TC, six miles northwest of Justiceburg. Contract depth is 2,900 feet.

200 Well Completions

AUSTIN, Aug. 15 (AP)—Completion of 200 oil wells this week was reported by the Texas Railroad Commission today.

The figure was five more than last week. It raised the year's total to 6,570 compared with 7,038 a year ago.

VOL. 4, No. 92 SNYDER, TEXAS, SUNDAY, AUGUST 16, 1953 SECTION TWO

Back To School Brings Fall Fashion Parade

This year's fashion "look" on the college campuses as well as in Snyder streets is a more feminine one. Jewels brighten up usually somber sweaters, and suits are cut from softer and more delicately colored fabrics.

Turtle necked sweaters are in an abundance. Some have batwing sleeves cut so as to have a single seam under the arm. Angora, rhinestones and pearls as well as other glitter make designs at the throat. Cardigans with jeweled crests didn't go out with the coroation as was expected, but are predicted to be every bit as popular in classrooms again this fall.

The casual look is being formalized to some extent. Skirts that were formless in past seasons will be pencil slim with only a slight flair at the bottom. Neat pleats which are washable in dormitory lavatories will also be in demand. Jewelry will be seen under jackets this year due to a neckline cut for that purpose. The collarless jackets drop from a wide v neckline and fit tighter in the hips and loose in the waist to make a "tulip top." A new twist in jewelry was added when designers used suede and capeskin in place of stones. Even some collars for dresses are trimmed in leather, but they are detachable.

The three-piece which came in at the end of the season last year is destined for widespread use this fall among collegiates. Skirts and coats are of the same material with the wool jersey blouse dyed to match.

College students will wear warmer and lighter coats this winter due to a new lining called Milium. The insulated cloth with metallic backing has a satin finish and is sewed directly into the coat without the usual wool flannel lining. The coat itself will probably be fleece which was a big seller last season. But there are a number of other materials on the market. British tweeds in soft browns, mauves and golds will be seen in football stadiums. One new tweed, coronation tweed, is patterned of squares about one-fourth inch in size.

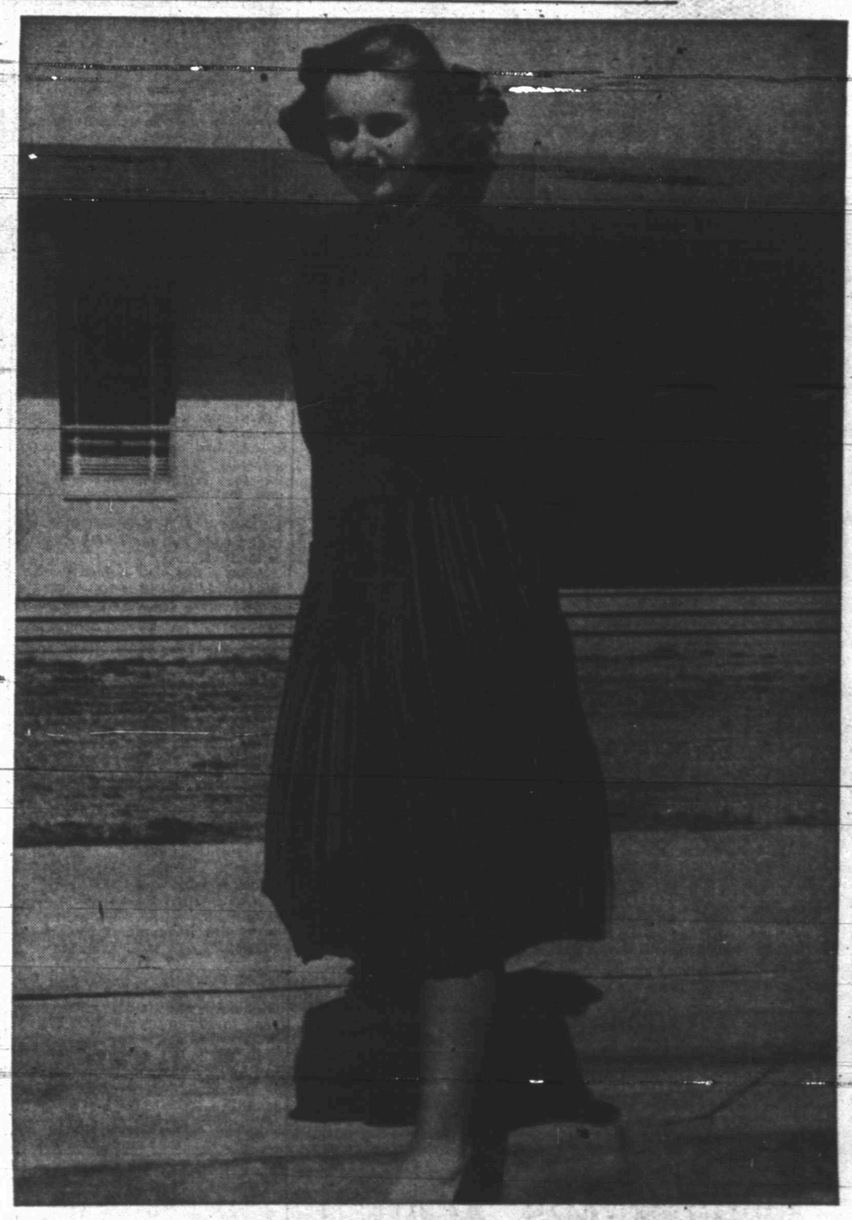
Some of the swagger has been taken out of coats. The backs still have fullness but are much slimmer than last season. The tulip top is again carried out in set-in yokes and Dolman sleeves. A number of the styles have three-quarter length sleeves with cuffs that can be let down when frost is in the air. Saddle stitching and velveteen trims are used for a touch of femininity. An unexpected cut in the cost of a college wardrobe came with about a five per cent reduction in price in coats since last season.

Short coats which are always more popular with the college crowd than with business and professional women are expected to be on a decline in favor of the longer ones.

Cocktail dresses with matching dusters will be the vogue in social circles this semester. Stoles are used with both the cocktail dresses and suits. The dresses are in even flashier materials such as satin or irridescent materials as well as the usual taffetas and silks.

For that in-between weather before winter winds really make it comfortable to wear woolens, woven cottons provide a wardrobe that is just as adequate. Some hardtwist worsteds are made up in dress suits with jewel trim. Others that are right in place in a classroom have detachable cotton rib bibs buttoned in a v neckline. With the bib out, the dress is ready for a party.

Wearing a dusty pink faille sheath that would be appropriate for a date or the college president's tea is Miss Mary Nell Trevey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Trevey of route 3. She plans to enroll at Hardin-Simmons University where she will be an elementary education major. The Sidney Marcus dress is fashioned with a scalloped neckline and cap sleeves. The belt is of the same material. Rhinestones and pearls decorate the bodice of the dress. Sutash braid is stitched over the entire frock which bears a price tag of $17.95. Her rhinestone earrings are made by Burns Freedman and sell for $2.40. This season the earrings that dangle will be as much in demand as they were last year.



Miss Joan Cockrell, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. Cockrell of 2311 Thirteenth Street, models sportswear suited for Stephens College. She will leave sometime in early September for the college where she will study music. The velvet pique jacket is a reminder of the days of the middy, but it fits tighter in the waistline. Both the jacket and the jersey turtle neck blouse are in the new blue. The permanently pleated and washable skirt is made of orlon and wool. Blue was the predominating stripe in it, although there are others of gold and red. The ensemble, designed and manufactured by Alex Colman of California, sells for $35.

Pictured wearing a cocktail dress [illegible] Glover who will leave next month [illegible] Texas Technological College where she will major in secondary education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Glover, 317 Thirty-fifth Street. The black taffeta strapless dress is trimmed in pink nylon net. Rhinestones are sprinkled in the embroidery trim. A matching stole is thrown around her shoulders. Made by Lilli Diamond, the dress retails for $22.95. Her earrings which have a $2.40 price tag are by Burns Freedman. (Lee Watson photographs.)

Miss Lora Nelle Garretson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Duke of 1306 Twenty-fifth Street, is shown in a Kay Saks ensemble priced at $85. Miss Garretson plans to major in journalism at Sul Ross College this fall. The coat she models is of imported sablemist which looks and feels like cashmere but is less expensive. The slim gabardine skirt and wool jersey blouse are in a matching brown sugar color. Velvets will play an even bigger role in campus fashions this year. Miss Garretson's russet brown bag and hat are by Lazarus and sell for $22.

american designer's pattern

One of Italy's great designers is Biki the niece of the great composer Puccini. Proof of her designing talent will be found in this smart dress, that minimizes the waist and accents the thinness of the skirt. The neckline and big skirt pockets add to its charm. Biki made the original in lightweight wool, but faille, crepe or silk are also suitable. Size 12 requires 3⅞ yds. of 39-inch fabric, while it takes only 2⅝ yds. of 54-inch material. Pattern No. 1114 is available in Standard Pattern sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. To order Pattern No. 1114, address Spades Syndicate, Inc., P.O. Box 535, Dept. 163, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Airmail 25c extra. New Pattern Booklet No. 9, including over 100 designs, available at 15c.

By FRANCES BROOKS

"What is 'Fluvanna,' for Pete's sake?"

My husband had brought home an oil well supply man for a cold drink and a smoke—a man new to this area, one of many whose dusty, serviceable company cars daily cover numberless miles between the rigs and offices of Scurry's oil fields.

He complained, "I head for Lamesa and there on the highway's that mysterious sign 'Fluvanna,' pointing north on a newly paved road. Go to Lubbock and blamed if there isn't 'Fluvanna' again, this time luring you west over a long hill!"

• • •

Made my memories of Fluvanna go back to the day Mother wrecked our '32 Pontiac. That was 20 years ago, and I was 12 years old. A native New Mexican, Mother had remarried several years after my father's death, married a farmer-rancher in Fluvanna.

Our last load of luggage had preceded us from our old home in Carlsbad and my step-father gallantly urged Mother to drive the few remaining miles to her new home in Fluvanna. Minnie Sue, my step-sister, and I glumly sat in the rear seat, wedged between odds and ends of household belongings.

When a tire blew out on the hot, oiled road, Mother jammed on the brakes with reflexes that would have shamed a trapeze artist.

"Only person I ever saw could turn a car over three times going 25 miles per hour on a straight road with nothing in sight," my step-father still comments with awe.

Second time over, White Chief, our collie dog, leaped out and ran around in circles in a corn patch, howling woefully. The tires were pointing skyward, spinning violently.

Mother spoke up briskly, "Everybody all right back there? Get out, Frances."

'Can't. There's a 50-pound sack of chicken feed on top of me."

When we got sorted out, Mother remarked, "About that Pontiac—never did have any pickup to it anyway."

• • •

The misshapen, demolished car was swung up behind a wrecker, Minnie Sue and I riding in the front seat to "keep it steady." Everybody stared at the apparition whizzing past, the rear end of the car hoisted straight up in the air, giving us a deliciously precarious feeling. I have never had anything quite like it since.

As we reeled along behind the wrecker the new sister and I got acquainted.

"What was it like, living with just your father and all those brothers," I asked.

She thought. "Well, I got to eat catsup, and pork and beans, and pickles for breakfast." This impressed me greatly. I, too, was fed up with the oatmeal-egg routine.

• • •

So my high school years began in Fluvanna, the little mesa town atop the Caprock.

What scenery, that Caprock! It's Royal Gorge, roughed up a little bit. We rode horseback down the sudden, craggy drop. It was exquisite terror. The animals would tense their flanks and ease down the decline stiff-legged. Nothing ever fell off but our lunch sack.

My old blue album contains a graphic, pictorial resume of the '30s in Fluvanna. One is of Rosanell Stavely (now a Dallas insurance woman and mother of two) and I, on what could only be a Sunday afternoon. Accompanied by swains (names to be withheld), we leaned languidly against the front of the Fluvanna General Mercantile Co. I wore my debate sweater with its daring red "F" and Rosanell a dress of a length even Dior wouldn't promote. You can almost hear us giggle.

• • •

One of my step-brothers, Joe, and I once took a bus ride to Lubbock on some now forgotten mission. But I remember the driver's query, "You kids bud and sis?"

"Yep."

"How old?" he asked.

Joe answered for us. "Same age. Except she's nine days older than me."

"Jees," breathed the driver, lapsing into thoughtful silence.

• • •

In those days Fluvanna served many of its neighbors in Borden County. Five yellow school buses fanned out to collect all the kids east of Gail, and the bus ride was excelled in sociability only by the brush arbor.

Fluvanna's five small churches took turns at two-week revivals throughout the summer months, placing wooden benches in rows before a board platform.

With the piano thrumming the wonderful old hymns rang out as they never can in more prosaic, enclosed tabernacles. Accoustics? We had the whole of West Texas to help the volume along.

That brush arbor has since blown away. With it went an atmosphere not recallable.

• • •

"Why name it Fluvanna?"

I turned back to our guest, who still sat on the glider, crunching blanched almonds and eyeing me with a half-kidding expression.

This is the version, told to me, that I passed on to him at the naming of Fluvanna.

An early settler, dust weary and trail sick, lumbered to a stop on a high-mesquite-grown plateau. Its black, loamy soil promised heavy cotton stalks for him and his sons, and his son's sons, if they would toil and not pray for too much rain. He had journeyed painfully from Fluvanna County in Virginia. The few families living thereabouts had called the spot Old Light, but the newcomer talked so steadily of Fluvanna that the name took hold and was finally accepted.

25 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the files of THE SCURRY COUNTY TIMES for Aug. 16, 1928.)

With propsects for a bumper cotton crop in sight, a general nervousness has developed over the county for fear that something will happen to spoil this fine prospect.

According to Weather Observer William Wilsford, Scurry County has enjoyed approximately eight inches of rain since the middle of July. Scurry stands to raise between 35,000 and 40,000 bales. Feed got a slow start on account of the drouth, but with the liberal rains and hot sunshine they are growing rapidly according to Hugh Taylor, local merchant who made a complete survey of the county last week.

• • •

Tentative plans announced by the entertainment committee for the forthcoming Scurry County Fair call for a county-wide baseball championship contest in which six or eight teams will participate.

One hundred local business men and residents will leave here early tomorrow morning on the first of a series of good will trips over the county to advertise the fair.

• • •

Drilling at 970 feet Thursday, the top of the salt was encountered in the E. L. Doheny, Jr., Doonsman No. 1 Well in Borden County, 18 miles west of Fluvanna. According to W. W. Lechner, reaching salt at this depth is approximately 300 feet higher than any other wells drilled in Scurry, Garza and Borden County areas.

• • •

Another large real estate transaction occurred in Snyder last week when Mayor H. G. Towle purchased the First National Bank building and started to remodel the entire plant Monday morning. At the present time he intends transforming the first floor into suite of offices that will take care of his optical business that has grown to mammoth proportions. Later on, a four to six-story hotel building will be built at this location.

According to the Hermleigh Herald, W. E. Hassel has resigned as marshal of the city and T. N. Mims has been appointed to succeed him. Mr. Hassel's resignation took place at 12 o'clock Tuesday night, and Mr. Mims went on duty at 6 Wednesday morning. The city was without law for that short period of time, but no outlaw stunts were pulled so far as has been heard.

Mrs. Joe W. Sentell

Luter-Sentell Nuptial Vows Said In Chapel Last Night

Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Sentell are on their wedding trip to Jamaica and Cuba after their marriage last night in the First Baptist Church chapel in San Antonio.

The bride, the former Miss Geraldine Luter, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvion R. Luter of San Antonio. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Sentell of Snyder.

The Rev. Vernon Elmore performed the ceremony. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of blush pink tulle with a fitted bodice and drapped bustline. The full gathered skirt ended in a cathedral train. Long slender sleeves finished in points over the hands. Swiss appenzel embroidered flowers and leaves trimmed the portrait neckline and ornamented the skirt and train. Her full finger-tip viel of blush illusion fell from a crown of pink pearls.

The bride carried a white orchid surrounded by lily of the valley on a white prayer book.

Her attendants wore dresses in color from shell pink to rose. Miss Phillis Trahan, San Antonio, served as maid of honor, and Mrs. Dan S. Harbough of Houston was matron of honor. Other attendants to the bride were Mrs. Elsie Pearl Klar, Uvalde, Mrs. David E. Looney, San Antonio; Miss Nancy Stevens, College Station, and Miss Dorothy Walser, Temple.

Flower girl was Annette Morris and ring bearer, Mark Harbough.

Marvin F. Sentell, Snyder, served his brother as best man. Groomsmen included another brother, J. Sears Sentell of Sonora; Dan S. Harbough, Houston; Jere B. Smith, San Antonio; Jack K. Norris, Austin; and Bob Winkelman, Cushing, Okla.

Ushers were Robert C. Preuitt, Snyder; Bobby Halsell, Bryan, and Dan J. Mizell and Franklin S. Spears, both of Austin.

A reception followed the ceremony. The couple will reside at 1508 Eighteenth Street in Austin.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Sears and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Sentell, all of Snyder.

The bridegroom is a student at the University of Texas where he is a member of Kappa Alpha fraternity. The bride also was a student at the university.

Meador Children Are Giving Party

Teresa, 6, and Karen Meador, 3, celebrated their birthdays Friday afternoon with a party in the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Carl Wood. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Van Meador.

Punch and pink and white birthday cake with green candles were served to the guests. Mrs. Van Meador directed games the children played. Party favors were balloons.

Guests were Carla Sue Blythe, Gayle Payne, Wanda and Jackie Payne, Connie and Jimmy Lynn Koonce, Evelyn Kay and Rose Ann Martin, Nolene and Loretta Bryce, Sandy Mayo, Jane Griffith, Jackie and Maurice Clement, Leon, Brenda and Dorothy Janett Franks, Ronnie McKowen, Zella Lee and Janeal Bassham, Paula and Ruby Caldwell and Michael and Daryl Wayne Meador.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Mitchell and daughter, 3714 Austin, are visiting in Bowie this week end.

Five From Here At Auxiliary Meet In Houston

Five members of the American Legion Auxiliary recently returned from the state Legion Convention in Houston where they studied and heard reports on Veterans Administration hospital work.

While there Mrs. Elaine Lambert and Mrs. W. M. Nichols a tour of the M. D. Anderson Hospital. The state auxiliary has presented the hospital with $30,000 and plan to meet the $50,000 goal this year. The funds are for the construction of a wing on the hospital.

Girls who attended Girls' State also gave a program at the convention. Other parts of the program included musical contests and color guard contests. The Morton post won the latter and will compete at the National Convention in St. Louis.

Those attending from here besides Mrs. Lambert and Mrs. Nichols were Mrs. C. R. Agee, president, Mrs. Ray Niedicken and Mrs. Virginia Caperton.

What are some crisp cookies that would go well with frosted beverages for afternoon callers? H. A.

Sugar cookies are quick and simple. The ingredients you will need are 1½ cups sifted flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon water, 1 cup butter or margarine, ½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed, ½ cup granulated sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2½ cups candy-coated puffed wheat, 1 cup shopped pecan meats.

Sift flour once, measure, add salt and sift again. Dissolve soda in water.

In a second bowl cream butter, add sugars gradually and cream together until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla and beat until blended. Add flour gradually, then add dissolved soda and blend well. Fold in candy-coated puffed wheat and nut meats. Drop by teaspoon on ungreased baking sheet. Top with additional nut meats or cherries, if desired. Bake in moderate oven about 12 minutes. Makes 7½ dozen cookies.

General Chairman For X-Ray Unit Kept Busy

By DOLORES KETCHERSID

To the average Scurry County resident who walks into the basement of the courthouse this week to have his chest X-rayed, the whole procedure will probably look very simple. But various committees have been working months preparing for the X-ray unit which will be here Wednesday through Friday.

Mrs. MABEL BROCK, who was appointed general chairman, estimated she has made about 100 telephone calls up to date to take care of local arrangements. "Everyone is willing to serve," she said, but added that vacations or unexpected events had caused last minute cancellations. Eighteen different women will be on duty at the unit every day.

The chairman said she had selected persons from different sections of the community in hopes that more persons might hear of the X-ray unit that way. She also chose mostly those who hadn't served in previous years for the same reason.

Mrs. Brock estimated about 50 letters had been sent off by her concerning the unit's coming.

The mobile unit's coming here is due to efforts made by local persons. Snyder physicians requested their appearance. Women's groups and civic organizations are furnishing members to act as clerks and hostesses. Clerks will collect data concerning the persons to be X-rayed, and hostesses will merely show them to the machine and assist by holding packages or other items, Mrs. Brock said.

Mrs. Brock emphasized that the X-rays, which are free, are not just for one race. As a result she has contacted various key persons in the Negro and Mexican sections of the community.

One of the ways to make sure you are not one of the persons in the country who has tuberculosis is to have your lungs X-rayed, Mrs. Brock said. Medical authorities say an X-ray finds out what is going on inside the chest long before there is any other way to tell if your lungs are healthy, Mrs. Brock said. Even if you have had an X-ray, having one this time is just as important since you may have contracted the disease since the last check was made, the chairman said.

ABOUT THE BLAKEYS

Mrs. J. E. BLAKEY and daughter, Miss EDITH BLAKEY, of 2108 Thirty-seventh Street visited Mr. Blakey in Irwine Clinic in Mineral Wells Thursday. Mrs. Blakey said her husband is improving and will probably be returned home soon. Her son is in Colorado to meet Lt. and Mrs. W. L. Keefer who will arrive there from Baltimore, Md., where Mr. Keefer is stationed with the armed forces. The group will come to Snyder Aug. 23.

NEVADA WHIRL

Mr. and Mrs. PERRY D. HARRIS 2600 Thirty-fifth Street, returned last week from a short stay in Las Vegas, Nev. While there they made the night spots with newly married Mr. and Mrs. JOE HAMPTON. Mrs. Harris was surprised to find that there was little dancing at the plush nightclubs, and instead, patrons watched an almost continuous floor show. Businesses in the town never seem to close their doors, even on Sundays, she said.

HOME VISITING

JOHN JAY BOREN, son of Mr. and Mrs. WAYNE BOREN of 3112 Avenue X, is home visiting his parents. He is working on his Ph D. degree in psychology at Columbia University.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe McLaughlin, Lubbock highway, are in Dallas visiting with both their parents.

You Can Be Sculptor At Home With Old Newspapers

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK — Most people throw away their old newspapers, but LaVerne Moritz built a career out of hers.

She tore them to pieces and made papier mache animals, angels, puppet heads, masks, trays and a lot of other things. Painted and lacquered, they proved so amusing that they brought her before the television cameras—and the flood of letters she received prompted her to write a book on how to make papier-mache figures.

Here are her instructions for making a giraffe:

Collect the following materials: five old newspapers, string, sandpaper, pencil, shellac or lacquer, paint (yellow, brown and black) and two cups of paste. Make the paste by mixing one half cup of flour with cold water to a thin cream consistency and stirring the mixture slowly into two cups of boiling water until the paste is thick. Cool it before using.

This is the way to make the giraffe's skeleton: Take a double fold of newspaper 16 inches wide, place the folded side toward you and roll it tightly to a compact cylinder. Wrap it with string the full length to keep it from unrolling. Bend it up in the center to mark the point where the long neck rises from the body.

To construct the front legs, make a second roll the same size, bend it sharply in the center and tie it to the body at the neck bend. To keep the legs from [illegible] tie a string around the top of them near the bend. To make the back legs, make a thinner shorter newspaper roll, bend it and tie it to the body at the tail. To make the head construct a small newspaper roll about three inches long and bend down one inch. Overlap this on the end of the neck and tie it with string.

Pad the body foundation by crumpling several pieces of newspaper and wrapping them to the skeleton with string. Build the figure to the proportions you want. Twist one corner of this padding to make the tail and give it a coating of paste so it will remain twisted.

Spread one of the newspapers on the table on which you are going to work. Tear several other newspapers into irregular shapes and sizes approximately one inch by two inches. Cover one of the pieces of paper with a thin coating of paste, using your fingers as a brush. Be careful not to use too much paste. Lay the pasted side of the torn paper on the giraffe.

Continue to spread paste on one piece of torn newspaper at a time and paste the pieces on the giraffe in a close-knit, irregular overlapping pattern until the giraffe is covered. Repeat the process until you have given him four or five coats, taking care to keep the layers of papier mache smooth. Let it dry thoroughly and sandpaper it to smooth off any rough edges.

To make ears, fold three-cornered pieces of paper and paste them on the head.

When the giraffe is throroughly dry, give the entire body a coat of yellow or yellow-orange paint. While this is still wet blend in a very little red on the head and on the tail and ears. When this dries, draw on the spots with a pencil, making them smaller on the neck and legs and larger on the body. Paint the spots brown and the eyes and feet black. When this is dry, finish the giraffe with several coats of shellac or lacquer.

WHY NOT PUT YOUR PRODUCT IN THE SHOW WINDOW? THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS IS THE

SHOW WINDOW OF SCURRY COUNTY — Over 6,000 People Look In This "Show Window" Each Day

Western Motor & Implement Co. Of Snyder Invites You To Come In And Take A Ride In One Of America's Finest Big Cars

The New 1953 PACKARD

Western Motors Invite You Inspect This Fine Car And Compare All The Fine Features Only Packard Gives You. You Can Own This Outstanding Automobile For The Price Of A Smaller Car And Have The Best In Driving Comfort And Durability.

We Want The People In Our Area To Know What Other Packard Owners Think Of The 1953 Packard. Here Is A Report Taken Direct From Mr. Floyd Clymer's Survey In Popular Mechanic's August. Issue.

This is quoting Mr. Floyd Clymer direct. "We took Packard at its word. For years the Packard People have been advertising to the motoring public to "Ask the man who owns one." So we did. Popular Mechanics asked 1,000 owners of 1953 Packards to rate their cars. The replies show that 64% rate them excellent——the largest percentage of excellents given any 1953 car surveyed thus far. Packard has a new top management and is out for sales with vigor. It is making a bid in the medium-price field, with its Clipper and Clipper Deluxe models. Here are some reasons why Packard owners rate their cars highly: "Roomy and comfortable—chair high seats are a pleasure." "Most comfortable sitting position for cross-country drives causing less fatigue after many hours of continuous driving". "Interior styling commented on by all who see it".

People are buying Packards for many reasons, but the one that showed up most frequently in our survey was previous satisfactory ownership. Three out of five had owned Packards before. Here are just a few more of the many features liked by the Packard owners; The Ultramatic shift ever is long and extends about two inches beyond the right side of the steering wheel. It is the easiest-operating shift lever on any automatic transmission and it goes into reverse with less effort than most others. In my Packard test I rated Packard's Ultramatic as the best of all automatic transmissions and I haven't changed my mind about it since.

As is true of all cars, there are some things I do no like about the Packard, but I want especialy to comment on the position of the driver, the angle and position of the steering wheel, and the entire layout of the instruments, I think Packard has the most comfortable driving position and best arrangements of any car I've driven. Packard definitely is one the comback trail toward strengthening its prestige position with its new models, owner satisfaction is higher than at any time in the firm's long history. If YOU ARE A QUALITY-CAR PROSPECT IT WILL PAY YOU TO LOOK OVER THE NEW PACKARD LINE."

There are many other fine features too numerous to put in this space, so why not come out and look over these Packards and find out for yourself. Power steering, power brakes, back up lights, directional signal lights, Air conditioning units available, many other fine features.
