THE 14th annual Goodfellows' drive to insure a happy Christmas for the needy children of Lubbock opens officially today.

The first list of contributors to the fund will be printed in The Evening Journal Monday and The Morning Avalanche Tuesday. Additional donations will be acknowledged similarly from day to day thereafter.

The coupon on which to report the names and addresses of needy children who should be on the Goodfellows' list is published in this issue. Please make use of it without delay, following the simple directions.

Goal Set At $3,000

Only two weeks are allowed for completion of the fund. The Goodfellows are expecting that 3,000 to 4,000 children will be on the list to be remembered. They need a minimum of $3,000—less than $1 per child for all the Christmas that many of them will have.

But, with this amount, the Goodfellows will supply each child with a bag containing a nice new toy, possibly some smaller toys, and generous supplies of candy, fruits and nuts. The Goodfellows can make the money go far because they get everything at cost or less.

On Christmas day, even gift packages will be delivered in person to the child for whom it is intended. Help will be needed for the distribution and will be asked at a later time.

Need Names Of Children

Right now, the urgent needs are for the money and for the names so that they can be checked for accuracy of addresses and for the

Battle For Nanking Brews Near Capital

NANKING, Dec. 4 (INS) — The battle for Nanking opened tonight with three-quarters of a million troops sparring for position on a line at points only 40 miles from the capital.

Both Communist and Nationalist military leaders flung huge reinforcements into the battle that may decide the fate of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government.

Front-line reports said Chiang's generals have anchored their defense line on Yangchow and Taishen in the lake-dotted Kiangsu province northeast of Nanking.

Yangchow is only 40 miles from Nanking and Taishen is 65 miles from the capital.

The government claimed successes at Pengpu, north of the capital. But reports indicated the Communists might be diverting their attack from Pengpu for a knockout blow at Nanking.

If the Communists strike to the Yangtze river and cut that waterway, Nanking will be virtually isolated from the vital port of Shanghai.

Proposal Gets Big Margin In Low Vote

School Bond Issue Given Okay In City

ELIGIBLE voters, turning out in small numbers, Saturday approved almost unanimously the issuance of $1,250,000 in bonds for building expansion in the Lubbock Independent School district.

An unofficial tally last night showed a total of 580 votes favoring the proposal, with only 51 opposing. Roughly, the ratio ran slightly more than 11 to one in favor of the proposal.

Total vote at the four polling places in the city was 631 out of an estimated 5,000 qualified voters. Polls were open from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m. at the school district business office, 1007 Texas Ave., and at Roscoe Wilson, McWhorter, and O. L. Slaton schools.

To Meet Building Needs

The bond election was called by members of the school board at a special meeting held Nov. 19. Action was taken in calling the election after the board examined petitions signed by 1,111 persons requesting the election.

The board of trustees had said, in calling the election, that overcrowding of present school buildings had reached a critical stage, with every building in the school plant crowded far beyond its intended capacity. Resultant half-day classes to handle the overflow in a number of the city's schools have been unsatisfactory.

The bonds are expected to provide for three new elementary buildings, probably in Northwest Lubbock, on East Broadway, and in the Carver Heights negro district, and for the enlargement and/or the extensive modernization of Carroll Thompson Junior High, as well as Sanders, Cottage, and most of the older buildings in the system.

Improvements Are Planned

Tentative modernization plans call for such features as improved lighting in several buildings needing this attention.

A. C. Jackson, district business manager, said last night that he

Attack On Vice Launched Here

Judge G. V. Pardue Saturday morning enjoined five defendants from operation of New Tourist hotel, at 1004½ Ave. H, as a bawdy house.

He ordered that the place be padlocked for a year unless $5,000 bond payable to the state is posted.

Named defendants were Gene Sitz, described as owner, his former wife Dorothy Sitz, described as operator of the hotel, and Roscoe Taylor, George Sneed and J. P. Rogers, negro porters.

Warning Is Sounded

In a blistering lecture given after he had announced his decision, Judge Pardue cautioned that "lightning is about to strike," and that he has ascertained that "the FBI is studying ramifications of public prostitution here with a view toward ascertaining whether women are being transported for immoral purposes across state lines." He said "other places" here are "next in line" for court scrutiny.

He warned the negroes that public officials are well cognizant of the liberties taken by porters with white women prostitutes, and cautioned them that racial prejudice greeting public discovery of such practices can flare into such sudden passion that ser-

Four Youths Are Injured In Traffic Mishap Near Slaton

SLATON, Dec. 4. (Special) — Four youths were injured about 10 p. m. last night when the car in which they were riding reportedly rammed the back of a truck south of Slaton during the dust storm that swept the South Plains area.

Lawrence May, of Wilson, was treated at Mercy hospital in Slaton for a slight concussion, and held overnight for observation. Jerold May, his brother, and Mack Webb, of Goldsmith, were treated for cuts and scratches. Neal White, of Wilson, suffered slight cuts but did not require emergency treatment. The May brothers and Webb were reported to be students at Hardin-Simmons university, and were on their way home for a week end holiday.

3,200 Chinese Dead, Missing After Refugee Ship Explodes

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, Dec. 4—More than 3,200 Chinese were estimated dead or missing tonight in the explosion of an overcrowded refugee ship in the Yangtze estuary.

Lack of passenger records made possible only the roughest figures. The exact toll never will be known.

Even approximate accuracy, however, ranks the disaster as the greatest in modern maritime history, including single-ship casualties of major wars.

Estimates of those rescued ranged from a low of 100 to a high of 700.

The 2,099-ton steamer Kiangya sailed from Shanghai Friday for Ninghsien (Ningpo), 200 miles down the coast. It exploded about 10 p. m. Friday and sank within an hour, all available survivors agreed. Cause of the explosion was not known. Guesses ranged from Communist sabotage to a floating mine or possibly overtaxed boilers.

The loss was not discovered until Saturday morning, when a passing coastal ship sighted the funnel

Lubbock Man Killed When Hit By Car

W. M. ALEXANDER, 68, of 2309 Twenty-ninth, was fatally injured at 5:25 a.m. Saturday when struck by an automobile in 3000-bock Nineteenth.

He was pronounced dead upon arrival at West Texas hospital in a Plains ambulance.

Alexander's death brought the total of traffic fatalities in or very near Lubbock to ten this year, five of the deaths occurring within the city limits and five just outside the city limits.

Second In One Week

Alexander was the second man to be struck and killed by an automobile within a week. Jesse McClellan, 44, of 3420 Ave. Q, was killed early Tuesday night on East Broadway near the entrance to Mackenzie State park.

Investigators of the state highway patrol said Mr. Alexander was struck by a car driven by Marvin William Siewert, about 25, of 3915 Twenty-third.

Siewert, enroute to work at a downtown cafe, was in the middle of the 3000-block and driving eastward about 45 miles an hour, he told patrolmen, when he saw Mr. Alexander suddenly appear in front of his car.

Mr. Alexander, he and two Wichita Falls witnesses said, suddenly started northward across Nineteenth.

The collision happened about eight feet from the curb— and after Siewert had jammed on his brakes and skidded his car.

Patrolmen classified the mishap as an accident. They and the Wichitans, Dales Hansard and Dennis Lewis, said he apparently did everything he could to avoid the collision.

At Plains Funeral home, it was said Mr. Alexander suffered fracture of the skull and both legs, and that the left arm was broken in three places.

Death probably was instant, in-

Exploding Nitro Truck Kills Two

THROCKMORTON, Dec. 4 (AP) — An explosives truck rammed into a ditch four miles south of Throckmorton today and disintegrated with a great rumbling roar, killing its driver and one other man. The time was shortly after 2 p.m.

The shock waves rattled windows in this city, 65 miles northeast of Abilene, and the blast was plainly heard at Woodson, 15 miles away.

Dead were Willis Buchanan, Throckmorton rancher, who was driving along the highway in his pickup truck, and Roger Towery, the driver of the vehicle.

Second Truck Blasted

Marion Gibson, manager of the DuPont plant at Stanton, said he had been told that there was no question as to the identity of the driver.

Gibson was Towery's brother-

DAMAGE CAUSED

West Coast Is Hit By Quake

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4.—A rolling quake, centering in isolated hills a hundred miles east of here, damaged windows and sent hundreds of persons rushing into the streets today. But there were no reports of deaths or serious injuries.

In the San Bernardino mountains north of Banning, it caused land-slides and broke chunks of pavement on a road leading to the Morongo Indian reservation.

Prisoners Released

In the winter resort town of Palm Springs, some 20 miles to the south, police said the rear end of a furniture store collapsed, plate glass windows were broken, slate slid off a roof.

Other cities in the general area—Twenty-Nine Palms and Indio, among them, reported severe shocks and much consternation. In Indio, the police desk sergeant released his prisoners into the jailyard, a liquor store reported heavy

Berlin Vote Is Set Today

By RICHARD S. WEIL
INS Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Dec. 4.—Russian authorities were warned today by electrical plant workers in eastern Berlin that they will strike Monday to cut off all power unless the Soviets meet their demands.

Gen. Lucius D. Clay declared that U. S. armed forces are alerted to smash any Communist violence in tomorrow's legal western Berlin elections.

In an interview with International News Service the U. S. military governor said he thought Russia perhaps "has defeated her own goals" through creation of the rump Communist Berlin regime.

Workers Defy Soviets

The defiant workers in the Soviet sector declared they would strike unless the Russians removed police from their power plant buildings and also immediately reinstated six workers they said had been fired without sufficient cause.

The western-sponsored trade union organization appealed to transit workers not to begin operations tomorrow until 10 a. m.

This is to prevent western Berliners who work in the Soviet sector from obeying the special all-day shifts dictated by the Com-

Three Abilene Persons Die In Plane Crash

(By The Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Dec. 4.—Three persons were killed today as a small plane crashed in a cow pasture, 10 miles north of Houston.

Deputy sheriffs identified the dead as Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Wooten and J. P. Bohannon, commercial pilot, all of Abilene.

Dispatcher Jimmie Womack of the sheriff's office said identification of the Wootens was made through papers found in the crash.

He quoted a daughter of the Wootens as telling him by telephone from Abilene that the third occupant of the plane was Bohannon.

Headed Grocery Firm

Wooten, 39, was president of the Wooten Grocery company of Abilene. The Wooten properties included the 16-story Wooten hotel in Abilene, the Wooten Investment company and the Roscoe, Snider and Pacific railway.

Bohannon, 47, was co-owner of three Abilene taxicab companies and a commercial pilot with more than 3,000 hours flying time to his credit.

Womack quoted Miss Wooten as saying her father had been in Galveston about a month receiving treatment at a hospital and that her mother joined him there November 24.

Bohannon, she said, left Abilene at 10 a. m. today to go to Galveston and fly the Wootens to Abilene.

Plane Exploded

Witnesses said the plane crashed about a half mile east of Humble road and 10 miles north of the Houston city limits. About 2,000 persons rushed to the area following the crash.

Witnesses said the plane exploded and caught fire before it hit the ground.

Deputies said all bodies were badly burned, one practically be-

Chest Drive To Be Renewed

With Lubbock's Community Chest financial campaign lagging far behind its 1948 goal, a group of 50 workers have been called on to finish the job this week.

Starting Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock at the Hilton hotel, the 50 men with directors of the Chest as their leaders will make a "clean-up" of the drive.

The 1948 goal of $97,500 is $21,677 short Saturday, it was revealed by Charles F. Maedgen, jr., president of the Chest.

Some Workers Scored

"Greatest failure of the campaign of a few weeks ago was the lackadaisical attitude of some of the workers in making solicitations for the Chest," Maedgen said. "We have discovered that heads of a great many of the firms we have on our lists were not even contacted by workers and that in many cases no callbacks were made to pick up the

Heavy Winds And Snow To Hit Today; Highway Travel May Be Dangerous

By BILL HAMS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A STORM of "near blizzard" proportions, roaring toward the Panhandle and South Plains from the wintry uplands of Wyoming and Colorado, is expected to plunge temperatures to a low of 15 degrees in Lubbock and the surrounding area tonight under a lashing wind and driving snow.

The front, which is forecast to strike here by noon today, is expected to drop temperatures 30 degrees within the first three hours. A 30-mile-an-hour wind is expected to sweep the Plains with sand and snow. The first blasts of the new cold wave battered Lubbock and vicinity Saturday night with a near "black duster." Several gin and cotton fires over the area caused extensive damage.

The Weather station north of the city warned cattlemen to take necessary precautions to protect livestock from the chilling blasts, and urged motorists to stay at home after the storm hits unless it is absolutely necessary to travel.

Several Fires Cause Damage

The forefront of the cold wave struck Lubbock about 8:15 p. m. Saturday when a "black duster" swept in from the west, whipping down Christmas decorations in the downtown area and brought traffic almost to a standstill on city streets and on the highways connecting into the city.

City firemen made several runs to extinguish small fires, most of which were believed caused by short circuited electrical wiring. A scrap lumber pile near the country club was destroyed by fire early in the night, and another blaze destroyed about 35 bales of cotton in the cotton yard of the Weinke-Adams gin at Shallowater. The Carlisle gin at Carlisle about 10 miles west of Lubbock was reported destroyed by a wind whipped fire during the night. A trash cotton fire at Idalou threatened a butane tank and home before it finally was brought under control. A gin at New Hope also was damaged and a burr fire near a gin at Matador was brought under control.

Winds Hit Near 60 MPH

The Weather station reported winds of 46 miles an hour lashing the area an hour after the first finger of the cold front struck. Gusts of 58 miles an hour were recorded at intervals. Visibility was reported at one-eighth of a mile at the Municipal airport.

Two pioneer Airline flights were grounded in Abilene last night awaiting a moderation in weather before attempting to continue trips to Lubbock. Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Motor coaches reported that most of their bus schedules were running as much as an hour behind schedule as drivers battled low visibility caused by drifting sand.

Plainview reported winds of 55 miles an hour and zero visibility at 8:30 p. m. Bill Harpole, radio station employe, said the dust storm was one of the worst ever seen in that area.

Littlefield highway patrolmen reported to the Lubbock office at 8 p. m. that a strong wind was whipping that area and that driving conditions there were extremely hazardous. The patrolmen said that

Gins And Cotton Damaged By Flames

Fires Cause Damage During Dust Storm

By CHARLES STONE
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

FIRE damages estimated at close to $100,000 resulted from several gin and cotton yard fires over the South Plains last night, all of the fires springing up shortly after the "black duster" hit with its 40 to 50 mile an hour winds struck this vicinity.

The gin at Carlisle about 10 miles west of Lubbock on the Levelland highway was completely destroyed by fire along with all the cotton which was at the gin at the time, firemen from Lubbock said.

Although owners of the gin could not be reached last night for an estimate of losses, it was believed that damage from the fire would reach at least $60,000. M. T Daniels is one of the owners of the gin, an acquaintance in Lubbock said.

Cause Of Fire Unknown

Cause of the fire was not known definitely, but was believed to have been from the same cause or causes of other reported fires —either sparks from burning burr piles or broken and shorted electric wiring.

Approximately 35 bales of cotton were destroyed at the Weinke-Adams gin at Shallowater, when the east side of the gin lot caught fire from blowing sparks from the burr pit. A booster fire truck from Lubbock was sent to the scene to help get the fire under control before it reached gin buildings. Most of the cotton destroyed was remnants, firemen said.

Lubbock firemen and Idalou fire-fighters battled for more than three hours to squelch scattered fires which threatened to destroy the town of Idalou, they said.

Fire from the burr pit of a gin north of the town threatened "to set the whole country on fire," firemen said. Although damage was confined to grass fires, burn-

Plains Makes Plans For New School After Disastrous Fire

PLAINS, Dec. 4 (Special) — A $250,000 bond issue, for construction of a new high school building to replace the Plains High school building which was destroyed by fire last Sunday, probably will go before voters in about 30 days, Superintendent of Schools Roy Elliott said today.

Elliott said Lawrence Kerr, Amarillo architect, has been hired to draw plans for the new structure. It is to be of the semi-fireproof type, he said, and will be similar in style to the building destroyed by fire.

Records Are Burned

High school classes currently are meeting in the elementary school building, which itself is not yet completed, Elliott said.

The old high school building, constructed in 1939, was completely burned early Sunday morning in a blaze of unknown origin. Even the steel door of the school's vault buckled from the heat, Elliott said, and all school records were burned. Replacement value of the destroyed property was estimated at $200,000.

High school classes were dismissed Monday, but resumed Tuesday in the elementary building.

High school enrollment at Plains is about 100, with approximately 200 elementary students.

Construction Starts On New Theater Here

The start of construction of a new motion picture theater to be known as the Arnett-Benson at 103-5 College avenue was announced Saturday by Preston E. Smith, owner.

Cost of the structure, as shown in the building permit issued to H. R. Bundock, contractor, is $35,900. Smith said he hopes to have the theater in operation by late spring or early summer of 1949.

The one-story building will be of steel and stone, fireproof, modernistic in design and fitted throughout with the latest equipment to insure the comfort of patrons. The building will have a 60-foot front, 120-foot depth and will seat 700 persons, Smith said.

The theater will be the fifth in the Smith Enterprises chain in Lubbock. The others are the State, Tech, Plains and Five-Points drive-in. B. T. Formby is assistant manager of the enterprises.

The Young Men's Christian Association was founded in London in 1844 by George Williams and a group of employes of a drapery firm.

District Chief Of Army Engineers To Address Tech Group

H. R. Norman, chief of the engineering division of the Galveston district of the Army Corps of Engineers, will be principal speaker at a joint meeting of the Texas Tech chapters of the American Society of Civil Engineers and the Society of American Military Engineers, in room 101 of the Chemistry building Monday night at 7:30 o'clock.

An invitation was extended Saturday to all persons who wished the hear the talk.

Mr. Norman will speak on designing and construction of the San Angelo dam and other general projects now being undertaken. A model of the dam, built to scale, will be on display during the course of his talk.

Others To Attend

In addition to Mr. Norman, E. R. Henderson, assistant resident engineer of the San Angelo project; J. C. Sheffield, secretary of the local Civil Service board, Galveston office; and Charles E. McQuain, 1947-48 president of the Tech ASCE chapter now in the employe of the Corps of Engineers, will attend the meeting.

Norman is vice president, Texas section, American Society of Civil Engineers; members of the Society of American Military Engineers; and president of the Galveston chapter of Texas Socciety of Professsional Engineers.

Sheffield will hold a brief discussion on employment opportunities with the Corps of Engineers. Arrangements have been made for his conducting of interviews with all graduating students interested in this field between the hours of 8 a. m. and 1 p. m., Tuesday, Dec. 7.

Public Safety Officer Speaks To Hiking And Outdoor Club

Sgt. Sanford B. Lee of the Drivers License division of the Department of Public Safety spoke Friday to the newly organized Hiking and Outdoor club of Carroll Thompson Junior High school.

Mrs. Gladys Sims and Mrs. Mattilee Lattimore are sponsors of the club, which is planning an active program. Officers are Billy Slaton, president; Sammy Allred, vice president; Bobby Dean Gordon, secretary, and John Charles Bacon, photography committee chairman.

Ceril E. Batton will speak on first aid at a meeting Friday.

New Mexico Students, Faculty To Visit Tech Campus Friday

A group of students and faculty members from Eastern New Mexico college at Portales will visit on Texas Technological college campus Friday, Dr. R. E. Garlin, head professor of education and psychology at Texas Tech, announced.

In the group will be members of the college's Future Teachers club, some music students and four or five faculty members. Prof. F. A. Ogle, professor of education, will head the group.

The party has been invited to meet in the Aggie Memorial auditorium upon their arrival at 10 a.m. for greetings from administrative officials. They then will visit classes, attend the band clinic and view other campus activities.

The group follows the custom of visiting a different college each year.

Two Tech Staff Members To Attend San Angelo Meeting

Two members of the Texas Technological college animal husbandry staff have made plans to attend the annual meeting of Sheep and Goat Raisers association Dec. 6, 7 and 8 in San Angelo.

Professor Ray C. Mowery, assistant head of animal husbandry, and H. Ray Burkhart, assistant professor, will attend the meeting and discuss the Tech wool program with Rambouillet and Corriedale breeders.

Why Hudson Beauty is more than "skin-deep"

The modern design for '49

The New Hudson—the first and only car you step down into—achieves true streamlining and today's lowest silhouette as the natural result of a basically new design principle available in no other type of automobile!

Every time your eyes linger on a New Hudson, you are admiring beauty as genuine as nature at her glorious best!

For this stunning streamliner has fresh styling that begins deep inside the car with a recessed floor which is the key to the "step-down" design—the exciting idea that opens up new opportunities for genuinely beautiful lines!

Yes, for years it has been widely known that the lower a car can be built, the more beautiful it will be, the better it will ride and handle.

But whenever men have sought to create the ideal in low-built motor cars, without lowering the interior floor, they've had to keep top lines high to preserve inside head room, or reduce inside roominess to get top lines down—an unsatisfactory compromise in either case.

And even with compromises, no car has ever matched the glamorously low silhouette Hudson brings you today!

This is because Hudson—and Hudson alone—has a recessed floor in an exclusive, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame* which makes it possible to build the lowest car on the highway—just five feet from ground to top—but with more head room than in any mass-produced car built today!

The exciting, more than skin-deep beauty of the New Hudson is the natural result of this basic "step-down" construction, which is so right it frees the designer of the need for makeshifts in styling.

We cordially invite you to see and drive the New Hudson. You'll quickly sense that this car is so far ahead it's a protected investment in motor car value.

THIS NEW HUDSON comes to you WITH NO "EXTRAS"

Advocates Of State Tidelands Ownership Think They Hold Ace To Stop U. S. From Taking Over

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Dec. 4. — Backers of state ownership of submerged lands believe they have an ace card which will prevent the federal government from taking over.

A state ownership bill may run into trouble but its supporters are confident they can muster enough strength in the new Democratic Congress to kill a federal control measure.

"A good majority of both the House and the Senate will be favorable to the states," Nebraska Attorney General Walter J. Johnson said here this week.

Aids In Drafting

Johnson, as chairman of the tidelands committee of the National Association of Attorneys General, aided in drafting the state ownership bill which passed the House this year but failed to reach the Senate floor.

Forty-two attorneys general attended the association's annual conference this week and all but two gave approval to carry the fight to Congress once again.

J. E. Taylor, representing President Truman's home state of Missouri, cast the only vote against the strongly worded state ownership resolution.

Present But Not Voting

Robert E. Smylie, new Idaho legal chief, was recorded as present but not voting.

For the most part, the attorneys general are confident their new bill will pass both houses of the eighty-first Congress.

But they won't make a prediction on how President Truman will react or just how large their House and Senate majorities will be.

They are hopeful the majorities will be sufficient, however, to encourage President Truman to sign the bill or let it become law without his signature.

He vetoed a similar measure two years ago and has given no indication he has changed his mind.

But regardless of the size of the vote or President Truman's course of action, the attorneys are happy over their ace card.

Legislation Necessary

"Legislation by the Congress is nevessary before the states can continue the management of the submerged lands or before the federal government could assume such management," Johnson said in making his tidelands report.

"In the past Congress, bills prepared by the Justice and Interior departments the federal control never saw the light of day," he added.

Of the 257 representatives who voted for the states bill this year, Johnson said, 198 will return to Washington for the eighty-first Congress. All but three of the 29 who opposed the 1948 bill will be back.

No Oil Field Shutdown

There was no shutdown of production in 15 Texas oil fields last Wednesday.

Operators in the fields, alleged to be wasting approximately 300,000,000 (M) cubic feet of oil well gas daily, obtained a temporary injunction against Railroad commission orders for the shutdown.

One injunction, for the big Heyser field, was made permanent Thursday by an Austin district judge and the commission found itself in the same situation as a year ago when it attempted to close the south Texas Seeligson field.

The State Supreme court, in reviewing the Seeligson case, eventually held the commission has authority to close a field in the interest of conservation of oil or gas, but an injunction kept oil flowing.

By the time the final court decision was made the field's operators had taken steps whereby they could conserve the gas.

State attorneys based their defense of the Heyser case on the Seeligson decision. The operators maintained the orders were impractical and unfair, pointing out that steel shortages prevented installation of gas processing equipment in many cases.

Attorney General Price Daniel indicated he plans to seek a speedy appeal.

Meanwhile, the nation's crude production dropped 42,100 barrels daily to a daily average of 5,617,050 for the week ending November 27.

American Petroleum institute figures showed declines in production in 13 states, including 24,200 barrels daily in Kansas and 15,000 daily in Wyoming.

Gasoline stocks totaled 93,802,000 barrels, compared with 86,319,000 a year earlier; gas, oil and distillate fuel oil climber to 85,151,000, compared with 61,988,000 a year ago, and residual fuel oil totaled 86,192,000 compared with 56,747,000.

Price Average Drop

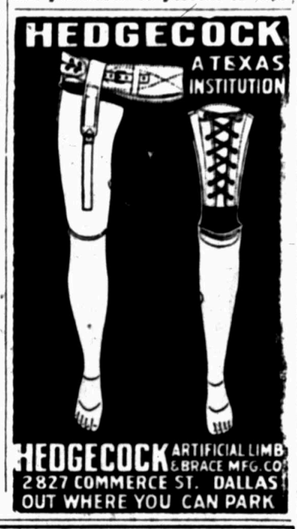

Canadian crude and gasoline prices averages dropped this week but there was no indication of a break in mid-continent stalemate over crude purchase prices.

Imperial Oil, Ltd., reduced gasoline up to 2.4 cents a gallon and dropped crude as much as 52 cents a barrel, attributing the action to increased supplies from Canada's impressive Leduc area.

A few small purchasers have met the 35-cent per barrel hike posted in September by Phillips Petroleum and met last week by Sinclair Prairie but major firms remained tight lipped over the mid-continent controversy.

Majors express the opinion their meeting the hike would not mean return of any large percentage of purchase losses in that most producers, in accepting the higher price, have done so under a contract basis.

Gulf Oil corporation plans to spend $40,000,000 in refinery and other improvements in the Philadelphia area, the city to become the company's main port of entry for crude oil from the Middle East . . . Union Sulphur company has purchased 75 percent of capital stock of Mackhank Petroleum company, Texas gulf coast operator . . . Byrd-Frost, Inc., spokesmen described as "a major discovery" a Montezuma county, Colo., well which this week flowed at a rate of 250 barrels daily. . . . Richfield Oil corporation, withdrawing from operations in the permian basis of west Texas and New Mexico, is auctioning its undeveloped leases, sales this week including a $505,000 payment by Intex Oil company on 13,984 acres in Scurry and Borden counties, Texas. . . Glenn McCarthy dedicated his 100,000,000 cubic feet daily capacity McCarthy chemical plant near Winnie, Tex., Tuesday, the plant producing formaldehyde, acetaldehyde and methanol from oil well gas. . .

Roosevelt To Sell Christmas Trees

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Elliott Roosevelt said today that he would sell Christmas trees for $1.75 to $1.95 in three New York city lots beginning Dec. 11.

Charges of other Poughkeepsie dealers that his low-priced trees are of inferior quality are just plain "sour grapes," Roosevelt said.

The son of the late president peddled his Val-Kill farms trees for $1 each here last Christmas in what he said was an effort to "make Christians out of the Christmas tree dealers."

He said he had rented his own lots for the sale of 50,000 trees in New York City so "we can control the retail price." The trees, at two flat rates depending on size, will range from four to 10 feet, he said.

Roosevelt said he would sell his trees in Poughkeepsie again this year at $1 and $1.50. The higher prices for New York City sales are necessitated by the cost of lot rental, salesmen and shipping, he said.

FATNESS CAN BE INHERITED

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (U.P.)—Fatness due to overeating can be inherited, the Brown University biology department reported after experiments on "Butterball," a rotund mouse, and her progeny. But the inherited fatness also can be corrected, as it is in humans, by proper diet, laboratory workers found.

Kansas Flying Farmers Plan January Vacation In Mexico

WINDOM, Kas., Dec. 4. (AP)—The Kansas flying farmers organization is making plans for a flying vacation into Mexico in January, Alliff Neel, Windom, president, announced today.

Neel said the flight will originate at Laredo, Tex., on Jan. 14. The members will fly to Monterrey, where they will be guests of the Monterrey flying club. From there they will fly to Mexico City.

Neel said the Kansans expect to return to Laredo Jan. 24.

Business Drops In Department Stores Of Major Texas Cities

DALLAS, Dec. 4 (AP)—Department stores in major Texas cities did less business the week ending Nov. 27 than during the same period last year.

The Federal Reserve bank of Dallas today said business of Fort Worth and Houston stores was off seven percentage points and that San Antonio and Dallas stores showed decreases of six and four percentage points, respectively.

Belgium is expected to rely largely on American apples late this year, because of short apple and pear crops there.

ORIENTAL FARMING INEFFICIENT

Texan Outlines Differences In U.S., Asiatic Farming Methods

The vast difference between farming in the United States, where one man handles many acres, and in Japan, where one acre or less requires many men, is set out by Dr. Ide P. Trotter, director of the Texas Extension service, and one of the nation's cotton experts, who returned recently from a six-month study of conditions in the Orient and parts of Europe.

Sidelights from his findings are emphasized by Louis Franke, extension service editor, in his weekly column "Check Plot," written for Texas daily newspapers.

In Japan, for instance, there is the Konoshu experiment station, near Tokyo, which consists of 77 acres, of which 62½ are in cultivation, yet it has a staff of 247 people.

Small Farms Common

But Konoshu is not an exceptional case. Trotter found that all Oriental countries use enormous numbers of people, and lots of hand work. In fact, there are so many people in proportion to the land area that farms of less than half acre are common.

Dr. Trotter's look into the world cotton situation, a six-months study, took him to Japan, China, India, Pakistan, Turkey, Greece, and Portugal. He was on loan from the extension service to the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations for the specific purpose of the mission.

He found also that, probably due to long years of regimentation, the people, particularly Japanese, have no conception of American customs or of a life of individual effort without overlords.

Set Up Demonstration Farms

He said that about 15 years ago, the Japanese government decided that after their scientists had come through with some new finding or discovery, it should be demonstrated on a government farm by government employes, rather than being brought directly to the people as is done in America. As a result, the government set up some 1,600 demonstration farms.

And one of the numerous jobs of American occupation forces is to get these 1,600 farms back into hands of farmers and into food production. In the process, they are using the trained people on the staffs to form a nucleus of a project similar to county agent work in this country.

Trotter was asked to speak to these budding county agents, Franke sets out in his column, and to tell them something of how the extension service operates in the United States.

Curious About Uniforms

On finishing his talk, and inviting questions, the first two set him back on his heels. The "agents" wanted to know what kind of a uniform a Texas county agent wears, and how many helpers he has.

His attempt to explain the matter failed to make much of an impression because the workers, apparently accustomed to wearing the uniform of a government official, seemed to feel that anyone with an official position should wear a uniform and have an abundance of helpers in order that he would not have to mix too closely with the rank and file of farmers.

Such might be a long step in explaining why Orientals, and many others, are hungry today, and dependent to a great extent on American supplies.

Another queer quirk is that while Japan has about the highest rate of rural electrification in the world, with 95 per cent of the rural homes served, yet Dr. Trotter found that in most cases the only use made of the convenience is a single drop light.

China Situation Difficulty

China, plagued by internal strife as well as Communist-inspired war, is handicapped not only by lack of transportation, but by civil war, which drains off 80 per cent of the government's income, and by sweeping inflation.

Franke recounts that when Dr. Trotter arrived in China last summer, the rate of exchange was 750,000 Chinese dollars to one American; a month later is was 1,500,000 to one; and three months later 12 million to one.

In China there are two systems of county agent work — cotton county agents of the Cotton Improvement bureau, and county agents who operate in crops other than cotton.

The majority of cotton farmers in China, the specialist found, can't possibly raise enough cotton to make a bale. He produces a small quantity and sells it to a merchant or ginner, who buys 50 pounds of seed cotton here and 100 pounds there, until he has enough to make a bale.

In India, it was found that they have district agricultural officers, who are combinations of merchants, educators, and law enforcement people. He found there some very good and ably staffed experiment stations.

But the Hindu-Moslem schism has taken its toll. Almost all Hindus in Pakistan are moving to India, and Moslems are moving from India to Pakistan. He visited an experiment station in Pakistan where 90 per cent of the staff had been Hindus, and when they left a lot of know-how went with them.

Too, farmers who grew wheat in India are now farming cotton in Pakistan, and so on, throwing everything into confusion.

Franke sets out, however, that "Dr. Trotter is inclined to be a little optimistic about the whole thing." He believes that if the Japanese, Chinece, Hindus and Moslems can weather out their present troubles and get a consecutive period of, say 10 years of reasonable peace and harmony, they can get their agriculture on a much sounder basis.

Cotton Harvest In County Nears End

Unharvested cotton in this county, estimated at 10 per cent of a crop now indicated to reach 100,000 bales or more, will be gathered this month, mostly by strippers, it is set out in the weekly crop condition report by D. W. Sherrill, county agent.

The report said grain sorghum is practically all harvested, with much of it sold or placed in the government loan. It is indicated, however, that farm storage of grain is heavy, much of it probably earmarked as stock feed as the restocking of livestock gains momentum.

The agent noted an increase in purchases of stocker cattle, although pastures are poor from lack of moisture. Irrigation is being used on many pastures, and Sherrill believes this will pay off with early grass in the spring.

The report said some farmers will begin irrigating general crop land soon, since winter irrigation pays in soil preparation.

Harvest of lettuce was ended abruptly by the hard freeze of the previous weekend, but some carrots are still being salvaged for bulk sack sales.

The labor situation was reported normal, with the majority of transient Mexican harvest hands already gone back to warmer climate, as machinery takes over the clean-up job of harvest.

Houston Church Leader Will Speak On Program At Tahoka

Miss Velma Heath, deaconess at the Wesley Community House, Houston, will be main speaker at a Harvest day program to be held in Tahoka First Methodist church Wednesday by the Lubbock district Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service.

The program will begin at 10 o'clock and will be based on the theme, "Advance By His Light."

Lunch will be served at a small cost.

Big Whale Mortally Wounded In Battle With Three Sharks

SPRING LAKE, N. J., Dec. 4. (INS)—A 100-foot whale and three 15-foot sharks fought a deep sea battle today which ended at the New Jersey shore with the whale mortally wounded.

Coast guardsmen found the dying whale beached, with the sharks finishing off their prey in the shallow water.

A 40-foot coast guard boat attempted unsuccessfully to tow the whale out to sea for disposal.

Automobile Accident Fatal To Retired Dallas Resident

TULSA, Dec. 4. (AP)—John H. Ford, 69, Dallas, Tex., died here today of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Sunday near Calvin.

His wife, Mary E. Ford, was released from the hospital yesterday after treatment of minor injuries.

The Fords' automobile skidded and overturned on wet pavement.

Ford retired from the Sinclair Oil Refining Co. last year and made his home in Dallas after working in the East Texas fields in the right of way department. He also was employed by the company in Tulsa, Oklahoma City, Drumright and Cushing. He was a native of Detrolia, Ontario, Canada.

Four Major Issues Are Storm Warnings For 51st Legislature

BY DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Dec. 4 — Four major issues already loom like big black thunderheads over the 51st Legislature.

This far in advance of the Jan. 11 meeting the storm warnings are already flying on these questions: finances and taxation; reorganization of the public school system; election law reform and revision; overhauling of the prison system.

The 51st will be a legislature unique in Texas history in that it will have more money — certainly more ready cash — to spend than ever before. It is impossible to say just now what the precise amount will be, but the fiscal experts believe it will be in the neighborhood of $240,000,000.

Finances Are Basic

The last session spent every cent in sight. Some of the hardest feelings growing out of the 50th Legislature were an aftermath of the additional appropriations that died because there was not enough money on hand or in sight to pay for them. Whenever there is a large chunk of change lying around, the competition among those who want it is bound to be fierce. It could result in a struggle falling only a point or two shy of mayhem.

Nearly all the issues faced by the 51st are linked directly or indirectly with the allied questions of finance and taxation. The cry for election law revision is an exception. This should not cost much in money. Al lit would take would be conscientious application, work and brains. The latter should include a healthy portion of horsesense, if the result is to be practical.

Ten Senators New

If the legislature spends all the ready cash, then almost surely the agitation for new taxes will be revived. It may not wait for that. The Fort Worth democratic convention came up with some talk favorable to increased taxation of natural resources. That might get somewhere in the house but hard going can almost certainly be predicted for any move in that direction in the senate.

The new legislature, incidentally, includes 10 of 31 senators serving for the first time in that branch, and there will be 51 new faces in the 150-member House.

Perhaps the biggest job faced by the 51st Legislature is to digest then act upon, the report of the Gilmer-Aiken education committee.

Education Plan Lengthy

This 41-page printed document, with revolutionary proposals close-packed in every chapter, can not be grasped in one quick reading, and it actually is only an outline of the committee's ideas. A conscientious legislator would have to read it plus the entire minutes of the committee's work to have a souhd notion of what it undertakes to do in revamping the public school system.

Complete overhauling of the prison system as proposed by its new management and the prison board would be a big job for any body of lawmakers. Gov. Beauford H. Jester has promised to give this undertaking, particularly the need for an immediate four million appropriaton, emergency status to help ram it through.

These are only the immediately apparent major issues.

There will also be demand for modification of the labor control legislation that swept through the 50th session, opposed by sentiment that those laws be allowed to stand. This will produce thunder and lightning.

New water laws will be proposed, as well as the usual measures labelled as promoting oil and gas conservation. Plenty of differences will develop in these fields.

Also a cinch to produce a session-long battle will be renewed efforts to give the game, fish and oyster commission full regulatory powers, and for a universal state hunting and fishing license law. Many legislators will be reluctant to give their power over local game regulations into the hands of any commission, even if the size of the commission is increased to give all section of the state representation.

A big segment of the House especially will be yelling for more and better rural roads and this could touch off the right on taxation. Whether or not the schoolteachers will be satisfied with the Gilmer- Aiken committee's recommendation for minimum $2,400 annual salaries (compared with the present $2,000) is highly questionable. The school teachers generated much of the last Legislature's fireworks.

This only hits the high spots. Here are some specific proposals for legislation that have been announced:

Abolition of the poll tax as a pre-requisite to voting.

A real legislative redistricting bill, following adoption of the constitutional amendment providing for automatic redistricting if the Legislature does not act.

English Writer Will Be Guest Speaker At Knife, Fork Session

Vivian Meik of Salt Lake City, noted English writer, will be guest speaker at the Lubbock Knife and Fork club dinner at 7 o'clock Thursday night at Hilton hotel, Lewis B. Rix, secretary-treasurer, announced Saturday.

Meik has been diplomatic and professional correspondent for "The People," and has occupied similar positions with "The Illustrated" and "John Bull."

Born On High Seas

He was born on the high seas in a British ship. Before he was 18, he had circled the globe three times. He was graduated from Oxford university.

Associated Clubs, with which the Knife and Fork club is affiliated, notified the club here that "Meik has hob-nobbed with the great and the near-great. He has been entertained by heads of governments, statesmen, royalty and dictators."

He has experienced horrors of two World wars. He lost the sight of one eye in the Battle of Britain.

He is front page columnist of "The Desert News."

He is author of several books, "People of the Leaves," "Zambeze Interlude," "Veils of Fear," "Nemesis Over Hitler" and others.

He moved from England to America after World war II.

Block And Bridle Members Attend Meeting In Chicago

Clinton Ritter, president of Texas Technological college's chapter of Block and Bridle, and Glen Quattlebaum, member, were official representatives of the college at the organization's national meeting Nov. 29 in Chicago.

During the meeting, Robert W. Baumgardner, a 1948 graduate of Tech and merit award winner of the local Block and Bridle chapter, was given the national ranking of fifth most valuable member in 1947-48. The award was made on the basis of scholarship, club activity and other activities. Baumgardner's 2.4 grade point average, which is equivalent to an A—, and his extensive work in the club and in student religious work won him the award.

The chapter achievement award went to Iowa State, of Ames, Iowa, on the basis of the college's International Livestock judging team having won the international contest at Chicago in 1947-48, when Stanley E. Anderson, member of Tech's animal husbandry staff, was a member of the team.

BUILDING IS DAMAGED

BOSTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Flames swept through three floors of the nine-story Fargo Naval building today, forcing out 65 officers and causing loss set at $100,000.

Engineering Students At Tech Initiated Into Organization

Twenty undergraduate engineering students at Texas Tech, including 19 seniors and one junior, and an alumnus of Texas A. and M. college, were initiated into the Tau Beta Pi association Friday night at Hilton hotel.

Tau Beta Pi, a national organization, has as its purpose honoring those engineering students who possess the qualities of distinguished scholarship, exemplary character, and capacity for leadership. It is the purpose of the organization to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the colleges of engineering in America.

To be eligible for election in the fall, a student of engineering must rank in the upper one-fifth of the senior class, or if a junior student, have the highest grade point average in his class.

New Group Is Named

The junior class honor student elected to membership was Rex C. Bradford, whose average topped those of all other junior engineering students.

Senior initiates were Emory E. Diltz, Allan Ray Beavers, Leon Blagg, Samuel A. Combs, James R. Dezelle, A. W. Guthrie, Fred W. Gipson, Thomas S. Greenwood, Isom H. Hale, John J. Haynes, Herbert L. Lamb, Clarence A. Loveless, Frank McEwin, Charles E. Newton, jr., John H. Vaughan, jr., Paul Meadows, Dowe G. Wilson, William T. Wright, jr., and C. W. Nall, jr.

Bryan W. Berthelot, 1948 graduate of Texas A. and M. who now is employed in Odessa, was initiated for the A. and M. chapter.

Following the initiation ceremonies, a banquet was held in the hotel with Wendell Mayes, jr., president of the local chapter, acting as master of ceremonies. He also extended a welcome to new members.

Frank McEwin gave a response to the welcome on behalf of the new members.

John J. Haynes, one of the initiated, was named winner of the essay contest conducted by the pledges. Haynes' essay was entitled "Engineers in Politics." He was presented a leather notebook as a prize.

A brief business session was conducted.

Special guests, all alumnus members of Tau Beta Pi, were O. V. Adams, dean of the engineering division at Texas Tech, and H. F. Godeke, L. J. Powers, F. L. McRee, A. G. Oberg, and D. J. Helmers, all engineering faculty members.

Grand Champion Of Turkey Show Brings $30.50 Pound

MODESTO, Calif., Dec. 4. (AP)—A turkey sold for $30.50 a pound here.

It wasn't an ordinary bird. Armour and company paid $732 yesterday for the grand champion of the Far West Turkey show—a 24 pound hen grown by Elwood Swanson of Turlock, Calif.

Language Experts Finally Unravel Einstein's Views

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 4 (INS)—When Prof. Albert Einstein says something, it almost always gets around.

How it gets around is a story in itself. For example:

Today, the Paris newspaper Combat quoted Einstein, now at the institute for advanced study at Princeton university, as making a statement strongly praising world government.

A check at the Princeton institute developed that Dr. Einstein had made such a statement, and since it spoke for itself he saw no reason to add to it.

Three-Way Translation

How did the statement happen to pop up in the French newspaper? Here's the explanation given International News Service:

Dr. Einstein wrote it out in his native German. It was translated into French, by an American, for transmission overseas.

An English translation was needed, but the only person available to translate the German into English was a Dane.

Officials of the World Federalists, who circulated the statement, admitted that it had lost some of its original linguistic flavor, but still retained the sense of it.

Dr. Einstein said—or at least the German-Danish-English version said—the United Nations had demonstrated its incapacity to solve the problems of peace and that a "supranational" world government is needed.

Program Study To Highlight Littlefield C Of C Banquet

LITTLEFIELD, Dec. 4. (Special) — Review of accomplishments under last year's four-point program, and discussion of the program of work for the coming year, will be among highlights of the annual banquet session of the chamber of commerce here Tuesday night, according to announcement by James G. Roberts, manager of the organization.

Principal address is to be made by Truman M. Chumley, executive of a Lubbock grain company, but his subject had not been announced. The banquet is to be held at the First Methodist church annex, starting at 7:30 o'clock. Decorations are to follow an aerial theme.

The chamber's program the past year centered around sponsorship of a county fair, a sanitation program, a safety campaign, and better rural-urban cooperation.

Presbyterians Set Book Fair

The first annual Book Fair sponsored by Westminster Chapel and First Presbyterian churches will be conducted today and tomorrow at the First church under leadership of Miss Eugenia Hopper and Dr. William H. Foster, El Paso Presbytery directors. Purpose of the Fair is to present religious literature useful for the home and church, to suggest effective uses of the literature and to encourage development of church libraries. The public is invited to attend each event.

Speakers are to be Mrs. Estelle Amos who has been with the Presbyterian committee of publications in the Presbyterian bookstore of Dallas since November, 1943, and Mrs. David Zacharias, wife of the pastor of Westminster church.

Program for the Fair is as follows: Sunday, 2 to 3 p. m., exhibit of books; 3:30 to 4:30 p. m., Children's hour; 7:30 to 8.30 p. m., worship service directed by students of Westminster Fellowship and review of "The Big Fisherman" (Douglas) by Mrs. David Zacharias; Monday, 2 to 4 p. m., exhibit of books and conferences with Mrs. Amos; 7:30 to 8:30 p. m., book talks by Mrs. Amos; 8:30 to 9 p. m., social hour and opportunity to purchase books from the exhibit furnished by the Dallas Presbyterian bookstore.

The Children's hour this afternoon will be primarily for primary and junior pupils. Books to be discussed by Mrs. Amos during the hour will include "Tell Me About Jesus," "Tell Me About the Bible," "The Bible Story of the Creation," "The King Nobody Wanted," "Yuletide Tales," "Great Poems for a Child" and "A Child's Grace."

Monday night at 7:30 o'clock, when Mrs. Amos speaks for adults, she will suggest methods of using books to the greatest advantage and will present brief reviews of books on religious and general topics. Two books to be discussed are 'The Westminster Study Edition of the Holy Bible" and 'Crusade in Europe" by Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The book review which will be given tonight by Mrs. Zacharias will be attended by congregations of the three Presbyterian churches and other interested persons.

PENNIES COME HOME

NEWTON, Mass. (U.P.)—Patrolman Miles A. MacNeil, who had never been repaid for the many times he dug down to help folks who didn't have carfare home, got a flicker of hope in the mail. A forgotten debtor had spent three cents to repay four pennies borrowed a month earlier.

NOVELIST NOTES MANY CHANGES SINCE '20's

Sir Osbert Of England Sees America As Hope Of World With Citizens Equal To Many Crises

By INEZ ROBB
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. — Fellow citizens, arise and shine!

We have an ardent admirer from over the sea who thinks America is the hope of the world and sees us as pleasant, kindly people.

This charming, discerning and highly intelligent critic and visitor, who even likes our cooking, is Sir Osbert Sitwell, English novelist, essayist and biographer.

Quite voluntarily today, Sir Osbert, who is in the United States on a tandem lecture tour with his sister, Dr. Edith Sitwell, the distinguished poet, said:

"America is the hope of the world. If the American standard of life were to go, there would be nothing for the rest of the world to crawl back to out of its ruins. And your generosity to others! Really, quite unsurpassed."

From Remarkable Family

America and Americans have taken their literary lumps from visiting English lecturers all the way from Charles Dickens a century ago to J. B. Priestly, only yesterday. But Sir Osbert is here to pour honey on our wounds.

It is balm, too, to know that the honey is being poured by one-third of a family group which is called "the most remarkable trio of the same generation in one family in the history of English literature."

Another third is Edith, who already is spoken of as the next poet laureate of England. The final third, still in England, is Sacheverell, the brother who has won fame as poet, essayist and esoteric critic of the arts.

It is twenty-two years since Sir Osbert last visited America, when everyone was rich or about to make a killing in Wall street. His opinion of America and Americans was not quite so flattering then.

Country Has Mellowed

But Sir Osbert, a big man, with the wine and wind complexion of a country-squire, his heavy blond hair only touched with gray, admitted that both he and America had mellowed in the interval.

"I think you've even more money now than in 1926, but it's more evenly distributed, isn't it?" he asked. "I've been here a month now, and that's the way it looks to me."

He poured tea for his visitor, but clutched a glass of 5 p. m. orange juice for himself. ("Ordinarily, I'm a coffee, not a tea, man," he explained. "But after the war in England and no citrus fruits for so long, I can't seem to get enough of this orange juice.")

"What an extraordinary response this nation has given to world power suddenly thrust in her hands" He said as he drained the orange juice. "I don't want to sound patronizing, because I don't feel it.

"But twenty years ago, I wouldn't have been sure that America could do it. You know, we thought such response came from experience and old wisdoms. But America has risen in extraordinary fashion to the occasion.

"But I feel I know Americans now better than I did then. And I adore the way you Americans set yourself to a task. The way you turn on all the taps and make it go. Most invigorating!"

This is no small praise from a man who believes the world today is "infinitely worse" than that dying but still beautiful and elegant world of the aristrocrat into which he was born fifty-six years ago come next month.

Sir Osbert's magnificent five-volume biography of his family, of which four volumes have been published to date, is in reality an elegy to that dead world. It is far more than a biography: it is the history of a way of life and a world era as remote from the pedestrian present as the ice age.

Sir Osbert, great grandson of the Duke of Beaufort who traced his lineage to John of Gaunt, described as "dustman democracy" the socialized regime under which England lives today and the swing to the left even in western Europe.

But even the scorn of this big man, Fifth Baronet of Reinshaw, was mellow as he declared:

"Governments are organized today for the benefit and protection of dustmen, not for the benefit and encouragement of artisans or artists, or even of government officials or diplomats.

"The person who receives the best treatment from his government today is the dustman. Everything is organized for his benefit."

However, Sir Osbert is sufficiently mellow to see some faint trace of rose in the sky. He believes that "ungrudging" American generosity has built up tremendous good will for our brand of democracy throughout Europe.

Sir Osbert was in Italy before coming to America. He found the peasants, who often mistook him for an American, deeply grateful for American aid. In fact, America's far-flung generosity worries Sir Osbert. He is afraid we may literally give away our resources, the very treasure on which the world must rebuild itself, if it is ever to rebuild.

The sky lightens considerably for Sir Osbert, too, when he contemplates the binding quality of Anglo-American friendship. He explained:

"We thought at one time the two nations might drift apart. But we know differently now. We have too much in common, despite your diverse strains of immigration. We have blood and literature in common."

Father Of Lubbock Woman Is Death Victim At Honey Grove

J. F. Edwards, father of Mrs. J. D. Sanders, 2828 Twenty-fifth street here, died Friday night at his home in Honey Grove, relatives were advised early Saturday.

Cause of his death was not announced, and funeral plans had not been completed when Mr. and Mrs. Sanders left early Saturday to attend the funeral.

FFA And 4-H Club To Sponsor Show Here

Members of the Lubbock county 4-H Club and Future Farmers of America organizations are to sponsor an appearance of Dr. Gaffney, billed as America's cleverest magician, at Lubbock Senior High school auditorium Dec. 17.

The two presidents of the groups, Joe Leech, FFA president; and Roy Middleton, 4-H Club president, announced the sponsoring of the show Saturday.

Proceeds will go into a special fund for the two groups to use in promotion of livestock shows and various other activities, county agent Dave Sherrill said.

A two-hour revue will be presented in connection with Dr. Gaffney's appearance. More than two tons of equipment will be used in staging the show.

Featuring along with the magician will be Don Page, sensational dancer from Hollywood: and Viola and her white doves.

Tickets for the program are being sold by FFA and 4-H Club members.

Gun Shells In Metal Shipments Probed

HOUSTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Army ordnance officers are investigating discovery of live ammunition in three carloads of scrap metal received by the Sheffield Steel corporation here.

Col. James W. Fraser, commanding officer of the San Jacinto ordnance depot, said shells ranging from 37 mm. to eight inches were found in the shipments.

"One of those larger shells could wreck the Sheffield furnace and kill the attendants," Fraser said.

He expressed a belief the shells had been gathered by unauthorized persons from an Army camp near Waco, from which city the shipments originated.

Fraser said he has asked officers at Camp Hood, near Temple, to attempt to locate the source of the duds.

"It is very important for the public to understand the danger in these unexploded shells," he said.

ASSEMBLY MAY REJECT PROPOSAL

Un Committee Approves Amended Mediation Plan For Palestine

By FRANCIS W. CARPENTER
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Dec. 4 — A mangled British-American plan for a Palestine Conciliation commission was approved today by the United Nations political committee but final UN Assembly approval was doubtful.

The vote in the 58-member committee was 25 to 21 for the drastically amended resolution originally introduced by Britain and supported by the United States. Nine countries abstained and three were absent.

Red Bloc Opposes

Only a simple majority was required for committee approval, but a two-thirds majority of those present and voting is necessary in the assembly, where the same 58 nations are represented.

The Soviet bloc, with six votes, was part of the 21-nation minority which voted against the final draft. This group, including the Arab bloc, is in a position to kill the commission proposal when the resolution comes up in the assembly early next week.

One of Russia's main objections was to the arrangements for setting up the three-nation conciliation commission.

The Arabs said one of their reasons for opposing the resolution is because it mentions the 1947 partition plan.

There still is a possibility of a compromise which would remove Soviet objections and swung the Russian bloc votes. This would result in a vote of 31 to 15 for the resolution, if all other delegates stand pat.

Provisions Explained

If the assembly fails to approve the resolution, the situation in effect would remain as it was before the assembly took up the Palestine question at this session.

The acting UN mediator, Dr. Ralph Bunche, would continue his duties, under resolutions previously adopted by the assembly and the Security Council. These measures also include the partition plan approved by the assembly 33 to 13 Nov. 29, 1947.

Here in brief are the main provisions of the resolution—shot through with amendments—approved today:

1. A conciliation commission of three members would be established.

2. This commission, whose members are to be chosen by the five big powers, would take over the job of the UN mediator. Also, if the Security Council required, it would take over the UN Truce observation machinery in Palestine.

3. It would assist Arabs and Jews to achieve a final settlement of all outstanding questions between them.

4. The conciliation commission would draw up for the 1949 General Assembly detailed plans for a permanent international regime for Jerusalem which would provide maximum local autonomy for distinctive groups in the international zone.

Quake Off Coast Of Mexico Recorded On Tech Seismograph

The earthquakes reported off the West Coast of Mexico Friday were recorded on the Texas Technological seismographs, according to report Saturday by Dr. L. T. Patton, professor of geology and director of seismological research.

The seismograph was in operation Saturday afternoon at the time of the quake in California, but the records had not been checked for the intensity recorded here on that disturbance, Dr. Patton said last night.

Vibrations from one severe shock at 6:25 p.m. Friday continued 36 minutes, Dr. Patton said. Another at 8:40 p.m. continued 10 minutes and a third at 9:34 p.m. four minutes.

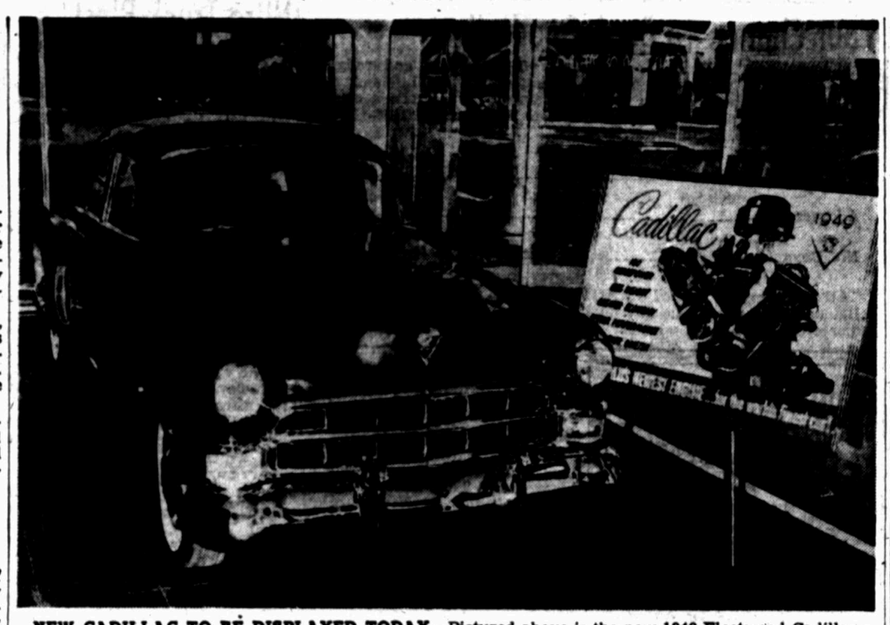

He computed the center of the disturbance as being approximately 2,000 miles southwest of Lubbock before learning the quakes off the Mexican coast had been reported. The locale accorded with his computations.

There was one unusual coincidence in connection with Dr. Patton's observation. The Tech seismographs had not been in use for about a month because of failures in the electric current.

Friday night he turned them on for tests. To his amazement, they began to record a disturbance of major intensity. Dr. Patton's suspicion that there might be something wrong with the machines was not completely allayed until press dispatches confirmed the quake in the locale indicated.

ELECTIONS SET TODAY

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 4 (INS)—Argentinian politicians closed their campaigns tonight for tomorrow's elections which will decide whether or not President Juan Peron can succeed himself. The Presidential succession law is only one of several points to be acted on by voters. Enthusiasm has been low. Argentinians will elect 158 assemblymen who will act on the new constitution designed to perpetrate Peron's program.

NEW CADILLAC TO BE DISPLAYED TODAY—Pictured above is the new 1949 Fleetwood Cadillac, which will be displayed this afternoon from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m. at the Thomas-Davis Cadillac company, 1704 Main. Heralded as the most beautiful Cadillac ever built, the new models are powered by a new motor car engine, totally new in design and performance. The new 160 horsepower engine is a compact V-type, 8-cylinder engine of valve-in-head design with relatively large bore and short stroke. The new models are offered in the new Series Sixty Special touring sedan, the Series Sixty-Two convertible, touring sedan and club coupe, the Series Sixty-One four-door sedan or coupe and the Series Seventy-Five and seven-passenger sedans. All models embody the traditional Cadillac comfort, convenience, beauty and safety. Available for factory installation are Hydra-Matic drive, automatic heating and defrosting, hydraulic window lifts and other accessories.

District 7-B Organization Plans Completed For Meet

District 7-B, consisting of Cooper, Frenship, Idalou, New Deal, Roosevelt, Shallowater, Southland, and Wilson, schools, and Southland and Tahoka Junior High schools, has completed organization plans for the University Interscholastic League spring meet, which will be held April 1 and 2 in Lubbock, according to an announcement Saturday from R. J. Kidd, of Austin, director of the League.

Dee Hancock of Shallowater has been named director general of the spring meet. Other contest directors who have been appointed include Toby Waggoner of New Deal school, athletics; Mrs. Dorothy Johnson of Wilson, declamation; Mrs. Varina Putman of Shallowater, debate; Mrs. Cleo Peeke of Cooper, one-act plays; Mrs. Johnson of Idalou, extemporaneous speech; G. O. Smith of Idalou, slide rule and number sense; Mrs. B. M. Hayes of New Deal, music; C. S. Lindsey of Southland, shorthand and typewriting; Mrs. A. F. Rasor of Frenship, ready writing; Miss Rose Dunlap of New Deal, spelling and plain writing.

A director of story-telling has not yet been named.

Forty Austrian secondary school teachers are to teach German in British schools.

Tech President Will Speak At Banquet Of Professors' Group

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological college, will be principal speaker at a banquet of the local chapter of the American Association of University Professors at 6 o'clock Wednesday night at Hilton hotel.

Dr. Ralph Underwood, professor of mathmetics, will discuss activities of the national council. Mrs. Margarette Wible Walker, dean of women, will sing, accompanied by Miss Carolyn Cole. A woodwind quintet from the Tech band will play during the dinner.

Sam Leifeste, assistant professor of marketing, is president of the chapter. He has announced the dinner will be over in time for persons present to attend the Lubbock Symphony orchestra program.

Tickets are being sold for $1.50 each by 14 Texas Tech faculty members. The deadline for reservations will be 5 p. m. Monday.

HIGH SCORING DUKES

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—Three Duke University football teams have ranked among the top scoring elevens in the nation. The 1941 and 1945 outfits were the second highest pointmakers in college football and the 1943 team ranked at the top of the list.

Funeral For Hillbilly Singer Will Be Held In Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Dec. 4. (AP)—Funeral services for Richard Reinhart, 41, hillbilly singer and song writer, will be held in Fort Worth at 2 p. m. Monday.

Reinhart collapsed yesterday at the G&G Mechanical Co., where he worked as a machinist. He died enroute to the hospital. Death was believed due to a heart attack.

Reinhart, who was with the Gene Autry show from 1940-42, wrote a number of songs. Among them was "The Fort Worth Jail House," published in 1940.

Cadillac
PRESENTS ITS CREATIVE MASTERPIECE...

. . . The world's newest engine for the world's finest car!

White Sidewall Tires available at additional cost.

No Cadillac announcement has ever been more significant than the one which appears on this page. For, this year, Cadillac presents its creative masterpiece—a wholly new V-type eight-cylinder engine—which is, beyond all doubt, the highest development yet attained in automotive power plants. ★ This great power plant has been twelve years in the building—for basic development work started in 1936. It has many unusual qualities which set it apart from all other creations of its kind. It is far more alert, powerful and responsive to the throttle—yet it affords an increase in gasoline economy of approximately twenty per cent. And the manner of its performance actually challenges the imagination. It is liquid smooth; it is quick and eager beyond all experience; yet the power application is so effortless that the driver is scarcely aware of the engine's existence. The car seems almost to move by automatic propulsion. ★ Even experienced Cadillac owners must put aside all previous conceptions of performance when they drive the 1949 Cadillac. It is a revelation—from silken start to silken stop. ★ There are, of course, many other advancements in addition to the history-making engine. There is new beauty in the front ensemble; there is a newly-designed, more attractive instrument panel, with all driving controls at your finger tips; and throughout the chassis and body will be found those characteristic refinements which result from Cadillac's unceasing search for perfection. ★ But the big Cadillac story, for 1949, is performance. It is not only the world's new standard—it is beyond the world's current conception.

South Plains Swept By Winds, Dust; Temperatures To Drop

driving dust had cut visibility to near zero in most areas and that in some sections dust and sand was blowing across the highway in an "almost solid wall."

Plains Highway Travel Dangerous

Officials of the Southwest Public service company reported that dust and sand, surging before a 50 mile an hour wind, was slashing the area between Plainview and Amarillo. Workmen in that section said power lines were being whipped down and that travel on the highways was brought to a halt.

The mercury is expected to fall to 35 or 40 degrees this morning, and then climb to a maximum of perhaps 60 degrees shortly before the storm arrives at mid-afternoon. The weatherman predicted the mercury would drop 30 degrees within the first three hours after the main body of the front arrives, and the drop would continue until a minimum of 15 degrees was reached sometime tonight.

Residents were warned to wrap and protect exposed water pipes, and shrubbery, and motorists were urged to drain or protect radiators and automobile blocks from freezing. Farmers in particular were urged to take precautions to protect their cattle and other livestock.

Thirty to 35 miles an hour winds are expected to accompany the front into the South Plains. Because of the danger of blowing dust and snow, the weatherman, put special emphasis upon the danger of being caught on open highways before and after the storm moves in.

Temperatures at the weather station took a 19 degree drop within the hour after the preliminary front hit at 8:30. The maximum 71 reading was reached about 3:30 p.m. At 6 p.m. the mercury had moved to 69 degrees, at 8:30 p. m. to 68 degrees, at 9:40 p.m. to 49 degrees and at 10:30 to 47 degrees. The downward trend was expected to continue through the night.

Highway Patrol Alerted

The district office of the Texas Highway Patrol here late last night reiterated the weather bureau's warning for motorists not to travel at all unless absolutely necessary, and then to use every driving precaution at their command.

The highway patrol expects to alert all of the patrolmen in this area to be ready for the storm and to aid motorists caught by the wintery blast.

A week ago yesterday a cold front moved out of the Rocky mountains into the Panhandle-South Plains. Winds up to 50 miles an hour driving dust and snow left hundreds of motorists stranded in the Amarillo area. Special trains were sent out by the Santa Fe and Rock Island lines to pick up motorists on the blocked high plains highways. During the storm, Lubbock received several flurries of snow.

Disruptions Temporary

Late last night the center of the new storm was in the area between North Platte, Nebr., and Cheyenne, Wyo. The Weatherman said that the front had "weakened" to some extent but still was expected to be the "worst of the season." He said it probably would be of blizzard proportions in the northern part of the Panhandle, and of near blizzard proportions on the South Plains. He said "not a great deal of snow" is predicted to blow in with the cold front.

The southward movement of the storm had been slowed somewhat, the weatherman said. Earlier he had predicted that it would strike the South Plains between 9 a. m. and noon today. Later he said that the storm probably would not arrive until nearer noon.

No major disruptions in electric service had been reported late Saturday night by either Southwestern Public Service Co., or the city electric plant.

Southwestern Public Service reported local line troubles. No highlines were reported to be down in the area, company officials said.

Few Lights Blown Down

A spokesman at the city electric plant, which furnishes electricity for the Christmas decorations on downtown streets, reported that a few of the ropes of colored lights spanning the streets had blown down, but that they had been removed immediately. Power to some of the decorations had been shut off; others were still lighted late Saturday night.

One line was down in the city, he said, but reported no major breaks in electric service.

An Avalanche-Journal reporter, returning from Idalou at the height of the dust storm last night, said that traffic on the four-lane Lubbock-Idalou highway was brought to a halt in many areas by "walls" of dirt blowing from farms north of the road.

He said the car in which he was riding was equipped with a powerful spotlight, but its strong beam was barely able to pick up the outline of the edge of the pavement. Many cars, he reported, either halted or moved at a slow rate of speed. Others, he said found themselves driving on the wrong side of the highway and halted until a break in the dust allowed them to return to the correct lane.

A veteran of the "black dusters" of 1933 and 1934 at Stratford, the reporter said, "The storm was as bad, perhaps worse than those. Entire farms seemed to be in the air. The car in which we were riding, a 1948 model, was almost filled with fine silt which whipped in around windows and doors."

The trip from Idalou to Lubbock, about 11 miles, took more than an hour, he reported.

Winds of more than 70 miles per hour in gusts ripped at Amarillo in the Panhandle, leaving power failures and broken telephone circuits over the city.

Telephone circuits from Amarillo to Borger, Dalhart, El Paso and Guymon, Okla., were down. Radio station KGNC was off the air for 13 minutes because of power failure.

Police radio technicians hurriedly erected emergency communication equipment after the Amarillo police radio tower was blown over.

The Amarillo weather bureau said the winds might slacken late Saturday night but added they would remain near 40 miles per hour, shifting from westerly to northwesterly with the arrival of another cold front early Sunday.

One Amarillo man was taken to a hospital after he was hit on the head by a piece of flying lumber soon after the storm began.

Telephone checks with the following area towns Saturday night showed high gusty winds, low visibilities, and minor fires prevailed over the area:

Crosbyton — Winds reached about 35 miles per hour in sustained velocity with frequent stronger gusts and visibility was cut to about two blocks.

Littlefield—"Very limited" visibility with winds reaching an estimated 50 miles an hour was reported. An airplane anchored at Littlefield airport broke loose about 8:30 p. m. and blew over on the highway going into town. The fire department was called to aid in moving the machine back to the field.

Lamesa—Strong gusty winds ranging up to about 45 or 50 miles an hour were reported, with sustained velocity reaching about 35 miles an hour. General weather conditions there were reported to be about the same as last Saturday night.

Post—A fire in the burr piles at Lee Davis gin in Post broke out about 9:30 p. m. but no damage was done. The fire department was called out, and the blaze was put under control between 9:45 and 10 p. m. Wind velocity was estimated at 40 miles an hour, with frequent gusts rising above that. Visibility was described as "very low" by thick dusts.

Floydada—Low visibility with very strong winds was reported.

Matador—A burr pile at Farmers Gin Co., in Matador was put under control about 10:40 p. m. No damage was reported. Winds ranging up to a high of 30 miles an hour was reported, and visibility was described as "almost zero." Winds hit Matador shortly before 10 p. m.

Brownfield — Low visibility, high winds, lots of dust was reported.

Plane Crash

yond recognition.

M. C. Ashworth, who lives about 400 yards from the scene of the crash, said he heard a loud, muffled explosion and then a crash.

Attended McMurry

Another resident of the area, J. B. Gregory, said he heard a loud clicking noise. He said he ran out of his house and saw that the plane had crashed and was burning.

Wooten was a member of the board of directors of the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Abilene, of the Abilene Savings and Loan company, and of McMurry college.

He attended Abilene public schools, McMurry, and the University of Colorado. In 1930, he began work as auditor for the Wooten hotel, in 1934 became secretary to his father, the late H. O. Wooten, who died last December. At that time, Wooten took over his father's position as president of the grocery company.

Survivors Listed

His wife was the former Georgianna Amyx of Abilene. They were married March 16, 1931.

They are survived by two daughters, Barbara, 14, and Ann, 16.

Wooten's other survivors include his mother; three sisters, Mrs. Charles C. Mitchell of Fort Worth; Mrs. George W. Parker of Nogales, Ariz., and Mrs. Anna Wooten Jones of Abilene, and a brother, Horace W. Wooten of San Antonio.

Mrs. Wooten's survivors include her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Amyx, formerly of Abilene and now of Mission, and two brothers, Hurst Amyx of Tucson, Ariz., and Charles Amyx of Mission.

Bohannon operated a flying school during World War II and was a civilian pilot training instructor. For a number of years he was an independent oil operator. He was a prominent amateur golfer.

Wooten was seriously injured at Galveston March 8 of this year when both he and Mrs. Wooten were struck by a hit and run driver on Seawall boulevard.

Wooten had undergone two operations at Galveston as a result of the accident and was released from the hospital last Wednesday after his second operation.

Since the accident he had been unable to walk.

The driver of the hit-run auto was arrested in Arkansas a week after the accident but was not prosecuted by the Wootens because he was a psychopathic case.

Wooten had made several airplane trips between Galveston and Abilene during recent months, while convalescing.

(A branch of the Wooten Grocery company is located in Lubbock at 720, Texas Avenue).

CHARGES ARE FILED

EL PASO, Dec. 4. (AP)—Ernesto De La Rosa, 38-year-old Mexican, was charged today with murder with malice aforethought in the death of an El Paso woman who was stabbed 64 times. No bond had been set in the case late today. The body of the woman, Natividad Renteria, was found in her south El Paso home early yesterday.

Contrary to popular belief, pumpkins do not mix with watermelons and muskmelons. The crops may be planted safely side by side.

Los Angeles Rocked

damage as stocks tumbled to the floor, merchandise bounced off shelves in markets. A bank vault was sprung in Twenty-Nine Palms, and pavement showed cracks.

Seismologists reported the quake about equal in severity to one in April, 1947, which also centered in a remote desert area northeast of here. Only the isolated nature of the country, said the experts, prevented serious damage and possible loss of life.

The tremor was felt in a band extending from Santa Barbara and Fresno on the north to San Diego and El Centro on the south, and east to the Colorado river.

Rumble Heard

There were reports of plaster cracks, broken dishes and stopped clocks in Los Angeles. In Arlington, windows were broken and a paint store messed up when stock fell to the floor. Windows were broken in the building of the Ontario Daily Reporter. A telephone operator fainted in Los Angeles and a shopper fainted in a Riverside department store. Brief power line failure occurred in Victorville.

In quake-conscious Long Beach, where southern California's last quake of disaster status occurred 16 years ago, residents reported hearing a rumble preceding the rocking temblor.

Red Cross disaster units were alerted throughout the metropolitan area and officials said it turned into an excellent test, although none were needed.

Magnitude Given

At California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, Dr. Charles F. Richter timed the quake's official onset at 4:43.2 p.m. (Pacific Daylight Time) and said its magnitude was 6¾ on a seismological scale which rates the world's most severe quakes at 8½. The disastrous Long Beach quake of 1933 was 6¼, but occurred in a much more populous area.

The Caltech scientist put the apparent center at 100 miles southeast of Pasadena, roughly between the desert cities of Indio and Twenty-Nine Palms.

In Los Angeles, where the quake was timed at 4:43 p. m., a crowd of more than 100,000 was just filing out of giant Memorial coliseum, where Southern California and Notre Dame played to a 14-14 tie.

The San Andreas fault, California's longest and largest, is located in the general area hit by the quake. It is on this fault that severe San Francisco, Santa Barbara and El Centro earthquakes have been reported since the turn of the century.

TWO DEAD IN QUAKE OFF MEXICO'S WEST COAST

MAZATLAN, Mexico, Dec. 4. (AP)—An earthquake on Madre Maria prison island, 30 miles off Mazatlan, has left two men dead and eight injured.

Dead following the quake yesterday were chief radio operator of the island, Jose Antonio Baca, and, according to reports, the island's radio assistant. The two men were killed when the two-story radio building collapsed with the first heavy, three-second shock, at 6:24 p. m.

kits and donations.

"There are 169 firms on the lists which have not been reported on," he continued. "Workers will be supplied with kits again on the assumption that many of the firms were not called on originally."

A check-up of collections in the earlier part of the campaign reveals that there were only four contributors above $1,000; 17 from $500 to $999; 168 from $100 to $499; 540 from $25 to $99 and 5,619 under $25.

One of the most noticeable things about the collections was the lagging in contributions by various prominent individuals, particularly among the professional men of the city with high income brackets.

Agencies Would Suffer

"If the campaign should fail, it won't be the Community Chest which will suffer, but the six welfare agencies receiving funds from the Chest," Maedgen pointed out

He explained that anyone desiring to make contributions to the various agencies directly may do so in the campaign and it will be credited to the particular agency.

Agencies receiving funds from the Chest are: Lubbock Boys' club, Junior Optimist club, Milam Home, Salvation Army, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Directors of the Chest will head the various teams of workers in Tuesday's drive. Besides Maedgen, they include: Raymond Burford and Hugh Anderson, vice presidents; Roy Riddel, treasurer, and H. L. Allen, R. F. Bayless, Hudson Bird, L. D. Casey, K. N. Clapp L. E. Davis, Dave Dawkins, J. Ray Dickey, P. T. Glazner, J D. Hassell, jr., Irving L. Jones, Geo. P. Kuykendall, E. T. Pope, Garnet Reeves, J. C. Sanders and Neil Wright, jr.

Five White Men Are Arrested In Murder Of Georgia Negro

LYONS, Ga., Dec. 4. (AP)—Five white men were arrested today and held under suspicion of murder in the ambush slaying of negro Robert Mallard Nov. 20.

Mallard was slain near his home, 18 miles southeast of Lyons. His widow, Amy James Mallard, said he was killed by five or six robed but unmasked white men.

The arrests were announced by Capt. Delmar Jones of the Georgia bureau of investigation. They came after superior court Judge Robert H. Humphrey called the Toombs grand jury into special session at 10 a.m., Friday to probe the Mallard murder.

RUNAWAY PLANE CRASHES

SEWELL, N. J., Dec. 4. (INS)—A "runaway" two-seater training plane which took off from near Trenton this afternoon with no one aboard crashed in a cornfield tonight 45 miles away.

Attack On Vice

ious trouble could result.

The state, in an application filed by District Attorney Lloyd Croslin, charged that the defendants "are now and have been for a period of more than one year . . . keeping . . . and aiding and abetting the keeping of a bawdy house, . . . a house kept for prostitution and where prostitutes are permitted to resort . . . for the purpose of plying their vocation."

Permanent Injunction Asked

The petition named and listed location of the New Tourist hotel.

It informed the court that the defendants "are each and all guilty of maintaining a nuisance."

It asked that the defendants be temporarily enjoined from keeping the hotel as a bawdy house; that upon final hearing the injunction be made perpetual and the place be closed for a year unless bond of $5,000 were posted.

Croslin and assistant District Attorney A. W. Salyars called to the stand in support of its contentions three law enforcement officers, Capt. Gilbert Newton and Sgt. J. T. Alley, both of the police, and Dep. Sheriff Earl Horton. The officers testified to arrests of women made at the hotel, as well as the general reputation of the place.

Three women also gave evidence against the hotel, by admitting that they had been prostitutes there, court officials said.

Judge Pardue demanded that the bond be made through a surety company.

He told newsmen that if it is approved "I'll do the approving of it myself."

Lubbock Man Killed

vestigators said.

The Wichita Falls men were driving westward on Nineteenth, and meeting Siewert's car.

They said they saw Mr. Alexander's attempt to cross the street, Siewert's efforts to avoid a collision.

Mr. Alexander had been a guest in the residence of W. A. Willbanks, at 3022 Twentieth, prior to the mishap, officials said they had been informed. He had left his car in 3000-block Twentieth.

Officials said Siewert left his home and drove eastward on Twenty-third to Van Buren, north on Van Buren to Nineteenth and turned eastward on Nineteenth, just before the crash.

The victim's body was thrown back over the hood and against the windshield of Siewert's car.

C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, said he planned to enter an inquest verdict of accidental death.

Funeral services for Alexander are scheduled for 2:30 o'clock this afternoon in the First Baptist church at Anton, with Rev. F. N. Allen of Hale Center officiating, assisted by Dr. J. Ralph Grant of Lubbock. Burial will be at Anton under direction of Plains Funeral home of Lubbock.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, W. N. Alexander, jr., of Anton and Kenneth Alexander of Lubbock; a daughter, Mrs. Inza Johnston, of Tulsa, Okla.; six grand children and two great grandchildren.

School Bonds Okayed

and other school officials were "highly pleased with the results of the election, but disappointed in the lack of response on the part of qualified voters."

For the record, almost twice as many persons affixed their signatures to petitions asking for the elections as actually cast their votes. Observers attributed the light vote to the fact that there was no discernable opposition to the bond issue.

Results Are Given

Voting at individual polling places reported last night by presiding judges was as follows:

Business office, Glen Hess, presiding judge; 213 for, 25 opposed; total vote 238.

O. L. Slaton Junior High, J. L. Murfee, judge; 138 for, 6 opposed; total, 144.

Roscoe Wilson school, Harry Delaney, judge; 203 for, 10 opposed; total, 213.

McWhorter school, H. D. Woods, judge; 26 for, 10 opposed; total, 36.

Plans are to get construction underway at the earliest possible date since the need for the additional room is urgent and immediate, officials said.

The bonds are to bear a maximum interest rate of 3¼ per cent.

Denmark has liberalized its food rations for tourists.

West Coast Shipping Is Brought To End

(By The Associated Press)

The costly West Coast maritime strike was officially over Saturday, but a jurisdictional dispute kept the ports idle.

The AFL sailors' union, although not on strike, was made idle by the three months' work stoppage of five other maritime unions. These other unions called off their strike effective Friday, after reaching settlements.

Labor developments elsewhere:

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich.) began a congressional investigation of a raid last Wednesday by representatives of the CIO United steelworkers union on Shakespeare factories where the union is on strike. Hoffman said the inquiry would seek to determine whether laws were being enforced in regard to importation of strikebreakers, the Taft-Hartley act, and state and local statutes.

Cincinnati—William J. Clippard, jr., president of the struck Clippard Instrument Laboratory, Inc., told police his automobile was splattered with eggs when he left the plant Friday night. Some 130 women members of the International Association of Machinists quit work last Tuesday over union recognition.

Berliners Vote

munists in an effort to keep the western Germans from voting.

The Russians countered this by ordering the transit workers to ignore the appeal.

All troops of the four occupation powers were alerted tonight.

A total of 1,580,575 Berliners are registered and eligible to vote, most of them women.

The three anti-Communist parties, the Social Democrats, Conservative Christian Democrats and the rightest Liberal Democrats have subordinated their rivalry in a common effort to fight a Soviet attempt to grab control of all Berlin.

German political leaders urging a big turnout at the polls said the main issue is a choice "between the secret ballot and the secret police."

The voting is for 130 city assemblymen who in turn elect the city council. The logical choice for mayor is Ernst Reuter, former Communist who reverted to the dominant Social Democratic party and who was vetoed by the Russians when first named to the office.

Clay said, "I expect tomorrow's elections will be orderly."

Just in case they are not the western Berlin police chief mobilized 10,000 men in radio-equipped and motorized squads at 8 p.m. (1 p.m. CST) for patrol duty.

The U. S. military policemen also will begin patrol duty at midnight because of the Russian-backed "scare campaign" to intimidate Berlin voters.

Russia banned the elections in her sector although the Berlin constitution approved by all four occupation powers calls for biennial municipal elections. This will be the second balloting since the war.

The Soviet government also clearly organized the handpicked Communist regime which was installed this week in the city hall in the Russian sector and drove the last legal official from the zone.

Burglars Take $15 In Safe Breaking At O'Donnell Store

O'DONNELL, Dec. 4. (Special)—Burglars knocked the knobs of safes in two business establishments here Friday night or this morning, but found only $15 in "change," Sheriff Sam Floyd announced.

The money was taken from Higginbotham Lumber company's office.

Burglars failed to open the safe in Mansell Bros. store, after knocking the knob.

Sheriff Floyd and his deputies were assisted in the investigation by Texas Ranger Razz Renfrow of Lubbock.

Three American Fliers Killed When Airlift Plane Crashes

BERLIN, Dec. 5 (Sunday) (INS) — An American C-54 airlift plane crashed early today shortly after its takeoff. It was fully loaded.

All three crew members were killed. Their names were withheld for 48 hours pending notification of next of kin.

The big, four-motored plane crashed two miles out of Fassburg. Bad weather, which for a time halted the airlift, was blamed for the tragedy.

Nitro Truck Blast

in-law.

Gibson said that Lee Wright, a DuPont official at Odessa, had told him he was "positive" the nitro truck which exploded was the one driven by Towery.

Towery was enroute from Stanton to Bartlesville, Okla.

A big trailer truck, also in the vicinity, was blasted off the highway, and its driver, his arm badly mangled, thrown clear.

He was identified as Jack King of Wichita Falls, and was hospitalized at Olney, suffering from shock and loss of blood.

Goes Up In "Dust"

One eyewitness, Dale Smith, 35, Throckmorton dirt contractor, said the nitro truck exploded just after he had passed it. He said he noticed a flat tire on the truck and watched it through his rearview mirror.

"All at once it looked like an atom bomb had gone off," he said. "Where there once was a truck there was just a cloud of dust."

Another eyewitness, E. L. Crepsinger of Throckmorton, said the nitro-truck pulled off to the right of the pavement. It's right wheels went into a small ditch at the end of a culvert, and it blew up.

Clothes On Fire

"It looked like it went about 300 feet high," he said.

The explosion knocked out electric service in Throckmorton for a few minutes, damaged a home, set a grass fire that was extinguished and dug a huge crater.

Both Smith and Crepsinger said Buchanan's clothes were burning and that they put out the fire on his clothes.

"I beat out the fire in his clothes and on the grass beside the road," Smith said. "I made him as comfortable as I could but I could tell he was done for." Buchanan died a few minutes later.

Home Damaged

Crepsinger was driving a butane transport truck when it blew up. The trailer truck was just ahead, and Buchanan's pickup was moving toward the explosives truck.

One of the tire rims of the truck was found on the power line a quarter of a mile away from the blast.

The W. H. Bird home about 150 or 200 yards away was badly damaged. Mr. and Mrs. Bird and Barbara, their seven-year-old daughter, were in the house. Barbara was slightly cut by flying glass. The others were unhurt.

Big Crowd Gathers

(Bird, whose home was damaged in the blast, is a cousin of R. V. Herring, of Lubbock. Mr. and Mrs. Herring live at 114 North Uvalde.)

A big crowd gathered at the scene, gaping at the small pieces of the exploded truck—pieces ranging from the size of a hat to the size of a man's fist.

The crater was off the highway, and traffic continued to flow.

Residents of Olney, 25 miles away, heard the blast and swamped the newspaper office there with calls about it.

Towery, who was about 30, moved from Stanton to Bartlesville, Okla., in Feb. 1946. He was a helper and stock hauler at the small DuPont plant near Bartlesville. He left there Tuesday for Stanton to get a load of explosives.

His parents live at Stanton. He was married last Easter to the former Miss Emma Beth Pittman of Albany, Tex.

Fire Causes Damage

ed fences and outbuildings, the fire came close enough to scorch the sides of a home nearby. The fire was finally extinguished a few feet from the home, it was indicated.

A fire in the burr pit of the Weineke Gin at Idalou, under control by about 11:10 p. m., caused little damage to gin property, but started the miniature prairie fire across one corner of the town. A well drilling rig housed in a building some distance from the gin was heavily damaged by the sweeping fire. Two butane tanks were in danger of becoming ignited, but were saved. The Lubbock Fire department was called. The Idalou constable reported that the fire was "under close observation" and that fire damage could not be estimated until morning.

New Hope Gin Damaged

A call from the New Hope community east of Slaton and about seven or eight miles from Lubbock requested fire trucks from Lubbock to help battle flames at the Curtis L. Boyd gin there.

All available trucks here were already in use elsewhere and trucks from Slaton were called to the scene. A report shortly before midnight said that the fire was under control and that damage was slight.

The fire was of the "flash" variety and originated in the main gin house, it was learned. It was soon under control there, but several outbuildings which were not of the fireproof type were destroyed. Machinery of the gin escaped damage.

Other fires at gins over the country were reported, but most of them were believed to be burr fires only. Such fires were reported by Farmer's gin at Matador and Lee Davis gin at Post.

Reports of fires in other communities could not be confirmed here, since some could not be reached by telephone and no local firemen were sent to the scene.

Several calls were made by Lubbock firemen within the city, but no serious fires had resulted at 1 a. m. today. Most of the trouble, it was said, was from shorted wires which broke in the high wind or from trash fires which had to be watched to prevent their spreading to residential buildings.

A scrap wood pile near the Lubbock Country club burned but no damage was reported other than to the discarded lumber.

MOSCOW-TRAINED FORCE CHARGED

New Hearings Are Ordered Into Pre-War Red Espionage Ring

By FRANCIS J. KELLY,
Associated Pres Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 — New hearings to dig into fresh reports of a pre-war Red spy ring were ordered today by the House Un-American Activities committee. The hearings will begin Tuesday afternoon.

At the same time, the committee made new charges that a rebel army headed by 800 Moscow-trained American Communists is "now being drilled" in the U. S. to overthrow the government.

The committee said it now knows who slipped out the national secrets which were found in a hollowed-out pumpkin on the Maryland farm of an admitted former Communist courier.

Evidence identifying the person who took the documents will be brought out at the hearings, Robert E. Stripling, the committee's chief investigator, promised.

Before announcing reopening of the investigation, which produced sensational evidence last summer, Stripling said that some "very important" new documents have been turned up.

He said these were separate from the microfilmed copies of secret government material—chiefly from the State department—which were found Thursday in a pumpkin on Whittaker Chambers' farm near Westminster, Md. Chambers has testified that he was a pre-war member of the Communist underground, but since has renounced Communism. At present he is a senior editor on Time magazine.

Stripling said Chambers will be one of the witnesses at the new series of hearings. Subpoenas have been issued for the appearance of an unspecified number of other witnesses, including some handwriting experts and other technicians.

Federal Officials Enter Case

Also, the committee gave permission to two federal law enforcement agents to study the new documentary evidence, including enlarged prints of the microfilmed document found on Chambers' farm. George Morris Fay, U. S. attorney for the District of Columbia, and R. P. Wharty, an official of the Department of Justice's criminal division, were authorized to look them over.

Stripling made it clear that the No. 1 aim of the committee would be to present evidence showing who gave the secrets to Chambers, who said he quit the Reds in 1938.

Stripling told reporters:

"The purpose is to bring to a conclusion the hearings the committee has had in progress several months on the Hiss-Chambers matters and on espionage in the federal government."

Attorney Subpoenaed

The man named Hiss to whom he referred is Alger Hiss, former State department official who now is president of the Carnigie Endowment for World Peace.

In last summer's hearings, Chambers swore that Hiss was a pre-war member of a "Communist apparatus" which operated in Washington. Hiss said Chambers lied. Chambers, however, repeated his accusation in a radio broadcast, where he did not have the immunity granted witnesses in congressional hearings, and Hiss sued him for $75,000 damages. The suit is pending in Baltimore district court.

Stripling said the committee has served a subpoena on Richard F. Cleveland of Baltimore, Chambers' lawyer, calling on him to produce certain documents and sworn statements taken in connection with the libel action.

Rep. Mundt (R-SD), now in South Dakota, undertook to round up the members of the Un-American Activities committee for the new hearings. The time element is important to Mundt; he takes office as a member of the Senate next month.

Meanwhile, he radioed Rep. Nixon (R-Calif), who is enroute to Panama, requesting him to hurry back to Washington as soon as possible. Nixon replied that he would fly back as soon as his ship docks Tuesday, if he cannot arrange earlier accommodations.

Numerous Thefts Reported Here

Police Saturday night were plagued with a series of reported thefts at the height of the sand and wind storm which struck Lubbock early last night, most of the stolen articles were reported taken from parked cars.

Theft from cars included: Roller skates valued at $20 from the car of Bill Baack of Lubbock general delivery; a $40 suit from C. J Hill of Lubbock route 7; sunglasses valued at $15 from the car of Robert Taylor of 2305 Sixth.

Joe Garrison, student of Dorm 4 at Texas Tech, said his 1941 Ford had been stolen from the vicinity of a grocery store in 3000-block Ave. H.

Other Thefts Reported

A 1947 Plymouth coupe, reported stolen Tuesday from David Turner of 907 Ave. A, was listed recovered Saturday by police. The vehicle was abandoned in 1300-block Fourteenth street after the radio, fog lights and grill had been stripped from the car.

An Abernathy man was arrested early Saturday evening after his car was in collision with a telephone pole at Twenty-third and Ave. G. He will be charged with drunk driving in county court Monday, Police said.

Theft of a two-tone gray 1948 Chevrolet sedan, license JP 2658, from I. L. Thomas of 3323 Twentieth was reported to police.

Fines Are Assessed

A backing light and a mirror were reported stolen from the car of Ross E. Garrett of 1710 Ave. O. Garrett valued his property at $4.75.

A "fast-talking" Mexican in "new clothing" was sought in connection with the reported theft in Plainview Friday of a $250 ring. Plainview Chief of Police Hoyt Curry said the ring was taken from a jewelry store there.

County court judgments announced:

Guy Taylor, 29, of Lubbock route 2, $1 and costs, check law violation.

Oscar Mueller, about 38, $1 and costs, violation of check law.

Bond of $750 was set by C. E. Lynn, justice of peace, for James Randall Carter, 24, of Lubbock, charged with desertion of minor children.

Thirteen persons who had been arrested in a crap game Friday night by liquor control board inspectors and deputies sheriff were fined $1 and court costs of $12.15 each, in the justice courts of C. E. Lynn and D. W. Robertson.

Four Army Airmen Are Killed In Plane Crash In California

MUROC AIR BASE, Calif., Dec. 4 (AP) — Four Army airmen were killed when their C-47 transport plane crashed in the desert west of Barstow, Calif., in a hard rainstorm last night, the base announced today.

The plane, based here, had flown to Albuquerque, N. M., and return on a routine mission. It radioed the base here at 7:05 o'clock last night that it was approaching for a landing. Nothing more was heard from the ship.

The air base identified the men as:

Two Frost-Bitten Babies Found In Car; Mother Faces Charge

DENVER, Dec. 4 (INS)—Two babies suffering from frost-bitten feet were in Denver General hospital tonight, while their mother, found drunk in a gutter, was in city jail facing dependency charges.

Mrs. Neva York, 21, left the children alone last night in an open auto parked on a used car lot. The babies are Vicki Mommi, one year old, and Dale Richard York, three months old.

The children were discovered early this morning after two Denver university students had asked to look at the model A Ford parked at the rear of the lot.

Condition Of Victim Of Oil Field Fire Still Critical

SEAGRAVES, Dec. 4 (Spl).—C. W. Jesse, 38, of Seagraves, an employee of Shell Pipeline company who was critically injured Friday night when an oil pipeline blew out near here, was described by an attendant at a hospital here tonight as "still critical in condition," with no change from that reported earlier in the day.

Jesse is being treated for severe burns on the face and head and left arm and right forearm. He suffered lesser burns on his legs, the hospital reported.

A. L. Jones, about 27, also of Seagraves and an employee of the company, who is receiving treatment in a Seminole hospital, was reported resting satisfactorily and in "fairly good condition" tonight. Hospital attendants said Jones is suffering from first, second, and third degree burns. A. W. Michna of Seagraves died in the accident. No details of funeral arrangements were available.

Berserk Father Stomps Son To Death In Attack On Family

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4. (AP)—A young father went berserk today, police said, stomped his baby son to death, picked up his six-weeks-old daughter and flung her ballike against a wall then brutally cut up his estranged wife and her parents.

Dead is Paul Raymond Jensen, 18 months. In Harbor General hospital not expected to live is Jenean Jensen, six weeks. She also was stabbed and police said picked up out of her crib and hurled against a wall. The babies' mother, Mrs. Helen Jensen, 31, also was in the hospital with face and chest stab wounds as were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dodner. All are in critical condition.

Abernathy Voters Approve $225,000 School Bond Issue

ABERNATHY, Dec. 4 (Special)—Abernathy voters today approved a $225,000 school bond issue by a vote of 143 for and five against.

The new bond issue will be used to finance construction of an auditorium and for additional rooms to the high school and elementary school building, Supt. Fred Miller said. James Atcheson of Lubbock is the architect.

Madame Chiang Seeks U.S. Aid Program Totaling $3 Billion

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek is appealing here for the United States to rescue China from Communism with a program which would cost an estimated $3,000,000,000 over the next three years.

This presentation of China's program comes from top Chinese officials who would not permit direct quotation. American informants say it is the basis on which the Chinese have suggested negotiation of an aid program.

The program covers four points. It has been presented by Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo to President Truman as well as used by Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek for her appeals here.

The Chinese first lady has conferred twice now with Secretary of State Marshall and will call on President and Mrs. Truman early next week. Persons familiar with her approach to her mission of obtaining American aid report that she is stressing: (1). The need for greater understanding here of China's plight. (2). The Chinese belief that it is not yet too late to save the situation, and (3). The contention that the Chinese government of her husband, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek, is fighting not only for itself but for the United States and all other anti-Communist nations.

While Mme. Chiang is represented as not primarily concerned with details of how the United States can aid China, her purpose is to obtain if possible American action along the four lines of the Chinese proposed program. This program calls for:

1. An immediate declaration of American support for Chiang Kai-Shek's anti-Communist war. The Chinese contend this would reinspire their forces by providing assurance of American backing with the implicit promise of greater American aid.

2. A tremendous speed-up in the delivery of military supplies before action by Congress on any new program. State department reports that the $125,000,000 of the present military aid program is now almost used up except for about $10,000,000. Top Chinese officials here say that while it is true this money has been committed for buying supplies it is also true that only about $25,000,000 of supplies actually have been delivered to China under the current program.

3. Sending to China a military leader of great prominence to run the supply services for the Chinese army, extend and operate military training and assume direction of strategic planning. The Chinese wanted General Douglas MacArthur but President Truman said no. Their proposal, together with Chiang's assurances to the President and Marshall of complete co-operation, means that the generalissimo now apparently wants the United States to "take over" the running of his war.

4. Laying down a military and economic aid program for a period of three years at a billion dollars a year, including expense of the military mission. Ambassador Koo has estimated that the first year the $1,000,000,000 could be divided 60 per cent for military aid and 40 per cent for economic aid but that in subsequent years, assuming the military situation improved, the greater majority would go for economic purposes.

Koo is understood to have told both the President and State department officials that his government believes that with a program of this sort the job could be done in three years. In general, United States officials have not been willing to accept this estimate. American military estimates for saving China run to a total of at least $5,000,000,000 over a three or four year period.

Secretary Marshall, President Truman and their advisers also have decided tentatively at least that any program to be guaranteed effective in the present situation in China would mean the Americans would virtually have to take over. This, Marshall and Mr. Truman have been unwilling to do. One question which deeply concerns them is the possibility of American involvement in a situation which could go on alchaos and disorganization of China and what is conceived to be here the rapid decline of Chiang's leadership.

Nine Area Veterans Are Returned To U.S.

Nine servicemen from the South Plains and surrounding area, and one from the Panhandle, are among 1,900 American war dead who have been returned to this country from the Pacific area aboard the U. S. Army transport Dalton Victory, according to an announcement Saturday from the Army department.

These remains are in addition to those of 2,554 World War II dead returned on the same ship whose names were announced by the Army department earlier this month.

Of the 1,900 remains, 104 were brought back to this country upon instructions of next-of-kin residing in Texas.

The Army stated that next of kin was notified in advance of the vessel's arrival, and would be notified again after arrival of the remains at the regional distribution center of the American Graves Registration service.

From the South Plains and adjacent area, with next of kin as listed by the Army, were:

Cpl. George M. Belknap, Marines, next of kin, Mrs. Sarah R. Belknap, Seagraves; Sgt. Charles B. Bray, Army, Mrs. Nellie C. Bray, 805 Ave. S, Lubbock; Pfc. Lester E. Cline, Army, Mrs. Fannie B. Powers, Army, John C. Powers, McAdoo.

From the Panhandle, with next of kin as listed by the Army, was Pfc. Billy J. Franklin, Army, Mrs. Lucille Franklin, Amarillo.

BENTSEN NAMED TO OFFICE

BROWNSVILLE, Dec. 5 (AP)—Voters of the 15th congressional district today went through the formality of electing Congressman-Elect Lloyd M. Bentsen, Jr., of McAllen to the unexpired term of the late Milton H. West of Brownsville. Bentsen's name was the only one on the ballot in the special election called by Gov. Beauford H. Jester. He was elected to a full term in the November general election. West, in poor health, did not seek re-election.

Tight Defense Aids Speedy Hub Quint

Big Jim Wilson Sparks Westerners To Second Non-Conference Triumph

By EARL SCUDDAY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

Lubbock High's amazing Westerners showed their home town fans a fast-breaking offense and an air-tight defense Saturday night at the Senior High gymnasium, as the Hub city cagers rolled to an impressive 55-18 victory over the Class A Sundown Roughnecks.

The Westerners, with big Jim Wilson sparking the attack, hit the basket with much more accuracy than they exhibited in their opener Friday night at Lamesa. The Black and Gold quintet started slowly to take a 10-3 margin at the end of the first quarter but at halftime the Westerners had boosted the tally to 25-5.

Second Win Of Season

A free-scoring second half, with Coach Roy Morris using nearly every player in uniform, clinched the second triumph of the new season.

Wilson, a junior center who towers three inches above six feet in height, stole the show tonight. The big cager dropped in shots from all angles to score seven field goals and cop high point honors for the night, as well as controlling the back-board. Charles Galey turned in his usual brilliant performance as a key ball-handler, but he was out of action most of the second half with a foot injury.

The Westerners started slowly, with Blair Hankins' free toss the only tally in the early minutes of the game, but Jesse Fullerton and Guard Morris Turner connected with push shots to boost the Lubbock quint into a 6-3 lead. Center Jimmy Sexton swished the net on a jump shot, then Galey hit the loop for another field goal to give the Westerners a 10-3 margin as the period ended.

Hankins Tallies Five Points

Hankins tallied five points in the opening minutes of the second quarter, on a field goal and three charity tosses, then Guard Bob Rooker and Wilson hiked the count to 19-3 with short throws. Wilson then hit three more two-pointers to give the Westerners a 25-5 halftime margin.

The speedy Westerners turned the contest into a rout in the second half, as Hankins, Rooker and Fullerton combined for five field goals during the third stanza. Galey added a free toss and a field goal, and Lubbock moved into a commanding 38-9 edge at the start of the final quarter.

Sundown Stages Rally

Wilson, Sexton and Rooker took over the scoring duties in the fourth period, although the Roughnecks staged a desperate rally that netted the visitors nine points. Wilson dropped in three field goals and Rooker, who showed unexpected form following only one week of practice, connected for two additional field goals.

Lubbock's potent "B" quint chalked up a victory in the initial tilt of the "double bill," drubbing the Roughneck "B" by a 37-14 count.

Jimmy Hamilton, sharp-shooting forward, chalked up 16 points on seven field goals and two free throws, while Forward Mack Taylor collected nine points on four field goals and a single charity toss.

The Lubbock "B" moved into a 12-2 lead in the first quarter and was never in danger.

OUTSTANDING BLACKHAWK BACK RAMBLES—Melvin Eldridge (11), one of the main stars in the 41-0 rout of Post yesterday by Phillips, is shown ripping off a gain in the third quarter of the game at Amarillo yesterday. Eldridge showed his nimble feet to the Antelopes all day, slashing off tackle for consistent gains. Post players in the picture are Maurice Stelzer (65), Ronald Boucher (70), Donald Carpenter (64), George Pierce (66), Roy Davis (47) and Roy Teaff (44). Blackhawk players are John Ussery (21), John Sellers (83), Joe Bob Newman (72) and Billy Joe Snyder (60), leading the interference, which cut down Post tacklers all day.

Blackhawks Take Offensive Early

Melvin Eldridge Outstanding Hawk Back; Malouf Never Gets Started

By JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

BUTLER FIELD, AMARILLO, Dec. 4—A classy, light eleven from Phillips High school, slight favorites to win their Region 1 Class A football game from Post High school, turned the expected duel into a rout with a 41-0 triumph here today before 5,215 wind-blown fans.

The Blackhawks were held in check only part of the time today and after scoring a first quarter touchdown, never were threatened. Post's Antelopes couldn't seem to get started and after the half, Phillips roared back to turn on the pressure.

Post Never Gave Up

The Blackhawks outrushed, outfought and outplayed the Antelopes, who never gave up and who continued to fight to the bitter end. But they were up against the classiest eleven seen in Class A circles this year.

So completely did Phillips dominate the game that Post gained only six yards from scrimmage in the entire second half and the Blackhawks had a tremendous advantage of 400 net yards rushing to a net 40 for Post. The Phillips eleven also had an advantage of 24 first downs to five for Post and maintained the upperhand throughout the game.

Bill Braden, Melvin Eldridge, Tommy Moore and Johnny Ussery took turns lugging the leather with devastating effect. Their nimble heels carried them on off-tackle slants with monotonous regularity and they piled up most of their yardage at the expense of the Post tackles and ends.

Eldridge Outstanding

Eldridge was the will-o'-the-wisp who broke Post's back. His slants sparked every Blackhawk drive and he easily gained the distinction of being the outstanding back on the field.

Junior Malouf, the pride of the South Plains, was smothered every time he tried to carry the ball, never getting anywhere against the hard-charging, alert Blackhawk line. He yielded what Post glory could be salvaged to Charles McBride, a quarterback with more than usual ability, who had little opportunity to show today.

Phillips scored the first time it had the ball, gaining possession after the Blackhawks had forced Post to kick into the wind to the Blackhawk 42. Phillips marched 58 yards on 11 plays to send Braden over on a bootleg play. Jimmy Williams, outstanding lineman and brother of two Texas Tech and one WTSTC player, booted the first of his five conversions in six attempts and Phillips led 7-0.

Phillips marched 67 yards in the second quarter, only to be held short on the Post eight and the Antelopes showed their biggest offensive burst. McGuire faked a punt, raced around right end and sped 40 yards down the right sidelines. But that drive petered out and Phillips took over.

Second Half Rout

Late in the quarter, Moore intercepted a McGuire pass on the Phillips 40 and advanced the ball to the Post 43. The Hawks went those 43 yards on seven plays, despite a 15-yard penalty for clipping, with Ussery toting the ball into pay territory. Williams again converted and the half ended with Phillips on the Post 22-yard marker.

The second half was a rout. The Blackhawks marched 59 yards for the third tally, after Eldridge had returned the kickoff 26 yards. Ussery dashed 28 yards for the touchdown. Williams converted.

Another drive resulted in the fourth touchdown, this time the Blackhawks covering 80 yards on eight plays. Braden tripped 22 yards, Moore went 11 and Ussery sprinted 30 yards to eat up the distance and Eldridge carried over.

Braden intercepted a McGuire pass just before the third quarter ended to start the fifth touchdown drive on its way, taking the ball on the Phillips 45 and going to the Post 39. Post recovered a fumble to break up the drive on the Antelope two-yard line, but two plays later, Billy Joe Snyder recovered a fumble and Braden carried over for the fifth touchdown.

The final touchdown came midway through the quarter when Williams intercepted a pass on the Post 30 and returned to the Post 11. Two plays later, Moore went over right tackle for the final tally.

Mythical 1-AA Teams Named

Bobby Brown On First Team

Bobby Brown, triple-threat Lubbock Westerner halfback, and James Garner, the Amarillo Sandies' great end, were unanimous first team selections for the 1948 Avalanche-Journal All-District 1-AA football team, tabulation of votes by district coaches and sports writers revealed.

Brown and Garner were named to a first team position on every ballot, and several of the mentors who cast votes remarked that the two gridders were "a couple of the best players in West Texas this year." Brown made more than 1,000 yards rushing this season against some of the top teams in the state, while Garner's pass-snagging and signal-calling sparked the Sandies to the District 1-AA championship.

Sandies Place Five

The Sandies dominated the first team selections, placing five players on the top eleven. Amarilloans voted posts included Tackle Bobby Moore, Guard Bobby Hudgins, Center Charles Sieber and Back Marvin McNeil. Sieber was generally rated as the top lineman in the district and McNeil failed to get a first team berth on only two ballots.

Pampa's Harvesters, who finished in third place in the district race, placed three men on the first eleven. End Derral Davis was runner-up to Garner in the voting, and Guard Phillip Payne and Back Jack Williams also landed positions. Williams was named to either the first or second team on every ballot and Davis ranked as one of the top ends in the state, garnered a place on every ballot.

Borger's Bulldogs were given two positions on the first team, with Howard Pilcher gaining a tackle slot and R. C. Dalton getting a backfield assignment. Brownfield and Plainview failed to place a player on the first team, the tabulation indicated, and Brown was Lubbock's only player on the featured eleven.

Lubbock Dominates Second Team

The Westerners dominated the second team, however with four gridders collecting enough votes to make the eleven. End Bob Rooker coasted into a second team spot with three first-team votes, and Joe Brock gained a tackle position. Morris Moyers was named to either the first or second team on every ballot and Davis ranked as one of the top ends in the state, garnered a place on every ballot.

Between The Lines...

By Joe Kelly

We were happy to hear Friday that the air of suspicion and quiescent beligerance at Texas Tech, so far as it regards the South Plains, has changed to a mellow acceptance and eager tolerance for the institution to serve as the center of the Hub of the South Plains. This was apparent by the quickness with which telegrams were dispatched to area teams that have a chance to advance to the quarter-final rounds in Class AA and Class A football in the state championships.

We were prepared to don the cudgels of sarcasm and cynicism, to goad both the third largest state institution and the Chamber of Commerce, for flagrant disregard of the sports interests of Lubbock, to say nothing of the South Plains. Indeed, we went so far as to cast direct aspersions on both Tech and the Chamber for what appeared to be complete disdain of such schools and football teams of Post, Lockney, Odessa, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Phillips, Monahans and Ballinger. We felt that here was an opportunity that doesn't come every year and that Lubbock should be in on it.

Having stirred up a storm of action, we are content to hope that at least one and maybe both of the games will be played here. Since this is being written on a Friday, we do not know the outcome, which may be carried elsewhere on these pages. But this we do know; Texas Tech and the Chamber of Commerce finally have joined hands to take a forward step, an effort that has been lacking sadly in the past.

Heretofore, Tech has tried to appeal to the residents of the South Plains without backing the efforts with anything tangible. Officials of the Chamber told this writer that they have been told, in the past, that Lubbock was for Lubbock and Texas Tech was for Tech; that there was no need for the two to work together. We think that both would be falling short of their duties if they continued with this distrust and dislike for each other. The Chamber can be one of Tech's best friends and vice versa. Working together, they can make Lubbock and Texas Tech grow. Working apart, they are like magnets placed so that positive poles are opposite.

But Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech's aggressive new president, realizes the value of friendship on the South Plains. He is firm in his belief that Tech needs Lubbock and the Plains as much as we need the institution. All have grown together and continued growth can only come through a quasi-partnership. Not all our interests are Tech's and vice versa. But there is a middle ground, where resources can be pooled jointly for the benefit of all.

It strikes us that Jones Stadium is one of the main pieces of common ground. Sports fans from the area supported the drive to erect a new stadium, when state funds would not make one possible. By the same token, Tech students could not begin to keep up the stadium without support from Lubbock and the Plains. On the other hand, the stadium belongs, in the sense of ownership, to Tech. The city cannot offer the stadium's use to area teams, or to other interested groups. But Tech can and should. It only stands idle after the regular grid season and a few high school games could not possibly inflict serious damage.

We also were happy to learn Friday that Tech intends to make a drastic change in the present method of making the stadium available. It can't come immediately, but will be taken care of in the first meeting of the board of directors. Granting the use of the stadium was placed in the hands of the board primarily to avoid nagging of Tech officials for its use. And a high price for its rental was placed on the stadium to discourage strictly commercial interests in trying to obtain it for just any venture. Since the demand by area schools, present Tech officials realize that current methods are not the wisest and that a happy medium can be reached.

There is a good deal of pride in the new stadium on the South Plains and the inhabitants of this sunny clime naturally feel that Tech belongs to them. There is a real affection for the institution. But as in any case of affection, there is bound to be criticism, harping, disagreement, abuse. That is only natural and healthy, so long as it does not become bitter. But also, as in any case of affection, it's all right for us to do the hollering. Let someone from outside side with us and raise his voice, we're against him in a flash and deadly loyal.

We will disagree with the actions taken by Tech officials on many occasions. They surely expect disagreement, for they know that not everyone can be pleased all the time, or even a large portion of it. We also will take the opportunity to praise them for what we think are wise moves. And we will remain happy if they display the same straightforward thinking they now are showing in the case of the stadium vs the people. Dr. Wiggins and Frank Junell, executive assistant to the president, both have shown a forward-looking attitude towards use of Jones Stadium and both appear eager to cooperate with Lubbock.

If they are receptive to suggestions and continue to show this cooperative spirit, we feel certain that Tech and Lubbock will benefit. Not that we expect them to take every suggestion and act on it. That would be impossible. But certainly, if they keep an open mind to the needs of the Plains, as well as their own, they are on the right path. We feel that, in the future, you will see greater cooperation and greater growth. We're happy to salute Tech and the Chamber of Commerce for at least offering Jones Stadium to our area schools for these important state championship games.

Mike Williamson To Address SBOA Meeting In San Angelo Next Week

SAN ANGELO, Dec. 4 (Special)—Mike Williamson, president of the Southwest Basketball Officials Association will hold a basketball rules interpretation meeting Dec. 12 at the San Angelus Hotel here.

The meeting will open at 2 p. m., and SBOA examinations will be given about 3:30 p. m. All officials and coaches in this area are urged to attend.

Southern Cal Ties Notre Dame, 14-14

Irish, Trojans Tie

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4. (INS)—A last minute pass interference in the end zone today saved Notre Dame from one of the biggest upsets since David whipped Goliath—and the Fighting Irish went on to tie Southern California, 14 to 14.

An excitement-weakened mob of 100,571 in massive Memorial Coliseum were privileged to witness what old-timers termed the greatest of 20 storied meetings between the intersectional arch foes.

But it was nothing less than a mighty moral victory for the inspired Trojans.

It was a vicious, bruising exhibition of elemental football. No less than four Notre Dame stars were helped from the field and star Irish Halfback Frank Tripucka was lugged away unconscious on a stretcher.

It was a masterful performance by the hopped-up Southern California forward wall that nearly snapped the Notre Dame string of 28 games without a defeat.

Martin Sparks Trojans

And it was a Southern California Irishman, Fullback Bill Martin, who wielded a one-man shillelah that helped the terrific Trojans register the most tremendous upset of the 1948 football season. Martin scored both touchdowns.

And shortly after the wilted crowd filed from the huge saucer, having watched a moral victory of earthquake proportions the stadium suddenly began rocking from a natural earthquake—as though it was a repercussion of the rugged mayhem committed earlier on the historic field.

The Irish, though out-charged and often out-played through the first half—as indeed they were through the remainder of the game—punched across their ini-

Odessa Blanks Wichita Falls

ODESSA, Dec. 4 (AP) — The Odessa Bronchos scored three touchdowns in the first 28 minutes and then played third and fourth stringers against the Wichita Falls Coyotes to win the bi-district class AA championship 20-0 here this afternoon.

A disappointing crowd of less than 17,000 watched as co-captain Jimmy Patterson paced the winners with a goal line plunge in the second period, 35-yard run early in the third and two extra points.

T. W. Harvey, 148-pound halfback, made the first Odessa touchdown on a 35-yard scoring scamper in the opening frame.

The Odessa line stopped the Coyote attack cold. All-State candidate Don Thompson, 190-pound tackle, repeatedly smashed in to spill Wichita Falls ball carriers before they had a good start.

The Coyotes, champions of district 2-AA, managed 14 first downs to Odessa's 12, but most of these were late in the game against Bronco substitutes, some of whom weigh less than 130 pounds.

Port Arthur Defeats Baytown Team, 9-0

BAYTOWN, Dec. 4. (AP)—A first quarter field goal by Cowboy Earl Hall and a fourth quarter touchdown by Don Parker today gave the Port Arthur Yellowjackets 9 to 0 victory over the Robert E. Lee Ganders, sending them into the quarterfinal round of the class AA schoolboy grid race.

Mayne Broussard blocked David Johnson's attempted quick kick in the opening minutes of play to set the stage for Hall's field goal from the Baytown nine.

The teams battled furiously until the last minute of play when Fred Haas intercepted Glenn Hill's pass on the Baytown 34 and returned to the Gander 19 yard line. From there the Jackets punched over with Parker and Haas alternating in carrying the ball.

Parker dived over from the one yard line on a fourth down try.

Austin's Maroons Take 27-7 Decision From San Benito

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (AP)—Austin's Maroons threw three passes today and completed all three for touchdowns to take a 27-7 decision from the San Benito Greyhounds before 8,000 fans in a class AA bi-district playoff.

Austin went 49 yards in eight plays in the first quarter. Billy Clemons passing the final 23 yards to Red Till. Coach Johnny Kitchen's team scored twice more before the half, going 33 yards after recovering a San Benito fumble, then converting an intercepted pass into another score.

Hill bucked from a yard out to climax one drive and an 18-yard pass from Hill to Clemons gave Austin a 21-0 lead at the half.

They scored again in the third quarter, Howard Zuch passing six yards to Jack Royder.

San Benito scored on the game's final play from scrimmage, a 21-yard pass from Robert Gylling to W. C. Elhannon completing a 93-yard drive.

Navarro And Wharton To Settle Texas Conference Grid Title

CORSICANA, Dec. 4 (AP) — Navarro and Wharton junior colleges will settle the championship of the Texas Conference Athletic Association.

Navarro yesterday pushed over three quick touchdowns in the third quarter and staved off a final period rally by Ranger to advance to the championship game on a 21-13 decision.

Sandies Will Go To Odessa

ODESSA, Dec. 4. (AP)—Odessa and Amarillo will play their quarter-finals game in the class AA schoolboy football race in Broncho stadium here next Saturday.

The site was decided by a flip of a half dollar. Howard Lynch, Amarillo coach, tossed the coin. Murry Fly, Odessa school superintendent, called "heads." And heads it was.

Odessa won its way to the game by beating Wichita Falls 20-0 today. Amarillo had a bye in the first round.

MONAHANS AND PHILLIPS PLAYOFF SITE TO BE DECIDED

AMARILLO, Dec. 4 (Special)—Officials of Monahans and Phillips High schools are expected to meet here today to decide the site and date of the state Class A quarterfinal game.

Monahans beat Ballinger Friday afternoon 33-28 to gain the quarter-final bracket, while Phillips routed Post 41-0 this afternoon to advance.

Coach Chesty Walker of Phillips today declined to predict the site of the game, but indicated that he might hold out for a toss of the coin. Winner of the toss might be allowed to name the site of the game and, should Coach Walker win, he probably would request the game for Phillips.

Coach Scroggins of Monahans is interested in playing the game at Lubbock, where the facilities of the Texas Tech stadium are avail-

Dizzy And Daffy Purchase Pioneers—Clovis

Deans Buy Pioneers

CLOVIS, N. M., Dec. 4. (Special)—The Deans, Paul and Jerome Herman, better known as Daffy and Dizzy in their heyday with the St. Louis Cardinals, have purchased the franchise of the Clovis Baseball club.

The papers for the transfer of the franchise from the Clovis Sports Association, original owners, were signed here yesterday.

Both the famous baseball brothers were here for the transaction and tentative plans were announced immediately. Dizzy will be chief scout for the Pioneers, touring the country for ball players. Daffy will be playing manager for the Pioneers and will take a regular turn on the mound.

Daffy will move to Clovis next month, bringing his wife and three children with him, while Dizzy will remain at his present home in Arkansas.

The Clovis franchise originally was transferred to W. T. Tulley of El Paso, but there was an escape clause in the contract which made it possible for the Clovis Sports association to cancel the business deal. Information obtained by the association indicated that they did not wish to continue the contract with Tulley and they cancelled their agreement.

The Dean brothers obtained the franchise in return for assuming all indebtedness connected with the club.

Paul said Saturday that "we own 11 ball players and they are all up for sale, including me." The brothers indicated that they would make a serious effort to provide Clovis with a championship club.

Both Can Tutor Club

Neither Dean is unfamiliar with managing baseball clubs, although Dizzy never actively was in the managerial end. But Daffy

Tech Cagers Edge SMU, 60-58

Jackson Paces Raider Victory

DALLAS, Dec. 4. (AP)—Texas Tech edged Southern Methodist 60-58 tonight to square their basketball series. SMU had won last night 57-45.

In the final 45 seconds Southern Methodist drew within two points of the Red Raiders, but Jiggs Jackson, who was high point man of the night with 17, flipped in a field goal to make the count 60-56. But the Mustangs came raging back and Jack Brown sank a field goal to again pull within two points of the Raiders.

Then, Southern Methodist committed two fouls and Tech elected to take the ball out of bounds and stall the final ten seconds as the Mustangs fought for the ball.

Lead Changed Four Times

This was the Mustangs' first loss in three starts.

The Ponies trailed all of the game, except for a brief period midway in the second half that saw the lead change hands four times.

Bill Gillespie knotted the count at 45-all, but missed a chance to put the Mustangs ahead when he connected on one of two free throws.

With 10 minutes and 45 seconds left, George Owen, reserve guard, pushed SMU ahead, 46 to 45, on a charity shot.

Jackson, who swished the nets from all angles on the fast break employed by the Raiders, put them back in the lead, 47 to 46, with a two-pointer.

Owen Puts Ponies In Lead

Owen put the Mustangs in front for the last time with a two-handed set shot to make the score board read, 48 to 46.

Charlie Lutz and Jack Brown, two outstanding sophomores, stole the limelight from lanky Johnny Zatopek, who had been the big noise in the previous two Mustang victories.

Greenberg Offers Job To Man Who Built Yanks

Eighty-Year-Old Ed Barrow May Join Cleveland Indians' Staff

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—Sportin' around:

Eighty-year-old Ed Barrow, one of the few authentic genuises of baseball, is looking for a job in the game. But that's not the incredible thing; the bewildering fact is that he may be on the verge of getting one, finally. I didn't think baseball was that smart.

Ed needs the money about as much as he needs another arm.

The grand old man who built the Yankees into the greatest power in baseball history is well-heeled. More importantly, he is in remarkably fine physical condition.

Barrow was leaving Toots Shor's the other day after the screening of Lew Fonseca's film of the 1948 World Series. (The picture is available for schools, clubs, etc., free.) Hank Greenberg touched him politely on the shoulder as Ed was stepping briskly into his waiting car.

"Hello, Mr. Barrow, I'm Hank Greenberg," the unmistakable ex-Detroit great and present part owner of the Indians said.

"Of course, Hank, how are you?" Ed said, giving him a strong handshake. They chatted a few minutes and then Ed grew quite serious. "Take my advice, Hank, and never retire. It's too hard on a man."

Ed stepped into the car as Hank said, "Would you like to go to work for us in Cleveland?"

Barrow bounded off the back seat of his car as if he had descended upon a tack. "You bet your life I would!" He said strongly and sincerely.

"Then I'll talk to Veeck and the others," Hank said.

"When you do," Ed replied, "Tell them that I've never been more serious about working than I am now."

Charley Einstein, our Chicago wizard, writes us a dream account of the 1958 meeting between Notre Dame and Michigan. This is his ectoplasmic lead:

"The mighty football teams of Notre Dame and Michigan, each winner of 125 consecutive games, yielded to an order from the United Nations today and faced each other on the gridiron."

After describing the crowd of 100,000 at Soldier Field and the transcontinental television hookup, Einstein dreams on:

"Credit for bringing the two teams together was claimed by a high official at the University of Chicago who asked to remain anonymous. He said he hit upon the idea three weeks ago, just after the Irish and the Wolverines each had won their 123rd consecutive game.

"'It occurred to me,' the official recounted modestly, 'that a Notre Dame-Michigan game would be a natural.'"

By 1958, Einstein relates, university bands will be so well trained that those of Notre Dame and Michigan will amuse the multitude by executing a maneuver in which they extract the cube root of 17.

He sees Notre Dame of the '58 vintage employing four quarterbacks. Michigan, by that time, will have perfected its spinner play to such a degree that the fullback begins revolving in the locker-room for 27 minutes before the kickoff. "By game-time he had acquired frightful momentum, and then, in a master stroke by the Michigan coaching staff, was installed at defensive tackle, where he was impressive."

Fans, of course, will long since have lost all contact with who's-got-the-ball. As a matter of fact, the deception in Charley's dream game is so great on the first play that the ball disappears completely.

"The security council," he concludes, "is looking in on the matter." Could be.

RHODES STAYS IN AAU

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—Mayor James A. Rhodes of Columbus, Ohio, will serve for another year as president of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States, along with all other officers of the organization. The nominating committee today selected all incumbent officials as the slate for tomorrow's election winding up the 60th annual AAU convention.

Television sets have been installed in old folk's hostels in East Ham, England.

Shrine Tilt Team Named

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4 (INS)—The East team for the 24th annual East-West Shrine football classic at San Francisco on New Year's Day was completed today.

Following the Notre Dame-Southern California battle today in Los Angeles, shrine game officials disclosed that three Irish stars were tabbed to perform in the annual grid contest.

They were Quarterback Frank Tripucka, Fullback John Panelli and Guard Bill Fischer.

Tripucka was seriously injured in the clash with the Trojans today, and was lugged from the playing field unconscious on a stretcher. Doctors said he was suffering from shock, a bruised kidney and possible rib fractures.

It was doubtful if the Irish star would be able to accept the invitation and don a uniform for the San Francisco contest

The compelte 24-man East team included:

Ends: Warren Huey, Michigan State; Ed McNeill, Michigan; Abner Wimberly, Louisiana State; Bob Sponaugle, Pennsylvania; Dale Armstrong, Dartmouth.

Tackles: Phil O'Reilly, Pardue; Ralph Kohl, Michigan; Al De Rogatis, Duke; John Finley, Penn State.

Guards: Bill Fischer, Notre Dame; Dave Templeton, Ohio State; John Simon, Penn State; Dolph Tokarcsyk, Penn.

Centers: Richard Woodard, Iowa; Warren Beson, Minnesota.

Backs: Francis Tripucka and John Panelli, Notre Dame; Gene Derricotte, Michigan; Bob Dean, Cornell; Gene Rossides and Lou Kusserow, Columbia; Frank Burns, Rutgers; Joe Sullivan, Dartmouth; Everette Faunce, Minnesota.

Mexico will start a big campaign to wipe out the hoof and mouth disease.

Bambino's Daughter Files Protest

Fight Developing Over Ruth's Will

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (INS) — The New York Daily Mirror reported tonight that a "bitter fight" is developing over the will of George Herman "Babe" Ruth, late home-run king.

The copyrighted story in the Sunday Mirror said the Babe's older adopted daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Helen Ruth Sullivan, 27, has retained an attorney in an effort to abridge what she considers unfair provisions of the will.

The newspaper said the attorney is Harold T. Garrity, chairman of the Westchester County (N. Y.) Democratic committee.

Ruth, who set numerous hitting records as a member of the New York Yankees, died of cancer last Aug. 16.

His will, dated one week prior to his death in New York's Memorial hospital, was typical of the slugger in that it remembered the kids of America—his stoutest fans.

The Babe directed that the Babe Ruth Memorial Foundation, a philanthropic non-profit organization, was to get 10 per cent of his fortune upon the death of his wife, Clara. He left the bulk of his estate to her.

The Babe also directed that his two daughters are each to get 45 per cent after Mrs. Ruth's death. They are Dorothy, adopted with his first wife, Helen Woodford Ruth, and Mrs. Julia Ruth Flanders, adopted with Clara.

Each daughter, the Mirror said, also was bequeathed $5,000 in cash. The Mirror story continued:

"Aside from $11,000 in additional cash bequests, most of the remaining money reposes in a $400,000 trust fund, the annual income from which now goes to the widow. She also got his household furnishings, paintings, stock holdings, a motorboat and other "odds and ends."

"Yesterday (Saturday) Garrity told the Mirror that Dorothy will not accept her $5,000 cash bequest, because to do so would be to subscribe to the spirit of the will, which defers the major part of her legacy until after the widow's death.

Copenhagen, Denmark, will install steel doors and alarm devices in its prisons.

Evansville Bowl Winner

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. 4 (INS)—Missouri Valley college lost the first annual Refrigerator Bowl game to Evansville college today, 13 to 7, in Evansville. It was Missouri Valley's first defeat in 41 straight games.

Joe Unfried, Evansville quarterback, scored the first touchdown on a spectacular 85-yard punt runback. The second Evansville tally was scored by Frank Endreff on a short plunge.

Ray Pendergraf gave the Vikings their only tally in the final five minutes of play on a smash through center.

The W. A. Carson award for the most valuable player was given to Gene Gogel, Evansville back, after the game.

Evansville was co-champion with Bowling Green, Ky. In the Ohio Valley Conference this season.

Wrestle Royal Is Set At Arena

The wrestle royal makes its return to Sled Allen's wrestling arena Wednesday night, with two pairs of bitter opponents lined up to face each other in the main event.

Dick Trout and Dory Funk were challenged last week by Bennie Trudell and Al Getz, after Trout had gotten the best of Getz. The argument ended, apparently, with the challenge, but later on, it broke out again. The outcome of the argument was a team match with the winners taking the cash and the losers wrestling for free.

In the preliminary event, Eddie Gideon returns to take on Olan Boynton in what promises to be a spirited and interesting match.

Gideon has been wrestling longer than Boynton, but last week these two men fought to a draw in the preliminary bout. They will be back to try and settle their argument, both men asking for the rematch.

The aggressive team of Getz and Trudell should win the feature tag team match, but Trout and Funk are a pair of agile, able wrestlers who never know when they are beaten. Trout came back last week to pin Getz, after the latter had punished Trout severely.

The matches begin Wednesday night at 8 and tickets will be on sale at Wylie's Drug store from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Lubbock High's Westerner cagers should provide Amarillo and Pampa with plenty of competition this season, on the basis of their showing against Lamesa and Sundown last weekend. The Westerners have several tall boys on the squad, as well as plenty of speed. Coach Roy Morris will have to do a lot of work to get several of the inexperienced youngsters ready to play top-flight teams, but if work can do the job—they'll be ready.

The Westerner quintet will probably not hit its full stride until about Christmas, since three or four of the top Lubbock cage prospects have been busy on the football squad for the last four months and will require some time to get their basketball timing and "shooting eye" back. But once the squad reaches its top level, the results are going to be interesting to see.

Several downstate sports writers are probably hiding in their hall closets today, following the schoolboy grid playoffs. El Campo, picked by numerous authorities to win the state Class A crown, fell to unknown Aldine, and mighty Monahans had a close shave with Ballinger. Then, too, Denison's victory over Austin of El Paso in the Class AA playoff was not predicted in many quarters. To top things off, Notre Dame finally was tied. We still think the flip of a coin is as good as a "dope sheet" or comparative scores.

Several weeks ago we carried a story that plastic football helmets would be barred following the 1949 season as "dangerous to the players." But a release by the MacGregor Goldsmith sompany refutes the earlier story. The company says that no ban has been placed on manufacture of the plastic headgear as yet, but the Rules committee has asked a subcommittee to present them with some definite recommendations next winter.

The company also denies charges that the helmets are dangerous. The report states:

"Numerous tests show conclusively that there is relatively no difference in the matter of actual hardness among the molded fibre leather-covered helmet, the molded fibre crown helmet and the plastic helmet. The annual reports of the Football Coaches committee on injuries show that the percentage of injuries in relationship to the number of men taking part in the sport, are exceedingly small. Furthermore, of this small ratio of injuries, the greater number are to the knees and ankles."

Texas Mines Eleven Crushes University Of Hawaii, 49-6

HONOLULU, Dec. 4. (AP)—Paced by the brilliant Fred Wendt, the Sun Bowl-bound Texas Miners today crushed the University of Hawaii 49 to 6.

Fullback Wendt scored two touchdowns and placekicked six successive extra points, taking first place among the season's college scorers. He boosted his total to 162 points.

'Bama Beats Auburn Team

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 4. (INS)—The University of Alabama and Alabama Polytechnic Institute resumed gridiron relations in Birmingham today, and the Crimson Tide registered an overwhelming 55-0 victory.

Crimson Tide was touchdown bound in the first quarter. Al Lary scored first for Bama with a pass from Gordon Pettus after the ball was recovered from an Auburn fumble. Ed Salem converted.

The Auburn Tigers suffered a case of fumbles throughout the game—most of them being made when Alabama was in a nice scoring position.

A pass from Ed Salem to Clem Welch in the second quarter was good for another touchdown after Tide moved down to Auburn territory. Salem converted again.

Welch Sparks Tide

Clem Welch, a 'Bama back virtually on the third string, shined as both runner and receiver in the second quarter. He took a pass from Cochran and made it to the Auburn six. In the next play Welch carried the ball over. It was 21 to 0.

In the kickoff starting the second half, receiving Auburn fumbled and Alabama recovered. Two plays later, Salem ran over for a touchdown. He also converted.

Another Salem maneuver—a pass to Steiner was good for a touchdown. Salem converted his fifth straight point.

Texas Conference All-Stars Named

ABILENE, Dec. 4 (AP) — McMurry's championship club placed five men on the Texas Conference All-Conference team selected by coaches and announced tonight.

Three players from Howard Payne made the team and Austin, Hardin and Abilene Christian placed one man each on the All-Star eleven.

W. B. McDanielgn Conference secretary, announced the team.

The first team:

Clemson Thumps Terriers, 20 To 9

Tigers Drub Citadel

CHARLESTON, S. C., Dec. 4 (INS)—Clemson wound up its 1948 conference season today by giving the Citadel a round 20 to 9 thumping before 17,000 unhappy partisans in Charleston.

The game marked the dedication of Citadel's brand new Johnson Hagood stadium.

Clemson, the south's only unbeaten and untied eleven next goes to Jacksonville, Fla., where, on New Year's Day, the Tigers clash with the University of Missouri.

Clemson, rated a four touchdown favorite over the Citadel Toy Terriers, didn't get moving until midway in the second quarter. Then a sustained ground attack brought the ball to the Citadel eleven where Ray Mathews carried through left tackle for the first score.

Mathews Paces Tigers

The McKeesport, Pa., sophomore back, scored the Tigers' remaining two markers, as well, to gain the Southern Conference scoring title for the season. Prior to this game, Mathews was second to North Carolina's Charlie Justice.

Mathews second tally came late in the same period on another steady effort by the bigger Clemson team.

The final score came in the fourth quarter on a pass from all-American Bobby Gage to Mathews.

BADMINTON MEET OPENS

DALLAS, Dec. 4 (AP) — The Texas Amateur Athletic Federation's annual Badminton tournament starts here today. Finals will be held tomorrow.

QB Club Will Meet At Tech Gymnasium

The Lubbock Quarterback club will meet at 8 Monday night in the gym at Texas Tech, instead of the Hilton Hotel as usual.

Pictures of the Hardin-Simmons game Nov. 27 in Abilene will be the feature of the meeting, probably the final one of the year.

Coach Dell Morgan, members of the Texas Tech coaching staff and the Lubbock High school coaching staff, headed by Coach C. R. "Pat" Pattison, also will be present.

Oil Belt Semi-Pro League To Hold Meeting At Hilton

The executive committee of the Oil Belt Semi-Pro Baseball league will hold an important meeting Dec. 12 at 10 a.m. in the Hilton Hotel.

Joe Holmes, president, announced that the meeting would begin promptly and that lunch would be served at noon.

Final reports on the season and future plans for the league will be the principal topics discussed and the election of officers will follow.

AAU Convention Ends Peacefully

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—The 60th national convention of the Amateur Athletic Union moved onward a harmonious climax today when the AAU agreed to an armistice with the Amateur Hockey Association over the bitter dispute that almost wrecked the last winter Olympics.

The spirit of peace, achieved in the hockey squabble behind the locked doors of a smoky hotel room, spread to the convention floor, where the delegates approved all of the sites for 1949 championships—including the controversial basketball tournament—without a single fuss.

Today's convention business was overshadowed by the surprise announcement of a compromise in the hockey situation.

Animals Show No Fear At First Sight Of Man

Wild Game Is Tame Insofar As Reaction To Man Is Concerned

By HART STILWELL
Special Correspondent

One of the strange contradictions in the world of wildlife is the fact that the truly wild game is actually almost tame—that is, insofar as its reaction to man is concerned.

People who have never been in parts of the world where game is quite plentiful and is seldom hunted by man can hardly believe this. But I've seen it, and right here in Texas.

Back in the days of my childhood, between 1908 and 1912, I lived on a farm in the lower Rio Grande valley. My father cleared the first tract of land in an expanse of 60,000 acres of brush country. There was a little hunting along the fringes of this brushland, but when we first moved onto our farm, nobody hunted near us for there was no need penetrating that far into the brush to get game.

Looking back on those days, I realize the truth of the saying that wild game must learn to be wild, insofar as its relation to man is concerned.

On that farm of ours, buried in the midst of 60,000 acres of brushland, game was actually a nuisance.

The deer sneaked in and ate most of the young vegetables, even though my father and older brother took turns standing guard at night and shot deer until we were sick of the taste of venison. The wildcats and coyotes would break into our chicken pen no matter what we did in an effort to check them.

There were wild turkeys all around the place, and frequently I saw them when I was wandering around in the brush. They sometimes stood and looked at me with curiosity. Then they would go on with the business of feeding.

The situation was much the same in regard to all wildlife—it was almost tame, except for those migratory birds, such as ducks, which had a chance to pick up a little learning along the road.

Bob whites came in and fed with the chickens. The whitewing doves made growing grain a hopeless task, for they would swarm onto a field and pick off the grain, even though my father and brother tried to keep them away by shooting them. It was useless—there were too many of them.

Such creatures as mountain lions and wildcats and coyotes were entirely too "tame" to suit me. Once I walked up to the bank of a canal to get some water, and there, across the ten-foot canal from me, was a mountain lion. He looked me over casually, evidently measuring me as a prospective meal.

On several occasions I had coyotes stand their ground and simply watch as I walked past. The only really "wild" creatures were old longhorn cattle that had run wild, and the bulls were a menace to man and beast alike.

That condition changed rapidly as the land was cleared. Some of the game, such as the whitewings, quail, rabbits, coyotes, and a few others, adapted themselves, after a fashion, to the march of man with his plow and gun.

But others, such as the blue rock pigeon, the turkey, the deer, the mountain lion, vanished from the scene. They could not adjust to a changed habitat.

All of this brings up the fact that throughout the vast expanse of Texas, the really good hunting for those birds and animals which will not adapt themselves to the advance of agriculture is found in those parts of the state where the terrain remains almost untouched—the hill country, the few remaining forests of East Texas, the mountains, and some of the big ranches of South Texas.

And even there, the game has, in most instances, been brought back by man. The turkey and deer of the hill country reached a dangerously low point before ranchmen realized the value of what they had, in the form of leases, and launched a conservation program.

Now the turkey is back with us in moderate numbers, although he still has a long way to go.

But he is getting better educated every year, and hence better able to help in the business of survival. He is an entirely different bird from the one I used to see wandering around in the brush in the lower Rio Grande valley. In fact, he is so doggone well educated that he causes me to lose my patience when I venture into the hill country after him.

And if you want a clear illustration of this, then go into some parts of Mexico where there is little hunting—such as the ranch

LADY AND GOBBLERS—The successful and unidentified young huntress shown above is holding up two specimens of the once plentiful wild turkey. This year America's largest game bird is said to be hard to find and even harder to shoot. Since white men came to Texas with their guns, the birds have not only become scarce but have become educated to man and his ways. Turkeys were once so numerous that they constituted a nuisance to the early settlers.

H-SU Cards Cage Tourney

ABILENE, Dec. 4. (AP)—Eight teams have accepted invitations to the second annual Hardin-Simmons university high school basketball tournament here Friday and Saturday.

The eight competing teams will be Poly of Fort Worth, last year's winner; Brownwood, Lamesa, San Angelo, Stephenville, Plainview, Coleman and Abilene.

Only three of the teams will be newcomers to the tourney. They are Brownwood, Stephenville and Coleman. The remainder competed last year. Second and third place winners will both be back in Plainview and Abilene respectively.

Poly is expected to be strong in the upper bracket while Stephenville and Plainview will vie for the favorite's role of the lower bracket in a Friday night tussle.

Four games are slated for Friday night, four for Saturday morning, and three Saturday night. The latter three battles will decide consonlation, championship, and third place winners.

The Friday night contests will pit Lamesa against San Angelo, 7 p. m.; Coleman against Abilene, 8 p. m.; Polytechnic against Brownwood, 9 p. m., and Stephenville against Plainview in the final at 10 p. m.

Sammy Snead All Set To Open Winter Campaign In Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 4 (AP) — Slammin' Sammy Snead, with a better grip on his nerves and those "puttin' jitters," will open his winter campaign in the $10,000 Miami Open Dec. 9-12.

The Hot Springs, Va., professional golfer, dividing his time between a dish of chocolate ice cream and a game of checkers, said in an interview that his layoff from competitive golf this fall has "done me a lot of good."

"I don't say that those puttin' jitters are all gone. I haven't put them to the test yet. But I do know that I'm a lot calmer than I used to be."

BEARDEN WAS CLOSEST RIVAL

Braves' Shortstop Alvin Dark Named As Rookie Of The Year

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Shortstop Alvin Dark, whose timely hitting and accomplished fielding was a major factor in the Boston Braves' march to the National league pennant, today was named the 1948 Rookie of the Year by the Baseball Writers' Association of America.

The drawling, 25-year-old Dark from Lake Charles, La., whose .322 batting average was fourth best in the National league last season, won 27 votes out of a possible 48 from the same two special committees of baseball writers, embracing both leagues, who voted for the most valuable players recently.

It marked the second Rookie of the Year award captured by Dark in as many seasons. Last winter, the loose-limbed ex-football star from Louisiana State university won the American Association's rookie award after hitting .303 for the Milwaukee Brewers.

Dark won the current title hands downs. His closest rival was southpaw Gene Bearden of Cleveland who pulled eight votes.

Bearden, 28-year-old former chattel of the New York Yankees who won 20 games for the Indians last season and then added two more triumphs in the World Series, polled one more vote than outfielder Richie Ashburn of the Philadelphia Phillies. Speedster Ashburn, who batted .333 in 117 games before breaking his hand in August, received seven votes.

Lefty Lou Brissie, 14-game winner with the Philadelphia Athletics, was named on three ballots and first baseman Billy Goodman of the Red Sox, who batted .312, also received three votes.

It was the National league committee of writers who swung the award to Dark. The slender six-foot shortstop received 21 of their 24 votes, the remaining three going to Ashburn.

Bearden was the choice of eight writers from the American league committee while Dark received six of their votes. Ashburn received the votes of four A.L. baseball scribes while Brissie and Goodman each received three.

Alvin Sparked Brewers

Dark, who played baseball, basketball and football at L.S.U., received a $40,000 bonus for signing with the Braves in 1946.

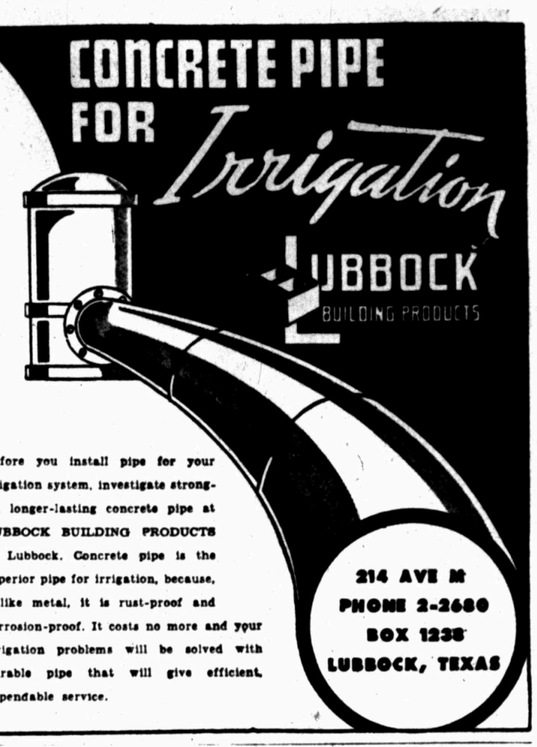

Dark played in only a handful of games for the Braves during 1946 and showed well at the plate. His fielding, however, was somewhat erratic and in 1947, he was sent to Boston's number one farm—Milwaukee.

Hustling Alvin sparked the Brewers both at bat and in the field and virtually was handed a first string job with Boston when he reported to the Braves last spring. Veteran Eddie Stanky, acquired for the purpose of helping Dark, worked alongside him at second base and the two clicked right off the bat.

"You never have to tell Alvin anything twice," Stanky said at the beginning of the 1948 campaign. "A boy with his brains and ambition is bound to make it."

Dark did—with something to spare.

This year marked the second that the Baseball Writers Association conducted a Rookie of the Year poll. Jackie Robinson, Brooklyn's talented negro infielder, was named in 1947.

Last Minute Pass Interference Saves Notre Dame From Big Upset

tial score on the third play of the second period.

Tripucka Aerials To Hart

Tripucka, on his own 45, dodged a swarm of Trojan attackers and let loose with a lobbing aerial to gargantuan Leon Hart, the Irish right end, who snagged the pigskin on the Southern California 39 and tripped like a trapeze artist the rest of the distance to payoff land.

Steve Oracko calmly booted the extra point—and the tensed throng started to believe that the pregame odds of 20 points on the Irish would endure.

The third quarter was scoreless, although Southern California threatened three times by recovering Notre Dame fumbles deep in scoring territory. But somehow they lacked enough moxie at those moments to tally.

Then the Trojans rose to the heights they had been threatening to attain all afternoon.

Jumping Jack Kirby intercepted Williams' pass on the Irish 42. Dean Dill connected with Kirby on the Notre Dame 17. Dill couldn't pass on the next play, but scampered to the five.

Two plays later Mr. Martin smashed through a hole that loomed larger than the grand canyon to score standing up. Dill converted, and it was an even heat ball game.

Shadows were deepening across the field, and it looked as though the Trojans had achieved the impossible—an upset tie. Then Southern California suddenly astounded the aroused audience by jumping into a 14 to 7 lead.

It transpired when Dill took an Irish punt on the N. D. 46. Kirby barreled to the 31. Dill passed to End Ernie Tolman on the 18 and on the next play skittered to the 13. Martin went to the 6 and then plopped into the end zone.

While the crowd bellowed, big Jim Bird, 235-pound tackle, planted a great big kiss on Martin's grimy grin. And then Dill converted again.

Piling climax on anti-climax Bill Gay took the ensuing Trojan kickoff and ran 83 yards to the Southern California 13. Williams heaved a bulls-eye pass to Gay in the end zone—but officials ruled interference. The pigskin was placed on the Trojan one and elegant Bill Sitko smashed across. Oracko kicked the point and 40 seconds later it was all over.

Fourteen to fourteen!

Notre Dame gained 230 yards on the ground to a mere 74 for the Trojans, but the Southern Californians completed 17 of 31 passes to an additional 130 yards, while Notre Dame clicked on five of 16 for 74 yards through the ozone.

KANSAS RELAY DATE SET

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 4. (U.P.)—The 24th running of the Kansas relays was set today for April 23. Bill Eastern, meet director and University of Kansas track coach, said he mailed announcement cards to 500 colleges and universities throughout the nation.

All-New Mexico Loop First Team Is Named

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Dec. 4 (AP) — Sul Ross, Conference grid champion, placed four men on the All-New Mexico Conference first team for 1948.

Coaches picked the team yesterday at the annual Conference meeting.

Members of the Conference are Sul Ross of Alpine, Tex., Adams State or Alamosa, Colo., Panhandle A&M of Goodwell, Okla., and these New Mexico schools—Eastern New Mexico College of Portales, New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell, Highlands university of Las Vegas, New Mexico Teachers of Silver City and St. Michael's college of Santa Fe.

Coaches voted Sul Ross' Ted Scown, nation's leading individual scorer, and Lawrence Orr, Adams State, as the Conference's most outstahding players. They are halfbacks. Tackle John Waldrum, Sul Ross, was voted the best lineman.

All Conference selections:

First team—ends, John Nelson, Adams; Bob Mathis, Sul Ross; tackles, John Waldrum, Sul Ross; Ed Watkins, Highlands; guards, Frank Barton, Sul Ross; Paul Ritchey, Panhandle; center, Archie Arnett, NMMI; quarterback Mike Stimack, Adams; halfbacks, Ted Scown, Sul Ross; Lawrence Orr, Adams; fullback, Maurice Willis, NMMI.

Second team included—end, James Cleveland, Sul Ross; tackle, Dale Garner, Sul Ross, quarterback, Bob Higdon, Sul Ross; fullback, I. M. Harcel, Sul Ross.

Honorable mention included Sul Ross' Hal Battle, Thurman White, Otis Parks, Charles Laffoon, Joe Sanchez, Mickey McDonald.

Wild Game

where turkeys stood and looked with curiosity at hunters on foot. They had always seen men on horseback, not on foot, and the hunter on foot merely intrigued them.

It is sometimes startling to notice how quickly these wild creatures learn, and how they change their habits. When I was a boy, the whitewing dove always flew over in easy range, at a moderate speed, and in a fairly straight line. The bird has learned a lot in the past thirty years. Now as soon as the guns start booming in the opening day of the season, the whitewing puts on a show almost as tricky as that of the mourning dove, which long ago learned to adapt himself to some of the ways of the man with a gun.

The whitewing has made those changes within the span of my own memory.

And the turkey. Well, he's a far better educated bird than he used to be. If you doubt it, just go into the hill country and try to find a turkey roost. You may do it, but you'll know you've been through some rugged country.

Mythical 1-AA

ed as a guard and Back Donald Decker received enough votes to move into the secondary.

Plainview placed End Don Roberts and Back Bill Blair on the second team while Borger gained recognition for Guard Charles Chambless and Back Jerry Glass. Pampa put Tackle Ralph Hutsell and Center Bill Runyon on the team, and Brownfield's Bill Tankersley was named to the backfield.

Honorable mentions were voted to the following players:

Ends— Teddy Vaught, Lubbock; Tommy McCord, Borger; James LeNevue, Amarillo; Joe Scott, Brownfield, and Davis, Plainview.

Tackles— Davis, Pampa; Phillips, Borger; Chaney, Plainview; and Troop, Pampa.

Guards— McClain, Plainview; Billings, Brownfield; Merle Burchett, Lubbock; Jack Hensley, Lubbock; Hill, Borger; English, Borger.

Centers— Hall, Borger; Taylor, Pampa.

Backs— Malcolm Young, Lubbock; Wayne Stroud, Lubbock; Charles Priolo, Amarillo; Wesley Kieth, Pampa; Marlin Miller Plainview.

operated the Ottawa (Can.) Baseball club of the Border League, a Class C loop in New York and Canada, in 1946. Under his leadership, the Nationals won the Border Loop crown and also the Shaughnessy playoffs.

Paul still is capable of pitching effective ball. He has lost much of his former blazing speed, but retains a side-arm delivery with which he baffles batters.

The Deans read in The Sporting News that the Clovis franchise was for sale and followed up immediately. Negotiations have been continuing for the past few weeks.

REGION 4-B GAME SLATED

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 4. (AP)—Rising Star and Hermleigh will clash here next Friday night for the region 4 class B schoolboy football championship. Rising Star beat Valley Mills 12-10 last night to advance to the regional finals.

Lamar Beats Thomas Jefferson, 13 To 12

HOUSTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Undefeated Lamar of Houston moved into the final round of the Big City schoolboy football championship today by defeating Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio, 13 to 12, before a crowd of 9219.

A charging Lamar line blocked a Jefferson extra point attempt in the closing minutes to prevent a tie game and to gain the spot in the Conference finals next week against Arlington Heights of Fort Worth.

A tie would have sent Jefferson into the finals in that the Mustangs led three to two on penetrations and 12 to 9 on first downs.

A 73 yard punt return by S. M. Meeks had reduced the Lamar lead to 12.

Lamar, playing without its star back, Bill Chanslor, injured in the opening minutes, ran up a 13 to 6 halftime lead as Sammy Hamilton completed a 22-yard pass scoring play by taking a lateral from End George Pontikes and Larry Graham passed to Lewis Cutrer for a 30-yard touchdown.

Phillips Game

able, but no definite statement has been made yet.

Lubbock would be the virtual halfway point for both Monahans and Phillips. In addition, it would be an entirely neutral field, since neither team has played there this season.

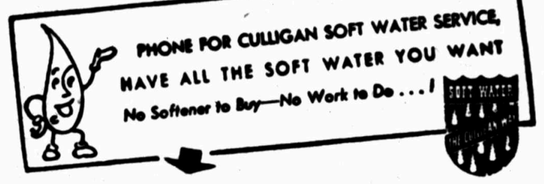

An announcement is expected sometime today, after the officials meet. Both schools received telegrams of invitation from Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Tech, to play the game there. And the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce also extended an invitation. Moreover, the Lubbock Jaycees wired both schools that they would take over sale of tickets in Lubbock, as well as other details in connection with the game.

GROUP HITS LACK OF UNIFICATION

Marshall Plan Credited With Boosting European Production

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 — The congressional foreign aid committee reported today the Marshall plan has boosted western European industrial and agricultural production, but that real economic unification is lacking.

The joint congressional watchdog committee asserted in a survey of progress under the European recovery program:

1. There is some doubt as to the future of the committee of European cooperation, the organization set up by ERP recipients to integrate their recovery plans.

Production Is Up

2. That European production of bread grains, coarse grains, fats and oils, sugar and meats in 1948-49 will equal or surpass the pre-war production.

3. The United States so far has contracted for $18,000,000 worth of strategic materials in short supply in this country from the Marshall plan nations.

The report was drafted under the direction of Charles S. Dewey, the watchdog committee's agent-general, and was prepared in collaboration with ECA administrator Paul G. Hoffman and other ECA officials.

On the side of progress, the report listed:

An increased bread ration in France and Italy.

Rations Increased

An increase of the normal consumer ration in Germany from 1,550 to 1,850 calories, and an increase in the fats and oil ration from 100 grams to 500 grams a month.

Production of a million tons of fertilizer in Europe this year, as compared with 750,000 tons last year.

A 10 per cent increase in electric power production.

Operation of the French oil refining industry at 90 per cent of prewar capacity.

An increase of steel production in participating countries by 20 per cent over 1947 totals, bringing steel production for the year six per cent above the target set by ECA.

Unification Lacking

Rebuilding of half of the 4,000 bridges destroyed in Italy during the war, and the rebuilding of track so that the Italian railway system is now operating at 90 per cent of prewar efficiency.

At the same time, however, the watchdog committee said that "to what extent the OEEC organization and accomplishments so far represent a real unification of western Europe is difficult to determine."

It was pointed out that serious disagreements have arisen among the principal western European governments regarding recovery policy. It said:

"It should be pointed out that the United Kingdom is charged unofficially by representatives of other participating nations with not going 'all out' to bring about European unification . . ."

The committee said apparently Great Britain was dubious as to "whether she would be better off to base her future on her leadership of the British empire or whether she would throw in her lot with western Europe." The report continued:

"Furthermore, the political uncertainties within France have made it impossible for that country to play the role in the OEEC which her size and location would indicate she should."

Reburial Services For War Victim Scheduled At Lipan

LIPAN, Dec. 4. (Special)—Reburial services for Pfc. James D. Cummings, who was killed in action in eastern France on Dec. 14, 1944, will be held here Saturday.

Pfc. Cummings was killed while serving with the 79th infantry division.

Survivors include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Cummings, and a sister, Mary, all of Lubbock; and the paternal grandmother, Mrs. T. H. Cummings of Lipan.

NEW INVENTION SAVES FINISH—C. E. Gray, who operates a service station and parking lot at 1301 Ave. J, exhibits the G. & B. protector, his invention to protect automobiles from being scratched when a gasoline pump nozzle is used to fill the tank. The protector is a molded rubber device that fits over the portion of the nozzle that touches a car. Gray and O. D. Bingham, partners in promoting the gadget, have applied for a patent and plan to distribute it through oil agencies to filling stations at a retail price of about $1.55. Gray got the idea for the device about six months ago when he noticed that many cars were scratched by the gasoline nozzles. (Staff Photo).

Noted Blind Inventor Succumbs In Houston

HOUSTON, Dec. 4. (U.P.) — Edward Hanak, sr., whose 25 years of blindness only strengthened his vision and keen wit, died early today in a hospital here.

The 72-year-old inventor and mechanical engineer had lived in a world of darkness since 1923, when a crucible of melted metal exploded as he worked in his laboratories.

Despite his handicap, international fame came to Hanak through his invention of the conveyor-elevator used in the cotton industry throughout the world.

To his employes at the Hanak Conveyor and Elevator Co. here, Hanak was known as the sharp-minded, expressive "boss," who went up and down plant ladders as though he could see every step. Fellow Rotarians knew him as the witty, conscientious member who never missed a meeting.

At his side during all his troubles was the British-born wife who insisted they be married ever after the explosion that took her fiance's sight. Margaret Gardner came from London to marry Hanak, and was his "eyes" throughout their married life. She combined her knowledge of nursing with a newly acquired knowledge of engineering, and was Hanak's consultant on many projects.

Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

Railroad Engineer Awarded $100,000 For Loss Of Leg

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 4. (INS) A federal court jury today awarded a Southern Pacific railroad engineer $100,000 for loss of his leg in an accident.

The amount was said to be one of the largest ever awarded for such an accident.

The engineer is Gary T. Guthrie of Yuma, Ariz. He caught his leg in a safe behind a switch in Sentinel, Ariz., in October, 1947, and was unable to prevent the train cutting the leg off.

HST Angrily Denies Battleship Missouri To Go Into Mothballs

By ROBERT G. NIXON
INS Staff Correspondent

HAMPTON ROADS, Va., Dec 4 — President Truman today angrily shattered reports that the battleship Missouri—on which the Japanese surrender was signed—will be put into mothballs.

There was more high Army and Navy brass on the deck of the "Big Mo" than at any time since Gen. MacArthur presided over the Japanese surrender as the President told newsmen:

Sharply Denies Report

"Some smart aleck who poses as a spokesman of the Navy has stated the Missouri will be taken out of commission.

"The Missouri will not be taken out of commission.

"That is as emphatic as I can make it.

"I speak as the President of the United States.

"You can make that as strong as you want to."

The story that the 45,000-ton Missouri, named for Mr. Truman's home state, would be decommissioned was published yesterday in a Washington, D. C., newspaper.

Mr. Truman came to the East coast naval base at Hampton Roads for ceremonies in which the state of Missouri presented a $10,000 silver service to the battleship.

The President, then a United States senator from Missouri, commissioned the ship at Brooklyn Navy yard on June 11, 1944. With him today at the ceremonies were Mrs. Truman and daughter Margaret, who had christened the Missouri January 29, 1944.

After the ceremonies, the chief executive walked over from the "surrender deck" to where correspondents were standing and said:

"Get your men together here. I've got an important announcement to make."

He then asserted that the Missouri will remain with the fleet in active service as long as he has the authority as President to see to it.

He described the ship as "a symbol of might in war and peace."

Her sister ships, the Iowa and the New Jersey, have joined the reserve fleet.

The President, his family and guests cruised to Hampton Roads overnight from Washington in the presidential yacht Williamsburg. The rail of the Missouri was manned by 1,400 crew members and officers as the President came aboard.

Rain that had lashed the bay during the night and morning stopped and the cloudy skies lifted as the President arrived. Mr. Truman answered reporters who called to him that "Truman Weather" was prevailing again:

"I made a little bet that the sun would shine before I boarded the Missouri."

Mr. Truman is due back in Washington at 10 a.m. Sunday.

BAPTIST LEADER—Andrew Q. Allen, director of public relations for the Baptist General Convention of Texas, has accepted the position as state Baptist Sunday School secretary. He succeeds Dr. G. S. Hopkins, who will retire Dec. 31 after 23 years as a state Sunday School leader. Allen is a native of Petersburg.

Woman Donates $5 To Jester For Purchase Of Texas Flags

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—A recent statement from Gov. Beauford Jester that his office was finding it difficult to finance the necessary purchase of Texas flags to meet the flood of requests has borne $5 worth of fruit.

A spokesman for the governor's office revealed today that Mrs. James G. Hooper of Rockport sent a check for $5 to start a "fund for supplying Texas flags to persons over the world who write the governor asking for them."

Jester said Mrs. Hooper's $5 would be used to purchase a flag for the Yokohama Service club, No. 15. Enlisted men there recently wrote the governor asking for a flag from the Lone Star state.

Former Lubbock Man Completes Air Training Course In Georgia

FORT BRAGG, N. C., Dec. 4. (Special)—Rct. John L. Gay, 19, son of Mrs. Ella Gay of 312½ W. Sixth of Amarillo, is now stationed at Fort Bragg, after completing the basic airborne course at the infantry school in Fort Benning, Georgia.

GAY

During five weeks of training at Fort Benning, he learned the techniques of parachute jumping and landing, making five supervised jumps from altitudes of 1,000 and 1,200 feet. One jump was made with complete combat equipment. Much of the training covered safety procedures in and around airplanes.

Gay formerly lived in Lubbock, where his mother managed Franklin's ladies apparel store. He attended Lubbock public schools until 1945. He was a 1946 graduate of New Mexico Military institute, and later attended Texas Tech for a short time.

World Wheat Pact Talks Set Jan. 25

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—A new attempt to negotiate an international wheat agreement will be made here next January 25.

The State department announced this last night following a meeting of an 11-nation preparatory committee. All countries belonging to the United Nations Food and Agricultural organization are expected to participate.

The proposed pact would replace the agreement negotiated early this year which did not become effective because of the failure of the United States Congress to act on it.

That agreement, whic had the backing of President Truman, would have covered a five-year period. It would have set up a system of maximum and minimum prices to protect growers and consumers, and would have divided the world wheat market among most of the major exporting nations.

Under the plan the United States would have been assured of an annual market of 168,000,000 bushels, with a guaranteed price of $1.85 a bushel for the first year.

There have been reports that some countries want lower prices set in any new agreement because of the big 1949 wheat yields throughout the world. Such a move probably would meet with considerable opposition.

Growing Permanent School Fund In State Reaches $137,800,803

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (U.P.) — The State's growing permanent school fund has reached a total of $137,800,803 a report to the state board of education showed today.

The report, made by Ted R. Alexander, bond investment advisor to the state board, said that $123,115,851 of the total is in bonds purchased by the board, and $14,684,951 is in cash on hand, both figures as of Nov. 30.

The state available school fund, the working fund drawn from interest on the bonds, came to $358,678.

The total in U. S. government bonds bought by the board is $76,238,000.

BACKACHE AND NERVOUSNESS

Case History No. 1931; Lady; Age 55; Symptoms: Backache, and nervousness; Stomach trouble and dizziness. Inflamation of the bladder.

Had tried almost ALL FORMS OF HEALING

This case had tried almost all health practitioners with some relief but not permanent results which she was looking and hoping for.

CAME TO STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC

She came to the Shephens Chiropractic Clinic to see what could be done for her. During the examination X-Ray pictures were made of her spine which showed that the vertebrae in her spinal column were misaligned and out of normal position. The Neurocameter (nerve test) analyses revealed that she had five (5) places in her spinal column that were testing badly. These 5 places that were testing badly indicated pressure leading to the affected parts of the body.

SHE TOOK A COURSE OF CHIROPRACTIC SERVICE

She began to take a course of Specific Chiropractic Adjustments and during this course of service she felt better at first and then in a few weeks after that she felt terrible. She thought of quitting service and doing something else; but upon learning that she had to have these various conditions to GET WELL she decided to stay with Chiropractic and "tough it out" as it were.

RESULTS FROM SPECIFIC CHIROPRACTIC

After a few more weeks of Chiropractic she now feels entirely well and happy. She says, "I wouldn't take anything for what chiropractic has done for me." This case is still under observation and thinks that chiropractic is the greatest healing science because it has corrected the Cause of her suffering and misery.

Name upon request.

Washington Hopping Around For Truman's Inauguration

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 — Getting ready for President Truman's inauguration January 20 has Washington hopping around like a man with firecrackers in his ears.

Those running the show are in a fast spin trying to take care of the details. They want to make it the biggest inauguration in American history. They probably will, unless it rains or snows.

They figure about 750,000 people will see the inauguration itself or the parade that follows, either from grandstand seats or standing on the curb. The cost probably will hit around $300,000.

Other millions of people around the country will follow it on their radios or over television. It will be the first inauguration ever televised. And the whole place will swarm with newspaper reporters.

But since the show is still about seven weeks away, most of the details still have to be filled in.

Around noon on January 20 Mr. Truman will be sworn in for his first full term in office by Chief Justice Vinson of the U S. Supreme Court. The President's term begins that day.

He will take this oath, already set down in the constitution for all presidents:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

Then Senator Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky will take the oath as vice president. It's not known at this point who'll administer the oath to him.

All this will take place on the east side of the capitol, where for months carpenters have been building about 14,000 wooden seats in the open air, facing the building.

Parade Planned

The people who get those seats —free—will be diplomats, members of the Supreme Court, congressmen and senators, members of the President's cabinet, and others, all by invitation.

After he takes the oath, the President will deliver his inaugural address. Then he and the vice president will scoot off to lunch.

So much for what happens at the capitol. All the arrangements there are in the hands of a special congressional committee. Congress this year voted money to take care of those expenses.

Then an inaugural committee—not connected with Congress—takes over. A parade will start at the capitol and wind down through Pennsylvania avenue until it passes the White House a mile away.

This parade will last two or three hours and will be full of soldiers, sailors, marines, West Point and Annapolis cadets, Army bands, Navy bands, college bands, the governors of states, and floats representing the various states.

Stands Being Built

All this will pass the massed thousands standing along the line of march and other thousands who have been able to buy seats in the wooden grandstands built along the way.

In front of the White House, in a block-long grandstand, President Truman will review the parade, surrounded by friends and guests.

The business people of Washington are putting up the money to build the stands along the line of march. Tickets for seats in them cost from $2 to $10 or more.

(If you're thinking of coming here and want such a seat, send your application to the inaugural committee, room 166, Tariff building, 7th and E streets, Northwest Washington, D. C.)

There'll be a big inaugural ball on the night of January 20. This is by invitation. Because of fire rules, only 5,200 can get into the National Guard armory, where it will be held.

Mr. Truman probably will be at the ball but there's been no official announcement on this.

Christmas Program Given For Frenship Parents, Teachers

WOLFFORTH, Dec. 4. (Special)—Frenship parents and teachers met in the auditorium of the grade school here Thursday night for their December program.

The Grade School Girls choir sang "Gloria En Excelsis Deo." Jimmy Burleson sang "White Christmas," with choir accompaniment.

Bobby Durham, seventh grader, sang "Winter Wonderland" and "Silent Night." That class then presented a Christmas play, "At the Sign of the Golden Dragon." Cast members were Kennie Lou Jackson, Rita Burleson, Carr Howard Barnette, Sammie Norman, Jack Carlile, Joe Ed Jobe, Jean Huckabee, Nancy Cade, Ronald Harrist, and Doris Carlock.

Barbara Sanders and Joann Pierce sang a duet, "Jesu Bambino."

At the business meeting, Mrs. A. E. Newton presided. Mrs. V. L. Cade called the roll and read the minutes. Mrs. P. C. Mitchell read the constitution and by-laws, which were adopted.

Mrs. A. F. Rasor, J. W. Bennett, and Fred Worsham were named members of a committee to aid the student council in trying to obtain a traffic light or similar safety device for the highway which runs directly in front of the school plant.

The next regular P-TA meeting is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 6.

Article Tells About Lubbock's Aid To Cerebral-Palsy Victims

A two-page article, with pictures, in the December issue of "The Rotarian," monthly national publication of the Rotary club, tells of Lubbock's campaign to aid cerebral-palsied children.

The article describes the work of Lubbock Rotarians and other civic club members in providing treatment for palsied children. Three accompanying photographs illustrate methods used in training the children.

Shown with handicapped children in the pictures are John W. Broome, Rotarian who is on the committee appointed by the Texas Society for Crippled Children to cooperate with the Lubbock project, and Mrs. Josephine Ballenger, principal of the Special School for Exceptional Children here.

"YOU CAN'T BEAT QUALITY MATERIALS from FORREST!"

I'M A HOME OWNER . . . WITH CAPITALS!

My wife and I saved a long time to be able to own our home. When we decided to build I discovered that it cost very little more to put sound quality materials into the house . . . and I'm glad I did! I've found that high-quality building materials are a real investment for a home owner. Sometimes it was hard for me to resist the cheaper prices of lower-grade merchandise; but trouble-free hardware, better grades of lumber, first-class roofing, and other good materials pay off . . . year after year . . . in low maintenance costs and low depreciation. My wife and I were pleased with the wide variety in selection and price, the courteous service, and the moderate price tags at FORREST! And we are definitely glad we built WELL!

I'M A CONSTRUCTION MAN . . .

building is my business. Years of building experience have taught me that no home or building is any better than the quality of the materials that go into it. High-quality materials mean better jobs with a lot less work. I take a lot of pride in a good job . . . one that I know will stand up to real service. FORREST has a wide selection of building materials ('From the cheapest that's good to the best that's made,' they say!) with plenty of the very best. I get everything I need at one place . . . no wasted time looking all over town for stuff I need. Take my advice: For good building materials at fair prices, see FORREST!

No Room Could Help But Be Beautiful . . .

Lubbock Schools Plan Colorful Schedule Of Yule Programs

Musical programs, pageants, special assemblies and parties are included in the full schedule for students in the Lubbock Public schools during the two weeks before the annual Christmas holiday season. According to Superintendent R. W. Matthews, all schools in Lubbock are to be dismissed at the conclusion of the school day on December 17, with regular classroom work to be resumed on Jan. 3, 1949.

Two elaborate musical programs are being planned for presentation to the public next week. At 3 p.m. next Sunday, the Senior High school A Capella choir, directed by J. H. Penn, will present for the second year "The Messiah." The program is open to the public and will also be broadcast, Penn said. Members of church choirs of Lubbock are to assist the Senior High students in the presentation. Soloists include: Jack King, Rex Webster, Mrs. Carl W. Shafer, Dick Morton, Mrs. Asher Thompson, Mrs. Stuart Shafer, Mrs. Bob Click and Wilson Ward. Mrs. Lannes Hope will be pianist and Miss Imogene Webster organist.

Feast Of Carols Set

Seven hundred students of the three junior highs of Lubbock and elementary schools will take part in the "Feast of Carols" to be presented for the public on Monday, December 13, from 7:30 until 8:30 p.m. in the Senior High auditorium. Mrs. Elois Elliott, coordinator of vocal music in grades one through nine, will be in charge of this program, assisted by Miss Webster, Mrs. Ernest Wilpitz, Mrs. E. B. Clepper, Miss Bernice Bay, Mrs. Loula Daniel, Miss Ethelyn Schmidt, Mrs. Olive Deavours, Miss Elizabeth Bostwick, Mrs. LaVerne Rush, Miss Dimple Watson, Miss Marjorie Byrd, Mrs. Grace Belich, Mrs. Billie Taber, Miss Mary A. Hooten, Mrs. Jeanette Jenkins, and Miss Nell Goodloe. This program will also be broadcast.

At Senior High school the student council is sponsoring the decoration of the building and a home room decorating contest which will be judged and winners named on Thursday. The following week on December 15, home making students of the school will have their annual Christmas tea for faculty members at 3:40 p.m. in the homemaking department. Caroling throughout the halls of the junior high schools will be an activity of the choral groups on December 15. Home room parties and the Christmas play are scheduled for the final day of school, December 17.

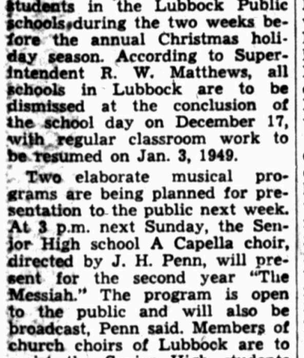

Other Programs Slated

Christmas activities at Carroll Thompson Junior High will begin Wednesday when special assemblies and home room programs on the theme "The True Christmas Spirit" will be held. Highlights of the Thompson celebration during the final week include caroling in elementary schools and Senior High School on December 14, a special assembly by school choirs and band on December 15, special home room programs on December 15, and program for parents and friends by the Harmony and Melody Choirs on December 16, and special programs over the public address system of the school on December 17. One feature of the final day of school will be the absence of bells between classes. Instead of bells, Christmas carols will indicate the termination of classes and will be played during the intermission as students go to other classes.

Parents of students at J. T. Hutchinson Junior High are being invited to a special program by school band and chorus on December 15 at 7:30 p.m. in the O. L. Slaton auditorium. Miss Nell Goodloe and Harry Born will be in charge of this program. Students of the school will hear the same program for assembly on December 16. Home room parties will be a feature of December 17 when students will bring gifts of toys and food for Lubbock's needy.

At O. L. Slaton Junior High the student council is to present a Christmas Pageant on December 16, both for students and for the Parent-Teachers association. On December 17 home room parties are to be held and students will exchange gifts. Some rooms are planning to pack boxes to be distributed to the needy.

Elementary students will have the privilege of seeing "Why the Chimes Rang," the Parent-Teacher association play for December on December 14 and 15 at 3:30 p.m. in the Senior High auditorium. The play is being directed by D. M. Howell, and dramatic students of Senior High will take part. The same play is to be presented on Friday to Senior High students. In addition, special assemblies and programs are being planned in all elementary schools of the city, with children doing the decoration of school rooms. Programs being presented over the Lubbock Schools of the Air are also to be of a Christmas theme for the next two weeks.

LEAGUE OPERATES BOOTHS—Junior Welfare league members are shown at a booth in Hilton hotel, one of seven booths opened Saturday by the league for sale of Christmas seals for Lubbock County Tuberculosis association. Miss Alice Phillips, member of the league and also of the board of directors of the tuberculosis association, is pictured at left, and Mrs. James Reynolds at right. Booths will be operated this week in Lubbock National, Citizens National and First National banks, Hilton and Lubbock hotels, Hemphill-Wells Co., and Dunlap's. On Saturday, women board members of the tuberculosis association will operate a booth at Sears Roebuck & Co. (Staff Photo).

Kiwanis Club To Sponsor Return Showing This Week Of McMillan's African Films

Seeking to raise funds for their Girl Scout building project, members of the Lubbock Kiwanis club are sponsoring a return showing of W. G. McMillan's "African Adventures" motion pictures at Lubbock Senior High school auditorium, Thursday, Friday and Saturday matinee.

The club sponsored showings of the films earlier this year with their share of proceeds going to the club's child welfare fund. Since that time the films have been shown in various leading cities throughout the Southwest.

An additional 400 feet of color and a sound track have been added to the picture since the showing here and those who saw the film previously will be offered new scenes from the thrilling four-month safari the local contractor, his wife and son made into the wilds of Africa in 1947.

Prices of tickets for this week's showings will be: $1.20 for adults and 50 cents for school children and Tech students with activity tickets. Evening shows will start at 8 p. m. and the Saturday matinee at 2 p. m.

UN Observers Said Convinced Dutch Are Holding U. S. Flier

MANILA, Dec. 4 (AP)—A traveler from Indonesia reported today that United Nations observers are convinced the Dutch are holding Bobby Freeberg, American free lance flier missing since Oct. 1.

The one-man Indonesian republic airforce had been flying the Dutch blockade until he disappeared on a flight between Republican territories and Sumatra.

Times Square Is Flooded By Broken 20-Inch Water Main

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—A broken 20-inch water main early today flooded Times square.

Some subway passengers got wet feet in stations between 41st and 42nd streets, but service under Broadway was not affected.

Surface traffic was detoured for a time when the flood rose to curb height.

High School Gets Yearbook Honors

The Westerner, yearbook at Senior High school, won in the lithographed yearbook class in judging announced by the Texas High School Press association at its 23rd annual convention in Denton, the Associated Press reported Saturday.

Other winners were: Engraved yearbooks, The Owl of Paris High school and the Monticello of Thomas Jefferson High school in San Antonio, tie for first; Class A bi-weekly newspapers, Jacket Journal, Arlington Heights, Fort Worth; Class B bi-weekly newspapers, The Laurel, San Marcos academy; weekly newspapers, Wacoan, Waco.

Ten students from Lubbock High school, Mrs. Dick Cozby, director of publications and Mrs. Mack Johnson attended the convention, held Thursday through Saturday at Texas State College for Women.

Students Are Named

Students representing The Westerner World, high school newspaper, were Don Hancock, sports editor; Joy Randolph, business manager; Johnnie Sue Corcorran, advertising solicitor; Joy Pharr, associate editor; Donna Woolman, feature editor; Shirley Johnson, associate editor; and Milton West, reporter.

Those who were to appear on the program were Donna Woolman, who was to speak on choosing live subjects for feature stories in high school newspapers; Joy Randolph and Johnnie Sue Corcorran, who were to speak in a sectional meeting on advertising in newspapers and yearbooks, which was led by Mrs. Cozby, and Mary Ruth Sims, who was to speak on class sections of the yearbook in a general session. Joy Randolph was to speak on business staff organization and Johnnie Sue Corcorran, on putting consumer appeal into advertisements.

Project For Annual Event Underway

Jaycees To Name Outstanding Young Man Of Year In City

Nominations for Lubbock's outstanding young man of 1948 are now in order and may be submitted to a committee of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Weldon Gibbs, chairman, announced Saturday.

Selection of Lubbock's outstanding young man has been a project of the Jaycees since their organization here in an effort to encourage young men to do good for the community.

Rules Are Stated

Nominations for the honor award may be made by any individual or group, Gibbs said. The presidents of each civic club have been requested to name committees for their nominations.

The rules for the nominations are few and simple. A nominee for the award must be under 36 years of age. His achievements for the good of the community must have been accomplished on his own time. A regular welfare worker, paid to do civic good is therefore not eligible.

The brief covering the candidate's activities must not divulge his name within the brief itself, but attached thereto.

Five Judges Planned

All briefs must be submitted not later than Dec. 20, 1948.

The candidates must have lived in Lubbock at least one year. He does not have to be a member of any organization or group.

The briefs will be judged by a jury of five prominent men; each brief will be given a number and will be judged thereby. In this manner, the award will be made on achievement and not on personality.

Other members of the Man of the Year Award of the Jaycees besides Gibbs are: Bill Tinney, Jack Wheat, Glenn Woody and A. C. White.

Plans For Band Clinic Pushed

Texas Tech will be host to the sixth annual band clinic for area high school and college bands Dec. 10 and 11 in Lubbock.

D. O. Wiley, Tech band director and general chairman of the clinic, said more than 600 individual reservations have been made for this year's clinic. Thus far, participants are expected from as far east as Cisco and west through eastern New Mexico; north from Dalhart to Fort Stockton south.

High School To Aid

The main purpose of the clinic is to introduce state contest music for the 1949 band competition, and to assist band directors and band members in arranging and presentation of new selections.

Lubbock High school will join the college as host for the annual event this year. The morning sessions will be played at the high school auditorium and the afternoon presentation at O. L. Slaton Junior High school auditorium.

Members of high school bands may join the sections of the college band to observe or to participate. Wiley said the instructing bands will have approximately 120 members.

All expenses of the clinic are borne by the host schools.

ADVERTISEMENTS FOR BIDS

Sealed proposals addressed to W. H. Rodgers, Mayor of City of Lubbock, Lubbock, Texas, for the construction of Fire Station No. 4 at 3rd Street and College Avenue, Lubbock, Texas, in accordance with Plans and Specifications prepared by The Butler-Brasher Company, Architects, 406 Avenue M, Lubbock, Texas, will be received at the City Hall, Lubbock, Texas, until December 16, 1948, at 2:00 p. m., where they will then be publicly opened and read aloud. Any bid received after the closing time will be returned unopened.

Bids will be received separately for the General Construction, Plumbing, Heating, and Electrical work.

A Cashier's check, certified check or acceptable bidder's bond, payable to the Owner, in an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the largest possible total for the bid submitted, must accompany each bid.

The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids to waive any formalities.

Attention of the bidders is called to the provisions of the Acts of the Legislature of the State of Texas in regard to wage scale and the payment of prevailing minimum wages established by the Owner as set forth in the specifications.

Plans and Specifications may be procured from The Butler-Brasher Company 406 Avenue M Lubbock, Texas, upon a deposit of $25.00 as a guarantee of the safe return of the Plans and Specifications. The full amount of this deposit will be returned to each bidder immediately upon the return of the Plans and Specifications in good condition. No refund on contract documents and plans returned later than ten days after the award of contract will be obligatory.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Notice is hereby given that the Commissioners Court of Lubbock County, Texas, at 10:00 a. m. O'clock on the 13th day of December, 1948, at their regular meeting place in the Court-house at Lubbock, Texas, will meet to receive and consider bids on the following described road machinery:

One 4 10 Cu. Yd Truck Mounted Shovel

This machine must be gasoline powered. Engine must develop at least 50 H. P. must be completely equipped as a shovel and must be mounted on a tandem 5/4 wheel drive truck of 6 to 8 ton capacity.

Commissioners Court will at such time award contract for same if any bid be accepted. All bids to be made according to law.

Walter Davies
COUNTY JUDGE
LUBBOCK COUNTY, TEXAS

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals addressed to the Honorable Mayor and City Commission of Lubbock, Texas, will be received at the office of M. R. Smith, Jr., City Manager, until 2:00 p. m. December 16, 1948, for furnishing all necessary material, labor, tools and equipment (except where specifically noted to the contrary in the specifications) for drilling one test well approximately 1500 feet deep and securing certain data with reference the quantity and quality of water encountered.

Bidders must submit Cashier's or Certified Check issued by a bank satisfactory to the owner, for 5% of the amount of the base bid, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Lubbock, or a Proposal Bond in the sum of the same amount, from a reliable Surety Company, as guaranty that Bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or Proposal Bond will not be considered.

The Successful Bidder must furnish bond on the attached form in the amount of 100% of contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Sureties acceptable to the OWNER.

All unit prices must be stated in both script and figures. The owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the price in bids, the owner reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof, or to reject the bid. Unreasonable (or "unbalanced") unit prices will authorize the owner to reject the bid.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding the local conditions and conditions under which the work is to be done. Attention is called to the provisions of the Acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91, Chapter 45, (Article No. 5159A Civil Statutes 1925) concerning the wage scale and payment of prevailing wages established by the Owner. Said scale of prevailing minimum wage is set forth in the specifications.

Instructions to bidders, proposal forms, specifications and plans are on file at the office of R. L. Oldham, Acting City Engineer, City Hall, Lubbock, Texas.

Copies may be secured upon deposit of $10.00 to be returned to the Contractor on submission of bona fide bid on the work with such plans and Specifications; or upon returning the Plans and Specifications immediately after examination of same, before the date of receiving bids, and advising the City Engineer that bid will not be submitted, otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited.

Cotton

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP) — Cotton futures were firm today. Trading was the most active for a short session since resumption of Saturday dealings last August. A major portion of the dealings represented covering in March and May deliveries against export sales of U. S. cotton to France. It was estimated that French needs at the present time were in the neighborhood of 300,000 bales. There also was a moderate amount of commission house buying which came into the July 1949 delivery. The demand was said to be based on the fact that this position was relatively cheap in comparison with the May delivery.

Futures closed 45 cents to $1.35 a bale higher than the previous close.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 4 (AP) — The average price of middling 15/16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated southern spot markets was 45 cents a bale higher at 32.31 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 31.47, middling 7/8ths-inch average 30.33.

In the past 13 years, vitamin sales have increased from almost nothing to 1,500,000 pounds annually.

Wall Street

MARKET IN NEW GAINS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—Wall Street had its December rally rolling at top weekend.

In today's short session gains of fractions to around 3 points were added to the advances of the pervious three sessions.

The market still has a long way to go to recoup its post-election losses but at least a stab in that direction has been made.

Oils, steels, rails and motors did better than most although demand was well spread throughout the list. Upward tendencies were accented in late trading and the market closed just above at the top levels of the week.

Volume expanded on the way up. Turnover of 810,000 shares compared with 340,000 a week ago and was the largest for a two-hour session in the last month.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced .4 of one point to 64.4. The average now is back to where it was on Nov. 23.

Of the 791 issues traded 461 advanced and 125 declined.

Among the best performers were Skelly Oil, Standard Oil, Standard Oil of California, U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Phelps Dodge, American Woolen, Dow Chemical and American Telephone.

Montgomery Ward drifted lower for a while but came back to end higher after release of a favorable earnings statement.

Grain

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (AP) — Grains ended with only minor price changes today after showing a new burst of strength in early dealings. Profit-taking knocked prices down from their best levels in the last half of the session, although the undertone in wheat remained firm. Corn displayed an easier tone than the bread cereal.

Wheat closed ⅛ to 1 cent higher, December $2.43¼-⅜, corn was ¼ lower to ¼ higher, December 1.43⅞-1.44, oats were ⅛ lower to ⅜ higher, December 83⅞.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Dec. 4 (AP) — Wheat No. 1 2.49¼-2.54¼.
Oats No. 2 white 1.02½-1.03½.
Corn No. 2 white 1.80-1.88.

SOVIETS BUILDING UP POWER

Powerful Air Force Threatened By Cut In U.S. Defense Funds

By LEON SHLOSS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4—President Truman's determination to keep the budget balanced by placing a ceiling on defense spending will result in reduction of the Air Force from a planned 70 groups to 49 groups.

This was learned today as defense leaders-to-be in the new Congress, led by Chairman Vinson (D) Ga. of the House Armed Services committee, prepared to fight for continuance of the 70-group exponsion program approved by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

The 80th Congress, over administration opposition, appropriated four billion 891 million dollars for the Air Force. The 70-group expansion program, underway since mid-summer, has built the Air Force to 59 groups at present.

Seven and one-fifth billion dollars will be needed to keep the expansion going in the fiscal year beginning July 1. Under the 14.4 billion dollar defense budget ceiling announced by Mr. Truman the aid force would receive only about five billions.

If the Air Force is cut to 49 groups it will be back to its lowest strength since V-J day, when a war-weary Congress imposed liquidation.

The President and Defense Secretary Forrestal fear two disasters would ride the wake of a 70-group Air Force. They are:

1. Demand for men and materials would be so great as to cause a great new inflation and necessitate imposition of many rigid controls. Mr. Truman's council of economic advisers have predicted these results.

2. An unbalance between the Air Force and the other two armed services, leaving the Army and Navy too weak to support effectively Air Force operations.

Air Force and aircraft industry officials, muzzled by a recent order that budget matters are not to be discussed, declare privately that the 70-group force is the only insurance against possible atom-bomb attack by Russia.

Mr. Truman's air policy commission warned a year ago that the Soviets will have the bomb "in quantity" by the end of 1952 and urged the 70-group sky armada to deter its use or defend against it.

Aviation authorities agree that if the budget limitation is imposed, orders for many of the new jet bombers and fighters now being built will have to be cancelled.

Best information available indicates that Russia has an air fleet of 35,000 planes and is outbuilding the U. S. in the jet fighter field, at the same time constructing super-bombers.

The plane-builders, harassed first by V-J liquidation and then last year's expansion order, are caught in a frantic effort to recruit labor and obtain scarce materials.

The industry will build about 2,400 warplanes under this year's expansion program, with 4,000 originally scheduled for production in 1949—a figure which will be cut below 2,000.

The government's air corrdinating committee says that a minimum annual production of from 3,000 to 6,000 warplanes is necessary to maintain an industry capable of rapid conversion to full production in an emergency.

The Air Force today has 13,000 planes on active status, half combat, half non-combat, with 10,000 in mothballs—6,000 combat, 4,000 non-combat. Most of these are World War II types.

Under the new budget, the warcraft taken from mothballs would have to be returned, leaving the Air Force with about 10,000 planes.

The President's Air Policy commission urged a minimum force of 20,000 craft and the joint congressional aviation policy board upped this figure to 35,000.

Both policy groups, credited with making the most significant aviation studies since the 1926 Morrow board report despite their opposing political complexions, agreed from testimony of hundreds of witnesses that Russia will have the A-bomb by the end of 1952.

The president's commission said: "We must have . . a counter offensive air establishment in being which will be so powerful that if an enemy does attack we will be able to retaliate with the utmost violence, and to seize and hold the advanced positions from which we can divert the destruction of our homeland to his."

Mother Is Awarded Custody Of Daughters For Whom She Had Held Early "Christmas"

INDIANOLA, Iowa, Dec. 4. (INS) Mrs. Cliff Crawley, 26, of near Pleasantville, Iowa, Friday was awarded custody of her two daughters for whom she had held an early "Christmas" last week because she feared they would be taken from her.

District Judge S. E. Prall at Indianola ordered the girls, Betty Lee, 6, and Joan Eloise, 4, daughters by a previous marriage, to remain with their mother.

Elza L. Helton, Navy warrant officer and the father of the children, sought their return under a previous order by a Missouri judge.

The Heltons were divorced last May in Trenton, Mo., and the judge left the girls in their mother's care until he made a final decision. In July, he ordered the father to be given custody.

Helton, stationed in New Jersey at the time, placed them in care of a Trenton couple, where the mother visited them frequently.

On Oct. 29, she spirited them to the home of her present husband near Pleasantville.

Judge Prall handed down his decision after he had called both the girls into his chambers for a private talk.

Mrs. Martha Hood, Well-Known Brownwood Resident, Succumbs

BROWNWOOD, Dec. 4. (AP)—Mrs. Martha Hood, 81, whose father, Greenleaf Fisk, gave Brownwood its townsite, died at her home here last night.

A native of Brownwood, she married William Hood in 1882. He was the builder of the Brown county courthouse and Brownwood city hall and many other public and church buildings in West Texas.

Funeral services were planned here at 4 p.m. today.

Survivors include: a son, William Hood, jr., Brady, Tex.; a daughter, Mrs. Stayton Pouns; two brothers, Hosea Fisk of Brownwood and Milton Fisk of Dallas; two sisters, Mrs. R. B. Wilson of Brownwood and Mrs. Naomi Mullin of San Antonio.

Women's News

Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, December 5, 1948

IN TODAY'S PICTURES—Christmas planning and entertainments for town and college organizations are holding the attention of many of the city's residents. Top left photograph indicates the interest of children in the joyous occasion, as they look through the window of a toy department. Left to right are Robert Anthony Layne, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Layne of Idalou route 1, Marilyn Foster, 2½, and Jimmy Foster, 6, children of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Foster of 2408 Twenty-sixth. Lower left scene shows Alyce Howell, vice president of the Women's Inter-Club council at Texas Technological college, left, and Barbara Scott, treasurer of the council, as they arranged decorations for the WICC luncheon held Saturday noon in Hilton hotel, for members and pledges of campus social clubs for women. Mrs. Briggs Irvin, whose photograph is enclosed in the bell outline, was elected president of the ABC Dames at the organization's Christmas dinner. At top right, are shown three of the members of the South Plains Dahlia society committee which planned the Christmas dinner of the organization held Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Fay Westmoreland, 2307 Broadway. Left to right are Mrs. Lillian Slay, who was holding the arrangement placed on the buffet. Mrs. Floice Drake and Mrs. W. L. Palmer. The candles are flanked by arrangements which centered the table. Mrs. James Samson was chairman of the dinner committee. In lower right photograph, 9-months-old Cindy Jeanne Crossen laughs as she holds a stuffed toy, while her grandmother, Mrs. A. G. Swanson, left, of 3304 Twenty-first, and her mother, Mrs. Jack Burton Crossen, look on. Mrs. Crossen and baby will visit in the Swanson home until Dec. 12.

Brides-Elect Are In Social Spotlight Of Early Month

BY MARY COKER
Of The Woman's Staff

Parties and announcements of brides elect are centering pre-Christmas activities this season.

The engagement of Miss Helen Elizabeth Fuller to Richard Martin Sheehan was announced Saturday at a tea given by her mother at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James I. Quicksall. Miss Fuller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Finley Fuller of 1725 Twenty-fourth, and Mr. Sheehan's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John R. Sheehan of McCamey.

The couple will be married Dec. 9 with Rev. H. I. Robinson officiating. Miss Dorothy Van Pelt will attend the bride and Edwin I. Forrest is to be best man.

Receiving the 75 guests at the tea were the hostess, the honoree, Mrs. Sheehan, Miss Dorothy Van Pelt, and Mrs. Vic Pryor.

In Pastel Motif

The tea table was laid with a peach cloth and centered with Dresden figurines. Candies in Dresden holders and an arrangement of blue carnations and silver bells completed the motif. Pink carnations and silver bells decorated the reception rooms.

Mrs. I. E. McDowell and Miss Grace Padley poured and Mrs. George A. Heath and Mrs. Edwin L. Forrest presided at the bride's book. Others assisting with the hospitalities were Mesdames Ross Ayers, Bruce Bryan, Ethel Terrell, W. C. Mauzee, Clyde W. James, Misses Maxine McMillan, Jean Medley and Peggy Lindsey.

The bride-to-be is a graduate of Baylor university and Indiana university, where she did residence counseling while working on her Master's degree. She is sophomore girls' Counselor at Senior High school.

The prospective bridegroom was graduated from Tech and later attended Denver university. He is instructor in the Economics department at Texas Tech college.

The class Christmas party is scheduled for Dec. 16

Luncheon Is Served

Women's Inter-Club council of Texas Technological college entertained at Hilton hotel Saturday with a luncheon which was attended by approximately 200 members and pledges of women's campus social clubs. Jayne Thompson, president, presided and a program directed by Gretchen Clift was presented by representatives of each of the organizations.

Guida Miller of the Las Chapparritas club played a piano number; Wanda Mills, Las Vivarachas member, sang, accompanied by Pat Noland of the same club; DFDs, Joan Booth, vocalist, and Pat Keffer, pianist, were presented: a skit was given by seven Sans Souci members, Carol Hargrove, Aurelia Cobb, Pat Lindsey, Loy Anderson, Pat Page, Marjorie Wilson and Paula Fix; and a piano number was presented by Shelley Furr.

The Sans Souci club, winner of a spring baseball tournament at Tech, was presented a trophy by Dean Margarette W. Walker.

Each social club president was introduced and she in turn introduced sponsors of her club. Other guests were Miss June Hanson, assistant to the dean of women; Mrs. Mary W. Doak, dean emeritus; and Mrs. Marie D. Harrison, WICC sponsor. Christmas candles, flowers and greenery decorated the head table.

The council hosts an annual fall luncheon and spring breakfast so that members of each club may be associated with the other club members.

Gift Party Honors Miss Wanda Exum

A miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. B. F. Gentry Thursday honored Miss Wanda Exum, who is to become the bride of Kirby Hobgood, Dec. 11. Mesdames A. L. Faubion, Howard Walker, J. O. Bumpass and Billy Meyers assisted Mrs. Gentry.

Arrangement of holly around the punch bowl centered the table, which was laid with a white linen cloth. Forty-eight guests called.

LIGHTING CONTEST

AS plans get underway for the second annual Home Christmas Lighting contest to be sponsored by the Avalanche-Journal, we find ourself hoping that the project will catch the fancy of as many Lubbockites, as last year. We've an idea that proud owners of new homes will be interested in holiday decorating and the hospitality that is reflected by cheerful colored lights, displays and garlands of green.

Twinkling colored lights will transform any home into an attractive lighted greeting card that expresses the true holiday spirit of "goodwill toward men."

Outdoor decorations need not be elaborate or expensive to be effective. In fact, some of the most interesting Christmas displays are those done with simplicity and imagination. But don't keep a check rein on your imagination, because it can be a most helpful ally in creating an unusual decorative scheme.

THE idea of outdoor Christmas lights on homes is said to have originated in Minneapolis in 1919 and the custom has caught on there to such an extent that some kind of lighting is on almost every home in the metropolis. It tags itself the "Christmas City."

Well, we can have no greater Christmas dream for our town than that some year it should be called the "Christmas City of the South Plains." The Christmas spirit shines forth from decorated homes, shedding joy and happiness on all who pass by, whether friends, neighbors or strangers.

Grand prize winner in last year's contest was Mrs. E. H. McMurtry; Mrs. M. C. Rutledge was second and Mesdames T. E. Buckner, Frank Baker and W. I. Pittman received honorable mention.

IF you want to compete for one of the nine cash prizes aggregating $85, simply mail a card, visit the Avalanche-Journal offices and ask for or telephone (4343) Mrs. Naomi Caddel, who will take your classification in the contest, your name and address and pass them along to the three judges, whose identity is to remain secret until after the contest winners are announced.

Deadline for entries is Dec. 15. Prizes will be awarded for the most beautifully decorated front of residence and yard; for the most beautifully decorated home window; most beautifully decorated home doorway and most beautifully decorated home outdoor tree.

DECORATIONS on Lubbock homes last year made a thrilling sight in many parts of the city. This year we just know that Lubbock will be more beautiful than in its history. Why don't you think it over; study the lines of your house; ask the family for ideas on holiday decorating and enter the contest?

Luck to you and call Mrs. Caddel. It should be lots of fun!

Symphony Orchestra Will Accompany A Cappella Choir

The Amarillo High School A Cappella choir and its director, Mrs. Julia Dean Evans, will come before patrons of the Lubbock Symphony orchestra in a performance to be given Wednesday night, beginning at 8:15 o'clock, at Senior High school auditorium. Five numbers will be unaccompanied and the complete orchestra will be in support for two selections.

The youthful singers and their able director have received lavish praise from musicians, critics and just plain "listeners" wherever they have appeared.

The 52 members who made up the travelling unit that went to New York in July to appear before the Lions International convention made an immediate hit before the thousands of delegates from every state in the union and 21 foreign countries. When they walked off the stage after their first appearance, they were asked to sing again and this they did at the closing session of the convention.

Thrills came fast for the youthful Texans in New York. They also were invited to sing for the Lions district governors' formal dinner and for the Illinois and Texas breakfasts; gave a 15-minute program over a national radio network and were on a television show. They sang time and again in the lobby of the Hotel New Yorker, where they and the Texas delegation were headquartered.

Praised By Waring

The choir auditioned for Fred Waring at Shawnee-on-the-Delaware and he was so impressed he invited them to be his dinner

Betrothal Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Valca Thomas of Plainview announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Miss Betty Thomas, to Billy Charles Roach, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Roach also of that city. The wedding will take place Dec. 26 at the Plainview First Baptist church.

The couple will be at home in Lubbock where they are students at Texas Technological college.

Hooper-Motl Rites Read

ANTON, Dec. 4 (Special)—In a double ring ceremony Miss Dorothy Joyce Motl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Motl, sr., Route 2, was married to Zade Frank Hooper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Hooper, in the home of the bride at 9 a. m. Sunday, Nov. 27 Rev. J. R. Woods of the First Methodist church performed the ceremony.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a wedding dress of white satin with a yoke of lace, a fitted bodice, circular skirt and a long circular train. The long sleeves extended into points over her hands. The shoulder length veil was of lace and pearl trim. She carried a white Bible topped with a purple orchid and white streamers.

Miss Pat Keefer at the organ played "Always" and "Clair de Lune." Decorations consisted of baskets of assorted gladiolas and fern.

Relations Are Attendants

Mrs. Woody Harper, sister of the bridegroom and matron of honor, wore a dress of blue taffeta and carried a large bouquet of gladiolis. The bridegroom's brother, Frank Motl, was best man.

Assorted pink and white carnations in large bouquets decorated the reception room in the bride's home. A three tiered wedding cake was on the table which was scattered with white and blue carnations and fern. Candles lighted the scene.

MRS. Z. F. HOOPER

Assisting with the hospitalities were Misses Rotha Anderson, Peggie Rea, Chalones Matthews and Nelda Hooper.

Relatives and close friends attended the wedding. Out of town guests were from Plainview, Littlefield and Lubbock. After a wedding trip through parts of New Mexico and Texas the couple will be at home in Anton Wednesday. For traveling the bride wore a gray pin stripe dress with bronze accessories and a purple orchid corsage.

The couple was graduated from Anton high school. The bridegroom attended Texas Tech college and served two years in the Navy. He is a rural route mail carrier.

Through the Coral Doors

Howdy Folks—

As I made my way behind those Coral Doors at Broadway & N I certainly found everybody in the Xmas spirit. A red Xmas tree (never heard of one but Decorators Studio always does it first) was being decorated and the Studio was generaly taking on the Holiday spirit. Wonderful new lamps were bing unpacked and a host of interesting tables being put in place—just name it and the girls can give you just that right table for just that right place.

As I was leaving, James was loading a long black car to the last inch with Xmas packages. It seems Fredda is doing a house in El Paso and all the owner's friends take turn about driving to Lubbock to do their shopping. It seems on their trips here they have discovered just the right place to buy hats as well as furnishings, so a certain hat designer owes Fredda a commission.

And don't tell anybody but Amarillo, too, is being impressed with Lubbock. Can't tell you now but someday.

The Studio has that 1949 look already with so much new merchandise but no one is overlooking that inventory is less than one month off, so there are still some lamps and other items redtagged that will make your Xmas shopping much easier and incidently much less expensive.

So meet me next week in the bargain room at Decorators Studio, corner Broadway and N.

Diversions will be Christmas trees, games and stories. Superintendents and workers of the departments are to be in charge.

Home Vows Are Revealed

TAHOKA, Dec. 4. (Special) — Miss Mary Jeanne Adamson, daughter of Mrs. D. R. Adamson, and Johnny A. Humphries, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Humphries Arkadelphia, Ark., were married at the home of the bride at high noon Thursday, Nov. 25. Harold Paden, officiating pastor of The Church of Christ performed the double ring ceremony before an alter decorated with palm leaves, fern and pom-poms.

The bride, given away in marriage by her brother, D. R. Adamson, wore a white wool gabardine suit with wine and bronze accessories and an orchid shoulder corsage.

Miss Connie Leeper of Denton, was maid of honor, and Donald Adamson, brother of the bride, was best man. "Because" was the musical program. Following the ceremony relatives and close friends attended a reception.

After a wedding trip to Arkansas the couple will be at home in Midland, where he is in the construction business. The bride, who was employed in Midland by Phillips Petroleum Co., is a graduate of Tahoka high school. The bridegroom is a graduate of Arkadelphia, Ark., high school.

Methodist Society Plans Honor For New Members

New members of First Methodist Woman's Society of Christian Service are to be honor guests at a luncheon planned for Monday at 12:45 o'clock at Fellowship hall.

A Christmas meditation, "Barabbas Pleads for Peace," is to be presented by Mrs. O. L. Byrd. Musical numbers are to be presented by Mrs. S. W. Brunson and Mrs. Aubrey L. Woodfin who are to sing "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and Mesdames Marlin Hayhurst, Woodfin, Jack Boren, Duncan Ellison, Charles Cathey and R. B. Parkinson who will sing "Joy to the World," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Arthur Gamble.

The church nursery will open at 12:30 o'clock.

Club Women's Recipes Included In Book To Go On Sale Monday

"The Sweet Shelf," a book comprising 120 recipes gathered from the files of Lubbock club women, will go on sale Monday under auspices of the Lubbock Women's club, proceeds to go toward the fund to build a club house.

It has been suggested that the book, which sells for fifty cents, would make an excellent Christmas remembrance. It is five by seven inches and the red cover is lettered in green ink, giving it a Yule appearance, although the book would make a nice gift for any occasion.

Representatives from the 29 participating clubs contributed cookie and cake recipes for "The Sweet Shelf."

The 3,000 books are to be sold through the clubs and will be available at Powers' Sports store.

DINNER GUESTS

Dinner guests at the B. B. Pirtle home, 1912 Twenty-fifth, Friday night were Messrs. and Mesdames Sidney Claiborne, H. M. Chick and Bob Pirtle.

Missionary Pageant To Be Given Tonight

Those in charge of the program include Mesdames J. T. Baisden, Grady West, Elliott Taylor, Ance English, Joe Christian, Paul Barrier, Jeff Watson, Paul Felty and Miss Rosalynd Lawrence.

Wedding Is In Baytown

BAYTOWN, Dec. 4. (Special)—Miss Mary Frances Crush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benton Crush of Garland, and Joe B. Phillips, son of Mrs. J. A. Phillips of 1905 Broadway, Lubbock, and the late Mr. Phillips, were married in a double ring ceremony performed at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Collins of Baytown, Sunday, Nov. 28. James LaFan, minister of the Church of Christ, read the service before an altar of white chrysanthemums and gladioli.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips will make their home at 2219 Twentieth, Lubbock, following a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M.

For her wedding, the bride wore an afternoon gown of smoke gray and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

A reception was given following the ceremony. Mrs. M. H. Bence, cousin of the bride, served the wedding cake, and Mrs. H. L. Herbert, a cousin of the bridegroom and the former Betty Burrus of Lubbock, presided at the punch bowl. Among the out-of-town guests were the parents of the bride and the mother of the bridegroom.

The bride's going away suit was of navy blue gabardine with gray accessories. She is a graduate of Garland High school and Southern Methodist university and has been doing graduate work at Texas Technological college. She also attended Abilene Christian college and the University of Colorado.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Lubbock High school and attended Tech. He is a partner in the Martin and Phillips Real Estate firm.

Day Of Prayer Held By Wolfforth W.M.S.

Methodist Church Scene Of Perkins-McLaughlin Vows

In a double ring ceremony performed by M. Norvel Young at the St. John's Methodist church, Miss Evelyn Joyce McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. McLaughlin, 1504 Twenty-eighth was married to Kenneth Perkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Perkins, 2405 Ninth, Friday at 8 p. m.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of white brida lslipper satin with a lace yoke edged in satin. Tiny white covered buttons lined the front of the dress. She carried a white Bible with an orchid and streamers of sweet peas.

JoAnn Dunlap, cousin of the bride, from Abilene, sang "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "Through the Years." She was accompanied by Miss Hallie Wall at the piano.

Wearing orchid dresses and carrying white carnations were the bride's sister, Miss Patsy McLaughlin, who was maid of honor, and Mrs. C. D. Pickens, jr., who was matron of honor. Clifford Newton was best man.

Have Four Bridesmaids

Misses Billie Foster, wearing a rose dress and carrying pink varigated carnations, Alma Anderson, wearing an aqua dress and carrying pale pink carnations and Betty Jackson and Carol Perkins wearing yellow and carrying rose carnations, were bridesmaids.

Ushers were Jackie Dennis of Abilene, Elvis Thornton, Charlie Pickens, Jack Stringer and Phil Perkins, brother of the bridegroom. Sandra Harris, cousin of the bride, and Joy Evelyn Graves, niece of the bridegroom, were flower girls. They wore white dresses. Miss Iris Jeffcoat and La Juanda Dean lighted candles.

Ferns and baskets of white gladioli decorated the church.

At the reception ,which was held at the home of Mrs. Charlie McLaughlin, 2221 Sixteenth, aunt of the bride, the couple was assisted in the receiving line by the bride's mother, Mrs. Perkins, the bridesmaids, and the maid and matron of honor. The reception rooms were decorated with baskets of gladioli.

Out of town guests were from Abilene, McAdoo, Carlsbad, N. M., Spur, Pampa, Levelland, Ralls, and Glenn.

For traveling the bride wore a green suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage. The couple will be at home at 2405-B Ninth after a wedding trip to Austin and San Antonio. Both are graduates of Lubbock High school.

Today's Town Talk

Opening Christmas season entertaining this week were two teas given by Mesdames Allan T. Stewart and D. O. Cross as co-hostesses in the Cross home, 3001 Twentieth.

The house was a pre-Christmas glory of red and green with arrangements of red carnations and lighted red tapers contrasting with dark and shining holly.

About 150 persons called each afternoon, Tuesday and Wednesday.

A blue and white refreshment table featuring the Christmas theme will be used at a pre-bridal tea to be given as a courtesy to Miss Jewell Alice Pharr, bride-elect of Robert Dawson, Tuesday from 7:30 until 8:30 p. m. in the home of Mrs. J. H. Hackfield, 1705 Twenty-ninth.

Hostesses with Mrs. Hackfield are Mrs. John Waddell and Misses Margaret Ann West, Betty Ruth Cobb and Frances Hackfield. Approximately 50 guests are expected to call.

Oleta Faye Pate was honored on her fourth birthday when her mother, Mrs. J. B. Pate, 2416 Twenty-ninth, gave a party in their home Thursday afternoon between 3 and 5 o'clock.

Birthday cake and ice cream were served to Linda Sue Wiley, David Cowart, Mickey and Jerry Cowart, Shirley and Lawrence Allen Smith and Ted Boyd.

Mothers of the children were also guests.

Women interested in Christmas home decoration are invited to attend a Home and Family Life Education meeting Thursday from 2 until 4 p. m. in Annex G of the Home Economics building on Tech campus.

Miss Martye Poindexter, professor and head of the Tech Applied Arts department, will give an illustrated discussion of Decorative Arrangements."

Cast has been chosen for the Lubbock High school Christmas assembly to be given by Hi-Y and Y-Teens organizations, a one-act play titled "Christmas Is A Miracle" by Joyce Vernon Drake.

Dorman Stanley will play "Uncle Jed," and Teddy Simon is to be "Nickie." The scene is a deserted church on Christmas eve. Colleen Baldwin and W. J. Blake are directors of the play.

Mrs. Lynn Rowan, jr., and baby son, Lynn, III, are spending two weeks in Beaumont with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. McLaran. Mr. Rowan accompanied his family to Shreveport, La., last weekend to visit relatives and from there, Mrs. Rowan went to her parents' home.

Mrs. George Olen Ross and baby Dianne will leave Wednesday morning by plane for Honolulu to join Captain Ross, who is stationed there with the U. S. M. C. They expect to make their home in Honolulu for the next two years. Mrs. Ross is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Deardorff, 1906 Fourteenth.

Organists, Ministers Will Attend Banquet

An organist-minister banquet will be held Monday night at 6:30 o'clock at St. John's Methodist church by Lubbock chapter of American Guild Organists. All ministers and church musicians of the city are invited to attend.

Speakers are to be Rev. David V. Sieberg of the Shepherd King American Lutheran church, Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, dean of the Lubbock chapter of organists, and Mrs. Raymond Marshall, a vice president of Texas Federation of Music clubs.

DOWN IN DENTON

MRS. DICK COZBY, director of publications at Lubbock High school, left Wednesday for Denton accompanied by a group of journalism students and publications staff members. They attended a high school journalism congress which consisted of general sessions and sectional meetings on various phases of school publication work, and returned to Lubbock this weekend.

Representing the Westerner World, LHS newspaper, were Joy Pharr and Shirley Johnson associate editors; Donna Woolman, feature editor; Milton West, cub reporter; Johnnie Sue Corcorran, advertising solicitor; Joy Randolph, business manager; and Don Hancock, sports editor.

Students making the trip who are Westerner yearbook staff members were Mary Ruth Sims, editor; Tyler Curtis, photographer; and Louise Davis, sophomore editor. Shirley's mother, Mrs. Mack Johnson, also accompanied the group.

Several of the Lubbock students were requested to speak in the different sectional meetings, and Mrs. Cozby led a meeting on advertising at which Johnnie Sue spoke on "Putting Consumer Appeal Into Advertising" and Joy's subject was "Business Staff Organization." Mary Ruth explained "Class Sections of the Annual."

STUDENT TRAVELERS

CHARLES GALEY, LHS student body president, also presided as president of a conference of the Texas Association of Student councils, which was held in Abilene Saturday.

Other Lubbockites making the trip to attend the conference were Sammy Dunn, secretary of the student body; J. C. Chambers, vice-president; Joyce Worrell, head cheer leader; and H. J. McCabe, sponsor.

Council officers from Plainview, El Paso and Alamo Heights, San Antonio, high schools are participating in the conference to plan a scheduled meeting of the association for March 25.

PARTY PRATTLE

VIRGINIA WILSON was in charge of the program for the sophomore party held in the LHS gym Friday night at 7 o'clock. Folk dancing and jitterbug contests along with group participation games provided entertainment for the evening... New members of TNT, chemistry club of Lubbock High, were honored at a banquet held in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel early this week... "L" Association members, their fathers, cheerleaders, the football sweetheart and her attendants were entertained recently at the First Presbyterian church with a banquet.

SKELETON HUNTERS

STILL talking about their "Indian skeleton find" are Charles McBroom, Bill Griggs, Jerry Swain, Dan Williams, Joe Guy Smith, Johnny Batson and Danny Boon, all Lubbock High school students and members of Explorer Post Ten.

It seems that Charles found the skeleton of an Indian buried in an upright position in a canyon north of Slaton, and was aided in excavating it by the other boys. "Sitting Bull" is believed to have been about 35 years old when buried, and his remains are over 100 years old but are in almost perfect condition.

Other graves were also found, one of which is believed to contain at least two or three Indian skeletons. The other tomb had already been opened.

LOVE, LOU.

Candlelight Vows Read

Rev. Wayland Edwards of Waco performed the double ring ceremony at the marriage of Miss Frances Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Turner, Route 4, and Jimmy Pharr, son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Pharr, sr., 2121 Ninth, recently at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed by candlelight before an altar flanked with pink gladiolas, fern and white tapers.

Miss Bettye Turner of Midland, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Leneau Galouck of El Paso was best man. Miss Turner wore a pale blue dress with black calf accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The bride wore a copen blue suit with a white organdy blouse trimmed in delicate lace and black suede accessories. Her corsage was of red roses, and she carried a white Bible topped with white gloves and a lace handkerchief. "Because" and "Always" were played before the traditional bridal chorus.

A centerpiece of pink gladiolas and white satin tapers was placed on the table at the reception held in the bride's home. The couple assisted by their parents and attendants received out of town guests from El Paso, Midland and Borger.

The bride is employed by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. The bridegroom, a graduate of Texas Tech college, is employed by Reynolds Electric Co. in Santa Fe, N. M., where the couple will reside after a wedding trip to Amarillo. Both are graduates of Lubbock High school.

Mrs. Huffman, Bride, Is Honored At Party

Mrs. C. L. Huffman, the former Jean Holt, was honored at a linen shower given in the home of Mrs. O. E. Huffman in Odessa recently. Other hostesses were Mrs. Cecil Kendall and Mrs. O. E. Huffman.

The bride has been honored also at a party given in Lubbock. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Lidia of 2812 Ruby.

FOR MONROE CLASS

Regular monthly business meeting and social of the BYKOTA Sunday school class of Monroe Baptist church was held at the church Wednesday evening. Hostesses were Mrs. Brownlow and Mrs. G. H. Hunter. A prayer preceded the lesson, "What Baptists Believe" by Wallace, which was led by Mrs. Joe Taylor.

Toys, which are being sent by the group to the Buckner's Orphans home, were displayed by Mrs. Billie Meyers and Mrs. J. W. Durham. Mrs. J. O. Bumpass directed the games, played by the 26 members who were present.

A Christmas party for the class was planned for the evening of Dec. 15.

Erwin Book Will Be Released In January

Christmas Parties Planned By Furr

Nearly 300 guests will participate in the first of three Christmas parties for Furr Food personnel Monday night at the Hilton hotel. A dinner-dance is scheduled.

Personnel of the eastern division of the Fur's organization, comprising Lubbock, Plainview, Childress and Levelland will dine, dance, play games and enjoy an hour's program, Roy Furr, president and general manager, said Saturday.

Dance music will be by Bailey Ireland's orchestra. The program will include singing by Rex Glimps' Texas Tech quintet and tricks of magic by Magician John Sissom, Amarillo, Southwestern Public Service company representative.

Other parties will be held for the western division at Hobbs, N. M. Tuesday night and El Paso division at El Paso Wednesday night.

Mamie Jean McQueen To Wed J. W. Blount

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McQueen, 2109 Twenty-fifty, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Miss Mamie Jean McQueen, to J. Weldon Blount. The wedding will be in the home of the bride Dec. 19.

Duff-Bavousett Marriage Is Read In Methodist Church

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Bavousett of Snyder are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Oma Bavousett, to H. T. Duff, son of Mrs. Leonard A. Duff of 1909 Twenty-fourth and the late Mr. Duff, which took place Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the Camp Springs Methodist church. Rev. I. J. Duff, pastor of the Southland Baptist church and uncle of the bridegroom, performed a double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with picardy gladioli.

Traditional wedding marches and "Always" were offered by the pianist.

In Bridal Party

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a navy blue crepe dress with winter white accessories and carried a bouquet of gladioli. Mrs. Richard Crume, matron of honor, wore a two piece tan crepe dress and carried a bouquet of carnations.

L. A. Duff, jr., served as his brother's best man.

A reception was given for family members following the ceremony. Baby mums were used to decorate. Out-of-town guests included Mrs. I. J. Duff of Southland; mother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Augusten, Elnora Boyles, Mr. and Mrs. Roe Bavousett and Richard Crume of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hofacket of Tatum, N. M.; and Steve Bavousett of Stephenville.

After a brief wedding trip to Carlsbad, N. M., and other points in New Mexico, the couple will be at home at 1909 Twenty-fourth. For travel, Mrs. Duff wore a plum colored suit with navy blue accessories. She is employed by the veterans administration and he is associated with the Southwestern Public Service company.

President Of International Printing Trades Union Dies

PRESSMEN'S HOME, Tenn., Dec. 4. (U.P.) — George L. Berry, president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants union for half a century, died at 6:10 a. m. (EST) today.

Berry had headed the union, described by his organization as the largest printing trades union in the world, since its founding.

He got his start in the business as a printer's devil in St. Louis.

At one time he served a term as U. S. Senator from Tennessee.

Berry prided himself on the union's record of labor peace. And its work for the welfare of its members.

He served as a member of several world labor conferences in Europe at the close of World War I, and frequently had been called into advise on international labor movement matters.

Grand Jury Frees Woman On Charge Of Kidnaping Her Son

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 4. (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Hodges, 37, of Atlanta, Ga., was freed yesterday by the Wichita county grand jury of charges of kidnaping her eight-year-old son.

The jury also freed of kidnaping charges Johnnie Carver, Atlanta cab driver.

Mrs. Hodges testified before the grand jury Thursday. Late yesterday it no-billed Mrs. Hodges and Carver.

The woman and the cab driver had been accused of taking Mrs. Hodges' son, Jackie, from in front of an elementary school here Nov. 10. The boy was placed in the school by his father, Dr. Claude Hodges, Wichita Falls dentist. The parents are divorced and Dr. Hodges was granted temporary custody of the child by a district court here last August.

PORTRAIT ON STAGE—A portrait of Mrs. Roberta Newell McGinnis, above, as the murdered Laura of the play, "Laura," will be on the stage Monday night when Lubbock Little Theatre, Inc., presents the production.

"Laura" Will Be Presented Here By Little Theater Monday Night

"Laura," by Vera Caspary and George Sklar, a three-act murder puzzle, will be presented by Lubbock Little Theatre, Inc., at 8 o'clock Monday night in Senior High school auditorium by a cast of Lubbock persons.

The play was presented on Broadway and also was dramatized for movies and radio. Its predecessor, a novel of the same name, is in the best seller class.

LIVELY

Casting for "Laura" began the last week in October and rehearsals have been regularly scheduled since that time, under supervision of Leon Harris, director. G. V. Pardue, stage manager, has coordinated efforts of set, lighting, property, sound effects and make-up crews.

Plot Of The Play

The Little Theatre's presentation of "Laura" will deal with the enigma of the murder of Laura Hunt, comely advertising executive for a New York firm. All the action takes place in the late Miss Hunt's Upper East Side apartment during two days in August.

LOOPER

Mark McPherson, ace New York detective whose part is played by Guy Lively, has been shifted from investigation of political crimes to that of the homicide and is heckled during his probing by Waldo Lydecker, super-sophisticate and bosom friend of the murdered woman. The part of Lydecker is played by Gene Looper.

A teen-ager is involved in Laura's life. He is Danny Dorgan, portrayed by George Young. Danny's juvenile love for the victim is suspiciously apparent.

Add To The Mystery

Bessie, Laura's faithful maid, portrayed by Mrs. Walter Wilson, and Mrs. Dorgan, Danny's mother, portrayed by Mrs. Gene Looper, add to the mystery of the plot.

PINSON

Then there is Shelby Carpenter, Laura's fiance, whose actions at the time of the slaying arouse suspicions in the detective's mind. Carpenter is portrayed by James Pinson.

Miss Hunt's body, with mangled face, was first discovered in her own apartment by the maid Bessie. Action of the drama takes place five days after that sordid discovery.

Winston Clark is another member of the cast.

The climax comes with such suddenness that it offers surprise.

Tickets for the play are being sold at Bray's in Park Place and Musson's in Green Acres. Admission prices are $1.80 for reserved seats, $1.20 for general admission and 60 cents for students.

Polite Policeman Lets Fight Go On

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Dec. 4 (U.P.) — A polite policeman was asked in police court why he did not arrest two men he saw beating up an elderly person.

"It would be unethical," he replied.

"And why would it be 'unethical'," questioned an attorney.

The patrolman smiled and said, "it wasn't on my beat."

Another officer made the arrests.

Colonization Planned In Mexico Wilderness

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4 (INS) — One hundred men and eight women will start out soon to establish a colony on the uncivilized, jungle-covered "Costa Chica" of the state of Guerrero near the Oaxaca frontier on Mexico's Pacific coast.

Discouraged because of difficult conditions elsewhere and heartened from the good fortune of the pioneers who settled the "Costa Grande" near Acapulco, some 75 miles north, the colonists plan to clear the land, begin cultivation of fields and settle a permanent outpost of civilization.

Their difficulties will be immense. They will have to drill wells for drinking water, clear an almost impenetrable jungle from the 50 hectares of land each colonist plans to cultivate, and do it all without assistance from the government.

One of the colonists revealed that the government had refused to aid them until they had established themselves on the land. But they replied they needed aid to so establish themselves. Thus the impasse stood until the pioneers decided to break the deadlock and go to the coast without more aid than they could give themselves.

Predictions are that the colonists will be forced to return to civilization. It is said the climate in the area is insupportable.

Newspaper Publisher At Uvalde Is Claimed

UVALDE, Dec. 4 (AP)—Harry P. Hornby, sr., 72, newspaper publisher and collector of customs for the Laredo district, died late last night.

He had been ill of pneumonia and complications set in. He died about 11 p. m.

This year Hornby celebrated 50 years as publisher of the weekly Uvalde Leader-News. He had been collector of customs since 1932.

He was first president of the South Texas Press association, a former member of the Texas legislature, and author of a book "Going Around."

Hornby wrote a column in his newspaper under the same title.

This year he also celebrated his golden wedding anniversary. He was an honorary member of the Uvalde Rotary club. Last year the Uvalde chamber of commerce gave Hornby a plaque for community service. It was the only such award ever given by the chamber.

He is survived by his widow, three children, Mrs. J. M. Lea of San Angelo, Mrs. R. H. Pilgreen of Uvalde, and Harry P. Hornby, jr., of Uvalde, and three grandchildren.

Co-Eds Will Have To Swing Brooms Or Pay Rent Increase

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (AP)—Girls at Barnard college may have to start swinging brooms and dust mops in their spare time, or else pay increased rents.

Officials at the school said yesterday they had two ideas in mind:

One is to add $50 to $100 to the annual $350 room rent at Brooks and Hewitt halls. The other would be to cut service costs, by letting students help clean their own rooms and perform other duties.

New Robot Ear That Hears Phone Ring And Turns On Light Shown To Medical Meeting

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 4 (AP)—A new robot ear that hears the phone ring and turns on the light was shown to doctors at the American Medical association meeting today.

It is used to save fumbling in the dark to reach a phone beside the bed, or stumbling to get to a phone somewhere else.

The ear is also used when no one is at home to turn on the light outside the front door. When the householder gets ready to go home, he calls his house and the ear turns on the light. No one needs to answer the phone.

Robot Is Box

The robot is a box on which the telephone is set. When the phone rings, the noise of the bell vibrates a salt crystal in the box. The vibration makes electricity flow in the salt, and the current is amplified to turn the light switch. The box and phone are set in the circuit with the light to be turned on. In this way the ear can be used to light any lamp in the house, or outside.

The device comes from wartime submarine and surface ship detection by sound. Nothing except the rate of vibration of a phone bell affects this ear.

Besides doctors, FBI men have been getting their ears because they are on call 24 hours of the day. The new device is made by a Cleveland firm (the Fone-Lite division of the Omega Safety Razor company) and in that city newspaper reporters have been buying the ears.

State Representative Resigns Post To Become County Judge

AUSTIN, Dec. 4 (AP) — Gov. Beauford H. Jester yesterday accepted the resignation of Thomas H. Sharp of Beckville as a state representative.

Sharp resigned to accept appointment as Panola county judge. He relinquished both his unfinished term in the 50th legislature and his upcoming two-year term in the 51st.

The governor has 20 days in which to call a special election to fill the vacancy.

Former Police Officer And Woman Guilty Of Forgery Wed

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 4 (AP)—The romance of a former police officer and a woman guilty of forgery reached the honeymoon stage today.

The bride, Darlene Joliffe, 22, of Seattle, was placed on probation for one year yesterday after pleading guilty to a forgery charge.

DALLAS CENTER AIDS CEREBRAL PALSY VICTIMS

Twisted, Stumbling Children Come In Big Cars And Red Wagons To Pink House For Treatment

By MARTHA COLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DALLAS, Nov. 4. — The man drove up in a black limousine and a maid got out with a small boy, his legs encased in braces.

Down the street came a wiry little Mexican pulling a red wag on holding his two-year-old daughter, her helpless legs cradled on a bright flowered pillow.

Both men were on the same errand at the little pink house which is the cerebral palsy treatment center of the Dallas Society For Crippled Children. The treatment is the same for all children, at no cost whatsoever to their families.

Not only from Dallas, but from all over Texas and a few neighboring states parents have come with their knotted, twisted and stumbling children. Some brain injury—before, during or after birth—made them that way.

Volunteer Services

The doctors in Dallas, with years of study and treatment of cerebral palsy, have volunteered their medical counsel and services, free of charge,to help pull these children out of the shadows.

"That is the significance of this center—everything is absolutely free," said its director, Mrs. Juliette Gratke. "At no other place like this in the country is there no cost whatsoever."

A little more than 300 children come in on appointed days each week for rhythmic exercises, for supervised group play (so they'll learn to get along with other children), for adjustments on their braces for expert guidance in learning to do things that normal children do naturally.

"No other place has a larger daily program," Mrs. Gratke claims.

The parents come too. They have to continue the same treatment at home.

Tired Of Singing

"You get mighty tired of singing the same old rhymes," said one mother as she paused in her low changing to rest her small son's legs, "but it's sure helping my boy to learn to walk."

"And see," said the Mexican father, "last month my Juanita could not stand alone. Now I give her the exercises and get her this red wagon and she hangs on to it and scrambles all over the place."

Roughly there are 300,000 cerebral palsied children and adults in the United States. Seven of every 100,000 babies born are crippled by cerebral palsy. One of the seven will die before he is five years old.

Often Thought Inferior

Because they cannot speak plainly and often can make only grunting sounds, cerebral palsied children more often than not are thought to be of inferior mentality, even half-witted.

There was 12-year-old Jimmy, for instance. He was big, but his mother had to lift him when she wanted him moved. He could talk, but only she could understand his queer noises. It hadn't occurred to her that Jimmy ever could go to school.

Jimmy came to the little pink house in Dallas from his neighboring home town and got braces on his legs first of all. Then the speech correction teacher got hold of him and, teaching him how to pronounce words, taught him also to read. Now Jimmy is in the first grade and comes home with shining eyes.

Mighty Proud Of Jimmy

"We're mighty proud of Jimmy," said Dr. Margaret Watkins, chairman of the medical board of the center. "His IQ is far, far above average; in fact in the genius category. Someday he'll be a fine man."

"But there's no cure for them," Mrs. Gratke cautioned. "These children never will be normal. All we can hope to do is bring them closer to normalcy."

The Dallas center prefers to get the children before they are a year old. The center now has more very young children coming in for daily treatment than any other. Their youngest patient is six months old; their oldest, 30 years.

12 Doctors On Staff

The medical staff is composed of 12 Dallas doctors. Two of them are members of the American Academy For Crippled Children. The doctors give a course for parents, a series of 15 lectures in which they explain just what made their crippled child the way he is, and what the medical profession knows about treating him.

There are three main types of cerebral palsy and the treatments vary. The spastic is tense and rigid and his fingers refuse to bend. The athetoid is in constant motion; he over responds to any stimulation. The ataxia has no sence of balance and walks with a swaggering gait because he plants his feet far apart.

Students Come To Work

Three nurses training schools in Dallas, Southwestern Medical school and the psychology, speech, physical education and special education departments of Southern Methodist university send their students to the little pink house to work.

Operating funds? Part of them come from the sale of easter seals. The Dallas Junior league pays the salary of one of the three physical therapists. And the rest—

"It just comes in," said Miss Champe Phillips, a physical therapist. "One farm woman who thought her boy was hopeless sent in $5 from her egg money, I know, just out of gratitude."

Expert Says Wealth Reduces Birth Rate

BALTIMORE, Dec. 4 (AP)—Which is a more effective influence on populations, birth control or automobiles?

"Autos, any day," answers a man who should know, Dr. Lowell J. Reed of Johns Hopkins university.

It's just another way of saying that demographers—scientists who study population trends—are convinced a nation's material wealth is an ultimate factor in deciding how many people it will have, Dr. Reed told reporters.

Theory Is Complicated

That's where the flivvers come in, as an index of people's wealth.

"It appears that if people are given the choice between material comforts and pleasures and children, they'll take the material things," Dr. Reed declared today.

There's nothing simple about it.

Take India. The current plan for that teeming sub-continent, recently graduated to independence, is for industrialization.

Would the resulting increase in wealth cut into the heavy overpopulation regarded as one of India's ills?

Not necessarily right away. In fact, the reverse might happen.

India's population may shoot up with the first gain in material goods—and gobble up that additional production before newly-increased wealth could act as a reducing factor, he said.

Contrary to some popular beliefs, Dr. Reed observed incidentally, wars make very little impression on the upward curve of populations.

He said charts of various nations show only a very slight deviation in the upward trend of population and birth rate curves even where there were huge war losses.

Man Didn't Want County To Bury Him

Lonely Texan Would Have Been Proud Of His Funeral

FORT WORTH, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Old Charley Mark would have been proud of the funeral his friends gave him.

It was more than a year ago that the lonely old codger walked into the Owens-Brumley funeral home and said he wanted to arrange for a $150 burial policy.

"I don't want the county to bury me," he said.

He had no relatives, but he had a way of making friends. R. D. Owens, head of the funeral home, was impressed by the old man.

Doctors Give Notice

Charley came back to visit, sometimes three or four times a month. Last Monday he came in with the quarterly payment on his burial policy.

He said the doctors at the city-county hospital "tell me I'm supposed to be dead now."

"But I feel fine," he told Owens. "I'm going to fool a lot of them."

But on Thursday, he died — alone in his room.

His worldly possessions he left to the funeral director. There were two oil burning stoves, a bed, a gold watch, two silver dollars, a handful of Roosevelt dimes he had been saving, a radio that wouldn't work — and the burial policy.

Funeral Arranged

Owens arranged the funeral himself. He chose a gray casket, and ordered it covered with red roses. Then he sent a Cadillac to Charley's neighborhood to pick up neighbors who wanted to go to the funeral.

When the strains of ""Where We Never Grow Old," and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" had died, the little group of neighbors and Charley's friends at the funeral home agreed it was the kind of funeral he had wanted.

Examinations For Radioactive Dangers Needed, Doctor Warns

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Frequent medical examinations should be given all industrial employes working with radioactive isotopes, Dr. Rex H. Wilson, medical director for the B. F. Goodrich Co., warns.

Referring to the increased use of radioactive materials in industrial research, Wilson said "there is no pain or other sensation whereby persons can learn whether they have been exposed to ionizing radiation."

He recommended the use of either small pocket ionization chambers which sound a warning when too much radiation occurs, or sensative badges made of film which could be developed at the end of each day to determine the amount of radiation to which each person has been exposed.

LAMPS MADE BETTER

PITTSBURGH (U.P.)—Using rare krypton gas, Westinghouse Electric engineers have boosted the efficiency in fluorescent lamps by 17 per cent. A regular home-size 25-watt krypton-filled lamp was found to provide 50 per cent more light than a conventional 20-watt lamp filled with argon. The new lamp uses only 25 per cent more electricity and gives out five times as much light as an incandescent bulb of the same wattage.

Kaiser-Frazer Is Buying Former U. S. Bomber Plant At Willow Run

DETROIT, Dec. 4. (AP)—Kaiser-Frazer Corp. announced today it is buying the famous Willow Run former bomber plant where it is making automobiles.

The purchase price, Kaiser-Frasier said is $15,100,000.

It is a transaction with the U. S. government, which owns the plant.

Uncle Sam built the mammoth factory for the production of B-24 Liberators in the war. Kaiser-Frazer has occupied it under a 20-year lease.

Kaiser-Frazer's purchase announcement was made by Joseph W. Frazer, president, and Henry J. Kaiser, board chairman, who entered the automobile industry with their newly formed corporation after the war.

Lease Is Converted

The purchase is being made through the War Assets Administration after negotiations which converted Kaiser-Frazer's lease into a purchase agreement, the company said.

Involved are approximately 320 acres of land and 35 buildings with total manufacturing and office space of more than 4,500,000 square feet, Kaiser-Frazer said.

Kaiser-Frazer said terms call for an immediate initial payment of $1,510,000. The balance is payable in 20 equal annual installments starting Dec. 1, 1949, Kaiser-Frazer said.

The great bomber plant, completed in 1942, was operated by the Ford Motor Co. for the Army. It turned out 8,685 bombers for the Air Forces.

Ford vacated the property in the summer of 1945 after V-E Day. Subsequently Kaiser-Frazer obtained its lease.

Kaiser-Fraser, in its purchase announcement, said it has produced more than 325,000 automobiles in the plant since June, 1946.

The main manufacturing building has 85 acres of floor space. Kaiser-Frazier said it has invested more than $3,000,000 in new buildings and building additions in the last two years.

Good Riddance After 34 Years

DIJON, France, Dec. 4 (AP)—Rene Maltete had a stomach ache for 34 years, but it is gone today.

The 64-year-old farmer underwent an operation which rid him of a German bullet he received at the front in 1914.

HEARSE SUBS FOR TAXI

FRANKLIN, Mass. (U.P.)—The housekeeper of a Franklin woman called O'Keefe's Funeral service and asked that "someone come and get Mrs. X right away." Edward Mulvaney drove the hearse to the home and then found that the woman really wanted a taxicab to go to the hairdresser's. So he obligingly drove her down in the hearse.

TAXPAYER ABSENT-MINDED

INDIANAPOLIS (U.P.) — Uncle Sam is $400 richer but he doesn't know who gave him the money. A branch office of the bureau of internal revenue reported getting an envelope containing the money. There was no name or address with it and no income tax form.

Try For Wheat Pact Scheduled

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 (AP)—A new attempt to negotiate an international wheat agreement will be made here next January 25.

The State department announced this last night following a meeting of an 11-nation preparatory committee. All countries belonging to the United Nations food and agricultural organization are expected to participate.

The proposed pact would replace the agreement negotiated early this year which did not become effective because of the failure of the United States Congress to act on it.

Agreement Explained

That agreement, which had the backing of President Truman, would have covered a five-year period. It would have set up a system of maximum and minimum prices to protect growers and consumers, and would have divided the world wheat market among most of the major exporting nations.

Under the plan the United States would have been assured of an annual market of 168,000,000 bushels, with a guaranteed price of $1.85 a bushel for the first year

Wants Are Reported

There have been reports that some countries want lower prices set in any new agreement because of the big 1949 wheat yields throughout the world. Such a move probably would meet with considerable opposition.

The eleven nations making up the preparatory committee are the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, Egypt, India, France, Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg and Brazil.

Sixth Divorce Suit Filed Aginst Wife

MIAMI, Dec. 4 (INS)—Wyatt M. Wayne, a 45-year-old Miami real estate broker, just can't make up his mind about marriage.

His sole matrimonial venture started five years ago and in the ensuing time he has filed six suits for divorce against Mrs. Patricia F. Wayne.

On four of the six occasions he changed his mind and returned to his wife before the decree became final.

Wayne filed the sixth suit today, with every intent of going through with it for good this time.

He was awarded a divorce from Mrs. Wayne on the one occasion he did not change his mind—but he reconsidered and married her again after the decree was final.

The new suit for divorce is the third since the second marriage, which was performed in June of 1946.

Wayne's attorney, Louis Jepeway, has a stock bill of complaint for his client.

He always charges Mrs. Wayne with an ungovernable temper and mental cruelty.

To support the claim this time, Wayne says his wife threatened him with a butcher knife and also threatened to kill herself.

Reds Prefer Just "Chewing The Fat"

BERLIN, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Chewing gum went on the verboten list in the Soviet sector of Berlin today.

ORGANIZATION AID TO INVENTORS

Gadget-Of-Month Club Is In Million Dollar Bracket

By JAMES PADGITT
INS Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 4—It will come as a surprise to no one except amateur inventors in 48½ states that Southern California leads the nation in dreaming up new whingdings, thingamajigs and thingamabobs.

That is the conclusion of the Gadget-of-the-Month club which weekly receives thousands of hitherto unmarketed gimmicks, tricky and useful gadgets and what have you from the nation's army of part-time inventive geniuses.

The G-M-G, which grew from a mere handful of subscribers to its present several hundred thousand, gives its members a mysterious little package every month in the year.

The package may contain anything, from a combination letter opener-letter weigher to the latest in car washing accessories.

Southern California, mainly Los Angeles, leads in quantity and quality of ideas submitted to the gadget club. What's more, there are just as many women submitting ideas as men.

Way down in cellar position is New York, New York, the club officers say, hasn't produced an intriguing idea since the club was started in November, 1946.

Giving Southern California a run for its money, insofar as inventiveness is concerned, are Chicago, Detroit, Philadelphia, Milwaukee, San Francisco, St. Louis and Seattle.

Also contributing worthwhile ideas are the New England states as whole, Miami, Boston, Buffalo, Omaha, Columbus, Kansas City, Minneapolis, Dallas, Phoenix and Oklahoma City.

A cut better than New York are Chattanooga, Wheeling (W. Va.), Richmond, Portland, (Ore.), and Camden, N. J.

Germany, Switzerland and Japan lead the 20 foreign countries in sending in gadgets.

The gadgets by mail club is the labor of love of Mary Lou Moffitt, former Newton, Ia., farm girl, who thought that something ought to be done for the amateur inventor who produces labor-saving devices and gimmicks.

She figured that the American public, what with its well known curiosity, love of adventure and its generous sprinkling of "people who like to be first with the latest," would go for a sight-unseen article each month for $5 per year or a trial membership of $1 for six months.

The club came into being and after a slow start it caught on like a prairie fire. Mary Lou is president of a million dollar organization now and inventors from Gobbler's Nob, W. Va., to Unalaska are working overtime on ideas.

Inventors are encouraged to send in their inventions to club headquarters for consideration by an impartial jury. If the gadget seems to fill a need, it is turned over to a manufacturer for a minimum order of 100,000 units.

A demand is created for the article, provided it meets with favor by the club membership, and the inventor is embarked on the road to success at last. The inventor gets a royalty as long as the article is marketed by the club.

Managed by able Don Davis of a Los Angeles advertising agency, Gadget-of-the- Month club recently launched a toy-of-the-month. Other ideas are in the wind.

Membership embraces every state in the union, every country in Europe-except Russia—most of South America and Asia and isolated subscribers in the Congo, the Gold Coast and Trucial Oman.

One of the gadgets that the club directors did turn down was a cumbersome Noah's ark-looking affair in clear plastic, labeled a "rat trap."

The inventor explained that a rodent would see a tasty bit of cheese visible inside the craft, would poke and pry around until he found the one-way door, would nibble away until an intricate elevator gently lowered him to the bottom deck of the boat, and then would futilely dash around in circles looking for a non-existent exit.

Come morning, the lady of the house is supposed to pick up the trap, lower it into a tub or something and drown the creature. The inventor enthusiastically explained that the trap was completely sanitary and that it was calculated to make a loathsome chore a thing of near-pleasure.

ROUGHNECK FIGHTS IN MUDDY STREETS ARE GONE

Oil Boom Towns In Texas Aren't What They Used To Be Since Law And Order Moved In With Wells

BY BOB JOHNSON, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

RANKIN, Tex., Dec. 4 — This is what passes today for an oil boom town. It's as quiet as your backyard.

Gone are the brawling boom days when poor men struck it rich overnight, when roughnecks drank bootleg whisky like water and fought in muddy streets for the sake of fighting.

That happened until the late 1920's wherever new oil fields were found, from Pennsylvania to California. It's still happening in Canada, oil men say, but in the United States the boom town has grown stolid.

Changes in machines and men and laws are behind the boom town's new respectability.

Equipment Now New

Workers used to have to crowd into an undersized hamlet near the field, or live in tents and bunkhouses on the job because their rattle-trap cars bogged down in narrow roads hub deep in mud. Now they can spread out, as far away from the fields as they feel like driving over paved highways.

In the old times, hardly a day passed that a man wasn't hurt on a rickety rig. Now equipment is safe, and tested to make sure it stays that way.

Among today's roughnecks you'll find college men — petroleum engineers and geologists. They're getting ready to be executives by learning the horny-handed end of the business.

Wildcatters who drilled with barely enough money to buy baling wire to hold their rigs together went out of business when the big companies started leasing and the states began laying down the law about where and how close together wells could be sunk.

Still Peaceful Town

Rankin, with a rich new field in her lap, is still a peaceful town of ranchers and storekeepers.

If you are a little too young to remember what happened at towns like Ranger, Tex., and Ragtown, Okla., just after World War I, you can get a fair idea from the old timers.

"Mostly mud streets and dives, and plenty rough," says Tom Workman.

"Drillers used to buy room and board for two dollars a day. But they made 16 dollars a day Men with that kind of money are going to find a place to spend it and people who don't care how they take it away from 'em. That's what made it rough."

Ed (Kid) Wheeler, who claims he was "sort of the papa" of the oil fields in this part of West Texas, says it was "gunmen and gamblers 'n bootleggers 'n women. Gettin' drunk and fightin'—Why it was just like goin' to the post office, just as regular. I'll never be another boom town like them old ones."

Few Signs Of Boom

Rankin's brand new oil field, the Benedum, is only 14 miles to the northeast. Oilmen agree it's a big discovery. A. D. Zachary, who has been a roughneck and tool pusher for 20 years, says it will take at least five years to drill wells in all the spots that have been proven since the discovery well was brought in last December. New test wells are being drilled north and west.

Yet there are few signs of a boom in Rankin.

There are a few fronts on corrugated iron store buildings, a few businesses that weren't here a year ago. But in the middle of town stand vacant buildings — relics of an earlier boom that Rankin fended off in 1927 when a shallow oil pool was tapped nearby.

Rankin, a sheep and cattle ranchers' town since 1912, had 672 people according to the 1940 census. Now Sheriff Gene Eckols figures there are 1,800 living in town. Many new comers live in trailer courts. County Attorney John Menefee says some $15-a-month houses are renting for as much as $100 because Upton county has never had rent controls.

But almost any farm town draws bigger crowds on Saturday night than Rankin does.

Dust Blows Frequently

You may see a few cowboys ambling along Main street, which still has bits of broadwalk splicing its strips of concrete sidewalk together. Along about supper time, oil workers in hard-toed boots give the cafes a brief rush.

But the dust, blowing endlessly off the West Texas plains, is all that stirs much of the time.

Different men see different reasons for the change in booms.

Roy L. Bell, the Santa Fe station agent, watched the Burkburnett boom of 1918 from the vantage point of Wichita Falls.

"The oil fields are getting a better type of workers now," he says "college men, ex-GI's, more family men.

"Then there's living conditions. Most workers live in towns now and drive to the field. They used to live on the job for maybe months at a time. When they got to town, the lid blew off."

"I don't know that the men we get now are higher type," Zachary says. "But they're better educated, and they're used to better things." And, says Kid Wheeler, there's "too much law."

"There was a couple of towns in Oklahoma—Keifer and Ragtown. They was the toughest sonsaguns there ever was. Why, they used to shoot men just to see 'em fall.

"But now they got too many telephones and radios and airplanes. They could get the rangers into any place in a couple of hours".

Farmers were getting 53 cents of the consumer's food dollar in July, 1948. Wholesalers, retailers, transportation companies and others shared the remaining 47 cents.

Coffee Vendors Get Word For Inauguration

HST Wins Round In Price War; Hot Dog Price Pegged

By ANDREW TULLY
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—President Truman has won one battle in his fight against inflation—the price of the inauguration day hot dog has been pegged at 15 cents.

And there'll be big (10-ounce) cups of coffee—hot—for the same price.

Follows HST's Wishes

The President had requested that prices be kept as low as possible and the concessions committee promised today everybody would be able to afford to take nourishment while watching the Jan. 20 goings-on.

"There'll be no gouging by any concessionaires over whom we have jurisdiction," a committee spokesman said. "Not only will their prices be reasonable, but the public's going to get its money's worth."

Thus the 10-ounce cup of coffee. The committee feels the smaller, standard cup would be just a teaser on what probably will be a cold day. And it's going to ask the vendors to make a special effort to keep the coffee hot.

Sandwiches Reasonable

Sandwich prices will vary according to their contents. The run-of-the-mill type spawned in baseball stadia and prizefight halls—a thin wafer of cheese between two pallid slices of bread—will bring no more than a dime. Other, more substantial offerings like roast beef and ham with fixings—will sell for 15 cents.

At the same time, vendors will be encouraged to use their imagination. Anyone with the blueprint for a whopper of a sandwich will be given a fair hearing on the question of price.

Soft drinks will go for a dime—"not that there'll be much of a demand." The committee members haven't set any ceiling on ice cream—the very thought of it gives them the shivers.

Large Inn To Be Built At FDR Estate For Tourists

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 (U.P.)—Plans for the overall development of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt's estate at Hyde Park by the Roosevelt family were revealed today with the announcement that a $1,000,000 inn and restaurant will be constructed for the tourist trade.

Reisner and Urbahn, architects, said the inn will be constructed on land leased from Elliott Roosevelt, who with other members of his family will retain partial control of the business. It is expected to be open for business by next June.

The inn will face the Roosevelt memorial park which is operated by the Department of Interior and contains the President's grave and library. The park has been visited by 1,250,000 persons in the past two and one-half years.

Complete plans include construction of a housing development, a shopping center with a gift shop and a motel with 240 units. The inn will contain a presidential suite and 48 guest rooms decorated to represent the 48 states. A nautical bar will be decorated with part of the late President's collection of ship models and prints.

Juvenile Delinquency Decreases In Big Cities, Survey Indicates

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Juvenile delinquency in many big cities is decreasing as the result of vigorous official and civic programs, a survey showed today.

However, the problem has shown no improvement or has grown worse in several other cities.

Most of the cities surveyed reported that violent crimes by teen-agers have declined, and juvenile agencies are receiving fewer girl offenders.

Downward Trend Noted

Although 1948 figures were not always available, authorities said there was a downward trend in Milwaukee, Kansas City, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Des Moines, Dallas, and Omaha.

Officials in St. Louis and Atlanta reported no change, but increased delinquency was noted in New York, San Francisco, and Los Angeles.

Most juvenile experts believe that delinquency results from slums and congested living, broken homes, lack of parental love and care, late "dating" or dating at two early an age, and the formation of "gangs."

Authorities said they are fighting the problem with programs of correction, guidance, and information among both children and adults. The anti-delinquency campaigns range from the "parents school" in Des Moines to New York City's big youth board. One of the most important goals is space for wholesome recreation.

In general, delinquency reached a peak during the war years, and started a downward trend in most areas in 1946. Officials believe the war, with its emphasis on violence, contributed to many violent crimes by teen-agers.

Delinquency started to decline when mothers returned to their kitchens from factories, and fathers came home from the service to take their places as the head of the family.

Milwaukee authorities said delinquency had decreased, in spite of the recent roundup of more than 20 white girls, negro youths, and older men on charges of indulging in sex and marijuana orgies.

San Francisco reported more burglary, auto theft, and immorality by boys, but said that the number of girl offenders has gone down. Girl delinquents usually are sex offenders and commit petty larceny because they want to have clothes and jewelry "like the other girls."

Sex cases in general have decreased since the war, but St. Louis reported an increase.

Several cities said there was a return to the "carefree" crime of youthful exuberance, such as boys who steal a car to have a good time one night, and abandon it the next day.

Los Angeles county reported the problem of a tremendous influx of new residents who have uprooted their children's lives and forced them to readjust to a new way of life. A probation officer said it was "miraculous" that delinquency has not increased even more.

The crowded streets of New York City produced a slight increase over 1947 in delinquency, but less cases than during the war years. Cases involving girls are increasing, New York reported.

Rita Hayworth Is Suspended From Job

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4. (INS)—Film Star Rita Hayworth, just back from a vacation in Mexico and Cuba with Mohammedan Prince Aly Khan, was suspended today by Columbia.

The studio stopped the star's $4800-a-week salary over her refusal to take the lead in the picture, "Lona Hanson."

A spokesman said she was supposed to have reported yesterday, but refused to answer the call.

The picture was to have been made by the Beckworth corporation for Columbia release. The corporation is a company owned by the star and her four-year-old daughter, Rebecca Welles.

In addition to her $4800-weekly salary, Miss Hayworth receives 50 per cent of the net for pictures made for that concern.

"Lona Hanson" is a first novel by Thomas Savage, a Boston clerk. Earlier in the year Savage tried to borrow $500 from a bank and was turned down. The next day the mail brought him a reported $50,000 from Columbia for the novel.

The story concerns a society girl who tries to run a western cattle ranch. The studio said it has no idea of why Miss Hayworth objects to the story.

DRIED POTATOES MADE TASTY

SAN FRANCISCO (U.P.)—Mashed potatoes made from dehydrated potatoes now taste just as fresh as though they were made from whole potatoes, University of California scientists claim. The potatoes are now frozen right after drying and the cells don't break down, which leaves them just as fresh as any others.

Christmas Pretty's For Her Christmas Tree!

EXQUISITE TRIBUTES TO HER AFFI FOR LOVELINESS, these glamorous lounge ensembles . . . and they only begin to describe the treasure-trove that Dunlap's have assembled for that very special lady on your gift list.

A. Flobert designs the Paulette, an exquisite satin quilted robe, satin lined, with contrasting trim on pocket, at neck and sleeves and wondrous width of skirt. 39.95

B. This fine moire robe, by Talia of Hollywood comes in white, navy, aqua, powder and green. Figure flattering in it's exquisite tailoring to all sizes from 10 to 20. 29.95

C. Royal road to holiday glamour for your Christmas Eve is this superb white satin robe, lavishly Alencon lace trimmed at molded midrif, plastron bodice and dainty wristlets, tiny satin buttoned, gently folding in luxurious full sleeves . . . the voluminous skirt adding the final exquisite note . . . by Talia of Hollywood. 49.95

D. Smartly tailored satin Pierre robe, ultra sophisticated with it's unpressed pleates in a very full skirt, self belt and buttons. In blue, lime, gold and red. 49.95

E. Flobert's bronze satin forms this subtly feminine robe with Alencon lace applique on dolman sleeve, at neckline and down the bodice to the extra wide, sleekly draped skirt. 49.95

F. Green chiffon quilted velvet, bronze satin lined, forms the tunic coat of these most luxurious lounge Pajamas by Flobert. Beautifully tailored slacks of green chiffon velvet, long mandarin sleeves and duo-toned satin cummberbund lend added interest. She'll cherish you for life for such an elegant gift. 59.95

G. Mauve chiffon robe with satin matching gown is this daintily assembled creation by Talia. The gown subtly draped to extol the bosom, the robe gently smocked at yoke to lend flowing fullness. 39.95

You will find these and a most complete collection of lounging attire in our Mezzanine Salon. Our services excel in expediting your gift-giving . . . from convenience in budget buying to free-gift-wrapping to mailing.

Oil Discovery Indicated From Core In Northwest Hockley; No. 1 Turner Completed As Commercial Well In Dawson Area

Possibilities of a discovery from the San Andres section of the upper Permian in northwest Hockley were shown in a core by Edward C. Lawson at his No. 1 George L. White.

The wildcat cored from 4,625 feet to 4,637 feet. There was fair porosity and oil saturation in from six to eight feet of the recovery.

Operator cemented a string of 5½-inch casing on 4,617 feet with 100 sacks. The rotary drilling rig is to be moved out and a cable tool unit installed. The cement plug is to be drilled, then the section left uncased is slated to be tested.

Last report had the venture bottomed on 4,637 feet, waiting on the cable unit.

Hockley Drilling Resumed

Location is 440 feet from south and east lines of labor 16, league 704, state Capital lands survey, abstract 236, A. Taylor original grantee.

It is a few miles northwest of the nearest production in the Yellowhouse field.

In Central Hockley county, Amerada Petroleum corporation was drilling ahead once more on its No. 1 Griffiths-Lawhon, slated wildcat test into the Clear Fork, lower Permian, after cleaning up a fishing job.

This prospector, located 550 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of labor 5, league 730, SCL survey, six miles south of the town of Levelland, was below 7,136 feet, penetrating lime.

Tide Water Associated Oil company completed its No. 1 Turner as a discovery and commercial oil well from the San Andres in northwest Dawson county, about two and a half miles northwest of the Welch field.

Initial Output

The project pumped 24 hours for an initial production of 59.7 barrels of 34 gravity oil per day. Gas-oil ratio was 120-1. Total fluid recovered was cut 33 per cent water.

The pay section at 4,880-5,062 feet was previously acidized with 6,000 gallons in two stages.

This new producer is 660 feet from north and east lines of the south half of section 2, block C-39, psl survey.

About five and a half miles south of that area, E. E. Reigle plugged and abandoned his No. 1 Ina Mae Farley on 5,005 feet in dry San Andres lime. No possibilities of production were developed.

The failure was 660 feet from south and west lines of section 12, block M, EL&RR survey.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 2 Lee, southeast Dawson wildcat, was attempting to make a well from the Sprayberry section of the lower Permian after plugging back from a dry Ellenburger at 11,010 feet.

Plugged-back depth is 7,000 feet. A string of seven-inch casing is cemented at 6,420 feet. On last report, operator was running tubing preparatory to test the section at 6,420-6,600 feet.

Extension Producing

This prospect is 15 miles southeast of the town of Lamesa and 440 feet from north and east lines of section 47, block 34, T-5-N, TP survey.

Atlantic Refining company has completed its No. 1 Proctor as a commercial oil well. It is a three-quarter mile extension to the Cities Service Oil company and Atlantic No. 1 Proctor, the San Andres pay opener in the west Seminole field of west-central Gaines county.

The new producer pumped 23.53 barrels of 29.0 gravity oil in a 24-hour production test. Gas-oil ratio was 361-1, and the total fluid recovered had a shakeout of 80 per cent water. The pay was between 5,080 feet and 5,185 feet and was treated with 4,000 gallons of acid.

It is at the center of the northwest quarter of section 356, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 Greg McCrumpen, northeast Gaines county wildcat projected to the San Andres-Permian lime, was drilling under 4,665 feet in lime.

Location is 990 feet from north and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 15, block C-31, psl survey, about 15 miles east of Seagraves. Nearest production is a mile and a half west in the San Andres field.

Gaines Production Sought

Argo Oil corporation No. 1-B Jones, located 465 feet from south and west lines of the north half of the south half of section 31, block AX, psl survey, was below 7,215 feet penetrating lime.

This development is a mile to the west and a half mile south of the Argo 1-N Jones, the Devonian pay opener in northwest Gaines county.

Also attempting to made an oil well from the Devonian section found productive by the No. 1-N Jones, Argo No. 1-C Jones is under 6,945 feet and making more hole in lime.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of the north three-quarters of section 32, block AX, psl survey.

Magnolia Petroleum company No. 1 Hicks, Ellenburger wildcat in southws etG THM ARFOD in southwest Gaines county, 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, league 273, Loving CSL survey, was deepening under 10,090 feet in black shale. The drillsite is 14 miles southwest of Lamesa.

In southeast Gaines county, Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 1 Doss was under 6,220 feet and drilling ahead in lime. It is 22 miles east and north of Seminole and 4,620 feet from east and 7,430 feet from south lines of league 292, Lynn CSL survey.

Lubbock Wells Deepening

Phillips Petroleum company No. 1 Kary, one mile northeast of Monroe in north-central Lubbock county, had reached a depth of 8,643 feet and was deepening through shale. Location of this venture is 608 feet from west and 645 feet from south lines of northwest quarter of section 25, block D-7, EL&RR survey.

In northeast Lubbock county, Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 Stribling, 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 9, block D-7, psl survey, was under 10,426 feet and was drilling ahead through lime and chert toward its projected Ellenburger test.

Attempting an extension to the Landon-Strawn pool of south-central Cochran county, Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1 Adams was digging below 8,930 feet in lime and shale.

It is located 1,063 feet from west and 457 feet from north lines of the south half of the south half of section 13, block L, psl survey.

Also flanking the Landon-Strawn production, Stanolind No. 2 J. F. Edwards, 660 feet from north and 528 feet from west lines of section 13, block L, psl survey, was making more hole under 5,711 feet in lime. This semi-venture, about 25 miles southwest of the town of Lehman, is contracted for 10,700 feet.

Wildcat Abandoned

Magnolia Petroleum company has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Wiley, rank wildcat in southwest Dickens county, about four miles northeast of the town of Spur.

The venture drilled to 7,716 feet in lime, encountered no possibilities of production, and was left on that bottom.

The dry hole is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 305, H&GN survey.

In southwest Terry county, four miles northeast of Seagraves, Coline Oil company No. 1x-A-56 Oil Development, scheduled 5,800-foot wildcat, 450 feet from east and 330 feet from south lines of section 56, J. H. Gibson survey, was making new hole from 4,775 feet through lime.

Denver Producing and Refining company has taken over the No. 17-C Elliott, flanker to the Was-

U. S. STILL CONSIDERED FRIEND

Australians Scoff At "Strained Relations" Despite Lot Of Talk

By GORDON TAIT
Associated Press Staff Writer

SYDNEY, Dec. 4.—Australians still look on Uncle Sam as a good friend in peace or war.

There has been a lot of talk lately in the Australian parliament about a strain in diplomatic relations between the United States and Australia.

But this has passed right over the average Australian's head. He doesn't believe it is true; neither does U. S. Ambassador Myron M. Cowen, nor the Australian government.

The strained relations statements all came from members of parliament politically opposed to the labor government. The opposition speakers apparently sought to underline what they regard as clumsy handling of the request to the United States for recall of the so-called "Manila Girls."

Title Is Explained

These were the Australian women who left the dominion in 1946 to work as civilian employes of the United States armed forces in Pacific bases. Some went to the United States to work after their jobs in the Pacific had ended. The Australian government, asking their return, said the United States had broken an agreement by not repatriating them.

(In Washington, State department officials said the few Australian girls who had come to the United States from their wartime jobs in the Pacific were in the country legally and so far no stand had been taken on the Australian request.)

John T. Lang, an independent labor member, first spoke of "the impairing of friendly relations with the U. S. A." He said they were weakened by charges of Immigration Minister Arthur A. Calwell that the United States had violated an agreement to return the girls.

Row Dies Down

The row about the "Manila Girls" died down. Then, a week later, the attention of parliament was directed to a poster which compared methods of government in Australia and the United States.

The poster was put out by the commonwealth office of education, a small government office. It showed among other things a wire-pulling political boss operating behind the scenes in American government.

A liberal party member, Joseph P. Abbott, asked that the poster he withdrawn "in view of the present strained relations" with the United States. Distribution was stopped.

In a later interview, Abbott said he believed relations between the United States and Australia had been damaged by recent Australian government actions. He referred particularly to the handling of the request recall of the "Manila Girls," and said "these silly actions leave scars behind."

Underlies Attacks

Underlying the opposition attacks is the belief that the Australian government is politically vulnerable to charges that it does not combat Communism vigorously enough.

One of the opposition's strongest themes is that the Australian government's tolerance of Communists has been responsible for the reported refusal of the U. S. to give Australia defense secrets.

Immigration Minister Calwell defended in the House of Representatives his demand for the return of the "Manila Girls" from the United States.

Caldwell Takes Stand

Declaring he was taking his stand on a matter of principle, Calwell said: "I see no reason why I should make it easy for anybody, particularly the representatives of a great power, to escape the obligations which they entered into with the government of this country."

The following day Calwell, answering what appeared to be a pre-arranged question by a private labor member, emphasized that Australian relations with the United States are good.

Minister for Defense John J. Dedman told parliament it is absurd to say relations with the U. S. are in any way strained.

A new record was established by air express in the United States in the first nine month of 1948 when 2,969,411 shipments were flown, a gain of 10.4 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, Railway Express reports.

Seven Injured In Bus-Car Collision

STEPHENVILLE, Dec. 4. (AP)—Seven passengers were hospitalized and 15 others treated for cuts and bruises after a bus-automobile collision near here yesterday.

The Continental Trailways bus was in collision with two automobiles, they plunged through a barbed wire fence, part of a loading chute in a pasture and came to rest against a tree.

Occupants of both cars escaped injury.

The bus driver, Junior Lee Sosebee, 24, Dallas, was also treated for minor injuries and released.

The accident occurred three miles east of here. The bus was enroute from Dallas to San Angelo carrying 29 passengers.

Those remaining in the hospital were J. O. Dewberry, Brownwood; Mrs. Edwin S. Wright, Richmond Springs; Mrs. J. B. Kellum, De Leon; Eulala Lusk, Sidney; Mrs. C. C. Jackson, Fort Worth; Lichon Coley, Santa Ana, and Mrs. W. B. Lane of Brownwood. Their condition was described as not serious.

Mission To Finland Protests Alleged Beating Of Russians

MOSCOW, Dec. 4. (AP)—Tass said today the Soviet mission to Helsinki has protested the beating and detention of two Russians by Finnish police.

The Soviet news agency said in a Helsinki dispatch that P. M. Tarasov, a member of the Soviet mission, and G. F. Darski were picked up by police at a circus performance, taken to police headquarters and beaten.

The dispatch said police ignored Tarasov's mission credentials and refused to permit the two to telephone the mission or the Soviet foreign affairs ministry in Finland.

Fake Divorce Suits Probed, Law Studied

NEW YORK, Dec. 4. (AP)—Moves to seek liberalization of New York divorce laws were underway today as the result of investigations into alleged widespread faking of "adultery" evidence.

Adultery is the only grounds for divorce in the state.

Robert P. Patterson, former secretary of war and president of the New York City Bar association, said yesterday the association will press for adoption of new divorce laws at the next state legislative session.

At the same time, District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said that a grand jury now probing an alleged "divorce mill" may "wish to make recommendations to legislative and judicial bodies" in addition to returning indictments.

State Assemblyman Bernard Austin announced he will seek creation of a state commission to study divorce reform.

These developments came as a state supreme court justice withheld action on 77 uncontested divorce cases because of the "startling revelations" brought out in the investigation.

Six persons, including a private detective, two attorneys and a 20-year-old woman, have been charged variously with perjury, inducing others to lie in court and conspiring to stage sham bedroom scenes as "evidence."

Medical Group Plans To Approve Better U. S. Health Resorts

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 4.—Very soon now you can go to American health resorts where you have an unofficial guarantee of the American Medical association that the place is good for you.

The first sign of this new move in American health is shown here today in an exhibit at the winter meeting of the association.

It is proposed to give medical approval to 170 American health resorts and spas, or as many of them that want it and can qualify, just as the majority of American hospitals are now approved for quality of service.

Rest Is Important

Four resorts have been approved and are listed in the new exhibit. Nineteen others are listed where approval will be given as soon as formalities are finished.

The exhibit shows what you really get at a health resort, from the doctors' point of view. Air, mineral waters and baths are rated good but not important compared with rest.

Qualifications for approval are: "To be located where special climate and other natural healing agents are found, to have a physician as medical director, to have a plant suitable to administer physicial treatments and with the natural agents, mineral waters and peloids."

The doctor in charge must be a member of his county medical society.

Texas Resorts Okayed

The governing body of A.M.A., its house of delegates, set up a national enrollment agency yesterday in the newest move of organized medicine to counter proposed federal health care.

The four approved resorts are the Saratoga Spa, Saratoga Springs, N. Y., the Baker, Mineral Wells, Texas; the Majestic, Marlin, Texas, and the Homestead, Hot Springs, Virginia.

The resorts not yet inspected or accepted but which have a physician in charge of medical facilities include:

Army and Navy General hospital, Hot Springs, Ark.; Buie Clinic and Buie Allen hospital, Marlin, Texas; and Crippled Children's hospital, Waco, Texas.

Lack of sufficient moisture has killed most of the trees in some of Spanish Morocco's afforestation project started in the last 10 years.

Call Of The Wild Results In $10 Fine For Denver Hunter

DENVER, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—When Claude W. Burkhart felt the call of the wild it cost him a fine in police court.

Police found Burkhart dressed in a red cap, plaid shirt, breeches and boots and carrying a rifle through city streets.

Burkhart told them he was sitting up waiting for his wife when the lure of the hunt swept over him.

It is illegal to discharge firearms within Denver city limits.

Alaska contains 70,000,000 acres of forests.

"Missing Link" Never Existed Evolution Theorist Suggests

BERKELEY, Calif. Dec. 4. (U.P.)—The famous "missing link" of man's prehistoric climb toward civilization may be missing simply because it never existed.

Dr. Richard Goldschmidt of the University of California, unveiling new evidence to support his radical theory of evolution, says the classic Darwin theory may be all wrong.

He thinks modern man may have descended from a "monster" instead of slowly evolving by a succession of minor changes.

Goldschmidt, one of the world's eminent authorities on heredity and genetics, is studying laboratory experiments which indicate that most new species of life come into existence by sudden "cataclysmic" changes rather than by developing over thousands of years.

"Monsters" Take Over

The suddenly-born mutations are "monsters" compared to their ancestors, which eventually they may supplant.

Until recently, Goldschmidt had little laboratory evidence to explain how this sudden-evolution process might work. Then he began experimenting with a mysterious particle in living cells, called hetero-chromatin.

"Now it appears that heteorchromatin may be responsible for these cataclysmic changes in life species," Goldschmidt said. "And there is some hint that it also may be concerned with the determination of sex. But it is very inconclusive so far."

Pointing out that "monsters" are created by almost every species, including mankind, Goldschmidt said he thinks they may be "hopeful experiments" by nature rather than her mistakes.

If such monsters survive and thrive, he theorized, they may become the fathers of new species.

"Missing Link" Explained

That explains why there are so many "missing links" in evolution which never have been found.

While believers in the Darwin theory of gradual evolution scoff at Goldschmidt's ideas, he challenges them to explain how hairless animals developed hair, how spineless creatures came to have backbones and how some organisms appeared with the skeletons of their bodies on the outside rather than inside their bodies.

Goldschmidt's laboratory experiments with hetero-chromatin and fruit flies, produced similar monsters in one generation, "indicating this cellular substance is in charge of early development and growth processes."

He emphasized that no studies have been performed on the action of hetero-chromatin in human beings or any large animal.

"But our work is only beginning," he added.

Jury Gives Damages Against Film Firm

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 4 (INS) — A St. Louis federal court jury last night awarded Mrs. Beulah Greenwalt Walcher of Denver $290,000 in damages against Loew's, inc.

Mrs. Walcher sought $400,000 on the ground that she was made the "love interest" in a motion picture based on the book "They Were Expendable."

Mrs. Walcher, a former St. Louis resident, contended the character "Sandy" in the movie is based upon her and that the film company did not obtain her permission.

The defense admitted there was no doubt that Mrs. Walcher was the Army nurse "Peggy" of the book. She contended "Peggy" and the character "Sandy" of the picture were the same.

Defense Attorney Richard Schewmaker claimed, however, that the nurse in the motion picture was a composite character rather than a portrayal of "Peggy."

The jury of 11 men and one woman awarded Mrs. Walcher $65,000 actual damages and $225,000 puntive damages.

The jurors viewed the movie in a St. Louis theater yesterday. They deliberated less than two hours before returning their verdict last night.

"Traveling Trumans" Play Number For Newspapermen

President And Daughter Get Thunderous Applause For Piano Duet At Press Club

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—They cheered when Harry sat down at the piano.

They rocked the sturdy girders that hold up the roof of the National Press building when the President of the United States finished his piece and took a curtain call.

It was at the first father-and-daughter night at the National Press club last night. And many an eight and nine-year-old echoed the words of her old man: "Where else, but in America, could such a thing happen?"

There sat 250 newspapermen. They had invited the first father of the land, HST, and his talented daughter, Margaret, to sit in as guests.

Gawks Were Free

Things had worked up to a climax. The daughters from 3½ to 40 had, indeed, had a fine time. The President was right there for three whole hours for everybody to gawk at. The gawks were free.

Then Merriman Smith, the United Press White House correspondent who was acting as master of ceremonies (even though he has two sons and nary a daughter) announced that it was time for the "Traveling Trumans."

Margaret, in a blue-green velvet number, headed for the piano, pulling her daddy behind her.

Margaret, who goes in for opera, did most of the talking. She said she thought she was supposed to sing. She added that somebody with more authority had voted her down. (Meaning, you guess who.) Anyhow, she said she and her daddy would play a piano duet, "The Jenny Lind Polka," a number her pop taught her when she was a little girl.

Margaret Handles Bass

Margaret gave way to authority on the piano bench, too. She handled the bass while the President took charge of the melody.

Perhaps it just happened, but Leon Navara, a very able tickler of the ivories, had preceded the Trumans by a few numbers on the program. He played George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue" like only Leon and the old master himself could play it. He did one of Chopin's most difficult—with one hand.

The applause the daughters gave Leon was thunderous, particularly when he wound up his routine with "Missouri Waltz," which happens to be Mr. Truman's favorite piece.

Applause Thunderous

Is there a better or louder word than "thunderous?" If there is, that's what the President and Margaret got from the dads and their female small fry when the "Traveling Trumans" kicked into the dying notes of old "Jenny Lind Polka."

Sure, the press club chorus did all right. And so did all the other big shot entertainers. The kids smiled and most of 'em curtsied polite like when they received an orchid each as a gift of W. H. Hill of the Hawaiian legislature—flown here free by United Airlines so as to be fresh and pretty.

The daughters were well behaved and polite. They clapped like good little girls. But when Mr. Truman acknowledged his acclaim from Joe Short and addressed the head of the press club with a coy "Thank you, Mr. President . . ."

Brother, you should have heard the noise those kids made! ! !

Bad Luck Ranch Is Now Bird Refuge Of Wildlife Service

ALAMO, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—The old Santa Ana ranch, reportedly jinxed, is now a bird refuge, maintained by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

According to legend, it once was sold for a fiddle and a new suit of clothes.

Until Uncle Sam took it over in 1943, it brought only bad luck to its owners.

New Method Of Seismic Oil Exploration Is Discovered

PALO ALTO, Cal., Dec. 4. (U.P.) A Stanford Research Institute scientist has developed a new and more economical method of seismic oil exploration which may open the door to new oil supplies.

The discovery was made by Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, associate director of the institute, who has been working on the oil exploration project for over a year.

Although not yet complete, research indicates the process will give greater speed and economy in seismic mapping.

In addition, the method may allow exploration in areas not presently suited to it, as well as operations over water without great loss of marine life.

The Poulter method also has the merit of not damaging nearby structures because the concussion effect is almost negligible.

Early spring cultivation is the most effective method of killing wild oats.

New Oil Discovery Indicated From Core In Hockley County

son-San Andres production in southwest Yoakum county, previously operated by Fikes and Murchison.

The venture was preparing to run a drillstem test above 8,638 feet, total depth, on a lime formation.

Location is 1,070 feet from east and 1,312 feet from south lines of section 832, block D, J. H. Gibson survey.

Humble Oil & Refining company was drilling ahead on its 1-H Matador, cowpasture wildcat in east Motley county. Last report had it below 6,440 feet, penetrating shaley lime.

It is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 128, block M, Matador Cattle company survey, 16 miles east of the town of Matador.

Offset Is Staked

McAlester Fuel company was reaming the hole at its No. 1 C. C. Edwards in west Lynn county in preparation for deepening it to test into the Pennsylvanian at around 9,750 feet.

Location of the wildcat is 440 feet from south and west lines of section 58, GRR survey, 16 miles east of Brownfield. The current total depth is 7,244 feet.

General American Oil company has staked a north offset to its No. 2-B Carmickle, flanker to the Arick field of southwest Floyd county and southeast Hale county.

The new project is to be the General American No. 1 Mayo, located 330 feet from north and west lines of the north half of section 18, block K, TTRR survey, in the Hale county portion of the region.

Projected depth is 6,000 feet, with rotary, to test the Pennsylvanian, unless production is encountered at a lesser depth.

Across the line in Floyd county, General American No. 2-B Carmickle, 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 18, block K, TTRR survey, was flowing and testing from the lower Permian.

Proves New Pay

This project is bottomed in the Pennsylvanian lime on 5,910 feet, where it has shown for possible output. Top of that horizon was called on 5,775 feet. A string of 5½-inch casing is cemented on bottom.

Operator has now perforated at 4 798-4,810 feet in the lower Permian to investigate shows drilled through. After swabbing that formation, the well kicked off and flowed for six hours, averaging 33 2-3 barrels of 34.5 gravity oil per hour. The fluid has a shakeout of three per cent drilling mud, with no water.

This development of oil proves a new pay on the east side of the Arick pool.

In south-central Hale county, Humble Oil & Refining company was still bailing at its No. 2 T. E. Lutrick, one location stepout to that concern's No. 1 Lutrick, small pumping producer.

Total depth is 8,000 feet. The prospector was developing a little oil. A cable unit is due to be rigged up, and the venture is to deepen.

New Anton-Irish Field

Location is 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from north lines of section 17, block D-8, EL & RR survey.

A new commercial oil well has been developed in the Anton-Irish field of extreme Southwest Hale County by Gulf Oil Corporation.

That concern completed its No. 5-T E. K. Hufstedler, 660 feet from north and west lines of section 32, block 16, L&SV survey, for 104 barrels of 26.5 gravity oil per day.

The initial production was made by a 24-hour pumping potential, showing a gas-oil ratio of 55-1. Total fluid recovered had a shakeout of 26 per cent water.

The pay section at 5,626-070 feet was acidized with 8,000 gallons.

Stanolind Oil & Gas company has completed its No. 4-B J. C. Harral in the Anton-Irish field in Hale County. The location is 660 feet from north and west lines of lease in section 13, block D'T. HE&WT survey.

The well pumped 24 hours to make a daily initial production of 205.49 barrels of 31 gravity oil. The gas-oil ratio was 222-1 and no water was present.

The pay section was between 5,553 feet and 6,168 feet and was treated with 18,000 gallons of acid.

Active operations in the Anton-Irish field:

Stanolind No. 7-B Lee Irish, bottomed on 5,560 feet, was running a lane wells survey.

Stanolind No. 8-A Lee Irish was on a total depth of 5,561. A bottom hole pressure test was underway.

Stanolind No. 2 Tom Lesley was drilling ahead from 5,802 feet in dolomite.

Stanolind No. 6-A Lee Irish was swabbing at 5,524-6,012 feet. Natural production was 53 barrels of oil in 23 hours.

Stanolind No. 4-B Harral was bottomed on 6,168 feet, waiting on a potential test.

Pure No. 8 Preston was testing above total depth of 6,229 feet.

Pure No. 11 E. A. Preston was bottomed on 6,125 feet, running swabbing tests.

Pure No. 12 E. A. Preston was making new hole below 5,502 feet in gray lime.

Man Is Victim Of His Own Gun Trap

ATCO, N. J., Dec. 4 (AP)—Stanley Belleck, 64, believed someone might break into his one-room home, so he rigged up a trap.

He put a shotgun in his front window and strung a wire, attached it to the trigger and the front door.

Last night Belleck was puttering in the front yard. The front door was open. His pet dog went back into the house. The dog fell over the wire. The shotgun went off.

Pellets grazed the back of Belleck's head, sending him to West Jersey hospital where six stitches were taken in his scalp.

Honeymoon After Much Delayed Wedding Faces Postponement For Ex-Solon, Wife

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Lovely Meredith Howard Harless, whose wedding almost became a campaign issue, is now postponing her honeymoon until plans for President Truman's inaugural are set.

Meanwhile Mrs. Harless, a former Ziegfeld follies beauty and bride of exactly one week, is thinking hopefully ahead to a wedding trip to Mexico, Guatemala, Panama and Venezuela.

Time is of the essence in her planning because she and the former congressman from Arizona are going to spend their first Christmas together back in the United States.

Wedding Postponed

The new bride has found that the road to romance is particularly rocky in an election year.

She and former Rep. Richard Harless (D) Ariz., had originally planned to be married on Oct. 9 in Knoxville, Tenn., with Rep. and Mrs. Estes Kefauver, close friends, as best man and matron of honor.

Rep. Kefauver, meanwhile, was running for the Senate in a hotly-contested race against former Republican national chairman Carroll Reece.

Just two days before the wedding, according to friends, the couple learned that there was strong sentiment in Tennessee against the plans of the Kefauvers to be witnesses at the marriage of two divorced persons.

Unwilling to embarrass their friends, the prospective bride and groom called off the wedding for the time being and went on to the bride's family home in Tulso.

Finally Get Hitched

They considered being married there with a different best man and matron of honor but found that local laws would have delayed the wedding for several days.

They decided then to abandon their wedding plans until after the election.

It was on Nov. 28, finally, that they were married in a little Alexandria, Va., church with Senator-elect and Mrs. Estes Kefauver as the only witnesses.

Since the wedding, Mrs. Harless has fulfilled an engagement as a guest on a television show and managed the brilliant seventh anniversary ball of the United Nations club, which she founded.

Originally, she planned to leave on her wedding trip immediately after the ball.

She found, however, that as a member of the inaugural committee she would have to remain in the capital a little longer.

Now Meredith Harless has her fingers crossed against further delay.

It wouldn't seem as though anything else could happen, but you never can tell.

Blacksmith's Art Still Flourishing In Lubbock—With A New Twist

The Curious Reporter

OPAL DIXON

THE QUESTION

Are you in favor of more aid for China, or do you agree with General MacArthur that our best Far Eastern stronghold against Communism should be set up in Japan?

THE ANSWERS

MISS GRACE PADLEY, 2210-A Seventeenth, guidance director and dean of girls, Senior High school: "I would be in favor of the latter proposal. From all that I have read, there is so much corruption in General Chiang Kai-Shek's regime that it is rather hopeless to do anything for his government. I think Madame Chiang Kai-Shek is seeking help when they are not doing all they can to help. I don't see any use putting billions of dollars into a rather hopeless project.".

ARCH S. UNDERWOOD, 3107 Nineteenth, compress president: "I believe we ought to go along with the Chinese. They are friendly and there are quite a few more millions of the Chinese. I think, however, that we ought to send some smart folks over there to help see where the money goes. We have a lot of good talent in this country that we are not using. I think we need some smart leadership in all the foreign lands to help work out world affairs."

HOMER MANNING, 2912 First, Sherrod Hardware Co. stock manager: "I follow General MacArthur. MacArthur has been over there and he has lived with those people and he should know what they need and what will hold off Communism more than anything else."

MISS ELLA MAY BUTLER, 908 Ave. K, Hilton Beauty Service owner: "What we hear about aid to China makes it rather confusing. I don't know whether they would know how to use it right if we give them money. I hate to see Communism go in there and take over. I trust General MacArthur's idea about it more than my opinion. If we trust him enough to have him over there, we ought to believe what he says. It's hard for those of us who have relatives who were prisoners of war of the Japanese to want to do anything that would help them. I don't want them to get strong enough again to want to fight us."

R. S. WILLIAMS, 2007 Twenty-ninth, housing expediter: "I'd be in favor of the aid to China. I think that would be the best place to help fight Communism. It would do more good. It's a country that really needs it and they have been more closely related to the United States."

FLOYD PIPES, 2315 Seventeenth, Sherrod Hardware Co., service man: "No, I don't think that we should aid China. I think General MacArthur is right. I think we ought to turn it over to General MacArthur. He's over there and he's the best man to decide. We hear so many conflicting statements on China that it's hard to know."

Greer's Iron Works Turning Out Ornamental Goods For Wide Area

By BILL CLARK
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

Those who think that the blacksmith's art has gone the way of the buggy whip and one-horse shay are in for a surprise.

A sizeable new industry has sprung up in Lubbock, where one of the city's oldest businesses, Greer's Iron Works, has given up the fading business of fitting horseshoes and now turns out ornamental iron products in big quantities for West Texas' most modern homes, churches and business buildings.

There's not much similarity between the modern plant at 1824 Ave. H where A. B. Greer turns out these products and the little blacksmith shop his father, Ed Greer, established there years ago. But the forge and the anvil are still there, used to turn out hand-forged decorative items.

Today is the 68th birthday of Ed Greer, who came to Lubbock in 1915. Although he retired two years ago and turned his business over to A. B. Greer, his younger son, he still takes an interest in the plant and visits it frequently.

Mr. Greer first worked in Lubbock for the Hopper Machine and Horseshoeing shop. In 1917 he went to Brownfield to operate his own shop there for two years, and he also operated a shop in Shallowater for a while. He returned and put in his own shop where the Commercial hotel now stands. He and A. B. worked for the Highway department for a while, then established Greer's Blacksmith shop at the present location in 1933.

Only Two Are Left

Incidentally, Mr. Greer and G. N. Atkinson are the only two old-time blacksmiths still living in Lubbock.

A. B. Greer explains that their decision to go into the ornamental iron was virtually "forced" on them in 1940. A friend, John C. Crawford, a contractor, required ornamental iron porch columns in a hurry.

Reluctantly Greer agreed to make them, and found not only that he could do it, but he could do it as cheaply as anyone else.

The firm went into production, but was soon halted by the war and lack of metal. Then, at the end of the war, they resumed.

Sells Over Wide Area

Now the company sells ornamental iron products over a wide area, ranging from Abilene and San Angelo to Amarillo, from Wichita Falls on the east to the New Mexico line on the west.

They turn out a wide variety of decorative products, some of which are stock-made, some to special order.

These include porch columns and rails, gates and fences, ornamental window grillwork, glass-top tables, andirons, house numbers, weathervanes, "dummy" hinges, foot scrapers and the like, as well as accessories for barbecue pits.

Their market consists mainly of home owners, contractors and lumber yards.

A dozen employes are generally kept occupied at the plant. These include young men who are training in this old craft with a new twist.

The business has other aspects, too. The plant makes farm implements such as go-devils, stalk-cutters and sand-fighters for farmers. A limited amount of repair work is done but no machine work is handled.

A. B. Greer obviously is wrapped up in his work. He helped his father in the blacksmith shop from the time he was a boy and today, though he devotes more and more time to merchandising and administrative duties, he still likes to help train the young men learning the trade.

"I wouldn't take a hundred thousand dollars for the business," he said.

It is, like most businesses, faced with problems. One of the chief of these is the question of materials. Mild steel is ordered from warehouses all over the United States and keeping an adequate supply, in face of the steel shortage, requires careful advance planning.

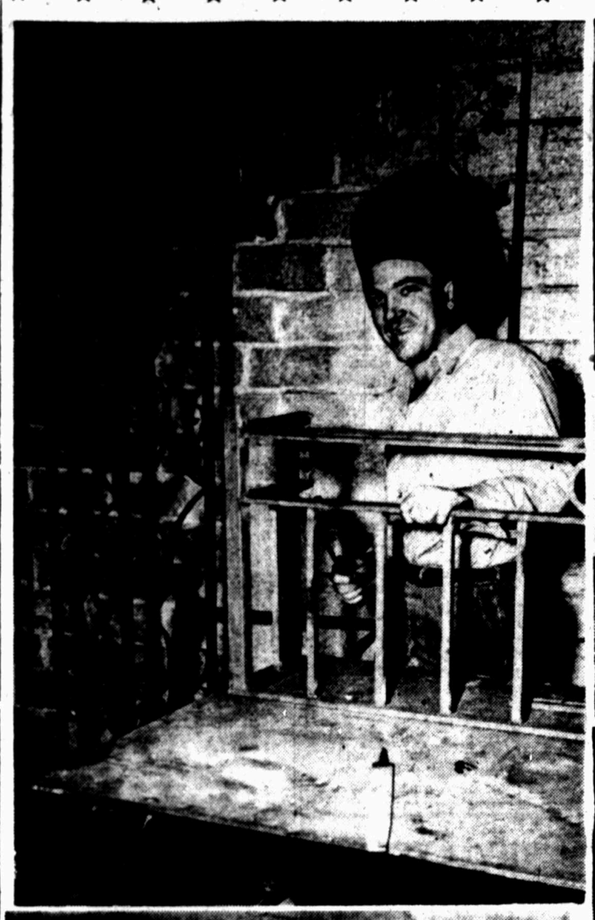

New trends in architecture result in increasing use of ornamental iron. For example, many Lubbock homes are using ornamental iron porch columns when in previous years wooden columns would have been used.

Mr. Greer's other son, Gene Greer, went into another type of related business. He conducts Gene Greer Motor Machine works in adjacent space.

Would Greer's still shoe a horse?

"No, sir, we wouldn't. We haven't shod a horse since we moved to this location in 1933. We did shoe one bull on his way to the Texas Centennial exposition in 1936, but that was just for the novelty of it."

So the old order changeth.

MAKING ORNAMENTAL IRON—From blacksmithing to a new West Texas industry tells the story of Greer's Iron Works. At upper left, D. R. Yandell, Navy veteran, puts to use training he acquired as a shipfitter in service. He is working on a porch rail. Note the intricately patterned porch columns in the background. At lower left is the Greer shop as it was in 1924 with Ed Greer standing between two friends. At upper right is the plant as it appears today, at 1824 Ave. H. At right center, A. B. Greer and his father inspect grillwork at the Millard F. Swart home in Cain terrace. Dr. Swart made heavy use of Greer's products in decorating his home, using porch columns and weathervanes as well as a fence. Note the post lamp and nameplate to the left. At lower right, the Greer's stand at the tradition symbols of the ironworker, the anvil and the forge. Although modern methods are used in ornamental ironcraft, most of the work is still hand-forged and the old forge and anvil in Greer's modern plant are still in constant use. (Staff Photos).

Stock Of Fully Matured Whisky Is Short 15 Years After Repeal

BY T. W. KIENLEN
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 4 — Rounding out 15 years since repeal, the liquor industry today reports a serious shortage of fully matured stocks, a problem created by the restrictions on distilling imposed in World War II.

But it is the hope of the industry that careful use of the aged whiskies available will make it possible to meet all demands until 1950, when the whiskies barrelled late in 1946, upon resumption of full distilling operations, reach the "legal age" of four years.

Utah, on Dec. 5, 1933, ratified the 31st amendment to the Constitution, ending prohibition and restoring to the federal government a source of taxes that in the intervening 15 years has brought into the federal treasury approximately $20,000,000,000, while enriching various state coffers by another $7,000,000,000.

Prohibition Costly

A report by Licensed Beverage Industries, Inc., pointed out that the 14-year span of prohibition cost the federal government $363,000,000 for enforcement while at the same time wiping out more than $4,000,000,000 in taxes that would have accrued otherwise.

Moreover, with repeal the American public apparently decided to cut down its drinking, the report said. Adm. F. E. M. Whiting (USN, Ret.), president of the LBI, told newspapermen on a tour of Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana distilleries and associated operations, that during prohibition "the American people almost consistently drank more distilled spirits than they have since repeal."

He cited as proof the estimate that in 1929, a prohibition year, consumption of illegally distilled spirits totaled 225,000,000 gallons, whereas only in 1946 has the legalized industry produced as much as 200,000,000 gallons.

Proud Of War Record

Boasting of its position as America's leading taxpayer, the liquor industry also takes pride in its World War II record of alchol production for use in synthetic rubber, explosives, anti-freeze, medicines, plastics and "a host of other essential war needs."

In the case of the Schenley Distillers Corporation, war-time production of pencillin has been expanded post-war until today Schenley ranks as one of the world's foremost producers of the drug, shipped to 61 foreign countries and Canada, as well as throughout the United States.

Resumed after a 14-year hiatus on Dec. 5, 1933, distilling operations in this country halted "for the duration" early in October, 1942, and were resumed partially in August, 1944. But until December, 1946, when restrictions were lifted completely, only a moderate amount of whisky was distilled.

It is that gap in production that now is confronting the industry with its shortage of matured stocks and for a while, liquor industry leaders believe, the situation will continue to grow worse.

According to the annual report of the Schenley firm, on June 30 this year "the industry's total inventory of straight whiskies four years or more old was only 37,000,000 re-gauge proof gallons . . . substantially less than the quantity required for bottling during the year beginning July 1, 1948, if existing quality standards are to be maintained."

In addition, approximately 19,000,000 gallons of whisky distilled in January, 1945, will become four years old next January, bringing total whiskies available to about 56,000,000 gallons, against an estimated demand for the year which began July 1 of 60,000,000 gallons.

"It is clear, therefore," the Schenley report continued, "that even without allowance for either the increasing demand for aged straight whiskies four years and more old, or ample working inventory reserves, the industry's supplies of aged whisky are not adequate to meet its current sales requirements, if existing quality standards are to be maintained."

COAL HERE TO STAY AWHILE

PITTSBURGH (U.P.)—The atomic energy boom and the development of new ways of getting oil doesn't present an immediate challenge to coal. C. A. Powel, engineering executive of Westinghouse Electric Corp., predicts coal will remain the nation's number one source of energy for at least 50 more years.

Dog Meat Again Is Delicacy In China

CANTON, China, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—"Man bites dog" is not big news in Canton.

With the coming of winter, dog meat again has become a seasonal delicacy, along with snake. It is prepared in a variety of ways, and tastes much like wild duck.

Snake soup and fried snake also are popular. Banners in front of the biggest restaurants advertise "three-snake soup" and "five-snake soup."

Change In Culture Of Mono Indians Noted By Excavators

BERKELEY, Calif, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—University of California anthropologists, racing to complete excavations before the flooding of certain sections of California by U. S. Army engineers, have unearthed evidences of a culture change in the lives of western Mono Indians.

Students and scientists from the university, digging in an area which will be under water after completion of flood control dams, found relics 24 inches below the surface which included implements, pottery and glass beads. These relics were of the period prior to 1850.

Four feet below the surface the scientists found relics several centuries older. There was no pottery, only crude vessels cut from soapstone. This level disclosed no arrow heads, only crude spear points. There were also skeletons under rocks, indicating that cremation, practiced during the later period, had not yet been discovered.

Stomach Cancer Detection By Mass X-Ray Surveys Called Impossible And Impractical

CHICAGO, Dec. 4 (AP) — Two Mayo clinic radiologists said today that mass X-ray surveys to detect early stomach cancer in persons over 40 are "impossible and impractical."

Cancer grows so fast and with such little warning that the 42,000,000 persons over 40 would have to be examined every three months to be sure of detecting the tumor early, they said.

"It would take 1,917.6 roentgenologists examining a stomach every two minutes for eight hours steadily every day of the year including Sundays and holidays, year after year continuously, to make a satisfactory survey of this group of people every three months," they said.

Report Is Quoted

The report, written for the American Journal of Roentgenology and Radium Therapy, by Drs. B. R. Kirklin and John R. Hodgson of Rochester, Minn., said:

"We believe that one of the most important parts of the campaign against cancer is the continued education of the public to an awareness of cancer. We believe that this should be augmented and that this alone will bring many patients to the physician in time. In any event the public must be educated before any attempt to survey is tried. They should especially know why they have to be examined every three months."

Teaching Urged

Instead of mass surveys at this time, the doctors urged that sufferers be taught to consult their family physician at the first indication of stomach disorder.

However, they said that stomach cancer is one of the great unsolved problems of medicine. So difficult is it to detect in time, they said, that several well known stomach cancer authorities have failed to recognize the disease in themselves until too late.

Ninety-five per cent of all such cancers occur in persons over 40.

Red Cabinet Thinks Czechs Ought To Forget Yule Cards

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Dec. 4. (AP)—The Communist cabinet figures Czechoslovaks ought to forget about buying Christmas cards this year.

This was suggested by Information Minister Vaclav Kopecky. The cabinet agreed. Kopecky said the public should turn over the money saved to a fund to publish the works of Alois Jirasek, a national writer who died in 1930.

Old-Timers Still Busy At Studios

By GENE HANDSAKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—Movies just a young or middle-aged person's game? Not on your life. Consider a few of the screen's real veterans.

There's Sir C. Aubrey Smith, who at 85 has just finished another picture. Harry Davenport, another familiar character face, is spry at 82. Younger, but not exactly kids, are Victor Moore, 72; Lionel Barrymore, 70, and his sister Ethel, 69. Other 69'ers are Lewis Stone and Sydney Green street. Charles Winninger is 64.

Charles Coburn

Still going strong at 68 is Jesse Lasky, who in 1913 established one of Hollywood's first studios. Another veteran producer, Sam Goldwyn, is 64. "Samson and Delilah" is the 68th picture for 67-year-old Director Cecil B. DeMille.

The actors' list must include monocled, cigar-chewing Charles Coburn. Charlie started me investigating screen seniors' ages when he remarked he's 71 now, enjoys good health, and finds as much zest and amazement as ever in his daily work. He's playing a police detective in "Impact."

Much Younger Physically

Two years ago, an insurance company doctor checked Charlie over and reported: "I've just examined a man who's under 35 years old physically."

Some exaggeration there, probably, in the medico's enthusiasm. But I asked Coburn what keeps him lively.

"I rode bicycles from the time I was 14 until I was 20," Charlie said; "I was an amateur and then a pro rider, in the South and East. I played baseball, fenced, played tennis, everything, until I was 40. Then I stopped. Even golf. I don't even walk if I can ride."

Learned To Relax

At his last annual checkup, the doctor ordered six-foot, 220-pound Charlie to take off 10 pounds, but he loves fattening foods. They go to his plump middle.

Charlie averages eight 32-cent cigars a day—"I never inhale"—and may drink Scotch and sode of an evening. He refuses to worry about anything. He never goes to sleep before 2 a. m.—a habit from many years in the theater—but says he can equal two or three hours' sleep (for an average person) in 15 minutes in a chair on a movie set. He even sometimes dozes off at the table in friends' homes. "In long years of touring in the theater," Charlie explains, "I learned to relax."

Hollywood On The Loose...

Facts And Fancies About Cinemaland

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 4.—Yoo, hoo, Lana! Diana Lynn is doing all right for herself, too. John Lindsay, the handsome Hollywood architect she'll marry just before Christmas, is heir to the Greyhound bus millions. . . More fuel for the Olivia de Havilland - Joan Fontaine feud. The Hollywood Women's Press club is thinking of giving Olivia its annual Golden Apple for co-operation—just for the sheer (and murderous) delight of watching Joan, who won it last year, make the presentation.

Johnson

Fox can't be planning any more musicals for Jeanne Crain because they just dropped singer Louanne Hogan, whose voice was dubbed into all of Jeanne's warbling scenes. Larry Parks and Jeanne should get together for a duet.

Hold on to your armthair—Gene Bearden, the World Series star, has been signed for a role in "Baby Makes Three" at UI. He takes the part of a football player.

Ingrid Bergman spent one week-end reading a novel titled "The Big Ember,' and says she'd like to do it as a movie. . . Mary Pickford wasn't kidding about leaving the country if Truman was elected. She's telling friends she's headed for Canada after Jan. 1. . . Columbia has unearthed "Variety," the old Emil Jannings, Lya De Putti hit, for a Rita Hayworth remake.

SLOW DOWN, EVE

EVE ARDEN has been warned by her doctor to slow down. She's speeding, he says, toward a nervous breakdown. . . Airline statistics show that one of every 17 passengers leaving Hollywood by plane is a celebrity. . . Lana Turner and Bob Topping expect a boy—based on a hunch of Lana's medico. They've already picked out a name—Timothy. . . Harold Lloyd is preparing a western for UA and will end a long drouth by appearing in it himself. Howard Hughes still has his last, "The Sin of Harold Diddlebock," on the shelf.

Herb Stein can take a bow for that crack when Jennifer Jones checked into a local hospital. "What, Selznick didn't build her a hospital?"

A Mexican film actress is shelling out a lot of pesos to bring plastic surgeon Dr. Robert Alan Franklyn to Mexico City to make her a glamor puss. . . Grace Godino, who is Rita Hayworth's stand-in, is out for a career as a dramatic actress. She plays the lead in the Santa Monica Players' "Golden Boy."

ROUGHING IT

TONY MARTIN, Jimmy Durante and Glenn Ford are making regular trips to Las Vegas for the bass fishing on Lake Mead. They "rough it" on the Flamingo Hotel's 35-foot cabin cruiser.

Eight East Indian elephants in the Abbott and Costello starrer, "Africa Screams," are wearing false ears to look like the big-eared African variety. (News is so scarce in Hollywood I should get a pair.)

Jack Benny gets the job as "Queen's Jester" at the Pasadena rose parade Jan. 1. . . It's Jean Arthur and Cary Grant in "A Woman of Distinction" at Paramount.

No wonder the income tax boys are beaming in Gary Cooper's direction. His role in "Unconquered" called for a straight $300,000 salary and a percentage of the picture. So far he has collected $500,000.

M-G-M will reissue "The Wizard of Oz." . . . In anticipation of her winter vacation at Sun Valley, Frances Gifford is taking skiing lessons on the sand at the beach—the same thing as taking flying lessons in a submarine.

Jap Institute Will Select Workers By Bumps On Head

OSAKA, Japan, Dec. 4. (AP)—Despairing of more modern methods, the Osaka Prefectural Industrial Efficiency Research institute is going to select workers by the bumps on their heads.

The institute has asked Prof. Hisao Wada, an expert in phrenology, to train a class of examiners in the head-bump science so they can pick employes for industrial firms.

Women Of Washington Will Throw Big Political Shindig

Tallulah Bankhead Creating Furore Over Whether She Will Attend Demo Honor Tea

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Tallulah Bankhead has Washington whirling like a pinwheel.

They're battening down the hatches while the actress issues frequent and fervent bulletins on the outlook for her attendance at a tea honoring India Edwards, chief of the women's division of the Democratic national committee.

It looks very much, however, as though even Mrs. Edwards may have to faint to attract the attention a guest of honor usually rates.

Unless, of course, Miss Bankhead is tied to the railroad tracks and doesn't show.

Trumans To Attend

Mrs. Truman and her daughter Margaret are officially heading up the impressive guest list for the tea drawn from the ranks of administration wives and women prominent in Democratic politics.

But, five star attractions that they are, it is not the first lady and her daughter who have capitalites quivering with anticipation.

A mild indication of which way the wind blows is the fact that the date of the tea was changed from next Wednesday to next Tuesday when Miss Bankhead boomed out the news that she had a matinee on Wednesday.

Since then she has vowed passionately to fight her way to the tea through flood, through fire—perhaps pausing on her way to demolish a few producers.

Her very last word on the subject, to date anyway, is that she is definitely planning to come but should not be counted on 100 percent. Exactly what would dare to stand in her path is not clear.

Spoke For President

Miss Bankhead, an ardent and lifelong Democrat, brought down the house when she broadcast an impassioned campaign speech for President Truman between the acts of her current Broadway play.

Her appointment as vice chairman of the committee arranging the testimonial tea was in great measure a recognition of this widely-publicized campaign boost.

But while party workers are the rule rather than the exception in Washington, actresses are vice versa.

And Tallulah Bankhead would indisputably be the exception rather than the rule anywhere.

Lily Pons To Appear

Another famous theatrical figure will be entertained in Washington this week.

Little Lily Pons, the world-famous coloratura soprano of the Metropolitan opera, is scheduled to give a recital in the capital's Constitution hall on Tuesday evening.

Afterward the French ambassador and Madame Henri Bonnet will give one of their very elegant buffet suppers in her honor.

While nothing has been said on the subject, it is a pretty safe bet that another famous coloratura soprano will be on hand for both events.

Margaret Truman, a veteran of one year of recitals, enjoys scouting her competition and will undoubtedly attend the concert and may possibly be a guest at the midnight supper afterward.

Miss Truman is one soprano who actually likes to hear other singers on her busman's holidays.

Yule Mail Creates Very Big Problem

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (AP)—Unless you mail your Christmas packages right now they probably will arrive after the holiday.

Postmaster General Donaldson said in a statement last night:

"This year's Christmas mail added to the present everyday record volume has created the most acute mail congestion and transportation problem in the entire history of the postal service.

"Only by the immediate mailing of Christmas parcels can the senders be assured that their gifts will arrive prior to Christmas."

Former U. S. Vice-President Recovering From Infection

CHICAGO, Dec. 4. (AP)—Gen. Charles Gates Dawes, 83, a former vice president of the United States, is recovering in St. Luke's hospital from a virus infection, described by physicians as similar to influenza.

Dawes, vice president during the Coolidge administration and later ambassador to Great Britain, entered the hospital Wednesday. Physicians said he was recovering rapidly but he is expected to remain in the hospital a week.

Dawes, for many years active in Republican politics, is chairman of the City National Bank and Trust company of Chicago.

Colorado City Voters Choose Manager-Council Government

COLORADO CITY, Dec. 4. (AP) The city manager-council form of government was chosen to replace the mayor-council form by a vote of 449 to 133 in an election here yesterday.

Two new councilmen—W. S. Rhode and W. C. Hooks—were elected, making a total of seven on the council.

Music Played "Sweet" If Written That Way

Band Leader Gives Formula For Success Of Orchestra

By GEORGE TUCKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The idea that Guy Lombardo has a "sweet" band is gently ridiculed by the man himself with the comment "the music my band plays is never sweet unless it was written that way."

You owe a composer the same fidelity that a producer gives a playwright, Lombardo suggested.

The bandleader, who holds three speed boat records and is helping build a boys town on Long Island, has some definite ideas about music and the way it should be played.

Started Young

"Many swing bands were war babies," he said. "I'm not talking about the Dorseys and the Artie Shaws. They're standard. But the others, they were synthetic attractions, made for the moment."

Lombardo started young and got in on the flapper era. Since the young things today get the same boot out of a Lombardo tune that their flapper mothers got, he was asked about changes, if any, and about variations in style.

"Actually, the formula for our success is so simple that it is hard to put into words. We just play the way people want us to."

A man of many interests, Lombardo has to "clear a space" when he wants to scratch his head and think.

Currently in the midst of his consecutive winter engagement at the same New York hotel (Roosevelt), he also is managing a sea food house on Long Island in addition to racing speed boats and appearing on radio and television shows.

But he really is high on that boys town project. With political and church leaders he is a member of the advisory board that recently brought Msgr. Nicholas H. Wegner, director of Boys Town, Nebraska, to New York to outline the operation of that great institution.

"We're going to do it," Lombardo enthused. "We've already raised $100,000. It's the real thing—a place not just for boys in trouble with the law, but also those from broken homes."

Two Men Sentenced In Rape Of Negroes

WETUMPKA, Ala., Dec. 4.—(AP) An Elmore county circuit court jury has given two white cousins 45-year sentences on charges of raping two negro women.

Defendant Jack Oliver, 21, entered a plea of guilty before testimony began. He agreed to accept the same sentence his cousin John C. Howard, jr., 30, received earlier. The jury approved a 45-year sentence for Oliver yesterday after brief deliberation.

The prosecution asked the all-white jury to show that a negro can get justice in an Alabama court.

Oliver and Howard were indicted on charges of robbery and rape. Alabama permits a maximum penalty of death for either charge. Oliver pleaded guilty of raping Annie Grayson, 23.

Howard was convicted earlier of raping Melinda Jackson, 22. The two cousins also were charged with robbing the women's husbands, chasing them away with gun shots, and carrying off their wives in a pickup truck.

Area's Egg Production Record Outstanding; Lame Duck Solons Travel

CACKLE-CACKLE!

It Means Big Money

THE BUREAU of Business Research of the University of Texas issues a four-page report each month on "Carload Movements of Egg Shipments from Texas Stations." The title is not calculated to cause a rush of eager readers to libraries and book stores in quest of copies.

But the most recent report, just received and covering shipments of last October, possesses best-seller qualities for South Plainsmen.

It reveals that during October — a reasonably typical month—half as many eggs were shipped from the South Plains as from all the rest of Texas combined. That, in itself, is an imposing record likely to surprise most of our people. But it doesn't begin to tell the full fine story.

South Plains shipments totaled 24 carloads. Shipments for the entire state totaled 72 carloads. But here is the significant fact: Every egg shipped from the South Plains was produced right here. Most of those handled elsewhere were shipped into Texas from other states and then re-shipped intrastate. Exact computations are not available. But an analysis of the report establishes that almost as many, and perhaps more, Texas-produced eggs were shipped from this area than from all the rest of Texas combined.

This astonishing record suggests the question: Is the South Plains giving as much attention to the egg and poultry business as it could and should? Are we satisfied with making a profitable sideline of something which might be developed into genuine Big Business?

Opportunity is here, as proved by actual achievement. We have the climate. We produce enormous quantities of grain sorghum, one of the finest poultry feeds. We have important packing and processing industries, which are the best guarantees of a market. We have distribution. We have enough moisture, even in drouth years, for poultry and egg production, which can be made to flourish in a desert. And this is no desert.

The possibilities certainly seem worthy of study. It could be that we haven't scratched the surface of the full opportunity which might be revealed, encouraged and developed.

Balloon On Taxes

THE SPEECH made in Detroit the other day by Federal Budget Director James E. Webb had the characteristics of a trial balloon to test public sentiment toward increased taxes next year. Mr. Webb said taxes will have to be boosted if a deficit is to be avoided.

If his statements did have a balloon purpose, it is likely to be followed by many others with similar intent. The aggregate of the popular reaction to all the tests is likely to be important, perhaps decisive, in determining whether federal taxes next year are to be raised, and by how much.

If the reaction indicates that increases would be accepted without too much protest, taxes unquestionably will go up. If the reaction is definitely unfavorable, Congress will be slow and cautious in its handling of such legislation. Congress won't make too many people too mad for the sake of this, or any other, proposal.

The trial balloons and, more particularly, the public reactions to them will be worth watching. They are likely to foretell far in advance how deep the taxpayers may have to dig next year. They suggest also that those who want to protest increases might make their efforts count more effectively if they start registering their objections at once.

A medico says the lack of money can give one a pain the stomach. It can also make one a pain the neck.

In the old days, life was simple. They didn't have letterhead organizations soliciting funds for various things.

We need some kind of a storm warning to signal before a man has a brain storm.

It's a darn good rule if it will work your way.

Holiday Rush Stresses Problem Facing Post Offices

By PETER EDSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4 — The annual "Mail Early for Christmas" warnings have extra meaning this year. The jam in the Post Office for the next few weeks, reaching a peak in the holidays, is going to be the worst in history.

Last year's Christmas rush was about a third heavier than any year before. This year's rush is expected to be 25 to 30 per cent heavier than that. It comes on top of six months in which the volume of mail handled each month has been greater than last year's Christmas business, which set an all-time record.

EDSON

Two things in particular have happened to throw this extra burden in the packs of Uncle Sam's mailmen.

First is that Railway Express agency, having upped its rates three times in the last 18 months, has now practically priced itself out of business. Postal officials say it now costs about 15 times as much to ship by express as by parcel post. From 90 to 95 per cent of the business that Railway Express has lost has gone to the Post Office.

Second point is that the volume of all other classes of mail has been going up steadily. In the last 15 years, the increase has been over 300 per cent.

No Expansion Since 1938

Postal facilities have been given no comparable increase to take care of this business. There has been virtually no expansion since 1938. Today the Department could use about 300 more buildings for post offices, annexes and increased terminal facilities. Railway Mail Service has fewer post office cars than it had at the beginning of the war. This is due to wearing out of old equipment and lack of steel for the railroads to build new. Freight cars are now being used.

What all this adds up to is that the U. S. Post Office Department stands to lose over $550,000,000 in the year ending next June 30.

This is just a beginning. The railroads, to which the Interstate Commerce Commission last February gave a temporary 25 per cent increase for carrying the mail, has now asked for a permanent 65 per cent raise. And foreign and domestic airlines have asked Civil Aeronautics Authority for a 160 per cent increase in their pay for flying the mail.

Next Jan.1 there will be slight increases in postage rates on all except first and second class mail —letters, newspapers and magazines. Airmail will go from five cents an ounce back to six cents. Special delivery will go from 13 cents to 15 cents. And so on.

* * *

THESE increases are expected to bring in to the government another $120,000,000 a year, but it's only about a fifth of what 's needed to make up the deficits.

Only two classes of postal service now pay their own way. One is letter mail, the other is interest on postal savings.

New estimates show that losses on handling parcel post will be $80,000,000 this year. Losses on third class advertising matter will be $129,000,000, on second class $207,000,000. Other losses adding up to $134,000,000 include $18,000,000 on special delivery and $32,000,000 on money orders.

In connection with the high second-class mail deficit, 65 per cent of the loss comes in handling magazines, 35 per cent on newspapers. It costs the government between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 a year to handle the three big magazines of one publisher alone. What this amounts to is a subsidy, paid by the taxpayers.

In the face of crazy conditions like these, career-man Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson will go before the next Congress asking for considerable rate increases and a big building program. Donaldson says he would have no objections to the Department losing from $150,000,000 to $200,000,000 a year. But anything over that is too much.

To suggestions from ex-President Herbert Hoover's commission for reorganizing the government —that the Post Office cut expenses by reducing services—Mr. Donaldson objects. It is a service agency for the benefit of the public, he maintains.

To frequent congressional suggestions that his Department modernize or streamline its operations by mechanization, Donaldson also burns. Ninety-five per cent of postal operating costs are for personnel and transportation. And so far, no robot has been invented that will deliver all those Christmas cards you're going to toss in the wastebasket within the next 30 days.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

ONE of my readers, a high school girl, is in trouble.

She wants me to help her.

There is going to be a debate in her school.

She is on the negative side.

The question is "Should the United Nationas be Federalized?"

To me this is a telling example of what is wrong with our educational system.

In the first place this youngster is put on the negative side by her teacher, although if she knew what the question was about, she might want to be on the affirmitive side.

I don't know whether this girl's class wa stold what "federalizing the United Nations" means.

I don't know, and I asked several people who are in politics and in government what it means —and they don't know.

But that isn't the idea.

The idea is that it is wrong to load kids up with questions that no adult has yet been able to answer.

It is wrong to take adolescents into realms which are way beyond their grasp and their interest and to educate them by tormenting their minds.

I was educated that way and probably you were, too.

What was the result?

We hated education. We resented school. And if we hadn't been so young we would have become just as frost-bitten and grouchy as out teachers.

I think our educational system should be overhauled.

What is the sense in cramming the child's mind with all sorts of detailed data about battles and other events that happened a thousand or more years ago?

PEOPLE FOOT BILLS

No Value Received

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Wild ducks are not the only birds flying south these days. Several lame ducks, defeated in November, are taking their last sightseeing flights at government expense.

PEARSON

Congressmen Bartel Jonkman, Michigan Republican, and Pete Jarman, Alabama Democrat, who will not be back in Congress, are now touring South America. They are traveling with the House foreign affairs committee, but have no real reason to take the trip since they can't use their knowledge for the benefit of the taxpayers who finance it.

Lame-duck Congressman Fred Busbey of Illinois, the Chicago Tribune's private representative in the 80th Congress, has flown to Venezuela "to look into American oil interests," is planning to stop in Mexico City on the way back to tell Mexican authorities what he saw.

By the time he returns to report to the American people he will no longer be in Congress nor in a position to do anything about Venezuelan oil.

Congressman Walter Ploeser, defeated Missouri Republican, is also scheduled to take an "official trip" to Panama.

Four others traveled to California to hold hearings on future farm legislation—though they will have nothing to say about future farm policy. They are: Congressmen Anton Johnson of Illinois, George Gillie of Indiana, Chester Gross of Pennsylvania and Hadwen Fuller of New York—all defeated Republicans.

These junkets were started after election, not before.

Soft-Drink Probe

The Republicans have dared do what the Democrats never even sniffed at — look into the competitive position of the giant Coca-Cola company.

At one time or another the Democrats have taken the lid off almost everything, but with Big Jim Farley a top Coca-Cola executive, they have steered clear of the soft-drink industry. It was left to the Senate small business committee under the chairmanship of G. O. P. Senator Wherry of Nebraska to pry the bottle-cap off Coca-Cola's alleged monopoly attempts. The testimony was given by members of the National Brands Soft Drink Institute, and at first even its spokesmen seemed nervous about mentioning the famous trade name, "Coca-Cola." Their chief gripe was the monopoly Coca-Cola was securing by its use of vending machines which do not sell any other soft drink.

During the first half of the day's hearings no one even identified Coca-Cola by name. Finally, in the afternoon, Mandrell Anixter, counsel for the soft drinks institute, read timidly from a letter mentioning Coca-Cola.

"That name," warned committee counsel George Meredith, "may go into the record."

Edward Mehren, who operates the Squirt company and is chairman of the soft drinks institute, continued the testimony, but was still cagey about coming out with the name.

"It is known generally in the industry," he declared, "that one company has plans based on a ten-year program for placing one single-product vending machine for every 200 people in the United States. Several cities have been tested on that program already, including Baltimore and Kansas City."

BERNARD BERNS, vice president of Dad's Root Beer company, warned that this would crowd other soft drinks off the market.

"We have already been eliminated out of thousands of gasoline stations nationally," he protested. "They come in with a story to a station owner and say: 'Here, you don't know whether you get your nickel for the beverage or not. We will put in a machine and can pay for it over a period of time. We will just bring one right in.' . . .

"They have placed them by the thousands. You see them strung across the entire country."

"Once a single-drink vending machine goes into a location," queried Ray Dickey of the Senate committee staff, "can anyone else get in there?"

"No," replied Berns. "In a factory they may place a few other brands around, but in the average small outlet—such as these offices or these retail stores or gasoline stations—once a machine goes in there, you are eliminated from that outlet 100 per cent."

Berns estimated that 225,000 Coca-Cola venders, or "red devils" as they are called in the trade, have been scattered across the country.

U. S. Army Helped Cokes

"You have reminded me of something," broke in Berns. "One thing is the fact that the government assisted the Coca-Cola company in developing world-wide distribution."

Catherine Guyon, Senate committee consultant, agreed.

"You couldn't buy anything else," she admitted. "The Army and the Navy and the Air Force had to bring the beverages overseas, but it was always Coca-Cola."

Chief counsel asked the small bottlers whether they had considered bringing an anti-trust suit against Coca-Cola.

"Yes, we have given considerable thought to it," replied Joseph Danzansky, attorney for the soft drinks institute. "We felt, however, that we wanted a peaceful solution of our problem, if possible. We felt that if all of the facts were laid before this committee, we could possibly come to a conclusion that wouldn't involve a lot of litigation. We are not litigation-minded in this fight; we are merely fighting to stay in business."

R. A. Conover, president of O-So-Great in Chicago added that his bottlers in Texarkana, Texas, and Sanford, North Carolina, had proposed a state tax against vencing machines as a method of stopping them.

With reference to the adage that the best things of life are free, democracy seems to be a marked exception.

The Boston thief who transported a stolen cow via taxi may know his business, but we are of the opinion that there are less expensive ways of rustling cattle.

"If it weren't for sex, where would the movies be?" asks a columnist. For that matter, brother, if it weren't for sex, where would you be?

Utopia must be the place where a man's foresight is as good as his hind-sight.

The automobile will never be made foolproof as long as there are fools.

LETTERS NOW AVAILABLE

First Of Lincoln Papers Out

THE first of the Lincoln papers which were opened to the public at the Library of Congress, July 26, 1947, are now available to the reading public.

The letters up to July 4, 1861, have been culled out and edited by David C. Mearns, director of the reference department of the Library of Congress, who has preceded the first two volumes with a history of the papers. Altogether these first two volumes contain 500 documents from the collection which was sealed to scholars and the public for 82 years at the request of Robert Todd Lincoln, the Civil War president's son.

Increases Material

This first sampling of the documents reveals no sensational news of the era which hadn't been explored by scholars, but it does increase the material available for students who wish to savor the times.

The documents, contain the stuff the highlights and footnotes of history are made of. There are many samples of letters to Lincoln when he was president-elect from job hunters and obscure relatives and those who thought they might be relatives. One of that category was from a man advancing the cause of one John Hanks. After several hundred words praising Hanks' ability and character, the writer anticlimactically adds that Mr. Hanks was unable to read and write but that no doubt a suitable place could be found for him.

Additional Emphasis On Dangers

Additional emphasis is thrown on the dangers Lincoln faced on his journey from Springfield to Washington for the inauguration. There is a whole section devoted to letters from persons warning him not to go through Baltimore. The final one, from William Seward, was urgent and sent by Seward's son in person. There are no notations about how seriously Lincoln viewed these warnings, but after the note from Seward he arranged to go through Baltimore incognito in the night.

The documents are arranged in such a manner that they form a narrative of this particular period, written by those participating in the making of history. It adds up to a composite personal account of the pre-combat stage of the Civil War.

Carl Sandburg, foremost among Lincoln scholars, writes the introduction and the two volumes are published by Doubleday ($10).

"The Texas Story"

"THE TEXAS STORY," by Ralph W. Steen; (Steck, Austin).

RALPH STEEN, member of the staff of Texas A. & M. college, has published a complete, accurate and readable account of the dramatic history of Texas in his "The Texas Story." Steen is author of "Twentieth Century Texas" and is also well known for his magazine articles.

"The Texas Story" is designed to give the average adult Texan of today a comprehensive picture of his state and its development. The dramatic and romantic events which make up the history of Texas, where in a little more than a century a wilderness has been transformed into a modern state, are covered along with the stories of the people and historical movements involved in the transformation.

In a little more than a century, the wilderness found by the early Spanish conquistadors and French traders has been transformed into a modern state that is rapidly becoming one of the industrial giants of the nation. The story of this transformation and of the people who brought it about constitutes one of the most remarkable records to be found in the development of any frontier. In "The Texas Story," the author has not only written a comprehensive history of the state, but he has told the story in a way that makes it as entertaining as a novel.

"The Texas Story" is attractively illustrated with nearly 50 photographs of statues, monuments, and historical sites, plus photographs of all the governors and of many present day scenes. Nine maps are included to provide data on such subjects as explorers, Indian tribes, frontier forts, and state-supported colleges.

"Changing China"

"CHANGING CHINA," by Harrison Forman; (Crown).

HOW the course of Chinese history was changed by Yuan-yuan, who was wooed and won by Wu; why the Moslems are called Hui-Hui, or Hui-Min, or Hui Chiao Jen; what became of the Kaifeng Jews; what sort of test a man had to pass to become an 8th century bureaucrat; in which province are what beans the biggest crop; how Canton lies on what river how many miles from the sea. . .

Such information as this is spread prodigally through this book by a man who lived for years in China, traveled up and down the countryside and made innumerable photographs, of which 250 illustrate his text. He takes the great land piece by piece, age by age, city by city, by Han, Tang, Ming, Mongol and Manchu, and comes up with an encyclopedic compilation about China from pre-history to today, or almost today.

Like a Traveler's Diary

In a way this reads like the diary of an earnest and industrious traveler, of the sort who never used to neglect, when he mailed home a picture postcard of his hotel, to mark with an X the room where he stayed. There are eye witness accounts of the Mukden tombs, rock and cave temples, the Nestorian tablet, the Kiangsi porcelains, the many layers of petticoats worn by the women of Kweichow, and goiter in Yunnan, vice in Shanghai and garlic in Peiping. A Tibetan gilds his huge idols with pure gold, the Mogul lives in a yurt and laps his bowl clean; and we receive instructions in how to smoke opium, how to make silk, and how to pole a boat.

In discussing shipping, highways, airlines, railways, factory production, Forman notes China's tremendous industrial lag and very briefly outlines some methods of modernization. His proposals do not take into account the current political turmoil and military struggle. Perhaps the gap between his history and today's news is just the gap between this book and his next one.

His photographs show he has been around, certainly, but on too many pages they face one way while the underlines read another.

2,400 Schools To Participate In State Lunch Visitors Week

AUSTIN, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, announced today that more than 2,400 schools will participate in school lunch visitors week in Texas, to be observed in Texas Dec. 13-17.

The schools feed more than 300,000 children daily, Woods said.

Parents will be invited to eat one meal in the lunchroom during the special observance to see, Woods said, "how important the program is to the children and the local communities."

Financial Reports On Political Campaign Pour Into Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4. (U.P.)—Final financial reports on what probably was the most expensive presidential campaign in history poured into the house clerk's office today.

All major political organizations must file year-end reports sometime this month. The big ones—the Democratic and Republican national committees — are still to come. But the final returns on many smaller ones have been filed.

The Texas campaign committee for the GOP tickets reported that it had spent $122,061 while receiving only $90,815 in contributions. That left the Texas committee with a post-election deficit of $31,246.

Brown Big Contributor

The largest individual contributor to the Texas GOP campaign chest was E. W. Brown of Orange, Texas, who gave $2,500.

The small business committee for a Republican administration, with headquarters in Ferndale, Mich., reported contributions of $21,795 and expenses of $21,752. Contributors to the committee included C. S. Forsythe, Syracuse, N. Y., $2,200; Harold Prehn, Springfield, Ill., $2,500, and A. E. Summerfield, jr., Flint, Mich., $2,000.

Various organizations which supported Henry A. Wallace for president reported comparatively small amounts. The National Council of the Arts, Sciences and Professions in New York reported $26,930 in contributions and $23,224 in expenses to Oct. 29.

Backs Marcantonio

The council reported spending $130 in behalf of the candidacy of Rep. Vito Marcantonio of New York, the only American labor party member elected to the new Congress.

The CIO Fur and Leather Workers committee for Wallace reported that it had received $20,358 and spent $15,059 through Nov. 10. The national executive committee of the Socialist labor party collected $63,995 and spent $19,520 up to Nov. 18.

The actors and writers committee for the Dewey-Warren ticket reported $7,785 in contributions and $5,936 in expenses up to Oct. 31. John A. Ritchie and Benjamin Weintraub, both of New York, contributed $2,500 each to this organization.

Remodeling Planned For Historic Hotel

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 4. (AP)—San Antonio's historic old Menger Hotel, built before the Civil War, will be enlarged and modernized.

The picturesque structure across the street from the Alamo, will have a four-story addition of 125 rooms.

It was in the Menger's old-fashioned bar that Teddy Roosevelt recruited Texans to join the Rough Riders.

The bar will be dismantled and incorporated into the modern addition.

Notables who have signed the Menger register include Gen. U. S. Grant, Benjamin Harrison, Phillip H. Sheridan, "Buffalo Bill" Cody and John J. Pershing.

Architects for the improvements make it plain that none of the charm and dignity of the old building will be lost.

The new addition will be built on the site of a parking lot and the old Albert Frederick Building, which will be wrecked.

A glass partition will separate the new lobby and the patio behind the hotel.

Weather Balloon Released At Ohio Base Soars 21 Miles

WILMINGTON, O., Dec. 4. (U.P.)—A weather balloon was sent up by the air weather service detachment at the Air Force base here more than 21 miles for the second highest recording ever made.

Capt. Lawrence E. Robertsan said the 112,800 foot ascent was exceeded only by a height of 120,000 feet made at the Air Force weather station at White Sands, New Mexico.

The balloon carrying a radio transmitter which sends signals indicating the temperature, humidity and pressures, was followed during its climb by means of radar until it burst. The equipment then was floated to earth by a parachute.

Signals from the balloon's equipment are recorded on paper by a receiver on the ground.

Annual Banquet Will Be Held At Church

The annual banquet of Asbury Methodist church will be conducted at 7 o'clock Friday night at the church, with Ray H. Nichols of Vernon, chairman of the General Board of Activities of the Methodist church, as speaker, Dr. C. A. Bickley, pastor, announced.

The banquet will be held for the two-fold purpose of fellowship and raising money. Price will be $5 a plate and the proceeds will be applied to the building fund of the church.

Dr. J. O. Haymes, superintendent of Lubbock Methodist district, will give the invocation. Special music will be presented by B. L. Cogdill. Singing of carols will be led by Mrs. Carl Shaffer.

Nichols, is editor of the Vernon Record. He has held various positions in the Methodist church prior to his present position as chairman of lay activities of the General Board.

The banquet will be open to anyone wishing to attend. Other Methodist churches in the city were represented at last year's banquet.

Amarillo Organizes Junior Group Of Deputy Sheriffs

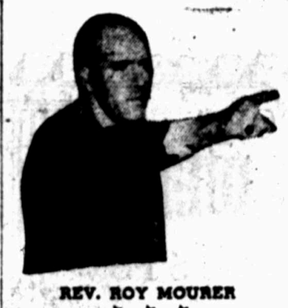

AMARILLO, Dec. 4. (INS) — Youthful Potter county lawbreakers soon will be dealt with by enforcement officers of their own size.

Organization of the Potter County Junior Deputy Sheriff's association is virtually complete. For the first time in Amarillo history, juveniles of the county will form their own law inforcement agency.

Youths selected will receive pledge cards, commissions and badges and will be sworn into the association.

Originated by Sheriff-elect Paul Gaither, the organization's primary task will be to deal with juvenile delinquency.

An adult board of directors, consisting of 12 Amarillo citizens, will supervise the work of the association.

REV. ROY MOURER

Special Service At Revival Set Tonight

The revival at the First Foursquare church, Eighth and Ave. Q, will continue with a special service tonight.

The Mourer-Johnson party of Portland, Ore., is conducting the revival. Services will be conducted at 7:45 o'clock each night this week, with special music at every service.

A special musical program will be presented tonight and will include gospel solos, duets, trios, quartets and instrumental accompaniment on vibraharp, accordion and piano. The party features the duets of the Pearson Sisters, melodious gospel duo who have been heard numerous times in different parts of the nation.

A special feature of tonight's service will be an illustrated song entitled "The Church in the Wildwood," vividly displayed with a large art picture, color wheel and black-light.

Rev. Roy Mourer will speak on "How Many Will Be Saved?"

Sunday school convenes at 9:45 a. m. with graded classes for all ages. Rev. Floyd Dawson, pastor of the church, will speak at the morning service.

Looking At Life

The average family couldn't afford a children's encyclopedia or, even less, an encyclopedia for grown-ups.

The world is full of glorious adventure. Every child is entitled to its share.

Let education be part of that adventure. Let each pupil be taught the things that he will later have to live.

Teach the child to look forward and not backward.

I believe in the value of history and of classic literature.

But their value lies not in dates or words, but in their relationship to life of today and tomorrow.

How can we make the United Nations live and function? To teach and explain; that is real education.
