Series Of Bomb Blasts Rip California Prison System

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two State Department of Corrections offices in San Francisco and Sacramento were heavily damaged by bombs Saturday in what an underground group said was "one outraged response to the assassination of George Jackson."

A third bomb explosion wrecked the State Department of Rehabilitation office in San Mateo. Investigators said the San Mateo blast did not appear related to the seemingly coordinated attacks on the two prison system offices.

No one was injured.

Soledad Brother George Jackson was killed with five other men in a San Quentin Prison break attempt a week ago.

The bombings came on the day of Jackson's funeral in the same wooden church in Oakland where rites were conducted a year ago for his younger brother, Jonathan.

Jonathan was killed in the August, 1970, Marin County Courthouse shootout in which a judge and three abductors died.

A letter, signed "Weather Underground" and delivered to the San Francisco Examiner, claimed responsibility for the San Francisco and Sacramento explosions.

Anonymous phone calls warned of the Sacramento and San Francisco blasts minutes before they rocked the 17-story state office tower in the capital and the historic waterfront Ferry Building in San Francisco. There was no warning call in San Mateo.

CLAIMED CREDIT

The woman caller in Sacramento said she was a Weatherman member. Weatherman, a radical youth group, has claimed credit for bombings in various areas of the country during the past two years.

The letter, delivered as had been promised by the San Francisco warning caller, said in part:

"On Saturday, August 21, George Jackson, Black Warrior, revolutionary leader, political prisoner, was shot dead by racist forces at San Quentin . . .

"Tonight, the offices of the California prison system in San Francisco and Sacramento were attacked. One outraged response to the assassination of George Jackson."

$50,000 DAMAGES

Police estimated damage at $50,000 in the Ferry Building. The bomb exploded in the second floor offices of the psychiatric clinic for prison parolees.

No damage estimate was available in Sacramento for the blast in the sixth floor Department of Corrections headquarters offices.

The bomb there was set off in a women's restroom.

The State Department of Rehabilitation provides vocational training for the handicapped and is not related to the prison system.

The first explosion was in San Mateo at 12:07 a.m. The Sacramento blast followed at 2:02 a.m. and the San Francisco explosion at 2:11 a.m.

A bomb explosion last Sunday caused $75,000 damage at a San Mateo Internal Revenue Service office about five miles from the state rehabilitation building.

PLANE CRASH

Fear 34 Persons Submerged

COPENHAGEN (AP) — A Hungarian airliner ditched Saturday night in shallow water short of a Copenhagen airport runway and officials said they feared many of the 34 persons aboard were trapped in the submerged wreckage.

The Danish naval rescue center confirmed there were three survivors and one person known dead. Thirty persons were listed as missing.

Police said earlier reports that a boat had picked up 15 survivors were erroneous. Three survivors were rescued by a hydrofoil ferry and taken to a hospital with shock and serious injuries.

The Soviet-built four-engine Ilyushin 18 turboprop was en route from Oslo, Norway, to Budapest. It was approaching the runway at Kastrup International Airport when it vanished from radar screens, airport officials said.

They said the pilot may have tried to pancake his aircraft on the water, but the impact was so great the tail was torn off. There were signs the plane stayed afloat briefly, they added.

Frogmen and divers were unable to enter the wreckage hours after the crash, the naval rescue center said. A spokesman said the area around the wreck was covered by an oil slick from the aircraft's fuel system.

The aircraft approached the airport in darkness, heavy rain and strong winds, but the control tower said visibility was good for those conditions.

Officials said the plane came down miles short of the runway, which begins a few yards inland from the shore of the Oeresund Strait.

SAFE ASHORE — Still wearing her life jacket, a young woman is carried ashore at Monopoli, Italy, Saturday by ambulance attendants. She was among a group of survivors of the Greek ferryboat Heleanna, picked up by a rescue ship. Some survivors said they were in the water three hours before being picked up by merchant ships., navy gunboats, and small fishing craft that converged on the scene after the ferry caught fire.

70 DEAD OR MISSING

Tragedy At Sea

BRINDISI, Italy (AP) — A raging fire on a giant Greek ferryboat drove more than 1,000 persons overboard Saturday off southeast Italy. Between 70 and 95 were reported dead or missing after the tourist-packed vessel was abandoned.

Awakened at dawn, many panicked passengers leaped into the Adriatic Sea in their nightclothes. The fire began with an explosion of natural gas in the kitchen of the 11,232-ton Heleanna, called "the largest ferry in the world" by its owners.

BODIES FOUND

The Italian navy reported 34 bodies were recovered and 37 persons were missing. The port authority at Brindisi had differing figures —25 bodies found and 70 persons missing.

The Navy Ministry in Rome reported that navy and merchant ships and dozens of small fishing boats rescued 1,086 persons. The ministry said 330 persons were hospitalized, 64 with "rather serious" injuries. Most of the injured suffered burns or bone fractures.

Most of the passengers were said to be Italian, Greek, German, French or Swiss.

SMOKE RISING

The ship owner and the Greek Merchant Marine declined to release a passenger list until names could be checked with survivors in Italy.

The empty ferry, smoke still rising from its charred decks, was towed Saturday night to the harbor of Brindisi.

Owner of the ferry is C.S. Efthymiades, known as Greece's "ferryboat king."

The ship left the Greek port of Patras Friday morning, stopped at the Greek island of Corfu, and was to have arrived at the Italian port of Ancona Saturday night.

The captain, Dimitrios Antipas, sent an SOS at 6:20 a.m. He was reported to have been the last man to abandon the ship, and was picked up by a Russian freighter.

FEAR, PANIC

Passengers and rescue workers described scenes of fear and panic as smoke and then flames poured from the stern.

"The flames drove us into the water," said Michel Benoit of France, one of about 200 Frenchmen aboard. "The whole ship was burning. They didn't even put down the lifeboats. We just jumped in our life belts."

Maddalena Toscano of Milan said: "We were told of the fire about 6 a.m. They told us to stay calm. After about an hour and a half, we saw that the fire was spreading so we went overboard."

Doria Slaps Coastal Area

By The Associated Press

Tropical storm Doria caused more flash flooding, property damage and power outages Saturday as it moved through the coastal area of the nation's Northeast.

The National Weather Service said the storm would move farther northeast and diminish during the day. It was centered at Hartford, Conn., at 10 a.m., and was traveling at about 30 miles per hour.

A peak gust of 80 miles per hour — which is hurricane force — was reported at Blue Hill Observatory in Milton, Mass. The Weather Bureau at Boston said winds generally were about 30 to 35 miles per hour, however.

Trees were toppled, power lines were down and some damage to residences occurred over a widespread area of southern New England during the morning.

Heavy rains and some flooding occurred from North Carolina northward Friday.

Girl Accused Of Bank Heist

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A 15-year-old girl accused of holding up the First National Bank Friday was in custody of juvenile authorities Saturday. The most serious charge that can be lodged against her is that of being a delinquent.

The FBI, which usually files bank robbery charges, declined to act.

The girl, brandishing what proved to be a toy pistol, got about $14,000 from the bank and walked out.

She went across the street to the Charles Schreiner Bank where she was picked up by officers. No one knew whether she was trying to deposit her loot at the rival bank or was trying to hold it up, too.

Authorities would not reveal the girl's name, and under law, records are not public after juvenile authorities take jurisdiction.

Big Spring Week

. . . with Joe Pickle

The season changed this past week, although nobody would forecast that hot weather was over. It became school time, and the registration shakedown was about over. Big Spring public schools had an opening enrollment of 6,901, a little under forecasts, but this is due to increase. Howard County Junior College got off to a brisk start with some 920 registered, and this figure undoubtedly will advance past the 1,000 mark.

Nixon Described As Having 'Confidence' In Will Wilson

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon was described Saturday as having "great confidence" in assistant U.S. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson and the Justice Department's decision to keep him on the job despite Wilson's associations with a central figure in a Texas stock fraud case.

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told reporters and circumstances of Wilson's involvement with Frank W. Sharp, Houston, Tex., banker, have been explained by Wilson in a nine-page statement.

NOTHING TO ADD

Ziegler said he had nothing to add to that, but he expressed Nixon's "great confidence in Mr. Wilson and the decision the Justice Department has made."

Nixon was not aware of the case until he read about it in the press, Ziegler said, and he added Nixon was not involved in any discussion of the details of the case.

Wilson explained Thursday in the lengthy document that his nearly three-fold increase in wealth between 1963 and 1969 came from land investments and inheritances. He acknowledged securing a $30,000 loan on his own signature from Sharp's bank during August, 1970, while he was in the Justice Department post and repaying it in seven months. He also acknowledged borrowing a total of $297,999 from Sharp.

BIG LIE

Wilson said there is "absolutely no truth" to "insinuations that I am or have been involved in illegal activities as a result of this association."

Ziegler said Nixon was satisfied that there was no impropriety in the case.

Sharp pleaded guilty to two felony charges in return for immunity from prosecution on other charges in a Securities and Exchange Commission probe of stock fraud.

He also testified before a federal grand jury in Houston investigating what the SEC termed "systematic looting" of banks and insurance companies and stock manipulations.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzales, D-Tex., had demanded Wilson resign and the Justice Department investigate Wilson's connections with Sharp.

But after Wilson issued his statement of his financial position and dealings with Sharp, a Justice Department spokesman said Wilson had no intention of resigning and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell "is satisfied with his work."

The spokesman said Wilson, who is in charge of the department's criminal division, had drawn up the statement to counter what he called insinuations and innuendoes concerning his connection with Sharp.

Mitchell was at the Western White House for a dinner party Wednesday night, but Ziegler said he did not discuss the case with the President.

Storm Rakes Tip Of Texas

By The Associated Press

A severe thunderstorm battered the southeast tip of Texas Saturday with hail, high winds and rain.

Vidor, just northeast of Beaumont, was covered with hail as large as marbles. Orange was battered by high winds. Heavy rains fell in the Kountze and Silsbee areas.

The great bulk of Texas was fair, mild and dry and more of the same forecast for today.

A few showers fell in the northwest between Lubbock and Plainview. Others flirted offshore with the coastal plains and were expected to spread inland. A water spout developed about 22 miles off Brownsville but caused no reported damage.

Bible Class Fund Moves Up, Much More Needed

The High School Bible Class Fund had reached more than $1,700 after the first week of public solicitation. This represents considerably less than half the amount needed to carry on the special instruction work, and people who want to see the program continue are asked to respond promptly.

Checks should be made to "BIBLE CLASS FUND" and sent to The Herald for acknowledgment.

Saturday was another good day, and several individuals made their investment as well as classes and a church.

High school students take the course with credit, and while there is no religious approach to violate the church-state concept, they can learn to value the Bible as a treasury of history, literature and moral-ethical standards of human living.

Big Spring Man Shot Three Times

A shooting incident occurred Saturday night as Gregory Salazar, 33, 209 NW 7th, was shot three times following a reported fight at 710 NW 7th.

Salazar was taken at approximately 9:30 p.m. to Cowper Clinic and Hospital and was reported to be in fair condition later Saturday night with bullet wounds in the left side and left hip.

The suspect, a Midland resident, was taken into custody by Texas Highway Patrolmen approximately 10 miles west of Big Spring shortly after the shooting.

Highway patrolmen and local police were continuing to search for a pistol that was reported by one of the patrolmen to have been thrown from the car as the officers closed in on the suspected assailant.

"The shooting occurred behind the residence at 710 NW 7th and we have not been able to determine a motive for the shooting yet," Detective Avery Falkner, first man on the scene, said Saturday night.

Police thought Salazar had been shot with a small caliber revolver and were waiting for further investigation before filing charges.

School Defiance Will Lead To Jail?

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Orange County school board members spurned a federal desegregation order Saturday and voted to "resist the educational decimation of the system" even if it means going to jail.

"The federal government shall not harass my family or any other family by using my children in some sociological experiment," said board member Lee Collison.

"The choice should be that of our children, not the federal government. I will go to jail if necessary to support my beliefs," Mrs. Collison said.

The board rejected U.S. District Court Judge George C. Young's order Friday to plan further desegregation of four schools by Sept. 3. Young said failure to obey could mean contempt charges.

In an emergency meeting, the board adopted Supt. James Higginbotham's recommendation to "take all necessary steps to resist the educational decimation of the school system of Orange County which . . . would result from the implementation of devices known as busing, pairing and clustering to accomplish mixed racial ratios within its schools."

Board attorney James Markel said he will ask U.S. District Court of Appeals Judge Griffin Bell in Atlanta for an emergency hearing on a motion to stay Young's order. A notice of appeal to accompany the motion will be filed Monday with the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans, Markel said.

Jay Banks Takes Post At College

Jay Banks, former police chief here, has accepted a position at the Tyler Junior College.

Banks will be the chief of security at the two-year school and took the position at the starting salary of $11,000 per year.

"The security department is small right now and just employs part-time policemen, but Jay will soon hire full-time guards." said Mrs. Banks.

An interview with the college officials two weeks ago was one of many that Banks had after leaving Big Spring. His wife said that one of the interviews was with the Dallas Sheriff's office, but that position like most of the other possible jobs for the former chief will not be open for a time.

"Jay likes the job and finds that he does not have to work as hard as he did here," said Mrs. Banks. She is still in town trying to sell the house and will move to Tyler as soon as her husband finds a home.

The Tyler school has over 5,000 students and in the near future will be changing to a four-year school.

"Jay will miss the police work here and we will both miss all the good people, but the folks at Tyler seem to be very nice and we are both satisfied with the new position," she said.

CONGRATULATIONS FOR MARGIE — Margie Tabankin, 23-year-old graduate of the University of Wisconsin, received congratulations from outgoing president David Ifchin on her election to the presidency of the National Students Association. The election took place at the 24th Annual Congress of the organization held at Colorado State University.

Two Priests Kidnaped

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese headquarters reported Saturday at least seven persons were wounded and two Catholic priests kidnaped in 24 separate enemy attacks on the eve of elections for a new National Assembly.

South Vietnam's million-man army and 90,000 national police went on full standby alert for today's balloting.

A communique said enemy troops launched 13 rocket and mortar shellings and 11 other attacks against government forces and civilians. In one of the assaults, a Viet Cong band broke into a hamlet in the central highlands and kidnaped two Catholic priests, wounded three other persons and burned down a home.

CAPITALS SHELLED

Two province capitals and another district town also were shelled, injurying four persons, the communique said.

On the country's northern frontier, North Vietnamese gunners resumed heavy shelling along the demilitarized zone with the biggest single bombardment in a week.

The South Vietnamese command said 200 rockets slammed into Camp Fuller below the DMZ Saturday but caused no casualties among the Saigon troops defending the hilltop outpost.

Also in the north, a lone U.S. Phantom jet fighter-bomber destroyed a North Vietnamese antiaircraft gun position inside the northern half of the DMZ Saturday, the U.S. Command reported.

LUCKY SEVEN

The command said the F4 Phantom was on a bombing mission against the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in neighboring Laos when it was fired on by the North Vietnamese gun position in the DMZ.

It was the first strike in the northern half of the DMZ since June 30, although American bombers have struck well above the buffer zone into North Vietnam itself.

In other allied strikes on the northern front, 15 U.S. B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese positions in the southern half of the DMZ and in the area immediately south of it.

It was the seventh straight day of heavy B52 raids concentrated on the northern sector.

In ground action involving Americans the U.S. Command reported that North Vietnamese troops for the third time in two days attacked armored cavalary troops of the U.S. Americal Division south of Da Nang.

In the latest attack, the command said, one American was wounded and one Sheridan tank was destroyed. All three attacks were in the same general area and against U.S. tank units.

STANDBY ALERT

The 100 per cent standby alert for South Vietnam's armed forces and national police was ordered to guard against the widely predicted surge in enemy attacks to disrupt Sunday's elections.

The alert was also called to quell possible antigovernment rioting or demonstrations.

Security measures for the election are the heaviest in recent years.

All 220,000 American troops and the 65,000 other foreign forces on the allied side have been on an alert since Tuesday.

The alert is so extensive that supply sergeants, clerks and similar administrative personnel have been temporarily assigned to street patrols and guard posts.

BAYLOR STUDENTS FISH FOR ACADEMIC CREDIT

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Baylor University students will be hoisting sails, paddling canoes and casting fishing rods for academic credit. It is part of Baylor's new Lake Brazos marina project.

The marina is the first step in a five-phase $1.7 million recreational area program which, when completed, will be the only one of its kind at a college or university in the United States.

Dr. J. T. Powers, chairman of Baylor's Department of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, said the new marina will include a loading ramp for boats, a small beach area, an observation deck and classrooms and a landscaped walkway.

Thieu's Political Muscle Gets Tested

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu's political muscle gets tested in the National Assembly elections Sunday and its strength will help determine whether the lone campaigner holds the presidential contest Oct. 3 as scheduled.

Of the lower house's 133 incumbents, 119 are seeking reelection and roughly two-thirds of these are pro-Thieu. Political observers predict the vote will reaffirm the government's majority at 69 per cent or higher.

'RIG' COMPLAINTS

Like the presidential race, the lower house campaign for 159 seats has been buffeted by charges from Thieu's foes that he is trying to "rig" the voting and that his agents have intimidated opposition candidates.

The anti-Thieu An Quang Buddhist faction, which had been backing a number of candidates for the lower house, announced Saturday it will boycott both the National Assembly and presidential elections in protest.

Most of the complaints of rigging have come from opposition deputies seeking re-election, and the most outspoken among these has been Ngo Cong Duc, a newspaper publisher.

He charged that in the Mekong Delta's Vinh Binh Province, the government has tried to thwart his re-election by replacing local officials who support him, putting voting booths in insecure areas, failing to distribute voting cards, and arranging double and triple voting by soldiers.

Some U.S. observers, while admitting they believe many riggind and intimidation claims are true think nevertheless that the top opposition leaders such as Du will win.

MAY BACKFIRE

They point out that in last year's province council elections, progovernment candidates lost as often as they won and thus if any rigging occurred then, it may have backfired.

They say there also is reason to believe some accusations are simply publicity—seeking devices in a campaign where all electioneering and spending is standardized for all candidates under strict government regulations.

Dallas Trustees Can't Find Buses

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas schools are expected to go into federal court Monday and ask that they be allowed to revert to last year's pupil assignment plan because it can't find the vehicles to bus 7,000 pupils to implement desegregation.

School lawyers said they will ask U.S. District Judge William Taylor to reopen predominantly Negro Crozier Tech, Madison, Ervin High and Anderson Junior High Schools, then permit all secondary pupils to attend the schools theny attended last autumn.

Supt. Nolan Estes said he would exhaust every available means to comply with the busing plan, ordered by the court.

But Estes told trustees every avenue of approach had reached a dead end.

The district asked the Dallas Transit Authority to reroute 90 buses now used to transport pupils to neighborhood schools. The Transit Authority rejected the appeal.

Estes said state officials cannot supply the 105 needed buses until February and county school officials say they have no extra vehicles.

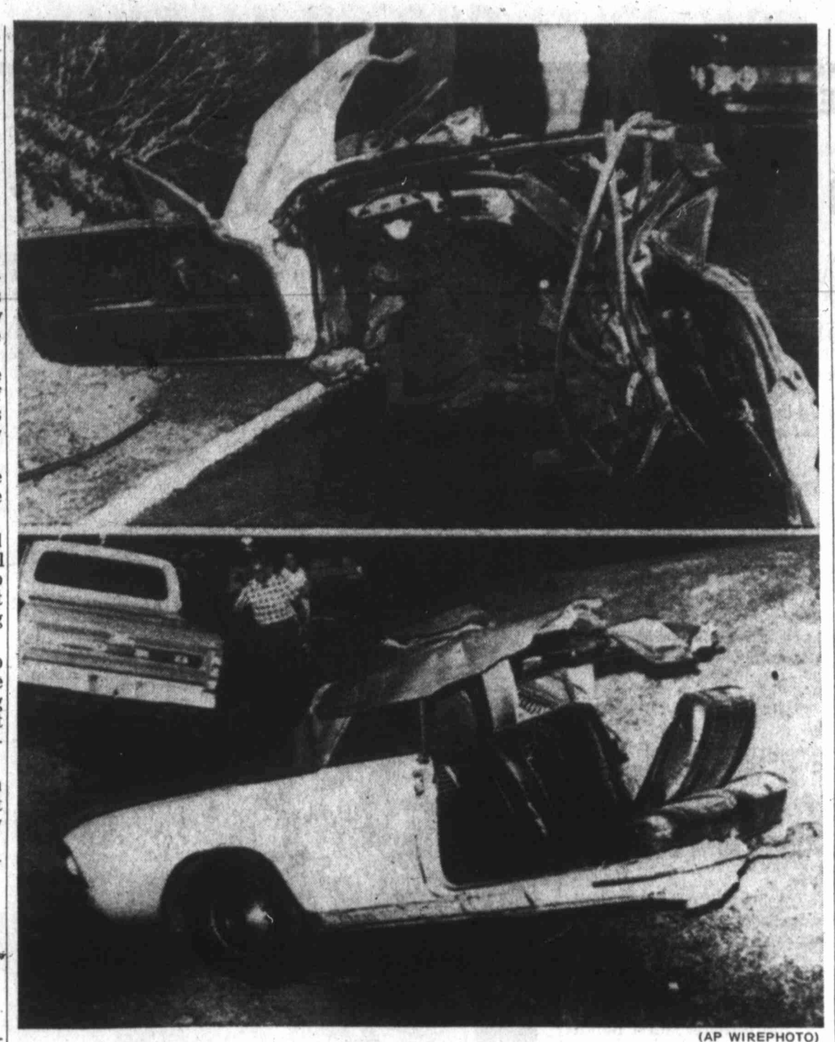

Estes told trustees his office had even explored the use of church buses but the buses don't measure up to safety standards.

Trustees said they would take their appeal all the way to the U.S. Supreme Court.

If granted, a stay order would mean there will be no school desegregation this fall unless so ordered by the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals now studying the Dallas case.

Estes said: "We're going to reorganize our schools for the fourth time this month, knowing full well the 5th Circuit Court may order another reorganization in late September."

He said schools will open Sept. 7 on time despite last minute adjustments if the stay is granted.

Yen Jumps 5 Per Cent

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese yen jumped up 5.2 per cent Saturday in its first day as a floating currency seeking its own value according to supply and demand.

The upward revaluation meant that a U.S. dollar which bought 360 yen on Thursday now buys around 342.

The government took the unprecedented step of floating the currency to let it find its own level amid amounting international pressure following President Nixon's dollar defense policy announcement Aug. 15.

FEARED DROP

Many Japanese reacted with gloom for the upward revaluation means the goods they make for export will be more expensive to foreign buyers—a heavy number of them Americans. Many feared a sharp drop in the purchase of Japanese goods abroad.

Japanese newspapers advised readers that a period of austerity will be forthcoming. They reasoned that an export decline will prolong the current economic slowdown, forcing many small firms out of business and cutting employment.

Goods bought abroad by Japanese will be less expensive than before. More than 70 per cent of the country's imports are raw materials, and it is considered doubtful that many companies will pass on their gains in this area to consumers in the form of price cuts.

Some businessmen, however, welcomed the floatation of the yen as a move beneficial to Japan in the long run. They said the action with an eventual revaluation of the yen will force inefficient enterprises out of business and streamline the economy for a rapid growth in future years.

TRYING TO HOLD

The Japanese government began to assess the effect of floating and appeared to be trying to hold the upward revaluation at around 5 per cent.

The floating of the yen will be temporary and the government is expected to make a decision on the revaluation of the currency and set a new parity through international consultations.

The governor of the Bank of Japan, Tadashi Sasaki, said the central bank will make utmost efforts to insure orderly conduct of normal exchange transactions, indicating that the bank will intervene in the market as the need arises. He did not set any range of fluctuation for the bank to intervene.

REAL POWER

Although it was generally agreed that the yen's real strength will not be assessed until it has floated on the market several more days, government leaders were reported by Japanese news media late Saturday as intending to offer an upward revaluation of 5.2 per cent in the forthcoming series of international meetings to discuss the proposed multilateral parity adjustments.

Charge 'Mystery Man' After Big Heroin Haul

LAREDO, Tex. (AP) — Federal authorities were trying to untangle Saturday the identification of a man picked up Thursday night and charged with possession of 23 pounds and 12 ounces of pure heroin.

He gave the name of Luis Alberto Azcarraga Milmo, leading officers to believe he was using an alias. All his documents bore that name.

Azcarraga is an unusual name in Mexico and is that of a family owning widespread interests in industry and the news media. Milmo would be the man's mother's name under Mexican custom.

In San Antonio, Emilio Nicolas, vice president of KWEX-TV, associated with the Azcarraga interests, said he talked to members of the family in Mexico City and they said the man held in Laredo was unknown to them.

Nicolas quoted Customs Inspector Ramiro Villarreal at Laredo as saying the man was asked if he was a member of the Azcarraga family, and the man replied in the negative.

Mexico City police said the address given by the man does not exist.

The heroin was found in the spare tire of a car.

Customs agents said the heroin eventually would have netted $10 million after being adulterated and sold to addicts. The haul would have been cut into about 1.75 million shots.

LBJ, Moursund Split Up Some Financial Holdings

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Post in a copyrighted story says former President Lyndon Johnson and his longtime friend and business associate, A. W. Moursund, have split up at least some of their joint financial holdings.

The Post said Saturday it had learned that Johnson and Moursund already have divided more than 13,000 acres of land in Texas and Oklahoma, 214 lots on Lake Lyndon B. Johnson in Llano County and the balance of Federal Land Bank loans that originally totaled $783,100.

Neither Johnson nor Moursund could be reached for comment.

The Post said some speculation was that the split is over Moursund's plan to open a new national bank at Round Mountain in Central Texas. The newspaper said other sources disputed this.

ONE OF THOSE THINGS

The Post quoted Moursund's brother, John S. Moursund of Austin, as saying, "There's nothing adverse about it. It's just one of those things. A. W. and LBJ have been wanting to do this for a long time."

"They've split the blanket," the Post quoted one source close to Moursund, who was the chief trustee of the former president's holdings during his tenure in the White House. "They've agreed to disagree."

The Post said a source close to Johnson scoffed at suggestions that there had been an unpleasant parting of the ways. He said various other business associations of the former president and Moursund were continuing and that Moursund still advises Johnson on some business and legal matters.

"They are dividing up some but not all of the holdings they've had together, and it's a friendly division," the source said.

NO BREAKDOWN

"Their financial and business objectives have become different. Mr. Moursund has long been the operating arm on the ranching properties, for instance. But Mr. Johnson for personal and family reasons is now much less interested in this kind of property."

No complete breakdown of Johnson's or Moursund's individual or joint holdings has ever been made public.

Through a maze of corporations, Johnson and his family are thought to hold stock in at least nine Texas banks; television interests in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma; an Austin cable television company; a radio station in Victoria; an Austin real estate firm; and property in Alabama and Texas.

Most close friends of Johnson and Moursund declined comment.

A spokesman for the former president said, "He is not giving out interviews, not on anything."

J. C. Kellam, a longtime LBJ associate and general manager of the Texas Broadcasting Co., the Johnson family firm that owns KTBC television and radio stations in Austin, declined to discuss the property division report.

Man Shot During Argument At Party

COLORADO CITY — A resident of Big Spring, Pete Martinez, was shot during an argument at a residence here early Saturday, but was reported to be in satisfactory condition at Root Memorial Hospital Saturday afternoon. He had undergone surgery during the morning, according to Jess Browning, police chief.

Martinez was shot in the side with a 12-gauge shotgun during a disturbance at 1735 Plum St. at approximately 5:29 a.m. A Colorado City resident was taken into custody by police officers at the scene.

"Attempted murder charges are pending the return from out of town of the district attorney," Chief Browning said, "the man was apprehended at the scene minutes after the shooting with the shotgun still in his hand."

The chief explained that there was a party at the residence when the police department received a disturbance call. Officers dispatched to the scene were close enough to hear the shot fired, he said.

The Big Spring man, no address available, was reported to have been reared in Colorado City, but moved to Big Spring to get a job.

No substantial motive for the shooting has been determined by the police, but Chief Browning said that apparently it developed out of an argument. Police are still conducting investigations on the case.

Museum Is A Class Room

The Heritage Museum will be turned into a classroom Tuesday by Mrs. C. W. Tanner and Bob Zellars, seventh grade social studies teachers at Runnels Junior High School.

The 250 to 300 students who comprise the seventh grade classes will go to the museum during their regular class time.

The students will be transported from the school by bus, with Zellars serving as driver. The first class will go at 8:30, with the nine classes making the trip during the day.

The curriculum includes a unit on the history of Howard County, and Tuesday's lesson concerns the history of ranching. The museum displays will be used in conjunction with the teachers' material.

Mrs. Tanner stressed that the museum could be used to advantage several times a year by such classes, and at no extra cost to tax payers. Several other area schools have had student tours of the museum, or are planning such events for the future.

New Organization Nets Over $400 In Telethon

The drive to begin a West Texas chapter of the Committee to Combat Huntington's Disease (CCHD) ended successfully Friday with a telethon that added more than $400 to the treasury of the fledgling organization.

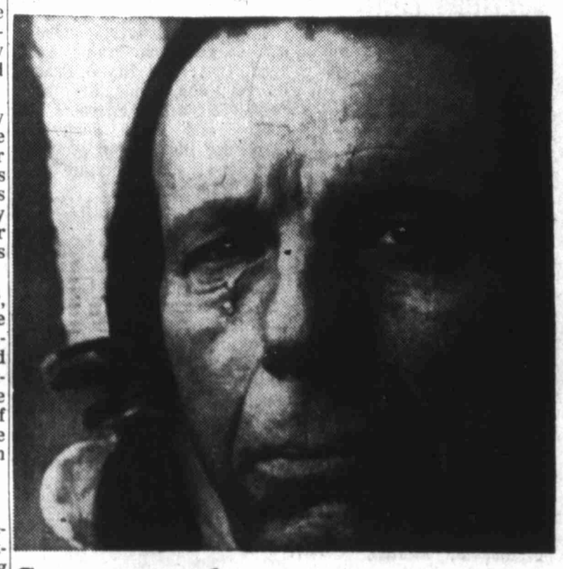

Catalyst for the organization was Marjorie Guthrie, widow of the late Woody Guthrie, a victim of Huntington's Disease.

She initiated the organization and is presently the National Executive Secretary. She spends much of her time traveling the country, at her own expense, working for the CCHD.

The West Texas chapter was formed Wednesday and held a workshop the same day. The organization has at present 27 members. The president is Doris Perkins, Mrs. T. A. Hufford is first vice president, Jack Huffore, Odessa, second vice president, Mrs. John Jehle, Midland, secretary, and Mrs. Howard Shanks, treasurer.

"We are pleased by the response we have had," said Mrs. Perkins, "both in membership and for the telethon. We are extremely grateful for the help and cooperation we have received."

Information on the Committee to Combat Huntington's Disease is available from Mrs. Perkins, telephone 267-6605.

RETIRING TEXAN RECEIVED $58,000, DEATH THREAT

New Miss America Will Be Crowned Next Month

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — In the past year, Phyllis George has appeared on network television and at the Miss Coon Rapids pageant. She helped open a Froug's Department Store in Tulsa; kicked off the United Fund campaign in Eatontown, N.J.; stayed overnight at the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles and the Twilite Motel in Burkburnett, Tex.; in Burlingame, Iowa, she had her life threatened.

And her bank account grew by $58,000.

THEY'LL SWEAT

A confusing year? Fifty girls who arrive here later next week think of it as a dream.

Miss George is Miss America 1971 and her 50 would-be successors are the state beauty queens who'll be competing in the annual pageant here for the 1972 title. The new Miss America will be crowned Sept. 11.

To get that crown they'll sweat through hours of rehearsals, smile through countless interviews, and one of them—if tradition holds—will burst into tears when her name is called and the $500 rhinestone crown is placed on her head.

Then Miss George will retire to Texas, at age 22, to continue her education. She won't go back to school until January, though, because she feels she needs a pause.

HARD TO ADJUST

"It's going to be hard to adjust to doing the same thing every day," she said.

In the past year she's been to dozens of state and local beauty pageants, appeared on national television shows, opened conventions and stores and attended a crusade.

She received $250 for crowning Miss Coon Rapids, Minn., and a similar fee for each of the other state or local queens she crowned.

The $58,000 she earned for the year doesn't include expenses, which were paid by the people who hired her and totaled about $35,000. There were some free appearances, like her USO tour to Vietnam.

Some of the money will go for singing and dancing lessons. The rest she will invest.

BED WISH

It wasn't easy earning the money, the brown-eyed beauty added. Spending a year on planes and in hotel rooms, posing before camera lights and shaking hands with conventioneers and fans can be wearing.

"There were days when I thought, 'I wish I were home in bed,'" she recalled. But an audience could perk her up. "They bring out the ham in me."

She spent three weeks at Christmas at her home in Denton, Tex. "After the second week I was ready to go again," she said. "It had gotten into my blood."

She crisscrossed the country dozens of times, and traveled to Mexico, the Bahamas and Vietnam.

The women's liberation movement, whose members have criticized the Miss America Pageant and demonstrated against it, is a favorite topic at news conferences.

Miss George respects the women's lib goals of equal pay and treatment. But she loses respect when the women's lib advocates urging among themselves or "take off pieces of their clothing and wave them around."

Chaperones are with Miss America everywhere, everyday. There are two of them, each of them earns about $6,000 yearly.

NO DATES

The chaperones mean no dates, but Miss George said she had little interest in dates after a busy day of appearances.

"Truthfully," she said, "I'd rather go back and go to sleep."

There were unpleasant times. She was in St. Louis ready to fly to Burlington, Iowa, for a local pageant when she learned there'd been a phone call in Iowa City threatening her.

She said she couldn't imagine why anyone would threaten her, but was nervous and frightened. She made the flight to Burlington because "you can't run from things like that."

Nothing happened.

BUSY GIRL — Phyllis George has had a hectic year while serving her term as Miss America. She has appeared on network television, opened a department store in Tulsa, kicked off the United Fund campaign in Eatontown, N.J., and even had her life threatened in Burlington, Iowa. Here she arrives during October in Fort Worth, Tex., after she had become Miss America. Her sorority sisters from Texas Christian University were at the airport for her official homecoming for the girl who started as Miss Texas.

U.S. Car Sales Could Set Record During '72 If . . .

DETROIT (AP) — Sales of cars and trucks in the United States could set an all-time record in the 1972 model year if President Nixon's economic policies restore consumer confidence as expected, the two top officials of General Motors Corp. predicted Saturday.

"It is reasonable to project passenger car sales in excess of 10 million units, including imports, with 10½ million clearly possible if consumer confidence is restored in the months ahead," GM Chairman James M. Roche and President Edward N. Cole said in a statement.

Combined with predicted truck sales of 2 million to 2¼ million units, "the 1972 model year could be a record one for the automobile industry with total motor vehicle sales approaching 12¾ million units," they said.

The model year runs from Oct. 1, 1971, to Sept. 30, 1972.

Roche and Cole said the key to their optimism is speedy action by Congress on Nixon's proposed repeal of the 7 per cent new car excise tax.

Also important, they said, was general improvement in the economic climate expected under the new economic programs.

Roche and Cole said they expect the 1971 model year to close with sales of 11.1 million cars and trucks, up 2 per cent from 1970.

They said 1971 model year sales fell about 6 per cent below expectations because of the 67-day strike against GM at the start of the period and because of general sluggishness in the economy.

The main feature of the year just ending, Roche and Cole said, was the strong interest in small cars, both the domestic and small imports.

They said sales of small domestic and imported cars accounted for over one-third of the market.

Earl Finds Live Sex Shows Evil

LONDON (AP) — Lord Longford, 65, was stopped by customs at Heathrow Airport Thursday night for having pornographic magazines in his luggage—but he explained it was all in the interest of research.

The balding earl, who began an antipornography campaign in the House of Lords last April, was returning from Copenhagen where he and a British commission conducted a study on the social effects of pornography.

Customs officials allowed him to leave after 10 minutes of explaining his mission. Describing his activities in Copenhagen, Lord Longford said: "I went to two live sex shows and found them utterly evil. I'm glad I left them early. They were ghastly."

Pop Festival Sparks Fights

WEELEY, England (AP) — A pop festival erupted into running fights between police and popsters Saturday, leaving dozens injured, two with suspected skull fractures.

More than 120,000 youngsters were camped out in tents and bedrolls on the festival site, a farm near this Essex village.

Fighting apparently broke out after Britain's version of the Hell's Angels set themselves up as an unofficial security force, wielding metal bars and ax handles.

They clashed with official security men hired by the festival organizers. Police said three Hell's Angels were seriously hurt and some of their motorcycles were wrecked with sledgehammers.

Police moved in with batons swinging to break up the battles and round up weapons.

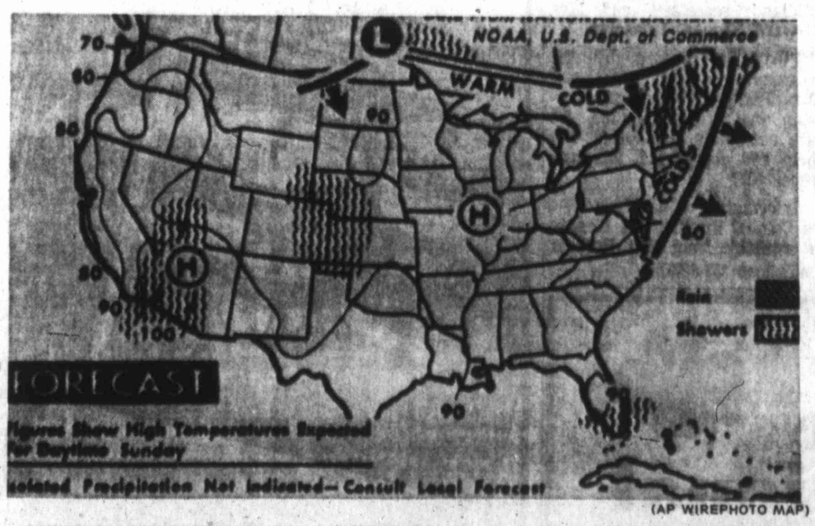

Earlier several fans lost their tents and all possessions in fires. The camp site is spread with dry straw which catches alight easily through sparks from cooking fires.

NARCOTIC-NOSE CANINE SMELLS OUT GRASS, HASH

BOSTON (AP) — Duke the dog sniffs out hashish as if it were hamburger.

He also has a nose for other narcotics — marijuana, heroin and opium.

Duke is one of several specially trained dogs used by the U.S. Customs Department in Boston since last October to detect drugs being brought into the country.

As of July, the dogs had detected more than 468 pounds of marijuana, 345 pounds of hashish, 355 marijuana cigarettes, 33 pounds of opium and 20 grams of heroin.

One of Duke's nose jobs resulted in the arrest of a California couple Thursday at Castle Island terminal. The dog smelled out 225 pounds of hashish hidden in their camper bus.

Officials valued the narcotics at between $300,000 and $500,000.

The camper was aboard the Norwegian flagship "Fre Field" from Germany.

The pair was identified as Eric E. Kennedy III, 26, of San Rafael and Carole A. Davis, 24, of Ross.

They were arrested after they had claimed the vehicle and driven it a short distance from the pier.

Kennedy and Miss Davis appeared before U.S. Magistrate Peter Princi, who set bail at $20,000 each.

The hashish was in several packets beneath the floor of the camper bus, officials said.

Jackie Escapes Pushing Crowd After Funeral

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Jacqueline Onassis narrowly escaped a pushing crowd here Saturday by jumping into an empty streetcar that drove her off to safety.

The incident occurred after the funeral of Prince Edmund Radziwill, brother-in-law of her sister, Mrs. Lee Radziwill.

Thousands of Warsawians jammed the street outside the small cemetery where the ceremony took place and forced her to walk through a potato field after she left the cemetery gate.

Pursued by a jostling crowd into the field, she then turned back and slipped into an empty streetcar immobilized by the throng. Aides and well-wishers held off the crowds and told the driver to pull ahead. She later changed for a waiting car.

Mrs. Onassis arrived in Warsaw Friday night by special plane from Greece for the funeral of Radziwill, who died in London last Wednesday at the age of 64.

One Of Driest, Wettest Years On Record Locally

This has been one of the driest and one of the wettest years in Big Spring since 1900.

Less rain fell in the first three months of 1971 than in the first three months of any year since 1900. The .06 inch of rain in February and the trace in March is the second driest three month period of any year. Only October, November and December of 1950, when there was no rain, was drier.

During April, May, June, July and August, more rain has fallen than the total rainfall each year in 21 different years. Although it has not been the wettest comparable period, the 14.35 inches we have had in this period this year is 3.83 inches above the 70-year average for this period.

If the rainfall for the remainder of the year equals the records set in earlier years, Big Spring could conceivably have as much as 31.40 inches of additional rain. With the total of 14.41 amassed for this year, Big Spring could have 45.81 inches of rain by Jan. 1, 1972. This would exceed the record of 34.25 inches set in 1932. The driest year was 1917, when only 4.68 inches fell.

This year and 1967 were the driest Januarys on record since 1900, with no rain recorded. February had no rainfall in 1916, 1917, 1925 and 1930. March had no rain in 1904, 1942 and 1950.

The least rainfall in April was none in 1948. The least in May was .08 in 1934; in June, none in 1952; July, .01 in 1970; August, none in 1936; September, none in 1939; October, none in 1917 and 1950; November, none in 1903, 1915, 1948, 1949, 1950 and 1970; December, none in 1908, 1917, 1922, 1925, 1929, 1950 and 1955.

The most rain in January was 2.71 in 1939; February, 4.20 in 1911; March, 3.16 in 1970; April, 12.77 in 1922; May, 10.10 in 1928; June, 8.28 in 1919; July, 12.89 in 1902; August, 6.06 in 1945; September, 10.52 in 1936; October, 11.87 in 1907; November, 3.38 in 1931; December, 3.00 in 1932.

Dallas Lawyer Charged With 11 Counts Of Theft

CANYON, Tex. (AP) — Leon Horton, a Dallas lawyer, has been charged with 11 counts of theft by false pretext in connection with the disappearance of the aged Dallas investor, Robert "Tex" Roberts.

Justice of Peace Don Dean set Nov. 29 as the trial date in 181st District Court here. He set bond on Horton Friday at $170,000. Horton is in jail in lieu of bond.

Horton was arrested July 30 in Dallas. He was charged at that time with transferring stocks and cashiers checks belonging to Roberts; and his aunt, Mrs. Jessie Forsyth; to his Heritage National Property Management Services account in an Amarillo bank.

Horton contends that Roberts, 85, and Mrs. Forsyth executed legal documents July 25, 1970, giving him power of attorney to "control, manage and direct their business interest."

The two have been missing, along with another Dallas woman, Anna Farley, 72, since August of 1970.

Ex-Candidate Guilty Of Fraud

AMARILLO (AP) — M. K. Fisher Jr., 32, a candidate last year for Tarrant County judge, was sentenced by U.S. Dist. Judge Leo Brewster to five years for mail fraud.

A U.S. attorney said Fisher, who now lives in Dallas, used counterfeit stock to establish a line of credit in excess of $300,000 with banks in five Texas cities.

RAAF Invention Can 'Hear' Smog Conditions

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The Royal Australian Air Force has an instrument which it claims will show when the time is ripe for a city to have bad smog or damaging supersonic booms.

RAAF research physicists, directed by Prof. V. D. Hooper, developed the equipment which can probe through the earth's atmosphere and detect different layers of air.

They claim the system is the only quick, cheap and practical way of doing the job. The orthodox method has been to send up balloons laden with expensive instruments and radio equipment.

The new system uses an acoustic sounder with very high frequency sound waves. These are projected into the atmosphere like the headlights of a car.

When the "beam" hits layers of air which have differing temperatures or humidity, some of the sound waves are bounced back and recorded.

The system was developed as part of a broad atmospheric research program, but authorities charged with combatting smog and alleviating supersonic booms already are showing interest.

The acoustic sounder is likely to be marketed commercially for around $11,200.

The physicists say the worst city smogs are caused by what is known as an inversion layer — a layer of cold air which lies above and traps warm air near the ground. The cold air forms a barrier so that smoke and other gasses are trapped in the warm air near the ground, and build up.

The worst supersonic booms are caused by the same situation — the shock waves penetrate downwards and are then trapped in a huge "reverberation box" near to the ground.

The RAAF academy's new acoustic sounder can monitor the sky above cities and airports, and give warnings when conditions favorable to the build-up of smogs — or damaging supersonic booms — develop.

Peggy Riherd In Pharmacy School

Peggy Riherd is one of two McMurry College students accepted this fall for pharamacy training at Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Okla.

Miss Riherd, a graduate of Big Spring High, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Riherd, 1604 Kentucky Way. She majored in chemistry and minored in mathematics at McMurry.

4-H Leaders Pick Officers

LAMESA (SC) — Officers were elected by the Dawson County 4-H Adult Leaders Association at a meeting Thursday.

The leaders for 1971-1972 are Donald Airhart, chairman; Leland Bartlett, vice chairman; Mrs. Monte Griffin, secretary-treasurer; and district council delegates and alternates, D. V. Phipps, delegate, and Donald Airhart, alternate; and Mrs. D. V. Phipps, delegate, and Mrs. Monte Griffin, alternate.

The Association set the date and place of the 4-H Achievement Banquet and named members to all the banquet committees. The group also planned the 4-H Club programs for the year and reviewed the standing rules.

Adhlt leaders attending were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Raney, Welch 4-H; Mrs. Dewey Drennan, Welch 4-H; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reid, Mrs. Monte Griffin and De Lacey Frampton, all of the Lamesa 4-H; Leland Bartlett and Mrs. John Montgomery, of the Cap Rock 4-H; Mrs. Edgar O'Bannon and Mrs. Donald Airhart, of the Klondike 4-H; Lee Roy Colgan, Dawson County Agricultural Agent and Micki Crump, Dawson County Home Demonstration Agent.

IN MEXICO
'Hippie' Means Drugs, Filth

MEXICO CITY (AP) — If your hair is long and you dress in hippie fashion and if you plan to come to Mexico where you might smoke "a joint or two" of marijuana—forget it!

Chances are extremely good that instead of a peaceful reprieve from a "square" society and the "establishment," you'll experience an unforgettable nightmare as a result of Mexican legal procedures, justice and jail life.

It will be quickly apparent how insignificant it is to be a U.S. citizen when you're in trouble and any thoughts you might have of how powerful and influential the U.S. Embassy is will soon be shattered.

BLONDE IN TROUBLE

"God, eight months are almost gone," said Vina Proper, 20, a Milwaukee blonde who is awaiting sentence in Merida, for a small quantity of marijuana seeds found when she was arrested Jan. 7.

She is confined in a mental hospital because no facilities are available for women in Yucatan.

Mexico, a proud nation of great heritage, has affection and friendship for neighbors north of the border. But, to the Mexican people, long hair, beards, and young people hitchhiking or travelling in mixed couples cannote "hippie."

And here "hippie" means drugs, filth, immorality and an eyesore to Mexico.

ILLICIT MARKET

Drugs, particularly marijuana, account for at least 70 per cent of the foreigners jailed in this country each year. Mexico has long been the ideal place for cultivation of the hallucinogenic plant, but its growth was relatively meaningless until a great illicit market was found in the U.S. and Canada.

Young visitors to Mexico should heed the recent message by Ambassador Robert McBride:

"Many American visitors arrested for involvement in the sale or use of narcotics apparently feel that they merely have to appeal to the U.S. Embassy for help and embassy officials can intercede in their behalf and obtain a speedy release.

"Nothing could be farther from the truth; once a narcotics violator is imprisoned there is little the U.S. Embassy can do to assist him other than providing advice on obtaining proper Mexican legal counsel and equal treatment under the law."

TINY FRACTION

A logical explanation for the U.S. government's almost non-involvement in narcotics arrests stems from "Operation Cooperation"—a joint U.S.—Mexico effort to halt illegal drug traffic.

Statistics indicate the drug problem in Mexico may be on the decline. In 1970, some 1,000 U.S. citizens were deported for drug violations compared with 1,200 the year before.

Mexican authorities may be getting tougher since there were more convictions last year than the previous year. Presently the monthly average of those jailed awaiting or serving sentences is about 230 Americans.

Secretary Of State Books Speech At Legion Conclave

HOUSTON (AP) — Secretary of State William Rogers will speak Tuesday at the national American Legion convention.

Although Rogers' business session address officially opens the convention, related committee meetings and other events have been under way since Thursday.

The convention, which runs through Sept. 2, is expected to attract about 45,000 Legion members, its auxiliary and families.

Some other highlights include the finals next Sunday night in the Astrodome of the national drum and bugle corps competition.

Delegations will represent each of the 50 states as well as Mexico, Italy, France, Canada, Panama, The Philippines, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia.

Legion Commander Alfred P. Chamie of Los Angeles would not speculate about a change in the Legion position against recognition of Red China by the United States and against admitting that country to the United Nations.

He said the Legion is extremely concerned over the prisoners of war in Vietnam and the organization has set as a priority project public awareness of the problem.

"We are determined they shall not be forgotten," he said.

Chamie told a special commission of Legionnaires Friday he expects "each and every post in the country" to help veterans and others who suffer with drug dependency difficulties.

Legionnaires say the parade Monday will be the world's largest with 15,000 marchers. They say the parade will last five to six hours.

Some of the other speakers include James C. H. Shen, Ambassador from Nationalist China; Adm. John S. McCain Jr., commander-in-chief of U.S. forces in the Pacific; astronaut Col. Thomas P. Stafford, deputy director of flight crew operations; Shimmon Peres, minister of communications for Israel; Richard F. Walsh, president of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes; and Robert E. Hampton, chairman of the Civil Service Commission.

Search Continues For Death Clues

SWEETWATER — No worthwhile leads have been uncovered by Nolan County law enforcement officers in the death of Guy Dulin, 47, of Roscoe, early last Wednesday.

"We have recovered a .22-caliber bullet from the victim's body, but we do not have a weapon to test the bullet against," said Sheriff Joe Slater, Saturday.

Dulin was found in a car on US 20 near Roscoe with a gunshot in the right lower chest.

Law officers are continuing to search for a lead in the slaying.

Americans Going Along With President's Chill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite built-in inequities and labor's highly publicized complaints, Americans generally appear to be going along voluntarily with President Nixon's 90-day freeze on wages, prices and rents, says the nation's top wage-price policeman.

George A. Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness, which administers the freeze, told The Associated Press in an interview that so far he has received only 1,700 complaints of alleged violations and 40 requests for exemptions.

BLANKET BAN

Furthermore, said Lincoln, some of the complaints proved unfounded and many actual violators already have promised OEP investigators to correct the situation voluntarily.

Lincoln, a member of the Cost of Living Council that is working on recommendations for what is to follow expiration of the freeze Nov. 13, said no options had been ruled out. He added that he personally favors something less stringent than the present blanket ban on wage, price or rent increases.

Questions and answers from the interview:

Q. Are people voluntarily complying with the freeze?

A. Hearteningly so, in my opinion, considering the vastness of the U.S. economy. We made a rundown Thursday of the complaints in the system. We have less than 2,000 complaints of violations, about 1,700.

About 1,000 of those are about price, a little less than 500 are about wages and salaries, a little over 200 about rents. All those complaints are being worked on.

Thus far in the reports to me a high poportion of the individuals we've talked to have just said they'll get in line. It's just persuasion.

We have one case where a motel owner raised the price of rent $2 a day. It just happened that my regional director was living in that motel. I'm reasonably sure that that will get settled.

Q. Have you recommended legal steps against any alleged violators?

A. The answer is no because no investigation has gotten so far in the process that such legal action would be warranted. After a certain amount of discussion the alleged violators are getting in line with the program. Some complaints were found to be erroneous.

Q. What happens after the 90-day freeze?

A. Certainly we don't want to go back at the end of 90 days to the situation we were in on Aug. 14. Certain aspects of the economy were threatened. We obviously need to know what direction we're going after the freeze before Nov. 13.

Sacco, Vanzetti Story On Film

NEW YORK (AP) — Release of "Sacco and Vanzetti" is scheduled for October in the United States and Canada under the UMC Pictures banner. It's about the famous trial of Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Nicola Sacco and was an award winning film at the recent Cannes Film Festival.

Bennett Cerf, TV Panelist Known To Millions, Dies

MOUNT KISCO, N.Y. (AP) — Publisher and humorist Bennett Cerf, known to many as the witty panelist on television's "What's My Line?", died at his home here late Friday. He was 73.

Police said Saturday Cerf died of natural causes before an ambulance reached his 42-acre estate shortly before midnight. His wife, the former Phyllis Fraser, was with him when he died.

Cerf founded Random House, which published many of America's best writers. He developed the Modern Library, a series of inexpensive new and old classics, into one of the world's most successful publishing ventures.

WAR HUMOR

Most Americans got to know his smiling, bespectacled face from his 14 years on "What's My Line?" People came up to him on the street and asked for his autograph, and he was in demand as a lecturer at fees of $1,500.

"They used to ask me what sort of man William Faulkner is, but now they want to know about Arlene Francis," he once said. "I have to remind people that I'm a publisher. Everyone has a streak of pure, unadulterated ham. Many won't admit it. I revel in it."

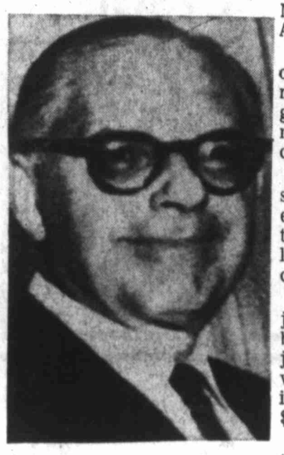

He often jested about his role as a collector of other people's jokes.

His first collection, "The Pocket Book of War Humor" sold 1½ million copies. He followed that with "Try And Stop Me," which later became the title of his daily newspaper column, syndicated in over 300 newspapers. He added a Sunday column called "Cerfboard."

FAME SHAME

In a preface to his fifth joke book in 1946, Cerf wrote that fame as a joke anthologist "does not sit easily on my shoulders."

"I am a book publisher by choice. I would rather be remembered as the publisher of Eugene O'Neill, Sinclair Lewis, William Faulkner and James Joyce's 'Ulysses' than as a facile reconteur or anthologist of other people's bon mots."

BENNETT CERF

At Random House, Cerf published such authors as Truman Capote, James Michener, Phillip Roth, Budd Schulberg, Saul Bellow, Robert Penn Warren, John Hersey, John Updike, Norman O. Brown and H.W. Auden.

"The real excitement," he once said, "is having somebody new come along, helping him to get famous and watching him move to Hollywood and start calling me a son-of-a-bitch."

Cerf was born in New York, son of a lithographer. His mother was the daughter of a well-to-do tobacco wholesaler who left him $100,000 when he became 16.

After Columbia University journalism school, he tried being a stock broker and a journalist, but then bought a vice presidencey in the publishing firm of Boni & Liveright for $25,000.

A few years later he bought the rights to "Modern Library" for $125,000 from Horace Liveright, and set up his own firm with a college friend. He redesigned the series and his first volume was Voltaire's "Candide," illustrated by Rockwell Kent. It sold for $20.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

BOSWELL SCORES — New York Mets' Ken Boswell slides into home base at New York's Shea Stadium Saturday as Los Angeles Dodgers' catcher Tom Haller awaits ball. The play got under way in the first inning after Mets' Donn Clendenon rapped out a single, scoring teammates Teddy Martinez and Boswell. Mets won the opening game of the doubleheader, 9-2.

Duncan Boyer Is Leader By Shot

By GENE NORTON

Abilene's Duncan Boyer carded a two-under par 69 to take a one-stroke lead after the first 18 holes Saturday of the 40th Annual Big Spring Invitational being played at the Big Spring Country Club.

Boyer finished second in the 1970 tournament behind David Price of Odessa. Price did not enter this year.

Hot on the heels of the leader are Ronnie Broadrick and Jerry Barron, both of Big Spring. The duo fired 70s Saturday.

Mike Weaver and Roy Peden of Kermit are in the running after fashioning even par 71s. Also in the race for championship flight honors are Mike Walling, Fort Stockton; and Bob Waters and Dan Wilkins with one over par 72s.

Former Big Spring High School golfers Howard Stewart, Mark Slate and Jarrell Carroll, along with their schoolboy mentor, Royce Cox, are setting the pace in the President's flight with a score of 76.

Bernard Rains, Daryle Hohertz and San Angelo High School golf coach Barry Minke are right behind with 77s.

Showing the way in the First Flight are Wally Slate and A. C. Hamil, each with a 73.

In the Second Flight Jack Cook, A. J. Billo and Dr. B. Broadrick are setting the pace after each had a round of 80. Harold Rosson, Fred Wilkerson, J. R. Farmer and Tim Peden are in the running after shooting 81s.

Joe Stokes and Bill Brooks are the pacesetters in the Third Flight after the first 18 holes of competition. They both had an 84 during the opening round.

Each flight winner in the tournament will qualify for a $150 gift certificate. Runners-up earn $100 in awards, third place winners $60 and fourth place finishers $25.

Clarence Peters had a hole-in-one on Number 12 during play Saturday. He used a five iron on the 159-yard par three hole. "I hit the ball two feet past the hole on the fly," he said in the clubhouse after the feat, "and it bounced backward into the hole." It was his first ace.

Most of the players and their wives attended a dance Saturday night at the Country Club.

The final round will be played today, with a shotgun start getting the players off at 1:30 p.m.

Roy Peden, in contention for championship honors, has entered the Big Spring Invitational more than any player in this year's event. The Kermit resident is playing in his 14th Invitational.

Jimmy Carmichael Shines At Tech

LUBBOCK, Tex (AP) —Sophomore quarterback Jimmy Carmichael completed 14 of 22 passes for 143 yards and two touchdowns Saturday against the top two defense units as Texas Tech completed its fall two-a-day workouts with a full scale scrimmage.

Carmichael notched a third touchdown against the third defensive unit. His receiver was Ronnie Sanford, No. 2 tight end, who drew praise from head coach Jim Carlin for his receiving and blocking.

Taiwan Wins By 12-3 Tab

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. AP) — Taiwan exploded for nine runs in the ninth inning Saturday to break open an extra-inning thriller and score a 12-3 victory over Gary, Ind., in the Little League World Series championship game.

Lee Chuen-Cheng's single with two on gave Taiwan its go-ahead run and second Little League title in three years. Once the gate opened, a steady stream of Taiwan runners crossed the plate.

Fourteen Taiwan batters came up in an inning that had six hits, four walks and a large number of passed balls and wild pitches.

Passed balls and errors were the undoing of Gary, which suffered from four fielding miscues and nine passed balls by starting catcher Ralph Basemore.

Hsu Chin-Mu went all the way for Taiwan, striking out a record 22 batters to break the old mark of 17. After allowing two hits in the opening inning, he held Gary hitless the rest of the way.

Bid For 21st Win Ruined By Braves

CHICAGO (AP) — Marty Perez' run-scoring single with two out in the ninth inning gave the Atlanta Braves a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs Saturday and spoiled Ferguson Jenkins' bid for his 21st victory.

Earl Williams opened the Braves' ninth with a single and was forced by Mike Lum. After Darrell Evans struck out, Sonny Jackson beat out an infield single and Perez looped a single, scoring Lum and breaking a 3-3 deadlock. Jackson was out trying for third.

Jenkins, 20-11 making his second try for his 21st victory, saw the Braves take a 3-2 lead with two home runs. Evans homered leading off the second, and Earl Williams' homer followed Ralph Garr's triple in the sixth.

The Cubs also scored in the second. Joe Pepitone and Ron Santo tagged Phil Niekro for consecutive singles and Johnny Callison doubled, scoring both runners.

Chaps Face Bucks In Pro Contest

NEW YORK (AP) — The Milwaukee Bucks and the Utah Stars will clash Oct. 5 in the first game ever between National and American Basketball Association champions.

The game between the NBA Bucks and the ABA stars is one of 24 inter-league exhibition games, announced by the ABA.

Dodgers Drop 2 Decisions To NY Mets

NEW YORK (AP) — Cleon Jones smashed his 13th home run of the season, a drive over the right center field fence with two out in the bottom of the ninth inning, giving the New York Mets a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers and a sweep of their Saturday doubleheader.

The Mets erupted for six runs in the first inning, with the help of two-run singles by Donn Clendenon and Jerry Grote, and breezed to a 9-2 victory in the opener as Tom Seaver scattered eight hits for his 15th triumph.

Jones' homer came off losing reliever Jim Brewer, 5-5. Tug McGraw, 9-4, who pitched the ninth inning, was the winner.

The Dodgers' Don Sutton and the Mets' Gary Gentry hooked up in a scorless pitching duel until the eighth.

The Dodgers broke the deadlock on a double by Duke Sims and a single by Tom Haller, who was pinch hitting for Sutton.

The Mets tied it 1-1 in the bottom of the eighth against Brewer on Duffy Dyer's two-out double and pinch hitter Tommie Agee's single.

In the opener, the Mets tore into Claude Osteen, 12-9, and Joe Moeller for their six runs in the first inning before a batter was retired.

Detroit Tips Chicago, 5-4

DETROIT (AP) — Four walks and an error by Chicago first baseman Mike Andrews produced two Detroit runs in the seventh inning and gave the Tigers a 5-4 victory over the White Sox Saturday.

Les Cain, 7-8, who hit his first home run of the year in the fifth inning, gained the victory, with relief help from Tom Timmerman and Fred Scherman.

Reliever Bart Johnson, 7-9, walked pinch hitter Dalton Jones and Dick McAuliffe to open the seventh and after one out walked Gates Brown. Another walk to Norm Cash forced in the tying run.

Don Wilson Makes Pirates Walk Plank At Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Don Wilson tossed a five-hitter and Bob Watson hit a pair of run-scoring singles to lead the Houston Astros to a 4-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Saturday night.

A walk to Joe Morgan and singles by Cesar Cedeno and Watson sent home the first of two runs in the third and Doug Rader singled home the other.

In the fifth, Cedeno doubled and Watson singled him home. Rich Chiles added a single, sending Steve Blass, 12-7, to the showers in favor of Bruce Kison.

After Rader grounded to third and Watson was out at the plate, John Edwards grounded to Rennie Stennett for what should have been a double play. But Jack Hernandez threw wild past first for an error and Bob Robertson, trying to get Chiles at the plate, also threw wild for an error.

Weaver To Oppose Rodgers For Title

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Apologetic Australian Bruce Crampton upset Arnold Palmer 69-72 Saturday and eliminated the last of the glamor names in the quarterfinals of the United States Professional Match Play golf championship.

WEAVER

"There seem to be a lot of sad faces around here," the 35-year-old Crampton said at a press conference after knocking out the popular Palmer.

"I'm real sorry, fellows."

"It's like I was in a snow bank," Palmer said while packing up for the trip home to Latrobe, Pa. "I just kept spinning my wheels."

Crampton, winner of the Western Open this season and nine other tour events in a 15-year career, slipped to a fat, six-over-par 78 in the afternoon semifinals and lost to rugged DeWitt Weaver, who had a 77.

GRAHAM UPSET

The 31-year-old Weaver, who has yet to win in seven years on the pro tour, scored a 71-72 upset over Lou Graham in the quarterfinals.

Weaver goes into Sunday's 18-hole showdown for the $30,000 first prize against Phil Rodgers.

Rodgers bested Ken Still 69-76 in the other semifinal of this unique event that calls for head-to-head competition with scoring based on total strokes over 18 holes.

Rodgers took a 70-73 decision over Canadian George Knudson in the morning quarter-finals while Still birdied the second extra hole to beat Tom Weiskopf after each had shot a one-under-par 71 on the 6,973 yard Country Club of North Carolina course.

Palmer, along with the other quarter-final losers, picked up $5,000 from the total purse of $200,000. That pushed his total earnings for the year to $194,887, the best money season ever in his fabled career.

He now ranks third on the current money list behind Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino. Nicklaus, along with South African Gary Player, was eliminated in the first round here. Trevino and Billy Casper, each with health problems, did not compete in this five-day event.

ONE-PUTTED

"He one-putted five holes in a row," Palmer said of the curly-haired Crampton. "He missed the green on the first four holes on the back nine and I'm standing there thinking, 'no, no, no. Now we go.'

"But he gets it up and down every time. That really put the old jammer on me."

"I just scrambled when I had to," Crampton said.

He birdied the second hole from 20 feet and got a two-stroke swing on the 153-yard, par three third when he scored from 10 feet and Palmer bogeyed the hole, missing the green to the left.

That gave Bruce a three stroke lead after three holes and the highly partisan gallery was groaning.

Crampton bogeyed the sixth when he put his drive in the left rough and couldn't reach the green, but Palmer bogeyed the eighth, coming up short of the green.

PERILS OF JOB

Country Boy Gets To Know Scout

DALLAS (AP) — It was 3 a.m. and 10 degrees below zero in the telephone booth in Moscow, Idaho.

Dick Mansperger, talent scout for the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League, shivered and listened to the voice at the other end:

"Oh, Mr. Mansperger, is this you? Stay where you are and I'll be down to get you."

Shortly afterward, the 6-foot-5 football prospect, known only to his mother and Dallas' involved spy network, rolled up in a truck.

Then came a spinning, twisting ride up a hillskid through the ice and snow.

"All I could think of was it was a hell of a way to die," said Mansperger. "What a ride."

SALES PITCH

Finally reaching the young man's home, Mansperger settled himself and launched his pitch on the merits of professional football in general and the Cowboys in particular.

Then came the stunner.

The boy scratched his head and said "I guess I forgot to tell you. I have no intention of playing professional football. I want to go into forestry."

Mansperger's face reddened.

"Why," Mansperger asked, trying to hold his temper, "did you drag me all the way up here to tell me that?"

"Oh, I just wanted to meet you," answered the friendly country boy.

Mansperger's bad night in the Idaho town is all a part of being a pro football scout.

A good scout spends about six months a year on the road.

"At times he doesn't know whether he belongs on the club or not." Mansperger said. "He reads about his team's scores in the paper.

"It's something you have to adopt to and accept as your way of life. A lot of people have tried it who couldn't do it. It's broken up a lot of homes."

Mansperger is a bachelor.

A scout's day begins early in the morning.

ARRIVES EARLY

"We try to get to a college coach's office before his work day begins so we can get films and not disturb him," Mansperger said. "We spend the hours after lunch with the trainer finding out about injuries."

Mansperger said a good scout needs to be a cross between a detective and a doctor.

"There are so many intangibles you can't measure about a player," Mansperger added, "like when a coach blows his whistle, does the player in question hang back or does he bust his tail to get up there . . . Things like that.

"It's like being a doctor—you look for signs and symptoms.

Mike Cuellar Suffers Loss

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lew Krausse and Ken Sanders teamed for an eight-hitter that snapped a six-game Baltimore winning streak as the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Orioles 3-0 for a split of their Saturday twi-night doubleheader.

Ellie Hendricks drove in five runs in the Orioles' 9-4 first-game triumph with a home run and a double as Dave McNally, with ninth-inning relief help, recorded his 16th victory.

Krausse, notching his sixth victory in the nightcap, checked the Orioles on four hits before Sanders came on in the seventh inning to pick up his 23rd save.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Monterey Has Its Problems

By TOMMY HART

Big Spring's whole football season may be wrapped up in that opening game with Lubbock Monterey here the night of Sept. 10 . . . The Plainsmen have always been Jonah's whale to the Steers . . . As often as not, the Longhorns in the past have made enough mistakes to beat themselves . . . The sky's the limit if the Bold Gold can escape with a win in that one . . . Glen Yarbrough, a talented quarterback, is back to harass the locals but coach Jim Odom is having to rebuild his secondary . . . The Plainsmen averaged 294.1 yards per game in total gains in 1970 and beat the Steers, 21-0, but have only two offensive and as many defensive regulars on hand again . . . Too, two of Big Spring's three quarterbacks, regular Dave Duncan and third stringer Alan Davis, were missing . . . Two Monterey boys the locals will have to contain if they hope to win are Tommy McIntire and Bobby Pipkin, up from an undefeated JV team . . . McIntire scored 15 touchdowns in just seven games last fall . . . Pipkin crossed the goal line seven times . . . That was a frustrating loss the Philadelphia Eagles suffered at the hands of Houston last week . . . The Eagles had the ball 81 times to 52 for Houston and gained more both on the ground and in the air than did the Oilers, yet Houston wound up with four more points . . . George Foreman, the next heavyweight boxing champion, averaged a fight a month in 1970 . . . That Rosenberg Little League team, the 1971 Texas champion, finally lost to Shaw AFB, South Carolina, 4-3, in the first round of the Southern Regional tournament . . . Frenship's Tigers, who suffered from 'senoritis' in ex-Big Springer Jack Tayrien's initial season at the helm, returns only seven lettermen but one of those is a fullback named Joe Rogans who gained an average of over 100 yards a game last season . . . Tayrien says Rogans could play in any league . . . There are football players from 17 states other than Florida on that University of Miami team, which meets Baylor at home Oct. 1 . . . Texas is represented on the Hurricane squad by Daryl Reeh, who intercepted three passes in one game for Blinn Junior College last year . . . Reeh, however, played his high school ball in Louisiana . . . With the exception of Baylor, all of Arkansas' games this season will be on Astroturf.

JIMMY WYNN

* * * *

Garden City Junior High will have more than twice as many boys out for football as will the varsity (33 to 14) . . . Joe Orduna, star of the last College All-Star football game who signed with the San Francisco 49ers, comes by his Spanish surname through his paternal grandfather, who was a Chicano . . . Orduna has an unflappable religious faith, wants some day to become a fulltime evangelist . . . Baton Rouge won't be blacked out in the Super Bowl contests in January and New Orleans newspapers are already carrying advertisements of antennas that will pick up the Baton Rouge telecasts . . . Class A Happy in the Texas Panhandle has had four head coaches in four years, the latest of whom is Robert Criswell . . . The Texas Tech board of regents has decided that no more shows like the Tom Jones musical can be booked into the Red Raider stadium . . . Mike Glasscock, a Snyder fullback, fractured a hand in a recent workout but likely will be back in time to face Big Spring Sept. 24 . . . Coahoma is one of five schools regarded as championship threats in District 5-AA . . . Ozona and Crane are the favorites but face strong opposition from Big Lake and McCamey, as well as Bernie Hagins' Big Red . . . Bill Jennings, who was named head coach at Stanton but left without coaching the Bisons in a game, is expecting another outstanding team at Class 3-A Kress . . . Jennings saw his team drop three of its first four games last fall, then storm back to finish with a 7-4 record . . . Odessa College's golf team was delivered a staggering blow recently when ace Pat O'Donnell revealed he wouldn't be returning to classes but changed his mind a bit later . . . The Houston Astros' next great pitcher could be 6-8 James Rodney Richard, now at Oklahoma City, who some observers are already comparing to Vida Blue . . . Like Vida, James Rodney is from the state of Louisiana . . . The San Angelo phenom, Gary Mullins, has guided the University of Houston's Cougars to 16 wins in the 18 games which he has started and says he's ready to go full throttle again, following knee surgery . . . Of Mullins, coach Bill Yeoman says: "He knows what to do when he comes down the line on the triple option" . . . Jim Wynn of the Houston Astros could go to Cleveland in a trade for Sam McDowell but Cleveland, in turn, could transfer to Dallas, which means the Toy Cannon would wind up as a gate attraction that might wean business away from the Astrodome . . . Judge Roy Hofheinz wouldn't like that.

PRE-MATCH DISCUSSION — Members of opposing teams in Friday's First National Bank cup matches to discuss rules and problems prior to teeing off. From the left, they are Daryle Hohertz, Big Spring; John Shepperson, San Angelo; Sam Miller, Fort Stockton; Lawrence Bledsoe, San Angelo; and Jack Lieber, San Angelo. The visiting team, captained by Mike Walling of Fort Stockton, won the match, 12-3.

Petty Pleased With Freshmen

The Big Spring Toros started workouts one week ago and head coach Glenn Petty is pleased with the progress of his gridders so far.

"Our progress has been slow but good thus far," he said, "We are sticking just to the basic fundamentals and trying to teach the kids something."

Petty has 33 high school freshmen on the squad now prepping for the season opener against the Brahamas Sept. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in Memorial Stadium.

The Toros donned pads for the first time Thursday and several of the gridders have impressed Petty with their determination and hustle. He cited running back Ricky Dow, offensive and defensive tackle Daryl Miller, end Humberto Padilla, offensive guard Casey Lovelace, end Joe Rains, and Wade Franklin.

Petty was lavish in his praise of James Coffey. "James has been our defensive standout so far," he commented. "He is a tall, rangy boy and he has shown a lot of hustle in our early practice sessions."

Three candidates are competing for the starting quarterback slot for the Toros' eleven. They are Barry Canning, David Arbuckle and newcomer Keith Thomas.

Petty said Canning has shown lots of improvement at the position and could have a good season. He termed Arbuckle as "the best passer of the trio."

Walling's Team Wins Cup Matches Friday

The Big Spring delegation came up on the short end of a 12-3 score in the First National Bank Cup matches played over the links at the Big Spring Country Club Friday.

The visiting team, captained by Mike Walling of Fort Stockton, dominated the match from start to finish.

Walling was paired against local captain Don Lovelady and the duo halved the match when both shot rounds of 70. Each picked up one-half point for their teams.

Fort Stockton's Jake Broyles went against local Dan Wilkins and defeated him 3-2. Broyles shot a 69 and Wilkins came home with a 77.

Representing Big Spring, Jackie Thomas lost to Roy Peden of Kermit 1-up. Thomas fired a 77 and Peden had a 76.

Ted Hull dropped his match to George Miller, Pecos, 6-5 when he shot an 83 to Miller's 74. Ray Golden, also from Pecos, toppled R. P. Nicholson, 3-2, as he shot a 76 to Nicholson's 77.

The locals picked up a point when R. L. Heith fired a 76 and beat Mitford Johnson from Pecos, who had an 82. Heith won the match 6-5.

Three visitors hailing from San Angelo picked up points for their team when Lawrence Bledsoe downed Novis Womack 3-2; Jack Lieber bested Spot Cockrell 3-2; and John Shepperson won over Daryle Hohertz, 4-2.

Wally Slate picked up the last point for the First National Bank team by defeating Fort Stockton's Sam Miller, 2-up. Slate carved out a round of 77 and Miller used 81 strokes.

Forsan Outscored In Workout, 2-0

FORSAN — Forsan lost quarterback Jeff Williams with an ankle injury on the first series of plays in a scrimmage bout with Grandfalls here Thursday and then went on to lose the contest, two scores to none.

Williams suffered a minor ankle sprain making a tackle following an intercepted pass but is expected to miss only a couple of days' workouts.

Forsan straw boss Jack Woodley was pleased with the performance of the Buffs despite the setback. "Our defense gave up two scores but over-all they looked pretty good," he said. "Their two touchdowns came on quarterback keeper plays, one around the right side and the other to the left."

One of the bright spots in the Forsan loss was the play of linebacker Phillip Medlin. "Phillip made a lot of tackles for us and did an effective job at linebacker," Woodley commented.

With Williams sidelined with the injured ankle, freshman backup man Landon Soles saw a lot of action down under. "Landon did a fair job for us at quarterback and I'm sure he learned a lot," the Forsan head coach declared.

Veteran lineman Kenny Hollingsworth was hampered by a pulled hamstring and saw only brief action on defense for the Buffs.

Woodley got good performances from his running backs throughout the game. Halfbacks Gary Daughtery and James Ditmore and fullback Tommy Brumley broke some pretty good runs according to Woodley.

The Bisons return to the practice field Monday to begin preparations for their second and final scrimmage of the preseason Thursday when they travel to New Home for a 4 p.m. encounter.

Forsan opens the regular season on the road in Bronte Sept. 10.

Vinson Quits Team

ABILENE — Roger Vinson, 200-pound letterman linebacker, a sophomore from Grapevine, quit the McMurry College football team Friday.

Charles Billeck Scores In Scrimmage For Gail

GAIL — Charles Billeck broke loose on a 40-yard run for the only score of the game as Borden County edged Smyer in a scrimmage held Friday in Smyer.

Smyer will visit Gail for a similar workout next Friday, with action due to start about 7 p.m.

The Coyotes, who stormed to the Regional championship last year and who have 20 lettermen returning, will start their next to last week of drills Monday before opening their regular season Sept. 10 at home against Wellman.

In Friday's toil, each team had the ball for 20 plays. Smyer advanced as far as Gail's 10 on one occasion but stout defensive play on the part of coach Bob Dyess' Borden County team withstood the pressure.

Cotton Center has replaced Sands on the Gail schedule. The Coyotes defeated Sands in an 11-man game in 1970.

Only one injury has marred the Coyote workouts. Center M. McHenry will shortly return to the doctor to check on a physical misery.

The Coyotes, who play three games and then rest for a week, open their conference season Oct. 15 against Sterling City at home.

Gail's schedule:

Sept. 10 — Wellman at Gail.
Sept. 17 —Gail at Three-Way.
Sept. 24 — Gail at Whitharrel.
Oct. 1 — Open.
Oct. 8 — Cotton Center at Gail.
Oct. 15 — Sterling City at Gail (C).
Oct. 22 — Klondike at Gail (C).
Oct. 29 — Gail at Loop (C).
Nov. 5 —Gail at Dawson (C).
Nov. 12 — Gail at Garden City (C).
(C) — Conference games.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee Brewer manager Dave Bristol said Friday he will fine team members $100 per pound for reporting overweight to spring training next year.

"In other words, it will be $100 a pound for fat meat," Bristol was quoted as saying.

Gloves Today Too Big, Says Ex-Buc Standout

PITTSBURGH (AP) — When Harold Joseph Traynor was too young to play on the town baseball team in Framingham, Mass., he chased foul balls hit into the woods.

His reward was a trip to a baker's shop owned by the father of one of the players.

Traynor preferred pie, so the baker always called him "Pie-face." The name stuck and later became just "Pie."

Pie Traynor outgrew chasing foul balls and played third base for the Pittsburgh Pirates from 1920 to 1937. Later he managed the Pirates for a couple of years.

In 1949, he was inducted into baseball's Hall of Fame. Later he was voted by baseball writers throughout the country as "The Greatest Third Baseman Ever."

The 71-year-old Traynor, whose home is in Pittsburgh, will be honored at Three Rivers Stadium Tuesday before a Pirates-Phillies game. The Pittsburgh Baseball Writers will hold a dinner in his honor in November.

ONLY ONCE

The usually smiling, white-haired Traynor had a career batting average of .320 and drove in 100 or more runs in seven seasons. He dipped under the .300 mark as a hitter only once.

"I was a choke-up hitter," Traynor explained recently while watching a Pirate game, still one of his favorite pastimes.

"I always used a thick-handled bat. That's why I like Manny Sanguillen (Pirate catcher). He uses a thick-handled bat. That way, even if you hit the ball on the handle, you still get good wood on it."

Traynor, in a way, is still a vital part of the Pittsburgh baseball scene.

He does some scouting for the Pirates, attends spring training in Bradenton, Fla., and still goes to many Pirate games.

"Look at them walk to their positions," he lamented about some Pirates. "That's the one thing I never did and I never allowed my players to do. It doesn't look good."

Other Pie Traynor views also are shared openly:

"They make gloves too big today," he said. "Can't lay them down in the outfield like we used to because they'll trip over the webbing.

"Games are too long today. Because the players don't hustle, it takes about two minutes longer to get to the outfield. That's 18 minutes a game.

AARON 'GREATEST'

"And pitchers don't pitch as fast. We used to play a game in less than two hours.

"Hank Aaron is the greatest hitter in baseball because he has the best wrists."

"Too many hot dogs in the game today. Baseball was never work for me. I never felt like tipping my hat, for example, because I was supposed to make the play or hit the ball. But I really did tip my hat."

Traynor's salary in 1920, his first season with the Pirates, was $4,000. He got a $2,200 bonus for signing a contract.

"It was enough," Traynor says. "I never asked for a raise. In fact, from 1929 through 1938, I made $14,000 a year—never got a raise.

"That was all right too," he said. "You know, I was making a lot more than a lot of my friends back home who were working for the WPA (Works Progress Administration).

Traynor, a range 185-pounder like he was in his playing days, still walks to keep in shape. He has never driven a car.

He used to walk miles each day, often racing trolleys from one part of town to another.

"I'd often beat them," Traynor remembers. "They had to stop often. I just kept on walking."

IN U.S. AMATEUR
Simons, Crenshaw Are Favorites

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — A pair of hotshot collegians, Jim Simons of Wake Forest and Ben Crenshaw of the University of Texas, are favorites in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship starting Wednesday at the Wilmington Country Club.

A field of 150 will compete in the four-day, 72-hole event over a 6,872-yard, par-71 course designed by Robert Trent Jones. The final round, Saturday, Sept. 4, will be televised by ABC starting at 2:30 p.m. CDT.

With defending champion Lanny Wadkins of Richmond, Va., and Brtish amateur winner Steve Melnyk of Jacksonville, Fla., committed to pro careers, the tournament looms as a wide open affair.

A father and two sons are among the contenders: they are William Hyndamn III of Huntington Valley, Pa., 55, a Walker Cup veteran, and sons, Bill IV, 31, and Tommy, 26.

Simons, 21, from Butler, Pa., was the sensation of the 1971 U.S Open at Merion, leading through the third round and remaining in contention until Lee Trevino beat him out on the final holes.

Crenshaw, 19 of Austin, Tex., was the first freshman to win the National Collegiate crown. He also captured the Southern and Eastern titles in a very successful season.

Other favorites include Eddie Pearce of Temple Terrace, Fla., the North and South Amateur champion; Marving Giles III of Richmond, Va., runner up for the U.S. Amateur title in 1967-68-69; Tom Kite, Jr., of Austin, Tex., runner-up last year to Wadkins, and two Canadians Gary Cowan, winner of this tournament in 1966, and Nick Weslock, four-time Canadian Amateur champion.

Cowan is the most recent winner who has remained an amateur. He beat out Deane Beman at the Merion, Pa., Golf Club.

Pavers Grab 3-2 Victory

Caldwell's Pavers and Joe Hicks Motor won semifinal games in the Big Spring Slow Pitch Softball League tournament Friday night.

Caldwell went eight innings to accomplish its 3-2 win over Goodyear. Danny Parchman opened the inning with a single but was retired at second on a ground ball hit by Boyce Hale.

Hale, however, legged it all the way home on a triple by Roddy Caffey to end the proceedings.

Roy New had a home run for Goodyear, one of six hits the losers collected. Caldwell wound up with 12 hits.

Goodyear had scored once in the fourth and again in the sixth. Caldwell managed its other two tallies in the fourth.

Joe Hicks Motor measured the Jaycees in the final game Friday, 9-6, after the Jaycees had belted Intech earlier in the evening, 12-8.

Runs For Ghana

Coahoma 'Dogs Rugged But Thin, Says Hagins

COAHOMA — Depth seems to be the big problem facing Bernie Hagins as he prepares the Coahoma Bulldogs for their second season of battle in the tough 5-AA football district.

Hagins has 22 gridders working out with the varsity and according to the amiable Bulldog mentor, after he goes beyond the first team lack of experience is the biggest obstacle confronting the Coahoma eleven.

The Bulldogs have been busy during workouts concentrating on timing and installing the offense. Monday the squad enters the second week of two-a-days. The following week Hagins expects to limit drills to once daily as he preps for the season opener against powerful Sonora on the road Sept. 10.

Hagins is extremely happy with his kennel of offensive backs.

"Roland Beal had been executing well at quarterback for us and fullback Donnie Buchanan and halfbacks Keith Perigo and Wendell Walker have been impressive," he said.

This quartet of ball carriers saw plenty of action for the Bulldogs a year ago and the experience they gained should prove invaluable as Coahoma shoots for the district title.

Standouts on defense for Hagins' charges thus far have been junior middle linebacker Steve Fraser and senior end Jeff Mitchel.

The Bulldogs have their work cut out for them here Friday when they scrimmage the strong Stamford eleven.

The B-team game will get underway at 6 p.m. and the varsity clash will commence following that contest.

Colbert Checks Out

FORT WORTH (AP) — Junior Danny Colbert, a starting defensive back last season, quit the Texas Christian University football team Friday for what he said were personal reasons.

City Tourney Format Changed This Year

The scene is set at the Big Spring Municipal Golf course for the annual city championship event, set for Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

This year the tourney will be reeled off in medal play as opposed to match play in past years. Fifty-four holes will be played to determine the 1971 Big Spring champion. The city years. Fifty-four holes will be Big Spring champion. The city is assured of a new title-holder.

Defending champion Jerry Clements will not enter the tournament this year.

According to Charles Brantley, pro at the Muny, Saturday's scores will be used to flight the competitors and will also count in the three-day total.

Anyone living in Howard County is eligible to enter the tourney. The entry fee is $10 per person.

There were 87 contestants in the fray last year and Brantley expects between 80 to 100 to sign up for the upcoming tournament.

Former winners already registered include Jerry Barron, Charles Bailey, Bernard Rains and Jim Newsom. Other challengers should be Bob Waters, Bobby Smith, Ted Gross and Richard Pachall. Also expected to make a strong showing is John Disosway from Webb. Disosway recently won the title as best golfer in the Air Force and represented that service in the Interservice Matches.

Following is a list of the city championship winners since 1948. Bobby Maxwell, 1948, 1953; John Pipes, 1949; Jake Morgan, 1950, 1951; no tournament in 1952; Luke Thompson, 1954; Bobby Wright, 1955, 1956, 1957, 1958, 1960, 1961; Red McCulloch, 1959; Jim Newsom, 1962, 1966; Charles Bailey, 1963; Bernard Rains, 1964, 1965; Don Lovelady, 1967; Phil Howe, 1968; Jerry Barron, 1969 and Jerry Clements, 1970.

Two teams tied for the fourth spot with rounds of 70½ and the quartet split $17. They were Dave Peters and Leo Lamoine and Frank Marshall and Dick Peterson.

Sal Bando Leads Oakland To Win

OAKLAND (AP) — Sal Bando drove in five runs with a grand-slam homer and a single Saturday, leading the Oakland A's to a 10-6 victory over the Washington Senators.

Chuck Dobson, 14-3, struck out nine in seven innings and allowed nine hits before Rollie Fingers and Darold Knowles finished.

Bando's fourth career grand slammer climaxed a five-run rally in the second and highlighted his return to the lineup following a four-day absence because of illness.

Oakland jumped on Mike Thompson, 1-6, for two runs in the first.

Thompson walked the bases loaded in the second and Denny Riddleberger replaced him. An error on Tommy Davis' grounder scored one run and Bando followed with his 19th home run of the season.

Long Blasts Give Indians 9-8 Win

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ray Fosse smashed a grand slam home run, Vada Pinson connected for a three-run shot and John Lewenstein smacked a two-run homer, powering the Cleveland Indians to a 9-8 victory over the Minnesota Twins Saturday.

Rich Reese drove in four Minnesota runs with two homers and a sacrifice fly.

Woo Charged, Gets Release

HAMILTON Ont. (AP)—Steve Worster, who ran his athletic ability to All-American status at the Univeristy of Texas, had been released by his professional team Saturday after being charged with marijuana possession.

Worster, a college running star of last season, spurned National Football League teams to sign with the Hamilton Tiger Cats for a reported $100,000.

Also released with Worster by the Tiger Cats was defensive halfback Seth Miller, formerly of Arizona State. He and Worster were arrested at the same time in their rented house and charged with possession of an ounce of the weed.

The two resigned at their own request, said Hamilton General Manager Ralph Sazio, "for the best interests of the club and for everybody else.

"We've put them both on waivers with no recall," Sazio said, "and they are available to any team in the league.

The players were charged Thursday after a raid by Royal Canadian Mounted Police and city police.

Worster explained his and Miller's request for their release with the comment: "We both want to play football again and this leaves the door open."

Said Sazio: "It gives both parties an opportunity this way to decide if they want to come back and to decide if we want them back."

Hogs Will Pass More, Employ Zone Defense

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas coach Frank Broyles said Saturday his green defense has ability but warns "It's in a race to be ready for the first game Sept. 11."

Broyles told touring Southwest conference football writers the 1971 version of the Razorbacks defense will resemble the 1959 and 1960 Arkansas squads.

"The scheme of our defense has been altered," he said. "We will not be as strong as our last three teams. We will have the quickness and agility of teams in the past, but we will not be as strong physically."

He said the defense is improving, but that he is still "concerned with the defensive secondary."

MAN-FOR-MAN

Broyles said Arkansas will play much more zone defense this year. The Razorbacks played a man-for-man defense about half the time last season.

Offensively, Broyles said, "We will pass more often than last year." He said the Razorbacks will up their passing percentage vs. the run from 25 to 35 per cent passing.

The Razorbacks, under the quarterbacking of junior Joe Ferguson, will run mostly from the I formation. Broyles said Ferguson will use drop back and play-action passes from the formation and Arkansas also will run the triple-option.

"We have outstanding ability at the special skill positions," Broyles said. "We have people capable of making the big play. We have a chance to be explosive.

"But the offensive success depends on whether the defense has a good year. You can't score unless you have the ball."

Broyles said he didn't like the term "rebuilding" to apply to this year's Arkansas team, which plays California at Little Rock in the Hogs' first game.

"I like 'remodeling' more than I do 'rebuilding,'" Broyles said. "I believe we have the ability to have a good football team, even though we rank seventh in the conference in returning experience."

LAUDS CARLIN

On the SEC race, Broyles said, "I think Texas Tech coach Jim Carlen proved that an experienced coach with his own staff can turn around and improve a team in one year. We have two new coaches this year (at Rice and TCU). It's a plus for the conference. It will tend to balance things."

Asked whether Arkansas fans were disappointed that the Razorbacks didn't go to a bowl game in 1970, although they could have, Broyles said, "I think the Arkansas fans judge a team according to the season record."

He said, "They were disappointed we didn't get a championship, but I have seen no lack of enthusiasm. In fact, I have seen more. We have different people on the team and a new excitement. The fans started talking football three months ago, and they are flat ready. I hope we are."

Europeans Threats In 1972 Olympics

LONDON (AP) — If statistics mean anything, track and field stars from the United States and Latin America face tough competition from Europeans at the 1972 Olympics.

Winning performances in the European Championships at Helsinki this month were far more impressive than those in the Pan-American Games at Cali, Colombia. In individual events, the European men outscored the Pan-Ams 13-6 and European women were ahead 9-1.

However, several of the United States' top men missed the Pan-American Games and the U.S. women's squad was selected after trials last April before many girls had reached their season's peak.

NOT IDEAL

On the other hand the Europeans can argue that conditions at Helsinki were not ideal. Many of the races were run in chilly winds, and some in the wet, with puddles on the Tartan track.

It was in the middle and long distance races at Helsinki that the Europeans really gave the world something to worry about. Study these winning times and see how much faster they were than the Americans who won at Cali:

800 meters—Evgeni Arzhanov, Russia, 1 minute, 45.6 seconds; Ken Swenson, USA, 1:48.0.

1,500 meters—Francesco Arese, Italy, 3:38.4; Marty Liquori, 3:42.1.

5,000 meters—Juha Vaatainen, Finland, 13:32.7; Steve Prefontaine, 13:52.5.

10,000 meters—Vaatainen, 27:52.8; Frank Shorter, 28:50.8.

Vaatainen has passed 30 and has only just reached his peak of achievement. His victories in the 10,000 and 5,000 meters, based on shrewd tactics and a stylish, high-stepping sprint to the finish line, were the most spectacular features of the European Games.

The sprints could be duels between the two double gold medalists —Don Quarrie of Jamaica and Valeri Borzov of Russia.

But Quarrie appears to have the best. His 100 meters time of 10.2 at Cali was one-tenth of a second inside Borzov's at Helsinki, and in the 200 meters the Jamaican equalled the world record with 19.8 and was half a second faster than the Russian.

The Europeans' performances were better in all the men's field events except the broad jump and the triple jump. Cuba's triple jump star Padre Perez, who set a world record of 57 feet, one inch at Cali, established himself as the man to beat in the Olympics.

Some of the Helsinki winners in the field events were way ahead of their Pan-American rivals.

For example Uwe Beyer of West Germany won the hammer throw with 240-8, whereas Al Hall of the United States winning the Pan-American title for the third time, only needed

WINS AT CALI

Janis Lusis of Russia threw the javelin 277-0 at Helsinki, while Cary Felman of the United States won at Cali with 267-5½.

The European shot put winner, Hartmut Briesenick of East Germany, set a European record of 69-2 at Cali, Al Feuerback of the United States needed only 64-10 to win.

Aerial Game For Brahmas

Big Spring Brahmas' football fans can expect to see a lot of footballs fill the air this season when the Brahmas take the field.

David Verner, beginning his second season at the helm of the Brahmas, has a quarterback who can throw the ball and he says his team will take advantage of it.

"Our quarterback Bobby Bradshaw has an excellent throwing arm and he has really looked good for a freshman prospect. We have a couple of fine receivers so I expect we will throw a lot."

The Brahmas began workouts Monday and put on the heavy equipment for the first time Thursday.

In addition to Bradshaw, Verner had praise for running back Doug Robison and linemen Mintz, Partee and Lavon.

"Our kids are looking pretty good for this early in the season," he said. "They have a good attitude, their enthusiam is high and they have really been hustling."

The Brahmas get their first taste of combat Sept. 9 against the Toros at Memorial Stadium. Look for lots of aerials from the right hand of Bobby Bradshaw.

Padres And Expos Are Rained Out

MONTREAL (AP) — The National League baseball doubleheader Saturday night between the San Diego Padres and the Montreal Expos was postponed because of rain and wet grounds.

One of the games, carried over from a Friday night rain postponement, will be played Sunday as part of a doubleheader. The second game was not immediately rescheduled.

Can you spot the Volkswagen?

Lost among five of the world's great classic sports cars is one of the world's great classic Volkswagens.

The VW Karmann Ghia.

If you confuse it with a 170 mph sports machine, we wouldn't be surprised.

The racy lines are the work of a famous sports car designer, the Ghia studios of Turin, Italy.

And the bodywork is the handiwork of one of Europe's oldest custom coachmakers, Karmann of Osnabrück.

What makes the Karmann Ghia a Volkswagen is everything that makes it go. Independent 4-wheel suspension that takes curves like a racer. Surprisingly smooth 4-speed gear box.† And an air-cooled engine that gets up to 26 mpg.

Of course, you can't reach the speed of a $15,000 Ferrari (top left), a $16,000 Lamborghini (top center), a $9,000 Mercedes-Benz (top right), a $15,000 Maserati (bottom center), or a $14,000 Aston Martin (bottom right) in a Karmann Ghia (bottom left).

But it costs only $X,XXX to give the impression that you can.

Hot, Sunny Weather Key To Cotton Cash

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Crop, range, and hay prospects improved in Texas during the week and good weather spurred the harvest.

Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, said that although a few areas still need more moisture, warm, sunny weather is also needed for cotton in western sectors and to allow full swing harvesting in other areas.

Harvest oprations are slightly behind the pace of last year. The cotton harvest is about 8 per cent complete, grain sorghum 38 and rice 75 per cent.

Hutchison noted that with generally good prospects for the fall, producers are busy preparing land for oats, wheat, and other grains and some vegetables.

SOME SORGHUM

Reports from district agents show:

SOUTH PLAINS (Lubbock): Warm, sunny weather is critically needed for cotton. Sorghum, soybeans and castors progressed well. Some sorghum head discloration was reported. Ranges improved and some stocker cattle are being shipped in.

ROLLING PLAINS (Vernon): Rains fell in some sectors with totals up to 6 inches. About half of the 22 counties lack adequate moisture. Cotton is fruiting well where moisture is sufficient. Insect damage ranges from light to heavy. Some sorghum is being harvested. Ranges improved.

FAR WEST: Moisture is generally adequate for ranges and dryland crops. Hot, sunny weather is needed for normal cotton development. Some grain planting is under way. Livestock are improving rapidly. Ranchers are repairing water gaps damaged in recent heavy rains.

DROUTH SNAPPED

WEST CENTRAL: The drouth has definitely been broken. All counties have adequate to surplus moisture. Sorghum is being harvested where land has dried. Cotton is loading up and some spraying for insects is in progress. Leaf spot has infected some peanuts and the crop is suffering from the excess rain. Ranges and livestock are in good shape. Farmers and ranchers are repairing water gaps damaged by recent floods.

SOUTH: The cotton harvest is 85 per cent complete in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Rains near Corpus Christi have lowered cotton yields and quality. Some peanuts have also been lost to wet weather. Citrus is sizing fruit well. Pastures are excellent. Livestock improved.

Six Months Slap For Son Of Judge

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Kirksey McCord Nix Jr., jailed here on state murder charges and federal firearms violation charges, has been sentenced to six months for contempt of U.S. district court.

Nix, called by Dallas, Tex., authorities the leader of the Dixie Mafia, was sentenced by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Jack Gordon for refusing to give a handwriting sample to federal agents.

Nix, the son of an Oklahoma judge, is charged with the April 11 murder of grocer Frank Corso here.

New Western Wear Store Sets Opening Formality

The formal opening of Town and Country Western Wear will take place in a week-long open-house starting Monday.

The modern facility contains displays of Western suits, sports coats, hats, boots and belts for the entire family.

There is also a line of saddles and related tack available at the store.

The manager of the operation is Orville Renegar, a former Durant, Okla., man who moved to Big Spring about three months ago. He has a total of more than 25 years of experience in retail dry goods stores. He was manager of the Cow Town store in Oklahoma City, Okla., before he moved to Durant.

During the week-long opening ceremonies, the store will provide free coffee and soft drinks for all visitors. Door prizes of western attire will be given away during the week also.

Portion Of Texas Teen Voting Law Challenged

SHERMAN, Tex. (AP) — A lawyer filed suit Friday challenging the portion of the Texas voting law requiring unmarried persons under 21 years of age to register for balloting in their parents' place of residence.

The suit was filed in federal court here and named Wesley Ownby and Steve Muncy as the plaintiffs. The lawyer filing the case is David R. Richards.

The parents of both plaintiffs formerly resided in Denton.

Muncy attends North Texas State University in Denton and his parents live in New Mexico. Ownby is 19 and works in Denton. His parents moved to Fort Worth.

The new law regulating voting and registration by persons 18 to 21 years old has aroused dispute among college students who contend that they should be allowed to determine their place of residence.

Voting registrars previously considered students living in dormitories to have the same home address as their parents, but those residing in apartments and housing off the campus were considered citizens of the city where the school was located.

Sen. Mike McKool of Dallas, who wrote the registration bill, said that he was opposed to the residence provision.

McKool said that provision was placed in the bill by House conferees after fear was expressed that persons in the 18 to 21 year age group in colleges or on military bases would form a voting bloc and dominate local politics.

"This provision is discriminatory against young people, and in my opinion is unconstitutional. The 26th Amendment to the U. S. Constitution guarantees these young people under 21 the right to vote and they should be able to establish their residence in the same manner as those over 21," said McKool.

Muncy's parents now live in New Mexico. Thus under Texas law he is disenfranchised from voting anywhere in Texas.

Both of these plaintiffs are life-long residents of Denton County said McKool.

MISS PATRICIA SHAPLAND

The Eighteenth Summer

By JO BRIGHT

"And now it is over. This is the afternoon of the last day in Europe. It is time to look back and see what I learned about myself, people — and life — in these three months."

Closing her diary, Patty Shapland prepared to leave Germany. She had said goodbye to those who mattered most, and in a whimsical mood, donned an embroidered dirndl for the long flight. Her fresh scrubbed look and a newly-acquired accent completed the disguise.

Fellow passengers thought she was a German lass, leaving her native land, rather than an American traveler returning to her home in Texas.

In truth, Miss Shapland "felt" German. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Shapland, 2701 Cactus, she had spent her eighteenth summer in a firsthand encounter with life as a participant in a program called "The Experiment in International Living."

The experiment involved becoming part of a German family. Patty's family was that of Mr. and Mrs. Klaus Kleinkeinz who live with their seven children in Schweinfurt, Germany.

"I didn't claim my American heritage while in social situations," she said gravely explaining that she witnessed much rudeness on the part of Americans in Europe. Sensitive by nature, and gracious by training, she found herself apologizing for thoughtless tourists who abused their privileges as guests in Germany.

It was during this period that "we did a lot of walking."

The young travelers often slept in overnight youth hostels and cabins as they toured such cities as Koblenz, Heidelburg and Salsburg. There was a night spent in a castle, an evening at the opera, a hike in the Bavarian Alps and a swim in the Wolfgang Sea.

While living with her family in Schweinfurt, Miss Shapland gained several "sisters", one of which, "for a span of time, was my greatest friend."

While visiting a German school, she noted there was very little class discipline, many of the boys wore very long hair and the teachers changed classrooms instead of the students.

"Their English class was amazing," recalled Miss Shapland. "They spoke perfectly; it was as though I was back in the United States."

Soon after arriving in Schweinfurt, the travelers were welcomed by the mayor and civic leaders at a formal reception which "loosened up" as the hour grew later, eventually finding Patty playing the piano and her friend, Judy, performing on the guitar. As the weeks quickly passed, there were many more informal parties with people of her own age.

And when it was over?

"I could never remember all of the little things I learned every day," said Miss Shapland, "and possibly, the most important things will be beyond my own comprehension for a while. I did learn that no matter what the country or language, people are people. They eat, sleep, feel and have their own beliefs just as I do. I learned that communication comes, not just from speech, but from the ability of two people to understand each other through a sensitivity stemming from a mutual will to love and comprehend the other. God cannot be left at home to sit and wait until you return."

A Time For Travel

"I was fortunate to have the chance to compare different civilizations," said Elizabeth Lipscombe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack W. Lipscombe, 2404 Allendale, in regard to her summer spent in Africa, and the return trip, which included visits to France and England.

Miss Lipscombe received her trip as a graduation gift from her parents, and it was made more enjoyable by the hospitality of friends, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Alan Gindoff, formerly of Webb Air Force Base, who now live in Fort Lamy, Republic of Chad, Africa. Miss Lipscombe is a graduate of Big Spring High School where Mrs. Gindoff taught speech and English while her husband was stationed here with the Air Force. He is now serving as military attache in Chad.

Miss Lipscombe left here in June, soon arriving in Chad to find a climate and terrain similar to Big Spring. Chad has two seasons, "hot and wet" and "hot and dry." The majority of inhabitants are Arabs and Serras, and there is a civil war going on now in the North. She found the conditions primitive; houses made of mud bricks or grass (whichever was most plentiful), and the dress was a traditional long, loose robe with colorful sash and a hat or turban for the men.

"The women all wore bright African print bolts of cloth wrapped around again and again to make a dress and a hood over the head," said Miss Lipscombe. "Babies are tied onto the back with a width of cloth, and loads are carried on the head." All the men wore a type of sling over one shoulder with a large knife under the arm.

A special excursion remembered by Miss Lipscombe was to the zoo (owned by the local slaughter-house) where she saw fascinating animals, including water buffalo "which tracks man to kill." Later, she toured Kondul and the Israeli farm where they teach the Chadians to raise chickens and cows. In the afternoons, she rode her host's Arabian stallion or took walks into the brush along the XChari River, visiting nearby villages.

"On one occasion I went on an elephant and hippo hunt with a French family," she continued, "and another interesting day was spent at Loumia-Lagone, a village completely surrounded by mud walls which were built hundreds of years ago as defense against the invaders from Cameroon. The interior is a maze designed to trap the enemy, and I was told the tribe is cannibalistic."

Social affairs included a cocktail party at the home of U.S. Ambassador John Todman and his wife, as well as the German Embassy, and dinner parties with various French, Israeli and Chadian officials.

Miss Lipscombe explained that there has been a cholera epidemic in Chad, that everyone is instructed to boil water and that the French are attempting to educate the natives in regard to matters of health. Water in swimming pools is changed every two days.

Mrs. Gindoff and her son, Alan, accompanied Miss Lipscombe on a trip to the French Riviera where they stayed in the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Max Esmerand and visited various port cities including Nice and Cannes. At Monte Carlo, there was a tour of the casino and palace.

London presented a different face — the theater, riding in Hyde Park, watching the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace. Paris had a personality all its own; a beautiful city that retains the past and enjoys the present.

"There were so many steps we called one tour 'the day of 3,000 stairsteps,'" laughed Miss Lipscombe.

Now that the delightful summer trip is over, Miss Lipscombe is hoping to go abroad again, perhaps through an exchange study program for students.

SEEKING RISK-FREE CONTRACEPTIVES

Population Pressure Igniting Explosion Of Research

Editor's Note: Worry about the long-term safety of the pill has spurred scientists in their search for a risk-free contraceptive. On the horizon — minipills, morning-after pills and operations to reverse sterilization. The following second of two articles by AP Science Editor Alton Blakeslee on Contraception '72 details these new developments.

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
AP Science Editor

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Population pressure is igniting an explosion of research—fueled by imagination and dollars—to develop new and completely safe and effective methods of birth control.

It promises new pills beyond the present pill, and improved devices, and it is prompting a volunteer army of men to undergo sterilization, with future promise of sterilization techniques, for men and women, that could be reversed if people later decided they wanted children.

And totally unexpected discovered may turn up.

"The research people are quite imaginative these days. Many of their proposals look quite interesting, with good ideas for drugs and sterlization techniques," says Dr. Philip A. Corfman, director of the Center for Population Research of the National Institute of Child Health and Human Development here.

The center spent $28.1 million this fiscal year to support population research.

Some spur to expanded research stems from worry about long-term safety of the pill, with authorities disagreeing whether the increased risk associated, for example, with blood clotting warrants turning from the pill. A majority of experts seem to think not, at least until something as effective as the pill comes along.

The three main avenues of research into new methods of birth control involve drugs, sterilization, and devices.

On new drugs:

Studies of basic physiology, of what happens in the various intricacies in the mechanisms of human reproduction, will bring insights for new drugs or other techniques for use by men as well as women, some authorities think. Some such findings will also assist childless couples to at least to be able to conceive.

Meanwhile, research is well advanced on a small number of new drug candidates.

One is the minipill, containing only a small amount of the female hormone, progesterone, and free of the estrogen which is blamed for causing the clotting tendency in the current pill. The experiments include putting a year's supply of progesterone in a Silastic capsule, which is implanted under the skin, there to release a tiny amount of hormone daily.

Another is the forning-after pill, a large dose of estrogen or progestin which apparently acts to prevent a fertilized egg from becoming implanted in the wall of the uterus or womb. It's been called effective even if taken a few days after insemination has occurred. Undesired side effects are a hurdle to its general use.

Other researchers report high promise from injections of hormones once every three or six months.

Still others have synthesized the brain hormone that sets in motion the cycle of release of hormones essential in ovulation, the menstrual cycle, and maintenance of a pregnancy. Now they hope to make a false substitute for this releasing factor, as it is called, that would prevent the pituitary gland from sending out its hormone instructions.

And there's keen interest in hormone-like substances known as prostaglandins, which have been used to induce early or late abortions, by infusion into a vein, or to induce labor when a woman is near term.

Sterilization:

Last year, 750,000 men voluntarily underwent sterilization by vasectomy, the severing of tubes through which sperm travel, and about 75 per cent of people volunteering for surgical sterilization now are men, says the Association for Voluntary Sterilization.

A simplified operation for women, with instruments inserted through two tiny incisions in the abdomen, sever the fallopian tubes—pathways of eggs coming from the ovaries—and involves only a few hours time in a hospital.

Hopefully, new research will produce techniques that could be reversed with a later change of mind. One possibility is to block the male or female tubes with plugs that could be removed.

Devices:

New kinds of mechanical devices that would prevent the mating of sperm and egg are proposed in some of the contract studies, but details have as yet to be kept confidential since they involve propriety rights.

Intrauterine devices:

IUD's have found some increasing popularity, and improvements in design, with one major development the discovery by Dr. Jaime Zipper of the University of Chile that the element copper exerts an antifertility effect.

So copper has been added to two types of IUD's—one a "T" shape, the other a "7". Dr. Howard J. Tatum of the Population Council, who designed the copper-containing T, says it appears as effective in contraceptive action as the pill itself.

Miss Awtry Marries Melvin Lee Mason

(Photo Associates)

MRS. MELVIN LEE MASON

Marriage rites for Miss Debra Kay Awtry and Melvin Lee Mason were performed in a candlelight ceremony at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at the Baptist Temple, with the Rev. James A. Puckett presiding.

The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums, highlighted with palms of greenery. Completing the setting were branched candelabra with white tapers.

Music was provided by Mrs. Pat Grigg, organist, and Mrs. Gorman Rainey, vocalist.

The couple's parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Mason, Route 1, Box 364, Big Spring, and Mrs. Joe L. Awtry, 1604 Johnson, and the late Mr. Awtry.

The bride was attired in a formal white organza gown with wedding ring collar and full bishop sleeves banded at the cuff with satin ribbon. The Empire bodice was of pearled Chantilly lace, and matching lace accented the A-line skirt and chapel-length train. A Juliet headpiece held her long mantilla which was edged in lace, and she carried a cascade of feathered white carnations centered with a white orchid.

ATTENDANTS

Serving her sister as maid of honor was Miss Kathy Awtry, and Miss Marsha McCraney was bridesmaid. Both attendants wore full-length purple satin crepe gowns, fashioned Empire-style and trimmed with orchid velvet ribbon. Matching circlet hats held their veils, and each carried a colonial bouquet in shades of lavender and purple.

Marvin L. Wright of San Angelo was best man, and Tommy Rutledge was groomsman. Serving as ushers were Bruce Kemper of Midland and Jimmy Wright.

Mishell Fuller, the flower girl, wore a gown identical to those of the bride's attendants, and Rendell Rainey of Coahoma was ring bearer.

A reception at the church honored the couple following the ceremony. A white taffeta cloth overlaid with net covered the refreshment table which was centered with an arrangement of assorted white and purple flowers on a branched candelabraum. The tiered cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom, and crystal and silver appointments were used.

Serving were Miss Cynthia Hughes and Miss Linda Steadman, while Miss Carol Newton presided at the guest register.

The bride is a senior at Big Spring High School. Mason graduated from Coahoma High School and presently attends Howard County Junior College. He is employed by Cosden Oil and Chemical Company and plans later to attend Texas Tech University.

GUESTS

Attending the ceremony from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ditto, Kermit; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Awtry, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Gray, all of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Treadway, Mrs. Bruce Kemper and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Crenwelge, all of Midland; Stanton Johnson, El Paso; Mrs. W. A. Woody, Fort Worth; Mrs. Mollie Crawford, West Monroe, La.; and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Newton, Hobbs, N.M.

A rehearsal dinner was held Friday evening at Coker's Restaurant, hosted by the bridegroom's parents. The table was centered with an arrangement of purple and lavender flowers. About 20 attended.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

This might be of help to mothers who are interested in making sure that they are serving nutritious meals to their family.

Some years ago I picked up this idea and it has proved very beneficial to me and gives me peace of mind about my family's health.

I count up how many eggs my family should consume in a week — purchase that number and at the end of the week if they aren't used, I prepare something that uses a lot of eggs.

I decide how many green vegetables are necessary to serve each person in the family, the daily amount required, and put that many containers in my basket. I also do the same for other foods that are important for good health.

To determine these amounts, just pick up a copy of the basic four or basic seven food guides — one source of this guide is your county extension service. I found the basic seven guide more helpful because it spells out in more detail the individual food needs.

With this plan, I can combine the foods so easily by simply looking in my freezer and on my shelf, knowing they need to be used by the end of the week, and yet I can be flexible and prepare those my time allows me . . . I find it is such a simple matter to do it in this way.

Casseroles are a good, easy way to camouflage those less preferred vegetables.

I truly believe the old saying that you are what you eat . . . Concerned Mother

Dear Heloise:

Ever since our last child was born three months ago, I've been thinking that I could have really used your advice in solving the problems I had managing our household during the last weary weeks of pregnancy . . . and the early weeks at home with a new baby.

I feel sure that you have some wonderful ideas. Just think what a marvelous thing it would be for all the new mothers (as well as some that are not so new but who are still open for suggestions).

I do so hope you will help out us new mothers.

We need you!. Mrs. V.P.

You're an old sweetie!

But, you know — I'm 51 and my children are grown. So that's one subject I'm not well versed in — in this day and my age.

Amazing how we forget!

So come on, gals. Give it some thought while making your beds or doing the laundry. These new moms can really use your sage advice.

Kick off your shoes, grab a cup of coffee, lick that old blunt-tipped pencil and get that "know-how" down on a post card. Then send it to me, in care of this paper and consider yourselves "fairy godmothers" — those gals who so desperately need your help certainly will. . . . Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint in the skin-care department:

If you are looking for a quick and easy method of keeping your hair back off your face when removing make-up, you'll be interested in this:

I find it's much handier than using clips, scarves, etc. Just get an inexpensive plastic headband (like little girls wear). They look a lot like the old-fashioned bicycle clips.

It slips on and off in an instant and doesn't tend to muss your hairdo as other methods may. . . . Mrs. D.J.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

Mud, or grease, or nice fresh tar —

That's where all your children are! . . . Mrs. M.W.M.

* * *

Dear Heloise:

In our home, we consider galvanized garbage cans as GREAT!

My husband's business has demanded we move a lot and these cans are just wonderful to use for heavy objects.

I happened to find this out so we bought a number of them and use them for every move.

The movers we've had have been so happy about this and say the handles make things easier to lift. . . . Mrs. C.L.W.

Dear Heloise:

When sending congratulations or sympathy cards to friends, I enclose the newspaper clipping of the event with the card.

Sometimes an extra copy is need for a relative . . . Mrs. W. A. Hostetler

Wedding Solemized In Baptist Temple

(Frank Brandon Photography)

MRS. BRUCE A. LOVE

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce A. Love are on a wedding trip to Galveston following their marriage Friday evening in the Baptist Temple. The Rev. James A. Puckett performed the ceremony before a wedding arch flanked with candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and blue pompon mums. Mrs. C. B. Underwood was organist.

The bride is the former Ellen Denise Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Hicks, 1301 Monmouth, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Love, La Salle, N. C.

The bride was attired in a formal gown of white bridal satin overlaid with Chantilly lace. The Empire waist was marked by white satin appliqued with lace flowers and crystal beading, and the Camelot sleeves were ruffled at the wrists. The A-line skirt was complemented by a satin train with a scalloped lace edging and appliques of lace and beads. Her flower headniece held an elbow-length veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white carnations with English ivy and showers of picot ribbon.

The maid of honor was Miss Lee Ann Herndon, and bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Hammon and Miss Donna Ervin. They were identically attired in pale blue dotted Swiss gowns styled similar to the bride's, with brief puffed sleeves. They wore matching garden hats with daisy trim and carried colonial bouquets of daisies in assorted colors.

BEST MAN

The bridegroom's father served as best man, and groomsmen were Steve Austin and Gene Lee.

During a reception held in the fellowship hall of the church refreshments were served by Miss Patricia Hicks and Miss Charla Hicks. Miss Romona Austin was at the guest registry.

The table was covered with a white crocheted cloth with tulle skirt, and appointments were of crystal and silver. The wedding bouquets formed the centerpiece, and the wedding cake was topped with doves and a miniature bride and groom.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Hicks, all of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Eppler, Ozona; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hicks, Brownwood; and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Graves and Miss Georgia L. Anderson, all of Oklahoma City, Okla.

REHEARSAL DINNER

A rehearsal dinner, hosted by the bridegroom's parents, was held Thursday evening at Holiday Inn.

The bride graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Howard County Junior College. Love, a graduate of William B. Travis High School, Austin, is a telegraph operator for the Texas and Pacific Railway. The couple will reside in Big Spring.

Registration Nearing For Scout Members

Girls who wish to participate in the Big Spring area Girl Scout program are being reminded that the area-wide Registration Night is Aug. 30.

At that time, girls will need to sign up and pay their national dues. Parents will need to accompany their daughters to sign necessary permission, and troop leaders will be present to collect fees and receive the girls into their troops.

Current memberships expire in December, and all girls who were in troops last year will need to sign up, as national dues will be collected at this time to insure registration through December, 1972. New girls will pay a full 18-month registration fee.

The registration areas Monday evening will be as follows:

Girls and parents from the Marcy and Airport schools will register at the Scout Hut on Webb Air Force Base between 7:30 a.m. and 9 p.m. (Different collection procedures will be used for these girls.) Coahoma area girls will report to the elementary school cafeteria in Coahoma between 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Girls and parents in all other ares should go to the Howard County Junior College cafeteria between 7:30 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Women Tell Reasons For Equality March

NEW YORK (AP) — As the ranks of feminists came up Fifth Avenue, tucked amid the marchers were Eleanor Tilson, a divorced career woman, her mother and two teen-aged sons.

They had come out on a warm summer evening to support the 1971 Women's March for Equality.

Each member of the family agreed that women need to be liberated. And they had their own personal views about why.

"I didn't used to be very good about wanting women to move ahead," said Mrs. Tilson, 44, an effusive brunette who administers $12 million in pension and medical funds for the United Department Storeworkers Union. "I was afraid to be called 'that pushy woman.'

"But lately," she added, "we've had more discussion in our union about women's lib. I've been looking around and seeing the needs in our organization. Eighty per cent of our members are women. And most of the top leaders are men. I think it should be possible for women to move into these areas."

For her mother, Rose Frank, a 73-year-old sprightly veteran of the hunger and rent strikes of the 1930s, the 6,000 marchers Thursday brought back memories.

"It looks like old times," she said. "I only regret I'm not young again to participate more actively in this movement."

A former sewing machine operator and trade union activist, Mrs. Frank admitted she had left some supper at home for her husband before coming out to march.

Mrs. Tilson got married still in college and quit to help put her husband through school. Ten years later the couple was divorced—"a civilized divorce," Mrs. Tilson said.

So Mrs. Tilson went back to work and raised her family.

"I identify so strongly with women's lib here. There is such a desperate need for day care centers. I don't know how I did it."

Mrs. Frank explained how: "I was the day care center," she said.

And then there were Daniel, 14, and Andrew, 16, who call Mrs. Frank "the hippest grandmother of them all."

"I have to recognize that girls are my equals," said Danny, a husky 10th grader with shoulder-length hair who learned to darn socks and stitch patches in his sewing class last year.

Andy said the main point of the march was "to get women some political power."

"And women's liberation will lead to the liberation of both sexes. Now, society defines our roles so rigidly," Andy explained.

"For instance, I really like children. But men aren't supposed to, so if I wanted to run a nursery I'd probably get a lot of trouble."

TIME FOR A BREATHER — Mr. and Mrs. Phil Irwin pause for a few minutes of relaxation between the task of getting organized in a new home and in new jobs. He is athletic trainer at the high school, and she teaches at College Heights Elementary. In their spare time they enjoy working on projects at home, having recently rewoven and repainted the wicker chairs shown.

Newcomers Increase Academic Community

By BARBARA LORD

For the first time in their four years of marriage, the Phil Irwins are setting up housekeeping in their own home. Until moving to Big Spring about a month ago, the Irwins always lived in apartments, but they recently bought a home at 3202 Drexel.

Some of the benefits of being a tenant rather than an owner became apparent to the Irwins when they began pricing refrigeratiors, washers, dryers, stoves and furniture. But they enjoy refinishing and remodeling, so it shouldn't take too long to get their home the way they want it.

The arrival of the Irwins brought two additions to the city school system. He is the athletic trainer at Big Spring High School, and Mrs. Irwin (D'Maris) is a fifth grade teacher at College Heights Elementary School.

DECORATING

Although busy with pre-school activities since their arrival, they have managed to get relatively settled in their new home. Mrs. Irwin's domestic and artistic talents are already evident in the Early American effect she plans for their home. In the kitchen a wall has been redone with a rustic shingle covering and is decorated with many pieces of her handiwork. Some of her hobbies include decoupaging, chalk art, antiquing and decorative painting and sewing.

Mrs. Irwin made a simulated slanted roof over the shower and tub area in one bathroom, giving it the appearance of an old well house. Plans for other rooms have now taken second place to school activities, but between sports events, lesson planning, and grading papers, they have many more improvements planned.

The Irwins enjoy all sports, but topping the list is water skiing. They have their own boat and plan to spend as much time at Lake Brownwood as possible. He also likes to fish.

The couple is looking forward to a long stay in Big Spring. They said they have found the townspeople to be extremely gracious and friendly, and hope to get to know its people and places better.

TEXAS WESTERN

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin met in El Paso where both attended Texas Western College. He studied health, physical education and biology, and she studied elementary education and sociology. Both are native Texans. She was reared in Cleburne where they were married, and he was reared in the Odessa area. This is Irwin's first year of teaching, having spent two years in the National Guard. Mrs. Irwin taught previously in New Mexico and Odessa.

Everyone is invited to attend an old fashion revival beginning August 25 through Sept. 1. Bethel Assembly of God, (Flower Grove) 8 P.M. with Evangelist Clymena Bowling of Tucson, Arizona.

Sister Bowling has spent about 17 years pastoring churches. The last seven years have been spent in evangelistic work. She has ministered overseas in Rome and Milan, Italy, and Jerusalem, Tiberias, Israel. It has been her privilege to visit Lebanon; Syria; Jordan; Greece; London, England; Cario, Egypt; and Paris, France. Plus preaching revivals throughout the states.

God has given her an outstanding annointed ministry to meet every need in your life. Sick are made well — many confess salvation. Believers are filled with the Holy Ghost and power. Youth are finding an answer to their problems through God's power, under this woman's ministry.

Special singing and music will be an enjoyable feature in each service.

Come witness the moving of the spirit of God in these services.

A GROWING FASHION? — Jeff Geller of Mark Cross, a Fifth Avenue leather good store, models a shoulder bag for men, for which the store reports sales of between 300 and 500 since last Christmas. It's a 10-inch-by-12-inch hard leather copy of an Italian map case. There is some speculation now whether the men's shoulder bag will become a mass market item, or whether it is just a fad among high fashion types in big urban populations.

Shoulder Purse Fad May Set New Style

NEW YORK (AP) — Men who've been laughing for years at jokes about the contents of women's purses are finding the pocketbook is on the other shoulder.

Slowly, but surely, the idea of pocketbooks—or at least shoulder bags—for men is catching on among conservative as well as mod types.

It's still a fad. And it's still limited to the big cities and to the same men who were the first to wear wide ties and fitted suits.

The whole thing started because of the changing styles of men's clothes. When suits started getting closer to the body, men found themselves with no place to put things.

"Clothes today are so tight you can't put anything in your pockets without ruining the line," said the men's buyer for one department store. "If you want to carry a wallet and a little change around, it makes a bulge."

A spokesman for another store agreed. "As men's suits have become closer to the body and better fitting, there is no place for men to stuff their pockets with change and cigarettes and spectacles. A man will never admit to himself that he has to carry around anything, but he does."

Just what do men carry around in their shoulder bags?

A 37-year-old man who works for a stock brokerage opened his brown suede bag to disclose: wallet, credit card case, comb, brush, handkerchief, keys, cough drops, sunglasses, cigarettes, notepad and aftershave lotion.

Another man, 28 and employed by an insurance company, included a small shoe polish kit, a sandwich and an apple in his bag.

A spokesman for Mark Cross, the Fifth Avenue leathergoods store, said the shoulder bags began selling last Christmas. Since then the store has sold between 300 and 500 of its basic bag—a 10-inch-by-12-inch hard leather copy of an Italian map case retailing for $70. Other styles are available for from $50 to $120.

Terrence Ryan, buyer of men's fashion wear for the 1,700-stre J.C. Penney chain, said the bags are popular only with "a very small segment of the population, most of them in the big cities where you have high fashion type of people."

Latest Fad Is Real 'Eyecatcher'

The designers think the wide, wide belt that is now beginning to be seen on the fashion scene will be the next fashion fad. The most popular version seen on the models is the "eye" style. Large eyes painted on the belt all the way around. Painted with black outline and eyelashes, white eyes and blue or brown centers. A new way to dress the waist and this style a sure "eyecatcher"!

Men's Styles Tied Up With Scarfs, Ascots

In keeping with the boom in blazers, both scarfs and ascots are a natural for neckline fillers. So they tie-up the fashion look in a myriad of ways. The ascot appears in many fabrics from crisp twill and taffeta to lustrous satin, sometimes a solid block of color in the burnished shades of autumn, sometimes in tiny foulards reminiscent of a man's necktie and other times in an amusing pattern such as a spattering of tiny stars across a one-color ground.

Particularly effective and very much a "now" look is the mixture of the printed ascot with a plaid or tweed blazer jacket. The scarf that is meant to spice the tailored apparel of day ranges in size from a 24-inch square to tuck softly inside a shirt neckline to the 28-inch and 32-inch squares that lend themselves to many twists of tying and the oblong that this year enjoys a renaissance.

Again, their patterning follows a classic line as exemplified by tartan plaids, plaided stripes, herringbones, district checks, men's wear foulards and paisleys with a new flavor of the seventies. Here too, the marriage of patterned scarf with patterned apparel is an effective ploy, while the addition of a scarf at the neckline of a multi-layered clothes combo is an accessory reiteration of fashion's put-ons, circa fall '71.

A LOVELIER YOU

Silence Better Than Trite Conversations

By MARY SUE MILLER

If you have ever sat on the veranda of a resort hotel, you will appreciate this quote from Somerset Maugham: "The human race would soon lose the use of speech, if nobody spoke unless he had something to say."

Of course, the hotel veranda does not have a corner on the looks-like-rain brand of conversation. There's at least one person in every gathering who sounds like a broken record. You wonder about her repertory of ideas and tune out.

The problem can of course be a lack of ideas. It can also be a lack of word-power, the ability to express oneself in interesting terms. Speech experts have found that Americans are exposed to 25,000 words in the course of ordinary schooling, but use only 1,000. Slang, carelessness and lazy habits are to blame. Most of us would benefit from digging into the old schoolbag for those unused words.

In addition to banal conversationalists, listeners avoid the non-stop talker. Particularly the male contingent. Incessant chatter, however entertaining, tires the ears. But it seems that some women dread a pause in conversation, finding it awkward.

Well, my Lovelies, a period of quiet is ideal music for a summer night — for a beautiful evening at any season. Listen, and you shall hear!

Wedding Rings Irritate Skin

The popular wide wedding bands, because they cover so much skin and reduce ventilation, sometimes cause skin irritation and swelling. Harsh detergents in the dish water or laundry water add to the problem.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Schaedel, 2319 Allendale, announce the engagement of their daughter, Lynn Elizabeth, to Curtis Hunter Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Clemon Scott of San Angelo. The couple plans a Dec. 20 ceremony in the home of the bride-elect's parents, with the Rev. James Collier officiating.

Teen Mittens

Teens find enchanting wooly tam-o'shanters and mittens they would never have worn when they were little. Knitting their own is fun for summertime-leisure hours.

Visionaries, Revolutionaries Will Welcome Nixon To China To Promote Own Interests

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — The China Richard Nixon will see is poor but proud, puritanical though proletarian, and passionately nationalistic. It is a complex country run by complicated people.

The point too often overlooked is that the present-day rulers of China are Chinese. That means they think differently, have different motivations and react to given situations in ways often puzzling to the West.

As if this were not enough, they also are Marxists steeped in the vague doctrines of materialist philosophy and wedded to language which frequently makes little sense to outsiders.

The man the American President will talk to in Peking, Premier Chou En-lai, is one of the paradoxes of a paradoxical nation. A patrician-turned-revolutionary, he excudes charm, wit and old-fashioned Chinese courtesy. But behind the velvet there is iron.

The fact that Chou — not Mao Tse-tung, the recognized leader of the People's Republic — will by carrying on the conversations with Nixon is a further example of the perplexing nature of Chinese communism.

For 36 years, Mao has dominated the Chinese Communist party. It was he who first perceived the possibilities of China's peasants in advancing the cause of communism. By employing them against the Nationalists in the civil war of 1945-49, he conquered China. Had he failed he would have been branded a Marxist heretic by Joseph Stalin. Marxist doctrine said that the workers, not the peasants, should be in the forefront of revolution. Victorious, Mao became a Chinese oracle, and in his old age — he now is 77 — a demigod.

His power arises from his post as chairman of the Communist party, a position he has held since 1935. The party is China's ultimate authority. It maps out the nation's economic, cultural, political, scientific and military course. No major decision can be made that it has not already approved.

But Mao is not China's head of state, as Nixon is the United States'. Neither is Chou En-lai. Mao once held that position, but was ousted in 1959 by white-haired, saturnine Liu Shao-chi. From 1966 to 1969 Mao shook up China in the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution. Its aim was to purge Liu and stop what he called the drift toward capitalism. Now Liu is in disgrace, perhaps imprisoned, and there is no Chinese chief of state to sit down with Nixon.

So Chou is the man. A moderate, his prestige has soared since the cultural purge.

Premier since the republic's start, Chou rates high as a diplomat. Handsome in a swarthy way, good-humored and reasonable, he is China's best salesman. But he also is a master of intrigue, of the secret move, of insurrection by stealth. When the combined Communist-Nationalist armies moved on Shanghai in 1927 in their campaign against the Chinese warlords, the slender, 28-year-old Chou preceded them into the great port city. He organized the workers who seized the police stations, the arsenal and the military headquarters. Chiang Kai-shek, at the head of the revolutionary force, marched in without a fight.

When Chiang, anxious to placate the bankers and industrialists of Shanghai whose financial backing he needed, turned savagely on the Communists a month later, Chou became a man with a price on his head.

A veteran of the "long march" retreat of 6,000 miles from east China to the northwest in 1935-36; Communist representative to postwar talks with Chiang and with the U.S. mediator, Gen. George C. Marshall; star of the 1954-55 Bandung and Geneva conferences, and now the moving force behind the new "Ping Pong diplomacy," it is apparent that Chou is no ordinary diplomat-politician. For him, the name of the game is survival, not only personally but for his special image of China.

In the political power structure, the No. 2 man is Lin Pio, the party vice chairman and Mao's designated successor. A vice premier and minister of defense, he runs the armed forces, puts in his time as an apprentice oracle, if not demigod. The latter niche is reserved for Mao alone.

Chou, wth the army's backing, runs China's day-to-day affairs. He has his finger on nearly every pulse, as Nixon's security aide, Henry Kissinger, learned during their Peking talks. And he knows, obviously, how to keep a secret. There will be no leaks of the "Secret Peking Papers" from his establishment. Since the 11-word communique issued from Peking July 16, there hasn't been a word from Chou, or anyone else in China, on the coming summit.

What has impelled Mao and the Chinese to make a total about-face in their long hostile policy toward the United States? The answer, to some extent, is the Chinese economy. The fourth five-year plan has just got under way. Mao needs five years of peace, a halt in the drain on Chinese resources being made by the Vietnam war and just possibly some technical know-how from the nation which has much of it — the United States.

The Chinese are the first to admit that they are poor and backward. Though Nixon may be shown examples of Chinese industrial achievements — and they are considerable — he will be able to note for himself the depressed level of existence of the Chinese peasant, the drabness of the cities, the uniformly low quality of dress, the absence of automobiles, the paucity of luxuries and the primitive living conditions of China's workers.

Chinese Communist pride is old and new: A consciousness of the brilliant 3,000-year-old civilization they have inherited, an awareness that they have in 22 years accomplished much.

What are their accomplishments? The overriding one is their success in keeping 720 million Chinese alive despite the buffeting of nature, the mistakes of inexperience, the hostility of their old friend and present-day enemy, the Soviet Union, and the Internal chaos they themselves have periodically created. That there have been hunger and malnutrition in the lean years since the republic was proclaimed is undeniable. But famine appears basically to have been removed from the list of scourges which once raged China's good earth, leaving millions dead in its wake.

Another enormous success has been scored in the field of public health and hygiene. It will be visible to Nixon — even though he has never been to China before — in the spotless streets, the scarcity of flies, the absence of garbage, rubbish and litter, and the apparent cleanliness of the people themselves. He will see "barefoot doctors" — trained medical workers who attend to the long-neglected ills of the peasantry-modern hospitals and clinics.

All this is astonishing to the visitor able to recall the verminous houses, the flies clustering on exposed meat in front of the butcher shops, the diseased beggars, the filth-choked alleys and the endemic illnesses of the past. Drugs, doctors and nurses remain in short supply, but the progress is remarkable.

The list of projects under way or completed is a growing one: harnessing the rivers, including the Yellow River, dubbed "China's Sorrow" because of its periodic and disastrous flooding; irrigating and reclaiming the land; building new rail lines and roads; throwing enormous bridges across the Yangtze, erecting new industrial complexes.

Militarily — and this is an area less likely to win applause from its neighbors — China has leaped ahead. Though its 2,500,000-man army wear no insignias of rank, it is still steeped in Mao's guerrilla tradition and puts "man before the weapon." It has a nuclear punch. Since 1964, China, has tested a series of nuclear weapons, including the hydrogen bomb, and may well be on the verge of launching its first intercontinental ballistic missile.

The army is like few others anywhere. It not only trains to fight but engages in production, running its own farms and factories. This is Mao's idea, a carryover from the old Red army. The previous defense minister, Peng Teh-huai, wanted a professional non-worker army, backed by Soviet aid, and got purged in 1959 for his pains.

Against these pluses there are many minuses. To pull China up by its own bootstraps, Mao has had to deprive China's millions of freedoms Westerners regard as paramount. He has had to knock individuality in the head; in China it is a nasty word equated with selfishness, lack of the team spirit and going it alone.

The Chinese of 1971 have been poured into narrow molds of conformism. Their lives are not theirs to live alone. They are screws in the larger machine, functioning unseen and in small ways to make it run smoothly.

Though the Chinese over the centuries have produced some brilliantly imaginative individuals, conformity is a more prevalent heritage. For 2,100 years, Chinese emperors ruled free of revolution thanks to the teachings of Confucius who preached conformity. By insisting on a system of loyalties — of sons to fathers, wives to husbands, younger brothers to elder brothers, and subject to emperor — he froze China's classes like a fly fixed in unchangeable amber.

China's last Confucianist was Chiang Kai-shek, who took over the ruling Kuomintang party after the death in 1925 of Sun Yat-sen, the man who overthrew the emperor system and brought China into the ranks of the republics.

In conquering Chiang, Mao swept aside the Confucian ethic. But old habits persisted. His task was to alter the old loyalties by breaking up the family and substituting for it the Communist party and himself.

Mao seeks to widen Chinese horizons. He encourages the peasant to look beyond his rice paddy and into the neighbor's. He stresses the need for cooperation not only with the group in the next valley, but in the distant province and the even more distant nation.

The process has been a slow one. The thinking of 2,000 years does not change easily or quickly.

The price of conformity is high. Nixon will preceive it. It is paid in the coin of total obedience, total dedication and total regimentation.

Applied to art and culture, the effect has been deadening. It cannot escape the visiting President's notice. The great art of China is in the museums. That created today rises not much higher than propaganda. It is inhibited by Mao's dictum that there must be no art for art's sake, that all of it must be written for and preferably by the peasants and workers. Worst of all, it must have a message and a moral: the virtues of communism, the suffering and privation of the past, the near paradise of the Communist present. In time, it may produce new geniuses, but that seems a long way off.

Underlying all this is a strange kind of Marxist puritanism. Sex, romance, love and the pleasanter vices are condemned. They interfere with production, clog the road to socialism.

Nixon could well ask Chou what to do about the drug problem. Once known as a nation of opium smokers, China today has no major narcotics problem. Control is the answer, both of men and the movement of goods.

Gambling is out, and so, too, is organized crime. Drinking and eating, the latter in undiminished magnificence, have survived. So have sports of all varieties, with the exception, perhaps, of the Nixon favorite, baseball.

This, in sum, is the nation and the men Nixon will deal with. Visionaries with a wide oral streak, revolutionaries who know how to alternate between the gun and the Ping Pong table in seeking to promote their interests, they will test him to the limit. That, for them, is the name of the game.

Our Faltering State Governments

Whatever the outcome of current inquiries into the bank-insurance loan-stock scandals, the disclosures so far seem to acknowledge that Texans have taken too much for granted for much too long a time. The legislature has been charged with drafting and funding multibillion-dollar state programs under severe handicaps. A heavyhanded lobby has come to be accepted as necessary for a variety of purposes.

Lobbyists can be legitimate and extremely useful. Often their role is to prevent legislation, frequently unwise or even harmful legislation. Sometimes a lobby will be organized to support clearly needed and useful legislation. The difference between legitimate and inappropriate lobbying is frequently ignored.

The current inquiry reveals some attitudes that never excited the leadership in Austin until the Securities and Exchange Commission started filing lawsuits. Those attitudes were that favors made available to leaders in exchange for favorable treatment of certain legislation is an acceptable way of doing business. A few legislators have developed solid reputations for their palmsup approach to nearly all legislative business.

Fortunately, as Senate members showed this year, dudgeon is still alive and working when the system is openly and badly abused. The House finally got a committee poking among the embers to see what it can find that might be useful.

The scandals represent an incident that came to light. They define a symptom of state government that is fairly common in the country. Rural America was reasonably well served by part-time legislatures because most of the governing was done in towns and counties. Schools were locally financed and operated; roads were locally built; welfare was a local problem; police and health and other services were operated from the county courthouse with occasional advice from the statehouse and national capital.

That doesn't apply anymore. Indeed, the strongest pressure is to turn more government operations to Washington, even by-passing the statehouse. That is a premature trend. State governments ought to reorganize, starting with legislatures and including the executive branch. That means a new constitution for Texas, but that's been needed for a long-time.

The legislature in Texas is in better shape than in many states, which is faint praise. Just this year Texas legislators got reasonably-adequate office space. They have professional budget and research staffs. They may operate interim committees with expenses paid. Many states disallow that.

The legislature needs more time to do its work. That could be provided by annual sessions or longer regular sessions with binding deadlines for legislative progress.

Legislators ought to be compensated fairly for the responsibility they have. A part of that change ought to be appropriate disclosure of other financial arrangements and other possible conflicts of interest.

The executive branch should be more cohesive with much more central authority to match the responsibility assumed to be the governor's.

Places of responsibility in government ought to be their own rewards, with suitable salaries, and not a place where inappropriate temptations can be comfortable.

The Spoilers

SOUTH LAKE TAHOE, Calif. — The rush of the vacationists is still on with Labor Day and the start of school still far enough away to be ignored. Station wagons packed with kids, the big campers, the sleek sport cars pass in an unending stream around Lake Tahoe.

WHAT IS happening on the shores of this magnificent lake can be repeated a hundred times over across the country. The equation is simplicity itself: a priceless heritage out of the American past overwhelmed by sheer numbers and by the exploiters, the subdividers, the greedy boosters, the apostles of a progress grounded in the empty conviction that more and more is better and better.

Of the surviving pieces of the American past Lake Tahoe is unique. At an altitude of 6,228 feet, it is — or was — of extraordinary clarity, a sapphire blue mirroring in its 22 miles the mountains around it. Mark Twain in "Roughing It," his book on the gold rush days in Nevada and California, described his first encounter with Tahoe:

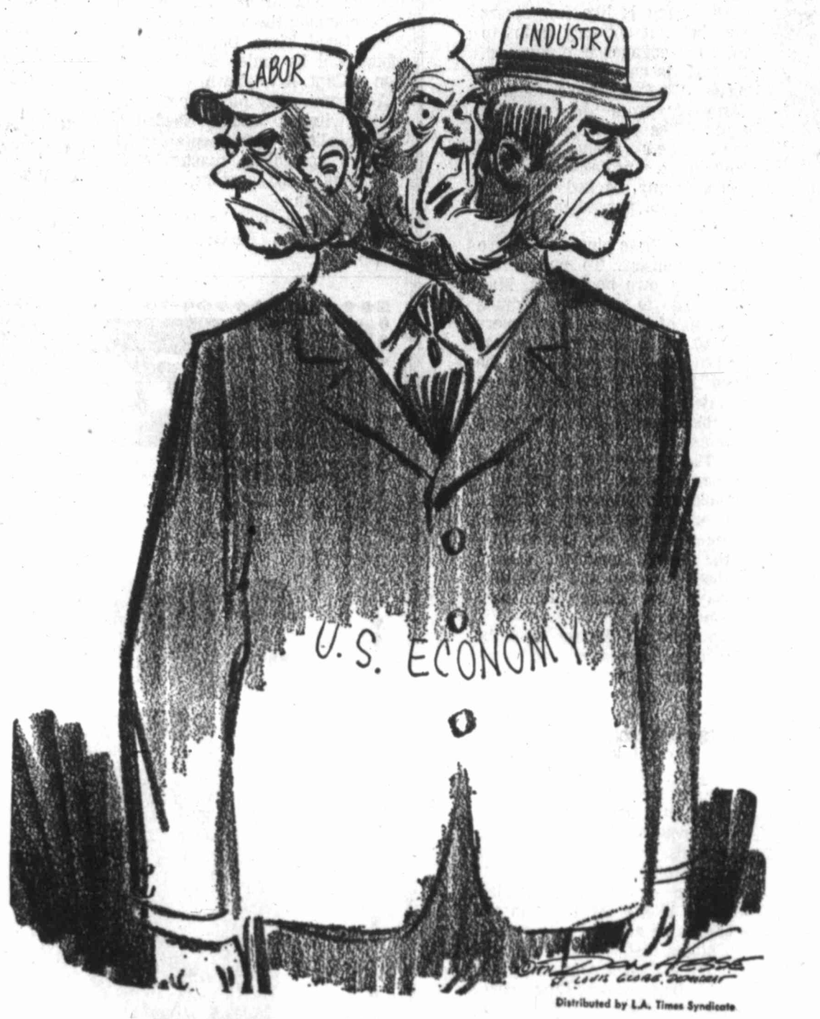

"WE PLODDED on . . . and at last the lake burst upon us — a noble sheet of blue water, walled in by a rim of snow-clad peaks that towered aloft full three thousand feet higher still! . . . As it lay there with the shadows of the mountains brilliantly photographed on its still surface, I thought it must surely be the fairest picture the whole earth affords."

THE PICTURE is today so overburdened with developments, condominiums, high-rise hotels, ever-expanding gambling casinos on the Nevada side, that Mark Twain would hardly recognize it. A determined effort is now being made to save what is left of the unspoiled shore line and put a brake on the bulldozers of the subdividers already silting up the more-developed areas. Whether it is not already too late is the question troubling conservationists and those who have long loved this unique treasure.

THE CRUX of the effort is in the California-Nevada bi-state compact ratified by Congress and charged with eventually enforcing it. But the plan eventually enforcing it. But theplan must be ratified by a commission of 10, of whom six represent county jurisdictions and real estate interests pushing for more and more. Thus far the Regional Planning Association has been conspicuously unsuccessful in clamping down on individual cases bound to be in violation of the plan eventually adopted.

EVERYWHERE across the country it is the same — whether it is in the continued slashing of the redwoods, the threat to Point Reyes in this state, the congestion on Cape Cod and Martha's Vineyard, the serious encroachments on Everglades National Park in Florida. Are we willing to tax ourselves to pay the price? Or are aircraft carriers and gathering of rocks on the moon more important than saving the American inheritance? You can hear the immortal auctioneer, "Going, going, gone. . . "

'NOW LOOK, FELLAS – WE NEED EACH OTHER'

Problem Of Labor

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Labor-union leaders are unwittingly giving the impression to many people that they do not understand the free enterprise system. For their demands that profits be frozen, especially at a time when the economy is in the midst of a recession, would mean curtailing the largest source of capital to expand industry and create jobs.

NUMEROUS corporations today are suffering losses or drastically reduced earnings, and to tell them that they can't make more profits is to deprive them of a way of restoring their equilibrium. Much of the big costs of production which have brought low profits to manufacturing enterprises has come from high wage rates. Increased prices, unfortunately, often have not resulted in a corresponding growth in sales needed not only to pay for rising expenses but also to leave a margin on the profit side. There would be little incentive in American business if profit-making were impaired.

THE ADMINISTRATION has called for a restraint upon the payment of dividends which it terms "voluntary," though businesses with rare exception probably will follow the wishes of the government. Lots of companies would be glad to be confronted with the problem of deciding what dividends to pay — for they have no profits at all.

UNION LABOR has succeeded in getting wage rates that are higher than ever before in history. The administration stood by and declined to impose wage and price control while some major industries were confronted with unprecedented rises in wage scales. Now, however, as inflation has not been curbed and the balance-of-payments deficit has forced a crisis in the monetary field, there is every reason to believe that the success of a reconstruction program is dependent more on the cooperation of labor and management in the levels of wages and prices that are maintained than on any of the other actions taken during the 90-day freeze.

UNION LABOR has raised the cost of production and forced prices upward in certain commodities to such an extent that foreign producers can readily compete in U. S. and world markets and cause big losses or trade in various American businesses. This dilemma is not going to be solved by holding down profits. It is directly related to the raises in wage scales insisted upon by labor and the higher prices that consequently must be proclaimed.

THERE HAS BEEN talk of more strikes and a possible extension of the government freeze. The administration is ready to take court action if the rules it has laid down are ignored. Congress favors the President's new program. It will pass whatever legislation is believed to be necessary to support the moves which have already been made.

PRESIDENT NIXON is confronted with the gravest of problems — how to curb inflation and put the economy back on its feet. Failure of the large labor unions to cooperate would be a serious obstacle to the administration's plans. It might result in new laws prohibiting all wage and price increases during national-emergency periods unless a federal commission is given power to deal with "selective" controls covering industries influenced by international or domestic factors which require special exemptions.

Market Responds To New Economy

By LINDA RUBEY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to surge in the aftermath of President Nixon's dramatic economic proposals as the rally rolled through its second week.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks mounted 27.24 points to 908.14 this past week. This brings the Dow up some 52 points since the rally began Aug. 16.

Big Board volume was 76.53 million shares this past week, compared with 105.28 million shares the previous week. The largest turnover during the week was Wednesday's 18.28 million shares. The smallest volume came on Friday when 12.5 million shares changed hands.

"The market's gain was all wrapped up with Nixon's new economic game plan," said John Smith, an analyst at Fahnestock & Co.

Smith noted the market received a great deal of encouragement from the success the new polices had already met with on the international front.

"It pleasantly surprised a lot of financial people to see the plan work so well. The plan was set up to force foreign currency devaluation, expecially with the yen, and it happened. So Nixon has accomplished part of his purpose in designing the program and this is encouraging to investors," Smith explained.

He also noted another plus for the market was the decline in short-term interest rates and speculation that long-term rates would go down somewhat further.

"Low interest rates and the availability of money are necessary to a higher market," he said.

Other analysts noted that blue chip stocks led the market.

"This is only natural because of the theory that the new economic plan will benefit them most," said Lucien Hooper, an analyst for W.E. Hutton & Co.

On Monday and Tuesday the market's willingness to respond gains. Analysts said this was because investors were encouraged that the dollar's decline in value abroad was not as great as many had feared.

"Many people had thought the dollar would go down as much as 15 per cent. Instead the worst was only about 7 per cent. This is very reassuring," said Robert Johnson, an analyst for Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis.

On Wednesday mild profit taking pressures set in and continued throughout the week. Analysts called the profit taking orderly and noted that the market's willingness to espond to even a small amount of good news indicated investors interest was still on the up side.

The Associated Press 60-stock average climbed 9.7 to 331.9 during the week. Standard & Poors' 500-stock index gained 2.15 to 100.48.

On the New York Stock Exchange advances led declines 1,247 to 455 among 1,844 issues traded. The market had 179 new yearly highs and 97 new lows.

The New York Stock Exchange index of some 1,300 common stocks rose 1.14 to 55.52.

The Week's Business

- Gain of 52 points shown since Aug. 16
- Plan working as to foreign currencies
- Dollar decline not as much as feared
- Interest rates due to drop further

Mexican Government Acquires Interest In Big Copper Mine

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican government paid $40 million Friday for 51 per cent interest in the Cananea Copper Mining Co.

The plant is a subsidary of the Anaconda Co.

A spokesman said payment will be made in pesos over a four-year-period.

The mine is the largest in Mexico with an annual output of 40,000 tons or about 60 per cent of Mexico's annual copper production.

Anaconda, which was granted the mining concession in 1926 when it purchased Grill Cananea Copper Mining Co., will retain 49 per cent of the company, the announcement added.

The agreement was signed in the offices of Mexico's president, Luis Echeverria, by Flores de la Pena and John B. M. Place, Anaconda president in Mexico.

Flores de la Pena said that Cananea Mining Co. was "the last important mining enterprise that was not controlled by Mexican finances."

The purchase, explained the national properties minister, gives Mexico control of the company and the same time will maintain a combination of foreign investment "in order to provide access to foreign markets and modern technology."

Mexico last year exported only 5,000 metric tons of copper said Flores de la Pena. He and Place added that copper production will be increased in Mexico.

Copper reserves at the mining site are estimated at 825 million tons with .73 per cent of copper.

Flores de la Pena said the Mexican government will sell 23.52 per cent of its purchase to small Mexican investors "under district vigilance of the government."

The official statement explained that 9.81 per cent of the purchase will be held by Cobre de Mexico, a private company in which National Financiera has shares; 9.81 per cent will be controlled by Banco Nacional de Mexico National Bank of Mexico, and the remainder, 5.88 per cent, will go to the 1,500 workers at the mine.

Place described the mining operations as "profitable for Mexico as well as Anaconda."

An Extra Snooze

Around The Rim

Bob Whipkey

Somebody is always doing some research on the makeup of the human being, coming out with conclusions that he does this or that under certain circumstances, or responds in this or that way to different stimuli.

I regret to report that, like the national political pollsters, the researchers have never sought me out, so I go on my way, little knowing that I have problems.

THE LATEST piece of intelligence I have come across is that the number of hours you spend sleeping will reveal your personality traits. This is different from the old-fashioned idea that a person who slept too much was a sluggard.

Not necessarily so.

The Army Medical Research Command says that after it checked into some cases, it finds that "long sleepers are not lazier than short sleepers, but they do need more dreaming time."

EVERYBODY, the experts say, requires about the same amount of sleep — around six hours — to "rejuvenate and refresh the healthy body." But after that, check your personality.

Short sleepers, say the Army researchers, "are more likely to be active, flexible and social" than the slugabeds. Why not? They have more time to socialize.

THE LONG SLEEPERS "are usually introverted and creative, but wanting when it comes to sustained work." For whatever it may mean, this research note also says:

"The more introverted men, apparently more conflict-conscious than active persons, use the longer dream time to work out 'intrapsychic problems.'"

Anyway, different kinds of men "clearly have different sleep need," a finding which eventually may be used to predict "performance in a given individual."

THE SLEEP business attracted my attention since I will soon be in green pastures, and have determined, for a short time at least, that I will lie in that bed until the spirit moves me. Movement prompted by the spirit, incidentally, is a lot more pleasant than that prompted by the alarm clock.

Just because sleep is an appealing thing to me, I really hadn't charged it to being any more than normally introverted and creative. Secretly I had charged it to an extremely bad, if pleasant, habit.

BUT I AM going to work on this need for more dream time. Actually most of my dreams turn out to be nightmares.

And this thing about having longer time to work out "intrapsychic problems." That sounds like a very impressive reason, and I hope to use it. Meanwhile, it's much simpler to admit that happiness is an extra 15-minute snooze in the morning.

The Book Can Wait

Art Buchwald

MARTHA'S VINEYARD — There are many great places where you can't write a book, but as far as I'm concerned none compares to Martha's Vineyard.

This is how I manage not to write a book and I pass it on to fledgling authors as well as old-timers who have vowed to produce a great work of art this summer.

The first thing you need is lots of paper, carbon, a solid typewriter, preferably electric, and a quiet spot in the house overlooking the water.

YOU GET UP at 6 o'clock in the morning and go for a dip in the sea, then you come back and make yourself a hearty breakfast.

By 7 a.m. you are ready to begin Page 1, Chapter 1. You insert a piece of paper in the typewriter and start to type "It was the best of times . . . " Suddenly you look out the window and you see a sea gull diving for a fish. This is not an ordinary sea gull. It seems to have a broken wing and you get up from the desk to observe it on the off chance that somewhere in the book you may want to insert a scene of a sea gull with a broken wing trying to dive for a fish.

IT IS NOW 8 a.m. and the sounds of people getting up distract you. There is no sense trying to work with everyone crashing around the house. So you write a letter to your editor telling him how well the book is going and that you're even more optimistic about this one than the last one which the publisher never advertised.

It is now 9 o'clock in the morning and you go into the kitchen and scream at your wife. "How am I going to get any work done around here if the kids are making all that racket?"

YOUR WIFE kicks all the kids out of the house and you go back to your desk. It suddenly occurs to you that your agent may also want to see a copy of the book so you tear out the paper and start over with an original and two carbons "It was the best of times . . . "

By this time you remember you were supposed to receive a check from the Saturday Review so you walk down to the post office, pause at the drugstore for newspapers, and stop at the hardware store for rubber cement to repair your daughter's raft.

You're back to your desk at 1 p.m. when you remember you haven't had lunch. So you fix yourself a tuna fish sandwich and read the newspapers.

IT IS NOW 2:30 p.m. and you are about to hit the keys when Bill Styron calls. He announces they have just received a load of lobsters at Menemsha and he's driving over to get some before they're all gone. Well, you say to yourself you can always write a book on the Vineyard, but how often can you get fresh lobster?

Two hours later with the thought of fresh lobster as inspiration, you sit down at the typewriter. The doorbell rings and Norma Brustein is standing there in her tennis togs looking for a fourth for doubles.

YOU DON'T WANT to hurt Norma's feelings so you get your racket and for the next hour play a fierce game of tennis, which is the only opportunity you have had all day of taking your mind off your book.

It is now 6 o'clock and the kids are back in the house, so there is no sense trying to get work done any more for that day.

So you put the cover on the typewriter with a secure feeling that no matter how ambitious you are about working there will always be somebody on the Vineyard ready and eager to save you.

My Answer

Billy Graham

My problem is eating. I eat constantly, and I can't stop. I eat before meals, during meals, and after meals. I eat everything I can get my hands on. I've prayed for help, but I just keep on eating. Please tell me what I can do? Is gluttony a sin? B.N.

There are compulsive drinkers, compulsive smokers, compulsive drug addicts and compulsive eaters. The Bible has a great deal to say about gluttony. In Proverbs we read: "For the drunkard and the glutton shall come to poverty: and drowsiness (sloth) shall clothe a man with rags." Proverbs 23:21. Paul wrote: "Whose end is their destruction, whose God is their belly, and whose glory is their shame, who mind earthly things." Philippians 3:19.

Overeating is a common practice of Americans. Most of us eat much more than we should. We could subsist on half the calories we ingest. While overeating, different than drunkenness, does not incapacitate one, it nevertheless puts an extra burden on the heart, creates excessive fat, and in general conducive to poor health. So, since our bodies are the "temple of the Holy Spirit", we do violence to God's crowning creation when we overburden the digestive system, and by being overweight make ourselves susceptible to cardiovascular diseases.

Overeating can become habitual. The more you eat, the more weight you carry, and the excess weight calls for more food, etc. A normal appetite is a healthy thing, but like any other good gift, it can be abused. The Bible says, "Whether therefore ye eat or drink . . . do all to the glory of God." I Corinthians 10:31.

A Devotion For Today . . .

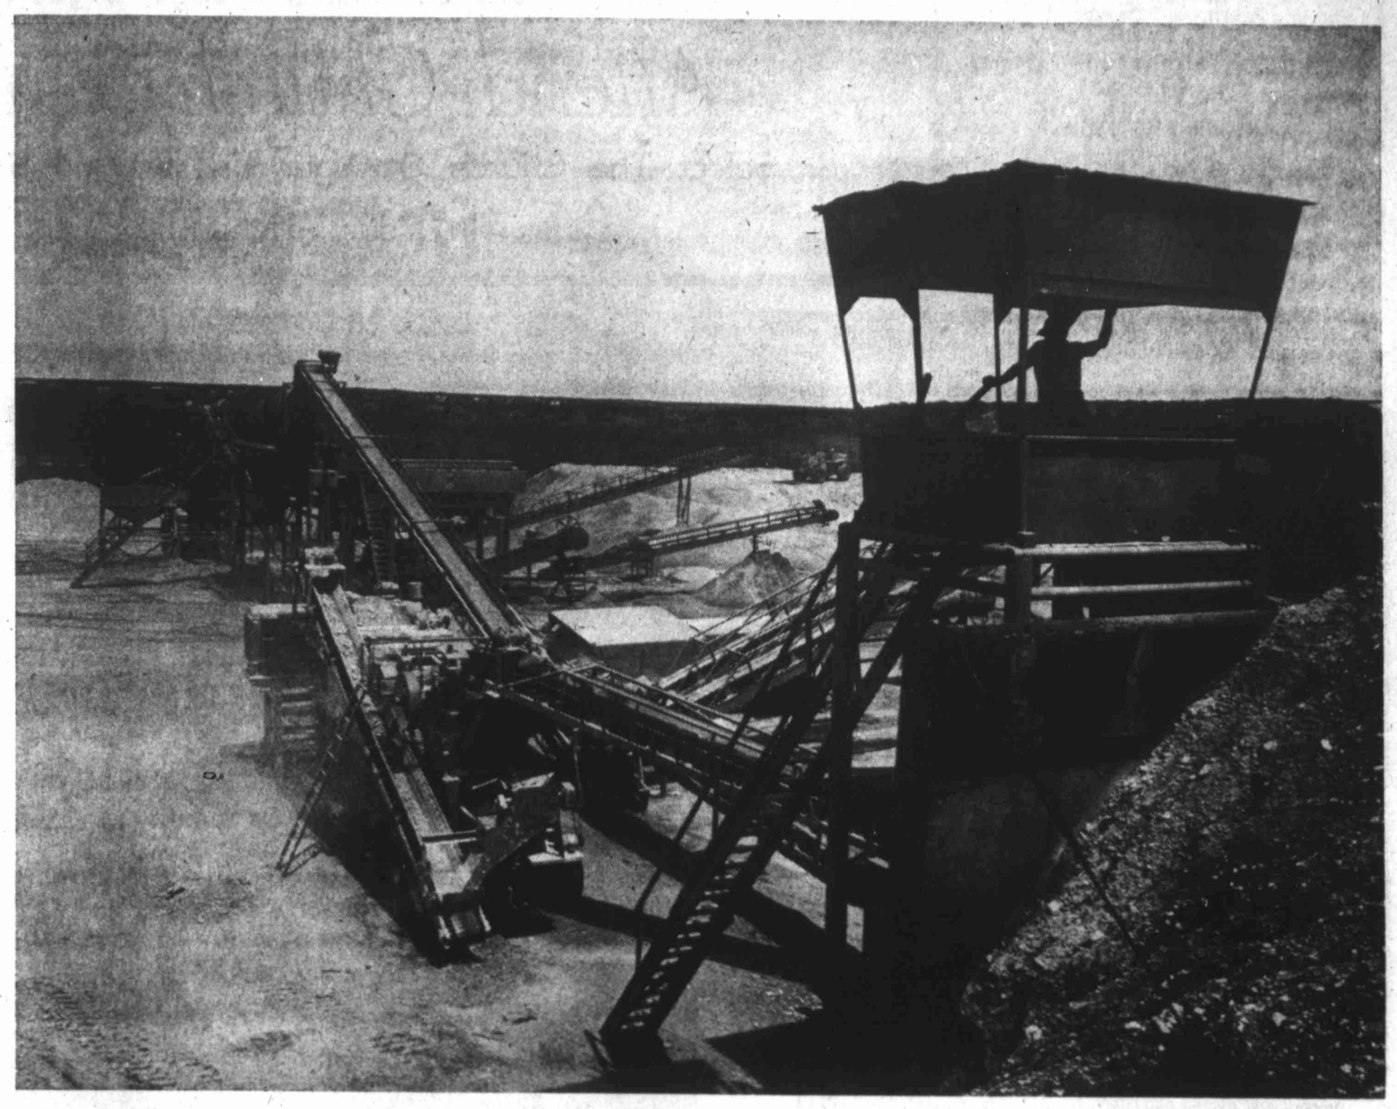

Know ye not that a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump? (I Corinthians 5:6)

PRAYER: Father, of all, keep our ears alert to the cry of need everywhere. Make our minds keen to find real solutions to the world's problems and give us spirits that are strong enough, courageous enough, and generous enough to be involved anywhere; in the name of Christ. Amen.

MAKE-BELIEVE

This is make-believe . . . tying a bundle to a stick and pretending to set forth on a great journey. His lively little imagination glows. Maybe, right around that bend in the road, he'll run smack into a big brown bear . . .

That's a "scary" idea. So he takes off his hat, puts down his bundle, and plays at home. Yes . . . it's fun to make-believe.

Home, just now, is his place. In it, he feels a wonderful sense of security, basking in his parents' love, knowing by instinct that they are there to help and guide him.

At night when he kneels to say his prayers, his mother tells him the story of Christ. She is preparing him for the day when he will become a more active part of the Church. She knows that, during his life, when he makes real journeys, the Church will be his home, and that it will help protect and guide him when she cannot.

TURNER MELONS — Travis Turner, Mitchell County's top melon grower oversees the loading of 65,000 pounds of watermelons for Colorado and California, while daughter, Robyn, 5, displays the product. During the melon season, Turner may ship as many as 700,000 pounds of melons. Turner and his brother, Dewey Turner, have made "Turner Melons" into a household word in the Mitchell County area — and the word is spreading. Melons being loaded here are grown on the Travis Turner farm about four miles southeast of Colorado City.

TODAY AND TOMORROW

—CARROL RIGHTER

SUNDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Almost everything in today's aspects suggests considerable delays, especially if projects are being wrked out in a conventional and conservative fashion. However, such delays give you the opportunity to look into modern, up-to-date and more inventive methods for handling these undertakings in the future.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A good day to investigate new systems for handling all your affairs more efficiently in the future. Don't take any chances where money is concerned today. Accept invitations which friends extend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) You have to study new methods of operating if you are to get along better with associates in the future. Stop being so old-fashioned. Happiness is possible with mate, who is in a particularly agreeable mood now.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Associates give good ideas now which should be followed so all operates better both at home and in the outside world in the days ahead. Don't argue with others while working at dull routines. Keep placid.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact co-workers and sit down together and plan now to make future operations more successful. Pals are not very receptive to your ideas today, so be patient. Get to bed early tonight.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Forget dull work today and go out for pleasure and relaxation you need at this time. Rebuild your energies and avoid family quarreling that has you annoyed. Get on the bright side of life.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Take the time to increase harmony at home instead of seeking companionship in the outside world so much. Don't neglect attending services, though. You need to build up the spiritual side of your life.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Instead of worrying about money, go out to see persons who can help to cheer you up. Become more optimistic. A good day to study how to advance, also. A harmonious family tie can give fine advice and support.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Stick to practical matters and make sure you do not take any risks, since you are not thinking as clearly as usual. Confer with those of much experience today instead of just talking to friends with little experience. Learn much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Take some time to improve appearance before you go out for the fun you want socially, and be sure you are only with congenial people. Don't bother others with your secret worries. Keep them to yourself and take care of them personally later.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you think bigger, you find you can reason more constructively, put right wheels in motion. Once your decisions are reached, happiness can be had with mate. Avoid one who gripes a lot.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You love social activities and this is the time to make the most of this quality and get ahead that way. Don't bring up any argumentative points with others which could destroy harmony you now enjoy. This holds true at home, also.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Not a good day to get into anything new of any kind since you are not prepared and could become frustrated. Carry through with regular duties well and all is fine. Show kindness to those at home.

MONDAY

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Make a point to be sure every detail of a plan of action is absolutely right. You can do so by doublechecking. Look at your travel plan, make changes and thereby expand your horizons far beyond their present boundaries. You can accomplish a great deal.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Clear up routines early, then get together with persons of different views and study new data of importance to you. One who comes from a foreign country has fine ideas. Listen to them and benefit.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Put aside recreation and start the work ahead of you with real enthusiasm. An expert can be of great help to you. Being cooperative with the one you love is wise. Show that you have wisdom.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Handling association affairs ethically and expertly is possible now. Reconciliation comes easily with one who has been opposing you. Take it easy tonight at home. Catch up on your reading.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) With all the work ahead of you, you scarcely know where to begin, but once started you plow through nicely. Improve health through right treatments. Avoid one who is not sincere.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Put fine talent to work profitably instead of getting caught in a financial trap through being idle. Evening is fine for romance that appeals to you. Think and act constructively. Be wise.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You should rely on what kin have to suggest, since you are not thinking as clearly as usual today. More work is necessary if you are to add to present income. Keep active and you are happier.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Instead of trying to analyze so much, start stating your views and get much done. Once pressing work is done, engage in hobbies and recreations you like so much. Avoid one who does not appreciate you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You have to be practical now to add to present well-being and not worry about finances. Talk over with business expert what should be done in the future. Take more time for the romantic tonight.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You are able to obtain the data you need which can be helpful in business or personal life. You have a clever system for entertaining those who have entertained you in the past. Take time to read.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can do research work now that will yield information you need so much at this time. Listen to advice of experts so that you know how to proceed in the future. Get down to practical affairs tonight.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) An ideal day to show your fine qualities and meet interesting personalities. Know what it is you want and go after it in a positive fashion. Stop waisting valuable time. Relax tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) You want to achieve your fine aims, so go out and make the proverbial hay while the sun shines. Seek the support of bigwigs you know. Avoid someone who is jealous of your accomplishments.

Abide By Rules

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Our 21-year-old daughter is living at home again after three unsuccessful tries at apartment living.

She works, but pays us no rent. She's been dating a young man for a short period of time and goes out with him once a week. She stays all night at his apartment, comes home in the morning and changes her clothes and goes to work.

This is upsetting my husband and me. We've told her so, but she says she is doing no wrong because she "loves" him. She also says she has to live her own life, and if we don't get off her back she will move out and we'll never see her again.

We are afraid that this direction she has taken will hurt her. How can he love her if he sees her only once a week, and then just for a sleep-over date?

Abby, it's so hard for us to accept this and be quiet, yet we don't want to lose our daughter. What should we do?

DISTRAUGHT PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Tell her that as long as she lives under your roof she'll have to abide by your rules, which do not include sleeping out. If she wants to move, you can't stop her, but I doubt if she will because she's not financially able to hack it alone.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can ask somebody who writes up the stuff for the obituary column to help you with this question: In a recent obituary notice was the following: "Mr — was survived by his widow, who was his fifth wife."

Now I really don't see why that had to go into the paper, do you? The man wasn't a celebrity or anything. He was just a common ordinary citizen. Besides, he was 95 years old, which averages out 19 years for each wife, so what is so special about that? BURNED UP

DEAR BURNED: Each newspaper has its own policy. But I don't see why that had to go into the paper either.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who cuts me down every chance she gets. Like yesterday she came over here and said, "What are you cooking? It smells terrible." One day last week we were in a store and I asked the salesperson to please take something out of the showcase so I could see it, and this friend said right in front of the clerk, "Why are you bothering the saleslady, you know you aren't going to buy anything." The clerk very nicely said, "That's all right. That's what I'm here for." Then my friend said, "Don't mind us. We're friends."

This neighbor makes terrible remarks about my hair and my clothes, too. Don't tell me to have nothing to do with her because she has very few friends. How can I help her?

HER NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: You can help her by trying to educate her in tact and kindness and judgment, but it promises to be a long course. You don't say how old your neighbor is, but I hope she's young, because she has a lot to learn. Lotsa luck.

* * *

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Blood Disorder

Your Good Health

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Mr. Thoteson Can you tell me about sickle cell anemia? How is it diagnosed? Is there a cure for it? — A.W.

It is a blood disorder which affects about half a million people in the United States, 99 per cent of them black.

The red blood cells, instead of being round as they are supposed to be, are curved, and the cells assume the shape of a sickle, or of a quarter moon.

That half-million figure refers to the number who are really affected by the disease; many times more carry the trait and can pass the condition on by heredity.

A tightening of the molecular bonds, as a result of a chemical abnormality in the blood, is thought to be the cause of the sickling — it's a highly technical situation and not easy to describe simply.

Anyway, this sickling can take place suddenly. The distorted red cells do not pass easily through the capillaries or tiny blood vessels.

From the patient's standpoint, the result is such symptoms as fever, convulsions, severe pain in the abdomen and elsewhere. This is called a sickle-cell crisis.

While we cannot say that a cure has been found, a good deal of research work has been done, and there have been two principle breakthroughs reported lately.

One is giving 10 per cent sodium citrate by mouth every two hours for 24 hours during a crisis. Pain is materially reduced. The other discovery is that urea, given intravenously, alters the molecular tightening so the cells return to normal round shape.

A way is being sought to give the urea by mouth as a preventive, and preliminary reports are promising. Although neither treatment cures the inherent defect, if you can prevent a crisis from occurring, you prevent the disease from being disabling.

Specific tests will identify the sickling tendency. One is to take a blood smear and examine it under a microscope, looking for deformed red cells.

The other test is a procedure called hemoglobin electrophoresis, which will show the abnormal hemoglobin.

Dear Dr. Thosteson I have a spot on my face about the size of two pinheads, like a hard scab. No lump and it isn't sore, but it bothers me when I wash.

Do you think, if I put alcohol on it to keep infection from forming, it is dangerous, or would it be okay to wet a cotton for 15 minutes and hold it on?— Mrs. F.T.J.

I see no reason to worry about infection — but I'd take precautions against having it turn out to be something worse.

In short, have it examined by a physician to make sure it isn't a skin cancer — or a keratosis which might be a forerunner of skin cancer.

After all, skin cancer is highly curable in its early stages, which is why I urge you to have it examined now instead of waiting.

Dear Dr. Thosteson Is giving four or five pints of blood a year harmful in any way? Last year I gave four pints to the Red Cross and would like to keep this schedule as long as I'm in good health and can do so. I am a male, 50 years old.— F.L.

No harm at all for a healthy person to give that much blood per year — and there is a real need for blood. More power to you.

LE MANS
. . . Steve McQueen at 200 mph

Toughest Picture He's Ever Made

"Le Mans" captures on film the personal intrigue and the death-defying sportsmanship of the world's most famous and dangerous racing competition.

Steve McQueen, himself a champion racer, is joined by 45 internationally-renowned professional drivers in a realistic, nerve-shatteing re-creation of the toughest test of men and machines on earth.

Filmed on actual locations in France, "Le Mans," which opens Wednesday at the Ritz Theatre, explores the sheer force and endurance of the race that annually attracts 500,000 spectators from every corner of the world.

McQueen, who last year placed second over-all in the grueling Sebring 12-Hour endurance Test, did most of his own driving in the motion picture, often at speeds exceeding 200 miles per hour on the harrowing 8½ miles course. It is a film McQueen has wanted to make for years, allowing him to combine his acting and racing abilities as never before. McQueen, who proved his physical prowess by performing his own spectacular stunt work in "The Great Escape" and "Bullitt" says this is the toughest picture he has ever made.

Over a million dollars worth of the world's fastest, best-engineered cars were used in the filming, with specially-mounted cameras in the cars providing the viewer with as spellbinding a glimpse as they'll ever get of how it feels to challenge the force of speed.

Beyond the intensity of the race itself, "Le Mans" examines the women who are part of the man's world, and the Woodstock-type atmosphere that surrounds the competition as a mass of humanity gathers to watch men facing unmatched dangers.

'... Tapes' Is Exciting Film

A trio of clever gimmics set this film, from the best-selling book by Lawrence Sanders, apart from the routine thriller about a robbery.

Starting slowly, The Anderson Tapes builds to an exciting climax, detailing the methodical ransacking of a small but expensive New York apartment house, while some of the tenants are still home, by a gang headed by Sean Connery.

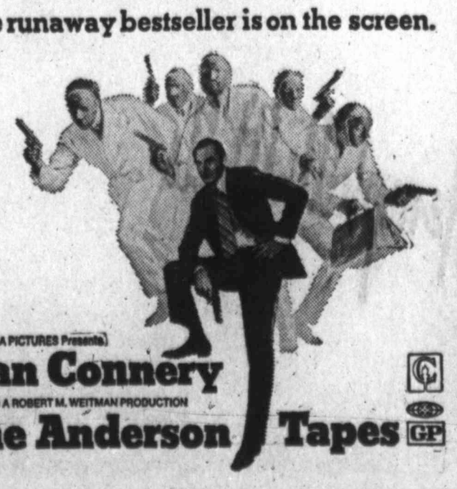

It has suspense, excitement and performances, and should be especially pleasing to audiences looking for some real entertainment.

Connery, out of jail dreams up the caper, executed with the aid of Dyan Cannon, his girl friend, who lives in the building; a mobster, Allan King; a novice burglar, Christopher Walken, and a few others. The Main gimmick is the fact that the whole caper is recorded on wire-tapped tapes, which are illegal, but the taped record is not understood until after the event.

The film starts Wednesday at the Cinema.

HE NEEDS 'DREAM MACHINE'

Making Movies In Texas

By JACK KEEVER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — It was night and Warren Skaaren, 25, state employe, was working overtime. At the movies.

He sat through part of "Plaza Suite," then passed two hours at "What's The Matter With Helen?" an ordinary horror flick. Finally he surprised himself by thoroughly enjoying "Lawman," a western with Burt Lancaster.

It was more a busman's holiday than work because Skaaren, former student politician, playwright, public speaker, television interviewer, folksinger, Eagle Scout, campus reporter, real estate, life insurance and clothing salesman, truck driver, furniture worker, songwriter, an art lover, is the first executive director of the new Texas Film Commission (TFC).

RIPE FOR FANTASY

"The job is ripe with fantasy," said Skaaren, whose 14-page memorandum convinced Gov. Preston Smith that Skaaren could develop the film industry in Texas, as the governor wanted.

"He tells me," Smith said, "that we have the best chance of any state in the Union to revolutionize the movie industry."

Smith, a former theater owner in Lubbock, apparently sees dollar signs as he talks about revolution.

Neighboring New Mexico has made $35 million off the movie industry in just over a year, Smith said. "I think that should have been Texas' money!"

"I am completely confident of my qualifications to deliver the goods," said Skaaren.

'ON LOCATION'

But, he admits, he needs the "Dream Machine," the computer used by the Texas Industrial Commission, which could tell a movie producer within seconds if Texas has the location he needs for his movie.

"As Texas looks 'on location' filming she can be very secure for she possesses almost every possible type of location. She has mountains, great deserts, beautiful seashores, bustling cities, rivers, forests, quaint old towns, incians, jungles, Swamp, and beautiful people of every race, creed and color," Skaaren said.

He said Del Rio-Ft. Clark area of Texas took in $1.5 million during the filming of "Bandalero," and Columbus gained $100,000 in less than two months from "The Windsplitter."

Another $200,000 was pumped into the economy of Claude, population 750, when "Hud" with Paul Newman was filmed there.

BIGGEST BOOM

"It was the biggest boom since the cattle drives," said an oldtimer.

Similar stories could be told at Marfa, where the James Dean - Rock Hudson - Elizabeth Taylor "Giant" was filmed in 1955; or at Archer City, where "The Last Show" was made; at Paris—"Home From The Hill"; Rio Grande City — "Viva Zapata"; Bracketville—"Two rode Together", "The Alamo," and "The Last Command"; Dallas —"State Fair" and "Bonnie and Clyde"; Wharton —"Baby, The Rain Must Fall"; Houston — "Brewster McCloud" and "Hellfighters"; and San Antonio — 'Viva Max," a 1969 production which was the first in that city since "I Wanted Wings" with Ray Milland and Veronica Lake in 1940.

TAX DOLLARS

But the future rests, for the time being, with Skaaren — a native of Rochester, Minn., who became student body president at Rice University in Houston and the backing of Texas tax dollas.

Skaaren was so strapped for money for months that he occasionally had to wine and dine producers out of his own pocket. Beginning Sept. 1, however, he has a one-year $100,000 budget and the support of a 41-member film commission appointed by the governor.

The commission include Academy Award - winning actress Dorothy Malone of Dallas; and Paul Baker, director of the Dallas Theatre Center, plus bankers, legislators and filmmakers.

ONE-MAN SHOW

All were enthusiastic about moviemaking in Texas.

They will meet for the first time Thursday (Sept. 2.).

Skaaren said 30 persons applied for jobs as soon as they read of Texas' bid for a share of the movie industry.

But it has been a one-man show, Skaaren's show, because of the lack of funds, and he seems to have mastered a cram course in the cinema.

He's been to Hollywood twice, for 2½ weeks, to talk to producers and dined with movie star George Peppard.

Skaaren was told the film industry is not what it once was. One star, he heard, demanded and received a $35,000 Rolls Royce on an overseas location, and when the filming was completed, gave the car to his chauffeur.

The industry no longer is so free with its money.

HUNT JOBS

The unemployment rate in Hollywood is "astronomical," Skaaren said, and producers "are ready to go somewhere else and start over and correct the mistakes" that have been made for years.

Texas, says Skaaren, is the place.

There is technical know-how—Dallas already is third in the nation in commercial film footage—"and a genuine interest in movies." He mentioned the superb cooperation he received recently when he visited Anderson, population 300, near Navasota, for a possible filming site contrated to a sequence shot in New York City where pedestrians refused to wait on the curb until the brief scene was over.

Movie star-producer Guy Madison, returning to this country after 10 years and 35 films in Italy, said he is looking at the Dallas-Fort Worth area as a production site because "it has everything, including money."

WARM WIND

Martin Jurow, former consultant on video cassettes for 20th Century Fox, resigned recently to form his own video-film company with headquarters in Dallas and Hollywood. He immediately announced four features, including "Sunday Morning" with Karl Malden, to be filmed in Texas.

Jurow — Producer of "Breakfast At Tiffany's" — is a "real breakthrough," said Skaaren.

Jurow "knows which way the wind is blowing and how to make it a warm Texas wind," Gov. Smith told the National Association of Theatre Owners of Texas convention.

Skaaren said Tom Hall, who wrote the best - selling song, "Harper Valley PTA," already has done a song for "Sunday Morning." Word Music Co. of Waco will handle the musical score and Jamieson Film Co. of Dallas the processing.

Filming is to start in 1972 and will include on-location shots at San Antonio. Several University of Texas students are to have parts.

FILM LIBRARY

Skaaren hopes eventually to establish a film library in Austin and 24-hour telephone service for the convenience of producers.

He has received excellent cooperation from the industrial commission and the Texas State Historical Survey Committee in locating movie sites. A contest was held in Bell County this summer to draw attention to the best potential movie site locations there. The Grove, for example, was rated the best western town, and the best general stores were found in Westphalia.

"There's something so personal about living in Texas," young actor John David Carson told Amusements Editor John Bustin of the Austin American-Statesman. "You know you're a person there. It's somehow easier to be a human being. I don't know. I guess I just like the unhurried way of life down there."

Carson, a graduate of Abilene's Central Catholic High School who appeared recently in "Pretty Maids All In A Row" with Rock Hudson and Angie Dickinson, added, "I kind of wish the movie industry could be re-located in Abilene, Texas."

You might get some arguments there. From other Texans of course.

(AP WIREPHOTO)

SIGHTS OF FILM INDUSTRY — Warren Skaaren, 25, executive director of Texas' new Film Commission is convinced that Texas has the best chance of any state in the Union to revolutionize the movie industry.

Heritage Museum Group To Meet With Commission

A delegation headed by Jerry Worthy, chairman of the board of directors of the Heritage Museum, will meet with county commissioners at 10 a.m. Monday to discuss the reinstatement of museum funding into the 1972 county budget.

During budget sessions last week, commissioners deleted all funds appropriated for the museum. The museum was to be funded $5,000 in 1972 as it had been in 1971 under the direction of the previous commissioners court. After the item was eliminated from the budget in an effort to reduce the county deficit, County Judge A. G. Mitchell said that it would be up to the city to support the museum project financially.

Under the original plan devised in 1971 by the county and city commissions, the county was to furnish the building and $5,000 for the museum. The city originally budgeted $10,000 for the support of the museum, but the amount was cut to $5,000, according to Mayor Arnold Marshall, when the city ran into financial difficulties and had to trim the budget. The museum operated in 1971 on $10,000 funded by the two governments.

Other business scheduled for commissioners Monday includes a 10 a.m. meeting with city commissioners to confer on a new site for the city sanitary landfill. Commissioners inspected and disapproved the proposed site on North Birdwell Lane last week. City officials and consulting engineers were to study other sites and present them to the county for approval.

At 1:30 p.m., the county dads will put aside commissioners' duties to become the county board of equalization in their last session for 1971. They will meet with Earl Bruce of Pritchard & Abbott, oil and utilities properties evaluators, to discuss current valuations of oil and utilities properties in Howard County.

Commissioners have also slated a 9 a.m. conference with Hollis Randell, road and bridge administrator.
