His spectacular flight across the four-state area shown on the map ended, Raymond Hamilton, 22, right, again is back of prison bars and once more will await the march to the electric chair behind the scarred brick walls of Huntsville, Tex., state prison, shown below. Over this wall Hamilton and two other convicts escaped in July, 1934, the engineer of the break being slain by a guard shooting from the tower show at the far left. Hamilton, recaptured in Fort Worth, already was facing 362 years in prison when he was sentenced to death for murder of a prison farm guard in another escape January, 1934.

DRUMRIGHT, Okla., April 8.—Kathryn Cline, 7, daughter of a Crow oil field worker, was kidnapped and beaten to death with a blunt instrument early today.

The body, with head crushed, was found in a barn a half mile from her home by neighbors and officers, who started a search when she was reported missing more than an hour previously.

Sheriff's Deputy Vergil D. Shan said the girl had gone to the home of a neighbor about a quarter of a mile from her own dwelling this morning. The mother, Mrs. A. C. Cline, became worried when the girl failed to return in time to go to school.

until strikers promise to stop picketing and stop these disorderly demonstrations that have been taking place," he said.

Gelber explained increased retail prices of meat are forced by increased wholesale costs.

"Last December we were buying beef for 7 1/2c and 8c a pound, and selling for 15c to 20c," he said. "Now we must pay 16c and 17c a pound, and are expected to continue former prices."

TRADES LICENSE TAGS FOR GREYHOUNDS, DOLLAR AND HALF—WITH COSTLY RESULT

"Verily, verily, he that tradeth his new automobile license tags for two greyhounds and a $1.50 to boot, then reporteth his tags stolen, the same shall be considered a sinner in the sight of the law and shall be stucketh—in a big way!"

This is the eleventh commandment issued Saturday by the Hall County sheriff's department.

It all resulted over an unusual trade made last week by two citizens of this county,—we shall call them Mr. A and Mr. B. Mr. A traded his new 1935 car license, valued at about $10, to Mr. B for two of the slickest greyhounds in the county, and $1.50 to boot. Mr. B considers it a good trade and takes the tags to use on his own car at a big saving.

REVIEWS OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES

RITZ

With a rhythmic undertone of jungle tom-toms, Paramount's "Rumba," which opened yesterday at the Ritz Theatre, brings George Raft and Carole Lombard back to the screen in an even greater success than their first co-starring effort, "Bolero," scheduled for early showing at the Ritz.

"Rumba" is filled with elaborate rhythms, a vivid and human love story, and plenty of sparkling comedy.

Left and Miss Lombard are the principals in this drama which carries its people from Havana to New York through dancing, gaiety and what at times seems like inevitable heartbreak.

A series of carefully planned minor climaxes brings the picture to its major climax when Raft dances on the stage with Carole Lombard in defiance of gangsters' threats and guns.

PALACE

Ever since Maude Adams humanized the loveable character of Babbie in Sir James Barrie's never-to-be-forgotten story and play, "The Little Minister," this quaint document has endeared itself to theatre-goers everywhere.

And now Katharine Hepburn has made a splendid interpretation of the story as her new starring vehicle current at the Palace. Sir James M. Barrie is a keen, penetrating, though whimsical, writer. He knows the feminine soul and his Babbie is the eternal Eve that he painted her—and Miss Hepburn is the ideal actress to portray his heroine most vividly.

Katharine Hepburn makes Babbie a delightful study of piquant and persuasive arts. John Beal plays the role of the "Little Minister" with fine authority and lends the part a quaint pathos. Alan Hale is properly featured as Rob Dow, the village ruffian. The sensitive hand of director Richard Wallace was all that was needed to give this picture the final touch it needed, and to weld together the performance of the star and the large and splendid supporting cast.

yards Friday night, will be marched three blocks down the street from the State Prison to the Walker County courthouse Thursday or Friday to hear his formal sentence.

Mrs. Steve Davis, Hamilton's mother, to whom he clung desperately upon their reunion in the Dallas County jail, said she would go to Austin to plead with Governor James V. Allred for the commutation of sentence.

Palmer Takes Blame
Palmer shouldered the blame for Crowson's killing yesterday, denouncing District Attorney Max Rogers for the conviction of Hamilton, which he asserted was obtained by false testimony. Palmer was recaptured in Kentucky after the escape. Hamilton, a braggart, has insisted he never killed a man in his crowded career of bootlegging, car theft and bank robbery.

There was discussion here of possible institutions of some court move in Hamilton's behalf. What it would be was not determined. Hamilton lost his right of appeal when he escaped and remained at large past the time for submission of an appeal.

Owls Given Second Straight Drubbing By Wellington

Wellington made it two straight over the Memphis Owls in their pre-season training series yesterday afternoon at Fair Park Stadium, trouncing the Owls, 8 to 3.

The visitors hit Buck Whitfield lustily for five innings and continued against McCool in the next two frames and Stewart in the final rounds.

Building up a substantial margin in the first frame, Wellington's centerfielder pounded a home run over the left field fence with two on. Ending there with earned runs, the visitors continued to make the most of Memphis misdeeds to add to the margin.

The Owls combined hits and Wellington errors to score their three runs, about evenly scattered throughout the contest. The local club showed lack of training, which has progressed slowly during the past two weeks, since much time has been spent training the park into the Western Division, Eastern League, debut at C.

Mr. and Mrs. John went to Thalia last night. His parents, Mr. Bann, from there to Dallas business trip.

REVIEWS OF CURRENT MOTION PICTURES

RITZ

With a rhythmic undertone of jungle tom-toms, Paramount's "Rumba," which opened yesterday at the Ritz Theatre, brings George Raft and Carole Lombard back to the screen in an even greater success than their first co-starring effort, "Bolero," scheduled for early showing at the Ritz.

"Rumba" is filled with elaborate rhythms, a vivid and human love story, and plenty of sparkling comedy.

Raft and Miss Lombard are the principals in this drama which carries its people from Havana to New York through dancing, gaiety and what at times seems like inevitable heartbreak.

Prominent in the supporting cast of the picture are Margo, a petite Mexican beauty and comparative newcomer who scores a personal triumph with her beauty, dancing and dramatic ability; Iris Adrian, as one of the women in Raft's life and Lynne Overman, Monroe Owsley and Gail Patrick.

Get it At Tarver's

PALACE

Ever since Maude Adams humanized the loveable character of Babbie in Sir James Barrie's never-to-be-forgotten story and play, "The Little Minister," this quaint document has endeared itself to theatre-goers everywhere.

And now Katharine Hepburn has made a splendid interpretation of the story as her new starring vehicle current at the Palace. Sir James M. Barrie is a keen, penetrating, though whimsical, writer. He knows the feminine soul and his Babbie is the eternal Eve that he painted her—and Miss Hepburn is the ideal actress to portray his heroine most vividly.

Katharine Hepburn makes Babbie a delightful study of piquant and persuasive arts. John Beal plays the role of the "Little Minister" with fine authority and lends the part a quaint pathos. Alan Hale is properly featured as Rob Dow, the village ruffian. The sensitive hand of director Richard Wallace was all that was needed to give this picture the final touch it needed, and to weld together the performance of the star and the large and splendid supporting cast.

Mrs. Steve Davis, Hamilton's mother, to whom he clung desperately upon their reunion in the Dallas County jail, said she would go to Austin to plead with Governor James V. Allred for the commutation of sentence.

Palmer Takes Blame Palmer shouldered the blame for Crowson's killing yesterday, denouncing District Attorney Max Rogers for the conviction of Hamilton, which he asserted was obtained by false testimony. Palmer was recaptured in Kentucky after the escape. Hamilton, a braggart, has insisted he never killed a man in his crowded career of bootlegging, car theft and bank robbery.

There was discussion here of possible institutions of some court move in Hamilton's behalf. What it would be was not determined. Hamilton lost his right of appeal when he escaped and remained at large past the time for submission of an appeal.
