Exacting food standards have a long and interesting history. In the Middle Ages, Henry VII of England beheaded any baker whose bread did not conform to the fixed weights for bread loaves. Bakers, to avoid this hazard, added an extra loaf to deliveries of 12, making the number 13 the well-known "baker's dozen."

DEFINITION OF A YOUNG HOMEMAKER

(By Claudine Cloud Skipper)

One who is married!
Under the age of thirty-five.
Leads a full, sometimes hectic
Yet a most rewarding life
Sees to pleasing hubby.
Meals waiting when he's due.
Coax, and be understanding
Must be agreeable too.
Usually is called Mother,
By Several little tots.
One hand's changing diapers
While the other's soothing knots!
Does washing, ironing, sweeping,
The mopping she must do.
Now to cleaners, market,
pharmacy,
Just to name a few.
Is always sweet and gracious
To an unexpected caller.
She smiles and keeps composure
Although she's like to "holler"!
Has the time to worship
Knelt calmly in silence to pray
Thanks to her Heavenly Father
For another homemaking day.
Makes time for other activities
Clubs of work or fun,
Takes great pride in being
A chapter in Area I.

Dear Buford:

We want to thank everyone who has been so wonderful to us while we have been in the hospital. The cards, flowers and your prayers have meant so very much during our son's illness.

Dennis is doing very well. He will have to be here for some time yet for X-ray treatments. We have had to have quite a lot of blood. At this time we are still 5 pints short of replacing it. It would help so very much if we could get this bood replaced. It can be donated at the Southwest Bloodbank in Lubbock.

Thanks once more for your help and loving thoughts.

Dene, Nelda and
Dennis Bridges.

Gentlemen:

The sorghum midge, as you know, while very damaging in many areas, did not develop into the area-wide problem that it theratened to the past year. We must do more than just "hope" that damage will be even less this coming season.

In an effort to glean every bit of knowledge about the midge gained in both research and applied practice to date by public, private, and commercial organizations the Grain Sorghum Producers Association has arranged for a sequel of conferences:

(1) Friday, February 14, 1:30 p.m., Texas A&M Research Center, Lubbock. "Institutional Technical Seminar on the Sorghum Midge."

(2) Saturday, February 15, 8:00 a.m., Mesa Room, Tech Student Union. "Industry Advisory Committee on the Sorghum Midge."

(3) Saturday, February 15, 10:00 a.m., Mesa Room, Tech Student Union. "Public Forum on the Sorghum Midge.

Basically, it is hoped that at the (1) meeting the institutions will exchange research findings and agree on unified recommendations for agronomic and chemical control measures; at the (2) meeting these recommendations will be presented to the industry committee for review, discussion, and coordination in accordance with applied practices; at the (3) meeting public announcement will be made of unified recommendations for wide control during the coming season. More detail of the separate sessions are attached.

This is to invite you to participate in the session checked and to join with us in helping to obtain the least damage possible from the sorghum midge this year.

Yours sincerely,

Exacting food standards have a long and interesting history. In the Middle Ages, Henry VII of England beheaded any baker whose bread did not conform to the fixed weights for bread loaves. Bakers, to avoid this hazard, added an extra loaf to deliveries of 12, making the number 13 the well-known "baker's dozen."

DEFINITION OF A YOUNG HOMEMAKER

(By Claudine Cloud Skipper)

One who is married!
Under the age of thirty-five.
Leads a full, sometimes hectic
Yet a most rewarding life
Sees to pleasing hubby.
Meals waiting when he's due.
Coax, and be understanding
Must be agreeable too.
Usually is called Mother,
By Several little tots.
One hand's changing diapers
While the other's soothing knots!
Does washing, ironing, sweeping,
The mopping she must do.
Now to cleaners, market,
pharmacy,
Just to name a few.
Is always sweet and gracious
To an unexpected caller.
She smiles and keeps composure
Although she's like to "holler"!
Has the time to worship
Knelt calmly in silence to pray
Thanks to her Heavenly Father
For another homemaking day.
Makes time for other activities
Clubs of work or fun,
Takes great pride in being
A chapter in Area I.

Dear Buford:

We want to thank everyone who has been so wonderful to us while we have been in the hospital. The cards, flowers and your prayers have meant so very much during our son's illness.

Dennis is doing very well. He will have to be here for some time yet for X-ray treatments. We have had to have quite a lot of blood. At this time we are still 6 pints short of replacing it. It would help so very much if we could get this bood replaced. It can be donated at the Southwest Bloodbank in Lubbock.

Thanks once more for your help and loving thoughts.

Dene, Nelda and
Dennis Bridges.

GRAIN SORGHUM PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION

February 6, 1964

Gentlemen:

The sorghum midge, as you know, while very damaging in many areas, did not develop into the area-wide problem that it theratened to the past year. We must do more than just "hope" that damage will be even less this coming season.

In an effort to glean every bit of knowledge about the midge gained in both research and applied practice to date by public, private, and commercial organizations the Grain Sorghum Producers Association has arranged for a sequel of conferences:

(1) Friday, February 14, 1:30 p.m., Texas A&M Research Center, Lubbock. "Institutional Technical Seminar on the Sorghum Midge."

(2) Saturday, February 15, 8:00 a.m., Mesa Room, Tech Student Union. "Industry Advisory Committee on the Sorghum Midge."

(3) Saturday, February 15, 10:00 a.m., Mesa Room, Tech Student Union. "Public Forum on the Sorghum Midge.

Basically, it is hoped that at the (1) meeting the institutions will exchange research findings and agree on unified recommendations for agronomic and chemical control measures; at the (2) meeting these recommendations will be presented to the industry committee for review, discussion, and coordination in accordance with applied practices; at the (3) meeting public announcement will be made of unified recommendations for wide control during the coming season. More detail of the separate sessions are attached.

This is to invite you to participate in the session checked and to join with us in helping to obtain the least damage possible from the sorghum midge this year.

Yours sincerely,
D. G. "Bill" Nelson,
Executive Vice Pres.

Mrs. Mayo Loper underwent surgery Friday at Methodist Hospital, Lubbock.

ANIMAL MANANGEMENT MEET SET FEB. 20

Farmers, stockmen and businessmen of Hale County will have the opportunity to hear a well rounded discussion on animal management and breeding on Thursday, February 20, County Agent, Ollie Liner, said today.

This meeting is being called to bring stockmen up to date on latest management practices and artificial breeding. Personnel from the American Breeders Association will be on hand to discuss these topics. Liner stated there has been much interest in artificial insemination in beef cattle the last few years especially after testing of bulls having proven to be an advantage to stockmen.

All persons interested are invited to attend this meeting which will be held in Plainview in the Reddy Room of Southwestern Public Service Company on February 20, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The American Breeders Association will furnish coffee and doughnuts for those in attendance.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our deepest gratitude and appreciation to everyone who has been so kind to us during Mr. Blair's stay in the hospital and since his return home. Every act of kindness will always be remembered.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Blair.

WEED CONTROL WORK IN EFFECT IN HALE COUNTY

The Hale County Weed Control District personnel during 1963 treated 661 acres of land with chemicals for weed control.

A total of 14,997 pounds of chemicals were applied, said W. R. Churchwell, supervisor.

Areas treated were farm land and right of way of roads and railways.

Churchwell said contract had been renewed with the Highway Department for application of chemicals during this year and that an agreement had been reached with the Fort Worth and Denver Railway to treat that right of way during 1964.

The district has bought a new spraying unit and has put the present one in good operating condition. Churchwell urged farmers to contact his office for weed control work.
