Miss Snyder Is Crowned

A new Miss Snyder was crowned Friday night. From the five young ladies competing for the honor, the judges chose Jackie McNabb to be Snyder's reigning beauty for the next year and to represent Snyder in the Miss Texas competition in Ft. Worth. Miss McNabb, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McNabb of Snyder. She graduated from Snyder High School last May. Betty Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Morgan, was named first runner-up, and Judy Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Thomas, was named Miss Congeniality by a vote of the other contestants. The winners were presented engraved silver trays as trophies. The presentation of the trays was made by Linda Loftis of Ft. Worth, Miss Texas of 1961. In addition to making the awards Miss Loftis delighted the able capacity audience with her singing. She sang "They Call the Wind Maria" from "Paint Your Wagon" and "Moon River" from "Breakfast at Tiffany's." Miss Loftis also talked informally to the audience concerning her experiences as Miss Texas, and urging Snyderites to give their whole-hearted backing to their new Miss Snyder.

MISS TEXAS CAPTURED THE HEARTS not only of the grown-ups but the little people of Snyder as well. The lovely Linda Loftis signs autographs for Snyder youngsters after Friday night's pageant, but it seemed that most of them used the autograph request just as an excuse to be near the most beautiful girl in Texas.

Totalitarian Countries Get Warning In Mexico Opposition Is Seen To Soviets, Castro

MEXICO CITY (AP)—President Kennedy and Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos issued a warning to totalitarian nations Saturday against meddling in the affairs of the western hemisphere. They said in a joint, communique issued after a series of talks that their nations are determined "to oppose totalitarian institutions and activities which are incompatible with the democratic principles they uphold." This seemed a clear warning to the Soviet Union and the Communist world, now allied with Fidel Castro's Cuba, to beware of intervention in this hemisphere.

The warning came in a passage dedicating the two nations to democratic ideals. The presidents said: "In consonance with their dedication to these ideals, and acting always as sovereign and independent countries, which decide their own policies and their own course of action, they propose to respect and maintain the principles of non-intervention—whether this intervention may come from a continental or extra-continental state—and of self-determination of peoples. Therefore, they are resolved to uphold these principles in the international organization to which they belong, to defend and strengthen the democratic institutions which their peoples in the exercise of their sovereign rights have constructed, and to oppose totalitarian institutions and activities which are incompatible with the democratic principles they uphold." The two leaders' agreement that a new era of relations between Mexico and the United States has been underscored by the enthusiastic emotional welcome given the visiting chief executive by Mexico City in this westervene Latin-American nation. The day was another personal triumph for President Kennedy.

HOME IS THE WARRIOR—Sir Winston Churchill raises his head in the familiar V-for-victory sign as he is carried from the plane at London airport after a flight from Moscow. Britain's wartime hero, 87, suffered a broken left thigh in a fall while vacationing at the French Riviera resort. The stretcher-borne Sir Winston was taken to a London hospital from the airport. Fireworks To Climax Big '4th' Event

Traditional and Old-fashioned are the words that best describe the Independence Day celebration being planned for Wednesday. Highlight of any Fourth of July is the traditional fireworks display. And this year, the fireworks will be flashier, louder, and brighter than ever before. The actual firing of the displays will be done by the Snyder Fire Department. Included in the fireworks will be devils, wheels, serpents, and whistles, flying saucers, and launch skyrockets, and on the ground will be a huge Niagara Falls. King the fireworks display will be a new type of display. An American flag made of fireworks suspended from a parachute will drift back to earth. The fireworks are scheduled to be fired about 8:30 p.m. in the dark. The program for the day will start at 10 a.m. with the raising of the flag in Town Park. The flag, which has flown over the United States Capitol, will be presented by Dean Johnson of Abilene, representing Rep. Omar Brown.

Rains Dot Snyder Area

Brief, but occasionally heavy showers hopped-scotched over the Snyder area again Friday afternoon and Saturday. Showers fell to the west, north, and south of Snyder at about noon Saturday, but moved on within minutes. On Friday afternoon the rains followed another erratic pattern, with most of the rainfall to the east, southwest and south of Snyder. Some showers ranged upward from three-quarters of an inch. The intermittent characteristics of the summer showers were demonstrated in Snyder on Friday afternoon. The rainfall in town ranged from about a tenth of an inch on the west side to half an inch on the east side of town. The spotty pattern of showers prevented in many areas of the state. Saturday's showers brought coastal plains had 2.60 inches in 20 minutes and Coleman in West Texas measured 2.63 inches in 20 minutes. The Weather Bureau said the shower belt covered an area 150 miles wide from Houston northwest to Temple, Breckinridge and the Amarillo area.

Guardmen Off To Camp At Fort Polk

Snyder National Guardsmen were scheduled to begin a trek to Fort Polk, La., before daybreak today for their annual two week summer camp. The local unit, part of Company 3, 2nd Battle Group, 12th Infantry of the 3rd Division, is commanded by 1st Lt. Billy Joe Brown. The Guardsmen are scheduled to return home on July 15 after two weeks of training and exercises.

Krush Meets With Spanish Communists

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev met in the Kremlin Saturday with three Communist party leaders from Spain headed by party Chairman Dolores Iberuri. The official news agency, Tass, said Khrushchev expressed "fraternal solidarity with the courageous struggle of the Spanish people against the Franco regime."

Candidates Hit Campaign Trail

By GARTH JONES Associated Press Staff Writer Candidates for governor hit the campaign trail this week as if the voting were only days away instead of Nov. 6. Democrat John Connally and Republican Jack Cox will speak at July 4 celebrations. In the background are threats of some liberal democrats to launching general election day or to vote for Cox. Connally will appear July 17 at the state AFL-CIO convention in San Antonio. Don Yarborough has labor's support in his unsuccessful runoff fight against Connally. Yarborough has said he will support Connally but some of Yarborough's campaign workers have asserted they are working for Cox. Hank Brown, state AFL-CIO president, says Connally may get labor support if he offers "a progressive program" to the state's workers. Brown hinted that Texas labor may endorse no candidate if Connally's overtures are not satisfactory. Cox went into a campaign week after a flying trip to Washington. He looked in on the Senate hearing where Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman was being questioned about Billie Sol Estes, had lunch with reporters, and addressed former President Dwight Eisenhower. Cox planned to be in Brownsville Sunday for a fish fry. The blessing of the shrimp lunch ceremony, and a 5:30 p.m. reception.

SNYDER AREA OIL

Cities Service Petroleum Company has completed a Wichita Albany discovery, No. 1-2, Johnson, in Seery County's Kelly-Snyder (Canyon reef) field. Its daily pumping potential is 45 barrels of 34.2 gravity oil and 65 barrels of water daily from perforations at 3,773, 3,729, 3,777 and 3,785 feet, which had been acidified with 20,000 gallons and fractured with 40,000 gallons. Location is 10 miles west of Snyder and 1,980 feet from north and 750 feet from east lines of section 200, block 97, H&C survey. Oil flowed during a Gloyer drillstem test in a Garza County wildcat, Eners Oil Corporation of Midland No. 1 Clifford Williams, with no gauges reported, during a two-hour test at 3,467-3,518 feet. Oil came to the top in 45 minutes. Flowing at the estimated rate of 20 barrels an hour. Operator reworked out a full string of oil. Flow pressures were 485 and 885 pounds, with a 30-minute final shut-in pressure of 1,185 pounds. The prospect now is waiting or about to be drilled to a depth of 3,568 feet, the total depth. It is two miles northeast of Post, 1 1/2 miles northeast of the Garza field and 900 feet from north and west lines of section 1, block 3, K. Aycock survey. British-American Oil Producing Company has field application to drill a 5,000-foot Wichita-Albany test, No. 1-B Berry, nine miles north of Westbrook, in Mitchell County. The explorer is 3 1/2 miles south-west of the Sharon Ridge field and 800 feet from south and west lines of section 80, block 97, H&C survey. H. L. Lockhart of Colorado City is to deepen an old producer, No. 1-C, C. Berry, in the Sharon Ridge field. See AREA OIL, Page 2.

High Altitude Nuclear Test Rescheduled

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States rescheduled the biggest high-altitude nuclear test of its current Pacific series Saturday for late July 4 or early July 5 above Johnston Island. Joint Task Force 8 announced the device would be detonated at an altitude of "hundreds of kilometers." It was understood the shot will be set off at a height of about 200 miles. The test was scheduled between the hours of 11 p.m. July 4 and 2:30 a.m. July 5—5 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. Eastern Daylight Time, July 5—subject to weather or technical delays. If the shot is not set off during this period it will be postponed to a time and date to be announced later. The nuclear detonation flash and fireball are expected to be clearly visible in Hawaii, 700 miles northeast of Johnston Island.

Oil Operator Is Freed Of Charge

DALLAS (AP)—Oil operator W. O. Davis Jr. of Longview was freed Saturday of felony theft charges by Justice of Peace Glenn Byrd. Davis was accused of a $6 million theft by selling eight oil leases allegedly containing illegally slanted or fake oil wells to NorTex Oil and Gas Corp. of Dallas in February, 1961. NorTex brought the charges. Byrd dismissed the theft charges after asserting the state had not proved a case in law to the grand jury against the East Texan. "I find that this party is not guilty," Byrd said. He discharged Davis, 40, from his $15,000 20-percent bond. Tears were in Davis' eyes as Byrd acted. "I've never stolen anything from anybody in my life, and I have never drilled a directional well," he said. "I were part of the second well production."

Celebrate Independence Day In Snyder Wednesday

China Reds Shift Center Of Forces

By FORREST EDWARDS
 TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — The Chinese Communists are moving the center of their military might from the north to central and South China, from where they could drive either against Formosa or Southeast Asia, Western military leaders said Saturday.

Reinforcement of Red units opposite Formosa is merely part of this major redeployment, they report.

They base their appraisal on a mountain of intelligence reports. The same sources predicted, well in advance, the massive Red artillery attacks of 1958 on Quemoy, the bustling Nationalist island fortress.

These Nationalists do not predict another major attack against Quemoy at this time, although they do not rule out that possibility.

They see two main reasons for the redeployment of the Red Chinese military forces to the south and central provinces.

First, the center of Asian unrest has moved from the Korean-Japan area to Southeast Asia. By drawing their military power southward, the Reds are closer to troubled Laos and South Vietnam, now torn by a Communist guerrilla campaign.

Second, the movement of thousands of fresh ground troops into the southern provinces could put down internal revolts. The Nationalists say that the Reds are having the most trouble from the civilian population in the south. Nationalist agents have reported riots and incipient riots by the hungry people in parts of South China.

One reason for the Nationalists' belief that the Reds plan no move against Quemoy now is the lack of any air or naval craft buildup along the southeast China coast.

The Red crisis showed that the Reds could not subdue Quemoy by artillery bombardment alone. The Nationalists say the Reds do not have in the Formosa Strait area air superiority which would be necessary for any assault on Quemoy.

Nationalist reconnaissance plane films show some Russian-built MIG-17 jet fighters have been moved into the area, but not enough to assert air dominance. Nevertheless, the films show an buildup of ammunition assault craft along the coast.

At the same time, the Nationalist military leaders indicate they plan no invasion of the mainland at this time.

"There is not now and never will be a change in our ultimate policy of going back to the mainland," said one highly placed source. "But there is a distinct difference between ultimate strategy and immediate tactics."

The present Nationalist policy was described as refraining from provocative action while being ready to resist any attack against Nationalist territory, including the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu, with or without U.S. support.

Police Are Criticized In Shooting

PORT WORTH (AP) — Police were flooded with critical phone calls Friday night after officers shot to death a young Negro who went berserk at his home.

The shooting was shown on television. Then the calls began.

John Scott, 30, a former mental patient who had delusions he was God, died in a hail of bullets after he hurled bricks and bottles at police and cursed them.

Capt. Dwight Johnston, commanding officer at the shooting, said callers — some of them as far away as Oklahoma City — accused the force of operating an execution squad.

"I feel bad that it happened, but I feel that shooting him was the only thing we could do," the captain said. "That man was a danger to himself and others."

The shooting came after the Negro's niece, Jeanette Cioptoz, called police that her uncle was chasing children, and trying to hit them with a four-foot length of pipe.

Officers arrived and the man retreated to his porch.

Scott, six-foot-five and 240 pounds, was a college graduate. He yelled a curse from the porch. "You better not try to jump in, or I'll kill every one of you."

When officers tried to subdue the man with a tear-gas grenade, Scott tossed it back to the officer. Some 20 officers, guns drawn, advanced toward Scott after he smashed a rock through a windshield of a patrol car.

When he came to ward them with the threatening pipe, the officers said her son was committed to a mental institution in California three years ago after he was found walking around in a white sheet, carrying a rifle.

Newest Ban Gives Mae Warm Feeling

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It gives Mae West kind of a warm feeling being banned again.

"Just like old times," said Mae West, still-remarkable chassis rotator in the familiar Westman manner.

She had received word that her new record, "Am I Too Young," had been banned by a San Francisco radio station. It was another ban to add to her long string. The list extends from being pinged for her New York play "Sex" to having her "Person to Person" segment dropped by CBS because her mirrored bed, boom and nude portraits were deemed too racy for the home screen.

I dropped out to Mae's seaside home at Santa Monica to learn about these and other matters. As usual, she was in the pink, relaxed and surrounded by portraits of herself with and without costumes.

"Interesting," she commented on the record ban. "I guess they thought it was a little too suggestive. Can't understand that."

She indicated that she would have her career going again, with the record and forthcoming album, "Peel Me a Grape." She might deliver the new songs in the flesh, so to speak, on a night club tour. Also cooking: a possible picture in Rome, an estimated $1 million "television series" called "Little Mae the Wickedest Woman in the World."

Suspect Is Sought In Mexico Slayings

MCCALLEN (AP)—Mexican and American police looked Saturday for a Mexican for questioning about the slaying of his wife and six-year-old son.

He is Jose Ramirez, 55. He was last seen in Brownsville, 40 miles from McAllen last Saturday.

The killings were at Rio Bravo, Mexico, 25 miles south of Reynosa. The first body was found last Wednesday.

The victims were slain with a machete and an ice pick and buried in shallow graves on a ranch. Two young girls who were slain also were raped.

Maharis Is Back On His Show Road

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—George Maharis is back on "Route 66" after an eight-week detour due to hepatitis.

This news should cheer his many teen-age fans who missed him on four of the CBS series outings this season. The company tried to shoot around him while he was battling the bug.

Maharis was again on the road with buddy Martin Miller, though they got no further than California, a dusty crossroads in the San Fernando Valley. The youngsters were doing a scene with a trio of ace scene-stealers, Joe E. Brown, Buster Keaton and Edgar Buchanan.

Maharis managed to find an air conditioning estate office to cool on after a night sequence in the 90-plus heat.

"Just what the doctor ordered," he said wryly. "When I asked him if I could come back to work, he says okay. I took it easy—four or five hours a day."

The first day I worked 12 hours, the second 15, the third 18. This is known as a recuperation.

Luckily George is a sturdy Greek and has bounced back from the hepatitis attack with no complications: With his schedule, he's got to have a sturdy constitution.

George has hit it big with the younger set, as evidenced by the sale of his record singles and albums. This has put him in demand for features, but so far he hasn't been able to accept.

"I'm supposed to get 10 weeks of vacation each year," he remarked. "It hasn't worked out that way. But this year I'm afraid I'll have to be a little tougher and demand the time off."

How long does he expect to keep traveling the same route?

"I think next season (the third) will be crucial. We're up against Mitch Miller on NBC and a couple of comedy shows on ABC Thursday night. If Miller continues to hold on or if the comedy shows catch on, we're finished. Otherwise we might be able to last another year or two."

Lodge Installation Set Monday Night

Installation of officers of the I.O.O.F. will be held tomorrow night.

The ceremony will take place in the lodge hall at Twenty-seventh Street and Avenue Z at 8 p.m.

To be installed as Noble Grand is Hardy Garrison. Bill Hanks will be installed as vice Noble Grand. Outstanding Noble Grand is G. P. Proctor.

JAMES STEWART, Lee Marvin and John Wayne are shown in a scene from "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," which is coming to the Canyon Drive In Theater here Wednesday, July 4.

Sandra Puts Education First

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Sandra Church, one of this year's more glamorous high school graduates, isn't through with education yet.

"I expect to enroll at Columbia University in the fall," she says, after finishing a year of high school work in three months.

Lots of bright students have done that—but none while playing Marion Brand's wife in a movie.

A few years ago Sandra was a junior at Immaculate Heart High School in Hollywood. A friend sent her photo to the Theatre Guild which was looking for a replacement for Janice Rule in the Broadway company of "Picnic."

"She got the role and didn't return to Hollywood until she was called to play Brand's wife in "The Ugly American."

In the meantime, she scored on Broadway as the young Gypsy Rose Lee in "Gypsy."

"I love New York. But like most child actresses—I've been in the business since I was 3—I resented having my education interrupted, even for stardom," Sandra says.

"It really bothered me. So I went to the Immaculate Heart and arranged to study nights and weekends. I didn't get my diploma. It was hard work but I enjoyed every minute of it."

"I expect to be in New York this fall, so I plan to take courses at Columbia. It may take some years but I eventually hope to get a degree."

"I give myself projects to complete—and I always do," she adds. After "Gypsy" her project was a three-month trip to the Orient.

Sandra says her next project is Europe. She alienates herself from show business—when she travels.

"It's very easy to do because I'm mostly alienated even when I'm in it," she explains. "I go to parties and people want me to sing. I just won't sing unless I'm on stage. I never read the movie columns, or gossip columns of any kind. I do read the notices for the Broadway openings."

"There's too much happening of real importance in the world to bother with trivia."

She attributes her attitude about show business to the fact that she grew up in L.A.

Sandra was born in San Francisco but moved to Los Angeles as a child after her father's death. Her mother, who had always wanted to be an actress, enrolled her daughter in drama school when Sandra was only 5.

"I took singing and dancing lessons, too. I've been at show business ever since. And you know something? The only training I ever liked was in classical singing—something that I have yet to do professionally."

Sandra, in her early 20s, is a slender, curly elfin, 5-feet-3.

She sews, cooks and is a good enough artist to have one of her schoolgirl entries taken on national tours with the National Scholastic Competition.

She is unmarried and at 20 pounds looks more like a high school graduate of 1962 than the whammo stripper of "Gypsy."

Earhart Mystery Remains Clueless

By M. A. RAISER
OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — "Gas is running low." "Been unable to reach you by radio." "We are circling but cannot see you."
 These last desperate words of Amelia Earhart were heard by tense listeners on tiny Howland Island in the lonely wastes of the Pacific Ocean 25 years ago, on July 2, 1937.
 After that, silence. And a clueless mystery that has captivated the imaginations of thousands from that day to this.
 Did America's most famous woman flyer and her able navigator, Fred J. Noonan, lose their way and blunder to their deaths in the sea?
 Did Noonan make a navigation error of more than 90 degrees and fly northwest toward Saipan Island?
 Was the end of Miss Earhart's life skin started in some ocean way to the land spit that is Howland Island?
 Was she on a secret espionage mission for the United States government?
 Did she literally talk herself into disaster, dragging the hapless Noonan with her? Did she have a premonition of death in the far Pacific?
 Or did Japanese militarists rescue the two Americans—only to take their lives later?
 All these ideas have their advocates.
 First, who was Amelia Earhart?
 She was called "Lady Lindy" because of her supposed resemblance to transatlantic flier Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.
 She had a slender, almost lanky figure, short windblown auburn hair and a freckled face known to millions.
 Born in Atchison, Kan., July 24, 1898, she learned to fly by the time she was 20.
 Ten years later, while doing social service work in Boston, she went along for the ride with fliers William Stutz and Louis Gordon when they flew the Atlantic June 7, 1928.
 She decided to make aviation her career and was encouraged by her husband, the late George Palmer Putnam, a New York publisher whom she married in 1931.
 She soloed the Atlantic in 1932 and the Pacific from Honolulu to Oakland in 1933. Then she began planning the world flight.
 "Why this 'round the world flight'?" her husband asked her shortly before she took off in 1937.
 "Because I want to. Pilots are always dreaming dreams. But if the flight is successful I hope it will increase women's interest in flying."
 "I realize the danger of the world flight. But I just must try. With it behind me, life will be fuller and richer. I can be content. Afterward, it will be fun to grow old."
 But she also once said, prophetically, "I think probably I'll not live to be old."
 Her global flight was originally charted westward from Oakland, Paul Mantz, famed movie stunt flier who was her technical adviser, said he planned that way as a safety factor—because of Howland Island.
 "If she missed Howland, she would have had enough gas to get back to Honolulu," recalled Mantz, who at 58 now operates a flying service at Santa Ana, Calif.
 Mantz made the first leg from Oakland to Honolulu with her and navigator Noonan March 17, 1937. The 2,400-mile flight took 15 hours, 51½ minutes. Jets now fly it in 4 hours, 45 minutes.
 The next hop was 1,332 miles over water to Howland.
 But they didn't get close to Howland that time. As the plane roared down the Honolulu runway March 29, 1937, a tire blew and the plane cracked up. Miss Earhart and Noonan, 44 and a recent bridegroom, escaped injury.
 The plane, a Lockheed 10 low-wing monoplane, cost $88,000 and had a top speed of 205 miles an hour, was repaired for a new start from Oakland, which she regarded as her lucky city.
 She and Noonan took off again May 20, 1937. This time they flew in the opposite direction, eastward, to benefit from prevailing tailwinds.
 Their progress was reported from faraway places—Dutch Guiana, Natal, Brazil, St. Louis, French Senegal; over the jungles and deserts of Africa to Khartoum, to Massawa across the Red Sea and Arabia to India.
 Finally, they reached Lae, New Guinea.
 Their next stop was to be Howland Island. But this time it would be 2,336 miles over water—and no turning back if gasoline ran low.
 After Miss Earhart took off from Lae, squalls and electrical storms were reported across her flight path.
 No scrap of wreckage was ever found, despite one of the greatest air-sea searches ever made by the U.S. Navy.
 "The weather was bright and clear during the 10-day search," recalled retired Vice Adm. Donald B. Beary, 73, Coronado, Calif., who was executive officer of the searching battleship Colorado.
 "It is my guess that Miss Earhart ran out of fuel, crashed and drowned."
 Aboard the Colorado as a civilian guest was the late Dr. M.E. Brittain, then president of Georgia Institute of Technology—Georgia Tech.
 The Japanese, whose ship aided in the search for Miss Earhart and Noonan, denied any knowledge of their fate.
 Saipan Island in the Marianas is 1,500 miles north of Lae. Miss Earhart's final hopping off place, Fred Goerner, 36, a Navy veteran and radio newsmen at San Francisco, believes Miss Earhart and Noonan came down safely and were taken to Saipan by the Japanese.

LVN Applicants To Meet Thursday

All persons interested in the Licensed Vocational Nurses course to be given by Coedell Hospital this fall have been asked to meet in the hospital dining room this Thursday, July 5, at 1 p.m.
 Bill Newsom, hospital administrator, said it would be to the benefit of those interested to attend this meeting. Enrollment in the Aug. 15 course will not be limited to those attending the Thursday meeting, but, according to Newsom, those attending would have an advantage over those who did not.
 The school is co-sponsored by the hospital and the Snyder school system. It will be coordinated by J. C. Jackson, school Vocational Counselor, and will be instructed by Miss Louise Stinson, R. N.

 Qualifications for the course include a high school education, age between 18 and 50 years, and a sincere desire to become a Licensed Vocational Nurse. The qualifications of each applicant must be reviewed by the instructor and other officials of the hospital and the Texas Education Agency.
 In the two previous classes Coedell Hospital has graduated 35 Licensed Vocational Nurses, and each year has placed students in the top 10 in the state examinations. That examination is taken at the end of the one-year instruction period provided the student has successfully met the requirements of the school.
 Fees for the course include a $25 registration and $5 each month for tuition. The student must purchase her own books and uniforms. A stipend is provided by the hospital for those hours actually worked on the hospital floor.

Wife Of Airman Killed In Wreck

CHANDLER, Okla. (AP)—The wife of an airman stationed at Shepherd Air Force Base at Wichita Falls, Tex., was killed Saturday when the family station wagon hit a bridge on the Turner Turnpike.
 She was Mrs. Ann Marie Dodson, 23, wife of Donald Dodson, 26, of Wolcottville, Ind. Dodson is a member of Headquarters Squadron, Section 379, MS group.
 Police said Dodson apparently went to sleep driving. The crash site is nine miles west of here. An 11-month old daughter of the Dodsons, Karen Frances, was thrown to the paving but suffered only minor injuries. Two sons, Donald Jr., 4, and Thomas, 2, also received scratches and bruises.

Summer Recess Is Started By Court

AUSTIN (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals started its summer recess Saturday until Oct. 1.
 In a brief session Saturday the court reversed and sent back for retrial in Jim Wells County the case of Benito Carrillo. The state confessed error in allowing Carrillo to plead guilty to robbery by assault when he had been indicted for theft from person. The reversal erased a two-year prison sentence assessed Carrillo in Arice.

Newest Ban Gives Mae Warm Feeling

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It gives Mae West kind of a warm-feeling being banned again.

"Just like old times," said Mae, her still-remarkable chassis rotating in the familiar Western manner.

"I had received word that her new record, 'Am I Too Young,' had been banned by a San Francisco radio station. It was another merit badge to add to my string. The list extended from being punished for her New York play 'See' to having her 'Person to Person' segment dropped by CBS because her mirrored bedroom and nude portraits were deemed too racy for the home screen.

"I dropped out to Mae's seaside home at Santa Monica to learn about this and other news. As usual, she was in the pink negligee and surrounded by portraits of herself, with and without costuming.

"Very interesting," she commented on the record ban. "I guess they thought it was a little too suggestive. Can't understand that."

"She indicated that she would get her career going again, with the record and forthcoming album, 'Feel Me a Grape.' She might deliver the new songs in the flesh, so to speak, on a night club tour. Also cooking: a possible picture in Rome, an animated (what else) television series called 'Little Mae, the Wickedest Woman in the World.'

"Mae had some observations about the current Hollywood situation, in which stars are accused of sabotaging the film industry by their high demands and low work habits.

"I think the answer might be to give these stars a percentage of the profits rather than big salaries," she observed. "Then the studios can make the pictures

Suspect Is Sought In Mexico Slayings

MCALLEN (AP)—Mexican and American police looked Saturday for a Mexican for questioning about the deaths of his wife and six stepchildren.

He is Jose Hernandez, 55. He was last seen in Reynosa, 10 miles from McAllen last Saturday.

The killings were at Rio Bravo, Mexico, 25 miles south of Reynosa. The first body was found last Wednesday.

The victims were slain with a machete and an ice pick and buried in shallow graves on a ranch. Two young girls who were slain also were raped.

Maharis Is Back On His Show Road

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—George Maharis is back on "Route 66" after an eight-week detour due to hepatitis.

This news should cheer his many teen-age fans who missed him on four of the CBS series outings this season. The company tried to shoot around him while he was battling the bug.

Maharis was again on the road with buddy Martin Milner, though they got no further than Calabasas, a dusty crossroads in the San Fernando Valley. The youngsters were doing a sequence with a trio of ace scene-stealers, Joe E. Brown, Buster Keaton and Edgar Buchanan.

Maharis managed to find an air-conditioned real estate office to cool off after a fight sequence in the 90-plus heat.

"Just what the doctor ordered," he said wryly. "When I asked him if I could come back to work, he says okay, if I took it easy—four or five hours a day.

The first day I worked 12 hrs. the second 15, the third 18. This is known as a recuperation. Luckily George is a sturdy Greek and has bounced back from the hepatitis attack with no complications. With his schedule, he's got to have a sturdy constitution.

George has hit it big with the younger set, as evidenced by the sale of his record singles and albums. This has put him in demand for features, but so far he hasn't been able to accept.

"I'm supposed to get 10 weeks of vacation each year," he remarked. "It hasn't worked out that way. But this year I'm afraid I'll have to be a little tougher and demand the time off."

How long does he expect to keep traveling the same route? "I think next season (the third) will be crucial. We're up against Mitch Miller on NBC and a couple of comedy shows on ABC Thursday night. If Miller continues to hold on or if the comedy shows catch on, we're finished. Otherwise we might be able to last another year or two."

Lodge Installation Set Monday Night

Installation of officers of the I.O.O.F. will be held tomorrow night at the lodge hall at Twenty-seventh Street and Avenue 2, at 8 p.m.

To be installed as Noble Grand is Hardy Garrison. Bill Hanks will be installed as vice Noble Grand. Outgoing Noble Grand is G. P. Proctor.

JAMES STEWART, Lee Marvin and John Wayne are shown in a scene from "The Man Who Shot Liberty Valance," which is coming to the Canyon Drive In Theater here Wednesday, July 4.

Sandra Puts Education First

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Sandra Church, one of this year's more glamorous high school graduates, isn't through with education yet.

"I expect to enroll at Columbia University in the fall," she says, after finishing a year of high school work in three months.

Lots of bright students have done that—but some while playing Marlon Brando's wife in a movie.

A few years ago Sandra was a junior at Immaculate Heart High School in Hollywood. A friend sent her photo to the Theatre Guild which was looking for a replacement for Janice Rule in the Broadway company of "Picnic."

She got the role and didn't return to Hollywood until she was called to play Brando's wife in "The Ugly American."

In the meantime, she scored on Broadway as the young Gypsy Rose Lee in "Gypsy."

"I love New York. But like most child actresses—I've been in the business since I was 5—I resented having my education interrupted, even for stardom," Sandra says.

"It really bothered me. So I went to the Immaculate Heart and arranged to study nights and weekends so I could get my diploma. It was hard work but I enjoyed every minute of it.

"I expect to be in New York this fall, so I plan to take courses at Columbia. It may take some years but I eventually hope to get a degree.

"I give myself projects to complete—and I always do," she adds. After "Gypsy," her project was a three-month trip to the Orient. Sandra says her next project is Europe.

She alienates herself from show business when she travels.

"It's very easy to do because I'm mostly alienated even when I'm in it," she explains. "I go to parties and people want me to sing. I just won't sing unless I'm on stage. I never read the movie columns, or gossip columns of any kind. I do read the notices for the Broadway openings.

"There's too much happening of real importance in the world to bother with trivia."

She attributes her attitude about show business to the fact that she grew up in it.

Sandra was born in San Francisco but moved to Los Angeles as a child after her father's death. Her mother, who had always wanted to be an actress, enrolled her daughter in drama school when Sandra was only 8.

"I took singing and dancing lessons, too. I've been at show business ever since. And you know something? The only training I ever liked was in classical singing—something that I have yet to do professionally."

Sandra, in her early 20s, is a slender, curvy girl, 5-foot-8.

She sews, cooks and is a good enough artist to have one of her schoolgirl entries taken on national tour with the National Scholastic Art Competition.

She is unmarried and at 90 pounds looks more like a high school graduate of 1952 than the whammy stripper of "Gypsy."

LVN Applicants To Meet Thursday

All persons interested in the Licensed Vocational Nurses course to be given by Cogdell Hospital this fall have been asked to meet in the hospital dining room this Thursday, July 5, at 1 p.m.

Bill Newsom, hospital administrator, said it would be to the benefit of those interested to attend this meeting. Enrollment in the Aug. 15 course will not be limited to those attending the Thursday meeting, but, according to Newsom, those attending would have an advantage over those who did not.

The school is co-sponsored by the hospital and the Snyder school system. It will be coordinated by J. C. Jackson, school Vocational Counselor, and will be instructed by Miss Louisea Stinson, R. N.

Qualifications for the course include a high school education, age between 18 and 50 years, and a sincere desire to become a Licensed Vocational Nurse. The qualifications of each applicant must be reviewed by the instructor and other officials of the hospital and the Texas Education Agency.

In the two previous classes Cogdell Hospital has graduated 35 Licensed Vocational Nurses, and each year has placed students in the top 10 in the state examinations. That examination is taken at the end of the one-year instruction period provided the student has successfully met the requirements of the school.

Fees for the course include a $25 registration and $5 each month for tuition. The student must purchase her own books and uniforms. A stipend is provided by the hospital for those hours actually worked on the hospital floor.

Wife Of Airman Killed In Wreck

CHANDLER, Okla. (AP)—The wife of an airman stationed at Shepherd Air Force Base at Wichita Falls, Tex., was killed Saturday when the family station wagon hit a bridge on the Turner Turnpike.

She was Mrs. Ann Marie Dodson, 23, wife of Donald Dodson, 25, of Wolcottville, Ind. Dodson is a member of Headquarters Squadron, Section 230, MS group.

Police said Dodson apparently went to sleep driving. The crash site is nine miles west of here.

An 11-month old daughter of the Dodsons, Karen Frances, was thrown to the paving but suffered only minor injuries. Two sons, Donald Jr., 4, and Thomas, 2, also received scratches and bruises.

Summer Recess Is Started By Court

AUSTIN (AP)—The Court of Criminal Appeals started its summer recess Saturday until Oct. 1.

In a brief-session Saturday the court reversed and sent back for retrial in Jim Wells County the case of Benito Carrillo. The state confessed error in allowing Carrillo to plead guilty to robbery by assault when he had been indicted for theft from person. The reversal erased a two-year prison sentence assessed Carrillo in Alice.

Earhart Mystery Remains Clueless

By M. A. RAISER

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—"Gas is running low." "Been unable to reach you by radio." "We are circling but cannot see you."

These last desperate words of Amelia Earhart were heard by tense listeners on tiny Howland Island in the lonely wastes of the Pacific Ocean 25 years ago, on July 2, 1937.

After that—silence. And a clueless mystery that has captivated the imaginations of thousands from that day to this.

Did America's most famous woman flier and her able navigator, Fred J. Noonan, lose their way and blunder to their deaths in the sea?

Did Noonan make a navigational error of more than 90 degrees and fly northwest toward Saipan Island?

Was the end of Miss Earhart's life sketched in some eerie way to the sand spit that is Howland Island?

Was she on a secret espionage mission for the United States government?

Did she literally talk herself into disaster, dragging the hapless Noonan with her? Did she have a premonition of death in the far Pacific?

Or did Japanese militarists rescue the two Americans only to take their lives later?

All these ideas have their advocates.

First, who was Amelia Earhart? She was called "Lady Lindy" because of her supposed resemblance to transatlantic flier Col. Charles A. Lindbergh.

She had a slender, almost lanky figure, short windblown auburn hair and a freckled face known to millions.

Born in Atchison, Kan., July 24, 1898, she learned to fly by the time she was 20.

Ten years later, while doing social service work in Boston, she went along for the ride with fliers William Stutz and Louis Gordon when they flew the Atlantic June 7, 1923.

She decided to make aviation her career and was encouraged by her husband, the late George Palmer Putnam, a New York publisher whom she married in 1931.

She solved the Atlantic in 1932 and the Pacific from Honolulu to Oakland in 1935. Then she began planning the world flight—her last.

"Why this 'round' the world flight?" her husband asked her shortly before she took off in 1937.

Miss Earhart smiled.

"Because I want to. Pilots are always dreaming dreams. But if the flight is successful I hope it will increase women's interest in flying."

"I realize the danger of the world flight. But I just must try. With it behind me, life will be fuller and richer. I can be content. Afterward, it will be fun to grow old."

But she also once said, prophetically, "I think probably I'll not live to be old."

Her global flight was originally charted westward from Oakland, Paul Mantz, famed movie stunt flier who was her technical adviser, said he planned it that way as a safety factor—because of "Howland Island."

"If she missed Howland, she would have had enough gas to get back to 'Honolulu,'" recalled Mantz, who at 58 now operates a flying service at Santa Ana, Calif.

Mantz made the first leg from Oakland to Honolulu with her and navigator Noonan March 17, 1937. The 2,400-mile flight took 15 hours, 57 minutes. Jet's now fly it in 4 hours, 45 minutes.

The next hop was 1,532 miles over water to Howland.

But they didn't get close to Howland that time. As the plane roared down the Honolulu runway March 20, 1937, a tire blew and the plane cracked up. Miss Earhart and Noonan, 44 and a recent bridegroom, escaped injury.

The plane, a Lockheed, 10-horsepower monoplane that cost $30,000 and had a top speed of 205 miles an hour, was repaired for a new start from Oakland, which she regarded as her lucky city.

She and Noonan took off again May 20, 1937. This time they flew in the opposite direction, eastward, to benefit from prevailing tail-winds.

Their progress was reported from faraway places—Dutch Guiana, Natal, Brazil, St. Louis, French Senegal, over the jungles and deserts of Africa to Khartoum, and Massawa, across the Red Sea and Arabia to India.

Finally, they reached Lae, New Guinea.

Their next stop was to be Howland Island. But this time it would be 2,556 miles over water—and no turning back if gasoline ran low.

After Miss Earhart took off from Lae, squalls and electrical storms were reported across her flight path.

"No scrap of wreckage ever found, despite one of the greatest air-sea searches ever made, by U.S. Navy.

"The weather was bright and clear during the 10-day search," recalled retired Vice Adm. Donald B. Beary, 73, Coronado, Calif., who was executive officer of the searching battleship Colorado.

"It is my guess that Miss Earhart ran out of fuel, crashed and drowned."

Aboard the Colorado as a civilian guest was the late Dr. M.L. Brittain, then president of Georgia Institute of Technology—Georgia Tech.

The Japanese, whose ships aided in the search for Miss Earhart and Noonan, denied any knowledge of their fate.

Saipan Island in the Marianas is 1,500 miles north of Lae. Miss Earhart's final hopping off place, Fred Goerner, 36, a Navy veteran and radio newsmen at San Francisco, believes Miss Earhart and Noonan came down safely and were taken to Saipan by the Japanese.

A SECTION OF SANDSTONE showing prehistoric animal tracks discovered at Seven Wells was the find that launched the historical museum in Colorado City. The tracks were removed to the lawn of the museum and placed in a wire enclosure.

CATCHING THE EYE of visitors to the museum in Colorado City is this horse-drawn hearse of an earlier era. Harry Ratliff, president of the museum stands by the rear of the vehicle which has been restored to "like-new" condition.

ANOTHER VEHICLE WHICH BRINGS BACK MEMORIES is this surry with the fringe on top. Colorado City old-timers remember when this surry was in daily use, and recall that the family never missed a Sunday in coming to church in it. In the foreground is a carpet-covered side saddle.

THE NEWEST FIND and possibly most important is this mammoth skull which once belonged to an animal 18 feet tall and 40 feet long. Mr. Ratliff points to the piece of flint which was possibly a weapon of a prehistoric man embedded in the skull.

History Preserved In C-City

By DICK ROBERTS
COLORADO CITY — People in one area of West Texas owe a vote of thanks to Harry Ratliff, Colorado City attorney, for making possible the preservation of many bits of West Texas history. Under the leadership of Ratliff a museum has been established in the old American Legion hall in downtown Colorado City. It welcomes loans and donations of anything old, and the visitors will find relics such as fossilized bones thousands of years old in a way up to a juke box, circa 1937. Mitchell County, while producing the majority of exhibits, is not the only county represented. Several items have been donated or loaned by Scurry County and others. One picture on display shows the "Try This Hotel" in Snyder in the 1880s. County lines meant very little to early settlers, and this entire area grew up together, and a picture of Pete Snyder is displayed along with other area pioneers. Snyder's name was given to our city after the "Robber's Roost" title became obnoxious to the citizens of the little settlement on Deep Creek. One of the latest and possibly most important finds to be presented to the historical museum at Colorado City is the skeleton of a mammoth, thousands of years old, which was uncovered by a drag-line operator early this year. The operator saw the 18-foot tusk in the gravel-pit where he was working, but was unable to stop the bucket before it broke the tusk. However, the skull was not damaged. Many such bones have been found in this area of West Texas.

but this skull is unique in that a piece of flint is imbedded in the skull between the eyes. The portion of the rock which protrudes shows some evidence that it was shaped by human hands. If so, and if anthropologists can prove that it was driven into the living animal, it will prove once and for all that man and mammoth lived here at the same time. It has never been proved beyond doubt that the two were simultaneous residents. The rest of the skeleton has not been disturbed, but will be unearthed when experts are available to supervise the digging. Colorado City diggers have agreed to do the initial rough digging around the area. Many other items of interest are to be found at the museum. Many early-day utensils such as a cast-iron fired iron are on display. Branding irons, including a slave branding iron, which were used by early settlers are on display. Clothing of the early settlers—their boots—their tools—their weapons—their court records, make for fascinating viewing at the museum. A good collection of snakes is also to be seen, each with its own special history. At present the museum is open on Wednesday and Sunday from 2 until 5 p.m. A quick scanning of the visitor's register showed that more than half of the visitors were from Mitchell County, but rather than from many far distant places, many out-of-state. As Mr. Ratliff said, many people inherit or find old and interesting items which they don't know what to do with. They don't have room to keep them, and they're too good to throw away. "That's where we come in," he said. "We'll take them as a gift or as a loan. Either way, people get to see them, and we're saving something of our heritage for our youngsters."

12-Year-Old Bull Market Deflated

By E. MORSE
AP Business News Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The 12-year-old Bull Market "balloon burst in the first half year of 1962 and Wall Street is trying to pick up the pieces. Some of the wreckage was being salvaged in the third week of June. Stocks rallied after sinking to the depths reached twice in 1956 and once in 1957—a "triple top." That recovery, though the biggest gain in two years, was midsize compared with the giant fall from December's historic heights. The Bull Market, it is generally agreed, began in 1949 and ended last December. The chief argument for buying stocks was a hedge against inflation. President Kennedy's program for "non-inflationary" growth, therefore, has been cited as a factor in the stock slide. After 12 weeks of irregular action in early 1962, the market began its descent in April. The "Black Monday" collapse of May 28 may have been the loud noise after the balloon had been punctured. Most of the damage had already been done. In five days before "Black Monday" the market suffered its worst weekly decline in history. Statisticians have estimated that this spring's decline involved the loss of $150 billion in stock values—equal to about half of the U.S. national debt. President Kennedy's rollback of the steel price increases has been cited by some Wall Streeters—but denied by the administration—as the "trigger" of the 1962 stock collapse. Stock prices, however, had been weakening earlier. Industrial stocks weakened as a slackening of steel buying was anticipated because of the prospects of an early steel pace. Previously, buying was heavy as a hedge against a possible strike. With peace in the industry, steel output fell from a 27-month high in February to a 16-month low in June. The market actually broke through its first 1962 "floor" — at about 600 in the Dow Jones Industrial average — on news that U.S. steel had raised prices. It was the first significant market breakdown. Stocks firmed initially on news of Kennedy's successful rollback of steel prices. Then, as the President's policy drew more and more adverse comment, the market skidded at an increasing rate. Fossils, hippopotamuses and pigmy elephants found in shadowy caves on Malta suggest that Malta was once part of a land bridge between Europe and Africa.

SHERRELL BELL

Student On Honor Roll

It has been announced that Sherrell Bell, summer school student at Texas Tech, has been named to the Dean's Honor Roll. Miss Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Bell, Lubbock Highway, was honored by Dean Wilma Vaughan Tinsley. She is majoring in home economics education. Miss Bell is a 1960 graduate of Snyder High School. She will be a senior at Texas Tech this fall.

Try American Way, Krush Tells Soviets

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev has told Soviet farmers to get rid of bureaucratic, old-fashioned methods and learn from the Americans. "Lentil did not consider it shameful to learn skillful management from the capitalists," Khrushchev said. "It is a shame not to learn... let us learn. We will make use of everything new and advanced in the organization of agricultural output."

He especially singled out U.S. poultry production practices as a good example, and added: "Here, on most of our farms, everything is done as in the olden days, like grandmother did it. That is why poultry meat is considerably more expensive here." Khrushchev also denounced regional and district officials who bog down agricultural progress with endless paper work and speeches. "A general speech is worthless," Khrushchev said. "You can't produce meat with that. It is necessary to teach, teach and teach again the new advanced methods."

Khrushchev's speech was delivered earlier this week at a Kremlin conference on the Soviet Union's mishandled agricultural system. It was published today by the press and read on Moscow radio. It took an announcer more than two hours and 15 minutes to read it.

New State Bank Sought At Bowie
AUSTIN (AP)—Banking Commissioner J. M. Falkner received Saturday an application for a new state bank at Bowie in Montague County. The Bowie Bank & Trust Co. would have capital of $200,000, surplus of $200,000 and reserves of $100,000. James Taylor of Bowie is projected as president. Other directors are Elmer Caswell of Sunset, Bill Davis of Bellevue, Ray Fomello of Montague, and J. C. Gregory, Glynne Griffin, Donald Mann and Ward Stine, all of Bowie. No date has been set for a hearing.

From me to you A DAILY VIEW
Rev. R. Charles Spivey
"And John, calling to him two of his disciples, sent them to the Lord saying, 'Are you he who is to come, or shall we look for another?'"

Like 7:19 (read verses 19-35)
This agner question has been asked many times by sceptics and doubters. "Are you, Jesus, the one who will fill our souls' aching need; or should we look for another?" Many men are searching for their souls' peace, and fill their lives in many places, and fill their lives with many things, yet find a hidden longing, a deep ache, a well of sorrow springing forth from their soul.
"Are you he, or shall we go on to another?" Pause, my friend, and look long, drink deep. Do you discover that the weary are unburdened; the sorrowing are comforted; the anxious are calmed; the sick are made whole; the afraid are given peace; and all are welcomed home; and in his arms you will find that indeed, he is the one. Your search is over.

Colt All-Star Team Released

Roby's champion Citizens State Bank Tigers, with six players named, dominate the Colt League All-Stars for 1962 as announced this weekend.

The second-place Von Roeder Seed Farmers Red Sox placed four performers on the team. The Ray Taylor Well Service Phillies three, and the Wilson Motors Yankees two. Roby and Ray Taylor each had one alternate named, also.

Yankee Leslie Brown sports the quietest batting average among the team members, according to figures, submitted by league statistician Glendon Bynum. Brown has hit a lousy .421.

The complete roster, along with averages, is as follows:

Phillies—Kenneth Gay (.302), Jay Williamson (.269), Blake Roberts (.250).

Yankees—Leslie Brown (.421), Jim Marcum (.200).

Roby Tigers—Barry Hughey (.289), Bob Waddell (.240), Tony Foreman (.233), Donnie Daniel (.268), Jimmy Heathington (.233), Jimmy Inzer (.200).

Red Sox—Jimmy Featherston (.322), Tom Kincaid (.332), Harley Bynum (.231), Jimmy Weaver (.190).

Alternates—Yogi Gilleland (Roby), .071, Rob Hall (Phillies), .290.

Early Wynn Gets No. 296

CHICAGO (AP)—Veteran Early Wynn, struggling to reach the coveted figure of 300 major league victories, pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 7-0 five-hit triumph over Cleveland Saturday.

Notching the 296th success of an illustrious career, the 42-year-old right-hander fanned eight men to run his lifetime strikeouts total to 2,261 giving him eighth place on the all-time list—four more than Eddie Plank.

Wynn received all the support

he needed from another oldtimer, 35-year-old Charley Maxwell, obtained from Detroit earlier last week, slammed a three-run homer off Mudgett Grant in the first inning and for the second and successive game provided the key blow in helping the Sox whip the Indians.

Maxwell doubled home a pair of runs Saturday night in another three-run first inning which led to a 3-2 triumph over the league-leading but shaky Indians.

Denson Drops Taylor, 10-0; Greenhill Wins

Denson Gulf kept its unbeaten City Softball League slate clean Friday with a 10-0 blanking of Ray Taylor Well Service behind the offerings of Lonnie Crosby.

Crosby struck out 14 and was touched for only a pair of singles by Murphy in the second and Lane in the fifth.

For Denson, Lynn Halamicsek singled out a homer, double and single in three trips to the plate. Howard Jones chimed in with a pair of doubles and a single in four times up; Doug Chittsey slapped a three-run homer in the sixth and a double; and Ronnie Winkles added a two-base blow to the cause.

Zelmer Glover was charged with the defeat.

Greenhill Batters dropped West Texas Machine 7-4 in the other contest of the evening.

Nunley chucked his mates to victory in that one. Grady Gafford was the losing moundsman.

Greenhill had its most fruitful innings in the first and second, when two and three runs were scored, respectively. West Texas tallied two of its four markers in the second.

Oddities Evident In Dream Team Lineups

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—One of the most interesting of all major league All-Star lineups was announced Saturday when the players named an all-right-handed hitting National League lineup and a "freshman" studded American League squad to meet in the two-month summer spectacles this year.

National League Manager Fred Hutchinson will have eight right-handed batters, exclusive of the pitcher, when his team faces Ralph Houk's star performers.

Washington on Tuesday, July 10, and again in Chicago's Wrigley Field on Monday, July 30.

The NL team will be headed by San Francisco's slugger, twins, Orlando Cepeda and Willie Mays, 229 and 213, respectively. Cepeda, who made the All-Star team last year, was left under the wire as first base Mays, of course, will be in center field. The only other National League repeater is Roberto Clemente, who edged out Felipe Alou of the Giants for right field in the closest balloting for the position.

The American League squad was full of surprises.

Minnesota's Rich Rollins, whom even the Twins expected to be in the lineup this year, defeated such established stars as Brooks Robinson, Clete Boyer and Frank Malzone for third base honors.

The 24-year-old redhead has been up among the league's leading hitters and RBI men all season. He topped all AL vote-getters with 184. Mickey Mantle, the center field choice, was next with 182.

At even more distinct surprise was the choice of Billy Moran of Los Angeles as the All-Star second baseman. Moran, who was a flop with Cleveland several years ago, was brought up by the Angels from Toronto only last June.

He is batting over .300 and has made only three errors in 73 games.

Another brand new face in the All-Star lineup is Leon Wagner of the Angels, who was the players' choice over the more established Rocky Colavito, Detroit's home run king. Wagner, a National League reject, is leading the American League in home runs with 21 through Friday's games. Roger Maris, the only AL repeater from last year's All-Star squad besides Mantle, completed the starting outfield.

The remainder of the American League starting squad, exclusive of the pitcher, included Jim Gentile, Baltimore, first base; Luis Aparicio, Chicago, shortstop; and Earl Battey, Minnesota, catcher.

The National League infield consisted of Cepeda at first, Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski at second, St. Louis' Ken Boyer at third and Pittsburgh's Dick Groat at shortstop.

stop. Mays and Clemente were joined in the outfield by Tommy Davis of Los Angeles, Del Crandall of Milwaukee, who was out virtually all of last season because of a knee injury, and the catching honors over John Roseboro of Los Angeles.

Princeton won the 1962 Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association title with a 9-0 record and stretched its streak to 23 straight matches, dating back to the final contest of 1959.

Player, Cupit Tied For Western Lead

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP)—Gary Player, seeking his first victory since the 1961 Masters, drilled a 69 Saturday and Jacky Cupit, last year's No. 1 rookie, shot a 71, to tie for the 34-hole lead of the Western Golf Open with a 3-under-par 216.

Player, 26-year-old South African, belted Medinah's tough par 36-35-71 with 35-34. Cupit, 24-year-old Texan, who won the Canadian Open last year, fashioned a 35-36.

The two young pros, playing together before a gallery of 15,000, entered the last nine holes with Cupit holding a two-stroke edge.

Player dropped a 10-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the 11th. Cupit took a bogey 5 with three putts on the 16th and the match was tied. They parred the last two.

Meanwhile, Jack Nicklaus made his move with birdies on the 12th and 15th to be 2-under-par for the tournament. But as he came in into range of the lead, he zoomed to a triple bogey 7 on the 465-yard 16th.

His drive was in the woods, his second shot hit the lake and he eventually reached the green in four and three putts.

Nicklaus trapped his tee shot on the 204-yard 17th and took a bogey 4. He parred 13 to round out a 35-35-73 for 216.

Blowups by Paul Harey, who shared the second round lead with Cupit at 139, and Fred Hawkins, the first day pacesetter, placed them also in the 216 bracket.

Harey posted 35-41-77 with six bogeys on the back side. Hawkins was 36-40-76, 'forgetting' shots to par on five of the last nine holes.

Bill Casper with a par 71 made up the fourth player at 216.

While the front runners were faltering, Julius Boros and Jim Ferre worked into third place at 215. Boros came in with a 34-36-70 and Ferre coupled 33s for a 70.

At 217 were Gary Brewer with a 32-36-68, Tommy Jacobs 35-37-73 and Stan Leonard 36-36-72.

Brewer's sparkling 68 with eight one-putt greens was overshadowed by a course record 34-32-66 by Eddie Mertrins, a 29-year-old club pro from Rye, N.Y.

Bracketed at 219 were Arnold Palmer, Johnny Pott, Gene Litter, Bob Shave and Howie Johnson.

Palmer, Johnson and Howie Johnson.

Entry fee for each doubles participant is one dollar, the charge for singles $1.50.

First round pairings will be announced in Monday's edition of the Daily News. Some Monday morning tournament activity is on tap, and those scheduled at that time will be notified by telephone.

H-SU Signs Lamesa Star

ABILENE—Two all-district full-backs from West Texas have signed athletic scholarship agreements with Hardin-Simmons University. Coach Jack Thomas has announced.

The two are Earl Hatchett of Lamesa and Jerry Ray Lester of Stinnett. Hatchett stands 5-10 and weighs 187. He is a three-year football letterman from Lamesa High School where he was named to the All-District 3-AAA team, the All-South Plains eleven, and the Abilene Reporter-News' All-Area team.

Hatchett, who plays linebacker on defense, lettered in track and basketball. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Hatchett of Lamesa, he plans to major in business administration at H-SU.

Lester is 5-11 in height and weighs 190 pounds. He plays full-back on offense and end on defense. He was named to the Class A honorable mention all-state squad last season. He also lettered in track and basketball.

Alou Smashes 2 Home Runs

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Felipe Alou smashed two home runs and Willie McCovey and Orlando Cepeda clouted one apiece Saturday as San Francisco protected its National League lead with an 8-3 victory over Philadelphia. It was the Giants' seventh victory in eight games.

Bob Bolin, making his first start of the season, blanked the Phils for five innings, then gave up a pair of runs in the sixth, and finally needed help from Stu Miller in the seventh.

Fish Afforded Escape Route

Construction is scheduled to begin this month on a Laguna Madre channel to serve as an escape route for fish from nine-mile hole to the Intercoastal Canal.

State Game and Fish Commission personnel report that thousands of fish have died in that area in recent weeks and that coyotes from Padre Islands were seen wading into the water and picking up large trout and red fish which had been affected by the high salinity and low tide conditions.

A 4,000-foot channel, six feet deep and 50 feet wide will connect the south end of the nine-mile hole with the Carril Oil channel about 20 miles north of Port Mansfield.

The 2nd annual Billy Wilson Deep Sea Rodeo will begin Friday at Bay City. Trophies will be awarded to winners in 10 classes. Last year, 28 boats representing 51 contestants scored in all but the two sailfish classes. The rodeo ends next Sunday afternoon.

The Kerr County Wildlife Association recommended continuation of the antlerless deer harvest this year at a Game and Fish Commission hearing Monday. The Association also recommended that the hunting season be opened Nov. 1-Dec. 31, for an additional 15 days. The proposals will be considered with results of other hearings over the state at a commission meeting July 23. Hearings will be held this week in Hardin, Polk, Newton and Jasper Counties.

Americans Advance At Wimbledon

By JOHN FARROW
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP)—Three American girls advanced to the quarter-finals of the Wimbledon Lawn Tennis Tournament Saturday in a session that stripped the United States of its sole survivor in the men's event.

It was the first time since World War II that the United States has not had a man in the last eight at Wimbledon.

Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., took over the favorite's role in the women's singles as the defending champion, Angela Mortimer of Britain, joined the top seed, Margaret Smith of Australia, on the sidelines.

Frank Froehling, a 6-foot, athletic collegian from Coral Gables, Fla., battled for 2½ hours against Manuel Santana, the sixth-seeded star from Spain, before going down 12-10, 6-3, 8-10, 6-3. Froehling was the only American left of 6 in the field.

Six Australians, including defending champion Rod Laver, Santana and Rafael Osuna, 23-year-old Mexican who attends the University of Southern California and is American NCAA champion, are left in the title cast.

Laver took another step toward the tennis grand slam—the Australian, French, Wimbledon and U.S. championships—by defeating Pierre Darron of France 6-3, 6-2, 13-11. Only Don Budge in 1938 accomplished the feat. Laver is half way home and is favored to win here. That would leave only the U.S. title.

Roy Emerson, Australian second seed, was forced out by an injury to his right foot. He retired against fellow Australian Martin Mulligan after winning the first set 6-3, but limping to a 6-1 loss in the second.

Brothers John and Neale Fraser joined Ken Fletcher and Bob Hewitt to complete the quarter-finals field.

Joining Miss Hard in the field of eight were Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of Chula Vista, Calif., and Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach. Miss Hard demolished Helge Schultze of Germany 6-1, 6-0 in the fourth round. Mrs. Susman defeated Judy Tegart of Australia 6-4, 6-2 and Miss Moffitt romped past Sonja Pachta of Austria 6-1, 6-2.

One other American girl, Victoria Palmer of Phoenix, Ariz., bowed to Ann Haydon, British fifth seed, 6-2, 6-2.

Angels Break Drouth, 5-3

NEW YORK (AP)—The Los Angeles Angels won their first game ever at Yankee Stadium Saturday, defeating the New York Yankees 5-3 on the clutch hitting of little Albie Pearson and the strong relief pitching of sophomore Dean Chance.

Pearson, who hit his first homer of the season, off Whitey Ford Friday night, singled home two runs in the fourth, which proved to be the margin of victory. The Angels, born out of the expansion plan in the winter of 1960, had dropped 11 games at the stadium, nine last year and two this season.

Ted Bowsfield, an old Yankee nemesis, was credited with the historic Angel victory but the star's role was reserved for Chance, a strapping right-hander from Wayne, Ohio, who turned 21 the first day of this month.

The 6-foot-3, 200-pound Chance relieved Bowsfield with a Yankee runner on base and nobody out in the eighth. The left-handed starter had just walked Bobby Richardson after Roger Maris had opened the inning with his 15th homer to narrow the Angels' lead to 5-3.

Chance walked Mickey Mantle on a full count, then retired the next three batters, leaving the potential tying runs on base. He disposed of pinch hitter John Blanchard on an infield pop and struck out Hector Lopez and Bill Skowron.

Los Angeles 200 390 000—Sall 1 New York 000 020 010—3 6 0 Bowsfield, Chance (8) and Rodgers; Daley, Sheldon (4), Turley (6), Cleveland (2) and Howard; Blanchard (9), W—Bowsfield (5-3), L—Daley (2-2). Home run—New York, Maris 15.

Macapagal In Madrid

MADRID, Spain (AP)—President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines arrived here Saturday for a seven-day official visit. Gen. Francisco Franco welcomed him from 25-35 feet at Lake at the airport. It was the first stop on a tour that will take the Filipino president to Italy and Pakistan.

Athletics, Giants Take League Wins

The Little League leaders both put a little more space between themselves and the remainder of the field Friday, as the Athletics skipped past the Indians 11-3 and the Giants nudged the Cardinals 4-3.

Terry Holt chucked the six-hit victory for the Athletics, and James Merrill went down to the loss. Gary Smith helped out in the pitching department for the Indians.

The Athletics pounded Tribe pitching for 13 base knocks. Frank Grimmer upcocked the big blow at the contest, a fifth-inning round-tripper. It was one of three hits he collected in four trips for the evening. Holt helped his own cause, also, by rapping out three singles in four times up.

Alton Patterson was tops among the Indian batsmen with a double and a single in four appearances.

The Giants placed all their scoring eggs in one fourth-inning basket in taking their 4-3 victory. Winning moundsman Bill Greif began the frame by gaining base on error, then singles by Gary Bailey, Mike Keller and Richey Thompson, plus bases on balls as issued to Dewey Grinslade, Richard Thomas, and Johnny Von Roeder, earned for the Giants their four decisive tallies.

The Cardinals also bunched all three of their runs in one inning—the fifth. The fireworks didn't start until after two were out. Then singles by Mickey Allman and Steve Holder, along with walks to Jackie Aldridge and Gene Green and a fielding bobbie and passed

Cats Clip Braves; Phils Flip Tigers

Notan's Cats slipped into a tie for first place in the Pony League standings Friday with an 8-2 victory over the Optimist Club Braves, rallying behind the fourth pitching of Clyde McKimney for the decisive win.

The score was knotted at 2-2 going into the sixth, when doubles by Eddie Edwards and Charles McCall, a single by Gary Trim, a pair of walks, an error and a sacrifice bunt all combined to put the Cats four big runs to turn the tide in their favor. Then, for good measure, they added two more to their aggregate in the seventh, with another two-base blow by Edwards sparking that late spur.

Trim tripled in the fourth, also, and came home on a fielder's choice. Edwards tallied the initial Cat run by leading off the game with a single and romping home on another fielder's choice.

Spahn Hits Stride Again

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Veteran Milwaukee southpaw Warren Spahn got back into the victory column Saturday after four straight defeats as he pitched the Braves to a 5-3 decision over the Chicago Cubs.

After six innings of shutout ball, the Cubs got to Spahn for three runs on four hits in the eighth before he was bailed out by Claude Raymond, called up from Toronto two days ago.

Raymond retired four straight batters to give Spahn his seventh victory against nine losses and the 316th victory of his major league career. Dick Ellsworth, now 4-12, was the loser. Each team made 10 hits.

Henry Aaron got the Braves away to a flying start with a two-run homer in the first, his 18th of the season. He also doubled in the second and scored on Joe Adcock's single. The Braves produced another tally in the fifth on a double and a single, and gave Spahn a 5-0 lead as Frank Bolling smashed his seventh homer of the year in the sixth.

New coach Wally Lemph of the St. Louis Cardinals football team believes Sam Etchberry will be his No. 3 quarterback next fall. Sam had arm trouble last season.

Bosox Blast Kansas City

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's Lanniered Kansas City pitching for 18 hits and a 15-4 victory Saturday, led by Frank Malzone, La Clinton and Eddie Bressoud.

Malzone drove across four runs with a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly. Clinton, who hit a grand slam plus a two-run homer when pressed into service Friday night, smashed a solo homer and a two-run triple.

Bressoud twice homered with the bases empty, doubled and walked for a perfect day. Teammate Carl Yastrzemski had a triple, double and two singles, driving in one run, while Gary Geiger added a homer, double and two singles.

Clinton's homer leading off the home fourth broke a 4-4 deadlock and pinned the loss on the first reliever, Norm Bass.

Competition of that date will involve freestyle, backstroke, breast stroke and butterfly stroke for contestants 10 years and under, 11-12, 13-14, and 15-17. There will be one-meter diving for all age groups, also.

Farm League Wins Go To Tribe, Cards

First baseman Douglas Morris smashed a two-run homer in the fifth inning here Friday, scoring pitcher Ronald Gray ahead of him, to highlight a 14-3 Farm League-Indian win over the Athletics.

The win served to pad the Indian lead at the top of the heap, giving the team a record of 11-3.

In addition to blasting the round-tripper, Morris also singled twice to give him a perfect three-for-three. Centerfielder Terry Vesp also slashed out three hits for the Tribe—all singles.

Second baseman Steve Barney doubled and singled, for the Indians, also, while leftfielder John Handy singled twice and catcher John Brainer delivered a double.

Catcher Doug Morris and centerfielder Winn McAlister each singled for the Athletics.

Mark Stephens absorbed the loss for the Athletics.

The National League action of the same evening saw the Cardinals taking over undisputed possession of first place with a narrow 5-4 win over the Giants.

The Redbirds went into the home half of the sixth trailing by a run, but a walk to pitcher Gordon Gray and subsequent singles by Laddie McMillan and Clarke Resnick gained them a pair of tallies and the victory.

Shogdon Ronnie Hale was the only Card landing more than one hit. He had two, as did the Giants' catcher Don Malone also singled twice, while rightfielder Charlie Johnson doubled in the sixth.

Gray went, the route for the triumph, Ronald Grant, the third in a succession of Giant hurlers that included Johnson and Craig Alexander, was tagged with the loss.

Orioles Stall Cards, 8-5

Rich Buchanna hurtled the Peewee League Orioles to an 8-5 win over the Cardinals Friday, tumbling the Redbirds to their first loss of the season.

Catcher Jerry Hardin paced the Orioles' nine-hit batting attack with three hits in an inning.

Two of the Oriole safeties went for extra bases.

The University of Washington football team will have 23 lettersman on its 1962 squad.

OUR VIEW

Traditional Celebration Is Fitting On Independence Day

Has patriotism gone out of style in the U. S. A? A trip through Powe Memorial Park last July 4 would have indicated otherwise. And, if people of the area are in the same frame of mind next Wednesday, there will be another Independence Day celebration in Snyder that will rank high among the big events of the year.

Community celebrations on Independence Day are a tradition, and there is evidence that they are regaining popularity which apparently waned for a few years. Snyder's Independence Day celebration last year was launched with the idea that it would be an event of traditional character. It will be repeated this year, and, we hope, in future years.

Over at Richardson, Tex., a suburb of "Big D" no less they are noising it about that an "old fashioned Fourth of July Celebration" will be held there on Wednesday.

Snyder's celebration will be of the same type, with emphasis on "just visiting" and special entertainment features, along with concession stands — all in addition to the pure patriotic events, such as flag presentation, reading of the Declaration of Independence and a parade.

We firmly believe that most Americans regard their system of government as the best yet devised by man. However, we Americans have a tendency to be apathetic, or at least passive, in outward expression of respect and dedication to fundamentals which are taken for granted in day-by-day activities.

We are conscious of our government all right. We depend on it for many things, criticize many of its activities (especially if we are not directly involved to the extent that we get "benefits"), and we find it a handy intangible to blame for many of the ills of our society.

Our government really is the "image" of the people it serves, and the fact that it still is able to reflect that image after 156 years is regarded as remarkable throughout the world.

Whenever the people become displeased with their image, they may change it. The image has undergone constant change since the Constitution was first put into effect. In this respect, our government is inflexible in its flexibility.

That makes American citizenship a sober responsibility, and it is fitting that friends and neighbors get together and take note of it at least once a year . . . and at a time when there are no political campaigns to pull their attention away from the fundamentals.

Backstage...

Rep. Omar Burleson, in his weekly newsletter from Washington, has cited an example wherein a bill in Congress is not always what it appears to be. He cited the administration farm bill, which was defeated in the house some 10 days ago.

"In the course of the debate on the farm bill last week, more than 33 amendments were adopted, approximately half of which were adopted without debate in a period of half an hour," Rep. Burleson said. "This was so because of the Rules procedure."

"Consequently, no one could possibly have known the total effect of the added amendments to the original bill when it was time to vote."

In other words, Congressmen did not have opportunity to study the amendments enough to determine whether the bill as amended would do the same thing that the original bill set out to do. Not knowing, most of them, including a majority of the Texas delegation, voted against the bill.

As for farm legislation, Rep. Burleson said, "No one can reasonably hope that a total answer is going to be found in the immediate future."

We hope everyone will drive carefully on the coming holiday. We add our voice to everybody else's from the governor on down in urging extra caution. But we'd like to go a step further and say "You're doing a good job — keep it up." Traffic deaths are down in Texas over last year; The rate per 1000 miles driven is down one-third from 1947, and down two-thirds from 1937. In other words, if the same fatality rate we had in 1937 had continued along with the increasing mileage driven, we would be killing three times as many in traffic accidents. Make no mistake — we deplore the deaths that do occur, but we think the people who are making our streets and highways safer every day deserve our thanks for their efforts — the highway departments — law enforcement officials — the auto manufacturers — yes, and the drivers themselves. Well over 750 million miles are driven every year. Two out of every three adults are licensed to drive. So from those figures comes our safety thought for today — When you drive, there are lots of other people out on the road too, and very few, if any, are as good a driver as you are.

From The Snyder Weekly Signal
June 28, 1912

Quite a number of young men of Snyder attended the initial meeting for the purpose of organizing a Club for young men in the First State Bank and Trust Company's building Wednesday evening June 26.

Enthusiasm reigned from start to finish. The project was discussed in a general way and B. A. Eubank was elected temporary chairman and the election of officers proceeded as follows: E. J. Anderson, president; P. Brady, vice president; W. E. Rastoff, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Johnson and Joe Cato returned Wednesday night from their automobile trip east.

We are paying 10 cents per dozen for eggs. Snyder Produce Company.

The Signal wants to call attention to the fact that the pretty tree at the northeast corner of the Court House yard is going to be killed unless steps are taken to protect it. Stock have already gnawed a lot of the bark off and will continue to do so unless a tender is put up.

I now have charge of the Maxwell hotel. The Maxwell and Thompson hotels have been consolidated and I will run a dollar a day house. Beds 25 cents and meals 25 cents. Your patronage is solicited. J. V. White.

Kennedy's Mexico Visit May Aid Alliance For Progress

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
MEXICO CITY (AP) — Where were the anti-Yankees?

The tumultuous reception given President Kennedy in Mexico City points up an important lesson both for Latin Americans and the people of the United States.

If taken to heart, it can be a milestone in U.S. fortunes in the developing cold war over Latin America.

The lesson is this: Anti-Yankeeism is a political tool, useful to extremist minorities, sometimes small but always noisy.

The tool can at times be used by governments as a form of blackmail against the rich uncle of the north.

The United States often is timid, even apologetic, in its dealings with Latin American nations these days. This has been particularly true of dealings with Mexico, because of a background of history dating back to the Mexican War of 1846-1848.

Of all countries in Latin America, Mexico might be considered one with the best excuse to nurse a grudge against the northern colossus.

The grudge, indeed is nursed by many. Anti-Yankeeism can be discovered in the universities, among intellectuals and certainly among adherents of the Communist-Castro alliance in Latin America.

But these, for all their publicized noise, remain a small minority. The Kennedy visit proved that for the rest of Latin America.

Thus, from several standpoints, the Kennedy three-day visit here may mark the high point of the young U.S. chief executive's spectacular campaign of personal-propelled diplomacy.

It is important that all this happened in Mexico, a key nation in the effort to help Latin America battle against outside imperialist firms.

The government of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos can, if it chooses, regard the vast outpouring of affection for the U.S. visitor as a mandate for a stiffer attitude toward the hemisphere-wide drive of the Communists to capitalize on popular impatience for a better deal.

Mexico has been under one party rule for many years. The PRI — Party of Revolutionary Institutions — can claim to have kept the country relatively stable amidst a sea of instability, and to have brought it to a position in which it can become a launching pad for such efforts as the Alliance for Progress.

But these are likely to be in Mexico and Latin America for a long time. They can have a salutary effect not only on the government of Mexico but on other governments in the hemisphere. They can embolden the timid to stiffen their resistance to the activities of the Castroites and Communists.

The Alliance for Progress has badly needed a shot in the arm. Perhaps it has one now.

The Cuban invasion gave the United States a black eye and gave the anti-Yankee minority a propaganda handle. But the events of these last few days indicate that the discoloration has faded and that in spite of everything there is a wealth of good will for Yankees in Mexico.

Cynics can point out that much of the tremendous outpouring was the result of Mexican government organization and orders. But that hardly accounts for all the spontaneous, emotional enthusiasm of the great crowds whose cheers were not the sort that can be produced on government orders.

These cheers are likely to echo in Mexico and Latin America for a long time. They can have a salutary effect not only on the government of Mexico but on other governments in the hemisphere. They can embolden the timid to stiffen their resistance to the activities of the Castroites and Communists.

Cartoonists Depict Visit

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican editors found a variety of ways Saturday to describe the Kennedy visit.

Novedades' cartoon showed a smiling female called "The Nation" holding a cocktail labeled "Kennedy-Mateos" and commenting: "How well it goes down."

La Tribuna's cartoon depicted a bed-ridden patient, representing U. S. — Mexican relations, happily leaping out of bed while a smiling nurse explained: "It's the effect of vitamin K, with K for Kennedy."

Excelsior's cartoon showed President Kennedy and his wife being presented the key to the city on a platter.

El Nacional's cartoon was of a wastepaper basket filled with papers labeled — Doctrine, capitalism, bankers, business, and street imperialism. The caption said: Kennedy has torn down the old molds of international economic policy.

El Nacional's cartoon drew a picture of Kennedy and Mexican President Lopez Mateos each using one arm to hold up jointly a banner reading: Peace, liberty and social justice. With their other arms the presidents held their national flags.

Mainz, Germany, was so prosperous and influential in the Middle Ages that it is still known as "Golden Mainz."

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—Well, I notice by the journals that the earthquake season is upon us. And there is nothing like elections, ladies fashions, quakes and other disasters to provide inspiration for the news writers.

Some days ago, the writing gentlemen were sitting at their breakfast tables glowering at the morning paper. For no news person in his right mind wakes up in a good mood.

The town started doing the Twist and several correspondents suffered some slight "cuffs" on their noses. This brought on a number of strong discussions, what with ladies being the types who always claim a damaged suit just came home from the cleaners.

A frightful manner to begin the day.

And at the offices, telephones changed madly with frantic editors on the other and seeking news of the disaster.

Back home, they had gotten word that Mexico City was in ruins. Bodies and buildings all over the streets. Communications with the outside world cut (this is what they told us on the long distance telephone, anyhow).

So the newsmen began rushing around searching for the catastrophe.

And I must say it was pretty terrible. Window washers minkered the glass front buildings from dangling platforms. A couple of them looked seasick but were hard at it. And the "bodies" sat around restaurants sipping coffee and commenting on the passing ladies.

All of which is extremely dismal to the scribe who is honor bound to report on grim occurrences. And we suffering journalists telephoned the police, fire department, Social Security and other agencies to find out where the victims were hiding.

The Red Cross Hospital had treated some. They said some shacks on the other side of town fell in on several gentlemen sleeping off a fiesta. And added that the hangovers were worse than the wounds.

Personally, I prefer to report earthquakes at Mr. Conrad Hilton's hotel here. Mr. Hilton thoughtfully put in a Turkish bath, where many clients go to sweat out last night's refreshments.

And soon as things begin quaking, the clients dash into the street wearing nothing but a thin coat of steam. I had some very interesting interviews with frightened tourists in this condition. Until they suddenly went "stuck" and rushed back in the hotel. Like they had forgotten something.

At the Foreign Press Pub several reporting gentlemen has fastened on to Mr. Luis Moreno Verdin of the Government Tourist Department. Clustering around him like hounds that had tread a coop. And what they wanted was the pure, unprintable truth.

"Well," said Mr. Verdin, contemplating his martini, "I understand ten or fifteen people got banged up here. Acapulco was all shook up and some hotels cracked. Everybody got scared and powdered out."

The journalists complained that Mr. Verdin was ruining the disaster. It is bad, they said, when government people admit anything. Federals are supposed to duck newsmen or claim "no comment" when they get caught. So the situation appears suspicious.

Mr. Verdin apologized and said he would try to be mysterious in the future.

At this point, Mr. Jalme Plenn of United Press International spoke up and said he believed he would take his wife and kids to Acapulco for a week. "Now that the tourists have thinned out there will be ample accommodations. And it will afford me and my family an opportunity to study the true causes of earthquakes. From a hammock on the beach, naturally."

Now this is the pioneering spirit which has made correspondents famous all over the planet. And such devotion to duty is practically in the same category as motherhood.

Regents Name Mrs. Devall

AUSTIN (AP) — Mrs. Charles K. Devall of Kilgore, a former member of the board of regents, was appointed Saturday by that board to serve on the University of Texas Development Board.

Mrs. Devall takes office Sept. 1, succeeding J. Aubrey Gooch, prominent Fort Worth attorney whose term expires. The development board is the university's fund raising agency.

Mrs. Devall is the second woman appointed to the board. The first was Mrs. Ben Vaughan Jr., of Corpus Christi.

Mrs. Devall had a six-year term on the board of regents ending two years ago. She also was a member of the Texas Commission on Higher Education, 1953-55, and was a teacher at Highland Park High School of Dallas. She is a graduate of SMU. She did postgraduate work at the University of Texas, University of Southern California and Oxford University.

In 1942-46 she was acting publisher of the Kilgore News-Herald while her husband was in the Navy.

Mrs. Devall has long been active in Kilgore community and church work.

Four Dead In Auto Crash

WEEHAWKEN, N.J. (AP) — Four Hoboken men were killed and three others injured today when their car smashed into a utility pole as they were returning from a prewedding party.

Killed were Frank Beers, 27; James F. Wilson, 24; Joseph P. McGovern, 25, and George Hanson, 22.

The injured, all in fair condition at North Hudson Hospital, were Herbert Dryer, 22, and Kenneth Anderson, 23, and his brother, Robert, 22.

Police said the men were going home from a party held in a West New York tavern.

McGovern's brother, Michael, who was to have been married today, witnessed the accident. He was riding in a car following Beers' vehicle.

The marriage, scheduled to be at 4:30 p.m. in Our Lady of Grace Church, Hoboken, was canceled. Beers was to have been an usher.

The men had attended a wedding rehearsal at the church before attending the party.

Ruanda, Urundi Become New Independent Nations Today

USUMBERA, Urundi (AP) — Ruanda and Urundi, administered by Belgium as a single trust territory since World War II, became separate and independent nations in the heart of Africa Sunday under conditions that threaten the chaos of a second Congo. With independence, monarchist Urundi will be known as Burundi, and republican Ruanda will be known as Rwanda.

When the two former German colonies, totaling about 20,000 square miles with a combined population of about five million, are split into two resource-rich areas about the size of Maryland, their treasuries will be virtually empty and tribal conflict will threaten their peace and existence.

At the bottom of fears for the future of the two infant nations is the ancient animosity of 19th-century, the so-called Great Wars, who long envied the much more numerous Bahutu.

The danger is considered the greatest in Ruanda, where martial law was imposed three years ago when the old blood feud flamed into massacres and arson.

Monarchist terrorists, blaming Belgian administration for their defeat last year in a referendum that turned the territory into a republic, roam the countryside and have threatened to drive all Europeans from the area after independence. The anti-European drive would be a prelude to warfare against Ruanda republicans.

Ruanda also fears monarchist Burundi will aid the terrorists, and the boundary between the two territories already has become guarded international frontier.

Ruanda authorities have made arrangements to open a new trade route through the adjoining British territory of Uganda, also scheduled to become independent in October. Ruanda exports now go through Burundi, but Ruanda fears Burundi would use control of the export route to exert economic pressure. Both countries are afflicted with heavy rains and political unrest have created famine in some spots.

Independence evoked Burundi was marked by the execution of a Greek Jew, Kageorgia, for the political murder last October of the territory's first premier, Prince Louis Rwagasore, the son of Mwami, King Mwambutsa IV. The mwami will become chief of state Sunday.

Col. E. Henniquiau, chief Belgian representative in Burundi, kept them advised all whites to stay close together in Usumbera, Nyusi and Kigali, the chief population centers, during independence celebrations. Plans have made to airlift whites to Uganda, if necessary, he said.

There are about 1,000 whites, 1,000 of them Belgians, in Urundi. Most of them are in Usumbera, but there are about 50 white missionaries scattered in the interior.

Belgium has 900 troops in the two territories. Burundi has asked to leave and a U.N. General Assembly resolution last Wednesday set the departure date for Aug. 1. Ruanda has declined to join a decision on keeping Belgian forces, but is expected to come since 1945.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Agriculture Committee has approved a compromise farm bill termed by some as second best to the tightly controlled administration program rejected last week by the House.

The substitute, adopted 21 to 11 Friday by the committee, would extend for a year the present emergency wheat and feed grain programs with slight modification. The basic change would mean some reduction in payments farmers would get for cutting back production.

If the measure is approved by the House, it could run into trouble in the Senate.

When introduced in the House, Sen. Alton S. Eisenhower, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, estimated the bill would waste a minute on it.

FOR FUN ON THE 4th

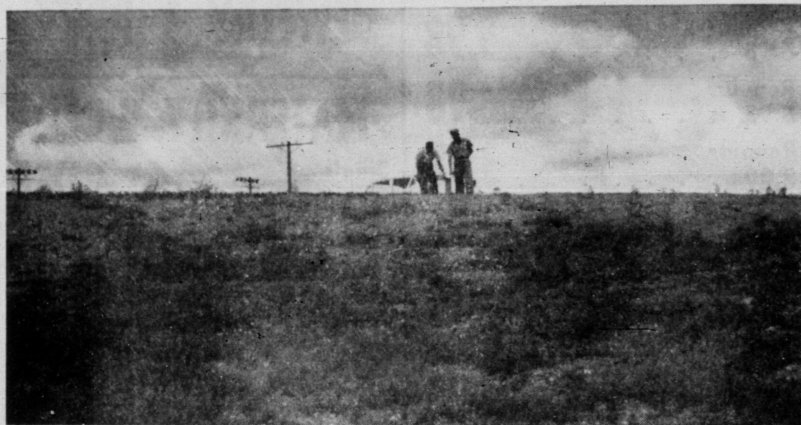

WELL PLEASSED—Final plans were almost completed this week and this trio seemed well pleased with the cooperation of local citizens. From left, Mr. Dave Harlin, Mr. Jay Ramsey, and Mr. Harold Lack, president of the local Chamber of Commerce.

HERE'S THE SPOT—Mr. Jay Ramsey, park superintendent, (right), tells Mr. Dave Harlin, concession chairman where the concessions at the July 4th celebration will start in the western part of the park.

SINKING PIPES—The Snyder Fire Department will have charge of the big fire works display Wednesday evening. Above Mr. G. L. Autry a representative of the department shows Mr. Lack the 5 and 6 inch steel pipes that will be used on the mound in the west end of the park for the display.

TRAFFIC PLANS—Mr. Bill Ziperman, County Juvenile officer, left, and Mr. Ghester Simons, Chief of Police, make plans for routing the parade and setting up road blocks for safety sake, due to the large crowd expected Wednesday.

PARK LAKE—The lake at the park will take on a new purpose besides fishing by the kiddos and swimming for the ducks Wednesday when the Shrine Club will use it for boat rides for the day.

WELL-GROOMED—The Towle Park was getting a top-top grooming the past week by employees as they want everyone to see the beautiful 198 acres available for the public's enjoyment.

MRS. ROBERT J. GODFREY

Marilyn Carol Robinson Becomes Bride Of Robert J. Godfrey, Saturday Evening Rites

Marriage vows were solemnized Saturday evening at 7:30 p. m. for Marilyn Carol Robinson of Snyder and Robert J. Godfrey of Stephenville in the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Walter A. Mitchell, pastor, performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Alton Robinson, 2809 Avenue L, Snyder, and Mrs. Cleo Godfrey, 834 N. Graham, Stephenville.

Two bridesmaids, candelabras forming an arch with baskets of white gladiolus on either side was used in the church decor.

Miss Jackie Dean was organist and accompanied Miss Keitha Walton, who sang "On Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer." The bride given in marriage by her father, wore a street length dress of delicate floral patterned lace over tulle and taffeta. The scalloped scoop neckline was enriched with miniature pearls and innocent sequins. The bride's face came to a point in the front and back, flowing into a sweeping skirt of unpressed pleats accented with a self bow in the back. She wore matching lace gauntlets.

Her veil of pure silk illusion, imported from France, fell from a tiara type crown of simulated seed pearls.

She carried a bridal bouquet of white feathered mums.

Anne Robinson served her sister as maid of honor. She wore a light blue dress of eyelet batiste, fashioned after that of the bride. The bodice came to a point in the front and back with a large organza sash in the back. She wore a blue organza bow clip hat and white gloves and shoes. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations accented with blue.

Jack Carter of Stephenville was best man. Ushers included Duwain McJiffel of Stephenville, and Reed Robinson, brother of the bride, from Snyder.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. Bouquets of assorted white flowers accented with blue were used throughout the house.

An ivory colored lace cloth over blue covered the reception table, centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom. Members of the houseparty were Miss Sandra Fidler of Crosson, Miss Donna Leiner of Snyder, and Miss Karen Huddleston of Goldsmith. Miss Gerry Godfrey, sister of the groom, registered guests.

After a short wedding trip the couple will "make their home" in Stephenville. Mr. Godfrey graduated from Stephenville High School in 1941 and is employed by City Electric in Stephenville.

Boston Police Learn Spanish

BOSTON (AP)—A young woman is teaching Boston police how to speak Spanish.

The influx of some 5,500 Puerto Ricans to Boston's south end has made it essential police understand their language.

Miss Margaret Klitredge, a soft spoken woman in her 20s, is the instructor. She is with Language Research Inc. at Harvard Graduate School.

Her emphasis is on the spoken word and she confines her instructions to words and phrases police may have to use, such as: "pare (stop), pistola (gun), que hace usted? (what are you doing?), and manos arriba (stick 'em up).

One of the largest associations of manufacturers has just proved it really means business in a program to protect home owners from misrepresentation of a frequently purchased product, the room air conditioner.

Companies that sell more than 90 per cent of all room air conditioners are voluntarily participating in a program under which the National Electrical Manufacturers Association certifies that cooling capacity ratings of 1942 models are accurate. Verification of the ratings is made for the association by Electrical Testing Laboratories in an independent testing organization.

Proof that the program really works is that the association has just required the manufacturers of nine different models to lower their cooling capacity claims. This was done after tests showed the original ratings to be too high.

One original rating was too high by only slightly more than one per cent. Two others had been overrated by 22 per cent. The companies involved have had to notify their dealers of the changes. The association is notifying the air conditioning industry generally, as well as the National Better Business Bureau.

The certification program is the room air conditioner industry's solution to a situation that has confused the buying public for years. The confusion has been caused by the use of "tons" and "horsepower" as measurements of how much cooling an air conditioning unit will deliver.

"Ton" is so broad in meaning that many times units of considerably less capacity came to be designated as "one ton." Mainly this was done for lack of a more precise manner of expression, but sometimes the misrepresentation was deliberate.

"Horsepower" was even worse. Horsepower ratings refer only to the size of the motor inside the room air conditioner, not at all to how much cooling it will give.

This year, for the first time, the two misleading terms are completely outmoded. The industry has adopted "British thermal units," a standard scientific term, as the only valid way to measure cooling capacity. A certified room air conditioning unit is not only rated in BTUs; the buyer can safely believe the rating.

A British thermal unit, or BTU, is the amount of heat needed to raise the temperature of one pound of water one degree Fahrenheit. A 10,000 BTU-per-hour room air conditioner will get rid of that much heat in an hour's time. Obviously, the higher the rating, the larger the cooling capacity.

Be sure all dirt, oil and grease are removed from both the frame and the mesh. Remove rust by rubbing gently with steel wool. Prime bare spots with a metal primer.

Special screen enamels are recommended, but a regular exterior enamel will give a good result if thinned sufficiently to prevent clogging in the mesh. Small inexpensive screen painters can be used, but here again it is possible to use regular equipment, such as a brush or roller.

When paint fills some of the mesh, you can do the unclogging with a toothpick or something similar. But when there is an excessive amount of clogging, it is better to wait until the paint has dried, then go over the screen with a scrub brush.

When it is desired to retain the original color of copper, brass or aluminum screening, use a spar varnish or an exterior clear lacquer.

QUESTION: We're getting ready to paint 32 screens. Can you give us some advice that will enable us to do a good job without too much work?

ANSWER: Painting 32 screens involves a certain amount of work for which there are no shortcuts. One way of getting a good job is to use a quality paint. The screen should be placed across a pair of saw horses or two boxes of the same height.

Bride's Dilemma

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Kay Ann Miller almost didn't arrive for her wedding.

The Tucson girl was all set to marry Charles de la Fuente of Nogales, Ariz., when suddenly she and her parents discovered the bride's flowing gown and long train wouldn't fit in the family's compact car.

The solution was provided by a florist. Miss Miller rode to the church in a one and a half ton panel truck.

The just-laundered look, feel, and fragrance of terrycloth endears it to everybody's heart.

MRS. DAVID CLINTON GREGORY

Shirley Ann Stansell, D. C. Gregory Wedding Solemnized In Fluvanna Church

Miss Shirley Ann Stansell of Fluvanna became the bride of David Clinton Gregory of Snyder, Saturday, June 23, at 8 o'clock in a double ring ceremony at the Fluvanna Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James H. Stansell, Fluvanna, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gregory, San Perita.

Rev. Bernie Finch, pastor of the Fluvanna Baptist Church, performed the ceremony before a brass archway holding 15 crystal votive cups, banked on either side with two candelabras holding white tapers. The background decoration included sunburst of emerald green foliage.

Mrs. Bill Stansell, aunt of the bride, presented a program of traditional wedding music and Miss Marian Burrow, "Wingate, sang 'Because', 'Whither Thou Gost', and 'O Perfect Love'.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace featuring a scalloped neckline, pointed waist, and long sleeves. The bodice was embroidered with seed pearls. Her finger-tip veil of white tulle fell from a tiara of pearls and gems. Her bridal bouquet featured pink sweetheart roses with a cascade of feathered white carnations atop a white Bible, accented with imported lace, teardrop pearls, and pastel ivy leaves.

Miss LaRue Reeder of Fluvanna was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Anna McDaniel, Miss Malinda Cunningham, both of Fluvanna, and Miss Carolyn Hughes of Jacksonville.

The attendants wore identical pink lace street length dresses with matching taffeta sash that crossed in front and tied in a bountiful bow. They wore a single strand of pearls.

For their headpieces, they wore a white tulle circle veil attached to a white pleated point grosgrain ribbon clip with the pleated, points-a-glow with simulated pearls. They carried a crescent design of blossom pink glanillas with accents of pearl hearts and ivy leaves. White gloves and shoes completed their attire.

Georgia Ann Kinder, cousin of the bride, Slaton, served as flower girl.

David and Peggy Casey, Snyder, cousins of the groom, served as ring bearers. Joe Weldon Stansell and Sandra Stansell, brother and

A Decorating Tip For Teenagers

You who are now in the time of your teens already have been blessed with some of the happy experiences of growing up. If you have a room of your own, for example, you'll want to decorate it to your own favorite color, your own ideas, and your own precious keepsakes.

Very often in decorating, even an adult decides, after everything is fresh and in place again, that a room still lacks something. When you've surveyed the results of your first efforts as a decorator, perhaps you, too, will study a bare spot on the book shelf, an unbroken series of angles and straight lines, a vacant space under the window—where a complementary touch is needed.

Try greenery.

Potted plants can add softness and contrast to completely furnished decorated rooms. They are so inexpensive, they can be bought with your allowance money. And it will be fun for you to select, arrange and care for your own indoor garden—even if it consists of only one or two well-chosen and well-placed plants.

A planter for a grouping of greenery may range from a wicker basket to a suit of armor. The selection of containers for single pots for separate placement is just as vast—a pottery sugar bowl, a wooden bucket, or a pewter mug.

The imaginative use of plants—the flowering kinds or those which boast only beautiful foliage—not only is a smart decorating trick, but it can begin a whole new hobby for you. You may become the growing expert of your crowd.

Whether you decide on philodendron, ivy, a gardenia plant or African violets (and your florist will help you choose from the hardier house plants), an indoor garden of your own will be the true test of your green thumb.

A few simple rules governing the survival of house plants have been offered by the Society of American Florists.

All plants enjoy temperatures between 60 and 70 degrees. Flowering plants like more sunlight than foliage plants. If your "garden" is to occupy a window, it's safest to place flowering plants—especially African violets—in a north or east window where they will receive indirect light from the morning sun. Neither flowering nor foliage plants should be exposed to direct afternoon sunlight at south or west windows.

Like people, plants suffer from chills and drafts. And because most houses are too dry for a plant's happy existence, the Society of American Florists suggests setting the pots in containers, then keeping moistened sand or pebbles around the pot.

There's no rigid rule about watering. It's safer to water a plant from the bottom. Just set the pot in a larger vessel of water until moisture shows on the surface of the soil. Then remove the pot from the vessel.

An occasional dose of commercial plant food is all the nourishment necessary. Apply it according to directions on the package—and always around the rim of the pot. Shiny foliage needs a bath from time to time. Dip a soft cloth in a mild soap solution, and wipe off each leaf. Fuzzy foliage requires only a gentle dusting with a soft brush. Clean the plants as you clean your room.

ENGAGEMENT—Mr. and Mrs. L. Roy Cate of Fritch, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Alice Louise, to Rev. Ronnie F. Fortner, whose home is Fort Smith, Ark. Rev. Fortner, is pastor of the La Pile Baptist Church of Strong, Ark. The couple are both seniors at Ouachita Baptist College in Arkadelphia, Ark.

Whether you decide on philodendron, ivy, a gardenia plant or African violets (and your florist will help you choose from the hardier house plants), an indoor garden of your own will be the true test of your green thumb.

There's no rigid rule about watering. It's safer to water a plant from the bottom. Just set the Street, Snyder.

The bride is a 1962 graduate of Fluvanna High School. The groom is a 1955 graduate of San Perita High School and served with the U. S. Army in Korea. He is presently employed by Southern Electric Co.

Out-of-town guests were from Slaton, Jacksonville, San Angelo, and San Perita.

Puree leftover cooked vegetables, with a little of their liquid, in an electric blender. Add to well-seasoned, thin white sauce for a good soup. Make the white sauce with half stock, half milk.

Fluvanna News

By MRS. J. R. JONES

Word was received here Sunday afternoon of the death of Mrs. Myrtle Livingston of Portales, N. M. She was the sister of Mrs. Ed Lemons. Mrs. Mert Noel and Mr. Claud Sneed. Those attending the funeral from here were Mr. and Mrs. Mert Noel, Mrs. Curtis Noel, Mr. Claud Sneed and Earl, Mr. and Mrs. Hurston Lemons and Mr. Ed Lemons.

Best man was Richard Styles of Brownfield. Groomsman was Fred Cross of Snyder. Best woman of Lubbock, Steve Nobel of Lubbock and Joel Tankersley of Farwell. Ushers were Duayne Young of Tulsa, Eddy Caldwell of Downey, Calif., Mike Lumdy of Lubbock, and C. V. Thompson Jr. of Snyder, uncle of the bride.

The ceremony was performed before an altar decorated with three hundred cathedral tapers. A sunburst arrangement of white gladioli and agapantha was flanked by candelabra in the choir loft. Corresponding arrangements of gladioli and agapantha flanked each side of the church altar. The center aisle was laid with a white runner. Reserved sections were marked with arrangements of white agapantha.

Mrs. Gerald Harris provided organ music. Mr. Howard Wilkins, cousin of the bride, was soloist. Mr. and Mrs. Rex Webster sang a duet.

Reception immediately following the ceremony was in the home of the bride's parents. Silver appointments were used at the bride's table where punch and cake were served. Brass appointments were used at the groom's table where coffee and cake were served.

For their wedding trip to Ruidoso, the bride wore a turquoise blue silk suit with a primed silk blouse enhanced by a butterfly bow at the neckline. She wore white accessories.

The couple will live at 2811 Elgin in Lubbock. The bride attended Baylor University and is now a junior at Texas Tech where she is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta and the dean's honor list. The groom attended Texas Tech and is now employed by Lubbock National Bank.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. Giles Bowers of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Thompson Sr. of Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Thompson Jr. of Snyder, and Mrs. Holman Odum of Snyder. Other guests were from Oklahoma, Pampa, San Antonio, Waco, Dallas, Abilene, California and Brownfield.

home Saturday after being on a two weeks vacation trip to Seattle, Wash., with her daughter, Mrs. Mack Greenbaw and family of Dallas. Mr. and Mrs. Rue Reeder and children of Dallas are spending this week with his mother, Mrs. W. E. Reeder and Loy, and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Reeder and LaRue. Mr. and Mrs. Chester Lemons of Chickasha, Okla., and Mrs. O. H. Lemons of Brownfield were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lemons the first of the week.

Bro. and Mrs. Bernie Finch, Sherry, Virginia and Buster attended the wedding of Mrs. Finch's niece in Lubbock Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Reeder, Mr. and Mrs. Rue Reeder and children of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Hutcherson of Fort Worth were vacationing in Colorado last week.

Sandra Stansell is visiting this week in the home of her aunt, Mrs. L. Montgomery of Slaton. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, Royce Summers and LaRue Reeder attended the Strickland reunion in Rotan last Sunday. In the afternoon they visited Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cade and family of Roby.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Lemons of Plainview and Mr. and Mrs. Billy Jacobs were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hurston Lemons and Buster last Sunday. Mrs. Orl Staveley returned to her

MRS. GEORGE WHITMAN SCHONER

Miss Alta Ada Cates Weds George Whitman Schoner

Miss Alta Ada Cates of Lubbock became the bride of George Whitman Schoner of Lubbock in double ring ceremony Thursday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Baptist Church of Lubbock.

Miss Cates is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cates of 3013 Twenty-fourth in Lubbock and the grandfather of Mr. Giles Bowers of Snyder.

Rev. W. F. Ferguson, formerly pastor of the Snyder First Baptist Church, performed the ceremony. Rev. Ferguson also performed the wedding ceremony when the bride's parents were married. Assisting in the Cates-Schoner rites was Dr. J. Ralph Gant, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Lubbock.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of peau de soie and rambrodiered Alencon lace fashioned with a portrait neckline, fitted bodice and long sleeves. Lace appliques, frosted with pearls, enhanced the bodice and skirt. The skirt was fashioned with an inverted pleat which accented an off-center drape and a wide chapel train which swept from a bustle etched with silk roses. Her imported scalloped veil of illusion fell from a silk rose. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis atop a white tuffeta designed with a scoop neckline and short sleeves. The circular skirt featured pink embroidered flowers above unpressed plating in the back. She wore a matching silk organza head piece. She carried

MRS. ROYALE DOUGLAS LEWIS

Carol Sue Patterson And R. D. Lewis Wed In Gail Church Of Christ Rites

Carol Sue Patterson of Gail and Royale Douglas Lewis exchanged wedding vows in the Gail Church of Christ on Friday, June 22 at 8 p.m.

Ray Phemister, of the Stanton Church of Christ, read the double vows ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. O. D. Jackson of Gail, and Mrs. B. B. Harding of Ackerly.

Wedding music was presented by a quartet and Betty Jackey, soloist.

Sharon West of Girard, maid of honor, and Sidney Beeder was bridesmaid. They wore dresses of aqua silk organza over cotton satin, designed with round neckline in front and squared low in back. The straight skirts had a full overskirt of organza. Accessories were matching shoes, white gloves and a hat featuring a circular veil attached to a self-fabric cabbage rose, trimmed with pearls. Each carried a long stemmed pink carnation.

Catherine Jackson, sister of the bride was flower girl. Her dress was of white polished cotton trimmed with lace, white gloves and hat and a circular veil.

Don Jackson of Gail and Ike Lewis of Ackerly were candlelighters.

Kenneth Harding, the groom's best man, and Sidney Beeder were ushers.

Doyle Lewis of Ackerly served as ring bearer. Ushers were Darwin Baze of Snyder, cousin of the bride and Leon Bain of Hopeville. Lewis Deen of Seminole, cousin of the groom was groomsman.

Ties of candles and baskets of white stock and fern formed the church background.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white organza over tulle and slipper satin. The floor-length dress with chapel train had a fitted bodice with a scooped neckline, enhanced by lace appliques. The long sleeves tapered to petal points over the hands. Lace appliques were sprinkled over the full skirt. The back was accented by tiny self covered buttons. The costume was fashioned by the bride's mother.

Her veil of tulle was in tiers, scalloped at the bottom and attached to a tiara of pearls and crystals.

She carried a white orchid surrounded by Frenched carnations.

A reception followed in the Gail community center. Aqua candles in crystal holders, the bridal bouquets and a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, graced the refreshment table. Mrs. Jeanna Love served cake and Mrs. Clara Wacker labeled punch. Marilyn Lynn registered guests.

For her wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wore a beige linen suit with matching accessories. They will make their home in Ackerly.

The bride is a graduate of Burden County High School and Lubbock Christian College, where she was a member of A Cappella chorus and Kappa Phi Kappa social club. Mr. Lewis graduated from Ackerly High School and Lubbock Christian College and also attended Texas Tech. He is presently engaged in farming.

Out-of-town guests were from Snyder, Lamesa, Seminole, Lubbock, Ackerly and Fluvanna. The couple have been honored with two gift teas recently. The bride's parents hosted a rehearsal dinner on Thursday evening.

MR. AND MRS. RICHARD S. WEINTRAUB

P. Sullivan, R. Weintraub Marriage

The First Baptist Church of Atwater, Calif. was the scene of the marriage of Patricia Sullivan of Beeville, Tex. and Richard S. Weintraub of Brooklyn, N. Y. on June 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Rev. P. D. Sullivan, association of missionary, Blanco Association of Beeville, performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Rev. and Mrs. Patrick D. Sullivan of Beeville and Dr. and Mrs. Jerome W. Weintraub of Brooklyn, N. Y.

The bride wore a floor-length gown featuring a cathedral train, in Florentine lace with a scalloped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Seed pearls and sequins accented the lace design.

Her veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of waxed apple blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

Church decorations featured large baskets of white stock and branched candelabras.

Mrs. Betty Ferguson of Amarillo was matron of honor. She wore a dress of pink organza and a headpiece featuring a bow with pink net. Her bouquet was of shaded pink carnations.

Janna Ferguson of Amarillo was flower girl and was attired similar to the matron of honor. Billy Ferguson was ring bearer. Lt. Robert A. Graf of Mathes Lazik of Castle Air Force Base, Calif.

Miss Sanyl Journey was organist and Mrs. Joan Stribling and William Ferguson presented vocal selections.

For her wedding trip the bride chose a blue 'cyclet' dress with white accessories. They will make their home at 13 West Eighteenth, Merced, Calif.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of Snyder High School and graduated from Baylor University in 1961.

The groom is a 1955 graduate of Erasmeus Hall High School and Brooklyn College in 1959, both are in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is a First Lieutenant in the United States Air Force.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Morton of Snyder met Saturday night and Sunday at the Fluvanna community center for a family get-together. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Neal Morton and girls of Amarillo, Mr. Paul Hendricks of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Martin of Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Ball, Dennis and Zenda of Fluvanna.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Scott of Snyder visited Wednesday afternoon with his sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Strickland.

Mrs. Jessie Sims has returned to her home here after visiting her son, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Sims and girls of Washington, D. C. and a niece in Seattle, Wash. She also attended the World's Fair while on her trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gleghorn of Artesia, N.M. have been visiting friends and relatives in the community recently.

Mrs. Orval Mathis, Debbie and Bessie visited friends in Paducah last Tuesday. Mrs. Fowler Mathis who accompanied them to Paducah visited her brother, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Boren.

Before washing a bamboo screen or room divider, dust it with the upholstery brush of your vacuum cleaner. Then sponge both sides with warm soap or detergent suds and rinse with a clean damp cloth.

An alternate suggestion to prevent early morning pickering is to supplement the bathroom facilities by installing a 9 1/2" x 11" hinged wash basin in one or more of the bedrooms.

Reds Regard Latin America As Big Western Soft Spot

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

MEXICO CITY (AP)—World Communist strategists appear today to regard Latin America as the soft underbelly of the Western world.

President Kennedy's flying visit to Mexico emphasizes U. S. concern with the tempo of cold war in the Western Hemisphere.

Current Communist propaganda strongly suggests the area has been moved to first place among likely targets. The method of projected attack is by seizure of what Moscow calls "national liberation movements." The Kremlin means violent revolts against existing governments in underdeveloped areas.

This is the other side of Premier Khrushchev's peaceful coexistence campaign.

There is a suggestion in the barrage of Communist propaganda directed to Latin America that the Red leadership feels the existence of a bridgehead in Castro Cuba presents a golden opportunity to capture local movements.

The U. S. response to this challenge will be the Alliance for Progress, based on the philosophy of help to nations which show that they can help themselves. To turn the spotlight on the alliance, President Kennedy visited Venezuela and Colombia seven months ago, in July he plans to visit Brazil, a nation eyed hopefully by Communist political war planners.

Study of Pravda and other Russian publications shows Soviet propaganda treatment of Latin America now closely resembles that accorded the Middle East before the Suez crisis and to Africa in advance of the Congo crisis. Each of those areas had been considered promising by the Kremlin, and in each Communism came close to establishing a foothold. When the peril became too great the Russians pulled back and marked time.

Latin America then began to move to the propaganda forefront. Fortunately for the United States, the Communists ran into problems with their Cuban allies. It was difficult to impose discipline on people who welcomed Red support and arms but also embraced their benefactors with reckless undertakings doomed in advance to failure.

Yet the Castro-Communist alliance's pressure is felt around a continent seized by a fever of 20th century revolt against ancient ills.

The combine remains dangerous in Venezuela, Brazil, Ecuador, Bolivia and Guatemala. It has hot ground elsewhere because of the spectacle of Cuba under Red rule. The loss is pronounced in Peru, Chile, Colombia, Uruguay and much of Central America. It has almost no strength inside

Paraguay, but exiles outside the country represent a constant threat.

Venezuela, with its oil riches and vast economic problems, seems to be regarded by the Communists as the most attractive target. The Communists control student organizations, mostly because of default by the anti-extremists who are intimidated by Red terror. But the Communists lack control of organized labor, and the peasants support the government of President Romulo Betancourt.

National elections are scheduled for Venezuela next year, however, with no outstanding successor to Betancourt yet in sight.

Activities of pro-Communist zealots like Francisco Juliao and his peasant leagues, make Northeast Brazil a primary source of worry for the United States. Food shortages, inflation, peasant invasion of private estates and armed revolutionary activity are among the main ailments plaguing a government which is having trouble getting itself sufficiently organized to cope with them, despite emergency U. S. aid.

Ecuador's army keeps the lid on extremist activity there. Young guerrillas, trained and armed by Cubans, present a menacing prospect. The hard core of the extreme left—probably a few thousand—aims to stir up considerable violence among the majority, impoverished and resentful.

In Peru's elections, Communists and Castroites threw support to two major candidates, Ferdinand Belaunde and former dictator Manuel Odría, to head off a presidential bid by anti-Communist Victor Haya de la Torre. There was no clear-cut victory but Belaunde is likely to

Cutback By Refiners Is Short-Lived

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON (AP)—The March cutback by oil refiners did not last very long.

Surplus inventories and price wars dictated the cutback after refiners processed a record amount of crude oil in February.

Crude runs averaged a record 8,612,000 barrels a day in February and reached an all-time high of 8,735,000 the week ending Feb. 19.

The cutbacks continued into the first weeks of May and slashed them more than 900,000 barrels a day.

A June comeback threatens February's record levels.

Domestic refiners processed an average of 8,645,000 the two weeks ending June 23. The daily average for the four weeks ending on that date was 8,609,000 barrels. Both averages have been exceeded only by the February levels.

The June operations boom has been accompanied by new warnings of danger ahead.

The Oil and Gas Journal said it might be a good idea if all refineries would close their plants and go fishing two weeks.

The Journal said: "One fact is certain: Refinery runs are far too high. If refiners persist in keeping runs at the 8,500,000-barrel daily level through June, gasoline oversupply will start cranking prices before July 4. Marketers then will experience a sad last half of the motoring season."

This was published two days before the American Petroleum Institute said crude runs had averaged 8,645,000 barrels a day a second consecutive week.

emerge as the new president, with support from the army, while Belaunde, a leftist leader, has the backing of Red support is viewed by some as an omen.

Argentina is a case apart. Its problems revolve about attempts by Peronists to recover power. The extreme left is wooing Peronists with offers of alliance. Argentina's politics and economy are in such turmoil, however, that one gets the impression the leftists are waging in the wings for internal collapse, hoping to pick up some of the pieces.

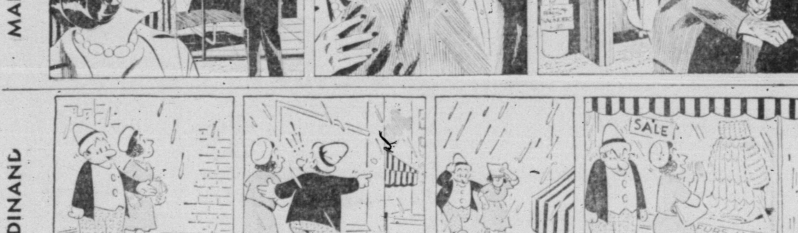

In Chile, Castroism lost ground in the past year, largely because of the political-economic fiasco in Cuba. Pro-Castro elements remain vigorously active, however, even hoping for victory at the polls in 1964.

In Colombia Castroism also has lost ground but the future seems to depend on economic development. The U. S. sponsored Alliance for Progress faces an enormous task in trying to keep up with the expanding Latin American population, which threatens to nullify any economic gains of the next decade.

Thus, in general, while Castroism and communism have suffered setbacks, Latin America remains a choice target. The leftist combination presents a challenge to U. S. efforts to attack the continent's ailments.

William L. Ryan reads Moscow's Pravda and the press of Latin America with equal facility. A specialist in Communist affairs, he recently completed a swing around South America. He is now on his fourth trip to Latin America within seven months.

Sunspots in 1960 caused one of the worst worldwide communications blackouts in recent years. For days the United States was cut off from most of Europe and the Far East.

Junior Editors Quiz on AUTOMOBILES

QUESTION: When and where was the first auto made?

ANSWER: One ancestor of the modern car was a contraption built by the Jesuit missionary Ferdinand Verbiest in 1672. In 1767, the Frenchman N. J. Cugnot constructed a full-sized steam car which dashed along the roads at two miles an hour. The English built improved steam cars, but they were handicapped by a law that a man had to run ahead of them, waving a flag. The first American motor vehicle was a competition steam wagon and flatboat designed in 1805 by Oliver Evans. This led to the development of the famous Stanley Steamers. Then came the electric car, first built by Davenport in 1836 and popular by 1900. The first gas cars were built in France by Lenoir in 1863 and gas car design was improved in Germany by Daimler and Benz. In the United States, the first successful gasoline car was constructed by J. Frank Duryea in 1893. By 1896, Henry Ford had operated his first car, and in 1909 he invented the modern assembly line.

FOR YOU TO DO: The story of old cars is fascinating and so is the building up of a collection of pictures and models. See if you can fill out our brief sketch by painting pictures in a scrap book. Be sure to note the dates.

District Officer Speaks To ABWA Meeting Here Thurs.

A group of the requirements and duties of a national officer and held a demonstration workshop such as those held at district meetings. She explained the association's national scholarship, the Stephen Bullon Memorial Education Fund in which each chapter contributes. These funds are disbursed in loans and out-right grants for educational purposes. She closed her program with "Some evenings you spend and others you invest; think big, act big, and be big."

Tommie Preston, Home Service Advisor of Texas Electric Service Company, presented the vocational talk of the evening. Miss Preston told of her work in connection with calling on owners of new electrical appliances and stated that the aim of her profession was to keep people happy with electric appliances. Charlie Dell-Eason, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee reported that the chapter will sell snow cones, root beer, sandwiches and home-made cake at the Fourth of July celebration in the park.

Guest speaker of the evening was Eve Whitaker, Vice-President of the Southwest District of A.B.W.A. Miss Whitaker, who is a legal secretary at Beaumont, told the

Outdoor Living Remains Popular; Season Is Here

From Connecticut to California, outdoor living continues to be the hottest trend in American home life.

Whether giving a party, barbecuing a steak or taking a nap, everyone's going outdoors to do it.

Screened-in, well floored outdoor "rooms" or patios permit informal back-to-nature living without making sacrifices to the scorching sun or insects. More and more persons are choosing patios floored with tile, a tough, durable, colorful surface that won't crack or stain. Heat from the barbecue will not bother it, nor will cooking grease and oils cause discoloration or a major clean-up job.

With the season for outdoor living rapidly approaching, now is the time to consider adding an outdoor living area, either as a do-it-yourself project or by having it done.

Patios also provide added bonuses, such as a good place for children to play on rainy days and an entranceway for muddy feet.

Miss Pitts Is Bride Of Robert Newton

The Rev. T. Gerald Cates read the double ring rites for Shirley Faye Pitts and Robert H. Newton in an evening ceremony on May 25 in the Highland Park Baptist Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pitts of Tucson, Ariz., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Cates, Abilene.

Mrs. T. Gerald Cates was organist.

The bride wore a white silk sheath fashioned with a sleeveless blouson bodice. A headress of pearls and sequins caught her shoulder-length veil of illusion, and she carried white carnations atop a white Bible.

The reception was held at the church where Mrs. Paul Hinkle, Mrs. Ray Seabolt and Mrs. Cates served in the houseparty.

The bride, formerly of Snyder, attended schools in Tucson, Ariz. The groom, who attended Abilene schools, is serving with the U. S. Navy in San Diego, Calif.

The couple will reside in Abilene following his discharge in September.

Now You Can Dye Your Shoes

AP Newsfeatures

To dye a black shoe white used to be out of the question.

To transform a pair of suede shoes into soft, kidlike ones was also considered an impossibility, until recently.

Now a shoe dye kit is on the market which permits an indecisive female to change the color of her shoes every hour, if she wishes.

She can switch from dark to pastel, and back to dark, or to vivid. She can use any of 24 prepared shades as is, or she can mix them to match a certain article of apparel, graying down the tones by adding a bit of black.

Or, if she's an artist, she can reproduce floral or geometric prints of her costumes on her shoes.

The formula works on leather, not plastic. Calfskin, kid and snakeskin retain their finish, but suede becomes kiddie. Manufacturers claim the treated shoes will not crack, nor will they run or spot when wet.

The dyes may be used on fabric or leather belts and bags, too.

It's no wonder designers just can't let this machine-washable fabric alone for all types of fashions.
