SERIOUSLY SHOT

Man From Hamilton Gets Against a Six Shooter in the Negro Quarter of Dublin.

W. Vincent Drew of Hamilton was seriously but not fatally injured last night at a negro house near the oil mill and Georgie Reid, colored, has been taken to Stephenville, charged with having done the shooting. Drew claims that he came to Dublin last evening and was looking for the home of a laboring man by the name of Johnson and that after calling at several houses he was referred to a certain part of town as being the place where he lived and that in the dark he got into the negro quarters near the oil mill. After knocking at a door where he saw a light, says Drew, he could get no information and when starting to leave some one called from the door of the cottage to a colored boy who had just started from the house and that he returned thinking they were calling him to give him the information asked. It is claimed that Georgie Reid, the colored woman of the house, opened fire on him with a 41-calibre pistol, two shots taking effect. One of these was a flesh wound in the right breast, which also passed through the arm and the other entered the fleshy portion of the left thigh and come out in the front of the leg. He is said not to be fatally injured.

Comanche Farmers Union.

The quarterly meeting of the Comanche County Farmers Union was held at Energy Thursday and Friday of last week. There was a good attendance and the work of the organization was reported to be in a very flourishing condition.

At the open meeting held Thursday night there were speeches by W. D. Lewis of Rockdale and Messrs. Loudermilk and Castleberry of Comanche county.

The most important subject discussed was that of the establishment of one or two cotton warehouses in the county. A committee was appointed and will make a report at the next meeting upon the advisability of such a course The proposition will likely be carried as almost if not every member of the union favors it.

The annual election of officers resulted as follows: W. T. Louudermilk, president: D. E. Renfro, vice-president; Charles Smith, secretary; Ed Foote, chaplain: R. L. Robinson, conductor; Mr. Dennis, doorkeeper; H. D. McDonald, W. L. Robinson and F. M. Williford, executive committee.

The following persons were elected delegates to the state union: H. D. McDonald, Chas. Smith, D. E. Renfro and Mr. McLowery.

The next meeting will be held at Hasse the second Thursday in October.

Death of Mr. Guest.

Richard Nathan Guest died at Mineral Wells, Tuesday night, July 17th, at the age of fifty-one years and seven months.

Deceased was born in Hunt county, Texas, on December 8th, 1853 and was married in the same county in 1887 to Miss Anna Williams, who survives him. From this union six children were born, viz: Mark, who resides at Purves in this county; Lum, who resides at Memphis, Texas; Dave and Dora, both of this place and unmarried, Mattie and Irene, both of whom are yet at home. Mark is the eldest, being about thirty years of age and Irene is six years of age and the youngest of the family. Besides the wife and children Mr. Guest leaves the following brothers and sisters, J. J. Guest of Lingleville, Mrs. Ada Clemmons of Davis, I. T. and Quinnie Holden of Denison. Mr. Guest has been in poor health with an affliction of the heart for two or three years past and some weeks ago went to Mineral Wells in an effort to regain his health.

The body arrived in Dublin on the evening Frisco train Wednesday and was laid to rest in the old Dublin cemetery shortly after three o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Deceased was one of the early settlers of Dublin, having removed to this place some eighteen years ago, a consistent member of the Methodist congregation and an exemplary citizen.

Senator Objected to Profanity.

If there was anything the late Senator Hoar disliked more than he did another it was profanity. The story is told how shocked the venerable senator would be by the inflamatory interjections of a certain politician with whom he frequently was compelled to confer. But on all such occasions he would refrain from censuring the culprit except in the mildest manner. One day when the politician came to the senator's committee room on a subject of considerable importance, Mr. Hoar indicated a seat to him and remarked:

"Now, Mr. Blank, before we enter upon a discussion of this question, we shall assume that everybody and everything is damned. Then we can talk it over amicably."

Comanche County Court.

J. H. Houston vs. Callaway & Eanes, suit for return of commission, verdict for defendants.

Alcorn Woolen Manufacturing Company vs. T. C. Wier, suit on debt, judgment by default for plantiff.

Attention Comrades.

Every member of the Erath and Comanche Ex-Confederate association is requested to be at the reunion on August 2nd, the first day of the reunion at Dublin, as there will probably be some important business. —J.D. St.Clair, Lieut. Col. 1st Reg., 5th Brigade, U.C.V., Texas Division.

Pointed Paragraphs.

An empty head contains many surprises.

There is nothing so painful as some men's efforts to be funny.

The more nerve a man has the less money he loses when he fails in business.

Always speak well of yourself. Your friends will attend to the other side of it.

A girl's idea of a trust is to have a monopoly on a young man's affections.

After a woman discovers that her husband has lied to her he never hears the last of it.

A married man shouldn't talk in his sleep unless he is sure of what he is going to say.

If a man is right he can't be too radical, and if he's wrong he can't be too conservative.

Never strike a man when he's down—unless you are sure he will never be able to get up again.

Successful men have plenty of confidence in themselves and but little in a mule's heels or a woman's tongue.—Chicago News.

Short Sermons.

Many men think it's time enough to be honest when they have made their pile.

The millionaire who gives away money to his pet hobby never asks himself if the people he took it from would like to have it spent that way.

We never realize how cheap the trusts can sell their goods until they begin to fight each other and cut the rates.

The man who raises the price of the necessities of life doesn't care because he lives on the luxuries.

Some people seem to think that it's all right to accept graft if they give a small percentage of it to charity.

The advantage of having money working for you is that you can stop working yourself.—Tom Watson's Magazine.

Gibbons Opposes Woman Suffrage

Relative to the question of woman's suffrage Cardinal Gibbons recently said in an address before the university at Baltimore.

"Woman today is the peer of her husband, not the slave of his caprice and reason. She is, she ought to be, queen of the domestic household. But because you are equal in quality it does not mean you should have the same functions to perform. Some women are not satisfied with their own power, they want to invade the man's privileges, and they want to vote. I trust they will never get the authority to do that, for when women mingle with the political life they lose their freshness. You cannot vote, but you can make your men vote to please you.

The Chinese Custom.

If a Chinaman dies while being tried for murder the fact of his dying is taken as evidence of his guilt. He has departed, but somebody must suffer, and his eldest son, if he has a son, is sent to prison for a year. If he has none, his father or brother gets a flogging. It's all in the family and somebody has to pay for.

nesday morning about ten a mechanic who came here a s ago from San Antonio atd suicide at his boarding house Santa Fe depot, or at least violently sick for a while and attending physician that he had tried to kill himself. Last night he bought a quarter of an ounce of oil of winter green from a local druggist and took it this morning, saying that he was going to end his life.

A physician was summoned and he showed some symptms of poison. A stomach pump was brought into play and the contents of the stomach were soon emptied, giving relief. The man claimed that he had taken in addition to the oil of winter green seven ounces of morphine and six ounces of strychnine, but the winter green left in the vial did not show either of these poisons and the physician did not analyze the contents of the stomach. The physiological condition of the man did not indicate severe poisoning. Oil of winter green sickens, but does not poison, at least in such quantities. The man's wife, with her two young children and mother have been running a boarding house for a few months past, she having been seperated from her husband. On his arrival he attempted a reconciliation and not succeeding, took the winter green. He is a railroad man and a carpenter and has engaged to begin work for Krischke & Son tomorrow morning. The man claims to be related to one of the most prominent families in the state, living at Corsicana.—Brownwood Bulletin.

A Prosperous Farmer.

W. M. Mobley lives west of the city—out in the great sandy land belt—where goobers grow, and where the pear, the grape, peach and plum reach perfection, and where there's hardly any limit put on the size of the water melon. They just grow until they get tired and then quit. But they always manage to time their day of ripening so as to make connection with the summer camp meeting, for no camp meeting would be a success without the water melon. While Mr. Mobley has been a resident of this favored spot for years it has never caused him to become vain or conceited. Each day he pursues the same quiet, modest course, and when 365 are finished each is like the other —all full of good deeds, without any to the bad. He works his farm, tills it well and never gets worried. Even sudden wealth does not upset his equanimity. On Tuesday he sold his cotton crop, thirty bales, and received a check for $1,670 and this vast sum never caused him to tilt his head a quarter of an inch higher. Not long since the editor found a bright new dime in a horse track. He didn't pick it up but walked off a block or so and returned so as to have the pleasure of finding that dime twice. He felt rich, happy. He wouldn't recognize his friends, and took a day off to celebrate the event. A check for $1,670! Well, well, if that much money at one time should have fallen to the editor never more would he have toiled. This check for part of a crop raised in one year on an ordinary Erath county sandy land farm never phased Mr. Mobley. He must have become accustomed to them.—Stephenville Tribune.

The normal school held at Stephenville at John Tarleton ended last Saturday. It is estimated that not less than $3,000 was expended by the students during their sojourn in the city. This is not taking into consideration sums expended with the Frisco railway and with the merchants for clothing and dress goods.

Jim Mastin paid nine dollars for a lot of elm trees which he planted on his place in one of the nicest portions of the city, and loose cows are destroying them. He thinks it would be a good idea to tie a black bottle to one of them containing a little whiskey. A court of inquiry would then be instituted and the law breakers apprehended.

Will Aikey who has been working out two fines on the poor farm, one for selling whiskey and one for burning an artor, has escaped from that place. He was chained to the wall and lathered his ankle with soap until it became very soft, then he slipped the chain off, tore down the jail door and made his escape. This is the second time he has escaped from the poor farm. He has not been captured yet.

Geo. P. Knight, deputy county clerk, is being urged by many of his friends to make the race for county clerk, and it is more than likely he will accede to their wishes. There are few better men than he.

The old gentleman claimed that a crowd of neighborhood boys who had been bothering him for some time passed in front of of his house and stopped and began swearing and threatening to rob his peach orchard. The old gentleman in order to frighten the boys away, took a double barrel shot gun, shooting above their heads. It seems from all accounts that it had the desired effect and that the boys did not stop running until they reached Brownwood where they are appearing against him.

Last Wednesday a dog, evidenty mad, appeared at the home of Mr. Boyd on Willis Creek south of town and bit his dogs. The same dog also went to Frank Emison's were it bit the dogs on the place. There are some half dozen dogs without owners that have been staying in the Clark pasture the past winter that have become so wild that they run and hide when anyone approaches. Remarkable Weight of a Negro.

John McMillan left Beaumont recently for Portland, Ore., where he goes to make arrrangements for the showing in the big fair of a negro named Jim, who weighs 750 pounds, who was born on the banks of the Neches, in Red Town, a colored suburb of Beaumont. He is nineteen years old and is probably the largest negro in the world, if not the largest human being. The flesh does not prevent him from driving a wood wagon for a living and he is not lazy. Mr. McMillan has taken hold of the task of showing him at Portland as a curiosity.

Stopped the Train.

The west-bound passenger train in charge of Conductor Thomson Saturday afternoon was stopped just east of Lampasas for a most peculiar reason. One of the passengers unconcernedly poked his feet out of the window a few feet, and just before crossing a bridge, the engineer chanced to look back and noticed the feet dangling out of the window. The pair of feet looked so large to the engineer that he was afraid to cross the bridge until the passenger should withdraw the said pedal extremites. Accordingly the train was stopped, Conductor Thomson notified the passenger, the feet were taken in a few feet and the train was again put in motion. —San Angelo Daily Standard.

CHANGED HUSBAND.

Wife Made Wise Change in Food.

A woman says:

"My husband had dysepsia when we were married and had suffered from it for several years. It was almost impossible to find anything he could eat without bad results.

"I thought this was largely due to the use of coffee and persuaded him to discontinue it. He did so, and began to drink Postum Food Coffee. The change did him good from the beginning, his digestion improved; he suffered much less from his nervousness, and when he added Grape-Nuts food to his diet he was soon entirely cured.

"My friend, Mrs. ——, of Vicksburg, my former home, had become a nervous wreck also from dyspepsia.

Medicines had no effect, neither did travel help her. On my last visit home, some months ago, I persuaded her to use Grape-Nuts food. She was in despair, and consented. She stuck to it until it restored her health so completely that she is now the most enthusiastic friend of Grape-Nuts that I ever knew. She eats it with cream or dry, just as it comes from the package—keeps it in her room and eats it whenever she feels like it.

"I began eating Grape-Nuts food, myself, when my baby was two months old, and I don't know what I should have done without it. My appetite was gone, I was weak and nervous and afforded but very little nourishment for the child. The Grape-Nuts food, of which I soon grew very fond, speedily set all this right again and the baby grew healthful, rosy and beautiful as a mother could wish. He is two years old now and eats Grape-Nuts food himself. I wish every tired young mother knew of the good that Grape-Nuts would do her.

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN WHO CANNOT BE CU[RED]

Backed up by over a third of a century of remarkable and uniform cures, a record such as no other remedy for the diseases and weaknesses peculiar to women ever attained, the proprietors [and makers] of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Pres[cription] feel fully warranted in offering [to pay $500] in legal money of the United [States, for] any case of Leucorrhea, Female [Weakness,] Prolapsus, or Falling of Womb, [which they] cannot cure. All they ask is [a fair and] reasonable trial of their means [of cure].

No other medicine than Dr. [Pierce's Fa]vorite Prescription could [possibly "win] out," as the saying goes, on such [a proposi]tion; but they know whereof th[ey speak.] They have the most remarkable [record of] cures made by this world-famed [remedy] ever placed to the credit of [any prepara]tion especially designed for the [cure of] woman's peculiar ailments. Th[is wonder]ful remedy, therefore, stands [out] alone as the only one possessed [of such] unrivaled properties as to fully [warrant its] makers in publishing the re[markable offer] above made in the utmost good [faith].

"A short time ago I was almost [a wreck from] nervous prostration, general debility [and female] weakness," writes Mrs. Loretto W[?, of ?] Virginia Ave., Lexington, Ky., [?, Work]er, Independent Order of Good Temp[lars. "Dr.] Pierce's Favorite Prescription was [recommend]ed to me as a sure cure, and I found [it] true, for I obtained splendid [results and] fine health. Women ought to be [glad to] think there is one safe and sure cu[re for] them for their troubles. I advise [every sick] and suffering woman to stop sp[ending money] and wasting time with doctors [and try] when a few bottles of your remedy [will] cure. I am the happy mother of [a] boy aged sixteen, and girl, eight y[ears."]

Do not permit the dealer to [insult your] intelligence by suggesting some [substitute com]pound which he recommends [as "just as] good," because he makes it [pay him better]. Pierce's Favorite Prescription [has stood] the test of time and experi[ence; thou]sands speak well of it—because [they] have been cured by it.

The Secret of Good Coffee

Even the best housekeepers cannot make a good cup of coffee without good material. Dirty, adulterated and queerly blended coffee such as unscrupulous dealers shovel over their counters won't do. But take the pure, clean, natural flavored

LION COFFEE, the leader of all package coffees—the coffee that for over a quarter of a century has been daily welcomed in millions of homes—and you will make a drink fit for a king in this way:

HOW TO MAKE GOOD COFFEE.

Use LION COFFEE, because to get best results you must use the best coffee.

Grind your LION COFFEE rather fine. Use "a tablespoonful to each cup, and one extra for the pot." First mix it with a little cold water, enough to make a thick paste, and add white of an egg (if egg is to be used as a settler), then follow one of the following rules:

1st. WITH BOILING WATER. Add boiling water, and let it boil THREE MINUTES ONLY. Add a little cold water and set aside five minutes to settle. Serve promptly.

2d. WITH COLD WATER. Add your cold water to the paste and bring it to a boil. Then set aside, add a little cold water, and in five minutes it's ready to serve.

DON'TS { 3 Don't boil it too long. Don't let it stand more than ten minutes before serving. Don't use water that has been boiled before.

TWO WAYS TO SETTLE COFFEE.

1st. With Eggs. Use part of the white of an egg, mixing it with the ground LION COFFEE before boiling.

2d. With Cold Water instead of eggs. After boiling add a dash of cold water, and set aside for eight or ten minutes, then serve through a strainer.

Insist on getting a package of genuine LION COFFEE, prepare it according to this recipe and you will only use LION COFFEE in future. (Sold only in 1 lb. sealed packages.)

(Lion-head on every package.)

(Save these Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)

Among those from Bunyan at the Methodist revival last Sunday were Misses Nelson, Bostick and Florence Williams and Messrs. Drew Howard, V. Williams, Otis Shillingburg, Lyhugh Schooler and Ed Parks.

Mr. Henry Favors and Miss Cora Turpen and Mr. Ben Roberts and Miss Mary Stewart, all of the Shelby-Harmony community east of town, were married Sunday evening, Rev. Strong officiating. They are all well known and popular young people. We extend congratulations.

COMANCHE.

From the Exponent.

July 21st.—Scott H. Mack has resigned as secretary of Neely-Harris-Cunningham Company, preparatory to moving to Blanket next month.

The Comanche district Farmers Union met Saturday afternoon. Dan Harris was elected president and A. J. Clark secretary for the coming year.

Marriage licenses have been issued to W. D. Wright and Miss Lottie Lancaster, T. C. Freeman and Miss Alice Tanner, J. G. Pettman and Bonsent.—Exchange.

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Randlas, Robert Edgar Blue and Miss Cora Dennie Welch.

It is reported that a convict in the state penitentiary has written to relatives here that Oscar Roberts, recently convicted of killing Henry Carter, has become demented.

We were in error last week in the statement that Neely-Harris-Cunningham Co. had bought the P. M. Tribble stock of furniture. Adams-Burke-Simmons Co. were the purchasers.

The Sam Cole case has been transferred to Comanche county and will come up for trial at the next term of district court. Cole shot and killed his father-in-law, C. C. Hudson, near Coleman, two years ago. The case was taken to Brown county on a change of venue and Cole given eight years. The case was reversed and in the second trial the defendant was given six years and the case was again reversed. At the time of the killing there was talk at Coleman of lynching Cole.

J. M. Neely tells us of an interesting chase in which his son Tom and Bill and John Burton participated in one day last week. They took his pack of hounds over about Cedar Gap and caught, after an exciting chase, a huge catamount. In the chase they scared up a lot of half grown wolves, and later in the day killed three of them one at a time. Mr. Neely has about the finest pack of hounds in the county—six of them—and says he will put them up against any other pack. He says there are lots of wolves in the mountains near Newburg and he expects to take a crowd over there in a few days and have some great sport.

The editor and family made a trip to Galveston the past week. Beyond Temple a great many cotton fields are so badly in the grass that they have been abandoned. Corn is not nearly so good as it is here. Except for the shipping on the water front, the bathing in the surf, several fine public buildings and the jetties and sea wall Galveston is a very delapidated and uninteresting city. The grade of the city is being raised about twelve feet higher, and when the work is completed with the help of the sea wall, it is claimed that the city will be safe from such storms as destroyed it in 1900.

FLEMING.

From Comanche Exponent.

July 18th.—Farmers are just about up with their work.

Prayer meeting was well attended Sunday night.

The musical given by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lane was enjoyed by all.

Prof. Wilkins will begin a twenty days' singing school here August 1st.

Messrs. Renfro, Shankles, Drummond and Story attended the county Farmers Union at Energy Thursday and Friday. They report a fine time and plenty to eat.

Pranks of Lightning.

During the storm of Friday the air seemed to be much charged with lightning, but not of the kind usually carried around corked up in black bottles and white jugs. The stuff turned loose on us Friday was the genuine article, bearing all the trade marks of purity and without the least taint of adulteration by enterprising manufacturers. It invaded the Tribune office, the residence of Henry Cole, a house belonging to McD. Reil and occupied by F. A. Brooks, the residence of Jim Bowling and struck also the southwestern corner of the court house. Damages were very slight, the greatest being at the home of Mr. Brooks, where it ruined a flue, tore considerable paper from the wall and made kindling wood of two doors.—Stephenville Tribune.

Slightly Mixed.

Two correspondents wrote to a country editor to know, respectively, "The best way of assisting twins through the teething period;" and "How to rid an orchard of grasshoppers."

The editor answered both questions faithfully, but unfortunately got the initials mixed, so that the fond mother and father were thunderstruck by the following advice: "If you are unfortunate enough to be plagued by these little pests the quickest way of settling them is to cover them with straw and set the straw on fire."

The man who was bothered with grasshoppers was equally amazed to read: "The best method of treatment is to give them a warm bath twice a day and rub their gums with bonsent."—Exchange.

Free Passes to Farmers' Congress.

Brownwood Bulletin.

For the past two years the Bulletin has taken a special coach party of Brown county farmers to the Farmers congress at College Station. It has announced that it would do so again this year, but has decided to withdraw that announcement. The rate that has been made from Brownwood has been $6.50 for the round trip, which is reasonable enough for the distance traveled. But last year the Bulletin learned for the first time that certain railroads in the state issued free passes to this congress, and that fully a thousand farmers were in attendance who went there on these passes. This placed the Bulletin management in an embarassing position for this paper had urged its patrons to pay $6.50 each to attend, and it looked like the paper and the roads might be working together to work the farmers of this section. When announcement was first made this year that the Bulletin would again get up a special coach party it was thought that the roads that had given out the passes would not do so again, but since then the Bulletin has been led to believe that some of them will do so this year. The Bulletin does not wish to urge is patrons to pay $6.50 each to attend a meeting while perhaps a thousand other farmers will be furnished transportation free. It believes that if the railroads carry farmers from one section free to this congress, they should not expect the farmers of another section of the state to foot the bills. It believes that it is wrong to issue passes to this congress at all, but that the roads should make the lowest rate possible and give all the farmers of Texas the advantage of it, thus equalizing the expense. Until something of this kind is done the Bulletin does not wish to be sponsor for any more Farmers congress coach parties. The Frisco, the Sante Fe, the Katy, the Midland, the Rock Island, the Cotton Belt and the Aransas Pass roads are not issuing passes this year and say they will not. The other roads have not given out what they will do, but as stated above there is reason for believing that the usual number of passes will be issued by some of them, enough at least to render it inadvisable for the Bulletin to arrange for this party. Already a number have sent in applications for transportation and in justice to the roads entering Brownwood the Bulletin will say that those who desire to attend the congress can get round trip tickets from Brownwood at $6.50 and that these roads do not issue free tickets to any one.

Tea to Be a Texas Product.

The fact that Texas is raising tea is unknown to ninety-nine out of every hundred of her inhabitants. At Pierce Station in Wharton county there is a government experimental tea plantation, and highly satisfactory results are being obtained. A late report states that tea shrubs on twenty-six acres are growing splendidly and it is proposed to plant one hundred additional acres as soon as practicable. The government is thoroughly convinced that tea will thrive throughout the coast region, hence the experimental station. All that is desired now is to ascertain what flavor Texas tea will have. If satisfactory it will open up another avenue of development for our farmers.—Halletsville Herald.

The Simple Life.

Where is the recompense which repays to the slave of ambition the loss of the sunny days in the fields, the myriad voices of the autumn woods and the leisure hours at the fireside of a happy home?

Shall there be no rest for weary feet in this mad race for fame and wealth and position? Shall there be no furlough from this all-devouring army?

Shall there never come a time when the rainy day is mine and the long, sweet hours in the quiet library?

Shall the fever of pursuit so entirely enslave us that there shall be no hour that belongs to friendship, none that belongs to solitude and reflection, no memory and sacred teachings of regret?

Tom Reed once said to me, "We are not judged by character; we are judged by reputation."

Just so; and perhaps that's the very reason why it is worth while to stress the fact that reputation is not worth the price we pay—for surely the real value of the man is his character and not his reputation.

Get all the fame that flows from a good, industrious life. Such a fame is as healthy as the light that pours from a star, as unfeverish as the halo that follows sterling worth.

Get all the money you can honestly get. You owe it to yourself and to those who depend on you to bring the vessel into port, if you can, safe from the storm.

The man who says he loves being poor is a liar, and he takes you for a fool; else he wouldn't tell you so.

Win position in life, if you feel that duty calls you there.

No man can underrate the importance of fame, of wealth or of position; but the man who pays his health and his happiness and his life for them pays too much.—Thomas E. Watson in his Magazine for July.

Could Not Be Kept in Irons.

The following story of Admiral Dewey is told by one of the sailors who returned on the Raleigh. Just before the battle of Manila when the order was given to strip for action, the smallest powder boy on the flagship dropped his coat overboard. He asked permission to jump after it but was refused. He went to the side of the ship, dropped overboard, recovered his coat and was promptly arrested for disobedience. Admiral Dewey spoke kindly to the youngster who broke down and said that his coat contained his mother's picture which he had just kissed and he could not bear to see it lost. Dewey's eyes filled with tears; he fairly embraced the boy and ordered him to be released, saying: "Boys who love their mothers enough to risk their lives for her picture can not be kept in irons on this fleet."—Exchange.

Apostrophe to Texas.

James Barton Adams, the poet of the Denver Post, recently paid a visit to Texas, and upon his return home he indicted the following apostrophe to this glorious state:

O! Texas! Thy greatness stupefies the eye with wonder! The cattle which dot thy spreading plains and undulating slopes are as innumerable as the sands in the Philadelphia mayor's craw!

Thy morning air, as the light of the dawn unveils thy grandeur, trembles with the music of the songs of the mule and the mocking bird!

The fame of thy cotton is known in every part of the civilized world where shapely women are made to order!

O'er thy outspread ranges the typical cowboy in white sombrero and French heel boots, sits in a one hundred-dollar saddle and on a ten-dollar horse.

Sits and spurs the bargain counter broncho on the trail of the long horn, singing songs that have not yet been found available in modern salvation work.

The railways which bind together the furthermost confines of the vast domain from thy northern border to where the sobbing sea loves thy southern extremities are the greatest ever!

As highways of luxurious travel thy take the cake of Fairy soap!

As for thy wives, they can speak for themselves.

The best blood of the land runs in the veins of thy enterprising mosquitoes. Supplied fresh at all hours of the day or night.

Thy negroes are legion and are fine samples of life studies done in black, from the pastor of Bethlehem chapel to the Houston nigger about to receive sentence for chicken stealing and beg the court to be economical with him.

And further deponent saith not at present.

Selah!

Put Up or Shut Up.

We know of nothing more unpleasant to the ear of thinking people than to hear men criticising other people for what they are doing for the good of the country, while they themselves are doing nothing. They complain that certain men take the lead and try to run things, while they themselves will not work in the lead nor anywhere else in the team. Men have no constitutional, legal or moral right to say one word about who is running a thing or how it is run, so long as they sit back and do nothing, neither by contribution or otherwise.—Iredell Sentinel.

Theodore Waters, writing in [illegible]son's Magazine, takes up what [illegible] be called "The Faker's Trust," [illegible] alleged combination of fakers [illegible] make a living by getting up [illegible] damage suits against corporations, [illegible] municipalities and firms. Mr. [illegible]ers cites hundreds of cases of people who have worked up suits against [illegible] corporations and cities to gain [illegible] paltry dollars, and tells stories of [illegible] and women who make a profession [illegible] getting hurt, just to bilk railroad [illegible] companies, street car companies [illegible] municipalities. This is all too prevalent in this country, and even [illegible] Texas one case is pointed out, that [illegible] of a man who threw himself under [illegible] a Texas and Pacific passenger train [illegible] and had a leg cut off, just to collect [illegible] damages. The man with the [illegible] damage suit is no better than the [illegible] highwayman who holds up men and [illegible] takes their money at the point of a [illegible] pistol.—Sherman Register.

Writing about a man who is worth [illegible] $40,000,000, a religious exchange remarks that "it is easier to get $39,000,000 than it is to get $1,000,000." The meaning is that there is more effort involved in earning the first million dollars than in making the succeeding thirty-nine millions. As a matter of fact, any man can "make" forty millions of dollars, or even one million dollars in a life time. He may get legal possession of it, but the sum total of what he can cannot increase that fast, so it follows that if he gets it, society loses it. And to say that the possession of the first million makes the accumulation of the next thirty-nine million comparatively easy, is only to call attention to the power of money to oppress.

Gossip is a humming bird, with eagle wings and a voice like a fog horn. It can be heard from Dan to Beersheba and has caused more trouble than all the bed bugs, [illegible] fleas, mosquitoes, coyotes, grasshoppers, chinch bugs, rattlesnakes, sharks, sore toes, cyclones, earthquakes, blizzards, smallpox, yellow fever, gout and indigestion that the great United States has known or will know when the universe shall up shop and begins the final [illegible] In other words, it has got war and hell both backed up in a corner waiting for ice water.—Guerney (W[illegible] Gazette.

The home-grown, hand-spanked, bare-footed, hard-fisted country boy makes a better fight in the battle of life than the pampered, high-collared, creased-trousered youth of the cities, whose clothes have always been dusted with a whisk broom instead of a shingle. Let the city boy out of a job try a year on the farm. Plowing behind a mule will take all the kinks out of his thinking, the gas out of his stomach and the weakness out of his legs, and will give him an appetite, an honest pay and a sight of heaven.—Merkel [illegible]

Rev. Kiker made a trip Monday to his farm over on the Paluxy north of Stephenville and brought back with him some very fine samples of corn picked at random from the crop and which he believes will make nearly fifty bushels to the acre. Rev. Kiker is a good farmer as well as a preacher and is inclined to boast of the success that has attended his efforts in the line of truck growing, even on the little patch of ground at the Methodist parsonage, where he has caused several varieties of sprouts to grow in profusion where comparatively a small number and quantity has always heretofore grown. The little garden spot has not only provided all the vegetables, roasting ears, etc., that could be used by his family, but one of our enterprising grocers has sold for him some six or eight dollars worth and he has plenty left and a big crop of pumpkins coming on that have already attained the size equal to the largest head in his congregation.

G. Walter Hickey left Saturday for Anson to report ready for trial next Monday on a murder charge. The case has already been tried three times, the first trial being held at Haskell, where he was found guilty and penalty assessed at life imprisonment. The case was reversed in the court of appeals and a change of venue taken to Anson, where two succeeding trials resulted in disagreement of the jury. He was accompanied by his father, Capt. W. W. Hickey and by Judge L. N. Franks of Stephenville and Judge Woodard of Coleman, who will appear as attorneys for the defense. Ten or twelve persons left Sunday for Anson as witnesses.

Later—Mr. Hickey and attorneys and witnesses returned Tuesday, the case having, on motion of the state, been transferred to Throckmorton and set for trial on November 16th of this year.

Regarding the item from the Brownwood Bulletin, printed in another portion of this paper relative to the Mistrot stock of goods at Dublin to be sold in bulk to the highest bidder, a Progress reporter called on Mr. Coffin of the Mistrot firm at this place. Mr. Coffin says the report is absolutely without foundation in regard to the Dublin stock, and that the Brownwood reporter evidenty got Dublin and Abilene mixed. The Dublin store is under an altogether different mangement than that of the Brownwood and Abilene stores, and the store at this place will continue as heretofore.

Mr. Maud Frank, whose farm is on the Bosque, a mile west of Iredell, while driving across the river on his way to town Tuesday morning, discovered a large cat fish making his way over the shoals from one hole to another. Mr. Frank got out of his wagon, pulled off his shoes, waded in and brought the monster to shore. He brought the fish to town and he tipped the beam at forty-three pounds. Maud felt himself almost as victorious as Togo did when he destroyed the Russian fleet, and congratulates himself as being a great fisherman.—Iredell Sentinel.

Rev. Father Sullivan, president of St. Basil's college for boys at Waco, was here Friday and Saturday, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Drucke, whose two boys have recently returned from the school. St. Basil's has been established but four years but had an attendance during the past term of about one hundred and fifty, which number is expected to largely increase next year. It is the only school in Waco, except Baylor, whose diplomas are a guarantee of admission to Yale university without further examination.

The prairies about Dublin afford an unlimited supply of rock that could be drawn upon to pave the streets of Dublin with crushed stone. A rock crushing outfit can be had for less than two thousand dollars and no better investment could be made by the city. The gravel proposition would then be a thing of the past and our streets would be better than ever.

In a runaway last Monday Miss Maud Harber was very painfully injured. She and Miss Lucy Hamilton were returning from Huckabay and when near Lingleville the horse became frightened and ran, throwing them from the buggy. Miss Maud was kicked on the head and very badly bruised, while Miss Hamilton's injuries were not so bad.

Card of Thanks.

Through these columns I want to express, as near as feeble words can, my sincere appreciation and gratitude to my many friends and neighbors of Highland community for their ready response with willing hands and the untiring vigilance they kept at the bedside of my dear departed wife, Mina. No tender words were left unspoken, no little act too small or too troublesome that would add to her comfort or to a heart broken husband. Friends, this has created in my heart a memory for you that I must think will live beyond this misty vale, even where she now dwells. Her lonely husband.—Walter W. Jones. 1t.

With the innumerable other projects the doctor has on foot he ought to be able to keep the paper afloat in a better manner than either of the present newspapers which depend entirely upon this business for support. We wish the doctor all the success his enterprise may deserve.

1 Dollar Saved Represents 10 Dollars Earned.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent of his earnings. He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. This being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain,s Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house often saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. Japanese On Our Warships.

I see that Admiral Evans denies a story told of him, to the effect that he encountered as commander of a Japanese warship a Japanese who had been his steward on a ship of our navy only a few years before. The story was believed because it was by no means improbable. Every ship of our navy going into commission has had aboard for a dozen years past Japanese servants. These men have been manifestly of a superior class socially. They were all well educated and their desire for further improvement was manifest to every officer. If they were not already commissioned officers of the Japanese navy when they served aboard our ships, it is not unreasonable to assume that they took the place of servants in our navy for the purpose of preparing themselves for the naval profession and to acquire experiencing actual navy life.

Nor is it doubtful that they used every opportunity to put to use their peculiarly keen faculties of observation. They "sized up" every officer and found out all about the ship. They know our strength and also our weaknesses.

These young Japanese are highly esteemed by their government and people because of the self-sacrificing "Samurai" spirit they displayed in entering into a service employment for the benefit of their country. They constituted the best corps of observation, of tried observers which any country has ever had. It is not improbable that in a similar way they have made themselves acquainted with other western navies, their material and their personnel.

It was all a feature of that marvelously detailed and systematic preparation of the Japanese for the victory they have now achieved.—New York Sun.

REMEDY FOR HAY FEVER.

After Trying Other Treatments, Hyomei Was Used with Perfect Success.

J. F. Forbes, a well known Western railroad man, whose home is at McCook, Nebraska, writes "I have never had any relief from any remedy for hay fever, even temporarily, until I discovered the merits of Hyomei. I always recommend it when occasion requires."

There is no offensive or dangerous stomach dosing when Hyomei is used. This reliable remedy for the cure of all diseases of the respiratory organs is breathed through a neat pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, so that the air taken into the throat and lungs is like that of the White Mountains or other health resorts, where hay fever is unknown.

The fact that Overton Drug Co. agree to refund the money to any hay fever sufferer who uses Hyomei without success, should inspire confidence in its power to effect a cure.

A complete outfit costs only $1.00 and extra bottles but 50 cents.

A New Nation—Norway.

'Norway from today is a fully independent and sovereign state,'' said the Storthing, or legislative body on June 7th. If this declaration can be made good, we have to note the birth of a new nation.

Norway is a long and narrow country, extending from 57 degrees 58 minutes to 71 degrees 11 minutes north latitude. It has a coast line cf 1,700 miles, without counting the shore lines of the fiords and islands, which would extend 12,000 miles. On the east side it has a boundary 1,500 miles long from north to south. The width varies from sixty to 250 miles. The boundary between Norway and Sweden is 950 miles in length. The area is 124,129 square miles and the population in 1901 was 2,239,880.

Of the total area 59 per cent is bare mountanis, 21 per cent woodland and only 10 per cent in pasture, hay lands and fields. It produces about 255,000 bushels of rye, but the cereal crops are insufficient for the maintenance of the people. Consequently articles of food and drink are largely imported. It results from this that the imports greatly exceed the exports. In 1901 the imports were of the value of $76,000,000, while the exports were worth only $41,400,000, not very much over half. The cereals, flour and groceries are the largest items of import with bacon, cotton and woolen goods and coal. The most important exports are of timber and fishing products. Butter and condensed milk are also exported.

The difference between imports and exports is largely made up by the carrying trade of Norway. Its merchant marine is the fourth in the world, and the largest of all in proportion to population. In 1902 it had 6,688 vessels with an aggregate tonnage of 1,467,098. It is a large carrier for foreign countries, and the receipts from the traffic go far to pay for the imports.

For some centuries Norway was governed by native Kings. It established colonies in Ireland and Greenland, and for some time controlled the Orkney and Shetland Islands and the Hebrides. In 1397 Norway was merged with Sweden and Denmark, and the union with Denmark continued until 1814.

The union of Norway and Sweden under one King was not at all intimate. Each country retained its own government with a separate ministry and legislature. There is no national parliament, or legislative body analogous to our congress. Matters of common interest have been attended to by a council of state composed of both Swedes and Norwegians.

There are intimations that the secession of Norway may be peaceful, but this remains to be seen. It will be remembered that the secession of some of the southern states in 1861 was not immediately followed by war. It is worth while, therefore, to note the relative proportions of the two countries. With an area of 172,876 square miles, Sweden had in 1901 a population of 5,175,228, nearly two and a half times that of Norway. So far as population goes therefore, the odds would be largely in favor of Sweden should there be an armed conflict.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Beer Drinkers to Build the Canal.

It would be a strange freak of fate if the brewers and beer drinkers of the country had to pay the cost of uniting the waters of the Atlantic and Pacific through the medium of the Panama canal. Yet this is the precise proposition that is being discussed and agitated in Washington. The "standpatters" declare that the canal must be built without the usual resultant change in tariff schedules. They insist that the money to build it shall be secured through tax on beer. They advocate that the tax be fixed at $1 per barrel. As the annual output of this beverage is upward of forty-five million barrels, it would net a tidy sum annually that could be applied at once to the canal project.

Said President Was Fresh.

President Roosevelt was given a curt rebuff by a woman of the backwoods, who did not know she was speaking to the head of the nation. At Red Hill, Albemarle county, the president on leaving the train to go to the country home recently purchased by Mrs. Roosevelt, noticed a plainly dressed woman attempting to get on the car.

He then caught her hand and gave it a regular "executive" shake.

Snatching her hand away and eyeing him wrathfully, the woman said: "Young man, I don't know who you are and I don't care a cent, but I must say you are the freshest somebody I've ever seen in these parts."

The story was too good to keep, and the president told it on himself.

While the socialism which would make all men exactly alike as to the possession of wealth is wrong, a little socialism which would hang every miserly man, not in the orthodox way, but upside down by the feet, so that money might run out of him for the poor and the unchurched and the heathen, would be a good thing. —Rev. Here are three great principles which Christianity gives as the eternal foundations upon which you shall build up your life and character: Make love the supreme law; hold truth to the be supreme power; take holiness as the supreme ideal. Such is the teaching of the one who said, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." —Rev. Percy Trafford Olton, Episcopalian, Greene, N. Y.

What the world needs is a moral awakening—moral resolution, not more religion; moral perception, not religious frenzy—and it needs it now as it never needed it before. There never was a time in the history of mankind when the tide of intellect rolled so high, when the channels and agents of commerce, manufacturer, trade and industry were so occupied and employed. There never was a time when the mind of the young was so eager and anxious and alert. There never was a time when the instruments for the dissemination of truth were so many and could be so cheaply employed. There never was a time when printing was so cheap and the distribution of literature could be carried forward with so little expense. And there never was a time when the moral natures of men needed to be appealed to as now. There never was a time when men needed religion less and morals more. —Rev. Dr. J. E. Roberts, Church of This World, Kansas City, Mo.

IMPRESSIONS MADE.

She wore a smile as she passed by,
And though she did, I can't tell why;
She had no reason to I'm sure,
But still I feel her heart was pure,
Because she smiled.

She wore a frown as she passed by,
Ah, yes she did, I can't tell why:
I must not judge the bad and good,
But I can't feel just as I should
Because she frowned.

Impressions sometimes lightly made,
Perhaps will never, never fade,
Some traveler here may be made sad,
Or otherwise extremely glad
Because you smile.

A smile is precious, it is worth
More than ten thousand frowns on earth;
And you can never sorry be
For every one will cherish thee
Because you smile.

Encouragement is in a smile,
And lasts forever, not a while,
A soul within the depths of woe
May find the bright side, yes 'tis so,
Because you smile.

And when your brow is chilled in death,
When from earths trials you find rest,
How sweet 'twould be could some one say—
He helped me on my rugged way,
And smiled on me.

THE FARMERS' UNION

The county unions of Mason, Menard and McCullough counties are arranging for the building of a cotton warehouse and grain elevator at a cost of five thousand dollars.

An address to the president and members of the Farmers Union signed by J. C. Lindsey, W. B. Whitacre and J. T. Smith, committee, was handed in after 5 o'clock yesterday evening for publication. The time was too late to permit of publication this week and it will therefore appear in our next issue.

Somervell county union will hold its quarterly meeting at Lanham's school house July 20th and 21st. F. V. Evans, district lecturer, and J. D. Montgomery, state organizer, will address the people. The first day will be for the members of the Farmers Union and their families: the second day for the public generally.

*

We take the liberty to quote from a private letter just received from Bro. J. D. Montgomery, general organizer of the Farmers Union as follows: "I am sure now, from the vote we have on hand, that the entire new constitution is defeated: in fact for a county to endorse it is an exception."—Mercury-Pass Word.

*

Palo Pinto county union passed resolutions at their recent meeting urging the importance of the approaching state union attending strictly to executive business of the meeting before listening to the speech making contemplated by the political bigwigs and place hunters who will likely seek to occupy the time of the union. This is a good suggestion.

COTTON WAREHOUSE AT DUBLIN.

The Shady Grove district Farmers Union met at Cottonwood last Saturday with a representation from six locals present. The entire day was devoted to the meeting and a satisfying dinner was spread on the grounds at the noon hour. Most of the business of the meeting was performed in executive session and was not for publication. We are permitted to say however, that a committee of three was appointed to take up the matter of soliciting funds for the building of a cotton warehouse, which it is proposed to erect in Dublin with funds provided through subscriptions for stock at one dollar per share, a limited ownership of stock being open to any and every one desiring to invest and to assist in the enterprise. This matter has been discussed by the local unions in this section for scme time and the movement is now toward an accomplishment of the plan. The officers of district union are Messrs. J. B. White president and T. Matt Robinson secretary, both of whose addresses are Route one, Dublin.

FARMERS JOURNALS.

As long as the discouraged cotton raiser mopes around by himself and asks the question, "What can I do?" he will get cheap cotton for an answer. Let him join his brother cotton raiser and begin to inquire, "What can we do?" and the future will soon promise a different kind of answer. The Farmers union is entitled to more credit than it will ever get for the campaign which has resulted in a diversification of crops, putting the farmers in a far better position than they were last season to demand their price for cotton, and keep the cotton till they get the price. The good work is far advanced. Keep it going.

It was a non-union telegraph operator at New Orleans that made the blunder in receiving the cotton condition estimate sent out by the government June 3rd, which blunder caused the loss of fortunes almost in an instant. In speaking of the costly mistake the president of the cotton exchange said: "This is the result of Western Union cheap labor."

The Southern Cotton Association seems to be composed of a handful of officials, but these officials have money to do things with, and a good thing they did recently was to blow smoke into the agricultural department of our federal government at Washington until one Edwin F. Holmes, the associate statistican, had to come out. Holmes has been dismissd by Secretary Wilson on a charge of having sold advance reports of the cotton crop to New York speculators. And who knows but Holmes was thrown overboard to "save the ship?"

Theodore Price says: "A life time of study devoted to cotton convinces me that we are face to face with revolutionary conditions in the cotton trade." What's the trouble, Mr. Price? The world has had heavy crops and light crops in the past with low prices and high prices, but nobody talked about a cotton revolution. Let's see: the world has never before been face to face with a cotton grower's strike for shorter crops and higher prices. There does seem to be something revolutionary about that, for a fact; and that's where Mr. Price's "revolution" comes in, if the truth were confessed.

PUT ONLY FARMERS ON GUARD.

Smith county union stands pat for a purely farmers organization. Smith county union endorsed the action of Hunt county union, demanding that all officers of the Farmers Union shall be bona fide farmers. But Smith county's resolution is clearer and more sweeping in its definition of what constitutes a farmer. There can be no misunderstanding of Smith county's position and desire. Her resolution on this subject reads thus:

"We demand that all officers of the Farmers union, local, county, district and state, shall be actual farmers, men who have no other occupation nor means of support than farming."

And why not? Why call it a Farmers Union, if it is not to be officered and controlled by farmers? One of the most repeated criticisms of the Farmers Union by men of other business pursuits and profession is that the farmers are incapable of sticking together and managing an organization of their own.

The Farmers Union is the third notable protest during the past half century, of the farmers against that accusation. Its predecessors flourished through several seasons, and each bade fair to fulfill the hopes of the founders and supporters. So long as the Texas State Grange and the Farmers Alliance were under the direct control of bona fide farmers, "men who had no other occupation and no other means of support than farming," they thrived and accomplished great and noteworthy achievements. But the bars were let down and men who represented in part the interest of various other classes entered those organizations.

The blight of class interests soon thereafter affected the autonomy of the Grange and the Alliance and those originally pure and powerful farmers unions shortly withered and finally disintegrated. Their officers did the destroying work. Ambitious, selfish and superficial, they gave no thought to the principles and purposes of the Grange and the Alliance, but sought only to employ the prestige and power of their positions to promote their personal aims and aggrandizement. They had other occupations than farming and other interests to subserve than the good of the order.

The Farmers Union hopes to profit by the mistakes of its predecessors. —Mercury.

The Diamond Cure.

The latest news from Paris is that they have discovered a diamond cure for consumption. If you fear consumptionor pneumonia it will, however, be best for you to take that great remedy mentioned by W. T. McGee of Vanleer, Tenn. "I had a cough for for fourteen years. Nothing helped me until I took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which gave instant relief and effected a permanent cure, for throat and lung troubles. Remarkably Old Turtle Discovered.

D. C. Lee of Detroit, Mich., tells a remarkable story concerning the finding of a turtle, upon the back of which he carved, a day or so before the battle of Gettysburg, eleven miles from the field of battle, the following: "D. C. Lee, Company B, U. S. A., 1863."

Some weeks ago Captain A. H. Mertz of Gettysburg found the turtle with the inscription and communicated with Mr. Lee. Forty-two years have passed since Lee first carved the turtle.

Plenty of evidence to prove this.

J. A. Hicks, farmer, living on Proctor road, Dublin, Tex., says: "Off and on for a long time I suffered with my kidneys. The cause of it was an attack of malaria which left these organs in a weakened and disordered condition. There were sharp pains through my loins and I was unable to straighten after stooping without suffering. I spent lots of money, got doctors' treatment and medicines but nothing did me any permanent good until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the Overton Drug Co. They went right to the cause of the trouble and gave me quick relief. In a short time I was as well as ever. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to others."

One of our ladies was scolding her husband for not going to church and trying to be good. "Oh, I don't know that I care to be an angel" said he, I would have trouble getting my clothes on over my wings." She suggested that she thought what he needed to be worried about most was how he would get his hat on over his horns.

A little girl dropped the following composition on men near our office the other day: Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear and have ever so many pockets, but they won't go to church. Perhaps if they wore bonnets they would. They are more logical than women and always more zoological. Both men and women have sprung from monkeys, but the women certainly sprung further than men.—Ex.

An editor going away for awhile, left his paper in charge of a minister. During the minister's stay in the sanctum, the following letter came from a subscriber: "You know very well I paid my subscription to your paper the last time I was in town. If I get any more such letters from you as I received last week, I will come and maul h—l out of you." The minister answered: "I have been trying to get that thing out of the editor for ten years, and if you will come down and maul it out of him then, my dear sir, I have twenty members of my church I will get you to operate on."

The editor of an exchange who has been figuring on his age finally submitted the "sum" to his readers as follows: "Today is an anniversary of the birth of the editor. If he was so good as he is old, as wise as he is good, as rich as he is wise, as foolish as he is rich, as talkative as he is foolish, as modest as he is talkative, as bald-headed as he is modest —how many dogs with four feet would it take to catch a fox with sixteen legs and three tails, counting nine tailors to make a man, three drinks to make one drunk and onion sets twenty-five cents per peck. The quotient divided by two people equals his age when he arrived here. How old was Ann?"

One of the happiest homes this side of Jordan was recently pictured by a strenuous American citizen in a happy and peaceful rural county in the land of sunshine and moonshine. He was on the witness stand on behalf of the state in a murder trial. "Go on and tell the jury what you know about the murder on Hell Creek," said the commonwealth's attorney. "I don't know much about it," said the witness. "Well, tell what you do know." "All I know is this," drawled the deponent. "We was all up thar at the big dance celebrat'n the birthday of Thomas Jefferson, the fiddlers was playin' an we was swingin' corners, and the boys got to slappin' each other on the back as they swung, but finally one of 'em slapped too hard and the other knocked him down. His brother shot that feller down, and that feller's brother cut 'tother feller's throat and the feller that was knocked down drawed his knife and cut that feller's liver out, and the old man of the house got mad and run to the bed and turned up the tick and grabbed up his shot gun and turned loose both barrels on the crowd, and I saw there was going to be trouble and I left."

Bent Her Double.

"I knew no one for four weeks, when I was sick with typhoid and kidney trouble." writes Mrs. Annie Hunter of Pittsburg, Pa., "and when I got better, although I had one of the best doctors I could get, I was bent double and had to rest my hands on my knees when I walked. From this terrible affliction I was rescued by Electric Bitters, which restored my health and strength and now I can walk as straight as ever. They are simply wonderful." Guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney disorders; at Overton Drug Co; price 50 cents.

Wanted an Easy Job.

A stranger struck L. B. Jones for a job this week. Mr. Jones informed him to go to the market where he could get one at $2.50 per day wrapping and tying hides. "Oh, that's hard work, aint it? I don't want no such jobs as that," was the boy's reply. "Well," said Jones, "go around to Major Baldwin's. He's having some ditches dug and needs men at good prices." "that's hard work, too," said the boy, "I want to get work and board at the same place." Mr. Jones imagines that this man would put in the greatest portion of his energy on the "boarding" proposition. The editor deplores the fact that there are too many young men in the country too trifling to work. They are hunting "easy" jobs and afraid they will find them. This class constitutes a very large portion of those who attend the big picnics and toss rubber-stringed balls like little children. Very cheap toys amuse this kind of pecple. —Tribune.
