Bork stays in fight for confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert H. Bork, saying "I harbor no illusions" about the outcome, defiantly refused on Friday to abandon his seemingly hopeless effort to win Senate confirmation to the Supreme Court.

In a dramatic announcement that many White House officials had expected would be a withdrawal statement, Bork lashed out at the tactics of his opponents and said they must not be allowed to defeat him before the votes are counted.

"A crucial principle is at stake," he said. "That principle is the way in which we select the men and women who guard the liberties of all the American people.

"That should not be done through public campaigns of distortion," a grim-faced Bork said in a nationally broadcast appearance in the White House press room. "If I withdrew now, that campaign would be seen as a success and it would be mounted against future nominees.

"For the sake of the federal judiciary and the American people, that must not happen," Bork declared.

Bork announced his decision after meeting at the White House with President Reagan and his senior advisers. Reagan issued a statement later saying, "I am pleased by Judge Bork's decision to go forward."

Bork's decision had been such a tightly held secret that White House speechwriters prepared two sets of remarks for Reagan: one if Bork dropped out and another if he stayed in.

White House officials said Reagan would devote his weekly radio address today to Bork's nomination. A nationally broadcast presidential address also is being considered.

Bork's decision — and Reagan's willingness to go along with it — means the president cannot move quickly to name a new candidate, and that could leave the high court with a vacancy for months to come.

However, a White House official said, "Realizing the long-shot nature (of Bork's nomination) I am sure that there will be some scrutiny of alternative candidates" by the Justice Department.

Reagan accused Bork's opponents of waging "an attack based on innuendoes, mistruths and distortions to shield Bob Bork's real record of integrity, decency, fairness and above all, judicial restraint."

He added, "It is time to stop those who are determined to politicize the judiciary and try to accomplish through the courts what they cannot accomplish through the legislature."

The Senate will not take up the nomination until the week of Oct. 19, at the earliest. But the outcome seems relatively certain. An Associated Press tally showed 53 senators on the record against confirmation, more than enough to kill Bork's chance of sitting on the nation's highest court.

Cotton farmer says crop best in last six years

By ED TODD
Staff Writer

It's harvesting time.

And Midland County cotton farmers are out in the fields either stripping cotton, defoliating, or waiting for the cotton to ripen in the warm, sunshiny days this past week.

"This good weather is just what this cotton patch needs," said Vernon Chandler, who farms in the Warfield community west of Midland, earlier this week. "It puts me in good humor."

Some farmers planted early, in late April or early May, due to unseasonally high underground moisture from winter and early spring rains in spotted part of the county. But Chandler put his crop in after the late spring rains "and made the cotton later," he said.

"It's opening up real fast," he said. "I'm working on the (cotton) strippers now, getting them wired together," he said.

Chandler said this season's crop is the best he's seen in six years. "1981 was the last good crop we had. '85 was nearly this good." He said 1979 and 1980 were good crop years.

"This cotton is loaded pretty this year, real good quality," said his wife, Naomi.

"It's good and white," Chandler agreed. "Just as white as it can be right now."

"We'll start gathering in about a week," he said. "Some already have."

Shane Lowrie, Midland County agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, noted that much of the county has an early fruit-set crop. "We've had some early planting dates."

"It's looking real good," Lowrie said of this year's crop. "We've been harvesting dry-land crops, and some dry-land cotton is producing about a bale an acre. That's excellent. If we could do that every year, we could keep those ol' farmers in business."

The market price for 1987 cotton is relatively high, he said.

"Some experts have projected that the price of cotton could be as high as 75 per pound for lint — after the cotton has been deseeded and run through the gin. But this is strictly speculation."

Long-staple cotton with a high fiber strength will be bringing in the higher prices, he said.

"We've got some cotton that was hailed on early," he noted. "Some of it is not doing as good as others. But on the on the average, Midland County is looking good for a cotton crop this year."

Iran says attack on gunboats amounts to declaration of war

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The Iranian ambassador said Friday the U.S. attack on his country's patrol boats amounted to a declaration of war and that Iran will respond "at the proper time."

He accused the United States of trying to ruin prospects for peace in the 7-year-old conflict between Iran and Iraq.

"We think we are at war. We think we are being killed by the Americans," Ambassador Said Rajaie-Khorassani told reporters at a U.N. news conference. "I think it's a declaration of war by the United States against Iran, that's definite."

Judge recommends Brandley get new trial

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — A state judge recommended Friday that a former school janitor sentenced to death in the 1980 rape-slaying of a teen-age girl should get a third trial on capital murder charges.

State District Judge Perry Pickett, saying it appeared a shadow had "obscured the light of fundamental decency," made his recommendation to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals after a nine-day hearing in which defense attorneys argued that the conviction of Clarence Brandley was tainted by a loss of evidence and by a courthouse conspiracy.

"I can only sadly state justice has been on trial here," the retired judge said.

Brandley, 37, who is black, was convicted of killing a white girl, Cheryl Fergeson, on attack Aug. 23, 1980, at Conroe High School, where he worked.

His first trial ended with a hung jury favoring conviction 11-1. At a second trial in 1981, Brandley was convicted by an all-white jury and sentenced to death.

His attorneys insisted he was convicted because he is black and that white janitors present at the time of the slaying were ruled out as suspects.

The defense also contended that officials conspired to hide the loss of crucial evidence and failed to pursue leads that could have been favorable to Brandley.

Prosecutors insisted little if any new evidence was uncovered during the hearing.

But the judge said, "The litany of events graphically described by the witnesses, some of it chilling and shocking, leads me to the conclusion the pervasive shadow of darkness has obscured the light of fundamental decency and human rights."

"I can only sadly state justice has been on trial here," he added. "But of more significance, injustice has been on trial."

After the ruling, Brandley asked to be alone but later spoke briefly to reporters who surrounded him.

"I'm very thankful for what happened. I appreciate the judge...I'm thankful for what everyone did for me," he said.

The defense attorney said he would seek bail and a change of venue.

Trinity teacher receives fellowship given in honor of Christa McAuliffe

By JULIE HILLRICHS
Staff Writer

Trinity School teacher Jack Hickman considers himself "out on the edge" of his profession — much like Challanger astronaut Christa McAuliffe, whose name adorns a prestigious fellowship Hickman received this week.

"The award is going to assist those folks who are out on the edge of an idea, as was Christa McAuliffe," said Hickman. "It's going to push that edge back a little bit for some of us."

Hickman, a science and art teacher who describes himself as "innately curious," was among 115 teachers selected for the U.S. Department of Education award, honoring the New Hampshire "teachernaut" killed in the space shuttle Challenger explosion Jan. 28, 1986.

The $2 million program gives fellowship winners the opportunity to increase their knowledge and skills. Awards are to be used for a variety of projects, including sabbaticals, consultation or assistance to other schools, development of innovative programs, and model teacher programs.

Hickman

Hickman's plans for his cash stipend are to further develop a "Curiosity Shop" that should tap "gifted" capabilities that he believes reside in every student.

"All kids are gifted in one way or another, but it's very difficult to guage how someone is gifted," he said. "One way is to see what children are curious about."

Hickman explained that Trinity's curriculum does not have a specific program or fulltime instructor to work with children who demonstrate gifted capabilities.

But he added the private school's teachers "realize the importance of recognizing students who have abilities that reach beyond the world of academics.

"It's crucial to have a physical space which supports the playful curiosity of one who begins to question, 'What if?'" he said.

Not until the opportunity for financial assistance from the fellowship arose did Hickman truly begin to asses what could happen at Trinity School, he said.

As a art and science teacher, Hickman claims to understand the student body, which he characterizes as children of predominantly upper-middle class professionals.

Dismissal of charges draws criticism

By FRANK TROMBLEY
Staff Writer

RANKIN — The dismissal of drug charges against a McCamey man and woman arrested during an Aug. 25, 1986, raid by deposed Upton County Sheriff Glenn Willeford had drawn criticism from the sheriff's defense attorney.

"It stinks," says Odessa attorney John W. Smith, who contends the dismissal of charges against Denise Hall and Steve Bruton is simply an effort to stack the deck against Willeford when he faces trial Nov. 2 in San Angelo. "No matter what they're accusing the sheriff of," Smith stated, "the search warrant and probable cause used to obtain it were good."

Upton County Attorney Robert Motsenbocker confirmed this week "an agreement had been made between the district attorney (J.W. Johnson) and the defense attorney (for Ms. Hall and Bruton) that called for dismissing of all the charges if they would forfeit all of their (seized) property and absolve Upton County from any claims they might have against the county for the activities of the sheriff's department on Aug. 25, 1986."

Motsenbocker said Ms. Hall and Bruton has filed a motion, asking District Judge Brock Jones to suppress the evidence seized during the raid. The motion contended all of the evidence was "illegally seized" because the search warrant under which the raid was conducted was illegal. The Upton County attorney said the agreement with Ms. Hall and Bruton was made before the judge had ruled on the motion.

In addition to less than an ounce of marijuana allegedly planted at the time of the raid, deputies seized a number of illegal weapons and, what Smith describes as, all of the paraphernalia necessary to manufacture illegal drugs.

Smith, contending the warrant was good and that the case against the two McCamey residents "could be prosecuted by any first year law student," said it seemed strange to him Upton County prosecutors would wait until about three weeks before the sheriff's trial to drop the charges against Ms. Hall and Bruton.

The Odessa attorney further contends the search warrant obtained by Upton County then-Deputy Marshall Scott Taylor was based on a legitimate probable cause affidavit that preceded the alleged illegal acts that led to indictment of Willeford and three of his deputies on a variety of charges.

Smith says Scott Taylor had been searching for the runaway teen-aged daughter of an Upton County constable when he received information the girl might be at the Hall-Bruton mobile home. According to Smith, Taylor saw what he believed to be marijuana and illegal weapons in the mobile home located east of McCamey. It was on the basis of this personal knowledge that Taylor filed a probable cause affidavit and obtained a search warrant, he says. Because of this, Smith contends, the warrant itself was good, in spite of allegations that marijuana was later planted when the original marijuana Taylor swore he saw was not found.

On April 8, Willeford was indicted by an Upton County grand jury on felony charges of aggravated perjury and delivery of marijuana. Indictments also accused him of possession of marijuana, official misconduct, official oppression and tampering with or fabricating evidence.

Willeford is specifically accused of ordering Scott Taylor to plant marijuana in the mobile home of Ms. Hall and Bruton to substantiate the probable cause affidavit filed to obtain the warrant for the Aug. 25, 1986 raid.

Taylor was indicted on charges of aggravated perjury, possession of marijuana, tampering with or fabricating evidence and official oppression.

Two other deputies involved in the raid, Don Pennington and Sam Taylor, Scott's brother, were indicted on charges of official misconduct and official oppression.

Under a plea bargain arrangement filed Aug. 24, 1987, former Deputy Scott Taylor entered a plea of guilty to a single charge of official misconduct and the Upton County district attorney's office agreed to drop all other charges against him in return for his testimony against Willeford in his San Angelo trial next month.

Charges against Pennington and Sam Taylor have also been dropped in exchange for their testimony against Willeford.

Prior to the April indictments, Johnson and Motsenbocker initiated a civil action to remove Willeford from office, and he was removed as sheriff April 6.

The involvement of Jones in the removal of Willeford prompted Smith to file a motion asking that the judge remove himself from hearing the case. Jones granted the motion and El Paso District Judge William Moody was subsequently appointed to preside in Willeford's trial.

Moody subsequently reinstated Willeford during a hearing in El Paso Aug. 21 because of a defect in the initial civil removal action. Aug. 24, the El Paso judge accepted a new removal action and ordered Willeford from office again.

In addition to Moody being appointed to preside over the Willeford trial, Ector County District Attorney Eric Augesen has agreed to be special prosecutor because of Johnson's involvement in the case.

COTTON

The United States cotton surplus is down, which results in higher prices if the demand stays strong, Lowrie said. America's cotton exports have been on the upswing due to Mainland China's problems in getting its own cotton crop in.

Lowrie noted that cotton production is affected by various forces, such as the weather, insects, weeds, and soil fertility.

Since ginning started Oct. 2, the Midland Farmers Cooperative Inc., which operates the only cotton gin in Midland County, has processed more than 500 bales, said Co-op Manager Charlie Wright.

"I can't keep enough cotton on the yard to gin all day," he said.

Wright said that the cotton, including some late-planted cotton that is still maturing, is looking good and hasn't been weather damaged.

"After cotton opens, it starts deteriorating, and the sooner you get it out (of the fields), the better grade of cotton you'll have."

It's "awfully hard to tell" what the total production will be, Wright said, "but I hope it's better than" 12,000 bales.

Of the price of cotton, Wright said it has been close to 75 cents a pound, but "that was when we didn't have none to sell. Right now, the price of cotton is going down."

"You won't know what cotton is going to bring until it's sold."

This year, people are buying more clothing made of cotton, Wright noted, and textile mills are buying cotton for their looms.

"We've used up a whole lot of our surplus, and that's what making the price of cotton better."

Last year's cotton, which was hampered by surpluses, brought about 40 cents a pound."

Overall, Midland County farmers are in a "little better frame of mind than they had last year," Wright said. "We've got a better crop than we had last year, the price is better, and everybody feels better about"

HICKMAN

"In some instances, the busy lives of contemporary parents have created some rather incredible attitudes which, for example, can be recognized in the amount of passive time some children spend with television," he said. "It was apparent that there was a need for those students who wanted just a little bit more."

Introductions to the Curiosity Shop are based on the child's inquisitiveness and interest in a particular pursuit, said Hickman.

A variety of hand-powered tools, an air brush and sewing machine are available for students to use in such activities as constructing model airplanes and stilts, taking engines apart, making doll clothing and creating diaramas, he said.

Still, the Curiosity Shop is more than taking things apart and putting them back together again, said Hickman.

"It's doing and learning by what your doing," he said. "It's a way to help kids channel their energies so they can make their own discoveries."

Police identify those arrested on drug charges

bystaff

Authorities Friday released the names of six Midlanders arrested Thursday on drug charges by Midland County Sheriff's deputies.

Jose Hinojos Baltier remained in custody at Midland County Jail late Friday on a charge of possession of marijuana. Bond was set at $500.

Samuel William Bryan remained in jail in lieu of $30,000 bond, on a charge of possession of methanphetamin with intent to deliver.

Douglas Anthony Parks was in custody on charges of possession of marijuana and possession of methanphetamine. Bond was set at $30,000.

Gary Wayne Gray was released on $25,000 bond following his arrest on a charge of possession of methanphetamine with the intent to distribute.

Meiline Wells Seaborn was released on $10,000 bond after a charge possession of methamphetamine was filed against the woman.

A fifth person was arrested on a misdemeanor possession of marijuana charge.

According to the offense report, officers obtained warrants and raided residences at 3804 Anetta Drive and 3509 Andrews Highway about 5:30 p.m. Thursday.

An ounce of suspected methamphetamine and a pound of marijuana was seized in the raid, the report said.

The arrests occurred without incident and no weapons were found, police said.

Trinity's preliminary marks high

From Staff Reports

Trinity School has received high preliminary marks from a team of evaluators responsible for deciding whether the school should be accreditated another 10 years, Head Mistress Peggy Simmons said Friday.

The Regional Independent School Association of the Southwest is expected to release its formal findings in the next six weeks, Mrs. Simmons said.

In its preliminary report, the 11-member evaluating team cited school administrators with strong leadership skills in all areas of school life, while students and faculty were credited with having a "sharing" and "caring" attitude for one another.

Mrs. Simmons said she wasn't surprised by the results of the favorable evaluation, but was thrilled nevertheless.

"It's very healthy for a school to look at itself," she said. "That's what independent schools across this land have to do if they want accreditation."

Women's Center says it didn't OK fundraiser

From Staff Reports

Officials with the Permian Basin Center For Battered Women said Thursday they have not authorized an event which was slated for today and was labeled as a fundraiser for their organization.

However, an organizer of the event said Friday she understood the "Position Poker — Las Vegas Night" was approved with the center and with United Way of Midland by the advertising agency contracted to help promote the function.

"The agency told us they had talked to the United Way and that they would be pleased to help us. We of course contacted the sheriff of Midland County and the District Attorney of Midland County well in advance to get the approval to proceed with the charity function," said Judy Pearcy, co-organizer.

"We were pleased at the thought of raising funds for this excellent organization," Ms. Pearcy said. "We were shocked to learn that the advertising agency had not gotten the approval of the United Way or the Battered Womens' Center."

Leann Wilson, community relations coordinator with the shelter said, "This was put together without our authority and without our approval. We will not be receiving funds."

Ms. Wilson said about 2,000 invitations had been sent out for a the charity function which was to have started at 8 p.m. today at the VFW post, 501 Airpark Road, and sponsored by Four-N-Corp.

Ms. Wilson said she first heard of the event Wednesday when a woman called her asking for the center's bulk mail permit number.

But because the event was to occur during the United Way fund-raising campaign, which contributes to the center's annual budget and because free alcohol was to be served, center officials asked the woman not to have the event.

"We told her not to go forward," Ms. Wilson said.

Odessan indicted on drug charge

From Staff Reports

Dolores Carrillo Wall, a 42-year-old businesswoman and owner of an Odessa nightclub, has been indicted by a federal grand jury in Midland on seven counts of dealing in cocaine of up to 92 percent purity at her nightclub, home and at a service station this year.

In addition, she and four others were indicted for conspiring to possess cocaine from April to September 1987.

Indicted on the conspiracy count were Ms. Wall; Stacy Gann Huff, 27, of San Angelo; Leslie Allan Davis, 40, of Andrews; Maria Elena Serrano, 29, of Odessa, and Andy Don Anderson, whose age and address were not available.

Ms. Wall was charged with cocaine possession with intent to distribute the drug on April 22, May 6, July 29, Aug. 11, Aug. 26, Sept. 17, and Sept. 24.

In addition, Ms. Huff, a Cassidy's Place waitress, Ms. Davis and Anderson were indicted for cocaine possession with intent to distribute the drug on April 22. Ms. Serrano was indicted for a similar offense Sept. 24.

Court records indicate that the alleged cocaine transitions, which involved single sales of up to an ounce, occurred at the Cassidy's Place nightclub on West County Road in Odessa, at Ms. Wall's home on Lauderdale Street, and at "Wall's Texaco" service station on South Grant Street.

Ms. Wall was being held Friday in the federal wing of the Midland City Jail while she awaits a court hearing next week.

The case was investigated by the FBI, the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration and the Odessa Police Department. The cocaine was tested for purity by the DEA regional laboratory and by the Texas Department of Public Safety laboratory.

The case was presented to the grand jury by Assistant U.S. Attorney Tom Beery of Midland.

IRAN

The Iranian envoy gave an account of Thursday's incident that differs sharply with the American version. He said Iranian patrol boats near Farsi Island were approached by a U.S. vessel and were "targeted" by American helicopters.

"They responded. The American boat was damaged. One of the American helicopters was shot down. And then three of our boats were sunk by the American helicopter fire," Rajaie-Khorassani said.

The U.S. government contends four Iranian gunboats opened fire without warning on a U.S. observation helicopter patrolling the northern Persian Gulf. Washington contends the confrontation ended when an Army attack helicopter strafed and disabled three of the Iranian boats, sinking one.

The Navy rescued six Iranian crewmen, two of them subsequently died. Rajaie-Khorassani said he had no information on casualties.

Asked whether the U.S. fleet in the gulf was subject to Iranian retaliation, Rajaie-Khorassani said: "I don't think that I should be very specific on that."

But later, he added: "We will not forget it and we will take the proper action against the United States at the proper time."

Sophocles was innovator

Greek tragic poet Sophocles (c. 496 to c. 406 B.C.) was an innovative playwright. He added a third actor to tragedies, introduced scene painting and abandoned the trilogy for the self-contained tragedy.

His characters are governed in their fate more by their own faults than by the gods. Seven of his complete plays survive.

BORK

Bork said, "In the days remaining, I ask only that voices be lowered, the facts respected and the deliberations conducted in a manner that will be fair to me and to the infinitely larger and more important cause of justice in America," he said.

Despite Bork's plea for lowered voices, Reagan used a television interview Friday to name three prominent Senate Democrats as "principal leaders in the lynch mob assault" that he said had caused Bork's difficulties.

In the interview, on Cable News Network, Reagan named Sen. Joseph Biden, D-Del., the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, and Sens. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, who were vigorous critics of Bork during the panel's hearings.

Reagan's comments were quickly called "offensive" by Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., in a speech on the Senate floor.

"You know its a curious thing to me, when you win around here it's a great victory for the American people and when you lose it's a lynch mob mentality," he said in remarks directed at Reagan.

DEATHS

Joseph G. Anderson

Funeral services for Joseph Gabriel Anderson, son of Bruce and Karen Anderson of Midland, were to be at 11 a.m. today in the St. Paul United Methodist Church, with the Rev. Tom Thomson officiating. Burial was to follow in Resthaven Memorial Park under the direction of Ellis Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were to be John Byers Johnson, Erik Alan Johnson, Douglas Paul Anderson and Gregory John Anderson.

Honorary pallbearer was to be Darvi Jospeh Williams.

Girl who was hit by vehicle in stable condition

From Staff Reports

A teen-aged girl was in serious but stable condition at Midland Memorial Hospital late Friday after an automobile accident near Midland Drive and Neely Avenue, an MMH spokeswoman said.

Melissa Gibson, 14, of Midland, sustained broken ribs, a possible punctured lung and bruises and abrasions in the accident, about 5:23 p.m., according to a police department spokesman.

The girl walking across Midland Drive when she was struck by a late-model Chevrolet Suburban. The name of the driver was unavailable at press time.

Researchers surprised at number of 'depressed' students

DALLAS (AP) — Nearly two in 10 Dallas public high school students indicated on questionnaires they were moderately to severely depressed, and about three in 100 said they were suicidal.

The results, released Thursday from questionnaires handed out last autumn, indicate that depression strikes minority students more than others, and girls more than boys, officials said.

About 3 percent of the sample group, or 91 students, answered "yes" to the statement "I would like to kill myself" or to "I would kill myself if I had the chance."

Researchers from Children's Medical Center gave two surveys commonly used to evaluate mental health patients to students in first-semester health classes last school year. Students at 23 of 25 high schools in the Dallas Independent School District participated.

In all, 3,294 students responded to the surveys. Most were 15-year-old sophomores, but older and younger students enrolled in health classes also participated.

The sexual and racial composition of the respondents reflected the overall enrollment of the school system.

The responses of 18 percent of the students on the 21-question Beck Depression Inventory classified them as moderately to severely depressed, said Dr. Graham J. Emslie, one of the researchers. That classification is based solely on answers to the survey and would have to be confirmed by interviews.

Emslie said he did not find the survey results alarming, although he said "I think most of us were surprised at the volume."

No similar survey of students has ever been conducted, making it difficult to compare the results of the Dallas schools survey, Emslie said.

Thirty-one percent of the Hispanic girls responding to one questionnaire fell into the moderate to severely depressed range. Twenty-three percent of the students surveyed were mildly depressed, according to the Beck survey's scale.

Twenty-three percent of the girls responding to the Beck questions were moderately to severely depressed, while only 13 percent of the boys were in that classification.

Broken down by sex and ethnicity, the results of the Beck survey show that the moderately to severely depressed included:

— 31 percent of the 308 Hispanic girls responding.
— 22 percent of the 912 black girls responding.
— 19 percent of the 291 Hispanic boys responding.
— 16 percent of the 365 Anglo girls responding.
— 14 percent of the 914 black boys responding.
— 9 percent of the 418 Anglo boys responding.

The other questionnaire, the Weinberg Screening Affective Scale, classifies respondents as either depressed or non-depressed. It was developed by Dr. Warren Weinberg, the other researcher conducting the DISD study.

On the Weinberg survey, 14 percent of the students were considered depressed. A higher percentage of girls — 17 percent — were classified as depressed, compared with 10 percent among boys.

Broken down by ethnic origin, the Weinberg results followed the order of the other questionnaire, with Hispanic girls having the highest percentage of depressed respondents — 22 percent.

Twenty-five percent of the respondents answered yes to the Weinberg question, "Sometimes I wish I were dead."

Health classes used the surveys as an instructional tool, and followed them with discussions of where depressed people can get help, Emslie said.

Man vows to keep fighting to legalize liquor

NEW HOPE (AP) — What has become an old and bitter battle over brew in this small community will be refought by a man who believes that if first he doesn't succeed, try again.

But this time, pro-liquor forces have been accused of destroying the opposition's placards. The leaders of the petition drive for beer and wine sales say anti-alcohol forces set fire to two trailer homes and a pickup truck belonging to their supporters.

The town's 300 or so registered voters are expected to line up today at the New Hope Grocery Store, the official polling place, to settle the issue. But the chief proponent of beer and wine sales says he'll keep fighting if he loses.

"If this don't pass, I'm going to go for liquor, and liquor only," said Oliver Caraway, who spearheaded the petition drive. "If this don't pass, I'm going to do it again. I'll keep trying 'til I'm 65, if I have to."

Caraway, 45, is leader of the group that believes alcohol sales would help ease the burden of a new property tax. He owns one of the two stores in town and says his grocery sales would increase if he could sell liquor.

In August last year, New Hope voters overwhelmingly defeated a measure to sell package liquor. In this year's proposal, voters will decide only whether to permit sale of beer and wine in the community.

"I figured that if the beer and wine raised enough sales tax, we would not need liquor" sales, said Caraway.

Collin County election officials said 46 of 59 signatures on the petition calling for the election were valid. That's just two more than necessary to call an election.

"We don't have the resources as a city to deal with increased traffic, increased trash and transients," said former City Councilwoman Barbara Elsbury, one of the opponents.

"We have no standing police force, or even a volunteer police force. We have no city marshal. Our property values will, of course, suffer," she said.

STATE in brief

Survey: Law enforcement affects seat belt usage

AUSTIN (AP) — Strong law enforcement plays a crucial role in rising safety belt usage, according to a new state survey released Friday.

The project done by the Texas Safety Association and state highway department with support from the Texas Police Chiefs Association involved 20 Texas cities with populations of 7,243 to 1.75 million.

Texas Transportation Institute data, which was available for 14 of the 20 cities, found that significant enforcement of the law requiring safety belt use helps determine a city's usage rate, said President George Gustafson of the Texas Safety Association.

"We know that it takes three elements to make the law work in any jurisdiction: a strong law, positive and vigorous enforcement, and continuing public information and education," Gustafson said.

During the first 12 months under the safety belt law, front seat fatalities dropped 7 percent and visible injuries fell 12 percent, according to DPS records.

Parents charged in death

BRAZORIA (AP) — The parents of a 17-month-old boy who died last month were arrested after lab tests showed large amounts of cocaine in the toddler's stomach and bloodstream.

Robert Quinn Beaty, 25, and Nealie Beaty, 24, both of Brazoria, were charged Thursday with injury to a child, a first-degree felony.

Justice of the Peace Roy Knopp set bonds at $50,000 each. Both remain in the Brazoria County Jail, a jail spokesman said Friday.

The boy's father called authorities Sept. 28 and said his son, Robert Ealie Beaty, had stopped breathing. The child was taken by ambulance to Brazosport Memorial Hospital, where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

Preliminary autopsy results indicated that he had stopped breathing, but Knopp said test results from the Harris County medical examiner's office showed cocaine in his stomach and bloodstream.

Auction nets $1.5 million

KINGSVILLE (AP) — Heavy demand for replacement cattle brought the King Ranch gross sales of about $1.5 million in its 36th annual horse and cattle auction.

The two-day auction saw the largest number of livestock ever sold in auction at the 825,000-acre ranch, and its highest auction sales total, said Scott Kleberg, ranch manager.

The previous high was $1.2 million in 1985, Kleberg said.

This year's sale included 1,503 head of cattle, which brought a total of $1,307,290. The horse sale grossed $233,300 for 30 head, with Northington Ranches of San Antonio paying the top price for a horse, $25,000.

The top price paid for a bull this year was $30,000 by Keith Clubb of Pretoria, South Africa.

Ten longhorn steers also were sold for a total of $29,600. The sale also included 934 heifers, which sold for $668,320, and 101 range bulls for $197,975.

Authorities say telephone fraud on rise

AUSTIN (AP) — Authorities say the recent filing of charges against a University of Texas student suspected of obtaining long-distance phone access codes with a home computer is an example of a rising tide of telephone fraud.

Phone fraud or abuse through many methods caused the industry to lose nearly $500 million in 1986, said Paula Fassi, spokeswoman for MCI Telecommunications Corp.

Some students don't realize that spreading illegally obtained access codes is a serious crime, while others might distribute the codes to show off their computer skills, authorities said.

"They know basically that it is against the law. I don't think they realize the gravity of it. It is a felony offense. What they're doing is not going be viewed as a childish prank," said a University of Texas police officer, who requested anonymity.

This week, Austin police arrested Rand Duprez Cottle, 21, a UT junior, who was charged with unlawful use of a criminal instrument. The instrument involved was the software police believe was used to obtain access codes from MCI.

Police said they traced about 1,600 calls to his South Austin apartment, where a home computer would dial MCI, call a long-distance number to test the code, and record it if it worked. Police said they found 16 MCI codes and about 100 from other long-distance companies.

The police officer said telephone fraud and computer hacking has been a recurring problem with students at UT and other institutions.

A computer hacker will spread stolen access code numbers and often use them himself to make long-distance calls to other computer operators around the country, authorities said.

Nationwide, the spreading of such information through computer "billboards" might seem blatant, "but that's what they do," said Bob Snow of the U.S. Secret Service. "Some of them just take it as a challenge to penetrate it. They take it as an intellectual challenge."

Authorities said long-distance access code numbers often are sold around the country for illegal use. But they said the codes often are distributed as a way to exchange information.

The computer hacker is only one example of the way access codes are spread, according to Ms. Fassi of MCI. More often, someone might copy down someone else's code number by watching them use it.

MCI encountered a problem at North Texas State and Texas Tech universities last year with the spread of access codes.

Nurse who cares for AIDS patients honored by group

By JERRY ESTILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — "When I go to the cemetery, my job is over," said Margaret Gallimore. "I've gone my last mile." Then the Dallas nurse takes another person dying with AIDS into her home and starts over.

Ms. Gallimore, who has reared three children, was among seven people singled out for commendation Friday by the National AIDS Network to dramatize a private and government drive for more volunteers.

Ms. Gallimore and her daughter Pamela have cared for eight AIDS patients since April, as many at five at one time. Two have died.

They get no money for their efforts. They got involved after learning that a Dallas AIDS hospital was closing and some of the patients had nowhere to go.

"It's been a pleasure, a different kind of pleasure," Ms. Gallimore said in an interview. "I've had death, I have some who are dying. But we're going to get over it someway, somehow. I have enough love to share."

She wouldn't say how much it costs her, just that "I spend all my money and that's that."

Lively and upbeat during a news conference to introduce some of the volunteers being honored, Ms. Gallimore talked about the sad part of her work only when asked.

"Yes, it's hard to lose one," she said, the smile slowly leaving her eyes at the obvious question.

Does that make it harder to take in the next one?

"No."

Easier?

"No."

Her spontaneous commentary ran toward the positive, including an amused willingness to accept typically lively human traits among her charges dying from AIDS — acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

"They get jealous," she said. "I get chocolate ice cream and the others say I got that because it's Joe's favorite. So I get them all: chocolate, vanilla, strawberry. Then everybody has their own."

Ms. Gallimore said she tries to remember to wear gloves "if there's liquids" and she has to clean stool or blood from one of the people she cares for. "Half the time, I forget about it," she said. "I'm not afraid of catching it. I love them. I hold their hands. I kiss them."

Another of the volunteers honored was Katheryn Mitchell of Norfolk, Va., who started working actively through her church on behalf of people with AIDS after losing two sons to the disease.

She said she and her husband have yet to be turned down when they ask to go before school, church and social groups to plead for compassion.

Her message: "Our children are given to us by the good Lord to love and we better love them as much as we can because when he gets ready, he takes them away."

Dr. Robert E. Windom, assistant secretary for health at the Department of Health and Human Services, held out the volunteers as "shining models of the great strength that has preserved our country in its great struggles in the past — and will preserve us in the struggle against AIDS."

"We honor their perservance in a painful mission; we celebrate their joy in carrying out their mission with so much generosity and dedication. I urge all Americans to support your work by finding practical ways to help and comfort those who have been stricken."

The seven volunteers singled out for special mention were selected from among 90 volunteers nominated from 30 states, Puerto Rico and Washington.

Only six were invited to the awards ceremony Friday night. The seventh, David Paul Summers, a cabaret entertainer from New York City, has died of AIDS since being selected.

The others are Frederick Garnett of Washington, Nathan Kolodner of New York City, Harry Collings of Boston and Ruth Brinker of San Francisco.

As of last month, AIDS had been diagnosed in 41,735 Americans, of whom 24,019 have died since 1979, according to government figures. No one is known to have recovered from AIDS, which destroys the body's ability to resist infections.

Some suffer head injuries more than others

The chances of suffering head injuries are not spread evenly among our population. Head injuries occur most often among people 15 to 24 years old, and young men are more than twice as likely as women to fall victim.

A disproportionate number of head injuries occurs in two other groups: infants and the elderly.

U.S. says choppers secret model

WORLD

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Helicopters that attacked three Iranian speedboats were a secret, silent-flying U.S. Army type operating from an offshore barge in the northern Persian Gulf, U.S. military sources said Friday.

In Washington, Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said the United States was ready to "teach lessons" to the Iranians whenever they jeopardize international shipping in the gulf, where Iran and Iraq have been at war since September 1980.

Iran said the attack, which sank one boat and disabled the other two, was unprovoked. At the United Nations in New York, Ambassador Said Rajaie-Khorassani called it a declaration of war to which Iran would respond "at the proper time."

The United States said the choppers struck only after being fired on from the boats near Farsi Island in the northern gulf. Iran uses Farsi as a speedboat base from which to attack shipping.

Weinberger said an Iranian navy corvette was with the speedboats but escaped "very rapidly" when the attack began.

Reports from Iran claimed a helicopter was shot down and an American warship damaged during what it described as a 20-minute battle Thursday night. Lt. Cmdr. Chris Bauman of the Pentagon said, however, "We have no warships damaged and we have no helicopters missing."

U.S. military sources in the gulf and in Washingon, speaking on condition of anonymity, indicated the Army MH-6 helicopters involved in Thursday's action operated from a specially built barge near the northern gulf coast.

Helicopters are known to operate from a Navy barge off Bahrain, in the central region, and a second has been reported in preparation off Kuwait, at the gulf's northern end about 140 miles from Farsi.

U.S. officials in the gulf have refused to discuss the barges, which are used in lieu of land bases that gulf Arab states, fearful of Iran's reaction, are reluctant to provide.

The small, silent Army helicopters equipped with infra-red night vision devices also were used in the attack on the Iran Ajr, a 1,665-ton landing craft caught laying mines Sept. 21 in the central gulf about 120 miles south of the Thursday encounter.

Some Iranian survivors of the Iran Ajr were quoted as saying they were unaware of the choppers until they struck.

Pentagon spokesmen in Washington initially said all three boats attacked Thursday night were sunk, but Weinberger said two were sighted dead in the water at daylight.

He described the Iranian boats as capable of carrying machine guns "and sometimes Stinger equipment."

The Stinger is the U.S. Army's most advanced portable anti-aircraft missile and has never been sold to Iran. It could not be determined immediately whether Weinberger meant the U.S.-made Stinger or to a similar weapon made by another country.

Iran claimed a helicopter was downed during the attack with an "Iranian Stinger missile."

Weinberger said another U.S. military helicopter flying in the southern gulf Thursday reported gunfire from an Iranian oil rig. He said it was unclear whether the Iranians were firing at the Americans and the helicopter left without returning fire.

U.S. officials said six Iranians were rescued, two of them had died and the others were receiving medical treatment, "including surgery" in some cases.

Lt. Col. John Head, a U.S. military spokesman in this island sheikdom, said the wounded Iranians were on the Navy landing ship Raleigh.

State Department spokesman Charles E. Redman said in Washington that plans were being made to return the survivors and the bodies of the dead to Iran, with the aid of the International Red Cross was being enlisted.

If any of the survivors choose not to return, they will be treated as political refugees, Redman said.

Reports from Iran did not clearly concede the loss of the three boats, and said two others escaped.

Tehran radio said Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayati sent a message to Javier Perez de Cuellar, the U.N. secretary-general, saying "responsibility for the start of an all-out war and the very dangerous consequences of the violation of international laws in the region rests on the shoulders of the U.S.A."

"The only way to prevent the expansion of tension is the immediate withdrawal of forces belonging to foreign countries from the waters of the Persian Gulf," he said.

The People's Mujahedeen, an Iranian opposition group, said in Washington that Iran is planning to launch small remote-controlled submarines laden with explosives against American ships. It claimed the 18-foot-long fiberglass craft were being assembled by Revolutionary Guards at Kolahdouz, about 40 miles west of Tehran.

Dispatches from Iran on Friday said the Iranian speedboats were on a routine patrol and declared that a military official, unnamed, "totally rejected a U.S. claim that the Iranian boats had first fired at the American helicopters and said it was just the opposite."

He said crews of the two boats that escaped reported "they did not know in the beginning that they had been attacked by U.S. helicopters." The boats "immediately responded by attacking," he said, and one chopper was "hit by an Iranian Stinger missile and crashed."

Iran's account said the boat crews "fired light missiles at several U.S. vessels" and one was damaged.

Iran says area verges on being another Vietnam

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Iran said Friday that the United States is risking "another Vietnam" by attacking Iranian forces in the Persian Gulf and said that all foreign navies should leave.

Tehran Radio, monitored in Nicosia, said Foreign Minister Ali Akbar Velayati made the statement in a strongly worded protest to the United Nations after U.S. helicopters attacked Iranian speedboats in the northern gulf Thursday night.

Iran said it shot down one helicopter and damaged a U.S. warship in the combat, which killed two Iranians. The Pentagon denied any losses. The United States says the Iranians fired first.

Velayati said in his message to U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar that the United States bears "responsibility for the start of an all-out war and the very dangerous consequences of the violation of international laws."

"The intensification of America's policies of baring its teeth and claws in the Persian Gulf region clearly shows that the region is on the verge of turning into another Vietnam and that this military aggression will ultimately drag the whole region into flames and the war will go on for years."

It was the second lethal confrontation between the United States and Iran in three weeks that left the Iranians overwhelmed by American firepower.

Iran denied the U.S. contention that the speedboats fired on the U.S. helicopters first, according to an unidentified spokesman for Tehran's War Information Headquarters.

He was quoted by Iran's official Islamic Republic News Agency, also monitored in Cyprus.

IRNA said "Iranian forces aboard speedboats shot down a U.S. helicopter with surface-to-air Stinger missiles and damaged an American vessel immediately after U.S. helicopter gunships attacked five speedboats in the international waters of the Persian Gulf."

IRNA quoted the military spokesman as warning the people of the United States that President Reagan's "unwise and provocative policies will eventually involve them in an unwanted war."

The agency quoted the spokesman as urging Americans to "pressure the U.S. administration to stop these provocative acts before it is too late ...otherwise American troops will not return home on their own feet."

On Sept. 21, U.S. helicopters hit what the Pentagon identified as an Iranian minelayer. Five Iranian crewmen were killed.

Diplomats and analysts said the attack bolstered the demands of hardliners in the Tehran government's hierarchy for tough, retaliatory action against the United States and its allies in the gulf.

Arab diplomats also voiced fears that the growing polarization between Iran and its Arab neighbors in the gulf heralded attacks on Saudi Arabia, a key U.S. ally, and Kuwait.

Iran has in recent weeks singled out Saudi tankers and other ships trading with the kingdom for attack by Revolutionary Guards in armed speedboats.

Car plunges into gulf

MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — Two enlisted U.S. Navy personnel were killed Thursday night when their car plunged off a pier into the Persian Gulf, U.S. sources said Friday.

The sources identified the victims as a man and a woman in their 20s who were attached to the American Support Unit, an affiliate of the U.S. Mideast Force whose warships patrol the Gulf.

The names of the victims won't be released until relatives were notified, the sources said, adding that the bodies have been recovered.

The sources said the two dropped off a sailor friend from the USS Guadalcanal helicopter carrier at the port and then drove off the pier into the water, apparently losing their way in the dark.

VOTE YES FOR ENHANCED 911

Police • Fire • Medical EMERGENCY

Q What is the Enhanced 911 Emergency Communication District?

A The 911 Emergency Number Act (Art. 1432e of Vernon's Revised Texas Civil Statutes) enables Texas counties to organize an Emergency Communication District as a means of establishing and financing a computerized 911 emergency communication system. The new system is designed to improve emergency communications.

Q What area is included in the District?

A The Midland District serves Midland County. All cities and towns, as well as the unincorporated areas will be serviced, whether they are served by Southwestern Bell or not. All phone companies in the district will proved 911 service to their customers.

Q Who governs each District?

A Each District appoints a Board of Managers. Each Board has five members with two appointed by the City Council, two appointed by the County Commissioners and one from a volunteer Fire Department.

Q Will there be an election?

A Yes. On Nov. 3, 1987, all registered voters in the County will have the opportunity to vote "YES" to confirm the creation of the communication district and authorize the 911 emergency service fee to be charged.

Q How Much will the Enhanced 911 system cost me?

A Under the law the district can levy a service fee on the telephone bills of citizens within the county up to a maximum of 6% of your base telephone rate (not including long distance or other charges). Throughout Texas, the rate is about 3% which is estimated to be 27¢ per month for a residential customer. This cost is less than the cost of a cup of coffee or a candy bar.

Q How will the funds be used?

A Service fees will be used, under direction of the Board of Managers, to computerize the current 911 service. The new service will be called "Enhanced 911".

Q But why change from the present 911 system?

A Because there are vital differences in the current system and the "Enhanced" system. Differences that could save your life.

The current 911 system:
1. Is not computerized.
2. Routes all calls to a single public safety agency.
3. Does not display the caller's telephone number.
4. Does not display the caller's address.
5. Requires the caller to verbally give address and telephone number.

"Enhanced" 911:
1. Is a computerized service.
2. Automatically routes calls to the appropriate agency.
3. Displays the caller's telephone number and address.
4. Displays the type of phone (i.e. residence business or coin).

Q How will Enhanced 911 work for me?

A In an emergency, no matter where you might be you simply pick up any phone (including a coin operated phone — no coin is required) and dial 911 for help. Your call will automatically go to the responsible jurisdiction.

Q What if I diall 911 and then can't speak?

A Even if you cannot speak after dialing the number, the computer screen in front of the 911 attendant will show the phone number from which you called, and the address, so help can be sent even without voice contact.

Q Can children or the deaf and hearing impaired people get help through 911?

A Yes. Children can easily dial 911 and get help, even though they may not know their location. Calls coming from handicapped citizens with TTY/TDD equipment can be handled.

Q Is using 911 faster than dialing the operator?

A Yes. If you dial "O" for Operator—
1. You may get an Operator who is not even in the area. It can be an Operator 100 or more miles away.
2. That Operator has to determine which is the responsible agency for your emergency and then dial a 7-digit number for you.
3. A call to the Operator cannot be identified as an emergency and may ring many times before being answered.

Q Will response time be shortened with "Enhanced" 911?

A Yes. With the Enhanced 911 number, the time required to get an emergency call completed to the proper agency is significantly shortened. With Enhanced 911 a person simply dials that one number for all emergencies and calls are automatically routed to the proper agency. When number and address information is flashed on the computer screen the attendant answering the call can dispatch an emergency vehicle, even if the person placing the call cannot speak or be understood. Currently, address must be communicated and written down by hand, which slows the response time significantly.

Seconds count in an emergency! If you have a heart attack, a fire, a robbery, seconds often are the difference between life and death. 911, the nationally recognized emergency telephone number, is the fastest means of summoning help in a crisis. And now you and your family can have a modern, enhanced 911 system.

Q People say the 911 system saves lives. How does Enhanced 911 save lives?

A In an emergency, seconds count. Any time saved in getting help to you in an emergency may save your life, or the life of a loved one. Enhanced 911 is much more efficient and does save time, and it may save your life!

Q Is there a great need for Enhanced 911, and its benefits?

A Yes. In emergency situations, people are often confused, in shock, panicked, under stress. They are not functioning at their best and do not always think clearly. With Enhanced 911 you simply dial 911 for any emergency anywhere in the county and the emergency system is activated on your behalf.

Q What will happen when I use this "Enhanced" emergency system?
1. The 911 number is dialed.
2. The call is immediately identified as an emergency because the number 911 was used.
3. The phone rings at the answering point and an attendant trained in handling emergency calls answers the line.
4. The attendant determines the type of emergency and either dispatches help directly or, with the push of a button, establishes a three-way call between the caller, the attendant and the proper emergency agency.
5. The emergency agency dispatches assistance to the caller's location. Help is on its way. The entire process from the time the phone is picked up until help is dispatched takes only a few seconds with the Enhanced 911 system.

ON NOVEMBER 3RD VOTE "YES" FOR ENHANCED 911.

Autumn will be in the air

From Staff Reports

Last week's summer-like weather will turn to an autumn chill today under partly cloudy skies, says a forecaster with the National Weather Service at Midland International Airport.

The weatherman predicts the high today will be near 70 degrees as winds blow from the northeast at 5 to 15 mph.

Tonight will be partly cloudy, with the low dipping into the upper 40s.

On Sunday, skies will be partly cloudy and the high will climb only to the upper 60s.

Friday's high of 89 was three degrees cooler than the record of 43, set on that date in 1965. The low of 49 was six degrees warmer than the record of 43 set on the same date in 1979.

STATE

A slow-moving cold front stretched across the Panhandle but stalled over plains of West Texas Friday as fair skies continued to prevail throughout most of the state.

However, a line of isolated thundershowers formed along the Red River near Wichita Falls, the National Weather Service reported.

Widely scattered showers or thunderstorms were possible in West and North Texas today; otherwise, skies should be generally partly cloudy over the state through Sunday.

NATION

Autumn snow whitened the Black Hills of South Dakota, as well as parts of Montana and Wyoming, and a cold front pushing across the upper Great Lakes spread chill weather into the central United States on Friday.

Eighteen cities from Pennsylvania to Florida either set or tied low temperature records for the date.

Up to 5 inches of snow fell in the Black Hills, where an additional 1 to 4 inches was expected, and Sunlight, Wyo., northwest of Cody, got 3 inches.

Gusty winds rushed ahead of the cold front from Canada as it pushed into the upper Great Lakes, the middle Mississippi Valley and the southern Plains, bringing cloudy skies behind it. Lakes Superior and Ontario and the northern parts of Lakes Michigan and Huron were under gale warnings.

Today's forecast called for cloudy skies with light rain extending from northwest Texas through the middle half of the Mississippi Valley and through the upper Ohio Valley to New England. Heavier showers were forecast from southern Nebraska and northern Kansas across Missouri to southern Indiana and northern Kentucky.

No. 4 Rebels hang haymaker on Cougars

By BOB BRUNDAGE
Sports Writer

Midland Lee running backs have a knack for finding the end zone. They do it from close in and from long range. And, they do it often. Ask Abilene Cooper. The Cougars watched the Rebels score eight touchdowns for a 56-13 District 4-5A victory Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

The scoring started quick and, before the Cougars knew what hit them, it was 21-0. There was still 5:36 remaining in the first quarter.

The Rebels took the opening kickoff on their own 27 and set the tone for the game as the offensive line dominated Cooper's defense, creating huge holes up the middle for fullback Waymon Goodley and clearing wide paths outside for quarterbacks Geoff Rich and Dudley Jordan and running back Joe Woodard. The four combined for 306 of Lee's 495-yard rushing yardage.

Durian Jenkins capped the opening 73-yard drive with a seven-yard run and Goodley followed three plays after a Cooper punt with a 23-yard run for his only TD. Goodley rushed for 165 yards on 20 carries to lead all backs in the game.

Woodard, who led the district in scoring going into the game with 10 TDs, added three more on runs of 29, 4 and 32 yards. The Rebel tailback scored the last two TDs of the first half to give Lee a 28-0 intermission lead.

Cooper managed to cut the margin to 28-6 early in the third quarter when Scotty Pugh found wide receiver Jeff Ireland free down the right side line for a 31-yard score. Ireland's point after attempt was blocked.

Cards lead 2-1 over Giants, 4B.

Linebacker Mike Pearson recovered a Pugh fumble in the end zone and Joe Woodard scored his third TD of the night to give Lee a 42-6 lead.

Second teamers Tony Rice and Ferris Stramblers added TD runs of 40 and 71 yards to round out Lee's scoring while Roderick Brown broke free on a 61-yard run for Cooper. Lee kicker Arthur Donnelly was good on all eight PAT kicks.

THE VICTORY improves Lee's record to 6-0 on the year and leaves the Rebels tied with Odessa Permian for first place in the 4-5A standings at 3-0. The Rebels now have a week off to prepare for the Ratliff Stadium showdown Oct. 23.

That leaves Lee 14 days to savor the 56-13 victory over Cooper, a game all thought was well played, on both sides of the ball.

"Geoff and I, really the key was we recognized the defense they were in and called the right play against the defense," said Rebel quarterback Dudley Jordan, who alternates duty with Geoff Rich. "Coach (Van Tom) Whatley called the right plays and we called the check offs."

Actually, the right plays for Lee's offense were called during practice this week as the coaching staff prepared the Rebels for the Cooper defense.

"We just followed the game plan," said Rich. "Coach Whatley set up an excellent game plan and it worked real well. They did exactly what we expected them to do. There were no surprises.

"Our backs did real good," continued Rich. "All week they worked on running the option and running it real hard."

Especially Goodley.

"He was running real hard, did a real good job," said Jordan. "He's the key to our offense. If they don't stop him first, we keep giving it to him. If they do stop him, we try to go outside so he's one of the major factors in our offense."

"The offensive line played great," said Rich. "They were coming off the ball real well. Last week they didn't come off the ball as a team but this week they were blowing them off the line."

Rebel center Wade Claybrook agreed with Rich, but said there was a small let down.

"We dominated the first half but we came out the second half and they were kind of pumped up and we slacked off some," said Claybrook. "But, we got it back together later in the half."

Stanton edges Eldorado

STANTON — It looked as though the Stanton Buffaloes were in for another long night as Trey Preston took the opening kickoff and raced 90 yards untouched for a touchdown for the Eldorado Eagles. After losing three straight games the Buffs could have rolled over and given up,but Eldorado Coach Armondo San Miguel knew better than that.

"When you are playing against a Coach Ruth (Stanton coach Dale Ruth) team you know that they are never going to let down," San Miguel said. "In fact I think our team may have let down a little after the touchdown."

Stanton did not exactly dominate the rest of the game but they did manage to score once in the second quarter and tack on the two point conversion to give them all the points they needed in an 8-6 win.

"Our kids hung in their real tough tonight," Coach Ruth said of his team. "They really rose to the occasion. We haven't gotten very many breaks lately and when we finally did we were able to take advantage of them."

Stanton drove the ball late in the first quarter and appeared to be headed in the end zone with a first and goal at the 7 yard line. After losing five yards the Buffs were forced to go to the air. In one of his rare mistakes of the evening quarterback Skip Hopkins threw the ball into the arms of an Eldorado linebacker at the two yard line to end the drive.

After the Buffalo defense forced a punt the offense took over at the 50 yard line. This was the Robert Jones drive as he carried the ball four times, the last carry was four yards into the end zone. In what turned out to be the winning points Hopkins threw to Carlos Ortiz for the two point conversion.

Both teams then seemed to move the ball between the 30 yard lines as neither team could mount much of scoring drive. Eldorado made some halftime adjustments and were able to move the ball on the ground to start the second half but the drive stalled before reaching the end zone. The Eagles could not buy a break all night as nothing seemed to go their way.

In the third quarter a halfback option pass was just a little too long as the Eagle receiver made the catch just out of the end zone. Then late in the game the game they tried to punt the Buffs deep in their own territory but the ball just squirted into the endzone putting the ball on the 20 yard line.

"We just didn't bear down when we had to," San Miguel said. "We are not going to dwell on what could have happened, that is for losers. We will start working tomorrow on our mistakes and try and improve.

"I am real proud of the effort that our kids gave tonight. We don't have a lot of size but our line played well. I thought our defense played well enough to win the game and our back-up fullback Carter Edmiston played a whale of a game."

Dogs post 4-5A win

By TERRY WILLIAMSON

SAN ANGELO — The hurt and humiliation of losing by a combined score of 70-0 the last two weeks to Midland Lee and Odessa Permian, came out in "pride and character" here Friday night as the Midland High Bulldogs bombed defending District 4-5A co-champion San-Angelo, 28-14.

"I couldn't be more proud of a bunch of kids than I am of this group," said MHS coach Doug McCutchen, who once coached here in the Concho city. "We had two devastating losses the last two weeks and the way they played tonight says a lot about there character."

It was Homecoming for the Bobcats, who were searching for that first 4-5A win just like the Bulldogs. But Homecoming Bobcat style was more to the liking of the Bulldogs, who turned into pit bulls. By the time it was over, San Angelo was missing a 4-5A leg to stand on.

The 'Dogs erupted for a 21-7 first half lead, increased that margin to 28-7 in the third period and then just watched the Bobkitties meow down the stretch with a lot of yardage, but only seven more points to show for their efforts.

The Bulldog offense ended a stretch of eight consecutive quarters of scoreless football.

"Offensively, we came out with some things in mind and we were tired of being embarrassed," said McCutchen. "Defensively, we gave up a lot of yardage, but we only broke down completely once. We had the big plays on both sides of the ball and led on the positive side of turnovers by a 7-1 margin."

MIDLAND HIGH set the tone of the game by marching 58 yards in 11 plays after a fumble recovery by Jeff Rashall. The Bulldogs later drove 74 and 67 yards for the 21-7 halftime lead and came out in the third period with an eight-play, 63-yard drive for the 28-7 margin.

San Angelo did tie the score at 7-7 in the first period on a 96-yard run by Sergio Alcala, who ended the night with 141 yards rushing and another 80 in pass receptions. He had a good Homecoming outing, but the Bobcats are now 3-3 on the season and 0-2 in district play. MHS climbed to 4-2 and 1-2.

Dwane Roberts found the 100-yard land for the fourth time this year after missing that mark the last two weeks. Roberts also caught three passes for 34 yards and he scored three times from inside the 10-yard line.

"I'm so happy," said Roberts. "I really wanted to get back over 100 yards and the line just did a super job for me. It was a joy to run behind them. We were really tired of losing

Big Spring nips tough Tornados

By ERIC SCHURER

BIG SPRING — A sky-high Tornado defense and a fumble-prone Steer offense had Lamesa on the verge of the upset of the District 2-4A season Friday.

But defending district champion Big Spring dug down and found a little extra in the fourth quarter, erasing a 10-0 deficit to rally for a 16-10 victory over the Tors.

Tailback Charles White and fullback Bruce Jones and the huge Big Spring offensive front wore down the Tornadoes for a pair of fourth quarter touchdowns to give the Steers the victory.

With the win Big Spring, 2-1, 3-2, kept alive its hopes of making a return trip to the playoffs in their second season in Class 4A. But the Tors, still winless in 2-4A play at 0-4, 2-4, weren't going to make it easy.

"We played very hard for four quarters and good for 3-and-a-half," Lamesa coach Clyde Noonkester said. "But they hurt us when they went to the straight ahead stuff. They just out-powered us."

The White-Jones tandem combined for 115 fourth-quarter yards and chewed up scoring drives of 61 and 71 yards after sputtering for the first three quarters. The final touchdown came with just more than four minutes to play on an 18-yard run by White.

White finished the night with 142 yards on 22 carries while Jones added 95 on 13 attempts.

"They just got going in the fourth quarter, they got the wind behind them and good field position," Noonkester said. "They were just too good for us to keep them out."

Loboes bury Ponies, 56-0

By PETE HERNDON

ANDREWS — Senior running back Charles Thompson and Company turned what has been a classic District 2-4A football rivalry into a classic runaway Friday night in front of the Homecoming crowd at Mustang Stadium, scoring 49 first half points en route to Monahans' 56-0 victory over Andrews.

Thompson rushed for 172 yards and three touchdowns on 20 carries in less than three quarters of work.

"I tip my hat to that young man," Andrews Coach W.T. Stapler said of Thompson after the game. "That's not the first time I've run into him. As a 140-pound sophomore, he scored on us when I was at Sweetwater the year we won the state championship."

"I've coached against some greats in my career, like Steve Wooster, Earl Campbell and Curtis Dickey," added Stapler. "Thompson may not be as strong as some of them, but he's got more moves than any back I've ever seen. There's times we could have played two-below and still not have been able to stop him."

Early in the first quarter, however, it was Thompson's backfield partners that got the attack rolling.

From the Andrews 49, junior running back Ronnie Ramsey motored 28 yards around left end to set the Loboes deep in Mustangs territory. On the next play, quarterback Carlton Jordan hit tight end James White on a wide-open flag pattern with 7:12 showing on the first period clock.

The Mustangs fell into dire straits on the ensuing kickoff as a fumble gave the ball back to Monahans on the Andrews 25. Three plays later, Ramsey scored on a 12-yard run up the middle and the point after gave the Loboes a 14-0 advantage with 5:26 remaining in the opening stanza. Ramsey finished the evening with 10 carries for 96 yards after going to the bench with two second half carries.

On the Mustangs first play from scrimmage from there own 22, quarterback Joe Don Finley was crushed on an option-right and coughed up the ball to the Loboes again.

Five plays later, Jordan hit White again for four yards and another touchdown. After a blown conversion attempt, the Loboes led 20-0 with 2:24 before the second quarter.

Permian routs Odessa by 40-0

From Staff Reports

ODESSA— Led by the explosive fullback Shawn Crow, Odessa Permian defeated Odessa High, 40-0, before a sellout crowd at Ratliff Stadium Friday night to raise the record of the No. 4-state ranked Panthers to 6-0 for the season.

Permian scored on its first possession of the game, going 55 yards in four plays, with Crow contributing a 25-yard run and a 20-yard TD burst.

Crow, who gained 218 yards in 21 carries, scored on a 22-yard run to wrap up a 62-yard drive with 0:38 left in the first period. Mike Winchell's 30-yard pass to Lloyd Hill put the ball on the Broncho 22 and set the stage for Crow.

Two touchdowns in the final 38 seconds of the first half effectively snuffed out Odessa's hopes. The first came after a blocked punt gave Permian the ball on the OHS 25 with 2:39 left. James Miles took it in from inside the five to give Permian a 28-0 halftime lead.

The next TD, off an interception, came with four seconds in the half with Robert Brown taking a 12-yard pass from Quarterback Winchell. Hill converted after all four TDs..

Billingsley cashed in on a two-yard run with 7:37 left in the third period and then the Permian reserves took over and scored again in the fourth period after an 80-yard drive, Donny Sherrill going in from the seven.

Permian is now 3-0 in District 4-5A. Odessa is 2-3-1 and 0-3. The Panthers travel to Abilene Cooper next Friday while Odessa hosts San Angelo.

Permian now holds a 25-3-1 edge in the series. Odessa hasn't won since 1964.

Eagles rally for 19-9 win

From Staff Reports

ABILENE — Abilene High rallied from a 9-0 deficit Friday night with 19 unanswered points to claim a 19-9 non-district victory here over Austin Johnston.

After giving up a 23-yard field goal to Matt Glover and an 87-yard run by Elvin Shead in the first quarter, the Eagles countered with a Danny Zimple seven-yard pass from Jon Davis in the second quarter. Trey Forkerway made it 9-7 with the PAT kick.

With 3:21 left in the half, Warren Abor scored on a 13-yard run and Forkerway made it 14-9 at intermission. Forkerway added a 33-yard field goal in the fourth quarter and David Aguirre tackled Darrell Sorrells in the end zone for a safety to cap the scoring.

Edberg upset victim

ATLANTA (AP) — Stefan Edberg, ranked second in the world, was eliminated from the $500,000 AT&T Challenge tennis tournament in a straight-set loss to Paul Annacone Friday.

The 6-2, 6-3 victory lifted Annacone's record in the round-robin phase of the event to 2-1 and gave him a spot in Saturday's semifinals against top-ranked Ivan Lendl.

John McEnroe will meet Jimmy Connors in the other semifinal. McEnroe defeated Sweden's Mikael Pernfors 6-2, 6-3 to give him a 2-1 round-robin record, while Connors ran his record in the event to 3-0 with a 6-0, 6-1 pasting of Ulf Stenlund Friday night.

Lendl downed Miloslav Mecir 6-0, 6-4 Friday to give him a round-robin record of 3-0.

Edberg, who finished the event with a 1-2 mark, lost his first service game and never recovered.

"I didn't feel very good," Edberg said. "I could never get big points. If you start missing them, it's hard to get them going again."

Mecir said that for most of his match "Lendl was not missing at all," and Lendl agreed with that assessment.

"I think I played as well as I have since the U.S. Open," Lendl said. "I was so happy I was hitting balls nice and crisp that I overhit the ball sometimes."

Rebel defensive backs, the yardage total and scoring could have been higher.

Safety Eugene Farmer had the hit of the night while covering Cooper's Martin Scruggs. Scruggs, who was going up for what looked like a completed pass, hauled in the ball only to be drilled into the turf by Farmer. The ball popped free, incomplete pass.

"We knew they were going to throw the ball," said Farmer. "We stayed back and played the zone and when the ball was thrown we moved in on it. If they caught it, we hit them very hard and after the first quarter they didn't want to catch it anymore. The defensive line rally put a lot of pressure on Pugh (six sacks for minus 25 yards)."

According to linebacker James Hanlan, the Rebels are getting better and better every day.

"I feel we're improving every week, really running to the ball well and everyone was hitting well," said Hanlan. "We've been working on our hitting. The defensive line put the pressure on the quarterback."

And, about Farmer's hit on Scruggs, Hanlan said, "He's a real good hitter. Our two safeties (including Jimmy Fennell) are really great players and they can really put on the hit."

IN ALL, Lee recorded 520 yards, adding two pass completions in three attempts for 25 yards.

One of the passes went to Quincy White, a rare reception because of Lee's dominance with the rush.

"I don't get that many but when they throw it to me I try and catch them all," said White."

Defensively, Lee came up with four Cooper turnovers, interceptions by Fennell, Robin Pyle and Michael Dorn and Pearson's fumble recovery in the end zone. Cooper's Ricky Box had recovered two Lee fumbles.

BUFFS

On the Stanton side it was a big effort on the part of the versatile Hopkins. On the offensive side he had his best night passing of the season completing 10 of 16 passes for 125 yards. On defense he recovered a big fumble in their own end of the field.

"Our offensive line did a real good job tonight," Hopkins said. "This is the most confidence I've had in my passing all season. I didn't get to run as much as I usually like to because their defensive ends played real tough."

Coach Ruth was a little more impressed with his quarterbacks effort.

"We have really been working on our passing with Skip," Ruth said. "Tonight he really played well. We have some good receivers so we want to take advantage of them. Skip did that tonight."

LOBOES

Thompson got in on the scoring act early in the second quarter, turning an off-tackle play into a 76-yard gallop with 11:48 left before intermission. Jordan then hit receiver Johnny Roy in the end zone for the conversion and Monahans led 28-0.

The Loboes defense forced the Mustangs to punt on the next possession and set up shop on their own 38. Behind 13 yard runs from Thompson and Ramsey, the Loboes moved to the Andrews 30. Jordan then threw his third pass of the night, for his third touchdown, to Ronnie Molina and after the conversion it was 35-0.

After the kickoff, the Loboes once again held the Mustangs to three downs and a punt and set up shop on their own 44.

With Molina breaking a reverse trap for 21 yards, the Loboes needed four plays to move to Andrews' 10. Thompson capped the drive witha sweep that looked initially like it was going to lose seven yards, but three jukes later Thompson stepped across the goal line with four Mustangs lying in his wake.

Trailing 42-0 with 3:55 left in the half, Andrews drove the ball from its own 22 to midfield with 1:00 remaining. Molina then stopped the drive in a big way, picking off a Finley sidelines pass and racing 60 yards for the final score of the half.

"About all I could tell them at halftime was that we didn't jump on them," Stapler said. "We played hard, we just didn't execute. We had two turnovers that they scored on and their quarteback threw three touchdown passes."

"We have sophomores playing in five positions and six of our starters were out with injuries tonight," he added. "It may have been 56-0, but I'm proud of these kids. They've fought hard all year long. I don't think it helped us any that we opened with Hereford and Midland High, that's too much to ask of these kids."

"If I told you I was handling losing well, though, it would be a lie," said the former state champion. "Nobody handles losing well."

Monahans capped the scoring for the evening with a 13-play, 74-yard drive in the third quarter. Thompson carried the ball in from the one, leaving the rest of the game in the hands of the reserves.

With the win, Monahans remains perfect on the season at 6-0 and 3-0 in district while Andrews falls to 1-4-1 and 1-2-1 in District 2-4A play. The Mustangs will try to rebound on the road against Snyder Friday.

MAVERICKS— Two-time All-American guard Steve Alford of Indiana signed a two-year contract with the NBA's Dallas Mavericks. Sam Alford, who coached his son at New Castle High when he won the Mr. Basketball Award as a senior and acted as his agent in negotiations, said the first year of the contract was guaranteed if Alford, a second-round draft pick, makes the team and still is healthy and playing Dec. 1...

NBA— Houston Rockets center Ralph Sampson has been offered a six-year deal by the Portland Trail Blazers that would pay him in excess of $2 million annually....

BASEBALL— Jim Fregosi agreed to a multi-year contract to return as manager of the Chicago White Sox...

NFL OILERS— The rift between the Houston Oilers and the Houston Sports Association widened with Owner Bud Adams claiming his team was being pushed out of the city. Adams will go to Jacksonville, Fla., Monday to visit with city officials and business people who are trying to woo the team to their town...

TENNIS— Australian John Frawley scored a stunning upset over Wimbledon champion Pat Cash 6-4, 6-3 Friday in the quarterfinals of the $150,000 Queensland Open Championships at Brisbane...

SENIORS GOLF— Arnold Palmer made eight birdies in shooting a 6-under-par 66 to take a 1-stroke lead after the first round of the $250,000 Senior Challenge tournament. Dave Hill and Buck Adams were at 67 while Miller Barber was another shot back at 68....

BASEBALL— The Yomiuri Giants, managed by former home run hitting star Sadaharu Oh, clinched the Central championship in the Japanese League Friday night even though they were idle when the second-place Hiroshima Toyo Carp lost 2-0 to the Chunichi Dragons. For the Giants, the league title was their 24th, but first since 1984.

Longhorns? It's show time on TV for Sooners

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Football Writer

The Oklahoma Sooners finally get a chance to prove to the nation's viewing audience that they deserve their No. 1 ranking — and the Sooners are looking forward to doing just that in their 1987 television debut.

"Nebraska has been on national TV three out of four games this season," quarterback Jamelle Holieway says of Saturday's annual Red River range war with Texas in Dallas. "We want to show people why we are the No. 1-ranked team."

"It is very important to me," All-American tight end Keith Jackson adds. "It is our first game on national TV (CBS, 1:30 p.m.) and the first game to showcase my talents."

While Oklahoma has been feasting on the likes of North Texas State, North Carolina, Tulsa and Iowa State, second-ranked Nebraska has played such teams as UCLA, Arizona State and South Carolina. No. 3 Miami has faced Florida, Arkansas and Florida State, all ranked in the Associated Press Top Twenty.

Nebraska entertains Kansas on Saturday while Miami plays host to Maryland in a night game. The only pairing of Top Twenty teams finds seventh-ranked LSU at No. 16 Georgia in a key Southeastern Conference contest.

Elsewhere, fourth-ranked Notre Dame visits Pitt under the lights, No. 5 Auburn is at home against Vanderbilt, No. 6 Florida State is at Southern Mississippi, No. 8 Clemson entertains Virginia — the Tigers lead the series 26-0 — and No. 9 Ohio State hosts Indiana. Tenth-ranked Tennessee is not scheduled.

In the Second Ten, No. 11 UCLA is idle, No. 12 Michigan visits Michigan State, No. 13 Arizona State is at Washington, Rutgers at No. 14 Penn State, No. 15 Alabama at Memphis State, Fullerton State at No. 18 Florida, Colorado at No. 19 Oklahoma State and No. 20 Arkansas at Texas Tech at night. Syracuse, No. 17, has the weekend off.

OKLAHOMA is a five-touchdown favorite over Texas and Holieway says it could resemble last year's 47-12 blowout.

"We have the potential to do that," he says. "If we go out and play like we did against Iowa State (35-3 at halftime last week), Texas is going to have a tough time winning. I don't think anybody could have stopped us the way we played against Iowa State."

Jackson says the Sooners "want to go out and show Nebraska and Miami they are not the only teams that have powerhouses. I expect we have a national championship team. I don't see us losing a game this year."

The only Sooner who seems to be wary of Texas is Coach Barry Switzer.

"I don't care what people say, Texas is still Texas," Switzer says. "The only way we will get better is to play good people, and believe me we will get a test Saturday. They are definitely the best team we have played to date."

NEBRASKA is a 50-point favorite over Kansas, which means the Cornhuskers probably will allow quarterback Steve Taylor to rest his bruised shoulder. Clete Blakeman, who directed last week's come-from-behind victory over South Carolina after Taylor was hurt, will fill in.

"He (Taylor) wouldn't play even if it was Oklahoma," Coach Tom Osborne says.

After three emotional games, Miami must guard against a letdown. Coach Jimmy Johnson will remind his players that (1) Maryland erased a 31-0 third-quarter deficit three years ago and beat the Hurricanes 42-40 — the greatest comeback in college football history — and (2) cost Miami the services of defensive tackle Dan Sileo this season by insisting that he was a full-time student at Maryland in 1982, although a Maryland catalog says the branch he attended was for part-time students.

"I'm pleased with our start," Johnson says, "especially since we didn't play well against Florida State. We were able to pull out the victory (26-25) through sheer determination after being behind 19-3 with a minute left in the third quarter."

NOTRE DAME, off to its best start since 1982 against what the NCAA rates the most difficult schedule in the nation, will be ready for Pitt since defensive coordinator Foge Fazio of the Irish was the Panthers' head coach from 1982-85.

"Our job right now is to make sure we keep our priorities straight," Coach Lou Holtz says. "I guess it's natural for our fans and alumni to get excited about being 3-0 and being ranked, especially when that hasn't happened for a few years.

"If anything, though, that just increases our responsibility to make sure we keep it all in perspective. There's no reason to celebrate right now when we've got eight football games left."

Although LSU and Georgia are SEC members, they have met just 17 times, with LSU leading 10-6-1, including last year's 23-14 triumph.

"Without a doubt, LSU is the best football team that we've played this year,' says Coach Vince Dooley, who says more or less the same thing about each week's opponent. "They're an extremely aggressive football team and they love to play the game. LSU is one of five or six teams in the country that could be the national champion."

LSU is coming off tough games with Ohio State (a 13-13 tie) and Florida (a 13-10 victory).

"I think our kids will be ready to play," Coach Mike Archer says. "They know Georgia is good. They know that if we're flat again, Georgia will blow us out."

If there is such an animal as a sure thing, it takes place when Clemson meets Virginia. The schools first played in 1955 and Clemson has won every one of the 26 meetings, which may explain why Saturday has been designated homecoming at Death Valley.

The NCAA record for most consecutive wins is 32 by Oklahoma over Kansas State (1937-68).

Cardinals rally to go one up on SF Giants, 6-5

Giants' Chili Davis gets high-five after scoring on a Will Clark hit.

By BEN WALKER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The crippled St. Louis Cardinals rallied for four runs in the seventh inning, two on Vince Coleman's tie-breaking single, and hurt the San Francisco Giants 6-5 Friday night for a 2-1 lead in the National League playoffs.

The Cardinals, playing a patchwork lineup because of injuries to Terry Pendleton and Jack Clark, put together five straight singles in the seventh against starter Atlee Hammaker and relievers Don Robinson and Craig Lefferts for a 6-4 lead.

In the sixth, Jim Lindeman had ended St. Louis' string of scoreless innings at 16 with a two-run homer. The blow began a comeback that equaled the largest in NL playoff history, set last year when New York overcame a 4-0 deficit against Houston in Game 3.

Bob Forsch and Todd Worrell, meanwhile, shut down San Francisco on three hits in the final five innings. Forsch got the victory in relief of Joe Magrane, who started because Danny Cox is still bothered by a stiff neck, and Robinson took the loss.

Worrell gave up a pinch homer to Harry Spilman with two outs in the ninth, but Kevin Mitchell flied to center to end the game.

The Giants, whose starters out-homered St. Louis' 153-31 during the regular season, again took an early lead with power as Jeffrey Leonard homered for the third straight game. Leonard, 6-for-11 in the series, gave San Francisco a 4-0 lead in the third and was hit by a pitch from Forsch in his next at-bat.

But the listless Cardinals, who had not advanced a runner past second base in 15 innings, began their resurgence in the sixth when Ozzie Smith singled with one out and Lindeman homered. Lindeman, a .208 hitter during the season, was batting clean-up in place of Pendleton, who sprained his left ankle in a workout Thursday.

Then in the seventh, St. Louis broke loose on a tame night at Candlestick Park. Jose Oquendo's lead-off single finished Magrane and Robinson allowed a single to Tom Lawless, just 2-for-25 this year and a starter at third base for Pendleton.

Pinch-hitter Dan Driessen grounded an RBI single that Robinson kicked at and missed for a 4-4 tie. With the infield in, Coleman slapped a single up the middle that put St. Louis ahead and chased Robinson.

A bunt single by Ozzie Smith and a sacrifice by Tom Herr set up Lindeman's sacrifice fly.

The victory gave the Cardinals renewed momentum going into Game 4 Saturday. Cox was expected to oppose Mike Krukow.

The Giants hit three balls hard in the first inning off Magrane but had nothing to show for it. They found the range in the second against Magrane, a rookie who started because Cox was still bothered by a stiff neck.

Chili Davis lined a double into the left field corner leading off the second and scored on Will Clark's sharp single to center. Bob Brenly then sliced a hit-and-run double to right that scored Clark.

With two outs, Brenly made it 3-0 by scoring on a wild pitch, a curveball in the dirt that St. Louis Manager Whitey Herzog argued hit batter Robby Thompson.

Leonard led off the third with a long home run over the left field fence. He broke into a slow trot around the bases and walked the final three steps to home plate, a ritual that angered the Cardinals at Busch Stadium.

Leonard became the fourth player in playoff history to hit home runs in three straight games.

Hank Aaron did it in 1969, Gary Matthews in 1983 and Bill Madlock in 1985. He also matched Aaron's feat of doing it in the first three games.

Pittsburgh's Bob Robertson set the playoff record of four homers in 1971 against the Giants in four games.

Leonard may have paid for his accomplishment and cocky attitude in his next at-bat when he was hit in the upper right arm by a pitch from Forsch.

Tigers, no time for tears

By JOHN NELSON

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson says it's no time for tears despite what the Minnesota Twins bullpen has done to the Tigers in the American League playoffs.

In two games, the Twins relievers have recorded seven of their 11 outs by strikeout. They have not allowed a run, and only one hit in 3 2-3 innings.

Jeff Reardon struck out the side in the ninth inning of Game 1; Juan Berenguer did the same thing in Game 2. The bullpen has one victory and a save. And it literally has embarrassed the Detroit Tigers.

It is a major reason the Twins are up two-games-to-none going into Game 3 Saturday in Detroit.

"I hope they're not crying," Anderson said Friday when asked the mood of his team. "I have an old saying that when you're getting your brains beat in, don't cry; when you're beating someone else's brains out, don't brag."

For Saturday's game (12:05 p.m.), the Twins will send right-handed rookie Les Straker, 8-10, against Tigers right-hander Walt Terrell, 17-10 and 13-2 at Tiger Stadium. Terrell was second on the Tigers to Jack Morris this season with 10 complete games. Straker, who will turn 28 on Saturday, finished only one of his 26 starts, and that's when the Twins' bullpen will come into play.

Jack Morris
...second game loser

AL Series

Before Friday's off-day workout, Twins Manager Tom Kelly said Straker "gives you all he's got — six, seven real good innings — and that is what we are looking for tomorrow."

In Game 1, an 8-5 Twins victory, Reardon came on in relief of Frank Viola with runners at first and second and none out in the eighth inning. Minnesota led 4-3 at the time. Reardon gave up sacrifice flies to Dave Bergman and Chet Lemon, then got Darrell Evans on another fly ball to end the inning.

The Twins scored four runs in the bottom of the inning to take an 8-5 lead, and Reardon struck out the side in the ninth, also allowing a hit and a walk.

Berenguer, the portly Panamanian with the big fastball, was even more impressive as the Twins won Game 2, 6-3. Twins starter Bert Blyleven had given up a solo homer to Lou Whitaker and a single to Darrell Evans with one out in the eighth inning when Berenguer came in. He struck out Kirk Gibson for the second out of the inning.

Andretti breaks own track mark

MONTEREY, Calif. (AP) — Mario Andretti broke his own track qualifying record Friday on the way to winning the provisional pole for the Champion Spark Plug 300-kilometer Indy-car race at Laguna Seca Raceway.

Andretti toured the picturesque 1.9-mile, nine-turn road circuit at 129.237 mph, breaking the mark of 128.969 he set in claiming the pole here last year.

If the 47-year-old racer can hold onto the top position in the second and final round of qualifying on Saturday, he will earn his series-leading seventh pole position of the season.

The former Formula One and Indy-car champion has won the pole here two of the last three years.

The fast lap by each entry over the two days of time trials will determine the starting lineup for Sunday's 98-lap event.

Michael Andretti, Mario's 24-year-old son, was close behind Friday at 128.933, followed by Bobby Rahal at 127.932.

The younger Andretti and Rahal, the defending CART-PPG Indy-car champion and the winner of the last three Indy-car races here, are engaged in a battle for the series championship, with Rahal leading the points race 162-137.

Every point is important with only this race and the season-finale in Miami, Fla., remaining on the schedule, and the pole is worth one point.

Tech-Arkansas hogs spotlight

By TED BATTLES
Sports Editor

LUBBOCK— Look who's stealing the spotlight from Texas-Oklahoma?

Texas Tech last week set the Southwest Conference on its ear by knocking off two-time champion Texas A&M, 27-21, at Jones Stadium.

This was the same Aggie team that two weeks earlier kicked sand in the face of the nationally-ranked Washington Huskies.

SWC

With Oklahoma a conservative 32-point favorite over Texas in the Cotton Bowl this afternoon, Texas Tech's date with Arkansas 7 p.m. today in Jones Stadium has enough angles to stir the imagination and relegate OU-UT to a secondary role, unless you bleed Orange or Sooner Red.

For example, was A&M the start of something big, like the win over the Hogs in Fayetteville last year or was the win over the Aggies a fluke?

A year ago, Tech came off floggings at the hands of Miami, Baylor and A&M headed for a dismal season.

A 17-7 win over Arkansas turned the season around and headed Tech in the direction of the Independence Bowl against Ole Miss.

Before you start daydreaming, remember, Arkansas not only remembers last year's humiliation, but already has been embarrassed by Miami this season.

THE PORKERS will be coming into Jones Stadium tonight eager to gain satisfaction for last year on Tech's home turf and reestablish its preeminence as the Cotton Bowl favorite.

The betting line has established Arkansas as an eight-point favorite.

Tradition, or whatever, backs up the gamblers. Tech hasn't beaten Arkansas at home since 1966, 21-16, the only time the Raiders have won in Lubbock.

Chances are you won't even have to see the score to tell how this one came out. Just check the tackle chart. Two weeks ago, Michael Johnson, Tech's linebacking candidate for All-America, made 27 against Baylor and the Raiders were crushed.

Last week against A&M, Johnson made just four tackles and one big interception, which meant the offense was controlling the ball, not making mistakes and keeping A&M's defense on the field.

MEANWHILE, Texas A&M finds itself fighting for survival against Jack Pardee's improving Houston Cougars with 55,000 to sit in at the 2 p.m. Kyle Field clash.

A&M is favored by 21. Last time UH played at College Station, they lost 43-16.

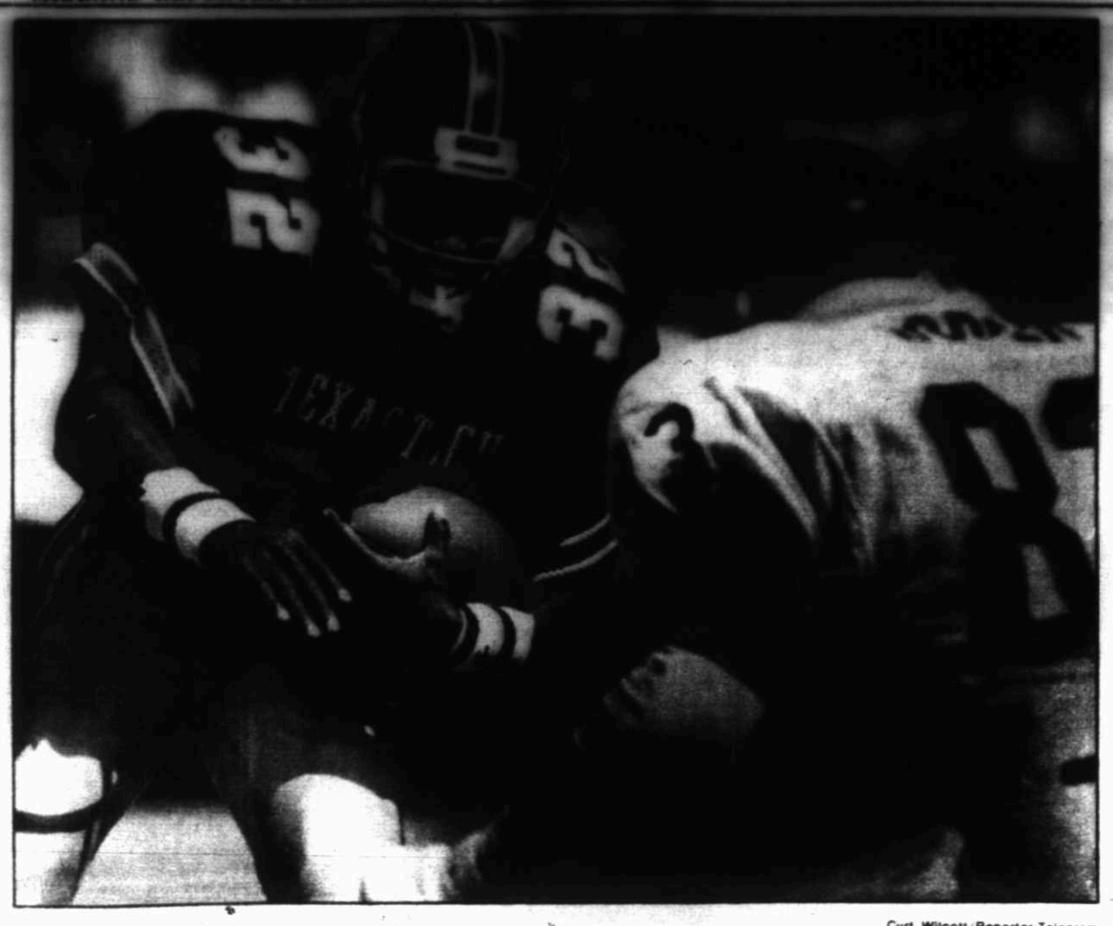
For Pardee, the former Midlander, it will be a nostaglic trip for the one-time All-America who played at A&M in the spartan days of Bear Bryant and the Junction inquisition.

"HOUSTON is improving every week and they've shown that they can pass the ball," Sherrill said. "Their freshman quarterback (Andre Ware) threw for over 400 yards last week, so we know what he's capable of."

Quarterback Craig Stump, who came off the bench to get the sputtering Aggie offense moving last week, figures another loss will kill A&M's Cotton Bowl hopes and, in fact, only three times has a SWC team lost its conference opener and made it to Dallas on New Year's Day.

The overall Houston-A&M series is deadlocked at 11-11-3, but Houston leads in SWC games, 6-5. A&M is 9-1-2 against the Cougars in Kyle Field.

Texas Christian and Rice clash in Houston in another league game and the Frogs, coming off a loss to Arkansas, are an 11-point favorite. Baylor is 35 over Southwest Texas at Waco.



Curt Wilcott/Reporter Telegram

Texas Tech's johnny-come-lately running back, Clifton Winston, takes a bead on Texas A&M tackler in last week's upset Lubbock. Tonight the Red Raiders will be trying to prove they are for real against SWC favorite Arkansas in 7 p.m. kickoff at Jones Stadium.

TIGERS

In the ninth, Berenguer struck out Matt Nokes, Lemon and Pat Sheridan in succession.

"Berenguer last night was outstanding," Anderson said. "Reardon has pitched well of late, and we haven't even seen Keith Atherton yet. Their whole bullpen is pitching well for them.

"What can you say? We're 0-2. It isn't nice, but neither is being out of work and broke. I can't say there's any pressure on me when I'm going to put on a suit and go out to dinner tonight," Anderson said.

While the Tigers possess most of the playoff experience on the two teams, the Twins do have some veterans in their bullpen. "We have a lot more experience in our bullpen if you add up all our games," Reardon said.

Reardon and Berenguer have 35 saves between them — 31 for Reardon — and their major league experience totals 14 years, six for Berenguer and eight for Reardon.

Mike Henneman, the last man out of the bullpen for the Tigers, is a rookie with 55 appearances this year, an 11-3 record and seven saves. Eric King was the leading save man for Detroit this year with nine. He is in his second major-league season.

Morris pitched a complete game in Thursday night's loss, so the Tigers bullpen didn't come into play. But in Game 1 Wednesday night, it failed miserably. Tigers starter Doyle Alexander left with one out in the eighth inning, a runner at second and the score tied 5-5.

NFL negotiations hit another snag

By DAVE GOLDBERG

TYSONS CORNER, Va. (AP) — Negotiations to end the NFL strike hit another snag Friday when the union accused the club owners of stalling the talks with a "new and ridiculous" demand for a six-year contract.

A union spokesman suggested that management's strategy was to force another weekend of "scab games."

Nonetheless, bargaining on a contract that would end the 18-day-old strike continued. As of mid-day, there had been agreement on eight of the 38 issues to be covered, all of them minor.

THE CHARGE that the club owners were deliberately stalling was made by Doug Allen, the union's assistant executive director.

It came immediately after management spokesman John Jones had confirmed to reporters that, for a second week, games would be played with replacement players and those regulars who had crossed the picket line.

Jones said, however, that negotiations would go on and that Jack Donlan, management's chief negotiator "feels it's proceeding just about as he had expected."

Jones said he did not expect a settlement by Sunday and added "I have no indication of any time frame on how long this process this takes."

Allen accused management of introducing a new negative element by insisting on a six-year contract rather than the three-year term he said had already been agreed upon in principle. He said that demand could be a bigger problem than the union's push for free agency, which management regards as the major obstacle to agreeement.

Normally, the labor agreement parallels the league's television contract, which this time is for three years.

"We're a little concerned about a pattern that seems to be developing, a pace slowed down so that some time tomorrow management will consider walking away from the table," Allen said.

"We hope that's not the case. An indication of that is the insistence on which they have pushed this idea of this six-year agreement. That is a ludicrous suggestion at this point in the negotiations, given the progress that has been made in many, many other areas."

ALLEN SAID he thought the club owners were slowing the talks to assure another round of games involving replacement players.

"It's becoming more and more clear," he said, "that the owners have made a decision to embarrass themselves and the fans with that brand of football once again. If anything holds it up it will be management's position on this new demand for a six-year agreement not the union's position on free agency."

Allen also cited two other major union concerns, one in the key area of pensions, the other one that would extend the college draft, now in place until 1992, until 1998.

The owners now contribute $12.5 million per year to the player pension fund and the union is asking $25 million in the new agreement.

However, the main disagreement is over a management proposal that Allen said could cut the contributions of the owners to nothing. It would make the management contribution to the pension fund dependent on the profits that fund gets from investments made by a six-man board consisting of three representatives of each side.

Allen said that would wreck a system that had been in place since 1968 and added: "It's like saying 'we're not going to give you a paycheck, but we'll buy the groceries.'"

Donlan, however, has noted that good investments have left the pension fund with overfunded and has accused the players of trying to take money from the owners just for the sake of it.

ALLEN conceded that the benefits would remain the same regardless of how the contributions come — the players now get $150 a month for every year of service after age 55 and management is offering to increase that to $200.

As for the talks themselves, the two sides were about two thirds of the way through the 38 issues.

School board prexy charged with terrorism in knife attack

CALVERT, Texas (AP) — A school board president who allegedly pulled a knife on a football coach after the team lost 37-0 has been charged with making terroristic threats.

Calvert High School Board President Daniel Von Hurst was charged Thursday with the Class B misdemeanor and released two hours later on $2,500 bond.

The incident allegedly occurred when Von Hurst argued with Calvert football Coach Isaac Wells after the team lost the Oct. 2 game against Coolidge High School.

"I told him he was wrong and out of line by going into the locker room and interfering with Coach Wells' coaching duties," Superintendent Dale Summitt said in a written statement to a constable.

Students say the two argued at halftime, when the score was 31-0, and again immediately after the home game. The alleged confrontation with the knife occurred minutes later in Summitt's office.

Summitt said he saw Von Hurst brandishing a pocket knife with a 4-inch blade, and Wells grab a chair and back away.

Von Hurst's younger brother, Diron, plays on the school's football team.

Calvert is a town of about 1,700 in Robertson County, 130 miles north of Houston.

No trial date for the case has been set. If found guilty, Von Hurst could receive a six-month jail sentence and a $1,000 fine.

Dodds, Edwards share 1st

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Trevor Dodds and 1985 champ Danny Edwards shot 67s for the second consecutive day Friday to tie for the lead at the halfway point of the $300,000 Pensacola Open golf tournament.

Dodds and Edwards were at 8-under-par 134 after two rounds over the 7,154-yard, par-71 Perdido Bay Resort course.

Dodds birdied the last three holes Thursday for a 67, and matched that score Friday with four birdies. Edwards' roller-coaster round Friday included six birdies and two bogeys.

"It's breezy today and that makes club selection difficult," Edwards said.

John Mahaffey, who started the day one stroke ahead of five others after a first-round 66, fell one stroke off the pace with a 69. He was tied at 135 with Doug Tewell, who carded a second-round 66 that included his second eagle in as many days.

Phil Blackmar was two strokes behind the leaders with a second-round 69 for 136.

Four strokes back at 138 were Jeff Sluman, Mike Reid, Bruce Lietzke and Kenny Knox.

This is Edwards' first PGA Tour event since the Aug. 23 Western Open, where he finished tied for 46th. He took six weeks off to devote more time to his businesses, which include a golf club and a company that conducts corporate golf schools.

The time off apparently has helped.

"I'd say, all around, the last two days I've played as well as I have all year," Edwards said.

Dodds, a native of South Africa now living in St. Louis, grew up playing on courses with sand greens and came to the United States on an academic scholarship to Lamar University.

NOW APPEARING BARBARA HUMPHREY

Goodnights
The best way to describe this beautiful, blonde entertainer is style. And maybe energetic, sensitive, animated, creative, flirtatious, and last but definitely not least, talented.
Miss Humphrey's repertoire extends a vast selection of material from the 40's to the 80's. Perhaps her forte is the gusty blues and jazz tunes of such greats as Billy Holiday, Fats Waller, Nat King Cole, Dinah Washington and Gershwin. But her style translates equally as well on renditions of her favorite Motown artists: Sam Cooke, Marvin Gaye, Odis Redding and Aretha Franklin, not to mention such country greats as Patsy Cline and Hank Williams. Barbara loves to sing the soulful sounds of the 80's from artists like Whitney Houston, Anita Baker, Al Jarreau and Sade. Undoubtedly though, Miss Humphrey shines her brightest when performing her own original material. Lyrically moving and musically "finger-snappin' and foot-tappin'" good.

Mustangs beat Fort Stockton

From Staff Reports

SWEETWATER— Kenneth Norman, Sweetwater's all-purpose back, broke final period touchdown runs of 45 and 12 yards to propel the Mustangs to a 20-6 win over Fort Stockton in District 2-4A action Friday night.

The loss was the first of the year for the Panthers, now 5-1 and 3-1.

Sweetwater, headed for a showdown with Monahans, is 4-1 and 3-0.

Fort Stockton scored first on a one-yard run by Ryan Murphy, but the point was missed. Sweetwater forged into the lead at halftime as Quarterback larry healer flipped 15 yards to Rob Davis and Kevin Frizzell converted.

It remained that way until Norman broke his two runs.

Sweetwater travels to Pecos next week and Fort Stockton hosts Big Spring.

From Staff Reports

SAN ANGELO— Lake View, a two-point loser twice in District 2-4A play, appeared on its way to an upset loss to Pecos here Friday night, but pulled out an 8-7 win with 4:51 left.

Bobby Joe Tatum broke a 26-run and then Kenneth Fay rushed for the deciding two-point conversion. The win gives Lake View a 2-2 league record and a 3-3 mark for the season.

Pecos scored with 2:15 left in the first period on a three-yard run and Frank Orosco's kick made it 7-0. For a long time, it looked like enough to win.

Pecos looked good in the statistics, too, rushing for 256 yards, passing for 76 and amassing 16 first downs. Lake View had 149 yards rushing and 97 passing..

Defensively, both teams were tough, resulting in 13 punts.

Lake View is at Monahans next Friday and Pecos hosts Sweetwater.

FABENS— Crane launched its District 4-3A play with a 15-0 victory over Fabens here Friday night, running so effectively that it passed only twice.

The win raises the Golden Cranes' record to 3-3 while Fabens slips to 3-2-1.

Rodney Lane crashed into the end zone from the one with 4:25 left of the first period to give Crane a lead it never relinquished.

The Cranes 224-yard rushing game produced another TD when Paul Smith went in from the two with 1:15 left in the third period to make it 12-0.

Lonnie Valesquez put the finishing touch on the victory with a 28-yard field goal 2:51 from the game's end.

Crane returns home to host Clint next Friday while Fabens will be at Greenwood.

Cox leads Rangers

From Staff Reports

ALPINE— Greenwood's Rangers evened their record at 3-3 with a District 4-3A opening win over Alpine, 28-14, here Friday night as Jimmy Cox scored three times.

With Greenwood trailing 7-0, Cox went in from the three with 7:01 left in the half and Tommy Lawson converted to tie it. And before the half was out, Jerry Marquez scored again for the Rangers from the one.

Alpine tied it again in the third period, but Cox scored five minutes later on an eight-yard run with 3:38 left in the third period.

Cox then clinched it with only 57 seconds left in the game on a one-yard run.

The loss leaves the Bucks still looking for their first win at 0-5-1.

Greenwood returns home next Friday to host Fabens while Alpine travels to Kermit.

Vengeful Reagan smothers Rankin

From Staff Reports

BIG LAKE— Reagan County's Owls were mad after that one point loss at McCamey last week. Doug Braden didn't help matters when he broke a 65-yard touchdown run to give underdog Rankin a 7-0 lead with 11:41 left in the first period.

Reagan came back to tie on a two-yard run by Anastacio Romero with 5:58 left in the first period and then Quarterback Scott Lipsey punched in from the one before the quarter was out to put the Owls in front for good, 14-7.

The Red Devils hung tough, however, and trailed 20-7 going into the final period when the Owls struck for four back-breaking touchdowns.

Lipsey scored in the third period on a five-yard run and after Romero scored from five and two yards out, Lipsey again rambled in from then seven.

The final score came on a seven-yard pass from Lipsey to Leonard Castillo.

It was a big night for Lipsey, who gained 104 yards on 19 carries, and Romero, who showed 85 yards for 24 workhorse efforts.

Reagan is now 4-1 for the season and goes to Forsan next week while Rankin slips to 4-2 and faces Stanton at Rankin next week.

and I think we had something to prove."

Quarterback Jeff Somers, who was sick prior to the Permian game last week, completed nine of 19 passes for 157 yards and he was near flawless in the first half, dissecting the Bobcat secondary in the first half. He was also untouched in the first half as the MHS offensive line had its best outing.

Defensively, MHS intercepted four passes and recovered three fumbles. Those plays time and again kept San Angelo's mobile offense out of the end zone.

"This feels great after the two big losses we went through," said defensive tackle Toby Box. "We said at the pep rally today that we were going to show our character and pride tonight and that's what we did."

Box recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass, despite one hand being wrapped like a club.

"I don't know how I caught it. I was just doing what the coach said play back and watch the screen."

Donnie Doan picked off two Shane Bruton passes and Clif Coleman added another while Clyde Govan and Mark Lane came up with the other fumble recoveries.

This win was very important for the Bulldogs, considering they entered the contest with less than an ideal situation. Linebacker Scot Mowles had scope knee surgery this week. Box didn't practice all week due to sickness. Running back Guy Giesecke didn't play as he is still suffering from a stiff neck. And wide receiver Michael Ball didn't make the trip due to disciplinary reasons, which Coach McCutchen wouldn't comment on.

"We really needed this win," said MHS offensive coach Johnny Williams. "The kids played really hard and they deserve this one."

MHS defensive coach Davis Corley said, "We made the one mistake on the 96-yard touchdown, but that was the my fault. We had the wrong defense in there. But I'm very pleased with the way the kids played. They made some big plays in the game."

MHS will host Abilene High next Friday at Memorial Stadium and both will come into the game with one district win each. The Bulldogs liked this Homecoming so much this week, they are going to hold their own Homecoming activities next week.

San Angelo will limp into Ratliff Stadium for Odessa High next week with the loser falling into the 4-5A basement. The Bobcats are finding quickly what it is like travelling from the top to the bottom. It's sort of a riches to rags story.

NFLPA files against 49ers

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (AP) — An unfair labor practice complaint will be filed against the 49ers following Coach Bill Walsh's admission he offered loans to two striking players who subsequently delayed returning to the team, according to NFL Players Association officials.

"My understanding of the labor law is that you can't give inducements to comply one way or another — to engage or refrain from union activity," said Tim English, an attorney for the Players Association, which is preparing the complaint.

STEERS

But the Steers were making it doubly tough on themselves early, twice watching first-and-goal situations turn sour in the first quarter.

With neither team able to take advantage of field position or turnovers in the first half, retreating to the locker room deadlocked at zero, Lamesa could already claim a moral victory.

But in the third quarter, Lamesa began getting the breaks it would take to pull off a real "W," one they could put in the win column.

On the second half kickoff, Wes Shook pooched it just over the front line of Big Spring blockers and right into the hands of streaking teammate Jim Echols. Lamesa pushed it all the way to the Steer eight thanks to a 34-yard Santos Moreno to Robert Caballero pass, but a fumble botched that chance.

But the on-side kick set the pace for the Tors' third quarter.

On the ensuing Big Spring punt, Tim Demerson set up a short 16-yard scoring drive by returning a punt 31 yards to the 24. Shook then gave Lamesa the lead with a 26-yard field goal.

But Lamesa's good fortune didn't end there.

On Big Spring's next possession, quarterback Shawn Shellman rolled to his right, looking for White on a pitch. Instead, he found defensive end Willie Butler who zoomed in and snatched the pitch in midair for a 44-yard touchdown romp.

"When you play hard like that, you're going to make a few breaks," Noonkester said. "Actually, we've been getting good defense the points scored on isn't indicative of the way we've played. It's just that our offense hasn't been able to hold onto the ball very long."

Again, that was the case Friday, although Moreno did throw for 141 yards on a 7-for-17 performance. But Moreno couldn't guide the Tors into the end zone before leaving after a crushing hit on a last-gasp drive.

After falling behind, Moreno had moved the Tors deep into Steer territory on an acrobatic catch by tight end Jim Horton good for 37 yards and a 17-yard scramble.

But on first-and-10 from the Big Spring 26, linebacker Mike Perez blind-side blitzed Moreno, jarring the ball loose and turning the lights out on Moreno for the night. The Steers recovered and Lamesa didn't threaten again.

Big Spring will travel to Fort Stockton next week while the Tors will take their open date.

Four-year-old jetliner crash survivor released from hospital

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Four-year-old Cecelia Cichan, the only survivor of an Aug. 16 Northwest Airlines crash that killed her parents and 154 other people, was released from a hospital Friday to a new home and a new life.

The Tempe, Ariz., girl was released to the custody of an aunt and uncle, Rita and Frank Lumpkin, and they boarded a 6:30 a.m. flight for Birmingham, Ala.

At the request of the family, no reporters were present, said Mike Harrison, spokesman for the University of Michigan Medical Center.

Dr. Jai Prasad, who was Cecelia's principal physican, said the child seemed happy about leaving the hospital's "very regimented routine" after seven weeks.

"That's a very normal reaction," he said. "Her general attitude was one of the finest I have seen in a 4-year-old."

Cecelia's parents and 6-year-old brother died in the second-worst air disaster in the nation's history, the crash of Flight 255 at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Authorities said they believe the girl survived because she was shielded from the impact of the crash by her mother's body.

Authorities initially believed Cecelia was one of a few people injured on the ground during the crash, but she was identified by her grandfather because of purple nail polish she wore.

While hospitalized, Cecelia underwent four skin graft operations for severe burns to her arms and legs. She also suffered a skull fracture, a fractured collarbone and broken left leg.

Prasad said Cecelia will have some scarring on her arms and legs, but none on her face, from burns which covered 30 percent of her body.

"She understands she has lost her father and her mother and her brother," he added. "She understands that she was involved in the accident. But she doesn't have any memory of how it happened."

More than 2,000 gifts and 30,000 cards and letters were sent to the hospital for Cecelia, but her relatives asked that most of the gifts be distributed instead to children's hospitals in Ann Arbor, Detroit, Tempe, Philadelphia and Phoenix, Ariz.

Cecilia Cichan, 4, the only survivor of an Aug. 15 Northwest Airlines crash that killed her parents and 154 other people, was released Friday from the University of Michigan Medical Center into the custody of her aunt and uncle.

The cards included a 100-foot-long one from the city of Tulsa, Okla., signed by 12,000 people, including country music star Merle Haggard and members of the pop group Air Supply.

The family also has set up a trust fund with the more than $150,000 Cecelia received in donations.

Ex-Klan leader denounces Jesse Jackson as Marxist

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — On the eve of Jesse Jackson's entry into the Democratic presidential race, a white supremacist denounced the black candidate Friday as a Marxist bent on "destroying our society" and pledged to mar his announcement with a demonstration.

David Duke, a former Ku Klux Klan leader who also is seeking the Democratic nomination, said he would lead up to 200 protesters from the state Capitol to the Raleigh Civic Center, where Jackson is scheduled to declare his candidacy this morning.

"I believe that the...election of Jesse Jackson as president of the United States would be the greatest tragedy ever to befall this country in our long history," Duke said at a news conference.

"Jesse Jackson, in my opinion, is an outspoken Marxist," Duke said, adding that "the policies of Jesse Jackson and the policies of the liberal Democrats...are destroying our society."

Jackson shrugged off the planned demonstration.

"The Klan is a relic of the past," Jackson said Friday in Montgomery, Ala. "The new South has a much broader vision of how to work together."

Jackson's announcement will take place during the national convention of his political organization, the Rainbow Coalition. A spokesman for the group said he was not worried about the protestors.

"It's so irrelevant," Ron Daniels, executive director of the Rainbow Coalition, said in an interview. "If it's a bright day tomorrow there may be 8,000 or 9,000 people here. If the Klan has 150 people, I'll be surprised. They have a constitutional right to do that."

Duke, 37, is a Louisiana resident who said he left the Klan eight years ago and is president of the National Association for the Advancement of White People.

Duke said the demonstration would be peaceful, adding that he considered violence "totally counterproductive."

If participants "want to be violent ...I urge them to stay home," he said.

Raleigh police said security would be as extensive as when a president or vice president visits the city. "I don't anticipate any problems," Police Chief Frederick K. Heineman said.

Jackson has attempted to broaden the focus of his campaign, appealing to environmentalists, peace activists, farmers, blue-collar workers and other traditional Democratic constituencies in addition to racial minorities.

Daniels said opposition from white supremacists did not mean the effort had failed or that Jackson had made no inroads among white Southerners.

"The story is not half a dozen Klansmen showing up at a Jesse Jackson announcement," Daniels said. "The story is that millions of people who used to identify with the Klan now identify with Jesse Jackson."

Barry Commoner, an environmental activist and writer who attended a Rainbow Coalition news conference, agreed.

"You're beginning to see peace activists, environmentalists...who in 1984 stood back, now recognizing that Jackson has deserved" their support, Commoner said. "It's clear right now that we are in the midst of a sea change in American politics."

But Duke said he, not Jackson or other Democratic hopefuls, would win support of Southern whites. Duke said they were yearning for a philosophical heir to former Alabama Gov. George Wallace, who ran for president in 1968 and 1972 on a segregationist platform.

"I believe these working people are still there," Duke said. "And they're more upset than ever about affirmative action. They're more upset than ever about forced busing," immigration and welfare.

Duke's announcement came one day after Jackson moved to quiet a controversy over his paid endorsement in an advertising campaign for schools.

1787 Constitution Daybook

Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA TODAY

What do mustard and chocolate have in common? According to Norton and Co., both products apparently had a great deal in common, for the proprietors produced each commodity in large quantity. In the Pennsylvania Gazette today the company printed a notice offering 32 shillings per bushel for mustard seed. The owners thought the price would offer incentive to farmers for growing mustard and thus "promote American manufactures."

CONFEDERATION TODAY

The United States postal service under the Confederation was the topic of discussion today.

William Grayson of Virginia recommended a change in the mail route between Petersburg, Va. and Augusta, Ga. Major stops on the route would include Halifax, Farborough, and Fayetteville, N.C., and Camden and Columbia, S.C. Although Grayson's proposal lost, in its place Rufus King of Massachusetts moved that the postmaster general could alter the route, if along the way cross routes were established to service the seacoast towns. This suggestion was more palatable to Congress.

RATIFICATION TODAY

George Washington shared his views on ratification with James Madison and George Mason offered his opinions to Elbridge Gerry.

Washington was concerned that Mason's objections would receive serious consideration by those who were undecided about the Constitution. Yet he thought the opposition's argument would not be sufficiently aired in Virginia before the ratification convention. He enclosed a copy of Mason's objections, no doubt hoping that Madison would develop an appropriate response. The general hoped that Madison could arrange to attend Virginia's ratifying convention (something of a turnabout for a man who was virtually begged by Madison to attend the Constitutional Convention). And, finally, Washington reported the rumor that Edmund Randolph was sorry he had not signed the Constitution.

Mason reported that the Constitution generally was well received in Virginia, although even the strongest proponents recognized that some articles probably would require amendment. He hoped most states would thoroughly read and consider the new form of government. With careful deliberations, he was sure the citizens would make the necessary amendments. Finally, Mason asked Gerry how the Constitution was being received in Massachusetts. He thought the news he had obtained was unreliable.

DELEGATES TODAY

At the conclusion of the Convention, Caleb Strong had returned to his home and law practice in Northampton, Mass. Having been away for several weeks, he was anxious to know the progress of ratification throughout the country. Early in October he wrote to Nathan Dane, a Massachusetts congressman, for a report and today Dane answered his letter. (Dane was opposed to the Constitution, yet he was writing to Strong, who supported the new form of government.)

Dane believed that the new Constitution would be ratified by the states. Many individuals, however, were concerned with certain sections which were undefined or what he called "unguarded." He was uncomfortable with the provisions for the presidency, since there was no guarantee that the country's best leaders would be elected to that office. Yet if the first administration could be "filled with men of abilities and honest views," he thought it would "work very well and make the people of these states happy."

LOOKING BACK
Mail Service

Mail service was quite different 200 years ago, yet there are some similarities. On the negative side were letters lost in transit or misplaced for weeks or months at a time; on the positive side there was an express mail service of sorts. For example, when Congress voted to send the Constitution to the states for ratification, William Bingham, a Pennsylvania member of Congress, sent a copy of the congressional letter by express rider from New York to Philadelphia. The rider left New York City sometime on the afternoon of Sept. 28 and reached Philadelphia in about 12 or 15 hours.

Although postal service generally was reliable along major travel routes, mail delivery to the far reaches of the nation was terrible. The letter Nathan Dane wrote to Caleb Strong today probably took about three or four days for delivery. Washington's letter likely reached Madison in New York in six to eight days; and Mason's letter likely reached Gerry north of Boston in a little over two weeks. But mail sent from New York or Philadelphia to Georgia usually took about a month. As an example, judging from letters and newspaper articles, the citizens in Georgia probably did not receive copies of the Constitution until today, when former delegate William Pierce arrived by ship in Savannah.

Also, in 1787 the recipient paid the postage (although members of the Constitutional Convention did not pay postage during the Convention).

Man charged for letting son hit boy

NEW PORT RICHEY, Fla. (AP) — A father has been charged with child abuse for urging his 12-year-old son to defend himself against bullying from a bigger neighborhood youth with a baseball bat, police said.

The 12-year-old hit the other boy three times with the bat Wednesday, leaving bruises on the thigh and shin the size of silver dollars, authorities said. Woodie Harrell is charged with abusing the other child, not his own.

"He's been picking on my kid for weeks," said Harrell, 39. "My kid beat him up because I told him to protect himself — and now I'm arrested."

Even though Harrell didn't swing the bat, Florida's child abuse laws say it's a misdemeanor to "knowingly permit physical or mental injury to a child," said Bob Loeffler, Pasco Sheriff's spokesman.

Harrell, who has been released under $500 bond, faces a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine if convicted.

Harrell said the other 12-year-old had been picking on his boy, also named Woodie, for weeks. He heard the two fighting in front of the house Wednesdsay and saw the youth try to kick Woodie, according to police records.

Harrell told his son to go inside, get a baseball bat and hit the other boy, deputies said. Woodie is about 4-foot-6 and weighs 60 pounds; the other boy is about 5-foot-6 and weighs roughly 130, said Harrell.

Deputies said Harrell watched his son deliver the blows.

NATION in brief

Theft of wheelchair will keep boy out of race

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — A specially built $2,200 wheelchair belonging to a paralyzed 10-year-old boy was stolen from a car outside his home, dashing his hopes to compete in a wheelchair race he had trained for all summer, his mother said.

Although Robert Torres has been using another wheelchair since last week's theft, it is too big for him and will keep him out of the competition, said his mother, Luz Diaz.

"All he says is, 'Why does God try to put people like this into the world? Why did I have to lose my wheelchair?'" said Ms. Diaz. "He so wanted to be in the races."

Robert was born with spina bifida, which left a hole in his lower spine. He is paralyzed from the waist down and is expected to have surgery this month to help straighten a foot that curves outward.

Children's Medical Services, a branch of the state Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services that provides services to lower-income children, had the chair made for Robert earlier this year and gave it to him in August.

Ms. Diaz, 35, said she does not have enough money to pay for a new chair. Right now, Robert is using another chair donated by his school, Lake Silver Elementary.

Fire chief revives gator

COTILE, La. (AP) — It hurts when a drowning victim can't be revived, even if it might have bitten a big chunk out of you afterward, says Fire Chief James Austin.

Austin described the mouth-to-snout respiration he gave a drowned alligator at the Monday night meeting of the Cotile Lake Environmental Association. He said he was called in when a young alligator got caught in a beaver trap about a month ago.

By the time he and Rapides Parish trapper Dave Randall got to the trap, the alligator was still. Part of the trap had clamped down on its neck, and the alligator was drowning in less than two feet of water.

The two men heaved the five-to-six-foot 'gator out of the water and turned it on its back.

Austin held the jaws shut, opened the nostrils which alligators close while underwater, and began breathing into the nostrils until the gator's lungs began expanding.

Cow may be out to pasture

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — The city wants to put Arcelia Avila's artificial cow out to pasture, but she says it's not moving and she'll take the case to court, if need be.

Officials have cited her for putting the life-sized fiberglass cow in front of the Mexican restaurant she and her husband, Rafael, opened in early May.

"It's not fair," Mrs. Avila said. "It's not immoral, it's not dangerous and it doesn't bother anyone. Besides, it's cute and all the customers like it."

The restaurant is called La Vaquita, Spanish for "the little cow." The couple bought the cow for $150 from a Chino dairy.

Since it was put up two weeks ago, the black-and-white Jersey has become the restaurant's mascot, and its portrait graces employees' hats and aprons.

But the cow also violates 1984 city design standards for new signs that ban "sculpted or molded objects" for advertising purposes, Santa Ana City Planner Ken Adams said.

Mrs. Avila was cited Sept. 29 for violating the standards, and a second citation was recently mailed to her, Adams said. No fine is yet involved, but the case could be steered to the city attorney if the cow remains, city officials said.

Critic of U.S. military role new Philippine foreign secretary

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Corazon Aquino on Friday nominated as foreign secretary Sen. Raul Manglapus, a veteran lawmaker and critic of the U.S. military role here, to bring experience to a government facing coup plots and communist rebels.

U.S. Ambassador Nicholas Platt meanwhile reaffirmed support for the Aquino government and dismissed as rumors press reports that a renegade army officer, Lt. Col. Reynaldo Cabauatan, denounced Mrs. Aquino on a U.S.-run base.

In another development, Jovito Salonga, the president of the Senate, said the government might have to invoke emergency powers if right-wing extremists keep trying to overthrow Mrs. Aquino.

The nation also has battled a communist insurrection for 18 years.

Mrs. Aquino announced she was nominating Manglapus, 68, because the nation "needs a man of exceptional ability, dedication, intelligence and experience to guide our foreign relations."

Vice President Salvador Laurel resigned as foreign secretary last month because of differences with Mrs. Aquino.

After the announcement, Salonga told reporters the government did not believe the security situation was serious enough to require emergency powers, but such measures might be needed "if there are more threats to the administration."

The last coup attempt, on Aug. 28, left 53 dead and was the most serious challenge to Mrs. Aquino since she was swept to power in a February 1986 civilian-military rebellion that toppled President Ferdinand Marcos.

On Wednesday, presidential spokesman Teodoro Benigno quoted Chief of Staff Gen. Fidel V. Ramos as saying five groups, including opposition politicians, were plotting new attacks against the government this month.

Manglapus, a captain in the anti-Japanese resistance during World War II, served as undersecretary of foreign affairs from 1954 until 1957, when he took over briefly as acting foreign secretary.

He was secretary-general of the 1954 founding conference of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization and a visiting professor of law at U.S. universities including Cornell and Harvard.

He left for the United States after Marcos declared martial law in 1972 and returned after Mrs. Aquino took office last year.

Manglapus has called on the United States and the Soviet Union to negotiate the neutralization of Southeast Asia so their military forces could leave the area.

He refrained from calling for unconditional removal of U.S. bases but challenged U.S. claims that the installations serve Philippine defense interests.

The lease on the bases expires in 1991 and an extension will require Philippine Senate approval.

In Cebu City, 350 miles south of Manila, Platt told a civic group that U.S. support for Mrs. Aquino remains "absolutely steadfast."

He brushed off press reports that Cabauatan met reporters this week at Clark Air Base.

Bishops say Catholic Church must end discrimination against women

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Bishops at a worldwide synod believe the Roman Catholic church "must do everything in its power" to end discrimination against women in the church, Archbishop John May of St. Louis said Friday.

"No theme has been more frequently mentioned in this synod than that of women and their role in church and society," he told a news conference.

May, president of the U.S. bishops' conference, said the synod likely will recommend that the church open the ministries of altar servers, acolytes and lectors to women. In the United States, women often assist in these roles, but informally and without ordination. The duties include administering wine and water for services, preparing the altar and lighting candles.

"There is a clear consensus that the church must do everything in its power to put an end to unjust discrimination against women in its own structures and practices and also in the structures and practices of society," May said as he and two other American prelates — Bishops Stanley Ott of Baton Louge, La., and Anthony Bevilacqua of Pittsburgh — reviewed the first week of the monthlong conference.

More than 200 bishops from around the world are attending the assembly, called by Pope John Paul II to examine the role of lay Catholics in the church and public life.

May said the church ban on ordination of women into the priesthood — reiterated by the pope during his tour of the United States last month — "is clear and not open to change."

"Short of that, however, the sense of the synod is that we should examine other roles and functions in the church and move ahead vigorously — as in fact has been happening in recent years — to open up as many of these as is deemed possible to women," May said.

The archbishop said strengthening women's role will help the church "function as a credible advocate of women's dignity and rights in society." At the same time, the church should continue to condemn abortion and defend women's roles as wives and mothers, he said.

The archbishop said he was "amazed" how the women's issue had been raised by bishops and lay people from all parts of the world. He quoted Irish Cardinal Tomas O'Fiaich as saying the problem "is no longer an American aberration."

May, Ott and Bevilacqua said it was still early to predict what proposals the synod will make on women.

"The central theme is that women should be given their rightful place, respect, and opportunity to serve the church," Ott said.

Last week, Archbishop Rembert Weakland of Milwaukee proposed that the synod recommend that women be granted top-level positions in the Vatican and its diplomatic corps.

May, however, said those are issues involving the pope's territory and "I don't think this synod is going to tell the Roman Curia to hire people in these jobs."

Speaking with reporters after the news conference, May said the synod is unlikely to recommend that women be allowed to serve as deacons, as some speakers have suggested, but "could call for exploration of the subject."

O'Fiaich told the synod that women "have given incalculable service in the past and are normally the 50 percent of the laity who are more prayerful, attentive to religious duties, compassionate, friendly, more humane than the other half. They are indispensable for handing on the faith to the next generation."

27 people die, 35 injured in car bombing

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Moslem guerrillas set off a car bomb that killed 27 people and wounded 35 near a mosque in the capital of Afghanistan, Radio Kabul said Friday.

Women, children and old men were killed in the blast at 7:30 p.m. Thursday near the Sher-Pur mosque, frequented by high government officials and Moslem diplomats in Kabul's northern Shar-i-Nau district, the radio reported.

It was the worst known terrorist bombing in Kabul since Soviet troops entered Afghanistan in December 1979 to oust a pro-Soviet government, replace it with another one, and help the government fight anti-communist Moslem guerrillas.

The official radio, monitored in Islamabad, said the explosion was the work of "malicious and criminal extremist opposition elements," a code phrase for the Moslem guerrillas.

City authorities responded by asking citizens "not to allow...reactionaries to disturb the life of citizens, and to inform security forces" of subversion, the radio said.

Western diplomats in Islamabad, quoting their counterparts in Kabul, have reported several bombings and rocket attacks there in recent weeks.

Kabul's Marxist government has blamed them mainly on the insurgents. But Western sources have speculated that they are evidence of factional feuding within the ruling People's Democratic Party of Afghanistan.

The official Soviet Tass news agency also reported the blast by quoting the Afghan news agency Bakhtar, but there was no independent confirmation from diplomatic sources in Islamabad.

Western officials estimate 115,000 Soviet troops are in Afghanistan fighting a protracted war with Moslem rebels trying to overthrow the government.

City officials allegedly help pot growers

NAMIQUIPA, Mexico (AP) — The mayor, police chief and treasurer of this small northern town have been arrested and charged with aiding marijuana growers, a prosecutor said.

Acting Tuesday on an anonymous tip, about 20 members of the army and the state and federal judicial police discovered about 100 acres of marijuana hidden in cornfields at a ranch, Chihuahua state Prosecutor Mauro Antonio Rodriguez Leggi said Thursday.

Rodriguez said 11 were arrested, including Namiquipa Mayor Jose Luis Gonzalez Neyra, city Treasurer Ezequiel Chavez and Police Chief Manuel Saenz Calderon. He said the municipal officials knew of the marijuana fields but protected the growers from police because they thought "it was better to be a live coward than a murdered hero."

Police also arrested the owners of the land and others suspected of working for drug traffickers, Rodriguez said.

He added that the 11 men were to have been formally charged Friday afternoon.

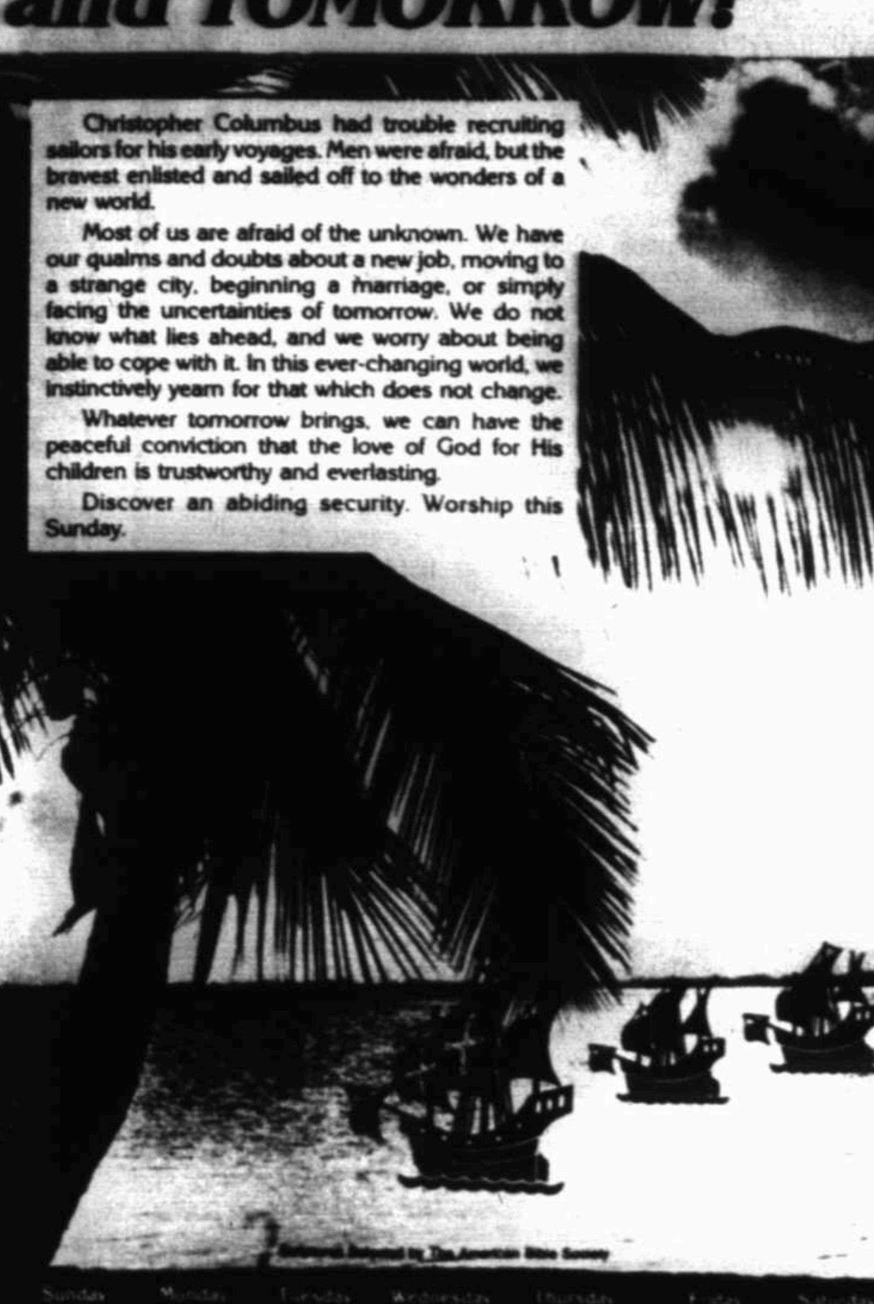
YESTERDAY, TODAY and TOMORROW!



Christopher Columbus had trouble recruiting sailors for his early voyages. Men were afraid, but the bravest enlisted and sailed off to the wonders of a new world.

Most of us are afraid of the unknown. We have our qualms and doubts about a new job, moving to a strange city, beginning a marriage, or simply facing the uncertainties of tomorrow. We do not know what lies ahead, and we worry about being able to cope with it. In this ever-changing world, we instinctively yearn for that which does not change.

Whatever tomorrow brings, we can have the peaceful conviction that the love of God for His children is trustworthy and everlasting.

Discover an abiding security. Worship this Sunday.

LIFESCOPE

Divorce Courts Overflowing! Your Lifescope Says, "Try To Work It Out."

Some Pharisees came and asked Jesus, "Do you permit divorce?" Of course they were trying to trap Him.

"What did Moses say about divorce?" Jesus asked them.

"He said that all a man has to do is write his wife a letter of dismissal."

"And why did he say that?" Jesus asked. "I'll tell you why - it was a concession to your hardhearted wickedness. But it certainly isn't God's way. For from the very first He made man and woman to be joined together permanently in marriage; therefore a man is to leave his father and mother, and he and his wife are united so that they are no longer two, but one. And no man may separate what God has joined together."

When a man divorces his wife to marry someone else, he commits adultery against her. And if a wife divorces her husband and remarries, she, too, commits adultery.

Because of prevailing immoralities let every man have his own wife and let every woman have her own husband. Do not deprive each other, except by mutual agreement for a time to devote yourselves to prayer . . .

Now for those who are married I have a command from the Lord. A wife must not leave her husband. And the husband must not divorce his wife. Honor your marriage and its vows, and be pure; for God will surely punish all those who are immoral or commit adultery.

When a woman marries, the law binds her to her husband as long as he is alive. But if he dies, she is no longer bound to him; then she can marry someone else.

Wives, be subject to your husbands as to the Lord. For a husband is head of his wife as Christ also is Head of the church . . . as the church is submissive to Christ, so wives must in every respect be submissive to their husbands. Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ loved the church and gave Himself for her.

Surge of Protestant-Catholic unity seen

Brouwer

NEW YORK (AP) — The nation's top ecumenical officer says cooperative work among Protestants, Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches is burgeoning in this country.

"It's becoming a common pattern," says the Rev. Arie Brouwer, general secretary of the National Council of Churches, its chief executive. "A sense of genuine Christian community is developing."

He says discussions between Pope John Paul II and other church heads recently in Columbia, S.C., boosted the trend, although pockets of aversion to Catholicism remain among some fundamentalists and conservative evangelicals.

But the overwhelming preponderance of U.S. Christianity, both denominationally and in coalitions, is overcoming the old walls that once kept Protestants and Catholics apart, Brouwer says.

"There's a tremendous surge of ecumenical interest among Catholics," he said in an interview. "At many, many points, we now work together, more than most people realize. It's a constantly growing thing."

However, asked about a thesis by the late great Catholic theologian Karl Rahner that sufficient agreements have been reached in talks between Protestants and Catholics for reunion now, Brouwer said:

"So far, at least, we haven't heeded him. But history has a remarkable way of catching up with the prophets. It's a matter of time. People of vision make statements, and they may not be accepted immediately.

"But gradually, the Spirit works and they become the new orthodoxy. We may need to wait a while, but reunion will come."

Brouwer, 52, a tall, Iowa-born Reformed Church in America clergyman, said he couldn't predict when that would happen, but added, "I live in hope."

At present, he said, Catholic dioceses are full-fledged members of statewide ecumenical agencies in 30 states, having joined these previously Protestant-Orthodox cooperative bodies in the last 20 years.

Overall, he said Catholic churches and dioceses now belong to an estimated half — about 175 — of the total 350 local, regional and state councils of churches.

These councils carry on an array of social-service projects as well as fostering theological talks and worship exchanges on special occasions.

Beyond that, Catholics, Protestants, Orthodox and often Jews participate in a vast array of coalitions on particular causes, such as peace, racial justice, rights of ethnic minorities and women.

A total of 154 inter-Christian organizations, along with leaders of 31 denominations, joined in a declaration, "Witnessing Together to a Divided and Hurting World," praying that the pope's visit would enhance Christian unity.

Fundamentalists and some conservative evangelical groups declined to sign the joint document, Brouwer said. "It was a learning experience for me about how much anti-Catholicism there still is."

Largely because of organizational technicalities, Roman Catholicism does not belong nationally to the National Council of Churches, made up of most major Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

But Catholic representatives "are involved in the overwhelming majority" of council departments and programs, Brower said. "There are dozens of things we do together."

Increase in unwed births alters society

NEW YORK (AP) — A vast increase in out-of-wedlock births in the United States over the past 25 years has led society to not only find ways to help the offspring and mothers but to refer to them, as well.

Terms like "bastard," common in earlier literature, have become virtual anachronisms to refer to out-of-wedlock births. Even the word "illegitimate" has fallen into disuse in both government and many church settings.

"A lot of the reason" is to avoid stigmatizing mother or child, says the Rev. Arthur Van Eck, a specialist on family concerns of the National Council of Churches and new head of its division of education and ministry.

"It's also because there are now so many such children," he adds.

There is "abounding concern about teen-age pregnancy" among both black and white church leaders, Van Eck said, with programs and agencies working to stem the increase which is "greater among whites than blacks."

"It puts churches in a bind," he said. "On the one hand, they don't approve of what's going on, of that kind of behavior," yet most major churches also are keenly concerned "for the young women and their children, that they get a fair shake in life with as little stigma as possible."

Such offspring now are generally referred to in church communities simply as "child of a single parent or single-parent family," he said. "Those kinds are increasing very rapidly."

The modified terminology has come in a time when births to unmarried women have soared, increasing 400 percent in the last 25 years to 828,175 in 1985, the latest count — 22 percent of the total 3,760,561 U.S. births.

Stephane Ventura, a statistician with the National Center of Health Statistics, says the proportion of unwed births keeps rising annually. "The increase hasn't ever stopped, slowed or reversed," she says.

The figures depict an immense shift in America's social landscape. In 1940, 3.5 percent of births were to unwed women, and even in 1960, the proportion of such births was only 5.3 percent.

But afterward, in the '60s decade of the "sexual revolution" and spreading casual intercourse, the unmarried births by 1970 had doubled to 10.7 percent.

'Church without Borders' defined

CIUDAD JURAREZ, Mexico (AP) — About 150 people from six Catholic dioceses along the U.S.-Mexico border met recently to define the scope of a new grassroots social-action group called "Church without Borders."

Some representatives said that a recent string of deadly border accidents involving Mexicans has accented the need for some type of cross-border educational effort.

"I want to emphasize the urgency of some of these problems — immigration, economic dislocation and cultural threats," said Bishop Manuel Talamas Camandari of Ciudad Juarez.

The transfer south of "negative" American values, in particular, is a recurring theme in Mexico.

Las Cruces, N.M., Bishop Ricardo Ramirez said he would like to see the group, for example, tackle the transportation problems of thousands of Mexican chile-pickers who must commute north at night.

To address such issues, the so-called "Iglesia sin Fronteras" (Church without Borders) approved the formation of a task force of border bishops. Four bishops from New Mexico and Chihuahua attended the one-day conference.

The task force eventually is expected to include bishops from other U.S. and Mexican border states.

Two observers from the Tucson Diocese attended the conference in part to explore ways to avert the types of accidents that in recent months have killed at least nine aliens in southern Arizona, said Richard Castro, diocesan director of Hispanic Affairs.

"We received notice of the Iglesia meeting right after the 1-10 accident," said Castro, referring to a Sept. 4 truck collision that killed five Mexican citizens near Tucson.

Castro said he and Tucson Bishop Manuel Moreno had been seeking specific ways to address such safety issues since four other illegal aliens died in July while crossing the desert near Yuma.

The Iglesia meeting "looked like a perfect forum," said Castro, who attended the session. "Hopefully, we can do something with the diocese in Sonora."

Castro said he hopes parish priests in Sonora, for example, might be able to alert would-be illegal aliens to the hazards of a crossing. He acknowledged that effort still would not stop the northern flow of people.

The new group plans to tackle a variety of border-related issues ranging from immigration and amnesty to how to upgrade the quality of life for Mexican women who work in border assembly plants.

The U.S. plants commonly called maquiladoras employ thousands of Mexican women at minimum wage.

The Church without Borders started in April 1986 as part of a bilateral effort between the Las Cruces Diocese and Chihuahua counterpart.

Evangelist to speak at Assembly of God church

Burke

Evangelist Gary H. Burke is the speaker at Calvary Assembly of God, 908 S. Johnston, Sunday through Saturday.

Service times are 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Sunday and 7:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Burke entered the Teen Challenge Program when he was 16. At age 21, he became the Director of the Teen Challenge Male Rehabilitation Center in Philadelphia, Pa.

"Before his conversion to Jesus Christ, at an early age Gary fell prey to the world of rebellion and drug abuse which surrounded him in the streets of Philadelphia," says a news release from Calvary Assembly of God.

"By age 13, after numerous counselors, therapists, a psychologist and several juvenille arrests had failed to bring any real change to his life, there seemed to be no real hope. Through the prayer and efforts of a local pastor in Philadelphia, who heard of Gary from a police officer in his congregation who arrested him, Gary was introduced to the Teen Challenge Program of Drug Rehabilitation."

Since 1980, Burke has lived in the Tulsa, Okla., area where he now makes his home and headquarters for his nationwide evangelistic ministry.

The church's pastor, Gayle Reeves, invites the public to attend.

'Learning Fest' offered

St. Luke's United Methodist Church is presenting a Learning Fest Oct. 23 and 24 in the church's Fellowship Hall.

Gloria Voorhees Thomas, a specialist in ministering to young children, is conducting the workshop. Mrs. Thomas has served on conference stages in Oklahoma, Northwest Texas and Central Texas and as a teacher and director of weekday programs in Oklahoma and Texas.

She is the author of "Weekday Ministries for Leaders of Children Three to Six." Mrs. Thomas is serving as Director of Children's and Family Ministries at University Park United Methodist Church, Dallas.

Hours for the workshop are 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Oct. 23 and 10 a.m. to noon and 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. Oct. 24.

A $5 pre-registration fee needs to be turned in by Sunday. Cost at the door is $7.50. Lunch is available for $3. For more information call 694-2571.

Families still eligible

Nominations for the "Family of the Year," sponsored by the Midland Wards of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, are being accepted through Oct. 27.

The presentation of the "Family of the Year" is in conjunction with the observance of National Family Week, established by former President Jimmy Carter in 1979. The congressional resolution calls attention to "the important part the family plays as the basic strength of any free and orderly society."

"Nominated families should be active in church and community, have high moral standards and exhibit family solidarity," says a news release from the church.

The sponsoring church's members are not eligible.

Nomination forms will be printed every Wednesday and Sunday during October in the Reporter-Telegram. Nominations may also be sent to "Family of the Year," 1221 Burchill Drive, Midland, Texas, 79703. Persons making the nominations need to include their own name, address and telephone number.

Mayor Carroll Thomas will present the award 7 p.m. Nov. 17 at the chapel at 2101 Tarleton. The program, entitled "Families: A Constant Resource," will honor the 1987 Family of the Year and be a highlight of Midland Family Week.

The public is invited to attend.

Group to see 'Godspell'

First Baptist Church is making plans for a group to attend Midland Community Theatre's production of "Godspell" at the Yucca Theatre, 208 N. Colorado Ave., Oct. 31.

For ticket prices and additional information call First Baptist Church's Activities Building, 682-7669. Deadline for purchasing tickets for the group outing is Wednesday.

In addition, First Baptist is planning a Family Sky Retreat Dec. 26-31 to Crested Butte, Colo. Those going will have to pay for their own equipment and lift tickets. For more information or to sign up call 682-7669.

Recreators meeting set

Church Recreators Meeting will be held at noon Thursday at First Baptist Church.

At this meeting, the upcoming basketball season for high school boys and men's teams will be discussed. Cost of the meal is $3.

To make reservations call 682-7669.

JEANE DIXON'S your horoscope

© 1986, Los Angeles Times Syndicate

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1987

YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: A part of you wants to slack off when you should be doing your best work. Strike a better balance between work and play. January is the best time for major moves. Travel for pleasure but use the phone for business. Trim overhead costs and the bottom line will improve. Put more money away for investments or retirement. Romance could hit a snag as 1987 draws to a close. Resist the urge to issue an ultimatum. The situation looks brighter after the first of the year.

CELEBRITIES BORN ON THIS DATE: "First Lady of the World" Eleanor Roosevelt, David Morse of "St. Elsewhere," choreographer Jerome Robbins, actor Ron Leibman, pitcher Bobby Jones, Washington journalist Joseph Alsop, cosmetic king Charles Revson.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): You are able to get more done than you imagined this weekend. Stay close to home. Be leery of those who try to spend your money. Be consistent when dealing with children.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You can move in any social circle you desire. Salvage a relationship while you still can. Your wit and wisdom serve you well so long as they do not intimidate others. Welcome new ideas!

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Things look good for you and a loved one. Share any good news with family members. Doubt could overwhelm you if you don't shake loose from negative people. Refuse to dwell on the past.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): You enjoy a lively athletic competition. The tide is turning in your favor where finances are concerned. Explore the possibility of taking a "dream" vacation. Find out about mate's preferences.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): A romantic decision can no longer be postponed. Search your heart. Do not consent to something you know you cannot do. Avoid pompous people and boring events. You need to get more rest.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Your attitude affects the type of reception you get today. Stay on your best behavior. Now is not the time to pussyfoot around. Make a decision yourself if other family members hesitate.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Get together with loyal and positive friends today. You deserve to be treated royally. Deal with a money problem before it interferes with an important relationship or job. Go right to the top.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Listen to others, but have faith in your ideas and ideals. Others are inspired by your words and actions. Set a good example. Religion becomes an even more important factor in your life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): A full social schedule lifts your spirits. You will be in a better mood to go back to work tomorrow. Show good judgment when asked to comment on a family situation.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Indulge your sweet tooth. Bake a cake or enjoy a food treat sent by a friend. Let others do for you for a change. Travel enjoys highly favorable influences. Pack a bag!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): You and your loved ones enjoy greater rapport today. Be willing to let bygones be bygones. Emphasize the benefits of reconciling. Walking is an excellent way to exercise.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Try to keep from jumping into a situation you are not equipped to handle. Financial aid is available if you want to become better educated. Discuss a deeply emotional issue face to face.

WE TORTURED IT TO MAKE IT DO WHAT WE WANTED.

ISUZU STANDARD P'UP

From the frigid cold Antarctic to the blistering outback Down Under, Isuzu Trucks have tested the world's most rugged terrain – and endured.

Now they're ready to perform for you. Choose from 17 variations, four powerful gas and diesel engines, durable knit vinyl or luxurious all-cloth interiors, and a whole range of options and accessories.

Isuzu Trucks. Before we brought them to America, we put them through hell.

Builders of the lowest priced truck in America.

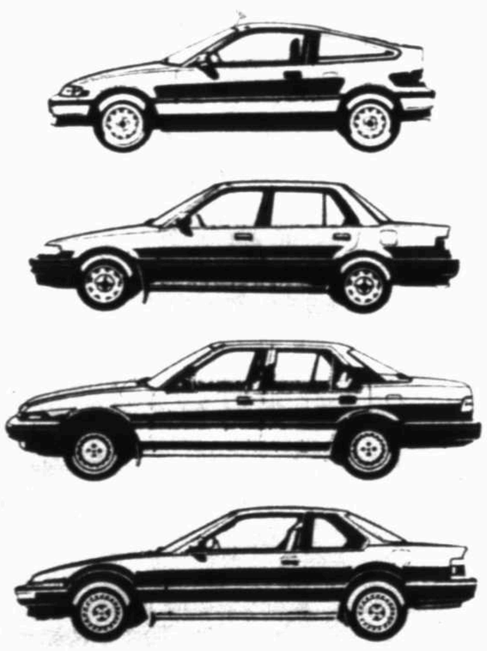
They ask for little in return.



For years Hondas have been getting kids to school, breadwinners to work. They've impressed friends, evoked envy and inspired imitation.

It's a thankless job but they never complain.

In fact, whether you buy the sporty Honda CRX, the heart-stopping Prelude, the luxurious Accord, or the stylish, practical Civic 4-Door, Hatchback or Wagon, you own a car that requires far fewer repairs than the average new car.* Which means Honda owners can spend their time maintaining their lifestyle, not their engines.

You also own what Ward's Auto World 9th Auto Engineering Survey calls "the best cars for the money." Which means you couldn't ask for more or less.
