All Food Merchants Invited To OPA Meeting In Lubbock

Retail and wholesale food merchants of Dawson County are invited to attend one of a series of meetings at which district OPA officials will present information on new marginal price regulations and permitted increases and point rationing as it applies to retail stores, according to information received by Dixie Kilgore, chairman of the Dawson County War Price and Rationing Board.

Meetings with merchants will be held on the same days and in the same towns that officials from the district office at Lubbock will meet with boards throughout the district Feb. 1 and Feb. 11.

"These two series of meetings are being held in keeping with our promise to place all available information in the hands of boards and merchants prior to opening of the point rationing program," Howard R. Gholson, district OPA manager, told the local board. "The series of meetings with boards will be held

15,000 Point System Ration Books Arrive Here Last Week

With the arrival of 15,000 of No. 2, point system war rationing books last week, Dawson County housewives may look forward to the inauguration of the point system within a few weeks.

No definite date has been announced as to when the point system of rationing of canned fruits and vegetables will begin, but it is believed it will be put into effect by March 1, or soon after.

Point rationing will differ from the present system of straight coupon rationing in that commodities will be rationed as groups of related or similar items, instead of as individual items.

It will not replace the present straight coupon system for sugar, coffee and gasoline. These will continue as individual items.

The OPA have announced that each person in the family may have five cans of fruits and vegetables on hand at the time of registration for the point system.

Three Of Fraud Cases Moved To Lubbock For Trial

Three of 12 men indicted by a federal grand jury in Fort Worth January 23 for making false claims and fraudulently collecting sums of government money for work done and materials supplies in the construction of the Lamesa Glider School, have had their cases transferred to Lubbock for trial.

Victor J. Nelson, at liberty under $2,000 bond, and Robert Young, free under $1,000 bond, both of Los Angeles, and James Beal, at liberty under $1,000 bond, are those named. Beal is from Sweetwater.

The Grand Jury bill on file in Lubbock with Mrs. Olive Flke, deputy court clerk, charges the three with knowingly filing fictitious bills for truck hauling charges, labor and pipe and other materials under a sub-contract they held with the general contractor. The amount of their sub-contract was $17,547. Fraud is charged in all five counts of the indictment. Charges were brought by Frank L. Constant and John M. Killian, government men who paid claims against the Defense Plant Corporation as it was supervising the construction here.

Trial of the cases will come up at the May term of U. S. district court in Lubbock.

Exceptions to the no-credit rule include commercial vehicles displaying "T" ration stickers, commercial motor boats and federal, state, and local governmental operations.

One candle is hiding in this happy scene, but the little tots so intent on having a goodly piece of birthday cake really are four years old today. They are Joyce, Joan, Jeraldine and Jeanette Badgerit, the Galveston quadruplets about whom you have heard so much. At birth their total weight was 17 pounds. Now they tip the scales at 137. Joan, weighing 40 pounds, is heaviest. Each received a bond as a birthday gift.

Ration Banking For Grocymen To Start Soon

Both Lamesa National and First National Banks have been designated as ration banks in Lamesa. All wholesalers and retailers handling rationed articles may open ration accounts with the banks, according to information coming from the Dawson County War Price and Rationing Board.

All grocery stores doing a $5,000 business during December must open a ration account, other stores doing less than that amount may do so for their own convenience.

This new system, for wholesale and retail grocers only, was supposed to go into effect January 27, but local banks did not receive their supplies in time, and it is thought the system can be started some time this week, Ration Officials said.

If Wholesale and retail grocymen will call at the Sugar Ration office in the basement of the Court House, an OPA bulletin, giving a full explanation of Ration Banking, will be given them.

Warning Issued On Draft Cards

AUSTIN, Jan. 24 (AP) — Although he said there were relatively few delinquents in Texas, State Selective Service Director Page reminded Saturday that men between 18 and 38 who have been subject to registration for six months must obtain registration cards before Feb. 1.

On and after this date, any man in this age group who does not have his classification card (Form 57) as well as his certificate of registration (Form 2) is liable to fine or imprisonment, or both.

The order, from the Selective Service Bureau of the War Manpower Commission, has met prompt response in Texas, Page said, but some men have failed to get in touch with their local board because of carelessness or negligence.

Registrants in the 45-to-65-year-old group are not affected by the order.

Negro Framers Doing Their Part In War Effort

Texas Negro farm families have been alert to do their part on the wartime home front. According to Dr. E. B. Evans of Prairie View State College, state leader of Extension work with Texas Negroes, their chief contribution has been increased production of food and fiber. In 1942, 3,420 Negro farmers in 45 counties sold 16,000 hogs and 14,500 farmers in 48 counties cured one and one-half million pounds of meat for home use. Furthermore, 25,000 farm families in 52 counties grew bigger home gardens, and 19,000 farmers in 50 counties added 317,000 birds to their poultry flocks, and stepped up egg production by 163,000 dozen.

Comparable to the growing scrap piles in Texas cities, towns and villages, Negro families in rural communities of about 50 counties collected 480 tons of tins cans; 2,135 tons of scrap metal; 168 tons of bones; 282 tons of rags; 610 tons of scrap rubber, and 178 tons of waste paper. Among these rural families, Dr. Evans explains $139,000 worth of War Bonds and Stamps were sold by club members or in drives sponsored by Negro county Extension agents.

In 46 counties about 33,000 Negro families are taking part in defense activities being promoted by the Texas Extension Service. Some of their members took special training in two civilian protection schools held at Prairie View College. The facilities of the County Agricultural Victory Councils were used to send 401 messages to 55,000 Negro farm families in 51 counties.

University Buys War Bonds

Standing beside a captive Japanese submarine, C. D. Simmons, comptroller of the University of Texas, hands over a check for $76,000 of University funds to purchase war bonds. Receiving the check is Mrs. Homer P. Rainey, wife of the University president, and member of a bond selling team of Austin women.

"Through cooperative effort Negro rural families have raised their morale and patriotism to such an extent that their only hope for living recent, happy lives for themselves and their children lies in winning a complete democratic peace," Dr. Evans says. "To this end Negro Extension workers and the farm families they serve dedicate their resources and energies."

Persons Criticising The War Time Ration Program "Lends Aid and Comfort to Enemy"

Persons who are "unwilling and complaining" of wartime programs and efforts of county War Price and Rationing boards are participating in a form of sabotage, "lending aid and comfort to the enemy," Texas OPA Director Mark McGee of Fort Worth said on a visit to the Lubbock District of the OPA last week.

"It is more important that boys in the fighting forces have rubber than it is that we ever move our cars from the garage," Mr. McGee stated.

Mr. McGee, who addressed groups and met with county boards from surrounding counties at Pampa, Clarendon and Lubbock, presented a merit award to J. Doyle Settle, Lubbock District Rationing Officer and formerly executive assistant to McGee. The certificate, signed by Leon Henderson, Regional Director Max McCullough and McGee, expressed "sincere appreciation for his devotion to his country's needs through the free and patriotic sacrifice of personal interests in the execution of the War Price and Rationing program." The award was presented at an open luncheon of the Lubbock Rotary Club, January 13.

The State Director warned in his speeches that "C" card holders had better be sure they are using those 'C' cards for the purpose for which they were issued, or they are going to get their 'C' cards taken in."

The state office is not bluffing in its investigation of "C" book gasoline ration usage, he warned. "We are going to keep faith with the public and see that these 'C' book holders live up to their agreement."

The State Director spoke at a luncheon sponsored by junior and senior chamber of commerce at Pampa and at a banquet sponsored by Clarendon Chamber of Commerce January 12. Howard R. Gholson, Lubbock district OPA manager, and other officials from the district office accompanied the state official and met with the county boards to answer questions regarding various phases of the OPA program.

IN MEMORY OF MOTHER PHILLIPS

Our hearts were made sad at the going of our dear friends and loved one, Margaret Frances Phillips who passed on to her eternal reward last Thursday, January 21, at 7 a. m. She was born in McKinney, Texas, March 20, 1866. Those surviving are her six sons and three daughters; Oscar Phillips, George Phillips, Ernest Phillips, Authur Phillips, Willie Phillips, Edgar Phillips, Mrs. Carey Clayton, Mrs. Maggie Crenshaw, Mrs. Brooksie Buosou, in addition to the immediate family, a great host of relatives and friends mourn her departure.

One of the most noble tributes we could ever pay to Mother Phillips would be to say that she was truly a Christian mother. Those of us who knew her and her splendid family, realize how graciously she lived up to this title to the very last minute of her beautiful life here on earth. This world would be entirely a different place if every mother was as true to her God as Mother Phillips, and if every mother set the example before her children as did she.

Mother Phillips was always faithful and loyal to her church. Many, many times she would plead with her children to let her come to our church, when so doing would be dangerous to her health. In her last conscious moments she told her pastor how she longed to be able to come back to the House of the Lord and take her usual place. She truly loved the Lord. She loved those old hymns we sing, and to preach to Mother Phillips was an inspiration her pastor will always cherish. God gave her a sweet spirit and a noble heart. To talk to her about her assurance in God, her joy in serving Him, her love for her family, her faith in her preacher boy, Ernest, was to be lifted to higher heights and be drawn closer to God!

Words would never permit our saying what we feel in our hearts regarding this faithful soul. Death came to her as a great blessing. She had suffered long, but now she has entered the gate that leads to the "Eternal Home" to be with God forever more.

AIR CORPS RESTORES PARALYZED MUSCLES

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — The Army Air Corps uses light, cold, heat, water and the laying on of hands to restore paralyzed muscles, stiff joints and burned skin of its fliers at MacDill Field and the officers and men on the ground who keep them flying.

An estimated 50 treatments are given daily at the physical therapy ward to put the men back in fighting trim as soon as possible and keep injuries from causing permanent disability.

Electrical stimulations also are used for restoring muscles to normal, interruptions of the current causing muscles alternately to expand and contract.

The department, organized a little over a year ago, consists of six rooms containing the latest type of equipment for physiotherapy.

Adria, port which gave its name to the Adriatic sea, is now 14 miles inland.

First Lt. J. C. Lentz, 25, (above) of Paris, Tex., was one of seven prisoners who escaped from an Italian submarine when it was blasted by a depth bomb in the Mediterranean. Lt. Lentz was forced down in Tunisia when his fighter plane ran out of fuel after an encounter with three Messerschmitts.

FROM REV AND MRS. ERNEST PHILLIPS

My wife and I wish to thank our many friends for every expression of love and sympathy in our hour of sorrow in the loss of our dear mother. Wife's mother passed away the 11th and my mother the 21st of January. Especially do we wish to thank our friends at Wilson and Klondike for the many beautiful flowers that was sent, and the nice love offering from the Klondike church. May the good Lord give to you just such friends whenever sorrow comes to you.

In Memory Of Mother

Mother is gone. Her body, although not perfect, was the home of Holy motives. Whenever the fires of sympathy and cheer needed to be lighted in our aching bosoms she was there to kindle that fire. When ever there was the light of happiness that swept away our gloom, she was there with a smile of joy.

This thought is full of consolation to us who are left behind. We have far less occasion to mourn than to rejoice. Truly she was a child of the day. By Faith she discerned the blessed world where there is no night of sin, of conflict, of danger, or sorrow, of suffering, and no night of death, and with patience and hope she waited for the morning.

As she passed the dark valley, the sun of Righteousness, shining with divine glory, broke upon her vision. She is now basking in the light of that Sun which never sets. While our eyes are bedimmed with tears, hers are gazing with inspeakable wonder and delight on the scenes of heavenly life.

Another day has been ushered in—the day of deliverance from physical pain, from sorrow, from limitation of the flesh; the day of triumph of grace, a day of hope, and blessedness and life in the Heavenly World; and there, mother, tell my Father, who prayed for me many times in life, that I will come to see him when my battles are over and my race is run. Then again will I see Nannie my sister Chum of other days, and the many dear friends who have gone on before.

Affectionately dedicated to my wife's and my mother's blessed memory.

Rev. and Mrs. Ernest Phillips.

MAYBE THEY'RE JAPS IN DISGUISE

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — People who live in the U. S. A. should go to Australia if they want to make the acquaintance of a super race of mosquitoes, says Pvt. Frank Jones in a letter to his mother.

He drew a picture that showed a man-size mosquito equipped with goggles, gas mask, hobnalled shoes, combat pack, wire and mosquito bar cutters and spikes to prevent sliding while dining.

"Three of our aircraft engaged and after a long, adduous battle they managed to shoot it down," Private Jones said in discussing his theory that the mosquitoes are equipped with armor plate.

Series OPA Meetings In Lubbock Will Give Boards New Point Ration Rules

Every effort within the power of the Lubbock District Office of the Office of Price Administration will be made to give all available information on point rationing to county War Price and Rationing Boards, food stores and the general public prior to opening of the program, Howard R. Gholson, Lubbock District Manager, stated today in announcing plans for a series of meetings with county boards.

Workers from the district office now are touring the 75-county district to meet with individual boards and give them all information and instructions issued thus far.

A series of meetings with groups of boards will open Feb. 1. Mr. Gholson and other officials from the district office will meet with the boards to answer question and present all available information. Schedule for the meetings with the boards follows:

Lubbock, Friday, Feb. 5, 10 a. m.—Lamb, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Gaines, Dawson, Borden and Scurry county boards.

"In this way," said Mr. Gholson, "boards will be prepared when the date for issuance of war ration book two and the effective date for the rationing order covering processed foods are announced."

The processed foods includes virtually all commercially processed vegetables and fruits — canned, bottled and frozen vegetables, fruits, juices, dried fruits and all soups.

Information has been received in the Lubbock District Office of a statement issued by Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown as follows:

"Published reports state that the food administrator, Claude Wickard, has signed an order directing OPA to ration condensed and evaporated milk, jellies, jams, preserves, fruit butters, pickles and relishes, processed fish, shell fish and food products containing meats.

"The impression given by this story is that immediate rationing of these items is contemplated. This is definitely not so. I have conferred with Mr. Wickard and he confirms this statement.

Those particular items were included in Mr. Wickard's order at the request of OPA merely as an authorization to OPA to collect information with respect to the stocks of these items carried by food distributors.

"Rationing of these items will not be undertaken until specifically authorized by the food administrators."

"Many canned baby foods are to be rationed under the same point system to be used for rationing other processed fruits and vegetables. These will include strained or chopped foods made of fruits, vegetables or meat and put up in sealed cans or glass jars. Most of them are commonly sold in 4 1-2 and 6 1-2 ounce containers.

On the other hand, certain baby foods, including canned milk, canned milk formulas and canned, prepared cereals, are not to be rationed.

"Including these foods in the rationing program," according to a statement from Washington by Harold B. Rowe, director of the foods rationing division of the OPA, "is not necessarily an indication that supplies are short. Rationing them is rather designed to safeguard supplies for the purpose for which they were intended,—as food for infants and small children. If baby foods were not rationed they might be bought extensively as a substitute for rationed canned foods, such buying would cut sharply into available supplies and would soon dislocate normal marketing.

In addition to meetings with boards which the district office is conducting, plans are underway for furnishing information to retailers in the food industry and for speeches on point rationing to organizations and public gatherings throughout the district. County Board Chairmen have been furnished with information for speeches which might be delivered by board officials or other local speakers. Preliminary plans are underway for a tour of the district by representatives from the district office who will explain to retailers the operation of the point rationing system.

Rationing is to be preceded by a short freeze so that retailers may stock their shelves and make ready. During the freeze every man, woman and child is to be issued war ration book two. Blue stamps in the book are to be used in the processed foods program for rationing of canned, bottled and frozen fruits, vegetables and juices, dried fruits and soups. It has been indicate that red stamps will be used later for meats.

War ration book two contains four pages of blue stamps and four pages of red stamps. Each page contains 24 stamps lettered and numbered. The letter of the alphabet indicates when the stamp may be used. The numbers, which are 8, 5, 2 and 1, indicate the point value of each stamp.

CHAIN LETTERS SELL WAR BONDS

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP) — The chain letter fad has been revived in Laramie to sell war bonds.

A joint committee of Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions club members originated the idea during a drive to sell sufficient bonds to buy a bomber.

The letter urged the receiver to purchase immediately sufficient stamps to fill any books he might have on hand and then turn in the books on war bonds.

SOLDIERS IN PUERTO RICO BECOME CONGA EXPERTS

SAN JUAN, P. R. (AP) — When Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors on guard in Puerto Rico come back, they'll be ballroom exponents of Inter-American friendship, able to pass along the intricacies of rumba, conga, the guaracha and the danza.

And the dark-eyed puertorriquenas back in San Juan will be beating it out eight to a bar and hep to scrub-downs with a boogie beat. In return for weekly lessons in Latin-American steps to the troops and sailors at San Juan's USO center, pretty Puerto Ricans are getting lessons in jitterbugging.

BEHIND THE WAR NEWS

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Wide World War Analyst

SATURDAY, JANUARY 30, 1943

Good Neighbor Roosevelt's pause in Brazil to confer with President Getulio Vargas could have been foretold easily enough had his air route to and from Casablanca been known. Heads of nations do not pass through the territory of their colleagues without exchanging courtesy calls.

Yet the route chosen necessarily meant the highest authority in Brazil was a party to the great secret of the Casablanca conference from the start. That was a demonstration not only of good neighborism, but of United Nations solidarity and mutual trust.

It drew all Latin-American members into the close circle of that fellowship and is of political if not obvious military significance on that account. The Roosevelt-Vargas meeting under the circumstances furnishes a new symbol of Pan-American rapprochement that will not be lost on other Latin-Americans nations, including Argentina, or on Spain and Portugal.

Aside from its political or military relationship to the war scenes, however, Mr. Roosevelt's air trip to Africa and back via Brazil gave him opportunity to see for himself one end at least of the Atlantic span that haunted his mind when the fall of France loomed. His intimates know that foreboding visions of an Axis-attempted incursion into the New World via the Dakar-Natal route dominated Roosevelt concern then.

Shaped U. S. Policy
It also has served since to shape Roosevelt policy making both before and since Japan's attack thrust this nation into the struggle. It was the hub of the strategic conception, ascribed by Prime minister Winston Churchill to Mr. Roosevelt personally, which led to the Allied incursions into French Africa.

Mr. Roosevelt has so often demonstrated his liking for seeing the wheels of policy go round at key centers that no one can doubt he welcomed the chance the Casablanca conference gave to see for himself the western terminus of the Dakar-Natal bridge between the Old and New Worlds.

The route is still a threat, but no longer a threat to the Allies, only to the Axis. Traffic on that bridge of ships and planes has been reversed by developments in Africa born of Roosevelt policy making. It flows eastward, not westward, and over it one day Latin-American as well as North American fighting men may pass in more than token strength to emphasize the scope and power of the United Nations fellowship and implement the victory design mapped at Casablanca.

Vargas Is In Secret
President Vargas probably learned something more definite than is publicly known about the specific policies ratified at Casablanca for intensified prosecution of aggressive war by land, air and sea. Mr. Roosevelt was in a position to disclose to his Latin-American colleagues for his own ear more than military necessity would permit to be known generally.

That could apply particularly to whatever new steps are in view to deal with the Axis submarine menace, largely localized for the moment in the South Atlantic. The Natal promontory of Brazil is of vital importance in waging ceaseless air-and-sea war against submarines.

Brazilian airmen have already figured importantly in the anti-U-boat campaign off Brazilian shores.

The presence of Admiral Jonas Ingram, American naval commander of that zone of sea operations, at the conference of the two Presidents invites the notion that, aside from war economies, the sea campaign in the South Atlantic was a major topic of discussion.

SUNDAY, JANUARY 31, 1943

Due to the discussion and speculation let loose by the Roosevelt-Churchill strategy conference in French Africa, a new note in Russian war bulletins more or less escape notice.

Instead of stressing casualties in dead and wounded inflicted on the foe day by day, reports of increasing enemy surrenders sometimes including even regiments en masse, have been increasingly frequent from Moscow.

Russian casualty figures for the foe day by day have never been convincing. They have been as subject to suspicion as Berlin reports of tremendous Russian losses. The conditions under which such battles are fought make it impossible for any accurate figures on losses to be computed so quickly.

Prisoners Are Different

Checking up prisoners is another matter. Even herded into wire pens to await disposition, some immediate and reasonably accurate estimate of their numbers is possible and necessary.

There is small reason to doubt that some breakdown in front line morale has taken place in Axis ranks in Russia. British experience in Egypt and Libya leads to acceptance of Russian reports of Italian and Rumanian and other Axis satellite units refusing to fight to the death in the Stalingrad pocket or elsewhere.

German mass surrender would be another story. It would spell disillusionment at work among first line troops to foreshadow ultimate collapse. That did not happen at the front in the World war. It did not happen on any significant scale in any of the African campaigns of this war so far as German troops were concerned.

Treat With Caution

For the reason if no other, Russian reports of increasing German surrenders all along the front must be treated with caution.

That some mass surrenders should occur in the Stalingrad pocket was to be expected.

Even by Russian accounts, those hopelessly surrounded, starving and freezing Germans, cut down from a possible 220,000 maximum to a mere handful before the end, showed the same fanatic endurance that marked the Japanese garrisons in Papua. Their example does not warrant the conclusion that defeatism is yet beginning to eat the heart out of German armies, even if there and there some trapped Nazi unit does surrender.

NOBLEWOMEN WORK IN BRITISH PLANTS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Titles held by British women in war work mean nothing in the plants where members of the "privileged class" have become good mechanics. Lady Montagu is a skilled machinist, Lady Ursula Manners works in an aircraft factory, and the Countess Wharncliffe, who inherited an aircraft plant from her husband, worked her way up from the benches and now runs the factory, according to a report from the Office of War Information.

Three-fourths of the population of Trinidad are Hindus.
