LEAHY TESTIFIES

JUDGE TELLS OF ATTACK ON MAGEE, WHICH LED TO SHOOTING

By United News
COURT HOUSE, LAS VEGAS, N. M., June 16.—Carl C. Magee, editor of the New Mexico Tribune, was acquitted on a charge of manslaughter here Wednesday night when Judge Luis Armijo sustained a motion made by the editor's attorney for a directed verdict of not guilty.

In his motion, the attorney, Fred Wilson, contended that the state had failed to show the commission of manslaughter or any other charge set forth in the information.

Two Day Trial
The actual length of the trial of the man who first rattled the lid of the Teapot Dome oil scandal was less than two days. Testimony began Wednesday morning, the state using the morning and afternoon sessions in presenting its case. Eight witnesses told how John Lasseter, a bystander, was accidentally killed by a bullet from Magee's revolver. The Scripps-Howard editor shot Lasseter while attempting to defend himself from an attack by former Judge D. J. Leahy.

The motion further contended that Magee acted in self defense, that the homicide was accidental, and that he had not shot in the heat of passion.

Leahy Testifies
The state concluded its presentation after calling eight witnesses, chief of whom was Leahy.

Occupying the witness chair to the left of the bench where he once presided as judge, Leahy told a remarkable story of his desire to give Magee a sound thrashing. Leahy testified that an editorial in Magee's paper stating that he would like to meet the jurist man to man prompted him to attack the editor. Leahy said he had restrained himself from attacking Magee previously and had avoided meeting him as much as possible as long as he was on the bench. He was given the widest latitude during his stay on the witness stand.

EXPECT TO GET POTASH AS WELL AS OIL AND GAS ON COCHRAN COUNTY LAND, WHICKER SAYS

J. C. Whicker and son, J. E., of Littlefield, were here yesterday looking after business in connection with the test well for oil, gas and potash that will be drilled on the 8,000 acre body of land in Cochran county owned by their company.

The well will be located three and one-half miles southeast of Bledsoe within three miles of the Texas and New Mexico line.

While many test well propositions have been discussed for this territory during recent months, this one is to become a reality, fifty thousand dollars of the Whicker Land Co. money having been deposited for expenditure on the project.

Garzelous Brothers & Taggart, of Eastland and Waco, recognized as the wealthiest independent drillers in Texas, have been awarded the contract to drill the well, and before their representative left Lubbock yesterday to go to Eastland to make arrangements to ship a standard rig outfit to Bledsoe, he deposited ten thousand dollars to the credit of the Whicker Land Company as "good faith guarantee" that the machinery will be on the ground and assembled within thirty days.

The deposit will be withdrawn when the rig outfit has been assembled, and unless actual drilling operations are started within twenty days.

By United News
LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Trapped in a tourist sleeping coach of the Union Pacific's continental limited when it caught fire and burned to the wheels near Crystal Siding, Nev., five persons were burned to death, according to advices received at company headquarters here Wednesday night.

Only two of the charred bodies were identified. They are W. H. McCreary, of Riverside, Calif., and a woman believed to be Mrs. J. G. King, of Drummond, Montana.

The other dead included two women and a child.

Cause of the tragedy was not determined by company officials. Crossed wires in the electrical system or sparks from the engine were held as probable causes.

The flames broke out, it was said, while the train was speeding eastward, it having left Los Angeles Tuesday evening.

Fanned by the onrushing wind, the coach almost immediately became a blazing furnace. By the time the fire was discovered by the trainmen, the car was partially destroyed.

WITH CITY TO ASSURE WORK

The city commission yesterday granted a franchise to A. J. McMahon and George R. Broadwell of Oklahoma City and R. A. Tipton of Amarillo to supply the city of Lubbock with gas for heating, lighting, and other purposes at a maximum price of 67 1-2 cents per 1000 cubic feet, work to begin on September 15, gas to be at the city gates by December 1, and to be furnished citizens through meters by January 1. The grantees of the franchise put up $1000 yesterday as a forfeit in case the work does not begin according to contract, and will later make bond of $7,500 to guarantee delivery of gas on January 1, according to City Manager Perkins.

Hankins Switches
Mayor Pink Parrish, who made a trip to Amarillo to look into the conditions of the franchise and decide which way to cast his deciding vote in the commission tie which resulted from the first presentation of the franchise, voted for the proposal. Commissioner Hankins, who had previously voted against it, also voted for it yesterday. Commissioner Blair, the only other one of the board present at yesterday's meeting, voted "yes" as he has done from the beginning. Commissioners Posey and Jones were absent.

Certain changes were made in the franchise, to bring it in line with franchises in other cities. The commission sat all day discussing the matter, and waiting for the return of Commissioner Hankins to form a quorum, and the final vote was not taken until about 6 o'clock, when the franchise was granted on first reading.

Provision
The franchise provides, in addition to the usual features, that gas for domestic use shall be charged for at a rate not to exceed 67 1-2 cents per thousand cubic feet, which is the customary rate in Texas. For heating public buildings, churches, hotels and apartments, the first 50,000 cubic feet shall be charged for at that rate, with reduced rates running to 40 cents per thousand for 150,000 cubic feet. For industrial use, the rates range from 67 1-2 cents for the first 50,000 feet to 15 cents for per thousand when as much as 120,000,000 cubic feet per month is used through one meter.

Deposits, not less than $10 each will be required on meters.

The gas, which Mr. Perkins declares tests up 1000 British thermal heat units to the cubic foot, will

Diet of Child Reflected in Later Years

Correct Eating Makes for Vigor and Health.

Health and vigor in the school child may be traced in large measure to the diet from his earliest years. The food the child eats requires careful attention to the quality of the food.

Meals of the boy or girl of school age should be planned not only to give variety, but to provide all the growing material necessary. Each of the child's three meals may be of equal importance in providing a well-balanced diet. Breakfast ought not to be omitted any more than dinner or supper.

Milk, bread and butter, cereal and fruit or an egg provide a nutritious breakfast. For dinner, which preferably should be in the middle of the day, soup, meat or eggs, vegetables, bread and butter, dessert and milk to drink are recommended while a suggestion for supper might be bread and milk, baked potato and stewed fruit.

The appended recipes offer specific aid for children's diets.

Vanilla Ice Cream.

1 cup cream 1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup evaporated milk 1/2 cup sugar
1 cup milk 1/2 cup sugar

Scald the milk and add the sugar and salt to dissolve. Cool, add the evaporated milk, cream and flavoring. Freeze in a 1-2 quart creamer. Makes 1 quart cream.

Current Muffins.

1 cup bread milk, diluted
1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup water
1/2 cup flour 1/2 cup butter
1/2 cup baking powder 1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup salt 1/2 cup sugar

Collect all needed ingredients and utensils. Oil the muffin tin well. Measure the flour after it has been sifted once. Sift the measured flour with the baking powder, sugar and salt into the bowl in which the muffins are to be made. Sift the currants into the dry ingredients last measured. Beat the egg until light and foamy; then add to it the diluted milk and melted fat. Make a well in the dry ingredients by pushing them from the center of the bowl out to the sides of the bowl. Pour the liquid into this well and stir them quickly into the dry ingredients. Just as soon as the dry ingredients are moistened, pour immediately into the muffin tin. Bake at 325° F. This makes 12 medium-sized muffins.

The desk will contain catalogs of the college, annuals, information folders and other publicity material. Every student of the Tech former or present will wear a large "arm band" in the school colors throughout the convention.

The Tech will also be represented in the fiesta with Miss D'Ann Sammons as Seronita, C. W. Bahff as Senor and Miss Johnnie McCreary as chaperone. They will take part in the large Spanish fiesta which will be held Tuesday night.

On educational day, Wednesday, Dean A. H. Leidigh of the school of agriculture will speak. President Paul W. Horn will also be at the convention on this day. It is the plan of the student leaders of the Tech to hold an all Tech rally with students and prospective students as guests.

PLAN FIGHT ON THURBERIA WEEVIL

WEST TEXAS C. OF C. LEADS BATTLE AGAINST COTTON PEST

Special to The Avalanche.
STAMFORD, June 16.—The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is vitally interested in the proposed measure for control of the Thurberia weevil of Arizona which is a great menace to the cotton producer. H. H. Eaton, Washington representative of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has appeared before the U. S. Department of Agriculture and has urged the adoption of regulations to prevent the spread of this pest.

The Thurberia weevil is known to scientists as the Anthrenus grandis. It was first discovered in the wild cotton of Arizona. It has now spread into the cultivated fields and more than fifteen thousand acres of cultivated cotton in Arizona has become infested. The weevil is an upland insect which thrives in a dry climate such as West Texas. It is said to be more destructive in the dry uplands than the common boll weevil has been in the more humid sections. It has not appeared in West Texas fields as yet, but the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has urged the adoption of regulations to prevent the spread of this pest.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has recognized the danger and has drafted "stringent" regulations to prevent the spread. Regulations similar to those employed to control the pink boll worm have been drawn and quarantine against all Arizona cotton is contemplated unless the pest is brought under control.

By assembling early, before the press of business starts, the committee believes it can shape a measure satisfactory to the house and get it passed as was done under similar circumstances in the case of the tax reduction bill.

Chairman Green declared Wednesday the Germans have indisputable rights to return of their property under the German American treaty and explained that delays hitherto had been caused by disputes over validity of some American claims.

Elliott Receives Filling Station

F. W. Elliott, owner and manager of the Elliott Oldsmobile company here and who has just invested a large amount in brick buildings at the corner of 19th street and College avenue, yesterday received the filling station building from Contractor Jerry Clements, and started operation of the business under the management of Mr. Thurman, of the West Side Grocery.

The store buildings which will be completed at once will be occupied as soon as possible, and will contribute much to the development of that section of the city.

TAHOKA SCHOOL BONDS APPROVED

PLANS UNDER WAY FOR EXPENDITURE OF $ $100,000

TAHOKA, June 16.—Official word has been received here that the Attorney General has approved the hundred thousand dollar bond issue, voted by the tax payers of the Tahoka independent school district. The purpose of this bond issue is to build and equip a new modern high school building for Tahoka. The building site has been selected west of the townsite. This plot of ground contains ten acres and is large enough to contain plenty of space for various types of play grounds and athletic events. Streets have been graded out to the building site and all arrangements such as running a high line and water mains to the selected site will soon be made according to officials.

Architects have been arranged for a contract has been entered into between school authorities and the David C. Castle Architect company of Abilene. Plans and specifications offered by these architects have been accepted and it is expected that work on the building will get under way at an early date.

President E. J. Hill and secretary J. S. Weatherford of the school board announce that the bonds will be sold at auction sometime in the near future. These bonds bear five per cent interest and mature serially over a period of forty years.

Practically all of the teachers have been elected for the coming term. Mr. Baze of Roscoe has been elected superintendent. Mr. Baze comes to the Tahoka school highly recommended as he taught four successful terms in the Roscoe school and other schools of the state.

Both school authorities and citizens here are expecting a very successful school term. The new building will not be completed in time to use in the first part of the term, but under present promises they expect to occupy the new high school building for the remainder of the school term after the holidays.

Vacation Bible School Closes

Closing services for the vacation Bible school which had been in session at the First Methodist church will be held at the church tonight beginning at 8:15 p. m. Following the exercises in which four hundred children will be certified as having completed the work, the audience will be shown the craft work of the students. The school, which has been conducted by Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Richardson has had an average attendance of 385 with a total enrollment of 435.

AMARILLO BROADCASTS TO WEST TEXAS THAT EVERYTHING IS SET

Special to The Avalanche.
AMARILLO, Tex., June 16.—"All set." This is the message Amarillo is broadcasting to the world on the eve of the 8th Annual Convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

Fifty thousands of people who will swarm this city during the convention on June 21, 22 and 23 will find this sort of welcome to greet them: a welcome that has been the result of weeks of careful preparation and determined effort in the face of obstacles. Never before, in the history of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has a convention loomed with such magnitude nor attracted such widespread attention as this.

Among the many thousands who will be here will be visitors from every portion of the United States, men and women drawn here by the influence which the phenomenal development of West Texas and especially of this section of West Texas of which Amarillo is the center, is exerting.

To all these Amarillo is opening her homes and her institutions with a hospitality not unworthy of her reputation. Everything that would assist or permit of greater convenience to her visitors and their entertainment while here has been done as far as it has been possible. The citizens of Amarillo have shown themselves eager and energetic in their efforts, cooperating with their own Chamber of Commerce and the West Texas Chamber at all times in a manner that has meant much toward the successful consummation of the plans which have necessarily been attended with a great mass of detail.

All that is humanly possible to do has been done, and Amarillo is ready. Her homes are open and her people are eagerly awaiting this opportunity to fulfill the pledge made at the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at Mineral Wells last year.

Six-Room Home for a 50-Foot Lot

Reminiscent of Northern France

Built on a lot 50 feet wide with southern exposure, this beautiful house at LaGrange, Ill. illustrates a style that is rapidly coming into vogue.

The steeply pitched roof and gables are reminiscent of northern France, while the portland cement stucco finish brings out a beauty that is undeniably attractive. Contrast is achieved by roofing the house with multi-colored composition shingles.

Both foundation and above grade walls of this house are built with concrete masonry. Either concrete structural tile or hollow block may be used. The dead air space in the wall acts as insulation and keeps the home cool in summer and warm in winter for the reason that outside temperature changes cannot penetrate the walls. In addition, the concrete masonry walls provide a perfect backing for the stucco surfacing.

In the interior a fine living room with fireplace occupies the center of the frontage with recessed entrance porch and hall on one side and a large open porch with arched entrances on the other. Behind this is the dining room and well-appointed kitchen.

On the second floor are three good-sized bedrooms with bath. A feature which will appeal to the housewife is the large number of commodious closets, averaging two to each bedroom.

CREDIT

The world of business is run on credit. Firms and individuals buy from each other, on time. Months after they have received goods they pay the bill. A firm goes to the bank and discounts its note to meet unexpected expenditures or to tide over for expected income. It is said to be good business. But when an ordinary person essays to do something, a hundred people will shout from every street corner that he is all wrong and is surely doomed for the bankruptcy court. Which leads us to the diverting little question as to just what use an ordinary person should make of credit. The argument will be advanced that no ordinary person should get credit, that he should save up enough for what he wants, then buy the article in question, that he should not mortgage the future for what he has now and that he should not buy on the installment plan. In other words it is contended that business and personal finances should be on a different plane. Which is entirely wrong. The same financial rules hold for both cases. What is good business in one case is good business in another. Installment buying, in excess, is of course very bad, but in moderation is a splendid method of self discipline that enables a person to save and enjoy having things when, under a voluntary system of saving, he would not have the will power to go through with it. Then, too, the matter of bank credit. What does a bank account of $500 avail a man if his credit has not been developed by frequent use? If he wishes to engage in a business or make an advantageous purchase and needs $2,000 he must be able to use $1,500 of the capital accumulated by someone else. A few notes in the bank occasionally, always taken care of on time and paid off in a reasonable time, build up a fund of confidence and reserve credit that is worth many thousands of dollars when financial support is needed. The banks learn that you know how to handle money and they are willing to extend the capital for any reasonable undertaking. Credit, wisely carried, is a splendid investment.

A SANE FOURTH

In less than a month we shall be celebrating the Fourth of July and it will be a sesqui-centennial of the first Fourth of July to be marked by a special event in the history of America, the signing of the Declaration of Independence. For many years it has been the custom to celebrate this splendid anniversary with the explosion of fireworks. Children of all ages from six to sixty have taken avid delight in the crash of blank cartridges, giant fire-crackers, pinwheels and a host of other noise makers, all of a dangerous character. Then, a few years ago, a movement began to end this form of celebration because of the yearly toll of life and injury caused by the fireworks. Gradually public sentiment began to appear in behalf of this movement, then various cities and states enacted certain laws which were designed to limit the size and character of fireworks so as to lessen the danger to those celebrating with them. In spite of this movement, however, the figures representing deaths and injuries from the Fourth of July celebrations are still much too high and it would seem well, at this time, for every municipality to see that suitable regulations have been published and declared that will insure a sane celebration of the glorious Fourth. Let it be a joyful event, unmarred by tragedy. Let each town, each city and each state take some real constructive steps this year toward this end.

RUDEST PEOPLE

Are Americans the rudest people on the face of the earth, or are they merely frankest? A lecturer, addressing a New York audience, declares the former to be true; and, since the lecturer is a member of the clergy, one hesitates to attack either his accuracy of observation or his veracity. Now, such a statement would seem to assume that the one making it had had the opportunity to observe all other nationalities in their native haunts. Otherwise how could he say that we are the rudest? That is a comparison. We are being compared with every other nationality on the face of the earth. When we search the record of the gentleman's life we find that he had no such opportunity of observation and thus we feel compelled to brand his statement, at the outset, fundamentally, if not deliberately, untrue. We Americans are a frank nation. We, like the old lady, seem to think that "everything that's in our head is fit to come out." We are blunt.

We are outspoken. Many of us are rude. But as a nation we do mightily resent aspersions so blatantly untrue. There is no nation more cultured or more rude than another. In every nation there are those who seem constituted on a higher plane and who are deeply versed in all the points of good breeding, who are thorough gentlefolks. In every nation there is a great middle class that is well educated, sincere and possessed of normal good manners. And in every nation, too, there is a great low class that is thoroughly rude and rough and tough. All nations have this class but to say that a low class American is worse than a low class Briton or a low class German or Frenchman is obviously absurd. Comparisons are odious and reflect no great credit on him who makes them.

AN UNSAFE REMEDY

There is frequently criticism of the modern tendency toward specialization in medicine on the ground that patients must pay fees to a number of doctors instead of to one, as was formerly the case with the family physician of the old school. To alleviate the burden of a multiplicity of fees, often to physicians who find nothing wrong with the patient in the particular line in which they specialize there is some agitation in favor of prohibiting specialists from examining patients until after they have been examined by a general practitioner and have been referred by him to the specialist. While beyond a doubt there is something in the situation that needs a remedy, the one suggested would create a situation quite as undesirable. It is to be deplored, but there are in all professions persons who are not entirely worthy, and in the medical profession there are doctors who carelessly allow patients to drift beyond hope of recovery who could be helped by specialists. There are those who refrain from referring patients to specialists because of the monetary loss to themselves. It can readily be seen that if patients were barred from going direct to specialists, such as fell under the treatment of careless or unscrupulous physicians might be deprived of their one chance of recovery. Patients might do well to first see their family physician, and should be advised to do so; but it would be most unwise to make it impossible for them to go directly to specialists. Such power, placed in the hands of general practitioners, might well lead to abuses more serious in consequences than the present system.

SUMMER CAMPS

About this time of the year every parent with a child over ten years old is pondering the summer camp question and asking himself or herself if they wish to trust their precious youngster to the tender mercies of camp instructors and camp discipline. They have mental visions of their boy or girl being forced into contact with "rough" playmates, held down to a strict discipline, allowed to run into danger in swimming and other sports and, in other words, badly used. Everything considered, however, it is hard to imagine a finer thing for a boy or a girl than summer camp. Plenty of good, wholesome food, regular and plentiful sleeping hours, training of mind bodily exercise, plentiful sunshine, enough discipline to keep them from "running wild", beneficial contact with other youngsters of their age, these are the features that should recommend summer camps to every parent. If the boy or girl stays around home he or she will not get sufficient exercise of the proper type, will probably eat irregularly, get too little sleep, be so pampered that all idea of normal discipline is lost, in other words, he or she will be thoroughly spoiled, simply for the selfishness of the parents. Wanting the children to stay at home with them. It is easy to see, by this analysis, that there can be little question of the beneficial results from a summer camp and the increasing popularity of these institutions is eloquent testimonial to the good results they must accomplish.

SILVER SUBSIDY

The United States Treasury needs 14,000,000 ounces of silver to replace silver dollars broken up and used for smaller coins, and there is before Congress a bill to purchase the necessary bullion. The interesting feature of that bill is that it proposes to pay $1 an ounce for silver that can be bought in the open market around 65 cents an ounce. The treasury objects that it would cost about $4,000,000 by this procedure. Some of the western senators and representatives reply that it would mean "an immediate revival of the struggling silver mine industry in the western states." The Senate has approved this measure, for the second time. Last session it died in the House. Its fate is now uncertain. Any sympathetic statesman feels like reviving any ailing industry of importance. But this plainly amounts to a subsidy; and the trouble is, if the silver mining industry is granted a subsidy, there will be other industries clamoring for theirs. Particularly the farmers, already disgruntled enough, will want to know whether prosperity in the silver mines is more important than prosperity on the farms.

In observing great numbers of college graduates today, one cannot but wonder if too much emphasis is not being placed on specialization. It seems as if the colleges were turning out many men who are developed in lopsided fashion. In other words, too much, of the cultural side of college education is being sacrificed for the best good of the men and women they are turning out into a many sided world.

Asquith thought he had quite punctured Lloyd George's toy balloon when he attempted to read him out of the Liberal party in "merrie England" but he has found that the war-time Premier has some fight left in him yet. The conflict between these two men should provide real interest for the student of human nature as well as the political observer and touches of comedy will not be lacking.

Turn About is Fair Play

So Think We

We think it is alright for the County Commissioners to get the best prices for printing possible from printers and dealers within the county, but we do not see any necessity whatever for sending their printing to Fort Worth or Dallas or anywhere else when there are five or six shops in Lubbock.

We think it hardly necessary for any public official who has performed their duty well, to have to call out armed forces in order to have order to deliver an address, in Texas, but such seems to be the case, or at least it would appear from newspaper reports that this is being considered.

We think there is one reason for not being more concrete ideas in the country, and that is that there are too many concrete heads.

We think there are more people who fish for compliments than there are who fish for fish. And most of them are just about as successful as the average amateur fisherman.

We think that if the report that every fifth business house is a beer dive that there is a chance for some good officers to be elected, if there are any running.

We think that wanting to go fishing does not get a fellow anywhere. We have been wanting to go for the past three months, and we are not gone yet.

We think some folks are so meddlesome that they cannot attend to their own business for nosing into that of other people.

We think if people were as interested in perpetuating happiness in the home, as they are in raising a fuss, there would be more happy homes.

We think there are some June brides who are brides every June, according to the court records.

We think that the inheritance tax bothers fewer people than most any kind, but when it does hit it lands heavily.

We think some people believe themselves prosperous because they can still borrow a dollar.

We think that the people of Lubbock are losing money by not securing land sufficient to take care of a large lake on the canyon, before the land becomes too valuable.

We think you can never tell who would like to borrow, till you let it be known that you have some money to separate from.

We think that if you do not like this town possibly you had better do your part to make it better.

It Is Reported

That there will be another postal inspector here soon to tell us if we need another post-office or more room. Just the same as if we do not know. What a silly thing. Who knows more about it than the people who live in Lubbock and have to patronize the present one.

That the fishing fever has struck a lot of fellows in this city, and they are leaving their business to the wife and going to flirt with the finny tribe for a while.

That the Rotary club has extended a challenge to the Kiwanis club for a game of baseball. We think it should be the best out of three.

That the old auditorium is being treated to a thorough tearing down these days, and will soon be out of the way. As soon as that is done lets us extend the improvement and beautifying of the city hall grounds, till they are the prettiest spot in the city.

That Lubbock will have gas if the promoters of the new gas company can put it over. Lubbock with the proper gas franchise will no doubt hold out more inducements for greater industries.

That the health of Lubbock people is unusually good this year for this season, and if we will keep it that way we will see that our premises are well kept. The slop and the scraps from the kitchen are buried or hauled away, and the flies starved to death.

That in some sections of East Texas there is no crop on account of the excessive rains. If it is not one thing it is something else. Possible the acreage will after all be cut down to a reasonable amount and the price will not be altogether knocked out of joint.

WORLD TOPICS

THE NATION'S WEALTH

The Federal Trade Commission, after an exhaustive survey, has computed the wealth of this nation for 1922 as three hundred and fifty-three billions of dollars. For 1926 it is close to four hundred billions—more than France and Great Britain combined.

This wealth is divided as follows: the figures representing billions; agriculture, 64; manufacturing and mining, 49; railroad and public utilities, 46; government property, 42; houses, furniture and personal effects, 88; wholesale and retail, shipping and other business, 64.

The Commission shows that while national wealth made a tremendous increase from 1912 to 1922 agriculture shows very little gain. The acreage increased 10 per cent, but production per acre in spite of improved machinery, decreased 10 per cent and did not keep pace with increase in population. One-third of all our people, outside of the ten millions supported at public expense, are employed in agriculture.

The 1922 book value of all corporations as placed at 192 billions; religious, educational and benevolent institutions fourteen and one-half billions. Private schools and colleges exceed in value the total of public institutions. The Roman Catholic Church is the wealthiest with assets of 800 millions, but the Episcopal leads in wealth per communicant being $223 of assets for each member.

Records from 43,512 estates which have gone to probate and 141,446 non-probated estates in 24 different states, indicate that one per cent of the people own 60 per cent of the wealth, most of which is in stocks and bonds.

The ownership of natural resources shows that six companies control one-third of the water power; eight companies control three-fourths of anthracite deposits; thirty companies one-third of bituminous deposits; two control over half the iron ore; four control half the copper deposits, and 20 companies over one-eighth of the petroleum reserves. This shows a distinct concentration of control in the hands of a few companies, which will be far more striking in 1926.

In corporate ownership employees comprise 7.5 per cent of common stock holders and 3.5 per cent of the preferred stock, but the value of their holdings is a little more than 1.5 per cent—hardly a drop in the bucket.

The Commission did not report on the mortgages and debt of record on current commercial indebtedness of the nation. This is really necessary to complete the national balance sheet for it may reach one half our total assets.

ANOTHER TREASURY "RAID"
 Farmers have been severely criticized because they ask for government aid in stabilizing prices for their products, and in some quarters it has been termed a "raid on the treasury."

Now comes the copper trust with a plea for the cancellation of all foreign debts in order that Europe may be able to purchase more copper. Mr. Walter Douglas, president of the Phelps Dodge Corporation makes the plea in behalf of "a more sympathetic attitude on the part of this country toward European nations." He believes that if all foreign debts are cancelled the market price of copper would advance and would mean a period of prosperity in this country such as we have never seen before.

All of which may be true—but at what a price! Besides, "standing the gaff" for some twelve thousand millions of dollars, the taxpayers and consumers would unquestionably be called upon to pay two or three times as much for copper and other necessities. It would be cheaper for the government to buy the entire copper business and make Europe a present of it.

However, the argument seems to indicate that in their demands farmers are "poor pikers" compared to some other industries.

WINDMILLS

Anton Flettner, inventor of the rotor mast, asserts that the wind, one of the world's greatest potential sources of cheap power, is practically unharnessed. Windmills have hardly changed since they were first used. Their cumbersome, he says, prevents their extensive use, for he favors the size of the wind-spread passes a certain point the mill loses in safety what it gains in power.

The use of rotors on land as a source of energy from the wind, is an aspect of the German inventor's radical proposals which has almost escaped public attention. Mr. Flettner believes that the cylindrical rotating masts which take the place of old-fashioned sails, both on ships and in mills, will become a major source of cheap power for the future, supplementing wood, oil and coal in the generation of electricity.

BRIDE AND GROOM

Oh, bride and groom, the day is fair
 And love is singing everywhere
 And friends are many, smiling now
 The while you take your marriage vow,
 But life is made of joy and care
 And love has many things to bear,
 God bless the home which you Shall build!
 May it with happiness be filled,
 May you set forth this lovely June
 To many a golden honeymoon;
 But storms will come, as old hearts know,
 And love must weather many a blow.

Go hand in hand adown the years,
 Keep faith through doubts and hurts and tears.
 The honeymoon will rise and wane,
 Joy will be lost and found again;
 The tears must come to every eye,
 But love can live when hope must die.
 Oh, bride and groom, for you my prayer
 Is not that every day be fair,
 For that could never be. I pray
 That love shall last, whatever the day Through all that comes of grief and pain
 And hurt and care may love remain.

COLD WEATHER STOPS MAJOR GAMES

By United Press.

For the first time in years, two baseball games were postponed in the middle of June because of cold weather.

New York fans who made the drive to the Polo grounds or Ebbets field Wednesday afternoon to see the Giants or Robins perform, were greeted with the unusual sign: "No game, cold weather." As a result, the Cincinnati and St. Louis teams left New York and Brooklyn for Philadelphia and Boston.

In the only American league game scheduled, the fast stepping White Sox poshed the aged Senators further in the second division by winning 3 to 2. Tee Lyons bested Walter Johnson in a pitching duel. As a result of the defeat, Washington dropped to sixth place while the Tigers advanced a peg, one point ahead of last year's pennant winners.

Pittsburgh stopped the Braves, leaving the diamond on the long end of a 6 to 3 count and moving closer to the league leading Reds. The Cubs braced themselves at the expense of the Phillies, 4 to 1. Blake went the route for McCarthy's rejuvenated team while Art Fletcher called on three Philadelphia moundmen.

Helen Wills On Wimbledon List

LONDON, June 16.—An all American or all French final is possible in the men's singles at the Wimbledon tennis tournament for the world's unofficial championship, owing to the seeding of players.

Although the tourney is five days off, American hopes for victory took a sharp drop Wednesday when the luck of the draw pitted the best United States representative against the cream of Europe.

Mary K. Browne, captain of the American Wightman cup team, was drawn with the world's champion, Suzanne Lenglen, in the first round of the women's singles, while Vincent Richards probably will meet Henri Cochet, his conqueror in Paris last Thursday, in the second round.

The name of Helen Wills remained in the list. Elizabeth Ryan, of California, is expected to meet Kitty McKane Godfree, one of England's best players, in the third round. Howard Kinsey and Count Salm are expected to clash in one of the earlier rounds of the men's singles.

Bobby Jones In Sensational Golf

LONDON, June 16.—Displaying the most sensational golf ever seen on the difficult Sunningdale links, Bobby Jones of Atlanta, the American amateur champion, turned in a startling 66 Wednesday and led a field of 293 entrants in the first round of the qualifying play for next week's British open tournament.

His card was two strokes better than their previous professional record and eight under the amateur record for the course.

As a result of the first day's play, America loomed once more as a serious threat to British golf prestige. Only two of the 18 Americans entered were above 80 for the 18 holes and Archie Compston, now a British pro but an American citizen, was second in the qualifying round, only three strokes behind the brilliant Bobby.

The youthful Southerner, playing almost perfect golf, was three below fours going out and coming in. He slipped up only twice in the round; once on the ninth when he missed a putt which he ordinarily would have holed, and again on the thirteenth hole when his tee shot went into a bunker. Jones picked the ball up and then dropped it into the cup for a neat putt.

The American star drove from the fifteenth tee to within ten feet from the pin, just missing the putt for a two. On the last hole he nearly holed a 30 foot putt.

His card follows:
Out 444 334 434
In 434 345 444

The qualifying rounds were played over three courses, Sunningdale, St. Annes and Western Gables in Scotland. At the end of 36 holes, 49 players will be chosen from Sunningdale, 42 from St. Annes and ten from the Scotland course.

I'll say P.A. makes a bang-up cigarette

IF YOU have never made a cigarette with Prince Albert, I'd like to register right here that you've been missing something mighty good. You can quote me on this: a cigarette made with good old P. A. has 'em all stopped in the home-rolled line. It's the tobacco!

Prince Albert needs no paper-weight or pot-lid to keep it from blowing away when you roll it. You know what I mean . . . stays put in the papers. But that isn't the big point. It's the wonderful taste of a P. A.-rolled cigarette that bangs your smoke-spot for high score.

Cool as a parachute-jumper. Sweet as a stolen kiss. Fragrant as a pine-grove on a damp morning. I'd like to bet that you'll be rolling one right after another when you try P. A. Which will be soon, if I have made myself clear! Try rolling 'em with P. A. on my say-so.

If you're a pipe-smoker, Prince Albert will give you more pleasure that way too. I smoke it both ways—a few home-rolled cigarettes and then a pipe-load. A couple more cigarettes and then a pipe-load. And so on. Either way, P. A. is wonderful tobacco. It sure is, Men.

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins and tippy red bags. And always with every bit of bite and punch recommended by the Prince Albert people.

MARX TELLS OF SOVIET RUSSIA

GERMAN CHANCELLOR EXPLAINS RUSSO-GERMAN PACT

By United News.

BERLIN, June 16.—Soviet Russia, and the justice of Russian claims to full rights in the family of nations, formed the major part of an exclusive interview given to the United News Wednesday by Chancellor Wilhelm Marx, the first newspaper interview Germany's premier has granted since he assumed office.

Chancellor Marx held up the Russo-German neutrality treaty as a model arrangement which other nations might well follow in their future dealings with Russia. He said the time had passed when Russia would attempt to impose communism on other countries and spoke of Russia's acceptance by the powers as one of the most vital needs confronting the civilized world today.

"Unanimous endorsement of the Russo-German treaty by German political parties should dispel all vestiges of doubt abroad as to the peaceful character of that pact," said the chancellor. "The German people who desire peace and the German government whose policy has voiced this desire would not have approved this treaty if it had been calculated to endanger friendly co-operation between European peoples."

"The treaty neither threatens nor undermines the pact of Locarno. It merely amplifies the work of pacification begun at Locarno, a work which stands out most prominently in the American foreign policy. I am convinced that the balance between Germany's Eastern and Western interests, as reflected in the Locarno and Berlin treaties, will bear economic fruits throughout the world."

Dr. Marx then turned to the role he felt Germany should play in restoring world wide confidence in Russia.

"Germany considers herself entrusted with the mission of restoring Russia to the community of people's throughout world," he said. "I mean not only political restoration as well. A country with Russia's potential strength is capable of existing for a long time without exchanging goods with others. But such artificial isolation is unnatural and contrary to the general interests of mankind."

"Owing to these considerations as well as the economic necessity which her geographic position dictates Germany is constantly devoting lively attention to expanding her economic relations with Russia. Moreover, Germany will welcome similar steps by other countries."

Speaking of the opinion held toward Russia by other nations, Marx continued:

"There have been certain misgivings regarding resumption of trade with Russia owing to the present form of government in Moscow. These are now unnecessary. Aside from the fact that the period has passed wherein the Soviet planned to force its type of government on other countries, leading German business men have confirmed to me the fact that their business relations with the Soviet business men, especially as regards strict fulfillment of obligations, have been most satisfactory."

In closing the chancellor again stressed the need for acceptance by other nations of intercourse with Soviet Russia.

"I believe that Russia's re-entry in the world's political and economic life constitutes one of the most important tasks of the present day," he said. "Therefore I feel that the Berlin treaty with Russia represents a valuable contribution looking to accomplishment of this task."

Children from elementary and secondary schools of London in increasing numbers are visiting places on continent in parties conducted personally by teachers. Belgium, Switzerland and France were visited by different groups, but of all places Paris is the most popular. Teachers and pupils defray their own expenses.

CHARGE PITTSBURGH Attacks Indian Mineral Lease VOTES COERCED

CITY EMPLOYEES FORCED TO VOTE FOR PEPPER IS ALLEGED

By United News.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—Reports that city employees in Pittsburgh were coerced into supporting the Pepper-Fisher ticket in the recent Pennsylvania primary were investigated in the senate campaign fund inquiry Wednesday.

Mayor Kline of Pittsburgh was put on the stand and was severely questioned by Senators regarding his alleged "bribe and butter" speech to city employees before the primary in which, it had been reported, he warned them they would be discharged in the face of the civil service law unless they voted for Senator George W. Pepper and John S. Fisher, the Mellon candidate for governor.

Just before Kline took the stand, William A. White, city editor of the Pittsburgh Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, testified that he had sent a shorthand reporter to take down a speech made by Mayor Kline to city employees, street cleaners, clerks, chapwomen and others at a political meeting in a school house.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—A bill of Representative Hayden, democrat, Arizona, permitting lease of mineral rights on 22 million acres of Indian lands in Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado was attacked in the house of representatives by Representative Sprout, republican, Kansas, Wednesday as offering the potentiality of a second Teapot Dome scandal.

Representative Frear, republican, Wisconsin, defended the bill, saying the Indians approve its present form.

Atkeson, an ardent dry and the first man to file for the nomination, issued a statement here Wednesday saying he would support Proctor who is campaigning for the nomination on a strictly dry platform.

"Mr. Proctor is in every way qualified to make Missouri an able representative," Mr. Atkeson said in his statement of withdrawal. ## DAVIS ADVOCATE OF MILITARY TRAINING

CHESTER, Pa., June 16.—Military training in colleges does not stimulate militarism as argued by the internationalists and pacifists, Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis declared in address to the Pennsylvania Military college here today.

Davis' speech was made in acceptance of a degree of doctor of laws conferred by the college.

"There is no antagonism between military training and peace in a free democracy like ours," he said. "We have the will to peace. But the will to peace on the part of one nation alone cannot always preserve the peace. With our will to peace we must have the ability to defend ourselves against the aggression of those who are less peace loving."

Texans Have Two Live Wild Lobos

W. I. and J. W. Evans, of Wichita Falls, left last night for Plainview where they will exhibit two large lobos that were captured by them in Brewster county five weeks ago.

The lobos are the largest that have ever been captured alive in Texas, and had destroyed livestock in Brewster county worth three thousand dollars during a four year period during which time trappers tried vainly to capture or kill them.

Evans brothers succeeded in trapping them after weeks of patient work.

Just before being captured the black lobo, the only one of its kind captured in Texas, killed two Mexican trappers in a cave in Brewster county.

The animals will probably be shipped to a New York zoo soon, an offer of one thousand dollars for them having been made to the trappers.

DAILY MARKETS

New York Finance

By United News
NEW YORK, June 16.—With call money down to 3 1/2 per cent for the first time since the end of May, the stock market was boiling again Wednesday.

Steel again shot abruptly higher, touching 139 and closing with a net gain of 3 points for the day. General Motors at 144 was better than two points high and substantial gains were registered in Du Pont, Westinghouse, Cast Iron Pipe, National Dairy, General Electric, I. I. Case, American Locomotive, Bethlehem Steel, Allied Chemical and other market leaders.

This rally in the face of the profit taking which appeared soon after the opening indicated that the market's strong propulsive power was not subject to interference by liquidation or such profit taking. The turnover in steel common alone was about 150,000 shares with 110,000 shares of General Motors; 60,000 Chrysler, 94,000 Hudson, 94,000 Marland Oil, 30,000 Panhandle Producers, 75,000 Willcocks-Overland, 40,000 Corn Products, and a like heavy turn over in many other active features. Total sales for the day were well above the 2,000,000 level.

As was the case Tuesday the market advance gathered momentum as the day went on and the profit taking of the morning hours vanished as the demand for stocks swept on. The closing hours witnessed the best prices of the day and the market pace assumed the proportions of last fall's bull market. Irregularity disappeared under the stimulus of 3 1/2 per cent call.

While much of the buying was of an excellent character, considerable support was traceable to technical considerations. For instance in the case of Hudson, the sharp run up there reflected the anxiety of shorts to cover before the end of the week to avoid the obligations imposed by the stock dividend.

East Iron Pine's ten point advance was not an unusual accompaniment to a general market advance. This CANYON, June 16.—Three thousand or more students and ex-students of the West Texas State Teachers' College will parade in Amarillo on Wednesday, June 23, at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce meeting. W. E. Lockhart, who is well known for his management of inter-scholastic league meet in this part of Texas, will be in general charge of the huge student demonstration.

The commercial club of Canyon is making possible the attendance of such an unusual number of students; the slogan of all Canyon for this year is "We are going to Amarillo." The Buffalo Band which has attended the Chamber of Commerce meetings for the past two years, will be at the head of the parade.

Special to The Avalanche.

CANYON, June 16.—Plans are being made here for the annual meeting of the Panhandle Baptist Assembly, which will take place at Ceta Canyon, twenty miles southeast of Canyon, during the last days of July.

July 2 will be a notable date for hundreds of Baptists from the Panhandle-Plains region, for it will mark the opening of the first great assembly since the assembly has distributed the debt against its meeting place.

Dr. L. B. Seabrook, president of the Baptist Theological Seminary of Fort Worth will be the principal speaker at the meeting; Dr. E. B. Atwood will be present as teacher of the study groups.

Rev. B. F. Fronbarger of Canyon is business manager of the assembly; Dr. G. L. Yates of Amarillo is president and Rev. E. D. Morgan of Paducah, Texas, is chairman of the program and publicity for the 1926 meeting.

The Ceta Canyon where the meeting is held is one of the most picturesque small canyons leading into the great Palo Duro Gorge. It is a beautiful all-year round camping ground.

BACKED BY BANKS, SAYS BOOTLEGGER

SAYS HE HANDLED DEALS ON COMMISSION ON COAST

By United News
WASHINGTON, June 16.—Bootlegging from the inside was described in minute details to the house alcoholic liquor traffic committee Wednesday by one who pled the trade extensively, according to his confession, which contained sensational charges involving the financing of liquor deals by California banks.

The witness, William C. Davison, of Los Angeles, described large scale operations from Canada to the seat of wealth in Southern California and told of huge consignments sent to Washington. He related details of transactions with banks which financed liquor movements, and told the committee he had bought off dry agents, adding that federal agents were more easily bribed than state officers.

It has not proved lucrative in the final analysis for Davison, alias William Cain, who appeared before the committee wearing an old army shirt and trousers that had seen considerable service, and admitted "broke." He limped into the committee room on a crutch, and said that he had been wounded in an affair with dry agents. Davison told his story, he said, to get revenge on those "who had done him dirt." He quit the business a year ago he testified.

Davison was brought before the committee at the instance of Representative Laguardia, New York, independent, and wet. He said he had tried to see Lincoln C. Andrews, dry enforcement chief, but had failed, and charged that California dry officials would do nothing about his evidence. One of these, W. W. Anderson, said "That would look fine in the papers but it would not do to tell that California banks were in the whiskey business," Davison told the committee.

After he had heard the story told by Davison, which was continued at a night session of the committee, Representative Uphaw of Georgia, ardent dry said that if the charges were proved he would urge that every national bank involved be deprived of its charter.

Banks, Davison claimed, held certified checks for liquor in lots of from 100 to 1,000 cases until the customers received the liquor and released the money.

The former bootlegger said he gave a certified check for $7,200 to the vice president of a bank at San Diego, to be held until the liquor was delivered, but that the first part of the liquor, 30 gallons, was stolen, was stolen from his truck by hijackers and he "got of the notoriety" and left. He said he never recovered his money although he had wired the bank.

Davison said a deal made through a bank in San Francisco involved $27,500, and that he received a commission of $5,000. He said he dealt with the cashier. The liquor was for a restaurant owner, he explained. In the case of another the witness said he had talked with the manager of a branch in Monterey, Calif., who had agreed to the deal but later called it off.

Counter Charges Follow
LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 16.—Counter accusations that may shake the testimony of William C. Davison, principal witness before the house alcoholic liquor traffic committee, in Washington, were made here Wednesday night by W. W. Anderson, assistant federal prohibition administrator for southern California and Arizona.

In a telegram to national dry headquarters, Anderson charged that Davison, after advising officials he could prove collusion between banks, liquor violators and smugglers, tried to obtain $10,000 from a Los Angeles bank for information he claimed to possess.

Anderson's rebuttal came immediately after a stormy session in the office of Administrator H. E. Frith, during which it was indicated that one of the most widespread shakeups ever to occur in any coast government office was imminent.

Frith admitted that two of his agents had already turned in their badges on demand. At least three and probably four other federal operatives will be requested to resign, it was intimated.

The court martial was conducted by Alf Ottendahl, chief of the special intelligence unit of the international revenue service newly appointed in the west. Frith, Anderson, Caryl Shelton, legal counsel, and G. E. Ellsworth, field office inspector.

An inquiry into Davison's charges caused accusations to be made, it was said, that federal agents were being paid to protect bootleggers and liquor smugglers.

GAS FRANCHISE

be required under forfeit to test at least 800.

Not Contingent
The franchise is not made contingent on the granting of any other franchises, but is granted with the understanding that similar franchises "have been, will be, or may be," granted by the cities of Canyon, Tulia, Plainview, and Slaton. It provides that if any lesser rate is granted these cities, Lubbock may demand a similar reduction in rate.

City Manager Perkins declared that while the action of the commission is final unless a referendum vote of the people was demanded within thirty days, the ordinance providing for the granting of the franchise would have to be published and would not be final until the thirty days had passed without any referendum being demanded.

The franchise is granted for 20 years. It is not exclusive.

The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted

DOROTHY A. F. MARCELL

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.

THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED with Irene Rich in a picture from this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Eileen Mannering has consented to allow herself to be seen in a notorious inn when it is raided, in order to accomplish the defeat of her husband, John Mannering, for reelection as district attorney. His opponent, Jerome Wallace, has promised her that if he wins he will release her son, Bob, who is in jail accused of the death of a woman while speeding in a motor car. As district attorney, the elder Mannering considers it his duty to prosecute the boy.

CHAPTER X—Continued

"What of it? Good Lord, John, I want to publish a formal denial from you which will put a stop to that rot. You're enough of a politician to know such rumors will not help you on the eve of election."

"I don't know that I care to deny them, Dryden."

A sneaker before, it was now a bomb which appeared to have exploded in the editorial sanctum.

"Not deny them! See here, Mannering, are you asleep or just plain crazy?" shouted Dryden, excitedly. "You can't throw down your party like that. Don't you realize that if you would be political suicide, that your resignation would be your political death warrant? If you have no thought for yourself, think of us. Surely you owe some gratitude to the men who for years have slaked their time, brains and money on your political fortunes."

Mrs. Coolidge Turns First Sod for New Orphanage

Mrs. Coolidge, wife of the President, carried on a tradition established many years ago by Dolly Madison, by turning the first shovel of earth on the new site of the Washington City orphanage on the outskirts of the national capital. Dolly Madison was the first lady trustee of the institution.

LYNCH HITS COMIC STRIP POLITICS

SAYS DAN CALLS JIM 'JIGGS,' JIM CALLS DAN ANDY GUMP

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., June 16.

Lynch Davidson speaking before a large crowd here this afternoon paid his respects to the "comic strip" campaigns which he says are being waged by Dan Moody and Jim Ferguson.

"What boots it to the people of Texas," he asked, "whether Dan calls

Jim 'Andy Gump' or Jim calls Dan

'Jiggs'?"

"In heaven's name," asked Davidson, "what benefit is it to the state of Texas whether Dan has a license to get married, or whether his war record was good or bad?"

Davidson asked his hearers to

"reconsecrate themselves to the principle that election to public office is no license for treachery to the commonwealth in either its god name or its temporal riches; that honesty and integrity and a reasonable amount of efficiency in public office is demanded by the people of this state. But such high ideals of office are not to be obtained by campaigns of mud-slinging and vituperation." He said that "according to my view, my two opponents in this race have absolutely no excuse or at least they have presented none, except each other for their candidacy to the office to which they are aspiring." He said

"Dan's platform is Jim and Jim's platform is Dan, and both poor platforms. They have pitched a political prize fight trying to raise the people's passions and prejudices on one side or the other. What sort of political jungle does this lead to?

You have only to look at your state government today—voting anti this and anti that never thinking of the real issues of government." He said his opponents remind him of the Irishman who came to Texas in the early days and saw a sheep shearer.

"He thought that was a mighty fine business, as he saw them grab an old sheep, clip off the big pile of fine wool, and then the sheep trotting off without so much as a single bleat.

So the Irishman grabbed a pair of shears and started off to do some shearing, and the first thing he encountered was a long snouted razor-back hog. He grabbed the hog by the leg, wrestled up and down the road, skinned his hands and tore his shirt, and finally got the hog down, and sheared him. When he had finished and wiped the grime and sweat from his face, he looked down at that little pile of black hair and said,

"Egads, lots of wool and mighty little wool."

The present campaign is bringing

"lots of wool," said Davidson, "but precious little woolen." He said he challenged his hearers to find anything constructive that either of his opponents is presenting to the people of Texas.

He said that "campaigns of this kind are responsible for the fact that our tax rate today is 79 cents, the highest in history." He said that "Politicians do not want peace.

They thrive on strife and quarreling." High taxes, he said, have caused the downfall of more governments than any other single thing, and "if you are to avoid the same course in this government of ours, you must to the right administration of our governmental affairs."

He told of an old woman who was asked by her new preacher, "Sister

Jones, what is it that has sustained and soothed you through all these years of trials and tribulations?"

She said "Brother Roberts, if I had to answer just one thing, I would say it was vitellus, just vitellus."

Davidson said "that good soul did not intend any irreverence, for did not the Lord say 'Give us this day our daily bread?' He said it shows 'the sort of things that are fundamental in our daily lives. It is the kind of clothes we wear, the kind of food

we can buy, the kind of homes that we can afford to live in—these are the things with which our government is first concerned." But he said that he "would not have you underestimate the finer things of life.

We must have first of all an educated citizenry, for it is on this that the perpetuity of our government depends." He said he advocated the county unit system in rural schools, which "by hardly more than a turn of the wrist will enable us to increase the length of our rural school terms

by thirty per cent, and I am inclined to believe, possibly fifty per cent." He said that competent administration of the school funds will allow increase of salaries to teachers, and that "the salaries ought to be such as will attract the best men and women of the nation, for nothing can compare in importance with starting off our boys and girls on the right pathways of life." He said it "is a crime to turn loose any boy or girl in these days of keen competition without at least a high school education." While discussing the penitentiary system, he said "I am advocating putting the convicts of this state on a daily wage for the work they do. Those men imprisoned in these walls for crime may have left in some community a young wife, babies, perhaps a mother or sister, torn asunder in that catastrophic event, and I say it is up to the state to see that those dependents are cared for. And we can also help prison discipline with that daily wage. It would be more effective than the whip or the last." Convicts who were used on the roads, he said, would thereby match federal aid, and create a fund amounting to $125,000

a month, for upbuilding the highway system.

Davidson will speak at an all west

Texas rally in Wichita Falls Friday night.

PADUCAH WILL BE

IN AMARILLO MEET

IN WESTERN STYLE

AMARILLO, Tex., June 16.—Pa-duciah is coming to the West Texas

Chamber of Commerce convention here, June 21, 22 and 23, in true western style! Chuck wagons, reminiscent of colorful days, will be resurrected from honored disuse to form a part of an autavan which will bring to the convention here the largest delegation which that city has ever sent to a West Texas Chamber of Commerce gathering.

Arrangements have already been made for the erection of a tent headquarters where the delegation will be accommodated during the three days.

But the most interesting feature of the Paducah delegation's arrangements is the manner in which the members of the delegation will be fed. And here is where the 'chuck wagon' of by-gone 'days' will be glorified. For the Paducah party intends to bring some real, honest-to-goodness ranch cooks to preside over these 'field kitchens' of the roundup and range. The result will

LEGION UPHOLDS DAN'S WAR RECORD

COMMANDER DUNNING BRANDS
FERGUSON CHARGES
FALSE

DALLAS, June 16.—Unqualified endorsement of the war record of Dan Moody, candidate for governor, and the branding as absolutely false and without foundation of the charges that Moody's record is tarnished are contained in a statement issued by Dr. W. T. Dunning of Gonzales, Commander of the Texas Department, American Legion. Dr. Dunning called attention to the practice of the American Legion to following a policy of nonparticipation in politics and said that the statement was issued solely "in the interest of fair play and in order that the people of Texas may know the truth of the situation arising from these unfounded charges." His statement follows:

"Charges have been made against a member of the American Legion who chances to be a candidate for Governor, that he has a tarnished war record, one unfitting him to be a member of the American Legion. These charges, made against this man, Dan Moody, of Taylor, are utterly false and without foundation. The records of the War Department show that Mr. Moody served in the great war and was discharged at the close. His record is clear and the legion, requiring as a basis for membership, only this honorable discharge and that a man of good moral character, the legion thus feels that it has not been mistaken in admitting this man to membership. His local post at Taylor saw fit to elect him as its first commander and in the interest of fair play and in order that the people of Texas may know the truth of the situation arising from these unfounded charges, this statement is made. The people of Texas are entitled to know the truth and the commander of the legion feels that it is his duty to give it to them.

"The American Legion of Texas heretofore having adopted a policy of nonparticipation in politics and now continuing to pursue that policy, this statement is here first qualified with the distinct understanding that the legion as a whole endorses the candidacy of no man, and the commander abides by that attitude.

"After buying less than half the goods ordered in Sweden, the Soviet government announced that no more could be accepted, and this has caused disappointment and serious trouble for the manufacturers affected.

SLATON PREPARES FOR ANNUAL FAIR

SEPTEMBER 23 TO 25 SET
AS DATES FOR TRI-COUNTY FAIR

SLATON, June 16.—On September 23 to 25, Slaton will hold its third annual fair. Every one is looking forward for a great time. Slaton people are optimistic over the Tri-County Fair, being located near the corner of three counties. It has large community territory to draw from. The fair directors are preparing to incorporate the association and make a permanent location.

There will be a number of small buildings erected in time for the holding of this fair. We do believe that a fair is the proven asset both to the commercial and agricultural interests. It is that institution that seems to inspire and bring out the real spirit of service. It is through the fair association that all alike are educated through the various avenues of both commercial and productive life. Hundreds of agricultural products are concentrated for exhibition. By the hand of skill and scientific cultivation, these products are outstanding in the richness of color, time and standard. It is on this occasion that we mix and mingle our ideas and thoughts, wide publicity is given to the possible growth and fertility of soil matter.

There is a spirit of pride that lies in the hearts of every living soul, and it only comes alive and leaps for ward when we, as an individual, have been permitted to exhibit and portray to the world the handiwork of our own labor. It is the fair that we enter the great school called Common Interest. He the commonwealth mix and mingle and exchange thoughts and ideas, ways and means, by which certain products have been grown.

It is the fair that community life is inspired for bigger and nobler things. It is here that we are taught the great lesson of home economics, and it is here that we are taught that Mother Earth is capable of feeding the human family. And here are exhibited the various steps and difference of plant life showing in the true sense fertility, moisture and scientific cultivation. It is at the fair that civic pride reaches that high standard each and everyone, bring their products and attend with that great purpose to win. So all in all, no institution can fill the place of a well-planned fair. Slaton is preparing to hold one of the biggest and best fairs of the South Plains.
