Rotarians Hold Air Session

Good Will Flight Is Made To Plainview

REFUSING to be "drowned out" by the roar of three giant Wright Whirlwind motors, eight members of the Lubbock Rotary club, with two "guests" made what is believed to be history yesterday when they held an official Rotary club session high in the clouds between here and Plainview.

Following the set form of regular meetings, the octette of local business men introduced their "guests" and held their program. Walter A. Myrick, jr., who presided over the first Rotary session in Lubbock and who was the first civic club president on the South Plains presided as master of ceremonies and Dick Smith served as secretary. Other club members, all of whom made short talks, were Ross A. McWhorter, George E. Benson, Dr. Sam G. Dunn, Harry Meyers, A. J. Parsons, and Charles A. Guy. Jo Dick Slaughter and Howell Arnett, other members of the party, were "introduced" as club meeting guests.

On Good Will Flight

Chartering the plane for a miniature good will flight to Plainview and return, the party was swelled to 13 by Pilot Ace Brauganier and the two members of his crew. The flight, made in the big Ford cabin monoplane, was generously greeted in Plainview where a stop for luncheon was made.

With a medium ceiling and perfect flying conditions, the big plane cruised easily on the first half of the trip, leaving Lubbock's temporary flying field north of the city at 11:58 a. m. and making a three point landing at the Plainview airport 26 minutes later. The return trip, however, took 31 minutes, a lively wind and choppy air forcing the plane to a 3,000 foot altitude most of the way.

Plane Costly One

The plane, property of the Golden State airways, of Los Angeles, has been in Lubbock for the better part of two days, doing commercial flying. It is an all metal ship, the purchase price of which was $51,000. It has seating arrangements for twelve persons.

Of the party, Messrs. Myrick, Parsons and Smith were making their "maiden" air voyages and the first half of the flight was liberally spotted with good natured raillery and graphic descriptions of crack-ups and crashes. Hearty lunches at Plainview, however, didn't set so

Kennedy Declares Contract Signed For Roswell Line

Early Construction On New Line From Snyder Into New Mexico Is Promised By Houston Capitalist

Plan Two Others

San Angelo - San Antonio Route To Be Discussed In Meeting Friday; Orient Officials To Meet Soon

(By Associated Press)

SNYDER, Feb. 27.—Early construction of a railroad line from Roswell, N. M., to a point on the Gulf of Mexico via Snyder, is assured, Captain Ed Kennedy, Houston, original promoter of the Snyder, Roswell and Gulf railroad, said in a long distance conversation with chamber of commerce officials here today. Kennedy declared a contract had been signed that promises early action. He said he would reach Snyder March 12 to complete preliminary plans.

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 27.—(AP)—A meeting of directors of the Gulf and West Texas railroad will be held in San Antonio next Friday for the purpose of perfecting plans for the building of a line from San Antonio to San Angelo and providing a more direct outlet from West Texas to the Gulf through Corpus Christi, it was learned here today.

SAN ANGELO, Feb. 27.—(AP)—At the request of the president, W. C. Storey, a special meeting of the board of directors of the Kansas City, Mexico and Orient Railroad company of Texas has been called to meet here next Monday to perfect plans for immediate extension of the company's line as announced last week.

This announcement told of the company's intention of extending its line from Alpine to Presidio.

Two Banks Are Bandit Victims

HOOKERVILLE, Okla., Feb. 27. (AP)—Officers in the tri-state zinc and lead mining district tonight were looking for two men who today raided the First State Bank of Hockerville, escaping with $2,000 in currency.

CAMERON, Feb. 27. (AP)—One man is in custody and another is sought in connection with the robbery of the Buckholts State bank near here last night.

Temple officers arrested the suspect and turned him over to Milam county officers. A wrecked automobile near Sparks, south of Temple, gave the officers additional clues they found in it part of the $300 reported missing from the bank.

Floydada To Hold Banquet Tonight

The annual meeting and banquet of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce will be held at Floydada tonight, according to information obtained at the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce office yesterday.

Several Lubbock citizens will attend to represent this city.

Ed. Bishop is secretary of the Floydada organization and served as president of the South Plains Commercial Executive Association until the last meeting of the association here in Lubbock when new officers were elected.

Four hundred Floydada business men and farmers and farm women of Floyd County are expected to attend the banquet.

CASE GOES TO JURY

McCloskey's Fate Now Rests With Jurors

AUSTIN, Feb. 28. (AP)—The election fraud case of Congressman-elect Augustus J. McCloskey went to the jury at 1:05 a. m. today. That body retired immediately to deliberate, indicating that a verdict might be expected without a court recess.

Clerk Refuses To Grant Licenses

LUFKIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Since Texas passed its new law requiring notice of intentions before marriage licenses may be issued, it has been harder to get a marriage license here than a divorce.

The county clerk, acting on advice from Austin, had refused to issue any license certificates. He said that he believed the new law was immediately effective, and that he would await the arrival of proper forms before continuing.

Robison Tells Of Taking $1000 For Operation Charge

Land Commissioner Talks Before Investigating Body Wednesday; Explains Transactions

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Believing that he would not survive a surgical operation he was about to undergo, J. T. Robison, land commissioner, drew a check for $1,000 on the special fund accumulated to pay costs of revaluation of public lands, in order that Mrs. Robison "would have something with which to bear the expenses of his funeral," he told the joint legislative committee investigating the general land office today.

Mr. Robison's long and as yet uncompleted recital was a remarkable dissertation including many events in his 68 years of life,, beginning when his father left to join the Confederate army and "never came back", involving his struggles for an education after having been left an orphan when 13, the rearing wholly or partially by himself and Mrs. Robison of 18 orphan children in addition to four of their own, and touching a serious illness which seized him while reappraising lands in West Texas and culminating in a major surgical operation in San Antonio.

Meant To Pay Back

He said he intended to use the money represented by checks endorsed back to him by payees when he refunded them their prorata of the "one cent an acre" reappraisement fund, raised by assessing owners of public lands, as he would "any other funds I have."

He stated that he believed the $1,000 check he drew on the special

Evidence Closed In Horton's Trial

Testimony Conflicts As To Condition Of Amarilloan; Arguments Scheduled For Today; Insanity Is Plea

(By Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Feb. 27.—Testimony as to the mental condition of H. Troy Horton conflicted today as evidence was completed in Horton's trial for the murder of his former wife, Mrs. Mary Horton, here last October. Testimony has brought out that Mrs. Horton was shot four times as she ran from the man she had divorced in 1927.

Of five physicians examined today, two testified that in their opinion Horton is "perfectly sane". Two expressed belief he is suffering from "delusional insanity." The fifth would not express a positive opinion.

Horton, attending court on a stretcher, made no attempt to deny he shot his former wife, building his defense on the insanity plea Arguments were scheduled to begin tomorrow.

Hoover Nears End Of Cabinet Choice

Authentic Word Gives Two Men As Selected; Only Two Posts Now Remain, Is Belief Of Friends

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27. — As President-Elect Hoover neared the end of his cabinet making today William J. Donovan of New York, passed abruptly out of the political picture of his administration. At the same time authentic word came that James W. Good of Iowa, would be Secretary of War, and William D. Mitchell, of Minnesota, Attorney General.

Donovan, assistant to the Attorney General, had been considered in connection with both of these places. He finally was eliminated after discussions, refused the post of Governor General of the Philippines and will retire March 5.

From all accounts the President-Elect sought repeatedly to have Donovan succeed Henry L. Stimson in the Philippines, but the Buffalo attorney refused to reconsider it, and after a third conference today too leave of Mr. Hoover. It was emphasized that there had been no open break between the two, long friends and closely associated in the Hoover campaign.

As matters shaped up tonight, friends of Mr. Hoover believed the cabinet selections now stood:

Secretary of State, Henry L. Stimson, of New York.

Secretary of Treasury, Andrew W. Mellon, of Pennsylvania.

Secretary of War, James W.

Hunt Calms Down With Court "Act"

DALLAS, Feb. 27. (AP)—The chain of circumstantial evidence by which the state hopes to send Dewey Hunt to the electric chair for the killing of Samuel Cole, street car operator, here last October, was begun today after the burly defendant, trussed to his chair had pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Hunt, whose ravings interrupted court two days ago and made it necessary to bind and gag him, had calmed appreciably today and the gag was removed. He muttered almost constantly.

Five witnesses from Tennessee whom the state has summoned to refute Hunt's insanity plea, were expected to testify tomorrow.

Highway Bond Plan Passes In Senate; Goes Before House

Supporters Muster 21 Votes Wednesday For Passage; Parrish's County Office Bill Is Passed

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Supporters of the highway bond proposal today mustered 21 votes in the senate, the exact number necessary for final passage.

The resolution calling for referendum of a constitutional amendment was passed finally with 21 ayes, 7 nos, one present and not voting and two absent.

Must Pass House

The resolution must receive 100 votes of the 150 house members before the proposed amendment can be submitted to the people. If it passes both houses it will be submitted in an election on July 2.

With the fate of submission of the proposed $175,000,000 bond issue hanging in the balance, Martin changed his vote from "no" to "aye."

The few opponents of the bond plan raised a point of order "en masse," contending that the result already had been announced and that there were only 20 favorable votes.

Miller Overrules Point

Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller overruled the point holding that although the secretary and informed him of the result he had not announced it and a vote change was still in order.

Martin a few minutes before had

Parts Of Eastern Ohio Are Threatened By Floods

CLEVELAND, Feb. 27. (AP)—The swollen Ohio and Tuscarawas rivers laden with ice blocks, threatened parts of eastern Ohio with floods tonight and farmers in several lowland districts were prepared to move their families and stock.

The second death attributed to the flood occurred when W. H. Lee Masillon, fell into water in the basement of his home.

Rutledge Handed Suspended Verdict

Young Husband And Father Is Given Lecture As Sentence Heard; Mrs. Kerr Gets Hung Jury

Upon recommendation of the jury, Slim Rutledge, on trial before Judge Homer L. Pharr Wednesday, in the Seventy-Second district court, was given a five-year suspended sentence for violation of the prohibition law.

In delivering the sentence to Rutledge, Judge Pharr said, in part: "There is no reason or excuse for any man to sell whiskey in this day and time. The jury could have sent you to the pen for five long years, and the only thing for you to do from here on out is to be a man, be a husband to your wife and a father to your child."

Rutledge was said to be 22 years of age, his young wife and their baby being in the courtroom during the course of the trial.

A hung jury, with 11 men contending for conviction and one for acquittal, reported to Judge Homer L. Pharr at 9 o'clock Wednesday night in the case of the State of Texas versus Mrs. Mary L. Kerr, charged with the sale of intoxicating liquor.

Mrs. Kerr, age about 45, was the first woman ever to come to trial before Judge Pharr for violation of the prohibition laws and was also the first woman to be prosecuted by District Attorney Durwood Bradley.

Here's Dope On Sharkey's Win

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27. The expert consensus among ringside critics after tonight's fight showed a big majority in agrement with the decision for Jack Sharkey. The ratio was about 12 to 1.

The average of opinions on rounds also agreed substantially with the verdict of referee Lou Magnolia in scoring six for Sharkey, three for Stribling and one even. Opinion ranged, however, from score sheets showing eight rounds to two on Sharkey, to the scattering few who gave Stribling an edge of one or two rounds.

Of 37 experts polled, 32 agreed with the decision while only five considered Stribling had won.

Lindbergh's Flying Skill Saves Himself And His Fiancee From Possible Serious Injury As Plane Capsizes In Making Landing

(By Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 27.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's flying skill saved the life of his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow, when their plane capsized on landing at Valbuena field today. The colonel received what embassy attaches describe as a 'slightly dislocated shoulder blade." Miss Morrow was frightened but not injured.

Secrecy surrounded events of the day before and after the accident Lindbergh was returning from an air trip of several hours with the girl he will marry. The airplane, a four passenger monoplane named "The City of Wichita," had been crippled by loss of a landing wheel and the colonel faced a situation of unusual danger with the chances favoring a crash.

Taxied On One Wheel

He brought the plane safely to earth and taxied for thirty yards on one wheel with the axle of the missing wheel dragging the ground. Suddenly the plane pitched forward and turned over.

Reporters, photographers, mechanics and Mexican aviation officers of the field rushed toward the plane and the photographers took pictures while others helped pull the colonel and Miss Morrow out of the cabine windows.

Lindbergh's first act was to clutch his right arm, which appeared to pain him, and smile reassuringly at Miss Morrow. She was somewhat agitated and the colonel seemed to be concerned with telling her that there was nothing to worry about.

"Are you hurt?" Miss Morrow asked and the colonel replied:

"Don't bother about me. It is nothing. Are you all right?"

Miss Morrow Trembling

Miss Morrow was dusty, dishevelled and trembling, but tried to smile and replied: 'Yes, I'm all right."

Colonel Lindbergh grinned boyishly and turned toward a group of reporters who had begun to aim a broadside of questions at him. He said and repeated several times: "I have nothing to say."

A few minutes later he changed his mind.

"This is nothing at all. It is not an accident. It is simply a mishap," he said.

Mexican army officers had received orders meanwhile to destroy all photographic records of the accident. They did this.

The accident terminated a three hour flight. It was the first time the aviator and ambassador's daughter had been in the air together since the announcement of their engagement. Their destination and the circumstances surrounding the loss of a landing wheel remain secrets closely guarded.

Lindbergh offered no clue to the lost wheel beyond saying that it was dropped in some field near Mexico City.

"Wheat King Of The World" May Become Member Of President-elect Hoover's Cabinet; Career Spectacular

By NEA Service

Hardin, Mont., Feb. 27.—Thomas D. Campbell, known as the "wheat king of the world," may become secretary of agriculture under President Hoover.

With Campbell in the cabinet, farmers would have as their leader a man who in the last ten years has developed into the most successful wheat farmer in America.

Since 1918 he has had in this section of the country about 100,000 acres under cultivation. As high as 65,000 acres of this land has been in wheat in one year. And while adverse conditions cut the profits of other farmers in lean years, Campbell enjoyed prosperity.

Modernized farming, efficiency, and the use of machinery on a large scale are responsible for the success of this 47-year-old western wheat farmer.

When Campbell was 17, his father's illness forced him to assume a good deal of the responsibility connected with running the family farm, a tract of 1400 acres near Grand Forks, N. D.

Has Two College Degrees

In addition to running this farm, he went to the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks, where he crowded two four-year courses into five years and emerged with two degrees—M. E. and B. A. Desirous of further training in mechanical engineering, he attended Cornell University, but this course was soon interrupted when his father became increasingly ill.

He went back to the farm. He continued to manage it until he married and then moved to California where he experimented in agricultural developments until the United States entered the World War.

Realizing the need of wheat to supply the army across seas, Campbell went to Franklin K. Lane, then secretary of the interior, with the suggestion that vast quantities of wheat could be cultivated on two Indian reservations in Montana—the Crow and Fort Peck reservations. Lane looked on the plan with approval and advised Campbell to go ahead.

Campbell was comparatively unknown at the time, but undaunted he presented himself to a group of New York capitalists, among whom was J. P. Morgan. He succeeded in getting from them $2,000,000 to finance his project.

Gets Poor Start

He immediately leased 150,000 acres on the two reservations and set out on his gigantic task of making them produce wheat. Terms of his lease provided that the Indian residents of the two reservations should receive a certain percentage of the wheat crop and of the money realized from its sale.

Three bad years followed, in which Campbell could barely keep his head above water. In the meantime the war ended and the New York capitalists withdrew and left Campbell alone.

Campbell had to get down to real hard work, then. He made the rounds of his assistants, all engineering students, and gave each a block of stock to insure his co-operation. He formed the Campbell Farming Corporation and then began in earnest.

Giving up 55,000 acres of the land on which his lease expired, Campbell started off on what has been the most successful farming venture of its time. His acres repeatedly yielded 400,000 and 500,000 bushels of wheat.

He's a Wheat "Manufacturer"

In 1923 he called on President Coolidge to present his views on a farm problem. "I am a mechanical engineer," he told Coolidge, "not a farmer. We manufacture wheat, almost, instead of raising it. We do not have farm hands, but skilled labor drawing high salaries."

That explains his remarkable success in becoming one of the largest wheat farmers in the world.

His farm of 100,000 acres here is divided into five sections. He operates it scientifically. He believes in a two-in-one system—two years in wheat and one of fallow. Everything is mechanical. Not a mule or horse is kept on the farm.

Numerous tractors, plows, discs, seeders, combines, threshers, grain wagons and ther implements are all run by motors. Even the help travels around the farm in automobiles.

Speeds Up Farm Operations

In 1924, with 15 tractors hauling plows, discs and other apparatus, 640 acres of wheat were plowed, disced seeded and packed in a working day of 16 hours. This time, with later machinery improvements, has been decreased by one-third.

The number of men on his farm runs from around 80 and 100 during the eight working months, to between 250 and 300 during the busiest season. A systematic account of each man's labor, together with the results he produces, is kept on a card by the foreman of each gang.

"By the use of industrial principals, combined with scientific agricultural practice," says Campbell, "we have reduced the cost of production to a minimum. We have overcome many of the natural hazards of farming and we are manufacturing wheat cheaper than it is made anywhere else in the world. Wheat farming with us isn't a gamble any more.

"Farming is 95 per cent a mechanical problem and 5 per cent an agricultural one. Frankly, we can produce wheat so cheaply with modern machinery that we personally do not fear European competition and cheap labor."

Thomas D. Campbell, farm engineer

Phillips Oils - Good as Phillips 66

IN winter a motor oil must circulate freely and not congeal when your engine is cold. That's what is meant by low "cold test." In summer a motor oil must not vaporize or burn out in your engine. That's what is meant by a high "flash and fire" test. . . Phillips Motor Oils are made for constant and complete year round lubrication of modern high compression motors. They successfully combine the low "cold test" and the high "flash and fire" test. . . . . There's a grade for your motor—equal in quality to Phillips 66 gasoline.

Controlled Viscosity

Motor oils have a tendency to congeal in winter and to thin out in summer. Yet the temperature inside the crank case of an engine at high speed is the same in hot or cold weather. Proper Viscosity enables an oil to fully lubricate at all seasons of the year. Phillips, with entirely new refinery equipment, is able to control the Viscosity of the motor oils for unvarying performance the year round.

PARTY IS GIVEN

Girl Reserve Groups Attend Party Yesterday

The social group of Girl Reserves entertained members of the service group yesterday afternoon with a party in the home of Miss Waltrude Rogers, 2105 Main Street.

During the afternoon, peanuts were roasted, corn popped and candy was made and after games and other diversions, ice cream and cake were served to Misses Opal McCallum, Anna Rosson, Ruth Carter, Grace Padley, Ethel Lawson, Anna Lorea Butler, Dena Perkins, Lena Perkins, Melba Mae Tatom, Thelma Gates, Lorain Caldwell, Ruby Ash, Vera King, Dorothy Robertson, Mary Kincaide, Waltrude Rogers and Mrs. R. T. Groves.

MARRIED HERE

Levelland Pair Is Wed Here On Tuesday Evening

T. W. Meador and Miss Jeanette Miller of Levelland were married last evening in a cermony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Thomas, 1412 Avenue M, with Dr. W. K. Johnson officiating. The bride is a teacher in the Levelland schools. The groom has recently returned from South America. The couple will reside in Levelland.

MRS. BELMONT LAUDES HOSIERY SMARTNESS

Barrier Bros. Display Hosiery in Colors which social leader calls smartest and subtlest.

In line with their policy always to feature the style merchandise that is approved by social leaders, Barrier Bros., are showing today in their windows and in their hosiery department, a display of Holeproof Hosiery in the seasons latest colors.

Holeproof Hosiery has recently been approved by Mrs. Morgan Belmont, the smart social leader. Mrs. Belmont, nee Margaret F. Andrews, is the daughter of Mrs. Paul A. Andrews of Newport, and daughter-in-law of the late August Belmont, national sportsman and banker, famed for his racing stables and passionate interest in horses.

Mrs. Belmont's charm as a hostess at her country home at Westbury, Long Island, and her personal chic and vivacity have established her as one of the most popular of New York's younger set. Mrs. Belmont's insistence on correct color in hosiery may be judged from her recent statement on this subject.

"I go to the important openings in Paris and New York —I follow the new trends at Palm Beach, on the Riviera and at Newport until I know —know at a glance—the smart hat, frock or wrap.

"But to make certain of the correct graduations of color in one's hosiery—that is a different matter—and a vital one.

"I have found the solution by making my selection from the wide choice of shades offered by Holeproof Hosiery.

Not only are these stockings exquisitely beautiful, but their colors created by Lucile of Paris, are always authentic.

"In Holeproof Hosiery I feel I am adding to my ensemble the subtlest, the smartest hosiery that can be had."

This statement is reproduced in the window of the store with an attractive display of Holeproof Hosiery arranged around it. Barrier Bros., are taking the initiative in emphasizing the importance of correct hosiery as an important factor of the correctly dressed woman of today. They are offering a style service to assist local women in the selection of the proper Hosiery for each costume. Adv.

Inspiration For Prints Comes From Peasant Motifs

By MADELON

From the colorful peasant costumes of provincial France one hundred years ago comes the inspiration for a new group of silks. Paysanne prints, the gay little designs and clear bright colors of the old peasant costumes, are translated into modern idiom for the modern woman. The designs were adapted from 200 water colors made by Elizabeth Whitney Moffat of New York, and Gratiane de Gardilanne of Paris, who spent two years in the French provinces to gather authentic material. Their whole collection will find a permanent home in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

The silks catch the spirit of romanticism in a very modern way, with their small allover or spaced designs, their fashion new colorings and their brightly-hued contrasting trimming edges. This idea of having specially designed edges to furnish effective contrast with the predominating color of the printed silk solves one of the most difficult dressmaking problems—that of finding suitable colors in the same quality of materials for edgings and trimming. Some of the edges are brilliant striped Roman effects; some are in the form of narrow double or triple borders, which may be cut apart to provide two or three yards of trimming for each yard of silk. Others may be used as they are to border a skirt, or cardigan jacket. The edges, which can easily be adapted to almost any dress pattern, will make the printed dress of 1929 quite different from its sister of a year ago.

Pictured here are the original peasant costumes and the modern adaptations, left as border trimming, and right in a whole dress.

The colorings include bright greenish blues, clear yellows, deep wine-reds and bright reds, golden greens and many others, some of which are especially suitable for the woman with the very fashionable sun tanned complexion.

A wide variety of motifs have been ingeniously adapted to the mode of today. The gay peasant embroideries become tiny modern florals, bright colored stripes on peasant petticoats, the lace on peasant head dresses, are transformed into trimming edges. There are designs to correspond with all the 1929 vogues for check plaids, polka dots, foulards, florals large and small, and tiny geometrics.

The story of how the two girl artists made their important contribution to modern fashion as well as art is a fascinating one. They were commissioned by Balieff of "Chauve Souris" fame to design a costume which would best represent "L' Ancienne Chanson Francais." Finging no really authentic records of peasant costumes of that time in existence, they asked permission to consult provincial museums. With their water colors and their three bulldogs, to which they are devoted, they set off in a little car. They were gone two years!

The girls visited libraries and museums and explored the dim attics of innumerable homes. They went from province to province in their little car, stopping everywhere to sketch. In executing the drawings, they paid meticulous attention in detail, making sure that separate pieces really belonged to the same region and were worn by the same class of worker. In Brittany alone, they saw more than 1,000 distinct varieties of embroidery.

When the task was completed, they exhibited 200 water colors in Paris. Critics praised the young artists for the faithful manner in which they reconstituted not only the designs, but also the exact color and grain of every piece of cloth, and conveyed on paper a realistic impression of consistency and weight, from the lead-like drugget to the light laces and transparent muslins.

Shamrock Theme Used For Party Given By Mrs. M. N. Hale Yesterday For 1928 Bridge Society; New Members Received

Pretty Affair Is Given By Mrs. Hale On Wednesday For Social Club In Her Home Here

Favoring the shamrock motif of Saint Patrick's day, Mrs. M. N. Hale entertained with a lovely party yesterday afternoon for 1928 Bridge club members and guests in her home at 2113 17th street.

White carnations and green and white candles were used in decorations and all other appointments were in the shamrock theme with green derbies on each table holding candies for the players. There was a clever cut for a trophy, using shamrocks and Mrs. W. B. Hearrell was winner.

Club high score was made by Mrs. Forrest Lindsey and Mrs. W. L. Bradshaw made high guest score.

Three new members were received in the club. These were Mrs. Dick Skelton of Slaton, Mrs. Dewey McClellan and Mrs. Robert Bean.

Other club members attending were Mesdames J. L. Holt, W. B. Hearrell, Forest Lindsey, O. A. Terry, R. E. Nabors, Newma Roberts, Leo Edwards, J. A. Phipps, Jr., J. C. Powell, J. B. Edwards, R. W. Crowder, Jr.

Other guests were Mesdames John A. Porter, W. L. Bradshaw, H. L. Allen, A. M. Johnson, J. R Bush and Gussie Suggs Tea Guests were Mrs. Leo Keagans and Mrs. Tom Carter.

YOUR CHILDREN

by Olive Roberts Barton

©1928 by NEA Service, Inc.

How would you feel if you lived in a giant's house, where table tops were on a level with your chin, chairs had to be climbed like stepladders, and bureaus were enormous mountains of wood containing drawers as impossible to open as the side of Pikes Peake?

Living with all that over-sized furniture you would get very tired, would you not? Everything over your head—everything to be reached for, tugged at, climbed on!

Our houses are very tiring to little children. That is why parents are making so much effort now to put in playrooms and nurseries. It used to be considered a luxury but now it is looked upon as well-nigh a necessity.

Child's Furniture Popular.

Manufacturers have turned their attention to the needs of little people and it is now possible to buy the most adorable children's furniture imaginable.

But when the household budget won't budge enough to allow us to walk into a store and send home one of these quaint little painted sets, there is no real reason why the children should do without them.

Making furniture for little folk is a fascinating job. Wooden boxes turned unside down turn into all sorts of things, with a little assistance. They can be sawed off to the proper height, given a coat of pink or blue enamel, and upholstered on top with a few layers of cotton and bright cretonne. Presto—a stool or small divan!

Old tables can be sawed off and painted to match. Oblong boxes turned on end make cute little cupboards if cretonne curtains are hung over the opening. Small boxes can be fitted inside to hold various belongings.

Put On Your Thinking Cap.

To make chairs and even little bureaus is merely a matter of a little ingenuity. Again those useful boxes come in very handy. Legs long or short may be made from two-inch soft pine, easily procurable at a planing mill cut to any length desired, or it can be bought full length and sawed into pieces at home. As I have done these things with the greatest thrill imaginable I am passing the good word along. Give me a hammer, some nails, a saw I can handle, yes, and plane of a sort to take off rough places and splinters, and I am a carpenter not to be despised. And I think other mothers will be as much surprised and pleased as I was when I turned out my first piece of playroom furniture.

Stencils can be bought at paint stores, and bunnies and ducks, and Mother Goose characters will add greatly to the general ensemble if the brush is dipped into a contrasting color of paint and drawn carefully over. You can buy enamel now that dries in a few minutes.

PAIR IS WED

Ules Cecil Starr of Iraan and Miss Ada V. Moore of this city were married at 2:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Rev. C. J. McCarty, pastor of the 19th Street Baptist church, in his residence.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson of Shallowater were shoppers Wednesday in Lubbock.

W. O. Timms was a Littlefield business visitor Wednesday in this city.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

MME. RUBINSTEIN

We hear so much about types these days! This woman is that type and that woman is this type. Everybody doing it to everybody else —classifying and card-indexing according to certain ideas of her own. Sometimes it is a kindly classification — sometimes it is not so kindly, depending upon the one who makes it. But somehow the nicer a person is the more attractive qualities she sees in her neighbor. I know that from my long experience with all kinds of women.

And one thing is certain. Each woman, wherever she is, can make herself into a very nice type, or — which is better—she can make herself into a very delightful individual member of the type to which she most nearly belongs. We do belong to types, whether we realize it or not.

The best way to be sure that people will label you well, since they will label you anyway, is to analyze your appearance and personality critically, and then build constructively on your most pleasantly outstanding characteristics. It takes care and artistic appreciation to make of yourself a "masterpiece," but it is well worth the time and effort. Not all of us can work with music or clay or pigments or words to make songs, statues, paintings or poems, but all of us can work with the living, plastic material of our minds and bodies to create and express beauty in them. And the art of living to which this work belongs is by far the finest art of all.

American women are especially rich in material for interesting types. For the American race, even the oldest and purest of its stock, is a mixture of many races that are older. Anglo-Saxon, Teuton, Celtic, French, other Latin strains, all have entered the great "melting pot" that is America, and the result in physical appearance and temperaments is a delightful, subtle, refreshing blend.

It is this vari-sided personality as well as her physical coloring and general make-up, which the lovely American woman must study in order to know her type.

WED IN SNYDER

Former Local Man Marries In Snyder On Sunday

SNYDER, Feb. 27.—Miss Golda Thomas of Sweetwater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Thomas, became the bride of Robert Emmett McClain of Plainview Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the home of her sister, Mrs. O. D. Carter, on Buffalo street, Rev. W. F. Ferguson, pastor of the Snyder Baptist church, performing the beautiful ring ceremony.

Immediately after the ceremony, the couple left for Plainview where Mr. McClain is connected with the Connor-Mathes Co., wholesale automobile accessory and electric dealers.

Mrs. M. C. Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Eakin of Sweetwater were out-of-town guests.

Mr. McClain was formerly connected with an automobile accessory and electric firm here, and prior to that time was a resident of Sweetwater where the romance began several years ago.

Alpine Rancher to Move 11,500 Head Of Goats to Ranch

(Special to The Avalanche)

ALPINE, Feb. 27.—Albert Welch, who recently bought the large Herring ranch in the southeastern part of Brewster county, is to move a big herd of goats from the Rock Springs country to the ranch in the immediate future, it was stated here this week. Reports indicate that this will be one of the largest movements of goats that has ever been made to the Big Bend country, the herd to contain approximately 11,500 head.

Mohair producing promises to become an important industry in this section as more ranchers continue to stock their ranges with high-grade goats.

The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

An inaugural ball without either a president or first lady smacks of a nice breakfast of ham and eggs without the ham or eggs. But the sale of tickets at $15 a couple goes merrily on. Since they can't lure President and Mrs. Hoover to their own ball, the committee has hopes of inducing John Coolidge and his fiancee, Florence Trumbull, to attend.

CATS AND KINGS

It will be interesting to see how the country responds to an inaugural ball after several inaugurations without one. I am inclined to believe that what with all forms of modern science, the radio, telephoto, news reel, talking film, and all that, bringing the great of the earth nearer to the humble man and woman the cats will not rush to look at kings even if the kings aren't there, as they might have in olden days when the price of an inaugural ball ticket meant much more to the average person than it does today.

RUNAWAY YOUNG FOLKS

Why do boys and girls run away? This question asked by the Travelers' Aid Society, of a large city brought forth the fact that 40 per cent of runaway girls and 50 per cent of runaway boys are driven from home because of dissatisfaction over home conditions. A much smaller per cent leave because of the lure of adventure love entanglements, or any of the more to be exepected causes.

Perhaps the parents have a whaling coming to them for these "unsatisfactory home conditions," but I am sometimes inclined to believe that parents get forced into more unsatisfactory "home conditions" because of their children, rather than the reverse.

RUN WILD

We have gone a little wild over this propaganda about giving the young people a chance. The sky's the limit for them, and the kitchen floor the proper level for mothers and fathers. Any church or any school has only to send out a fleet of solicitors for some "young people's cause" and all the infirm, decrepit, overworked mothers and fathers trot out their quarters in order that the "young people" may have a new skating rink or a new social hall or a blow-out with "swell eats" while the Paws and Maws continue to slide around on run-over heels and eat hash and hamburgers.

WANTS PALACES

Youth is so accustomed to its luxurious, exotic, opulent standards of living that it demands palaces and mansions, and calls on ordinary middle-class home which would have been palatial to their parents in their own youth, a hovel. No. 1, can't get excited about these "unsatisfactory home conditions" as cited by youth. My sympathies are inclined to be a bit more with the parents in those same "unsatisfactory conditions."

"MAREEA-MARIA"

By the way, a new slant on the mother and daughter-in-law question is the theme of Sophie Kerr's new novel, "Mareea-Maria." Suppose you had always been a mother of the conservative, dignified, sober, aid-society type, whose son suddenly brought forth a wild exotic, illiterate girl from the tomato canning factory for a bride?

Suppose you were forced to sit back while your son's wife became mistress of all the cherished family heirlooms which she really despised, asking only to work out in the fields like a man, could you readjust any more easily than did the hard and bitter mother-in-law of pretty Maria? A readable book replete with a big human problem.

COLLEGE HEALTHS

Opponents of higher education may find some support in the belief of Dr. Dean F. Smiley, head of the department of hygiene and preventative medicine of Cornell University, that the health of college students gradually decreases from the time they enter college till the time they leave. He explains that good health habits fostered by home living are lost with parental supervision removed and that student life especially fosters neglect to health.

It would be interesting to compare the change in health of the college student between 18 and 22 and the young man or woman outside college of the same ages.

The Morning Avalanche Menu for the Day

BREAKFAST: Malaga grapes, cereal, cream, creamed dried beef with croutons, toast, marmalade, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Carrots and peas au gratin, cabbage and peanut salad, sliced oranges and bananas, cookies, milk, tea.

DINNER: Pork chops a la creole, twice baked sweet potatoes, buttered cauliflower, stuffed apple salad, raisin puff pudding, milk, coffee.

Since the pork chops must bake slowly for three hours, the housewife can put them in the oven with a low fire before she leaves for the afternoon. The sweet potatoes can have their first baking, mashing and seasoning and be put back in their shells ready to reheat for half an hour at dinner time. The cauliflower can be trimmed and allowed to stand in cold water for several hours and will cook in 30 minutes.

Pork Chops a la Creole

Four pork chops, 1 onion, 1-2 sweet green pepper, 2 cups canned tomatoes, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon sugar, 1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Have chops cut one inch thick. Trim and brown quickly in a hot frying pan first on one side and then on the other. Use the fat trimmed from the chops to brown them in. Peel and slice onion. Discard seeds and pitch of pepper and shred flesh. Rub tomatoes through a coarse sieve to remove seeds. Add enough hot water to make two cups. Season with salt, pepper and sugar and add prepared onion and pepper. Place in casserole, add chops, cover and bake in a slow oven for three hours.

Getting Up Nights

For Bladder Relief Is Nature's Danger Signal. Columbus Minister's Wife Relates Experience.

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 824 No. Park St., Columbus, Ohio says: "My wife was troubled seriously with bladder irritation until we used lithiated buchu (Keller Formula.) She would have to get up 6 to 8 times each night. Will gladly answer any letter."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as epsom salts on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter and decreases excessive acidity, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Bowen Drug.

Considerable Data Gathered By Local Men On Rail Tour

Members Of Two-Day Trip Into Territory Of Proposed Extension Proves Profitable For Plea

Considerable valuable data was gathered by the Lubbock chamber of commerce railway committee, on its two-day trip along the proposed route of the Santa Fe Railway company's extension, from Seagraves to Lovington, N. M., and the branch line south from this to Hobbs, on Monday and Tuesday, returning members of that committee reported yesterday.

The data is being gathered for presentation before the Interstate Commerce Commission's hearing on the railway's application for a permit to build the extension, which will be held within the next very few months. From information gained on their trip, the committeemen announce that indications are that Lea county, N. M., citizens will back the Santa Fe's side of the fight to get their permit, rather than the side of the Texas and Pacific Railway's side. The latter company is seeking to extend their lines from Monahans north to Lovington.

Stiff Fight On Hands

"Lubbock has a stiff fight on its hands," remarked R. J. Murray, one of the group to make the trip, "and it behooves every citizen of this city to do all within his power to assist the Santa Fe. We feel that this is the logical and practical market center for the Lea county folks, and they have been trading with us for many years. Should the Texas and Pacific line receive the permit, it means a longer haul for cattle to market and for wholesale goods to that section, than it would over the Santa Fe's route."

Albert L. Reed, of Dallas, nationally known traffic expert, who has been employed by the Lubbock chamber of commerce to assist in aiding the Santa Fe; A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce; B. Sherrod, S. E. Cone, R. J. Murray and Charles H. Read were in the group from here to make the tour.

"Married Life" Not Worth While

Blames Wives' "Nerves"

"Weak nerves," said a New York doctor recently, "in my estimation wreck more happily married lives than any other cause."

Besides making the sweetest disposition sour and irritable, nervousness is a terrible drain on your vital forces—it saps your youth and your strength and dulls your beauty. What a difference from the bright-eyed, vibrant girl he married. No wonder married life seems unbearable!

But you can get rid of your nervousness—speedily too—and become the steady-nerved, radiant woman you once were. Take a teaspoonful of Tanlac before meals and before going to bed and if it doesn't soon make a new woman of you—doesn't rid you of that tired, strained feeling—go back and get your money.

Go to your druggist now and get a bottle of Tanlac. Millions of folks have started back on the road to youth, health and happiness with this world famous tonic and there is no reason why you, too, can't begin today to rebuild your worn-out tissues and revitalize your entire system.

Sharkey Wins Decision Over Stribling In Listless Go

Wilson And Perryton Meet In First Bi-District Contest Tonight At Tech

Decision Rendered By Referee At End Of Ten Rounds Featured By Nothing That Was Sensational

Tiny Pine Saucer Crammed With Celebreties To See The Boston Seaman Outpoint The "Pride Of The South" In Disappointing Bout; No Knockdowns

BY ALAN J. GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

FLAMINGO PARK, MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27, —The fistic hopes of W. L. (Young) Stribling, heavyweight pride of Georgia and the South, skyrocketed tonight in the balmy tropical air—flaring high, then falling, extinguished in a sputtering blaze by the ramming fists of the big Boston sailor, Jack Sharkey, in a slashing ten round fight thrillingly close from start to finish. Sharkey had his hand lifted aloft, the victor, on the decision of Referee Lou Magnolia of New York.

Thus leaping back along the comeback road that leads toward the crown cast aside by Gene Tunney last year, Sharkey out-pointed and out boxed his Southern rival in a fast finish before a crowd of close to 40,000 in the most picturesque and colorful sports spectacle the old south ever has witnessed.

Colorful Setting

This crowd of wealth, fashion, and fame, seated in a pine board arena fringed with Palm trees and bordering the ocean, contributed to one of the biggest, yet most astonishing fight spectacles of all time. In this setting, approximately 35,000 of the spectators paid $400,000—A "gate" that meant more than the fulfillment of the fondest dreams of Tex Rickard whose death passed on completion of the task to Jack Dempsey and his associates of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

With such a background, Stribling and Sharkey fought to decide which was to continue the upward march. Sharkey, a top heavy favorite, won but only as close a call from defeat as he has ever had. Only the most desperate, determined sort of rally enabled the Boston sailor to overcome the big early advantage that had been piled up by Stribling.

Outweighted by ten pounds, his recovery from rib and arm ailments somewhat doubtful, Stribling put up a spectacularly courageous fight before a southern crowd, a throng of "home folks" who had come to see their idol battle for high stakes.

Stribling Leads Fight

For more than half the fight, Stribling was the aggressor and the more dangerous puncher. In one round, the fourth, the southerner gave the crowd probably its biggest thrill when he staggered his big foe with a crashing overhand right to the temple.

But the handicap in weight, the fact that he was tired and that his left arm, "Pa" Stribling later asserted, was almost useless from the effects of neuritis after the fourth round—all these took a heavy toll in the strength and fighting power of the lithe, trim and good looking Georgian. He fought a game but losing battle from the sixth round on, severely punishing by smashing body attack, blood, flowing from his mouth and his ribs a spot of fiery red.

Decision Close

It was so close, however, at the finish that the big crowds stood in tense silence for the few minutes it required for the referee, Lou Magnolia, to pry them from a last clinch and then lift Sharkey's hand aloft. As the sole arbiter, the decision was in the New Yorker's hands.

The crowd at first seemed stunned. It's sympathies obviously were mostly with Stribling from the start for reasons of sentiment, of youth and of sectional pride. Then there was a cheer for Sharkey but a bigger one for the gallant youth whose head was bloody and unbowed to the last. On the Associated Press score sheet, Sharkey took five of the ten rounds, while Stribling appeared to have an edge in four.

Fight By Rounds

ROUND ONE

Stribling landed the first rap. A light left to the head as they danced carefully about the center of the ring watching for openings.

Sharkey missed several left jabs at close quarters where he ripped a solid right to Strib's ribs before the Southerner tied him up. There was little action as the tall greyhound of the South danced with the New Englander and they measured blows. Stribling grinned as Sharkey's right bounced off his chin in an exchange at close quarters. In another clinch Strib smashed his right hand four times on the side of Jack's head and Sharkey slipped to the floor but came up without a count when the referee hauled him as to strenuously. They were clinching with Stribling pounding on Jack's head with his right at the bell.

ROUND TWO

Sharkey bounced from his corner and flew to close quarters into a storm of Strib's overhand rights. The tall lanky southerner handled Sharkey like a small boy, the fight the Bostonian's extra heft and balk. There was a puzzled look about Sharkey's eyes as Stribling ruffed him in a clinch, smashed a full right on his chin and then laughed when the sailor's right hook pounded his own chin. Sharkey kept in the open but Stribling closed to rush and nearly drove Sharkey from the ring as they smashed into the rope.

The battle grew rough and ready as both struggled with little respect for the rules. The crowd was hissing at the bell apparently booing Sharkey's head bound rush.

ROUND THREE

Sharkey danced after Stribling as the Southerner stepped around him menancingly. The Bostonian forced Stribling to lead but the best the Southerner could do was a long blow to the ribs. Sharkey began to solve Stribling's style as he stepped in with a whipping right uppercut that smacked loudly on the Southerner's body. A full swing left hook caught Stribling in the pit of the stomach and cut down his speed.

Another cutting left hook as Sharkey pursued his foe about the ring cut Stribling's lip and the Southerner was spitting blood at the bell.

ROUND FOUR

Sharkey was full of confidence and began to weave and feint with his head shooting lefts to Stribling's head. As they roamed about the ring Jack pulled his lighter foe to close quarters and buried both fists in the Georgian's body. Stribling rushed Sharkey and nearly threw him through the ropes. Referee Lou Magnolia warned Stribling for his rough work and ordered him to keep his punches up.

The Southerner caught Sharkey with a smashing right to the chin. That nearly floored the sailor. The big gob half dazed bounced back into a right that Stribling buried under his heart. Sharkey danced away fighting for time and was back to normal when the bell stopped Stribling's next rush.

ROUND FIVE

Sharkey recovered quickly in his corner from a right that dropped on his chin like a lightning bolt. He tore after Stribling with a rain of left jabs and slugged a right and left to the body until the referee warned him to keep his left hook above the belt. They fought closely and the referee was kept busy hauling them apart.

They danced about the ring poking left jabs at each other, Sharkey blinked as the Georgian lifted a sizzling left hook to his chin. Stribling fought in deceptive fashion leaping in suddenly with straight left jabs that kept the Sailor blinking.

Another bruising exchange at close quarters brought more blood from Stribling's mouth but he was lashing back furiously with both hands at the bell.

ROUND SIX

During the interval, Referee Magnolia warned Sharkey's handlers against coaching from the corner. Jack bounced out and missed half a dozen shots at Stribling's weaving body. As he missed another long blow the Georgian lifted a left to Jack's chin. Stribling's speed and the strength in his left arm bothered Sharkey but he danced in close and drew blood from Stribling's nose with short lefts. Again they were warned as Sharkey rushed into Stribling's body with punches that sometimes shaded the belt line. Stribling bounced his left into Jack's face but he ran into a two fisted storm as the furious sailor retaliated with a charge that drove Stribling all around the ring. The bell ended the rally.

ROUND SEVEN

The fight was anything but sensational as the boxers measured each other carefully and either boxed lightly at a distance or grappled at close quarters. Stribling threw another long right into Sharkey's chin but drew the referee's censure again from a left hook that seemed to have landed fairly on Sharkey's body. They opened up for a moment with a brisk exchange but Stribling had Sharkey missing constantly and he blocked many of the Bostonian's best blows.

As the shy of boos begin to drift down to the ring from the five dollar seats, Stribling bounced his right again off Sharkey's chin but took a bad bruising as the heavy powerful sailor cuffed him viciously with both hands in return. Despite the brief exchange the boos were growing louder when the gong rang.

ROUND EIGHT

The bouncing babies went back to left jabbing at long range in spite of the cat calls. Both seemed to have tremendous professional respect for each other and any blows that might have caused damage were carefully blocked or carried. There was a brief flurry along the ropes but Sharkey missed half a dozen lefts. As they broke in the open again Jack tried to pummel the Georgian's body but Stribling bounced back. Another warning from Magnolia. Very impressigely Magnolia tore them apart and waved for Stribling to stay above the belt. There was less and less action as the round dragged itself out.

ROUND NINE

Sharkey tried hard to get in close and when he stung Stribling with a solid right to the body Stribling fought back with a volley that pitched Sharkey against the ropes. They wrestled and heaved around the ring in a light exchange but as they broke into the clear again Stribling smashed a beautiful left hook and sent a right to Sharkey's chin. Jack broke away but Stribling chased him and nearly put him on the floor with another left to the head. Sharkey fought back with a barrage of punches but never touched the elusive Southerner. As they came to close quarters Stribling buried a left hook in the Bostonian's body and had him slowed and back pedalling when the bell rang.

ROUND TEN

There were more warnings for the fighters from the referee before the gong opened the last round. They came out jabbing carefully again. The Sailor moving stolidly while Stribling danced about on his toes and evaded almost every punch Sharkey threw at him. Jack finally caught the Southerner and pinned him to the ropes with a left to the body and a right to the head but smeared Stribling's face with blood. The Georgian fought right back nailing Sharkey with two cutting left hooks to the pit of the stomach. Again they boxed until Sharkey loosed a long overhead right that bounced from Stribling's chin. That called for more boxing at close quarters and they were slugging on the ropes in tight embrace when the final gong ended the rather featureless quarrel.

Conqueror Of Georgia Flash

The terrible Sharkey man wasn't so terrible in his fisticuff last night in Miami Beach but he was bad enough to win the referee's decision over W. L. (Young) Stribling, the South's heavyweight contender, in their ten-round fuss beneath the palms of Florida.

Nurmi's Sub Loses First Start Here

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (AP)—Eino Purje, young Finnish track star who substituted for his ineligible countryman, Paavo Nurmi, suffered his first defeat in America in a 1 1-2 mile handicap race at the New York American Legion track meet at the 102nd Engineers Armory tonight. Conceding handicaps up to 200 yards to a field of 35, Purje finished third behind F. C. Bayley of the New York A. C., former Dickinson College runner, and Phillip Schaclette of Manhattan College.

Denton Teachers Down Lion Cagers

COMMERCE, Texas, Feb. 27. (AP)—Trailing at the half, the North Texas Teachers from Denton staged a rousing rally to defeat the East Texas Teachers, 59 to 34, here tonight. It was the Eagles' eighth T. I. A. A. basketball victory for the season.

The Lions were in front, 26 to 23 at the rest period, but in the last half they scored only eight points while their rivals were netting 34.

BILLIES DOWN BUFFS

BROWNWOOD, Texas, Feb. 27. (AP) After trailing 15 to 13 at the half, Daniel Baker basketball five came back tonight to defeat the West Texas Teachers of Canyon 33 to 27. It was Daniel Baker's twelfth conference victory in 14 starts.

Local People Go To Inauguration

Lubbock will be represented in the Texas party, going to Washington for the inauguration of Herbert Hoover as president, by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hodges these two having left here Wednesday morning for Dallas where they will board the special train from Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hall, 1901 17th street, left several days ago for Washington to attend the inaugural ceremonies also. The two couples will likely be the only Lubbock residents to attend the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodges will visit in New York City and other eastern cities before returrning to Lubbock during the latter part of March.

Frogs Whip Bears 53 To 24 As Home Cage Season Ends

Purple Dribblers Outclass Baylor Crew In Every Department; McDonnell Is Star In Last Start

FORT WORTH, Feb 27. (AP)—The T. C. U. Horned Frogs brought to a successful close their at-home season by trouncing Baylor 53-24 here tonight. The Purple dribblers outclassed their smaller opponents in every department and after the first few minutes it was simply a case of how high the score would run.

The game marked final appearance of McDonald, center, on the home court, and he came through with one of the best performances of his career.

T.C.U. jumped into a 9 point lead at the start, with Flynn and Chappell providing the fire works.

CHICAGO, Feb. 27. (AP)—Martha Norelius, of New York, won the National Amateur Athletic Union's 100-yard free style woman's championship swim tonight, beating a field with the comparatively slow time of one minute and four seconds. Albina Osyoowitch of Worcester, Mass., was second and Mary Lou Quinn, Chicago, third.

Back in the good graces of the tennis association, Big Bill Tilden smiles pleasantly and poses willingly for photographers when they approach him for pictures. Here is the latest photograph of Bill with two of his youthful admirers. They are, left to right, Junior Durkin, Tilden, and Henry Melvin. The youngsters are actors.

Fort Worth Gets Basketball Meet

FORT WORTH, Feb. 27. (AP)—Seven cities will be represented here Friday when the first annual state municipal basketball tourney for girls gets under way. Dallas, Waco, San Antonio, Houston, Austin and Fort Worth already have formally entered two teams each and Wichita Falls is expected to enter two.

Earl Newell of Floydada visited Mrs. Newell Wednesday at the Lubbock sanitarium.

Paavo Nurmi Still Under Suspension

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (AP)—After an interview with Paavo Nurmi, the registration committee of the Metropolitan Association of the Amateur Athletic Union tonight failed to lift the indefinite suspension imposed upon the Finnish runner for his failure to appear for the national championship meet Saturday.

Mrs. N. Henson and Mrs. Paul Bettingfield were visitors in this city Wednesday from Ralls.

District Champs Will Battle For Sectional Honors

Initial Tilt Set For Ten O'Clock In Tech Gymnasium; Teams Are Evenly Matched For Series

The first game between Wilson and Perryton high schools for the basketball championship of districts One and Two of the Interscholastic League will begin at ten o'clock tonight, Superintendent Faubion of Wilson announced last night. Immediately after the band concert staged in the Tech gymnasium, the representatives from the two districts will take the floor for the first contest that will decide which of the two will enter the state meet at College Station.

According to arrangements made by league officials, the bi-district champion will be the winner of two out of the three games sceduled. Following the first contest tonight, play will be resumed at 7 o'clock Friday night and if a third game is necessary, it will start at 9:30 Friday night.

Reports from Wilson and Perryton indicate that the teams will be followed by large delegations—of home supporters. Compaative scores put the teams just about on even terms, although the Perryton quintet seems to have a slight edge over the district One entry. Perryton defeated Amarillo, Canyon, and McLean in taking the tournament held in Canyon last week while Wilson downed Lockney, Seagraves, Post and Slaton to win the championship of this district.

A minimum will be charged for the series to outsiders while high school and Tech students will be admitted at a reduced rate. Officials have not yet been named.

Miss Martha Slagle, Tech student is able to resume her studies after an illness of several days.

Mrs. Ida Coston of Ardmore, is the guest of her son, Eugene Coston, and Mrs. Coston at 1508 Avenue G.

Mrs. Jewell Casey, Mrs. F. C. Dysart and Miss Aline Schumann will leave Friday for a week-end visit with friends in Amarillo.

"I light a Lucky and stay slender—"

Hope Hampton

Hope Hampton, Famous Star of the Opera, Stage and Screen.

"Luckies have helped me win the laurel crown of my musical career—singing in opera. Stage presence demands a slim, youthful figure. Rich foods cannot tempt me. I light a Lucky and stay slender. The toasted flavor of a Lucky soothes the craving for goodies. Then, too, a Lucky never irritates my throat. Even, after smoking many, my voice is still clear."

HOPE HAMPTON

The modern common sense way—reach for a Lucky instead of a fattening sweet. Everyone is doing it—men keep healthy and fit, women retain a trim figure. Lucky Strike, the finest tobaccos, skilfully blended, then toasted to develop a flavor which is a delightful alternative for that craving for fattening sweets.

Toasting frees Lucky Strike from impurities. 20,679 physicians recognize this when they say Luckies are less irritating than other cigarettes. That's why folks say: "It's good to smoke Luckies."

Note: Authorities attribute the enormous increase in Cigarette smoking to the improvement in the process of Cigarette manufacture by the application of heat. It is true that during 1928, Lucky Strike Cigarettes showed a greater increase than all other Cigarettes combined. This surely confirms the public's confidence in the superiority of Lucky Strike.

Reach for a Lucky instead of a sweet.

Giants Start Two Daily Practices

McGraw Arrives On Scene To Start Hard Drive On Candidates; Hold Practice Game

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 27. (AP)—Today marked the first day of the double program for the New York Giants, now in their third week of spring training here. After a snappy session starting at 10 a. m. McGraw and his men were back on the field at 2:30 p. m.

Fitz held the Grays to two singles, both coming in the sixth inning and which, with a wild pitch, netted the Grays their only run.

Larry Benton pitched the first three innings for the Grays and was guaged for four hits, which with an error netted two runs.

Harry Kelly started for the Whites and held the Grays scoreless, letting them down with three scattered hits.

During batting practice Carl Mays, the submarine pitcher, was injured when a line drive put the thumb on his left hand out of commission, as a result of which he may be forced into idleness for a day or so.

Announcement was made of the transfer of Frank Gibson, last year manager and catcher for the San Antonio Bears, to the Giants, in exchange for cash or players as the New York and San Antonio clubs may agree. Gibson was purchased by the Bears last winter from St. Louis Cards, after the latter had claimed him when the Boston Braves had asked waivers on him. Gibson had previously been with the Braves for six seasons.

ORDER TROPHIES

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Trophies for the fifth annual Texas relay game to be held at the Texas University March 29 have been ordered, according to Clen "Ox" Higgins, relay manager. Members of all winning teams will receive gold watches second teams will receive silver medals and third teams will receive bronze medals. In addition, the winning team in each relay event will receive a loving cup.

CAPACITY UNKNOWN

Position Gibson Will Hold With Giants Unknown

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 27. (AP)—The capacity in which Frank Gibson last year's manager of the San Antonio Bears, purchased today by the New York Giants will be used by the Giants has not yet been determined, said John McGraw, Giant manager. "That won't be decided until I see Gibson," McGraw added.

LEAVES FOR COWTOWN SOON

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 27. (AP)—Coach Francis A. Schmidt, who will end his seven year reign as head coach of the University of Arkansas this week, said today he would begin spring football practice at Texas Christian University where he will be head coach, as soon as he reaches Fort Worth.

TO TRYOUT WITH SPORTS

GREENVILLE, Feb. 27. (AP)—John Land, fencebusting outfielder in semi-professional ranks here for the past three years, left today for a tryout with the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League.

ORMOND BEACH, Fla., Feb. 27. (AP)—Miss Helen Hicks, 18, New York started her drive toward her fourth championship this season by defeating Mrs. C. C. Ronalds, Canadian star, 6 and 5 in the first round match today of the South Atlantic Women's golf championship.

CHAMP IS DEFEATED

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27. (AP)—Ben Stevenson, of Chicago, defending champion in the annual Dixie amateur golf tournament here, went down to defeat today before George O'Connor, Southampton, L. I., medalist, 2 and 1.

Lee Chase, Buffalo, N. Y., defeated Harcourt M. Brice, of Miami, one up, and will meet O'Connor in semi-finals tomorrow.

HE ALSO BOWLS NICELY

Jimmy Dykes, Connie Mack's versatile infielder, spends most of his spare time in winter months in bowling at Philadelphia. He is regarded as one of the best in that city.

DIDN'T WANT TO CATCH

Mickey Cochrane, most valuable player in the American League in 1928, wanted to be either an infielder or an outfielder when he first sought a job in professional baseball, but started catching in order to get a job.

LUCKY TIGER

Uncrowned Welterweight King

BY JACK SORDS
Sports Cartoonist-Writer for Central Press and Avalanche-Journal

Jackie Fields, Olympic featherweight champion of 1924, and later a lightweight contender, now seems bent in the right direction for the world's welterweight title. In some circles the Los Angeles is already called the uncrowned weleterweight champion. This claim is based on Fields' showing.

Joe Dundee, recognized king of the 147-pound division, met Young Jack Thompson, a hard-hitting negro from the Pacific coast, last summer in Chicago and was treated to a sound pasting that lasted only two rounds. Dundee's tile was safe as Thompson was forced to weigh in over the limit. Fields then stepped to the head of the class by punching out a decision over the sensational Thompson.

Now, after his 10-round win over Baby Joe Gans the other night, all Fields has to do is go out and lick Dundee, which is not an easy thing to do when it is considered that the champion must be caught to sign for the fight. Joe has been steering clear of competition for a long time.

It seems the cat fights too hard. He's unorthodox, that is. We mean he gives 'em fits. Young men who expect to get along in New York must learn to box in a leisurely and gentlemanly manner.

The Ace is world's champion quality, even if he doesn't understand the pretty niceties of fisticuffs. But do you know what he did once in New York? Well, he hit a bozo with his right without any kind of a lead at all!

This goes to prove one thing, however—that the New York boxing commission is the orthodox pattern of asininity.

Bib Falk Traded To Indians' Club

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP)—Bib Falk, Austin man, who has played with Chicago Americans for the past nine seasons, announced today he had been traded to Cleveland. Falk made the announcement after he had received a telegram from the Chicago owners.

Falk was a holdout because of a demand for a salary increase. He said he was not informed of the terms of the trade or sale.

He would be glad to go to Cleveland he said. It has been no secret that Falk had been dissatiffied with his Chicago connection for some time.

The Young Texan has been one of the star outfielders of the American League ever since breaking into big time baseball. He has batted between .300 and .375 ever season except last year when he slumped to .290. Falk is 30.

Rev. L. G. H. Williams, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church announced yesterday that a preaching mission will be conducted at the church, by Rev. A. E. Whittle, of San Angelo, from May 6 to 12. Williams just returned from a meeting of the North Texas council of the Episcopal church, held at Sweetwater Tuesday, at which meeting arrangements for the revival were made.

FARMS TERRACED

Nineteen Lubbock County Farms Are Improved

Terracing has been done on 19 different Lubbock county farms, totalling 2,150 acres put to this procedure, according to County Agent D. F. Eaton. The work has been done by J. T. Patterson, terracing expert, employed several weeks ago by the county.

Acreage already signed up to be terraced will about equal that already completed, Mr. Patterson announces, and widespread interest among farmers of the county is being manifested in the campaign.

Remember This Fight?

Thomas Wilson Moore, better known in cauliflower circles as Pal Moore, rose to the heights of his meteoric career as a sailor in the United States navy.

It was as a common seaman drawing a salary of $35 a month that the Memphis bantamweight defeated the famous Jimmy Wilde in a bout at London in December, 1918.

Moore was picked as the American, 118-pound representative straight from the training camp at Great Lakes, Ill., where he had served as boxing instructor.

Together with several other fistic representatives he was sent to England to represent his country in an inter-allied tournament.

Moore's peculiar slapping style and jumping-jack tactics proved a mystery to Wilde. The Englishman had never before faced such a remarkable opponent. Nor had the British audience ever witnessed such a performance.

Because Wilde could not catch Moore the judges awarded the American the decision at the close of the three short rounds.

A roar of protest over Moore's "open glove" attack swept England and a return match was demanded. Later Wilde defeated the American.

Local Youths To Attend Conference

Approximately thirty high school boys will accompany Roy McCullough, Tech "Y" secretary and several Tech students to Childress, March 9, to attend the annual Older Boys' conference which will be held there, March 9 to 10. The affair is to be attended by more than 500 boys from over the territory.

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Tech, is listed as one of the principal speakers of the conference while Mr. McCullough is to conduct the trainer for leadership discussions in the two-day meeting.

A number of Lubbock men are also planning to attend the conference, it was learned here yesterday

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Splawn have recently moved to Lubbock to make their home. They have been living in Slaton.

Mullican Delays Title Decision

Judge Continues Study Of Testimony In Site Suit; Habeas Corpus Hearing On Boys Brought

No decision has been rendered by Judge Clark M. Mullican, of the Ninety-Ninth district court, in the friendly injunction suit brought by J. A. Hodges, et al, against the County of Lubbock, in an effort at securing a fee simple title to a site for Lubbock's new postoffice and federal building.

Judge Mullican was occupied all day Wednesday in trial of another suit and did not receive briefs from atterneys in the injunction case until late in the afternoon, The case was heard before him Tuesday

The case on trial Wednesday was a hearing on habeas corpus proceedings brought by A. E. Shireman and Frank Anthony against the superintendent of the State Training School for Boys and County Judge Robert H. Bean, in an effort at securing the release of Floyd Shireman and Albert Anthony, Lubbock county youths who were sentenced to the school last December.

This case will occupy part of today's time in the court, Judge Mullican stated last night.

Carload Of Jersey Calves Is Assured

Assurance of the sale of a carload of Jersey calves, numbering about 30, has been secured from farmers and dairymen of this and several adjoining counties, Lubbock County Agent D. F. Eaton announced Wednesday. The calves are all pedigreed and are to be bought from the Taft Ranch Jersey Farm, of Taft, Texas.

Upon arrival in Lubbock, which is expected to be some time in April, Mr. Eaton states the calves are to be distributed throughout Lubbock, Crosby, Terry, Hale and Lamb counties. Prices of the calves are, heifers, from $100 to $125, and bulls, from $150 to $250.

"Although the carload is already assured," said Mr. Eaton, "we can accept orders for four or five more."

TURNING CRIMINALS LOOSE

The robbing of the bank at Richland Springs, Texas, in December—the only bank robbery in the state during that month—was perpetrated by two escaped convicts from the Huntsville penitentiary. These two hijackers were not pardoned or paroled convicts, it is true, but their deeds serves to show when criminals are turned back upon society by the pardoning power of the governor they are still criminals and that they are still bent on crime.

holdups have been staged by pardoned convicts. The Within the last five years in Texas several same record has been observed in other states. Criminals are rarely reformed by prison treatment. Incarceration begets resentment. Criminals must be confined and punished, to be sure, but when they are turned loose upon the world again they are still criminals and they are chafing for a kind of revenge for the imagined wrong inflicted upon them by the state. The inevitable tendency is to go back to crime.

The biggest hijacking stunt ever pulled off in Texas was the robbery of the branch postoffice in Dallas a few years ago. It was instigated and managed by a well known criminal who had been released from prison. He was accidentally killed in an auto wreck while fleeing with the booty. It was this accident that exposed the perpetrators and led to their final capture. The pardoning power is doubtless a very human recourse for an occasional worthy instance but if that power is utilized or indulged in too freely it becomes a dangerous exercise of authority. To inflict a whole community or the entire state by unleashing criminals from the penitentiary is nothing short of criminal itself. And when a convict is pardoned, or when he serves his time out and becomes a free man again if he then begins anew his criminal career, there ought to be an ultimate punishment that would make the repetition impossible thereafter.

LOOKS LIKE BUSINESS

There has been some doubt as to the real intentions for constructing the railway line from Groom to Paducah by the Rock Island, to connect with the Seymour-Paducah extension of the Frisco. That the railroad really means business, however, becomes apparent with reports that surveys now are actually under way. Last week surveyors were running lines through the town of Clarendon, according to the Clarendon News of that place. The Turkey Enterprise reports the progress of the survey and expects the surveyors to be there in about three weeks.

HAPPINESS

At 82 Edison says that he knows no one who is happy.

In his old age Socrates was asked which age of a man's age was the happiest. He replied that neither end was happier than the middle. He speaks of old age as the happy time when "the fires of youth are quenched."

Happiness is not alone a state of mind. Edison is a successful man and has contributed largely to humanity. He has enjoyed health and lived past the average age of men. He enjoys knowledge that few of us will ever learn. Why, he is bound to be happy and only does not realize it!

There are today within the United States four banks with assets each of more than a billion dollars. That is over forty dollars per capita of the total population of the country. It is a concrete example of the universal tendency toward concentration in all phases of business in this country, and its highest manifestation is a centralization of power in the government at Washington. While it may have its virtues, among the signs of the times it is a danger signal.

President Coolidge approved an act of Congress to reimburse farmers in South Texas for loss of hay which they were not permitted to harvest while the hoof-and-mouth disease prevailed in that section. It is gratifying to know that Southern agriculturists are getting at least something in the way of government aid so long promised by "the party."

A recent conference between representatives of the United States and Canadian officials erlative to control of rum-running across the border resulted in failure to accomplish any definite program except to let the matter stand in status quo. Where ever money-making is involved it is difficult to arrive at any conclusion that is hostile to profit sharing. Rum running across the border is profitable to Canadians and to Canada.

It is remarkable that the recent blizzard has done no damage to livestock in West Texas and in the Panhandle. Official reports of the Cattle Raisers' Association declared that not a single death occurred among the cattle. Fifty years ago such a blizzard would have frozen thousands of cattle. The difference is to be found in the fact that cattle raisers have learned how to protect their heards by better feeding for greater resistance.

You'll know when spring is just around the corner—it's just before the lady of the house begins casting a disgusted eye at the winter's grime on the front porch.

Europe has been having a terrible cold wave. Maybe that is just a little atmosphere they created for the reparations conference.

Who remembers the dim, distant day when a lady used to complain about getting snow on her skirt?

Lewis Morgan, "the silent barber," of New York, is retired with a fortune of a half million. Not dumb.

REAL ORATORY MARKS WIND-UP OF CONGRESS

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and The Avalanche

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Congress is winding up its present session with a magnificent burst of oratory but in the midst of its usual frightful last minute jam of unfinished legislation which must go into the discard wholesale on March 4, only to be begun all over again later on.

If it were disposed of for keeps it might not be so painful—as to some of it anyway. Unfortunately, the time spent on it hitherto simply has been wasted. The tie-up now does not mean that it is finished permanently.

The expected special session will not help much. That will be called merely to transact extra business. At all events, the new administration is going to hope so. It will do its best to prevent anything but the farmers' troubles and a few tariff changes from being discussed.

The farewell oratorical display is spoken of as having been exceptionally fine.

The senate is the only place where old-fashioned oratory is still to be seen—rather than heard. It can be heard even yet, over the radio, but of course the radio knocks all the gesticulatory features sky high. The radio orator can not gesticulate for his own amusement, to say nothing of his audience's edification, because it takes him away from the mike.

However, the senators stick to the original system of 100 years ago. They both sound as if they were making speeches, and look like it, too.

* * *

Senators Jim Reed and William E. Borah, by common consent, staged the great argument, not only of the season, but of the current generation of lawmakers.

Quite aside from the merits of their controversy, some think that Reed gave the finest performance and some say Borah did.

Reed is the fiercer of the two.

A lithe, active man, he distinctly has it on the Idaho solon in the matter of athletics.

On the other hand, Borah possesses an advantage over the Missourian in the superior length and fluffiness of his hair, which he shakes like a lion as he makes the rafters ring. Toss his head as he may, Reed can't do it to save his life. His snow-white hair stays slicked down.

* * * *

Reed is more pungent than Borah. His voice rises higher and it has an astonishing flexibility. Also Jim expresses with it views that peel an opponent's skin right off.

Borah can put a solemnity into his deeper rumble that Reed lacks.

Borah is powerful, grave and earnest. Reed gets fighting mad.

It really would not be fair to class either one as a better orator than the other. Rather, they are two distinctly different kinds—each the very best of his own particular kind.

Folk who prefer the screech of a steam siren are apt to like Reed the best. Those who choose the roar of a heavy freight train in a covered bridge generally vote for Borah.

Perhaps Reed was the object of a little more interest than Borah in this particular instance, due to the fact that this was the former's last recital on the senate floor. His term ends in a few days. Borah stays on and doubtless will be heard again.

But at that, Reed's retirement will be a loss to Borah.

It takes the Missourian to stir the Idaho senator up to his maximum eloquence. He and Reed generally have been on the same side in the past, but this time they surely mixed it. It was Borah at his grandest, just as it was Reed at his.

DRUG ADDICTS PRESENT BIG MEDICAL PROBLEM

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor Journal of the American Medical Association and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The most pitiable objects in the field of human ailments are those persons who have found themselves unable to live satisfactorily without the use of narcotic drugs. Their minds are disturbed so that they sometimes resort to almost any measure to obtain the substance to which they are addicted.

The committee on Drug Addiction established in New York City has been carrying out studies in various institutions with a view to finding ways and means for freeing such people of the demand for the drug.

The Addict's Behavior

One of the first studies involved a consideration of the addict and this revealed interesting information as to the means that had been used to secure the drug while the patient was under observation in the hospital.

Drugs were found concealed in the soiled dressings covering wounds, in clothing, letters and jewelry, and in all of the orifices of the body. Letters which were received by addicts were found to be written on paper previously saturated with a solution of the drug and then dried and ironed out before being written on. The addict extracted the drug by chewing the paper.

Drugs were found concealed under the stamps on envelopes, in the hollowed-out stem of a watch and in similar places of concealment.

The symptoms following withdrawal of a drug from an addict are usually quite severe. They include abdominal pain, twitching, and great mental depression. The height of the withdrawal symptoms is reached between 48 and 72 hours following the last dose of the drug taken.

Rehabilitation

One of the results of the extensive studies made in Philadelphia was the revelation of the fact that drug addiction does not produce in most instances permanent physical and mental changes and that it is possible to rehabilitate the addict successfully if he can once be relieved of his craving.

This fact has given the greatest encouragement to the physicians and has stimulated their efforts in the search for some specific method of treatment.

Q.—Is swallowing grape pits harmful?

A.—No. People chew up the pits or swallow the entire pulp of grapes when eating them without any apparent harm. The human intestines are able to get rid of a good deal of coarse material without serious injury in the majority of cases.

Divorces may be bothersome and all that, but just think of the number of male lives they save.

Senator Thomas B. Love of Dallas has felt himself and his democracy so challenged by the "sackcloth and ashes bill" that he announces for the office of governor in 1930 to prove the quality of the faith that is in him. Mr. Love was a bolter in the presidential campaign of 1928 and when an implied threat is made in this bill to count him out of the party for his recreancy to the faith he proposes to submit the challenge to the people in a gubernatorial bout next summer. And his excommunicators may find him with the majority.

The Book Of The Month

SO THINK WE

We think there is a lot of fuss these days about dirt politics. Well, how could politics be clean when politicians are often very dirty?

—o—

We think there is one prohibition law that certainly will not affect us very long, and very often, and that is the law forbidding drinking of intoxicating liquor on airplanes.

—o—

We think that most people are beginning to realize that out west — and we are speaking now of West Texas — the people are just about as peaceable and as sensible as there will be found anywhere. The long horn steer has disappeared, and the cow puncher's gone, and the fellow that wears "chaps" is no more to be found, and we have plenty of fine schools, good churches and all of the facilities that makes a community desirable and besides that we have one of the biggest colleges in the state for its age, and people are putting the finishing touches on their intelligence, in many ways. The South Plains is a section of country that anyone can be proud of.

—o—

We think the people of Lubbock are going to work on the plan of "be sure you are right, then go ahead" in this road bond question the next time they tack up a road bond petition. We hope they will get the thing right this time, and be able to vote it favorably. Lubbock county will need hardsurfaced roads to take care of the increased traffic that will go across this country in the next few years. Fact of the business, we need it now.

—o—

We think the people of Lubbock should be taking the school situation real serious, for there is going to be need for bigger school facilities and that right soon. Not several years from this time, but now.

—o—

The latest work of fiction is a story of a man who is boss of his own home. We are sure it is an interesting volume, and we want to get hold of one of those books, and see how he does it, but after all it would be like having a pleasant dream, and then awaking to the realization that it was "only a dream."

Your Income Tax

YOUR INCOME TAX
No. 21

Deductions for depreciation form an important item in the returns of many taxpayers and are the subject of frequent inquiry. The revenue act of 1928 provides "a reasonable allowance for the exhaustion, wear and tear of property used in the trade or business, including a reasonable allowance for obsolescence." For convenience, such allowance usually is referred to by regulations relating to the income tax as depreciation.

In claiming a deduction for depreciation several fundamental principles must be observed. The deduction must be confined to property actually used in the trade, business, profession or vocation. In general, it applies to the taxpayer's capital assets — buildings, machinery, etc.—the cost of which can not be deducted as a business expense. A building or machinery gradually becomes old and worn out. On account of this depreciation the value of such assets is decreased. Loss is thereby sustained for which the taxpayer is entitled to recognition in making his return of income.

The Way Of The World

HAITI

It sometimes seems as though there were too much bad news and not enough good news in the dispatches. We don't often see Haiti in the headlines, and yet there was a time when the Negro island republic was on the first page almost every day. Those were formative days somewhat disorderly. Borneo has now been president for some years. Under an agreement with the United States our marines live comfortably in Port-Au-Prince. Haiti has found the high road and keeps to it. It is a pleasant place of law and order, even if a little warm in summer. The administration there is progressive. Things go on well. The republic is successful. The United States is a big brother. It is a fine example of what can be done by progressive and yet peaceful international relations.

RADIO AT ITS BEST

The broadcasting of a session of a state legislature, especially for the benefit of school children, is putting the radio to its best use. The average man, who may think he is a good citizen, takes little interest in the proceedings of the legislature. We may bring up a new kind of citizen if we seize the interest of children and focus it on civic functions. With a photograph of the senate chamber in the school, pupils can visualize what is going on, almost as if present.

ESCAPING FROM CRIME

One learns that the Virgin Islands, U. S. possessions in the West Indies, now confront the first instance of capital punishment in a hundred years. Even the sheriff balks at execution. The writer was told by a Dane some time ago that although Denmark provided capital punishment, there hadn't been occasion for an execution since 1886. There is little crime in the Scandinavian countries. There are places indeed among the civilized peoples of the earth as well as among the uncivilized, where crime is a curiosity.

There is much talk these days of commissions for the study of crime and its causes. It might be well if part of the time of these commissions were spent in countries other than the United States. The people, indeed, would like to know why crime is so quickly punished in England and why there is such interminable delay in the courts of the United States.

The legislature of the state of Michigan has just received a bill for the creation of a permanent crime commission. This appears to be at least a good start.

PRESS COMMENT

A machine that will put in type, ready for printing, messages as they come over the wire is reported to be successful and in the 40 years since hopeful inventors first began working on the idea the proportion of telegraphed matter that ought not to be put in type and ought not to be printed as it comes from the wire has shown no perceptible diminution.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

PUBLIC OPINION

The Avalanche-Journal,
Lubbock, Texas.

Gentlemen:

I notice the article pro and con concerning the cotton raised by farmers. I also notice only one side of this question is given, namely, short staple. I have raised cotton for 10 years here and planted the very best Memane seed, while the buyer, not I, have received the premium, if there was one. It has always been so with me. This market here is controlled by buyers upon a half-and-half basis. Should we raise something for nothing? Is it not more practical to meet a buyer upon his own grounds than to give him the premium?

Though this market, as can be proven, is governed by a basis of half-and-half cotton, many of us farmers endeavored to improve our staple, thinking we could reap a reward, and it has not proven so, because my long-staple brought me no more upon this market than my neighbors' half-and-half staple. If our buyers will not differentiate between the good and bad, then why should the farmers discriminate.

Nof if the buyers of cotton would co-operate honestly and truly, pay each man according to what he has, then will long-staple cotton be raised upon the Plains. Otherwise we must raise an article to compensate. There is no money raising Mebane cotton when your neighbor can raise 500 pounds more to the acre by planting half-and-half. About the gins buying. That is a matter of service for their customers. Now Mr. Buyer, if you have a solution bring it forth.

REMOVING THE TREES ON HIGHWAY 28

Despite the fact that the splendid trees along Highway No. 28, abutting the property of the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains railway will be used largely for the beautification of the station grounds here and at Lubbock, there is scarcely a citizen of Plainview but who regrets that they are being removed from the highway. They have been years reaching their present proportions. They have been a source of joy to thousands of people who have had occasion to use this highway. That stretch of road has been distinctive in West Texas by reason of the splendid trees. Who has driven along this highway late in a summer or spring evening who has not been thrilled with the grandeur of the drive! — Plainview Herald.

THE BLACK PIGEON

© 1929 By NEA Service, Inc. by ANNE AUSTIN

THIS HAS HAPPENED

RUTH LESTER finds that her blond beauty interferes with her opportunities for becoming an expert secretary and consequently dons yellow spectacles, ill-fitting clothes and skins back her curls so she may go her way unannoyed by flirtatious employers.

But for this concealment of her loveliness she could not have worked unmolested four months for "HANDSOME HARRY" BORDEN, promoter of dubious stock companies and notorious for his affairs with women. Ruth would resign but for a romance which springs up between her and JACK HAYWARD, young insurance broker, whose office is just across the narrow airshaft from Borden's private office on the seventh floor of the Starbridge Building.

On a Friday night in January, Jack and Ruth become engaged and Ruth comes to the office next morning with her disguise removed. In her office, Ruth greets BENNY SMITH, 17-year-old office boy, who is astonished at her transformation and who instantly becomes infatuated. He advises her to don her disguise before Borden's arrival. She is interrupted by a phone call. It is "the woman with the beautiful contralto voice" whom Borden has previously refused to talk to. Ruth has time to put on her spectacles before Borden's arrival. Among his private mail is an orchid-tinted envelope which he thrusts into his pocket. He instructs Ruth to go to the bank for $500 in cash and to the station to buy two railroad tickets and a drawing-room for Winter Haven on the 2:15 train.

Ruth learns whom the second ticket is for when RITA DUBOIS, night club dancer, calls on Borden. While she is in his private office, MRS. BORDEN, his estranged wife and mother of his two children calls to get her monthly alimony. Hearing Rita's gay laughter, Mrs. Borden sways and Ruth helps her into her chair before her desk. Mrs. Borden gets a glimpse of the pistol which Jack has given Ruth to keep in the lower drawer of her desk, as a protection against holdup men. At the same time he had purchased an identical weapon for himself. Mrs. Borden leaves promising to return at 1:30. When Rita comes out of the inner office Borden waves a torn bank note at her cautioning her to keep her part of the "bargain."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER IV

Harry Borden was chuckling as he closed the outer door upon Rita Dubois, "They all fall sooner or late, eh, Miss Lester? Some little jazz queen—Rita. You ought to see her and her dancing partner Ramon Romero, do their turn at the Golden Slipper. Maybe I'll take you some night—hmm? Make Rita jealous. A little jealousy's good for 'em. That would be a neat way of paying her back for keeping me on the anxious seat for a week."

Ruth said nothing, but her back was rigid and her fingers, flying over the keys, were spoiling a letter by interpolating, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party."

"How're the letters coming on?" Borden suddenly became brisk and businesslike again. 'Nearly through? Where's Benny?"

"Gone to the postoffice for stamps," Ruth answered in the meek, small voice with which Borden was familiar. "He should be back any minute now. I have five more letters to write, including that long one to Hendrickson . . . And oh, Mr. Borden," she detained him meekly. "Mrs. Borden was here while Miss Dubois was with you. I told her you were in conference and she said she would return at half-past one. You'd said you would be here until about two."

Harry Borden dropped an angry oath. Then, "I don't know whether I'll be here or not. Why the devil didn't she come earlier in the morning? She knows damned well that if she doesn't ask for her money—my money!—on the fifteenth, she'll have to do without. It would serve her right if I cleared out at once."

A vision of Elizabeth Borden's white suffering face turned Ruth ill. "Then won't you please leave a check with me for her?" she pleaded, raising her spectacled eyes to the man who stood scowling in the door of his private office. "I'll be glad to wait here until she comes, although I have an engagement for one myself—"

"No" Borden was curiously violent. "I'll be here, and I'll make her ask me for it, make her beg for it. It's an outrage that I have to fork over $500 a month for her and the children. The judge that made the award was a sentimental fool. Three hundred would be more than ample."

Ruth's eyes, looking very meek behind their spectacles, did not falter, however. "Hadn't I better leave the door on the latch? You might not hear her knock."

"Let her pound on it, then!" Borden retorted grimly. "You know I never stay in these offices alone without the door's being locked. What with hold-up men and belly-aching investors dropping in with their pretty little threats because they can't take their losses like men, my life wouldn't be worth a nickel, if I hung around here alone with the outside door unlocked Don't you worry your pretty head over Mrs. Borden, child. She looks soft, but believe me—"

Benny Smith's noisy arrival cut short whatever confidence Harry Borden may have been about to make. The employer spoke curtly to the office boy. "Well, Benny, about time you were drifting back. Been shooting craps in the alley again?"

"No, sir," the boy mumbled, flushing darkly. "They was a long line at the stamp window."

"There's always a long line at the stamp window when you go to the postoffice." Borden agreed sarcastically. "Listen—and get this through your thick head: I want you to go to my apartment and pick up a couple of bags that my man has packed for me. Take them to the station, check them and bring me the checks. And make it snappy—hear?"

Borden passed into his private office, but almost immediately reappeared. "Bring in the letters you have finished, Ruth. I'll sign them now, and Benny, you'd better hold down this office until Miss Lester comes back. I don't want it to be left unattended. No telling who'll stroll in. I'm expecting Adams this morning, and if he comes in, tell him to wait."

At Borden's first use of her Christian name Ruth flushed with resentment, but she obediently gathered up the finished correspondence and followed Borden into the private office, but not before she had caught the look of sullen hatred with which Benny was glaring at his employer's back. So Benny had noticed that casually dropped "Ruth" too, and was resenting it passionately . . .

"Guess I'm sort of nervous today." Borden confessed, with a wry grin. "A week-end at Winter Haven will do me good . . . Who was that chap that came in this morning all het up over losing money on some of my stock?" he asked suddenly.

"He wouldn't give me his name," Ruth answered. "He insisted on seeing you personally—said he would be back. I dealt with him as tactfully as I could—"

"Tact and efficiency are your long suits, aren't they, child?" Borden smiled. "Draw your chair around to this side of the desk. We'd better go over the figures in this letter to Nathan. I'm not sure I'm going to let him hold me up for a bigger commission. Looks confoundedly like blackmail to me."

There was nothing for Ruth to do but to obey. She dragged her chair from its usual place at the big flat-topped desk opposite Borden, and placed it where Borden indicated, with a pointing finger—so close to his own chair that the legs almost touched.

"Look!" he pointed to the letter under his large, well-manicured hands. "Wouldn't you think that was a big enough commission for any fly-by-night like Nathan to make?"

Ruth leaned forward and peered through her spectacles. Borden laughed suddenly. "Bet you could see better without those goggles. Ruth! Come! I'm going to take 'em off for you. I'll bet a hundred dollars your eyes are just the right shade of blue to go with these yellow curls of yours." and his hands reached out, were about to lay hold upon the last item of the girl's disguise, which men of Harry Borden's type had made necessary. If she was to be allowed to work in peace.

Ruth's head jerked back, her small hands going up to hold his back. "Please, Mr. Borden! The light really hurts my eyes." she lied frantically.

Then somehow she was out of her chair, and Borden's left arm was about her shoulders, as his right hand reached determinedly for the spectacles. A hundred times, afterwards, she reproached herself bitterly for the scream that tore out of her throat. After all, he was only trying, half-jokingly, to take her glasses off . . . But as his flushed face almost touched hers, and his eyes glittered with something more than laughter, she lost control of nerves which had been curiously taut all morning—and screamed.

"What are you trying to do, you little devil?—arouse the building? —make them think I'm murdering you?" Borden demanded furiously. "Look! That chap's getting an eyeful across the airshaft, and—get out of here and stay out, or I'll knock those pop eyes of yours out of your head."

Ruth, who had obeyed his command to look, and who was taking a staggering uncertain step toward Jack Hayward, framed in the opposite window and being forcibly restrained by another man from leaping through it, thought at first that Borden's last furious sentence was directed at her. But Benny's voice from the doorway told her the truth.

"If you're hurting Miss Lester, I'll—I'll—" Benny was sputtering, his fists clenched.

"Get out, and mind your own

Today's Poem

"O, LOVE IS NOT A SUMMER MOOD"

O Love is not a summer mood,
Nor flying phantom of the brain,
Nor youthful fever of the blood,
Nor dream, nor fate, nor circumstance.
Love is not born of blinded chance,
Nor bred in simple ignorance.
Love is the flower of maidenhood;
Love is the fruit of mortal pain;
And she hath winter in her blood.
True love is steadfast as the skies,
And once alight, she never flies;
And love is strong, and love is wise.

business! You, too!" Borden added viciously, nodding furiously and gesticulating toward Jack Hayward, who was calling out something in a rage-strangled voice. "Sit down again, Miss Lester," he added more normally. "And keep your confounded glasses on, if you're so crazy about them. Where's that letter to my lawyer?"

Before she obeyed, Ruth turned toward the window again, shaking her head slightly and laying her finger against her lips. Then, trembling, she sat down and was not again molested while Borden signed the letters.

"Tell that fool office boy to go on to my apartment for my bags," Borden reminded her gruffly. Then, "I'm sorry, Miss Lester, but I can't see why you kicked up such a fuss. Didn't mean any harm."

"It's—all right, Mr. Borden." Ruth said meekly. "And—I'm sorry I screamed. I'm — easily frightened" And indeed she was sorry she had screamed, for now the blight on her perfect happiness had been communicated to Jack Hayward. But her remorse then over having "kicked up a fuss' was nothing to compare with the agony of self-reproach which was to come to her later. . .

She found Benny Smith at her desk, bending over the pulled-out bottom drawer. "What are you doing, Benny?" she demanded sharply. "You must keep out of my desk."

"Looking for a towel," the boy muttered. Then, tensely: "Listen, Ruth, if that guy gets fresh with you again—"

"Hush, Benny!" Ruth cut short his threat. "Run along to his apartment now for his bags. I can take care of myself, Benny. It's sweet of you to mind, but I don't want you to lose your job on my account," she added gently.

The boy closed the bottom drawer of her desk and snatching up his overcoat and cap, strode out of the office, fancying himself, Ruth reflected tenderly, every inch a man, and—what's more—a man in love" "Oh, I wish I hadn't screamed!" she told herself disgustedly.

The door had scarcely closed upon Benny when it opened to admit Carl Adams, one of Borden's dapper, collegiate young stock salesmen. Few of the men worked on Saturdays, since it was a half holiday.

"Hullo, Miss Lester. Saw Benny at the elevator. What's this about you and Borden? Benny seemed to think you might need protection, And I don't wonder . . . What have you done to yourself? Why, the scared little bunny has turned into a beauty. . . Greetings, chief!" the salesman, broke off his confidential compliments and hailed his employer jovially.

"Come on in, Adams," Borden answered grimly. "Bring me Adams' sales record, Miss Lester, please."

Except for an unimportant telephone call or two, Ruth was allowed to finish her letters in peace

It was 10 minutes after one when the flushed, angry-eyed young man jerked out of the office, and 20 minutes past when Ruth. the last letters signed and stamped, hurried to the elevator to keep her overdue appointment with Jack Hayward.

She had telephoned him, in a guardedly low voice, that she would be a little late, and she knew that he would be waiting . . . If only she hadn't screamed, so that nothing but joy could have entered into the rest of this day. . . .

READ INVESTMENT COMPANY

We wonder if you would be interested in the best purchase of raw land on the Plains. If you will take the pains to go to Morton, then about two miles this side, on the north side of the highway, and lying broadside with it, you will see what you yourself will say is the best looking quarter section of land you ever saw. Big statement, you say? Yes it is, but every word true.

No soil any richer, notable any more level, no sand, no grubs, two miles from fine school, court house and gin, an ideal location for a home.

We are authorized to sell this land for $25 per acre, and when we say that do not get it confused with blow sand lands at $20 and $15, and that are not worth one-half this land.

Its special value is due to the high quality of its soil, its beauty, its location close to Morton, the ease and certainty of getting a bountiful supply of the finest water. As a matter of fact if this land should sell for its value it would not be one cent less than $35.00 per acre. Let us tell you more about it.

NOTICE OF BANKRUPT'S PETITION FOR DISCHARGE IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE UNITED STATES FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS

In the matter of Emory Spear Gee bankrupt, No. 6 in bankruptcy
OFFICE OF REFEREE
Lubbock, Texas February 27, 1929

Notice is hereby given that Emory Spear Gee, of the County of Bailey, and district aforesaid, did on the 27th day of February, A. D. 1929 file in the clerk's office of said court, at Lubbock, a petition setting up that he has been heretofore duly adjudged a bankrupt under the Act of Congress, approved July 1, 1898; that he has duly surrended all his property and rights of property, and has fully compiled with all the requirements of said Acts and of the orders of the court touching his bankruptcy, and praying for a full discharge from all debts provable against his estate in bankruptcy, save such debts as are excepted by law from such discharge.

On considering the above mentioned petition, it is ordered that any creditor who has proved his claim, and other parties in interest, if they desire to oppose the discharge prayed for in said petition shall, on or before the 29th day of March, A. D. 1929, file with the Referee for the Lubbock division of said district, a notice in writing of their opposition to a discharge in the above entitled cause.

W. D. GIRAND,
Referee in Bankruptcy.

Stock Market Moved Forward As Rate Slackens

Exchange Has Broad Front Tuesday As Severe Stringency Fails To Develop; Call Renews At 8

BY CLAUDE A. JAGGER
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (AP)—With the call money market failing to develop the severe stringency widely expected, the stock market moved forward on a broader front today than at any time since the reaction two weeks ago, spurred on by several favorable industrial developments.

Call money renewed at 8 per cent and held at the rate all day, as adequate funds attracted by yesterday's 9 per cent rate made their appearance. Predictions of 12 per cent money with banks withdrawing funds to meet month end requirments have been freely made in Wall Street. Time money, however, was firmer, with none available under 7 3-4 per cent. Total sales were carried to 4,265,600 shares, crossing the 4,00,000-mark for the first time since February 13.

Adams Express shot up 26 points touching 500 for the first time.

Greene Cananea led the coppers with an extreme gain of 8 points. Anaconda, Chile, Andes and Inspiration broke into new high ground. In the steels, Bethlehem made another new top at 101 1-4, and Republic at 90 7-8, Nash, Packard, Marmon and General Motors, mounted 3 to nearly 7 points. American Can nearly equalled its previous high for the year, and Chesapeake & Ohio was a strong point of the rails, selling up 4 points.

There were a few soft spots, Allis Chalmers, Advance Rumely, Crosley Radio, General Refractories, Interstate Department Stores, and National Tea losing from 2 to 4 points.

The commodity markets were irregular.

Foreign exchanges were quiet and included to heaviness, although sterling cables were slightly firmer.

Dollar Bale Gain Is Recorded On Southern Market

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Unfavorable weather in the belt, a good spot demand and more favorable textile news were responsible for a gain of over $1 a bale in the cotton market today. Trading was quite active and although the close was a few points under the highs it showed a net advance of 14 to 16 points. May contracts after dropping to 19.72 advanced steadily to 19.94 and closed at 19.91, or 14 points net higher. The closing tone was very steady.

Liverpool cables were irregular at the start here but had little influence on values. First trades in March showed losses of 3 points due to the circulation of notices for 10,000 bales additional on contracts for that month. Later positions, however, advanced in response to a higher opening in New York. Reports that all notices had been stopped influenced a slight demand after the start which carried March to 19.54 and active positions generally to levels 3 to 4 points net up.

The higher prices attracted more or less profit-taking which carried values off 7 to 8 points from the highs but toward noon a very active demand developed.

A good spot demand helped buying which carried prices to new highs for the day in late trading with March selling for 19.73, May 19.94 and July 20.02, or 21 to 22 points up from the lows.

There was a slight reaction in final trading on a renewal of realizing and final prices were 2 to 3 points under the top.

Receipts, 12,035; for week, 63,585; for year, 8,349,613; last year, 7,145,689. Exports, 35,244; for week, 97,724; for year, 6,040,687; last year, 5,013,965. Stocks, 2,066,679; last year, 2,110,363. Stock on shipboard 130,425; last year, 113,147. Sales 26,257; last year, 7,451.

Stock Recovers On Fort Worth Market

FORT WORTH, Feb. 27.—(AP)—All classes of cattle and calves sold fully steady on the livestock market here today. Mixed loads made up the bulk of the receipts except for a few cars of steers and yearlings. About half a dozen loads of steers included in the receipts and sold at 10.00 to 11.35, or fully steady. Most of the steers were light weights of fair quality and finish.

The supply of bulls very light. A few of the better heavy bulls sold at 8.00 to 8.50; common kind at 6.25 to 6.75.

Slaughter yearlings sold at steady prices to a fair demand and sales ranged from 9.35 for some common kind to 12.00 for some of good quality and finish. Order buyers took some of the supply with fair loads at 11.25.

All classes of cows sold to a steady market with only a few straight carlots included in the receipts. Butcher and beef cows sold at 7.50 to 8.15; canners and cutters at 5.00 to 6.00.

Calves scarce and sales looked a little higher for the week. Heavy calves of fair quality sold in the southern division at 11.00 with a load on the yearling order getting a bid of 11.25. Cull calves sold around 7.00.

Stocker cattle sold fully steady, with some red steers at 9.65 and 10.00, while yearlings sold up to 11.25. Very few stocker calves or cows offered.

Hogs here today steady to 10c higher, rail top 10.70 and the best truck butchers at 10.00. Bulk 175-250 pound butchers 9.75 to 10.70; packing sows at 8.50 to 9.00; pigs 6.50 to 8.00.

Sales in the sheep division steady, fresh shorn fat lambs at 13.50 and fleshy wooled feeder lambs at 14.50.

REVENUE INCREASES

Grazing Leases On School Lands Total $260,612.00

AUSTIN, Feb. 27. (AP) — Revenue from grazing leases on University of Texas land amounted to $260,612.09 in 1927-28, according to the twenty-third annual report of the university board of regents to Gov. Dan Moody.

Between 1884, when leasing of the public lands first began, and 1894, the average annual income was $7,670. In 1898, it was $40,408, from which figure it has risen in 30 years to the 1927-28 figure.

Renewed Buying Is Experienced On New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Feb. 27. (AP)—Renewed buying developed in the cotton market today after stopping of the first March notices yesterday Prices showed further advances. After selling at 20.42 at the opening May reacted to 20.33, but advanced to 20.58 in the late trading and closed at 20.55, compared with 20.36 at yesterday's close. The general market closed steady at net advances of 13 to 20 points.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of five points on overnight buying orders.

Prices eased off to 20.32 for March and 19.71 for the new October contract, making net declines of about 3 to 8 points on active positions.

Best prices were reached in the late trading when early sellers appeared to be covering or re-buying. Considerable demand for December in evidence form Wall Street or commission house sources sent December up to 20.00 and January to 20.04 or about 20 points net higher.

Trading in March was less active after the liquidation of the previous day. There was further switching from March to later deliveries and the price advanced to 20.56 to 96. Point net higher. October sold up to 19.96. Closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

Littlefield Gets New C-C Secretary

(Special to The Avalanche)

LITTLEFIELD, Feb. 27.— At the regular weekly luncheon of the Littlefield Chamber of Commerce held in the College Cafeteria, with J. S. Hilliard, president of the organization presiding, the new secretary of the chamber was introduced and gave an interseting talk on C. of C. organizations in general and the outline of work for this particular organization.

Mr. J. W. Ratekin, the new secretary, comes to Littlefield very highly recommended for Chamber of Commerce work, and has entered into his new duties with an enthusiasm that bespeaks success for the undertakings of the chamber here. Mr. Ratekin is particularly interested in the development of the country along agricultural, dairying and poultry raising lines and gave some interesting statistics on these subjects. Report was made by the good roads committee which was particularly interesting. Other speakers were B. A. Mills, E. S. Rowe, C. E. Strann, E. E. McCaskill, Rev. Chas. Dvorak.

Mrs. H. D. Woods is visiting her sister in Mangum, Okla.

It is one of four regular factory production President Eights which were selected at random from Studebaker's assembly line by American Automobile Association officials—all four of which ran 30,000 miles at better than a mile-a-minute speed.

The fastest thousand miles of this roadster was the thirtieth, during which it averaged 69.65 miles per hour. Think of it, such performance after running 29,000 miles! See this car for yourself tomorrow!

Studebaker now holds every official record for speed and endurance—126 official American records, 11 world records and 23 international records.

You can pay more than Studebaker's prices, but in no other car on earth at any price can you buy more stamina or more finely balanced performance.

Weather Bureau Is Recitent On March Fourth's Forecast

Everything Is In Readiness For Inaugural Except Approval Of Weather Gods; Services Start At 11:30

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—If the thousands who expect to see Herbert Hoover inaugurated president wish to know what the weather is going to be they will have to consult the family almanac because the weather bureau refused to forecast or broadcast on the subject.

When the day comes for the regular forecast for March 4, the weather bureau expects to make it, but not before.

Meanwhile, everything is ready except the weather announcement.

On inauguration day President Coolidge and President-elect Hoover will leave the White House at 11:30 and will proceed down Pennsylvania Avenue to the capitol where they will witness the ceremonies for Vice-President Curtis, immediately afterward, Mr. Hoover will be inducted into office in front of the capitol and there will deliver his inaugural address.

He said that he had placed back to the credit of the account considerable amounts of his own money "I put my wool money in there and sold some lambs in the Fort Worth market, placing the proceeds, amounting to something like $3,200, in that fund", Mr. Robison testified.

He said he had no doubt about his having placed enough of his personal funds in the account to replace the sums drawn out for expenses incurred in his illness, brought on he believed by hardships encountered in reappraising lands in West Texas.

Certain He Has Enough

"I know I have", he replied to his attorney, E. F. Smith, when asked if he had not placed sufficient personal funds in the special account to replace the drafts he made on it. He maintained, however, that he is of the opinion the expenses of his illness were legitimate charges against the fund.

threatened to vote "black" when a motion to cut off debate and further amendments had been made and carried.

The senate also finally passed two other joint resolutions, one by Woodward providing for a 120 day legislative session every two years, and the other by Parrish, placing county judges, county attorneys and county sheriffs on a salary rather than a fee basis.

Love Resolution Engrossed

The Love joint resolution, which, if approved by the legislature and people, would cause all registration fees on private automobiles to revert to the counties and would give only those on common carriers to the state highway department, was engrossed without debate.

The senate also passed to engrossment the Hornsby joint resolution asking that American Legion property not operated for profit be exempted from taxation.

Pecan Planting Interest Rises Over West Texas

(Special To The Avalanche)

STAMFORD, Feb. 27.—The pecan trees ordered through the West Texas Chamber of Commerce have so pleased those who purchased them that return orders have started coming in. The first of these is from Ira E. Glodden of Rotan, who ordered additional four year old Burketts like the ones he received with the first order, and enclosed his check for same.

He stipulated that he wished the trees to come from the same nursery which shipped the other trees ordered.

A great number of these trees have been distributed by the regional organization at the reduced prices possible by buying in quantity. Some idea of the interest of the people of West Texas in planting pecans can be gained from the fact that the December special pecan number of West Texas Today, official magazine of the W.T.C.C. has been the most popular ever published by the organization, hundreds of requests coming in for extra copies.

TEXAS TECH TOPICS

By Margaret Turner

TO RETURN TODAY

Dean J. M. Gordon will return today from Waco where he has been in attendance at a meeting of Presbyterian men in Waco where he served as toastmaster at a banquet.

MORE ENROLLMENT STATISTICS

An analysis of the enrollment for the school year at Tech shows that of the 2,025 students there are 1,229 boys and 796 girls. These are distributed by schools as follows: Agriculture, 148; engineering, 420; home economics, 171; liberal arts, 1,286. This represents an increase of 20 per cent over the attendance at the same time last year.

HORSE-BACK RIDING CLASSES

The physical education department for women is offering classes in riding to women of the college under the instruction of Capt. Rhodes Ingerton, instructor in military training, according to Miss Zella Riegel, instructor of that department. Three classes have been organized to meet twice a week on Wednesdays and Fridays.

WRITER FOR FRENCH PAPER

Dr. John C. Granbery, head of the department of history and sociology, is in controversy with one of the leading newspapers of France, Le Figaro. The difference started when the periodical made an attack on America's policy of neutrality. Reference was made to "Texas Technological college in the Imperial state of Texas."

VISIT CAMPUS ON BUSINESS

Representatives from the Southwestern Engraving company were visitors to the campus yesterday. They expressed pleasure at the condition of the year book. To date 1,450 annuals have been signed for and $1,450 worth of advertising sold for La Ventana.

FORMER STUDENT ADDRESSES CLUB

Truett Smith, former Tech student and who is at present county clerk of Lynn county, addressed the pre-law club at its regular meeting last night in room 210. Smith is the first Tech student to enter politics and gain election to an office.

Lizzie Belle Clements, Ewell Agnew and Harry Lemaire furnished musical numbers preceeding the address. A short business meeting was held with the new president, Holmes Webb, in the chair.

Sweetwater Keeps Lubbock Engineer

(Special to the Avalanche)

SWEETWATER, Feb. 27.—The firms of H. N. Roberts, of Lubbock, and Hawley & Freeze, of Fort Worth, consulting engineers, have been retained by the city of Sweetwater to work up a preliminary report on two or more water impounding projects, preparation and design of the project finally selected, an extension of the present filter plant, and plans for a new sewage disposal plant here. The contract for this work was signed today.

The fee to be paid to the engineers for their services is worked out on a percentage basis, but must not exceed $25,000.

TOTAL IS INCREASED

Lubbock Schools Add 197 New Students

With the enrollment of 197 more pupils in the Lubbock public schools, during the past month, this city's total enrollment surpassed 5,000, Superintendent M. H. Duncan announced yesterday.

Enrollment for the year is now 5,078, Mr. Duncan says, and the phenomenal growth during the past four years is the greatest obtaining here in the history of the city.

20 YEARS SEARCH REWARDED AT LAST

"I've Been Entirely Relieved Of All My Troubles Since Using Orgatone," Says Lubbock Farmer

"I have been entirely relieved of all my troubles that lasted for twenty years, and I'll never cease to be grateful to Orgatone," said W. W. Watts, of 2109 Twentieth St. Lubbock, Texas.

"My health has been broken down and in a general run-down condition for a long time," he continued, "I had a chronic case of stomach trouble and until recently I did not know what it was to have a well day. Gas formed on my stomach and pressed against my heart which would palpitate so that I would feel as if I were going to smother. I was so nervous and miserable I didn't know what it was to get a good night's sleep. I had no appetite and when I did eat would have to force myself and then the food soured on my stomach and I would bloat up and would be very uncomfortable for hours afterward. I had a terrible case of constipation and always had that tired feeling and felt so on account when I got up in the morning.

"I read so much about Orgatone I decided to try it and one bottle has certainly restored my health and I am glad to make this statement so that others may know about Orgatone and may be relieved from the suffering I had to endure for so many years. Orgatone has given me an appetite and I eat three hearty meals a day and don't have a bit of trouble with gas or palpitation of the heart. I retire early every night, go to sleep almost as soon as I lie down and sleep peacefully. My constipation has all gone and in fact, I feel fine in every way. Orgatone is certainly a wonderful medicine and if I had found it some twenty years ago I would be a different man today and have money in the bank that I spent for doctors and medicine, so I am glad to tell the people about it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Lubbock exclusively by the Bowen's Drug Store, under the personal direction of the special Orgatone representative. Out of town customers are being supplied by mail upon receipt of price $1.25 for one bottle or 6 bottles for $6.25. Adv.
