Vance To Mideast

LAJES, The Azores (AP) — Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance was headed for the Middle East to seek concessions on the Palestinian issue in the hope of resuming the Geneva peace conference by the end of the year.

Vance's plane stopped at this U.S.-manned Portuguese Air Force base to refuel early today en route to Israel, the first stop on his tour.

Rich Kids May Testify

ALICE, Tex. (AP) - A state district court judge today opened the way for two juveniles to testify about the possible source of $486,000 police found in their possession and believed to be "marijuana money."

The juveniles have not been charged with any wrongdoing in connection with the money which they claim they dug up on a relative's ranch.

Alligators Tasty

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — If they can ever get alligator tails untangled from government red tape, there'll be a new kind of meat in grocery stores.

"It's real tasty," said Burton Angelle, head of the Louisiana Wild Life and Fisheries Department. "It's flaky, white meat, something like fish or chicken."

An economist sent here to figure out a way to market alligator meat compared the taste to lobster. He described it as boneless, chewy and with no fishy taste.

Mardi Gras Sellout

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Late comers to the four-day Mardi Gras weekend may find it tough to find shelter. Nearly all of the 19,000 hotel and motel rooms around New Orleans are booked.

"There may be scattered hotel and motel rooms available in suburban areas ... but the central business district appears to be pretty much a complete sellout already," a tourist commission official said.

The SDN Column

The free enterprise system, which has become mere words to many people in recent years, may be gradually getting more attention, and if things like the energy shortage keep popping up, perhaps it will become even better known.

Enough Texans became concerned about this situation to get it put into the curriculum of public high schools. The schools must offer a course in the free enterprise system now, and next year it is hoped that it will become a course required for graduation. The biggest problem the schools have in putting this course into the curriculum is the absence of textbooks.

Would you believe that a nation that developed from infancy into the greatest world power via the free enterprise system does not have a free enterprise textbook? Well, it is a fact.

Schools in Scurry County will have teaching materials, however. The Texas Electric Service Co., Snyder National Bank and West Texas State Bank are going to foot the bill for the purchase of kits from the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. These materials will include filmstrips, tape recordings, scripts and teacher guides which were prepared by educators.

The kits will be presented to the Snyder, Hermleigh and Ira High Schools.

Some surveys in recent years probably shocked business leaders. The surveys revealed that most high school students had no factual knowledge whatever about profits in business and industry, with some estimating that retailers reaped profits as high as 100 per cent from the merchandise they sold. Moreover, they were skeptical when they were informed that some of the profits they estimated exceptionally high actually amounted to three to 10 per cent.

Free enterprise has become such a common expression in this country that it might be compared to the weather as Mark Twain saw it. A lot of people talk about it, but nobody does anything about it.

A course in public schools about it could change all that. The subject offers many possibilities for interesting forums and special class projects.

SPEEDING TICKET BILL STALLED

Transplant Bill To Senate

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Legislatation designed to make more corneas available for transplanting to blind persons won speedy House approval today, 125-19, and was sent to the Senate.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, would authorize justices of the peace and medical examiners to permit the taking of corneas from bodies in their possession.

Only objections from next of kin could prevent the taking.

Bodies come into JPs' possession when a person dies under circumstances that indicate the need for an inquest.

As many as 200 Texans now await corneas - tor transplantation to restore their sight, the House was told.

Senators passed 24-4 and sent to the House a bill that would let Texas cities raise their hotel occupancy taxes, if they wish. By ordinance of a city council the local hotel tax could be increased from three to four cents, with the extra cent being used for conventions and tourism.

The Senate approved on voice vote a bill that would allow deer hunters who use bow and arrows to carry along a shotgun in case they see quail during deer season.

Sen. Bill Moore, D-Bryan, failed to get approval for debate of his bill that would keep speeding tickets, for from 55 to 70 miles per hour, from being used as auto insurance penalties or for suspension of the drivers license.

"This is a poor folks bill," Moore argued. "Those who are able to hire a lawyer don't pay the penalty now."

Moore said he would try again another day when more senators were present.

Also approved by the Senate, 19-9, was a bill that would let a workman install a water softener tank without having a plumber's license.

College Raises Dorm Charges

Scurry County Junior College District Trustees last night approved an increase of $35 per semester for residence hall charges and agreed to accept a six-months lease-purchase proposal for a computer.

The increase in residence hall rentals will hike the room and board fee from $460 to $495 per student. However, this figure includes current prices for meals. If an adjustment in food prices occurs later in the year, this will be added to the $495.

After studying the computer bids, the board agreed to accept a proposal by National Cash Register (NCR) and the lease for six months was agreed upon to enable the college to determine its precise needs. Dr. Robert Clinton, Western Texas College President, said estimates varied on the amount of peripheral storage the college would need for the computer to provide the desired services.

Following discussion, the board decided to take the maximum estimate for the six-months period. If it is determined at the end of six months that less peripheral storage is needed, the equipment could be scaled down. In any event, the college plans to purchase the equipment outright after six months.

NCR submitted the lower of two bids which included all items specified. Its total cost is pegged at $64,514.24.

The board formally approved appointment of Joe Carter as chairman of the division of agriculture at WTC. Organization of the agriculture division had been announced last month.

The resignation of Charles Holland as associate professor in drama, effective May 13, was accepted.

A one-year leave of absence was granted Leslie Albin, associate professor in science. Albin plans to work on his doctorate.

Consideration of a new contract with Lone Star Gas Co. was tabled with a request that additional rate categories may be studied. WTC has been under an industrial rate, which means it is one of the first to have service curtailed when supplies are interrupted.

A policy agreement between WTC and the Scurry County Museum Association, Inc., was approved. Under the agreement, the Museum Association employs the director of the Scurry County Museum, which is located on the WTC campus, and WTC employs a museum secretary.

A college policy pertaining to student trips was approved.

Dr. Duane Hood, dean of students services and registrar, reported to the board that spring enrollment at WTC is the second highest in history, and is only eight below the fall semester total. This was surprising, Dr. Hood said, since a decrease of eight to 10 per cent from fall to spring is the usual pattern. There are 1,182 enrolled for spring, compared to 1,190 for the past fall and 1,214 for the spring of 1976 when the record was set.

WTC Drama Director To Leave Post

Charles Holland, associate professor in drama at Western Texas College, has submitted his resignation, effective May 13.

The resignation was formally accepted Monday night by the board of trustees of the college.

Holland, the only drama director WTC has had, said in his letter of resignation that he and his wife, Kay, plan to go into the advertising business and that they have established a firm named Harlequin Productions, which will be based in the Sherman--Denison area. He said they would be involved in newspaper, radio and television advertising.

He expressed appreciation to WTC for "the many wonderful memories and shared learning experiences I have enjoyed."

John Reed was elected Monday night as a director of the Scurry County Junior Livestock Association. Reed, who was the only new director elected, will succeed Butch Nachlinger of Hermleigh on the board.

The election was held last night at the Towle Park Barn at the annual barbecue of the livestock association.

Don Gray was reelected to the board of the livestock association. Gray was the only other candidate in the elections last night.

Officers on the board are Harold Lacik, John Jarrell, Bob Watlington, Don Gray and Butch Nachlinger, who will be replaced next month by Reed.

Reed is a rancher and manager of the Clark Lumber Co. here.

Secretary - treasurer of the association, Bob Watlington, discussed briefly the upcoming livestock show to be held at the Scurry County Livestock building. He reported that 67 steers, 368 hogs and 94 lambs will be in show.

JOHN REED

The barbecue last night was attended by approximately 217 persons.

The Junior Livestock Association holds its annual membership barbecue each year on the Monday night before the opening of the annual show.

County 4-H Club members and Future Farmers of America members from schools of the county will begin bringing in their show animals Wednesday to prepare them for the judging events. All animals are due to be in the livestock - agriculture building on the Scurry County Coliseum grounds by 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The first judging event is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday. Swine will go into the judging arena at that time.

On Friday, lambs will be judged at 1:30 p.m., followed by the judging of steers at 7 p.m. The annual event will close on Saturday with the annual auction sale, which is scheduled to begin at 1 p.m.

Fagin Is Candidate For Mayor

Mayor John Fagin has filed as a candidate in the April 2 city election for the year remaining on the current term. Fagin was appointed last October to serve as mayor until the election this spring, following the death of Mayor William A. Vestal.

Fagin had been serving as Place 4 councilman.

Four council posts also are to be filled in the April 2 election. One, Place 4 which was vacated by Fagin when he was appointed mayor, will be for one year. Milton Ham was appointed to serve in that post until the election.

In addition, councilmen will be elected for two-year terms to serve in Place 1, Place 3 and Place 5. Jerry McWilliams is serving now in Place 1, while Truett Bryan is the Place 3 Councilman and Rod Waller is the Place 5 Councilman.

Mullins Rites Set Wednesday

Pat Abbananto will officiate at the funeral service, and burial will be in Hillside Memorial Gardens, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

A native of Falls County, Mrs. Mullins had lived here since 1966. Surviving are her husband; a daughter, Jenny Mullins of Abilene; two sons, David Mullins of San Antonio and Ed Mullins of Lubbock; a brother, W. E. Gray Jr. of Gladewater, and six grandchildren.

FOR SNYDER OAKS NURSING HOME

Zoning Change Approved, But Permit Is Delayed

Snyder Oaks Nursing Home got final action on its zoning change request last night, but faced further delays in getting a building permit.

The city council, meeting in a special session, unanimously approved on second reading the ordinance changing the nursing home site zone from an R-1 (single family residence) to an R-3 (multi-family residence) zone. At its regular meeting on Feb. 7, the council had delayed a request for a building permit for the nursing home, pending an agreement by the owners to pave an adjacent street. An agreement signed by two of the owners, Robert T. Helton and Delwin Burch, agreeing to pay the full cost of curb and gutter and 18-foot width paving to city specifications within 18 months from the date of the agreement, was presented to the council.

It was estimated that it would be at least a year before the nursing home is ready for occupancy, and the city staff advised that since paving work is limited to summer months, it would likely be the summer of 1978 before the actual work could be done anyway.

However, the council was hesitant to grant a waiver for fear it would establish a precedent that could cause complications in the future. City Attorney Ernie Armstrong advised that the agreement be amended to make it binding on future owners in the event the builders should dispose of the property within the 18-month period. He said the council would be waiving the time factor by granting the request.

The Snyder Oaks case may be somewhat unique, it was pointed out, since the street across the south side of the property is the city limit line and the abutting property is outside the city. Also, it was noted that the builders could have developed the project without requesting annexation, in which case the paving problem would not have emerged.

City manager George Patterson said the owners had indicated that they preferred to delay the paving until the nursing home is ready for occupancy, since cost of the paving project has been estimated at around $11,000, which they had not foreseen in their planning.

Ultimately, the council agreed to waive the time factor until the facility is ready for occupancy, at which time the owners will be required to put up money for the required paving. Also, the council held out the possibility of negotiating pavement to a full width on the west side of the nursing home property rather than half width across the south where the south edge is outside the city.

The new proposed agreement will be submitted to the nursing home owners after it is drawn up by the city attorney.

In other business at the special session, the council approved March 8 as the date for taking bids on improvements to the water treatment plant and for the purchase of sewage lift station pumps; approved widening of parking spaces on the west side of the 2500 block of College great human beings

The U.S. Historical Society recently asked the history department chairman of 100 colleges and universities to name America's 10 greatest presidents.

Of 86 replies, all but one placed Abraham Lincoln first, followed by George Washington, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Teddy Roosevelt, Thomas Jefferson, Woodrow Wilson, Andrew Jackson, Harry Truman, James Polk and John Adams.

Six of these presidents served in the first century of the United States and four in the second century, which suggests that the nation has not lacked for leadership throughout its history.

Interestingly, however, the society reports that a significant number of the historians insisted or implied that there have not been 10 great presidents. "It is stretching things a bit to list the seven I have," said one historian.

Contended another: "We have not had many presidents who were great 'human beings,' my criterion for greatness. Most of the figures in our history who could be classified as great human beings did not hold political office."

In this light, it is worth noting that of the 10 presidents judged greatest by the historians, all but John Adams either headed the nation during wars or military actions or had previously won fame as military heroes. And even during Adams' administration, the society points out, the nation was on the verge of war with France.

The wartime presidents were: Jefferson (naval action against the Barbary Coast pirates); Polk (Mexican War); Lincoln (Civil War); Wilson (World War I); F.D. Roosevelt (World War II), and Truman (World War II and Korean War).

The military heroes were Washington (American Revolution); Jackson (War of 1812), and Teddy Roosevelt (Spanish-American War).

Furthermore, the president who received the 11th largest number of votes from the historians, Lyndon B. Johnson, also headed the nation during a war.

How will Jimmy Carter be measured against his predecessors?

Since he is not a military hero, and since no war or military action looms on the horizon at this time, he will have to achieve greatness in other ways — perhaps by being remembered as a "great human being?"

One hopes future historians will rank him as such.

ready for harvest

Congressman Jim Collins of Dallas has come up with some figures that should interest President Carter and others in Washington who are interested in efficiency.

Reporting on findings by the Council on Wage and Price stability concerning the effects of federal regulation on the American steel industry, Collins declared that red tape is strangling private enterprise. According to the report, Collins related that the steel industry's operating and investment decisions are circumscribed by more than 5,300 federal regulations, especially in the areas of safety and health.

For example, he said the steel industry must comply with each of the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's approximately 4,000 rules. Over 100 regulations deal with the environment. Furthermore, of the 27 agencies, involved, more than one-third of them have come into existence since 1970.

The situation becomes even more complex, says Collins, when we realize that many agencies administer more than one legislative program. Conversely, more than one agency administers a single program in many cases. But the worst problem, is conflict among regulations issued by the various agencies.

One gets the feeling that it would be a big help if the industry could just get a firm policy that would satisfy all agencies on a given point. It would be even better, of course, if there were fewer agencies and no overlapping regulations.

For those interested in efficiency, the field is white for the harvest.

"Who's there?"

martha angle and robert walters

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — With Democrats firmly in control of the White House and Capitol Hill, the Republican party is in danger of becoming invisible at the national level - a development which has GOP leaders fretting and fussing.

President Carter has skillfully commandeered the airwaves and headlines from the "bully pulpit" of the White House while his Democratic supporters and antagonists in Congress are soaking up whatever time and space is leftover.

The result has been a virtual freeze-out of the "loyal opposition" at a time when Republican political fortunes are already at their nadir. With some justification, GOP leaders feel they are being slighted by the press.

Senate Minority Leader Howard H. Baker, Jr., R-Tenn., House GOP Leader John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., and former Sen. Bill Brock, R-Tenn., the new Republican national chairman, have joined forces to combat the indifference of the media.

Rhodes and his staff aides have privately complained to several reporters and at least one major newspaper editor that important policy statements by House Republicans are being virtually ignored.

Baker says he will "scream to high heaven" if press coverage of GOP positions doesn't pick up soon.

And the congressional leaders plus Brock are scheduled to sit down within the next few weeks with officials of the three major television networks - CBS, NBC and ABC - to plead for guarantees that the GOP will have a reasonable opportunity to respond to President Carter's fireside chats and other televised reports to the American people.

When Carter's first fireside chat was announced, Brock fired off telegrams to all three networks requesting equal time. He didn't get it, but he was invited to appear on NBC's "Today Show" and ABC's "A.M. America" the morning after the President's address.

"I think the networks are sensitive to the fairness question," Brock told us. "The fireside chat approach is so subject to abuse that I think they are going to bend over backwards to avoid problems."

"We're prepared to go to the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) if necessary, but I believe something can be worked out amicably."

A spokesman for Rhodes said Republicans have fared better on television than they have in daily news coverage by print journalists.

"Because we are a minority and a badly reduced one at that, it is patently obvious to the press that whatever we want is not going to happen because we don't have the votes.

"Therefore, what we do or say apparently isn't news. To us, that's a potentially insidious type of bias even though it's quite unintentional," the Rhodes aide said.

Rhodes & Co. may be stewing prematurely. Because the Carter administration is still in its formative phase and because the President himself remains an enigma to much of the public, the press is indeed temporarily mesmerized by the ruling majority.

The real test, as Baker told us, will come two or three months from now when the shine is off the apple and the administration gets down to specific legislative proposals and executive decisions.

"We want to make sure the country gets a glimpse of what the alternatives to Democratic programs might be. If we're frozen out of the news, we're going to be in very bad shape indeed," he said.

The press, of course, has no obligation to provide artificial respiration to a failing GOP. But the Republicans are entitled to something better than benign neglect. The founding fathers guaranteed freedom of the press to insure that Americans would be exposed to the clash of competing ideas. People are entitled to be informed of the views of the minority party as well as the governing majority.

'healthy' tax proposal

NEW YORK (AP) — A tax on individuals whose eating-drinking habits and life styles have the potential of driving up the nation's health care costs is being advocated by a prominent doctor and public health officials.

Although he didn't say how the tax might be levied, Dr. Kerr White, who made the proposal, said it would be aimed at encouraging sound health care habits and discouraging practices considered to be both unhealthy and costly.

In a paper prepared for a conference today on Future Directions in Health Care, White said that change in personal behavior would be a sure means for reducing the risks and costs of many common disorders.

"We can start with hand washing after elimination, avoiding excessive caloric intake, abstaining from alcohol consumption before driving, using automobile seat belts, obtaining adequate rest, taking regular exercise, and avoiding cigarette tobacco smoke," he said.

Asked if his proposal wouldn't be construed as an invasion of personal privacy, White snapped: "You can't have it both ways." The people responsible for rising health care costs must be prepared to pay, he said.

White said his ideas would in no way interfere with the manner in which a person chooses to live his or her life, but would merely allocate to them rather than to the public the costs involved.

The special tax also would be levied on companies whose products and practices are harmful to health, said White, director of the United Fund's Institute for Health Care Studies and former professor at Johns Hopkins University Medical School.

"Each firm would estimate and report its own health care tax in accordance with national formulas and these could be periodically audited in much the same way the Internal Revenue Service audits individual income tax returns," he said.

White also called for graduated health care taxes on products such as alcohol, cigarettes with high tar and nicotine content, junk foods, soft drinks and automobiles sold without safety-belt systems.

He said the revenue from such taxes would be used "to offset the costs of providing the inevitable medical care the consumers of these products will experience."

The two-day conference for which White's views were prepared, is sponsored jointly by the Institute of Medicine, the Rockefeller Foundation, the Blue Cross Association and the California Health Policy Program.

Bridge Safety Becoming A Nationwide Problem

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Iowa children were killed when a school bus crashed through a bridge guardrail last August. Despite the guardrail's deficiency, state highway workers used the same type rail as a replacement, federal safety officials say.

The National Transportation Safety Board feels the incident underscores a growing nationwide problem with deteriorating and unsafe bridges.

The board, in a report released today, said the guardrail on a bridge near Neola, Iowa, was deficient and "would not offer an appropriate level of protection even to automobiles."

The report criticized the Iowa Department of Transportation for not using a stronger rail as a replacement.

While the problem of unsafe bridges confronts federal, state and local highway officials, funds to repair the bridges are limited.

The Department of Transportation has classified 34,600 bridges on federal highways as deficient, and says replacements would cost $10 billion. Thousands of bridges on local roads are in the same class.

Sen. John C. Culver, D-Iowa, in a Senate speech on the problem last week, called the situation "critical."

"Many of these bridges are simply unsafe and should be repaired or replaced immediately, but it is becoming obvious that demands far outstrip the available financial resources," Culver said.

He said $180 million is authorized annually through 1978 for work on structurally deficient or obsolete bridges on federal highways.

He and several other senators have introduced a bill that would increase the annual amount to $600 million, with 15 per cent of the funds allocated to each state to be used on bridges under county control.

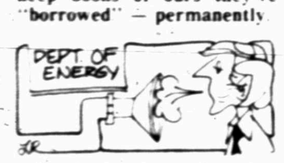

In the Iowa case, the driver and 29 other children also were injured when the school bus crashed through the rail and over a concrete parapet last Aug. 6. The bus landed on its roof on an embankment 15 feet below the bridge.

This winter has been most unusual and bitter cold. People in all areas have suffered in some way. Some because they didn't have fuel to heat their homes or places of work, (which also put a bite on their wallets.) Texans mostly suffered because of their adverse weather. A cheaper, most abundant energy substitute is everyone's dream.

But the problems won't end with winter. We will feel the effects while we are worrying about how to stay cool. Many vegetable and fruit crops were destroyed during the cold snap. Prices shot up in a hurry. I found the lowly cabbage to be 49 cents a pound last week. Prices of carrots, tomatoes and lettuce have risen as the quality of the merchandise has dropped. Looks like we are going to have to begin gardening in earnest this spring.

This may be one year that a garden will be worth the 'aching backs' involved.

Or we could seek 'substitute' foods. We received a letter from North American Bait Farms in the office this week. They are trying to stimulate public interest in earthworms. They claim thy are important to agriculture and the environment AND are a potential source of food for HUMANS, (properly prepared, of course.) They say to cleanse the wigglers inside and out, dunk in boiling water several times. They can be used in cake and cookie batter after being dried out in an oven and pulverized.

Could this be the solution to the world's food problem? They are entirely edible, with no bone or gristle to throw away and make a safe and nutritious addition to diets, because they are 73 per cent protein. They also go down easy!

They are sponsoring another contest this year seeking recipes. Recipes will be judged for 'eye and taste' appeal, by a panel of FOOD experts. Last year's winning recipe was Applesauce Surprise Cake.

I for one don't plan to submit any recipes. I hope things don't get so bad in the future that we have to resort to eating 'worm delicacies.' But then maybe this is the answer to our weight problem!

about stars 'n stuff

DEAR DICK: I read your column every week and I would like to ask a question. Was Barbara Walters ever a Miss America? C. R., Manchester, Conn.

That's like asking if Don Knotts was ever a defensive tackle for the Oakland Raiders. No, Barbara was never a Miss America. Probably not even a Miss Lower Saskatchewan.

DEAR DICK: I have heard a rumor that the singer, David Bowie, died of an overdose two weeks ago. Please set some people straight and tell them if it's true or not. A BOWIE FAN, South Shore, Ky.

Untrue. Bowie is still with us, like it or not.

DEAR DICK: I saw Switch a few weeks ago and in it Robert Wagner had a three-inch deep cut above his left eyebrow with stitches. The following week there was no scar. Please explain. I'm puzzled. MARK ARMAS, Stockton, Ca.

You people just will never learn that TV and movies are make believe, will you? In the first episode, Wagner got knocked in the head with a lamp and wore a bandage. That was a story point. Next week, new show, no scar. They never carry over a story point like that, unless the star really gets hurt, in which case they write in something to explain it.

DEAR DICK: Why are there no write-ups on the story line or cast of Rich Man, Poor Man. This is true of TV Guide and the listings in the newspapers. If all other programs can tell us who is starring in the show and something about the story line, why can't Rich Man, Poor Man? MRS. JAMES MANNING, Amesbury, Mass.

That was a deliberate move on the part of ABC. The network's policy, for a while, was to withhold that information, in the hope of intriguing the audience and thus keep them watching. They recently changed that policy, feeling that the show has become established, and from now on story lines and cast will be revealed beforehand.

DEAR DICK: How come all the cartoons that they are starting to show are not cartoons? Are they getting tired of making a lot of pictures or something? SHELLEY UNREIN, Tucson, Ariz.

I presume you're referring to Saturday morning shows. They simply decided the audiences would prefer real actors to cartoon characters. Besides, the shows with real actors are cheaper.

DEAR DICK: I always read your column as does an old chum. Over coffee the subject came up as to who was Mia Farrow's mother. And how old she is now. Hope you can be of help - I'd hate to lose a coffee buddy. CAROL NEWMAN, Aptos, Calif.

Miss Farrow is the daughter of Maureen O'Sullivan and the late director, John Farrow. Miss O'Sullivan is presently 65.

DEAR DICK: I would like to obtain a copy of the theme from Charlie Brown, by Vince Guaraldi. So far, my efforts have been to no avail. Is it printed as piano sheet music, and if so, where could I obtain a copy? K.C., Cordelle, Ga.

The people who make the Charlie Brown specials tell me that there is no theme, as such. Guaraldi writes the music for the show, but none of it has been published.

DEAR DICK: What has happened to Western stars Tim Holt and Tim McCoy? What are they doing today? PATRICK BOUSQUET, Simi Valley, Calif.

Holt died in 1973. McCoy, last I heard, was still living but, at 84, the presumption is that he doesn't do much any more.

DEAR DICK: How old is Jaclyn Smith of Charlie's Angels, and is she married? TIM ANTOLOVIC, Wyandotte, Mich.

The beautiful Miss Smith is 29. At the moment, she is, single, divorced from actor Roger Davis, who was once on the old Alias Smith and Jones series.

DEAR DICK: Are the actresses Pippa Scott and Jacqueline Scott sisters? One of them played John St. John's girlfriend in the TV series, Jigsaw John, but I can't remember which one. J.R. Bakersfield, Ca.

Pippa and Jackie are not related. It was Pippa who was on Jigsaw John. Jackie just finished a big part in the upcoming film, "The Empire of the Ants."

DEAR DICK: About three years ago, I was told that Bob Denver had died when his radio fell in his bathtub. Now someone told me he had just made a movie. Is he or isn't he dead? J.K., Mission, B.C., Can.

He isn't dead.

Needlepoint Class Planned At WTC

The Basics of Needlepoint will be taught in a Community Services course being planned at Western Texas College.

Instructor for the course will be Mrs. Herman Doak, an avid needlepointer for about 10 years who has taught classes at The Needle Point in Cogdell Center.

A minimum of 10 persons must enroll for the course before a starting date can be set. Enrollment will be limited to 12 persons. Persons wishing to reserve space in the class are asked to call the Community Services office, 573-8511, extension 237, as soon as possible so plans may be completed.

Classes will meet from 7-9 p.m. at WTC on the night selected by the instructor and class members.

Students will pay fees of $15 each for 12 hours of instruction, and each student will furnish the supplies required. A list of these supplies may be obtained from the Community Services office.

Needlepoint was extremely popular in Colonial America, where it was used for pictures, as an upholstery fabric, and for fashion accessories. The current revived interest started to gain momentum during the late twenties.

Kits containing all the materials needed to make an almost endless variety of items are available in specialty shops and other stores, although there is a growing number of needlepoint enthusiasts who enjoy designing their own original pieces. The current issue of Family Circle magazine gives instructions for reproducing a likeness of your own home.

Persons wishing further information about the needlepoint class are invited to contact the Community Services office during regular office hours, 8-12 and 1-5 Monday through Thursday and 8-12 and 1-4 on Fridays.

NEEDLEPOINT—Mrs. Herman Doak displays needlepoint pillows as examples of the decorative items which can be turned out by hobbyists in their spare time. Mrs. Doak will be the instructor for a needlepoint class starting soon at Western Texas College.

Rain Forest Slides Shown To Garden Club

The Olympic National Rain Forest in the Olympic Peninsula of Washington as seen by eyes trained in the study of biology, and photographed at close range, was presented to the Twilight Garden Club Thursday. Mrs. James Tully accompanied her slides with her own recorded commentary on the plants, trees, and glaciers of the area. Plants systems were traced through their development from beginning plant forms, such as lichens, whose decomposition gradually makes soil, to higher forms as ferns and trees that use the soil for root support.

With temperatures between 50-60 degrees and an average rainfall of 142 inches annually, luxuriant undergrowth of slime molds, algae, mushrooms, mosses, and many other plants thrive in the dark damp under towering trees 300 feet high and centuries old. Elk, deer, squirrel, banana slug, fungi, trailing raspberry, foxglove, devil's club, seedlings - all plants and animals interact with each other and with the environment, creating an effect which, Mrs. Tully says can be "eerie, artistic, or symphonic."

The Twilight Garden Club will again sponsor a community project in the Scurry County Fair, in which all plant and flower growers of the county are invited to participate.

HONORED—A baby shower was held at 4400 Ave. U. party room for Mrs. James Shifflett, right. Pictured with Mrs. Shifflett is her mother-in-law, Mrs. Charles Shifflett. Hostesses for the occasion were Jo Ann Urban, Marie Calvert, Betty Franks, Wena Ainsworth, Brenda Ingram, Nancy LaRoux, Shirley Jones, Judy Birkle and Charlene Cansler.

South's jump to four spades was definitely an overbid. He did hold a tremendous hand, but there was no reason for South to expect that dummy would produce two tricks for him and unless he could find those two tricks he would not be able to bring home the game. Still, South did bid it and we have to sympathize with his decision.

West started proceedings for the defense by leading out the king, ace and queen of clubs. East discarded two diamonds and South ruffed the third club.

South thought about the fate reserved for overbidders, but there was nothing he could do about it. He had bid four spades and had to play it. He had lost two clubs and was still looking at a sure spade loser. Was there anything he could do about it?

Yes, there was. Maybe West held the singleton king of spades. South played his ace and sure enough the king dropped. Now it was a simple matter for South to cash the ace and king of diamonds, ruff a diamond and make his lucky game.

Ask the Jacobys

A California reader asks what you should bid with ♠ 8 7 4 3 ♥ A x x ♦ K x x ♣ K J x after the bidding has proceeded one heart-double-pass.

The expert bid and the one recommended by teachers is to bid two hearts. This forces partner to bid again and you will try three notrump if he bids a minor suit or four spades if he bids spades. If this cue bid is too rich for your blood, try two spades or two notrump. A bid of just one spade or one notrump is inadequate.

Community Is In Shock Over Slayings Of Boys

By JAN CARROLL
Associated Press Writer

HOLLANDSBURG, Ind. (AP) — Talk in the Raccoon Lake bar usually runs to fishing, politics and country music. That was gone today, shattered by shock at the execution-style slayings of four young brothers in a town where crime has always been something that happens somewhere else.

"This is supposed to be a nice, safe community," said Virginia Tyler, whose husband owns the bar and restaurant on the fringe of the Raccoon Lake recreation area.

"Everybody is just shocked. They were superfine boys."

Ralph Spencer, 14; Reeve B. Spencer, 16; Raymond M. Spencer, 17, and Gregory B. Brooks, 22, a stepbrother, were found Monday face-down on the blood-soaked floor of their mobile home.

Each had been killed by a shotgun blast to the head. Their mother escaped by playing dead after gunshots tore through her wig, police said.

Betty Spencer, 43, Gregory Brooks' mother and stepmother of the three teen-agers, was wounded in the back, head and shoulder. She managed to walk to a neighbor's and summon help.

The trailer was ransacked, the telephone lines were cut and the victims' wallets missing.

Mrs. Spencer told investigators four men, believed to be in their early 20s, invaded the trailer shortly after her husband, Keith, left for his job as a technician for an Indianapolis television station.

Police were unable to learn more immediately about the incident because she was heavily sedated, although listed in satisfactory condition at a Terre Haute hospital.

The assailants fled in Raymond Spencer's car, which was found about six hours later abandoned on a rural road seven miles away. Police said they assumed there was a second car, but had no description of it.

"There might have been at the most $30 taken," said State Police Sgt. Don Aldrich. "It looked like an execution-type slaying. However, we don't have a reason for it. Killing four people over $30 doesn't make a whole lot of sense."

Attorney Claims 'Roots' Triggered Rampage

By ANDY LIPPMAN
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — "Roots," the televised epic inspired by a black man's search for his ancestry, triggered Jesse Counter's rampage, says the lawyer for the 42-year old man accused of taking eight hostages in an attempt to reunite his family.

"This man sat on this for 20 years, and the dynamite was 'Roots,'" said attorney Eugene Smith.

During the siege that began Friday night at the Catherine Booth home for unwed mothers, Coulter demanded the return of a son born at the home 20 years earlier. The child had been put up for adoption.

Smith said his client, who is black, had been frustrated over the loss for some time.

"Jessie told me when he saw Chicken George a character in "Roots" get his own family back together, he couldn't help himself," Smith said. "He had to come back to Cincinnati and get the kid."

As it turned out, the effort was in vain. The siege ended when an undercover Cincinnati detective fooled Coulter and his ex-wife Rita Gibran into thinking he was their long-lost son and they surrendered.

Coulter and Mrs. Gibran were arraigned Monday in Criminal Court and their cases were continued until Friday. Bond was set at $1 million each.

The television program was based on a book in which author Alex Haley traced the history of his family from black Africa through the days of slavery in the South. The dramatization concluded 12 days before Coulter came here.

Reversed Bus Trend Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)— The U.S. Civil Rights Commission says children in large metropolitan areas should be bused between the inner city and the suburbs to reverse a trend of increasing segregation in big-city schools.

"While elsewhere much progress has been made in desegregating public schools," the commission said, "it is these children of the cities more than any others who have yet to reap any benefit from the promise" of equal educational opportunity.

The commission, in a 119-page report released today, said. "the problem is growing worse, not better" as "the boundaries between cities and suburbs have become not merely political dividing lines but barriers that separate people by race and economic class."

Attorney Is Appointed For Suspect Here

An attorney was appointed here Monday to represent Danny Ray West, 18, who is charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, and arraignment of Jerry Mac Dennis Jr., also 18, on a murder charge was postponed.

Dennis charged with the slaying of his grandfather, Jessie Clyde Dennis, and West was charged with taking a station wagon owned by the elder Dennis to Florida and back to Snyder without permission.

Arraignment of Dennis was delayed because of an unspecified illness. He had been hospitalized here last week and subsequently was taken to a Lubbock hospital for treatment.

Tommie Mills was appointed to serve as West's attorney. West is free on $5,000 bond.

Both Dennis and West were arrested on Jan. 25. The body of Jesse Clyde Dennis had been found at his residence on Jan. 22, where he apparently had been dead for several hours, or possibly two or three days, officers estimated.

Damage In Mishap Is Heavy

A traffic accident and an act of criminal mischief were investigated Monday by Snyder policemen.

A 1975 Chevrolet pickup truck driven by Beth Wheeler Heard of Snyder was in collision with a 1973 Chevrolet El Camino driven by Russell Craig Blakey of Snyder. The collision occurred yesterday at 1:30 p.m. at the intersection of 30th St. and College Avenue.

Heavy damages were reported to the pickup with moderate damages being reported to the Blakey vehicle. No one was injured in the mishap.

In other activity, Jack Tilson, the Snyder postmaster, told officers that a BB had been shot through one of the windows of the post office. Estimated damage to the window was set at $100.

County Court Pleas Heard

Two guilty pleas in as many days have been entered in county court.

This morning, Bob Ratliff pleaded guilty to a charge of theft by exercising control.

Ratliff is accused of taking a dolly (hand truck) from Head Heating and Air Conditioning on July 30, 1976 and not returning it. The dolly was valued at $150.

He was sentenced to serve a 30-day jail term, probated for six months, and fined $100.

Monday, Ruben Morelock pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was fined $300 and sentenced to serve three days in the county jail.

Morelock, from Odessa, had been arrested on the DWI charge June 17 by city policemen.

ITHACA SHOTGUN—Gene Bowlin, owner of Gene's Gun Shop, is displaying an Ithaca over-and-under combination shotgun. Hundreds of guns and gun accessories are in Gene's Gun Shop. The store is open after 5 p.m. on weekdays and all day Saturday and Sunday.

Gene's Gun Shop Here Deals In Guns, Knives Exclusively

Gene's Gun Shop deals exclusively in guns, knives, and accompanying accessories. Other stores in Snyder may have a line of guns and a few accessories, but they deal in them only as a sideline endeavor. If you want to choose a gun or a knife from a store offering a wide selection of the items for customer convenience, you need to go to Gene's Gun Shop.

Gene Bowlin, owner and operator of the store, said he has in stock guns to suit even the hardest to please men. In stock in the store are over-and-under shotgun combinations, double barrel shotguns, rifles and pistols.

Bowlin said he has a .44 magnum caliber pistol, a .357 magnum pistol and even a .41 magnum pistol.

He also has a line of replicas of black powder guns.

Also at Gene's Gun Shop is a complete line of knives. The knives have such brandnames as Buck, Gerber, Smith and Wesson, Puma, Case, Schrade, and Camillus.

The knives come in all sizes to fit your every need. The knives are ideal for field dressing animals. Also available at the gun shop are a host of hones and sheaths for the knives.

In addition to the guns and knives, Bowlin has in stock holsters, reloading equipment, scopes and accompanying mounts, gun cases and ammunition for almost any caliber gun.

To help lure animals into the hunter's gunsights, Bowlin has many animal lures. Included in the animal lures are tape recorded animal sounds that can be replayed on cassette players and animal scents that are ideal for trap setting.

What should a hunter do if he is snakebit? Bowlin said that some doctors now recommend freezing the snakebite instead of cutting it. Bowlin has in stock a snakebite kit with chemicals that the hunter can apply to the area of the snakebite until he can reach a doctor.

Bowlin also repairs guns. Unlike some stores, Bowlin said he will buy, sell, or trade guns with the customer.

Gene's Gun Shop is located behind Bowlin's 3602 Hill Avenue home. The store is open after 5 p.m. on weekdays and all day Saturday and Sunday.

Dissatisfaction Of Regime Cited

NEW YORK (AP) — Natalya Solzhenitsyn, wife of exiled Soviet author Alexander Solzhenitsyn, has written that "The West has a direct interest in the possibility that the people of the U.S.S.R. will be able to make use of their natural, human right of free expression."

In an essay published in the current issue of Time magazine, she says that if the right to dissent were exercised, "The Soviet leadership would no longer be free to make arbitrary use of the country's resources."

Bill's Auto Salvage Has Several Good Used Vehicles For Sale

Some people may not realize it, but Jimmy Farmer, operator of Bill's Auto Salvage near the east traffic circle, also has several good used cars for sale.

Farmer said he has several good used vehicles for sale, including a 1972 Model Toyota, a 1975 Model Ford pickup, a 1974 Model pickup, a 1974 Model Chevy II, a 1973 Model Ford LTD, two 1968 Chargers, a 1963 school bus camper, and a 1965 Model Thunderbird.

In addition, Farmer has several wrecked cars that can be rebuilt.

Bill's Auto Salvage is a member of Kolt Hot Line Circuit and Texoma Hot Line Circuit, which puts them in touch with 150 other wrecking yards across the state.

"This means if you need a part for your car and we don't have it, there is a good possibility that we can get it for you from one of these other yards," explained Farmer.

"All we have to do is get on the direct phone to these other yards and relay your request," Farmer said. "And if any of them have the part you need, they can have it on the way in minutes."

Farmer said Bill's Auto Salvage has motors and all types of used parts for cars-tires, wheels, rear ends, body parts, and glass.

"We also install motors, transmissions and rear ends," he pointed out. Farmer contracts out all of his mechanic work to Olen Burditt, a local resident.

Farmer is a racing enthusiast, and his firm sells new and used speed equipment for cars.

"If we don't have the speed equipment in stock that you want, we can order it for you and have it delivered within two day's," Farmer said.

Farmer said he is out at Bill's Auto Salvage every day and welcomes visitors "Come by and see if we can fix you up with that part you need," he suggested.

WTC WINS CAGE CROWN

LEVELLAND-- The Western Texas College Westerners sacked up the Western Jr. College Athletic Conference basketball championship here last night with an impressive 74-51 triumph over South Plains' Texans.

Concerning the championship, Coach Mike Mitchell had this to say: "The thing that comes to my mind is that we lost the first two conference games and had to battle back from last place by winning 13 in a row. I think it is quite an accomplishment. Beyond that, the next thing I think is it doesn't really matter if we won conference because we've got to get ready for regional, which will be very difficult."

South Plains took a 2-0 lead and that was the last time they were ahead. The Westerners took a 10 point margin early and were out front, 36-26, at half-time. The Westerners shot well from the field and had a big edge in rebounds. Darryl Smith collected 18 rebounds which is the most by any Westerner this year.

South Plains tried a little of everything, and nothing seemed to work. They started out in a man to man defense, switched to a zone, and then tried to full court press. The Westerners were in a 1-3-1 zone all the way.

Lawrence Butler captured games scoring honors for the Westerners with 30 points. Darryl Smith contributed 15, and Butch Person put in 10. Dan Rucker and Tyrone Dixon each roped 10 points to lead South Plains. They were the only two in twin figures for the hosts.

The Westerners next game is here Thursday night against New Mexico Military Institute.

Vitamins 'free' in balanced diet

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I want to start taking vitamins and wondered if you could tell me how many grams of what vitamins I should take and when. Should I gradually get into this or can I take them right away?

DEAR READER — You are already into vitamins if you are eating. A normal well balanced diet includes all the vitamins and minerals you should need for health if you have no medical problems.

Most vitamin preparations have a label which lists the Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances (RDA) and the amount in the preparation. However, I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-6 that provides a table of all this information for different age groups as prepared by the Food and Nutrition Board of the National Academy of Sciences. As you will see, vitamins are usually measured in units or milligrams. Others who want information on vitamins can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

I do not disapprove of people taking an all purpose daily vitamin preparation — one with iron for women in the child-bearing years — if there is any question of whether or not their diet is adequate. However, it is probably best to get one's vitamins from a well balanced diet that includes enough of all the different food groups to provide the daily requirements.

People who live alone, those on diets, and those who have illnesses or poor eating habits may benefit from a daily vitamin tablet. Taking large amounts of vitamins above the RDA can cause trouble and anyone who needs large doses of medicine for a medical problem should be under a doctor's care.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a physical problem that is somewhat embarrassing to relate. I'm 34 and I have involuntary erections which have occurred nightly for over two years.

This has become distressing to me. I have seen a psychiatrist who found me okay and a urologist. He gave me an X ray of my kidneys after dye injection, checked me and said he didn't think I needed a cystoscopic examination and that I was okay.

I really am perplexed and needless to say am tired most mornings due to being awakened one or two times nightly with this.

Have you heard of this before and what should I do next?

DEAR READER — Rejoice! There is not a thing wrong with you. Every normal male has the same function if they don't, there is something wrong with them.

An erection occurs in response to brain mechanisms. They occur regularly many times each night during sleep and are related to the periods in a brain wave that identify "rapid eye movement" (REM). These responses even occur in the uterus in the unborn male child.

Your letter is a good example of why people need education on normal sexual functions and responses. You have worried needlessly about a response that is as normal as breathing. The only abnormal thing about it is your preoccupation about it. If learning that this is the normal pattern, usually many times a night for the normal male, doesn't relieve your anxiety, then you have a psychological hang-up and that might need further investigation. But your response that you say you are worried about is quite normal.

Texas Electric helps sponsor the Discovery '76 House at the University of Texas in Arlington. The sun's heat is used to run special heating/cooling equipment.

If this house can be heated and cooled by the sun, why can't yours?

This solar energy research house is heated, air conditioned and supplied with hot water by the sun's rays.

Rooftop solar collectors trap the heat from the sun, which is then transferred into the house.

Texas Electric helps sponsor this solar research facility. And we participate in a national solar energy development program.

Someday, houses like this one may be common. But right now, it's an experimental system that's simply not affordable for widespread home use.

Meanwhile, you need electricity to heat and cool your home today. And we have to make that electricity with fuels that are available.

That's why we're building power plants that run on lignite coal and nuclear fuel. These new plants are expensive, which means electricity will have to cost more.

But it also means we'll be able to continue supplying the electricity you need.

Wheat Gain Slows In Federal Loan Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The amount of wheat under the government's price support loan program has continued to increase but not as fast as last fall, the Agriculture Department says.

As of Jan. 31, there were slightly more than 264 million bushels committed to the loan program, a gain of about 19.5 per cent from 221 million bushels on Dec. 31, the department said Monday.

Last November, after USDA increased the price support loan rate, the amount of wheat in the program jumped 80 per cent, from 80.4 million bushels on Oct. 31 to 145.3 million a month later.

Although the amount of wheat currently committed under loan is far greater than it has been in recent year, the levels are still short of what they were in many years before 1973. On Dec. 31, 1972, for example, farmers had 305 million bushels of wheat under loan and three years before that 706 million.

The reason for the lesser amounts in recent years has been that cash market prices have been much higher than the loan rate, which is the amount growers can borrow from USDA by using their crop as collateral.

When cash markets are relatively low, the trend is to make more use of the loan program. And when prices improve, farmers can redeem the grain by paying off the loans and selling it for cash.

Last Oct. 13, then-President Gerald R. Ford boosted the wheat price support loan rate to $2.25 a bushel from $1.50 previously in effect. Cash market prices, on the other hand, are down substantially from a year or two ago, averaging $2.43 a bushel nationally at the farm in mid-January against $3.43 a year earlier.

The corn loan rate also was increased last fall to $1.50 a bushel from $1.25, and that has encouraged some farmers to make more use of the program.

As of Jan. 31 farmers had 225.7 million bushels of corn under loan, up 11.5 per cent from 202.4 million under loan on Dec. 31, the report showed.

Course Planned In Freehand Drawing

A Community Services course in Freehand Drawing will hold its first meeting Wednesday night in the Fine Arts Building at Western Texas College.

Need Moore of Sweetwater will be instructor for the 20-hour course. Classes are to meet from 7-9 each Wednesday night through April 6 with the exception of March 16 when the campus will be closed for spring break.

Ten students will be required to form the class, with fees set at $25 per person.

Persons interested in joining the class are asked to call the Community Services office at 573-8511, extension 237, before 5 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Students may pay fees between 6:45-7 o'clock Wednesday night. The class will meet in room 117 of the Fine Arts Building.

Students are asked to bring hard and soft lead pencils and large and small sketch pads to the first class meeting.

Richter Scale Is Modified

By RICHARD SALTUS
AP Science Writer

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) - The 40-year-old Richter Scale that is used as a measurement of ground motion in an earthquake has been revised, changing the ratings of previous great earthquakes.

For example, the 1960 quake in Chile released 62 times as much energy as formerly believed. The San Franciso earthquake of 1906 has been scaled downward.

Modification of the Richter Scale was announced Monday and, for the first time, a few quakes now register above 9 on the scale.

At the same time, scientists and engineers meeting at the California Institute of Technology struck an optimistic note about the effects of the so-called "great quakes."

"These great seismic events are not uniformly associated with catastrophic damage," said Dr. Paul C. Jennings, CalTech professor of applied Mechanics.

The revision came because of new instruments and theories that more accurately record and explain energy released by the so-called great quakes.

The new rating scale for large quakes announced by Dr. Hiroo Kanamori, Caltech geophysics professer, revised the Alaska quake of 1964 from 8.4 to 9.5

Previously, no quake had been given a magnitude greater than 8.9 on the scale devised by Dr. Charles Richter in 1935. The new rating system does not replace the Richter Scale, but it changes how the higher magnitude are computed.

The Richter Scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude. Thus a reading of 7.5 reflects a quake 10 times stronger than on of 6.5

Under the new system, the 1906 San Francisco quake - previously estimated at 8.3 - was actually less powerful and has been assigned a magnitude of 7.9.

Kanamori said the magnitude, although showing the intensity of ground shaking, doesn't say much about a quake's destructiveness.

There have been fewer large quakes in recent years, but many more deaths, indicating that such factors as building construction, location in populated areas, depth of the quake, and size of the quake fault zone are what really count, he said.

Lives in Fear Of Dead Message

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1977 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman who just turned 25. I have two small children, and I'm living in fear that I will not live to see them grow up.

When I was 13, I was fooling around with a Ouija board, when I got a message from my dead grandmother saying she would see me in heaven on my 26th birthday, meaning I was going to die on that day in an accident.

I told my husband about my fears, telling him to marry again soon after I die so my children won't be without a mother, and he said, "That Ouija board stuff is a lot of bunk, so forget it."

Abby, for some reason, I can't forget it. I am not afraid to die. If God wants me, I'm ready to go, but I only have 11 months to prepare myself if the Ouija board was right.

Have you or any of your readers ever had any experiences with a Ouija board? I'm terribly confused and very frightened.

W. VA. READER

DEAR READER: I agree with your husband. While I respect the rights of others to believe as they wish, I have yet to find a shred of convincing evidence to support the theory that the living can communicate with the dead.

I urge you to put those frightening thoughts of impending death out of your head, dear.

DEAR ABBY: My grandchildren live out of state. They are old enough to write, but they never acknowledge my gifts. I spend a lot of time shopping for things I think they will enjoy, and my presents are never cheap.

Please don't tell me to stop sending them gifts. You know a grandmother can't forget her grandchildren on their birthdays, Christmas and Easter. So what do you advise?

FORGOTTEN GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Send them each a box of "thank "you notes for Easter. That's egg-actly what they need.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a very handsome (and weak) man who does not hold up very well when faced with temptation. He maintains that when a lady makes a pass at a gentleman, he should not insult her by turning her down, and he has no choice other than to oblige her.

I say he is out of his head, that a true gentleman would find a courteous way to decline. I would like your opinion.

ALABAMAN

DEAR AL: Your husband should first get his terms straight. If a woman makes a pass at a man, she's no "lady." And if the man obliges her, he's no "gentleman." And if your husband is practicing what he preaches, you'd better lock him up before his "chivalry" kills him.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (24¢) envelope.
