Prime Minister Indira Gandhi assassinated

NEW DEHLI, India (AP)— Prime Mininster Indira Gandi was assassinated today outside her home, mortally wounded in a barrage of bullets reportedly fired by her own Sikh bodyguards.

The slaying of the woman who dominated Indian political life for two decades threatened to plunge this troubled nation into new turmoil. Her son, Rajiv, was quickly chosen to succeed her.

One or two of the gunmen were reported killed at the scene of the shooting, for which Sikh extremists claimed responsibility. "We have taken our revenge!" one militant procalimed.

Mrs. Gandhi, 66, had been under heavy guard for months because of assassination threats from Sikhs angered by her crackdown on militant members of the sect in Punjab state.

She was shot as she emerged from her house at 9:20 a.m. (10:50 p.m. EST) to make a video recording.

"Suddenly, out of the blue, two persons carrying Sten guns--one uniformed and one in civilian clothes--shot at Mrs. Gandhi," the United News of India reported. "Eight to 10 bullets from the gun hit her."

Mrs. Gandhi, clad in an orange cotton sari, was rushed to the All-India Institute of Medical Sciences. Doctors said she died less than two hours later.

"She is no more," a member of her governing Congress Party announced to more than 100,000 people surrounding the hospital. Cries and sobs arose from the throng. Many prayed or beat their breasts.

Doctors said she was shot in the heart, abdomen and thigh. There were reports she had been shot at least eight times and possibly as many as 16 times.

"The United News of India and a former foreign minister both said three security guards were involved in the attack, but UNI said only two fired on Mrs. Gandhi. There were conflicting reports as to whether one or two of the gunmen had been killed by other security guards.

The million-strong armed forces was placed on alert, and police sealed off New Delhi and surrounded Mrs. Gandhi's residence and the hospital, three miles away.

The Cabinet met in emergency session, and national legislators of the Congress Party unanimously chose Rajiv Gandhi, 40, as the new head of government, a government spokesman reported. Ganhdi was then sworn in by President Zail Singh.

Unlike her predecessors, Mrs. Ganhdi, prime minister for 15 years of the past 18 years, had not designated a deputy prime minister or a Cabinet minister to succeed her.

It had been expected that her son might be sworn in as her temporary successor because he is effectively India's No. 2 leader as the first among five general-secretaries of the Congress Party.

Carriker tells teachers...

H.B. 72 called 'net-negative'

Snyder teachers and administrators heard a different point of view Tuesday in their search for answers from this area's state elected officials to questions regarding House Bill 72.

State Rep. Steven Carriker (D-Roby) characterized the legislation — which prompted a sweeping reform in Texas education — as "net-negative."

He noted this was an opposite viewpoint from State Sen. Ray Farabee (D—Wichita Falls). Farabee appeared before approximately the same group of local school representatives last Tuesday, Oct. 23. At that meeting, Farabee essentially defended H.B. 72.

Carriker commented he felt in Texas there is a "great big group in the middle" who does not realize the impact of the legislation.

He called it a "watch and wait" situation, and noted that "when they start receiving their tax bills," the state will experience "property tax issues where there weren't issues before," a reference to the greater local tax burden to support aspects of the law.

Carriker predicted also no large gains in "academic standing or academic achievement" from the bill.

To address this and other "negative" aspects, he predicted with the next legislature a "little old cleanup bill."

Regarding this, he noted if opponents of the measure adopt an "antagonistic point of view, you'll get few results. A lot of people have their legal reputations riding on this bill," he said.

As other "negatives," Carriker criticized prohibitions against "social promotions," calling the plan "absolutely unworkable."

He said this eliminates "giving flexibility to local school children who don't fit the mold" and that he felt in some cases pulling a child away from their own age group would "create social problems."

Carriker also said he feels the new bill "discriminates against" such out-of-school activity as athletics.

He was critical also of the rule which specifies that a student failing in one course cannot participate in such activities.

'Heart' walker list expands to 50

More than 50 individuals are expected to participate Saturday in the annual Turkeywalk, sponsored by the Scurry County Division of the American Heart Association.

They are now taking pledges which will be multiplied times each mile of the 10-mile course they complete.

In addition, individuals may still enter, according to Bobby Beard, who is heading up this year's local effort.

To enter, persons may contact him at West Texas State Bank by calling 573-5441.

The walk will begin at 9 a.m. at the Snyder Junior High School parking lot. The route will lead walkers through the city, west of Snyder and back to the junior high.

President of the American Heart Association's local chapter is Jim Tully.

2 county treasurer's job on upcoming vote

AMENDMENT 4
EXPLANATION

This amendment would allow the voters in the counties of Bexar and Collin to abolish the office of county treasurer and permit the duties of the treasurer to pass to the county clerk.

The constitution now requires all but two of the 254 counties of the state to elect a county treasurer for a four-year term. Voters of Tarrant and Bee Counties were permitted to abolish the office of treasurer in the counties under the authority of a constitutional amendment passed in 1982.

ARGUMENTS FOR

—This amendment will save money for the taxpayers of these counties and will eliminate duplication of functions of county government.

—There is widespread support in these counties for this amendment. The incumbent treasurers in both counties ran for office favoring abolition of the position.

More and more frequently we are reminded of a growing generation gap.

One day last week, we got an inquiry asking if George Strait is coming to Snyder. Thinking of the fellow who ran unsuccessfuly for Lt. Governor of Texas, we responded, "Why would George Strake be coming to Snyder?"

We were informed that George Strait is a popular country and western singer. Not to be outdone, we informed the caller that the George Strake we know is chairman of the Texas Republican Party.

Papa Knight, who died last week in San Angelo at the age of 92, was one of those who saw many changes in his lifetime. At times it was difficult to impress him with modern technology.

Knight lived in Snyder for a number of years and worked for the Texas Highway Department. In later years, he was custodian at the 37th Street Church of Christ.

When the U.S. landed its first man on the moon, the entire nation was buzzing about the event. Knight was not impressed and stated he didn't believe there was a man on the moon.

"But didn't you see it on TV?" one fellow asked.

"Shore did and I saw that Poppin' Fresh Dough Boy jump out of that can too."

WTC President Don Newbury has also experienced a generation gap with one of his daughters.

Talking about the TCU football team, Newbury exclaimed, "They came on like Gangbusters!"

Daughter Jeanie, who is nine years old, quickly corrected her father. "Daddy, it's Ghostbusters."

Ask Us

Q. — When the new management firm takes over the contract for the Snyder school cafeteria service, how will cafeteria workers be affected?

A. — School officials say the indication is little change will occur. Artie Butler, assistant superintendent in charge of this area of operation, said workers who wish to continue "should feel secure." Regarding pay, he said he doubts neither raises nor decreases will be implemented since the school district has already budgeted funds and a contract is in place for the cafeteria operation this year.

Arrest here

Snyder police reported the arrest of a 37-year-old local man on charges of indecency with a child around 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Alvin Into Koski of 2405 30th St. was arrested by police investigators and charged in connection with an incident involving a 14-year-old girl Oct. 29.

Police say charges also link him to a similar incident reported to them in July.

The suspect remained in the Scurry County Jail Wednesday morning in lieu of $2,500 bond.

Post party

The American Legion Post, 1802 Ave. R, will be the scene Wednesday night for a Halloween costume party for Snyder youngsters sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Halloween carnival attractions are planned also from 7 until 9 p.m. Admission will be free and prizes will be awarded for the best costumes.

Attractions will include games, a spook house, fortune tellers and a fishing pond.

Drought persists despite area rains

By The Associated Press

Recent deluges, floods, flash-flood warnings and pools of water soaking some front lawns are no indication the drought that has plagued Texas for more than a year is over.

October has been the wettest in recent Texas history, but weather officials say the cracked soil in some farm regions is soaking up water as fast as the rain falls.

It's been the third straight summer in which parts of Texas saw wells and lakes dry up, crops seared and thousands of head of cattle sold off because farmers lacked grazing grass and no money to buy feed.

Still, the October rains brought some relief.

"We know this has helped a lot of people. We are in better shape. There's no question about it. But we've still got a long way to go before it (the drought) is over," said Jack Stearman, who minotors water supplies for the Texas Department of Water Resources.

There've been some drawbacks, as well.

El Paso, which normally receives less than an inch of rain in October, has gotten twice its normal rainfall for the year. More than 3 inches of rain fell in the area during October and farmers are suffering because they can't get into the drenched fields to harvest cotton and lettuce.

"I don't know what the total loss will be in terms of dollars, but this will hurt us real bad," said Joe Menoz, vice president of the Southwest Irrigated Cotton Farmers Association. "At very best, the quality of the cotton will be much lower."

Wheat farmers in North Central Texas say their lands are too drenched to plant.

And other areas, like Houston, are trying to dry out. Last week, about 1,000 people were forced to flee their homes after heavy rains inundated the area.

But the good news since the water began falling some two weeks ago is the end of water rationing for many Texas cities.

This Priest Is Entitled To Have Lipstick on His Collar

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday, while walking down the street hand in hand with my wife and two daughters, we noticed many hostile stares, and received nasty comments from some of the people who passed by.

Why? Because as a priest of an Eastern Orthodox Church, I wear the traditional black suit and white collar, but it is generally assumed that I am a Roman Catholic priest who has "strayed" and is flaunting it publicly.

Abby, you would be doing approximately 1,500 married Orthodox priests and thousands of Episcopalian priests in the United States a huge service if you would inform your readers that not all priests are Roman Catholic, which is the only church that forbids its priests to marry.

As for the rest of us, we are happily married husbands and fathers.

THE REV. FATHER JOHN BARTKE, ST. MICHAEL ORTHODOX CHURCH, VAN NUYS, CALIF.

DEAR FATHER BARTKE: Thank you for a letter that is sure to educate many, and I hope will still a gaggle of wagging tongues.

DEAR ABBY: This is for "Mad in Dallas," who complained because her husband had to pay $330 a month in child support to his ex-wife who lives in a $100,000 condo:

First, "Mad," let me congratulate your husband. He is one of a minority. In 1982, about 8.4 million households should have been receiving child support. Of these, only 2.9 million actually received anything at all, and only 1.89 million received the full amount ordered!

One of the biggest problems in the child support program is the lack of standardization of awards. Let's hope one of the provisions of the new Federal Child Support Law will fix that. That law requires each state to develop standards for the child support awards by Oct. 1, 1987. These standards will almost certainly take into consideration the needs of the child and the resources available to both responsible parents.

Please encourage your husband to continue paying. The one who will most appreciate it in the long run is his child.

WILLIAM D. KIRBY, DIRECTOR, VERMONT CHILD SUPPORT PROGRAM

DEAR MR. KIRBY: Until I saw my mail concerning child support, I had no idea there were so many millions of people who were angry about it. Let's hope the new Federal Child Support Law will fix the injustices. But instead of a cure, let's consider a prevention.

Hello, young (and old) lovers, wherever you are, hear this: It's all right to fall in love with a person who has children by a previous marriage, but don't marry until you figure out how much will be left after the child support is paid.

Love may be lovelier the second time around, but the law says, "First families come first." It may not be fair, but who said life was fair?

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO SUFFERING A TERRIBLE LOSS IN VANCOUVER: My condolences, sir. The philosopher Arnold Toynbee put it this way: "There are two parties to the suffering that death inflicts, and in the apportionment of this suffering, the survivor takes the brunt."

Thank-you notes, sympathy letters, congratulations, how to decline and accept invitations and how to write an interesting letter are included in Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." # SCS Notes

By Ricky Linex
Range Conservationist

QUESTION: What native Texas big game species has not been hunted since prohibited by the Texas legislature in 1903?
ANSWER: The desert bighorn sheep.

Native to the Trans-Pecos, the noble bighorns are riding a seesaw existence. Considered extinct now, the last wild sheep were seen in 1959, when wildlife personnel saw two ewes in the Sierra Diablo Mountains.

The demise of the bighorns involves several factors, all of which involve Homo sapiens. The Texas and Pacific Railroad, completed in 1881, linked El Paso with eastern metropolitan centers and cut through the heart of bighorn range. This opened the door to silver mining in the area with railroad crews and miners preying upon whatever wildlife they could find for food, and bighorn sheep became a staple of their diet. Market hunters switched from the dwindling buffalo to bighorns until all hunting was prohibited in 1903. Diseases and parasites introduced by domestic sheep and net-wire fences severely hurt bighorn populations.

By 1941 the bighorn population was estimated at only 150 animals. The profession of wildlife management was just beginning during the 1940's when steps were taken to help the bighorns. The Sierra Diablo Wildlife Management Area was established in 1945 in the Sierra Diablo Mountains. In the 1950's the center of restoration work shifted to the Black Gap Wildlife Management Area east of Big Bend National Park. Sixteen sheep were trapped in Arizona and brought to Black Gap. By 1970 this herd had increased to 68 head.

By the mid-1970's disease and predation by mountain lions forced the program to move to a ranch in Presidio County and back to Sierra Diablo.

Financial support has increased in the 1980's with the newly formed Texas Bighorn Society. The society has recently funded construction of improved predator resistant brood pens at Sierra Diablo.

It is ironic that market hunting was one of the factors in the demise of bighorns while sport hunting is one reason the species can, and probably will be saved from extinction again in Texas and elsewhere. Hunters and their various organizations have been a powerful force in the come back of many wildlife species.

The fate of the agile bighorns once again reigning king in the canyons of West Texas depends upon the grit of individuals and organizations who have pledged to save the species. Perhaps now the desert bighorn's worst times are past.

Different games, different goals

By James Jacoby

The modern bridge player has to wear two hats. When he is competing at rubber bridge or in a team-of-four event, making the contract is the thing and overtricks can go you know where. But if he's playing duplicate bridge, a careful safety play may get him a bad score if all the suits and key cards are behaving nicely.

For today's deal, let's assume rubber bridge. The three no-trump contract needs to be played as safely as possible if it's going to make. Declarer won the opening lead with the jack of spades, played a spade to the ace, and then played the ace and queen of clubs. Down he went, like the Titanic! The way to guarantee the contract is to take out an inexpensive insurance policy against a bad club split. Declarer should play ace of clubs, then a low club. Now he has an entry to his hand so that he can later cash the king of spades, and he will be able to take an assured nine tricks.

This line of play works even when the clubs are 4-1, and it is certainly the right approach at rubber bridge. What should you do if you're playing the hand at tournament bridge? Usually at duplicate you take unusual safety plays only if you are in a doubled contract or in a contract that you think few other pairs will reach.

Larger women can slenderize a full face and neck with makeup.

First blend in a skin-tone foundation all over the face, carrying it down the neck to the vanishing point wherever clothing neckline starts.

Now use a darker foundation on sides of face from temple to jawline, blending into skin-tone base.

Apply darker tone under chin and down sides of neck to create shadow, again blending to avoid demarcation lines.

Dust blender under cheekbones, sweeping up toward temples. A light whisk of colorless face powder over face and neck blends the tones.

Child seat law goes into effect in Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — On-the-road freedom for the littlest Texans ends Wednesday when the use of child safety seats becomes mandatory.

A West Texas legislator opposes the law as an unnecessary violation of civil liberties, akin to barring football because players get injured.

"Are we going to tell people they can't ride Brahman bulls because they get beat up every time?" asked Rep. Foster Whaley, D-Pampa.

But the director of the Texas Civil Liberties Union says the law is not an unreasonable government intrusion into the privacy of the car.

"That's what we are all about, resisting government intrusions on civil liberties," Gara LaMarche said Tuesday. "But here we are talking about young people and their safety. It's an extremely minimal intrusion."

Texas became one of the last states to adopt the safety seat law when it was approved in the summer special session. Beginning Wednesday, children under 2 must be secured in safety seats when riding in vehicles. Children 2-4 must be in either a safety seat or seat belt.

Bill supporters expect the law to produce a significant decrease in child injuries and deaths in wrecks. In 1982, 78 children under 4 died in Texas wrecks, and another 6,603 were hurt. Those numbers could be cut by 80 percent under the new law, according to the Texas Department of Health.

A violation is punishable by a fine of up to $50. However, no penalties will be assessed until January. Fines can be avoided by buying a seat within 10 days of the offense.

State Health Commissioner Robert Bernstein says approval of the law provided him with "great pleasure and relief."

The law left Whaley annoyed. He says it's not that he's against protecting children.

"We've got conservative people up here who think people are smart enough to make up their own minds about it," he said in Pampa. "That law was passed by lobbyists down there who want to sell restraining seats."

Sales of the restraining devices are up, according to Jim Leatherman, assistant manager at an Edison's store in Austin.

"It's been steadily going up ever since it was first announced," Leatherman said.

The seats, which cost from about $30-$80, also are available from rental and loaner programs around the state.

Whaley and others fought a losing battle on the House floor during June debate on the bill.

Mondale disputing polls; realignment said possible

By The Associated Press

Walter Mondale is disputing the polls before large, emotion-filled crowds, while a confident President Reagan suggests the election may bring a major political realignment and says it is no coincidence "the most blighted areas of the country" are heavily Democratic.

With less than a week left to try to close Reagan's huge lead in the polls, Mondale enjoyed huge receptions his home state of Minnesota and in a candlelight parade through the streets of Chicago late Tuesday before thousands of people.

The Democratic nominee attacked the president as an enemy of Social Security and Medicare, and coupled with it in every appearance an insistence that the public opinion polls — which give Reagan leads of 17 to 24 percentage points — are wrong.

"Something on the street is happening that's just not in the polls," Mondale said.

"All over the country people are moving, people are thinking and they are cutting through the fog."

Reagan was at the same time cautious, warning supporters against over-confidence, and bold, saying his campaign could be the beginning of "a historic electoral realignment."

Reagan said his campaign is attracting Democrats and "people who have never voted for us before."

And he said many who have supported Democratic candidates have never seen their fortunes improve.

"It is no mere coincidence that the most blighted areas of the country — places of desperation — are areas that have been political strongholds of the other party for many years," Reagan said.

The president didn't elaborate, and spokesman Larry Speakes said, "I think I will leave that at the other end of the 10-foot pole."

Reagan was remaining in Washington again today, visiting the Reagan-Bush '84 campaign headquarters for a brief speech to the troops. He leaves Thursday on a trip that will take him across the country, ending in California on Tuesday, Election Day.

Mondale was in Chicago and heading to Louisville, Baltimore and Buffalo today.

The running mates, Vice President George Bush and Democrat Geraldine Ferraro, were out on the hustings, too, Ms. Ferraro in Philadelphia where she hurled Halloween barbs at the president.

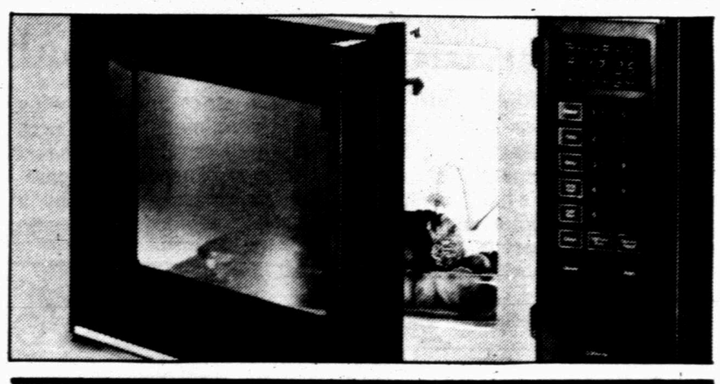

"Throughout this campaign he has disguised himself as a believer in arms control and a friend of the great Democratic leaders of the past, John Kennedy and Harry Truman," she said. "Now I know it's almost Halloween, but anyone can see through that disguise."

Bush, campaigning for Republican congressional candidates in Illinois, returned fire at "Doonesbury" creator Garry Trudeau, whose comic strip has repeatedly lampooned the vice president.

Bush said the cartoonist was "carrying water for the opposition" and "coming out of deep left field." A spokeswoman for Trudeau said he would have no comment.

Doctor avoids limelight, baby sets record

LOMA LINDA, Calif. (AP) — As ethical questions accumulate about the case of Baby Fae, the longest-lived recipient of an animal-to-human heart transplant, the doctor who gave her a baboon's heart is avoiding the limelight, "totally absorbed in nursing this child."

The 2½-week-old infant, whose name and exact age are being withheld, completed her fourth full day with the baboon's heart at 11:35 a.m. Tuesday, surpassing the record set in 1979 by a South African accountant who lived 3½ days with a chimpanzee heart.

Baby Fae, weighing in at 5.7 pounds, remained in serious but stable condition.

Area Legionnaires may donate items

Members of the Snyder chapter of the American Legion who wish to donate items for the November 3rd Teen Center auction are asked to bring the items to the Legion Hall after 4 p.m. Saturday, reports Dave Haywood, commander.

Donations of money will also be accepted. A bake sale is also planned and any cakes, pies or cookies will be delivered to the Teen Center Saturday morning.

The American Legion is also gathering items to take to the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring, according to Haywood. These should be new articles and they can also be dropped off at the Legion Hall. Articles should not be made of class as they will break in the meail, Haywood cautioned.

Beneficiaries reports due soon

A large number of Veterans Administration beneficiaries will soon be required to complete the annual income report, E. H. (Dan) Dever, Jr., Scurry County Veterans Service Officer, said.

This report is required at this time each year so a determination can be made as to whether a person continues to be eligible for the disability or death benefit payments.

The income report will be mailed to all of the VA recipients on Nov. 1, 1984. The completed report must be returned to the Veterans Administration prior to Jan. 1, 1985. Failure to return the report will result in termination of the benefits being paid.

Required to provide the annual income accounting will be all veterans receiving disability pensions, widows and children in receipt of death pension benefits, and all parents in receipt of dependency and indemnity compensation following the service-connected deaths of their veteran sons or daughters.

Some of these income report forms will be difficult to complete and many pensioners will require assistance to be sure the cards are properly filled out, Dever said. Persons needing assistance may contact his office in the Western Texas College Administration Building. The office is open each weekday and can be reached by telephone at 573-8511.

The last bare-knuckle heavyweight championship fight was in 1889 when John L. Sullivan, the famed "Boston Strong Boy," defeated Jake Kilrain in 75 rounds.

WHAT DO THE MAJOR POLITICAL PARTIES OF OUR NATION BELIEVE?

| Democratic Party: | Issue: | Republican Party |
|---|---|---|
| The Democratic Party supports Federal laws requiring "Hiring Quotas" and "Promotion Quotas" in business, industry, and government, believing that it is the way to eliminate discrimination in employment. | Hiring Quotas The Federal government has enacted laws which control the hiring and promoting of employees by business, industry, and government based on gender, race, religion, national origin and age. These laws are referred to as "Hiring Quotas" and "Promotion Quotas" and it is another attempt by the Federal government to eliminate discrimination in employment. | The Republican Party believes that one of the great attributes of the United States is the freedom of its people to aspire and to achieve based on INDIVIDUAL ABILITY. Whereas, discrimination on the basis of race, gender, religion, national origin, or age is correctly forbidden by law in the United States, therefore, the Republican Party opposes any system of quotas alloting employment and/or promotion on any basis other than personal competence, qualification and performance. |
| The Democratic Party opposes the proposed "WORKFARE" idea as part of our governments welfare program. | Welfare In an attempt to reform our nations welfare program, should "WORKFARE" ... a program providing able bodied welfare recipients a means to WORK for their government assistance ... become part of our nations welfare program? | The Republican Party supports the WORKFARE" idea providing the able bodied recipient a means of earning his or her government assistance as an alternative to the current governmental "give away" programs that encourage laziness, promote dependency, and foster generations of non-workers. |
| The Democratic Party supports the 1973 Supreme Court decision which legalized abortion on demand. The Democratic Party supports the funding of abortions with taxpayers dollars. The Democratic party opposes a constitutional amendment which would protect the "Right To Life" of unborn children on the basis that this amendment would violate a woman's "Right-to-Choice." | Abortion Abortion is the induced termination of a pregnancy resulting in the death of the premature developing child. The Supreme Court decision of 1973 not only legalized "abortion on demand" but also has resulted in the use of taxpayers dollars to fund thousands of abortions each year. | The Republican Party supports the passage of a constitutional amendment that would restore protection of the "Right-to-Life" for an unborn child. The Republican Party opposes the use of tax payer dollars to fund abortions. |
| The Democratic Party supports Homosexuals, Gays and Lesbians in their effort to attain the legal status of "minority group." | Homosexuals Should homosexuals be granted minority status - should homosexuals receive special legal entitlements and privileges based upon their sexual orientation? | The Republican Party believes that Homosexuality is a perversion of the natural law and opposes the granting of special legal entitlements or privileges based upon their sexual deviancy. |
| The Democratic Party believes the first amendment to the constitution called "Separation of Church and State" thus the Democratic Party supports the 1963 Supreme Court decision which outlawed voluntary silent prayer in our public schools. | Prayer Should voluntary, silent prayer be allowed in our public schools? | The Republican Party believes the purpose of the first amendment to the Constitution is to prevent an official state religion and to guarantee all Americans the freedom to worship God without government interference or restraint thus the Republican Party supports the passage of a consitutional amendment which would allow voluntary silent prayer in public schools. |

White handed starting role for contest with New York

DALLAS (AP) - Danny White will start at quarterback against the New York Giants on Sunday but look out for a possible Tom Landry surprise later in the game.

The Dallas Cowboys' coach said on Tuesday that young Gary Hogeboom could see action at any time.

Hogeboom sat on the bench last week while White's 1984 starting debut was a smash success.

"I think Danny will start but I'll use a quarterback substitute from time to time and not necessarily whether the game is won or lost," Landry said.

Landry refused to give the Giants any help on "When" Hogeboom might get a call.

"When that (bringing in Hogeboom) happens I'm not at liberty to say. Our team has confidence in both quarterbacks," Landry said.

Landry said one of the reasons he wanted to start White against the Giants is his experience.

The Giants whipped Dallas 28-7 last month with Hogeboom unable to handle the blitz from linebacker Lawrence Taylor.

"Surely Danny will handle it better," said Landry. "He sees things Gary doesn't see."

White threw two touchdown passes in his 1984 starting debut as Dallas beat Indianapolis 22-3 on Sunday.

The oddsmakers made the Cowboys 7-point favorites for Sunday's game in Texas Stadium and Landry called it "amazing."

"I'm happy they think so much of us," Landry said.

Landry said the Cowboys are a better team than the one the Giants beat earlier.

"We have more firepower now," Landry said."We have (wide receiver) Tony Hill back and Danny had a good game at quarterback. That earlier game shouldn't have any effect on us."

Landry said the Cowboys, who are tied with St. Louis atop the National Conference Eastern Division with 6-3 records, have a tough road.

The Cowboys must play in St. Louis the Sunday after the Giant game.

"We have a big hill to climb," Landry said. "But that's alright. If we can't climb it, we don't belong there (at the top) anyway."

Landry said the Cowboy running game was showing signs of life.

"It looked like it did last year against the Colts," Landry said. "It sure makes our passing game a lot better. I think we can be pretty good."

Landry said rookie middle linebacker Eugene Lockhart could see a lot of action against the Giants.

OU Sooners could forfeit victory over Kansas State

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - A meeting of officials from the Big Eight Conference schools next week could decide whether Oklahoma's football team should forfeit its victory over Kansas State because of an ineligible player.

Big Eight Conference Commissioner Carl James said Tuesday league officials are trying to put together a meeting of school representatives for Nov. 7 to discuss the issue, The Daily Oklahoman reported.

Backup quarterback Mike Clopton played in the game against Kansas State but was found to be ineligible. His brief play for California State Polytechnic University several years ago used up a year of his eligibility early in his college career that Oklahoma coaches thought he still had.

The league's television committee has a meeting scheduled for Nov. 7 and several of the faculty representatives and athletic directors are on the committee.

Oklahoma faculty representative Dan Gibbens said Tuesday there's no doubt that Clopton is ineligible because he played eight downs at Cal Poly before transferring to a junior college. He used up two years of eligibility at the junior college, then played for Oklahoma last year as well as this season.

Oklahoma is asking the conference for an exception to the rule that a school must forfeit a game in which it uses an ineligible player.

"We're asking for an exception because we feel there are no indications of any intentional fault or negligence on our part or on Clopton's part," Gibbens said.

Forfeiture of the Kansas State game would make it almost impossible for Oklahoma to win the Big Eight title since the Sooners have already lost to Kansas as well.

Clopton played two minutes in Oklahoma's 24-6 victory over Kansas State and 19 minutes in the Sooners' 34-15 win over Baylor, a non-conference opponent.

Nebraska Coach Tom Osborne has said the rule should be enforced, even though he doesn't believe Oklahoma used an ineligible player on purpose.

Seahawks release RB Franco Harris

SEATTLE (AP) - When Curt Warner was lost for the season in the Seattle Seahawks' opening game, they called on 34-year-old Franco Harris to try to fill the void.

On Tuesday, after seven games as a member of the Seahawks and still 192 yards short of Jimmy Brown's old record, the National Football League's No. 3 career rushing leader was released by Coach Chuck Knox.

"Franco Harris and I had a long talk and we kind of mutually agreed that it would be in everyone's best interest if we released him," Knox said in the surprise announcement. "He made a contribution to our football team. It may not be reflected in the statistics, but he gave us a big lift when we needed it and he's really a class guy. I wish him well."

By releasing Harris, the Seahawks will make him available to the NFL's other 27 clubs.

Hernandez takes Cy Young Award

NEW YORK (AP) - Willie Hernandez, whose relief pitching played a major role in the Detroit Tigers' drive to the World Series championship, was named the winner of the American League Cy Young Award as the league's best pitcher.

The left-hander had 32 saves in 33 save opportunities to go along with a 9-3 record, 1.92 ERA.

Hernandez had 12 of the 28 possible first-place votes and 88 total points to edge another relief pitcher, Kansas City's Dan Quisenberry in the balloting by two baseball writers from each of the 14 American League cities. Quisenberry, who had a 6-3 record, a 2.64 ERA and 44 saves as the Royals won the AL West, had nine first-place votes and 71 total points.

Bert Blyleven, who posted a 19-7 record for the Cleveland Indians, was third followed by Mike Boddicker of the Baltimore Orioles, the AL's only 20-game winner.

Underclassmen ready for Thursday contests

Snyder underclassmen gear up for plenty of football action Thursday night.

The local junior varsity will take on Lubbock Coronado sophomores at 6 p.m. in Tiger Stadium. Also at home, Snyder seventh grade teams will entertain Big Spring at Travis Field, 4 and 5:30.

Snyder ninth grade plays in Big Spring, tentatively scheduled for 6, while the eighth graders also play in Big Spring, at 5 and 7.

"We're expecting a tough game with Coronado," said JV coach Albert Lewis, who noted the local team is "probably as healthy as we've been in a long time. We've got several people back who were injured earlier in the season."

Western Texas to tip off basketball season Thursday

Western Texas College's Westerners open the 1984-85 basketball season in front of the home fans Thursday, and first-year coach Phil Spradling is hoping for a big turnout.

"Tell everybody to come out to the game," said Spradling, whose Westerners take on McMurry College junior varsity at 8 in the coliseum.

Fans who make the performance are promised plenty of action.

"We're going to get up and down the floor. That's just the type of ballclub we are," said the coach, a former Westerner under Nolan Richardson. "We'll run our offense when we don't have the break but we intend to push the ball up and down the floor. We'll do some pressing and a lot of different things."

Spradling declined to name starters for the season opener.

"I'll know about 8 o'clock tomorrow night, and maybe then only for a few seconds," he laughed. "There are so many guys that are capable. You don't win the game at the first, you win it at the last."

He said the Westerners are looking forward to the contest.

"Right now everybody is real excited about the season opening and I think the guys are going to come out and do a good job. Hopefully they will, anyway. We're looking forward to it," he said.

The Westerners will play at Ranger on Saturday, then return to the coliseum on Nov. 5 to meet Cisco in a doubleheader with the WTC Dusters.

WTC Dusters Tyler-bound for annual Wagstaff Classic

TYLER – Coach Joe Cushing's Western Texas College Dusters open tournament play here Thursday night, taking on Angelina College in the three-day Wagstaff Classic.

The Dusters will play Angelina at 6, then take on Blinn Junior College at 6 on Friday, and test highly-touted Tyler at 8 on Saturday.

Cushing's squad is 1-0 for the 1984-85 basketball season, having defeated an international team from Mexico last Friday, 98-83.

Probable starters for the Dusters include 6-2 Clara Campbell, 6-0 Pattie Hayes, 6-0 Renvy Evans, 5-11 Lyndy French and 5-6 point-guard Rhonda Hoelting - all sophomores.

Coach Cushing said he did not know anything about Thursday's opponent, but "we're looking forward to playing in the Classic. I don't know anything about Angelina and not much about Blinn. Tyler is being touted as the best team in the country. They have a lot of starters back and supposedly had a super recruiting year," the coach said.

The Wagstaff Classic will be one of four classics or tournament the Dusters have scheduled in November. The squad will attend the South Plains Tournament on 8, 9 and 10, the Amarillo Tournament on 15, 16 and 17, and host the third annual Duster Classic on 23 and 24.

Playing in the Duster Classic will be Amarillo, Grayson, Hill, Howard, McLennan, South Plains, Weatherford and WTC.

Following the Wagstaff Classic this weekend, the Dusters return home to entertain Cisco on Nov. 5 at Scurry County Coliseum.

Carriker labels H.B. 72 'negative'

"It gives too much power to a single teacher." As an example, he noted cases where a student and teacher might have a "personality clash" and how this would allow the teacher to bring undue pressure upon a borderline student.

Carriker also fielded several comments from the audience which reflected opposition to aspects of the measure.

Snyder High School Principal Ray Courtney noted, "educators had little input (into the legislation) and will educators be asked (their opinion) during the next session?"

Carriker responded he felt political figures like Governor Mark White "realize they need to bring teachers back into the fold."

In response to a question regarding the career ladder aspect of the law — which directs bonus payments to teachers based upon a criteria to be established by individual districts — Carriker said "I think in the end, the state will ask local districts to finance it one way or another."

He also pointed to the career ladder problem of categorizing teachers.

High School Assistant Principal Ned Underwood described the competency testing plan for teachers as "punishing 99 percent for that 1 percent." In line with this, he asked Carriker for his assistance in fighting this aspect of the bill.

Carriker noted he favored a measure which has been discussed by Farabee as well, that is an "exit test" for college students who expect to teach and a "grandfather clause" for existing teachers.

Another audience member questioned the makeup of the new state school board, noting that "almost one-half of the state is represented by three members."

Carriker said he believes that the "built in power base" of members appointed will "cast the die" for the next 8-12 years.

The state legislator was also asked how much influence H. Ross Perot. who headed the governor's selection committee on education, would have when aspects of the bill are re-evaluated.

Carriker commented, "He'll be back and he'll have the same lobbyist hired."

Following the program schedule, Carriker also responded to prepared questions asked him by members of the local Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) chapter.

These questions and his response included:

How can the legislature justify the redistribution of wealth across the State of Texas?

— The property tax system is the worst possible way to raise funds for local government even though it's the only available way. The justification is that per capita wealth is so vastly different in different districts across the state that some districts obviously deserve more state funding than others.

—There are several problems with the financial part of H. B. 72 however, including provisions that provide state funds for districts having abnormally high numbers of state employees. This provision was put in merely to appease legislators from the Austin and Bryan-College Station areas who wouldn't have voted for the bill without it.

—The bill also failed when it tried to address the need to promote the consolidation of numerous small but geographically close districts in east Texas into larger districts with better tax bases. The bill does take away some incentives for the small East Texas districts to remain separate but penalizes small West Texas districts which are too far apart for consolidation to be practical.

Sections of H.B. 72 dealing with student punishment seem to prohibit districts from using other forms of student punishment such as short-term suspensions, and unexcused absences and doesn't this undermine discipline in the schools?

—It's really a matter of interpreting the bill to suit the individual situation and there will be a lot of cases where administrators should not be fearful of using other forms of punishment.

—If the bill is literally interpreted, however, there can be no more short-term suspensions. I would be happy to see an amendment to do away with the prohibition on the short-term suspensions.

What justification can the legislature give for continually taking away local control of the schools?

—Provisions really don't take away local control but merely set uniform statewide starting and ending dates and attendence requirements. Justification is that we must have uniformity of basic standards across the state. The legislature really did overstep its authority by establishing an arbitrary state-wide grade scale.

How much responsibility for the educational process should be placed on the parents?

—It's no secret that home environment of students is a huge factor in the success or failure of students. Programs such as Head Start are good for students of parents who don't have as much time to spend with the children due to work, etc., but not all children need the programs and children should not be enrolled in the programs until they are ready and can be comfortable in the classrooom environment. The programs are a great investment.

—The primary responsibility for getting the child ready for school and furthering his progress will always rest with the parents.

Body of missing young girl found

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The body of a 13-year-old girl who disappeared from her front yard Oct. 6 has been found on a farm, while a neighbor has been arrested and charged with her slaying.

Police and FBI agents found the body of Michelle Trimmier Saturday night partially buried on a farm in Roanoke, a small community of about 1,800 residents in southern Denton County.

Mark Robert Matthys, 23, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Kenneth Cunningham and charged with capital murder late Tuesday. He was being held in the North Richland Hills Jail on $1 million bond.

The girl's partially decomposed body was identified through dental records Tuesday, police said. Investigators have not determined the exact cause of death.

The property where her body was found was being leased and farmed by Matthys, the prime suspect in the case, police said.

"Matthys has been a suspect from the onset of our investigation," said Capt. Randy Shiflet of the North Richland Hills Police Department. "He was a suspect identified in the telephone call received on Oct. 18."

Police said they were led to Matthys and eventually to the girl's body after receiving a telephone tip shortly after the girl was allegedly abducted from her front yard. Police said they had talked with Matthys early in their investigation.

Former legislator denied freedom

AUSTIN (AP) — Former state Rep. David London of Bonham does not have to be freed on bond while awaiting appeals courts rulings on his theft of livestock conviction, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today.

The court turned down London's challenge of a judge's decision that denied his freedom.

London is under two convictions — one each in Travis and Hopkins counties. The two-year sentence in Travis is running concurrently with the 10-year Hopkins County sentence.

A Hopkins County judge refused to allow London to go free on bond during the appeals. The Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld that ruling. Prosecutors showed that London committed the Travis County offense while on bond in Hopkins County.

Witnesses at the Sulphur Springs trial said the money from the cattle theft was used by London to pay off a $900 Super Bowl gambling debt. London said he was framed by political rivals.

Civil court trial continues

Court officers reported Wednesday morning, however, that the continuation of the White and Hess case could force the postponement of the second trial.

Doggett's parents visit in Snyder

Dr. Lloyd and Alyce Doggett, parents of Senator Lloyd Doggett, visited in Snyder Tuesday on their way home from Post, where the Doggett family held a reunion for the Democratic nominee for the U. S. Senate.

In his comments at Post, Senator Doggett spoke of being a fourth-generation Texan and told how his family had farmed the same land continuously since 1921. He also told how his father, Dr. Doggett, had left Post with $20 in his pocket to go to Austin to provide for his future—eventually becoming a successful dentist.

Senator Doggett used the occasion to comment that most Texans were just like his family—independent people who are working to make it and simply want a fair shot at the ladder of opportunity.

Proposal would eliminate post

The amendment does not abolish the office automatically; it merely permits the citizens to vote on the issue.

—Transferring the duties of the treasurer to the county clerk rather than to the county auditor as in Tarrant and Bee Counties would avoid allegations of "conflict of interest" over having the county's bookkeeper doing the job of the county's cashier.

ARGUMENTS AGAINST

—If the county treasurer's office is obsolete in Bexar and Collin Counties, it is obsolete in all counties. The constitutional amendment should allow all counties to decide whether they need a county treasurer.

—This resolution continues a piecemeal approach to an important statewide issue of efficiency in county government. Holding a statewide election to abolish two county offices every two years is a waste of state tax money.

—This proposed amendment does not require commissioners court to continue funding the functions of the treasurer's office if they are transferred to another county office.

—County clerks have enough to do, they should not be saddled with more.

-Getting the Commanche Peak nuclear plant licensed and on-line so that it can help meet the company's growing need for electricity.

Odds long on big GOP gains in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is acting like his re-election is a certainty, but even if he wins by a landslide next Tuesday the odds are his coattails won't be long enough to give the Republicans major gains in Congress.

Historically, re-election landslides don't have much pull for the president's party. The most graphic example of that was in 1972, when Richard Nixon carried 49 states but the Democrats picked up two Senate seats while GOP gains in the House totaled only 13 seats.

Reagan would like to repeat his 1980 feat when he was elected by a landslide and Republicans picked up 12 seats in the Senate and 33 in the House. An example of what coattails can do is the fact that in 1980, Republican Senate candidates won seven of the nine contests decided by no more than 2 percent of the vote.

"Win those races for the Gipper," is a Reagan theme as the 1984 campaign winds down.

"For heaven's sake, don't tie one hand behind Ronald Reagan's back when you send us a congressman," implores Vice President George Bush as he tries to help out GOP candidates.

Meanwhile, Walter F. Mondale and his Democratic allies are trying to convince voters the presidential race isn't over, that the polls are missing a last-minute surge in his direction.

"There's something going on in this country and the polls aren't getting it," argues Mondale as he draws sustenance from huge crowds that come to cheer his attacks on the Republican president.

Democratic Party chairman

Analysis

Charles T. Manatt predicted earlier this week that his party would pick up at least three Senate seats — they need six to regain control. He also forecast a wash in the House, with a movement of no more than five or 10 seats in either direction. The Democrats have a 99-seat majority in the House.

Republicans aren't making any big claims for Senate gains and are talking about gains of 15 to 25 seats in the House.

But in the political trenches are many worried Democrats who are haunted by visions of a Reagan landslide that delivers a margin of victory to Republicans in close races.

The last great realignment in U.S. politics started with the election of Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 when the Democrats also picked up 12 seats in the Senate and 97 in the House. More startling was the fact that two years later, the Democrats bucked the historical trend and picked up 10 more Senate seats and nine in the House.

That off-year election was a clear signal that something big was happening, and it was to put the Democrats in control of Congress for nearly 50 years.

Republicans talked a lot about realignment in 1981, but an economic downturn ended that and in 1982 the Democrats bounced back and gained 26 House seats.

Dr. Lamb

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Use soy products for milk allergy

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am concerned about my 6-year-old granddaughter. She has an allergy to any milk product and has been allergic to milk all her life. I feel that she should be taking extra calcium each day, other than the One-A-Day vitamin her mother is giving her. I don't want her to have health problems later on.

DEAR READER — If you mean One-A-Day brand vitamins, she is not getting enough calcium. The standard product contains NO calcium. One-A-Day Maximum Formula contains 129.6 mg. of calcium, and your granddaughter needs at least 800 mg. of calcium a day.

We talk a lot about the calcium needs of middle-aged women to prevent bone loss (osteoporosis), but calcium is equally important in the developing and growing years. It is important to provide adequate nutrition to promote skeletal growth. A good large skeleton helps to prevent osteoporosis later in life.

Your granddaughter has the years of important bone growth ahead of her. The calcium is also important for her teeth and the bone development around the roots of her teeth in the jawbone. Diets with inadequate calcium can lead to bad bones or inadequate bone around the teeth, leading to periodontal disease (pyorrhea).

A milk allergy is different from lactose intolerance. The allergy is usually to the milk protein. Lactose intolerance is caused by the absence of an enzyme, resulting in a decreased ability to digest milk sugar (lactose). Your granddaughter may be able to use one of the soybean milk substitutes that does not include any milk products or milk components. Look in the infant section of your grocery store for some soybean milk substitutes you can use. These have calcium in them and can be used like milk. If your granddaughter can't use these, then she certainly should have enough calcium supplements daily to provide the recommended 800 mg. a day.

I'm sending you The Health Letter 17-6, Nutritional Aspects of Minerals, for more information. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Three doctors have told me I have eczema and there is no known cure, only treatment to control it. I have always been allergic to certain plants and animals, but the eczema started only nine months ago.

The first dermatologist gave me a shot of Triamcinolone, which I understand is a steroid drug similar to cortisone. This provided temporary relief, but within a week the eczema flared up again. My visits to the doctor became a weekly occurrence. Since then, I have been on Tropicort cream.

Can you give me any helpful hints? Can I get Triamcinolone and give myself shots?

DEAR READER — "Eczema" is often used to describe a skin condition of unknown cause. It usually means inflammatory areas of the skin. It may be a manifestation of an allergy, or it can be a contact dermatitis or a disease that has not progressed to a point that permits a definitive diagnosis.

You may want to see an allergist as well. I can't recommend that you try self-medication, since the condition will be hard enough to manage without adding that confusion. Anything you do yourself should be only on the recommendation of a doctor who is trying to help you control this difficult problem.
