Sexton Will Called Forgery By Expert

CLEBURNE (AP) — A handwriting expert declared today that J. E. Sexton's signature on a will dated in 1954 is a forgery.

He also said that the signature on a $100,000 check possessed by Mrs. Agnes Kirk, 40, attractive rest home operator, also is a forgery of Sexton's handwriting.

Mrs. Kirk was the chief beneficiary of the 1954 document which she is offering in Probate Court here as Sexton's will.

The bachelor, 80, died Feb. 28. He left an estate as high as 60 million dollars.

The handwriting expert is Albert Osborn of New York, who worked on the Lindbergh kidnaping case.

"In my opinion," Osborn said at the hearing today, "the signatures (on the will and the check) are actually tracings drawn by the same person from the same model.

"The carbon outline is written over and are crude forgeries. It is evident that the carbon outline has been gone over with a pen and ink, and that an attempt was made to erase the remains of the carbon outline on the entire signature. Both are very poorly written."

EVIDENCE PRESENTED

He also demonstrated by means of greatly enlarged signatures by Sexton that the signature on the will and the check fit almost exactly. Handwriting experts are of the universal opinion that no person writes his name exactly the same at any time.

The $100,000 check was presented by Mrs. Kirk to a bank, but the bank refused to honor it. She said it was a gift from Sexton so that she could build a new rest home. The controversy later was settled by Sexton's relatives by payment of $5,000.

The enlargements shown by Osborn were of the will, dated March 23, 1954, and the check dated April 1, 1954. Alongside these were signatures from Sexton checks drawn from January to June in 1954.

The stage was set for the New Yorker's testimony by that of John McDavid, Longview banker, who said he had known Sexton from before 1907.

McDavid said that in his opinion the signatures on the $100,000 check and the will were copied from a genuine signature. He placed the two signatures one on top of the other in a lighted viewbox to show that the signatures were identical.

COPY FROM PATTERN

"I think," he said, "the signatures are a duplication or a copy from the same pattern."

Mrs. Kirk's attorney, Gean Turner, on cross-examination, said that no individual writes the same when he signs his signature from time to time. Judge Atwood McDonald, hearing the case, asked him specifically about his opinion of the signatures, and McDavid said he believed they are not genuine.

Judge McDonald specifically told Osborn not to use the word "forgery" in his testimony because of its possible effect on future hearings in the case. But the term cropped up frequently in the expert's statements.

Three East Texas bankers yesterday also testified that the signature on the will was, in their opinion, not genuine.

All three said they were not handwriting experts but that they based their opinions on a comparison of the signature on the will with checks drawn by Sexton over a period of 20 years.

The estate, valued variously at between two and 60 million dollars, was left to Mrs. Agnes Kirk, in whose Cleburne rest home Sexton once resided.

PATERNITY ANGLE

A sister and four nieces are contesting the 1954 will and have claimed that the signature of one witness as a forgery. In addition to the relatives, a woman claiming to have once been Sexton's common-law wife is seeking to share in the estate. She claims that Sexton was the father of her daughter.

Sexton, whose holdings included East Texas oil fields and extensive ranch lands near here, lived in Cleburne for many years but died in a rest home at Jacksonville.

The executive vice president of the First State Bank of Overton, John Pope, testified yesterday that he did not think the signature on the will was Sexton's. Similar testimony was given by Sanders Pillgreen, acting first vice president of the First National Bank in Overton, and Bill Isabell, cashier of the First National Bank in Henderson.

Pope said that Sexton had $265,067.08 at his bank when he died. Isabell testified that Sexton had $23,607.04 on deposit at the Henderson bank at the time of his death.

ESTATE'S VALUE

A Joinerville tax accountant, James Crook, told the probate court yesterday that Sexton's oil holdings for the purpose of tax rendition amounted to $222,650 on approximately 660 acres of land on which royalties were being paid. He said Sexton owned more than 1,500 acres of land in East Texas at the time of his death.

The legal residence of Sexton also has been a controversial point in the probate hearings. East Texas relatives have contended that Sexton was a resident of that area.

An Overton funeral director, G.T. Pearson, testified that he filled in the death certificate and arbitrarily put down the place of residence as Cleburne, Johnson County. He said he was later told by relatives that this was a mistake.

A number of ranchers and stockmen who had business dealings with Sexton during the 25 years he lived in Johnson County took the stand. One of them, L. B. Jones, said he had been at the election polls at Lone Willow, near Cleburne, many times during the past 20 years when Sexton was voting.

Mrs. Helen O. Stewart, owner of the Jacksonville rest home in which Sexton died early this year at the age of 80, testified he was mentally ill when admitted. She said he was kept locked up for his own good and that he tried to escape four times.

Three relatives of W.T. Mayo, one of the persons who signed the will as a witness, testified that he was of unsound mind when the will was made. Mayo died in 1955 at the age of 83.

The testimony was given by Mayo's sister, Mrs. Lena Speed of Amarillo; his son, Arthur Mayo; and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Chester Mayo.

Claim Share Of Fortune

Mrs. Winnell Shipley, 33, right, and her daughter Shirley Titus, 16, were present at the hearing probating the will of millionaire J. E. Sexton, at Cleburne. Mrs. Shipley, one of the claimants to the huge estate, has declared that Sexton lured her into a common-law marriage when she was 15 and that Shirley is Sexton's daughter.

Senator's Son Dies In Crash

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Grief-stricken Sen. John McClellan came home to Arkansas today to await the burial of his youngest son, victim of a plane crash that killed three other men.

McClellan made another sorrowful journey from Washington nine years ago. He came then for the reburial of a soldier son who died overseas and his second son died of auto wreck injuries on the day of the funeral.

James Howard McClellan, 30, who was killed in the crash near Little Rock Tuesday, was the 62-year-old senator's third and only remaining son.

The Arkansas Democrat received the news of the fatal crash just after he had been in the Senate chamber voting on an amendment to the Reciprocal Trade Act bill.

Policemen Jail Sons For Theft

ATLANTA (AP) — Two policemen, weeping openly, jailed their own sons for suspicion of burglary yesterday.

A third youth named the officers' sons as accomplices in the alleged burglary and Superintendent of Detectives Glyn Cowan assigned the fathers to bring the boys in.

The arrested youths are H. E. Little III, son of Detective R. E. Little; James D. Corley, son of policeman J. D. Corley; and M.K. Clay. All three are 17.

They are accused of breaking into a school under construction and taking $335 worth of tools.

City To Operate On Deficit Plan Until Tax Funds Come In

Short of money this time of the year, the City Commission Tuesday night authorized entering into deficit financing for the next three months until current tax revenue starts coming in.

The commission voted an emergency resolution at its regular meeting Tuesday allowing the city secretary to borrow as much as $75,000 during the next three months from the First National Bank to meet current expenses.

Interest rate for this money will be five per cent.

The city manager, H. W. Whitney, said the bank would transfer funds into the city's general fund as needed and the city would be charged only for the money used and the time that it was borrowed.

This measure was deemed necessary to meet current expenses. Usually, the city starts the fiscal year on April 1 with enough surplus to carry it until the October tax revenue, but this year, the city started the year with $70,000 less than usual. This brought the low bank balance.

Also, the Air Force hasn't paid its Webb AFB water bill since the city raised the water rates. This back bill amounts to about $21,000. Webb officials are agreed the city has the right to increase the rates, but higher headquarters have failed to authorize the increased payment, Whitney said.

A delegation from the Boydstun School was present asking about when 6th St. would be paved in front of the school. Whitney told them that because of work on the water and sewer lines that it would probably be November or December before work could begin on the street. R. O. Carothers spoke for the group and said the school would like some relief from the mud.

Commissioner George Zachariah asked if two blocks in front of the school could be paved. The commission considered an assessment paving program, but Whitney said 150-200 blocks would be needed to interest a contractor who could carry the papers on such a job.

In another matter, the commission appointed Curtis Driver to the CRMWD board to fill the unexpired term of the late R. T. Piner. Mr. Piner's present term was to expire next May. Driver was on the city commission until last April.

Fourth and final readings on two ordinances annexing property on the southeast and east sides of town were approved, and also the second reading on a new traffic code was passed. Only one more reading will be needed on this.

Approval was given to a construction and maintenance contract with the Highway Department on FM 700. Also the city manager was given authority to submit a bid to Webb AFB for trash collection on the base.

The commission also gave approval to a request to send the police identification officer, Bob Bronson, to a Department of Public Safety identification school at Austin July 28-Aug. 14. Cost to the city would be about $175.

Japs Improve On Cardinal Business Rule

By KENNETH ISHII

TOKYO (AP) — Walk into any big Japanese department store and you'll hear the same refrain—in Japanese, of course—with almost monotonous repetition:

"Thank you for so frequently honoring our store with your presence."

The translation may be somewhat literal, but it is symptomatic of a politeness campaign that makes the Western rule of the customer always being right elementary by comparison.

At one of Japan's best-known stores — Mitsukoshi — customer service extends beyond working hours.

The management has informed its staff: "If, while riding public transportation, you see a person carrying a wrapped package bearing the marking of the store, give that person your seat, or offer to carry the package that person is carrying."

And if an employe is clumsy enough to have his or her foot stepped on by an unheeding customer, it is the employe who must apologize for being so careless.

Other rules provide that:

An employe must never walk between a customer and the goods that customer may be looking at.

An employe must never overtake a customer walking through the store. The employe must take another route.

Another major store tells new salesmen and sales girls that a customer never window shops. He is making a preliminary inspection.

In Japan it is entirely permissible, and expected, for customers to roam through stores and examine merchandise for as long as they please — and leave without making a single purchase.

And even the most frustrating customer gets the same refrain: "Thank you for so frequently honoring our store with your presence."

It comes from the elevator operator, the escalator attendant and precedes all announcements on the store's public address system.

Stores take the politeness drive in earnest for they know it affects sales. One personnel manager reportedly told a group of recruits: "We'll have to first make ladies and gentlemen out of you before you are of any use."

Starting salaries for high school graduates is around $22 a month, for college grads about $30.

Cadets To Receive Commissions And Wings At WAFB

Forty-two aviation cadets will receive their Air Force commissions and pilot wings in graduation ceremonies at Webb AFB this evening.

The cadets make up pilot class No. 59-A at the local base. Graduation exercises will start at 7:30 p.m. in the base chapel.

Guest speaker for the program will be Dan Krausse, vice president of Cosden Petroleum Corp.

Several honor students are to receive awards from Col. Kyle Riddle, Webb commander, following the graduation ceremonies. Diplomas and commissions will be presented by Lt. Col. Leland A. Younkin of the 3560th Pilot Training Group after Lt. Dean A. Holmes administers the oath of office.

Snyder Man Is Killed In Wreck Near Lake Thomas

William Otis Roe, 37, of Snyder was killed Tuesday when his dump truck overturned on a farm road just east of the Lake J. B. Thomas dam.

Roe was thrown from the overturning vehicle just before it plunged over an embankment. He was along in the machine and there were no witnesses.

Funeral services were to be held at 4 p.m. today in the Greenhill Baptist Church of Snyder with the Rev. B. B. McCrary officiating. Interment was to be in Snyder Cemetery.

Survivors include Mr. Roe's mother, Mrs. Rebecca Roe of Snyder; two sisters, Mrs. Robert Lee of Snyder and Mrs. Myrl Breeder of Abilene; and one brother, Horace Roe of Odessa.

Automobile Hits Bridge Abutment

Four adults and a child escaped injury at 12:30 a.m. Wednesday five miles west on U. S. Highway 80 when their car crashed into a bridge abutment and came within inches of plunging down a steep embankment into the railroad cut below.

Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home sent an ambulance to the scene but only one person had any visible injuries. A girl had a cut on the head which was treated with first aid. She then went on to Stanton. None of the others was hurt.

The names of the passengers were not available. Highway patrol officers investigated the accident but could not be contacted for details.

Decline Foreseen In Cost Of Living

Hopes Pegged On Tiny Rise In June Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government today reported living costs rose in June by less than one-tenth of 1 per cent to another record. But the tiny increase held a promise of a decline later.

The decline may come in the summer or early fall.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics said its index rose to 123.7 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This means it costs about 24 cents more to buy what could be purchased for a dollar a decade ago.

The June living cost level was 2.9 per cent higher than the same month last year. It was the 20th time the official index has risen to new records in the past 22 months. There has been no decline since August 1956.

Ewan Clague, labor statistics commissioner, said the June hike was only fractional, "about as small as you can get and still have an increase in the index."

Clague said all signs pointed to a modest living cost decline in the next few months, particularly as food items become more plentiful. He said he could not guess whether this would be only temporary or would represent any lasting price decline.

Food prices normally decline in the summertime, when local vegetable crops come in and temporarily cheapen grocery costs for housewives. But other costs have been mounting steadily, despite the recession.

The latest living cost rise means a wage boost, generally about one or two cents an hour, for some 575,000 workers in the electrical manufacturing, aircraft, metal working, trucking, and chemical industries.

RISING WAGE SCALES

The pay increases come under labor contract clauses which gear pay rates partly to living cost changes.

Food prices, significantly, remained unchanged in June for the second straight month as average price declines for fresh vegetables of 17.7 per cent offset higher prices for fresh fruits, meats and restaurant meals. Food prices are 4.6 per cent above last year.

There were slight advances in prices of transportation, reading and recreation, medical care, and personal care. Housing costs failed to rise between May and June for the first month since July 1957.

The wage position of workers improved in June. The Labor Department reported the after-tax spendable earnings of factory workers reached a record high in June of $75.55 a week for a worker with three dependents and $68.14 for a single worker. This resulted from higher pay rates and a substantial increase in working hours, including overtime.

But while pay envelopes are fatter, the buying power of worker dollars in June was 2½ per cent less than a year ago because of price increases in the past year.

Slump In Durable Goods Sales Halts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Commerce Department says the recession slump in sales of autos, appliances and other consumer durables seems to have been substantially halted.

This appraisal came on the heels of a report by President Eisenhower's economic advisers that the national economy tilted upward in the April-June period for the first time in nearly a year.

Beauties Taught Gun Tricks

Actor Hugh O'Brian shows five contestants in the Miss Universe beauty pageant how he operates a six-shooter during a visit of the beauties to the 20th Century-Fox studio in Hollywood. Left to right: Miss Texas, Linda Ann Daugherty; Miss Missouri, Beverly Wright; O'Brian; Miss Tennessee, Martha Boales; Miss South Carolina, Patricia Ann Moss and Miss Japan, Tomoko Moritake.

'Miss Texas' Survives First Test

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — "Miss Texas"—18-year-old Linda Ann Daugherty of Abilene—is one of the 15 beauties who carry United States' hopes forward today toward the finals of the Miss Universe contest.

The dark-haired, hazel-eyed Abilene girl was picked as one of the finalists in the U.S. contingent as judges eliminated two-thirds of the field in this year's beauty contest.

The girls from Dixie took seven semifinalist spots, with the judges' nod going to representatives of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

The others picked were from California, Montana, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, Illinois, Nebraska and New York.

Some of those who lost out took it so hard their chaperones cried too.

But blonde, statuesque Miss New Hampshire didn't take it that way. Patricia Larrabee, 19, Salem told a reporter: "I'm relieved. Now that the tension is all gone, I can enjoy myself."

Tonight the 15 will be narrowed to 5 and the 5 to — Miss U. S. A.

Who will she be? Bet with the pageant audience, and the choice is clear: Miss Louisiana.

Eurlyne Howell, her long, honey-blonde hair swept back from her forehead, drew the loudest burst of applause from the 4,000 spectators as she swept down the runway in a long, white formal.

A photographer took a look and whistled. "She walks like she owns the joint," he said.

Whoever wins tonight will compete Thursday against the 34 foreign girls in the selection of 15 finalists. Friday the judges will pick Miss Universe.

$235 Is Raised For REA Fete

If other fund raisers do as well as the four who reported this morning, finances for the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative barbecue will be in the bank in another day or two.

Four workers this morning reported cash and pledges totaling $235. There are 15 other solicitors making the rounds of business places in an effort to raise approximately $1,000 for staging the barbecue.

The event, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be one of the highlights of the annual Cap Rock REA membership meeting which will be held in Big Spring Aug. 8. Some 2,500 REA members are expected for the gathering.

The Cap Rock Co-Op has members in Howard, Martin, Midland, Glasscock, Reagan, Upton, Dawson, Ector, Borden and Andrews counties.

39 Cities Cited For Traffic Work

AUSTIN (AP)—Thirty-nine Texas cities have won certificates of achievement for their work in traffic accident prevention.

Winners were judged by population groups and included Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Austin, Corpus Christi, Amarillo, Lubbock, Waco, Wichita Falls, Denton, Midland, Odessa, Tyler, Mercedes, Plainview, Sherman, Snyder, Alamo Heights, Breckenridge, College Station, Levelland and Weslaco.

Soviets Hedge Over 'Summit'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Moscow objected sharply today to Western suggestions for a U.N. summit meeting to discuss the Middle East crisis, but stopped short of saying Premier Khrushchev would not accept.

The suggestions were made in varying forms yesterday in the Western Powers' individual replies to Khrushchev's own suggestion for a five-power summit meeting outside the United Nations.

The initial Moscow reaction came in a commentary by the government newspaper Izvestia, which said that "everyone knows the U.S.A. can rely on a mechanical majority in the Security Council."

The commentary broadcast by Moscow radio also accused this country of trying to prevent the five-power conference Khrushchev proposed. But it did not rule out Soviet acceptance of the Western proposal.

The White House had nothing fresh to report on the situation this forenoon. A conference of President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles was scheduled for 3 p.m.

At the United Nations in New York, the next step in the crisis depended on whether Khushchev would accept the challenge to a summit meeting in the Security Council.

Western observers in Moscow said they believe Khrushchev might find it difficult to reject the U.N. summit idea in view of his original offer to go anywhere for a meeting.

The Security Council adjourned indefinitely Tuesday night after a second Soviet veto in four days blocked resolutions aimed at setting up conditions for American troop withdrawal from Lebanon.

The 85th Soviet veto defeated a Japanese resolution calling on the U.N. "to make possible the withdrawal of United States forces from Lebanon" by arranging to protect that country's territorial integrity and political independence.

In Beirut, Admiral James L. Holloway said today "I really think we can get out of Lebanon without any fighting." He added he doubts that World War III will start here.

Meanwhile, Speaker Abdel Osseiran postponed Parliament's election of a new president for one week.

The election session was scheduled for Thursday.

Nasser celebrated the sixth anniversary of the Egyptian revolution with a fiery speech asserting the U.S. and British forces in the Middle East will be defeated. To an estimated 250,000 cheering Egyptians, he predicted Arab nationalism—meaning under his dictatorship or at least influence — will triumph in Lebanon, Jordan, Algeria and in Jerusalem, which is divided between Jordan and Israel.

Actress To Wed

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Japanese actress Miyoshi Umeki, who won an Oscar as best supporting actress of 1957 for her role in "Sayonara," is to be married tonight to television executive Frederick Opie, 34. This is the actress' first marriage, the second for Opie.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A motorist on the Massachusetts Turnpike reported a monkey leaped on the hood of his car while the car was traveling at 50 miles an hour.

State police admittedly were skeptical.

A short while later, however, another motorist reported seeing a monkey sunning himself on a guidepost and then doing a couple of back flips on the hood of a passing car.

Where the monkey came from was a mystery.

BLUEFIELD, W.Va. (AP)—The pair of youthful offenders brought a minor reign of terror on Bluefield's East End. Juvenile Officer Charles Hudson said they:

1. Set fire to a garage, a lumber pile close to a house and a pile of cardboard in another garage.

2. Went into an apartment building with a hose and flooded the hallway and mailboxes.

3. Entered a home, filled a bag with toys and were fleeing when police and weary firemen caught up with them.

One was 7 and the other 8.

2 Children Die In Closet

DALLAS (AP) — Two children suffocated in a clothes closet yesterday. Two others, who were also trapped when the door handle fell off, were rescued unconscious.

The four Negro children, arms and legs entwined, were found by the mother, Mrs. Cardie McDade, when she returned home from work.

Debra Joyce Moore, 3, and Tommy Allen Carr, 4, Mrs. McDade's children by previous marriages, were dead. Carolyn Moore, 2, and Cloyce Moore, 6, were unconscious. Cloyce had a temperature of 108 and was packed in ice at a hospital.

Police said that temperature in the closet, which was used to store winter clothes, was well over 100 degrees.

Mrs. McDale returned late in the afternoon and found 21-month-old James McDade playing alone on a bedroom floor. She began to search for four other children when neighbors told her they had not been seen.

It was then that Mrs. McDade and a neighbor spotted the handle to the closet door. Mrs. McDade replaced it, opened the door and found the youngsters sprawled on the floor of the small, stifling closet where the family stored winter clothing.

A neighbor rushed all four children to the hospital in his automobile.

Young Edisons?

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Two novice distillers were caught hovering over a bubbling still heated by a hot plate Monday.

Juvenile officer Roy Snyder said the culprits were 12 and 15 years old and told him they were just experimenting.

Convinced they were telling the truth, Snyder said the still showed signs of expert workmanship.

Pleasing Scene? Not To The Police

BLACKFOOT, Idaho (AP) — What does it remind you of when you see a barefoot boy scuffing through the dust on a hot July afternoon, faithful dog at his heels?

It reminded Blackfoot police of six burglaries.

They arrested the 10-year-old boy and said he admitted taking about $17 in nickels and dimes from three service stations and three cleaning shops.

Asst. Chief S. S. Kunz said officers found footprints of a dog and a barefoot boy around broken windows at each place.

When they spotted the boy, there wasn't anything to make them suspicious, except that he was barefoot and had a dog.

You hardly ever see a barefoot boy any more, they said.

Edmondson, Nigh Win In Oklahoma

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—By a record vote, Oklahoma Democrats yesterday picked a 32-year-old county prosecutor and a 31-year-old bachelor schoolteacher as nominees for governor and lieutenant governor.

This virtually assured J. Howard Edmondson election as governor and George Nigh as lieutenant governor.

Oklahoma has never elected anyone but a Democrat for its top state offices in the November general elections.

Edmondson, whose own supporters called his first primary election lead a "political miracle," beat millionaire home builder W. P. Bill Atkinson 362,877 to 159,171 in unofficial returns. In the first primary three weeks ago, he led by just 742 votes.

Nigh, who came within a few thousand votes of being eliminated in the first primary along with 10 other candidates, defeated Lt. Gov. Cowboy Pink Williams 300,002 to 191,200. Williams led by 95,464 votes in the first primary.

The 522,048 votes cast yesterday was the biggest second primary total in history. The runoff was necessary because in some state offices, no candidate polled a clear majority July 1.

Edmondson, for four years county attorney at Tulsa, campaigned on a reform platform. He also pledged to call a special election on repeal of the state's prohibition laws.

A brother of Rep. Ed Edmondson, he was considered a political unknown two months ago. But his youthful vigor, dynamic television personality and blitz-type campaigning of shopping centers brought him overwhelming support.

Nigh, a state representative for statewide than Edmondson. The eight years, was even less known youthful McAlester teacher campaigned to return what he called "dignity" to the role of lieutenant governor.

How To Get A Bird Back

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Jerry is a parakeet who talks. He also flies.

Usually he gives with the standard parakeet palaver: "Pretty bird." "I love you, Jerry," and so on. His flying ordinarily is equally confined—to his cage or room.

A week ago Monday Jerry took off from the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Neal. He wound up Thursday at a grain company in Shawnee, Kan., 25 miles away.

William Bishop, office manager of the grain company, took Jerry home.

Pretty soon Jerry started talking — the "pretty bird" routine again.

But this week he exclaimed to Mrs. Bishop: "Call Mary Neal. Jackson 3-4312."

Jerry is home with Mrs. Neal again.

The story was told by Mrs. Neal and confirmed by the Bishops.

Jerry wouldn't talk to a reporter.

Soviet Students Criticize U.S.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A spokesman for 10 Soviet students visiting here said the United States is guilty of "armed colonial aggression in the Middle East."

The Soviet graduate students made the comment during a week's stay at Washington University.

Evgenii Bugrov, 31, leader of the eight men and two women and president of the Student Council of the U.S.S.R., replied to a question about his group's opinion on the Middle East with, "We think that armed colonialist aggression started by the U.S.A. in Lebanon and Jordan endangers world peace."

Purpose of this trip, Bugrov said, was to "create bonds with United States youth, to see how they live, study and recreate and generally to get acquainted with their living and studying conditions."

Blankenship is a student at North Texas State College and Choate is enrolled at Texas A&M.

Politicos Take Off Kid Gloves

By RAYMOND HOLBROOK
AP Staff Writer

Texas political hopefuls, with just three days before Saturday's primaries, have pulled off their kid gloves to concentrate on close-in verbal slugging.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, flying to Fort Worth from Washington, accused his opponent, William A. Blakley, of stealing parts of Yarborough's platform "because he has found his anti-people, Republican platform won't work."

Blakley accused Yarborough of keeping silent in Congress on many problems affecting Texas "because of outside influences which have been, and are even now financing his campaign and directing his course."

In the race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, the slugging became a round-robin.

State Sen. Henry B. Gonzalez addressing a Dallas rally called Gov. Price Daniel "a sanctimonious, deceitful and pious hyprocrite who calls a special legislative session and approves bad laws. He said that the lobbyist control, insurance regulation, and water bills were "nothing but shams and incumbent recumbent showed a lack of guts and gumption."

"PROMISE BREAKER"

Former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel scored Daniel for being "a promise breaker." He charged that the governor had failed to keep promises for a thorough investigation of the veterans land board scandal and lobbyist control measures.

Daniel said the charges of his opponents were "ridiculous prattlings and mudslinging designed to mislead the voters of Texas. They choose to fabricate issues for the sake of votes."

Yarborough scheduled a live television address over a number of Texas stations at 9 p.m. Wednesday at which time he said he would report on his two days in Washington and his conferences on the international situation. Thursday he goes to Bryan and the southeast section of the state.

Blakley planned to visit in Beaumont and Port Arthur Wednesday with an areawide television address at 7:30 p.m. from Houston. Thursday he goes to Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande Valley before heading toward Fort Worth for a statewide telecast Friday night.

COFFEE RALLY

Daniel, who was in Fort Worth, Victoria, Shiner, Lufkin and Zavalla Tuesday, planned a breakfast meeting in Lufkin Wednesday morning, a luncheon address at Jasper, a coffee rally at Silsbee, and a night appearance in Beaumont.

O'Daniel, traveling by helicopter, said he planned to visit 43 towns before Saturday. Wednesday he scheduled stops in Kenedy, Yorktown, Cuero, Halletsville, Schulenburg, LaGrange, Brenham, Navasota, Huntsville, Crockett and Palestine.

Gonzalez planned to tour the San Antonio area Wednesday, then head to Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange Thursday. He planned to wind up his campaign in San Antonio Friday and Saturday.

Ben Ramsey, seeking re-election as lieutenant governor, said in Dallas Tuesday that "the major issue in this campaign is the question of holding down public spending." He planned to campaign in Houston Wednesday.

Candidates in the race for state commissioner of agriculture were also busy Tuesday. Incumbent John White campaigned in the Houston area, Tom Griffins made a radio talk in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and drove a tractor through downtown Dallas, while Glenn H. Kothmann was in Kilgore.

BENEATH DIGNITY

Daniel, speaking in Fort Worth, said "it is beneath the dignity of the governor and an insult to the intelligence of the voters to run the type of campaign two of my opponents have been running."

Challenging O'Daniel to recheck his memory before criticizing Daniel's handling of the Texas tidelands controversy, the governor said "he will find that when he was in the U.S. Senate in 1948, he signed, testified for, and voted for a bill with the same boundary provisions contained in the tidelands bill I helped pass in 1953."

Both Gonzalez and O'Daniel scored the lobbyist control bill passed by the last Legislature and linked Daniel to what they claimed were its weakness.

"Is the bill designed to control the lobbyist or their campaign funds?" O'Daniel asked.

Gonzalez termed the legislation "the loophole lobbyist special dream in which a lobbyist is not a lobbyist when the Legislature is not in session. It is a law in which a lobbyist is not a lobbyist unless he argues with the Legislature."

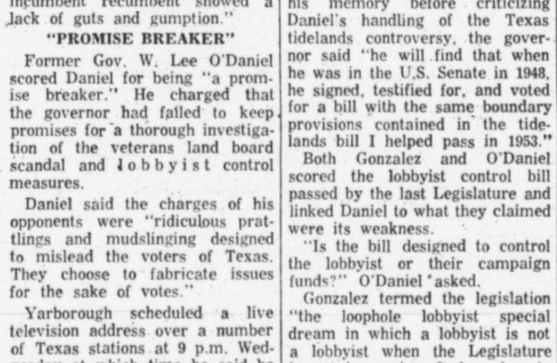

Gonzalez in his Dallas speech accused Daniel of giving a special breakfast for lobbyists at the governor's mansion during "which he sought political, if not financial, help."

Daniel, O'Daniel and Gonzalez have all claimed victories in Saturday's primary.

O'Daniel predicted there would "be a big upset" Saturday night.

Gonzalez said he could win without a runoff if he had 10 more days in which to campaign. He said right now he would settle for a runoff with Daniel.

No New Cases Of Sleeping Sickness

No new cases of encephalomyelitis or sleeping sickness have been reported among the area's horse population, according to local veterinarians.

Previously, Dr. Akin Simpson said there had been six cases reported from Glasscock County. All belonged to the same rancher. Simpson says four of the afflicted horses died, another has partially recovered, while the sixth may not show any serious effects.

He has heard of one other case in Glasscock County since the first ones occurred. Dr. H. F. Schwarzenbach said he treated a case of sleeping sickness a few weeks ago. The horse had been kept east of Big Spring.

Schwarzenbach says the disease is not new to the area. In fact, when Dr. Otto Wolfe was practicing here many years ago, he said sleeping sickness was fairly common back in the 1920's and 30's.

Yet it is a serious disease, the veterinarians say, and even if a horse survives, he may not be worth much. When a horse starts taking the disease, he appears listless, his lower lip may drop down, and he may yawn as if sleepy. Later he becomes weak-kneed, has trouble standing up and may stagger around, falling over fences or into mud holes.

The disease is spread by horse flies, mosquitoes or any kind of blood-sucking insect. The veterinarians do not expect it to become widespread, but say that wet weather and a new crop of flies and mosquitoes could spread it faster.

There are two kinds of encephalomyelitis among horses, the eastern and a western. They are caused by different viruses, but both kinds have similar effects and can be treated with a single vaccine. Simpson said this was probably the western type, but there would be no way of determining unless exhaustive laboratory tests were made.

Since the newspaper account of the outbreak, the sale of vaccines has risen sharply. Simpson says a few owners still haven't vaccinated their horses, and apparently intend to wait and see if the cases increase.

Simpson also reported some cases of cholera among hogs, but says no new cases have developed. It can also be prevented by vaccination, he said. The disease is spread by contact and by hogs being placed on contaminated ground.

Fire Protection Proposals Offered

Two proposals came out of the City Commission meeting Tuesday night which will be sent to the county concerning fire-fighting service outside the city limits.

City Manager H. W. Whitney presented a number of ideas to the commission about a city-county program of fire protection, and the commission picked two to be sent to the county. The county asked for a proposal after it learned that a contract between the two bodies could be drawn up legally.

The two proposals (generally): That the city charge a monthly fee of $2,000 for the service, or that the county pay a pro-rata share of the fire department budget based on the number of calls outside the city. These two contracts now exist respectively between Midland and Midland County, and Kerrville and Kerr County.

The costs would be about the same, probably. Figuring the number of fires in 1957, the pro-rata share would have cost the county $26,000. The percentage of outside fires was 18.07, Whitney said, and the fire department budget during that same time was $146,790.

These two proposals will be sent to the county for acceptance of either or rejection of both.

In other matters Tuesday night, the commission approved a request from A. D. Harmon to install benches at bus stops and other convenient spots in town. From this, Harmon would sell advertising, and the city would get 10 per cent of gross receipts. The benches would be of concrete construction with board seats.

A request from Garland Sanders to erect a private ski jump at Moss Creek Lake was tabled for additional study. The commission appeared to frown on the proposal, however, since the city probably would be liable for any damages.

The Knights of Pythias were allowed to open a concession stand at the lake on Sundays for the remainder of the summer. The organization had considered asking for a franchise to sell boat rides but found it too expensive from the liability insurance angle.

A request to erect a sign on city property on W. 80 was rejected. In connection with the request, Whitney said a sign was already on the property. He was authorized to ask the owner of the sign to remove it.

Paul Reagan asked for an adjustment on personal property taxes for the period 1953-57, and the commission left the matter to the city manager and attorney.

A recommendation from the zoning board that the G (business) zone be changed to alow Shamrock Oil Co. to build a wholesale petroleum storage in that zone was rejected. The commission felt that it shouldn't change the ordinance to fit only one case.

Blind Center Celebrates 10th Year Of Help

CHICAGO (AP)—The Veterans Administration blind center at Hines, Ill., has just celebrated a decade of teaching men to do things they've done all their lives.

That sounds like a modest project, but it's one complicated by fear.

According to one of 470 World War II and Korean War veterans who have taken the unique 16-week course, the greatest fear is that sudden blindness has changed everything. Being free of this fear, he said, "is more protection for a blind man than a tank is for a soldier."

Russell Williams, institute director who was blinded by an exploding shell in World War II, is proudest of the center's work with a lawyer, two preachers and a chicken farmer.

All feared that blindness had ended not only their careers but almost everything else that had been wonderfully routine in their lives.

Williams recalled, "We first introduced them, as we do all our patients, to the long white cane.

"Then we made them mobile again, both inside and outdoors. We taught them how to eat and make their own beds."

They learned to negotiate the hospital corridors and grounds, nearby streets, and eventually Chicago's busy Loop.

Finally, they returned to their law, ministry and chicken farming. Williams measures the center's success by small yardsticks —a blind veteran's ability to change a flat tire and carry a pail of ashes from the basement to the alley.

When someone with no vocational training comes to the center, there are instructors and facilities for starting him t[illegible]d the use of shop tools so th[illegible]e can lead an independent life.

Williams lives the objectives of independence which he teaches, having recently returned from two weeks of camping out with his family in the Rocky Mountains.

Stanton Voters Approve Study Of Urban Renewal Plan

STANTON—In a special election Monday, property owners of Stanton gave their approval for further study of the Urban Renewal Plan. From a total of about 150 votes, the measure was approved by a two-to-one ratio.

The Urban Renewal Plan is a co-operative program which a city enters into with the federal government for certain types of civic improvement. The ones that will apply to Stanton are water improvement, drainage of the lake and the building of more paved streets. It may also include a larger sewage disposal plant and the renovation of poor housing areas.

The next step will be for the appointed committees to make a complete investigation of the projects. Surveys will be made, conferences will be held with the engineers, and there may be a need for trips to Fort Worth where the Urban Renewal headquarters are located.

This election was merely an approval for further study. If the plan seems feasible, another election will be called.

Bomb Destroys 10 Years' Work

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — At 7:50 Tuesday night a terrorist bomb blasted a little baker's shop on Maqdisi street in Beirut—and 10 years hard work for the young man who owns it.

Standing in the midst of shattered glass and rubble today, Elias Antouri seemed close to tears. "I don't know who did it or why," he said.

In this weird rebellion in Lebanon, Elias Antouri is the typical tragedy—the little guy who's getting it in the neck.

Insurgents, in an effort to show their power, have been trying to paralyze the country. By threats and bribery and bombs they have attempted to close every business establishment in Lebanon, from the biggest down to the tiny place of Elias Antouri.

As one Lebanese puts it, "They first through the people would close the shops through conviction. When only a few did they started using terror."

Elias Antouri, unlike many others, said he never received threats.

"Everybody here knows me," he said. "I have nothing to do with politics."

He's 26. He started learning to make pastry when 16. Four years ago he used all his savings to open his shop.

He says he's going to try to reopen. "I'm not afraid. It's just a question of whether I can raise the money somehow."

Fight Victim Is Sent To Hospital

A fight on the North Side Tuesday night sent one man to the hospital but he has been dismissed.

Charles Hart was rushed to Cowper Hospital by a Nalley-Pickle ambulance after the trouble at 307 NW 4th. He was released from the hospital this morning.

In connection with the incident, two men were arrested and charged with affray.

Driverless Cars Involved In Wreck

One of two accidents which occurred Tuesday afternoon involved driverless cars.

A 1950 Pontiac rolled into a 1953 Chevrolet in the 300 block of W. 2nd, Tuesday afternoon, but police weren't able to ascertain who owned the cars. Damage was slight.

At 200 N. Gregg, Charles Driver, 804 Birdwell, and Odessa Bethea, 1001 NW 4th, were involved in an accident.

Theatre Vending Machine Raided

Deputy Sheriff Jack Hackney and Constable Wes Patton investigated a burglary reported at the Sahara Drive-in Theatre last night.

Officers said that a door to the office of the theatre had been forced and the key to the cigarette vending machine taken. An undetermined amount of money was removed from the machine.

YMCA Boys' Camp Set At San Antonio

A "residence" camp" for local YMCA boys has been scheduled for Aug. 3-9 at the San Antonio YMCA Boys Camp, Bobo Hardy, secretary for the local Y, announced today.

Boys 8 through 16 years of age may attend the camp, Hardy said. Camp charge will be $36.50 and registrations will be accepted at the YMCA. Brochures on the San Antonio camp area available at the local Y.

Hardy said that 10 local youths have registered for the Hi-Y Officers Training Camp, to be held at Estes Park, Colo., Aug. 24-29. The camp is for officers of Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y units. Five additional Big Spring youths can be accepted.

Fire Starts In Trash

Firemen went to Newsom's Grocery, 1900 Gregg, Tuesday afternoon, but no damage resulted from the small fire. The blaze developed in the trash container.

Ory's Better

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Jazz trombonist Edward (Kid) Ory, stricken recently with a blood ailment after surgery, was reported well on his way to recovery today. The 71-year-old musician's blood had failed to clot. Tranfusions overcame the difficulty.

Brig. Gen. Abdul Kerim Kassem, new premier of Iraq, salutes as he leaves army headquarters in Baghdad, accompanied by an aide, Lt. Col. Wasfi Taher, also armed with an automatic weapon. Kassem led the coup which overthrew the government of King Faisal.

Senators Predict Trade Bill Victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate leaders predicted today that the reciprocal trade extension bill will emerge from conference with the House in a form satisfactory to President Eisenhower.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va), who will head the Senate conferees, told a reporter, "I am sure we will work out a bill that will be fully acceptable to the President."

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) said the conferees might come up with the full five-year extension asked by the President. If not, he said they surely will agree on four.

The Senate last night passed a three-year extension measure 72-16 after five days of debate.

The body rolled up a smashing 63-27 bipartisan vote to give Eisenhower a major victory in his fight to retain his power to override Tariff Commission recommendations for quotas and higher tariffs.

But the leaders on both sides who cooperated to achieve this did not call for any other floor tests on provisions put into the bill by the Senate Finance Committee over administration opposition.

They preferred instead to iron these out in conference. The House passed the measure 317-98 last month in a form which met all Eisenhower's specifications.

Under present law, the President can and sometimes does override a Tariff Commission recommendation for relief to an industry claiming damage from foreign imports.

But under the provision the Senate rejected, his decision against such a recommendation would not have prevailed unless a majority of both branches of Congress passed a resolution backing him.

The Senate action meant a return to present law. But the House put in its bill a provision allowing Congress to reverse the President in such a case by a two-thirds vote of each branch, and this may be restored in conference. It is acceptable to Eisenhower.

These appeared to be likely conference decisions on other issues in dispute:

1. Extension—Either four or five years.

2. Tariff-cutting authority— 20 per cent reduction authority if a four-year extension is agreed upon, or 25 per cent if five years; the Senate voted for 15 per cent and the House 25. In addition, the Senate appears likely to give up its provision tying the hands of the President so he could use only 5 per cent of the authority in each year with no carry-over.

3. National security clause—the Senate provision broadening this section so that many new industries could seek relief from imports under it seems to have a good chance of aceptance.

Glasscock Re-Entry Project To Take Strawn Tests Today

The Tidewater No. 1 Couey in Glasscock County continued to test this week. Tests the past few days have been in the Devonian, but today, plans were to plug back and try the Strawn.

The venture is a re-entered wildcat about 17 miles southwest of Garden City. Thus far, tests have produced more gas than oil. The gas volume Tuesday was 575,000 cubic feet per day.

Borden

Sinclair No. 2-B Waddell, in the one-well Dunigan field, drilled in lime and shale at 8,170 feet today. It is C SW SE, 20-30-6n, T&P Survey.

Seven miles northeast of Gail, the Moncrief No. 1 Miller made hole in lime and shale at 5,225 feet. It is staked C NE SW, 32-30-6n, T&P Survey, as a 9,000-foot project.

The Lone Star No. 1 Porter wildcat was reaming at a depth of 5,710 feet today. The site is 12 miles southwest of Gail, C NE SE, 9-32-4n, T&P Survey.

The Shell No. 1 Miller was still bottomed at 9,210 feet in granite and running logs. Location of the wildcat is C SW NW, 527-97, H&TC Survey.

Operator continued to pump small amounts of oil from Strawn perforations at the Brown & Liedtke No. 1 York about 14 miles east of Gail. Perforations extend from 7,820-24 feet, and during the last 24 hours, it pumped 23.50 barrels of oil and 259 barrels of water. It is C NE SW, 323-97, H&TC Survey.

Dawson

Operator at the Camp No. 1 George Oldham prepared to drill out retainer and run logs today. It has been testing the Reef at the site C NE SE, 26-34-4n, T&P Survey, and five miles northeast of Ackerly.

Garza

Shell No. 1-F Slaughter, a wildcat C SW NW, 21-1, Hays Survey, continued to pump from the Strawn after making 48 barrels of fluid cut 30 per cent oil in 24 hours. It is located 13 miles southwest of Post.

Shell No. 1-CC Slaughter in the Happy field made hole in dolomite at 2,700 today. It is located about 12 miles south of Post, 330 from south and 2,280 from east lines, 42-2, T&NO Survey.

Glasscock

Tidewater No. 1 Couey was shut-in today before testing the Strawn again. Tuesday, operator recovered 13 barrels of oil in 24 hours using a 20-64-choke. Gas volume measured 575,000 cfd. The site is C SW SW, 13-36-5s, T&P Survey.

Martin

Strawn tests continued at the Hamon & Republic No. 1 Holton after it flowed 11.04 barrels of oil in the past 24 hours. The wildcat site is six miles northwest of Tarzan, 5,872 from south and 7,577 from east lines of League 246, Wheeler CSL Survey.

Humble No. 1 McKaskle deepened to 1,901 feet in anhydrite, sand, and shale. The 10,100-foot Devonian project is C NE NE, 12-35-1n, T&P Survey, and 15 miles west of Big Spring.

Glaring Deficiencies In Some Schools Reported By Panel

AUSTIN (AP)—Survey teams of the Texas Education Agency have reported glaring deficiencies in some public schools, ranging from filthy utilities to instruction from untrained teachers.

Their reports were adopted recently by the State Commission on School Accreditation which issued a strong warning to many of the schools to correct these errors in order to operate as an accredited system.

The school districts range from the Aldine School District in Harris County with 9,000 pupils and an assessed valuation of more than 60 million dollars to poor districts with only a few dozen students.

One of the reports was on the McKinney system which said that most of the school's serious deficiencies "are attributed to the failure and neglect of the community to give adequate financial support to the school district."

"It said under the present conditions "It is difficult for the administration to maintain discipline, organize pupils activities, provide effective guidance and develop a self appraisal program." An enrollment far exceeding facilities also was cited as was the report that part of the buildings had been condemned.

The Pharr-San Juan-Alamo District, third largest in the Valley, also was warned. The report said it was impossible for the district to maintain high standards under present circumstances. It reported that conditions were "miserably overcrowded and laboratories were outmoded."

Reports on other schools throughout the state cited these points: Shortage of textbooks—Inadequate library facilities—no planned health program—no lab facilities for sciences—no physical education program other than season sports—library books kept behind a wire guard with no checkout system—a 12-grade system in which $65.62 had been spent on library books—teachers instructing courses in which they had no college credit—no guidance or counseling plans—offensive toilet facilities 15 feet from a classroom—a high school with no classes in art, music, drama, speech, science, vocational subjects and commerce—eighth grade pupils grouped during the day with 12th graders, 11th graders and 3rd graders—a school with grades one through nine with teachers drawing $120 a month.

Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar said he thought most of these school districts were in trouble "because they haven't made local efforts financewise and leadershipwise. Many are in trouble because they haven't raised the tax evaluation rates."

He said the survey teams often point out weaknesses the school officials are unaware of and efforts are usually made to correct these. He said only a very small number of schools actually are removed from accreditation. Nine were removed effective next June while more than 50 were warned by the commission last week.

Colleges require a freshman to be a graduate of an accredited school as do most high schools who accept credits of transfer students. A school losing accreditation also loses some state financial aid—the loss of salaries for vocational teachers and a superintendent.

Abilene Woman Killed In Crash

CORSICANA (AP)—Mrs. Helen Coffman, 37, of Abilene died today when the car in which she was riding overturned 12 miles south of here on U.S. 75 at about 3:30 a.m.

Highway Patrolman Neal Hill said the car was driven by Marvin Hillburn, 28, of Terrell, who was to marry Mrs. Coffman's daughter.

Hill said Hillburn apparently sought to avoid a truck which had stopped at an intersection, went onto the shoulder of the highway and the car overturned several times. Hillburn was injured but not critically.

They were en route from Mexia to Terrell.

Survivors include Mrs. Shirley Comer and Miss Sue Calloway; and a son, Johnny Calloway, all of Abilene.

COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton was 50 to 80 cents a bale lower at noon today. October 36.35, December 36.77, March 37.12.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices milled irregularly in heavy trading early this afternoon. Gains and losses of fractions to about a point were the rule. A few selected issues moved two or three points to the plus or minus side. The list as a whole was a fairly even pattern of gains and losses.

Brokers said the market once again was absorbing profit taking following Tuesday's extension of its advance to six straight sessions. Prices remained at an 11-month high.

The foreign news continued fairly good. The rise in living costs in June and a report by the President's Council of Economic Advisers that business turned up in the second quarter were other background factors.

Industrials were down generally but rails spurted on average, paring some gains. Chemicals were mixed after Tuesday's strong rise. Rubbers and base metals were mostly lower.

American Cyanamid jumped more than four points while Union Carbide dropped about two. Allied Chemical and Hooker Chemical added about a point each while Du Pont lost around a point.

U. S. government bonds were irregular.

City Turns Down Request To Change Route Of Sewer Line

The City Commission Tuesday night stood firm on its location of the sewer line from the Capehart housing area to the sewage disposal plant, thus rejecting a proposal from Lloyd Curley that the line be extended.

Curley told the commission that he felt he wasn't "getting a fair shake" and that the city was putting a damper on long-range planning as a result of the rejection.

The matter consumed a large portion of the four-hour session Tuesday night and concerned the section of sewer line in the area of the proposed Marcy Elementary School and the Douglass Addition.

Curley had requested that the line be extended to the south line of Section 12 from where it leaves the old San Angelo Highway in order to serve the area west of the highway and also possibly to the southwest of the proposed development. At the present, the line is laid out to go east from the highway north of the section line and through Cecil McDonald's Douglass Addition.

In answer to Curley's argument, the commission pointed out that its finances for the line are expended and it would take quite a bit of time to call a bond election and get authority to spend more money. Also the contractor, Ray Hodgson, is now on the job and laying the line.

The cost of extending the line to the section line would be about $8,500, City Engineer Clifton Bellamy said, because of 18 to 20-foot cuts in the area.

Curley offered to loan the money to the city at a low rate of interest and then without interest, but the city manager, H. W. Whitney, and the attorney, Wayne Basden, explained that the city could not borrow money past current fiscal revenue without authorization of city voters, and the current budget wouldn't allow any additional expenditures.

Curley said that the city couldn't afford not to extend the line because of future growth in the area —he said he planned to develop 150 acres now. He said in two years another line would be needed.

McDonald was present at the meeting and said he would cooperate with Curley on a line from the Douglass Addition back to the highway but he didn't have the area to be crossed platted at the present. Curley said he was ready to go to work immediately.

The commission after lengthy discussion decided to let the line remain as it is since the contractor is working and because of the financial situation.

Curley, however, said he didn't think he was being treated fairly because the line had been extended slightly for the benefit of McDonald. He said he had built a large number of houses in Big Spring and he had never before asked the commission for anything.

To this, the commission countered that if he had asked for the extension earlier and not as the contractor went to work, he might have been accommodated.

In the same area on other matters, the commission approved a re-plat of the Douglass Addition as well as a re-plat of a portion of the Monticello Addition.

DEAR ABBY

NOTICE, ADULTS

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Is this question from a 13-year-old girl too foolish to answer? Nobody else has been able to answer it for me. On Sunday the people around our town will get out their lawnmowers, paint brushes, or start working on their cars and I have even seen them washing and ironing. Don't these people know it is Sunday and that the Ten Commandments say "REMEMBER THE SABBATH DAY AND KEEP IT HOLY"? In the Bible it says to work six days and rest on the seventh, and the day of rest should be the one to honour your God. Do you know the answer, Abby?

GLORIA

DEAR GLORIA: Unfortunately, many people turn to God only when they want something, and they forget Him when they have it. Letters like yours should remind adults that youngsters are looking to us for guidance and they do as we DO, not as we SAY. (". . . and a little child shall lead them").

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Since when is a girl "from off the farm" supposed to be "green"? I happen to be a city girl myself, but when I was 11 I spent a summer vacation at my uncle's farm and I've never been the same since. The farm is an ideal place to learn the facts of life if there ever was one. Any man who goes to a motel to "baby sit" with a 19-year-old farm girl had better look out for himself.

CITY GIRL

DEAR ABBY: I think my poor mother-in-law ought to go to a hospital to get away from her husband and build herself up. I slept over there one night last week and she has to put up with so much you'd never believe it. My father-in-law snores like a horse and no matter what part of the house you move to you can still hear him. He also gets up every half-hour to get a drink or for other purposes and he slams the doors and bumps into things causing a terrible racket. My poor mother-in-law hasn't had a good night's sleep in 20 years. How can we get her to go to a hospital before she's carried to one? SORRY FOR MOM

DEAR SORRY: Your father-in-law's nocturnal activities seem to bother you more than they bother your mother-in-law. Perhaps she's learned to live with it. Love is not only blind—it's deaf!

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I work in the composing room of a newspaper where the temperature is equivalent to that of a Turkish bath. There are about 50 men in here who like to have the windows open and the electric fans going. There is one woman who also works here and she says she is cold and has sinus trouble and can't stand any draft. We open the windows and she closes them. We turn on the fans and she turns them off. Should all of us suffer because of her? What is your verdict, Abby?

DYING OF THE HEAT

DEAR DYING: In a democracy the majority rules. Don't let her give you any more heat.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband has taken up ham radio operating as a hobby and he would rather talk to a stranger in Syracuse, New York, than to me. He spends all his time on this ham radio and I am getting fed up with being ignored. Is there anything I can do to get his attention or should I hope he outgrows it?

HAM RADIO WIDOW

DEAR H.R.W.: Some hams are air before you find out what's on it. Women have also found this hobby fascinating.

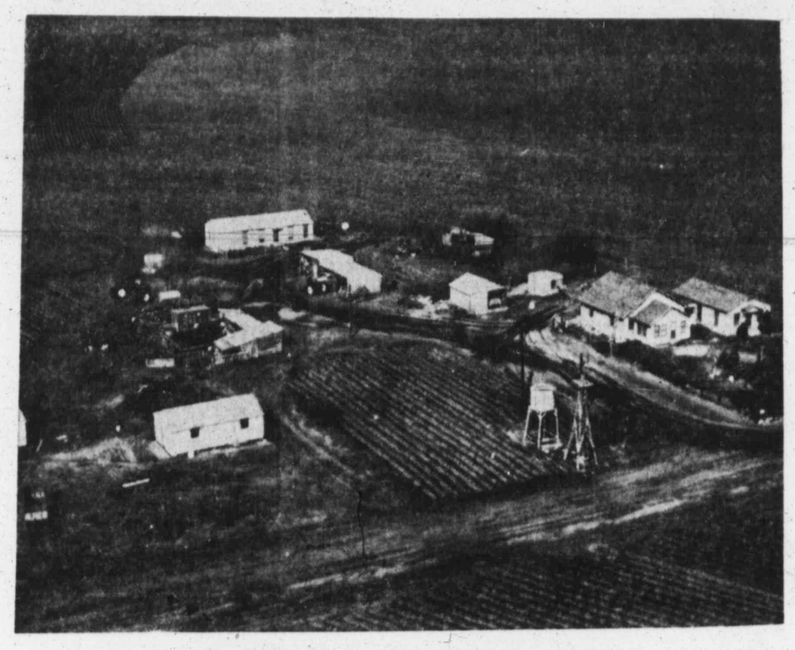

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO BILL: You never cured. Don't give him the remind me of the fellow who sows his wild oats and then prays for a crop failure. Simmer down.

Place located in northwest Martin County

Shepard Farm One Of Most Productive In This Section

There have been years when the pickin's were mighty lean, but on the whole last week's Mystery Farm has been one of the most productive dryland farms in the area.

It is the 240-acre spread of Mrs. Bonnie Shepard, who has owned the place since 1940 when she bought it from Olin Nix of Lamesa. Originally the farm was part of the old Slaughter Long S ranch. It is located 3½ miles southwest of Ackerly in Martin County and is only about a mile off pavement.

In addition to this place, Mrs. Shepard has 160 acres two miles to the west. Farming both places as well as some 200 additional acres is Leo Batson.

In 1949 the farm averaged about a bale to the acre on its cotton, and in 1955 when most places were still parching under the drought, a few timely showers brought on another crop of about a bale to the acre. Batson has harvested some good grain sorghum crops, too, threshing from 1,700 to 1,800 pounds to the acre. The two tracts belonging to Mrs. Shepard have a cotton allotment of 166 acres.

Batson employs a trio of four-row tractors to work a total of 700 acres. He and Mrs. Batson have four sons and one of them, Jerry, 17, is still at home to help during the summers. During school time he keeps busy with his school and 4-H work. He has been president of his chapter for the past three years. Currently he is running 18 head of sheep as a project. Other Batson sons are James of Lubbock, Glynn of Lamesa and Gail of Big Spring.

The Batsons formerly lived at Klondike before they moved on the Shepard (or Lacy) farm in 1953. He was a school trustee for several years. Both he and his wife are members of the Church of Christ at Ackerly.

There are two houses on the place and Mrs. Shepard lives in one with her mother, Mrs. C. A. Lacy, and a brother, Jim. Her father died in 1919 and the family moved six years later to O'Donnell. She owned farms successively at Tahoka, Post, Lamesa and finally Ackerly. Until his death in 1950 a brother, Clarence, operated the farm for her. Mrs. Shepard is a Baptist.

The farm has a good well, capable of supplying the houses and stock. There are a few fruit trees and this year they have been loaded. Ordinarily enough of a field garden is planted to supply all their needs.

Rain Dampens North Texas

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms drenched North Texas points early Wednesday in the wake of scattered violent electrical storms and a tornado.

A rainstorm, accompanied by winds of 50 miles an hour in gusts and blowing dust, lashed Fort Worth Wednesday. Dallas, Mineral Wells and Wichita Falls also had thundershowers.

Lightning Tuesday injured an 8-year-old Negro girl when the bolt struck her home at Tyler. A two-hour wind and rainstorm flooded streets there. Lightning touched off a fire and explosion at a Beaumont store late Tuesday night for an estimated one million dollar damage.

A small tornado struck Tuesday night near Roundup, 18 miles northwest of Lubbock. Some irrigation pipe was damaged but there were no injuries.

Skies were clear early Wednesday in West Texas but partly cloudy to cloudy weather elsewhere. The forecast calls for continued scattered thunderstorms and showers through Thursday with no major changes in temperatures.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 68 degrees at Dalhart to 85 at Galveston. Maximum readings Tuesday afternoon ranged from 87 degrees at Dalhart to 110 at Presidio.

Graduating were Ray Aubrey, Joyce Voyles, Belen Fierro, Primitivo Navarette, Mavis Cone, Morris Dean Sewell, Douglas Eastham, Sandra Havens and Riss Roberts.

Texas Farmer and Friend

The man on the left builds and plows the soil of a family-size Texas farm to provide food and fiber with which to feed and clothe the people of this nation and the world. To do this, he must fight the weather, flood and drouth, erosion and insects, high prices for what he buys and low prices for what he sells. To live and farm and provide for his family and the nation, he must also fight an antagonistic administration in Washington, which wants to drive him off the farm to the city—where the same administration has provided an army of unemployed for him to join. The man on the right cannot do anything about the weather; but he helps his friend fight that antagonistic administration in Washington—as hard and as effective as any living man. The farmer's friend is Ralph Yarborough, United States Senator from Texas.

CALLS HIMSELF A MAN OF PEACE

Nasser Asks Assassination Of Jordan's King Hussein

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

NABLUS, Jordan (AP)—Gamal Abdel Nasser proclaimed himself a man of peace yesterday—and virtually called for the assassination of King Hussein of Jordan.

It is the first time Nasser personally has suggested assassination for the Jordanian King, although his "Voice of the Arabs" propaganda radio station has done so often.

The President of the United Arab Republic, in his annual speech, called expressly on the people of Jerusalem, Nablus and Ramallah — the main Palestinian towns in Jordan — to heed his words.

Nasser pointedly referred to the late King Abdullah, Hussein's grandfather, and to the year 1951 in which Abdullah was assassinated by Arab Palestinians. He accused Hussein of following in his grandfather's footsteps by calling on Britain for aid.

Nasser's suggestion, however indirect, could not possibly be lost on his hearers—Hussein is in line for his grandfather's fate.

"We call for peace and we make every effort to strengthen this peace," said Nasser. But there was no hint of compromise in his assertion that "the British armed aggression against Jordan will be defeated — the American armed aggression against Lebanon will be defeated."

Should Nasser call now for discussions on the Lebanese and other Middle East problems, the West might be justified in considering he is seeking only breathing space in which to prepare for his next assault.

There are already signs that the crisis is getting deeper.

Nablus and other cities in the Palestine sector of Jordan are patently nervous. There are numerous check points on the road from Amman, and so far government security forces seem to have matters under control. But there are reports the pro-Nasser elements have arms cached, waiting for the signal for action.

The signal may be some time in coming.

Nasser's speech indicated he is interested first in getting the Americans out of Lebanon, then pushing that country into his so-called "liberated Arab" bloc. The tone of his speech gave the impression he does not want to bite off too much at one time. He still must digest the situation in Iraq, and still must deal with the situation he created in Lebanon which brought American intervention.

It begins to look as if it will be a long time before the Americans and British can withdraw troops from the Middle East. The withdrawal might be a signal for a new Nasser assault.

Jap Ghost Plays For Hot Weather

TOKYO (AP)—The hot weather has begun in Tokyo and the famed Kabuki theaters have started their special kind of air conditioning—ghost plays.

These plays are performed only during July and August when the the thermometer hovers around the 90s.

One critic explains:

"Ghost plays give the audience cold shivers. They make one feel as if icy fingers were crawling up and down one's spine. In other words, the audience is given a thrill that makes them feel cool."

These plays are said to have begun for summer performance around 1790.

A Bible Thought For Today

"For I am persuaded, that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature, shall be able to separate us from the love of God, which is in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 8:38-39)

Time For Cool Restraint

These are times which call for cool restraint. The intervention of the West in Lebanon and Jordan is a calculated risk. It is as ticklish as holding a lighted match in a powder house to see if those who have been stealing the powder a keg at a time have the nerve to continue stealing in the face of a possible explosion.

So far there has been a lot of verbal fireworks, a lot of breast-beating by the nationalist Arabs under leadership of Egypt's Nasser. There has been a lot of protest over intervention, and this has come largely from Russia which only a short time ago sent bloody legions into Hungary and before that intervened in Korea.

Being involved in the affairs of another nation is not the favorite dish of Americans, but there comes a time when one must take a stand and be ready to defend that stand.

The chances are that Russia, the jackal which takes all that it can by infiltration and intimidation, is not ready to lock horns. Russian leadership is clever and unscrupulous; it is even more realistic. Hence, we have a need to be resolute and restrained in the face of bombastic charges and threats. We may take a propaganda beating for our lack of initiative and imagination in foreign affairs, but we may also establish another line of demarcation across which Russia will dare not go on pain of total war.

Let The Buyer Be The Judge

In a copyrighted story in the July issue of Changing Times Magazine (Kiplinger), the editors assert the American consumer has no "patriotic duty" to buy now in order to pull the country out of the recession.

The magazine advises its readers against buying as a patriotic duty to help business. "The freedom to buy or not to buy is what corrects excesses of production, pricing and so on. If consumers were to buy as a patriotic duty they would throw away the one advantage they have in the tug of war that is the market place."

It points out that "Most business men are holding back on purchases, waiting for lower prices. The auto companies, for example, are buying steel hand-to-mouth."

What Changing Times seems to be saying is that in a free economy what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Auto-makers buy as little steel as possible to compel the steel companies to readjust prices to the market. Business men hold back on purchases hoping to be able to buy cheaper. Consumers cut down their purchases to essentials, waiting for prices to come down.

Thus, from top to bottom, the bargaining gimmick is brought into play. The easy-sell disappears, and the hard-sell begins to operate.

There is one force that moves the mountain of sales-resistance all down the line: The lure of lower prices. People start buying when they see a bargain. Even in the midst of a recession. Put up the bargains and the buyers flock in. That is the weapon the motor-makers have been using, and it has worked wherever pushed with vigor.

We think Mr. and Mrs. America have grown weary of seeing prices climb to dizzy heights and hang there when producers' prices slumped and slumped and wages either held steady or lost their normal buying power and employment fell off.

Wherever sales are pushed and the lure of bargains is brought into play there will be buyers a-plenty. An aggressive, imaginative and persistent selling campaign is a never-failing stimulus to business. And if you read your paper you will see that there are bargains to be had now in almost everything you need or desire.

David Lawrence

The Russians Aren't Ready—Yet

WASHINGTON — The crisis in the world today turns on an age-old and relatively simple issue—whether one side is really ready for a showdown with the other.

For, despite all the Moscow propaganda and its call for a "summit" conference, the basic facts are clear enough. Those facts convict the Soviet government of subverting the weak governments in the Middle East and of instigating rebellion and then hypocritically denouncing the Western Powers for coming to the aid of constituted governments.

The hypocrisy is all the more brazen since not so long ago the Soviets were defending their own armed intervention in Hungary on the ground that the existing government in Budapest had requested help.

The letter from Khrushchev urging the governments of Britain, France, the United States and India to participate, along with Soviet Russia, in a high-level conference is couched in words of bold distortion in complete disregard of previously established facts.

For obviously if any international conference of heads of government were needed quickly, it could be held—as is being proposed by the British government—in New York City. Already in existence there are the buildings and facilities of the United Nations, which has a Security Council and a General Assembly designed to take up the very problems which Khrushchev now argues almost hysterically should be the subject of formal discussions. Hasn't the United Nations been trying to do that for the last few days through the representatives of the same governments, and isn't the U.N. still striving to accomplish that purpose? Except for the Soviet veto in the Security Council, the U.N. would have been further along now in its efforts to find a peaceful solution.

The Khrushchev note, despite its phrases of braggadocio and "rocket rattling," together with the Communist propaganda accusing America and Britain of "unprovoked aggression" are merely a cover-up for a state of fear inside the Kremlin that perhaps, after all, the hour of showdown is really approaching.

For the Soviet regime doesn't want a war now—it would mean uprisings among the captive peoples in eastern Europe as well as inside the Soviet Union itself. A war does not always consolidate an internal situation on the basis of national patriotism, as was proved in 1917 by the break-away of the Bolsheviks in the midst of World War I.

It is questionable indeed whether either side would venture now to use nuclear weapons if there is a war. There would probably be a voluntary taboo on them as happened with the self-imposed ban on poison gas in previous wars.

So it's the threat of any war at this time and the fact that the West really may have made up its mind to take now the risks involved to prevent a big war which makes the Moscow regime so worried today. Its latest note betrays anxiety that is genuine. It is not a note based on confidence, but on fear.

Inside the West, on the other hand, a remarkable solidarity exists. There is, of course, a deep-seated dislike of war itself, and here and there is heard some petty partisan sniping. But most people see the difference between craven submission and the use of force that becomes inevitable as the world observes the Soviet Union unscrupulously and clandestinely undermining government after government and then piously denying what it has done.

The question, therefore, is whether the big decision will come while the Western Alliance is still intact or whether a big war will have to be fought when some of the western countries themselves have also been subverted from within. Winston Churchill in his memoirs published in 1948 gives a soul-searching review of what happened in the 1930s. He writes critically of the policy of six years of "placatory appeasement" and of the "catalogue of surrenders" as having contributed a "line of milestones to disaster." Noting that the British and French had strategic opportunities to fight when the situation was militarily favorable to them, he says they finally found themselves fighting "at the worst possible moment and on the least satisfactory ground." He adds:

"Still, if you will not fight for the right when you can easily win without bloodshed; if you will not fight when your victory will be sure and not too costly; you may come to the moment when you will have to fight with all the odds against you and only a precarious chance of survival.

"There may even be a worse case. You may have to fight when there is no hope of victory, because it is better to perish than live as slaves."

The Soviets are at a geographical disadvantage in trying to help Nasser and his allies militarily in the Middle East. A large-scale military operation by the West now can avert a big war later on. The gobbledygook of the day calls for U. N. debate and some temporary "solution" involving surrender to expediency. The vague talk about "alternatives" and working out something by "negotiation" has a familiar but tragic sound now. For there is only one issue—whether Soviet imperialism is to be crushed once and for all in the Middle East even at the risk of war or whether a "compromise" and some more so-called guarantees and pledges that are not worth the paper they are written on shall be accepted from the Soviet - controlled regimes in the Middle East which are responsible for the present dilemma.

If the leaders of the West are farsighted, they will face the immediate situation firmly and resolutely and without weakening. If they weaken now—and pay heed to the same type of peace-at-any price propaganda which fooled England under the Baldwin and Chamberlain ministries—then World War III will become a certainty in the not-far-distant future after the Soviets have so undermined the West as to make possible the success, not necessarily of a nuclear attack by them but of a conventional war across western Europe. It's later than the exponents of appeasement think it is.

Summit Mixup In A Class By Itself

WASHINGTON (AP)—For sheer confusion, the present mixup on a summit meeting is in a class by itself. One thing is sure: Nikita Khrushchev split the Western Allies' thinking on what to do.

He proposed a five-power summit meeting on the Middle East, practically anywhere. The British said: Fine, let's hold it in the United Nations Security Council. The French said: Oh, not there.

And this country said Premier Khrushchev could come to the Security Council if he wished but then indicated — so obliquely it showed President Eisenhower had small taste for the idea — we'd take part in a summit meeting in the Council.

Nowhere in his answer did Eisenhower say he himself would take part. But if Khrushchev showed up, along with British Prime Minister Macmillan, Eisenhower could hardly fail to do the same.

One way to digest all this is to take it step by step.

Ever since last December Khrushchev had been making Soviet propaganda by calling for a summit meeting on world problems in general. But on June 16, by breaking off negotiations with Western ambassador in Moscow, the Soviets all but wrecked any hope for a summit conference in 1958.

Then on July 14 came the Iraqi revolution and the call for American troops by President Chamoun of Lebanon and for British troops by King Hussein of Jordan. Their reasons were the same: fear their governments would be overthrown, American and British troops were sent in.

Khrushchev expressed fear of war, called the American and British action interference in the Middle East, and proposed a summit meeting to discuss the Middle East. He wasn't talking of world problems in general now.

The kind of summit meeting he had in mind would be made up of the heads of state of the United States, Britain, France, the Soviet Union and India. Khrushchev suggested the meeting be held in Geneva, Washington, or just about anywhere.

He made this suggestion July 19. Since then, the Western Allies have talked it over. It gradually became clear Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles didn't want to buy Khrushchev's idea.

But the British did. This put pressure on Eisenhower to go along to some degree with the British. Tuesday things began to pop.

Macmillan messaged the Khrushchev government that the heads of the big powers should hold a summit meeting in the Security Council. Said Macmillan: "I would certainly be willing to attend such a meeting if you would also go."

Then the White House put out Eisenhower's message to Khrushchev. He said Khrushchev, if he had any complaint about American conduct in the Middle East, could go to the Security Council himself.

Eisenhower said this country would take part if such a meeting "were generally desired." What "generally desired" means was not made clear.

(Under U.N. rules the heads of state can sit in the Security Council in place of their regular delegates. That's why such a Council meeting could be a summit meeting.)

But France's Premier Charles de Gaulle was seeing things otherwise. He messaged Khrushchev that the U.N. presently lacks the calm and serene atmosphere France desires for a summit conference. He called for the big powers to name another place and time for such a conference.

This put it up to Khrushchev to speak his piece. He'll probably cause some more confusion, for the Soviets have complicated the very Middle East problem which Khrushchev protests he wants to solve.

TODAY'S 2-MINUTE MYSTERY

THE CASE OF
THE PULLED PUNCHES
Fifteenth of a series

by Donald J. Sobol

"A woman's mind is the one insoluble mystery," admitted Haledjian to the thin, bespectacled youth. "But I'll help you if I can."

Cyril Makin nodded gratefully, cleared his throat, and said, "I'd been secretly in love with Gladys Brewster for two years. My chances seemed hopeless. She's one of those big outdoorsy girls, a champion skier and swimmer. I never did better than assistant manager of the high school basketball team. Can't see 20 feet without my glasses.

"I knew she'd never take me seriously unless I proved myself a man. So I enlisted the aid of Rocky Armstrong, the heavyweight boxing champion.

"He had staged private 'fights' before, I was relieved to learn. Even had a straight fee for getting knocked down. Two thousand dollars, in advance. A lot of money, but I paid.

"The next night I escorted Gladys to Rocky's steak house on 12th Street. The place was crowded as usual, and we were asked to wait in a small anteroom by ourselves.

"Presently Rocky entered, eyed Gladys up and down, and made an improper remark. I demanded a retraction. He laughed at me.

"'I don't like to do this,' I said, and, slipping my glasses into my breast pocket, threw up my fists and went for him.

"Gladys screamed. Rocky waded in, pounded me unmercifully about the body. I pressed on, undaunted. A smart left to the jaw laid him down and out, just as we'd rehearsed it.

"'Let's get out of here,' I snapped, replacing my glasses and grabbing Gladys. She looked at me mutely, sheer worship shining in her eyes.

A smart left to the jaw laid him out, just as we had rehearsed it.

"It was in the taxicab that the look changed. 'You staged the fight!' she cried. 'You phony!'

"I've called her countless times since, but she won't speak with me. How the dickens did she know the fight was faked?"

HALEDJIAN KNEW. DO YOU?

(Gladys knew the champ had pulled his punches; although he had pounded Cyril unmercifully about the body, Cyril had removed his eyeglasses from his breast pocket after the fight had broken.)

Psychic? Try This Summer Panel Show

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Staff Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The summer has brought a deluge of television games.

Now comes a program that claims a sixth sense is a necessity.

It's the new ESP (for Extra Sensory Perception) Show, on ABC-TV. It pits people with high degrees of purported ESP against one another in matches to see which contestant (while blindfolded) can most often properly identify unseen cards and symbols, and call the roll of dice.

There is the usual isolation booth, and the weekly winner will earn cash and the chance to continue on the show until defeated by someone with either greater mysterious powers or more luck.

Each week five cards will be pulled from a 52-card deck and displayed face down. Home viewers can write in what they think the cards were, in the order they were pulled.

If they get everything right they win $100,000.

Although program-creator George Wolf is a firm believer in ESP, he doesn't expect to have a home audience winner every week.

How will studio contestants be selected?

"Leading parapsychologists in the country have recommended outstanding subjects to us," said Wolf, "and several persons who have heard about the program have volunteered to be tested. We are screening them with one of the most simple of ESP devices—a deck of 13 cards.

"The subject is blindfolded. The cards—ace through king with no suit—are shuffled, and three of them are picked at random and placed face up on a table. The subject then says what he thinks the three cards are, but is not required to give them in any particular order. This is done six times, which means a subject can correctly name a maximum of 18 cards. To insure against a subject's being lucky on one day—or having a bad day because of something he ate for lunch—this time test is repeated on six different days. Those who score the highest on this test will be our contestants."

Tests and experiments given on the program have been formulated by Dr. J. B. Rhine, director of the Duke University parapsychology laboratory. Dr. Carroll Nash, who holds a similar position at St. Joseph's College, Philadelphia, will be present at each program as consultant. Actor Vincent Price wil be master of ceremonies.

Arms House Broken

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—When S. H. Burden told hospital attendants his arms were broken "when a house ran over me," he wasn't kidding.

Burden, a 69-year-old house mover, had a dwelling tied to a stump with a rope as it was moved along an incline. The rope broke and the house slid over Burden.

Around The Rim

Planning Makes Sense

On the tongues of many these days is the subject of master planning.

Most everyone will agree that it's a good thing to have some reasonable idea of where certain types of development will take place; how major utility lines will be laid out; how arterial streets and roads will be located. In short, it's a scientific estimate of how and where the city will grow, and nearly everyone agrees that it's wise to look ahead.

But there are snares and pitfalls. One of the biggest is human nature. While practically everyone is for planning in the aggregate, some will be bitterly opposed in the specific if the plan calls for changing a main traffic artery on which they are located or would or would not be located.

Back in September of 1946 when the engineering report for proposed zoning was submitted to the city fathers, there was also a section on some possibilities for location or relocation of highways. Zoning finally was established, but the highway layouts never saw the light of day. In fact, the mere fact that engineers had been asked to look ahead in this facet got the city manager in hot water.

This is one of the subjects which will have to be faced in any intelligent bit of master planning. There will be few sections of the final plan which will draw such an abundance of brickbats. Yet, I think this potential point of friction will be greatly mitigated by developments within the past decade.

These developments, I might add, have borne out the general idea in the planning of 1946. For instance, the opening of FM-700 from U. S. 87 south to U. S. 80 east will be somewhat of a parallel to a U. S. 80 loop proposed then to swing through the southern extremity of the city. One difference will be that residential development has indicated a swing further to the east before turning back north; another is that of a proposed angle from FM-700 at the base of Scenic Mountain to a point approximating 11th Street on the west. (The route now swings westward to Webb AFB and then north to U. S. 80. Most observers believe the ultimate route will follow the 1946 idea).

Another plan in the 1946 report was to divert U. S. 80 traffic on the east northward to approximately N. 12th Street, and then westward to the intersection with U. S. 87. Whereas the 1946 plan called for pulling the by-pass directly south from that point and across the T&P tracks somewhere west of Galveston Street, the ultimate plan may be to continue the by-pass westward from U. S. 87 north. The swing would be wider so as to make for a merger with U. S. 80 west of town.

The point is this: The 1946 over-all projection was not far removed from what actually has taken and likely is to take place because it was based on some sound reasoning, facts and engineering. Apparently it wasn't just pulled out of the hat so the engineers could draw pictures. And neither will the projections which would be included in another master plan. That's why planning makes sense.

Household Mechanics For Housewives

If I were President, (1) every girl would have a husband and (2) school curriculums would be sharply upgraded and intellectuality stiffened. In re No. 2, there would be no more snap courses and no more sand-box activities, especially in high school.

However, I would try to get the girl and the curriculum better integrated for the long haul which, in this context, is the management of a home. I am a dandy housekeeper and homemaker, if I do say so myself, in all respects save one: I am completely baffled by machinery.

This is the age of the mechanized household in which every woman should know what to do with a screw driver, a monkey wrench and a fan belt. But I still belong to that old-fashioned school that believes a good, swift kick is the proper treatment for recalcitrant household equipment.

Often a good kick will do the trick. But there are times when the dish washer the air conditioners, the radio, television, record player, floor waxer, vacuum, the mixer and the attic fan refuse to respond and continue to play dead.

I am forced then to call in the repair specialist or service-maintenance man—a misnomer if ever I heard one—to cope with the situation. The telephone dialogue with this misanthrope, whose minimum charge for a house visit is $12, goes like this:

"Okay, lady, what's the matter with the air conditioner?"

"It won't work," I say.

"Yes, but why won't it work?"

"Because it quit."

"Yeh, lady, but why did it quit?"

"Because there wasn't any electricity."

"Why wasn't there no electricity?"

"Because it blew the master fuse."

"Why did it blow the master fuse?"

"That's what I want you to tell me!" I scream, like a Comanche. "For $12 minimum per house visit, I should also make the diagnosis?"

This recurrent dialogue has convinced me not that a housewife really needs a degree from M.I.T., but rather a basic course in household mechanics. It is obvious that the bored maintenance or quote service unquote expert expects the housewife to act as an internist who diagnoses the patient before handing it on to the specialist.

As a specialist, he wants a good prognosis and fever chart of the invalid, with blood count and metabolism already on paper. He arrives in the operating theater with his tools, and hopes not to be bothered with details. I'm probably just in luck that these surgeons deign to come to my house at all when I am unable to take so much as the patient's temperature.

Perhaps school curriculums should include—not for credit but for future sanity—a diagnostic course in the diseases, care and treatment of household gadgets. I foresee a day when the housewife who is unable to case an ailing hi-fi will have the invalid on her hands for the rest of her life. If she can't describe the symptoms, she won't get the service.

The experts say it's easy enough to get a man but hard to keep him happy—and the same goes for machines.

The Gallup Poll

Consensus Favors Intervention

PRINCETON, N. J. — U. S. intervention in the Lebanese crisis met with mixed reaction around the globe. But the proposal to send U.N. forces to the troubled Mideast has widespread support from citizens in key opinion centers of the non-Communist world.

Scientific samplings of public opinion in major cities of 13 nations by the world Gallup Poll shows the following score:

(1) In eight of the 13 nations, public sentiment in opinion centers polled supports the U. S. dispatch of troops to Lebanon. In the remaining five nations, sentiment runs against the American action.

When the results from these 13 nations are averaged, the consensus is as follows:

"Do you approve or disapprove of United States action in sending troops into Lebanon?"

	Per cent
Approve	42
Disapprove	34
Undecided	24

(2) The proposal to strengthen the U.N. force in Lebanon has widespread support from all of the opinion centers checked—from a 10-50-1 approval in Toronto to 4-to-3 approval in Athens.

The average of results on this question:

"Do you favor or oppose the United Nations sending an emergency force into Lebanon?"

	Per cent
Favor	60
Oppose	20
Undecided	20

Here is how opinion in each of the opinion centers divides on America's action in sending troops to Lebanon:

	Appr.	Disappr.	Undecided
Melbourne	69	19	12
New York-Chicago-San Francisco	59	27	14

WHAT OTHERS SAY

One would assume that the United States had trouble enough in this world without giving cause to the Canadians to become irritated by this country's policies. But we annoy them just the same by the actions which we take.

Consider the recent remarks of Lester B. Pearson, Canada's former Secretary of State for External Affairs, who spoke recently in Williamsburg, Va. He said Canada is irritated when told that North America must be all one unit for defense while the United States raises economic barriers that leave Canada with a trade deficit. While he said that Canadians appreciated the U. S. investments north of the border, "which incidentally have been very profitable to the investors also," he added that "we become understandably annoyed when your Congress raises or threatens to raise barriers against our exports to you, which now are more than $1-billion less than the value of the goods we buy from you each year." He also asserted that while Canada knows that defense in today's world means collective security, "we are uneasy in the consciousness that decisions can be taken in Washington with inescapable and farreaching consequences which we might have little to say about."

Congress would do well to give more attention to our relations with Canada, both as far as trade and defense are concerned. It is our nearest English-speaking neighbor and one with which we have enjoyed friendly contact for well more than a century. Couldn't we have more cooperation between the two countries?

Not Getting "Old"

Night Club Star Fifi D'Orsay's energy has not diminished with the years and she explains why in today's Hollywood Beauty. She believes that getting older does not mean getting old.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Star Of 30 Years Ago Retains Her Energy

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — One of the most talked-of night club acts of recent years is "Newcomers of 1928" presented at the famed Moulin Rouge in Hollywood. Headlining it were such names as Paul Whiteman, Fifi D'Orsay, Rudy Vallee and Harry Richman.

Fifi D'Orsay was so animated, exuberant and full of pep that it was hard to believe she was a star 30 years ago. When I met her, the first thing I wanted to know was where she got her energy.

She laughed. "When I was touring the night clubs with my act, people never asked me where I got my clothes or my arrangements but always 'Where do you get all that pep?'

"Energy is built. It isn't something that happens," she explained. "A healthy childhood helps. My mother had 13 children and we had to economize, so there was never any money for fancy, rich foods.

"In those days, in Montreal, liver and soup bones were given away, so we had lots of liver and nourishing soups. Now the meat counters sell all cuts and nothing is given away.

"You have to respect your body to have true energy, and heaven be praised I have plenty of that," Miss D'Orsay said with animated gestures.

"Getting older doesn't mean getting old. The first time I heard this was from Will Rogers. I was his protege, and it was through him I got my contract at Fox."

When Miss D'Orsay carries on a conversation she speaks with such forcefulness and expresses her thought with her whole body to such a point that I said, "You seem very extravagant with your energy."

"I am," she agreed. "But I take advantage of every chance that comes during the day to rest. You get more out relaxation when you take time out before you are exhausted. You can feel so fresh from just a few minutes of rest, if you learn to forget what you have done and what you have to do.

"You can't have energy and youth without proper rest," she added.

"Working in night clubs keeps me up late," Miss D'Orsay continued. "Because I burn a lot of energy I eat something light at the finish of the show. And I always allow time for eight or nine hours sleep.

"And you can't forget exercise if you want to take good care of your body," Fifi explained. "You have to use your body. I love to walk and do plenty of it, because after three automobile accidents I sold my car."

Miss D'Orsay admits that the best time to care for your body is when you are young.

"But I believe in a health program no matter at what age you start. It's better to start late than never."

We were chatting in the bright afternoon sun and, Miss D'Orsay's skin was clear and firm.

"It is characteristic of my family to have double chins," she told me. "But I can remember deciding that I was going to keep my contour firm, and years ago I started neck exercises. I felt so strongly about this that I've never missed a night without giving myself a workout."

Miss D'Orsay illustrated her routine. She drops her head, relaxing her chin on her collarbone, and begins drawing an oval to the left with her chin. As she gets halfway around, she opens her mouth, protudes her jaw and forcefully closes her mouth, giving the muscles under the chin a strong pull. Then she completes the circle.

"It's important to relax a second before you begin in the other direction," she explained.

"Feel my chin," Fifi said. It was very firm. "My skin is dry and I use creams but I always pat them on my face and under my chin. If you learn to pat, you send up the blood but you have to be consistent and conscientious, she advised as we said goodbye.

Royal Neighbors

The Royal Neighbors No. 7277 will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday with Mrs. W. M. Gage, 1200 Nolan.

Methodist Publications Offer WSCS Programs

Programs sponsored by the literature and publications committee of the Wesley Methodist WSCS were heard by the two circles at their meetings this week.

A poster featuring the covers of World Outlook, Methodist Woman and The Upper Room formed the interest center. Each woman was urged to subscribe to the magazines.

LALLA BAIRD CIRCLE

Mrs. Harral Steele directed the presentation for the Lalla Baird Circle, meeting Monday morning at the church. The devotion was brought by Mrs. Lloyd Montgomery.

An article entitled "A Woman With a Will of Her Own" was reviewed by Mrs. W. D. Lovelace. In this case, the "will" represents the legal document.

A report from the World Outlook on the Arab-Israeli problem was given by Mrs. Steele. Mrs. Royce Womack dismissed the six members with prayer.

MARTHA FOSTER CIRCLE

Devotion for the Martha Foster Circle, Tuesday morning at the church, was led by Mrs. C. W. Parmenter.

Mrs. Jerry Allen reviewed the article on a woman's will, and Mrs. Steele discussed the Arab-Israeli problem for the group of eight. Benediction was voiced by Mrs. Marshall Day.

Anne Dwyer Circle Sets Gift Goals

At a meeting of the First Baptist Anne Dwyer Circle, members heard a letter from Miss Dwyer, who is a missionary in the Gaza Strip. It was in response to a request for information as to the type of Christmas parcels to be given to the children in a hospital in which Miss Dwyer works.

The missionary requested that money be sent rather than toys or articles of wearing apparel. Accordingly, the group, which met in the home of Mrs. Raymond Moore, voted to send $20 to be used for the children.

The circle will assist in the packing of boxes for the Indians in New Mexico; this is a Christmas in August project carried on by the Sunbeams. Articles to be included in the boxes must be at the church by the end of the week, it was announced.

Announcement was made of the vacation Bible school, which will be held at the church from Aug. 13-23.

Tuesday's program was given by Mrs. Charles Tyler and Mrs. Dave Dorchester

Rebekahs Add To Rolls; Plan Welfare Projects

New members were added by both units of the Rebekah Lodge Tuesday evening at their separate meetings. The groups also made plans for benefit projects in behalf of the Pilgrimage Fund.

BIG SPRING LODGE

Membership in Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 was voted to Don R. Atwood at the regular meeting in the IOOF Hall. An invitation service will be conducted next Tuesday, when a business meeting and a social will round out the evening.

As a benefit to the Pilgrimage Fund, a silver coffee is to be given at 8 a.m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Tom McAdams, 1227 East 17th. The public is cordially invited.

Mrs. A. C. Wilkerson was elected recording secretary. The office was vacated recently when Mrs. H. W. Byerley, with her family, moved to Bend.

Mrs. Atwood, noble grand, presided for the session, which was attended by 29.

JOHN A. KEE LODGE

Carpenters Hall was illuminated by candlelight Tuesday evening for the formal initiation of Mrs. Joe Hull into the John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge.

Mrs. C. A. McDonald, vice grand, presided in the absence of Mrs. W. E. Parker, noble grand, who is in a San Angelo hospital for surgery.

During the business meeting, it was noted that the ways and means committee is working on a project for the Pilgrimage Fund, which will be given to the Children's Home at Corsicana and to the Home for the Aged at Ennis.

Mrs. Sallie Womble was accepted as a new member by withdrawal card. Mrs. H. F. Jarrett asked that members submit questions for use in the school of instruction slated for the next meeting.

Visits to ill members and shutins were reported. Fellowship for 37 was hosted by Mrs. L. S. Bonner and Mrs. Grace Martin.

Reports On Area Meets Comprise WSCS Session

Reports of recent Methodist meetings and the announcement of others scheduled for the next few weeks were heard by the First Methodist WSCS, Tuesday morning at the church. The general meeting was preceded by an executive session led by Mrs. R. W. Thompson.

Mrs. Arnold Marshall brought the devotion on "The Easy Habit." She concluded the meditation with this statement: "God never made a common man; only man himself can make himself common."

Present from the Martha Wesleyan Service Guild were Mrs. R. L. Penney, president, Twila Lomax and Mrs. Lina Flewellen. Miss Lomax reported on the work of the guild, and stated that Mrs. Flewellen and Mrs. M. R. Turner will represent that group at the school of missions, July 28—August 1, in Lubbock.

Mrs. Flewellen reported on the jurisdictional meeting of the guild at Mt. Sequoyah, where the national secretary, Virginia Johnson, was the principal speaker.

Announcement of the seminar set for August 12 at the First Church in Colorado City was made by Mrs. Thompson. It will comprise the district school of instruction for the four studies contemplated for next year.

Mrs. Knox Chadd discussed the district rally, which is scheduled for this evening at the church, under the direction of Dr. H. Clyde Smith. Bishop W. C. Martin of Dallas is to be the speaker. Following the service, the women will be hostesses for a social in Fellowship Hall.

In other action, Mrs. J. W. Dickens told of the work the church is accomplishing for the Westside Center and the Latin American Methodist Mission.

Mrs. Thompson appointed Mrs. George R. Davis, Mrs. Edward C. Shive and Mrs. W. L. Vaughan to act as a committee to decide on the action to come out of the last study, which dealt with Christian social relations.

Junior Gardeners Will Assist With Litterbug Drive

Members of the Junior Garden Club voted Tuesday morning to assist with the Litterbug Campaign, which is sponsored by the local garden clubs. The group, meeting in the home of Mrs. Obie Bristow, decided to begin the distribution of litterbug literature as soon as the stock is received.

Thirteen attended the meeting and heard a program given by Mrs. Robert Stripling. She discussed the method of drying material for use in arrangements and displayed some of the flowers and grasses which she had dried.

Another meeting of the club is slated for Tuesday morning at the Bristow home.

Bride-Elect Is Honored At Showers

FORSAN — A personal shower was a courtesy extended Monday morning to Lovelle Fletcher, who is to be married Aug. 2 to Freddie Stuart of Roby.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. O. W. Fletcher and the late Mr. Fletcher, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Stuart of Roby.

Hostesses for the party were Mrs. M. M. Fairchild, in whose home the affair was given, Mrs. L. B. McElrath, Mrs. Jesse L. Overton, Mrs. A. P Oglesby, and Mrs. Larry Digby of Odessa.

* * *

Miss Fletcher was honoree at a miscellaneous shower given at the school Friday evening when 12 were hostesses.

Mrs. B. W. Wilson, a hostess, displayed gifts; serving was done by two hostesses, Mrs. John B. Anderson and Mrs. J. E. Eubanks.

Other hostesses were Mrs. Vera Harris, Mrs. Jim Craig, Mrs. Harry Barnett, Mrs. Frank Philley, Mrs. Burl Griffith, Mrs. D. W. Rowland, Mrs. J. B. Masters, Mrs. V. L. Bennett and Mrs. Alice Porter.

Attending from out of town were the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Gloria Lou Posey of Roby, Patty and Peggy Francis of Sand Springs, Mrs. Everett Oglesby of Andrews and Pearl Qualls of Houston.

Mrs. Simmons Is Hostess To Circle

Members of the Baptist Temple Evan Holmes Circle met at the home of Mrs. G. R. Simmons Tuesday morning for the reading of the missionary list. Mrs. H. M. Jarratt read the names and offered a prayer for those whose birthdays were called.

From the Simmons home, the group went to the Ada Vaughan Convalescent Home, where they presented a devotion based on the subject of love. Mrs. Simmons led the program.

Terry cloth scuffs, which had been made at a previous meeting of the circle, were presented to the patients, and the women participated in a social hour. Six members were present.

New Officers Are Named By College Baptist WMS, Tuesday

A new slate of officers, who will assume posts in October, was elected by the College Baptist Church WMS Tuesday morning at the church. The business meeting followed a study period led by the Rev. H. W. Bartlett whose subject, The Quality of Those Who Accept God's Call, was taken from the study book "Whereunto Shall It Be Likened."

Mrs. Bill Blalack was elected president. Named first and second vice presidents were Mrs. Bob Swift and Mrs. Cliff Balzer. The secretary-treasurer will be Mrs. Horace Rankin. Chairmen are to be Mrs. Ina Monteith, community missions; Mrs. Bobby Zellars, mission study; Mrs. Sherill Carroll, stewardship; Mrs. Ben Caldwell, prayer; Mrs. Mitchell Malouf, social.

Mrs. Bill Draper and Mrs. Bob Pettit will serve as Junior GA leaders. Beginner Sunbeams will be directed by Mrs. Fred Potts and Mrs. Gorman Rainey, and the primary group will be under the charge of Mrs. Paul Warren.

Named as circle chairmen were Mrs. O. L. Stewart and Mrs. William Lane. Mrs. Leslie Carnes will act as pianist, with Mrs. Stewart as song leader.

The women took an offering which will be sent to the Christian Women's Temperance League.

Following the session a surprise birthday party feted Mrs. H. W. Bartlett. Cake and ice cream were served to 25.

The next assembly of the women will be in the form of a social at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the church, when their husbands will be guests.

Forsaners Return From Oklahoma

FORSAN—Mr. and Mrs. A. J. McCall have returned from a trip to Nowata, Okla.

Guests in the A. D. Barton home are his niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Beckham of Austin. The two families went to Valley Mills Tuesday to attend the funeral of their aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Park, Freddie and Stevie, were in San Angelo Sunday.

Home from Brownfield are Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Scudday and Berney.

Al Fresco Party Is Alathean Class Fete

Mrs. Ted Hull and Mrs. Dee Foster, assisted by their husbands, entertained the Alathean Class of First Baptist Church with an al fresco party Tuesday evening at the Hull home.

Husbands of the members were invited to attend. Special guests were Dr. and Mrs. P. D. O'Brien and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Angel.

Homemade ice cream and cake were served to 17.

THE ALL-NEW 1958 BEAUTYREST

. . .with more buoyant firmness than ever before

New resilience! New firmness! 12% greater spring support! And this newest and most restful of mattresses actually costs least to own!

New power-packed springs, pocketed under compression, have added 12% more firmness. And it is buoyant firmness . . . best for your back, your comfort, your rest.

In torture tests made by the United States Testing Co., Beautyrest lasted 3 times longer than the next best mattress. This means Beautyrest costs least to own. Order yours at once.

$79.50* Normal Firm or Extra Firm Box Spring $79.50

Ordinary mattress is made with about 200-300 springs. Wired together, they sag together under your weight. When you push down on one, you push down on all. They're not free to push up and correctly support the shape of your body. This "sagging support" is bad for your back, your comfort, your rest.

Beautyrest mattress is made with over 800 separate springs. Not wired together, they can't sag together. Each is free to push up under you. Together they firmly support the weight and shape of your whole body. In the new Beautyrest springs have been power-packed to give 12% more firmness.

TURLEY WINS NO. 15 BEHIND YANKEE BATS

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

That American League "race" may be dull, but you can't say they're not trying to liven things up as the New York Yankees romp along with a 12-game lead.

Take last night.

1. Cleveland's Vic Power missed most of the first game in a twi-night double-header with Washington. He thought only a single game was scheduled. Washington took the opener 4-2 in 12 innings, but the Indians, with Power lining a two-run double, won the nightcap 5-3.

2. The Yankees clipped Detroit 13-3 as Bob Turley won his 15th, but the Yankees made it a bit out of the ordinary by getting 23 hits, high for the season in AL.

3. Baltimore and the Chicago White Sox, running 1-2 in team fielding, booted the ball around for five unearned runs in a 4-2 Chicago victory.

4. Kansas City got only four hits, but beat Boston 4-3 on Hec Lopez' two-run, two-out homer in the ninth.

Turley, who has lost but three, had a four-hitter and a 13-1 lead going into the ninth. Then the Tigers counted two on Gus Zernial's fifth homer and doubles by Frank Bolling and Tito Francona.

The Yankees built a 5-0 lead in four innings with the help of two-run homers from Norm Siebern and Gil McDougald. Paul Foytack lost it for a 7-9 record.

The White Sox jumped past the Tigers into fourth place as Billy Pierce, 10 games behind last year's 20-victory pace, won his 10th. He had a shutout for 8 2-3 innings, then needed Turk Lown's relief help when he walked two runs home after an error by shortstop Luis Aparicio. Jack Harshman (7-8) lost it, supplying the error that led to a thre-run fourth.

Bob Cerv had an RBI single as the A's scored two in the first. But Tom Brewer (4-9) then blanked 'em on two hits until he gave up a two-out walk and Lopez' ninth homer. Tom Gorman (3-4) won it in relief of Murry Dickson, who gave up the Red Sox' runs on homers by Pete Runnels and Jackie Jensen.

Home runs by Norm Zauchin and Ken Aspromonte won the opener for the Senators and Dick Hyde (8-2). Cal McLish (8-6) went all the way for the Tribe. Indian manager Joe Gordon rushed Washington starter Camilo Pascual after he had split Gary Geiger's helmet with a pitch but was restrained before reaching the mound. Geiger wasn't injured seriously.

Hal Woodeshick and Earl Averill, who beat the Nats in Washington last week, did it again in the nightcap. Woodeshick gave up nine hits but gained a 2-0 record when Averill broke a 2-2 tie with a two-run single in the third. Rocky Colavito homered in both games for the Tribe. Loser John Romonosky (1-2) got his first major league homer in the nightcap.

Of the thousand-odd jockeys now riding on American race tracks, only one has a college degree.

He is Mitch Shirota, a Hawaiian, who is now active on the West Coast. He received a BA degree from Brigham Young University.

Harold Davis, the HCJC cage mentor, plans to attend the coaching school at Houston but he's pessimistic about signing up any of the players who'll play in the all-star game there.

Davis says most of the boys invited to the game have already committed themselves, as far as athletic scholarships go. And those not signed will be kept busy in interviews with senior college scouts.

Davis has spent a lot of time this summer talking with high school graduates but says the pickings are quite lean.

Incidentally, the Aggies (and especially Coach Jim Myers) is counting rather heavily upon Ed Dudley, the terrific Pampan who kicked Big Spring into defeat while performing for Pampa back in 1953.

Myers recently said in Austin Dudley could be "the big sleeper" in the Aggie camp this fall. Dudley didn't fit into Bryant's plans at A&M, probably because he never mastered the art of pass defense. He does virtually everything else well, however, which is the reason Myers is counting on using him.

TO REPLACE SMITH

Phils Hire Sawyer As New Skipper

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ten years ago, less one day, Eddie Sawyer was hired to manage the Philadelphia Phillies. Tonight he takes over again as the Phils' field boss in one of those quirks explained thus by his predecessor: "That's baseball."

General Manager Roy Hamey announced yesterday that Mayo Smith, the man he personally brought up from the minors in 1955 to manage the Phils, and Eddie Sawyer, who led the Phils to the National League pennant in 1950, was replacing him.

Sawyer has been out of the game since he was fired midway in the 1952 season for failing to win. How come, Hamey was asked, the Phils hired him?

"He had a good record and he knows the National League," replied Hamey.

Sawyer declined to make a thorough appraisal of his club until he's seen more of it. He explained he'd seen very few games this year because he'd been so busy in his job as an executive with a golf ball manufacturing firm.

Smith said he felt no bitterness. "It was sudden, but that's baseball," he said.

Smith was paid off for the rest of the season when his contract was to have expired. Sawyer was hired through the end of the 1959 season.

Under Smith the Phils finished fourth once, fifth twice and were in sixth place when Hamey made the decision he said he had been considering for a month.

Under Sawyer, the Phils finished third in 1949, first in 1950, fifth in 1951 and fourth in 1952.

Sawyer was almost as surprised at the turn of events as was Smith. He got a call from Hamey Monday afternoon, met him that night and took the job.

"Glad to be back," said Sawyer.

"I hope to get another job in baseball," said Smith.

Four Texans Play In Links Tourney

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—Four Texans squared off against Colorado and Kansas rivals today in the first round of the Colorado Springs Invitation Golf Tournament.

Bill Landreth of Fort Worth was the low Texan in yesterday's qualifying round with a two-over-par 74. Medal honors in the 37th annual meet went to Jim English of Denver with a 69. The tournament is being played at the Broadmoor Course.

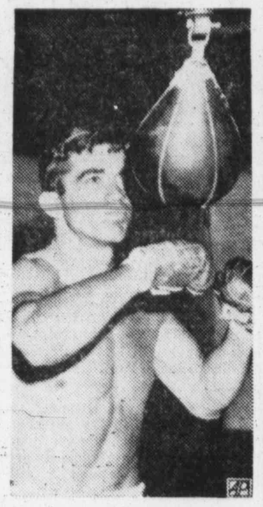

First round pairings included (qualifying scores in parentheses):

John Olver, Dallas (77) vs. Gene Zuspann, Goodland, Kan. (72).

W. S. Thomas, Wichita Falls (78) vs. George Evans, Colorado Springs (76).

Bill Landreth, Fort Worth (74) vs. John Moore, Englewood, Colo. (77).

John Allyn, Amarillo (77) vs. Tom Vickers, Wichita, Kan. (75).

Cerv Honored With Gifts

By FRANK CRAWFORD
AP Sports Editor

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Bob Cerv got enough gifts from admiring fans Tuesday night to fill an eight-room house plus another he probably will remember as long as any — a beautiful last ditch home run by Hector Lopez.

Some 23,000 Kansas City Athletics fans had turned out for Bob Cerv Night in appreciation for the courageous play of the outfielder and slugger who has carried the club with his hitting despite a broken jaw and half a dozen other assorted injuries.

The fans, including former President Harry Truman and three governors, paid tribute to Cerv, whose home run total of 24 is third best in the league. The 32-year-old veteran also has batted in 66 runs and is batting .325.

Cerv managed to wade out of the knee - deep dignitaries and scratch a single through the infield to drive in a first inning run but that ended his hit production for the night. The league's leading home-run RBI hitter, Boston's Jackie Jensen, clubbed his 28th home run with Ted Williams on base in the sixth inning. And with the Sox' Tom Brewer pitching three-hit ball it looked as if Cerv Night was going to end on a sad note. For with the help of another homer by Pete Runnels Boston had a 3-2 lead going into the last of the ninth.

Brewer disposed of Preston Ward for the first out and up came big Bob with a chance to tie the score with a home run. He tried mightily but hit a harmless fly ball to center fielder Jimmy Piersall.

Harry Simpson worked Brewer for a base on balls. Next was Lopez who drove a Brewer pitch over the left field fence.

Bill Rigney Is Surprised His Team Leading League

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"I certainly didn't think last spring that we'd be leading the league in late July."

Billy Rigney, manager of the San Francisco Giants, was having one of those "be honest with yourself" sessions after the game with the Philadelphia Phillies was called off last night because of rain.

"I thought we had a first-division ball club, yes. But my rose colored glasses weren't rosy then as things are today," he said.

Rigney recollected that the Giants had been in sixth two years running and there was nothing to indicate the club would do more than improve to first-division level.

"In my most optimistic moments, I never figured that so many of the fine kids we were bringing up would make good in the National League in one season. You usually are glad to get one or two but when five or six make it, that's something you can't figure on," he said.

Rigney still hasn't any illusions.

"It's going to be a tough fight to the finish and every club is dangerous. You can't go into any town in this league and think to yourself, 'Here we get a breather.'"

Milwaukee, with its fine pitching, still is the team to beat, Rigney said. But he also has great respect for St.Louis and he feels the Los Angeles Dodgers are a much better club than their record shows.

Local Team Attains Finals In Playoffs

ANDREWS (SC)—It'll be the Big Spring American Leaguers against the Andrews Nationals in the finals of the District Little League baseball tournament here Thursday night.

The Big Spring Americans shelled Goldsmith, 9-0, last night, after which Andrews upset the Big Spring Nationals, 5-4, in a game that went an extra inning.

Sonny Patterson hurled the win for the Big Spring Americans, setting the Goldsmith team down with only two hits. The Big Spring club managed ten off two Goldsmith pitchers.

Terry Archer started on the mound for Goldsmith and was tagged with the loss.

Robert Wilson batted in four of Big Spring's runs. David Agee two and Johnny Hughes one.

Wilson lashed out home runs in the third and fourth innings and wound up with a one-baser in the sixth. His fourth inning blast came with Randy Cahoon and Donnie Hollar on base.

Patterson struck out eight and walked only one batter in fashioning the win.

The Andrews Nationals counted twice in the eighth inning and then rppelled a Big Spring National threat to win the other contest.

Howard Bain was on first base with the potential tying run when the end came. Andrews forced Larry Seals to pop out to the third baseman.

Big Spring had tied the count in the sixth when Gene Lamb and Bain crossed the plate on a hit and an error. Big Spring got its first run in the fifth on a home run by Donnie Anderson.

Lamb had two of Big Spring's six hits.

Gartman Not Sure Of Mound Choice

D. R. Gartman, manager of the Big Spring American Legion Junior baseball team, probably will leave undecided until tomorrow who takes the mound Thursday afternoon in the Area championship game with the Lubbock Red Cheks in the local park.

Gartman stated yesterday all three of his hurlers—Lefty Chubby Moser and Jay and Zay LeFevre—have shown to advantage.

Lubbock, which brings an 18-1 won-lost record to town, is almost certain to dispatch Arlan Flake to the mound against Big Spring. Flake is the young stalwart who turned the tide in Lubbock's favor in that series against Amarillo last week.

Big Spring will take the field in new uniforms. Jack Pearson, business manager of the club, went to Odessa yesterday to pick up the new toggery.

Starting hour of the contest is 2:30 p.m. It originally was down for 3 p.m. but was moved forward following a request made by the Lubbock management. The change was made in order to permit a Lubbock radio station to carry the contest to Lubbock listeners.

The second game of the series takes place under the lights at Lubbock at 8 o'clock Friday night. If a third game is needed to determine the winner, it will be played on Saturday night in Lubbock.

The contest here will be unreeled at Steer Park. There'll be a loud speaker in use to keep the spectators abreast of what is happening afield.

The winner of the series becomes eligible for the state tournament, which will be staged in San Antonio in August.

Lubbock can also call upon Donnie Bumpass in the series, in event Flake should falter.

Leading Lubbock hitter is Dennis Willett, who performs at second base.

Pidge Daniels has been the standout in the Big Spring attack thus far. Gartman can also call on such lads as Bernard McMahon, Jackie Thomas, Wilson Bell, Jimmy Roger and others for service with the stick.

Goodman Needs Luck In Race

CHICAGO (AP) — "You've got to be lucky to do it," says Billy Goodman when asked about his chances for winning the American League batting title.

The Chicago White Sox infielder should know because he hauled off the title in 1950 while a member of the Boston Red Sox. Eight years and two teams later, Goodman has high hopes of again winning the title.

"It's a long way off yet," says Billy, "but I have just as good a chance as anyone as long as I can stay hot. And, believe me, I've been hot."

Goodman, 32 and in his 11th major league campaign, won the championship with a .354 mark as a member of the Red Sox. He has a .306 lifetime average.

Goodman has a 10-game hitting streak going, having collected 20 hits in his last 44 times at bat—well over .400. In the last four weeks he has hit safely in 20 of 23 games and has raised his average from .252 to .335, getting 44 hits in 101 times at bat.

Nellie Fox, the White Sox star second baseman who only two weeks ago was in the league lead and still has a chance for the title with his .321 mark, believes Goodman will win out.

Delmer Brown Is New Lion Coach

COMMERCE, Tex. (AP)—Delmer Brown is coming back to his old job as track coach and trainer at East Texas State.

Dr. Jess Hawthorne, head of the physical education department, said yesterday that Brown is giving up a similar job at Texas Tech to return here in August.

Musial Is Man To Beat: Hank

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The St. Louis Cards' Stan Musial and the Milwaukee Braves' Hank Aaron agreed that "The Man" is the man most likely to succeed in the race for the National League batting title.

They didn't forget Willie Mays of the San Francisco Giants.

Aaron earned the right to talk of such majestic feats again by pushing his batting average over .300 Tuesday night for the first time this season.

He collected four singles in as many visits to the batter's box in the Braves' 2-1 decision over St. Louis and now is hitting .305, a climb of 71 points in the last two months.

Stan The Man is in the forefront with a mark of .357. Mays at .344 is second. Aaron right now is among the also rans.

Things Look Up For Braves As Aaron Clubs Horsehide

By ED WILKS
AP Sports Writer

Maybe the Milwaukee Braves aren't hurting so much after all. Hank Aaron is over .300 at last and they're no worse in the standings than they were a year ago, when they won the National League pennant and the world championship.

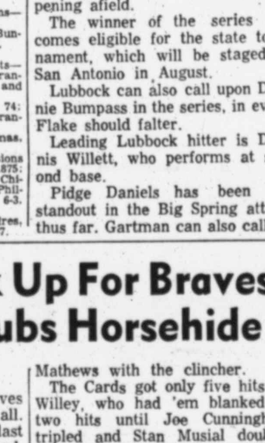

With Aaron going 4-for-4, upping his batting average to .305, the Braves beat the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 last night. It was the only game played, rain washed out the rest—and put the champs within half a game of first-place San Francisco again.

At the moment, the Braves have a 49-38 record and are .005 percentage points behind the Giants. A year ago, after 87 games, the Braves also were second, with a 49-37 record (one game was a tie).

Aaron and Ed Mathews, the big man in last year's attack, had six of the Braves' eight hits off Bob Mabe while rookie Carl Willey squared his record at 3-3 after losing three in a row. Mathews and Aaron singled and Mathews scored in the fourth, when the Cards chipped in three of their four errors. And they singled again in the eighth, when Del Crandall's sacrifice fly scored Mathews with the clincher.

The Cards got only five hits off Willey, who had 'em blanked on two hits until Joe Cunningham tripled and Stan Musial doubled in the sixth.

BROWN A 12-5 CHOICE IN TITLE GO TONIGHT

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Tough-talking Joe Brown meets the last of the persistent challengers for his world's lightweight championship tonight with the prediction that he'll dispose of this one — Kenny Lane of Michigan—about like he has all the others.

Brown will be defending his title for the fifth time in 23 months. He disposed of the previous four challengers — Wallace Lopes and Ralph Dupas — by knockouts.

It will be Brown's second big pay day in less than three months. The little Negro from Baton Rouge, La., pulled down $40,000 for whipping Dupas here May 7. He should get about the same out of tonight's fight.

Texas Boxing Enterprises, the promoters, said almost $50,000 already was in the till and it should approach $60,000 by fight time, 9 p.m. (EST). There will be $45,000 from radio and television.

The fight culminates a two-year campaign by Lane for a chanee at the title.

For the record Brown has fought 96 times, won 70, lost 15, had 9 draws and 2 no-decision bouts. Lane has gone forth 57 times, won 52 and lost 5.

But Brown will go to the post a 12-5 favorite, mostly because he is such a terrific puncher—something for which Lane isn't noted.

Out of about $100,000 from all sources, Brown will draw 40 per cent. Lane, who says this will be his biggest pay day, will get 20.

"A lot of harsh words have passed between the two camps, with Brown irked mostly by aspersions Lane has cast on his age. The Muskegon, Mich., farm boy with the skin-close cropped hair, has said he'll wear Brown out over the 15-round route because Joe's too old to stand the pace of a 26-year-old. Brown is 32.

"He gave me the run-around because he didn't want to fight anybody who had a chance with him," said Lane grimly. "Now we've forced him into it.

"I think I have a better chance than Brown, and I can cite the record to indicate it. While he has fought almost twice as much as I have, he has lost three times as many fights."

Much has been made of the fact that Lane, while losing five fights, never has been knocked off his feet.

"I'll knock him off his feet," Brown snapped.

Jack Kearns, co-manager of Lane, says that wouldn't necessarily settle the issue though.

"Even if Brown tags my boy, the fight won't be over—this kid can take it," said Kearns.

Ruidoso Downs Awaits 9th Week Of Summer Racing

RUIDOSO, N. Mex. (SC)—"The Bright Eyes" and "The Jim Carter Oil Co. Handicap" are featured during the three days of racing coming up at 'Downs' July 25, 26, and 27. The local oval moves into its ninth weekend of racing, with the running of the Quarter Horse Stakes—honoring Bright Eyes, the glass-eyed mare who raced her way to a place as one of our all-time greats.

The early favorite for this event appears to be Vanetta Dee, classic daughter of Vandy, belonging to Mrs. Betty Jo Kiser of Los Alamitos, Calif.

This steady running mare won over $16,000 during the '57 season and was good enough to turn back the mighty Go Man Go this spring in the Los Alamitos Quarter Horse Championship. This feat netted her the tidy sum of $11,200.

Blonde Joan, representing O.S. Carlton III of Houston, is another eligible for the race and should she improve a bit from last year's form might be formidable competition for any horse. Winner of six races and over $8,000 in '57 this fine filly has started only once this year.

Doll Up, owned by J. T. Rice of Windermere, Florida, is capable of running with the best. Trouble Gal, racing for Greet Lewis of Nogales, Arizona, was a winner at Alamitos the past meet. Lady Leo, winner of the '56 Ruidoso Quarter Horse Maturity, would have a chance on one of her better races. Easter Rose, Cherry Barta, Garcia Doll, Baby Duchess and Allie Whit are other possible starters.

The "Jim Carter Oil Company Handicap" will be decided at the popular sprint distance of 5½ furlongs and will bring out the best sprinters stabled at the 'Downs.'

Liveitup, owned by R. E. Hirst, has been the horse to beat in the majority of the better ones this season and will probably be the best liked horse in this event. A jewel of consistency this hard running son of Fair Truckle is always hard to beat and seldom runs a dull race.

Sistony, belonging to J. R. Bassett of Globe, Ariz. prefers this short distance and when everything is just right is hard to down. Dream Mint, representing C. M. Davis of Dexter, N. Mex., is about the most improved horse at the 'Downs' since her coaching is being done by ex-jockey R. D. Hay.

This six-year-old daughter of Gray Dream continues to move up in class and humble her competition. No Gal is improving and must be conceded a chance in this kind of a race.

Eight-Man Coaches Making Plans To Attend Clinic

Eight - man football coaches of the area are making plans to attend the annual Six-Man Coaches School, which starts at McMurry College in Abilene, July 28 and extends through Aug. 1.

Highlight of the clinic will be the East-West All-Star basketball and football games. The cage contest takes place at 8 p.m. Thursday, July 31. The football game starts at the same hour the following evening.

Tommy Ellis, McMurry grid mentor, will talk on gridiron fundamentals. Stan Burnham will lecture on basic fundamentals of basketball.

Grant Teaff will address the gathering on fundamentals of track coaching while Allen Ramsey will talk on public relations between the school and the press.

The All-Star squads begin drills July 28.

K. K. Sams of Union (Brownfield) will coach the West team. His counterpart with the East will be J. W. Massingale of Sidney.

Weinert's Jay Cox will tutor the West's basketball squad while Gerald Williams of Goodrich will mastermind the East.

Among boys who will appear in the contest are Rueben Vaughn, Gail , West football; Freddie Brooks, Mertzon, West football; Melvin Foster, Sterling City, West football; Robert Webb, Ackerly, West basketball; and Carl Williams, West basketball.

The East football team won last year's game, 35-14; but the West basketball team prevailed, 56-44.

This will be the second straight year McMurry has hosted the school. The clinic was originated in Big Spring.

Nabors Near Loop Crown

FORSAN (SC)—Nabors Paint Store of Big Spring clinched a tie for first place in the Forsan Softball league by belting Benges Truck Stop of Sterling City, 6-1, here Tuesday night.

Cotton Mize hurled the win, yielding only four hits.

Jack Morrison sent Nabors ahead to stay in the third inning when he lashed a mighty home run with a mate aboard. The score was tied at the time, 1-1.

First half champions, the Painters can clinch second half honors by turning back Shoults Construction Company of Forsan in a game Saturday night.

Funds Are Needed For Baseball Team

An appeal is being made for funds to send the Big Spring Junior Teen-Age baseball league champions, the Bums, to the District tournament at Stamford in early August.

The Bums qualified to go by winning the league championship here recently but their purse is empty. They will not be able to make the trip unless friends of the team send them.

Donations in any amount can be made through J. N. Young, manager of Radio Station KBST.

College Grads Renew A Feud

By JERRY LISKA
AP Sports Editor

CHICAGO (AP) — Two former champions strove to survive but the day's best match was between two former kid rivals in today's second round of the Women's Western Amateur golf tourney.

Now both college graduates, Anne Richardson (Ohio State) of Columbus, Ohio and Berridge Long (Marshall) of Huntington, W. Va., renewed a feud dating back to the finals of the 1953 Western Junior finals.

Miss Richardson, now 22, won that 1953 showdown from Miss Long, now 21, by a score of 2 to 1.

Miss Long Tuesday ousted defending champion Meriam Bailey, Northwestern University coed, 1 up on the 19th hole.

Miss Richardson is one of the five surviving U.S. Curtis Cup team members.

The two former champions in contention, medalist Anne Quast, 20-year-old Stanford senior from Everett, Wash., and Polly Riley, Fort Worth, Tex., Western Amateur winner in 1950-52, had dark horse opponents.

Miss Quast, 1956 meet winner, faced Sandra Clifford, 21, a Mexico City tutor in a primary school.

Miss Riley, like Miss Quast a Curtis Cupper, encountered Mrs. Paul Dye Jr., veteran Indiana State champion from Indianapolis.

The meet's youngest contender, 15-year-old-Sharon Fladoos, a high school sophomore at Dubuque, Iowa, met Mrs. William Hartson, Oakland, Calif.

Young Sharon Tuesday scored a resounding upset as she took a 1 up decision on the 19th from veteran Mrs. Ann Casey Johnstone, Mason City, Iowa, last year's Amateur of the Season.

Another important match pitted Barbara Romack, former USGA Amateur champion from Sacramento, Calif., and Barbara McIntire, Jupiter, Fla., who lost a 1956 playoff of the USGA Open title to Kathy Cornelius. Both Barbaras are Curtis Cuppers.

Gallant Man Will Take A Respite

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Horses and horse people headed East and South today as Hollywood Park went dark for the year, closing on a high note with a brilliant victory by Gallant Man in the $107,600 Sunset Handicap.

While Hollywood Turf Club officials counted receipts of a successful 55-day meeting, Gallant Man took a brief rest. Trainer John Nerud said his little 4-year-old star will be flown back to New York Friday.

The 126 pounds pose Gallant Man, carrying 132 pounds Tuesday, ran away with the Sunset at a mile and five-eighths.

He beat Eddie Schmidt four lenghts, spotting him 22 pounds. St. Vincent raced third, a neck in front of the Japanese thoroughbred, Hakuchikara.

Ellison, Farquhar In Tennis Finals

Betty Ellison and Nita Farquhar advanced into the finals of the Women's Doubles division of the YMCA City-Wide Tennis tournament Tuesday by turning back Netta Kay Laws and Lynn Wood at the City Park, 6-0, 6-1.

The two clash with Layla Glaser and Shirley Killough for the crown at 5 o'clock this evening on the Park courts.

The consolation finals are down for the same time on an adjoining court.

Eileen Farquhar and Maxine Roberts team up to meet Laws and Wood in that one.

Publisher Says Economics Bring About Combinations

DALLAS (AP)—Houston Harte, of the Harte-Hanks group of newspapers and San Angelo publisher, commented last night on the government's investigation of the purchase by the Greenville Banner of its rival daily newspaper, the Greenville Herald.

A government source said the federal grand jury at Dallas is expected to receive records regarding the purchase on Monday.

Harte, in his statement said:

"Since the agents of the anti-trust division issued their first subpoenas for the Dallas grand jury appearance, the anti-trust division has acquiesed in the purchase of the New Orleans Item by the New Orleans Times-Picayune and States, the publishers of morning and afternoon newspapers in that city. The Item had been an afternoon competitor of the Times-Picayune and States for 81 years.

"On Monday, July 21, the Cincinnati Star-Times, owned by the Taft family, was purchased by the Cincinnati Post, one of 23 Scripps-Howard newspapers. The Scripps-Howard organization also owns working control of the Cincinnati Enquirer, a morning newspaper.

"Thus, the period between the time subpoenas were issued to appear before a Dallas grand jury, and before we had been called to testify in the matter of competition between the Greenville newspapers, two cities of approximately 1,000,000 people had seen the pressure of rising costs and declining advertising revenue result in the consolidation of their respective newspapers under one management.

"This is not a happy situation but the economic facts of life cannot be ignored forever. The management of the Cincinnati Star - Times has said its newspaper has lost money continuously since 1952. The loss reached one million dollars for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1958. A similar situation has been admitted by David Stern III, chairman of the board of the New Orleans Item.

"We do not know what the situation was with the Greenville Herald before the consolidation, but as far as the Greenville Banner is concerned, it has lost money every month since its purchase by Harte-Hanks newspapers. The present management of the Greenville newspapers believes that the purchase of the Herald for $300,000 worked a hardship on no one. We feel that the present Herald - Banner is giving better service to its subscribers, to its advertisers, and to the community as a whole. Advertising rates have been reduced and the quality of the newspaper has been steadily improving."

The purchase touched off a government investigation of possible violation of the anti-trust laws by the Harte-Hanks newspaper group, owner of the Banner.

U. S. Dist. Judge William H. Atwell ruled the records could not be put before a grand jury. This decision was reversed by the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals and the U.S. Supreme Court last month refused to consider an appeal.

Harte-Hanks contended it opened its records to FBI agents only on condition that they would not be used in any prosecution.

In ruling the records should not go before the grand jury, Judge Atwell said "This is a country of great liberty, ladies and gentlemen, and we must all stand for it."

'You-All' Called A 'Good' Word

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Suppose David had walked up to Goliath and informed the giant: "I'm going to stone you all."

It would have been good Biblical language, said P. J. Zondervan, Grand Rapids, Mich., president of Gideons International.

Zondervan said "you all" isn't just a colorful Southern expression—it's found in many parts of the Bible. He added the expression became common in the South because that area is the Bible Belt.

Interest Mounting In Saturday Vote

If absentee voting is an accurate indicator of potential voting strength in the forthcoming Democratic primary, then it may be assumed the total vote Saturday will not be a great deal different from that cast in the first primary of 1956.

When absentee voting closed on Tuesday at 5 p.m. there had been 343 ballots issued. At the same hour in July 1956, as the period ended for the primary election of that year, 350 absentee votes had been polled.

In 1956—a year when the always-important issue of a sheriff's election was at stake — the total vote in the primary was 6,369. Observers who employ the number of absentee ballots as a wind-vane to anticipate the total vote feel that this year's total should not be materially smaller.

Mrs. Pauline Petty, county clerk, said that 101 applications for absentee ballots were presented Tuesday. In the period prior to Tuesday 242 applications had been received. Absentee voting interest lagged badly for most of the interval and only showed a surge as the fading days of the voting time neared.

In the 1954 primary the county recorded 553 absentee votes.

Most observers have been glumly predicting an extremely light vote on Saturday. The candidates in the few county races who have opposition have been worried by the obvious lack of enthusiasm indicated by the electors and were agreeably pleased when the absentee vote totals suddenly began to climb.

There are contests Saturday for two county commissioner posts, for the county attorney's office and for two justices of the peace positions.

Other office holders and office seekers go into the primary unopposed.

Lack of local contests, particularly since the office of sheriff is not at stake in this year's election, is credited with the apathetic attitude of the voters.

There was some slight hope on the part of those office-seekers who have competition that the U. S. senatorial and the state gubernatorial contests might serve as a spur to interest in the election when Saturday rolls around.

New Turbodrill Is Demonstrated

HERSCHER, Ill. (AP)—A demonstration was given here yesterday showing a turbodrill designed to reduce total well completion time from 30 days by rotary drill to 10 days.

The turbodrill was demonstrated by engineers of the Natural Gas Storage Co. of Illinois, Dresser Industries, Inc., of Dallas, and the Moran Brothers Drilling Co. of Wichita Falls, Tex., in the Reservoir area near this Kankakee County community. The gas storage facility of the Natural Gas Pipeline Co. supplies the Chicago area with gas during the peak load seasons.

The turbodrill has been used, instead of the rotary drill, in oil well operations, but technicians said the Herscher experiment was the first time the turbodrill had been used in making wells for gas storage.

Technicians and engineers said that in the first 1,440 feet where the turbodrill is used, the total time to drill and set two strings of casing has been reduced from 16 days with rotary to only three with the turbodrill. The actual drilling time has been reduced from 111 hours to 35, and many of the abnormal big repairs and drill pipe twistoffs have been eliminated.

Borden Space Problem Solved

GAIL (SC)—The county commissioners solved the problem of crowded conditions at the courthouse by constructing a smaller building behind the main one.

Work is almost completed on a concrete tile structure which will house the county agricultural agent, the home demonstration agent and ASC offices. The building is 30 by 60-feet and has been painted a pale green. Approximate cost is $11,000.

The move was made in order to give more room to the sheriff and county clerk. Both are in cramped quarters and need extra space for files and equipment.

1,500 Baptists To Participate In Encampment

MARFA — More than 1,500 persons from throughout the Southwest Texas area are expected to attend the 38th annual Paisano Baptist encampment starting Monday.

The week-long program will feature daily training union classes, Bible study periods, men's brotherhood meetings, Woman's Missionary Union sessions and two worship services.

Dr. Perry F. Webb, pastor of the First Baptist Church of San Antonio, will be the encampment preacher. Speaking at other worship services will be Dr. F. B. Thorn of Wichita, Kan. Dr. W. R. White, president of Baylor University, will lead daily Bible study periods for adults and young people.

The Paisano camp grounds are located midway between Marfa and Alpine at the foot of the Paisano Peak.

Now owned by the BGCT, the encampment was begun in 1916 by Dr. George W. Truett, then pastor of the First Baptist Church of Dallas. World War I interrupted encampment programs until 1921.

The 1,100 acres of land comprising the camp grounds were deeded to the BGCT in 1937. C. T. Mitchell of Marfa has been president of the Paisano Baptist Assembly, Inc., since 1939. He was among the first group to attend the encampment's original program.

Injured Actress Leaves Hospital

NEW YORK (AP) — Actress Suzy Parker, her left arm in a sling, yesterday left the hospital where she had been treated for injuries suffered in an auto accident.

The red-haired former model said she will return to the hospital from time to time for further treatment.

Both her arms were broken last June 7 when a car in which she was riding was hit by a train at St. Augustine, Fla. Her father was killed in the accident.

Square Dance Slated In Lamesa Saturday

LAMESA (SC) — The Lamesa Promenaders are sponsoring a square dance to be held at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Lamar Forrest Park community center.

Music will be provided by the King Band. Guest callers will be used. The public is invited.

Miss Wool

Miss Miriam LaCour, 19-year-old sophomore at Lamar State College at Beaumont was crowned Miss Wool of Texas at San Angelo. She will be the Texas entry in the National Miss Wool Contest to be held in San Angelo August 24-29. Miss LaCour is shown in her coronation gown—wool of course.

Stereo Discs Hitting Market

Stereophonic discs approaching or equalling the sound presence and brilliance of stereo tape have reached dealer shelves. By September there will be hundreds available from most major disc makers.

At the same time, stereo disc reproducing equipment in a wide price range also will be offered.

Stereophonic sound has depth and direction, and consequently more dimension. It is achieved in the home by using two separate amplifiers and two speakers, the latter 6 to 10 feet apart. Before the advent of stereo discs, you had to use pre-recorded, two-track, magnetic tape. Stereo discs, which are less expensive, can be played on phonographs after a new stereo cartridge has been substituted.

The new cartridge costs from $20 up. Installation in a tone arm takes an hour or two. A service man may charge $5 or more for the job. Cartridges include both the ceramic and the magnetic type.

Stereo discs must be played only with a stereo cartridge and stylus, or needle, for best results and to avoid possible damage to the stereo grooves. However, a stereo cartridge is compatible; that is, it also may be used for playing monaural LP records.

In addition to the second amplifier, second speaker, and stereo cartridge, some monaural hi-fi systems will need an additional preamplifier and control unit to accommodate the added second channel. Major makers, such as Fisher, Pilot, Scott and Harmon-Kardon, already offer these units in separate or combined form.

Among the first stereo discs, Audio-Fidelity has three very good ones in "Bourbon Street with the Dukes of Dixieland"; "Railroad Sounds," which dramatizes sound direction by means of moving trains; and "Bagpipes and Drums." The Dixieland disc is the best.

Urania Records broke the stereo ice with discs of Saint Saens' Third (Organ) Symphony; Offenbach's "Gaite Parisienne," and the Rossini - Respighi ballet, "Boutique Fantasque," by the London Philharmonic under Eugene Goossens.

Counterpoint has brought out eight starters. Better ones are Vivaldi and Boccherini cello concerti by Aldo Parisot; and a belting singer, "Juanita Hall Sings the Blues," with the Claude Hopkins All-Stars. A third, "Follow the Drinking Gourd," is a powerful collection of Negro folk music by the Michael Larue singers.

Vox has announced 15 stereo issues including one by the West Point Glee Club and two by George Feyer, plus a "Stereovox Sampler." Elektra also offers a sampler disc.

Vanguard lists a dozen stereo discs, including previous monaural issues of folk songs by "The Weavers"; a four-disc set of Beethoven symphonies; Vivaldi's "Four Seasons," and a two-disc Berlioz "Requiem."

Westminster scheduled seven stereo discs for release, including three by orchestras under Herman Scherchen and a Berlioz "Requiem."

RCA Victor, Capitol, London and Columbia are expected to announce their large stereo lists later in the summer.

The Big Spring record houses are not yet glutted with stereo records, and there's no likelihood of a sudden upsurge in demand. A Record Shop spokesman sees a slowly growing demand for the stereos which will take about a year to reach big proportions. Eventually, stereo platters will be an important part of the platter industry.

LETTER TO EDITOR

Reader Dissents, Thinks Yarborough Best Qualified

To the Editor:

In an editorial in the issue of the Herald July 20th in which you endorse the candidacy of William Blakley among other things you said "they (the voters) would do well to study very carefully the basic things that the candidates stand for." That is a good idea. Let's take a look.

I believe Blakley represents a philosophy of government more than 50 years old and one that does not fit the times nor the complex and changing world in which we live. The American people under the leadership of Roosevelt and Truman did break away from the selfish unjust conservatism that prevailed before Roosevelt and under the New Deal and Fair Deal gave our country a new and fair concept of the rights and privileges of the people they had never had before. These laws will forever remain a part of our heritage as a free people. This radical change was accomplished under the Constitution.

So far as I can gather Mr. Blakley's program does not provide for change. Of course he says he is for constitutional government, for economy, for states rights, for protecting the rights of the minorities, etc. etc. To these generalities he expresses we can all agree, but when it comes time to specify how to translate these statements into law Mr. Blakley never offers a way. However, there is one very inconsistent thing in Mr. Blakley's actions. While he and the Herald want to take the jam away from everybody, Mr. Blakley, through the Braniff Air Lines Co. of which he is the largest stockholder, has his arm in the jam jar clear up to his elbow and his company has received more than 10 million dollars in subsidies from our government in less than 10 years. Will the Herald, speaking for Mr. Blakley, say whether this was right or wrong policy. If it was right then neither Mr. Blakley nor anyone else should complain if the government gives subsidies to the struggling farmers and small business men.

Mr. Blakley is recommended to us as a sound business man and a good citizen. So far as I know that is true. His qualifications for the place are stressed that he has made lots of money and kept it. If he has endowed a school or schools, orphanages or any other humanitarian causes we know nothing of it. If his highest ambition is to make money for the sake of money, he lacks at least one important qualification for the office of United States Senator.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough has never accumulated much money or property but his achievement as a citizen in the common walks of life, as a lawyer, as a district judge, as a soldier in foreign fields in the service of our country, as a United States Senator has made him far richer in achievement than lots of millionaires. We must learn, I hope we already know, that there is a much more impelling reason why we should send a man to Washington to represent us than that he can make lots of money, and keep it.

Sen. Yarborough is honest, industrious, desiring always, I believe, to fairly represent all the people. I believe he is doing a good job and in all fairness should be returned. I am not worried about what the people of Howard County will do. I believe they will give Senator Yarborough on next Saturday a majority of not less than two to one, for these fine people know what is fair and right and what is best for them and for their country.

Reunion Fund Gains By $122

Finance committee for the Howard-Glasscock County Old Settlers Assn., announced the receipt of $122 in additional contributions toward payment of the expenses for the 34th annual reunion and barbecue.

The reunion is Friday at the City Park.

Morgan Martin, president of the association, said that gifts were coming in slower than in other years and that additional money was needed.

He said that all supplies for the big barbecue had been purchased. Wood is being hauled to the barbecue pits at the park.

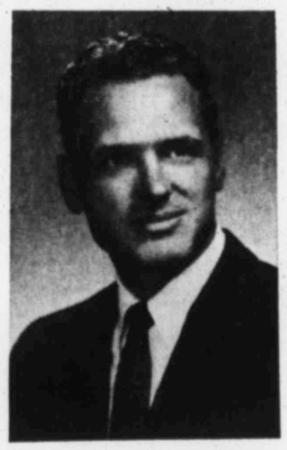

Cooking of the food will start on Thursday night.

Gifts toward financing the celebration include:

Earl Hull $5; E. T. O'Daniel $5; J. Johnson $3; Grady Kilgore $2; Willard Neel $5; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Binder $5; Dick Thompson $2; McEwen Motor Co. $5; Ralph White $3; Rufus Davidson $5; E. W. Lomax $10; J. B. Pickle $5; Mr. and Mrs. Nat Shick $5; Clyde Thomas $5; Anonymous $5; Anonymous $10; First National Bank $25; G. E. (Red) Gilliam $2; and River Funeral Home $5.

Post Office Has Big Stamp Stock

Anticipating a big demand after July 31, the Big Spring Post Office has a huge stock of 4-cent stamps on hand for the increased postal rate change, it was announced today.

The regular 4-cent of the series now in common use will become the most popular postage stamp in service on that date when the rate for first class mail increase from three to four cents. The stamp depicts the portrait of Abraham Lincoln.

Also on hand in ample supply are new 7-cent airmail stamps, which will replace the long-used 6-cent stamps on Aug. 1. The office has the stamps in sheets and also books of the 7-cent issue but has as yet been unable to get its supply of the new air mail envelopes.

It is anticipated these will be received before Aug. 1.
