American, British Troops in German Capital Copying Friendly Ways of Reds

BERLIN, July 13—(AP) — To the great relief of GI Joe and Tommy Atkins, when you're in Berlin you do as the Russians do.

In other words, American and British troops in the German capital—most of whom are fed up with the non-fraternization policy in force in Western Germany—are copying the internationally friendly ways of the red army in peacetime.

The generals may say that nothbock since they moved American and British soldiers into Berlin. But things nevertheless seem to be different.

Ivanovich—the red army equivalent of GI Joe—operates on the understanding that he's not supposed to take dyed in the wool nazis to his bosom. He believes that nazis properly belong behind bars, and that Germans who are not nazis are entitled to be treated without race hatred.

Therefore, when Ivan saunters out in the early evening he feels perfectly free to drop into a convenient cafe, striks up an acquantance with any German girl and invite her to dance and drink with him.

Last Monday, British, Canadian and American military police — operating in teams—began trying to discourage public dancing by troops of the Western Allies along such bright lights as Kurfuerstendamm.

"Take it easy, soldier," was their cautionary advice. "You can sit it out with a girl, but don't get up and dance until non-frat is lifted."

Yesterday announcement was made that the Berlin military government would follow previous policies laid down by the Russians until new ones are issued by the Inter-Allied "Kommandatur." The announcement seemed to apply to the conduct of soldiers in cafes and cabarets as well as to the administration of the police and water departments.

Meanwhile, the MP's aren't raiding any German homes here. If a family invites you in to listen to the radio and have a cup of ersatz tea, the MP's look the other way.

And you can stroll along residential streets with a fraulein—if you don't hold hands.

BIG THREE—WORLD WAR I

As the date of the Big Three conference of 1945 nears, Oldtimers are reminded of the men who held the spotlight in peace plans following the first war. Above are the men who filled the shoes of today's Big Three, Truman, Churchill and Stalin: England's David Lloyd George (left), United States' Woodrow Wilson (center), and France's Georges Clemenceau (right.)

USS Augusta, Proud Heroine of Triumph, Is Returning to Port

By ROBERT COONS

ABOARD THE USS PITTSBURGH, APRI LARBOR, Guam, June 10—(Delayed) — (AP) — This heroine of a bloodless sea triumph moved slowly and proudly into port today for repairs—her entire bow was ripped of by a thunderous sea in a typhoon southeast of the Ryukyus June 5.

The heavy cruiser came through the ordeal by storm without the loss or injury of any of her more than 1,000 men.

The Pittsburgh only this year was added to the fleet forces pounding the Japanese in their homewaters.

She was smashed by a 120-knot wind and made the 900-mile journey to Guam at a speed of less than 9 knots, but under her own power.

A unit of Adm. William Halsey's rampaging Third fleet, the Pittsburgh was lashed and tossed by mammoth waves as the storm enveloped her early on the morning of June 5. The swells, whipped into mountainous fury by wind, snapped off the ship's sleek nose 104 feet long and tossed it aside as though it were a match box to wallow in the storm off the vessel's port.

(The bow was subsequently recovered by a tug and towed to Guam for salvage).

"We evidently were passing close to the worst of the storm," related Capt. John E. Gingrich, USN., commanding officer, of Dodge City, Kans. "Suddenly about 6:30 we saw two tremendous seas. One threw us 10 or 15 degrees. At the next one the derk-plates buckled—and the bow just ripped and floated off."

Instantly the order went down to

Four-Alarm Fire Rages in Houston

HOUSTON, July 13—(AP)—A 4-alarm fire that raged for more than two hours in the heart of a downtown block bounded by Main, Fannin, Rusk and Walker, caused an estimated $300,000 loss and injuries to 21 city firemen and a navy seaman early today.

Nearly 200 guests were rooted from the 10-story Cotton Hotel at Fannin and Rusk and fled into the streets, many scantily dressed and some barefooted. The hotel, a Houston landmark, suffered damage around $50,000.

Another landmark dear to an entire generation of Houston merrymakers, the Aragon ballroom, formerly McMillians ballroom, suffered damage estimated at $50,000 when the roof collapsed.

Bond's Clothing Store was the greatest loser, estimated at $100,000 by Wade W. Beckman, manager.

Six of the injured firemen and the seaman, injured while helping firemen, were admitted to Jefferson Davis hospital. None are critically injured, however, first reports indicated.

Speakers Contend Strange French Purge Conducted

PARIS, July 13—(AP)—More than 20,000 people have stood trial in the nine months' purge of French collaborationists, but 30,000 more remain to face judgment, ministry of justice figures reveal.

The courts have passed 994 death verdicts, 600 sentences of hard labor for life, 4,638 other hard labor sentences, 1,063 of imprisonment for five years or more and 9,876 for shorter jail terms. There were 3,315 acquitted.

Slow handling of the long lists of Frenchmen charged with aiding the Germans drew sharp fire from speakers at the convention of resistance groups this week. They charged that "the purge is being conducted in a strange manner."

If the courts move slowly, authorities said, it is because only a thin line frequently divided "collaboration" from simply living under German occupation, a line not always easy to find.

Death sentences have been levied in absentia against Vichy's Chief of Government Pierre Laval, its educational minister Abel Bonnard and Marcel Deat, collaborationist editor, but the sentences probably never will be carried out without a retrial in person.

Rodeo Catalogue Is Now Off Press

An attractive eight page catalogue listing the prizes, rules and regulations for the Top O' Texas rodeo and horse show is just off the press, according to Wade Thomasson, president of the rodeo set for August 17, 18 and 19.

The catalogues are ready for distribution and many have been sent to various parts of New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas to those interested in the August show.

Thomasson asked anyone who would like a catalogue to write or call the chamber of commerce here.

Early Confers With Veterans

Ray Early, acting manager of the Oklahoma City office of the Smaller War Plants Corporation, and T A. Peek, loan advisor for the SWPC, conferred with world war II veterans here yesterday in a series of personal conferences.

Yesterday's discussion dealt largely with the veteran obtaining property or materials for agriculture. Early explained how the SWPC purchases materials and, in turn, resells them to the veteran, at a saving to him, and in many cases makes a loan enabling the veteran to purchase the materials.

Early told E. O. Wedgeworth, manager of the Pampa chamber of commerce, that he will return to Pampa periodically, as the need arose.

"We are very appreciative of the cooperation we have received from the Pampa chamber of commerce, the Pampa News, Radio Station KPDN and everyone who has made our visits here so interesting," Early said.

In selling surplus agricultural property to the SWPC for resale to the veteran, disposal agencies must comply with regulations of the office of price administration but in no

Jaycees To Attend Quarterly Luncheon

No regular meeting of the Pampa Junior chamber of commerce will be held next week, President B. B. Altman said today.

Members of the Junior chamber will attend the regular quarterly luncheon of the Senior chamber Monday, at which time Boyce House, noted Texas writer and humorist, will be the principal speaker.

Palomino Show To Be Featured

The committee chairmen of the Top O' Texas rodeo decided in a meeting last night that a special feature of the August rodeo will be an exhibition of Palomino horses.

This special event is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, August 18, in the main arena.

Crawford Atkinson was appointed chairman of the Palomino exhibition and will be in charge of the event.

The various committee chairmen reported on the progress of their committees, and O. W. Hampton, general manager of the rodeo, said work is well underway toward the construction of new pens, chutes and judges' stands.

Special entertainment will be under the direction of W. C. deCordova who has planned the Ole' Timers' dances to be held the first two nights of the rodeo in the Junior High gym.

Entries in both the quarter horse show and rodeo events are coming in rapidly. From all indications the divisions will be well filled by show time.

Borger Man To Receive Franchise

Pampa will have a bus line!

City officials announced this morning that the plan of operation for a city bus line has been approved by the office of defense transportation.

The announcement came simultaneously with the disclousure that a tentative agreement had previously been worked out with Ed Webster, operator of the Borger City Bus line, whereby Webster has virtually been awarded the franchise for a line here.

City Manager W. C. deCordova explained the agreement had stated that once the ODT had given its approval, the franchise would be officially granted Webster.

The Borger bus man, now that the ODT approval has gone through, has written the city manager requesting aid in locating a building to be used for a Pampa Bus line shop. Webster said he is making plans to send a manager to Pampa.

Disclousure that Webster is to be granted the franchise and that the plan is approved by ODT, follows months of discussion in city commission meetings in which different prospective operators were interviewed by the commissioners.

There was no announcement as to when the local citizens may expect the new bus line to be in operation, as officials explained there are too many details yet to be worked out for any accurate estimate.

Borgan Is Being Tried for Murder

BORGER, July 13—Trial for Mrs Ruth Martin of Borger, charged with the murder of Mrs. Jack Merrick Littlechief, also of Borger, began last Tuesday afternoon in the 84th district court which is in session in Stinnett.

Borger city patrolman "Buck" Richardson and J. C. Badgett had answered a call to a residence last May 12, where they found the body of Mrs. Littlechief. An ambulance was called and the woman was dead upon arrival at a Borger hospital.

Witnesses first reported that the woman had committed suicide, but upon the disovery of four stab wounds on Mrs. Littlechief's body, one eye-witnes made a sworn statement that an eight inch carving knife had been used in the slaying.

Four Leaders Agree On World Charter

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Leaders of different political views declared today that the senate ought to ratify the United Nations charter speedily to establish American responsibility in international peacekeeping.

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor; John Dulles, foreign affairs advisor to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in the 1944 presidential campaign, Norman Thomas, former socialist candidate for president, and Philip Murray, president of the CIO all indorsed the charter.

They appeared as witnesses in the senate foreign relations committee's final day of hearings on the 50-nation agreement signed at San Francisco.

Green told committee members the

Canadian Is Scene Of 'Chute Tragedy

ALAMAGORDO, N. Mex., July 13—(AP)—Col. William O. Eareckson, commandant of Alamogordo army air field, announced last night that one flier was killed out of six who parachuted from a B-29 which encountered engine trouble in the vicinity of Canadian, Tex.

The colonel said the pilot gave the signal to bail out but regained control of the plane before all of the crew jumped. Eareckson identified the dead flier as Lt. Stuart Komaroff of Brooklyn. None of the others who parachuted was injured.

Misuse of Gas Coupons Reported

Reports that truck operators are misusing their gasoline allotments brought a word of caution from R. E. McKernan, chairman of the Gray county war price and rationing board.

The official explained gasoline rations must be restricted to the use for which they were applied. Truck drivers will be penalized if they use gasoline for other than represented purposes, he said.

A cooperation has been arranged between the OPA and ODT according to McKernan, who said, "this arrangement has been made so as to prevent misuse of gasoline, tires, equipment and manpower so vitally needed to finish the war."

British Warships Bombard Nicobar

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

At least 21 American warships were damaged by a typhoon five weeks ago as they retired from a carrier strike on Japan, Pacific fleet headquarters announced today, as Nippon blazed from round-the-clock bombings which Tokyo called "a prelude to invasion."

The typhoon damaged more ships than the mikado's naval guns have ever been able to hit in a single battle, but at least 20 of the damaged fighting craft are back in action.

The cruiser Pittsburgh, whose bow was torn off by the mountainous seas and 138-mile-an-hour winds, and presumably other unnamed units of Adm. William F (Bull) Halsey's Third fleet are still undergoing repairs.

No ships were sunk. No one was reported killed or seriously injured.

British warships have bombarded the Nicobar islands, off Malay peninsula, while sending minesweepers to clean up the appriaches to Malacca strait and carrier planes to attack airfields in northwest Sumatra.

These attacks on the southwestern flank of Japan's stolen southern lands were reported today by Southeast Asia Command headquarters following Nipponese broadcast speculations on British landing attempts.

The Nicobars, 280 miles northwest of the oil rich Dutch island of Sumatra and 400 miles west of Malay peninsula, also were hit by British carrier aircraft. The minesweepers worked off the western entrance to Malacca strait July 5 to 10 without sighting a Japanese vessel. The strait lies between Sumatra and the Signapore naval base.

The announcement by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz of the typhoon explained the long gap between Halsey's carrier raids on Japan. The typhoon, the second to hit the Third Fleet in six months, struck June 5th, eight days after Halsey's return to action and two days after the fleet's carrier planes swept southern Japan.

The next raid was last Tuesday when the fleet's Task Force 38 sent more than 1,000 planes against Tokyo's network of airdromes. Participating in that action were at least four of the typhoon-damaged vessels—the fast new Battleships Massachusetts and Indiana, the Carrier San Jacinto and the Destroyer John Rodgers. Four other carriers of various types and one more bat-

Lowest Interest Rate Is Bid by Dallas Company

Crummer and Company of Dallas was the successful bidder yesterday for the two bond issues totaling $453,000 for sewer reconstruction and the construction of a storm sewer in Pampa.

The Texas firm, which was joined with two others, Walker and Co., of St. Louis and McClung-Knickerbocker of Houston, offered the lowest interest rate ever bid in a City of Pampa bond issue. The rates, 1.8453 per cent on the storm sewer general obligation bonds and 1.8454 per cent on the water and sewer revenue bonds, compared with rates of four to six per cent on bonds sold in the past.

Also bidding were the First National Bank of Pampa, which was bidding for the storm sewer bonds only, and the Columbian Securities corporation of San Antonio, represented by L. B. Henry of Dallas.

The successful bid read

"For the first, 63,000 storm sewer general obligation bond, said bonds to bear interest at the rate of 1 3-4 per cent per annum for all bonds maturing 1946 to 1961 inclusive; and the rate of 2 1-4 for all bonds maturing 1962 to 1965 inclusive; both principal and interest payable at the Mercantile State bank of Dallas; to be in denominations of $1,000 each; we will

RETIRING WAC COLONEL PRAISED BY PATTERSON

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Col. Oveta Culp Hobby returned today to her civilian role of career woman, wife and mother as the Women's Army corps carried on under a new director.

The 40-year-old retiring WAC organizer, her hair swept smoothly into a pompadour above her summer uniform, stood by yesterday while undersecretary of war Patterson announced her resignation.

Then she watched her own eigles pinned on the shoulders of her deputy, Col. Westray Battle Boyce of Rocky Mount, N. C.

Colonel Hobby told reporters she is retiring after nearly four years to return "to my family and my business." She is the wife of William P. Hobby, publisher of the Houston, (Tex.) Post and World War I Texas governor. They have two children, William, Jr., 13, and Jessica, 9.

Long before she came to Washington, Colonel Hobby worked on her husband's paper. For some years she has been executive editor and vice-president.

She also has been a director of

WINGS AND A PRAYER:

TWO FLIERS AND CHILD KILLED IN COLLISION

COLUMBIA, S. C., July 13 (AP)—While the passengers prayed, the pilot of a crippled eastern airlines transport brought the ship to an emergency landing in a Carolina cornfield yesterday after it collided with an army plane, 3000 feet up, killing two army fliers and a two-year-old boy.

The child was one of 17 passengers aboard the Boston-Miami airliner, which went down 80 miles east of here. Four others, including the boy's mother, Mrs. A. E. Williams of Miami, Fla., were reported seriously injured, and several were shaken up.

One of the passengers, Mrs. Annie Lee Moore Walker, 26, of Columbia, credited Capt. G. D. Davis, of Miami, the pilot, with saving their lives.

She said shenotice d the army plane "veering in toward us from our left" and added that "I think I saw it about three seconds before we crashed."

"There was no panic at all among the passengers after the collision or during the 15 or 20 seconds it took the pilot to bring us down to a gentle landing," said Mrs. Walker.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture: Genesis. Chapters 13-15.
By WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Two stories of Abraham stand out from the crude and primitive times in which he lived, revealing such a high conception of human motives and action that they speak to our own times clearly. The problem of world peace and security might be said to be that of catching up with Abraham.

The first story is of the strife betwen the men of Abraham and those of his kinsman, Lot, over pastures and watering places. That Abraham was no coward or appeaser was shown plainly a little later, but he was a man of great unselfishness, willing to sacrifice his own interests if peace could be maintained. In this spirit he said to Lot as they looked over the land, "You take the left and I will go to the right: or you go to the right and I will go to the left." "Let there be no strife between me and thee, and between by herdmen and thy herdmen; for we be brethren."

Lot might have been a brother, but he didn't reciprocate Abraham's spirit of brotherhood. When he saw that the plain of the Jordan was well watered everywhere, he chose what he thought was the better and more luscious country. Like all blindly selfish men, who think only of their own profit, he made a bad choice; and that Abraham's unselfishness and love of peace were not impulses of the moment, but expressions of his settled character, was soon displayed in the second episode, when Lot got into trouble.

"Lot pitched his tent toward Sodom," without for a moment thinking of the trouble he was getting into when he cast in his lot with that wicked city. The trouble began some time before the threat of destruction and Lot's flight from the city. In a war in which a number of kings were involved, the King of Sodom was defeated, and Lot was carried off a captive, and all his goods were seized.

When word was brought to Abraham, he armed his trained servants to the number of over 300, pursued the kings who had gone off with the captives and the loot; and partly by courageous daring, partly by strategy, attacking by night, defeated and pursued them, recapturing not only Lot, but all the people they had carried off from Sodom, and all the goods. The man of peace could be a terrific fighter if he was forced to fight—just as men of peace have been the most terrible and efficient fighters of today.

Then happened a great and wonderful thing, full of meaning for a world seeking peace today. The King of Sodom was grateful. He said to Abraham, "Give me the persons, and take the goods to thyself." But Abraham refused to accept as much as a shoelatchet, except only what his warriors had eaten or spent in their campaign.

What a world this might be if every individual and every nation concerned with the establishment of peace on earth were to say, both in words and in effect: "I want nothing for myself; I care only that all may get their just rights, and that what is best for all may be attained."

It is selfishness on the part of individuals and nations that is most likely to defeat plans for peace. That is why the world needs to catch up with Abraham.

Dr. E. B. Hawk Will Be Guest Speaker at Methodist on Sunday

Church School begins at 9:45 on Sunday morning at the First Methodist church and a special invitation is extended to all persons who do not attend regularly. The morning worship service begins in the sanctuary at 10:55.

Dr. E. B. Hawk, Dean of the Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist university, Dallas, will fill the pulpit at both the morning and evening hours of worship. Mrs. John Skelly will play as the organ prelude, "Adagio" by Beethoven; "Prayer" by Schubert, for the offertory, and "Postlude" by Handel. The choir will present the anthem, "Open Our Eyes" by MacFarland.

The evening worship service is at 7:30. Miss Mildred Martin will be at the organ for this service and will play "At Eventide" by Harris, for the prelude and for the offertory, "Londonderry Air", from an Irish Folk song.

Special music will be given by the male quartet. Miss Bonnie Nell McBee will play the accompaniment.

The Junior Hi Fellowship is being sponsored by Mrs. C. W. Naylor and will meet at 6:30 for worship, recreation and refreshments. The Senior Hi group wil meet immediately following the evening service for a recreation and worship service. Pfc. and Mrs. Harold Fees are sponsors for this group.

The minister, Rev. E. B. Bowen, has been attending a meeting of the Jurisdictional Board of Missions and Church Extension at Fayetteville, Ark., but will return in time for the Sunday services.

Christian Science Sunday Study Topic

"God" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 15.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord hath prepared his throne in the heavens; and his kingdom ruleth over all." (Psalms 103:19).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunderings, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth." (Revelation 19:6).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The power of God brings deliverance to the captive. No power can withstand divine love." (page 224).

Rev. E. D. Carver To Begin Fourth Year as First Baptist Pastor

Sunday will mark the beginning of the fourth year of service which the Rev. E. Douglas Carver has given as pastor of the First Baptist church. In reviewing the progress of the church during this time, it is noted that there have been 677 additions to the church, with 196 by baptism.

The church is free of all indebtedness on all church properties. Total gifts to all causes the last three years amounted to $130,516.23. At the present time the building fund is reported to be $20,178.50 and an organ fund amounts to $10,550, making a total of $30,737.50 in government bonds.

The morning service will begin at 11 o'clock, and the Rev. Carver has chosen as his subject, "My Task." The choir will present an arrangement of "The Lord Is My Shepherd," by DeLeone. Miss Willadean Ellis will be soloist. E. Virgil Mott and Lt. Edwin Atkins will present a duet, "Something for Thee." This service may be heard over KPDN.

Training Unions will meet in their regular rooms at 7 p. m. For the evening worship service, the Rev. Carver will discuss the subject, "The Secrets of Success in Church Work."

Special Series of Sermons Planned at McCullough Church

A new series of Sunday evening services, designed to draw good audiences even in hot weather, will begin Sunday evening at the McCullough Memorial Methodist church. These services, rather than being primarily preaching services, will be worship services built entirely around central themes. The music, scriptures, messages and church decorations will carry out one theme.

The theme for the first of this series is "A Program on the Sea." Hymns to be sung by the congregation are "Jesus, Saviour, Pilot Me," "Throw Out the Life-line," "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "Master, the Tempest Is Raging." "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep" will be given as a violin solo.

The pastor, the Rev. Robert Gilpin, will speak at the morning worship hour on the topic, "The Fire Jesus Casts." The public is invited to attend these services at their neighborhood Methodist church.

Church Women Tell Of Magic in China

By MARY FOWLER

"A little child shall lead them" is still true, according to Young Women's Christian association leaders in Wusu, Hunan Province, China . . . Mei-mei's baby brother Tungsheng was born in a cave near Wusu during an air raid. Mei-mei burned incense and prayed that the boy might not be stricken during the on-coming cholera season. But, unknown to her family, she carried Tungsheng to the Y. W. C. A. clinic and both were inoculated. "Put in the magic!" she had begged. Cholera swept Wusu and carried off five members of this large refugee family — but not Mei-mei or her baby brother. Then she told everyone about the magic, and hundreds conquered their doubts and fears and were inoculated. The Y. W. C. A. health and child welfare program at Wusu has grown largely from Mei-mei's faith.

"Church women can be most helpful in interpreting church and community resources to newcomers in a city — in extending personal fellowship to them and helping them to make contacts with congenial persons and groups," says Miss Eleanor Neff, after completing a ten-month study of existing needs among employed women in the Chicago area. Under Miss Neff's leadership, and the sponsorship of the Wesleyan Service Guild — Methodism's organization for employed women — Guilds in and about Chicago, the Federation of Churches, numerous civic, industrial and labor organizations are urging women in local churches to serve the needs of these women. Welcoming new women into church services and societies, planning socials for them, and calling upon them are some of the desired personal contacts.

Urging that the United States be the first nation to ratify the charter of the United Nations security conference "because it will set the pace for all the others," Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCormick, recently told representatives of church and civic organizations, "It is very hard to exaggerate our responsibility for this new venture in interdependence . . . The job of women is to nurse this great embryo into a living structure; to take it from the level of the policy of the government and make it a policy of the people. It means a new extension of our individual responsibility. It means the survival of life instead of death."

Central Baptist Sunday Services Are Announced

Rudolph Q. Harvey, pastor of the Central Baptist church, was absent from his pulpit Sunday and will be unable to fil it again this Sunday, due to an illness which confined him to a local hospital for a week. He was able to return home Thursday.

Rev. Frank Thomas of Amarillo will preach at both services Sunday. His subject for Sunday morning will be "The Holy Guest." Special music has been arranged for both services.

A cordial invitation is given to all who do not have a church home to worship with this congregation.

Yanks Reported With Situation 'Well in Arms'

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

HEREFORD, Germany—(AP)—At this spot in the heart of the British occupation zone the ATS girls outnumber the soldiers, and the American GI's have the situation well in arm.

The doughboys are carrying the pretty ATS (Auxiliary Territorial Sece) girls away by the truck loads to attend "boogie woogie" parties. At 7 p. m. they drive up at a sentry post at the bottom of a road which leads to the British area.

The GI's walk off with the British girls, arm in arm, and load them into trucks while the British Tommies look on with that "Well, the doughs have done it again" expression. If looks could kill, there would be fewer GI's around.

Several units of GI's, originally with the U. S. Ninth army, still are here disposing of German ammunition dumps and trucking out stocks of American rations from what used to be a main food depot.

The American and British soldiers have an even start at making friends with the ATS here in Germany. The Tommies say the GI's made a hit in England because they had more money to spend. But there are no bottle clubs over here.

Maybe it is that old boogie woogie that gets them. It is played by a six piece GI band with torrid trumpets and plenty of rumtum on the drums. The GI's are famous for their parties. There hasn't been so much noise around these parts since the air raid days.

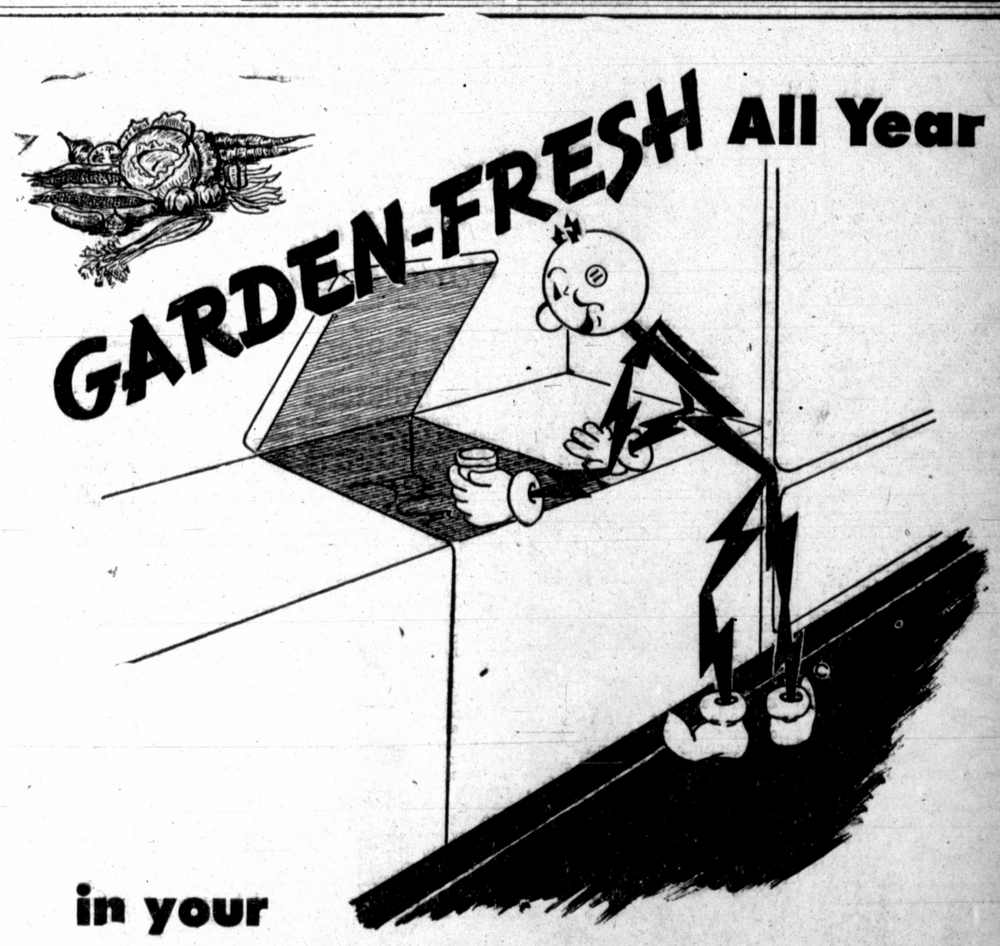

One of the most popular GI units is one in which Sgt. Ed Tichenor, Dallas, Texas, belongs. They have a boogie woogie band plus the sergeant's monkey, named Jack. He got the beast in a Netherlands zoo and has kept it with him ever since.

"Jack is quite an attraction," Tichenor said, "The gals say he is 'a lovely creature.' Now ain't that a helluva thing to say about a monkey?"

QUICK-FREEZER

The home size quick freezer provides means for both freezing and storing fresh vegetables and fruit from your own garden or from the market. Fresh meat can also be treated the same way. Or you may buy and keep the wide variety of prefrozen products available at your local store.

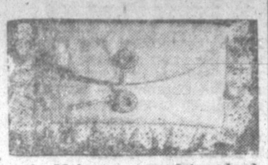

Quick-frozen foods are truly "foods of the future." Their delicious freshness, caught at the peak of flavor, will make you want to use them more and more. Only a quick freezing unit can produce and keep them.

When the time comes for you to build your new home, include a place for the quick freezer. It belongs with tomorrow's All-Electric Home.

A One-Bag Wardrobe

1. Make an eyelet edged white pique bag cover to give a frosty touch to dark dresses.

2. For sports bag make a quilted chintz slip-cover and fasten with bold white buttons.

By NEA Service

NEW YORK—You can have a bag to match or contrast with every dress or suit you own, and they will cost you no more than a few cents apiece plus a bit of effort.

All you need is a basic envelope-type bag to begin with and a few scraps of leftover material. To copy the ruffled bag cover above, cut a paper pattern one-half inch larger than the bag—which will allow you enough for seams—enough to turn under the flap.

For the ruffled edge, cut a 1 1-4-inch strip twice the length of the three sides of the bag. Hand-roll to finish edge and gather into ruffle with a running stitch at the top.

Turn fabric on wrong side. stitch flap down, then insert ruffle between the back and front of the bag and stitch three thicknesses together. Turn rightside out and it's finished.

To tie up a bag of contrasting material with your dark summer suit or dress, duplicate the same button originals which trim your costume on the flap and below on the bag and fasten with a cord.

Books of Today

THE CITY IS THE PEOPLE, by Henry S. Churchill (Reynal & Hitchcock; $3).

Why boys leave home . . . that is really the subject of this little book, well illustrated and entertainingly phrased, probing deeply into one of our most urgent problems.

The author is an architect who has been a leader in several phases of housing problems.

Our great cities, he charges, were not built for the purpose of providing the right sort of community to live in, but in order to make money out of increased land values. It was the automobile which aided in rapid metropolitan expansion, he says; it is now the automobile upon which we depend to escape from monstrous warrens like New York, laid out on the gridiron principle which allows for indefinite growth even if the growth stifles the inhabitants.

Churchill has the ability to make his proposals sound fresh even when they are not brand new. After scouring the world, past and present, for examples of good and bad city planning, he calls for a clearer vision on our part of the ideal city.

Since only a small percentage of Americans can actually foot the many bills for an adequate home, he concludes the government must intervene. His recommendation is "continued ownership of land by government." This would bring such specific benefits as "complete control of land, of ((population) density, of use-distribution, and eventually, of the disposition of the structures."

If you really want to know what sort of a place you live in, check it with Churchill.

THE THEORY AND PRACTICE OF EARNING A LIVING, by John F. Wharton (Simon & Schuster; $2.50).

Here's a book that should make you wealthier as well as wiser. There are no get-rich-quick schemes here, but merely a sober appraisal of this country's money-making potentialities and the restrictions placed around them by tradition and law. It's more for the prospective employer than the employee.

Soap and Steam Will Coax Out Whiteheads

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

"What are whiteheads and how can I get rid of them?" a reader writes.

The answer to that one is "fatty waste which takes up lodging in the skin, not the pores." Though difficult to evict, you can dispossess whiteheads, but not by digigng out. You'll be sorry if you do that.

Soaping and steaming, some more of the same, and then some gentle massage are an insistent method that usually brings results. After such treatment, the whitehead will soften up and slough off.

If the skin looks irritated after you've coaxed out a whitehead, use some medication on the spot. If whiteheads appear in annoying numbers, that's your cue to consult a doctor.

Marjorie Roth and Beverly Sone Are Honored at Melon Feast in Home

Miss Marjorie Roth and Miss Beverly Sone were guests of honor at a watermelon feast given last night in the home of Miss Shirley Sone, 130 Georgia.

Marjorie is leaving with her parents the first of the week to make her home in New York City.

Beverly is the house guest and cousin of Shirley Sone and will return to her home in Fort Worth next week.

Another out-of-town guest was Miss Camille Grantham, who is visiting her grandparents here for a few weeks.

Those enjoying the iced watermelon were Anna Barnett, Winnie Cox, Mary Jo Gallemore, Colleen Chisholm, Mary Gurley, Dorothy Johnson, Camille Grantham, Wanda Jay, the honorees, Marjorie and Beverly and the hostess, Shirley Sone.

More Men Needed to Rebuild Naval Ships

"Twelve admirals headed by Nimitz and 13,000 officers of the navy are from Texas," said R. W. McPhillips, secretary of the U. S. civil service board at the Pampa post office yesterday. "The number of Texans now in the navy," he continued, "is greater than the entire navy of prewar days.

"Every message, be it from admiral or able seaman, tells how vicious Jap attacks are, how "kamikazers' dive by the score, hoping one of the lot may get to bomb or crash-explode on a ship. Most of them die without even getting near a ship.

"Even when a ship it hit, it often manages to survive, and aided by sister ships, fights back and then limps home nursing its wounded and burying its dead at sea. When it reaches a navy yard, be it Pearl Harbor, Duget Sound, Hunter's Point or Mare Island, the crew hands it to civil service repairmen.

"Then begins the race to repair it and hand back a ship in fighting shape to a fighting crew. Here we show our fighting spirit back of the firing line. It is the machinist, the sheet metal worker, the electrician in these navy yards that make possible the victories of the navy. We need more of these men.

"Those who would rebuild the ships that will win the war can learn where to be hired at this post office, or the U. S. civil service in Dallas or New Orleans. Men hired in accord with WMC rules will be sent with meals and travel paid, to the navy yard of their choice where living quarters will be reserved for them. The navy needs action. And now!"

The Next War

Predicting the shape of the next war is a pastime long dear to the Jules Verne type of writer. Some have been far off the beam, but the better ones have only had to wait for time to catch up with them and prove at least the substantial truth of their fancies.

One of the more successful of these oracles is the Swedish engineer, Sven Lindequist, who foresaw substratosphere bombing more than 20 years ago and, being a practical sort of prognosticator, designed one of the first high-altitude airplane engines.

The other day Mr. Lindequist ventured the prediction that guns would be obsolete in the next war. Their place would be taken by jet- or rocket-propelled, radio-controlled bombs weighing up to 10 tons and capable of landing with precise accuracy from a distance of hundreds of miles.

These would be made in underground factories, Mr. Lindequist said, and fired from a camouflaged opening to the front lines. There they would be loaded with explosives and sent on their way.

Fantastic? Well, one might have thought so, except that next day the U. S. army ordnance department which gave sober credence to the papers carried a report from the Swedish engineer's prophecy.

The report, based on statements of captured Nazi scientists and on our own forces' observation, informed Americans that New York and other east coast cities had missed being targets of the German V-bombs by only six months. But for the crippling RAF raid on the V-bomb plant at Peenemuende in 1943, which killed hunders of technicians and destroyed much experimental equipment, this country could not have escaped before Allied armies had smashed the Nazis.

As it is, the Nazis claimed that pinpoint bombings at 3000 miles would have been possible by November. Our intelligence officers have not denied the claim, nor do they seem to see anything outlandish in the Nazi boast that V-bombing at a range of 15,000 miles was possible and imminent.

So there is the next war. It will begin with a salvo of precision rocket bombs, sent from hunders or thousands of miles at tremendous speed, striking without sound or warning, wiping out a whole city, perhaps, and most of its inhabitants.

Then will come retaliation. City after city will be leveled, more thoroughly than in this war. The surviving civilians will be in constant flight from the unseen—the explosives and, maybe next time, the gas and bacteria bombs. They will live underground in caves and shelters.

Does anyone think it impossble? Does anyone still want to talk about "inevitable" war with anybody? Does anyone think that all of us should not use what brain and persuasive strength we have to work for enduring peace?

To Build Peaceful World, Men Must Have An Idea Of What They Want

By ROSE WILDER LANE

(Author of "Let the Hurricane Roar," "Give Me Liberty," and "The Discovery of Freedom."

Rose Wilder Lane

Nearly everyone on this earth wants no more war. Only to live without this constant weight on the heart, this constant knowledge of our own flesh and blood engaged in killing other men— and helpless women and babies— and at this very moment perhaps themselves being killed. Only to be released from this torture will be happiness. And beyond this release, almost everyone wants a new world, in which governments can never again inflict such suffering upon human beings.

But a world without war is merely a negative. A negative isn't enough. Nobody could ever have made even a chair, merely by wanting NOT to have to stand up when he wasn't lying down. He had to have the idea of a CHAIR. Nobody could have made a bridge before he thought exactly what a BRIDGE would be. The greatest engineers today can't make a bridge merely by wanting to be able to cross water without getting wet. They must first think the bridge, so precisely that they can draw a picture of every detail of it, before they begin to think how to make that bridge from the materials available.

NOW ALL THE Big Men are messing around with the materials —with nations, armies, charters, money, maps — and quarreling about HOW to make a post-war world. Who shall have how much armed force? Which army gets Trieste? What people shall be forced to work hard enough to pay the bills? Must all Americans be permanently conscripted for war? And so on.

Nobody knows WHAT world to build. A peaceful world— there isn't even a sketch, much less a blueprint, of it. WHAT are these Big Men trying to make? They don't know. And the rest of us keep hoping that if only the Big Men will stop quarreling and be friends, a warless world will somehow just happen.

THE PRINCIPLE on which a good world must be built has been discovered, and proved beyond doubt; it is this: The goodness of the human world—its prosperity peace, progress, all its material, moral, spiritual values for living human beings—is always in proportion to man's unhindered exercise of his God-given liberty in a State subject to law.

This fact has been discovered and during the nineteenth century men have proved it, as surely as Newton discovered and proved the fact of gravitation. This is the principle on which men must build a sound and safe world, as certainly as gravitation is the principle upon which they must build a skyscraper.

BUT NOT MANY persons have heard of this principle yet, and nobody has a clear mental picture of WHAT a world of liberty and law will be. Men make this human world haphazardly, as builders piled stone on stone before Newton, and they try to hold this world together and prop it up by armed force, as ancient builders tried to make their buildings stand by burying a woman alive under the cornerstone. (And when a building stood, they were sure it stood because they had buried a living woman under it.)

If you see this world as it is now, you can easily believe that it is the Devil's and that you endure it only to escape from it to Heaven. Or you can believe that hopelessness is realism and—if you have genius such as Swift's, Voltaire's Schuyler's—you can make laughter from despair, or you may be, as I am, an American revolutionist.

I KNOW THAT man, created in his Creator's image, is creative. I know that man makes progress here in human life, on earth. I know that God gives man the power to reason, to think What is good and then HOW to make it, and that He endows every person with the self-control and responsibility that are freedom. I know that, even today, is a better world than they have made in the past. I know that a few men have discovered the principle upon which, some day, man will make the decent world that (almost) all of us want now.

And I know this isn't enough. Nobody yet sees in his mind a world of liberty and law, as anyone must see in his mind a house before he built it. That idea is the first necessity. Thinkers must think precisely WHAT such a world will be, for how can men try to make it while they don't know what they are trying to make? This is a job for you and me, to whom God gives the right, the power, the responsibility, of free thought.

Well, at this writing Admiral Halsey isn't getting much cooperation playing post office with the Japanese fleet and air force. He keeps sending nice invitations to the Japs telling exactly where his fleet is, and what nice luscious ships are in it. But, still no answer. The Japs are probably scratching their heads, trying to think up their next move. On second thought with a thousand of our planes attacking Tokyo, they're probably moving now. I don't think they'd come out even if Hedy Lamarr was there on the admiral's job.

GRACIE

Gracious, if you ask me, I wouldn't be surprised it Admiral Halsey's action in telling the enemy exactly where he is and what he's got might revolutionize the war business. My guess it, the first result would be a lot of spies either retiring or going into the fish business.

News Behind the News

The National Whirligig

WASHINGTON
By RAY TUCKER

REDEPLOYMENT — In Europe and the United States the Army High Command has started the retraining of six million troops who will be redeployed to fight the Japs. The purpose of this vast system of reeducation of men green to the wiles of Pacific warfare is to make every odd in their favor in their new assignment.

Officers are receiving their instruction from Far Eastern veterans at miniature war colleges. The G. I.'s are getting it in barracks and on a thousand fields stretching from France to San Francisco. For the redeployment of the men who crushed Hitler must be mental as well as physical. In a sense they must get the same sort of briefing that a salesman shifting from Berlin to a Tokyo branch office would need.

For the benefit of mothers and fathers whose sons will now fight in the Orient, it can be said that they will be battling a foe decidedly inferior in spirit, savvy, supplies and equipment to those of the Prussians whom the so-called "drugstore cowboys" chased from the Nile to the Rhine and a bit beyond that historic stream.

And don't worry too much about their supposed exposure to disease or discomfort. Chief of Staff George C. Marshall began preparations for the Japanese campaign long before Hitler was polished off. He has taken every precaution for holding down casualties from bullets or boredom.

There follows a short summary of the differences and likenesses of warfare which the doughfoot will encounter when he is shifted from the European to the Far Eastern theater of operations.

DULL — The climate in the new "Over There" will be better in some respects, for our forces have moved northward from the swamps and jungles ridden with snakes, insects and malaria. It will be no hotter than the sands of North Africa and the Campagna in the daytime, and no colder than nights in Tunisian deserts, in the mountains of Italy or on the wet damp plains of France and Germany.

The hours of combat will be intense, but they will be shorter, and the rest periods will be longer. Our concentration of power against a single enemy enables us to provide more frequent relief. We will enjoy the enviable advantage of Knute Rockne's famous Notre Dame football teams. He could rush onto the field a new eleven every fifteen minutes of the sixty.

The greatest enemy will be ennui. Even a sleepy Italian town or a one-street French hamlet, with its estaminets and hippy belles, is more exciting than coral or volcanic dots on the awesome Pacific Ocean. But the Army and Navy plan to step up recreational diversions—sports, theaters, libraries, educational centers— far beyond past activities in this area.

Nevertheless, redeployed veterans must become reconciled to a dull and drab job. Tracking buck-toothed Japs through porous caves will not match the thrill that came from conquest of Europe's historic cities —Rome, Paris, Marseilles, Brest, Orleans, Cologne. It will be the kind of weary-Wille war depicted in "G. I. Joe", the new Ernie Pyle movie.

TRAMPS — Jap strategy and tactics are modelled on the German pattern in some respects, but they are remarkably different in many ways. Hitler and Hirohito, although members of the same low lodge, did not speak the same language or swap many secrets. There is no honor among dictators.

A Nip outfit looks like a bunch of tramps; Coxey's army were gentlemen of fashion by comparison. Their small arms, artillery and motorized equipment are secondrate. But they have the tremendous advantage of fighting on terrain on which they have mapped and studied for years. They know every range. That statement applies to every island we have seized—from Guadalcanal to Okinawa— but it will be even more true when we descend on the mainland.

It is for this reason that their mortars, heavy guns and even their undersized rifles have been so effective. Their knowledge of the geology and geography of the battleground makes up for the deficiency in materiel. And the little brown men have developed sniping and shadow fighting to a deadly art. Redeployed Americans must resort to the back-alley caution and stalth which their forefathers used against the Indians in colonial days.

The Japs are far behind the Germans in the employment of mines and booby traps, Nazi tricks which crippled so many of our men on the Continent. They are amateurs at demolition, as our engineers discovered when we recaptured oil wells in Borneo. These can be put in operation with a few weeks, wheras it had been thought that there would be a three-month delay.

Doughfoots now under retraining will enjoy several advantages over their pioneering pals. Save for a few suicide planes, the Jap air force and navy are virtually destroyed, while ours grow stronger every day. Hardly a week passes that a hundred B-29's, a carrier and a destroyer do not roll out of the factory or shipyard.

UPTON CLOSE:

Writer Decides To Pass Matter On to Reader

I don't know how you are going to take to this, but having been unable to decide in my own mind just what is wrong with it, if anything, I'm going to pass it along to you, Dear Reader.

You know, the immense Willow Run Bomber Plant which was operated by Ford, but belongs to you, the taxpaper, is now practically closed down and is for sale. You have probably heard, as I have, on reliable information, that the surplus property authorities would jump at an offer of ten cents on the dollar. You may also have heard that they have had offers—with reservations—of something like five cents on the dollar.

Here comes a point of view from a graduate of Annapolis Naval Academy, and an officer in the last world war. As I said, I don't know just what is wrong with it, but it strikes me there is enough right with it to make it very worthwhile for you and your congressman to think about it:

"Nobody is offering to sell our battleships at five cents on the dollar. You can imagine the outcry that would be raised if they did. I see no more reason for selling Willow Run or any other government-owned plant than for selling our battleships at the close of this war. As a matter of fact, plants that can make airplanes or battleships are a great deal more valuable protective military equipment than the battleships or the planes themselves.

"You ask what, then, do we do with a plant like Willow Run? I say, do the same thing we do with battleships. We tie a ship up someplace such as the back bay of Philadelphia with a few officers on board —everything greased and covered up, with only enough men to prevent rapid deterioration. The ship can be put into commission in a short time if needed.

"Now why should we not do the same thing with Willow Run? Why not set aside all war plants owned by the Government, and in addition sell to the Government in toto those in which it now owns a controlling interest, and all plants that are being left as white elephants on the hands of private owners because they are not efficient for peacetime production? Then why not turn these war plants into a 'War Plant Reserve' similiar to our Naval Reserve?

"Possession of such a war plant reserve would give this Nation a greater insurance against another war, a greater position in international confabs, a greater voice for world peace, and higher prestige than any standing army or navy. They should have a capacity of producing 50,000 airplanes a year, plus a ratio of guns, tanks and ammunition in proportion. In addition, portions of them should be used as storehouses for great stocks of government-owned raw material, and perhaps large stocks of partly fabricated war machines. This would be a better protection than anything the San Francisco Peace Conference has devised.

"It will be said that Willow Run and other plants would be obsolete by the next war. The point is, they are not obsolete now—and who knows when the next war will start? They will no more be obsolete in the next war than the battleships that we are not going to sink this time, and if we see, during a period of peace, that either the plants or battleships are growing obsolete, we can then scrap both if we feel sure that the age of world peace has arrived, or we can begin to modernize both, or if necessary, replace both, if we see that another war is coming on. It certainly seems to this old sailor that if prospects for world peace are so black that we must have a peacetime military training system, then, certainly we would be foolish to destroy our military industrial potential.

"I am viewing this matter primarily as a professional navy man. I think a professional army or airforce man would feel the same. You of course, can take up the economic angle as a protagonist for free enterprise. I can see that as long as the fate of these great, empty plants remains undecided, whether they are put up for sale or not, they are going to be the greatest standing tempation to politicians in the history of Government, and that is saying quite a lot. There will be conspiracies to make profit out of junking them or otherwise using them, and above all, there will be the explosive combination of empty plants and idle workers for political demagogues, who know not the first thing about the laws of production and distribution, to throw in the lighted matches of oratory.

Empty war plants turned into production for instruments, run by the Government, mean nothing less than state Socialism and the end of the American enterprise and initiative which made today's plants effective and gave us such military strength.

"In two ways, then, the creation of War Plant Reserve might save us from or in another war: One, by keeping ready for instant use the present greatest war plants in the world; two, by preserving individual enterprise industry, which will have to make the plants and gadgets when those we know now become obslete. It was having that kind of enterprise industry which saved us and our allies in the two-war jam our leaders got us into in 1941."

I haven't been able to get my Naval officer friend's ideas off my mind, so, like someone telling a bad dream in order to forget it, I pass them on to you. This may however be a good deal more than a bad dream.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD — Myrna Loy of the freckles and the turned-up nose is about to be chased by a man on the screen.

"It will be such novelty," she chuckled to us, "that I'll probably ask the studio for a stunt check."

Being pursued by gentlemen off the screen is nothing new to the lovely Myrna, whose postwar plan includes, according to rumor, a naval officer. We asked her about this fellow, whose name we are censoring at her request (but X Markeys the spot) and she admitted everything but anything.

But on the screen Hollywood has typed Myrna as "the perfect wife."

"So perfect," she said, "that I was a pretty dull character. I sparkled like a piece of old pewter."

Myrna was reclining on a lounge in her garden, acquiring, she figured, about 20 freckles a minute beneath the hot sun. She's fairly peppered with 'em and smack at the tip of her nose is the biggest and cutest freckle of them all.

ESCAPES THIN MAN

It took a lot of doing to get Myrna out of those perfect wife roles, or to be more specific, out of the Thin Man films. She practically went on a sitdown strike for two years in New York, finally talked M-G-M studio into tearing up her contract after promising to do one more in the series.

Before the torn contract reached the studio incinerator, Producers Jack Skirball and Bruce Manning had her name on another contract as feminine star in a flicker titled, "Genius in the Family." Other producers now are bombarding her with scripts ranging all the way from heavy drama to light comedy.

"One script," she laughed, "even had me murdering my hunband with a jackknife. I think I'd like that."

There are plenty of lethal weapons in "Genius" but Myrna doesn't use them. She plays an 1870 Brooklyn pinup girl who slays the gay young blades with her charm and finally marries one of them, Hiram Maxim, inventor of the machine gun. played by Don Ameche.

But it is not the story of Maximilian's inventions. Only inventing Don does in the film is inventing days to date Myrna. Sure, the chase ends in marriage. They even have a son. But Myrna is far from being a perfect wife, even if she is a good one.

As you no doubt remember, Myrna started out married to Bill Powell, the manhunter, in the Thin Man series and stayed married all the way through five of 'em. She didn't even get into a solid argument anywhere along the way, nodding happily no matter what happened to the old man.

SOLID STUFF

Talking about the role, she said there's a solid substance to it which she hasn't had for a long time.

"Instead of being the perfect playmate, puzzled but happy, willing to go along with a gag, but wondering what's the answer, I'm a girl who dreams up a few tricks of her own, who bosses the man for a change. As a matter of fact, even after he catches me he goes right on chasing me. Quite a boy, that."

World Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

One of the critical and delicate cases likely to be considered at the coming clinic of doctors Truman, Stalin and Churchill — physicians extraordinary to the world—is that of Spain, the problem being what measures are necessary to purge this proud and important country of the Axis plague.

The way things stand now, it looks very much as though the cure of Spain's ills lies in a change of government. Support for that idea is seen in the action of a commission at the San Francisco security conference — the commission having voted that the Franco regime, because it had Axis support in coming to power, should never be admitted to membership. That's a broad hint, to say the least.

Now of course it would be easy for the Big Three to treat Spain's malady roughly. A lot of folk are asking why the United Nations should be considerate in the case of Spain when we have just fought the bloodiest war of history to exterminate Nazism and Fascism. Why not use the big stick?

I'm afraid the answer isn't quite so easy as that. After all, sovereignty is the mightiest item among the many nations, great and small, which came so close to slavery at the hands of the Axis. The Big Three undoubtedly would prefer that Spain cure herself. That attitude has been pursued in the case of Italy.

Here it should be emphasized that there's a difference between "Spain" and the Franco falange party which is in power. The generalissimo consorted with Hitler and Mussolini throughout the war — something which none of the United Nations can forgive. Apart from that Moscow won't soon forget that the Franco regime has been violently anti-communistic from the start and was pitted against the communists in the civil war that brought him to power.

Britain, while roundly condemning Madrid's dealings with Hitler and Mussolini, has more than once shown a desire to give Spain a chance to rehabilitate herself.

OFFICE CAT

Little Steve, six, was a profanity addict, which caused his mother anguish no end. One day Steve got an invitation to a playmate's birthday party. As he left the house, his mother's final caution was:

Mother—Stephen, I've asked Mrs. Wilson to send you straight home the minute you use one bad word.

Twenty minutes later Steve was back home. His mother was angry. Steve was sent to bed. His attempts at explanation were ignored. A little later, however, his mother softened and went upstairs to see how Steve was taking it. Sitting at his bedside, she inquired:

Mother—Tell me truthfully, Steve, just why Mrs. Wilson sent you home. What did you do?

Stephen (humiliated, but still wrathfull)—Do? I didn't do nothing. That party ain't 'till tomorrow.

Canada is the greatest producer of asbestos in the world.

Kiss and Tell

by F. HUGH HERBERT

An Actual Movie Shooting Script

THE STORY: Corliss Archer and Mildred Pringle ostensibly selling guest towels at a USO bazaar, were actually selling kisses. All went well until their mothers turned up. On the way home in Mrs. Pringle's car, there is an argument and each mother is inclined to blame the idea on the other's offspring. They part indignantly.

V

INT. ARCHER HOME—BACK PORCH

This room used to be a deck with an awning but has been walled and roofed in to make a large, irregular shaped cezy room. Stairs, which used to be outside stairs, lead directly up to Corliss' bedroom. Under the stairs, somewhat awkwardly located, there is a ping pong table. There is a large fireplace with framed photographs on the mantel. The furnishings are obviously items demoted from other rooms of the house because of their shabbiness. There is a door leading directly to the kitchen; another one to the hall which communicates with the front of the house. There is a screen door leading out into the garden.

At the moment, Corliss is lounging sulkily against the fireplace. She looks apprehensively towards the kitchen. The door is open, and just inside Mrs. Archer can be seen talking to Louise, the Archers' maid. LOUISE is a stocky, forthright woman who has been with the Archers for 22 years. Louise is evidently getting the low-down about Corliss' behavior at the bazaar.

MRS. ARCHER: And imagine it, Louise—I found Corliss—!

CORLISS: (anguished) Mum, please!

Louise looks at Corliss, shaking her head in a shocked manner. Mrs. Archer promptly closes the door to the kitchen so that she can continue with her story uninterrupted. Corliss sighs despondently and then scowls as Dexter mooches onto the porch through the screen door from the garden.

CLOSE SHOT—DEXTER AND CORLISS

CORLISS: (coldly) And may I ask what you're hanging around for?

DEXTER: (seething with mingled emotions) Selling kisses! I was never more humiliated in my life! To think that you—you of all people—

CORLISS: (irritably) Oh, dry up!

She turns her back and straightens a framed picture on the mantel. It is the likeness of a good-looking boy in the uniform of the Army Air Force—her brother Lenny. Dexter takes advantage of this circumstance.

DEXTER: (dramatically) I should think you'd be ashamed —right under the picture of your brother who's fighting for his country while you're dragging the name of Archer through the mud!

CORLISS: You leave Lenny out of this!

DEXTER: When he comes home on leave, he'll find out.

CORLISS: (quickly) Lenny mustn't ever know! It's absolutely imperitable that he shouldn't!

DEXTER: (wearily) You mean imperative.

CORLISS: I mean you're to shut up!

DEXTER: I shall make a point of telling him personally.

Corliss studies him shrewdly. She realizes that temper is getting her nowhere and decides to try a line of smooch.

CORLISS: (soulfully) Dexter, would you like to do me a terrific favor?

DEXTER: (gulping) I'd do anything for you—you know I would!

CORLISS: (moving in for the kill) Then will you promise not to tell Lenny when he does come home? (extremely confidential) On account of—well—Mildred and Lenny. And romance is so beautiful, Dexter! We know that, don't we?

An almost asthmatic sigh from Dexter.

DEXTER: (grudgingly) Okay—I promise. (hastily) On one condition.

CORLISS: What's that?

DEXTER: Well, it's nothing you've got to do right now—immediately. It's just what we've been talking about—you know what I mean.

CORLISS: Well, is there any harm in telling me?

DEXTER: (faintly irritated) Don't make me go through it all again, Corliss. You know what I mean. After all, I will be 18 some day—and even 19—and 20.

CORLISS: (she loves to watch Dexter suffer) Are you proposing to me, Dexter?

DEXTER: Don't kid about it, Corliss. I know it sounds funny when all I've got is an allowance of 50 cents a week—(with touching boyish sincerity) —but it isn't funny to me. I'm only asking you to wait for me.

CORLISS: (very sweetly) All right, Dexter—I'll wait.

DEXTER: (quite overcome) Gosh, Corliss, you're swell!

DIFFERENT ANGLE—SHOOTING TOWARD KITCHEN DOOR

The knob turns and the door is about to open. Dexter darts towards the screen door on his way out.

DEXTER: Don't forget we're going to the movies tonight.

CORLISS: Okay.

As Mrs. Archer comes out onto the porch, Dexter ducks out of sight. Corliss looks over at her mother anxiously.

CORLISS: Mum, are you going to tell Daddy?

MRS. ARCHER: (gravely) Yes, Corliss, I must. It's my duty.

From out in the hall off screen we hear the cheerful slamming of the front door and Mr. Archer's voice calling out.

LITTLE NEWS ABOUT BIG PEOPLE

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Edward R. Stettinius, Jr., may have the last laugh yet. Critics demanded that he be removed as secretary of state because they didn't want a man who had never been elected to public office first in line for the presidency, should anything happen to President Truman. They got their wish. Stettinius was therefore "kicked upstairs" to the job of head man for the U. S. delegation to the United Nations organization. As such, Stettinius stands a good chance of becoming president of either the UNO security council or president of the general assembly. The irony of that development would be that a man who was never elected to any public office and wasn't considered good enough to be president of the United States might still be considered able enough to head up the United Nations organization to maintain the peace and security of the entire world.

When the new secretary of labor, Judge Lewis B. Schwellanbach, held his first press conference on the day he took office, he announced that in the future he was going to hold some two-day press conferences. What he had in mind was calling in some of the reporters who regularly cover the labor department and labor affairs to get the advice of these experts on what to do about some of the tougher labor problems.

"That," cracked one reporter, "would get you completely confused."

BILBO SUSTAINS DIRECT HIT

The anti-fair employment policy committee filibuster put on by senators Theodore G. Bilbo and James O. Eastland of Mississippi was too much in the nature of a flagpole-sitting contest to be a good show, but there were a couple of laughs in it at that. At one point in the proceedings, flagpole-sitter Bilbo referred to FEPC champion Dennis Chavez as "my friend from Mexico." Senator Chavez was on his feet in an instant to protest: "I insist to the senator that I am from New Mexico and not from Mexico. . . . Does the senator know where New Mexico is?"

"I know a little about my country," Bilbo answered.

"I am satisfied that 'little' is correct," Chavez said, and sat down.

Judge Fred M. Vinsons press conference seminar on the third quarterly report of the office of war mobilization got sidetracked into the haberdashery business in a couple places. First Judge Vinson said that at his last press conference three months before. Fred Othman, of the United Press had referred to him as a wearer of nondescript neckties. The judge said he wanted it known that his wife bought all his neckties. Then Felix Colten of the International News Service wanted to know what the government's wage policy was going to be for the so-called "blue collar" workers. Felix was the only man present wearing a blue shirt.

JUST NATURALLY GO TOGETHER

Senator Tom Connally of Texas fired the first round in the fight for ratification of the United Nations charter, and while everyone admitted it was a great speech, the foreign relations committee chairman read from prepared text instead of shooting straight from the lip, as old-fashioned Fourth of July picnic spielers used to do. Connally was spouting along at a great rate near the end of his oration when his tongue slipped: "The tragic war in which we are now engaged has spread its horrors to distant parts of the earth," thundered the senator. "There have been more marching men than composed the combined armies of Caesar, Alexander Hamilton . . ." He paused, took a second look at his manuscript and then picked up with . . . "Caesar, Alexander, Hannibal, Genghis Khan, Napoleon and all the other gory conquerors of the past."

When you say "Alexander," it's force of habit to say "Hamilton" in the spellbinders business.

There Are Five Booby Traps In Reconversion at Detroit

By S. BURTON HEATH
NEA Staff Corresondent

DETROIT—There are five highly explosive booby traps in the cutback, reconversion situation in the nation's leading war produtcion city. As enumerated by Edward L. Cushman, area War Manpower Director, they are—without attempting to decide the order of their importance

1. Jurisdictional questions — this one may be licked, though it is best to keep one's fingers crossed.

2. Seniority questions — both among civilian workers and between them and returning service men.

3. Wages—the decreases in take-home income even though hourly rates remain uncut.

4. Supervision — worker resentment of employer attempts to eradicate loose, costly practices encouraged by wartime conditions.

5. Insecurity — a psychological factor: that can breed its own troubles and that will add to the menace of all of the others.

FIVE POINT PROBLEMS

To these, in Detroit, and some other places, there probably must be added a sixth potential land mine—the race question.

Checking upon previous notes it seemed that Director Cushman had summarized, in his five-point list, most of what others said; and when I asked those with whom I talked later about the list, all agreed that it was accurate and complete.

Look it over carefully, and—with or without the sixth, or racial threat—you probably will find that most of the Detroit seeds of discord are present in your own community, ready to produce plenty of trouble as cutbacks get heavy and as management and labor plan for their parts in the postwar civilian economy.

The jurisdictional battle broke out here in May when the AFL, some of whose building trades men had been hired by contractors to work on plant revamping and expansion for imminent civilian car manufacture, demanded that wherever AFL men built new plant AFL men should install the machinery.

The CIO dominates the automomen want to keep at work. So the bile industry, and it maintenance CIO retorted that no AFL men must be used until all available CIO personnel have been utilized. The CIO also demanded men be raised to the level paid AFL builders, who get more on the theory that their employment is less stable.

AFL builders walked out June 14 on five projects at Dodge Truck, Chrysler and Plymouth for post-war-plant construction totaling, $4,500,000, because Chrysler would not meet their demands. Then more than 13,000 United Automobile Workers (CIO) men struck briefly to enforce their counterclaims.

WALKOUTS

There were walkouts in three Ford plants, three Budd plants and two Packard plants. At Packard only 1100 struck, but they were maintenance men, and without them 21,000 others could not work. At Ford only 1500 maintenance men struck, which made it possible for about 14,500 others to keep on the job.

Top-ranking union officers and governmental officials condemned the walkouts, and eventually a a promising solution was found. In each area where there are CIO-AFL conflicts of interest a joint committee will arbitrate disputes; if it fails, a national joint committee will settle the argument.

This arrangement is expected here to avert similar work stoppages not only in Detroit but elsewhere. It seems sensible. It could just as well have been done many months ago, before the trouble arose, when both government and industry representatives warned Washington that this very thing was sure to happen. But the officials to whom the hot potato was handed never took off the peeling. Probably they were too busy.

As overtime becomes increasingly less common, and as full-time returns to a general 40-hour week or less, pay envelopes are going to shrink even for those who hold jobs right through recvonversion. In many families the smaller take-home pay of the father will seem yet skimpier when mother and been war workers drop out of the other family members who have earnings picture.

Already there have been arguments that hourly rates, at peak levels for the war, should be raised enough more to keep weekly pay from falling when less hours are worked.

The AUW contends that dread of layoffs and pay reductions combine with actual dismissals to account for the fact that retail sales in the automobile centers of Michigan dropped 25 per cent in one month; while on one day, July 1, the 20 branches of one bank cashed $300,000 in war bonds.

Those who watch labor activities professionally have no doubt that, whatever the national officers of unions may do, there will be a great deal of contract trouble over the desire of the worker to maintain his weekly earnings at wartime levels. This will appear in the guise of good old-fashioned wage-scale controversy, but in fact it will be one more of the reconversion headaches that the country must expect from now on.

Ten Cents Will Buy Information On Government

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, July 13—(AP)—You can get—for 10 cents—a good education on how our government operates.

It is contained in a booklet—"Our American Government. What Is It? How Does It Function?"—Published by the U. S. government printing office.

The booklet asks and answers 279 questions, many of which you may have wondered about but could not answer.

Here are some examples taken from the booklet:

Q. What are the duties of the whips of the house?

A. The whips (of the majority and minority parties) keep track of all important political legislation and endeavor to have all members of their parties present when important measures are to be voted upon. When the vote is likely to be close they check up, find out who is out of the city, and advise absentees by wire of the important measures coming up. The office of whip is unofficial and carries no salary.

Q. What is a "gentleman's agreement" in congress?

A. At many points procedure in the two houses is governed not by printed rules but by oral agreements between individual members or the membership as a whole. Thus, when a member who wishes to object to a particular bill knows he cannot be present when the measure comes up, he may get another member to object on his behalf. Or the party leaders may agree not to take up controversial measures or business of any consequence before a certain date. Announcement of such agreement is made on the floor.

Q. How does a senator introduce a bill?

A. When a senator rises to introduce a bill, he says "Mr. President," and waits for the vice president to recognize him. The vice president recognizes a senator by looking at him and saying "The senator from XXX," naming the state from which the senator comes.

Then the senator states that he desires to introduce a bill. A senator may introduce a bill at any time by securing unanimous consent for the purpose.

Military Men To Get Exclusive Use Of Pullman Cars

The order of the office of defense transportation at Washington, which affects all sleeping car lines operating less than 450 miles, will necessitate cancellation of some pullman schedules on Santa Fe trains in this territory, effective at noon July 15, according to an announcement today by H. C. Vincent, traffic manager.

The sleeping car line Lubbock to Dallas, leaving Lubbock 9:45 p. m. and returning into Lubbock at 9:20 a. m., over Santa Fe trains 94-95 will be cancelled. This sleeper is operated in connection with the T&P Railway at Sweetwater. Also discontinued will be the sleeping car operating between Albuquerque and El Paso, trains 13-14, leaving Albuquerque 11:55 p. m., arriving El Paso 7:30 a. m., and leaving El Paso at 10:45 p. m., arriving Albuquerque 6:25 a. m.

The pullman cars being usel on thees schedules will immediately be made available for the movement of military personnel.

Mr. Vincent said: "We are sure our many patrons will be willing to make this sacrifice in behalf of the war effort."

Market Briefs

WALL STREET STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 12 (AP)—Steels, motors, assorted rails and utilities attracted investment demand in today's stock market when early light selling failed to loosen accounts to any great extent.

Turnover was in the neighborhood of 900,000 shares.

Further moves in congress toward reconversion tax relief provided bullish inspiration. Idle cash continued as an important prop.

Bethlehem and Columbia gas touched peaks for 1945. In front were U. S. steel, Youngstown sheet, Chrysler, Willys-Overland, Studebaker, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Radio Corp., American Distilling and Goodrich.

Bonds were uneven.

New Mark Is Made by B-29

SEATTLE, July 12 (AP)—A Boeing Flying Fortress called "The Shadow" has climbed to 43,499 feet, an altitude its makers said they believed is a new world record for four-engined aircraft.

The Shadow, Boeing Aircraft Co. announced Thursday night, made the record ascent Wednesday in a regular test flight over Seattle.

The plane, so-named because it is painted jet black on half its fuselage for test purposes, was piloted by James Fraser and carried four other engineers on a flight that lasted more than four hours. The Shadow was above the 40,000-foot leven two hours, 21 minutes.

Crew members took de-nitrogenization exercises before the take-off, and used oxygen throughout the flight.

Boeing said that based on records of the National Aeronautics association, The Shadow set a new national altitude record for all types of airplanes, eclipsing the 43,166-mark established in June, 1930, at Anacostia, D. C.

The NAA lists as an international record the 56,046-foot altitude reached over Italy in October, 1938, in an Italian plane, but this was not a four-engined aircraft.

Bible Predicts Better Football For 1945 in SWC

AUSTIN, July 13—(AP)—D. X. Bible preparing for his ninth season as coach of the University of Texas, came up today with the prediction that football will be better and more interesting this fall.

For the campaigns the Southwest conference has been far below its normal stride but Bible found rosters for 1945 to carry plenty of experience. Practically every team is loaded with veteran material.

"I think you will see a much better brand of football and I think the new rules designed to speed up the game and make for more passing will give us better football to watch," he said.

Bible also could see no handicap in the news transportation rule that prohibits use of pullmans for trips under 450 miles. The only jaunt Texas makes that can't be covered by day coach is to Little Rock to play Arkansas and that is a distance of 460 miles. He says other conference schools have similar schedules.

The veteran coach looked over his own material and said he feared he wouldn't be able to replace Bobby Layne, ace passer and runner of 1944, but that he had a good line nucleus and more speed in the backfield.

Texas has received a half-dozen experienced men from other colleges in Texas in the naval training program including two from conference champion Texas Christian —Ransom Jackson and Monroe Harrelson, both backs. However, Bible anticipates losing a number of his naval trainees on Nov. 1.

Texas won the championship in 1042 and 1943 but missed last year when Layne was injured in the heat of the campaign. The Longhorns will rule top favorites to return to their title ways in 1945.

Flyers Are Hosts To Nine From Big Spring Air Field

Seeking their thirteenth and fourteenth wins of the season, the Flyers of Pampa Army Air Field play host this week-end to the baseball team from Big Spring AAF on the new post diamond. Saturday's game will start at 4:30 p. m. with the Sunday affair scheduled for 2:00 p. m.

Walt "Whitey" Petrisky, who hurled a six-hit shutout last week at Frederick, Okla., will undoubtedly be Lt. Joseph Mariana's selection to pitch one of the engagements this week. Petrisky is a southpaw with a blazing fast ball and excellent curve and should go well against the Big Spring aggregation.

Starting assignment in the other game will probably go to Mike Greek, who lost a well-pitched game at Frederick, due to miscues by his teammates. Tony Reis will be from an ankle injury and will probaround, but he is still suffering ably not be used unless needed.

The infield will be intact, with Malcolm Mick at first base, Marty Knell at second, Johnny Bulkley at short and hammering Homer Durden at third. Outfielders will be selected for an array of talent including Hershel "Red" Evans, Lou Hocevar, "Ish" Henry, Cleo Patty Vern Laux and Merlin Walker, who recently returned to the squad after a long layoff due to a shoulder injury. Johnny Rusek, who suffered a broken angle before the first game of the season, has returned to bolster the infield.

Elmer "Pap" Berry will do the catching in both games, but in case he should need a rest, he will receive assistance from Bill Guthrie, a recent addition to the squad, who has looked good in daily workouts.

The Big Spring games were originally scheduled as road engagements for the Flyers, but they were transferred to this field by mutual agreement of the team managers.

Bobo Newsom Breaks 12-Game Losing Streak, Beats Browns

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Bobo Newsom still wears the pitcher's dunce cap and Tommy Holmes is teacher's pet in the hitting class but the epidemic of "streakitis" that threatened to overshadow the major league pennant races is over.

It took Newsom from April 21 to July 12 to pick up a mound decision but he finally broke his 12-game losing dirge yesterday with a brillian four-hit shutout of last year's champion St. Louis Brown, 4-0.

Holmes had hit safely in 37 consecutive games, breaking Rogers Hornsby's modern National League record, until his old Wrigley Field jinx stopped him in the first game of a Braves-Cubs doubleheader that attracted a banner weekday tournout of 29,513 paid.

Hank Wyse, one of the two Bruin hurlers who had horse-collared Holmes back on June 3, his last hitless day, snapped the season's most sensational spurt by sending the Boston outfielder to the dugout without a bingle in four trips to the plate.

Chicago triumphed behind Wyse, 6-1, stretching its victory string to 11, but that streak also was doomed as Boston swung back to even the series, 3-1, on Carden Gillenwater's two-run homer in the ninth.

The Braves got ample revenge for that 24-2 pasting in Boston in the second tilt because Claude Passeau's nine-game win streak also fell by the wayside. Wyse won his eleventh in the opener.

Brooklyn broke out of a slump that cost them 5 of their last 7 games by swamping Cincinnati, 11-5, in the late half of a twi-night doubleheader after blowing the first one, 4-3. To the veteran Joe Bowman. The split left the Brooks only a game back of the first-place Cubs.

Danny Gardella doubled home two runs in the 10th inning for New York's 9-7 margin over the Cardinals.

Mel Ott's pinch homer with two hired hands on base, his first since June 10, kept the Giants in the ball game in which seven hurlers saw action. Ace Adams was the eventual victory and rookie George Dockins the loser.

Pittsburgh opened a long home stand which Frankie Frisch hopes will get the Pirates back into the race by shutting the door in the Phillies' face, 4-0.

Washington moved to within 3 1-2 lengths of front-running Detroit on a night 4-2 edge over Chicago. It was Dutch Leonard's 10th decision but the knuckleball expert was not around at the finish as he injured his right hand fielding a hard hit ball in the eighth inning.

Jim Wilson outpitched Hal Newhouser, the Tigers' ace, to give Boston a slim 2-1.

With Newsom's revival acting as a spur, the Athletics went into a complete form reversal and shut out the Browns twice, 4-0 and 11-0.

The home run that built the Yankee stadium backfired on the New York Giants as Cleveland poled three into the stands in grabbing a 7-4 decision.

Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, July 13 (AP)—Now that horse racing and baseball have been forced to recognize the seriousness of the transportation shortage, we wonder if college football will get the idea without being told . . . so far the only institution that has checked in here with news of a schedule change is Compton, Calif., college, which cancelled three games requiring rail travel and scheduled service teams that will provide the transportation. . . . Tulane, with 43 freshmen registering for football the first day, is using its football dormitory for the first time since the Navy V-12 program was established. As usual, when the sailors moved out the (green) WAVES moved in.

Byron Nelson Conquers Jinx To Edge Out Mike Turnesa in PGA

By FRITZ HOWELL

DAYTON, O., July 13—(AP)—Three years ago, at Atlantic City, Toledo's Byron Nelson stood on the 36th green, needing a 20-inch putt to defeat Jim Turnesa of Mamroneck, N. Y.

He missed it, and Jim whipped him on the 37th.

Yesterday, at Moraine Country club, Nelson stood on the 36th green, needing a 20-inch putt to defeat Jim's brother, Mike.

He made it—although the ball went in the back door—and, having whipped a case of coincidence-caused jitters, Nelson was a more-than-ever favorite today to snatch the 27th PGA championship.

Up to the 36th hole, where he got his par to close out the match, Nelson had made what Prexy Ed Dudley said was the greatest three-hole finish in the last 20 years of PGA firing.

With four holes to go, Nelson was two down. Facing elimination, he called on that extra something that makes champions and whizzed in with a birdie, birdie and then a housing eagle to go into the last hole one up.

Nelson was just 10 strokes under par for the 36 holes — and it was a heart-breaking day for Turnesa who said:

"I was seven under par, the best round I've played in a long time, but it wasn't good enough. I thought I had him but he got away. I don't see how anyone can beat him."

That sentiment was echoed by Gene Sarazen, Nelson's veteran first round victim. "You can have your Hagens, Joneses and Vardons," Sarazen said, "and I'll take Nelson. He's the greatest golfer who ever lived."

Facing the Toledo umbrella man today is Benny Shute of Akron, O., 1936 and 1937 winner, who yesterday hung a 5 and 4 defeat on Bob Kepler of Columbus, coach of Ohio State's Intercollegiate champs.

Should Nelson get past Shute, as the experts predict, there's a chance he'll run into the tournament's freshman, Claude Harmon of Grosse Point, Mich., in Saturday's warfare. Harmon reached the quarter-finals with a rousing 8 and 7 win over Jim Turnesa.

The tournament ends Sunday.

Junior Oilers To Play Squadron B At 8:30 Tonight

Winning their eighth victory of the year and pulling to within one-half game of the league-leading Squadron B club, the PAAF Kimboys swamped the Phillips Oilers last night 11 to 5 as Muraczewski slammed out four doubles in four trips to the plate.

In his last 16 trips to the plate, Muraczewski has hammered 12 hits including four home runs and four doubles. Holt hit two doubles and a single for the Kimboys last night. The game was played on the Phillips diamond.

Tonight, starting at 8:30, Squadron B, not too secure in its first-place position, will take on the speedy Junior Oilers in the first game of a double bill. The Oilers are in fifth place with six wins and five losses but, as this is to be the last game of the first half of the season for the Oilers, they are going to be out to upset the "B's".

In the second game of the doubleheader, the hapless Gargray club will play the seventh-place Odd Fellows team.

After tonight's action, four teams will have completed their first half play. The half officially ends tonight, but several games will have to be made up.

To: CAROLINE NELSON and husband, H. S. Nelson, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of Caroline Nelson, Deceased, Mrs. H. S. Nelson and husband, H. S. Nelson, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of Mrs. H. S. Nelson, Deceased, Mrs. H. S. Nelson as executrix of the Estate of Sofia Freeman, Deceased, Sophia C. Freeman, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of Sophia C. Freeman, Deceased, and all persons claiming any title or interest in the land hereinafter described under deed heretofore made by C. O. Ellis to Sophia C. Freeman of Gray County, Texas, as grantee, dated January ....., 1927, and recorded in Volume 33, page 147 of the Deed Records of Gray County, Texas, GREETING:

You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's petition at or before 10 o'clock a. m. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation, the same being Monday, the sixth day of August, A. D., 1945, at or before 10 o'clock a. m., before the Honorable 31st District Court of Gray County, at the Court House in Pampa, Texas.

Said plaintiff's petition was filed on the 20th day of June, 1945.

The file number of said suit being 7886.

The names of the parties in said suit are:

Charles Bretthauer as Plaintiff, and Caroline Nelson and husband, H. S. Nelson, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of Caroline Nelson, Deceased, Mrs. H. S. Nelson and husband, H. S. Nelson, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of Mrs. H. S. Nelson, Deceased, Mrs. H. S. Nelson as executrix of the Estate of Sofia Freeman, Deceased, Sophia C. Freeman, the unknown heirs and legal representatives of Sophia C. Freeman, Deceased, and all persons claiming any title or interest in the land hereinafter described under deed heretofore made by C. O. Ellis to Sophia C. Freeman of Gray County, Texas, as grantee, dated January ....., 1927, and recorded in Volume 33, page 147 of the Deed Records of Gray County, Texas, as Defendants.

The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to wit:

Plaintiff sues in trespass to try title, alleging that on March 21, 1935, he was, and still is, owner in fee simple of the following described premises situated in Gray County, Texas:

All of Lot No. 13 in Block No. 2 of the Ten Acre Addition to the City of Pampa, Gray County, Texas, according to the map or plat of said addition of record in the office of the County Clerk of said county.

That on such day he was in possession of such premises, and afterwards on March 22, 1935, the defendants unlawfully entered upon and dispossessed plaintiff of such premises, and withheld from him the possession thereof.

Plaintiff further alleges that he and those whose title he holds, claiming the same under deeds duly registered, have had peaceable, continuous, and adverse possession of the lands and tenements above described, cultivating, using and enjoying the same, and paying all taxes as same became due thereon, for a period of more than five years before the commencement of this suit.

Plaintiff prays for title and possession of the above described premises, for costs of suit, and general and special relief.

Issued this the 20th day of June, 1945.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Pampa, Texas, this the 20th day of June, A. D., 1945.

(SEAL) DEE PATTERSON,
Clerk, 31st District Court, Gray County, Texas.

Tarleton Coach Seeks More Football Games

STEPHENVILLE, July 13—(AP)—Bergstom army air field and North Texas Agricultural college are on the football schedule of John Tarleton college for next fall and Coach Jimmie Marshall is seeking other games.

Marshall said he preferred other Junior colleges or Senior college B teams as the service teams met last fall proved rather strenuous for the 17-year-old boys who made up the Tarleton squad.

Reporter Finds Pampans Happy On 'Jinx' Day

By WANDA JAY
News Staff Writer

Who said Friday 13 was the day of black cats, superstitutions and unhappy events?

From a trip about town, it has been determined that Pampans consider today anything but a jinx day. In several cases it's been progressive as well as eventful.

W. C. deCordova was in high spirits this morning owing to the fact that $453,000 in two civic bond issues has been bid upon by bond holding companies.

E. O. "Red" Wedgeworth, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said he was pleased over the prospects of the fine luncheon next Monday. Wedgeworth reported that 2-3 of the tickets have been sold up to date.

County Agent J. P. Smith was happy to be even alive on Friday 13 however the rainfall last night which is the first general rain that has fallen over Gray county this year could have added to his happy outlook.

The local Red Cross officials are looking forward to the improvements they hope to achieve as a result of today's visit of two consultants from the St. Louis Red Cross chapter.

The court of honor for boy scouts which is set for tonight in Wheeler, is anticipated by Rugo Olsen, scout executive for this council. Olsen is especially proud of one boy who will become an Eagle Scout.

O. W. Hampton, general manager of the Top O' Texas rodeo is convinced that the show in August will be one of Pampa's greatest. He commended the progress of the various committee chairmen who are planning the rodeo.

At the moment the prospects for an uneventful Friday 13 look good, but for the remaining hours watch those black cats.

Interest Rate

pay you par plus accrued interest to the date of delivery and plus a premium of $800.

"For the second, $390,000 water and sewer revenue bonds, said bonds to bear interest at the rate of 1 3-4 per cent per annum for all bonds maturing 1946 to 1961 inclusive; and the rate of 2 1-4 per cent per annum for all bonds maturing 1962 to 1965 inclusive; both principal and interest payable at the Mercantile National Bank of Dallas; to be in denominations of $1,000 each; we will pay you par plus interest to the date of delivery and plus a premium of $576."

The gross interest cost of the city on these two issues will be $93,606.25 and deducting the premiums, will be $95,230.25.

A. A. Schuneman, local banker, said that this rate compared very favorably to the rate the government pays on Series F and G bonds and that showed the bond company thought a lot of Pampa and Gray county and its ability to stand behind whatever is undertaken.

C. M. Smith, Plainview, representative of the successful bidders, said, "Our company bids what it thinks a city bonds are worth regardless of any ideas any other bidders may hav .

"I first came to Pampa in 1926," Smith said, "and have been present at every offering of bids by the city of Pampa, the Pampa independent school district, the city of McLean and its school district and the LeFors school district and our company has bought every one of the bonds issued by all of these subdivisions.

"We believe in Pampa and Gray county and we have purchaser of bonds who look forward to an offering from Gray county and its subdivisions.

"I am very happy that we were able to give Pampa the benefit of a good bid for its bonds."

tleship were among the storm damaged vessels.

Nimitz made no mention of current carrier activity. Land-bas d air forces filled in the gap with more than 700 planes, ranging from giant Superforts to little Mustang fighters, sweeping over a 770 mile arc of the enemy homeland.

More than 500 Superforts in their sixth strike this month set at least four Japanese cities alame and rained demolition bombs on the Kawasaki oil center in Tokyo bay. Japanese broadcasts said fires were started in seven cities.

A steady red glow lighted Tsuruga, western Honshu seaport that once sent invasion troops to China. Flashes of fire mingled with static electricity as B-29s lunged through a rainstorm to hit Uwajima, an interisland port on western Shikoku island. Other fire targets were Utsunomiya, north of Tokyo and Ichinomiya, nine miles from Nagoya. All four cities were new entries in the list of 38 Nipponese cities that have been fire-bombed.

Naval search planes raided shipping 200 miles north of Tokyo, and Okinawa-based aircraft lashed at suicide air bases 570 miles southwest of the capital.

aJpaneses interceptors were rarely seen, although the Nipponese have an estimated 9,000 planes left including 4,000 which could be used over Japan. Brig. Gen. David F. Hutchinson, 37-year-old commander of the advanced far east air force in Okinawa, expressed confidence that Japanese "don't intend to engage us in the air" but are husbanding their planes for suicide attacks on invasions forces.

MEATLESS FRIDAY

TULSA, Okla., July 13 (AP)—Lots of things are left in post offices these busy days but postmaster George Watkins believes the red point for absent-mindedness goes to the person who walked off leaving a good sized slab of salt pork on a writing table.

Making Pigs of Themselves

When a quartet of 2-months-old pigs of C. S. Sparlin, near De Queen, Ark., showed a decided preference for cow's milk direct from Buttercup, the farmer had to pen them up. Above is barnyard scene that put the pigs in the pen.

Reporting Under Pacific Dateline

By JAMES HUTCHESON

WITH ALLIED FORCES IN BORNEO—(AP)—Some American boys are beginning to call themselves "the unknown soldiers at Borneo."

Communiques tell how Australian troops swept ashore; how the cruiser bruisers of the Seventh fleet pounded the beaches; how the RAAF and 13th air force bombed hell out of enemy installations.

But you seldom hear of the Americans who put them ashore; the boys who man the amphibious tractors (buffaloes or alligators) in the first assault waves; the lads who follow close in behind at the controls of landing barges in the fourth or fifth or seventh waves. After close to half a dozen landings in 10 days in the Brunei Bay sector of Borneo, they are beginning to think they're the "men of the permanent waves."

Two outfits which have done a heap of beach work for the Australian troops in Borneo are the boat battalion of the 593rd engineers boat and shore batalion and the 727th amphibian tractor battalion. The 593rd had more than 1,000 officers and men on the beach or on the bay for the Brunei Bay operations, under command of Lt. Col. Charles V. McCaffery of Scituate, Mass.

The boat battalion is a big enough unit to haul its own American provisions with it, but the amphibian crews have to take "pot-luck" with the Australians.

They think the Aussies are tops as infrantrymen, but they don't think so much of their army diet. They'd like to get back to American troops and American mess lines; to pork and beans, coffee, hot cocoa—yes, even to powdered eggs, pressed pork and "K" rations.

It sounds like dangerous business, this piloting the waddling tracks into an enemy beach, but the boys say they have had only two or three of their men wounded in getting troops ashore.

Texas Today . . .

By JACK RATLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Women are notorious for loquaciousness but City Detective Sam Haynes of San Angelo found one who just wouldn't talk.

It was early one morning. He walked into the dimly lighted corporation court. He saw a woman leaning against a wall, hand on hip and cigaret in mouth, casting a brittle stare at him.

"Good morning," he said tentatively. She just stared. He walked closer, eyed her suspiciously.

The "woman" was a dummy that patrolmen had found and brought into court.

Because the mayor of Corsicana had a rip in his pants, the city's milk fund is $6 richer.

Someone noticed the rip, and as a joke took up a collection to buy Mayor John C. Calhoun a new pair of trousers. Buddies chipped in $6.

Mayor Calhoun accepted the money—and put it in the milk fund.

The Waco Times Herald says the title of this little story should be "Grabbed, Nabbed; or Look, No Hook."

A man was found catching fish with his bare hands, was arrested and turned over to a deputy sheriff. It is illegal to fish that fay.

Top cartoonist of this war is Bill Mauldin. Few know that his wife is a Texan.

Mrs. Mauldin is the former Norma Jean Humphries of Sherman. She met Mauldin while attending Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene, married him within two months. He was from New Mexico.

As Mauldin admits, they had tough going at first but fame has brought a "from rags to riches" ending to it all.

SPILLED MILK

ROCKFORD, Ill., July 13—(AP)—Alex Conratti believes he has a legitimate reason to cry over spilled milk.

A one-gallon jug of milk upset in his car when he made a turn, and the cork popped out. Conratti tried to right the jug but his car crashed into a parked car, caromed across the street and hit a fire hydrant.

Ray Earley Addresses Lions Club Members

Ray Early, manager of the Small War Plants corporation, was the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon of the local Lion's club yesterday.

His associate, F. A. Peek, was also present at the meeting.

Early and Peek were in Pampa in connection with the SWPC and conferred with various business men in Pampa who were interested in small war plants and businesses.

Other guests who were at the luncheon were Mickey Ledrick, Tony Chastain, PAAF, P. E. Shyrock, Dan Smith, Traylor Price, Al Walton, Corpus Christi, and Russell Plow, North Carolina.

This was the first meeting in which D. L. Parker, new president of the club, presided.

French Purge

Claude, an inventor of neon lighting, is among those now serving life terms.

These were mostly supreme court trials or high crimes. It is in the lower courts where the queer and often terrible effects of the German occupation on seemingly ordinary men and women have come to light.

Sometimes it was pure sadism. There was the beautiful and well-born girl who at 19 was one of the French gestapo's most expert torturers. There was the boy who informed on women because the Germans then let him watch them being stripped and mistreated in efforts to make them talk.

The climax of the purge hearings it scheduled for July 23, when the most famous of all the prisoners, Marshal Philippe Petain, is due to be tried.

World Charter

charter will make possible "collective bargaining" between the nations that ought to go a long way toward preventing war.

Dulles, who served as chief advisor to the American delegation at San Francisco, said in a statement prepared for delivery before the committee:

"Either we must act to continue the association of the United Nations or we must let that association lapse and go it alone," he declared in urging approval of the charter.

Thomas, in a prepared statement, said he thought the senate should ratify the charter "not because I believe it an adequate basis for lasting peace, but because I believe that the United States will be in a better position to lead in the establishment of such a basis if it should ratify the charter and in good faith use its constructive provisions for an increase in world cooperation."

CIO President Philip Murray, in a statement submitted to the committee, called for "the early and overwhelming approval of the charter."

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) forecast a favorable committee report either tonight or tomorrow morning.

Two Fliers

"Everyone was quiet and I believe I was in tune with them, because I'm sure we all were praying."

Davis said neither he, the co-pilot nor any of the passengers saw the twin-engined army plane until just before the crash.

The army fliers killed were listed as Cpl. Robert B. Clapp and Cpl. Raleigh A. Allbaugh, Jr., both of Oklohama City, Okla.

Newsmen at the scene said the arm plane exploded two miles from the point of collision, taking one occupant to his death and the third flier was uninjured in his successful jump.

Both engines of the airliner were knocked out, its left wing partially torn off and the fuselage aft of the cockpit was cut.

Farm Electricity Is Displayed

How to bring electricity to the farm or ranch without electric service will be the object of a demonstration of an all-purpose electric power unit to be shown in Pampa, at Cuyler and Atchinson streets, Wednesday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., July 18. A gasoline propelled, 4-cylinder, 9.5 horsepower engine is to be exhibited by the Surplus Property Division of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation with district headquarters in the Cotton Exchange building in Dallas.

"These sturdy units, built to army specifications, are immediately available," L. B. Glidden, manager of the R.F.C. Dallas agency, said.

These self contained units, parts of surplus properties, will service rural lighting, washing machines, sewing machines, fans, radios, pumps, electric irons and other appliances.

case shall charge a price which is greater than the cost of acquisition by the government.

However, the SWPC may increase the price to cover costs of delivering the property to the veteran if such cost is not included in the disposal agency's price.

Surplus property means any property which has been determined to be surplus to the needs and the responsibilities of the owning agency in accordance with the surplus property act of 1944.

Early defined a disposal agency as any government agency designated pursuant to the surplus property act to dispose of one of more classes of surplus property.

Early was the principal speaker at the weekly luncheon of the local Lions club yesterday. His associate, F. A. Peek, was also present at the meeting.

reverse engines to escape the derelict bow. The stern and forward engines worked against each other to turn the ship around, an operation fraught with danger of capsizing if the waves caught the hull broadside in their deep troughs—and capsizing meant certain loss of all lives as no human could live in those seas.

Meanwhile damage control and ship's repair crews went into action under the direction of Cmdr. John J. Kircher, the ship's first lieutenant, of Port Townsend, Wash.

For five hours the men fought to hold their balance in four feet of water in the shuddering compartments. They sweated, strained and pushed 4x4 shoring timbers into place.

At one point, as they worked, the bulkheads began to bulge inward.

"Men," cried Calfee, "if we don't get this thing done, and right now, it's curtains!"

They got it done.

Throughout the fight, so smoothly did the damage control crew work there was no panic anywhere on the ship. Some men even slept through the danger unaware.

The Pittsburgh now lies at anchor for temporary repairs here before proceeding to a repair base where she'll get a permanent new bow and then return to action.

Selective Service Rules Are Relaxed

WASHINGTON, July 13 (AP)—Men over 26 or over who do not meet the army's regular physical standards are free today to change jobs without draft board permission.

At the request of the army, selective service last night relaxed its regulations to exclude these men from the possibility of induction as job-jumpers.

Heretofore these registrants who switched employment without approval of their board could be drafted for limited army service.

The job-jumper penalties remain in effect for all physically fit men, as well as for registrants under 26 who fall shy of regular requirements.

Men in the latter group who fail to clear job changes will continue to be inducted under relaxed physical standards.

Older men freed of clearance responsibility are those classified in 4-F, 2-A, (F), 2-A (L), 2-B (F) and 2-B (L).

All of these are classes for men who do not meet regular physical standards.

The army was understood to have requested the change because it opposes any substantial increase in the number of its men not qualified for combat duty. In the first five months of this year about 52,000 job-jumpers were inducted under relaxed physical standards.
