172 Confirmed Dead In Soviet Plane Crash

MAN! WHAT A TRIP! — And these two Sam Houston school first graders are making it with a mind-expander older than that of the current drug degeneration...a conch shell! No one knows how the curved chamber of the conch captures the sounds of surf lapping a thousand exotic shores but Justin Hilton, left, is visiting every one of them! Tobi Ritthaler can hardly wait to put his ear in. If it's not soon, he is going to "conch out!" Justin is the six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hilton, East of the city. Tobi, also six, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ritthaler, 1101 E. Frederic.

Senate Committee Okays Plans On Inquiry Into Bugging Incident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic majority of a Senate Judiciary subcommittee has approved plans by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, the chairman, to subpoena witnesses in an inquiry into the Watergate bugging incident.

A letter sent by the Massachusetts Democrat to subcommittee members left in doubt whether a preliminary inquiry already under way would lead to public hearings before the Nov. 7 election.

Sen. Edward J. Gurney, R-Fla., a subcommittee member, assailed Kennedy's move, calling it "a partisan political attempt to keep the Watergate affair alive."

He told a reporter also it is highly questionable whether the subcommittee on administrative practice and procedure has authority "to investigate charges and counter-charges in a political campaign."

Kennedy's letter made clear that the scope of the inquiry would include Democratic allegations of GOP espionage activities generally as well as the June 17 break-in and alleged bugging of Democratic national headquarters at the Watergate complex here.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the full Judiciary Committee, said his subcommittee has subpoena power and can go ahead with investigations where they have jurisdiction.

But he told a reporter that if a subcommittee's jurisdiction is challenged, it becomes a matter for the committee to decide. He declined to express an opinion, saying "I know nothing about it."

Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern and other party leaders have been urging a full public airing of the Watergate affair and related issues before next month's election.

Kennedy's letter was written on Oct. 12, the same day that Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee, was balked in his efforts to launch an investigation.

A copy of the letter, made available Saturday to a reporter, carried a notation that the Democratic members of the subcommittee had approved Kennedy's proposal to issue subpoenas.

Kennedy said subpoenas would not be issued for seven persons under indictment in the Watergate case.

He said the preliminary inquiry would continue after Congress adjourns "but no decision will be made to move to public proceedings without consultation among us."

Gurney said later that if Kennedy persists with the investigation, he will ask for a meeting of the full Judiciary committee to pass on the subcommittee's authority.

He added that he is sending letters to Kennedy and Eastland to put them on notice.

"If the full committee is convened, Kennedy will lose, in my opinion," Gurney said. He said Kennedy had timed his move as Congress was about to adjourn in hopes "he could get away with it before anything could be done."

MOSCOW (AP) — In what may have been the worst disaster in civil aviation history, a Soviet airliner on a Friday-the 13th flight from Leningrad crashed near a village called Black Earth killing everyone aboard, it was learned Saturday.

An official at Moscow's Sheremetyevo airport said he thought the Ilyushin-62 airliner was carrying 162 passengers and 10 crewmen when it plunged through heavy rain and crashed near busy Leningrad highway.

The worst previous air accident was the crash of a Japanese airliner last year which took the lives of 162 persons.

A Western airline official said Soviet airport officials told him the scene was "horrible, with pieces of bodies scattered all over the place."

Among those on board were 38 Chilean tourists, the Chilean consul said he had been told. The French Embassy said it had been informed that one Frenchman was among the victims.

The British Embassy later reported that it had been informed a British subject was another victim.

A U.S. Embassy official said he had been told there were no Americans on board. Chartered from Aeroflot, the Soviet airline, the plane left Le Bourget airfield in Paris at noon on Friday. It stopped in Leningrad and made what an Intourist official said was an "extra," or unscheduled, flight to Moscow.

It went down less than seven miles west of the airport, near the village of Chernaya Gray, which means Black Earth.

Just a couple of weeks ago a Soviet airliner with 80 on it crashed near the Black Sea resort of Sochi.

The worst previous Soviet air crash occurred last May '18, when a plane went down near the Ukrainian city of Kharkiv, killing 158 persons.

The Tass announcement of the crash said only: "A passenger airliner which was on its way from Leningrad to Moscow crashed in the area of Sheremetyevo airport on October 13 at 21.50. It is announced here. Both the passengers and the crew lost their lives."

"A government commission has been appointed to investigate the cause of the disaster."

Congress Kills Family Aid Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate and House conferees killed President Nixon's welfare reform plan for families Saturday night in reaching agreement on the massive $6 billion Social Security Welfare bill.

Killed by the conferees was Nixon's Family Assistance Plan, which was in the House bill, and also a test of various reform plans, including FAP, which was voted by the Senate.

Nixon's plan would have fixed a guaranteed annual income of at least $2,400 for a family of four and for the first time provide supplementary payments to the working poor.

Last week, over Nixon Administration opposition, the Senate voted to test three versions of welfare-reform plans rather than put any into effect now, thus delaying for five to eight years any wholesale reform of the program.

The conferees also dropped from the bill several costly Social Security and Medicare benefits. They said this was essential to reduce the cost so that Nixon would not veto the measure.

However, they kept in the bill a number of Social Security benefits including increased payments for widows, for all men retirees, and for persons who work after they reach retirement age.

Also retained was a major provision to cover disabled persons under Medicare.

Rejected were provisions to lower the retirement age for men and women to 60; to cover maintenance drugs needed by chronically ill persons under Medicare; and to cover under Medicare dental care including dentures, eye care, hearing aids and foot care.

The conferees kept in the bill an important program setting national payment standards for the first time for the adult categories of welfare—the aged, blind and disabled.

The three million persons on this program would be guaranteed $130 a month. Those who also receive Social Security, and many do, would be assured an extra $20 a month.

The federal government would administer and pay for this new program. The cost for these categories now is shared by the states and Washington.

To pay for the Social Security benefits, the bill would raise the tax rate so that the worker and employer each would pay 5.85 per cent in 1973 compared with 5.2 per cent this year.

This would mean a $631.80 tax maximum tax next year compared with $468 in 1972.

The 5.2 rate is applied against a maximum of $9,000 of earnings this year. In 1973, the taxable base will rise to $10,800; this was voted in the bill passed in June which raised Social Security rate benefits 20 per cent.

Managers of the bill said they hoped to bring it up in the House and Senate late Saturday night.

Deposits, Loans At 2 Banks Here Show Healthy Increase

Deposits and loans at Pampa's two banks as of Oct. 10 showed a healthy increase over the same date in 1971.

This was revealed late Friday in a bank call for statements of condition.

Pampa's two banks showed deposits as of Oct. 10 were $7,283,024 and loans were up $4,060,370.

First National Bank showed deposits of $29,396,346 compared to $25,048,580 last year, an increase of $4,347,766. Loans totaled $12,305,488 compared to $11,338,568 in 1971.

At Citizens Bank & Trust Co. deposits as of Oct. 10 were $1,971,154, up $2,965,258 over last year's $19,035,896. Bank loans were $10,600,691 compared to last year's figure on the same date, $7,507,241.

Observers said the increases in bank deposits here indicate a healthy economy for Pampa and a bright outlook for continued local growth and prosperity on the business and financial fronts.

One of the Panhandle's larger leaps in both deposits and loans was in Stratford. At the bank Tuesday was $31,367,500. Loans totaled $22,906,179.

million less in October 1971. Loans reached $12 million-plus, a total about 1-5 million over this time last year.

A Stratford banker credited the upswing in business on the North Plains to a favorable cattle market, plus the overall economy of the country.

The total of deposits in Pampa's two banks as of last Tuesday was $31,367,500. Loans totaled $22,906,179.

Letter Bomb Hurts NY Postal Employee

NEW YORK (AP) — A letter bomb sent from Malaysia — where two other booby-trapped letters addressed to women active in Zionist affairs originated — exploded in a Bronx post office Saturday, injuring a postal employee who was sorting mail.

Police said William Figueroa, 26, of the Bronx, was in fair condition at Fordham Hospital after fragments of the bomb tore into both of his hands.

He told them the flap of the 8-by-10-inch envelope appeared to be open, and when he turned it over to seal it, it went off in his hands.

The post office, in a busy section of the borough, was closed and cordoned off after an initial examination showed similar looking envelopes in the batch of mail being handled. Officers said, however, they had not found any other rigged envelopes after a two-hour search.

Booby-trapped envelopes from Malaysia were received here last week by two women active in Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization. The envelopes did not explode.

Local B&PW Club Observes 'Business Women's Week'

The annual observance of "National Business Women's Week" will begin today and conclude Oct. 22 and will focus attention on the achievements of working women who reportedly make up more than one-third of the total labor force in the business of the community nation.

National Business Women's Week was begun in 1928 and was initiated by the National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., which was founded in 1919.

Theme for the 1972 observance is "Be Involved...Equal Rights Amendment...State Ratification."

Organized and federated in 1929, the Pampa B&PW Club has 46 active members. Officers are: Mrs. D.C. Ash, president; Mrs. Earl Eaton, vice president; Mrs. Laura Belle Cornelius, recording secretary; Mrs. Ethel Anderson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. W.R. Dunn, treasurer.

Purposes of B&PW Clubs are to elevate the standards of employed women, to promote their interest, to develop cooperation among them, to extend to them opportunities through education, and to foster greater acceptance of them in business and professions.

Local club projects include publication of a monthly club bulletin, assisting Girltown USA at Borger, honoring a high school girl each month as "BPW Girl of the Month," awarding a $300 scholarship on a yearly basis to a deserving student and actively supporting passage of the Equal Rights Amendment to the Texas Constitution.

Special recognition is given each year during Business Women's Week to an outstanding woman through the "Woman of the Year" award. This year Mrs. Ruby Cunningham is being feted as "Woman of the Year" in a series of activities beginning Sunday afternoon with a reception, 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Earl Eaton, 1601 Mary Ellen (see pictures on page 7).

Wife Of Newly Freed POW Says She Backs McGovern

By Associated Press

The wife of a newly released American prisoner of war supported George McGovern's presidential candidacy Saturday.

Oiga Charles spoke at a McGovern rally in San Diego and said she thinks the Democratic presidential nominee can win freedom for the other U.S. POWs in Indochina.

Declaring she was speaking "as an ordinary, average American," Mrs. Charles said, "I feel Sen. McGovern will bring our prisoners of war home," but that she had "a horrible thought" that re-election of President Nixon would mean four more years of imprisonment for the POWs.

Her husband, Navy Lt. Norris Charles, 27, was one of three Americans freed by Hanoi last month. He had been a prisoner since Dec. 30, 1971.

McGovern also talked about the war at his San Diego rally and repeated his pledge to end the fighting and return the prisoners within 90 days of his inauguration.

At a news conference, McGovern said he suspected that if he is elected, forces would be set in motion that might well produce a Vietnam peace "even before I take over as President."

Asked what he had in mind, McGovern said it seemed possible that there might be a change in the Saigon government with the reigns of authority being taken over by people who would seek an end to the war.

President Nixon, meanwhile, was at his Camp David, Md., retreat working on a radio speech on crime and drugs scheduled for Sunday afternoon. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and Democratic vice presidential nominee Sargent Shriver were resting at home after a busy week of campaigning.

Trio Nabbed In L.A. For Attempt To Extort $$$ From Johnny Carson

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police broke up an alleged extortion attempt "for an extremely large amount" of money against television entertainer Johnny Carson, arresting two men and a woman at the drop site, authorities said Saturday.

A note demanding money from Carson had threatened the lives of the talk-show host and his family unless he delivered the cash, police said. The note was found on Carson's property last Monday.

Police kept Carson and persons close to him under surveillance, and, instructions for dropping the money were received Friday night following "several contacts" during the week, officers said.

A police officer driving Carson's car dropped a container with an undisclosed amount of money at a corner in suburban Van Nuys Friday night, and detectives arrested two men standing near the site and a woman in a car parked nearby comments later, authorities said.

The two men struggled with police and had to be subdued by force, officers said. Richard Culkin, 32, his wife Linda, 21, both of North Hollywood, and Richard Dziabacinski, 26, of Sun Valley were booked for investigation of extortion, police said. Culkin and Dziabacinski were hospitalized for treatment of minor injuries.

Carson, host of the nationally televised "Tonight Show," said he had been advised by police not to comment on the case.

Police declined to specify how much money was demanded in the extortion attempt or how much was in the container dropped by the police officer.

Investigating officers said they were withholding some details because "anything else released could jeopardize the case against the suspects."

No specific family members or relatives were mentioned in the note, which said the lives of Carson and his family would be in danger if the money were not paid, according to police who said Carson and his bride of two weeks live alone at their West Los Angeles home.

Attempting to run the story to ground, it was confirmed that it was filed from Pampa, evidently through a misunderstanding of a series of legal moves that chanced to coincide with Gray County's rather strange sequence of grand jury terms.

In Gray County there is one six-month term and two three-month terms for grand jury panels. The conventional pattern is two six-month terms. The panel that indicted those charged in the recent narcotics crackdown completed its term the last week in September.

Thus the new group of grand jury commissioners was simply a matter of procedure under the strange set up in the county.

Long-Haired Jurors Not An Issue Here

By RAY BAXTER

When the new Gray County grand jury convenes Monday morning the members will have hirsute adornment in the generally acceptable mode.

That is the assurance from District Judge Grainger McIlhenny spiking a story broadcast by a regional news medium that a new jury had been impaneled because an attorney for clients under indictment said the panel contained no persons with long hair.

Purcell Sets 3-Day Visit In Panhandle

Congressman Graham Purcell will criss-cross the Panhandle in a motor caravan for three days this week. Purcell, Democratic opponent of Pampa's Bob Price at the Nov. 7 election, said he has scheduled appearances in 32 towns Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 18, 19, and 20.

At each stop Purcell volunteers will distribute campaign literature and a string band will provide entertainment while the Democratic Congressman talks with voters.

Purcell, who was thrown into a race against incumbent Congressman Price as a result of congressional redistricting, conceded that he has faced an uphill fight in the Panhandle because Price's name was more widely known.

But he said he believed that has been overcome.

Purcell invited friends and supporters to join in this week's caravans, either as a passenger in a campaign bus or as the driver of one's own car.

Wednesday's caravan will leave Amarillo at 7:40 a.m. and arrive at Vega at 8:10. Channing, 9:30; Hartley, 9:35; Dalhart, 10:01; Stratford, 11:00; Gruver, 11:55; Spearman, 12:25 p.m.; Perryton, 1:15; Booker, 1:53; Darruozett, 2:20; Follett, 2:43; Higgins, 3:21; Canadian, 4:00; Miami, 4:43; Pampa, 5:28 and return to Amarillo at 7 p.m.

Thursday's scheduled departure from Amarillo is 7:30 a.m., arriving at Claude at 8 p.m.; Panhandle, 8:32; White Deer, 8:58; Pampa, 9:30; Wheeler, 10:40; Shamrock, 11:13; Wellington, 11:58; Memphis, 12:50 p.m.; Hedley, 1:25; Clarendon, 1:50; Turkey, 3:00; Quitaque, 3:28; Silvertown, 4:03; Tulia, 4:50; Happy, 5:27; and return to Amarillo at 6:15.

Friday's caravan leaves Amarillo at 7:45 a.m., arriving at Borger at 8:50; Stinnett, 9:35; Dumas, 10:25; and back to Amarillo at 12 noon.

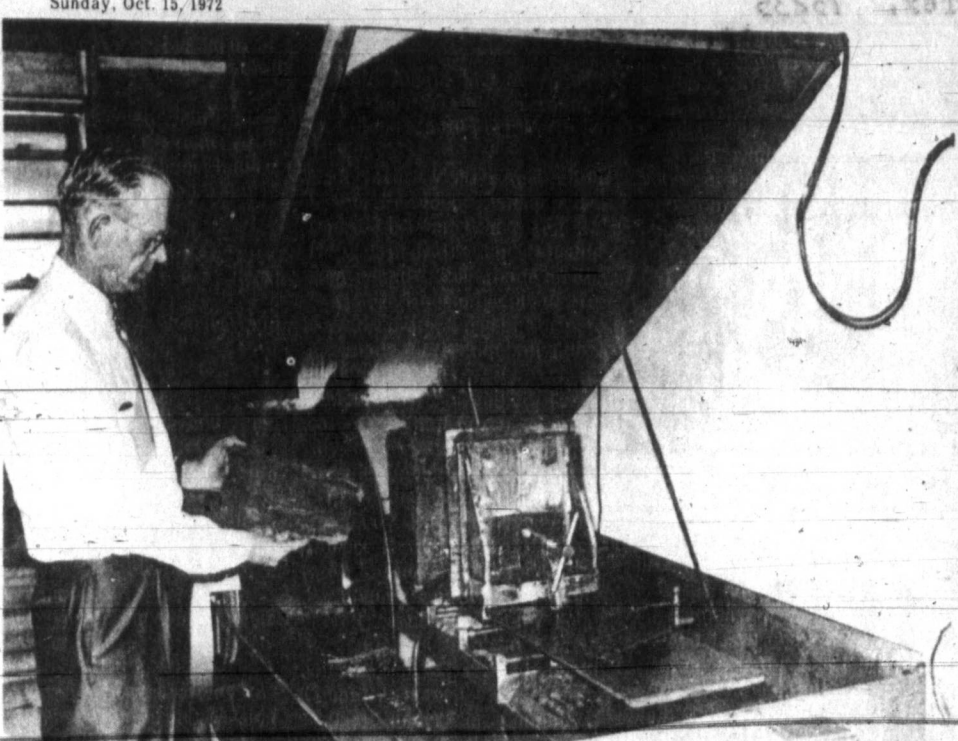

Singing Group Entertain Kiwanians Here

Vicki Patterson and the Royal Heirs, a gospel singing group from Houston, entertained Pampa Kiwanians at their Friday luncheon in First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Patterson is a former Pampa resident, the daughter of Joe Autry, 1901 N. Banks.

The group appeared in concert last night in the M.K. Brown Memorial Auditorium.

The luncheon club program was introduced by J.C. Hopkins.

NASA Moon Exhibits To Be Show Highlight

By TEX DEWEESE

Moon geology displays of tools and a replica of a moon rock collected by Apollo 16 astronauts will be one of the highlights of the Canadian River Gem & Mineral Society's 12th annual rock show here next Saturday and Sunday in the M.K. Brown Auditorium Heritage Room.

The exhibition is scheduled from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and from 12 noon to 6 p.m. next Sunday.

Attorneys Seeking Fund For Hunting Killer Of Surgeon

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys for a slain plastic surgeon have launched a drive to raise money for a reward fund.

About 4,500 letters have been mailed to "friends" of Dr. John Hill asking them to contribute to the reward fund which, according to the letters, will be used for information leading to the arrest and final conviction of the person or persons responsible for the death of Hill.

The letters were signed by attorneys Richard Haynes and Don Fullenweider. Hill was shot to death in his home Sept. 24, moments after he and his wife, Connie, had returned from a vacation trip.

McGovern Will Visit Texas Again

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Sen. George McGovern makes his fourth campaign trip to Texas Monday and Tuesday as he attempts to swing the state's 26 electoral votes into the Democratic column on Nov. 7.

A highlight of the busy journey back and forth will be an address to a joint session of the Texas Legislature at 3:30 p.m. Monday.

From Austin McGovern will go to Houston and San Antonio and then stop by Fort Worth on Tuesday.

McGovern visited Austin and former President Lyndon Johnson at LBJ ranch last Aug. 21. He was in Dallas and Houston Sept. 6 and 7, then made another visit to Houston Sept. 10. His running mate, Sargent Shriver, has made more than half a dozen trips to Texas.

McGovern has called Texas one of the half dozen so-called key states in order to win the presidential election.

President Nixon, who lost Texas by only 39,000 votes to Hubert Humphrey in 1968, visited Laredo, Rio Grande City, Harlingen, San Antonio and former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally's ranch at Floresville on Sept. 22. He had visited Connally's ranch earlier for a special dinner for Connally's friends and supporters.

The Texas Senate passed a resolution Friday inviting Nixon to address the current session also. The session is scheduled to end at midnight Tuesday.

The Democratic nominee will speak first at a barbecue and rally in Hermann Park in Houston late Monday, then attend a private party hosted by Bernard Rapoport, president of the American Income Life Insurance Co. of Waco.

Obituaries

CLYDE M. SMITH

Funeral services for Clyde M. Smith, 67, who lived 4 1/2 miles south of Pampa, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Carmichael-Whitley Colonial Chapel with Rev. Claude Cone, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Ochiltree Cemetery, which is located south of Perryton. Mr. Smith died at 4:20 p.m. Saturday in Highland General Hospital. He was born in Elk City, Okla., and came to Pampa in 1945, after serving in World War II. He was a carpenter and a farmer. Mr. Smith was a member of the Baptist church.

Survivors include: five sisters, Mrs. Ed Herlacher, Pampa; Mrs. Mima Kuns of Alva, Okla.; Mrs. A.E. Genzer of Hilltop Lake, Tex.; Mrs. Roy Corey of Kingsland, Kan.; Mrs. Grant Harryman of Marion, Kans.; and one brother, Johnnie M. Smith of Whittier, Calif.

This year's show will include special working exhibits, dealers and rock hound exhibits of faceting, carving, mineral collecting, gemstone jewelry, oil painting on rock slabs and miscellaneous displays.

Keel said movies will be shown daily including those of archaeological studies at Alibates National Park near Lake Meredith.

One of the big events for rock hounds in attendance will be a Rock Swap scheduled for 9 to 11 a.m. Sunday, Oct. 22.

There will also be an exhibitors' prize award consisting of a diamond master cabbing unit.

Admission to the show will be 50 cents adults and 25 cents for students.

Special emphasis is being placed this year on getting young persons interested in the study of rocks and mineral deposits.

To attract more of them to the show, sponsored boy and girl scout troops and school groups will be admitted free.

The Saguaro National Monument just east of Tucson is almost the only place in the United States where the world's biggest cactus is found.

UNDER AGREEMENT
40 U.S. Ports Will Be Open To Soviet Vessels

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union Saturday signed an agreement for shipping American wheat to grain-short Russia after what President Nixon called "very hard negotiations."

The agreement was signed in private ceremonies by Secretary of Commerce Peter G. Peterson and Soviet maritime fleet minister Timofey Borisovich who then went to Nixon's office to confer with the President and Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin.

Flanked by Peterson and the Soviet minister as photographers recorded the scene, Nixon said the two officials "have been discussing some very important matters."

"I know these men had some very hard negotiations," Nixon said. "I'm happy they have worked out an agreement."

Longview, Wash., Los Angeles including San Pedro, Wilmington and Terminal Island; Milwaukee, Wis.; Mobile, Ala.; New Orleans, La.; New York, New York and New Jersey parts of the Port of New York Authority.

Here is a list of the 40 U.S. ports which will be opened to Soviet vessels under the maritime agreement signed Saturday:

Astoria, Ore.; Baltimore, Md.; Baton Rouge, La.; Bay City, Mich.; Beaumont, Tex.; Bellingham, Wash.; Brownsville, Tex.; Burnside, La.; Chicago, Cleveland, Ohio; Coos Bay including North Bend, Ore.; Corpus Christi, Tex.; Duluth, Minn.; Superior, Wis.; Erie, Pa.; Eureka, Calif.; Everett, Wash.; Galveston-Tex. City, Tex.; Honolulu, Hawaii; Houston, Tex.; Kenosha, Wis.; Long Beach, Calif.; Longview, Wash.; Los Angeles including San Pedro, Wilmington and Terminal Island; Milwaukee, Wis.; Mobile, Ala.; New Orleans, La.; New York, New York and New Jersey parts of the Port of New York Authority.

San Antonio Man Believes He Will Win School Fund Fight

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A veteran of the Navy in World War II and the Air Force in the Korean War, Rodriguez does not relish his new fame.

The credit should go to the association as a whole and our lawyer, Arthur Gochman, who has spent $15,000 of his own money to keep this case going," he said.

Rodriguez's suit challenges the Texas system that gives districts with rich residential and commercial property the advantage over poor districts, even though the poorer ones may be taxing at a higher rate.

The suit contends that Edgewood assesses at a high rate, billing at $1.05 per $100 valuation, to raise only $37 per student a year in taxes.

By contrast, the wealthy, predominantly Anglo Alamo Heights School District here levies at a rate of only 85 cents per $100 valuation—yet collects $412 per student annually.

Rodriguez maintains the state has been negligent in solving the problems of minorities.

Gov. Preston Smith has said Mexican-Americans in Texas don't have any problems. And the (parents) association was told by state officials to wait for developments from (former) Gov. John Connally's blue ribbon "Committee on Public School Education. Nothing has come from that committee's report," he said.

The Kelly Air Force Base worker was the first of several parents to sign a court suit challenging the school financing system on July 10, 1968.

DWI on Bike

A 16-year-old Pampa youth was stopped while riding his motorcycle in an erratic manner Friday night and was found to be in a highly intoxicated state according to the police report of the incident.

He was brought to the police station and was released to his parents.

According to police records, he paid a fine for the same offense on June 10.

Price Raps House Votes By Liberals

Pampa Congressman Bob Price said Saturday House liberals delivered an almost fatal blow to some small businessmen and their employees when they voted down an amendment to the Occupational Safety and Health Act which would exempt employers of 15 or less people from stringent OSHA regulations.

In a prepared statement, Price said:

"The financial burden placed on small businesses by OSHA will in effect cut employment chances for extra income and in some cases may cost employees their jobs. Some businessmen have indicated to me that the costs of meeting these requirements will cause them to cut back their number of employees in order to pay for meeting arbitrary health and safety standards."

"I firmly believe all people should have adequate, safe working conditions but this should be worked out between labor and management, and not by legislative decree. This is just one more function of private business that we are yielding to federal government interference."

"In April, I introduced an amendment to the HEW-Labor Appropriations Act which would exempt employers of 25 people or less. The defeated amendment was a modified version of my bill."

Priced added that as soon as Congress adjourns, he will again be travelling the District and visiting at Town Hall meetings.

Sharing Funds Draw Mixed Reactions Among Local Governments' Officials

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

Just suppose the Tooth Fairy some night tucked a check for a million dollars under your pillow.

Quickly now! How are you going to spend it?

So you can't say right this minute?

Join the club. That's the situation your county commissioners and your city councilmen find themselves in at the moment.

This is because of revenue sharing.

The federal government apparently is going to send to the states, county governments and cities some of the income taxes it has collected from you.

This revenue sharing is arousing mixed emotions among local officials.

A few don't like the idea at all—although they have to scramble to get the money locally for their budgets.

The sums are huge in some cases. They range from $14 million for Houston down to about $7,500 for small towns.

A survey of Texas cities and counties by The Associated Press shows that officials do not know exactly what they are going to do with the money.

They're going to use it. They just haven't made up their minds yet.

For one thing, a good many aren't yet ready to believe they will get the money.

"I will believe it when I see the check," said Odessa Mayor Jim Reese.

Also, officials are not certain what restrictions will be placed on the funds.

Generally, the spending must be limited to public safety, environmental protection, public transportation, recreation, social services for the poor and aged, financial administration or libraries.

Many officials fear that the fine print will contain further restrictions and that they can't make plans until they read them.

A good many cities and counties are talking about 1. possibly reducing taxes or 2. avoiding increases in taxes.

The restrictions say nothing specifically about the money being used to reduce taxes.

But at Wichita Falls, for instance, officials point out that current projects in the budget might qualify, taking them out of the local budget and into the revenue sharing area, thus allowing a tax cut.

Anticipation of revenue sharing allowed Fort Worth to cancel plans for a 19-cents per $100 valuation tax increase.

Travis County Judge J.H. Watson was asked if the federal funds would make tax cuts possible.

"Eternal optimism," the judge replied, adding, "Whatever the amount we get, it won't be enough."

George Allen, Dallas councilman, hopes the $9.7 million the city will get will permit scrapping the recently-passed garbage tax which is expected to bring in $5.6 million annually.

Pampa City Manager Mack Wofford noted a tax increase is faced by the city but if it gets $191,000 in revenue sharing, "I feel certain there will be no tax rate increase." Gray County (Pampa) County Judge Don Cain hopes for a tax cut.

Most city and county budgets already are set as at Abilene, where councilmen consider the federal funds as a possible means of cutting taxes a year from now.

A theme running throughout plans and speculation by county-city officials is that they will not use the money to start programs which would, should the federal money dry up in future years, saddle their communities with continuing costs requiring tax increases.

Corpus Christi City Manager Marvin Townsend hopes the U.S. money can be used to replace projects and reduce the amount of the $26 million in proposed bonds on which citizens are planning to vote Dec. 9. It might help, one way or another, to ease the load of planned employee pay raises.

In Nueces County (Corpus Christi), County Judge Robert N. Barnes said he favors using most or all of the $2 million the county will get for the $14.5 million courthouse-jail complex for which bonds have been voted. The county simply would not have to sell all the bonds.

A couple of cities, Corpus Christi and Lubbock, hope to set up their own ambulance services.

Lubbock also wants to expand its police force and improve bus service.

Corsicana is aiming at street repairs and Navarro County is eyeing a new waste disposal system.

And in San Angelo at least, various groups already are suggesting ways of spending the federal money. A private group is urging a home for girls, and police are depending that some of the money be spent for pay increases. San Angelo city commissioners are balking at considering the pay raise since it would be a continuing cost to the city.

Harris County officials say they can use money for streets, highway right-of-way and flood control.

Lubbock County is looking forward to the money for a juvenile detention home and improved facilities at the jail—the latter stemming from a federal court decision in Dallas presumably applying to all counties.

In connection with the jail expenditures, Marshall City Commissioner W. J. Van Reenen had thoughts along the same line.

"People forget that federal laws on environmental protection, clean air, etc., mean larger expense burdens for communities," Van Reenen commented, in an apparent viewpoint that there is justification for the federal government helping to pay local costs.

Several cities and counties reported they were forced to delete recommended projects from their budgets this year because the money simply wasn't there, so revenue sharing may allow restoration of these items.

As elsewhere in the nation, there are some philosophical objections to the whole idea of revenue sharing.

Odessa Mayor Reese commented, "I hate to see us look to the federal government for funds to run our city."

On the other hand, Odessa City Manager Ron Neighbors warned that 1973 will be the last year the city can function without an additional source of revenue. At the Odessa budget hearing this year, there were some objections from citizens against the city accepting the federal money.

Ector County (Odessa) Auditor Bill Hicks said he is against revenue sharing.

"It is my understanding," he said, "that the revenue will not provide for a reduction in the ad valorem tax but be in addition to it. This may mean they (the federal government) can tell us how to spend our own tax money as well as the additional funds. Personally, I feel that once the federal government gets a hold on the purse strings, we've lost all local control anyway... wish they would just keep their money."

PERSONAL FINANCE

An Industry Improves Its Image

By CARLTON SMITH

You can now complain about the shameful way you've been treated by that terrible home-improvement contractor to somebody besides Harry, your favorite bartender.

And while it is unlikely that Harry can do much for you except to lend a sympathetic ear, or wipe away your tears, there's a good chance of your getting some kind of redress through the National Remodelers Association, if you have a legitimate cause of complaint.

The association has nearly 5,000 members nationwide—contractors who do home-improvement work and remodeling—who are committed to a code of ethics as one means of trying to improve the industry's image. Another is the maintenance of a national clearing house for consumer complaints at the association's national offices in New York.

As an example of how it works, a homeowner in Ohio had paid a local contractor $865 to waterproof a leaky basement. The next good rain demonstrated that it was still a leaky basement. The contractor seemed to have little enthusiasm for doing anything about the situation, so the homeowner wrote to the National Remodelers Association.

A staff man there sent the complaint to another contractor in the Ohio city, a member of the N.R.A.'s local council there. The contractor inspected the job and reported that, although high-quality materials had been used, the basement did indeed still leak.

An official of the council talked to the original contractor. What he said is not recorded—but the homeowner got a refund of the full $865.

"Frankly, we don't have much in the way of teeth—yet. Our only weapon is persuasion," says the association's executive director, Joseph M. Nahay. "But a local contractor isn't very comfortable when he meets the other boys if they've got a down on him for giving the business a bad name. So persuasion works pretty well, with most legitimate and conscientious contractors."

If a local council man can't persuade an offending contractor to satisfy a properly aggrieved customer, Nahay says, an N.R.A. contractor will usually offer to redo or complete the work at cost.

There's little to be done, Nahay admits, for the consumer who's been gulled by a fly-by-night contractor whose specialty is shoddy work or unfinished jobs. The only remedy here, he says, is preventive selection. "Pick a contractor who's established in the community. Check his bank references. Ask for the names of some satisfied customers. Get two or three estimates."

"If somebody advertises, or solicits a job, with prices that are way out of line on the low side, reason should tell you that you're going to get short measure on either the materials or the workmanship. Or that you're dealing with a 'bait-and-switch' artist."

If you've acted on that advice, and you have a grievance against a contractor who's still around and available, you can address a complaint (it must be in writing) to the association at 50 East 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10017.

Red Cross News

By Libby Shotwell

The Red Cross has packed and mailed our 40 ditty bags for the servicemen in Vietnam for Christmas this year. Mrs. Jackie Darden has given us paperback books to complete our bags. Thanks for helping us with this expense.

The first aid multi media instructor class will begin at 5 p.m. Monday, Oct. 16 in the Palm Room of the City Hall and continue Tuesday evening. Mr. Sandy Sanders from Ft. Worth will be in Pampa to teach the class. The class is limited to 13 persons this time. So those who plan to take the course, please call our Red Cross office and make arrangements. Two persons from Borger will take our Pampa first aiders.

The Red Cross Board met in the Coronado Inn this Tuesday with 18 persons present. Joe Pafford presided in the absence of our chairman, Mrs. Don George. During the business session bills were passed and plans made for meeting of Water Safety Instructors to view films on swimming. Mrs. George Newberry, Nursing Chairman announced that Red Cross Nursing Pins had been given to Mrs. Ralph Converse and to Mrs. O. Ray Hudson. Mrs. Converse was named as the Enrollment Nurse for the coming year. Mrs. Fred Ammeter, Hospital Volunteer chairman gave a history of the work of the ladies in our local hospitals. She said in 1953 the Gray Ladies were organized in Pampa and in 1966 the ladies changed their name and their uniform and now we are known as Hospital Volunteers. The Youth Group is known as Hospital Volunteers and they wear the blue and white pinafore as they work in the hospitals on Saturday and Sundays.

Mrs. James Moody was in Pampa Thursday. She has taken over the work of Mrs. Barbara Bingham from Ft.

Worth, and will be our Division Chairman of Volunteers for the Panhandle of Texas. We are glad to work with Betty and to improve our Volunteer image.

A good group saw the swimming films Tuesday evening in the Palm Room of the City Hall. Miss Audre Seabridge from West Texas University brought the films and Mrs. Amma Lee Barton WSIT commented on the films. After the viewing, the group went to the Youth Center Pool where they worked on their strokes.

If you have persons in the service of our country, please call the Red Cross and give us their address. When an emergency occurs, you are unable to think or remember the things we need. Write your sons and daughters or husbands often and keep informed on their whereabouts and always know their Social Security number. This will help us help you.

Swim Lessons

The Center is still accepting enrollments for the classes listed below. These are all the classes that will be taught through 1972. Classes are filling up very fast so you need to enroll at the earliest possible time.

All classes are taught under the offices of the American Red Cross and our resident instructor, Ruth Carter, is a qualified Water Safety Instructor. Each swim session meets for 10 meeting dates on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. We do not meet on Tuesday—we are closed on that day each week. Enrollment is free to members of the Youth Center and $4. for non-members. You do not have to be a member of the Center to take these lessons, but a membership is the cheapest way.

Women's Exercise and Swim Class

The Center has started its meetings for the women's exercise and swim class now and all women are invited to participate. The classes meet on Monday and Friday mornings beginning at 9:30 a.m. The exercise is through a series of lessons on records led by Mrs. Sally White. The swim time is from 10:15 until 11:30 a.m. The only cost to you will be your membership to the Center which is $5. for six months or $8. per year.

We have a babysitter for mothers who have children at a nominal cost. If you have children, please go ahead and bring them. They are not allowed to swim or participate in the exercise class, but will be attended to.

Dolphin Swim Team

The 1972 fall workouts for the Dolphin swim club has begun. Workouts are held on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 6-7:00 p.m. in preparation for swim meets during the school year. All swim meets are during the weekends and does not interfere with school.

The club is always open for membership and participation is for both boys and girls. Each person must know how to swim as no swim lessons are given. However, instructions on how to do the various strokes are given. There are plans for instruction in strokes to be given after school from 4-6 p.m. The Dolphins are a registered A-A-U swimming club and adhere to all of the A-A-U rules.

If you are interested in joining the Dolphins, the only pre-requisites for joining are that you be a Center member or become one and know how to swim. You may join the club by coming to any of the workouts or by contacting club president, Thurman Brown at 665-3855.

THE ISSUES OF THE 1972 CAMPAIGN

Drug Abuse

REPUBLICANS

The permissiveness of the 1960s left no legacy more insidious than drug abuse.

By the time our nation awakened to this cancerous social ill, it found no major combat weapons available.

We quickly launched a massive assault against drug abuse.

We pledge to seek further international agreements to restrict the production and movement of dangerous drugs.

We firmly oppose efforts to make drugs easily available. We equally oppose the legalization of marijuana. We intend to solve problems, not create bigger ones by legalizing drugs of unknown physical impact.

DEMOCRATS

Drug addiction and alcoholism are health problems. Drugs prey on children, destroy lives and communities, force crimes to satisfy addicts, corrupt police and government and finance the expansion of organized crime. A massive national effort, equal to the scale and complexity of the problem, is essential.

We support a massive law enforcement effort, supported by increased funds—and personnel, against the suppliers and distributors of heroin and other dangerous drugs, with increased penalties for major narcotics traffickers.

An all-out investigative and prosecutory effort against corruption in government and law enforcement.

More and more people are wising up to the low cost of electric heat

More SPS customers switched to electric heat last year because they found out, through a free estimate, they could operate an electric heating system for little more than they were spending already. Do you think they made a wise decision? Ask any of them. They're our most convincing salesmen. And, ask us for an operating cost estimate. It's free. It's accurate. It's a real eye-opener.

Chat Texas-Style with Sandy

By DICK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD — (INA) — When you have a TV series, you have to be able to do more than one thing at a time. So Sandy Duncan was eating lunch (a bag of French fried potatoes and a plum) having her hair dyed its light blonde color and looking at her script (didn't leave too much room for conversation but she handled that nicely too).

Of course, it wasn't deep. Nothing political or meta-physical. It was more chat-ty, homey Texas-style talk. But that's our Sandy, who is a chatty, homey Texan, about as formal as a corn pone.

Actually, she was talking about her gambling. Now don't get excited, Sandy is not a candidate for Gamblers Anonymous. It's just that she had recently met her folks, up front, Texas for a time in Las Vegas.

They got out in a room with three beds in it. Sandy said, "nursing, dying and studying." And that frightened my mother. She wondered what people did in a room with three beds. So I had them moved to a room with two beds.

Anyhow, Sandy allotted herself $25 to play with. She lost $20 right off the slot in the one-armed bandits. So she decided to plunge with her last $5. She put it all on her lucky number 25 — on the roulette wheel. Miracle of miracles, 25 came up and she won $200 and promptly and sensibly quit.

Then her father asked to bring her luck over to the crap table, where he was engaged.

"I threw six passes in a row," she said. "Whatever that is."

Sandy Duncan
A way with snappy comebacks.

It's about time her luck changed. What with her operation last year, and a few other misadventures, she calls herself "a chain reaction of catastrophes," and that had been continuing up until the Vegas trip.

In Las Vegas, Sandy, when she wasn't winning money, went to see the shows. One she wanted to see particularly was Sammy Davis Jr. Afterwards she went backstage and introduced herself. "I'd never met Sammy before," she says, "but when I had my operation last year, he wrote me, because he'd lost an eye, too, and said if he could help me in any way, he'd be delighted. I thought that was very nice."

She got the royal treatment in Las Vegas. She says ordinarily she hates that, the way headwaiters and such fawn over stars, but this one time it was fun. That was because it impressed her parents so much.

"My father used to say that he was ashamed to go places with me," she says, "but now that I'm a star he'll go anywhere with me."

The big Las Vegas hotels have long been after her to do an act there. Until her operation, she'd been working on an act with Tony Newley, but that got shunted aside. Now she doesn't think she'll bother.

Besides everything else at the studio she was keeping a close watch on Charley, her little Yorkshire terrier. She carried the dog around between setups, and when there was a break, she took him for a walk outside the sound-stage.

He headed right for one of Paramount's fire hydrants, and Sandy looked at him with maternal pride and said, "See, he's a New York dog."

When she went back inside, one of the new crewmen asked her if that was her dog.

"No," she said, "it's my son."

She does have a way of coming up with snappy comebacks. Her producer, Arne Sultan, was talking to her about a costume for a coming episode.

"Whatever you want," Sultan said, "as long as you look good in it. Do you look good in it?"

"Better than you'd look in it," Sandy said.

Between shots, she practiced dance steps with her new cast members — Tom Bosley, Marian Mercer, Pam Zart. Finally director Peter Baldwin asked if the cast was ready to rehearse the next scene.

"I'm not," Sandy said. "This scene gives me a rash."

Now Men Entering Women's Profession 'Domain'

NEW YORK (AP) — Proving that women don't have a corner on the liberation movement, men are breaking down sex barriers in jobs usually thought of as woman's work. They are becoming secretaries, telephone operators, nurses, flight attendants and even Kelly girls.

The biggest break through is coming in the telephone and airline industries, two major employers of women.

A spokesman for American Telephone & Telegraph said it now has 1,600 male operators among its 483,000 and another 100 men among the 14,500 service representatives, the people who answer questions about bills and arrange service. Five years ago there were virtually none in these positions.

At Eastern Air Lines, a spokesman said the company has received more than 8,000 applications from men since it began running unisex ads in March. Before then they had about 150 stewards. Now they have 320 stewards and 3,458 stewardesses.

A spokesman for the Airline Stewards and Stewardesses Association in Chicago said the organization was anticipating similar increases in other airlines as a result of a court decision last year which said airlines could not use sex as an occupational qualification in cabin attendant jobs.

In interviews, men in formerly female domains cited a variety of reasons for their job choice. Many said they started part time while in college and now in a tight job market, are having trouble getting promoted or finding other jobs.

Others said the pay was better than in white-collar jobs available to men with less than a college education. Nearly all said that such jobs as secretaries and telephone operators had been historically held by men.

Except for occasional complaints about being addressed as Miss or being thought of as homosexual, nearly everyone interviewed liked most aspects of their jobs. Many said they had learned a lot about human foibles, especially chauvinism. Several said they had discovered a great fringe benefit — the new jobs are a good place to meet women.

Joe Carbone, 23, a service representative at New York Telephone Co. in Manhattan said he had no idea when he applied for the job two years ago that it was predominantly held by women. He said he thought it sounded like an interesting job then and he still does.

He said the pay, $146.50 to $179.50 in Manhattan, is not bad for someone who has finished only two years of college. He enjoys working with the 63 women and six other men in his office and he's gained a sym-thy for the woman's plight.

Carbone said that so far he has made it a rule never to date any of the women in the office. But a colleague, Lou Scott, 22, married a coworker in June.

Scott said that since his marriage he has become dissatisfied with his job. "It might be a complex I have," said Scott. "I tell people I worked here during school and I'm looking for something better now. I make excuses."

Scott's wife, Geri, 20, said that after getting married, her husband began to ask her if she needed help in her work and became competitive. She hopes he finds a better job or gets promoted within the company.

CAROLYN STALLWITZ
Watercolor Artist

Fine Arts Association
Features Dumas Artist

The Pampa Fine Arts Association will sponsor an exhibit of paintings by Carolyn Stallwitz, a name that is rapidly becoming synonymous with watercolor in the Panhandle. Sunday, Oct. 15, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Fine Arts Association Gallery, 516 W. Kingsmill. Her paintings will be shown through Thursday, Oct. 19 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. each day and the public is invited.

The weeds, grasses and wildflowers of the area, as well as the birds have almost become her trade mark. Her rapport with nature and the Southwest is evident when one studies her work.

Carolyn was born in Abilene, Tex., and raised in Amarillo. She received her schooling there and in Canyon, where she received a Bachelor of Science degree with majors in Art and Education from West Texas State University. Her private study was with Dr. Clarence Kincaid, Jr., Lubbock; Dr. Emilio Caballero, Canyon; Chris Gikas, Portales; Stefan Kramer, Amarillo and Lee Simpson, Taos, N.M.

She has worked in many medias, serigraphs, (a silk screen process) gold leaf collage, oils, acrylic and watercolor. She strongly believes that art is an important means of communication; for the artist to communicate with people he should use a universal "language". For this reason she has chosen the language of watercolor, in her style of transitive realism, painting real objects and scenes translated by the eyes of the artist.

Carolyn Stallwitz is a purist, she does not use white or opaque paint, using instead the white of the paper, manipulating transparencies in such a way that the white paper works for her. Unlike oil, watercolor is a spontaneous fluid media not lending itself to reworking. It is a demanding media in which to work.

McGovern,
Nixon Vying
For TV Time

NEW YORK (AP) — The opening round in the time-buying presidential campaign on network television began at NBC the night of Sept. 11. It featured a five-minute paid announcement for Sen. George McGovern.

Sunday night, the South Dakota Democrat's television campaign moved into the 30-minute category on CBS with a film biography of him. The time was purchased by his campaign committee.

Republicans with a fine sense of irony launch their first 30-minute salvo for President Nixon Wednesday night at ABC. Network officials say the time was bought by "Democrats for Nixon."

Regardless of who buys what, it marks an escalation in the election-year barrage of paid political ads. After Nov. 7, the usual blandishments for soap, beer and cars may actually appear soothing.

A spot check of NBC, CBS and ABC last week showed that the Democrats and Republicans already had bought or committed themselves to buying more than seven hours of network time by election day.

Cholera killed nearly 400 persons in Indonesia in the first five months of 1972.

National Business & Professional Women's Week

The Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club is honoring this week and throughout the year, Mrs. Ruby Cunningham, 401 N. Wells, a long time member of the club. Mrs. Cunningham was selected as the "Woman of the Year" because of her outstanding contributions to the club.

Ruby, as she is known to her many friends, has been an active member in the B&PW Club since 1938. She has served on a committee or as chairman of a committee each year, including International Relations, Publicity and Membership as well as special committees. She has served as vice president of the club and attended district and state conventions.

Ruby's contributions to the club has been much more than holding office and being chairman of a committee. She has always "gone that extra mile," doing more than what was expected of her. Her time and energy are unlimited when she sets out to accomplish something.

Ruby has been a loyal contributor to Girlstown, USA, Borger, her contributions being made in the name of the B&PW Club.

Mrs. Cunningham was born in Abilene, Texas and later moved to Oklahoma with her parents. Her father, the late W.T. Armstrong, held the first Oklahoma Teaching Certificate after statehood. Mrs. Cunningham now has the certificate which she plans to place in the Oklahoma Historical Society Museum in Oklahoma City.

Mrs. Cunningham graduated from Ardmore, Oklahoma High School at the age of 16 and attended Durant Teachers Normal (Oklahoma) for two years.

She is the mother of three children: D.V. Cunningham, who is co-owner of a department store in Denham Springs, Louisiana; a daughter, Loucille, deceased, and Jack Cunningham of Pampa, retired Administrative Supervisor of Amaco Production Company.

She is the proud grandmother of six grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

Mrs. Cunningham moved to Pampa from Holdenville, Oklahoma in 1936, to work for the Pearlle Mitchell, ready to wear. She had been advised of this opportunity by a salesman and was hired sight unseen. She later worked for Behrmans, then Dunlap's Department store where she is now employed.

In earlier days, Mrs. Cunningham owned a ladies ready to wear called "The Smart Shop."

She is an active member of the First Baptist Church.

The Business and Professional Women's Club is proud to honor this member as Business Woman of the Year.

PLANNING DECORATIONS — Left to right, Mrs. Charles Ford, Mrs. Marguerite Nash and Mrs. Imogene Brown display the B&PW emblem to be used in decorations for various functions during the week. On Tuesday, a dinner at Mrs. Ford's home will honor the Woman of the Year and Mrs. Inez Carter, B&PW Club Mother. On Thursday, B&PW members will assist the Altrusa Club with the Senior Citizen's party at Lovett Memorial Library. On Friday, working women of Pampa are invited to a coffee, 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. in the Flame Room at the Pioneer Natural Gas Building.

Double-Ring Service Unites Miss Daily, Don Thompson

The Harrah Methodist Church was the setting Saturday, Oct. 7 at 6 p.m. for the exchange of nuptial vows by Miss Rhynetha Gay Daily, 417 Graham, and Don Ray Thompson.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W.O. Rucker. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Schmucker of Nazareth, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.F. Thompson, 717 Malone.

THE CEREMONY

The background of two large baskets of white mums, carnations and gladioli, with spiral candelabra holding white cathedral tapers, formed the setting for the wedding.

Mrs. Lois Fagan, organist, played "Traditional Wedding Marches," "A Time For Us," and the theme from "Love Story."

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her step-father, the bride wore a formal gown of bridal satin, styled with a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves that came to petal points over her hands. Both were accented with brocade appliques. The A-line skirt was fashioned with a detachable chapel train of peau de soie. Her waist-length veil of illusion fell from an applied tiara, and she carried a cascade of red sweetheart roses with red streamers atop a white Bible.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Carolyn Wardlow was matron of honor. She wore a floor-length gown featuring a beige ruffled lace bodice and a red velvet skirt with a large bow accenting the front waistline. Her bouquet was white carnations with red streamers. Bridesmaid was Miss Susan Lewis wearing a floor-length gown of white brocade featuring an empire waist and sheer puffed sleeves. She carried a bouquet of red carnations with white streamers.

Ronnie Campbell was best man and Stan Wardlow was groomsmen. Ronald Schulz served as usher.

MOTHERS

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Schmucker wore a street-length blue dress with a matching top coat. Mrs.

MRS. DON RAY THOMPSON
Rhynetha Gay Daily

Thompson wore a blue, two-piece, double knit suit. Both wore pink carnation corsages.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church reception hall. The serving table was covered with a white lace over red satin table cloth. The three-tiered cake, decorated with red and white roses and wedding bells, was served by Eva Dennis, who also assisted at the punch bowl. Pat Campbell registered the wedding guests.

For the wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore a blue and white pant suit and the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Brown-Matlock Vows Said In Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Carol Denise Brown became the bride of Steven Alfred Matlock of Canyon at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 14, in the Highland Baptist Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Bedford T. Brown, 321 Anne, Pampa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H.A. Matlock of Canyon.

THE CEREMONY

Rev. A. E. Burns officiated at the double-ring service. Jeannie Goff was organist, and Mrs. Mona Golden, aunt of bride, Pauls Valley, Okla., sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "A Time For Us."

The church was decorated with an arch candelabra, entwined with salal foliage, and white urns with white gladioli and yellow chrysanthemums. Pews were decorated with yellow bows.

THE BRIDE

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was attired in a formal gown of peau de soie and chantilly lace designed with a high neckline, empire waist, long Gibson-girl sleeves with tight bands and semi A-line silhouette. Chantilly lace with tiny seed pearls complemented the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt of the gown that swept into a chapel train.

Her mantilla of imported illusion, fell from a coil of lace appliques and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

ATTENDANTS

Patty Jean Cloud was matron of honor and bridesmaid was Sherry Annette Matlock, sister of the bridegroom, and Linda Brown, sister-in-law of the bride. They wore floor-length gowns of yellow crepe and carried yellow gladioli, fashioned as one large flower.

Kimberly Rene Golden, cousin of the bride, Pauls Valley, Okla., was flower girl, and Mark Sisson, Hobbs, N.M., was ringbearer.

Dean Allen Matlock, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and Michael Brown, brother of the bride, and Charlie Miller were groomsmen. Ushers were Milton Brown, brother of the bride, and Bob Dalton.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church's Fellowship Hall. The table, covered with a floor-length white satin cloth, was centered with an arrangement of mixed white flowers in a tall cherub candelabra.

The three-tiered wedding cake, decorated with sugar bells and yellow roses was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Presiding at the punch bowl and serving the cake were Donna Smart and Evelyn Cash. Miss Cash also registered the guests. Mrs. Mary Smart and

MRS. STEVEN ALFRED MATLOCK
Carol Denise Brown

Mrs. Carol Simmons assisted with the serving.

For the wedding trip to Colorado, the bride wore an orange A-line crepe dress with long sleeves. Her corsage was of the flowers from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home at Amarillo.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Pampa High School attended West Texas State University and is employed by Orthopedic Appliances in Amarillo.

The student covered West's 10 of diamonds with dummy's jack. East played the queen and the student ruffed.

Then he went right after trumps. He paused for a moment when East failed to follow and then proceeded to play out the rest. He saw that Dummy's king-queen-jack of hearts were a menace and carefully discarded all of them on the trumps.

Then he led his 10 of hearts. West went right up with the ace and led the nine of diamonds. It didn't matter what the student did now. He had to lose at least three diamond tricks and his contract.

"Tough luck, wasn't it, professor?" asked the student.

"Yes," replied the professor. "You did the best you could after the first trick but you really went wrong then."

The professor was right as always. The student was unlucky to find all five trumps and the ace of hearts in the West hand and both ace and queen of clubs in the East, but the student had two ways to insure his contract at trick one.

The simple way was to play a low diamond from dummy. Then when West got in with the ace of hearts the student could cover the next diamond with dummy's jack and be sure not to lose more than two diamond tricks.

Or the student could have discarded a low club instead of ruffing the first trick and got out of trouble that way.

Dava Ann Redus Becomes Bride Of Rick Powers

The marriage of Dava Ann Redus and Rick Powers was solemnized at 3 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 7, in the First Christian Church of Pampa.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave A. Redus, south of Pampa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Mary Nan Powers of Pampa and Tom C. Powers of White Deer.

THE CEREMONY

Rev. Ralph Palmer officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Mrs. John Gill, organist, played while Miss Lisa Laycock, vocalist, sang "The Wedding Song."

The church was decorated with a seven-branched candelabra, holding yellow candles and entwined with Salal foliage. A large center bouquet of white and yellow snapdragons and yellow Fuji chrysanthemums decorated the altar.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of antique ivory batiste accented in ecru lace. The fitted bodice featured a square neckline and the tiered skirt, gathered at the high waistline with attached self belt. The short, puffed sleeves gathered into a band with full length slim sleeves and she wore a tear-drop necklace of floating opals.

She wore yellow sweetheart roses scattered in her hair and carried a bouquet fashioned into a cascade of yellow sweetheart roses, stephanotis and baby's breath.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Mary Lou Snodgrass, sister of the bride, of Los Alamos, N. M., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Barbara Ann Thomas, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Cindy Price, cousin of the bride, Bartlesville, Okla. They wore dresses of batiste with miniature roses, fashioned like the bridal gown and carried nosegays of yellow feathered chrysanthemums.

Majorie Bond was flower girl dressed identical to the other attendants. She carried a basket of yellow rose petals. John Cunningham was ringbearer.

Mickey Prigmore, San Marcos served as best man, and Steve Thomas, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Ricky Wright both of Pampa were groomsmen. Ushers were Rick Redus, brother of the bride, Austin, and Leon Snodgrass, brother-in-law of the bride, Los Alamos, N. M.

RECEPTION

For the reception in the church parlor, the serving table was decorated with an arrangement of white carnations, baby's breath and yellow pom-pom chrysanthemums in a silver compote.

The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated in yellow roses and topped with white satin bells.

Kathleen Fitzgerald, Cathy DeWitt and Cara Thomas assisted at the bride's table and Becky Hatfield, cousin of the bride, and Sarah Walker assisted at the bridegroom's table. Dee Bond and Johnny Grady distributed rice bags. Registering the guests was Miss Paula Johnson of Pampa.

For the wedding trip to the West Texas area, the bride wore a beige, crepe hot-pants suit with matching overdress. Her corsage was of the flowers from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside at 1325 1/2 Mary Ellen.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Pampa High School and is attending Draughn's Business College in Amarillo.

The bridegroom, a 1972 PHS graduate is employed as assistant manager of Fite's Food Market.

PRE-NUPITAL EVENTS

The bride was honored with a shower in the home of Miss Walker.

She was also honored with another shower at the Hospitality Room of Citizen's Bank, hosted by Mmes. Dick Bond, Ernie Grady, Ernie Pulse, Nolan Cole, Jim Cunningham and R. D. Hawkins.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Out-of-town guests included R. B. Price and family of Oklahoma City; B. C. Price and family of Bartlesville, Okla.; S. T. Redus and family of Ponce, Puerto Rico; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Shipley, Tanana, Alaska; Leon Snodgrass and family, Los Alamos, N. M.; and Max Osborn and family of Midland.

For interesting scrambled eggs at brunchtime, add crisply cooked crumbled bacon and drained canned whole-kernel corn to the egg mixture just before it is set.

Dear Abby

Good riddance, hubby, but return the cook

By Abigail Van Buren

(© 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: After 12 years of a more or less happy marriage—mostly less—my husband ran off with our cook. I miss her terribly and cannot seem to replace her.

With your vast knowledge and experience in matters of this kind, will you please advise me how to get her back, leaving my husband where he is?

Don't tell me to have somebody bump him off because I don't have that kind of money.

FAY IN DAGUSCAHONDA, PA.

DEAR FAY: Place an ad in the classified section of your local newspaper, and make her an offer she can't refuse.

DEAR ABBY: Billy and I live next door to his parents, and that's my problem. You see, they own a couple acres of land, and they are letting us park our trailer on it free. In a way, it's helping us because Billy is going to college and we can't afford to live anywhere else.

Billy's mother is constantly over here checking up on my housekeeping. I have absolutely NO privacy, Abby. She barges in constantly. Also, she keeps bringing cakes and cookies and pies here for Billy when she knows I've been trying to keep him on a diet. (He is 60 pounds overweight.) She keeps telling me I am starving him to death, but I'm not. Billy's will power isn't worth a bean.

He is gaining and I am losing. I went from 130 pounds to 105 in three months, and I'm 5 feet 7.

Please help me before I lose my mind.

NERVOUS WRECK

DEAR WRECK: Tell that tower of Jello you are married to be had better tell his mother to respect your privacy. And if things don't improve, insist on parking your trailer somewhere else. In your present setup, your marriage isn't worth a bean.

DEAR ABBY: Three months ago I lost a beautiful 21-year-old daughter in a car accident. She was driving alone and the driver of the other car ran a red light and struck her car, killing her instantly. There were many witnesses, who all agreed on what happened. The man who hit her is quite well off.

I can be in a grocery store or anywhere in public and people I hardly know will come up to me and ask, "What did you get out of your daughter's accident?"

I reply, "The loss of a daughter."

This may be considered a rude answer, but I don't think it's anybody's business. If you agree with me, please print this in your column. Maybe they will see it and realize how cruel and heartless they are.

BROKENHEARTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yours was not a rude answer. I think it was very touching, and more than they deserved.

DEAR LOU: Much would depend upon some facts which are unknown to me. Did you in any way contribute to her son's divorce? If not, his mother is grossly unfair, and you should consider yourself lucky you don't have to spend any time with her.

Problems? Trust Abby. For a personal reply, write to ABBY, BOX 69700, L. A., CALIF. 90060 and enclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-Agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90060.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

Sunday, October 15

Your birthday today: Now is a time for extensive efforts to make the most of your skills, learn all you can by pragmatic application. Today's natives do, however, share tenacity of purpose and an interest in the dramatic arts.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: Once you've completed a minimum of participation in community formalities, get away from it all, find something pleasant to do.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Putting extra energy into any work complicates matters. Live this Sunday as a holiday instead of just time off from work.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Budget both your strength and your money; it's a long day replete with lively suggestions, eager friends, temptations to overdo.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Ordinary methods don't bring marked results; if you have a task to work out, use all the influence you can bring to bear.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: From an uneven start the day unwinds into a fairly successful Sunday. If you must travel, do so with care and caution.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Get a common opinion on what is to be done. Don't be surprised if nobody wants to do anything that takes much exertion.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Now is not the time to talk about what you are going to do later. Pursue quieter, less strenuous forms of sports, fun and games.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Bright and early do what is expected of you by your community, then out of it all for a leisurely day. Mind your own concerns.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Striving for close social and sports contact brings tensions to the surface. As leisurely as you can make it is fast enough.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Select your companions, then go along with their group projects instead of trying to enforce your own detailed schemes.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: This isn't your day to force any issues or try bringing agreements to finality. Get some rest, find time for meditation.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Have patience with diverging views and moods of nearly everybody. Avoiding crowded places is another suggestion.

Clean Preteens

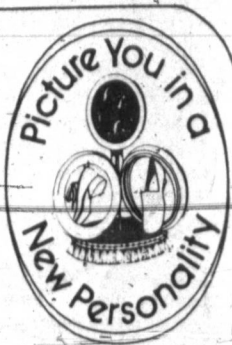

Clean simple lines are in store even for the preteen set. Fitted high-waisted pants are neatly topped with floral or plaid blazers. Short pinafore jumpers add a bit of charm to straight leg pants and skinny rib turtle-necks. And long tailored skirts are teamed with white collared blouses with white collar and cuffs.

Print Wraps

Quilted wrap aprons in baby-doll prints are being tied up over pants and shirts for an interesting effect among young girls. A more sophisticated print would look good on an older woman.

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

MONDAY, OCTOBER 16

Your birthday today: Whatever can be made simpler should be. Most activities drift into a concerted single line of a coherent program. Today's natives are optimistic, prefer to work in solitude, often produce work which becomes well known.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: It is as good a time as any to come to grips with home, personal problems and limitations, come to some resolution.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Vigorous early beginnings make the difference. Pay closer attention to your enterprises if you can get others to check the details.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Indications are for a genuine intellectual effort and your need to diversify it with regular pauses for rest, and a bit of humor.

Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Your success depends on meshing your schedules with others going in similar directions. Correspondence is no longer neglectable.

Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: You cannot do just the things you pick out for yourself without also taking on something you don't like as much.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]:

You have your fair share of things to do, and should demand your part of the rewards promptly. New jobs are not favored today.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Practical maneuvers shouldn't be allowed to divert you from creative urges. Younger people tend to claim attention.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: There's nothing like your personal touch. Conversation provides opportunities for ill-considered remarks.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: By the time you explain what you are going to do and what benefits may result, the time to do it is past. This needn't happen.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Having more drive than usual doesn't necessarily mean taking up a different line of action. Keep your work in your own hands.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Thoroughness at all levels is important now. Information searches are successful, although some of what you learn isn't convenient.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: By getting people to talk, enough will come out that you can at least estimate the story behind any recent mysteries.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Remember Watergate

The mistreatment that Senator George McGovern has received at the hands of the White House bugs, along with the subsequent court ruling that gagged witnesses to the episode, should persuade the candidate's sincere followers of the danger of almighty government.

Now, it may be that not all the senator's backers are sincere. You always have a few on any side of any contest who object to wrongdoing only because they are the victims. Normally, these complain of the pain inflicted up to the point that they get a chance to become the inflictors. After that, they enjoy the game, believing that justice finally was done merely on grounds that the direction of the injustice was reversed.

On the other hand, there are some who earnestly believe that wrong is wrong regardless of who commits it. And the object of their political endeavors, misdirected though they may be, is to stop the reign of persecution by the displacement of the persecutors. All of that is highly noble but they have a problem. The McGovern people favor big government, the tool of their destruction.

Mr. Nixon or his advisers or both are able to stop pedal the Watergate scandal because they sit at the controls of an executive branch so vast that it is able to dominate the judiciary. The evidence of their commanding influence is the order of U.S. District Judge John Sirica that gags potential attorneys and potential witnesses to the case.

Judge Sirica's actual jurisdiction comprises only the 67 square miles occupied by the District of Columbia. Yet one man, a political judge—a mere cog in the machinery of Big Government, has the power to bottle up the source of information that is needed now for the purposes of a decision by 74 million electors.

It is to be hoped that the Nixon fans in his home county of Orange now gain some faint glimmer of understanding why the administration was so quick to file criminal charges in the Watergate scandal. The move to prosecute paved the way to a court order that squelched information which the people have every right to know. The fact that the prosecution was launched, placing a dam across the free flow of public knowledge, is evidence that there is something that the administration prefers to keep hidden. Thus, the judicial gag order is employed as a political weapon in the hands of the current custodians of Big Government.

We have no hope that the essential message—the damage that Big Government does to individual liberties—will get through to Senator McGovern. He happens to be an advocate of the very poison that is killing him. Ironically, the ruthless perpetrators of Watergate have at least voiced more understanding of governmental tyranny than has the victim. Our appeal, therefore, is addressed to the McGovern supporters and, of these, only to those who truly wish to do something positive for the liberties of their fellowman. Recognize that liberty and human rights do not originate out of the governmental mechanism, but to the contrary enlargement of government snuffs the flames of liberty. Don't enlarge government. Watergate is the reason why.

Deadly Gamemanship

It happened to Gen. George S. Patton. It happened to novelist Albert Camus. It happened to comedian Ernie Kovacs, and to actress Jayne Mansfield. It happened to Dominican playboy Rafael Trujillo. It happened to Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee. It happened last July to the new director of the Metropolitan Opera, Goeran Gentele, on a county road in Sardinia.

It happens every hour of every day to someone, to the great and the humble, to more than 50,000 people every year in America alone.

Of course, it will never happen to any of us—being killed in an auto accident.

It surely would amaze a visitor from another planet that we have accepted the squandering of life on our streets and highways when we prize life so highly.

Thanks to the multi-lane freeway, we have improved the odds against the high-speed head-on crash, but we are still gambling with the reckless lane-jumper, the day-dreamer, the drinking driver, and our city streets and country roads are more crowded than ever. It is a deadly game we have invented for ourselves. Let's drive defensively. It doesn't always happen to the other guy.

It's really tragic. It'll be a long time before America puts together a group of pilots and scientists this size and with this much talent. Perhaps never. But for now, the party's over.

Crossroads Report

Dear Editor:

The judgearchy which has taken over the management of our schools is putting some local school boards between a rock and a hard place.

One judge ordered a Dallas area school board to accept some student transfers which another judge had commanded them to refuse.

My strictly-reared neighbor says he was once in about the same shape as this frustrated school board. His papa said he would get a spanking if he didn't put the cat out on a cold night and his mamma said she would spank him if he did.

Word is that the U.S. Air Force now has what are called "smart" bombs, which the bombardier just turns loose and they go out and land on targets as inevitably as an IRS figgerman. And some loose thinkers are saying that if we can produce bombs which are that smart, how come we can't turn out many smart politicians?

But my semi-smart neighbor says our main trouble already is that the politicians we have are too smart for us people.

Great gobs of certificated wisdom are being swabbed on the national crime score. But most of the scholarship in this area is concerned about criminals' rights, which naturally are the opposite of non-criminals' and crime victims' rights.

It looks like the outcome will be all honest people cowering and disarmed in personal fortresses behind locked doors and barred windows while prisons are done away with and gun- and bomb-toting criminals range at large.

Checking up on history reveals that the U.S.A. abolished slavery by passing the 13th Amendment to the Constitution, and restored same with the 16th. Of course, pre-13th slavery was total, while the 16th's reimposition of slavery has been partial up to now, varying from 1 percent to 70 percent.

For the average citizen it works out that he is only about one-third slave to the politicians, welfarers and other parasites at the present time, but prospects are good that he will soon graduate to half-slavery or better.

The basic pitch of Sen. McGovern's campaign for the White House slot is that all good things could be bought with the money now being spent on national defense.

The Senator has got about $500 billion worth of plans for spending the $30 billion he proposes to save by crimping the military.

Any man who can get that much mileage out of our money should have the job of spending same, because the record of some past administrations has been more like $30 billion worth of accomplishment per $500 billion spent.

I see where the city of Dallas is listed officially as having 25,000 unemployed people, but when 1,000 workers were needed at the State Fair, only about 50 applicants showed up. Which shouldn't surprise anybody who has been around long enough to get a good look at humankind.

Most of us work so we can eat, and also try to pile up enough substance that we can someday quit working and retire. Juicy welfare has removed the need to go through this work cycle before retiring, and many are now being born retired.

Inside Washington

Ex-POWs Cast Off Antiwar Activist Strings

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—There is a good reason why you haven't been hearing more propaganda yawns and yelps from that pack of antiwar leftists which accompanied the three released U.S. pilots home.

Once back in the U.S., the former POWs shed the Hanoi barnacles with emphatic dispatch and finality.

They have rebuffed every attempt to contact them, making it forcefully clear they want nothing further to do with the militants. The three officers maintain they meticulously fulfilled all the "obligations" of their liberation, and are in no way beholden to the antiwar agitators.

This blunt rejection is particularly significant in the case of Navy Lt. Mark Gartley, 24, who spent four years as a Hanoi prisoner.

Mrs. Minnie Lee Gartley, his mother, went to North Vietnam with the leftist activists and has been an outspoken critic of the war. She has coupled these sentiments with endorsements of ultra-dove Sen. McGovern. Gartley, while in Communist hands, was quoted as denouncing the war.

Since donning his uniform and returning to active duty, the young pilot has not only shunned the militants but has said nothing further about Vietnam—or any other issue. His mother, too, seems to have lapsed into silence.

To sympathetic Navy authorities, Gartley has indicated he wants to remain in the service and continue flying.

Beyond that, his plans are indefinite. He is thinking of additional schooling but is still undecided what to undertake. The Navy is willing to cooperate on that, as it would like to keep Gartley.

However, if he desires to get out, there will be no problem. All he has to do is submit a letter of resignation.

Your Health

Do Fruits Contain Cholesterol?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb—My husband was told by his doctor to go on a low cholesterol diet for four months and then he would check him again. I know the foods to avoid like ice cream, gravy, chocolate, fried foods, etc., but I'm wondering about fruits when he is hungry (apples, oranges, and bananas, etc.). What about canned vegetables as long as they are packed in water. Can he drink beer?

Dear Reader—As far as cholesterol content is concerned, none of the vegetables or fruits or plants contain cholesterol. It's only animal products such as meats, dairy products, and eggs, that contain cholesterol. There is no reason why your husband couldn't eat fruits and vegetables and no reason from the cholesterol or fat point of view why he couldn't drink beer.

Your doctor may have wanted your husband to go on a low fat, low cholesterol diet since just limiting the cholesterol alone in the diet often won't accomplish so much. Such a diet would have to consist of fruits, vegetables, lean meats (like round steak with all the excess fat removed), fish, chicken and low fat or fortified skim milk, and if your husband needs to lose weight, he should avoid all high calorie foods, including concentrated sweets, and fat of any kind whether it is vegetable or animal.

Without controlling obesity most diet programs are doomed to failure in preventing fatty deposits in the arteries (atherosclerosis). A gradual fat reduction with continued prevention of obesity combined with a low fat, low cholesterol diet seems to work best.

The most commonly eaten food high in cholesterol is the egg yolk. One yolk contains about 250 milligrams. A three and one-half ounce (raw) serving of lean beef contains only 70 milligrams.

Dear Dr. Lamb—I am quite concerned with a skin condition I contracted after taking birth control pills for two years. My face became quite blotchy and although I have been off the pill now for two years, the pregnancy mask which the doctor said would lighten up and disappear has failed to do so and my face is still vividly marked. What can I do or take to correct this disfiguring condition?

Dear Reader—I am afraid that there isn't anything you can take. This complexion problem is the same that affects some women during pregnancy and is exactly the same as the pregnancy mask that you referred to. It is an increase in the normal pigmentation produced by the skin. In a sense the spots are giant freckles. What you're up against then is the same question as how to remove freckles. Staying out of the sun will probably help.

The man who seeks your advice too often is probably looking for praise rather than information.

Rearview Mirror

By TEX DEWEESE
Editor of The News

DON'T KNOW who originated it, but someone once came up with the very erudite and pedantic axiom, "better late than never."

With that prologue, Rearview Mirror goes back to Aug. 21 and a letter that came during vacation time.

Mrs. Randol Nichols, 2121 Duncan, explained she was accepting an offer to "sound off, so to speak."

"First, an apology to Mrs. Nichols for delay in getting around to the important subject matter in her letter."

It's a problem that bobs up from time to time, but nothing much ever is done about it.

It was nearly two months ago that Mrs. Nichols wrote in part: "Having recently begun work as a 'prn' on the night shift at Worley Hospital, I realize the need for our city fathers to do something about declaring a Quiet Zone around the hospital and seeing to it that it is enforced."

"Many is the night the hospital personnel works hard to quiet patients and help them to have a more restful night, only to have them disturbed by car racing, 'revving' of motors, loud shouting and horn honking."

"This is disturbing to a critically ill person for whom quiet and rest are essential. It would be well for parents to teach their young people courtesy and consideration for others. I say 'young people' because we have observed just who the offenders are. And certainly no mature individual would be 'dragging' this street at 2 a.m."

"I know the young people are teachable, if only the parents will take the time, care and patience to teach them."

MRS. NICHOLS, in the same letter, brought out another point. She wrote that having attended several public functions since moving to Pampa, she was amazed and dismayed at the conduct of many young Pampans.

Quoting again from her letter: "We attended the band concert and the joint choir concert. All were well performed. It was evident the participants worked hard to present a worthwhile program."

"However, many—and I do mean many—young people were up and down in their seats, milling about in the aisles and talking so loudly that at times it was almost impossible to hear the program."

"The participants were all nicely dressed, yet many in the audience were in shorts, even dirty jeans, and some were barefooted. The first couple of times we attended such a function, we couldn't believe it. I do not believe it encroaches upon the so-called 'freedom' of young people to teach them good manners and appropriate behavior and dress for such occasions."

"And, I feel our young people should have a certain amount of freedom as long as it does not infringe or impose upon the rights of others."

Like the man (or woman) said, "better late than never."

THE PAMPA Chamber of Commerce likes to describe Pampa as a friendly city—and rightfully so.

For instance, the week just ended was Newspaper Week. We never say or write much about Newspaper Week.

If The Pampa News is doing a good job, the readers will know it without us having to tell them. When we get off the track, they'll let us know.

But getting back to the friendly city theme. Some nice fellows on Radio Station KGRO's Public Contact program gave us a Newspaper Week editorial much better than we could have written. It was last Monday. They called attention to the week. They said they like to read the newspaper and even had a kind word or two for the editor.

Ed Cunningham, Celanese news manager from New York City, was in town that day and made a side comment about the incident. He said it must have been some kind of a "first"—radio paying tribute to a newspaper.

That's what we mean about Pampa being a friendly city. So, thanks to Mike, Gene and Darrell, the Public Contact fellows.

However, one suspects the rug would be jerked out from under us anytime they figured we had it coming. And that's the way it should be.

LIVING RINGS IN OPERATION — Research Associate Moustafa Hakki, front, and worsted technician Manuel Costales, both of Texas Tech University's Textile Research Center, demonstrate the operation of "Living Rings," which increase the speed at which yarn is manufactured up to 100 per cent. The two TRC staffers have obtained a patent for the "Living Ring" mechanism which has proved its value in experiments. (Tech Photo)

Tech Researchers Speed Up Yarn Making With 'Rings'

LUBBOCK — A Texas Tech University Textile Research Center (TRC) associate and a worsted technician have developed a mechanism which some textile authorities believe can increase the speed at which yarn is manufactured by up to 100 per cent.

The developers of the mechanism are research associate Moustafa Hakki and worsted technician Manuel Costales, and they have obtained a patent for the "living ring" in the name of M&M Textiles, Inc., which was formed to handle business matters.

Their invention came after they observed the speed limitations which characterize conventional ring-spinning operations for years and after having given long thought to possible methods of speeding up the spindles and increasing production.

The two TRC technicians theorized that if the ring itself could be rotated, spindle speeds could be increased proportionately when spinning the same quality of raw fibers.

Their "living ring" has received wide acclaim in U.S. textile circles. The ring is supported by a rotating ring holder mounted on the inner race of a special high speed precision bearing. The stationary part of the bearing is secured by a friction rim on a drive pulley which receives its impetus through a belt from a central shaft.

The drive pulley normally engages the rotating ring holder during spinning and a clutch mechanism is provided to disengage the drive for piecing up.

Tests show that the living ring's pulley drive propels the spinning ring at speeds to more than 8,000 rpm. And it does not interfere with the ideal "traveler" relationship.

The textile maker conducting the extensive plant evaluation reports "excellent" results.

In one test, for example, using in-plant production equipment and 6s yarn, top spindle speed increased from 5,500 rpm to 10,500 rpm, the publication said.

The living ring is compatible with almost all conventional equipment and installs easily on frames in place. The installer taps holes in the ring rail, places the living ring over the spinning or twisting spindle, and bolts it in place.

Tests also show that the living ring yarn is "excellent, actually showing improved evenness in a blackboard comparison with regular-spun yarn."

The Textile Research Center and M&M Textiles, Inc., of Lubbock will display the equipment at the Southern Textile Machinery Exhibition International in Greenville, S.C., Oct. 16-20.

A fully operational spinning frame with living rings attached will be displayed and the TRC will present technical data on tests that have been conducted on various types and sizes of yarn in the Texas Tech based research organization.

Trees do not "drink" rainwater that falls on their leaves. The leaves are waterproof, so trees get their water from the ground.

The flowers on the female plants are the only parts of the hop plant used in brewing beer. The male flowers give beer a bitter taste.

Hayfever... For the Millions!

A quarter million tons of ragweed pollen are airborne during the fall season. Ragweed pollen is responsible for most of the 13 million cases of hay fever in the U.S. each year. Very few places in the country are considered entirely free of ragweed, although it is prevalent in the Central West, South and East.

One way to control the problem is to control ragweed growth, and organized campaigns to eradicate the weed have been proposed. On a community level, such action has proved ineffective.

Ragweed continues to propagate in surrounding areas, and a statewide campaign have been called for. The seed of ragweed may lie dormant in the soil for 20 years so that weed eradication must be continued for many successive seasons," a pamphlet from the Allergy Foundation of America adds.

Some ragweed-sensitive individuals seek out relatively pollen-free areas and manage to take their vacation during the height of the hay fever season.

For those who must stay home and manage the symptoms, a trip to the family physician or allergist is recommended.

A composite of advice offered in a pamphlet on hay fever suggests a somewhat different kind of life for many hay fever victims. Ideally, they should live in the city rather than the country, near a large body of water, and venture out at night when there is less pollen than during the day.

The TRC will also present information regarding its overall research program and the unique equipment available at the center for contract research.

Cost for converting standard rings to the new living ring system has not been fully determined, but the developers believe it will be nominal when mass produced.

FB Favors Change in Trailer Law

AUSTIN — Texas Farm Bureau favors the principles embodied in the Moncrief Bill on farm trailer light and brake requirements, a spokesman told a Legislative committee recently.

Pat Smith, TFB director of state affairs, testified Thursday, Sept. 28, before the Senate Committee on Natural Resources and is scheduled to present the organization's testimony before the House Committee on Motor Transportation on Monday, Oct. 2.

The Moncrief Bill was developed by an Interim Study Committee chaired by Rep. Mike Moncrief of Ft. Worth. Texas Farm Bureau President J.T. Woodson was a lay member of the committee.

The Moncrief Bill has been introduced in the House of Representatives as House Bill 1 and in the Senate as Senate Bill 21.

Smith told the legislators that voting delegates at the Texas Farm Bureau convention held last November in Amarillo were unanimous in their declaration that farm trailer brake and light regulations adopted by the 62nd Legislature as part of Senate Bill 183 are much too harsh and impractical.

"These regulations fail to recognize or take into consideration the excellent safety record of farm trailers, the highly seasonal use of farm trailers, or the unusually punishing circumstances under which they are normally operated," he said.

Regional Ag Rep Is Named

Secretary of Agriculture Earl Buttz has announced the appointment of Jose M. Villarreal, Texas cattle rancher, as regional representative of the Secretary of Agriculture.

The appointment was effective Oct. 1. Villarreal, since July, 1970, has been a member of the Texas State Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service committee.

As regional representative for the Dallas Federal Regional Council area, Office of Intergovernmental Affairs, he will coordinate U.S. Department of Agriculture activities in the area in the event of natural disaster and will work closely with State government officials, the Office of Emergency Preparedness and other civil defense agencies. He will be the secretary's liaison representative on the Dallas Federal Regional Council, which encompasses New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana.

The Pampa Daily News Farm Page

Pampa, Texas 66th Year Sunday, Oct. 15, 1972 13

Agriculturally Speaking

The Gray-Roberts County Farmers Union held the best attended and by far the fastest and smoothest running convention that I have ever attended. J.D. Skaggs did an excellent job of pushing the resolutions that were passed. I wish we had room to give you the context of these resolutions, but space does not permit.

One strongly worded resolution took a strong stand against any form of compulsory Soil and Water Conservation. We have heard of some eight thousand pound yields of irrigated milo. Only a few are in the process of harvesting. Freddie Vanderburgh has almost completed his irrigated milo harvesting. Freddie is storing all of his milo which he plans to feed to his registered and commercial swine.

Some of the dryland milo is being grazed out. However, much of the dryland milo looks good and will be harvested.

WHEAT SITUATION

A good rain would really start cattle to being moved onto wheat pasture. Our dryland wheat pasture could prove to be better again this fall than the irrigated wheat. This was the case last fall. October 15 is the date most farmers start grazing on account of Government programs.

There is some talk of lifting the grazing restriction on set-aside acreage for next year. In the past the cattlemen organizations have prevented this, thinking there would be an over production of beef. However, since the barrier has been dropped to import, the thinking now is that it would be better to let American producers produce the extra beef on the diverted acres.

MINIMUM TILLAGE CHECKED — Soil Conservationist Rodney Hyatt exams a sorghum stand planted in wheat stubble on the Elmer Balch farm in Gray County. This is the second year Balch has practiced this method and is well satisfied with it. (SCS Photo)

Ag 'Fashion' Change Important to Tillers

Just as fashions change in clothing, agriculture is also constantly changing. Manageability is more important to the tiller of the land today than ever before.

Research for developing new equipment, herbicides, and management techniques have brought about many changes in farming operations and more will undoubtedly be proven and adopted in the future.

With production costs increasing, cutting operation costs is a big factor, reports

Rodney Hyatt soil conservationist at Pampa.

Minimum or much tillage offers a method of cutting production costs. This simply means planting a crop in the residue of a preceding crop, stated Hyatt. This also gives excellent soil protections.

Benefits of reduced soil compaction and labor expenses, and lowered production costs can be expected by lessening the number of trips over the land. Bonus benefits of conserving moisture and reducing erosion can increase yields.

Cultivation buries residues and causes a moisture loss, states Hyatt. Therefore relying on chemicals for weed control is encouraged, although some mechanical cultivation may be needed.

Year to year clean tillage offers poor moisture efficiency compared to mulch or minimum-tillage. Farming in surface residue improves moisture penetration from rainfall and irrigation by increasing the soil porosity. Also evaporation is reduced because residue keeps the soil at a cooler temperature.

In a nutshell, minimum-tillage points toward increased income through soil protection, and moisture conservation. For further information contact the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District.

BROADSIDE IS 10 NEW YORK (AP) — The little magazine which first published the songs of Bob Dylan, Phil Ochs and many other protest songwriters is marking its 10th anniversary.

It was named Broadside after the topical songbooks which flourished in Britain during the 18th and 19th centuries. Other songwriters whose songs were introduced are Len Chandler, Tom Paxton, Julien Lester, Eric Andersen, David Cohen, Janis Ian, Peter La Farge and Patrick Sky. At the same time, new songs of older songwriters, like Malvina Reynolds' "Little Boxes," were printed.

The magazine's editors consider Bob Dylan the greatest poet America has yet produced.

HEIFETZ RECITAL LOS ANGELES (AP) — Violinist Jascha Heifetz will present a solo recital on Oct. 23, his first solo appearance in Los Angeles in the last 17 years.

The recital will be at the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion of the Music Center and Heifetz is donating his services. This is in celebration of the first $4 million raised in a multimillion-dollar campaign for the University of Southern California school of music.

Tickets are priced from $25 to $4. Heifetz has been on the faculty of the school of music since 1963.

Funding of REAP To Be Continued

WASHINGTON — Congressman Bob Price has been notified by the U.S. Department of Agriculture of the continued funding of the 1973 Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP) that will strengthen conservation and diminish air and water pollution.

The initial funding level for 1973 will be $140 million dollars, the same as the initial funding of last year's program. The $140 million funding level reflects the effort of the Administration to hold down federal spending to help control inflation and reduce the need for a tax increase. A final decision regarding the program level will not be made until determinations are made on overall spending targets.

Price commented, "I am pleased that the Administration has had the foresight to continue the funding of this important program at this high level, without running the risk of inflationary increases. The agribusiness industry has been engaged in the practice of saving our natural resources years before 'ecology' became a fashionable cause.

Through this program the Federal Government will share with agribusiness, farmers and ranchers the cost (usually on a 50-50 basis) of carrying out needed conservation and environmental measures on their land. Practices emphasized are those which help provide long-range preservation of the soil and water and return greater benefits to the public.

Citizens of all communities will receive Federal cost-sharing for these new practices: (1) Installation of excess-water management systems where they are essential to combat adverse environmental conditions such as water pollution from contaminated water runoff caused by a high water table, or incomplete recycling of animal or human waste, sedimentation and salinity or alkalinity; and (2) use of conservation tillage on a demonstration basis to reduce soil loss from land devoted to intertilled (row) crops.

Also, the 1973 REAP expands the authority to cost-share for practices to solve agriculture-related air pollution problems. In the past, cost-sharing for pollution abatement was limited to those practices with soil and water conservation benefits.

County committees will develop their 1973 programs within National program guidelines and will have the opportunity to keep some or all of their 1970 county practices as was the case for 1971-72.

The following conservation and environmental protection features will receive high priority during the coming year:

Establishing permanent vegetative cover; developing facilities for livestock water; water impoundment reservoirs; constructing terrace systems; diversion terraces, ditches or dikes; permanent wildlife habitat; animal waste storage and diversion facilities; sediment retention and water control structures; sediment or chemical runoff measures; disposal of crop, orchard or woodland residues without burning; and disposal pits for solid waste.

These conservation practices will benefit all citizens whether rural or urban especially in the area of a clean water supply." Price said. "These measures have proved to be extremely effective and it is fortunate that their continuance has been funded."

Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service administers the program through its farmer-elected committee system. Technical and educational assistance is provided by Soil Conservation Service, Forest Service and the Extension Service.

Christian Sponsors Spray Bill

AUSTIN — A House Bill to have spray dipping approved as an alternative to total submersion in the treatment of cattle for scabies control has been recommended by both the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the Lt. Governor for inclusion in the call of the Special Session.

Co-sponsor of the bill is Rep. Tom Christian of Claude.

At present, the Texas law recognizes total submersion as the only acceptable method of treatment for cattle scabies. However, cattlemen are now leaning toward the spray dip method, saying that it is more satisfactory, easily adaptable and would produce the same results at less cost to the owner of the livestock.

The bill is endorsed by the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. The spray dip method is accepted in all states with the exception of Texas.

"Scabies control is vital to the productivity of the Panhandle and the simplification of the movement of livestock from one area to another," Christian said. "It is only fair that the Texas producer receive the same consideration as those of the other 49 states."

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

The commercial production of channel catfish along the Mississippi Delta and Central Texas has become big business and is getting bigger. The National Fisheries of the Department of the Interior is giving a big assist to the commercial fish farmer.

This week we are carrying some additional information concerning the production of channel catfish. In 1970, the U.S. Department of the Interior Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife Division of Fishery Research published Resource Publication 83, Report To The Fish Farmers. The Warmwater Fish Cultural Research Laboratories at Stuttgart, Arkansas directed the studies under the direction of Kermit E. Sneed. Contributing to the report were Fred P. Meyer, Chief of the Fish Farming Experiment Station, Stuttgart, Arkansas; Harry K. Dupree, Chief of the Southeastern Fish Cultural Laboratory, Marion, Alabama; and John J. Giudice, Chief of the Fish Farming Development Center, Rohwer, Arkansas. Report To The Fish Farmers deals with the status of warmwater fish farming and progress in fish farming research.

We are carrying a portion of the report: "Private warmwater fish culture was probably born in the late twenties and early thirties when a few individuals began raising minnows to supply the growing demand for fish bait for sport fishing."

Shortly after World War II, with the boom in farm pond and reservoir construction and the many water conservation projects inspired by the dust-bowl years of the thirties, the demand for minnows increased. By the late 1940's there were a dozen or more successful private producers of bait fish. By 1953, there was literally an outbreak of minnow farmers, and simultaneously farmers began raising buffalo fish, bass, and crappie. Much of this attempt at fish husbandry failed because the farmers were not experienced in fish culture.

because of improper pond construction, or because low-value species were stocked.

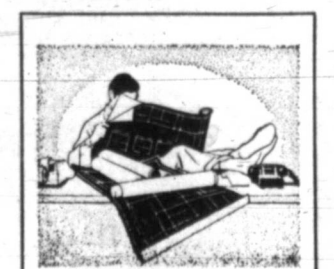

"From 1955 to 1959, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, with funds from the Saltonstall-Kennedy Act for Commercial Fisheries, sponsored research on channel catfish at the University of Oklahoma to learn how to improve production methods in the National Fish Hatcheries and to develop a basis for commercial fish farming. Other agencies and universities also became interested in channel catfish as a commercial and sport species, and the Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife established the Southeastern Fish Cultural Laboratory at Marion, Alabama, and the Fish Farming Experimental Station at Stuttgart, Arkansas. The Bureau began the Fish Farming Development Center at Rohwer, Arkansas in 1963. These stations, the Warmwater Fish Cultural Laboratories, began mainly on the catfishes and baitfishes, but other kinds of fish have come into the program."

"By 1959 the fish farming industry was again in a state of expansion; this time it was based on better experience and the results of some limited research, especially that concerned with catfishes, the most desirable species for fish farming in the Grand Prairie and Delta areas."

"We estimate there are about 68,000 acres in the U.S. under intensive warmwater fish culture, 39,300 acres for catfish. In 1963 the total was 16,870 acres, with only 2,370 acres in catfish. This comparison dramatically attests to the explosive growth of the industry, especially that in catfish production. The wholesale value of the 1969 crop was more than 33 million dollars. We are probably dealing with a 75-million dollar retail business."

"What relation, if any, does this developing industry have to field crops? First, fish farming in the Lower Mississippi Valley is so well established that it is a basic part of the agricultural program of the area. Second, fish is the only crop developed in the past generation that offers an opportunity to diversify the agriculture of this area. Third, it is a natural addition to the cultural practices now used in rice-soybean farming. That is, it completes a triad of rice-fish-bean rotation. Fourth, even in its present primitive state, fish farming can be profitable."

Colts Hope To Keep Alive Against Cowboys

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Colts, fighting to avert early elimination from title contention in the National Football League, host the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys today.

The game, part of a nationally televised doubleheader, will begin at 3 p.m. CDT.

Reeling with a 1-3 record after losing three straight in Baltimore, the Colts will be in the rare role of underdogs for a home game. The Cowboys, 3-1, are three-point favorites.

The meeting between the two teams will be the first since Baltimore downed Dallas 16-13 in the 1971 Super Bowl.

The Cowboys, far from overpowering despite a winning record, plan to start Ron Sellers and Billy Parks at wide receiver in place of Bob Hayes and Lance Alworth.

Defensive end Larry Cole of Dallas will miss the game with a sprained knee and will be replaced by Tody Smith, a young, er brother of Baltimore's Bubba Smith—who is out for the year following knee surgery.

Linebacker Chuck Howley is a doubtful starter for the Cowboys because of a pulled hamstring muscle, but defensive tackle Bob Lilly is expected to play in his 159th consecutive game despite a foot injury.

With veteran running backs Tom Matte and Norm Bulaich ailing, Baltimore probably will start a pair of second-year runners, Don Nottingham and Don McCauley.

Nottingham has taken over as the top Baltimore rusher as Bulaich has been sidelined repeatedly by leg injuries.

Rookie Glenn Doughty, one of Baltimore's second-round draft choices, is expected to see a lot of action Sunday and may even start.

Doughty was activated for the first time last week, but played only on the special teams. With wide receiver Eddie Hinton on the band squad because of an injury, however, Doughty has practiced with the first unit most of the week.

UTEP Loses 21-14

PROVO, Utah (AP)—Tailback Pete VanValkenburg rushed for two touchdowns to help Brigham Young University to a 21-14 Western Athletic conference football victory over Texas-El Paso Saturday.

VanValkenburg carried the ball 22 times for 67 yards, including touchdown runs of 10 and five yards.

Twice late in the final quarter UTEP threatened to score, but was stopped inside the 15-yard line. With 14 seconds remaining, an apparent UTEP touchdown was nullified by a holding penalty. The clock ran out before the team could score.

Ranked second in the nation in rushing behind Woody Green of Arizona State, VanValkenburg now has six touchdowns for the season.

Junior tailback Wayne Bower plunged over from the four-yard line to score BYU's final touchdown before the end of the first half.

BYU placekicker John Monahan scored all three conversion kicks.

UTEP controlled the second half on two 1-yard hops by Al Barrett with Gary Bolen hitting both conversions.

Turpin Beats Warriors 64-24

MIAMI — The Warriors were walloped 64-24 by a real good Turpin, Okla. team in their game Friday night.

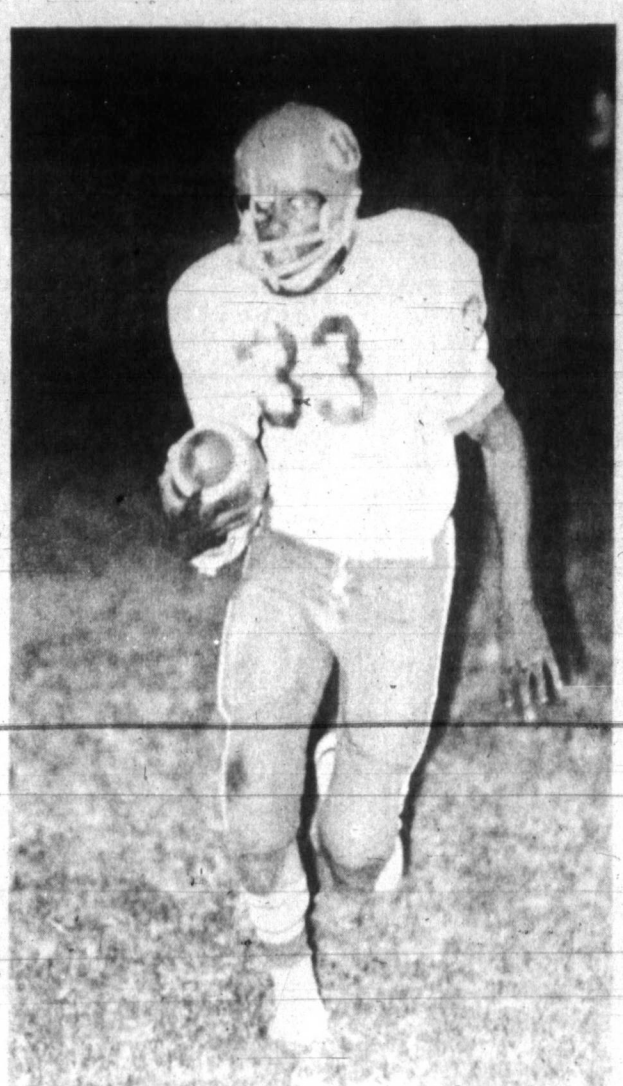

The score at half time was only 20-6 in favor of the Oklahoma team but a tremendous second half outburst erased any hope for a Miami victory.

Miami's first half score came on a 10-yard pass from David Faulkner to Tim Fatheree.

In the third quarter Miami lost fumbles on each of three successive possessions and Turpin turned each of them into touchdowns.

The Warriors' second score came on another pass from Faulkner to Fatheree, this one covering 65 yards.

Faulkner was injured in the third period and was unable to play in the fourth.

BOBBY JOE SHRUBS — Wellington's fine sophomore fullback accounted for all of the Skyrockets' touchdowns in Friday's game with Wheeler but his heroics were not enough as Wellington fell 29-20. Shrubs' scoring runs covered 14 and 71 yards while a 64-yard pass reception and run accounted for his third and final touchdown.

Both Reaper Teams Defeated By Dumas

Pampa Junior High's Reapers went to Dumas Thursday and suffered an 18-16 loss at the hands of the host team.

The Reapers took the lead in the first quarter when Doug Lee intercepted a pass and returned it 45 yards for the touchdown. Jerry Matney scored the extra points and the Reapers led 8-0.

Dumas scored right before the half but failed to make the extra points and the Reapers led at that point 8-6.

In the second half Pampa put together a 55-yard scoring drive with Matney taking the ball in on a quarterback sneak. At that point the PJH team led 16-6.

The next time Pampa had the ball they were forced into a punting situation. The snap from center went over Matney's head and Dumas got the ball on the Reapers 30.

On fourth and seven at the Pampa seven Dumas completed a pass in the end zone and narrowed the gap to 16-12.

With 6 1/2 seconds left in the game Pampa was again forced to punt. The snap again went over Matney's head and again Dumas recovered. They were able to score in that short time and won the game 18-16.

The eighth grade Reapers also lost their game to Dumas. Ricky Moore scored the only Pampa touchdown in that 20-6 loss.

The ninth grade plays Borger White here this week while the eighth grade plays Borger North there.

OSU Upset

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP)—Dave Strock booted an 18-yard field goal with 12 seconds remaining and Virginia Tech's Gobblers scored a 34-32 upset of 19th-ranked Oklahoma State Saturday in an intersectional football battle.

Robert E. Lee Has Very Successful Week

Robert E. Lee's three football teams each had a very productive effort this past week with each squad getting a victory.

The ninth grade played Borger Red on Harvester Field Thursday night and blanked the visitors 21-0. The eighth grade Wolverines beat Borger North 15-6 and the eighth grade Razorbacks downed Borger South 14-6.

Mark Coulter scored the ninth grade's first touchdown on a 3-yard run in the first quarter. The extra point was no good and the score at the half was 6-0.

Bruce Reeves scored the next TD for Lee in the third period on a one-yard plunge. Pampa faked kicking the extra point after that score and Richard Lane threw to Reeves in the end zone for two points, upping the lead to 14-0.

Russell Thornburg scored Lee's final touchdown on an 18-yard run in the fourth quarter. Lane kicked the extra point and the ninth grade had their shut-out 21-0.

Lee had 181 yards total offense in 45 plays. Mark Coulter gained 65 yards in 11 carries.

The top defensive man was Keith Eastham who was in on 20 tackles.

Coach Dennis Pasley said after the game that he thought Lee "has as good a chance as anybody to win district. We play Dumas this week and that's the one we have to win."

Brian Bailey got the ball rolling for the Wolverines in their victory on a 15-yard scoring run in the first quarter. He threw to Don Hughes for the extra points.

Bailey connected with Steve Harwood for a 37-yard touchdown pass for the second score. Bailey also kicked the extra point.

Borger scored in the third quarter to make the score 15-6 but the Wolverines held on and had their win.

Frank Stowers set up the first touchdown when he returned an intercepted pass 64 yards to the Borger 20. He, Mike Izzard and Levi Bailey did outstanding jobs running the ball for the Wolverines.

The Razorbacks got both of their scores in the third quarter on their way to a 14-6 win over Borger South.

Jim Rascoe scored first for Lee on a 4-yard plunge. Benny Fallon scored the next time on a 20-yard run and added the extra points.

Fallon collected 139 yards on 20 carries to help the Razorbacks get their 256 yards total offense.

Ben Wilson played an excellent game at noseguard as did Jimmy Hunt at offensive left halfback. Gary George caught two passes in the game, one for 39 yards and the other for 10.

Shockers Lose 26-22

The Pampa Shockers went to Borger Thursday and saw a blemish added to what had been before an unmarked slate. The Shockers lost their first game of the year to the Bullpups 26-22.

Prior to Thursday the Shockers had beaten Hereford, Clovis, N.M., Perryton and Dumas. All of those wins came rather handily, except in the Perryton tilt when a second half break-down allowed Perryton to get back in the game.

Borger scored 12 points Thursday before the Shockers' Tim Thornburg tallied on a 30-yard run climaxing a 58-yard, five play drive. Greg Beck kicked the extra point and Borger led 12-7.

Jerry Shoopman set up the Shockers' next score on a 33-yard interception return down to the Borger four-yard line. Thornburg again got the call and took the ball in for the marker. David Smith ran for the extra points and Pampa led 15-12.

Borger went ahead next 18-15 after recovering a Shocker fumble at the Pampa one-yard line. That closed out the scoring in the first half.

Borger scored again in the third quarter to stretch their lead to 11 points, 26-15.

Mike Taylor scored the last Shocker touchdown in the fourth quarter on a five-yard run to climax a 24-yard drive. Beck kicked the extra point and the scoring in the game ended.

The Shockers lost five fumbles en route to gaining 215 yards in 64 plays.

On first down Amherst snaps the ball on its two-yard line against Trinity. The ball carrier receives the ball in his end zone and is downed with only the nose of the ball being in the field of play and rest of the ball on the goal line and in the end zone.

The official should:

1. Declare second down for Amherst on the 1-inch line.
2. Award Trinity a safety.
3. Declare a touchback for Amherst.

Answer: Number 2. Award Trinity a safety.

Rule: (8-5-1) It is a touchback if the attacking team is responsible for the ball's being on, above, or behind that goal line; if the defending team is responsible, it is a safety.

PRO CHARTS

NBA

9—Chicago Bulls

NBA—Midwest Division

1971-72 finish: W 57, L 25—2nd place

PROSPECTUS: Chicago held 27 opponents under 100 points last winter with NBA's stingiest defense. Miracle worker coach Dick Motta guided Bulls to incredible 57 wins, all-time club record. Injuries decimated Bulls in play-offs—Lakers swept in four straight. Two-platooning center system worked great. Bulls make few mistakes, a fundamental club that unspectacularly goes out and wins night after night. Second-year forward Howard Porter will work in more for 10-year vet Chet Walker. It'll be hard to win more than 57 and spectre of Abdul-Jabbar down expressway in Milwaukee still the crucial obstacle.

FORWARDS: Bob (Butterbean) Love is perfect for Chicago. The skinny 6-8 star averaged 25.8 ppg, an all-time club record, and made second-team All-Defensive Team for first time. He is unmatched at moving ball for close-in shots. Walker, 32, is half-a-step slower these days but great one-on-one and averaged 22.0. Motta will use high-priced Porter, 6-8, who averaged just 6.0 but has great potential. Porter will rebound better than Love or Walker, has yet to make big adjustment from college to pro. Ken McIntosh, 6-7, occasionally showed why Bulls picked him No. 1 a year ago. Jackie Dinkins (2.5) will watch it all from bench again. Rating: A.

CENTER: Clifford Ray was third-round pick and surprise of year for Motta. At 6-9 he often looked like young Bill Russell—his idol. He had 369 rebounds, almost as many (897) as burly 6-11 Tom Boerwinkle. Each man averaged 7.0 points. The team runs better with Ray in, is more muscular with Boerwinkle. Motta expertly substituted when one man got in foul trouble. Gets maximum from each center. Ray will get better. Newcomer Doris Murrey helpful at center or forward. Rating: B+.

GUARDS: Norm Van Lier gave Bulls depth they lacked at guard. A great pickup by GM Pat Williams, the 6-1 flit-fast Van Lier is great playmaker, tireless competitor. So is Jerry Sloan, perennial All-Defensive Team fixture. Sloan averaged 16.2 points, rebounds better than any guard in game, challenges Van Lier for club lead in floor burns. Bob Weiss is perfect No. 3 guard, can start when matchups favor it, averaged 11.3 steady points, great team player. Nine-year vet Jim King still handy. Rating: B.

PREDICTION: Bulls would be best club in Eastern Conference but they're still no match for Abdul-Jabbar. Second in Midwest.

Weiskopf Beats Trevino To Win Piccadilly Golf

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Tom Weiskopf upset Lee Trevino 4 and 3 Saturday to win the all-American final of the Piccadilly World Match Play Golf Championship.

Weiskopf earned $21,250 in what began as an eight-man event and Trevino settled for runnerup money of $11,250.

The lanky Weiskopf, of Columbus, Ohio, shot a three-under par 71 on the opening 18 holes of the 36-hole showdown, taking a 1-up edge on Trevino when the Texas hotshot shot 72.

Weiskopf rocketed to a three-hole lead with nine to go and was once up by five before finally finishing off the favored British Open champ at the 33rd hole at the 6,997-yard Wentworth course.

Trevino even found an eagle wasn't enough to win a hole.

Lee holed a 10-foot putt for a three on the 497-yard fourth hole of the opening 18, but walked away with only a halve since Weiskopf had already canned a 15-footer for his eagle.

Weiskopf won the first hole and the two Yanks halved the next eight. In a well-played, but relatively unexciting match, the margin was the same at the halfway point.

Then, Weiskopf dropped a 19-footer for a birdie four on the 19th hole and made one from the same range, two holes later as Trevino fell three holes behind.

Lee excited the gallery of 4,000, watching in rare English fall sunshine, when he sank birdie putts of 40 and 25 feet on successive holes to pull within one after 24 holes.

Weiskopf dropped a 30-footer for birdie three to go two ahead at the 25th and went back up by three when Trevino bogeyed the 27th with an errant five iron and poor comeback chip.

Trevino wasn't joking like his normal self. He was a grim man who looked like the loser beside the long-striding, almost pompous Weiskopf.

Trevino did manage to get back within two holes at the 28th when Tom wandered into the woods and gave up, but Lee's luck turned sour again at the 29th when his drive went into a woman's clothing. After it dropped from her dress to the ground, Trevino bogeyed and was behind by three.

Weiskopf eagled the 30th hole

Buffalo Seeking To Continue Improving

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Initially, the Buffalo Bills are as good as they come in the National Football League. The initials, of course, belong to J.D. Hill and O.J. Simpson. And because of those two-letter names, the Bills are better off after only four games this season than they were after the entire 1971 campaign, when they managed just one victory in 14 games.

Thus far, they're 2-2 and locked in a three-way tie with the New York Jets and New England Patriots for second place in the American Conference East.

The Miami Dolphins, not surprisingly, are first, unbeaten in four games. Quite surprisingly, the Baltimore Colts are last at 1-3.

Hill is locked in a three-way tie of his own. He, Fred Biletnikoff of the Oakland Raiders and Otis Taylor of the Kansas City Chiefs, with 18 receptions apiece, are deadlocked for the AFC pass-catching lead.

And this Sunday, while Taylor and the Chiefs, leading the AFC West, battle Cincinnati's Central Division-leading Bengals—each with 3-1 records—Hill and Biletnikoff will go at it head to head in a Bills-Raiders clash in Oakland.

Sunday's other games have San Diego at Miami, Dallas at Baltimore, Washington at St. Louis, Los Angeles at Philadelphia, Houston at Pittsburgh, the Jets at New England, the New York Giants at San Francisco, Minnesota at Denver, Atlanta at New Orleans and Chicago at Cleveland. In Monday night's contest, Green Bay is at Detroit.

Like the Bills, the Raiders are second in their division, tied with San Diego at 2-1-1 behind the Chiefs in the West. Both are coming off victories. The Bills stunned New England 38-14 last Sunday, then the Raiders shellacked hapless Houston 34-0 Monday night.

Hill caught only two passes against the Patriots, but one of them covered 36 yards for a touchdown. And Simpson, fifth among AFC ground gainers, although held to 31 yards by New England, still managed to break loose for an 11-yard scoring scamper.

Just ahead of O.J. in conference rushing is Oakland's Marv Hubbard, who ripped through the Oilers' defense for 73 yards. And Biletnikoff hauled in six passes for 94 yards, including a 16-yarder for a touchdown.

Bannister Campaigns For Sports Facilities

LONDON (AP) — Roger Bannister, the man who ran the first sub-four-minute mile, is trying to hustle Britain into being more sports conscious.

The famed runner, now 43 and chairman of the government-backed Sports Council, has launched a campaign called "Sport For All." In it he called for $735 million of British public funds to be spent on recreational facilities including sports, instead of $85.75-million spent at present.

Bannister makes these points:

—In Northwest England, a busy industrial area, a survey showed 60 per cent of the people would have liked to participate in sports but were frustrated by lack of facilities.

—Hamburg, West Germany, a city of 3 million people, has 280 sports centers. Birmingham, Britain's second largest city with just over 1 million people, has three.

—Britain has 150,000 acres of derelict land that could be turned into golf courses.

Bannister retired from active athletics soon after his historic 3 minutes 59.4 seconds mile run in 1954. But ever since then he has stayed in the limelight as a campaigner for better sports facilities.

He is now a doctor specializing in nervous diseases. He became chairman of the Sports Council, which has $8.5 million of state money to distribute to needy sports bodies each year, in 1971.

Bannister's own sports these days are golf and sailing. He launched his new campaign just as the British were feeling disgruntled over the

Schabinger Dies

ATLANTA (AP) — Funeral arrangements are incomplete for A.A. Schabinger, the former basketball coach and member of the National Basketball Hall of Fame who died here late Thursday night at the age of 83. Schabinger, who moved to Atlanta in 1956, ended his coaching career in 1936.

At quarterback, though, there's a contrast. Oakland's Daryle Lamonia leads the AFC passers while Buffalo's Dennis Shaw is eighth. Both have thrown five touchdowns, but while Lamonia has had only one pass picked off, Shaw has had seven.

Mike Livingston, who has won all 11 of his starts as Kansas City's quarterback and threw three touchdown passes in beating Cleveland 31-7 last week, may give way to veteran Len Dawson. And Kansas City is expected to have running back Ed Podolak in the lineup. He sat out the Browns' game with an injured ankle.

The Bengals, who have won one of five games against the Chiefs, had gone more than two games without a touchdown before getting three in a 21-10 victory over Denver last Sunday.

The Dolphins will probably start wide receiver Howard Twilley again in place of hamstring-hampered Marlin Briscoe. Twilley had a touchdown catch in the 27-17 victory over the Jets. The Chargers have beaten Miami in four of five meetings.

It's a rematch of Super Bowl V in Baltimore where the Cowboys are hoping Calvin Hill can repeat his performance of a week ago, when he rushed for 108 yards, caught four passes for 27 more and threw a 55-yard game-winning touchdown pass in a 17-13 victory over Pittsburgh. The Colts, who beat Dallas in that Super Bowl, desperately need a victory to remain in contention for a playoff berth.

The Redskins, tied with Dallas for the National Conference East lead at 3-1, beat the Cardinals 24-10 three weeks ago on Billy Kilmer's two touchdown passes. But Sonny Jurgensen will be starting for Washington at quarterback this time while St. Louis will go with Gary Cuozzo instead of Tim Van Galder.

The Eagles have the league's top receiver in Harold Jackson and the NFL's No. 6 passer in rookie John Reaves—but they still haven't won a game. One reason is they're next-to-last in NFC team defense. Now they face the Rams, second-best in that department. Los Angeles leads the NFC West with a 2-1 mark.

Both offense and defense in the AFC and almost anything the Oilers do in Pittsburgh will be an improvement over the dismal showing last Monday night.

Both the Jets and Patriots are hoping to stay within catch-up range of the Dolphins. The game is likely to be an aerial war between Joe Namath and New England's Jim Plunkett.

Norm Sneed, the league's No. 1 passer leads the Giants against San Francisco and No. 4 NFC quarterback John Brodie, whose primary target, Gene Washington, is third in conference receiving.

Like the Colts, the Vikings are a playoff team from last year stumbling along with a 1-3 record, identical to Denver's mark. It's the first regular-season meeting between Minnesota and the Broncos. Both teams are strong on defense and better-than-average on offense but have been unable to retain late game leads.

The Saints, like the Oilers, are last in both offense and defense in their conference, and are winless to boot. Now New Orleans must cope with the Falcons, who have the NFL's No. 2 passer in Bob Berry and No. 2 ground gainer in Art Malone. They are primary reasons why Atlanta leads the conference in total offense.

The Bears are also looking for their first victory and are counting on a pair of runners, Bobby Douglass and Jim Harrison, to give the Browns' shaky rush defense some trouble.

The NFL's Central Division lead is at stake Monday night. The Packers' John Brockington and Detroit's Steve Osens are just about even in conference rushing and the same goes for Green Bay's Scott Hunter and the Lions' Greg Landry in NFC passing.

MOST IMPROVED — Diane Monogue and Rick Clark were named this week by Pampa Country Club professional Hart Warren as the two most improved golfers at the club this past year. Their achievement, along with that of other golfers from across the nation, will be recognized in a national golf magazine later this year. (Photo by John Ebling)

Geronimo's Throws Called Clotheslines

CINCINNATI (AP) — Young Cesar Geronimo was playing slow-pitch softball in his native Dominican Republic when he first noticed the cannon hanging from his left shoulder.

"I was young, just about 17," says Geronimo, "when I start to play softball. I threw the ball pretty good from the outfield." Geronimo saying he throws "pretty good" is like Wilt Chamberlain saying he stuffs basketballs fair, or Henry Aaron saying he hits home runs okay.

It's not the whole story. Geronimo's throws from rightfield for the Cincinnati Reds are what the players call clotheslines.

They're straight and accurate, with velocity that brings Reds fans to their feet. The 22-year-old's whistling throws were the most sensational facet of the Reds' defense this season.

"He's got some arm," Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said. "He's made great improvement, but you know he's young and he has a long way to go," said Anderson. "He's going to be a good one."

Richard Steger Takes 1st Place For Dolphins

The Pampa Dolphin Swim Club competed in the Odessa Invitational "A" and "B" AAU Swim Meet on Oct. 7 and 8 in Odessa, Texas. Over 100 swimmers from AAU accredited swim clubs participated in the meet. All swimmers from Pampa entered the "B" swim competition.

A top performance was turned in by a Pampa swimmer when Richard Steger, age 9, turned in an "A" time in the 50-yard breast stroke and took Pampa's only first place of the meet.

John Carter, age 9, also turned in an "A" time in the 50-yard back stroke and placed fifth in this event and also placed fifth in the 50-yard breast stroke.

Both of these performances were outstanding due to the caliber of the competition at the meet.

Reid Steger, age 6, placed fifth in the 100-yard individual medley (age 8 and under) and fifth in the 50-yard breast stroke. David Holland, age 13,

Steelers Attempt To Begin Winning Streak

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, bidding to regain a share of the Central Division lead, meet the last-place Houston Oilers here Sunday in a National Football League game.

The Steelers, 2-2, trail the division-leading Cincinnati Bengals by a game, but the Bengals meet powerful Kansas City on the road.

"We have to put a streak of wins together," says Steeler Coach Chuck Noll. "It is necessary if we are to win the division."

Houston takes a 1-3 record into the game following a 34-0 loss to the Oakland Raiders last Monday night.

Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini completed just three of 21 passes for 31 yards against Oakland, and he'll face a Steeler defense that is tied for the league leadership with 10 interceptions.

Nonetheless, Noll stressed that Pastorini was under a heavy rush from Oakland and that Pittsburgh isn't assured an easy afternoon.

"I thought Pastorini did a fine job under the circumstances," Noll said. "He had several dropped balls by the Houston receivers, but that's a situation that can be corrected easily."

The Steeler quarterback will be Terry Bradshaw, who completed 48 per cent of his passes in Pittsburgh's first four games.

The Steeler offense produced just six touchdowns in that span, none in last week's 17-13 loss to Dallas. But Noll had an explanation.

"We have played some pretty tough defensive teams," the Steeler coach said, referring to Oakland, Cincinnati, St. Louis and Dallas.

The Oilers present a defense that has allowed 118 points, second most in the American Conference.

However, it is virtually the same unit that held Pittsburgh to just 123 total yards offensively in a 29-3 Oiler victory last season.

"Houston has great defensive personnel," Noll said, citing linebacker George Webster and safety Ken Houston. The Oiler victory cost Pittsburgh a chance at the division title in 1971.

The Villanova captain in a game with Minnesota requests a timeout while the game clock is stopped. Villanova has been granted three free timeouts during the half and there is no injured Villanova player.

The official rules:

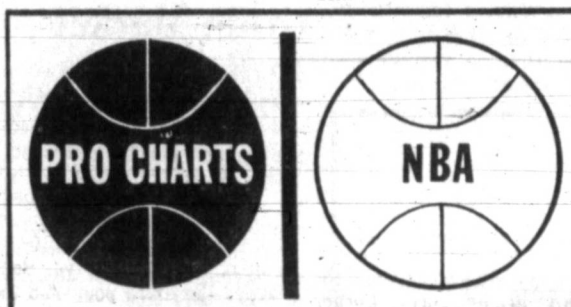

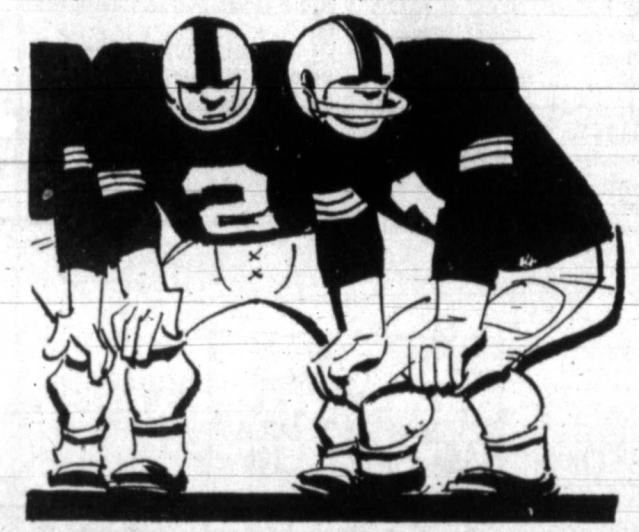

1. Grant the timeout with no penalty.
2. Refuse to grant the timeout and continue the game.
3. Penalize Villanova 5 yards for requesting excess timeout.

Answer: Number 2. Refuse to grant the timeout and continue the game.

Rule: (3-3-4) Each team is entitled to three free timeouts during each half without a penalty.

Rule: (3-3-5) After a team's free timeouts have been exhausted, subsequent requests by its field captain or his representative may be allowed only for the benefit and replacement of a designated injured player and such timeout, if allowed, is an excess timeout.

10—Detroit Pistons
NBA—Midwest Division
1971-72 finish: W 26, L 56—4th place

PROSPECTUS: Detroit nosedived from 45 wins to 26. Bill van Breda Kolff unloaded coaching problems on Earl Lloyd, who could do little. With Dave Bing lost almost half-a-season with a detached retina, club was leaderless. Fans stayed away in droves. Only Portland had a poorer defense. Fine offensive season from center Bob Lanier wasted. Off-season moves may help and top draft pick may become a good one. But frontliners still have weaknesses and Pistons lack depth.

FORWARDS: Weakest position on club. Curtis Rowe (11.3) had good not great rookie year. He is coachable and very consistent. Bob Nash, No. 1 draft pick from Hawaii, is latest hope for rugged forward Detroit has missed since giving Dave DeBusschere to New York in '68. Nash must give lift right away if Pistons are to improve. Fred Foster, 11.9 ppg with Philadelphia and acquired in the Terry Dischinger trade, won't help much. Jimmy Davis, well-traveled forward-center, should show much more than 52 games he played in Detroit last winter. Ervin (Mules) Mueller's best games are behind him. Rating: C-.

CENTER: Bob Lanier, with two healthy knees again, had a sophomore year equivalent with what was expected as a rookie. He ranked among elite in rebounding, averaged 25.7 points, many of them with a soft push from the key and soft hooks, and learned not to foul unnecessarily. But his tendency to stand around too much on defense is still a big problem. He has talent not used yet. Davis is an adequate backup but isn't playing like he did for Richie Guerin. Rating: B.

GUARDS: Courageous Dave Bing came back from eye surgery much earlier than doctors wanted. Though his vision was subpar he averaged 22.6 points, seven assists a game and hustled tirelessly. His new mate is Stu Lantz, acquired even for Jimmy Walker. Lantz is less publicized, lower-salaried but no problem. Bing will be playmaker. Lantz will move without ball and still match last year's 18.5 points. He'll improve backcourt defense, add speed and rebound more than Walker. No. 3 guard Howie (Butch) Komives is an erratic lefthanded shooter who doesn't penetrate and uses gummy hustle to offset other deficiencies. A limited player. No. 2 pick Chris Ford could push Komives this year. Rating: B.

PREDICTION: Detroit still trying to become strong at forward. If Lanier is motivated, club will win more. Fourth in Midwest.

MENAU ENSEMBLE — Pictured are some of the students comprising the bell choir and vocal group from Menaul High School, a privately operated school founded at Albuquerque, N.M. in 1881. They will be participating in morning worship at First Presbyterian Church next Sunday when the school will be honored.

Local Church Sets 'Menaul Sunday'

The Menaul School, founded in 1881 at Albuquerque, N.M., by the Presbyterian Church, will be honored at First Presbyterian Church, 525 N. Gray with "Menaul Sunday," Oct. 22 at 10:45 in the service of worship and at a special dinner immediately after in Fellowship Hall.

Cost of the dinner will be $1.00 per person. The Rev. Jaime Quinones, chaplain of the school and the Rev. Edmundo Vasquez, president of Menaul will preside at worship. The Menaul bell choir and vocal ensemble will present special music for worship and at the dinner. Menaul School is a four-year co-educational boarding high school with an interesting student body from nine states and 11 foreign countries. The school specializes in the education of youth from low income, Spanish-American families of the Southwest. It is accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

The school tries to supplement public education by serving as a guide to the whole person, adding the spiritual, social, intellectual, economic and physical development that is necessary for a courageous Christian witness.

The key point of Menaul's program of education is its thorough work-study program. All students are expected to work on the Menaul farms or in work related to Menaul's institutional life.

First Presbyterian Church extends a special invitation to citizens of Gray County considering private education for high school.

Keeping Cool

Men have been using artificial devices to keep cool for centuries. Ancient Egyptians soaked the walls of their homes with water; Roman slaves brought down mountain snow to pack in the hollow outer walls of their masters' villas.

Largest Wave

The largest wave ever reliably reported was measured at 112 feet from trough to crest. It was part of the Pacific typhoon that hit the Navy tanker Ramapo in 1933.

Falls Turned On

Canada's 128-foot-high Kakabeka Falls flows only on Sundays. On weekdays water from the "Niagara of the North" in Western Ontario is diverted through a flume to generate hydroelectric power.

By — George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.
Tom will probably zoom his Sunday School attendance by 25 per cent. For his "horse analogy" also applies to human beings. And by use of the 4-answer type of Bible tests, you can fascinate strangers who have no Bible knowledge at all. So send for that booklet below!

CASE V-518: Tom Crowder, aged 23, recently became the new Sunday School superintendent at the village church near which we have our summer farm home.

"Our attendance was 97 today," he announced at the closing exercises.

"But I'd like to see it go way above the 100 mark."

"And we can do it if we'll just begin inviting other children to come with us on Sunday morning."

"Many of you will recall the old adage that 'You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink.'"

"Well, if you lead him often enough and then keep him there awhile, he may grow thirsty and want to drink."

"So the newcomers whom we invite here may not be entirely sold on coming to Sunday School after just one visit."

"But if we keep it up and make them feel happy while they are with us, they may soon wish to 'drink.'"

"So let's start doing more home missionary work in our own town, for many children still don't attend any Sunday School hereabouts!"

How Zoom Attendance
Tom is smart in his advice to the Sunday School.

For the very best way to increase membership is to have adequate supply to meet our needs.

"It is clear our industry, as well as the Texas economy, is suffering from inadequate prices for oil and gas. While it is beyond the power of either the Texas petroleum industry or our state government to rectify this condition, we must recognize it is part of the trouble."

Worry Clinic

enthusiastic invitations offered by those who already attend.

Bring the strangers with you to Sunday School!

But then make the lessons fun as by typing a dozen 4-answer questions on the Bible topic, such as:

"The giant named Goliath was slain by SAUL-AHAB-DAVID-JONAH." A teacher can type off a dozen sets of such questions via use of some carbon sheets.

She can usually create 10 of these 4-answer queries on the lesson topic.

And they easily enlist the cooperation of everybody, even the kiddies from non-religious homes!

For all of us like to take a chance and see if we can get the right answer, just by luck.

Then, having encircled (or underlined) the name we think may be correct, we'll wait till the teacher explains that question.

Then she can move on to Number 2, and the class will still give her rapt attention, for each person grades his own paper and thus wants to know how many he got right.

By this method, you can hold the attention of kiddies (or adults) for the 20 minutes usually allotted to the lesson.

And at the end, she can tell the newcomers:

"Johnny, take this Bible test home and see how well your daddy and mother do on it."

This will tickle most children for they relish "showing up" their elders.

And if their home was not Bible-oriented before, their parents may not score much better than Johnny or Suzie.

(Always write to Dr. Crane, Hopkins Bldg., Mott, Indiana 47958, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Texas Eyes Grain Market In Red China

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — The recently announced plan to sell wheat to mainland China is an indication of a significant new market for some Texas producers, especially the feed grain producers, an international-market analyst at Texas A&M says.

Over a year ago, Dr. Randall Stelly, associate professor with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, predicted that trade relations would improve after President Nixon announced his decision to travel to China.

Stelly noted the 15 million bushel order is small compared to the recent Russian purchase agreement, but predicts it will open a tremendous new market for Texas feed grain producers.

China is the world's largest pork, chicken and duck producer, although the operations are still largely privately owned. Stelly believes China will soon follow Japan in developing large-scale hog and poultry industries and will become a large buyer of feed grain.

Texas grain sorghum production has been steadily increasing since 1962 and for the last four years has led the nation with over 300 million bushels annually, almost 45 per cent of the total U.S. production. Export sales represent about a 100 million bushel market.

Cash receipts to Texas grain producers in export sales was about $134 million in 1971. Stelly anticipates that when the Chinese pork and poultry industries are commercialized, the state annual export sales could soar to $200 million or more by 1980.
