Christmas Party Suggestions By Fire Marshal

Pointing that "fire never takes a holiday," Fire Marshal Elva Mullinax today issued a number of safety suggestions to minimize the chances of fire during the Christmas holidays.

He reminded schools, churches and civic organizations to use only flame retardant decorations in places of public gathering.

Next he offered a five-point program:

1) When selecting your Christmas tree, choose a fresh one. Saw it off at a sharp angle at least an inch above the original cut. Stand the tree in water from the time you buy it until you dispose of it.

Don't rely on do-it-yourself "flameproofing" treatments; none are completely effective. Place the tree well away from radiators and fireplaces, and out of the escape path in case of fire.

If you choose an artificial tree, be sure it is made of slow-burning materials and carries a tag indicating it is "flameproof." Metal trees will conduct electricity, so use indirect lighting on them; strings of lights on a metal tree can create a dangerous shock hazard. If your tree has a built-in lighting system, it should carry the Underwriters' Laboratories (UL) label.

2) Decorative lighting requires the utmost care. Before using, check strings of lights for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Never use wax candles on or near the tree, or with polystyrene foam candle holders or decorations. Turn off all tree and other holiday lighting before leaving the house or retiring. For outdoor lighting, use only sets listed for outdoor use by the Underwriters' Laboratories.

3) Use noncombustible decorating materials — metal, glass, asbestos, etc.—as far as possible. If materials which burn easily—such as cotton batting, flock and paper—cannot be avoided, be sure they are marked "flameproof," which indicates they have been treated to make them flame resistant.

4) Dispose of gift wrappings promptly and safely. Never burn them in an indoor fireplace.

5) Be extra careful about smoking near the tree and other decorations.

Most important of all, plan in advance the escape measures and exit routes needed for the safety of your family in case fire should strike.

Work Progressing On Courthouse Remodeling Project

Good progress is being made on the remodeling work and painting at Aransas County Courthouse.

New acoustical ceiling tile has been installed in the main hallway, lobby and tax assessor-collector's office and new lighting fixtures now replace the old ones in these areas. The result is more quiet and much better lighting.

Considerable work has been done in the tax office in addition to the tile and lighting. For one thing, the old hallway has been eliminated at the south end and to the west creating much more work space.

The entire interior of both the Courthouse and the jail have been repainted.

In the district courtroom, special acoustical material has been installed behind the judge's bench.

Still to come are new aluminum security windows for every window in the jail.

The work is being done by O. J. Beck and Sons of Corpus Christi.

The Courthouse was built in 1956 at a cost of slightly over $400,000. The last $1,000 payment was made Oct. 25 this year.

Seek Names Of Youths In Service

It is reported that approximately 35 men from Aransas county are in the U.S. military services. The Chamber of Commerce would like to get the name of every one of these men to be inscribed on a plaque that would be displayed in the Chamber building.

Ed Harper, president of the Chamber of Commerce, asks every relative of a man or woman now serving in the armed forces to write to the Chamber, Box 1055, Rockport, listing the name, rank, military address and local address of those in service.

Kansas City TV Man Visits Here

Through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, a prominent Kansas City, Mo., television man visited the Rockport area recently to take color movies and get information about the tourist attractions.

The guest was Harry Francis, program director of Station KCMO-TV, who took color action pictures of fishing, the whooping cranes, flying geese and numerous shots of the natural scenic beauty of this area.

He plans to show the film, in a number of segments, throughout the month of December for the thousands of viewers in the Kansas City area. The Chamber of Commerce will attempt to borrow the film later for a local showing.

P&W Dept., Industry Cooperate on Study

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and Reynolds Aluminum are cooperating on an ecological study of Port and Copano Bays in order to prevent any pollution of these bodies of water by Reynolds' waste products.

The company has purchased a large tract of land adjacent to the two bays to be used as disposal area for the residue which is left after aluminum and other useful materials have been extracted from the bauxite ore. Continuous investigations by Reynolds have brought to light no feasible use for the residue.

The ore, after processing, is a dark red, evil-smelling waste which will not "pack" as normal soil does. It can be mixed with water and pumped through pipelines which is the method Reynolds will use to transport the waste from its plant near Ingleside to the disposal area. Here it will be contained behind dikes until evaporation dries it. This operation is scheduled to start in late 1968.

Since the waste refuses to pack, it can't be used as road base for this reason, it could blow into the bays, kill vegetation, and render that part of the bays sterile. This remote possibility will be the basis for the continued ecological study.

Biologists and chemists of the Parks and Wildlife Department will maintain an intense surveillance of the bays. They will check bottom conditions, vegetative changes, and fish to include shellfish, populations.

Reynolds personnel are vitally concerned with the problem and are cooperating completely in the Department's efforts to see that nothing changes the valuable nursery and fishing areas of these two important bays.

RUMMAGE SALE

There will be a rummage sale at the Sacred Heart Parish Hall Saturday, Dec. 2, at 8:30 a.m. till 1:00 p.m.

Local Bays O.K. For Commercial Oystering

San Antonio, Mesquite Espiritu Santo, Aransas, and Copano Bays as well as South Bay near Brownsville, closed to commercial oystering by the State Health Department after Hurricane Beulah, have been re-opened. The same restrictions that applied before the storm are still in effect, according to Dudley J. Johnson, Director, Sea Resources Project, Texas State Health Department.

This would mean that the inshore area east of a line drawn from the point of land adjacent to the southern approach of Copano Causeway to 9-mile point, to channel marker 60, to the mouth of Turtle Bayou in Aransas Bay. All of Redfish Bay is closed.

That area in Copano Bay in the vicinity of the mouth of the Aransas River is closed by a line drawn from 900 yards north of the hotel at Bayside to a point 1,000 yards east of the southwest end of the bridge on Highway 136 across the Aransas River.

All Mission and Port Bays are open.

All of San Antonio Bay is open south of a line drawn from McDowell Point to Swan Point.

Game Violations Show Increase

Austin—Game wardens of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department issued 1,348 citations in October, a 24 per cent increase over the 1,102 citations issued in September.

Hunting violations were the most numerous at 550; 103 of these being for hunting without a license and 102 being for discharging firearms on a public road. There were only 794 hunting violations in September.

Fishing violations numbered 323; 300 of them being for fishing without a license. This was a slight increase over the 300 fishing violations in September.

Water safety violations were down with 228 October citations compared with 444 in September.

Commercial fishing violations were up with 22 citations being issued in October while 19 were issued in September.

There were two pollution citations issued in October and two in September.

Juvenile offenses showed a decrease with only 23 arrests made in October compared with 19 in September.

MRS. SUSAN SPRINKLE INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Mrs. Susan Sprinkle, teacher at Rockport-Fulton Junior High School, was injured Tuesday night when her car turned over at the intersection of FM 881 and 1069.

State Highway Patrolman Ray Brown said she received back injuries and bruises and was taken to Lyman-Roberts Hospital in Aransas Pass for treatment. She was traveling by herself when the mishap occurred.

LETTERS FROM HOME are burned by Marines of the Fifth Regiment in Vietnam, to prevent the enemy from possibly using them for propaganda purposes.

Duck Identification Is Very Important

Austin — Since there are varying seasons and bag limits for different kinds of ducks, it follows that a hunter should be able to tell one duck from another.

For example, a special teal season was held in September, and was illegal to kill any other duck during this season.

Also, the daily bag limit on ducks is four, not to include more than one wood duck, one canvasback, and two mallards. To kill three mallards in one day is illegal, and the hunter is subject to a fine.

If the hunter can identify the teal, wood duck, canvas back, mallard, and merganser, he can stay within the law. For information on duck identification the hunter may write the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Information and Education Division, John H. Reagan Building, Austin, Texas 78703, and request the U. S. Department of Interior's "Know Your Ducks."

This brochure includes information on coloration, markings, habits, and sounds of 17 species of ducks.

Working Students Need Social Security Cards

Students and others who will be working during the Christmas holidays are reminded that they will need a social security card. The number is used to keep a record of the worker's earnings. The individual earnings record is used to determine benefits in the event of death, disability, or retirement.

To avoid error, the worker should have the employer to copy the name and number directly from the card. Only one social security number is issued during a person's lifetime.

When a girl gets married and changes her name, she should get a replacement card showing her new name.

Anyone who has lost his card may request a duplicate from the Social Security Administration, 1802 S. Staples Street, Corpus Christi. Outside of Corpus Christi, the applications can be secured from the post offices.

Information Sought On Flagg Family

The following letter arrived recently at the Courthouse, sent by Mrs. Robert M. Flagg, III, 3004 Potomac, Dallas, Texas 75205:

"We are trying to trace back the Flagg family history. From the information that we do have we find that William Newton Flagg and Nellie Flagg were born in Rockport, Texas, Dec. 27, 1876 and William some time prior to this date. Their parents were Edwin Porter Flagg and Sarah E. Fulson Flagg.

"We are interested in obtaining additional information regarding Edwin Porter Flagg (continued on page 8)

MAIL EARLY IN THE DAY

Postmaster Maynard Rowan states that it is just as important to mail early in the day as to mail early during the Christmas season.

By mailing early in the day postal employees can assure that gifts, cards and letters can be sent on their way by the earliest possible transportation.

Because of the heavy nationwide Christmas mailing, it is emphasized more than ever before that citizens mail early in the season to assure that there are no jam-ups in major cities where trains, trucks and planes converge with their mail.

Early mailing assures as even flow of mail, not a sudden surge which could log-jam the postal system. According to Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien's predictions, there will be over nine billion pieces of mail delivered during the Christmas rush. If all that mail were to hit at one time there would not be enough workers or space to handle the mail and Christmas mail would be delayed.

All mailers are urged to use zip codes on every piece of mail to assure efficient postal operations.

Two Accidents Over Holidays

Only two auto accidents occurred here during the Thanksgiving holidays.

The first was at the intersection of Highway 35 North and Enterprise Street and involved cars driven by Charles Green of Victoria, Israel Munoz of Houston and Jose Moreno of Aransas Pass.

According to Chief of Police Bob Hewes, the car driven by Munoz struck the rear of Green's auto which had stopped for a left turn. After the impact the Munoz vehicle was hit by the Moreno car.

Mr. and Mrs. Moreno were taken to Aransas Hospital by Cage-Marshall and released after treatment with only minor injuries. Approximately $1,000 in damages was estimated by Chief Hewes who investigated the accident, assisted by Deputy Sheriff Joe de la Garza and Constable Buddy McLester.

In the second accident at Holiday Lodge on Highway 35 North, John M. Corrigan was making a U-turn, Hewes said, when his car was struck by an auto driven by Billy Thibodeaux.

Thibodeaux and Corrigan and a passenger in Corrigan's car were taken to the office of local physicians for treatment and released.

Hewes estimated property damage at $600. He was assisted in the investigation by Deputy Sheriff E. A. Stautzenberger.

County Tax Ladies Prepare for 1968 License Plates

Mrs. Margaret Weber, county tax assessor-collector, and the ladies in her office attended a meeting in Corpus Christi Tuesday night called by the Texas Highway Motor Vehicle Department to familiarize county tax personnel with the new forms and license fees for 1968.

Accompanying Mrs. Weber were Mrs. Alena Jones, Mrs. Loraine Close, Mrs. Teresa Ratliff and Miss Frances Beck, deputies, and Mrs. Ila Domaschik and Miss Diane Shults, clerks.

Mrs. Weber said it was announced that reflectorized plates will be issued in 1969 and that 1968 fees would be 30 cents higher than in the past to pay for the extra cost of reflectorizing the letters and numerals in 1969.

The annual 1968 license fee for vehicle registered with passenger car plates will be based on the weight class into which the vehicles fall as follows:

Class 1: 0-3,500 pounds, $12.30.
Class 2: 3,501-4,500 pounds, $22.30.
Class 3: 4,501-6,000 pounds, $30.30.
Class 4: 6,001 and up, 55 cents per 100 pounds.

Redfish Didn't Leave Fresh-Water Home During Floods

Pond draining at the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Olmito Fish Hatchery, near Brownsville, revealed redfish about 16 inches long in every pond.

There redfish were being held in one of the hatchery ponds as part of some experimental work when Hurricane Beulah flooded the entire hatchery. It was assumed that the redfish had escaped and probably returned to their native salt water during the height of the flood.

When the ponds were drained in an effort to clean out all undesirable fish and get the hatchery ready for spring operations, the redfish were found. They scattered all over the hatchery and a few were missing, but the majority had been reluctant to leave their adopted home.

"I can understand the redfish still being there," said Ernest Simmons, acting inland fisheries supervisor, "but where did that 12-inch flounder come from?"

The flounder was found making himself at home in one of the ponds and nobody knows how he got there.

GALVESTON BAY OYSTER CROP LOOKS GOOD

Seabrook—Prospects for the Galveston Bay oyster harvest which started Wednesday, Nov. 15 look good, according to a report submitted by R. P. Hoffstetter, oyster project leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Hoffstetter said this year's spat or young oysters throughout most of Galveston Bay were more abundant than in any year since 1962. Spat mortality appeared to be higher than usual, but seed oysters stocks increased noticeably through growth of the surviving spat, the report indicated.

pavement repair and furnishing rock aggregate finish for the new center medians on Austin Street from Market to Concho and on Broadway from Concho to Highway 35.

Aldermen N. F. Jackson, Mrs. J. W. "Tony" Harden and N. C. Vandagriff voted in favor of the project. Alderman Charley Garrett voted against it and said he wanted to go on record as protesting against spending city funds for this project.

In a letter from John E. Ross, manager of CP&L, to Mayor Delmar Hiller which was read to the aldermen, the sequence of work was described as follows:

"The Texas State Highway Department will remove the existing center medians. Central Power and Light Company will provide and install concrete street bases. The City of Rockport will provide and fill a ditch 24 inches in depth. The Highway Department will install new center medians. Finally, CP&L will install and connect the metal standards and new lights."

The new lights, located in the middle of the street, will consist of forty 20,000 lumen mercury vapor lights on 22 metal standards. There will be 18 double-light ornamental standards and four single-light ornamental standards.

As part of this modernization project which required long planning on the part of the city, CP&L and the State Highway Department, all the new street lights will be located on Austin and Broadway except for one which will be installed at Main and Water Streets.

In another action the Council voted to send City Tax Assessor - Collector Herman Johnson and City Engineer Gene Urban to Ft. Worth for a grant application conference with officials of the Housing and Urban Development Agency (HUD).

The city has applied for a $315,000 grant for water line extension and replacement and sanitary sewer line extension and replacement.

Mayor Hiller said that if the grant offer is received, the city would have to finance $400,000 as its share of the projects, $200,000 of which is available in previously authorized unsold water and sewer bonds and from water and sewer budget sources. This would leave $200,000 to be financed.

In other action the Council: —Voted to advise Chick Smith that he will have to apply for a special permit to rebuild that part of a pier near block A, Little Bay Shores, which was damaged by Hurricane Beulah.

—Decided to notify Col. Harry Kautz that the city is willing to close a portion of Cherry Street between Broadway and Highway 35 if it is possible to grant an easement to Aransas Natural Gas Co. for its present gas line and regulator station.

—At the request of Jimmy Hunt, authorized City Attorney Dick Hatch to prepare an ordinance to close Hackberry Street between Austin and S. Water.

NAVIGATION DISTRICT CONSTRUCTS MORE JETTIES AT FULTON

Efforts by the Aransas County Navigation District to hold the bathing beach at Fulton in place continued this week with the extension of the jetties along the shore.

Ever since the beach was cast up as the result of dredging when Fulton Harbor was constructed, the sand and shell have had a tendency to move along shore with the prevailing winds and tides, and at least twice the district has added to the structures designed to hold the material in place.

THE PAJAMA GAME

You men who don't go in for pajamas and prefer to sleep in the raw, or at least in your shorts, there's bad news today. Women are being sought as allies by manufacturers of male sleeping attire. They think the women will help them get you in a pair of pajamas.

The manufacturers have been trying to get you men into those sleeping suits for a long time and they haven't had too much luck. The men have licked 'em at every turn. But now they're going to try again and guess what? They're going to try to make men's pajamas sexy.

It's pure nonsense for a man to sleep without pajamas, the manufacturers say. Maybe so, but it's comfortable. The manufacturers say this bad habit stems from habits many men learned while serving in the armed services. Pajamas were just something else to be bothered with in the barracks. And so when the gents went back to civilian life the custom went with them.

Designers are now at work on models they say will add sex appeal. They're coming out with lion-cloth styles, shortie shirts, and fancy shave coats. Some will be made of oriental silks and the smoking jackets will have satin-shawl collars and along the James Bond style.

They're going to slant their merchandising toward the wives, too. There will be more "his" and "her" models. The producers figure that if they can sell the Mrs. a pair she'll also buy a suit for hubby, if she does this, the odds are she'll nag until she gets the guy into his suit. All of which adds up.

The manufacturers have another ace up their sleeves. They're pointing out to Mrs. that with air conditioned houses men shouldn't be running around in the bedroom in the raw, or with nothing on but a pair of shorts. They'll catch their share of bad colds.

It's all sneaky, that's what it is.

And we still want to see a pair of pajamas the morning after that looks sexy!

WILL WE HAVE BREAD?

As everyone knows, or should know, we have been shipping wheat out of this country at a record clip.

Just for the record, we shipped 867 million bushels within the past year or so.

We have been so generous with our export program, under Public Law 480, that the U. S. Department of Agriculture says so.

On July 1, 1966 (which was the start of a crop year) the U. S. had 536 million bushels on hand, after exporting the all-time record amount.

Now, says the USDA, "the 536 million bushels is slightly more than one full year's U. S. consumption for food uses, or about two-thirds of a year's domestic use, plus commercial exports."

The reserve will fall below 536 million bushels in the 1966-67 marketing year—and get this—possibly to 375 or 400 million bushels on July 1, 1967, again quoting the USDA's figures.

However, the USDA says a near record crop is being predicted in 1967-68.

But that's just a prediction.

What if the big crop doesn't materialize? What if it is a bad crop year? What if all of our wheat reserves are completely gone?

Now we learn that Russia is also expecting the biggest wheat crop in years. We've been taking care of some of their needs.

Will our friends, the Russians, perhaps, see that we have bread if we don't have enough wheat? Wanta bet?

BUT BUY AT HOME

One of the government's tips for beating the high cost of living—if you value this sort of unsolicited advice—is to get off the meat and potatoes kick and start serving European gourmet dishes.

Another is to leave your husband home when you go grocery shopping.

Naturally, you're expected to buy American ingredients for those gourmet dishes. Otherwise you'd be adding to the unfavorable balance of payments and contributing to the draining of gold from Fort Knox.

As for leaving hubby at home, there may not be something to that. Could be that some families could stretch things better if he went along.

One thing's certain: Leave the kids—they're the ones that are really grabby. —Wilmington (Del.) Morning News.

CONVERSION DEFERRED

Representative Howard Smith of Virginia apparently has used his influence as chairman of the House Rules Committee to head off a bill that would order a study of converting the U. S. to the metric system.

Fortunately, the bill may get another chance next year because the Rules Committee will have a new chairman. The voters of Virginia decided in the spring primary that Mr. Smith will not return to Congress next year.—Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

BETTER NOT ROB A BANK

Banks use concealed movie cameras that take pictures of robbers. Now we hear that the banks have an even more clever device to trap holdup men. It's a little radio transmitter placed in a dummy coin roll. The bank clerk hands a robber rolls of coins along with the one with the tiny radio transmitter. Police then follow the signal and trap the robber. It sounds real Buck Rogers.—Griffin (Ga.) Daily News.

MANAGER SAYS
SOCIAL SECURITY IS SOUNDLY FINANCED

The social security insurance is not going to run out of money. So says H. M. Cleveland, district manager of the Social Security Administration in Corpus Christi.

"Retirement and survivors insurance is the chief income of many beneficiaries," he said. "Recent inquiries indicate that some people have been disturbed by an article in a national magazine which questioned the soundness of the system."

"Actuaries, who constantly review the financing of the program, say the tax schedule is sufficient to maintain the promised benefits," reports Cleveland.

After reading the October issue of the "Reader's Digest" Chairman Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee states in the Congressional Record of September 27, 1967: "I have read the article very carefully and find that it contains a number of half truths that lead to misleading conclusions." And this, "... the program is actually and financially sound."

"Present and future beneficiaries should be reassured," Cleveland said. "Our government will continue to meet its obligations to the people, and earned social security benefits will be paid according to law."

The Social Security Administration, 1802 South Staples Street, Corpus Christi, has a supply of a statement by Under Secretary Wilbur J. Cohen of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. A copy of this reprint from the Congressional Record will be mailed to any one who requests it.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Here are some facts of interest to outdoorsmen.

There are some 2,500 dealers selling hunting and fishing licenses in Texas.

All hunting and fishing licenses in Texas expire on August 31 each year.

A total of 775,000 fishing licenses may be issued this year in Texas.

Texas hunting license sales may hit 736,000 this year.

Some 175,000 hunting licenses carried by Texans are "exempt licenses." They are given to persons over 65 years of age or under 17.

Income from hunting and fishing licenses represents more than half the revenue needed to finance the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and its experimental projects.

Even though you are outside the licensing age for hunters (under 17 or over 65), you must obtain deer tags (25c) to attach to the antlers of any deer you kill in Texas.

Accidental deaths last year reached the highest level in 18 years. But firearms fatalities decreased 11 per cent.

Firearms ranked last in the eight major causes of accidental deaths in the USA last year.

Improper use of firearms accounted for 2,400 of the nation's 105,000 accidental deaths last year. Other causes were motor vehicle accidents (47,700), falls (19,100), fires (7,700), drownings (6,700), poisonings (3,600), railroad accidents (2,600) and all other types (16,800).

Only one death per 100,000 people in the nation is due to improper use of firearms. Automobiles account for 24.5; falls, 10; fires, 4; drownings, 8.5; railroad accidents, 1.4; poisonings, 1.8, and all other types, 8.8.

Most firearms accidents (55%) occur in the home, not on the range or in the field.

Despite a 50% increase in the number of hunters and shooters since 1950, hunting and shooting accidents have decreased 13%.

More than half of the home accidents with firearms were the result of young children playing with guns.

You should store firearms and ammunition in widely separated areas of the home and out of the reach of children.

Austin Smith was released from Lyman-Roberts Hospital last Wednesday and is doing nicely.

Jerry Brundrett, student at A&I College, Kingsville spent the holidays with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Jerald Brundrett.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank everyone for the cards, flowers, visits and prayers during my stay in Lyman-Roberts Hospital. May God bless every one of you.

This and That
JOHN KINSEY

This column should have been written last week but actually it's the type that anyone could write any time. I want to list some of the things I am thankful for, and all of us can do this.

I am thankful for: a wonderful, patient and understanding wife; two fine, happily married children; a loving father who at 87 enjoys good health, physically and mentally; out-of-town friends and relatives who we think a lot of.

I am grateful for good friends here in Rockport; for a job at The Pilot I like and for having two bosses who are pretty good guys, also for the part-time job at the Chamber of Commerce where I come in contact with a lot of nice people, local folks and visitors.

I am thankful for having a home that we're proud of; for having fairly good health despite not observing all the health rules;

I am grateful for being in fair condition financially, at least not owing a flock of bills.

I am childish enough to get a big kick out of it when somebody says he enjoyed reading something in my column.

I am very thankful that I am a member of a church where my wife and I feel "at home" and where the minister keeps us very aware of the divine blessings we all should be deeply grateful for.

Skating News

A birthday party was given for Bill Smith Nov. 17 on his 10th birthday at Lawson's Roller Rink by his mother.

Bill and his guests skated, then after opening his gifts, they were served birthday cake and Coke.

Vicki Arthur also celebrated her 10th birthday with a skating party on Nov. 18. Vicki and her guests skated, then returned to her home where they were served cake, ice cream and punch.

"Cures" Persist By Coincidence

Coincidence played a large part in establishing the reputed effectiveness of traditional remedies in medical folklore, points out TODAY'S HEALTH GUIDE, the American Medical Association's manual of health information for the American family.

Warts, which come apparently from nowhere and often disappear for no apparent reason, gave undeserved reputations to innumerable remedies which happened to be used just preceding the spontaneous disappearance of a wart. The self-limiting character of many diseases, such as the milder sore throats and colds, also caused simple herbs and other home methods to gain a curative reputation which they did not merit, the health book says.

Here are the facts about some of the common misconceptions regarding health—

• There is no medicine which can be taken by mouth to dissolve gallstones.

• Heart disease is not necessarily a reason for refusing an operation or for being afraid to take anesthetics.

• Flowers absorb some oxygen, but the principal reason they are removed from the sick room at night is because they keep better in the open air.

• Insulin does not cure diabetes; it substitutes for the insulin which the body is unable to provide for itself.

• Premature baldness in men is not caused by wearing hats; nobody knows what causes it.

• Cancer has not been shown to be contagious.

• It is not important to lie on the right side when sleeping to keep from interfering with heart action; the heart actually is in the middle of the chest and not on the left side.

• Persons over 40 need not avoid strenuous exercise if they have been accustomed to it and are in good condition.

• Removing a mole will not result in cancer; cancer is more likely to result from not having it removed if it ought to be.

Letters to the Editor

The Editor
Rockport Pilot
Rockport, Texas

Writing a note to you is next best to talking with you, but on this occasion a note must suffice.

A nice guy who didn't seem to identify himself (or if he did, my sweet wife, Sue, didn't catch his name), espied and killed a rattlesnake heading for my yard in which our three little girls enjoy playing.

If you remember, shortly after my return from South America, a Coral snake of 20 inches, give or take an inch or two, was killed in our back yard. It really was a good sized Coral snake.

Be that as it may, this nice guy saw a rattler, stopped, helped it to its demise—and didn't even wait for a heart-felt "THANK YOU."

This sort of thing is enough to reinstate one's faith in humanity. Sue said he was rather blasé about reporting the kill of the snake as if it were something he did every day—and he just might do it every day—but he'll never know how much I appreciate the fact that snake was put so that it couldn't bite one of our little girls on that, or any other day. He could have just as easily driven on down the road, but he didn't. He just quietly put it away and I hope I shall some day have the opportunity to tell him how much I appreciate it. Whoever he is.

All of the best all of the time to you and all of your readers.

Sincerely,
James M. Furlong

P.S. Jim later learned that Ike Campbell of Fulton killed the snake which was 42 inches long.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Fincher, Darlyne and Kerry Clark spent the weekend in Palestine visiting Mrs. Fincher's mother, Mrs. Jesse Martin. They were met there by Mrs. J. W. Fincher of Dallas who came home with them for an extended stay.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Editor's note: Below are questions now being asked at draft boards. The answers are by Col. Morris S. Schwartz, State Selective Service Director, 209 W. Ninth St., Austin, Texas 78701. He will welcome your answers.

Q—I am a medical doctor age 32 and have never served in the armed forces. When does my liability end?

A—Physicians, dentists, and certain allied medical specialists are liable for military service until age 35.

Q—I enlisted in the Army prior to registering for Selective Service. Must I register when I'm discharged?

A—Yes, within 30 days following the date on which you are separated.

Q—What is the legal basis for the present operation of the Selective Service System?

A—The Military Selective Service Act of 1967, signed by the President June 30, 1967, and the President's Executive Order No. 11360, which prescribes implementing regulations, signed the same date.

Q—My boy was 18 day before yesterday and forgot to register. What will we do?

A—As long as he registers within five days after his 18th birthday, he has complied with the official Presidential proclamation.

Q—My boy was 18 a month ago. He's been in the hospital. He hasn't registered. Has he violated the law?

A—No. After this circumstance beyond his control ceases to exist, he must register as soon as possible.

Proper Venison Care Pamphlet Available

The taste and quality of venison can be enhanced considerably by the action of the hunter immediately following the kill, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Improper field dressing, transportation and storage will add to the "wild" taste and make your trophy less desirable for eating. Immediate attention to proper field dressing and draining of the body cavity will add to the taste.

If the carcass is transported on the hood of a car and exposed to engine heat and road dust and grime, then the hunter can expect lowered quality and taste.

In an effort to aid the hunter in preserving the quality of venison, the Parks and Wildlife Department has reprinted an article entitled "Now that you've killed it," from an earlier edition of the Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine.

Copies of the single page article, written by Game Warden Grover Simpson, are available by writing to the Department, John H. Reagon Building, Austin, 78701.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Branch during the Thanksgiving holidays were Miss Myrna McDonough and Miss Jane Miller of Bay City and Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Cole of Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan May and children of Lake Jackson, visited Friday and Saturday with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack T. Smith and daughters.

Double-Four Bridge Club

Miss Winona McFall entertained the Double-Four Bridge Club at her home last Wednesday.

DO YOU WANT TO GET YOUR SOCIAL CHECK ON TIME?

Want to get that first social security check on time? "Everyone does, but very few people do anything about it," says Connie R. Balsley, field representative of the social security office.

According to Mrs. Balsley, every person who files an application for social security benefits will be asked to present certain proofs. Most applicants will also be asked to give the exact amount of earnings for the past year and for the current year.

Most persons don't bother to find out ahead of time exactly what they will need. "They wait until the day they file an application," said Mrs. Balsley. "They have to go back home and start digging around for records, or write letters requesting the necessary documents. This causes a delay in processing the claim."

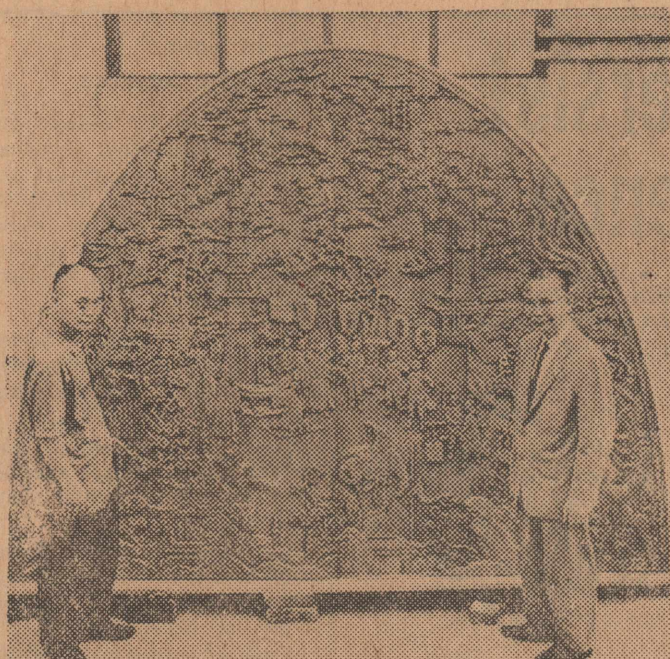

A claim for social security benefits may be filed three months before the person will be entitled to benefits.

Mrs. Balsley suggests that claimants get in touch with the social security office several months before this three month period to find out ahead of time what proofs and information will be needed.

"The satisfied applicant," continued Mrs. Balsley, "is the one who does this, and consequently has all necessary proofs and information that will be needed."

"The satisfied applicant," continued Mrs. Balsley, "is one who does this, and consequently has all necessary proofs and information with him. The result — everything is completely taken care of during this one contact with the office, and he gets that first social security check right on time."

A VISIT TO VIETNAM is on the schedule of James M. Gavin, retired general and persistent critic of administration policy in the war. Gavin, now an industrialist, recently dropped membership on a Massachusetts Democratic committee and now is sometimes mentioned as a possible dark horse contender for the Republican presidential nomination.

Miss Mabel and Miss Genevieve Bracht spent the Thanksgiving holidays with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Woellert in Poth. They also shopped in San Antonio.

History Resurrected For a Pilot Reader

The next and most important event which led up to the war was the Battle of the Alamo in which 170 men were surrounded by Santa Ana with 8,000, and after desperate fighting and losing, according to Mexican historians, fully 2,000 were finally butchered after the most heroic defense in the annals of history.

There was not a man left alive to tell the terrible and bloody tragedy enacted within its gloomy walls. Only a woman was spared—a Mrs. Dickinson.

The next most important event in our struggle for independence was the fight at Goliad and the surrender of Colonel Fannin and the cowardly massacre of his command after surrendering as prisoners of war. Fannin did not surrender until after a desperate battle and he was entirely surrounded and the larger part of his men killed and wounded and suffering for the lack of water.

This massacre of helpless prisoners is without precedent in American history and the blackest crime recorded in the annals of our history. Santa Ana's name will be execrated and despised forever, not only in this country but in his own country for the dastardly part he took in ordering this butchery of unarmed and helpless men.

He had promised to send them back home but after they had been disarmed they were marched out and made to turn their backs and were shot down like dogs. This was another factor that fired the hearts of our men never to surrender to them for it was death to do so.

I was in Washington on the Brazos when the Alamo fell. Our Congress was in session at the time. As I was standing in the hall where they were discussing their business, I looked out and saw a man coming on a horse. The horse could hardly strike a gallop and seemed fagged out.

The man rode up to the door and dismounted, handing a paper to a man whom I supposed to be the Speaker of the House, and he read on it that the Alamo had fallen.

I did not go back to the Army until late in the spring. There were two brothers and a cousin from Georgia who told me that if I would raise a company they would join and go with it and elect me captain.

I told them no, that I would raise the company and we would elect old man Henderson captain and his cousin second lieutenant.

The news reached there before 12 o'clock that Mexicans were within 10 miles with 300 cavalry, and the people commenced running and fixing to hitch up their teams and get away. They said the Mexicans intended to cross at Washington.

Captain Henderson asked me what we had better do. I said I did not believe the report as I didn't believe that they could get that close so soon. He said we could keep them from crossing. There were a hundred bales of cotton there, and I said we could use them for breastworks, and were behind them waiting for the Mexicans to show up but they never came.

The next day Captain Henderson came to me and said, "Mr. Sparks, the country is gone. I am going back to attend to my father's business. I am needed at home and this country is gone."

"Your father told me to give you the same advice that I gave my brother. I have advised my brother and cousin to go."

I told him I hated to say it, but tell my father not to look for me. Santa Ana shall never reach my mother and my younger sisters and brothers until I am dead and can't raise a gun.

Five of us were ordered to go to Harrisburg and impress horses for the Army, and we served in that capacity two weeks and secured 300 horses. This was a very disagreeable and dangerous duty.

Then three of us were sent out to Stafford's Crossing on the Brazos to see if Santa Ana was coming in that way and would attempt to cross there. As we were reconnoitering we saw a man come out of the brush a half mile above the bottom.

Colonel Bailey was with me and we had two good horses that had been given us after we had been detailed to impress horses for the Army. We jumped on our horses and started on a gallop and the man saw us and stopped and looked at us, turned and walked right toward us.

I pulled up my horse and said, "That's a white man and not a Mexican," and we waited until he came up to us. I carried him to Harrisburg behind me and General Houston sent him home to Georgia.

Now about the members of Congress. When they had read the account of the fall of the Alamo and had heard the dreadful news of the massacre of Fannin's command, a little man with red hair jumped to his feet and made a fiery speech.

He said, "We have done all that we can. I urge that we declare our independence of them and stay with them until we obtain it." The next day, independence was declared. That was what brought about the violation by the Mexicans of the Constitution of Mexico which guaranteed our rights under which we had moved to Texas.

We were an independent republic for about ten years, without money, without credit, without an army or navy. There are in this audience, no doubt, many whose grandmothers and grandfathers waded through the overflowed waters of the Angelina and Trinity Rivers when they were all out of banks. The wagons could not get through and all had to take it afoot.

My mother was a rather frail woman, and the stout young women of the crowd would take her up in their arms and wade for miles with her on their shoulders. God bless the women. I tell you your mother and grandmother suffered in those terrible days. (to be continued next week)

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Bradshaw and family of Baytown visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Chittenden in Fulton over the weekend and visited other relatives.
