Period Begins For Inspection Of Vehicles

The 1969 vehicle inspection period began Sept. 1 in Texas according to Colonel Wilson E. (Pat) Speir, acting director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"More than six-million vehicles are expected to receive the compulsory inspection prior to the April 15, 1969 deadline," Speir said. Inspections may be performed at any of the almost 5,500 vehicle inspection stations in Texas, each of which displays the official vehicle inspection station sign. Texas law requires inspection of the brakes, lighting equipment, horns, and warning devices, mirrors, windshield wipers, front seat belts in vehicles where seat belt anchorages were part of the manufacturer's original equipment on the vehicle, steering (including power steering) and wheels and rims (not to include removal of the wheel from the vehicle) on all motor vehicles registered in the state. Special inspection provisions apply to trailers, semi-trailers, pole trailers or mobile homes having a loaded gross weight in excess of 4,000 pounds.

Speir said the new vehicle inspection sticker will be a two and one-half inch square replica of a DPS patrolman's badge with red background. Motorists are urged to have the 1969 inspection performed as soon as possible to insure that their vehicles are mechanically safe for fall and winter driving.

Scrimmage With Sudan

Mustangs Ready To Go

In a scrimmage game with the Sudan Hornets Tuesday night at Olton Memorial Stadium, the Olton Mustangs made 267 yards in 40 plays while Sudan made only 121 in the same number of plays.

During Sudan's series of 20 offensive plays, the Hornets made 80 yards in eight plays and scored once. In their remaining 12 plays, they made six yards.

The Mustangs scored twice during their play.

After scrimmage play, under regular conditions, the teams went to the 10 yard line and in 10 plays Olton scored four times.

Sudan, in 10 plays, lost 40 yards failing to reach their line of scrimmage.

Coach Don Beck said they were "real proud of Tony George's defensive show" and other standouts in defense play were Barry Cowart and Kenneth Johnson.

"We found what we think is a real linebacker in Mickey Crowder," Coach Beck continued.

The offensive standouts were Johnny Lewis and R. L. Copeland, according to Beck, while Joe Hernandez and Jason Latimer were named fine offensive blockers.

"We feel Sudan has a fine offensive team and that they will be in the state play-offs," commented Beck.

Beck said that they were pleased with the Mustang's passing as well as their running. Sudan's boys never did stop them.

"We made sustained drives and looked real good," Beck stated.

Varsity team has been cut to 30 boys for the first game which is with Alamo High to be played Sept. 13 here.

Beck said that after the first game there may be some changes made. Some may have to be cut back and some from the B-Team might replace them.

"We will be on a game to game basis for the first few games," explained Beck. "And the boys will have to work for their positions."

Commenting on the good turn-out for the scrimmage Tuesday night, Beck said, "I've never been in a town that supported its athletic programs as well as Olton."

Former Enterprise Employee Chooses Teaching Profession

If Joe Alcorta wanted to, he could spend all of his time working at the keyboard of a Linotype machine molding lines of type for printing the Abilene Reporter-News.

A quiet diminutive man, Alcorta is good on the linotype. Speed's important, so's accuracy. It takes a skilled operator to get the huge machine to do what it's supposed to do, and considerable training is required.

Joe, however, prefers teenagers to molten lead and Spanish literature to a reporter's copy.

In line with his preference, Alcorta has been teaching Spanish at Abilene High School for the past three years.

Also in keeping with his chosen profession, he donned his academic regalia recently to receive a master's degree in Spanish from Howard Payne College at Brownwood. Four years earlier he had taken a BA degree from Hardin-Simmons University.

In June he took 16 students and six sponsors to Monterrey, Mexico for some practical sessions among America's Spanish-speaking neighbors as sponsor of the AHS Pan American Club.

The trip, he figures, was helpful with his biggest problem as a Spanish teacher - getting his students to speak the language. "I don't think you can be a fluent master of the language if you can't speak it," he says, noting that being able to read and write a language is just part of it.

A Spanish language master, Alcorta also a master of the complex linotype machine, which he has operated this summer at the Reporter-News.

His skill on the machine had birth years ago, when he worked for the Olton Enterprise while in high school, and when he came to Abilene to attend H-SU financial necessity dictated work, so back to the linotype.

There were 10 kids in the family, so I didn't have any money."

Supplementing his income as a linotype operator at two local print shops and at H-SU he won a Latin American Baptist scholarship.

He also won the hand of his wife Llandra while in college. Now a surgical nurse at Hendrick Memorial Hospital, Llandra presented Joe a little girl named Cecilia Yvette almost three years ago.

Alcorta figures he'll stay in the teaching profession, because, as he puts it simply, "I like it; I like being around young people."

If, however, he ever decides to trade his text book for a full-time job as a linotype operator, he'll be one of the few who can hang two college diplomas above the keyboard.

Football Contest Begins This Week

Like to play guessing games?

Or maybe you are an expert at forecasting football games and it wouldn't be a guessing game to you.

At any rate, you might want to enter the Enterprise football contest and try your hand at winning a trip to the Cotton Bowl or to the Sun Bowl.

All you have to do is pick the winner of the football games which appear in the sponsor's ads on the football contest page which is on page 8 of this issue of the Enterprise.

The person who picks the most games correctly over the entire football season will win two tickets to the Cotton Bowl, plus $40 in cash.

The runner-up will get two tickets to the Sun Bowl game and $25 in cash.

Weekly prizes of $5 for first, $3 for second and $2 for third also will be given.

Fifteen games will be listed on the contest page each week. One of them is the tie-breaker, which for the first week is the Olton-Alamo High game of Sept. 13.

Contestants have until 4 p. m. Friday, Sept. 13 to turn in entries from this week's paper.

Entries must be turned into one of the sponsoring merchants and may not be turned into the Enterprise. Only one entry per person will be allowed.

The teams listed in each ad are numbered and contestants may enter by circling the numbers of the teams they pick to win in the entry form.

Band Parents Elect Officers

Glenn Phillips was re-elected president of the Olton Band Parents at a meeting Thursday night in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Robert Edwards was re-elected secretary and Mrs. Vernon Britton was named treasurer and band calendar chairman.

Fred Stockdale, band director, brought several good ideas to the attention of the band parents for consideration and future action.

Coffee and doughnuts were served.

B. C. Cooner Presented 50-Year Masonic Award

A 50-year Masonic Service Award was presented B. C. Cooner during an open ceremony of the Orient Masonic Lodge of Knox City Monday evening, Aug. 26.

Cooner is a dual member of the Orient Lodge - his "home lodge" and the Olton Lodge.

In presenting the Texas Grand Lodge Award, George Wall, District Deputy Grand Master, stated that it is a visible token of fraternal love and grateful appreciation, and is a fitting award for the many years of Masonic service.

Cooner's Masonic record began April 27, 1918 when he was made a Mason and subsequent years found his filling the various offices of the fraternity. He was Worshipful Master of Orient Lodge in 1946.

Electing A President

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was taken from the Texas Farm Bureau letter "Facts For You". We felt it would be an informative article and have printed it in its entirety.

The President of the United States is elected by the electors appointed by each of the 50 states and Washington, D. C. The number of these electors from each state is equal to the number of senators and representatives from that state.

The total number of U. S. electors is 538 (435 representatives, 100 senators from the 50 states, plus 3 from Washington, D.C.). The number of electors for Texas currently is 25 (23 representatives and two senators). Each authorized political party selects its electors as directed by law in each state. The most widely used system of selecting electors (now in effect in 35 states) is for the state convention of the parties to nominate the electors.

In five states and in the District of Columbia, nominations are made by the state political committees. Two states, Arizona and Alabama, authorize nomination of the electors in primary elections. The remaining 8 states use a variety of combination methods.

The most unusual nomination law is Pennsylvania's which authorizes the presidential nominee of each political party to nominate electors on his behalf in the state. In Texas, electors are nominated by the political parties and the political party that receives the majority of popular votes cast in a general election wins the 25 Texas elector votes for their presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

There have been several cases in recent history where the electors did not remain loyal to their parties' candidate: (1) In 1948 Preston Parks of Tennessee voted for the States' Rights candidate (Thurmond) but was elected by the Democrats and pledged to Truman; (2) In 1956 W. F. Turner of Alabama, a Democratic elector, voted for Walter E. Jones instead of the Democratic nominee Adlai E. Stevenson; (3) In 1960 Henry D. Irwin, the Republican elector from Oklahoma, voted for Harry Byrd instead of the parties' choice - Nixon.

These electors from each state meet in the state and cast their vote for their candidates on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December. The votes are certified and mailed to the president of the Senate (Vice-President). The votes are counted by the Vice-President before a joint session of Congress on January 6 and the results announced.

In order to win, a candidate must receive at least a majority of all the votes authorized (270 votes of the 538 total).

If no presidential candidate receives a majority of the electoral votes, the job of choosing the president then goes to the House of Representatives. This phenomenon has occurred twice in U. S. history, following the election of 1800 and 1824.

If the election is transferred to the House of Representatives each state is entitled to one vote and if the state's representatives have a tie vote the state loses its vote.

When any candidate fails to get a majority of the 538 electoral votes the House of Representatives is to choose a president from the three candidates receiving the highest number of electoral votes.

For the House to choose a president a quorum of two-thirds of all the states is required (34) and a candidate must receive a majority vote of all the states (26) to be elected.

For example, in our present situation there would need to be 34 states present and it would be necessary for 26 of these states to cast their vote for a candidate in order to elect him.

The election of a Vice President, in case no candidate gets a majority of the electoral votes, is to be settled in the Senate.

Only once in history has the Senate been called upon to choose a vice president (1837). The Senate is to select a vice president from the two candidates receiving the highest number of electoral votes. There must be 67 or two-thirds of the States' Senators present and a majority of all the Senators (51) must vote for a candidate in order to elect him.

There will be more than three candidates running for president and vice president this year (1968). If neither of the candidates receive the required majority of electoral votes a president would be selected from the three candidates receiving the highest number of electoral votes by the House of Representatives. The Senate would select a vice president from the two candidates receiving the largest number of electoral votes.

If the House of Representatives and Senate are called upon to select a President and a Vice-President during this election year, it will be on January 6, 1969.

The new Congress takes office on January 3, 1969. The Republican and Democratic candidates are sure to be among the top 3 candidates for President, and if the choice is dependent on a single vote from each state it is safe to conclude that the winner will be the Democrat or Republican candidate as the house members will all be Democrat or Republican (as of November 13, 1967 there were 246 Democrats, 186 Republicans and 3 vacancies in the House).

Any party trading of votes would need to be made in each state before the electors vote. It is also possible for the elected electors to vote for candidates other than their party's choice.

Since the election of a president is such a controversial subject this year, we thought it might be interesting to ask our readers to fill out the form below naming the candidate they would like to see become president.

This does not necessarily mean that this will be the man for whom you vote come November, but actually the man who you would like to see get in the White House.

In talking with people over the town, we have heard time and time again -- "I'd vote for Wallace but I feel like it would probably be a vote for Humphrey."

Or "Nixon is the only one qualified," Or still yet, "Humphrey is going to be our next president!"

So -- how about it. Just for the fun of it, mark your choice and mail to the Enterprise and let's see how Olton really feels!

☐ NIXON

Sue's Views

"You say I oughta rest this pasture . . . well, there ain't been a head of stock on it for 5 years!"

Dear Turnrow Junkel

O. C. McBRIDE

Don't you think North Vietnamese leaders were encouraged by all the "stop the bombing" speeches at our political conventions?

Yes, I kept hoping at least one speaker would call for "increasing the bombing", just to shake Ho Chi Minh up a little.

According to a jar manufacturer, home canning is on the increase.

Many Texans can remember when a large part of a family's food was home canned, and at Saturday night dances the fruit jar was as important as the fiddle.

How do you account for the recent popularity of men's sideburns?

I suppose they give men a feeling of superiority. Women are claiming they are equal to men in every respect, but when it comes to growing long sideburns, men have them beat a country mile.

In your opinion, did any good come out of the turmoil at the Chicago convention?

Yes, We found the ideal man to take charge of security in Saigon: Mayor Daley. He'd Wet weather resulted in the postponement of the Hamburger Feast honoring teachers. The affair, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture has been re-scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday at ORC.

In the event of bad weather the supper will be moved to the Vocational Agriculture barn.

round up those Viet Cong terrorists so fast we'd have to build two new jails to hold them all.

Don't you think the cost of a child's school supplies these days is outrageous?

Yes, I can remember starting to school with a penny cedar pencil and a 5-cent tablet. We may have been short on equipment in those days, but we made up for it at lunch time. How many of today's kids take along sandwiches made of thick slices of country-cured ham between big homemade biscuits?

I understand that regular air service between New York and Moscow is now in effect. A round-trip costs $1100.

If I ever took one of those flights, I'd certainly want a round-trip ticket, and I'd prefer to go on the "fly now-pay later" plan. The Russians have been known to cancel the return part of a traveler's ticket, but they'd probably allow a fellow to go home if they stood to lose 1100 bucks by keeping him.

Well, how did you come out? Like some of us at the office? -- If all else fails, you know, we can always read the directions.

This reminds me of the time Bill brought in a little piece of paper with just a short paragraph and let us all read it and count the "p's" in the words.

Taking A Test

By SUE CANNON

How are you at following instructions?

This little three minute test that appeared in the Pecos Enterprise was passed around up here at the office just for the fun of it and we had such a kick out of it, I decided to run it in my space this week. (And would you believe, I didn't have anything else to write about either?)

Anyway, test yourself. It really isn't very hard and you just might learn something.

Would you believe that EVERYONE of us failed to see all of them -- that is except his daughter, Kathy, who was working at the headline machine at that time.

She counted all of them the first time!

Sure made all the rest of us feel kinds stupid, especially since she was the youngest one in the crowd.

THREE MINUTE TEST

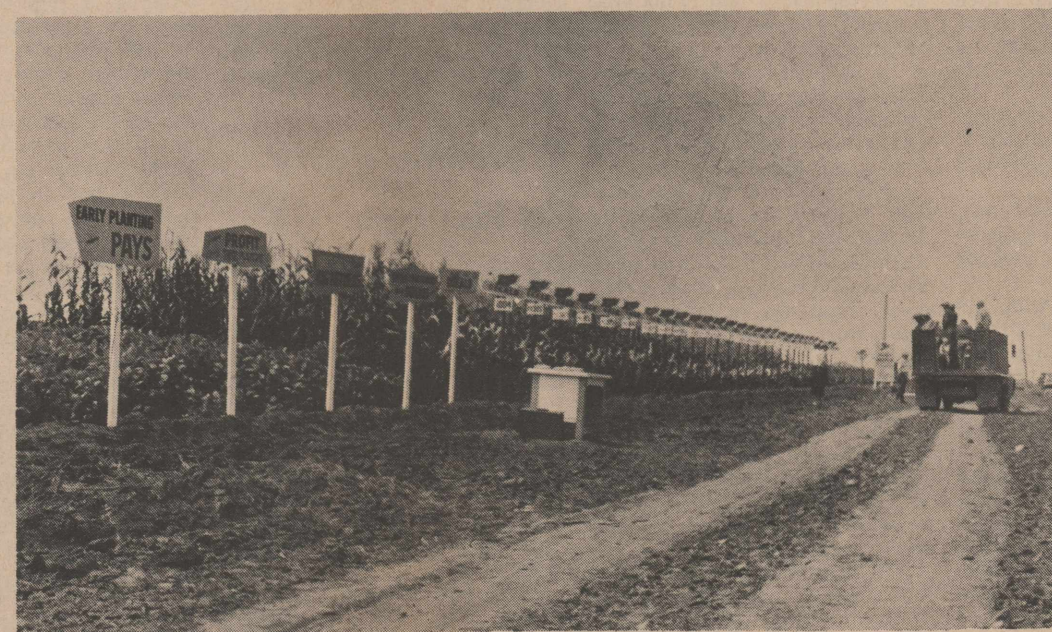

1. Read everything before doing anything.
2. Write your name in the upper left hand corner of the paper.
3. Count aloud from one to ten.
4. Write the alphabet on the back of this paper.

Planetarium To Feature 'Cosmic Collisions' Show

To the physicist, collisions which occur in the universe are numerous and varied, and in the modern scientific age some "collisions" are being used to advantage.

For example, the principle which inspired the invention of radar was the knowledge that by bouncing waves off an object and reflecting it on a scope a sort of picture of the object could be obtained.

It had been predicted that the planet Icarus would crash into the earth when it crossed the earth's orbit in June. On June 15 the earth had already passed that point in its orbit when the asteroid crossed. Scientists will not have to worry about it crossing that close for another 19 years.

These and other "Cosmic Collisions" form the topic for the lecture-demonstration at the Planetarium at West Texas Museum at 3 p. m. each Sunday during September.

Planetarium shows are open to the public. Admission is 50¢ for adults and 25¢ for students. Pre-school children do not attend the programs.

Parking is available in the Museum parking lot.

NOTE: The above program will be shown September 8, 15, 22 and 29. The Planetarium will be closed Sept. 1 for the Labor Day weekend.

BROTHER VISITS

Mr. and Mrs. Wally Bradley and family of Santa Anna, Calif., arrived Tuesday for a visit in the Dr. Mike Smith home. Bradley is Mrs. Smith's brother.

ADDING IT UP--Two California mathematician-engineers are coming to Austin to begin computer work on the best ways to meet the problem of water shortages in Texas.

Their work comes under the water program: being devised by the Texas Water Development Board. Simply stated, the mathematicians will work on a theoretical model of how Texas water resources can be best moved to where they are needed.

Veterinary Medical Association Reports Encephalomyelitis Cases

The Texas Veterinary Medical Association, citing findings by a veterinarian in West Texas, reports that equine (horse) encephalomyelitis has been discovered. The cases were reported in West Texas near Seminole by Dr. A. J. Mabry, a large animal practitioner in that area.

The disease, sometimes called sleeping sickness and Blind Staggers, is a virus perpetuated by small birds that carry a high concentration of the virus in their blood. The culex mosquito transmits the disease from the birds to horses and can also transmit it to man. Horses do not transmit the disease the Veterinary Medical Association says.

Encephalomyelitis is often fatal and may cause permanent brain damage to surviving animals. The T.V.M.A. said horse owners should vaccinate their animals and take mosquito control measures. August and September are especially critical months for the disease in all of Texas since high mosquito population are found during these months. Vaccination of horses now and immediate mosquito control measures will help keep the disease from reaching epidemic proportions as was the case in 1967, the Veterinary Medical Association said.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

You've heard the little rhyme "Second verse, same as the first." Well, I can add a third line to it. "But much worse."

That's my tune these days with colleges beginning once again and memories of my homesick-first-days at West Texas State (Oh, so many years ago) coming back to haunt me.

I've never had any trouble remembering that I was one more homesick kid but my memory is really keen this year since number one son is going off to school. I'm homesick for him already and he hasn't gone yet!

You wonderful people who read my column about homesickness last year will probably want to stop reading right here 'cause I'm going to repeat myself!

Seems like it was only yesterday that Daddy let me out at my dorm and drove away. Know how long it took me to get homesick? He hadn't even got out of the city limits of Canyon!

I phoned him that night to "Come get me, I don't want to go to college!"

But after thinking it over for about 30 minutes I called back with "Daddy, don't come after me, after all, I've decided to stay."

It's sort of funny NOW but boy, oh, boy it was SERIOUS then.

If any of you have never suffered from homesickness then you just haven't SUFFERED. I think colleges ought to give purple heart degrees, too, I earned one!

I could rattle on for inches of space about my misery but, as I said when I started this column, I've found it's even worse when it's your child going off than when it's yourself!!! (My mother didn't tell me that and I surely wasn't prepared.)

I guess that mothers are notorious for remembering their children as little boys or girls - certainly, I plead guilty to that.

Here's where he'll probably disown me -

It was just a few days ago that he started to school!

I remember the day he came home and said, "I asked for three buns today and they made me eat every one!"

And, "A girl finally asked me to carry her books."

And then there was the little play at the end of school "Over The Garden Wall" - (I know he'll want to put arsenic in my elderberry wine!) I can't remember the characters of the boy and girl but all the other boys and girls were flowers. My little boy was a daffodil. And the finest daffodil you ever saw!

Before I get in so deep that he threatens not to come home before Christmas, I'll get back to the present. It has some bright glimmers. We're making plans to take in the Cotton Bowl game New Years and see our team win. Yea, Aggies!

Precision Aerobatic Championship, flying upside-down to snare a red ribbon from between two poles a scant 20 feet from the ground at 140 miles per hour.

Anaplasmosis Reported In Wide-Spread Areas

Anaplasmosis, a severe blood disease in cattle, has been reported in wide-spread areas of Texas by veterinarians. Dr. Milton Risinger of Kaufman, near Dallas, and Dr. Joseph Bitter of Edna, on the Gulf Coast, both reported numerous cases in their area of the state. Other veterinarians are seeing cases of anaplasmosis, including instances in east and central Texas counties, a Texas Veterinary Medical Association spokesman in Austin said.

The disease causes extreme anemia and death, if not detected early. The most effective safeguard against anaplasmosis is immunization with a recently released vaccine. Veterinarians are also able to use medication and blood transfusions for severely affected animals, according to T. V. M. A.

Cattlemen are urged to inspect their herds and immunize all animals since the disease is transmissible from one animal to another and is spread by flies, mosquitoes and ticks. Cattlemen are also warned that the vaccine must be used under completely sterile conditions to prevent spreading the disease.

"Forrest Kyle has helped more young people go to Howard Payne College than any other individual I know," Dr. Newman said at the memorial service, "and his life was spent helping those who could not help themselves."

Hello again, HVH readers! It is that time again when our weekly article comes out. Can't wait, can you?

The F. T. A. held their first meeting Wednesday afternoon in the study hall. General plans for future meetings were discussed and members were told of the district convention planned for Dec. 7 which we are honored with having at our school.

A spirit rally will be held Friday morning at 10 in the auditorium. And, wow, even the BAND will be there!!

Next Tuesday night all brave F.H.A. members are invited to an Hawaiian luau in the home-making cottage. That is providing they dress Hawaiian and sign the list on the bulletin board in the hall by Friday, Oh boy!

Just one more thing -- like a hint from the editor and assistant editor of those groovy annuals -- BUY ONE NOW!!!

This week the old man in the sandhill gives us his definition of happiness and misery.

Happiness is daydreaming in class. Misery is being asked a question.

Happiness is not getting the next day's assignment. Misery is the next day.

Happiness is having a party when your parents are gone. Misery is your parents finding out where your pop-top ring chain came from.

Happiness is going to class without a book cover. Misery is $5.00 for each "misplaced" book.

Happiness is spending all Sunday afternoon in town riding around. Misery is an empty gas tank.

Happiness is an eighteenth birthday party. Misery is the next morning.

Happiness is having a substitute teacher. Misery is when she finds out your class was NOT supposed to leave for dinner at 12:15.

Happiness is a boy who gives you his Senior ring the day he gets it. Misery is telling him you lost it.

Happiness to a boy is sitting by that good-looking, cool girl in an assembly. Misery is her knowing he thinks that.

Happiness is walking down the hall without tying your hair back. Misery is explaining to Mr. Turner why you were.

Happiness is owning the fastest car in town! Misery is finding a motorcycle that can outrun it.

Happiness is Friday (especially May 23). Misery is 8:15 Mondays.

What is love? Love to a field of grass is a band that doesn't march on it.

'Texas' Closes Third Season

The third season of the "TEXAS" production, a musical drama about the history of the Texas Panhandle, closed Monday evening, September 2, Labor Day, after a very successful summer. The average daily attendance was far greater than during the two previous seasons, 1,160 persons per performance. The house seats 1497, though by using the steps, more people can come in and on one evening there were 1711 in the house. The total attendance during the 1968 season was 64,956 which brought the total number of persons who have seen "TEXAS" during the three seasons to 191,219. (125,587 came to see "TEXAS" during the first two seasons.) 1968 has been our largest season.

There are few changes in the plans for 1969. The principal one is that there will be performances on every day except Sunday. The dark night will be moved from Tuesday to Sunday.

Members of the "TEXAS" company will present a "REVUE" in the Amphitheatre at HEMISFAIR on Wednesday evening, September 4th. Many members of the cast and company are making the trip to San Antonio through the courtesy of the President of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, L. P. Gilvin, and other members of the Foundation who are donating funds for the transportation of the group. While in San Antonio and at the Fair, the players will be the guests of H. B. Zachry, the former president and principal backer of the Fair. The program will consist of the Highlights from the "TEXAS" production, Overture to "TEXAS" and some other special sections of the first act. Dean Kelly of Amarillo who plays Uncle Henry in the production, will act as master of ceremonies.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ: KEEPING GOOD RECORDS

Throughout the country the IRS District Directors for the various states or areas hand out a lot of good tax advice. Some of the best advice is -- "Keep good records and save tax dollars."

Every year thousands of Texans resolve to stop costing themselves money and to keep good records at the beginning of the year or as soon as they start to worry about their income tax during the year. It is not too late to make a July resolution to go on top of the New Year's resolution and to at least do a good job of record keeping for the rest of the year. You may have missed some tax savings already, but maybe you can also make some tax savings during the rest of the year.

Shangri-La

To Be Theme

Shangri-La, variously defined as a dream, a place or a state of mind, will be the fanciful theme of the Spring Festival March 1 through 9 at Fair Park in Dallas.

The Shangri-La theme of the 1969 flower show and garden spectacle will be explored by many imaginative and unusual ways, says Mrs. Herbert Marcus Jr., chairman of Spring Festival '69.

"We chose the theme," says Mrs. Marcus, "because it allows so many interpretations of beauty. Most people think of a garden as retreat from everyday life. So what better name is there to call the collection of so many ideal gardens than Shangri-La?"

From March 1 through 9, the World Exhibits Building at Fair Park will be transformed into an idyllic world of scintillating beauty and breathtaking color, as hundreds of garden glorifiers and flower fanciers try to show which state of mind they think is the essence of Shangri-La.

Co-sponsors of the Spring Festival '69 are The Dallas Garden Center and The State Fair of Texas, in cooperation with the Dallas Council of Garden Clubs.
