City Council Protests Phone Company Action

At the City Council meeting this week, Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., and Aldermen Charlie Garrett, N. F. Jackson, Joe "Pepe" Zambrano and Murray McMillan went on record as strongly opposing the closing of the Rockport business office of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and voted to send a letter to Ron Maples, district manager, stating their opposition.

"The phone company is taking a large amount of money out of the community," Alderman Jackson said, "and this decision to close the local business office is not the act of a responsible citizen."

Mayor Falk reported that the Rockport Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club and Business and Professional Women's Club had written to Maples asking him not to close the Rockport business office.

Mrs. Pat Bailey, Southwestern Bell manager, who attended the Council meeting, said the Rockport office "is not being closed; we're just moving the business office to Corpus Christi, and in the future we plan to increase the personnel at the Rockport plant."

"I would like to have the privilege of appearing before the City Council six months from now," Mrs. Bailey said, "because I am confident that at that time I will be able to report improvement in the Rockport area service as a result of this move."

Mayor Falk told Mrs. Bailey she would be welcome to return in six months or any other time she would like to talk to the Council.

Booths Planned For Methodist Bazaar

The Women of the First United Methodist Church met in several workshops preparing for their Christmas Treasures Bazaar which will be Wednesday, Nov. 14 from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. They believe you will find this bazaar different in that it offers such a variety of useful and decorative items as well as foods, plants and other specialties usually not found at church bazaars.

One of the most interesting booths planned is the Country Kitchen where one will find all kind of home-cooked goodies including in the candies, peanut brittle. Also cakes, cookies, jellies, pickles, etc.

Another exciting booth will be the White Elephant. One is always amazed at finding here ---something someone could not use, but someone else is delighted to possess.

Under his direction the Sea Gun Reef Lounge has been completely redecorated in a nautical theme which he promises will surprise and please you.

High School Gives Scholarship News

The Rockport - Fulton High School Counselor's Office was informed this week of eight $4,000 scholarships to be awarded to freshmen entering college next September.

Pat Padgett, High School Counselor, made this information available to all seniors and is encouraging them to apply. It would be a great honor for one of our students to receive one of the scholarships according to Padgett.

Deadline for completed applications is February 15, 1974.

The scholarships are for one thousand dollars per year not to exceed four years. Other scholarships, grants-in-aid, or loans may be accepted in addition to this scholarship.

Academic potential will be the primary basis of selection. Other qualifications, though important, are secondary.

Retention of the scholarship is contingent upon meeting consistently the high standards expected of a University Scholar.

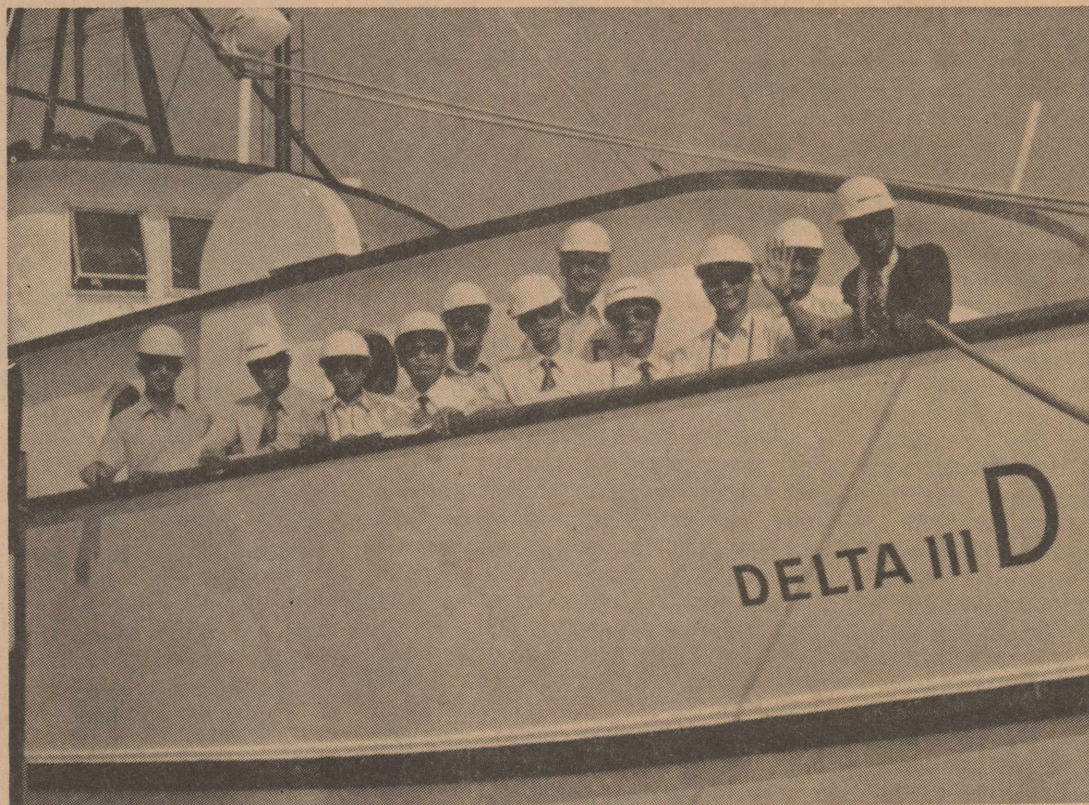

Southwestern Bell Closes Local Office, First National Bank Will Accept Payments

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company will close its Rockport business office effective November 1, according to Mrs. Pat Bailey, Manager. Mrs. Bailey said the office was being closed in order to consolidate telephone records and improve service.

"Rockport telephone records will be moved to Corpus Christi," she said, "where we have several service representatives available to serve customers at all times. Since most customers handle their telephone business by phone, service will be faster and more efficient."

For customers who want to pay their telephone bills in person, Mrs. Bailey said the First National Bank of Rockport has agreed to act as the telephone company's payment agent. "Paying your bill there will be just the same as at the telephone office," she said.

She also said Rockport service representatives Mrs. Christine McDonald and Mrs. Priscilla Purdy will transfer to the company's business office at Corpus Christi but continue to live in Rockport.

Pirates, Aransas Pass In Homecoming Game

By BOB CRAWFORD

Rockport-Fulton will host the Aransas Pass Panthers this Friday night as the Pirates shoot for their second win of the season, hoping to keep the Panthers winless.

The Pirates will carry a 1-6 record into the game after being stunned last week by Taft.

Aransas Pass has come out on the short end of all seven of their games to date, but whenever those two rivals meet, the feathers really fly.

Pirate Band Candy Sale

The Rockport-Fulton Fighting Pirate Band candy sale will start Saturday, November 3 at 9:30 a.m.

This major fund raising activity enables the band to obtain equipment and materials not ordinarily furnished by the school.

There will be tables set up in front of business places in Rockport and Fulton, besides the door to door sales by the band members.

There will be someone at the band hall all day Saturday to distribute and take orders for candy that can be delivered if so requested. The number to call is 729-6333.

Band Director Dan Frels received a nice order for band candy from Carlton T. Urquhart of Toronto, Ontario, Canada.

South Vietnam Officials Tour Rockport Yacht & Supply Co.

Under sponsorship of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, a group of government officials from South Vietnam and one from Tanzania, East Africa toured the local plant of Rockport Yacht & Supply Company Oct. 24 as part of their observation of the Gulf Coast shrimp-industry.

The dignitaries were escorted on the tour by Robert Konvicka, RYSCO personnel manager. They were accompanied by Jack Hartman, Washington, D. C., Farmers Home Administration; Howard M. Williamson, Temple, Texas, Farmers Home Administration; Dan Pawlik, Sinton, County Agricultural Agent; and Gary Graham, Angleton, of Texas

A&M University and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The visiting officials are spending 90 days in the United States, four weeks on the Gulf Coast. Their schedule also called for visits at Texas Colleges and universities, ranches, rice experimental stations and banking and other financial institutions in Houston. When they leave Texas they are scheduled to go to Boston, New York and then Washington, D. C.

The objective of the tour was described by U.S. Department of Agriculture officials as follows:

"This activity is designed to assist the Agricultural Development Bank (ADB) to train key personnel in its newly organized Development Credit Section. The objective is to ensure that Bank funds are invested in sound, productive projects with the purposes of contributing both to the borrower's capacity to repay and to the development of the nation's economy. This institution is staffed to meet short term production type financing and was authorized to enter the medium and long term credit field in March 1972.

"The participants should be exposed to the role various institutions play in the agricultural development process. They should receive on-the-job-training on all aspects of medium and long term credit. This should include the handling of applications at the field level, loan processing, loan review, approval, loan collection and supervisory techniques. On the site visits to existing projects, the gulf fishery enterprises and to an experiment station are recommended."

The visiting Vietnam officials included: Ngo Tung Huynh, technician; Le Van Phuc, Assistant Chief of Cabinet and Chief of Press and Public Relations; Huynh Cong Huan, Director of Agricultural Development Bank (ADB) - Gia Dinh; Nguyen Van Chung, Agricultural Development Bank (ADB) Saigon; To Kin Kuyen, Credit Section Chief; and Eric N.A. Munsil, Tanzania (E. Africa).

City to Enforce Livestock Law

Rockport has a problem with horses and dogs roaming throughout the area.

How to cope with this problem was the subject of considerable discussion at the City Council meeting this week.

Herman Johnson, city secretary, said, "We get many calls at the City Hall from people reporting that stray dogs are knocking over their garbage cans, that a strange horse is in their back yard, or that their horse has wandered away and would we please help find it."

The police have to spend too much time on complaints of this type, Johnson said, pointing out that recently two horses were found grazing near the police station. He asked the Council to take some action that would help solve the problem.

After considerable discussion, the Council decided on two immediate steps:

1) Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., instructed Chief of Police James Craigmille to strongly enforce the livestock ordinance which states, among other things, that horses and other livestock may not roam at will, and also that horses may not be stabled within 50 feet of anyone's living quarters.

2) The city will begin a drive to pick up all dogs running loose that do not have license tags. All owners of dogs are urged to go to the City Hall and buy license tags for their pets if they have not done so.

Man Charged With Billup's Robbery

Chief of Police James Craigmille announced the arrest of Leon Eugene Tumlinson, 30, of Galveston, on a charge of armed robbery.

Tumlinson is charged with robbing the Billup's Service Station at Highway 35 and FM 881 in Rockport, at gunpoint on July 31, 1973.

He is being held in Aransas County jail under a $10,000 bond. The Rockport City Police also served a warrant on Tumlinson for the Bryan, Texas police department on a charge of felony theft. He is under a $2,500 bond on that charge.

Chief Craigmille stated that the apprehension of Tumlinson was the result of a three-month investigation, requiring a lot of man hours and mileage. Most of the time spent by investigating officers was voluntary and on their own personal time off.

It is the policy of the police department, set forth by Chief Craigmille to give, "crimes against the person" top priority, for the protection of our community and its citizens.

COG Holds Meeting Here

A proposal for a new 100-bed nursing home in Corpus Christi Friday failed to gain approval of the Coastal Bend Council of Governments membership, which wants more information on how the project will affect existing facilities.

The council left the door open, however, for applicant Perry Horline of Portland to resubmit his application at a later date. Horline will also be advised to be present the next time his project is reviewed. He was represented by Bob Curtis of Falfurrias, who was unable to answer some of the questions posed by members.

Meeting at the Ramada Inn here with Emory M. Spencer of Rockport as host, the council convened at 11 a.m. for a social hour and luncheon before taking up a relatively short agenda.

Gary Langston Named Patrolman

Chief of Police James Craigmille announced Monday that City Patrolman Donald Baird had resigned to become a deputy sheriff with the Aransas County Sheriff's Department.

On Craigmille's recommendation, the City Council voted to employ Gary Langston, 27, of Rockport, to replace Baird. Langston served in the Navy from 1965 to 1967 and following this he was a commercial diver. He and his wife, Susan, have three children.

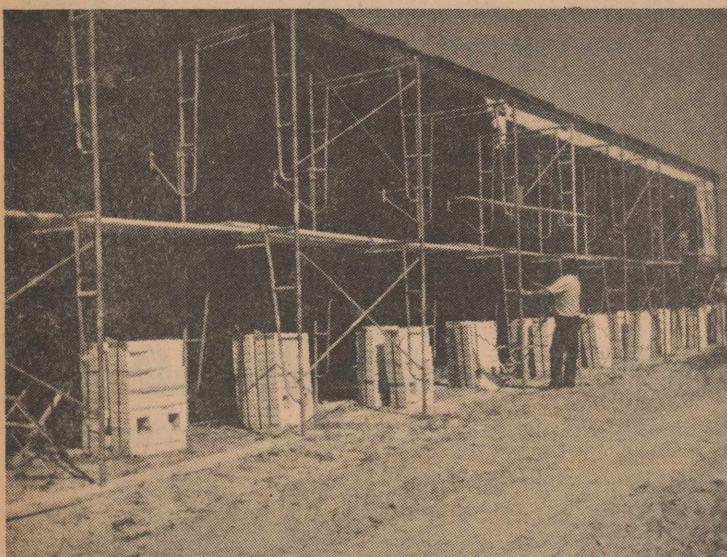

Two Auto Accidents

State Highway Patrolman Bill Hill reported two auto accidents. In the first, on October 26, a car driven by Foy Johnson of Robstown hit the auto of Jose Morales of Rockport on FM 881. In the second accident, a car driven by Fred Jackson of Rockport struck the Copano Causeway on October 27. No one was injured in either accident.

Hill also asked to the Pilot to remind motorists to slow down and take it easy when it is raining and after rain has stopped falling, at least until pavements are completely dry. Hill also reminds motorists not to drive if they have been drinking.

Syl Cunningham, resident construction supervisor for First National Bank's new building, inspects black waterproofing on masonry wall in preparation for laying brick covering for walls. A total of 55,000 bricks will be used.

After several weeks of partial slowdown resulting from failure of exterior finish brick to arrive from the manufacturer, full speed construction on the $600,000 First National Bank building project has been resumed.

Fifty-five thousand bricks arrived last week and masons are now laying them on the outside of the completed steel-reinforced masonry walls. It is estimated that it will require about five weeks to complete the brick work.

The bricks are magnolia white and so-called king-size, 3 by 10 inches. They were made in Henderson, Texas, of what is called Henderson clay. Waterproofing has been applied to the masonry walls and Z bar metal ties imbedded in the masonry will tie the bricks to the structure.

All but the asphalt blacktop portion of the new building's 14,000 square feet of parking area has been completed, including concrete curbs and gutters, and a six-inch-thick caliche rock foundation. It has been compacted and rolled in preparation for application of the asphalt surface which will be delayed until the bank building is completed to avoid damage from heavy equipment, according to Syl Cunningham, district construction superintendent for the A & A Construction Co., of Victoria. He is resident supervisor for the First National Bank building project.

While awaiting arrival of the brick, interior construction has been pushed, Cunningham said. Almost all air conditioning work has been completed, including duct work and installation of three refrigeration units of 35 tons capacity each.

Most of the fabricated metal framing for interior partitions is in place, but wall material will not be applied until the building is "dried in" or water-proofed, with completion of the roof and installation of all doors. The new building will have no windows, except those needed to serve the three drive-in banking stations.

The main lobby will be floored with terrazzo two and a half inches thick. This will be applied in much the same manner as laying a concrete building.

Nuckles Speaks To Rotarians

Growth and development of state parks was described and pictured with slide films by L.D. Nuckles of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department at a luncheon meeting of Rotary Club October 24 at the Sandollar Restaurant.

He explained that state parks are established for a variety of reasons -- historical, geographical, scenic and the presence of water resources, mountains and other natural advantages. Generally, he said, the department does its best to strike a happy medium between preservation of natural beauty and service to the public. Often, these objectives are in conflict, he added, so the department must compromise.

Nuckles suggested that people are the worst enemy of nature, especially unspoiled nature. Their very use of park facilities tends to destroy them. He suggested that the time is not far off when it will be necessary to limit the public access to parks in order to preserve them. There is just too great a population surge for present Texas state parks to serve the public adequately, he asserted.

Among the most popular parks in the state are nearby Goose Island State Park which had 250,000 visitors last year, and Copano Causeway State Park, which attracted 90,000 visitors.

Shrimp Landings Show Decrease

Shrimp landings in Texas amounted to 6.5 million pounds in September valued at $13.5 million. This was a volume decline of 30 percent compared with September 1972. Current landings included 3.5 million pounds of brown shrimp, 3.1 million pounds of white, and about 30,000 pounds of pink. White shrimp landings were the highest September volume since 1968 and brown shrimp landings were the poorest on record.

The following table represents landings of headless shrimp for specified areas and periods:

Area	Sept. 1973	Jan.-Sept. 1972	Jan.-Sept. 1973
	Pounds	Pounds	Pounds
Port Arthur-Sabine	294,700	1,444,900	1,229,200
Galveston-Seabrook	773,300	4,963,700	3,140,100
Freeport	930,700	8,827,100	4,434,900
Matagorda-Palacios	373,000	761,600	921,500
Port Lavaca-Port O'Connor-Seadrift	597,700	2,188,100	2,440,200
Aransas Pass-Rockport-Fulton	1,688,300	11,760,000	9,196,800
Brownsville-Port Isabel-Port Mansfield	1,841,000	17,457,500	14,283,800
TOTAL	6,498,700	47,402,900	35,646,500

Trawlers working brown shrimp made poor catches throughout September with trip averages of 200-300 pounds per night in most producing areas. The poor crop of brown shrimp has forced long-range vessels into distant adjacent waters and waters off Mexico that usually serve as the winter fishery. Vessels working white shrimp in shallow Gulf waters and major bay systems made fair to good catches of mixed size shrimp throughout the month, however, heavy rainfall forced an early exodus of small white shrimp from the bay.

Blue crab landings amounted to 600,000 pounds. This was almost unchanged in volume compared with September 1972. Fishermen received from 11-15 cents per pound for live crabs.

Three new vessels made maiden voyages in September, none were reported lost at sea.

Parking Areas To Be Striped

The City Council Monday night authorized City Public Works Commissioner Tom Shults to inspect parking areas throughout the business district and make plans to have the parking areas striped.

The authorization followed approval of a request by Dick Fox to have the parking area at Sacred Heart Church striped.

Sewerline Projects To Be Considered

By a split vote, the City Council Monday night decided to get cost estimates in regard to two proposed sewerline extension projects.

Both projects would be in the south end of town. One would be between Austin and Water and would include Hunt's Courts. The other would be south of King Street, between Magnolia on Water in the area of the Cedars Courts.

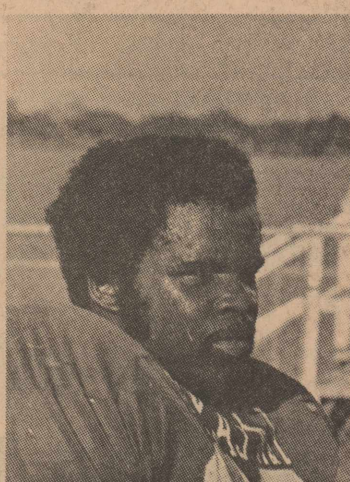

Aldermen Charlie Garrett and Joe "Pepe" Zambrano voted in favor of the projects, and Aldermen N.F. Jackson and Murray McMillan voted against them. Mayor Walter S. Falk, Jr., broke the tie by voting in favor of the projects.

RETIRED

Mrs. Dessie Russell of Rockport is retiring after more than 16 years as bookkeeper with the Corpus Christi Employees Credit Union. She will retire November 2.

This season, Huff is averaging 5.5 yards per carry after 95 attempts.

He led the Lone Star Conference last year in per-carry averages, with a 6.2 norm.

He will be trying to continue his streak Saturday afternoon as the Javelinas meet Sam Houston State in Huntsville. Game time will be 2:30 p.m.

Johnny Jackson, senior defensive end from Rockport-Fulton, set up one of Texas A&I's touchdowns last week-

Electrical Power Shortage Feared

Central Power and Light Company President Barney M. Davis said today, "South Texas faces a serious shortage of electrical power" if the government's present fuel allocation plan goes into effect without change.

The allocation program pre-empt's CPL's fuel purchase contracts and means the company won't have enough fuel to generate the power its customers are expected to need this winter. CPL had planned to use fuel oil to supplement dwindling natural gas supplies normally used at company power plants.

"This allocation program completely changes things. We've gone from a position of being reasonably sure of being able to supply our customer needs to a very critical situation," the CPL president said.

The Energy Policy Office and the Department of Interior on October 12 announced a mandatory fuel oil allocation program to be effective November 1. The program states that the volume of fuel oil allotted to utility companies in 1974 would be based on the amount purchased in 1972.

CPL used natural gas to generate almost all of the electricity the company produced in 1972, but switched to oil for a part of its fuel requirements in the first few months of 1973 when its gas deliveries were curtailed.

"With even more severe gas curtailments expected this winter, we'll just have to get more fuel oil if we are going to be able to meet our customer demands," Davis said.

CPL burns fuel oil when its natural gas supply is curtailed. Such curtailments normally occur during cold winter days and during the summer peak load period, and have not in the past affected CPL's total generation capability.

"This could mean a serious economic setback to South Texas which could severely affect industries as well as commercial and residential customers," Davis stated. "We are hoping for relief from this program and urge our customers to conserve electric energy. If the government gives us some relief by allocating more fuel oil to us, we don't look for any problems this winter."

Several of CPL's executives are meeting with Department of Interior personnel trying to clarify what the allocation program will mean to the Company, the utility president said. While there has been no interruption of CPL's firm power supply at the present time, Davis said "this new regulation by the federal government could severely affect the future electrical supply of the entire South Texas area."

Last week CPL announced that the company had postponed the offering of its $46 million first mortgage bonds due to the new mandatory fuel allocation program.

Davis stated that CPL does not expect the program to result in any material adverse change in its financial position. "We did realize last year that if we didn't get our rate increase approved that we would have trouble selling our bonds," he said.

"We did not visualize any difficulty in the supply of fuel having any effect on our bond programs, but this new allocation program has changed that completely," said Davis.

Last fall CPL signed a new 20-year contract with Coastal States Gas Producing Company which would supply approximately 80 percent of CPL's total fuel requirements. The remaining fuel supply is purchased from other South Texas gas suppliers. The new allocation program, however, pre-empt's all existing contracts for fuel oil.

The supply of natural gas from Coastal States has been curtailed numerous times in recent months. This supply has, in the past, been subject to the priority system set up by the Texas Railroad Commission. During gas curtailments, CPL has been able to switch to fuel oil at some of its generating stations to meet South Texas power requirements.

Twelve of CPL's 15 major generating units are now equipped to burn fuel oil as an alternate to natural gas on a short-time basis. Future generating equipment will be able to operate full-time on either natural gas or fuel oil. The company is considering coal as a fuel source for future power stations and has recently announced plans to participate in a jointly-owned nuclear power plant in the Palacios-Bay City area.

Craig - McMurry Wed

Where It Happens For Presbyterians

Each Sunday at 10:40 a.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the local Presbyterian Church visitors, members, young and old, browse through display centers which highlight some aspect of that church's life. Winter guests renew old acquaintances and make new friends. Church members enjoy the company of one another, sharing their good times or looking for a sympathetic ear with whom they may voice a concern.

Display centers for November will be: "What in the World is the Church Doing?" -- a display of ministries beyond the local congregation; "Come Dream With Us" -- a description of local objectives for 1974; "Young Adults" -- highlighting the new organized young adult group; "Guest Welcoming Booth" -- with recipes, unique to a particular section of the U.S., which have been sent us by our winter guests; and "Table Talk" -- for those who enjoy a short cup of coffee along with talk.

"Where it happens" is an informal transition between "Communicating the Faith" (Church School) at 9:45 a.m. and "People in Worship" (Morning Worship) at 11 a.m. More than that, it is a time for mutual support which helps "the Church happen" daily in the life of Rockport.

Miss Christina McMurry, Houston, and George Bruce Craig, Houston, were married Saturday at First Presbyterian Church. The Rev. John Bradshaw officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Alfred McMurry, 1887 Bayshore Dr., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Craig, Houston.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of ivory silk linen and imported Alencon lace. The moulded basque bodice was fashioned with wide oval neckline and lace-edged, bell shaped sleeves. The controlled skirt featured side and back pleated fullness and was complemented with a wide chapel train. Her fingertip veil of ivory silk illusion extended from a crown of Alencon lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white daisies.

Miss Marilyn McMurry, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. R. B. Anspercher, Mrs. Marcia Liston, Dallas (sister of the bride), Mrs. Jerry Goodson, Houston, and Miss Cynthia Clarke, Austin (cousins of the bride.)

They wore dresses of beige faille with fall flower print and carried rust colored chrysanthemums. John C. Craig, brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were John Yancey, Dallas; Dr. Wesley Baxter, San Antonio; and groomsmen were John Cronin, Chris Harper, Dave Bowman, Houston; and Richard Anspercher of Dallas.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Key Allegro Inn. Those in the house party were Nancy Collins, Dallas, and Genevieve Clark, Austin (cousins of the bride), Colleen Coleman, Mrs. Johnny Tomlinson.

After a wedding trip to Ocho Rios, Jamaica, the couple will be at home in Houston. Her going away attire was a navy plaid suit.

The bride attended Monterrey Tech, Monterrey, Mexico, Selwyn School and is a graduate of SMU, was a member of Pi Beta Phi, and is employed by Tenneco, Inc.

The groom is a graduate of SMU, a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon and is employed by Allstate.

Questions And Answers to Veterans Benefits

Q: I draw compensation from the Veterans Administration for a service connected disability suffered in Vietnam. Am I entitled to a $150 annual clothing allowance?

A: That depends upon the nature of your disability. If you wear one or more prosthetic or orthopedic appliances (including a wheelchair) which tend to wear out or tear your clothing, you are eligible. But you must apply to VA to get it. Q: I was honorably discharged from military service last month, and plan to buy a home with a GI loan from the Veterans Administration. Will my wife's income help me qualify for the loan?

A: Yes. VA since July 1973 has been giving full recognition to income of both veteran and spouse in determining ability to repay loans.

Q: How many individuals trained under Veterans Administration education programs during fiscal year 1973?

A: Enrollments in the agency's three programs reached 2.2 million, the highest level since World War II. Included were 2.1 million veterans and servicemen under the GI Bill, 29,600 under the vocational rehabilitation program, and 68,200 under the dependent's educational assistance program.

Taft Rips Pirates 20-6

By BOB CRAWFORD

Halloween came early for the Rockport-Fulton Pirates as the Taft Greyhounds tricked and treated the Pirates to a 14 point deficit before three minutes had gone in the game at Taft last Friday night, enroute to the 20-6 victory over the Pirates.

On Taft's third play from scrimmage quarterback Monte Floerke, a junior, connected with his 6-5 junior split receiver, Vanzant Driver on a 77-yard pass play for a score.

Rockport took the following kickoff and on their first play, a fumble allowed the Greyhounds to gain control of the ball, and within three plays, the Taft team had scored again, and added the two extra points, making the score 14-0.

In the second period the Greyhounds added their third score after marching 85 yards in 17 plays.

The Pirates finally got on the scoreboard late in the second period as quarterback Scott Gillis squeezed through an opening in the Taft defensive line and scored from one yard out. The score had been set up after split receiver Bill Mercer had taken a Gillis pass and scampered 55 yards to the Taft one yardline.

In the second half the Pirates completely dominated play, allowing Taft only one first down, that coming on a roughing the kicker penalty.

The Pirates moved all the way to the Taft five yard line in the third period, but failed to make it in.

Rusty Morrison continued to give the steady performance offensively and defensively for the Pirates. Defensively, Morrison was joined by David Mundine as leader in tackles.

Rickey McLester again went over the century mark in rushing, but he had to carry 24 times to get there.

PIRATES JV WINS 22-20

By BOB CRAWFORD

Rockport-Fulton's Junior Varsity scored on their opening possession after recovering a fumble and marched 37 yards in eight plays with the score coming on a pass from quarterback Kevin Vannatter to tight end Bobby George. Vannatter added the 2 extra points for an 8-0 Pirate lead.

Taft tied the score in the second period after the Pirates had fumbled. Taft had another opportunity to score, but cornerback Roy Nava swiped the ball from the Taft receiver and returned the ball for a score.

The Pirates forced the Taft Greyhounds to a safety and upped the lead to 16-8.

The Greyhounds added a score when they blocked a Pirate punt and recovered it in the end zone for the score.

Halfback Willie Flores zipped to a 20 yard score later in the game.

Taft ended the scoring with 36 seconds remaining, but a superior defensive effort by the Pirates kept the Greyhounds from scoring the conversion, and the Pirates led 22-20 at the game's end.

On defense the Pirates were spearheaded by Joe Harrington and Johnny Washburn, both of whom returned to the line-up this week after missing last week due to illness.

The Consumer Alert

by John L. Hill
Attorney General

AUSTIN -- With the "credit crunch" on capital for home financing, and the increased requirements for down payments, some consumers may be tempted to take the "contract for sale" route to satisfying a desire for home ownership.

In legal terms, this is known as "an executory contract for conveyance of real property." What it actually is is an agreement between the person who owns a piece of real property and the person who wants to own one that the owner will convey the house and lot after certain terms are met.

A price is determined, and the buyer agrees to make monthly payments of a certain amount for as long as it takes to pay off the principal. The average buyer, however, has a tendency to look only at the amount of the monthly payments -- in terms of his budget, without taking into account all that the payments may have to cover, or how long they will last.

For instance, in one case which was investigated by the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division, a South Texas man had signed a contract in 1968 to buy a house costing $6,350. He paid $500 down, leaving a balance of $5,850 payable at $45 a month at an interest rate of 8% on the declining balance.

There was no mention of the total number of payments to be made, but an amortization schedule (which would have been available from any bank or savings and loan institution for about $1.50) would have shown that it would take more than 30 years to pay it off.

In separate section, the contract for sale required that the buyer pay taxes accruing on the property, as well as the premium for insurance to protect the investment.

When you consider that the amortization on the note would have resulted in the first few $45 monthly payments breaking down to $39 for interest and only $6 for principal, you can see that further deductions for taxes and insurance would reduce the principal payments to little if anything.

That points up a primary danger inherent in a poorly-drawn contract for sale: If the payments are too low, it could take a generation--or a lifetime--to assume ownership.

Because that is another problem with many of these contracts--when they state that the buyer will not be given the deed to the property until the full contract price has been paid. If the would-be homeowner gets 30 days behind on a payment, the seller could demand the full balance immediately, with a threat of repossession.

Reports of cases of repossession, without notice, led the 1969 Texas Legislature to pass a law requiring the seller to give formal notice, if the buyer's investment had reached a given point.

If less than 10% of the purchase price has been paid off, the seller must give 15 days' written notice by certified or registered mail. If between 10% and 19% of the purchase price has been paid off, 30 days' notice must be given. And, if 20% or more has been satisfied, 60 days' notice is required.

And the notice of forfeiture of interest and acceleration of indebtedness must be stated in this language, printed in 10-point bold face type: "You are late in making your payments under the contract to buy your home. Unless you make the payment by -- the seller has the right to take possession of your home and to keep all payments you have made to date."

There have been many abuses of the contract for sale of real property on record. In fact, the Federal Trade Commission has held hearings with a view to prohibiting such contracts entirely.

But this type of home buying can be useful, if the consumer takes precautions: Be sure that the total number of payments are set out in the contract, and that you understand exactly what they must cover. Ask for a warranty deed, to be certain there is no cloud on the title. Require the seller to show you his title insurance policy. Try to arrange it so that you can acquire the deed when a good portion of the principal has been paid off. And, it would be helpful to have a private attorney, or a legal aid advisor go over the contract with you.

If you run into any problems, do not hesitate to contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division.

Veterans Favor Amendment 7

Tuesday, November 6 is General Election Day in Texas, and is of particular significance to veterans who reside in the State. This was announced today by Jimmie Hunt, Veterans Service Officer for Aransas County.

The voters of Texas will this year be asked to vote "for" or "against" a proposal to add $100 million to the Veterans Land Program to finance purchases of farm and ranch lands by eligible veterans. The 1973 General Election ballot will contain a number of constitutional amendment proposals, and this will be Number 7 on the form. The proposal is to increase the Veterans Land Program bond issue from $400 million to $500 million.

The Veterans Land Program has been in existence since 1949, and has helped thousands of wartime veterans to purchase farms and ranches. Under the program, a maximum loan of $10,000 may be made to an eligible veteran for the purchase of ten acres or more of rural property. Eligible are persons who served 90 days or more in the Armed Forces of the United States since September 16, 1940, and whose service terminated under other than dishonorable conditions. Included are veterans who were legal residents of Texas at the time they entered service, or who have now been residents for five years or longer.

This program has operated at no cost to the taxpayer and at considerable benefit not only to veterans but to the economy of all Texans. It is one of very few programs ever established which will make a profit for the State. Statisticians have determined that the State of Texas will eventually realize a profit of from $100 to $200 million on the Veterans Land Program.

Every citizen of Texas should exercise his or her right to vote on November 6, 1973, and each should cast his ballot for each candidate or issue in accordance with the dictates of his conscience.

The Rockport Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons, met in V.F.W. Hall October 24 with ninety-six members and visitors present. Coffee and home-made cake and cookies were enjoyed, after which meeting was called to order by president Zollie Glass. Paul Hoover gave invocation and led group singing, with Mrs. Paul Morrison at piano.

Committee reports were given and announcements made. Mrs. Gladys Thompson, chairman, outlined plans for Thanksgiving dinner to be enjoyed at November 14 meeting of the Chapter. Election of officers will be held at that meeting. Mrs. Della Scott, chairman, reminded those present of Christmas Arts and Crafts Fair to be held December 7 in V.F.W. Hall. Mrs. A. C. Hamon, Aransas County librarian, invited everyone to utilize services offered by the library. Mrs. Ethel Clark reviewed article, "Life Begins at Sixty" from recent Modern Maturity magazine, and urged members to consider participation in local Little Theatre group.

Guest speaker was Jerry P. Johnson, National A.A.R.P. vice president for Area 7, covering five states. He praised the local chapter and its officers for accomplishments in the few months since organization, during which time over 200 members have joined, with good participation in group programs. He emphasized that purpose is to serve and not be served, and explained how the national organization can offer low cost insurance, drugs and other benefits.

Fashion

Nylon jersey is seen on many of the long dresses used for evening occasions at home or for formal dances or dinners. Some of these have long sleeves and full skirts, falling gracefully to the floor.

Other dresses for evening are tent shaped and widen considerably at the hemline. Prints and solids are good. Many have bare shoulders with narrow straps.

PUBLIC NOTICES BECAUSE THE PEOPLE MUST KNOW

(Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which this country's democracy is preserved. Its one premise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, required the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come more and more to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be as long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.)

Students Study Child Development

Homemaking II and III students have been actively involved in a study of child development. During the past 4 weeks, Homemaking II students focused their attention on the 3-6 year old, or the pre-school child. The students read children's story books, listened to records, and demonstrated arts and crafts activities which youngsters might enjoy. The students examined toys for cleanliness, safety, and durability. They were also concerned about toys which can be used as teaching aids. Laws endorsing toy safety were reviewed.

Students, using their knowledge of furniture arrangement, and color schemes, and designed and planned a child's room, realizing that a child needs a place to call his own. The physical, emotional, mental, and social growth and development of the child were also studied. Students became aware that children are spoiled because they are constantly given such things as toys, games, clothes, gifts, and perhaps money, rather than that which they really want and need, which is love, attention, and understanding. The human emotions of anger, hate, fear, jealousy, and resentment were examined. It was discovered that by being understanding, gentle, firm, and consistent in the handling of children, they could be taught to handle their emotions successfully. It was also learned that punishment and discipline are not the same. Punishment often times builds feelings of resentment in the child toward the one who punished him. Discipline is a means of correction in which the child understands what he has done wrong.

Homemaking III students concentrated primarily on prenatal development, and the infant. These girls learned that good nutrition is vital to the health of both mother and infant; and that balanced meals should be eaten daily, and not just during pregnancy. Balanced meals are those which contain foods from each of the Basic Four Food Groups, the Meat Group, the Milk Group, the Fruit and Vegetable Group, and the Bread and Cereal Group.

Students discussed the feeding and clothing of the infant. They were concerned with the love, care, security and guidance given a young child as this is the beginning of its self-concept, or the way a child sees himself.

The students are especially grateful to those mothers in the community who offered their time to answer questions the girls were interested in.

Baby Shower

On October 23, Mrs. Tamara Carleton was honored with a baby shower at the home of Priscilla Purdy on Fulton Beach Road. After some games were played and gifts were opened, refreshments were served to approximately 15 guests. Hostesses were Priscilla Purdy and Cynthia Highfill.

AS YOU LIVE AND BREATHE

TB is caused by a germ. But unhealthy living habits can set the stage for infection and disease.

TB can flourish against a backdrop of poverty, where undernourished people live in cramped rooms with little fresh air and sunlight. TB germs are spread by the coughs and sneezes of someone who has live TB germs in his or her sputum. Overcrowding and poor ventilation are natural allies of the TB germ. Poor people too often have poor health. Poor health affects the way the body's defenses work to fight off infections such as TB.

When a healthy person breathes in TB germs, the germs are killed quickly by special cells that literally eat the invading germs. Or the germs are walled off and imprisoned by a ring of encircling cells, which close off the route of further infection. But when the body's defenses are down, the invading germs can continue their march through the lungs and body.

Three to ten weeks after live TB germs enter the body, the chemistry of every cell changes slightly. The cells become allergic to TB germs. The allergy exists as long as the germs stay in the body, which may be for life. The tuberculin skin test can measure this allergic response. A doctor can prescribe pills to prevent the infection from developing into illness.

Pills can also cure the illness if it has developed. Even though TB thrives in an environment of poverty, anyone can have the disease. Everyone should have a tuberculin skin test at least once to find out his or her TB status. Using Christmas Seals is another way to help the fight against TB.

Christmas Seals fight TB, emphysema, air pollution, and cigarette smoking. Continuing the fight is a matter of life and breath.

Rockport-Fulton Bucs Split Games

Last Thursday, the RFJH 8th grade Bucs won their fourth game of the year by defeating Taft Jr. High 20-0.

The Bucs, led by Bobby Lewis, scored all their points in the first half. Bobby Lewis scored two touchdowns on runs of 4 yards and 95 yards. Darryl Green teamed with Lewis for a 19 yard touchdown pass. Green completed 3 of 6 passes for 48 yards, while Lewis rushed for 183 yards. The Bucs getting excellent blocking from the offensive line, picked up 24 first downs, 279 yards rushing and 48 yards passing. Offensive standouts were Richard Men-diola, Leslie Jones, Sammy Solis, Ricky Garcia, Shawn Wendell and Jerry Lewis.

Defensively the Bucs got their second shut-out of the year. The only Greyhound threat came in the 3rd quarter, but the Bucs held them four downs inside the four yard line. That was the only threat of the game for the Taft Greyhounds. Defensive standouts were Leland Knox, Benno Wilke, Earl Schoepf, Bruce Barre, Chris Barrow, Darryl Green and Jolly Lewis. All year long all the Bucs have given the greatest effort and had the greatest enthusiasm in practice and in the games.

The 7th grade Bucs lost their fourth game of the year 24-0. Even though it was a losing effort, The Bucs played one of their best games of the year.

Offensively the Bucs were able to move the ball up and down the field on the Greyhounds. As was the problem last week, miscues seemed to stall each Buc drive. Offensive standouts were John Solis, James Crusier, Juan Duke, Ken-ny Leith and DeWayne Harrison.

Defense was the big problem for the Bucs as they had trouble in containing the Taft speed. Great improvement was shown in the game offensively and defensively in the losing effort.

The Bucs next game will be against the Aransas Pass "Kittens", Thursday, November 1 in Pirate Stadium.

HARRY CARTER TO BE HONORED

On Nov. 1, 1963, at the age of 76, Harry Carter of St. Peter's Episcopal Church resigned after many years as lay minister during which time he endeared himself not only to members of the congregation but also to members of the community at large.

Mr. Carter explained that "the Right Rev. Everett H. Jones, D. D., bishop of the diocese, desired to change this mission to a parish basis in order for the members here to have a resident priest in charge who will be able to officiate at Holy Communion and carry out other duties of a priest."

Following Mr. Carter's decision to resign after serving as lay minister at St. Peter's Church for 12 years, he was honored at a reception at the Bishop Elliott Conference Center on Copano Bay attended by many dignitaries and friends.

Power Plant Shrimp Yield Record Harvest

CORPUS CHRISTI -- The prospect of man-reared shrimp for the nation's dinner tables moved nearer reality with the first full - scale harvest of the succulent shellfish from a demonstration mariculture project at Central Power and Light Company's Barney M. Davis Power Station here.

Dr. Jack C. Parker of Texas A&M University said the yield was comparable to record results obtained at a trial harvest in September.

Parker is a mariculture specialist and coordinator of the Sea Grant Shrimp Mariculture Program for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The early harvest produced 2,040 pounds of shrimp from a half-acre pond," Parker said. "This is slightly over 4,000 pounds of shrimp per acre, more than double the previous Texas record of 1,836 pounds per acre set last year in a demonstration project near Angleton," he added.

The CPL project is part of joint university - industry research efforts which have been underway since 1969, exploring the commercial feasibility of a commercial shrimp culture industry.

"Even though we've made dramatic progress, we're still in the experimental stage," Parker commented.

The project here, for which Ralston - Purina Co. provides seed-stock, rations, and technical assistance, is intended to explore the potential of Laguna Madre waters on the growth and development of captive shrimp.

The power plant shrimp are raised in a succession of three ponds for about 140 days. Researchers hope the growth cycle can be reduced and maintained year-round when warm water from the new Davis power station is available in new mariculture facilities being planned adjacent to the plant's 1,100-acre cooling lake.

Dr. Fred Conte, the TAMU mariculture specialist who supervises the CPL demonstration, said knowledge gained at Angleton led researchers here to double the initial stocking rate.

The tiny shrimp are placed first in a one-eighth acre pond where they grow to a length of about 1 - 1/2 inches. Then they are moved to a quarter-acre pond where they add another inch before the final trip to a half-acre finishing pond. Here they reach salable size of 4-1/2 to 5 inches.

"Survival in our September trial harvest was 83 percent," Conte said. "This compares very favorably with the 67 percent survival rate obtained at Angleton last year," he added.

The shrimp are harvested through a 12-inch drain pipe which permits 100 percent capture of the crop.

Even as commercial shrimp farming becomes more and more feasible, mariculturists do not see it as a threat to the existing shrimp industry.

As demand for the luxury food item grows, they see pond-grown shrimp as a supplement of the commercial catch rather than as a replacement.

Shrimp mariculture can become a new industry that will reduce the need for seafood imports and at the same time create new jobs for Texans and new uses for the state's coastal marshlands.

In a briefing session preceding the shrimp harvest, members of the press and other guests heard from CPL President Barney M. Davis; Dr. Dennis C. Zensen, Division Vice President and Director of Agriculture for Ralston-Purina Co.; and Dr. John E. Hutchison, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Also representing Texas A&M was Dr. Robert C. Stephenson, director of the university's Center for Marine Resources and the Sea Grant College Program. Hutchison reviewed the university's work in mariculture and predicted that with improved production technology, commercial shrimp farming will become a reality within the next decade.

Remember the equivalents to an ounce of meat: one ounce fish, poultry or cheese (except cream cheese or cottage cheese); 1/4 cup cottage cheese; 1 cup milk or 1/3 cup nonfat dry-milk powder; 1/2 cup cooked dried beans/lentils or peas; 2 tablespoons peanut butter.

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET REFORM

The Senate is proceeding on legislation that will permit Congress to examine Federal spending from an overall point of view, something we haven't been able to do since the days of the Civil War.

During the first 75 years of our government, one Committee in each House of Congress controlled both spending and taxing activities. But the great amount of financial activity during the Civil War placed extraordinary burdens on these two Committees, and in the mid-1860's their work was spread among several Committees.

In 1921, the Budget and Accounting Act provided for an annual Federal budget to be prepared by the Executive branch of government, through what is now known as the Office of Management and Budget.

The Congress, though, has developed no similar mechanism for determining overall expenditures and relating them to revenues.

Our Constitution assigns to Congress the power to raise taxes and make expenditures. But we are in danger of losing that power because we have failed to provide the mechanics for controlling the budget.

Only because we have been an incredibly rich nation have we been able to survive a situation in which our income legislation had little correlation to our expenditure legislation.

MUST ALLOCATE RESOURCES CAREFULLY

But, I think that day has passed. We have reached the limits of our resources. Our allocation of resources must now zero in on only those programs that show a high return in the development of our human and natural resources. In the 54 years since 1920, there have been 37 Federal budget deficits and the failure to arrive at congressional budget decisions on an overall basis has contributed to the size of these deficits.

It would be an error to place the responsibility for all of these deficits on the shoulders of Congress, since deficit budgets were submitted to Congress during 32 of the years in question.

In addition, despite its institutional weaknesses, Congress has shown in recent years that it can make reductions in spending authority requested by national Administrations. In each of the past 20 years, for example, Congressional appropriation bills have provided less money than requested by the Executive branch.

But this does not give a complete picture, since only 44 percent of the spending in the current Federal budget involves items considered in the appropriation bills.

And piecemeal reductions in Federal programs, such as Congress presently makes, provide no permanent solution to the problem of regaining and retaining Congressional control over Federal spending.

We must provide Congress with the means of making an independent judgment concerning the amount of government money to be spent each year. We need the machinery to insure coordination among the various Committees which incur obligations and make outlays.

The Senate Committee on Government Operations is currently studying legislation which would give Congress that capability. It is expected that this measure will come before the full Senate either later this year or early next year.

ESTABLISH SPENDING CEILING

The bill would establish a firm ceiling for all spending by the Federal government. The ceiling would be set following a careful review of expected income and of economic conditions.

It would create a new Budget Committee in each House of Congress, as well as a Congressional Office of the Budget, to serve as a counterpart to the Office of Management and Budget in the Executive branch.

The proposed budget reform measure would require the President to submit his proposed budget by November instead of January in order to provide more time for Congressional review.

And it would establish a general reserve fund to cover any unforeseen increases in expenditures.

Congress must have a system to insure that when we vote additional funds for any one program we will know exactly where we are getting those funds and what this increase will do to the rest of the Federal budget.

This is not a liberal or conservative issue. Nor is it a partisan issue. It is an issue which must be faced, not by Republican and Democratic Senators and Representatives, but by United States Senators and Representatives.

This budget reform bill, which I am co-sponsoring, will give Congress an overall perspective of Federal spending. And it is important that it be approved quickly, if we expect to maintain Congressional control of our Federal pursestrings.

Goose Island Project Unopposed

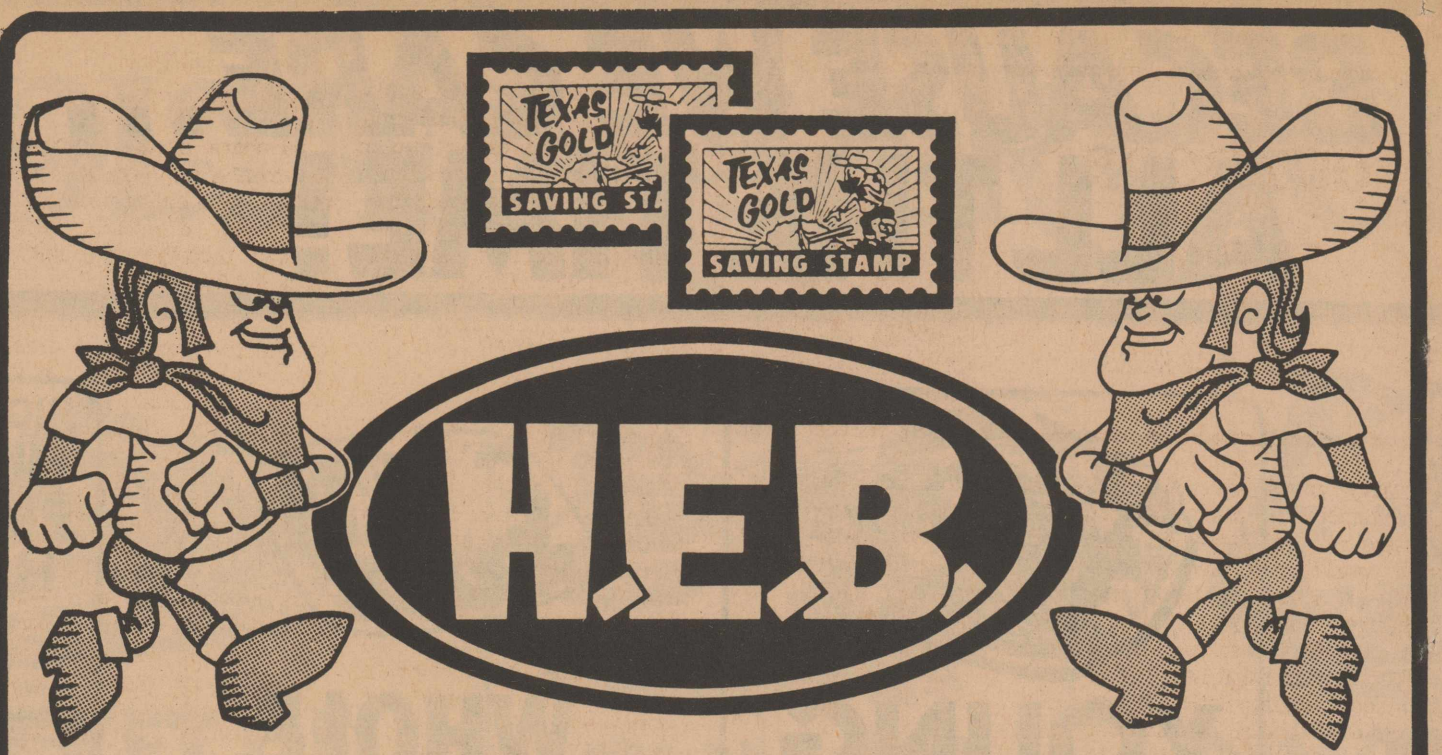

AUSTIN -- A public hearing October 23 on plans for an $11,400 improvements of facilities at Goose Island State Park produced no witnesses before Parks and Wildlife Department officers.

Harold D. Toy, parks division administrator, and Bruce Riggs of the PWD engineering division, architecture branch, said they will submit plans to the Parks and Wildlife Department at a meeting early next month with recommendations for final approval.

Plans include a new entrance marker, landscaping at the headquarters building, site work at the concessions building, reforestation and screening on the western boundary near the Neptune Harbor area.

Riggs, who drew the plans, said between $8,000 and $9,000 worth of the work will be advertised for bidding, and the rest will be accomplished with department staff personnel.

A concept hearing on the plan was held last May 7.

'n things

by

Many years ago I knew a sportsman in North Central Texas who had hunted all over the world. His hunting trips included Europe, Asia, Africa, all over North America, and he had even been hunting in China. He said that he intended to keep hunting until the day he died but that he had just about had enough killing. At great expense he had had a 35mm camera with a long telephoto lens mounted on his favorite rifle stock. The shutter release was worked by the rifle trigger and the lens even had a cross hair in it so that he could see where he would have hit his game. In those days the best camera he could get, and believe me, he had the best, required the lens opening, the shutter speed, the film advance, and the shutter cocking all be done by hand. Now they make cameras that do all of this automatically and you can shoot pictures as fast as you can trip the shutter. What is more important to some of us, cameras with all these features cost no more, and in some cases a lot less, than a good camera did then.

It's really nice to have one of these super-cameras, but it's not absolutely necessary in photographing wildlife. You can get some fine shots of birds and animals in the field with much simpler equipment. The primary requirement in photographing wildlife is GET CLOSE. You'll find that even a moderately long telephoto lens does not get you the picture that you want, unless you are up fairly close to your subject. The answer to good wildlife pictures is a blind and lots of patience. As soon as you mention a blind most people will shy away, but a good photographic blind need not be all that elaborate. A few 2 x 2's and some burlap sacking will make you a good blind that is light and portable, cheap and easy to make, yet will do the job. This, combined with a little grain for bait, will get you some good pictures of deer, javelina, turkey, and many other birds. The only other ingredient you must add is patience.

If you're not the patient kind, take along a predator call. After a little practice you'll never know what you're going to call up. It may be a hawk or an owl. It might be a coon that will try to get in the blind with you, or it might be a wise old fox who has forgotten all about being wise in his hurry to get a free meal. If you're lucky, and good enough with the call, you might call up a coyote or a bobcat. Deer will sometimes come up to such a call, but I should warn you that it's illegal to call up a deer in this way and shoot it except with a camera.

Set up your blind in your back yard near your bird feeder. The birds will ignore the blind after a few days and you can get some beautiful pictures right there at home.

Don't limit your picture taking to Aunt Nellie's annual visit, the kids' birthdays, and two or three pictures a year of a bunch of dead fish and grinning fishermen. Get out and make some interesting pictures - and what is more interesting than wildlife out in the wild?

Fire Auxiliary Halloween Party

Members of the Rockport Firemen's Auxiliary and their guests were entertained with a Halloween costume party at their social meeting on Oct. 23 at the fire station.

The president Ivalea Hinz called the meeting to order. The roll was called by the secretary, Joan Truelove. Seventeen members were present.

The meeting was turned over to the program chairman, Kathy Ratliff. She presented the treasure chest which was furnished by Lois Gurley and won by Teresa Howland. After picture taking of all the various costumes, the group was blindfolded. They were loaded into cars and taken to a haunted house. Each person was admitted to the dark house, one at a time, and passed by the fortune teller, through the horror chamber, into the operating room and last, everyone was seated in the funeral parlor to pay respect to the corpse, which, to the surprise of all, came back to life at the end.

Again, everyone loaded into the cars for a ride back to the fire station. The party room was lavishly decorated in the Halloween motif. The costumes were judged and Bettye Boddie, dressed as a witch, won the prize. A balloon game followed, after which refreshments of brownies, orange punch cakes, candy and orange punch were served from a very attractive table, also in the Halloween motif.

Guests were Donna Smith, Beth McNutt, Wanda Sparks, Teresa Howland, Joyce Lee, Barbara Elmore, Allen McLester, Janice Bell, Tammy Boddie, Gene Howland, Edward Truelove, Eddie Ratliff, J. C. Gurley, Jennette King, Roy Boddie, Janet Truelove, Kenneth Howland, Mark Boddie and Rickey McLester.

Members present were Sarah Belle Smith, Sadie Smith, Mona McNutt, Joan Truelove, Kathy Ratliff, Evalon Redden, Terry Roberts, Mary Lee Frizzell, Gwyne Howland, Ivalea Hinz, Cricket Swearingen, Peggy Hunt, Frances Redden, Bettye Boddie, Katherine McLester, Lois Gurley and Teet Mullinax.

Thanks go to the following guests who helped to make the party a success: Joyce Lee, fortune teller; Jennette King, corpse; J. C. Gurley, ghost; Edward Truelove, ghost; Allen McLester, ghost; Eddie Ratliff, doctor; and Gene Howland, minister.

Four Whoopers Seen at Refuge

AUSTWELL -- Four whooping cranes were spotted in an aerial check of the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge last week.

Lee Marlatt, assistant refuge manager, said that the four birds were adults. The first whooping cranes arrived October 17.

A total of 51 whoopers spent the winter here last year. The figure represented a loss of eight birds from the previous year's total.

The birds leave spring and summer nesting grounds in Northwest Territory, Canada, in the fall and return to Canada in April.

The Lieutenant Governor's Report

By BILL HOBBY

AUSTIN - Since the discovery of what first seemed to be limitless supplies of crude oil in Texas, our state has been an exporter of this basic energy source.

We now discover that far from being limitless, Texas oil reserves are becoming critically short.

In 1970, Texas exported 325,000 barrels of crude oil a day to other parts of the United States. By 1980 it is estimated that Texas will be importing 3.5 million barrels a day. That will increase to 5.5 million barrels a day by 1985.

Almost all of this oil will have to come from the Persian Gulf and other far-flung producing areas.

Conventional tankers cannot deliver such massive amounts of crude at an acceptable price. Thus we must rely on the super-tankers to supply Texas refineries at a reasonable cost.

The problem is that no port in the United States is capable of handling these huge ships, which require water depths of between 55 and 110 feet.

The only practical solution appears to be the construction of deep-water offshore terminals, or so-called superports.

Those in state government have recognized the problems and promise of this approach to easing the energy crisis. Last fall, the Legislature established the Texas Offshore Terminal Commission, and charged it with developing an overall plan for construction of a deep-water port.

The commission is well underway with that plan which will be presented to the next session of the Legislature.

Legislation is presently pending before the U.S. Congress which would simplify the licensing procedures necessary for superports, whether they are to be built by state or local governments or by private industry.

This legislation is vitally needed to remove the many bureaucratic roadblocks to establishing superports.

Federal laws on this subject should reserve to the state the right to decide where a deep-water terminal is to be built off its coast. This provision is needed because of the vast environmental and economic impact a superport will have on the residents of these states. It is obvious that offshore terminals are needed, and their construction should not be delayed unduly. This will require a great deal of coordination between state and federal agencies and the private business sectors involved.

SERVICE NEWS

NEW RIVER, N.C. - Marine Sgt. James C. Crabb, son of Mrs. Corinne E. Crabb of Rockport, returned to the Marine Corps Air Station here after participating in amphibious assault operations during NATO exercise "Deep Furrow" in the Eastern Mediterranean. He is serving with Marine Medium Helicopter Squadron 264 which flew more than 400 hours of support missions demonstrating the capabilities of the Marine Corps air-ground team.

I believe a superport for Texas is vital to our economy. It can and must be built with the utmost concern for the ecology of our Gulf and the environment of our coastal residents.

ALREADY A HOCKEY legend, the venerable Gordie Howe has returned to the ice this season with the Houston Aeros, playing on the same team with his two sons. No. 16 is the Aeros' Andre Hinse.

Texas Gulf Yields Two New Fish Records

AUSTIN - The Texas Coast yielded two more Texas record fish recently -- a 136-pound blacktip shark and a 41-1/2 pound barracuda.

The shark was caught off Port Isabel by 15-year-old Robert A. Cline of Harlingen fishing from a charter boat. The fish was 6 feet, 8 1/4 inches long and had a 35 3/4 inch girth. Cline has the first blacktip ever recorded in Texas.

The new barracuda record is now held by Mrs. Hunter Barrett of Fort Worth. Mrs. Barrett caught it while fishing 42 miles east southeast of Port Aransas.

The barracuda was five feet, two inches long and had a 21 1/2 inch girth.

The old barracuda record was held by Tom Stahl who caught his 36-pound fish near Port O'Connor.
