Alfred Sloan Tops For Wage Earners Of The Nation At $561,311

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—Alfred P. Sloan, jr., chairman of General Motors corporation, ranked today as the highest paid executive in 1936 among corporations reporting to the securities commission. He was paid $561,311, including a $411,161 bonus.

From the available statistics, Publisher William Randolph Hearst was Sloan's chief salary competitor.

The only Hearst salary listed is $500,000 from Hearst Consolidated Publications, inc., but securities officials said he may have received other paychecks from the score of other corporations that make up his newspaper, magazine, real estate and mining empire.

Among the few large corporations which do not have to report to the S. E. C. is the Ford Motor company, because its securities are not traded on a national securities exchange.

Walter P. Chrysler, another auto manufacturer, drew $200,700 from Chrysler.

General Motors made President William S. Knudsen a contender for top honors with $507,645 and reported $353,755 for Vice-President Charles F. Kettering.

Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's incorporated, which controls Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures, topped the Hollywood film colony last year with $312,785.

In other companies, actors usually drew more than executives, including: Warner Baxter, $284,384, Gary Cooper, $265,454, George Raft, $202,666, Kay Francis, $227,500, Joe E. Brown, $201,562, Leslie Howard, $188,000, Ronald Colman, $162,500, and Irene Dunne, $102,777.

Many a business executive shared pay raises given employes of many companies last year. Sloan's pay, for instance, was about $190,000 more than in 1936.

Some of the other conspicuous increases included: F. B. Davis, jr., president of U. S. Rubber company from $126,220 to $227,260; Gerard Swope and Owen D. Young, president and chairman of General Electric corporation, respectively, each from $96,000 to $146,500; L. B. McKitterick, president of Philip Morris and company, from $101,360 to $143,699, and H. W. Phelps, chairman of the American Can company, from $126,800 to $152,100.

Julian Montgomery Is Chosen As State Highway Engineer

AUSTIN, Aug. 4. (AP)—The highway commission announced today appointment of Julian Montgomery of Fort Worth to succeed Gibb Gilchrist as state highway engineer.

The three members of the commission were unanimous in the choice of Montgomery, they said, and Montgomery accepted the position effective October 1.

A commission statement said Montgomery was not an applicant to succeed Gilchrist, who resigned recently, after being engineer 11 years, to become dean of engineering at Texas Agricultural & Mechanical college.

Montgomery, a native of Texas, has served as county engineer division engineer and chief office engineer for the department in recent years.

Lately he resigned as engineer with the Public Works administration to become engineer for a reclamation project in the lower Rio Grande valley.

In a formal statement, the commission said there would be no disruption of personnel in the department.

"This determination and policy on the part of the commission is fully shared and will be followed by the new state highway engineer," it said.

"Mr. Gilchrist leaves the department with the appreciation and best wishes of the commission and members of the department. He has rendered to the department and people of Texas honest and efficient service and the commission has exercised its best effort and judgment in selecting a new highway engineer who will continue this high standard of public service in all respects."

House Group Votes To Accept Senate's Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — The house labor committee voted today to substitute the senate's wage-hour bill for the house measure.

It agreed, however, to incorporate in the senate legislation amendments previously approved.

Committee members said the action was designed to expedite recommendation of the bill to the house.

Only Three Opposed

Only three members, representatives said, voted against substitution of the senate bill. They were Representatives Grigwold (D-IN), Lambertson (R-Kan) and Hartley (R-NJ).

The committee resumed today its abruptly-halted study of wage and hour legislation after learning that President Roosevelt favors changes proposed in behalf of union labor.

The chief executive told his press conference yesterday that congress should not provide for the lowering of prevailing wage rates in any locality.

Provision Is Approved

He approved a suggested provision that the proposed labor standards board could not interfere with collective bargaining agreements.

Amendments embodying these and other changes, endorsed in principle by Mr. Roosevelt, were delivered to Chairman Norton (D-NJ) late yesterday by William Green, head of the American Federation of Labor.

Green said the most important revision was designed to "safeguard collective bargaining."

Other Changes Sought

The other changes sought by the federation would:

Prohibit shipment of prison-made goods in interstate commerce, already partially banned by existing law.

Eliminate a section placing wage-hour provisions of the Walsh-Hea-

President May Ad Speedily

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — The belief that President Roosevelt will nominate a successor to Justice Van Devanter before congress adjourns increased today among high administration supporters.

Mr. Roosevelt himself gave that impression yesterday in a press conference in which he repeatedly talked of the time when the nomination "goes to the senate."

Against Recess Selection

Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) has offered a resolution to declare the sense of the senate against a recess selection.

Senator Borah (R-Ida) contended yesterday that there was no vacancy on the court.

The president did not comment directly on Borah's view at his press conference, but did assert he had the power to name a new justice.

Informed authorities said he personally was checking closely the background of 60 or 70 possibilities, instead of delegating the work to the justice department as usual.

Promotion Is Likely

Among senators the opinion was prevalent that the president would select someone from the southeast, the southwest, or the middle west.

It was understood in some quarters the president desired if possible to promote some judge from the lower courts. Three circuit judges from the areas regarded as acceptable have been mentioned frequently. They are:

Former Senator Sam G. Bratton of New Mexico, now serving on the

Legislation Is Necessary To Hold Prices

President Declares He Will Not Ask Congress To Make Loans Without Legislation

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—White House disapproval impeded congressional efforts today to authorize immediate federal loans for farmers who have piled up surpluses in cotton and other crops.

President Roosevelt said at his press conference yesterday he will not ask congress to make such loans until new crop control legislation is passed.

Control Is Necessary

Crop control, he said, is necessary if prices are to be kept at a figure of fair return to the producer.

When cotton drops below 10 cents or wheat falls under 80 cents, he commented, purchasing power dwindles away and factory wheels perforce slow down.

Crop control legislation has appeared dead for this session of congress since Chairman Smith (D-SC) of the house agriculture committee won approval of a roving commission to find out between sessions what farmers need.

Majority Leader Barkley (D-KY) proposed in the senate yesterday that this legislation be placed first on the list for the 1938 session.

Have Program Ready

Smith said by that time he would have a comprehensive program ready for consideration.

Senators Black (D-Ala) and Bilbo (D-Miss) had asked the senate to direct the Commodity Credit corporation to make loans of 12 cents a pound on this year's cotton crop. Representative Mills (D-La), called for 13-cent cotton loans and loans of 1.7 a pound on wheat.

Smith contended the corporation already had power to make loans when the market declines to an extent that such loans are deemed necessary.

Truck Driver Is Killed When Machine Struck By Train

SABINAL, Aug. 4 (AP)—A Southern Pacific passenger train tore into a heavy oil truck at a grade-crossing two miles from here last night and killed J. W. Richey, 64.

The truck was dragged for 25 yards and demolished. Richey had lived here 40 years. His widow and a son, Leonard Richey, of Sabinal, survive.

July Receipts Break Record

An all-time July postal receipt record was set by the Lubbock office last month, it was pointed out at the postmaster's office when receipts of $13,608.27 were announced.

Increase was $1,682.23 or 14.106 per cent over the $11,926.04 receipts for the corresponding month in 1936.

Total receipts for the calendar year of 1937 were $94,276.76. Corresponding receipts for 1936 were $83,713.62, a net gain of $10,563.14, or a fraction under 12.5 per cent less than for the seven months of 1937.

Average Over $13,000

In only one month this year so far have receipts fallen below the $13,000 mark. That was in February, with but $12,567.12. Average monthly receipts so far are $13,468.

Receipts for July this year were larger than for any quarter of a year up to and including the third quarter of 1936, records of the postoffice show.

Should the percentage of increase made so far in 1937 continue throughout the year, total receipts will probably exceed $175,000 for this year. Last year's receipts were $155,997.

Eleven-Year-Old Sobs Of Love For Doll After Her Wedding

(By The Associated Press)

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., Aug. 4—Mary Frances Grimes, 11, sobbed to authorities today she was "sorry" she married 67-year-old William H. Grimes, because she "didn't love anyone but her doll."

Grimes, held in Butler county jail on charges of perjury in falsifying the girl's age and of contributing to the delinquency of a minor, told Sheriff Edgar Hammons:

"If they'll just leave me alone, I'll give the girl a good home and make her a good husband."

Mary Frances was married to Grimes, a cotton picker, last week.

Grimes told the sheriff he had been living the past two weeks at the home of the girl's parents. Her father, J. J. Alexander, consented to the marriage, he said.

The sheriff said Grimes gave Mary Frances' age as 18 when he obtained the marriage license.

Chinese Army Said Routed In Bombings

Warplanes Scatter Pamphlets Saying All North China Is Occupied; Force Destroyed

(By The Associated Press)

Continuous aerial bombardments, Japanese authorities declared today, have routed western concentrations of the Chinese army and blasted a clear path for Japan's march across North China.

A pamphlet scattered by Japanese warplanes said "all northern Hopeh has been occupied" and that the northward march of central Chinese government forces has been stopped.

Chinese Group Wiped Out

A Chinese concentration at Paotingfu, 85 miles south of Peiping "perished or fled" in an aerial bombardment.

Parallel columns of Japanese pressed southward in eastern and western Hopeh towards the border of Shantung province near where the main Chinese armies were believed to be centered. Another Japanese force of 4,000 troops, driving north of Peiping, approached Chinese positions around China's great wall.

Peiping itself was quiet. Foreign residents began returning to their homes from embassy compounds.

Reinforcements Pour In

Japan continued pouring troops into the area from the Manchoukuo border and through the great wall passes north of Peiping. The reinforcements, fully mechanized and well-equipped, were believed to have raised the number of Japanese effectives in North China to 25,000.

The Chinese forces were reported divided into an east Hopeh contingent of about 50,000 men and a somewhat smaller but faster and more mobile west Hopeh army.

Villages Panic-Stricken

Villages to the south and even the capital, Nanking, were reported panic-stricken with fear of Japanese air raids.

In Tokyo, the influential newspaper Nichi Nichi urged the government to settle Japan's issues with China once and for all by smashing the Nanking government.

At Foochow, China, port authorities were reported to have arranged to sink ships in the mouth of the Ming river as a barricade against a feared Japanese naval attack.

Counterfeiting And Smuggling Show Decline During Year

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—Counterfeiting and smuggling are on the decline, the treasury said today, but check forging is increasing.

Counterfeit notes turned over to the secret service by "innocent takers" totaled only $487,6453 during the fiscal year ended July 1. This was one third under the previous year's total.

Arrests for making or passing counterfeit notes or coins totaled 1,247 last year, a decrease of 339. Arrests for check forgeries, however, increased from 879 in 1935-36 to 1,215 last year.

New Highway Patrol Officer Is Assigned To District

First man to join the highway patrol of this division since a bill was passed by the last legislature allowing additional men for the Texas Highway patrol was Sgt. R. B. Butler, who arrived last night and will be second in command in this division, said Capt. W. W. Legge.

Sergeant Butler, formerly of Seguin, took an examination recently in Austin.

He was accompanied here by his wife and four-year-old son and will live in Lubbock.

No definite number of men to be assigned to this division has been set, said Captain Legge.

Harsh Welcome Meted Out To King Ranch Trespassers As Empire Upholds Own 'Law'

This is the third of four stories telling the true adventure yarn that lies behind the mystery of the King ranch, vast Texas cattle domain where two men entered and never returned.

By GORDON TURRENTINE
NEA Service Special Correspondent

RAYMONDVILLE, Aug. 4.—Bow-legged, barrel-chested George Durham, jr., bossed 120,000 wild brush-covered acres of El Sauz, most remote of the King ranch domains.

"Young George" they called him, though he was 42 when sudden death struck him down at a cattle-branding

George Durham was of the old mold in which King ranch managers preferably are cast. His father, manager before him, is still caustically agile at 80. A forty-five always dangled from George's hip as though it belonged there, as it did. It was part of his every-day

Britain Rushing Madly To Prepare For War

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Great Britain pushed its race to regain supremacy at arms in Europe today as the nation celebrated the 23rd anniversary of that sultry August, 4, 1914, when the government of Premier H. H. Asquith declared war on Germany.

Every ounce of Britain's industrial capacity and patriotic spirit was mobilized to whip the country's armed might into shape for the "next war" which is being openly discussed. Not since 1914 has there been such a "war mentality" in the United Kingdom. People have become accustomed to talk of a new world war with a fated resignation.

No Protests Heard

Newspaper accounts of the greatest rearmament program, involving Britain in expenditure of $1,348,965,000 for the current year alone and approximately $7,500,000,000 over a five year period, and stories of the horrors gas and aerial attack will bring in the future no longer produce a trace of the tumultous protest that would have been heard only two years ago.

A recent announcement in the house of commons showed that 148 new warships will be under construction for the royal navy before the end of the year; a monster drive for recruiting is under way to add 112,000 men to the regular army and reserves and 100,000 men to the territorial army. This would bring them up to their 1914 strength.

Aircraft production has been so stimulated that the country will soon reach its goal of 1750 first line planes. Already 1542 of them are in service.

More than 122 blast furnaces throughout the country are in full production, turning out steel for warships and guns.

More Heat Due For Sun-Baked Texas

(By The Associated Press)

Sun-bked Texas was pledged little, if any, relief today from the searing plague which yesterday shot temperatures over most of the state to seasonal highs.

A forecast of generally fair for West Texas and partly cloudy for East Texas occasioned but a minimum of hope for a break in the wave which prostrated two persons and sent the Wichita Falls reading to the second highest in the nation, 106 degrees.

Recording sabove 100 degrees were commonplace.

Weary Leaders Struggle For More Speed

First Saturday Session For Months Is Contemplated In Effort To Pass Measures

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—House leaders talked today of holding the first Saturday session in months in an effort to enact sugar and housing bills at once.

They tentatively linked up wage and hour and tax loophole legislation for house attention next week. The session will end, they hope, between August 21 and 25.

Struggle With Amendments

The senate still was struggling with amendments to the housing bill, but members of the house banking committee told Democratic chiefs they might be able to recommend the legislation by Friday. In that event, an attempt will be made to pass it Saturday.

The bill would allow federal loans to assist public, semi-public and private agencies in providing inexpensive housing for families in the low-income group.

The sugar bill, a storm center for weeks, probably will be debated in the house tomorrow. Democratic leaders said it probably would pass with a restriction on imports of refined sugar from Hawaii and Puerto Rico to which the administration has objected.

The same leaders were putting pressure on the house labor committee to recommend the wage and hour bill in the form approved by the senate.

Chairman Doughton (D-NC) predicted the senate-house tax committee will have a bill ready by the first of next week. The measure will seek to seal revenue law loopholes and reduce the effectiveness of tax avoidance devices.

Committee members looked over yesterday the tax returns of James Roosevelt and Secretary Morgenthau. That action had been suggested by Representative Fish (R-NY) with a view to determining whether either of the men had used tax avoidance methods.

Doughton said it would be illegal for him to assert what conclusions were reached about the returns.

Administration leaders said they no longer regarded the toned-down court bill as a barrier to adjournment. The senate probably will take it up in a few days.

Whoopee! Indian War Bonnets Will Feature Milady's Hats

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 4—Whoopee! The American Indian's war bonnet is a new feminine millinery fashion.

Off-the-face fall hats influenced by colorful redskin headgear were on display here today, attracting considerable attention from the young set.

Attributed to the Mohawk Indian influence was a black and brown model with a wide front turn back brim.

Entitled "Pocahonta" was a skull cap of black felt with an inch and a half wide band of russet felt on which was embroidered cut-outs of gay colored felts in Indian designs.

The Sioux tribe was credited with inspiring a black felt model, the wide turnback brim of which was fluted. From the Iroquois came a hat that looked like a head-on wind had blown the wide brim, edged with ostrich feathers, backwards.

Much color was injected into a hat attributed to Algonquin influence. On the wide turn-back brim of brusset felt were stitched four colorful quills about six inches long.

Couple Claims Youngster As Their Child

Baby Mixup Case Is Baffling To Police; Man And Wife Deny Asking For Ransom

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 4—Assistant State's Attorney Wilbert F. Crowley said a 30 months old boy police believed had been kidnaped last night from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Horst was found today at the home of another couple who claimed to be his real parents.

The boy, Donald Horst, was recovered by Crowley and state's attorney's police at the west side home of John Regan, 26, a machinist, and his wife, Lydia, 25.

Report Voluntarily

Crowley said the Regans came to his office voluntarily this morning after reading newspaper accounts of the taking of Donald from the Horst residence in an exclusive northwest side section and told him they had the child.

Mr. and Mrs. Regan admitted, Crowley said, they took the child while Mrs. Horst battled, screaming, to prevent it.

The Regans denied, however, making any telephone call purporting to be a demand for $5,000 ransom. Mrs. Horst reported such a call to police shortly after the child was taken.

Circumstances Related

The amazing circumstances which Crowley said the Regans related and which he said solved the "kidnaping" but left a baby mixup to be investigated were these:

Donald was born to Mrs. Regan Jan. 6, 1935 and Regan was the father but they were not then married. The attending physician, Dr. John A. Rose, told the mother he knew a "wealthy man" who wnted a child.

Mrs. Regan agreed to let Dr. Rose arrange for care of the child but believed it was a temporary arrangement and signed no papers.

Child Taken Away

The child was taken from Mrs. Regan 15 minutes after its birth at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ewert. Ewert was a chauffeur for Dr. Rose.

In divulging the above Crowley added his investigation indicated the baby then was given into the care of Mr. and Mrs. Horst and a birth certificate was filed purporting to show the Horsts were the natural parents.

Recently Ewert told Mrs. Regan the Horst's child was hers, Crowley said, and Mrs. Regan decided to take it at the first opportunity."

Roundup Is Ordered

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the state's attorney's police said he had ordered his men to round up "everybody who had any connection whatever with the birth of this child."

While Crowley said Mrs. Regan told him the child was born at Ewert's home a birth certificate for Donald Otto Horst asserted the boy was born to Mrs. Horst on Jan. 4, 1935, at another residence, home of friends of the Horsts.

Capt. Gilbert added another baf-

Woodul Seeks Allred's Pay

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 4.—A new angle to state finances, always a pressing matter, was studied today in the capitol, especially in the gubernatorial offices.

It involved the question of whether Acting Governor Walter F. Woodul and Governor James V. Allred were both to receive the governor's salary for the interval the latter was vacationing in Mexico.

Matter For Concern

There was a time when the money didn't amount to so much. That was when the governor was paid $4,000 a year. But since the salary was boosted to $12,000 two years ago it has become a matter of more concern.

Woodul took the position that since he was doing the governor's work he was entitled to his pay, now about $32 a day. Being in Mexico, Governor Allred couldn't express his view.

However, it was believed by most impartial observers that the constitution had taken care of Governor Allred beyond all question. It provides he shall receive $12,000 a year.

Hemlines followed stock prices during depression years—lower, lower, lower they went. The downward trend was so pronounced that it continued even after the business cycle had swung up. In 1935 evening gowns had short trains, swept the floor; street dresses were 8 inches or less above the toe.

1937

The upswing of hemlines started in 1936. A modest 10 inches for street wear, ankle length for evening. The fashion dictators started something they can't stop. Above you see what's in store for Fall 1937 — 13 to 15-inch hemlines for street dresses; 8 to 10-inch for dance frocks.

1938?

Will skirts again get as short as these 1925-26 modes? Will dimpled knees again be exposed to view? Maybe you don't remember just how short dresses were in the Jazz Era. The height of formality was to modestly veil the knee in the evening. Everyone rebelled at the brief ensemble at right.

Miss Nicholson spent the last year in New York City studying at the Juilliard School of Music. She has had opportunities for chorus work but is anxious to continue her studying. Opera is her aim. She received favorable criticism from her teachers in New York. This fall she plans to go to Chicago to compete for a scholarship offered by the American Conservatory of Music.

The South Plains Music Teachers association is sponsoring the appearance of the young singer. There will be no admission.

There will be a business and social meeting of the T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church Thursday night at 6 o'clock at Mackenzie park. Watermelon will be served.

Jackson Back After Visit In Michigan

Upon his return from Ann Arbor, Mich., Dr. W. A. Jackson, head of the department of government at Texas Technological college, said the sixth annual summer session on international law was successful and the undertaking worthwhile.

Dr. Jackson was one of fifty delegates selected to attend the session sponsored by the international law division of the Carnegie foundation and the University of Michigan. Two delegates were from Europe, a German and a Belgian.

Stimulate Interest

"Purpose of the session, which consisted of a five-weeks series of lectures and conferences, was to stimulate interest in international law, as such. Stress was placed on application of law to settlement of disputes on a legal basis rather than on a political one", said Dr. Jackson.

Lecturers on the program included James Brown Scott, director of the division of international law, of the Carnegie endowment for international peace; Jesse S. Reeves, professor of political science, University of Michigan; George G. Wilson, professor of international law, Harvard university; Percy E. Corbett, professor of Roman law, McGill university, Canada; and G. A. Finch, managing editor of the American Journal of International Law.

Dr. Jackson was accompanied by Mrs. Jackson and their son, Billy, who vacationed in Michigan.

Mrs. Marvin Wilson Received In OES

Mrs. Marvin Wilson was initiated into the Order of the Eastern Star at a meeting held in the Masonic hall Tuesday night. Thirty-five women were present.

Mrs. France Baker, worthy matron, presided.

Mesdames Lottie Hilton and Kate James Lee sang, accompanied by Mrs. Frank Barclay. Mrs. Quincy Haney received an attendance gift. Mrs. T. H. Barnard told of schools of instruction that have been held over the district.

Mrs. Mary F. Hinton was chairman of a committee that served refreshments.

The order will have a picnic later in the month observing the birthday of Robert Morris, founder of the organization.

Mrs. R. L. Gray of El Paso and Miss Minnie Lou McCarty of Corsicana were guests.

Lois Rae Barnett, 8, Honored With Afternoon Party

Honoring her daughter, Lois Rae, on her eighth birthday, Mrs. G. A. Barnett, 1519 Ninth street, entertained Tuesday afternoon at her home. She was assisted by Mrs. Ted Barnett.

Pictures were taken after a series of games. Refreshments were served to Jackie Hank, Joyce Elliott, Etolle Graham, Max Barnett, Vera Evelyn Hill, Gradenell Hill, Eina Mae Fullerton, Dorothy Jean Barnett, Gladys Jane Brooks and Betty Jean Wallace.

Wallace Wood Is Honored On Birthday By His Mother

Wallace Wood was honored on his thirteenth birthday when his mother, Mrs. W. C. Wood, entertained with a picnic supper at their home, 2418 Twenty-second street Tuesday night. The birthday cake was cut and served with lemonade.

After a series of games, the guests went to see Shirley Temple in "Wee Willie Winkie."

Attending were Martha Hamilton, Virginia Lee Traylor, Jeanette Crain, Gertrude Green, A. L. Hawkins, Harry Crain, Clarence Ligon and the honor guest.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Chick and daughter Marilyn, of 1618-A Avenue K, have returned from a visit to Los Angeles, San Francisco and other western cities.

To remove rust stains from the refrigerator, rub with steel wool and then apply a coat of white enamel. This is an inexpensive and effective treatment.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Retires To Health

SPARTA, Ga.—Twenty-eight years ago the North Georgia Methodist conference retired the Rev. John R. Lewis because of declining health.

Today Mr. Lewis, now 85, is looking forward to another good crop from his small farm on which he does all his own work.

Kicks For Nothing

NEW BERN, N. C.—Need a kick in the pants? See County Commissioner Tom Haywood.

He rigged up a wheel placed four shoes on the spokes and placed the contraption in the public square.

The public really gets a kick out of it. The more bashful, however, place themselves in front of it during the wee hours and turn the wood crank.

There's no charge.

Plane Lands Self

HOQUIAM, Wash. — Ben Cochran, Hoquiam aviator, said he wonders whether his plane needs a pilot at all. When the plane caught fire over Woodland on a flight from Hoquiam to Portland, Cochran said, he decided to bail out.

"I jumped from 3,000 feet," Cochran said, "and came down in a tree. When I hunted for the wreck of the plane I found the ship in an oat field about half a mile away, practically undamaged. Only the wingtip and undercarriage were hurt as the plane landed itself."

Skeleton In Closet

SEATTLE, Wash. — Patrolmen answering a report there was a dead man in an uptown hotel found the "corpse" hiding in a closet.

His death had been reported by a bill collector when he failed for three days to answer knocks at his door.

Snakey Feeling

ARAPAHOE, Neb.—Dr. L. E. Syles told friends about the shakey and snakey feeling he had when he stepped on something cold and squirming in his bathroom. He switched on the light and discovered a three foot snake curled up on the carpet.

Ran Too Soon

BURLINGTON, N. C.—Mack Leath, haled before Mayor Earl B. Horner on a speeding charge, heard Horner say: "I am going to give you 30 days on the roads—"

The defendant dashed for an open door with several policemen in hot pursuit. After a chase of several blocks, Leath was back in court.

The mayor resumed where he left off: "—sentence suspended upon payment of the costs."

Help Wanted: Female

NEW YORK—Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia wants a little feminine aid in managing New York City.

"We can use quite a few women down at city hall," he said, urging more women to become candidates for public office.

"I don't know how good you'll be, but you'll be better than what we've got there now. There is nothing difficult about government. Politicians only try to make it appear so."

Hoover Was Right

MAYSVILLE, Ky.—Eugene Merz wrote a letter to former President Herbert Hoover and enclosed a newspaper clipping about grass growing in a Maysville street.

He recalled, he said, hearing Hoover predict during the campaign that would happen.

Today he showed friends a letter. It read:

"Dear Mr. Merz: That was very important news which you sent me. I am obliged for it. (Signed) Herbert Hoover."

Personal Mention

J. H. Moore, secretary of the Masonic lodge, is seriously ill at his home, 904 Avenue K.

Miss Irma Claye, deputy in the court of civil appeals at Amarillo, is spending August in Lubbock with her mother, Mrs. S. A. Claye.

Mrs. Thomas Atkinson, 2608 Twenty-third street, has been called to Shawnee, Okla., by the illness of a cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolling Loomis, III, left Tuesday night for a short vacation in Shreveport, La., and Jefferson. In the latter city they will be the guests of Mr. Loomis' father. They were accompanied as far as Mineral Wells by Mrs. Marion E. Heald, who will spend a month there with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Sams of Memphis.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Trice and sons of Waco have been the guests of Mr. Trice's brother, W. H. Trice, and family.

S. B. Haynes, architect, is confined to his home, 1012 Broadway, because of illness.

Hot Weather is Here—Beware of Biliousness!

Have you ever noticed that in very hot weather your organs of digestion and elimination seem to become torpid or lazy? Your food sours, forms gas, causes belching, heartburn, and a feeling of restlessness and irritability. Perhaps you may have sick headache, nausea and dizziness or blind spells on suddenly rising. Your tongue may be coated, your complexion bilious and your bowel actions sluggish or insufficient.

These are some of the more common symptoms or warnings of biliousness or so-called "torpid liver," so prevalent in hot climates. Don't neglect them. Two Favorites Tangle In Tourney

TO JACK THOMPSON, then, go the reins — and the responsibility and the glory, the congratulations and the sympathy.

But if a change was necessary, and apparently it was, Thompson is the logical man. While never designated or specified as the manager, Thompson has served as field captain of Hubber teams, and his authority as such has been respected his decisions wise.

Not many, if any, other changes will be made this season. The boys have stuck together, strung along with the management, shared the good days and the poor ones, alike, and there's no call to be changing the line-up now. Next year, maybe, a shot or two of new blood should be injected, but it's a little late in the season now to be talking about overhauling the club.

True, the pitching staff looked weak last Sunday, and at other times this season. But, as the wise and bald Judge (KFYO) Landis reasoned, almost any minor league pitcher is easy pickings for the opposition after it has looked over Jerry Blanchard's fast one. Jerry should be saved for the last game in double headers, unless, of course, a club is lucky enough to have two Blanchards.

So to Thompson this department extends the glad hand, the hope of good fortune and confidence in his ability.

TO SPORT WOOLDRIDGE, the departing skipper, gratitude and appreciation is extended, we are sure, by the baseball fans of the section. Sport got off in sort of a storm, but then Sport never set out to be a one man board of strategy, nor even a baseball manager. There are those, including Sled Allen, who hold that Wooldridge should be pitching yet in organized baseball, maybe with the majors, because "he was good when he had it." He lost it mostly of his own accord, allowed himself to get a bit hefty, did not keep his salary wing in condition.

Sport stepped into an emergency last spring. He desired to see baseball go over in Lubbock. The ball club owner could not step out and hire a top notch manager on the strength of potential gate receipts. It had to be somebody who was as interested as the sponsor in seeing baseball played in Lubbock. So Sport volunteered his services. "I don't know much about running a team," he said at the outset, "but I'm willing to get out there and help all I can. If you'll turn 'em over to me, I'll see that the boys get in shape, that they practice regularly, and I'll do my best to steer 'em through ball games."

He did. He steered 'em through about 20 victories, including the championship of the tournament, and he didn't lose but seven. So old Sport is due a vote of thanks, and we, who have criticized him sharply at times, praised him at other times, would like to lead the yell.

Sport's resignation was brought about, not primarily "for the good of the club," as some seem to think, but for the good of Sport's business. After all, he does have a job and he has to stay with it at least part of the time. It requires more time than he will be able to give to running the ball club so he stepped down and out.

It's thanks and good luck to Sport, greetings and good luck to Jack.

Thompson Will Lead Hubbers

Jack Thompson, regular right fielder for several seasons on the Lubbock Hubber club and field captain for at least two full seasons, yesterday was appointed playing manager of the Hubbers by Owner Sam Rosenthal.

Thompson succeeded Raymond "Sport" Wooldridge, who has managed the team so far this season but who was forced to resign because of pressing business obligations.

This announcement from Hubber headquarters yesterday was not immediately followed by an announcement regarding Hubber activities for next Sunday. No game has been scheduled, the date having been held open in the belief the club would play out of town. Efforts to schedule a game will continue today, and announcement is expected by tomorrow morning.

Regarding the sudden change in managers, Wooldridge made the following statement:

"Because my business is picking up and demanding more of my time, it will be impossible for me to devote sufficient time to the ball club. I will be unable to attend practice sessions regularly, and I may be out of town on week-ends. So it would be better to turn the job over to one of the other boys.

"I have thoroughly enjoyed working with and for the ball club, and I wish I could continue. Baseball is my first love of all sports, and it ha certainly been a pleasure to work and play with the boys here. I hope the club will continue to operate, that it will improve and that the manager you selected will have full cooperation of the boys."

Jack Asks Cooperation

In submitting his resignation, Wooldridge recommended that Thompson be appointed to direct the club on the field. His recommendation met with favor on the part of Rosenthal and the ball players.

"All I can say is that I'll do the best we can," said Thompson, borrowing a phrase from a well known coach. "I think we'll get along, with few or no further changes. We may line up another pitcher, but otherwise the lineup will remain practically the same. I ask the support and cooperation of the boys, and I believe they'll come through. They're a fine bunch of fellows."

Under Wooldridge's direction, the club won 19 games and lost 7, losing four to Amarillo, two to the Amerada Oilers of Hobbs and one to Littlefield.

Hagen And Weber Will Tangle In Main Event

Formerly a hot favorite with local mat fans, Jabbing Jack Hagen of Shreveport has become the dark, dirty villain. Fickle fandom, which encouraged it, now turns against him.

Hagen, tired of being kicked around by the rough boys, decided to turn rough himself. He did, in time to kick Buck Lipscomb around, then he drew wilder and more cheers than before.

Tonight Hagen probably will be rough again. But he will not be the favorite. They have booed and heckled Vic Weber, too, but the husky Dutchman from the Bronx will be the fair haired boy this evening. He hasn't been around for several weeks, having been pleasing the cash customers around Abilene, Big Spring, San Angelo, and other places south and east, but Promoter Allen decided to bring him back when it appeared that Hagen was getting a little bit out of hand.

Advance Tickets Go

So it'll be Hagen and Weber tonight, and there's no telling what will happen.

It is clear to all fans that if Weber still persists in leading with his chin, he'll get it knocked flat tonight, and if he continues to go into battle with his head down and his eyes closed, he'll find himself in the grip of Hagen's torturous headlock. So Weber had best look straight ahead and constantly.

Weber, too, has turned rough on occasion, and if Hagen gives him too much business, you may see quite a scrap out there in the main event tonight. At least the customers have indicated, by their purchase of tickets in advance, that there will be something to see when Hagen and Weber tangle.

The supporting card stands a good chance of stealing a lot of the show, although it is expected that the folks will hang around long enough to see Hagen and Weber.

Watch Out For Wolfe

There's somewhat of a newcomer on tonight's card, one Frank Wolfe, and 'tis said that all the rough boys learned their meanness from Wolfe. He is said to possess more tricks, painful ones, than Buck Lipscomb and Sailor Watkins thrown together, which is plenty.

Wolfe is scheduled to clash with the fast moving little Swede, Olie Erickson. This Erickson is by no means a slouch in the wrestling ring, and it may be a hot contest, despite the fact that Olie has had hard luck in recent tilts.

The supporting card finds Tex Hager returning after a few weeks absence to take on the deaf mute, Tarzan Krause. Hager is built somewhat along the lines of a fireplug and may give the Tarzan boy considerable pain.

MAN IS INJURED

ROARING SPRINGS, (Special) Bruises and a broken rib of Herman Havis, road worker, were not considered serious after medical examinations were made. Havis was thrown from a road grader while working on the county roads.

The tractor struck a stump, causing the machine to jar and throw Havis to the ground.

Eleven Clubs Remaining In Denver Play

DENVER, Aug. 4 (AP) — Two strong favorites for the first place money in the Denver Post baseball tournament — Denver Refiners, led by Rogers Hornsby, and the negro all-stars from the Dominican republic — will tangle at 8:30 o'clock, Mountain standard time, tonight.

Each has won its first two games.

This afternoon's schedule, matching four teams with one defeat already charged against each and another loss spelling elimination, is:

Schedule For Today

1 p. m.—Seminole, Okla., Redbirds vs. Worland, Wyo.

3 p. m.—Leyden, Colo., Miners vs. Eason Oilers, Enid, Okla.

Yesterday's results:

Springfield, Ill., 6, Minnesota Mines, Empire, Colo., 2.

Denver Midget 8, Denver Goalstone 5.

Pampa, Texas, Oilers 6, Duncan, Okla., Halliburtons 5.

The tournament's most tingling play so far — theft of home by Hershell McNabb, little centerfielder, in the last of the ninth inning — gave Pampa its triumph over Duncan, national semi-pro tournament champion in 1936.

22 Men Strike Out

Jim Goff, 24-year-old southpaw from Bloomington, Ill., struck out 22 batters for a tournament record in keeping Grover Cleveland Alexander's Springfield club in the meet.

Pampa, which had tied the count at 5-5 with a two-run attack in the eighth, filled the bases in the ninth when Leslie Munns, Duncan relief pitcher who once wore a Brooklyn Dodgers uniform, walked McNabb and Bondurant, and Dutch Prather lined a single.

McNabb raced home on the second pitch, apparently taking the Duncan battery by surprise.

Sam Baugh Helps

"Slinging Sammy" Baugh, former Texas Christian grid ace, again helped greatly in Pampa's win driving out three hits and sending home the tying run with a long fly.

Duncan drove Harvey Hutton, Pampa's starting pitcher, to the showers with a three-run outburst in the first, climaxed by Frank Clift's home run over the right field wall. The loss was Duncan's first of the tournament.

Yesterday afternoon's losers were eliminated, cutting the number of competitors to 11. Oklahoma has three entries still contending, Colorado three, Texas two and Illinois and Wyoming one apiece. The eleventh team is the negro all-stars.

Boyish Henry Ransom Heads For Big Time

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, Aug. 4 (AP) — Boyish, curly-thatched Henry Ransom, professional golf novice who holds forth at Bryan country club, comes tagged as Texas' next big mashie threat. . . . Not until the turn of the year did Ransom decide to try the shots he practiced for hours at Bryan in big money tourneys. . . . He picked the Houston Open as a starter and left with prize money in his jeans. Ransom clicked again in the Texas P. G. A. and in the last two weeks served notice he was almost ready. . . . He battled along with golf's biggest names to finish tenth in the $10,000 Chicago event and then went on to St. Paul for another $10,000 free-for-all. . . . There he started well enough with 71-73—144 for the first 36 holes, but inexperience caught him on the last two rounds. . . . He was 301 at the end after soaring to 78-79 the last day. . . . Big timers say he has the swing and courage; needs only more tournament play.

Odds and Ends: Still better than .400 in Southern association batting averages is L. D. (Tiger) Meyer, Texas Christians' burly little footballer. . . . Knoxville fans can't forget his opening day splurge of two weeks ago — a single, double, triple and homer in four trips to the plate. . . . To convince everyone he wasn't fooling, Meyer connected for two singles, double and triple in seven times up in the next day's doubleheader.

Fishermen are having their day in coastal waters. . . . From Port Arthur comes the verified report that J. E. Conover snagged, and landed, a 14-foot, 680 pound sawfish. . . . Over Galveston way Woody Hart, noted island angler, got his hook into a 350-pound jewfish that measured 6 feet, 2 inches. . . . Down at Brownsville Poe Putegnat landed the ninth sailfish of the year in that sector, stretching the tape measure 7 feet, 8 3-4 inches over the beauty.

Three men who are legendary figures in University of Texas tennis—"Chili" Cranger, Gillespie Stacy and Palmer Bradley—came back "home" to Austin courts the past week-end and played once again for the master mentor, Dr. D. A. Penick, producer of champions. . . . Stacy is still known as the university's most spectacular pleyer of all times — and that brings in the Wilmer Allison, Berkeley Bell and Bruce Barnes eras. . . . Stacy and his teammates again for a day, were stars of the 'teens.

President Fred Ankenman of the Houston Buffs and Wid Matthews, former major league outfielder, have opened a "rookie" school at Cuero in search of diamonds in the rough. . . . J. C. Franklin of Tom Bean has been named football coach at Leonard High. . . . Once again Milton (Killer) Coffey, the gentleman amateur boxer, policeman and coach, has spurned professional offers. . . . The Texas Tech boxing coach and business administration student, who quit a police beat at Fort Worth to go to college, said "no" to another offer to fight for cash and will resume his studies at Tech in the fall.

Ruppert Boys Are Ready At Crucial Test

BY DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

They're there in the clutch—the Yankees.

A series for the league lead, an all-star game, or a World series gives many a team the blind staggers. But not Colonel Ruppert's boys in white. The Yanks just swing their bludgeons and bring home the bacon. They reserve their most momentous feats for days when the competition is tight and the stands are full.

Lead By Seven Games

Employing their time-honored home run technique—"hit 'em where they ain't possibly be,"—the Yanks blew down the Chicago White Sox in both games of a doubleheader yesterday, 7 to 2 and 5 to 3, and pushed their league lead to seven games. The season's largest weekday crowd, 86,767 fans, was on hand.

Home runs, trade mark of the Yankees since 1921, won both games. Bill Dickey hit his 19th with three on in the eighth inning of the second game to climax a bombardment that had begun when Lou Gehrig, starting his 1,900th consecutive game, had shot his No. 22 into the stands with two mates aboard in the first inning of the opener. In between these two wallops the Yanks batting banditti, Joe DiMaggio and Tony Lazzeri, took care of the scoring. Joe hit No. 32 with two mates aboard in the seventh inning of the first contest and Tony got one in each game.

Ruffing Muffles Sox

Red Ruffing muffled the Sox in the opener for his 14th victory and Vernon Gomez seemed headed the same in the second game when the south side's heroes ganged him for three runs in the seventh and eighth but when the Yanks came up in the latter inning Rolfe singled, DiMaggio doubled, Gehrig walked and Dickey lined one into the stands.

The Sox, who came to New York with gaudy dreams of a four-game sweep, are burdened with a two-game deficit and the series is half over. For the moment their pennant ambitions are squelched.

Gehrig, as chipper as a rookie in the field and at bat, was presented a watch between games for being the league's most valuable player in 1936.

The Chicago Cubs, with Bill Lee, Gabby Hartnett, and Frank Demaree, and it may be a hot contest, despite the fact that Olie has had hard luck in recent tilts.

MEADOWBROOK BOYS ALL HOT AND BOTHERED

Following yesterday's suggestion for a series or at least a couple of Meadowbrook vs. Country club golf team matches comes a challenge from Meadowbrook which we are asked to convey to Country Club.

"Sure, we'll play 'em, any time, anywhere," said a Meadowbrook spokesman. "We'd like to arrange a home and home agreement, before the Country Club tournament. In fact, we wish to challenge the Country Club boys to a couple of games of golf, and let 'em name their team."

So saying, the Meadowbrook spokesman submitted a list of ten players, and the names make us shudder in sympathy for the Country Club boys, especially if and when they play at Meadowbrook's sand greens.

Not necessarily in order of their golf cunning the following Meadowbrook team is suggested:

Alfred Holton, Weldon Counts, Bob Hale, Joe Bihl, Jack Trammell, Loftin Burnette, Donald Doherty, Edgar Doherty, John Bell and Manson Allen.

That's a fair lineup, and we'd like to see 'em tangle with a like number of Country club boys.

Come on, you fellows out on the hill, and let's have a battle. There's the challenge. Let's have an answer.

Country Club could pick ten able-bodied golfers from its membership rolls and give the Meadowbrookers a heap of trouble on the Country club greens. Take a team, say from

Negligent Homicide Charged To Driver

MATADOR, Aug. 4 (Special)—Complaint charging negligent homicide on two counts was filed in county court Tuesday afternoon against Clyde White, 28, driver for a Wichita, Kan., trucking line, following an automobile-truck collision near here late Monday in which J. R. Trout, 45, farmer of near Childress, was fatally injured.

Charge was filed by District Attorney John Hamilton, who hastened home from Austin, where he had been on official business, when advised of the accident. Sheriff L. A. Carlisle was named complaining witness in the case.

One count of negligent homicide was based upon a charge of operating in excess of 25 miles an hour a truck with gross weight of more than 6,000 pounds and the other was based on a charge that he failed to keep a proper lookout and failed to use proper and ordinary care, said Hamilton.

Plans For Big Swimming Meet In Lubbock Are Being Made

The most successful series of district swimming meets in the history of South Plains council of Boy Scouts at a close, preparations went forward today for the council-wide event in Lubbock City swimming pool August 12.

Approximately 150 boys have qualified for the council competitions, according to Earl M. McClure, executive.

Last of the series of district events was held Tuesday night at Brownfield, with 92 boys representing eight troops from five towns participating.

Final tabulations showed troop 22 of Lamesa was first in the tournament with 186 points; troop 23, also of Lamesa, was second with 36 points; troop 28 of Slaton, third, 20 points; troop 29, also of Slaton, fourth, 19 points; troop 45 of Brownfield, fifth, 9 points; and troop 49, also of Brownfield, sixth, 5 points. Troops 21 of Tahoka and 72 of Ropesville did not score.

In charge of the meet was Emery Longbreak. Assisting him were James Harley Dallas, R. A. Sims, M. L. H. Baze, Dr. R. V. Parrish, and J. O. Gilham.

Winners of the tourney qualified to participate in the council-wide meet at Lubbock Aug. 12, McClure said.

J. D. Dyer, jr., of troop 22 of Lamesa broke his own council record in the distance plunge with 42 feet. His former record was 38.6 feet set at last year's meet.

A. J. Parker was shot fatally early in June. Bill Duncan, former nightwatchman, is free under bond awaiting trial on a murder charge in connection with the slaying.

Two-Inch Knife Blade Taken From The Brain Of Negro

MARLIN, Aug. 4 (AP)—A surgeon removed a two-inch knife blade imbedded a week in the brain of Lawrence Cook, 20-year-old negro, here today.

Cook, who was brought here from Kosse by friends, had received no medical aid since the blade had penetrated his skull during an altercation. He remembered nothing which had happened after the fight.

The patient regained consciousness shortly after the operation and was reported on his way to recovery.

Garrett Is Speaker To Technical Club

Lecture illustrated with motion pictures relative to soil stabilization work was delivered last night by George M. Garrett, division engineer for the state highway department, at a meeting of Lubbock Technical club in the engineering auditorium of Texas Technological college.

He pointed out that until the last two or three years engineers have not made intensive investigations of soil and that the field is expected to show considerable development within a short time.

He showed pictures of a 25-mile stretch of road work between Seminole and Hobbs, N. M., where "tank bottom" oil is mixed with sand in improving roads which at times had become nearly impassable because of deep sand. By special treatment the oil and sand are mixed and within two or three days the bed becomes a hard base and then topping is placed on it, he said. By such processes paving may be constructed at an approximate cost of $2,000 a mile, an unusually low cost, it was explained. He described tank bottom oil as the refuse and "settlings" of crude oil in storage tanks.

Near Colorado such oil products are being mixed with sand in making bricks. It was pointed out that such a process may prove valuable to this section because of lack of clay for making brick.

Such processes are expected to be developed since the state has necessary oil and other ingredients for cement and similar building materials.

GETTIN' THE BUSINESS
means giving the mileage

It's strictly up to me to make this business go, because I own it myself. I never did a smarter thing for my place than featuring Conoco Germ Processed oil, with all its long mileage for you. We both know that talk doesn't make mileage or customers, but I can tell you what does . . . Oil-Plating your engine with Germ Processed oil. The patent Germ Process makes oil actually take ahold of every working part and keep it coated with a durable Oil-Plating. This Oil-Plating is entirely extra to the regular so-called moving type of oil film. Oil-Plating backs up the oil film while the car is running, and never drains down during hours of parking. Then you'll never make one start—or a hundred—without good lubrication. And at the end of your longest run on a scorching hot day, your engine will still have its full safe plating of Conoco Germ Processed oil. The way it lasts will make you say I've got a good right to be called Your Mileage Merchant.

THIS is a pretty dull time of the year. There isn't much going on in the way of news or in the way of material for comment—which suggested The Plainsman to go back last year, five years ago and 10 years ago, to see what was going on in the papers of August 4, 1936; August 4, 1932 and August 4, 1927. Here's what he found.

ONE YEAR AGO TODAY

The top banner on The Journal front page read "War Threats Mount In Europe" indicating that things haven't changed much across the pond in the last twelve months.

Another item told of the success being attained by American athletes competing in the Olympics games in Germany and still another quoted Postmaster Amos Howard on how postal receipts had mounted as compared to the same period of 1935. Mary Astor's divorce case was being bitterly fought in Los Angeles—and in all the newspapers—and considerable space was given to a discussion of testimony concerning her interesting—but ill-advised—diary. On another page, Don Jones, the experiment station boss, was quoted as noting above-average rainfall for 1936 that far. The records showed us receiving .27 of an inch more than we would normally have been blessed with.

Mrs. Fred Higbee had been chosen as the chief delegate of the Lubbock American legion auxiliary to the organization's state convention in Beaumont and other delegates elected were Mesdames George Berry, W. H. Wright, P. W. Wood and C. C. Jobson. Alternates were Mesdames J. D. Rondeaux, Thomas E. Boyd, S. H. Bain, W. L. Daniel and Herbert Stubbs.

Jack Hagen who strangely enough is on tonight's grunt and groan card at the Auditorium was billed a year ago for a similar spot only he was facing Gene LaBelle instead of Victor Weber. As is the case at the present, the Yanks were regarded as a cinch to win the American league flag.

Walter Taylor, once a widely known architect and resident of Lubbock, died in bed in Amarillo from natural causes.

Back among the classified ads was a story about Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, who was raising a rookus about something—the position of the story indicating that even then The Journal knew that the pastor of "The Church of the Little Flower" was a false alarm.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

BACK in 1932 we were having labor trouble of sufficient importance to rate a banner line on the front page—although the story had a little different twist to it than those of more recent date. Picketing miners of the Dixie Bee Coal company at Terre Haute, Ind., were dispersed by the national guard which the then governor declared martial law in the affected area. That was of course before Mr. Lewis became a generous campaign contributor.

The stock market was skyrocketing, but less cheerful news was in connection with an automobile accident near Vernon in which Edwin McMath, Plainview lawyer and Wallace Settoon, young Plainview business man, were killed and a third Plainviewan, A. M. McMillen, was so badly injured that his recovery was despaired of. J. J. Nettles, 71, who had resided in Meadow for 24 years, died.

The Veterans Bonus Marchers were in Johnstown, Pa., enroute to Washington and while Bolivia and Paraguay were talking peace terms their soldiers were still fighting. A group of local Boy scout officials visited Scout Herschel Maxey, who was recovering from an appendectomy in Lubbock sanitarium, and conferred upon him a merit badge for camping.

A bootleg gang war—remember them?—was responsible for the death of two rum runners at Toledo and U. S. athletes were making great records in the olympics at Los Angeles. Dallas was leading the Texas league race—which they ain't today—and Chief of Police Wiley Metcalfe announced that his coppers had pinched a total of 187 persons in July. Judge John L. Ratliff was chairman and Wesley Read was secretary of the Good Government league—an organization of local people supporting Governor Ross Sterling's bid for re-election—which he didn't make. Mrs. J. A. Barton was elected as president and Mrs. J. I. Noah as vice-president of the T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church Sunday school.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY

BELIEVE it or not, a tri-parte naval limitations conference between the U. S., Great Britain and Japan, blew up in disagreement at Geneva and announcement was made that a line would be run from Slaton to Lamesa to furnish the Dawson county capital with natural gas. Los Angeles and environs were rocked—but by an earthquake, not by divorce charges filed by Lita Grey Chaplin against Charlie, the movie funnyman. Lubbock county pioneers were meeting for their annual basket picnic at the then county park, now part of Mackenzie state park.

Dr. J. W. Rollo, then as now city health officer, theh as now was devising that there was any infantile paralysis epidemic. Miss Halcom Campbell gave reading at a party given by Miss Mildred Harris for a visitor from Arlington and Mrs. Ed Wilson, then Blanche Bean, was skippering The Journal's women's page. Lee Duggan and his wife were a-visiting his folks, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Duggan here.

In the world of sports, Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth were staging a hot race for home run honors and Gehrig had 37 to Ruth's 34. Jesse Andrew "Judge" Raley was managing the Bankers baseball team in the city league and playing left field. The Bankers beat the Rix furniture club behind the twirling of Volney "Satch" Hill but what do you think? Bro. Raley didn't get no hits! Judge Homer Pharr and Vaughn E. Wilson were each captaining a baseball team made up of legionnaires.

The Plainsman in his column, by gosh, was having catfits about the terrible state of unpaved North Avenue H, especially that part on each side of the railroad crossing, one Dr. Will R. Hogg, evangelist holding a union revival, was comparing sin with leprosy and promotion of the Panhandle-South Plains fair was on in full force—which it isn't at this time this year. Governor Fuller of Massachusetts, was guarded from anarchists after he ruled that Sacco and Vanzetti, red terrorists, must die in keeping with the courts' ruling.

PERHAPS some folks won't have much interest in the above tearing away of time's curtain, but at any rate it proves that events often repeat themselves and regardless of the day or the year there's always something happening to make it possible to get out a paper.

* * *

That Man on Avenue Q says although ten days have passed since a surplus was found in the Indiana treasury there has been no move yet for a Congressional investigation.

"Flame Trail"

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD
(Copyright, 1937, Marie De Nervaud)

SYNOPSIS: Fire destroys Kay Crandon's ranch house and barn. Neighbor Josh Hastings tries to buy her ranch and court Kay, but she hates him and is eager to rebuild. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, fights Scrap Johnson, a cowhand who molests Kay. Shooting it out, they wound each other. Hastings finds them unconscious and kills Scrap with Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a cabin where a girl (Marion) nurses him. Kay sees them together, misunderstands and deliriously gives away the hideout after a fall. Ted is arrested and taken away, then Marion's mentally upset father returns.

Chapter 36
The Dread Truth

"Well, why don't you say something?" her father glared at her. "I suppose that's what you're waiting for! Get your father killed off so you can have the ranch and marry Hal Taylor. That crazy prospector will never have enough money of his own to marry you! I see your scheme!"

His voice was growing louder and louder, and he gesticulated with nervous jerks toward the cabin. "Get rid of the old man! Get the sheriff after him! Get—"

"Dad, Dad!" Marion pleaded, finding her voice at last. "Please come in and lie down, and let me get you some coffee! You don't know what you're saying!"

"Oh, I don't don't I!" A cunning look squinted up his eyes. "I can see through that all right! Get the old man to lie down! Get him asleep and then hand him over to the sheriff!"

"Please, Dad, forget what I said about the sheriff!" Marion soothed. "That had nothing to do with us! We don't have to be afraid of the sheriff!"

"Oh, don't we, though!" There was no mistaking the insane glare in his eyes as he pushed her back and faced her. "Don't have to be afraid of the sheriff, eh?" He scornfully mimicked her voice. "Well, that shows all you know about it! I bet the sheriff would pay you money for me!" He bent nearer, his eyes screwed into cunning slits. "Never thought of that, did you? Thirty pieces of silver! That's what you try him. He'll give you 30 pieces of silver for me!"

With growing and helpless horror, Marion waited for his frenzy to subside. Anything she said only seemed to make it worse. There was nothing to do but watch for the moment when exhaustion claimed him. That was the way it had been before, but this attack was worse than any of the others.

Chris Howell straightened up suddenly and gave a triumphant sweep of his hand.

"Let 'em come!" he declared grandly. "Let all the sheriffs come! It was worth it! They didn't hear it crackle! They didn't see the flames shoot up the trunks, and wrap around the branches! They didn't see the sparks going up! They were like an army, those sparks!"

He grabbed Marion's arm as she shrank away with a stifled cry of terror at this confirmation of her worst fears. "An army of fiends!" he went on in a hoarse whisper. "Whole companies jumped from one tree to another! Whole regiments! It was a crown fire, I tell you!"

He swayed unsteadily, and Marion caught him in her arms. He became suddenly relaxed and unresisting, as she guided him to the door and got him over to the bunk that Ted had so lately occupied.

Marion stretched him out, and covered him. He kept murmuring all the time, "A crown fire, I tell you! A crown fire! Sparks! Millions of 'em!"

Her First Duty

Leaving him quiet at last, Marion groped her way through blinding tears to her own little room, threw herself on the bunk and gave way to great wrenching sobs that shook her whole body.

There was no longer any possibility of closing her mind to her dread suspicions. Her father was the firebug, the whole county was on the lookout for!

"If only Hal were here! Or Ted!" Marion moaned. But Hal, off in the mountains, was as inaccessible as Ted was in jail.

Ted! What would happen to him? The discovery she had made about Kay flashed into her tortured mind. In fairness to Ted she ought to see Kay and explain that she was engaged to Hal and that what Kay had thought was all a mistake.

But how could she leave her father? A deep snore from the other room pulled her back to the dread reality of the present.

Not for one instant must she leave him! She must nurse him back to sanity and never, never must anyone know the terrible truth. Until he was completely recovered, she must never leave him alone to carry out his wild frenzy of destruction.

Marion sat up and pressed her hand to her head, her eyes closed, as she fought for her own control. She mustn't think of the future. She must just hold on and fight for her father's sanity, anyway until Hal was back and could help.

Ted would have to take his chances, both with the law and with Kay. She had done all she could for him in getting him well. Her duty now was all to her father.

Unsteadily she rose to her feet and looked through the doorway at the relaxed figure on the bed. Was it possible that little more than an hour ago she had looked at Ted there in the very spot where her father now lay?

She crossed over and put her hand on her father's head. It was damp with perspiration. For a long moment Marion stood looking down at him. If this attack followed the lines of his former ones, he would be weak and helpless as a child for quite a while.

With a quivering sigh, she tucked the blanket more closely around him, and turned away to heat some water on the oil stove, preparatory to his waking.

Aunt Kate's News

A week had passed since that early September morning of dramatic happenings.

Kay Crandon came out on the porch of the Flying Six ranch house, and sat in the hammock near her Aunt Kate, who rocked comfortably in a big chair.

"I'm plenty well enough to go, Aunt Kate," she declared. "And what's more, I'm going!"

She sprang abruptly to her feet, and ran over toward the door. Suddenly she stopped and grabbed to a chair, as a fit of giddiness swept over her.

"There, what did I tell you?" Aunt Kate gazed triumphantly at the swaying figure of her niece. "If you know when you're well off, you'll stay right where you are."

"I'm stronger than you think I am, Aunt Kate," Kay persisted. "If I go slow, I'm all right. And I can't stand this inaction another minute. I've got to know what's going on at the ranch, and . . . and everything." She bit her lips to control her voice.

"I don't know what you mean by 'everything' but I can guess." Aunt Kate looked severely over her glasses at Kay. "The first thing for you to do, is to put that Gaynor man out of your mind."

"I don't know what you mean!" Kay drew herself up proudly. "Ted Gaynor is nothing to me, and never has been! But naturally, I'm inter-

Today's Journal Editorial . . .

AT LAST: CREDIT FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

The Journal notes with commendatory interest that most American housewives need no longer to lament that there is no disposition to honor them for the work they do at home. They realize it is no longer true that trained nurses, skilled secretaries and adept saleswomen get the bulk of the glory and most of the tangible recompense that comes with service well rendered.

More and more are national institutions and agencies recognizing the value of purely domestic activities and more and more is there general indication of increasing appreciation of what the housewives are accomplishing. Substantial rewards are being offered and won in the realms of culinary accomplishments and household planning and decorations.

It is no light task for a woman to plan—and perhaps prepare—more than a thousand meals a year, not to mention the numerous other duties that good housekeeping implies. Modern women deserve all the recompense that comes their way for what they are doing for the betterment of the race. Their rewards well include the knowledge that there is truth as well as sentiment in the old saying, "Man is what some woman makes of him." This includes, of course, not only the good results that follow housekeeping well done but also, unfortunately, the evils that ensue when carelessness, or worse, mark the accomplishments of the domestic establishment.

Lubbock and South Plains housewives, along with their sisters throughout the country, occupy responsible and honorable positions in modern living. Only good can come from proper recognition and appreciation of their place in life.

A Thought . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 4 — Some of the stand-ins are becoming stand-outs — in the throng of movie aspirants.

Time was when you couldn't have named a single stand-in who seemed likely ever to emote before a live camera. They merely stood, or sat, or walked between chalk marks, while lights were adjusted and assistant cameramen got their bearings.

Nobody seems to have wondered whether they might have screenable personalities of their own. They may as well have been wax dummies. Indeed, dummies frequently have served as stand-ins.

Lately, though, some of the off-screen doubles have been getting a chance. After Jean Harlow died, and thousands of fans pleaded for the release of her unfinished last picture, "Saratoga," the studio tested dozens of blonds in a search for someone to finish the film.

Finally somebody said, "Let's try her stand-in, Mary Dees."

So Mary Dees, who never had dreamed of being a Harlow understudy, found herself playing a few of the latter sequences in "Saratoga." It is a painless deception. Miss Dees had very little to do.

Nevertheless the emergency brought her to the attention of M-G-M officials, and now she has a contract and is playing atmosphere roles in two pictures, "Big City" and "Black Lightning."

More Coming Up

"Black Lightning" is providing even greater opportunity for two other stand-ins. Virginia Grey, former stand-in for Madge Evans and Florence Rice, is playing the first lead of her career in "Black Lightning" opposite Bruce Cabot and Edward Norris.

And the second feminine lead is played by Jean Chatburn, who got her first studio job as stand-in for Barbara Stanwyck.

Also in "Black Lightning" is Bob Davis, Franchot Tone's stand-in who had a small role in "Between Two Women". He still works for Tone, and divides his time between his own set and the stage, where Tone is working in "The Bride Wore Red."

For opportunities to act, the stand-ins usually must thank their stars. Many of them have had the expert coaching of the stars, and frequently they have small roles in their employers' pictures.

Don Milo, a near-likeness of Robert Taylor, has appeared in a number of pictures. William Powell has obtained numerous jobs for his stand-in, "Doc" Dearborn, and Robert Young's man, "Chalkie" Williams, recently became an actor with an assignment in "Between Two Women."

Contract Winners

Casha Le Sueur, Joan Crawford's sister-in-law and stand-in, now has had sufficient experience that she aspires to featured roles. Ann Robinson, Memphis girl who came here dreaming of stardom, found opportunities scarce and finally took a job doubling under the lights for Olivia de Havilland.

Eventually, though, directors noticed her, and now she has a stock contract with Warner Brothers.

Marie Osborne was a celebrated child actress once, and logically might have been expected to continue in prominence as she grew up. But she dropped out of pictures and finally returned to the studios as stand-in for Ginger Rogers.

She studied constantly, and Miss Rogers helped. Small parts were given her occasionally. And now she has a contract at RKO.

Virginia Grey's story is somewhat similar. The daughter of Ray Grey, comedy director, she was born and reared in Hollywood. She could dance, too. With such a start, a movie career seemed a certainty, but it wasn't easy. After a brief success as a child actress she left the screen and taught dancing.

Hollywood next saw her, briefly, as a showgirl in "The Great Ziegfeld." Afterward she remained at the studio to stand-in for Miss Rice and Miss Evans.

Luck brought a chance in a musical short, and her dramatic ability was discovered. Next came a role in "Old Hutch," and now the featured lead in "Black Lightning."

Paradoxically, none of these people — except Miss Dees — could have graduated into the acting ranks if they had borne striking resemblance to any of the stars. A stand-in should have about the same height, hair and coloring, but similar features are not essential. The few Hollywood stand-ins who do look like their employers are not likely ever to have a chance before the cameras.

The Back View Isn't So Good Either

Serious Efforts To Organize Farmer-Labor Party Are Under Way, Rodney Dutcher Says

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4—A substantial farmer-labor party is in the stage of discussion and planning by leaders of labor and farmer groups.

Labor's Non-Partisan league, a coalition of C. I. O. and A. F. of L. groups organized for political action, is going to have a little brother—the Farmers' Non-Partisan league.

Dutcher

Probably there will be no farmer-labor presidential ticket in 1940, although insiders of the movement hazard the guess that there will be such a ticket in 1944.

Meanwhile the two leagues will work closely together in seeking to elect progressive candidates in 1938, and will hold themselves ready for any kind of a political alignment in 1940—such as the likely split between conservatives and progressives in the Democratic party.

Organization Planned

A conference at St. Paul, before long, at which farm delegates will predominate and both progressive congressmen and leaders of the labor league will attend, is being planned.

States where preliminary organization is planned are Minnesota, Wisconsin, the two Dakotas, Nebraska and Montana. Assurances have been received that in each county of those states can be found a man who will be active in a farmer political movement.

It may have escaped notice, but William M. Thatcher, a leader in the Farmers' union, and other farm organization men—including the head of the North Dakota Farmers' union—appeared at the Labor's Non-Partisan league convention here a few months ago. The labor league has announced it would open regional offices which would organize in all counties, urban and rural. Already it has a paid representative at Des Moines, Ia., who that more than half its officials are A. F. of L. men.

E. L. Oliver, executive vice president who is in charge of the movement since Senator George Berry quit as president, is the former director of research of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, an A. F. of L. union. Nevertheless, Lewis and Sidney Hillman of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers were the prime movers behind the league's organization and installed Berry, head of an A. F. of L. union, as president.

Labor Increasingly Active

Labor has taken an active part in more campaigns than ever before, and helped elect many friendly officials last year. In previous decades farmers have shown they can take political action, as in the Populist, Granger and Bryan movements and recent defections from the Republican party. There is still much radical feeling in Iowa, Nebraska, the Dakotas and Montana—or so one hears—as well as farmer-labor governed Minnesota. Labor leaders and the few farm leaders will attempt to organize farmers as well as workers.

Close Tie To C. I. O.

One factor which may hurt the movement is a widespread impression that the LNPL is a political appendage of John Lewis and the C. I. O. But the LNPL claims it has more than 50 officials of A. F. of L. unions on its executive board—none of whom have resigned—and thus far allied hope farmers will respond to their program.

Do Interests Conflict

It may prove impossible for these men to break down the theory that farmers and workers have fundamentally conflicting interests. It is often argued that wage increases mean increased cost of goods farmers must buy and higher food prices mean lower real wages for workers.

Farmer-labor people will argue that this applies equally to all groups of producers, that higher incomes enable workers to buy more farm products and farmers to buy more labor products, that unity of interest rests in obtaining necessities of life at lower cost, the farmers with their problem of marketing and distribution and workers with their problems of wages and hours should unite to eliminate waste, minimize profits and attack corruption and profiteering in business.

It's just guesswork whether this latest farmer-labor movement will get to first base.

McCraw Assigns Man To Case

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 4—Attorney General William McCraw announced today that at request of Governor James V. Allred and County Judge W. E. McCharen of Willacy county he was assigning an assistant to aid in a court of inquiry into the mysterious Blanton disappearance case.

He said Assistant Attorney General George Kirkpatrick, who has had long experience as a criminal prosecutor in Jasper county, would be in Raymondville Monday to assist Judge McCharen in questioning witnesses and running down all possible clues.

Rangers To Assist

The attorney general had been advised by Col. H. H. Carmichael, chief of the department of public safety, he said, that Ranger Bob Best and probably another member of the Ranger force would be assigned to the investigation also in compliance with a request of Judge McCharen.

McCraw made public letters of Governor Allred to himself and to Judge McCharen expressing deep concern over the Blanton case and suggesting that a court of inquiry be held with a representative of the attorney general's department attending.

The governor's letter said that if Judge McCharen would set up such a court the state would furnish one or more Rangers to serve processes and that witnesses could feel free to testify without fear.

Accepting the offer, Judge McCharen requested that Ranger Best be given the assignment, asserting the people had confidence in him and had lost confidence in certain other Rangers who had been working on the case.

McCraw said it was the policy of his department not to interfere in such matters except when requested to do so by local officials, and that he was acceding because the request had come both from Governor Allred and Judge McCharen.

Far From Solution

"It appears that the Blanton case is far from solution," he said, "and the inquiry will be simply an invitation to all who may have information to disclose under the most favorable circumstances."

Luther Blanton and his son, John, disappeared from their farm home near San Perlita, in South Texas, last November, and since then the investigation of their disappearance has weltered in a mass of rumor with no public evidence of progress made toward solution.

The department of public safety has had several men assigned to the investigation, the Texas Rangers have combed the country for clues, county officials have conducted several inquiries and there have been reports even that the federal department of justice had operatives in the vicinity.

The Blantons left home to hunt, presumably, on the famous King ranch, cattle empire only a short distance away.

Imports Exceed Exports Again

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 — The United States bought $147,321,000 more from foreign countries than it sold abroad during the first six months of this year.

The commerce department said this excess of imports over exports compared with a $9,548,000 excess of imports in the corresponding period a year ago.

For the first half of this year exports totaled $1,536,380,000, an increase of $381,419,000 over the period last year. Imports, at $1,683,701,000, were up $519,192,000.

The department said the country's foreign trade during June continued the trends of the last several months, with imports climbing more swiftly than exports.

During June, imports exceeded exports by $20,583,000, compared with an import balance of $5,384,000 in the same month last year.

Brenham's "Progress Dinner" Resembles Political Rally

BRENHAM, Aug. 4 (AP)—Business men of Brenham donned big white aprons last night and dished out food to several hundred persons at a "progress dinner" which took on the air of a Texas political gathering when former Gov. James E. Ferguson and others spoke.

The dinner was in celebration of:

Plans for the reopening of the South Texas cotton mills;

The taking over by Washington county of Blinn Memorial college, making it the first county owned and operated junior college in Texas;

The reorganization of the Brenham Banner Press.

Among state officials attending were Lieut. Governor Walter Woodul; Attorney General William McCraw; Col. E. O. Thompson of the railroad commission; Ed Clark, secretary of state; Orville S. Carpenter, official of the state job insurance board; and Senators Albert Stone of Brenham, A. J. Wits of Seguin and L. J. Sulak of LaGrange.

Parental Objections To His Marriage Causes Youth To Suicide, Coroner Says

ELMO, Mo., Aug. 4 (AP) — Parental objections to his marriage caused Leland Iker, 19, to kill himself Sunday, Coroner C. D. Hullberd of Nodaway county said.

He shot himself in the temple with a rifle while his father and mother were discussing his marriage Saturday night to Ferne Hull, of Quitman. The coroner's jury returned a suicide verdict.

Tale Of Trees That Yield Wine Brought Back From Mexico

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—A titillating tale of trees that yield "luscious red wine" was brought back from the tropical jungles of lower Mexico today by Llewelyn Williams, curator of bontany at the Field museum.

He spent six months exploring the wild region but returned with the largest collection of wood specimens ever gathered there as a reward for trying treks through forest lands infested by snakes, jaguars and mosquitoes which "worked" day and night shifts.

The "whoopee" tree is a species of palm. The natives chop it down, cut a small trough in the trunk, cover it with leaves and let it stand for two days. When they return, the trough is filled with a red wine, formed from fermentation of the sap.

Williams called it "delicious."

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 4. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 6 to 10 higher on active trade and foreign buying and covering. Contracts were scarce. Oct 10.70; Dec 10.66; Jan 10.70; Mch 10.81; May 10.85; Jly 10.88.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4. (AP)—Cotton opened steady 4 to 7 points higher in view of better Liverpool cables and a little short covering in advance of the weekly weather and crop summary.

Dental Records In Fighting Crime Recommended

CHICAGO, Aug. 4 (AP)—A Chicago dentist recommended today establishment of permanent standard dental records, similar to a standard fingerprint index, as a neccessary aid to crime detection.

Dr. Edward J. Ryan explained his stand that criminals may deface their fingerprints and faces but can do nothing about their teeth. In the current issue of the Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology.

Even after extraction of all teeth, Dr. Ryan wrote, the residual bone retains certain individual x-ray characteristics. The toothless jaw or false teeth are as subject to classification as a mouth of 32 teeth, he added.

Describing enamel as the hardest and most indestructable tissue in the human body, Dr. Ryan said teeth give important evidence regarding habits and occupations as well as individual characteristics useful in identification.

Such occupational habits as thread biting in sewing, keeping cord between teeth as package wrappers do, abuse of teeth by acrobats, orange sucking by athletes, mouth breathing and toothpick wedging are revealed, he said.

Oil From Western Crane Is Similar To Big Lake Area

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—The bureau of mines made public today its analysis of crude oil from the deep lying Ordovician strata in the sand hills field of western Crane county, Texas, showing a close similarity to the Ordovician production of the Big Lake field in Regan county, Texas.

Officials said the new oil "compared favorably" with the product of the heavy-oil zone in the Big Lake field.

A distillation summary indicated approximately 35 per cent of gasoline and naphtha, 20 per cent of kerosene distillate and 25 per cent of gas-oil and heavier distillate suitable for cracking.

Ruling Given On Tax Payments

AUSTIN, Aug. 4—Assistant Attorney General James Broadhurst has given an interpretative opinion, for the benefit of tax collectors, on the law enacted recently providing for payment of delinquent taxes in installments.

The collectors have been in doubt as to when penalties and interest terminated on the taxes, which may be paid in 10 equal installments, at 60-day intervals, over a period of 20 months.

Broadhurst ruled that interest must be collected on the unpaid portion of the principle of the taxes.

For example, if the taxes totalled $80, the penalty for delinquency $10 and interest on the whole to Sept. 1, 1937, $10, the sum of $100 might be paid in 10 installments of $10 each if the first was paid between Aug. 21 and Sept. 1.

When each installment after the first was paid, however, interest for two months on that part of the $100 remaining must be collected.

There is no penalty after Sept. 1.

'Boy Wizzard Of Wall Street' Is Expelled From Exchanges

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Securities Commission has expelled Michael J. Meehan from three securities exchanges.

He was charged with manipulating the price of Bellanca Aircraft corporation common stock during 1935.

It was the commission's first decision in a manipulation case.

The commission found that Meehan who was known as "the boy wizard of Wall Street" had rigged the market for Bellanca stock on the New York curb exchange at various periods during 1935.

In its formal opinion, the commission said Meehan had matched orders and employed other manipulative devices to raise the price of the stock.

This activity, the ruling said, was designed to induce public buying of the security.

Saying that it could either suspend Meehan or expel him, the commission added that "the gravity of his conduct leads us to conclude that the penalty should be expulsion from all the national securities exchanges of which he is a member."

Meehan is a member of the New York Curb exchange the New York Stock exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

Board Sees Shortage In Power Supply In Next Ten Years

AUSTIN, Aug. 4 (AP)—The Texas Planning board estimated today demands for electric power and light in the next 10 years would more than exceed the output of all proposed hydro-electric plants.

In a survey made for Governor James V. Allred, the planners found that consumption jumped 15 per cent in 1936 and estimated it would increase 48 per cent in the next decade.

This would result in demand for 450,000 kilowatts, including the necessary reserve power, while all proposed generating units of the hydro-electric type would produce only 300,000 kilowatts, leaving production of 150,000 to other sources.

Drivers' Licenses Tests Postponed

AUSTIN, Aug. 4 (AP)—New applicants for drivers' licenses apparently will not be examined before late in September although the law requiring driving tests and other qualifications becomes effective Aug. 22.

Public safety department officials said today funds would not be available before Sept. 1, and in addition personnel for administration and enforcement would be insufficient until completion late in September of a training school for highway patrolmen.

The law exempts present holders of licenses which expire three years after issuance unless their ability to operate a care safely is in doubt. There will be no charge for drivers permits but chauffeurs licenses will cost $3.

The drivers' license bureau is preparing a form of examination which in addition to a test under actual driving conditions will determine the quality of the applicant's eyesight, ability to read highway signs properly and knowledge of traffic laws.

The bureau contemplates an administrative setup of some 30 districts and will give examinations in each county seat at least once a week and daily in large cities. In addition a personnel of approximately 50 will be assigned to the bureau, including highway patrolmen who will give the tests.

Director General Frank L. McNeny said the honor was accorded Trischler because of his outstanding efforts of a quarter of a century. Trischler for 25 years has evidenced his faith in Texas by his continuous advertising schedules in this state," McNeny said.

Trischler's eligibility was sponsored by Texas daily newspapers for distinctive services rendered the advertising profession.

War Department To Gather Data For Mattern Flight

AUSTIN, Aug. 4 (AP)—Acting Governor Walter P. Woodul said here the war department at Washington probably would send two army planes to the vicinity of the North Pole next spring to gather data on weather conditions and possibly assist Jimmy Mattern in his projected flight from California to Moscow.

Woodul recently returned from Washington where he conferred with officials of the department of commerce in successful efforts to obtain a permit for Mattern's flight.

"Everyone in Washington was strong for the flight" Woodul said, "and I understand the Russians want it."

The flight will not be started until next June, however, according to Woodul, because due to magnetic conditions near the North Pole it will be necessary to fly by the sun and the time remaining this season when this can be done is too short.

"Mattern hopes to fly over the polar area and drop a flag," Woodul said, "but he won't stop."

Increase In Wool In U. S. Is Estimated

WASHINGTON, ug. 4 (AP)—The agriculture department estimated today wool shorn this year in the United States at 367,369,000 pounds.

This was an increase of about 7,000,000 pounds or about 2 percent over 1936, the department said, and equal to the average of 1931-35.

Larger production this year than last, the department said, resulted from an increased number of sheep shorn and a larger average weight per fleece. It estimated 46,221,000 sheep shorn this year compared with 45,663,000 in 1936, and the average fleece weight at 7.95 pounds for this year against 7.98 last year.

Texas accounted for 75,500,000 pounds or 1-5 of the total United States production of shorn wool the department said, an increase of 11,000,000 over 1936.

Fall wool in Texas was estimated at 10,400,000 pounds for this year, compared with 8,565,000 pounds in the fall of 1936; and in California 2,619,000 pounds for the fall of 1937 compared with 3,939,000 pounds in the fall of 1936.

Mrs. Rogers Asks For Refund On Taxes; Termites Blamed

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 4 (AP) — Termites took the spotlight in a $9,710 tax recovery suit filed by Mrs. Betty Rogers, widow of Will Rogers, cowboy humorits.

In effect, Mrs. Rogers stated she was "overcharged" on her 1929 federal income tax, because she was not credited with the damage done to her Beverly Hills home by termites.

The property, costing $62,854, had to be razed and removed, she said.

King Ranch Frowns On Visitor Who Enters Without Passport

work clothes. When he rode, a 30-30 rifle always slanted past the saddle horn. He spoke English as though he were about to break into Spanish, for Spanish is the language of the ranch. His niece teaches it (English is not taught) in the El Sauz school.

And to George Durham the warfare, always latent and often flaring feud-like, between the King ranch people and the small farmers and townspeople on the outside was a natural thing. He grew up in it.

Others around these South Texas parts find nothing unnatural about the enmity of the two factions. They are familiar with the cattle wars, as old as Texas; with the blood-stained fights between cattlemen and sheepmen; with squatters run off at rifle point, their pituful little cabins burned by night riders.

Feuds of other days may have been remote in origin and cause. In the present day there isn't much mystery about it.

It was into the brush of El Sauz that Luther and John Blanton disappeared, arousing the hatred of the "outsiders" to new high levels.

Ranch Is Own Law

The million and a quarter acres of the great King holdings are fenced. The circumference builds into uncounted miles. The fence riders are Mexicans, and they number hundreds.

For one mile within that fence—in other words, a one-mile strip completely around the ranch—the land has been declared a state game preserve. In addition to the fence riders, the preserve is patrolled by game wardens, in the pay of the King ranch but deputized by the state government.

The heirs of Richard King, who laid the foundation for the empire in 1854, inherited the ranch. They have added vastly to its original acreage. It is theirs, legally and morally. The King ranch is almost autonomous because its holdings encompass or dip into several counties and consequently the officials of the county are employes of the ranch. They couldn't be anything else. No one lives on the King ranch who isn't an owner, an employe or a guest.

The employes do everything they can to prevent poaching. Finding they could not take culprits caught in the act of killing game on the ranch into a county seat outside the ranch and get convictions, the wardens take them to a county seat within the ranch. County lines aren't marked and no one can prove exactly where the arrest occurred.

Poachers Roughly Treated

Or, if the arrest should be in Willacy county, for instance, whose seat is a few miles from the ranch line and only a few acres of which dip into El Sauz, there are other measures.

"I told the district attorney I never intended bringing in anyone caught on this ranch," said George Durham, squaring his 204-pound body. "I told him I intended whipping anyone I catch on the place without a permit—and I've caught a few. The farmers burn the grass off their land and let our fences catch fire. They kill deer at night with lights and that's not only illegal anywhere, it's dirty sportsmanship. We've a game preserve and it costs a lot to keep it up. It's the best game country in the United States. Why shouldn't we try to keep it that way?"

Small Ranchers Complain

The small farmers and ranchers around El Sauz have their side too. They know the old-time unwritten law of the deep Southwest—that the range is free for any man to ride upon. They have the old hatred of line fences that block the way of a man on a horse.

For years their country has been the happy hunting ground of every city dweller with a rifle and a shotgun, shooting anything, in season and out, with inadequate wardens to protect the game. Much of the wild life is gone, killed off or fled to the preserve within the King domain.

The small ranchers live on a land almost barren of game. Just across a barbed wire fence in El Sauz they could shoot three deer in an hour. There are javelinas, turkey, duck and geese, quail and pheasant. They know that a few miles back in the brush lands within the fence is a big hunting lodge with Mexican servants and every modern convenience. They know that notables from Austin and New York and Washington — even from abroad — hunt there, proud of the privilege.

But the natives can't.

Entrance Is Barred

They know that four miles north of Kingsville stands the magnificent ranch headquarters, Santa Gertrudis—but many of the small ranchers and farmers have never seen it.

They have heard that it has fine tapestries and paintings, is noted for its hospitality, and that it has 30 bedrooms for guests. But they have only heard that.

For the man who drives up the modern, paved, but private, highway from Kingsville to Santa Gertrudis must have business there and a pass admitting him to the grounds. At the beginning of that paved highway is a small "guard house."

The curious are turned back there.

NEXT: The law seeks to break up the King ranch, which more violent assailants have attacked in vain.

Deliberations of the committee were stopped suddenly yesterday when Chairman Norton said Green had brought a request from the president to delay action pending preparation of the new amendments.

One influential committee member said Green's "strategy" was aimed at delaying action on the wage-hour bill in the hope housing legislation would be enacted before congress adjourns.

Talk revived among house leaders that an attempt would be made when the labor bill reaches the floor to amend it to exempt firms employing 15 or fewer workers.

President Signs Bill Creating Arch Hurley Conservancy Area

WASHINGTON, Aug. 4 (AP) — President Roosevelt signed today a bill creating the multi-million dollar Arch Hurley conservancy district to supply water to irrigate about 30,000 to 40,000 acres of the New Mexico "dust bowl."

Senators Carl A. Hatch and Dennis Chavez and Representative John J. Dempsey of New Mexico, who backed the measure, expressed gratification at the president's action and indicated they hoped work could be started soon.

The bill provides for establishing a system of distribution canals to deliver water from the Conchas dam on the Canadian river near Tucumcari to the irrigable area. Through a tentative agreement the New Mexico congressmen said had been reached with the president some time ago, funds would be made available through the Works Progress administration to defray the labor cost — estimated at approximately $2,500,000.

Cockroaches On Ships Listed As One Of Seamen's Troubles

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 4 (AP) — Insufficient sanitary arrangements, crowded sleeping quarters and in some cases the presence of cockroaches on ships were listed today by seamen as grievances at a United States marine commission hearing held here by Thomas M. Woodward, member of the commission.

Woodward said the purpose of the hearing was one of several before the commissioners to determine a "minimum wage and manning scale and reasonable working conditions on American ships to be granted subsidies under the merchant marine act of 1936."

Samuel Meyers, steward and member of the National Maritime union, said whatever improvements in working conditions were granted by steamship companies were obtained through the seamen's union but he urged vigilance against cockroaches and warned that unless a vessel is thoroughly fumigated once the roaches have come aboard they eventually get into the soup and the bread dough and you can't keep them out.

The Norwegian flag was flown farther north, and farther south than any other flag on Christmas Day, 1923. It was on Amundsen's ship, "The Maud," in the North Polar Basin, and at the Bay of Whales, with the Sir James Clark Ross whaling expedition.

Postponement In Case Given

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 4—The next development in the controversy over the state scholastic apportionment for 1938 probably will have a courtroom setting but the time is in doubt.

Attorney General William McCraw and representatives of the San Antonio independent school district have agreed on postponement of a hearing set for tomorrow in San Antonio on an injunction restraining the state board of education from changing the apportionment of $22 it approved recently.

To Prepare Defense

The postponement was to give the attorney general's department, which will represent the board and ask that the injunction be vacated, time to study the case and prepare a defense.

Meanwhile, the board continued a meeting at which the chief business was the purchase of bonds for the permanent school fund. In the first two days of its regular monthly meeting, it had bought more than $500,000 in school and municipal bonds.

Should the injunction be set aside, several members of the board had been halted after Green had conferred privately with Mrs. Norton and she informed them the chief executive had requested delay until some amendment could be submitted.

Green Takes The Blame

The A. P. of L. head explained he felt the president would not want the committee to act until it had been acquainted with three suggested amendments Green added the chief executive had agreed to the amendment in principle.

If there has been any misunderstanding," Green said, "I am to blame."

One member of the committee, who declined to permit use of his name, said the delay had been engineered because a majority of the group had agreed to substitute the bill passed Saturday by the senate for the more drastic house version.

Would Extend Limits

The senate bill would empower an administrative board to fix minimum wages up to 40 cents an hour and maximum hours as low as 40 a week. The house version would extend these limits to 70 cents and 35 hours a week.

The amendments to which Green said the president had agreed would prohibit the proposed labor standards board from interfering with any collective bargaining agreement, prevent it from fixing minimum wages below those stipulated in collective bargaining agreements and eliminate a section placing wage-hour provisions of the Walsh-Healy government contracts act under the supervision of the board.

Green said the federation would support the bill with those amendments but declined to say what its position would be if they were not adopted.

The purchase price on a sliding scale arrangement not yet decided upon nor approved by the federal communications commission, will be between $50,000 and $60,000, Taylor said.

John Henry Lewis Plans To Hound Champ For Battle

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 4 (AP) — John Henry Lewis, rapidly outgrowing his lightheavyweight championship, plopped all of his eggs into one basket today and began "hounding" Joe Louis for a heavyweight title fight.

His signature on a contract which would guarantee the bomber $450,000 to defend his crown in Pittsburgh, Lewis declared he was ready to forsake the 175-pound bracket he has headed since October 31, 1935.

"I weigh a little over 185 now," Lewis said, "and it's kind of hard to get down there. I'd give up the title for a chance at Louis. And I'm going to hound Joe until I get it."

ested in what's happened to him, as a matter of curiosity, if nothing more. You haven't told me one thing since I've been sick!"

"Of course I haven't," Aunt Kate answered tartly. "After a blow on the head such as you had, the less you think about, the better."

"But don't you see that I could rest much better if I wasn't kept in the dark this way?" Kay resorted to a pleading tone.

"It's precious little I know, anyway, with Josh Hastings away."

"Well, tell me what you do know, or I'll go and find out for myself," Kay threatened.

Aunt Kate gave a resigned sigh. "All I know is that they've caught the Gaynor man, and Josh Hastings left three days ago to go over to the trial in Clear Water Basin. It starts today, but he wanted to be there to look up one or two things beforehand."

"How did they catch him? And where?" Kay tried her best to make her voice sound natural as she asked this question. Had he been in the hut when they found him? And had the girl been there, too?

"I don't know any of the details," Aunt Kate answered crosaly. "Nobody saw fit to come back and tell me anything. That Tom Runyon that brought you in went off without a word. And even before Josh Hastings left for Clear Water Basin he was mum as an oyster, when I did see him. He just said they'd got him in some shack, somewheres, where he'd gone off with a girl"—at this point, Aunt Kate shot Kay a sharp look, but Kay met the information without wincing—"and according to Josh Hastings, he'll be tried and found guilty in short order."

"I—I think perhaps I am more tired than I thought." Kay turned abruptly to the door, unable any longer to hide the conflicting emotions that rushed over her at this last statement. "I think I'll go to my room and lie down."

"That's a sensible girl," Aunt Kate approved. "And don't talk any more silly nonsense about going home until you're all well."

Shutting and locking her door behind her, Kay threw herself on the bed, and gave way to the misery that overcame her. No matter how often she had asserted herself in these days of enforced inaction, that Ted meant nothing to her since her discovery in the mountains, this news left her weak and trembling.

With a sob she buried her face in her hands. If only she could do something to save him! Even if he didn't care for her, it wasn't his fault that she had been a romantic fool, she thought bitterly.

Kay links Josh Hastings to the scene of the tragedy, tomorrow.

Nip-And-Tuck Games For Texas League

(By The Associated Press)

It was nip-and-tuck baseball for the fans watching Texas league encounters last night, Oklahoma City, jauntily leading the circuit, sprang a three-run rally in the ninth inning against Tulsa to win a 4-to-3 thriller. Easterling, Keesey, Stoneham and Mackie got hits in that hectic frame to submerge Pitcher Max Thomas of Tulsa.

Third Baseman Tony Piarito of Tulsa went to a hospital after he was knocked cold by one of Jim Moore's fast ones.

Fort Worth also relied on a last-inning bombardment to overpower Dallas' striving Steers, 5 to 2. The teams were even after nine innings of first-rate baseball, but in the tenth the Steer third baseman let a ball get through him and three men scored. It made it seem third basemen were on the spot for the evening.

Jim Bivin of Galveston's Buccaneers pitched a no-hitter against San Antonio in the second game of a doubleheader. The Missions scored on him, the run accruing from two errors and a sacrifice. The score was 3 to 1, the same margin by which San Antonio won the opener.

Houston and Beaumont were idle.
