Wheelchair ramps

Q. Is there a city ordinance requiring newly built businesses to have ramps or be accessible to wheelchairs?

A. No city ordinance requires ramps, but if federal money is used in building a new structure, it must be accessible to wheelchairs. Tom Decell, public works director, said the city is "looking into" passing such an ordinance. "There's an obvious need for it," he said.

Steak cook-off, 'dillo races set

Armadillo is best friend to 'Jalapeno' Sam Lewis

By KEELY COGHLAN
Staff Writer

Forget about dogs; the armadillo is "Jalapeno" Sam Lewis' best friend.

"I could talk to you about them all day," said Lewis, on the board of directors of the World Armadillo Breeding and Racing Association.

He boasts that the odd creatures play an important part in James Michener's new book, Texas, and that he served as a consultant on the beasts for the author.

Armadillos, he said, even made the September issue of Penthouse. "There's a five- or six-page article on armadilloes and a picture of one on page 121. That's my favorite kind of fold-out."

Lewis, however, does admit that the 'dillo is not the only subject of the foldout.

Why are armadillos so appealing?

"People love them. They're not aggressive. They don't have any teeth. The only way one of them has ever hurt me is by trying to get away from me. They've scratched me a little," said Lewis.

"They're just real friendly," he said.

Lewis and his world-famous armadillos — he's taken them to London, the Rose Bowl, Zimbabwe and Germany — will be in town Oct. 12 to run armadillo races as part of a fundraiser for the Big Spring-Howard County chapter of the United Way. The races will run the same day as the Chicken-fried Steak World Championship at the Highland Mall.

For people who want to race armadilloes but who can't find their own, Lewis will bring six to 10 up from San Angelo. The group will have some scheduled matches first, and then the public can race the tank-topped mammals.

All proceeds from the races will benefit the United Way. Entry information is available by calling Susan Lewis, 263-6347.

Lewis and a friend, Enrique Vasquez, first raced the armor-plated creatures in 1953 on Vasquez' ranch in Uvalde County. "Everyone had gone to Ruidoso, N.M., for the horse races and we thought there wasn't anything to do. So we went out to his ranch and caught some armadillos.

"We thought we could turn them loose and they'd run down the track straight like a horse. Instead, they went everywhere in the world," Lewis said.

Lewis, Vasquez, chili aficionado Frank Tolbert and another Dallas friend then raced the creatures against a skunk to get a state representative some publicity in his election campaign. "The skunk won," Lewis said, and so did their candidate.

They took the armadillos on the road to the State Fair in 1961 and 1962, and began racing them in 1968 in Luchenbach.

"We used to have an 'Armadillo Beauty Contest,' every year," Lewis said. "This was before Hondo (Crouch) bought up the town. Hondo would always send his wetbacks to go catch a whole mess of armadillos, and he used to always win the contests.

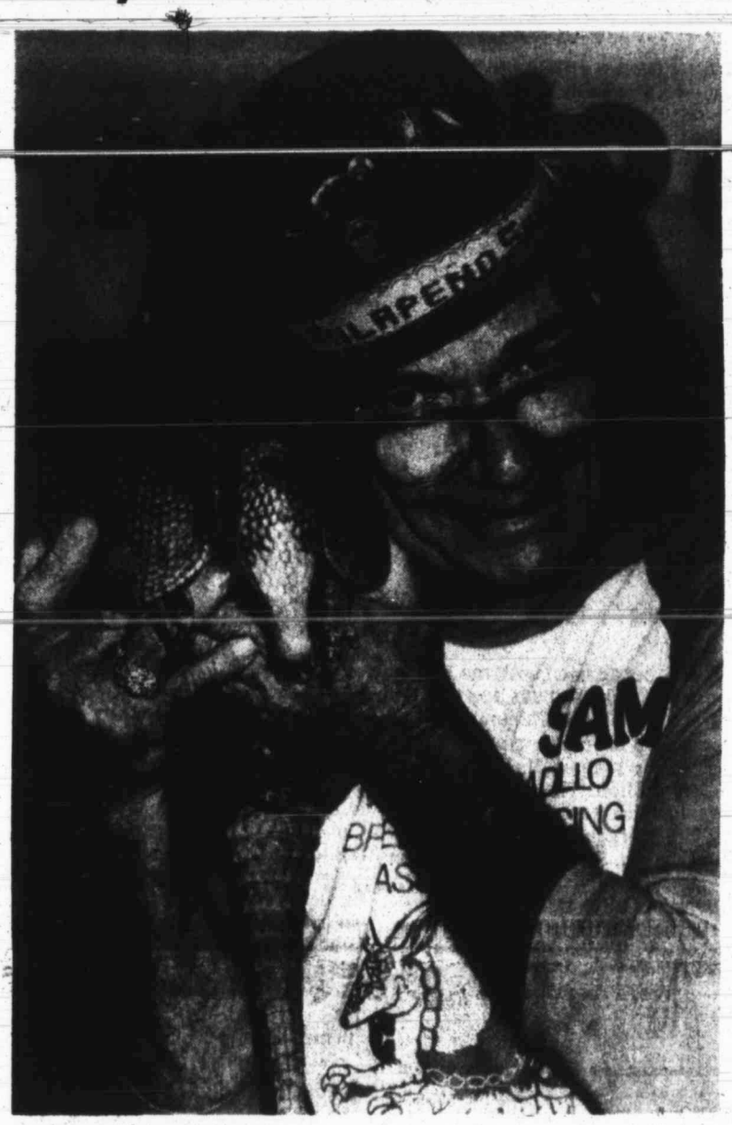

"Enrique always had the ugliest armadillo you ever saw. One year Hondo had won — again. He had a real pretty pink and soft armadillo," Lewis said. "Enrique told Hondo, 'Well, yours might be prettier, but mine is faster.' So we set up a circle track, and Enrique's won."

The race site moved to Victoria that year at the prompting of some visitors from the South Texas town who observed the race. For the next six years — until 1975 — the world championship races were conducted in Victoria at the "International Armadillo Confab and Exposition."

Drinking and rowdiness caused the group to move the race site to San Angelo to coincide with the city's Fiesta del Concho Days celebration, Lewis said.

Racing armadillos, however, is

"Jalapeno" Sam Lewis of San Angelo, an armadillo breeder and racer, will be at the Highland Mall Oct. 12 in conjunction with the first Chicken-Fried Steak World Championship. Funds raised by the armadillo races will benefit the United Way.

Chicken-fried steak lovers have it made

By KEELY COGHLAN

Some people will do anything for the taste of a "true" chicken-fried steak.

They'll drive miles to check out the competition in little West Texas towns. They'll boldly go into small hole-in-the-wall diners where the decaying formica countertops look biodegradable and ladle on the homestyle gravy.

Their Sundays are spent in search of the perfect chicken fried steak with a single-mindedness found only among the rabid.

For once, the perfect chicken-fried steak will come to them.

As part of fundraising efforts for the Big Spring-Howard County United Way, the Highland Mall is sponsoring the first Chicken-fried Steak World Championship Oct. 12.

Entry deadline for the cookoff is Saturday. Entry fee is $25 and should be mailed to the CFS World Championship, 23 Highland Mall, Big Spring 79720. Meat will be provided for the cookoff.

The contest starts at 10 a.m. at the mall and will be judged by retired Dallas Cowboys Preston Pearson and Harvey Martin.

In addition to the cookoff, a Fun Run and a 5K run also are scheduled for the weekend.

Entertainment will be provided by local musicians Jay Phinney and Nabors who will play inside the mall from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. the day of the contest. Meanwhile, the Big Spring Federal Prison Outlaw Band will perform from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. outside the mall.

During the cookoff, each of the county United Way agencies will have at least two fund-raising booths to help boost donations toward the county goal.

Crash report: pilot not warned of storm

WASHINGTON (AP) — A "tornado" or "waterspout" was seen at the end of a Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport in the minutes before Delta Flight 191 crashed while trying to land Aug. 2.

But National Transportation Safety Board documents indicated Monday the pilot of Flight 191 never was warned of the storm's severity. Less than 10 minutes before the crash he was told by air traffic controllers that there was "only a little rain" north of the airport.

A transcript of exchanges in the cockpit just before the crash supported the wind-shear theory because the crew could be heard struggling to increase power amid the backdrop of engines revving to maximum power.

Investigators have speculated that the crash, which killed 136 people, was caused by wind shear, a severe change of wind direction that literally forced the Lockheed L-1011 jumbo jet into the ground as it was about to land.

"Push it up, push it way up, way up," pilot Edward Connors exhorted his co-pilot, Rudolph Price Jr.

"Way up," Price responded, with the sounds of the engines increasing power and the "whoop, whoop, pull up pull up" warning of the ground proximity alarm in the background.

This was followed by a sound similar to a landing and someone saying, "Oh ..." and what the NTSB called a non-printable word. Almost immediately there was the sound of a second impact and silence.

The flight, from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., was bound for Los Angeles with an interim stop at Dallas when it encountered heavy rain, lightning and treacherous winds short of the runway. The plane first touched down in a field, bounded across a highway where it struck a car and crashed into water tanks before bursting into flames.

According to the transcript from the cockpit voice recorder, the crew was concerned during the approach about severe weather in the area. Several times they criticized air traffic controllers for directing them too close to a severe weather cell.

"We're going to get our airplane washed," Price, a 15-year veteran with Delta, remarked. A short time later, about 90 seconds before the crash, he observed lightning "right ahead of us" as the plane continued its descent.

"You get good legs, don't ya," quipped the flight engineer, referring to the co-pilot and pilot switching off flying duties on different legs of the trip. The co-pilot was at the controls.

As they spoke, another Delta crew, its plane taxiing away from the runway after having landed, already had noticed the severe weather along the approach path.

"Is that a waterspout out there on the end (of the runway)?" the pilot of the Boeing 737 remarked.

"I don't know. Sure looks like it, doesn't it? Looks like a tornado or something. I've never seen anything like it," the co-pilot replied.

About 2½ minutes later, the two Delta crew members, neither of whom was identified, saw the fireball beyond the runway where Flight 191 had crashed.

According to sources close to the investigation, there is no indication that the sighting of a possible tornado on the approach was ever relayed to the control tower or on to Flight 191.

While lightning was seen from the airport tower and at least 20 pilots saw the severe weather developing to the north end of the airport runway before Flight 191's arrival "this observation was not disseminated to any flights on tower frequency," the NTSB documents said.

Heckler mulling Reagan's request

MARGARET HECKLER
...may go to Ireland

WASHINGTON (AP) — Margaret M. Heckler, her bid to continue as secretary of health and human services apparently rejected, is weighing a request by President Reagan that she surrender her Cabinet chair and become ambassador to Ireland.

Reagan offered the ambassadorship to Heckler in an Oval Office meeting Monday, White House spokesman Larry Speakes said, and Heckler "asked for a few days to consider the president's offer."

She had asked to meet with Reagan in a last-ditch effort to keep her job after days of rumors that she would be given the ambassadorship to ease her out of the Cabinet. She has described the Ireland posting as "a lovely position — for someone else."

She had no comment following the meeting, brushing by reporters to return to HHS headquarters. There, she met for about half an hour with a few close aides. Heckler's press aide, Claire del Real, said the secretary would have no immediate comment.

Speakes told a White House briefing that Heckler has "served with distinction as a member of Congress and as a member of the Cabinet" and, as a woman of Irish descent, "she would make a valuable contribution in U.S.-Irish relations and be able to work toward solving problems in the region." Her full maiden name was Margaret Mary O'Shaughnessy.

"Mrs. Heckler has asked for a few days to consider the president's offer and will respond at that time," Speakes said. "Meanwhile, she remains as secretary of health and human services."

Speakes insisted the president was not dissatisfied with her per-

High school juniors taking minimum competency tests

From staff and wire reports

Local high school juniors are taking special tests today and tomorrow to determine if they know enough to get a diploma.

They are among students throughout Texas faced 72 multiple-choice questions about reading and writing today. Wednesday, the same students will get 72 math questions.

Test questions were kept under tight security, so local officials couldn't estimate their difficulty, but the test is on a 12th-grade level, said Big Spring Independent School District superintendent Lynn Hise.

In past years, high school students took a Texas Asessment of Basic Skills (TABS) test, which is on a ninth-grade level, but weren't required to pass it in order to graduate, Hise said.

Results from this week's test will not be available until mid or late November, Texas Education Agency officials say.

About 62,000, or one-fourth of the state's 11th graders, will flunk the "exit-level" tests the first time, school officials predict.

Black and Hispanic students could be hit even harder. Students have three more opportunities to pass the test to graduate with their class. Those who fail this week's tests, and following exams, will not get a

De Lorean free; trial set for Nov.

DETROIT — John Z. De Lorean is free on $1 million unsecured bond as his attorneys prepare a defense against federal charges that he bilked investors in his defunct auto enterprise out of $8.9 million.

U.S. District Judge Julian Cook on Monday ordered the jury trial to begin Nov. 18.

The trial likely will run six to eight weeks, including the time needed to take statements from witnesses in Europe, Assistant U.S. Attorney Joseph E. Papelian told Cook at a pretrial conference.

De Lorean, 60, need not put up any money for the unsecured bond but would be liable for the $1 million penalty should he fail to meet the terms of his release, which require him not to leave the country, to surrender his passport and to report weekly on his whereabouts.

Through his attorney, Howard Weitzman, De Lorean pleaded innocent to all counts during his arraignment Monday before U.S. Magistrate Virginia Morgan.

"It's not the homecoming I was looking forward to," De Lorean said as he left the courthouse.

De Lorean, who recently went through a bitter divorce from model Cristina Ferrare and won acquittal in Los Angeles on cocaine trafficking charges, smiled and looked relaxed as he waited for the arraignment to start, sitting on the edge of a table while television artists sketched him.

A federal indictment last month accused De Lorean of siphoning money invested in De Lorean Research Limited Partnership, established to design his cars, into his personal account through a series of transactions involving a Panamanian corporation, GPD Services Inc., and several European banks.

The indictment charged that De Lorean used $7.5 million of the money to pay off a debt he had guaranteed in the purchase of a Utah manufacturer of snow-grooming equipment.

De Lorean Motor Co., founded in 1975, went bankrupt in 1982 after building gull-winged, stainless-steel sports cars in Northern Ireland. The money was diverted beginning in 1978, the indictment said.

The separate research organization was established for tax purposes and to provide a profit center separate from the parent auto company, De Lorean said in his autobiography, published in September by Zondervan Corp. of Grand Rapids.

De Lorean wrote that forming a limited partnership "allowed investors to take a tax deduction during the period when the money was being used for research and development and also allowed them to benefit if everything worked."

He wrote that each of 35 partners who placed $100,000 into the research and development program could have netted $600,000 or $700,000 in capital gains from the initial investment.

Some investors contributed their shares in the limited partnership to charity while De Lorean Motor still was a going concern. "They did well with their investments, showing a substantial tax profit," De Lorean said.

If convicted of the racketeering charge, De Lorean would face a maximum of 20 years in prison, $25,000 in fines and forfeiture of any property acquired or maintained in the alleged enterprise.

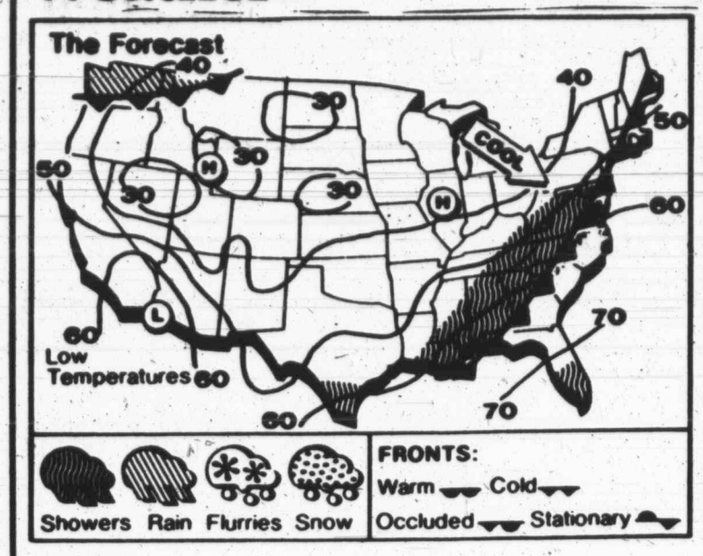

The other charges in the 15-count indictment — mail fraud, wire fraud, interstate transportation of stolen money, income tax evasion and causing false tax returns to be filed — carry lesser sentences.

More electric power sought

Texas Utilities Electric Co. has applied for permission with the Public Utilities Commission to construct combustion turbines at gas and oil fueled plants near Monahans, Colorado City and Granbury. The units, which are part of the company's 10-year resource plan for meeting growth, will allow the company to produce an additional 960 megawatts of energy.

The project will cost an estimated $488.6 million. The company must get the commission's approval to add the turbines to the Permian Basin Steam Electric Station near Monahans, the Morgan Creek Steam Electric Station near Colorado City and the DeCordova Steam Electric Station near Granbury.

an art, Lewis said.

"You have to blow on their hair," he said. "Most people don't know it but they've got real coarse hair on the outside of their shell. You have to blow on their hair, make noises and chase them, like a chicken trying to chase another chicken."

Armadillo races have become fixtures at the World Champion Chili Cookoffs in Terlingua, said Lewis, who is a director and one of the founders of the chili cookoff. The races are also staples at fundraisers, such as the one in Big Spring, he said.

But although he laughs and jokes about the armadillos, the animals are serious business, Lewis said. He's president of the World Armadillo Breeding and Racing Association, headquartered in San Angelo.

The group raises the animals, teaching them how to eat — "they won't eat unless you teach them how," said Lewis — for use in medical research on leprosy. Armadillos are the only animals immune to leprosy, though they often carry the disease, he said.

The association also has sent armadillos to the Moscow Zoo, a zoo in Australia and to the Peking Zoo in China, Lewis said.

"I anticipate the worst," Jon Brumley, chairman of the State Board of Education, said about the mandatory English and math tests ordered by the 1984 major school reform bill.

"You're going to have a lot of unhappy people out there, and I don't know if they will take their wrath out on the local school district or the state," Brumley said.

Attorneys for the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund said they would watch test results closely for any discrimination. The organization already has blocked, at least temporarily, a Texas school test required for college students who want to become teachers.

State school officials estimate that about 24 percent of all those taking the two-hour English language test today will make a failing grade while 25 percent will flunk the math test on Wednesday — a total of about 62,000 students.

They also have estimated the failing grades among all blacks will be at least 45 percent and 35 percent for all Hispanics.

Those making failing grades will be able to take the exit-level tests again on May 1-2, and two more times during their senior year, said Pat Potter, Texas Education Agency director for special programs.

State Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby has predicted to the Board of Education that the passing average will rise rapidly the next two years as the state's new emphasis on academics in schools becomes effective.

The tougher new curriculum standards, laid down by the Legislature, did not become effective until the 1985-86 school year.

The Legislature's mandate for exit-level tests also requires school districts to provide courses to help those students who do not make passing scores. Special remedial help must be provided each failing student.

Hise said no special classes will be set aside for those that don't pass the test, but students will be given remedial instruction in subjects they need help with.

Officials at HHS say privately that Heckler's options are limited. She can accept the ambassador's post or she can resign outright. She serves at the pleasure of the president, however, and his request to vacate the HHS office cannot be declined.

Rumors of Heckler's impending departure have circulated periodically for months, generally focusing on questions of her ability to manage the mammoth, 145,000-employee department with its $330 billion budget.

The department's activities directly affect tens of millions of Americans, through Medicare, Medicaid, Social Security, the Food and Drug Administration or dozens of other subsidiary agencies.

Shriners sue

HOUSTON (AP) — Shriners Hospitals for Crippled Children alleges in a $9-million lawsuit that a Houston lawyer and a bank plotted to pocket money bequeathed to the charity by a wealthy businessman.

The suit, filed in federal court Monday, names as defendants Allied Bank of Texas and bank vice president James H. Albert.

The suit alleges attorney Thomas E. Lucas, who died in October 1984, never told Shriners Hospitals that his client, wealthy businessman James B. Harvey, had left the charity the bulk of his estate.

Car rams motel wall

The Ponderosa Motel at 2700 Gregg suffered $800 damage Monday evening when a car drove into the south side wall, according to police reports.

No one was injured in the one-vehicle accident that occurred at 5:15 p.m. Monday, the report stated.

Shirley Tanner Donaghe, 63, of Big Lake was trying to park her 1978 blue Oldsmobile Delta 88 in the motel parking lot, facing north, when the vehicle jumped the raised sidewalk and struck the wall, the report stated.

Donaghe may have had a medical problem that contributed to the accident, the report stated. In addition, she was ticketed for failure to maintain liability insurance, the report said.

Tax period extended

WASHINGTON — President Reagan has signed a bill extending the 16-cent-a-pack federal tax on cigarettes through Nov. 14, despite his misgivings about any such tax increase.

White House spokesman Rusty Brashear announced early today that Reagan had signed the bill before midnight Monday, when the new fiscal year took effect.

Extension of the tax is considered a tax increase because it was scheduled under the law to drop to 8 cents at midnight Monday.

Farm workers unite

WOODBURY, N.J. — Fourteen migrant farm workers are on their way to establishing New Jersey's first unionized farm and supporters predict that farm laborers throughout the Northeast will begin consolidating their collective power next summer.

Workers on a 300-acre farm in Cumberland County voted unanimously Sunday for union representation, and Superior Court Judge Edward S. Miller recognized the union Monday. He ordered farmers Issac and Saul Levin to begin negotiating a contract, apparently the first ever for New Jersey farm workers.

Prosecutors assailed

NEW ORLEANS — Federal prosecutors are trying to spice up a weak case by dredging up Gov. Edwin Edwards' $800,000 gambling debts to Nevada casinos, his defense lawyer says.

"They're going to try to draw your minds away from the fact that they ain't got a case," James Neal of Nashville, Tenn., told the jury hearing the racketeering and fraud case against Edwards and seven others.

Edwards, his brother Marion and six others are accused of taking part in a $10 million scheme to obtain state certification for hospital corporations in which they held interests.

Rajneesh burns books

RAJNEESHPURAM, Ore. — Rajneeshism was created by a "gang of fascists" and had to be destroyed, Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh said after ritually burning 5,000 copies of his sect's book of beliefs and declaring the movement he founded "far better than a religion."

Rajneesh, 53, said Monday night that Ma Anand Sheela, his former personal secretary who fled two weeks ago with other Rajneeshee leaders, surrounded his teachings with the trappings of organized religion.

Sheela, who abruptly fled the central Oregon commune-city she helped found, was responsible for the "Book of Rajneeshism," a 78-page book that described the movement's beliefs, he said in a news conference.

LEBANESE CHILDREN take shelter from the sun beneath a truck near Tripoli, Lebanon, Monday. Police in the city said last Saturday that at least 273 people were killed and 714 wounded since Sept. 15 in fighting between Syrian-supported leftist militias and Palestinian-backed Tawheed Islami militias.

Lebanese clash

Radio reports one abducted Soviet killed

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A Christian-controlled radio station quoted an anonymous caller as saying kidnappers killed a Soviet diplomat today after a deadline passed for an end to militia fighting in Tripoli.

The Voice of Lebanon radio said the caller identified the man as the cultural attache of the Soviet Embassy who was kidnapped Monday in Beirut.

There was no independent confirmation of the report.

According to the radio's account, the caller did not give the Soviet's name. On Monday, police said the embassy cultural attache, Arkady Katakov, was one of four men abducted on Monday.

The Voice of Lebanon radio said the caller claimed the attache was killed at 1 p.m. (6 a.m. EDT). That was the deadline given in an earlier call by a man who demanded that Syria restrain militia allies fighting Tawheed forces in Tripoli.

Earlier, the Voice of the Nation radio, which is controlled by Moslems, said an anonymous caller told the station the Soviets would be killed one every hour starting at midday (5 a.m. EDT).

On Monday, three Soviet diplomats and a doctor were kidnapped from their cars in west Beirut. Two groups claimed responsibility.

A statement from the "Islamic Liberation Organization — Khaled Ibn al-Walid Forces" distributed to Beirut newspapers today threatened the group would kill the Soviets unless fighting in Tripoli ended.

"We shall execute them all. We shall have no mercy," said the statement. "The attack on Moslem Tripoli should stop. The heretic forces should pull back from around this heroic city. The responsibility for the lives of the Soviet captives lies with these forces and Syria."

On Monday the Islamic Jihad terror group also claimed it had abducted the Soviets. Islamic Jihad, which claims to hold six Americans and four Frenchmen, also warned the Soviets would be killed unless the fighting in Tripoli stopped.

The kidnappers had set the deadline to kill the Soviets one per hour after leftist forces loyal to Syria, the main Soviet ally in the Middle East, broke through defenses of Moslem fundamentalists in the northern port of Tripoli.

The militias closed in on the harbor, staging the most damaging offensive in a battle for control of Lebanon's second largest city since fighting began Sept. 15. About 450 people have died in the fighting.

Militiamen of the Moscow-oriented Lebanese Communist Party are fighting alongside militias of the Syrian-backed Arab Democratic Party, the Syrian Social Nationalist Party and the Baath party to control Tripoli.

They accuse their foes, Tawheed Islami or the Islamic Unification Movement, of allowing Yasser Arafat to ship arms to his Palestine Liberation Organization through the port.

Communiques said the breakthrough in the four-day leftist onslaught came at dawn today, when the pro-Syrian militiamen punched across Tripoli's northern and southern entrances to close in on the harbor.

Students boycott schools

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa — Tens of thousands of students boycotted Cape Town's mixed-race schools which reopened today after a nearly month-long closure because of rioting, and police said three more blacks died in anti-apartheid violence.

Police headquarters in Pretoria reported scattered unrest in Cape Town and seven other areas. Two blacks were burned to death by mobs, and police shot and killed a third man in a rock-throwing crowd, police said.

Rescue efforts blamed

MEXICO CITY — Efforts to rescue thousands of people buried under the rubble of two deadly earthquakes were initially hampered by "complete chaos," says a U.S. Embassy official.

"If you're talking about a coordinated effort, I'm afraid there was none," Guido del Prado, the U.S. Embassy's rescue coordinator, told a news conference on Monday. "I believe if we had the right equipment and the right people to work with, we would have saved a lot more lives without any question."

Gangs protest Nazis

FRANKFURT, West Germany — Gangs of teenagers attacked each other with chairs grabbed from sidewalk cafes, and threw beer bottles and rocks at a police van in a rioting that began with a protest against neo-Nazis and the death of a demonstrator.

Riot police blocked hundreds of leftists from marching through downtown Frankfurt Monday to protest the death of a demonstrator who was run over by a police truck during a violent protest two days earlier. However, the protesters promised to return today.

U.S. journalist killed

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan — Afghan rebels said today that American journalist Charles Thornton was killed in a battle zone in Afghanistan on Sept. 25, and that two American doctors and another journalist with him were wounded.

The rebel sources, speaking in Peshawar, Pakistan, said the men were being escorted through the battle area by rebels.

Soviets make proposals

GENEVA, Switzerland — Soviet negotiators today finished proposing a "well-balanced" package of drastic new arms control measures at a second extraordinary meeting of the U.S.-Soviet arms talks, the chief Soviet delegate said.

Israel claims 20 killed in raid on PLO

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Six Israeli warplanes bombed the headquarters of the Palestine Liberation Organization today. Isreal radio and the Israeli military command said at least 20 people were killed.

Nabil Amer, a PLO spokesman in Amman, Jordan, said in a telephone interview, "we think there are about 35 wounded or killed." In Cairo, Egypt, a PLO spokesman said one person was killed and "a number" of people were wounded.

There was no explanation for the different casualty figures.

The Israeli military command said the raid in the southern suburb of Borg Cedria, about 20 miles south of Tunis, was in retaliation for the killing of three Israelis in Cyprus last week.

Blacks protest killing in Ga.

ASHBURN, Ga. (AP) — More than 30 state troopers and Georgia Bureau of Investigation agents remained on patrol today after an hour-long rock- and bottle-throwing melee by hundreds of blacks protesting the police killing of a fleeing black prisoner.

The reinforcements patrolled through the night and the calm was broken only once, about 1:40 a.m. today, when a car carrying a trooper and GBI agent was shot near a bar frequented by blacks. Officials said the car was hit but neither man was injured.

"I don't know what tomorrow may bring," said Turner County Sheriff Lamar Whiddon.

The extra officers were called in from nearby towns when the melee broke out about 6:30 p.m. Monday, 3½ hours after Robert Wright was killed as he fled from a hearing at the county courthouse, Whiddon said.

Wright, 22, was in court for a probation revocation hearing. About 2:50 p.m, he ran from a second floor courtroom and down the back stairs into an alley, Whiddon said.

House comes to corps' rescue

The Job Corps is one of the most expensive and least effective job-training programs in the United States. Nevertheless, Congress has given this Great Society boondoggle a new lease on life by funding the program next year at its current level of $617 million.

Established in 1965 as a centerpiece of President Lyndon Johnson's War on Poverty, the Job Corps was designed to aid disadvantaged school dropouts between the ages of 16 and 21 who have no prospects for advancement. In theory, the corps removes these individuals from their negative environment and then provides them with food, shelter, spending money, clothes, health care, counseling, education, and vocational training. After a year or two, they are supposedly ready to enter the work force with a renewed sense of responsibility.

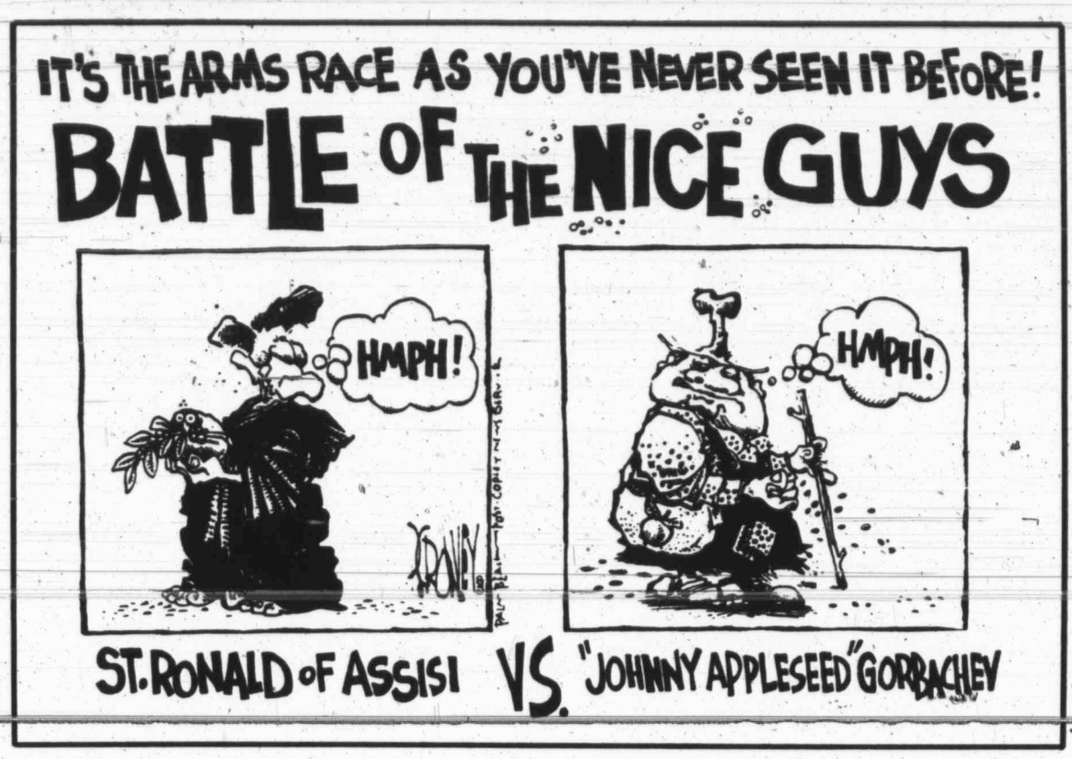

Trouble is, that rosy scenario is largely a sham.

It is estimated that two-thirds of the enlistees quit the corps before completing their training course. Many of the graduates, moreoever, are no better off than when they entered the program.

In fact, several studies by the General Accounting Office have concluded that Job Corps trainees do not perform materially better than other youths who applied for — but declined participation in — the program. Indeed, the GAO found that corps trainees who dropped out within the first 30 days had higher earnings afterward than did those who remained in the program up to six months. And a 1981 UCLA study documented that the trainees who received corps assistance in finding work actually had a lower employment rate than the trainees who tried to find work on their own.

Meanwhile, the Office of Management and Budget estimates that each of the Job Corps's 40,000 training slots cost $15,000 per year — more than three times the cost of other types of federal, state, and local training programs.

President Reagan asked Congress to eliminate funding for the Job Corps next year. Unfortunately, the Democratic-controlled House came to the program's rescue, and taxpayers are stuck with the corps for fiscal 1986. Clearly, the continuation of this profligate program is a depressing testimonial to the triumph of hope over expectation.

Review brings out flaws in award of scholarships

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — For the second time in 18 months, a federal program that grants scholarships to American Indians for medical studies has come under fire. Oversight officials have questioned practices that may have resulted in preference given to relatives of employees in the agency that administers the program.

The earlier review concluded that the program's rules may have been bent to allow award of a $33,264 scholarship at Harvard to the daughter of Dr. Everett Rhoades, director of the Indian Health Service, which manages the program.

Although no evidence of impropriety on Rhoades' part was found, reforms were made in the application-review process.

"While there is some evidence that procedures were modified to allow the award to Dorothy Rhoades, indications are that Dr. Rhoades did not play a direct role in bending any rules," states the March 1984 report.

The more recent review was completed earlier this month by the inspector general of the Health and Human Services Department. The unreleased draft report, obtained by our associate Tony Capaccio, found "weaknesses in many aspects" of the scholarship award and review process.

"Our review of 50 applicant files during the period 1981-85 disclosed numerous instances where the IHS (Indian Health Service) internal controls were bypassed," the report states. For example, it notes, seven of the 50 applications were processed an average of 12 days after the filing deadlines had passed, while 25 others showed no date of receipt.

"IHS officials couldn't tell us why the seven applications were processed after the cutoff date," the report states. "Compliance with the due date is necessary to assure fairness in considering all applicants. By granting awards to individuals who may not have met the IHS filing deadlines, other qualified applicants may have been denied awards."

In addition, the inspector general found 20 applicants who listed Indian Health Service employees as references. In itself this is not prohibited, but "examination disclosed many deviations from established procedures" for the employee-related applicants.

For example, the inspector general concluded that eight of the related applicants were given higher academic ratings by agency reviewers than their scholastic records justified, while 14 of the applications showed no evidence that filing deadlines had been enforced.

In the Rhoades case, the director's attorney said the earlier report "was not grossly inaccurate, and we're not saying that it misses the mark, but it does not tell the whole story." The attorney said that a forthcoming inspector general report will conclude that Dorothy Rhoades "deserved the scholarship and won it fair and square."

After the director's daughter missed the minimum score for a scholarship by one point, according to the 1984 report, she was re-evaluated outside established procedures and received a higher rating.

Although the director "maintains that he did not receive negative advice," the 1984 report states, "the evidence indicates that elements of his staff did go to him and contend that he could be compromised and possibly embarrassed if the award was accepted by his daughter."

Rhoades was told by the program coordinator that "there was no ethical problem with the award." The report adds: "Apparently he accepted the latter's advice and the award was made to this daughter. Notwithstanding the above, the award of a scholarship to the daughter of a high-ranking official by that person's staff is an apparent conflict of interest in my view."

The report concluded that "the system operative over the past years" was to blame for such situations and made the Indian Health Service vulnerable to criticism.

UPDATING THE OUTRAGE: We've reported on the abuse of constitutional rights by federal drug busters who can't be bothered to differentiate between marijuana growers and their innocent neighbors. Earlier this year, a federal judge issued an injunction forbidding the excesses. But residents of northern California have filed 70 sworn statements with the court, accusing the pot-seekers of repeated violations, and a suit has been brought in Oregon seeking a nationwide injunction, charging that similar abuses have occurred in Virginia, West Virginia, Arkansas and Vermont.

CONFIDENTIAL FILE: Prostitution may be officially a non-fact of life in the Soviet bloc, but you'd never know it from a visit to one of the tourist-class hotels in Warsaw. High-priced hookers swarm all over the lobbies, propositioning American and other Western businessmen in full view of the secret "house dicks." Despite occasional warnings by the American Embassy that at lest some of the prostitutes are spies, business is brisk. At the going rate of $100 cash, the traffic brings considerable hard currency into the Polish economy.

MINI-EDITORIAL: Have you heard about the "ladder wars" in the White House press corps? Some years ago, it seems, Japanese cameramen began carrying around tiny ladders, to give them a slight height advantage at "photo opportunities." The idea caught on, and other news photographers and cameramen began carrying ladders. Three-footers were introduced, then 4-footers, then 6-footers. At some photo-ops, says photographer Bernie Boston of the Los Angeles Times, there is such a "sea of ladders" that it's easier to shoot at ground level.

Deterrence is best pattern of defence

Mikhail Gorbachev may not think like a Westerner but he knows how to talk like one. "The principal question that we must answer," he told Time magazine when asked about Soviet-American relations, "is whether we are at last ready to recognize that there is no other way to live at peace with each other and whether we are prepared to switch our mentality and our mode of acting from a warlike to a peaceful track. As you say, live and let live."

One idea endorsed by the General Secretary in the interest of "peaceful coexistence" is a ban on chemical weapons in central Europe, a proposal agreed on by the government of East Germany and the Social Democratic party of West Germany.

"The U.S.S.R. would be ready to guarantee and respect the status of the zone if the United States acted likewise," he said after a recent meeting in Moscow with Johannes Rau, a prominent West German Social Democrat. In Europe, which has seen the horrors of gas warfare first-hand, proposals like this are hard to resist.

In a basic sense, Golrbachev's tolerant prescription is perfectly sincere. What animates it, though, is not goodwill but fear. The Soviet Union doesn't coexist peacefully with Poland or Afghanistan. The United States is treated differently because it is equipped differently. It alone has the capacity to destroy the Soviet Union. The Soviets have good reason to pursue their ends more cautiously when American interests are invovled.

The right way to define the Soviet-American relationship is not "live and let live" but deterrence, which in plain terms means: Let us live or you, too, will die. This formulation has a less beatific ring, but also the advantage of realism.

The chemical weapons proposal lacks that virtue. It would make as much sense for the U.S. and the Soviet Union to declare central Europe a chemical weapons-free zone as it does for your neighborhood Unitarian church to declare itself a nuclear-free zone. The important thing, after all, is not where the weapons are if a conflict begins, but where they are when it ends.

In the case of a Soviet invasion, central Europe wouldn't remain free of poison gas for long. Though since 1969 the U.S. has observed a moratorium on producing chemical weapons, the Soviets have amassed a large arsenal of chemical weapons.

A ban on poison gas would be hopelessly unenforceable, since they require only small production facilities. Even if the Soviets were to agree to unlimited on-site inspections, which is about as likely as Gorbachev becoming a born-again Christian, there is no way the U.S. could inspect every possible site, or even a respectable share of them.

Never mind that. Assuming the Soviets would scrupulously observe the gas ban until a war began, they still would be free to keep their existing stocks elsewhere. Moving these weapons into the European theater would take no time at all, and they could be useful in achieving Soviet ends, such as killing Allied troops and demoralizing the enemy population.

The beauty of poison gas is that it doesn't have to be used to give the Soviets an edge. Knowing of the danger, NATO forces would have to don protective gear, which severely hinders performance. Threatening to use it could be as potent in destroying civilian morale as actually doing so.

Europe won't be saved from gas warfare by a meaningless treaty.

Refrain from temptations

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My boyfriend is putting me under a lot of pressure to have sex with him. I have always been taught to think that should be saved for marriage, but he says if I really love him I will show it by engaging in sex. I love him and want to keep him, but should I give in? — F.D.

DEAR F.D.: Don't believe your boyfriend when he says, "If you love me you will let me." Frankly, that is one of the oldest lines in the book — and it simply is not true. In fact, if he sincerely and truly loves you for yourself — and not just for what you might give him sexually — he won't want to have a sexual relationship until you are committed to each other in the bond of marriage. He will want instead what is best for you — and the best for you is to save yourself for the person God has for you as your husband.

God has clearly said that sexual relations are to be limited to a man and woman who have taken a vow before God to be married "as long as we both shall live." I know this may sound old-fashioned to you — but God is far wiser than we are, and He knows what is best for us. He knows that in the long run we only hurt ourselves (and others) when we commit immorality. It is my prayer that you will not allow yourself to be pressured into doing what is wrong — no matter how strong the temptation may seem.

But beyond this is larger question — the question of your relationship with God. The greatest discovery you can make is that God loves you, and that His way for us is always best — without exception. Open your heart to Jesus Christ — and then commit this whole area of your life to Him. Ask Him to lead you to the one He has for your partner for life — a man who will love you for yourself, and who loves Christ as well. Put Christ first, and don't accept anything less than His perfect will for your life.

Life in city less rushed, more spacious

By ED GRAHAM
(Third in a series of five)

After the move to Big Spring, one of the first things we did was tell friends back in California about our choice of residence:

Dear Joe and Jenny,

Greetings from Big Spring, Texas! We're happy here.

The house we're renting is great. Rents here are about one-third what they are in the San Francisco Bay Area, so we have easily expanded to a nice 3-bedroom home.

Our large back yard is bordered in the rear by a farm pasture with horses, cattle and even windmills. Beyond that, we can see for miles. It all feels so big and spacious — and Texan!

We are an easy bike ride from a very large city park, Mary's office, stores, and a state park on a bluff overlooking the city.

We spend a lot of time in the city park, Comanche Trail Park. I enjoy the sunrise there while doing the jogging/exercise course. It takes a lovely route past the historic spring and a small lake. (Surprisingly, I'm usually the only one on the trail. Jogging fever apparently hasn't hit very hard here!)

Another major attraction for Gabriel and me is the public library. It has an excellent selection of children's books and records, and it also features a children's storytime every Friday.

Mary is enjoying her work for the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf (SWCID). It's a rare and remarkable school, one of only two self-contained institutions of higher education for the deaf in the world.

Though Big Spring is blessed with SWCID and many other resources, it isn't what you would call a big city. Life here is more spacious and easy than in more urbanized areas.

Driving a car in city traffic here is not a tension-creating, frustrating experience. Parking places and spaces on the street are not rare commodities that stir up competitive lings. As someone commented to Mary, "A traffic jam here is 5 cars!"

In contrast to the overpopulation problems of the Bay Area, Big Spring has underpopulation problems. Though this is unfortunate, it certainly has its advantages.

When I dial a public agency here, for example, my call is answered on one of the first rings! This is a very welcome change from many hours of busy signals and "please hold" messages.

Well, that's all for now. It's time to go outside to watch another big, West Texas sunset.

Remember, you're always welcome to visit us here — or to move here, if you like! There's room for you in Big Spring!

Love,
Ed

Ed Graham of 2620 Langley Drive moved his family to Big Spring in August.

U.S. Embassy confirms nine Americans dead

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U.S. Embassy released this list Monday of nine Americans known to have died in the two earthquakes that struck Mexico City on Sept. 19 and 20:

- Mary Elizabeth Vallejo, a long-time resident of Mexico from Cozad, Neb., and her children, Ilse Anne and Alonso.
- Georgina M. Yunez of San Antonio. Embassy spokesman said her 10-month-old son also was killed, but had not been registered at the embassy as a U.S. citizen.
- Bruce Sloan of Newmarket, N.H.
- Ivan and Iraida Ducus of Puerto Rico.
- Joyce Albertha Moguel of New York, N.Y.
- Emery Takacs of Huntington Beach, Calif.

Spokesman Vince Hovanec said the embassy had a list of Americans presumed to have been in one of six Mexico City hotels that collapsed in the quakes, but their names were being withheld until their status was confirmed.

He said the embassy had no reports of hospitalized American citizens.

The names of 24 missing people were provided by relatives in the United States or Mexico, or from survivors who were in the hotels, Hovanec said.

He said embassy and consular personnel had checked with hospitals, morgues and shelters within a 100-mile radius of Mexico City.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

PURE WATER — Tom Wall demonstrates how easy it is to use the Crystal-Vend machines. Pure water is available at 25 cents a gallon through the machines at Safeway and Newsom's.

Crystal-Vend offers good-tasting water

Crystal-Vend brings crystal clear drinking water and purified, mineral-free water right to your container at only a fraction of the cost of other bottled water.

With the price of delivered bottled water going up due to skyrocketing fuel and labor costs, the Crystal-Vend machine bypasses those expenses. It offers good-tasting drinking water, as well as purified water for distilled water needs, at 25 cents a gallon.

The processing system within the Crystal-Vend machine eliminates sediments and water cloud, and dissolves chlorine, metallic salts and organic impurities. It also is designed to statically control bacteria.

The drinking water is ideal for cooking, coffee, tea, ice, fruit juices and aquariums, and it contains a trace of minerals for taste. However, the purified water is 99.9 percent mineral free and suitable for distilled water uses, such as steam irons, car batteries, photography and potted plants. It also is ideal for low sodium diets advised by doctors.

Not only is Crystal-Vend the best buy for your dollar, it also is the most convenient selection. Crystal-Vend machines are at three locations in Big Spring: Safeway at College Park Shopping Center; Safeway at 1300 Gregg; and Don Newsom's Food Center at 1910 Gregg. That means you don't have to wait on a home delivery. All you have to do is take your container by one of the locations and fill up at the coin-operated machine. Big users can fill five-gallon bottles, while small users have the option of getting as little as one gallon.

Crystal-Vend water exceeds all federal, state and county drinking water standards. The machine will turn on the sold-out light and refund your money if the high purity standards are not met by the purification system contained within the machine.

Try Crystal-Vend for 25 cents a gallon. If you have any questions, give Tom Wall a call at (915) 682-3781 in Midland.

Yeast offers food for thought

NEW YORK (AP) — Yeast, that single-celled fungus that puts the bounce in bread and bubbles in beer, is now offering biologists food for thought.

According to researchers, yeast is quickly rising as the medium of choice in the field of biotechnology. Yeast cells can be engineered to produce not only vaccines and medicines, but to provide fundamental understanding of the disease itself, especially cancer and AIDS.

Dear Abby

Winter woes eased by suggestions

DEAR ABBY: You published a letter from "Dreading Winter," whose problem was her next-door neighbors. It seems that these neighbors decided to heat their house with wood, and the smell of wood burning 24 hours a day, all winter long, made "Dreading's" eyes burn, her nose stuffy and her sinuses hurt. She said she even offered her neighbors $500 a winter not to burn wood, but she was turned down. "Dreading" says she's lived in her house for 25 years and can't afford to move.

You asked your readers for suggestions, so here's mine: I don't know the law in the state where "Dreading" resides, but the state of Georgia provides for an action against maintaining a private nuisance.

If "Dreading" can afford to offer her neighbor $500 a winter to heat her house, I'll bet she could find a hungry young lawyer who would handle the case.

ROSWELL, GA., ATTORNEY

DEAR ATTORNEY: Why discriminate against well-fed old lawyers? Read on for other suggestions from contributing readers

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to bring "Dreading Winter" into the 21st century of wood burning: Buy your neighbor a catalytic add-on, which would reduce the smoke by 80 percent. Or better yet, convince your neighbor to install a wood chip gasifier on an existing oil furnace. I heat an 11-room, 100-year-old home to 74 degrees on 15 tons of green 35 percent MC chips costing $360 per year, which produces no smoke or creosote.

N.W. HUDSON, MONTPELIER, VT.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Dreading Winter" to soak a towel in water, switsh it around the room, and watch how quickly the smoke disapears! One can also dispel smoke and other disagreeable odors by leaving a saucer of vinegar in each room. It works for me and is worth a try.

CHRISTINE D. IN TORRANCE, CALIF.

DEAR ABBY: I suspect that "Dreading Winter" has some kind of allergy. If she hasn't seen an allergist, that's the first thing to do. I am not a doctor, but I am allergic to any and all kinds of smoke.

ITCHING TO HELP

Dr. Donohue

Don't ignore lingering hoarseness

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Can you help me? I am 22 and have been healthy up to now. The only time I see a doctor is for a Pap smear once a year. Three weeks ago I had the flu, but I still have a hoarse voice and I cannot swallow when I eat. The back of my head hurts when I try. I have lost weight. Do you have any comments? — S.C.

Hoarseness that lasts more than three weeks, with or without the flu, has to be looked into. Your voice box has to be examined. The doctor can do that rather easily with a laryngoscope or perhaps with a simple mirror. I am sure this whole matter has been settled by now, but it's worthwhile making this important point for other readers.

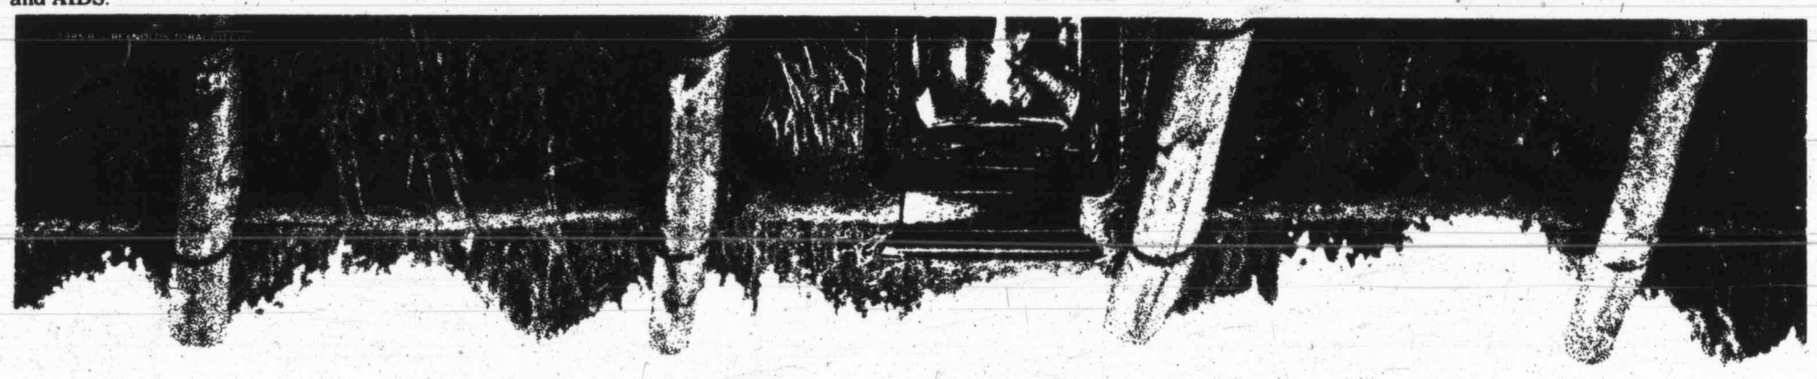

In such a situation, one thinks of various possibilities, like nodules or polyps on the vocal cords. Many times, they have to be removed before the voice returns. Or there may be an infection of the cords, one that can be identified only by taking a small speck of tissue for lab examination. Perhaps a nerve to the vocal cords is paralyzed.

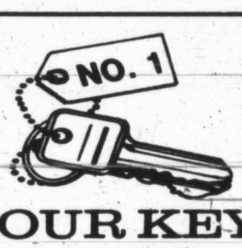

We all have some hoarseness at some time in our lives. That's usually laryngitis from a virus infection, but it goes away in a short time, certainly by three weeks.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I was diagnosed as being hyperthroid. I was having heart palpitations and was losing weight. I finally agreed to the radioactive iodine. Now my doctor is waiting for results. I couldn't ask all the questions I wanted. It's so very complicated. Maybe you can help. How much of my gland is still working? Why was I losing weight? Just fill me in on some of the essentials or send me material. — Mrs. P.H.

Did you know that 80 percent of stroke victims resume to some degree their former lives? The booklet "Stroke Recovery — Hope and Help" discribes the causes and treatment of stroke. For a copy write Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, enclosing a $1.00 and a long, stamped and self addressed envelope.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Crossroads Chalk Talk

Forsan remained the only unbeaten team in the Crossroads with a tough 21-20 victory over Rankin that highlighted the fourth week of football season.

Garden City and Stanton evened their records at 2-2 on the year with road victories over Klondike and Ozona respectively.

Borden County, Sands and Coahoma all lost games against three two of the better teams in West Texas in their classification, Six-Man Weinert, 1A O'Donnell and 2A Big Lake, in games that were much closer than the scores indicated.

Colorado City dropped to 2-2 as a result of a questionable 4th quarter touchdown nullification in their 13-12 loss to Abilene Wylie in Abilene.

Grady and Klondike are still looking for their first wins of the season at 0-4.

Here's what the Crossroads coaches had to say about last Friday's games.

TONY STRICKLAND, GARDEN CITY — On the newly found offensive firepower that propelled them to a 34-0 victory over Klondike.

Our offensive line really did a great job of blocking. That was the key. We've got some young kids on the line that are doing a good job. Everybody has been keying on Abby Madrid lately, so we've been running (Trey) Willey more and he's been running well.

Our passing game finally got untracked against Klondike because they weren't able to stack five men on the line and wait for us. (Kenny) Bennett threw the ball pretty well.

TONY STRICKLIN

TOM HAM

TOM HAM, KLONDIKE — On his team's fourth loss.

We're just trying to improve each week an get prepared for district. Every week we line up against people who are more experienced and bigger than we are and it hard to figure out a new plan each week to suprise them.

We drove the ball well at times against Garden City but we're still too inconsistent. Every time we got a drive started, we'd end up turning the ball over or getting a penalty. Our running game will improve with Rudy Landin back at full strength.

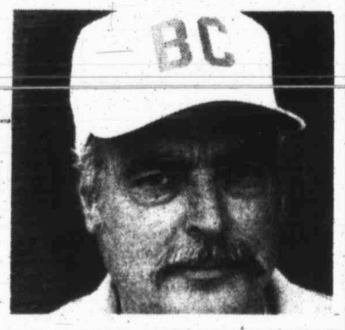

BRUCE MITCHELL, COAHOMA — On giving up three touchdowns in the last five minutes of a close game at Big Lake.

"The key play of the game for Big Lake was a third down and 25 at their own 15 yard line with about 5 minutes left in the game and the score 20-12. Their quarterback scrambled out of the pocket and went 70 yards. That play really broke our backs. They went on to score and then we had two straight turnovers deep in our own end of the field that they scored touchdowns on."

"You've got to give Big Lake credit. They have a very good ball club, but we played them tougher than the score indicated. Actually, up until the last five minutes we contained them pretty consistently on defense but we couldn't get our running game going. We're going to have be more consistent on offense and the key is establishing the running game."

BRUCE MITCHELL

DUKE FRISBEE

DUKE FRISBEE, BORDEN COUNTY — On the impressive team speed of Weinert.

"Here's as good an example as I know of. Chris (Cooley) broke two long runs against them and a different player caught him from behind both times. Chris never gets caught from behind."

"They (Weinert) are definitley one of the best teams in the state. We played pretty good offensively, but the defense didn't get the job done. We've lost to three good teams and it's time for us to start playing up to our capabilities with district starting next week."

JAN EAST, FORSAN — On his teams third quarter comeback after spotting Rankin a 12-7 halftime lead.

"We came out the second half with our backs to the wall and responded with two long (64 and 71 yard) touchdown drives. They were giving us the middle and Wayne Wright ran for some tough yardage behind Strickland's blocking in those drives."

"The kids showed a lot of character on those drives against a good Rankin team. We needed that kind of test to see what we are made of. If we come through these two games (O'Donnell next opponent) undefeated, we'll know we have a good ball club."

JAN EAST

CURRIE McWILLIAMS

CURRIE McWILLIAMS, GRADY — On seeing the light after playing four top-ranked Six-Man teams in a row.

"The kids are very positive despite the 0-4 record. They told me that if we could get past these four games they would be ready for district."

"We did some positive things against Jayton. They had only given up six points all year and we scored seven. We passed the ball effectively against then and our linemen came off the ball better than they had all year."

TOM RAMSEY, COLORADO CITY — Explaining the crucial fourth down call that kept Abilene Wylie alive in their 13-12 loss at Abilene.

Bengals upset Steelers, 37-24

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Boomer Esiason threw two touchdown passes to tight end Rodney Holman and picked apart Pittsburgh's league-leading defense with short passes as the previously winless Cincinnati Bengals rallied for a 37-24 National Football League victory over the Steelers on Monday night.

James Brooks, who ran for 133 yards, scored two touchdowns — one on a 14-yard run with 2:58 left in the first half and on a 32-yard scamper with 1:45 left in the game.

The Bengals, 1-3, snapped a two-year losing streak in the month of September by bouncing back from a third quarter, Mark Malone-led Pittsburgh rally that had turned a 21-10 deficit into a 24-21 lead in a span of 1:28.

Holman, taking advantage of the Steelers' tight coverage on wide receivers Cris Collinsworth and Eddie Brown, landed scoring passes of 26 and 4 yards as the Bengals won for the fourth time in six years in Pittsburgh.

With the Steelers leading 24-21 in the fourth quarter, wide receiver Louis Lipps fumbled while attempting to pitch the ball back to Malone on a flea flicker play and linebacker Reggie Williams fell on the ball at the Pittsburgh 33.

Esiason scrambled for four yards, then rifled a 24-yard completion to Brown for a first down at the Pittsburgh 5. A play later, Esiason hit Holman over the middle for what proved the deciding score.

Jim Breech added a 32-yard field goal with 4:27 to go and Brooks got his second touchdown with 1:45 to play.

Eiason completed 19 of 27 passes for 184 yards and three touchdowns and didn't surrender an interception.

Cincinnati, which lost all four of its September games in 1984 during an 0-5 start, had taken a 14-7 lead with a pair of touchdowns within a 1:50 span in second period. After Brooks ran for the Bengals' first score, James Griffin picked off a Malone pass to give Cincinnati the ball at the Pittsburgh 33. Stanford Jennings ran seven yards before Esiason found Holman open in the end zone with 1:08 remaining in the half.

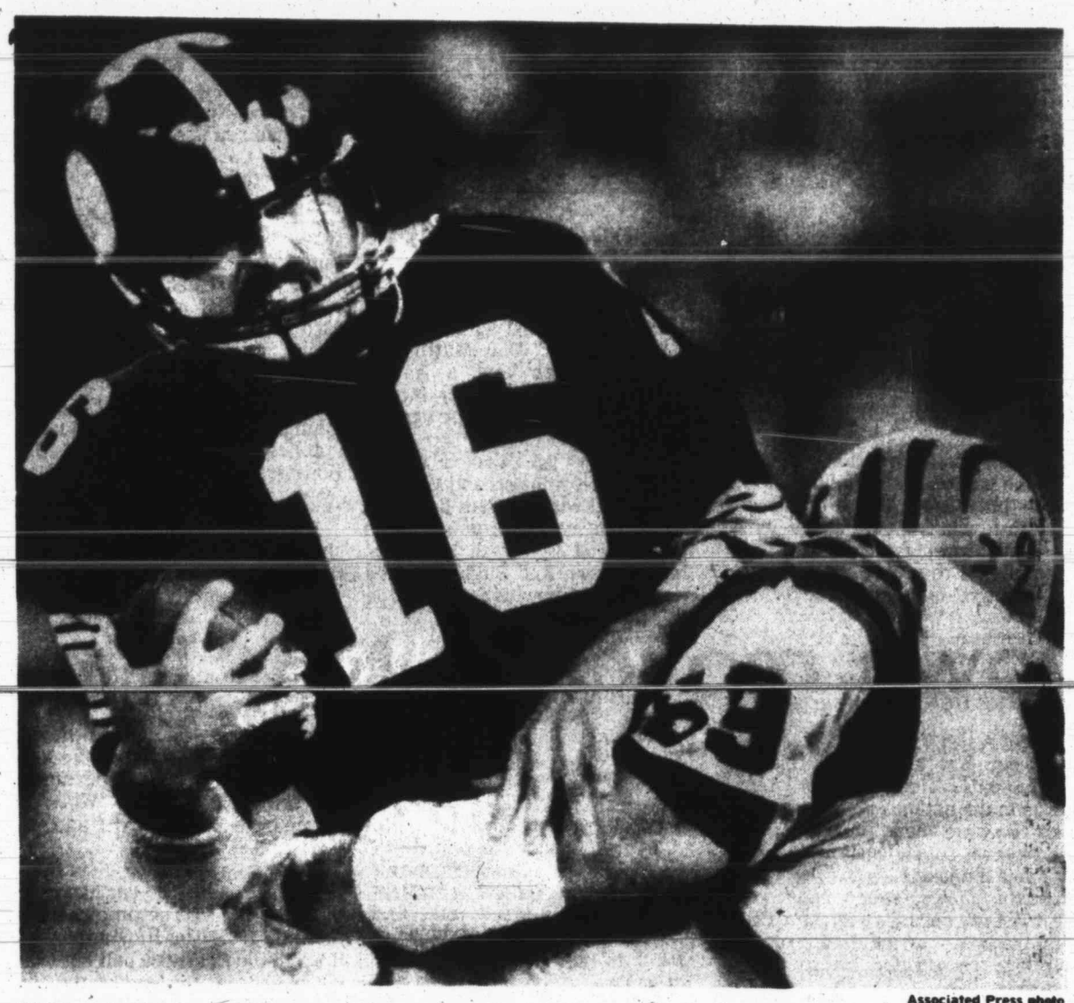

Brown, a rookie from the University of Miami, made it 21-10 with an eight-yard touchdown grab that capped a 79-yard scoring drive midway through the third period. Esiason set up the score with completions of 20 yards to Collinsworth, his first catch of the game, 13 yards to Charles Alexander and 11 yards to Jennings.

But the Steelers, 2-2, weren't done.

Stallworth, who caught 11 passes for 151 yards, hooked up with Malone on a 17-yard scoring pass play with 3:33 left in the third period. On the Bengals' second play after the kickoff, Jennings fumbled with Keith Gary recovering at the Bengals' 41 for the Steelers.

Malone needed only five mote plays to get Pittsburgh back on the scoreboard with a 4-yard scoring shot to Rich Erenberg with 2:05 left in the quarter.

But Malone, despite throwing for a career-high 374 yards while completing 26 of 44 passes, couldn't move the Steelers in the fourth period, with one Pittsburgh drive ending in a punt and another on an interception by the Bengals' Ray Horton.

Eagles shakeup 5A state rankings

By The Associated Press

It was a week of few upsets in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll but Abilene High caused a shuffle on the Class 5A list in a 7-7 tie with season-long Class 5A leader and defending state co-champion Odessa Permian.

Abilene High had a chance to win the game on their home field but missed a 21-yard field goal attempt at the end of the first half. Permian missed a similar chance at the end of the game when time ran out before they could get a 35-yard field goal attempt off.

It was only the fourth time since Permian head coach John Wilkins took over the reins in 1972 that Mojo had been tied or lost in District 4-5A competition. "we're not a good football team. I've seen signs of it the whole season. I'm not happy. I thought we should have won," commented Wilkins following the tie.

Abilene's deadlock allowed Houston Yates, 4-0, to move up from the No. 2 position to the top with 20 first place votes from The Associated Press panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Tomball faced a serious challenge for its 4A lead from No. 2 Denison but held onto the top position by a 234-226 point margin while Hempstead in 3A, Electra in 2A and Munday in A all held onto their No. 1 rankings.

Yates blanked Houston Austin 70-0, to catch the attention of the 25 voters in this week's poll. Permian dropped to fifth with Converse Judson assuming the No. 2 rank, followed by Houston Aldine and San Antonio Clark.

There were only three ties and two losses among the 50 ranked teams in the five classifications.

Seventh ranked Lubbock Estacado suffered the only blemish among the ranked Class 4A teams in a scoreless tie with Monahans. Estacado remained in the poll at the No. 10 position this week.

Tomball received 17 first place votes to seven for Denison, which trailed the lead by only eight points. Corsicana, Bay City and Huntsville remained 3-4-5 on the 4A list.

Hempstead, led by running back Harvey Williams, blanked Stafford 56-0 to reign over the 3A top 10, which escaped without an upset. Navasota, heading for a district showdown with Hempstead, remained No. 2 with a 19-8 victory over Willis, followed by No.3 three Littlefield, No 4, Daingerfield and No. 5 Columbus.

Electra received 21 first place votes and a 245-205 point lead over second place Hamlin in Class 2A while Alto, Universal Randolph and Groveton remained third, fourth and fifth.

Munday easily held onto its A lead with 24 of the 25 first place votes cast and a 249-219 point margin over second place Union Hill.

Fifth ranked Roscoe was a 31-0 loser to 2A No. 2 ranked Hamlin, No. 8 Valley lost to Nazareth 7-0, and No. 6 Godley was tied by Masonic Home, 6-6.

Granger, a 73-0 victor over Hutto, moved from seventh to fifth in the new lineup. Valley dropped out of the top 10 and was replace by Italy as the No. 10 team. Roscoe fell from fifth to ninth and Godley remained n the poll as the No. 8 team.

Steer Awards

Todd Coker claimed his second Top Steer award of the young season with an inspired performance against Midland High in the Steer's District 4-5A opener Friday night.

The senior nose guard recorded a season high 11 solo tackles, assisted on four more tackles and had a quarterback sack in the Steer's 35-13 loss to the Bulldogs.

"Todd played a good, hard, physical ball game," commented head coach Quinn Eudy. " He was scrapping out there the whole night."

Sophomore offensive lineman Matt Burrow was named the lineman of the week for his yeoman duty in the trenches for the Steers.

Junior tailback James Harlin picked up offensive back of the week honors with his first 100 yard performance as a Steer. The 140 pound scatback peeled off 117 yards on 18 carries versus Midland to give him a team high 278 yards rushing for the season.

Cornerback Sean Jackson was named outstanding defensive back for the week, for his 12 tackle performance against Midland. Of the 12 tackles, eight were unassisted. Jackson also accounted for several Bulldog pass incompletions.

Special teams player of the week was senior Dewayne Sherman. He recorded one solo and an assisted tackle on the three Steer kickoffs against Midland.

Niekro fails again; KC dumps Angels

By The Associated Press

Phil Niekro failed in his fourth attempt to win his 300th game Monday night, while the Kansas City Royals defeated the California Angels in the opener of a crucial four-game series that could decide the American League West pennant.

Jim Sundberg's home run in the seventh inning broke a 1-1 tie and helped Bret Saberhagen to his 20th victory for Kansas City, which pulled into a first-place tie with the Angels.

The 21-year-old Saberhagen, 20-6, threw a five-hitter, outdueling left-hander John Candelaria to join Ron Guidry of the New York Yankees as the only 20-game winners in the AL this season. Guidry is 21-6.

California's only run scored on a second-inning homer by Doug DeCinces.

Niekro left the Orioles-Yankees game trailing 4-2 in the eighth inning, but New York rallied in the ninth to win 5-4, cutting the deficit behind first-place Toronto to five games in the AL East. The idle Blue Jays' magic number for clinching the pennant is three.

In other AL games, Minnesota bombed Chicago 7-1 and Texas beat Oakland 5-3. In the National League, San Francisco edged Cincinnati 4-3 and Atlanta beat Houston 6-3 in 11 innings.

In a late game, San Diego beat Los Angeles 6-4 to keep the Dodgers from clinching a tie for the NL West title. Their magic number stayed at two.

Baseball Roundup

Yankees 5, Orioles 4

New York rallied for three runs in the ninth on Don Mattingly's two-run homer and a game-winning RBI single by Don Baylor to take Niekro off the hook against Baltimore.

Don Aase, 9-6, walked Rickey Henderson leading off and Mattingly followed with his 34th homer of the season, tying the game. Dave Winfield followed with a double, chasing Aase, and Baylor greeted Sammy Stewart with a run-scoring ground single to right, giving the Yankees their fifth straight victory.

The Orioles broke a 2-2 tie on Fred Lynn's RBI single in the seventh and Niekro left in the eighth when Wayne Gross homered to make it 4-2.

Twins 7, White Sox 1

Bert Blyleven pitched a five-hitter and Kent Hrbek scored the go-ahead run in the third inning on catcher Carlton Fisk's error as Minnesota beat Chicago.

Kirby Puckett went 4-for-4 and Dave Engle added a three-run homer in support of Blyleven, 16-16, who struck out seven and completed his major-league high 23rd game.

Rangers 5, A's 3

Bobby Jones hit a two-run pinch-hit homer with one out in the eighth inning to lift Texas over Oakland.

Jones' fifth homer, off Jay Howell, 9-7, reversed a 3-2 A's lead.

Giants 4, Reds 3

Dan Gladden's two-out single in the ninth inning broke a 3-3 tie and gave San Francisco its victory over Cincinnati, nearly eliminating the Reds in the West.

Cincinnati managed only three hits, including solo homers by Nick Esasky and Eric Davis. Matt Nokes had a two-run homer for the Giants.

Braves 6, Astros 3

Dale Murphy's 11th-inning single drove in the go-ahead run and Claudell Washington added a two-run homer to lift Atlanta over Houston.

Pinch-hitter Terry Harper led off the 11th with a double to left-center off Frank DiPino, 3-7, and Harper scored on Murphy's blooper to left field. One out later, Washington hit his 15th homer.

Padres 6, Dodgers 4

Jerry Davis singled home pinch-runner Miguel Dilone from second base with the tie-breaking run in the ninth inning to lead San Diego Padres past Los Angeles.

Ken Howell, 4-7, who relieved starter Fernando Valenzuela in the eighth inning, walked Kevin McReynolds to lead off the ninth. Dilone, running for McReynolds, stole second and scored on Davis' single. Davis later scored on a double by Garry Templeton.

"We had the ball fourth down and goal at their five yard line. We ran a quick trap up the middle with Sammy Rivera and he made it through the hole so fast the officials were still behind him when he crossed the goal line. The two line judges were at the five and when they got to the goal line they saw Sammy being pushed back and spotted the ball on the two-inch line. Wylie was setting up for the extra point when they marked the ball."

"We had plenty of opportunities to score points and we would have won the game if we'd kicked our extra points. The boys feel like they outplayed Wylie, but were going to have to forget this one and concentrate on Clyde.

DALE RUTH, STANTON — On the clutch performance of two sophomores in Stanton's 12-6 win over Ozona.

"We had our two offensive leaders on the sidelines (Derek Sorley and Kevin Glaspie) and Skip Hopkins came up from the junior varsity and did a fine job at quarterback. We also brought up Carlos Ortiz to replace Sorley and he did a fine job at wing back and intercepted a pass late in the game to preserve the victory. We're real proud of those boys." The keys to the win were the defensive pressure (4 QB sacks) and establishing our running game for the first time this year. Micheal Holt ran well at fullback and our young linemen are coming around. This win over Ozona was a big boost after that tough loss to Crane."

DANNY WILHELM, SANDS — On the outstanding team strength of O'Donnell.

"We played them tough the whole ball game, and especialy in the first half. I was pleased with the kids effort. We gave up some size in the line and they wore us down in the second half. I was very impressed with their overall team strength. I hope we learned a few things in this game because we've got the toughest part of our schedule ahead of us (Wilson, Forsan and Roscoe).

The main thing we have to work on right now is our offensive line technique. If we can hold our blocks a little longer the running game will be more consistent. Our backs have been running hard, but they need a little more time because none of them have outstanding speed."

Iowa moves to No. 1 in AP poll

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Hayden Fry often jokes that the University of Iowa football team was in the nation's bottom 10 when he became head coach of the Hawkeyes seven years ago.

Now the joke is on the rest of the country. Iowa, which once went almost two decades without a winning record — at the time a major-college record for futility — is ranked No. 1 in this week's Associated Press poll. It's the first time the Hawkeyes have been in that position in 24 years.

"We're very appreciative," said Fry, who coached at Southern Methodist and North Texas State before taking the Iowa job in December 1978 after the Hawkeyes had gone 2-9. "It's a real honor to the players, the university and to the whole state of Iowa. Our players have worked really hard."

Iowa, 3-0 after drubbing Iowa State 57-3 on Saturday, received 35 of 59 first-place votes and 1,111 of a possible 1,180 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

The Hawkeyes jumped from third to first after Auburn, which had been No. 1, lost to Tennessee 38-20. Fry's troops passed Oklahoma, which squeaked by Minnesota 13-7 in its season opener and remained second. The Sooners received 13 first-place votes and 1,046 points. Auburn tumbled all the way to 14th.

"Pat Dye (Auburn's coach) and Johnny Majors (Tennessee's coach) are both good friends of mine," Fry said. "And Johnny is even a better friend now."

Iowa has outscored its first three opponents — Drake, Northern Illinois and Iowa State — 163-23. The Hawkeyes are off to a 3-0 start for only the second time in 21 years and lead the nation in scoring, total defense and rushing defense. Opposing ballcarriers have run 119 times against Iowa and gained only 53 yards.

"Things are going so well I'm almost afraid to talk about it," said Fry, whose team opens Big Ten play on Saturday against visiting Michigan State. He called the No. 1 ranking "a little bit unbelievable at the University of Iowa. When we came here seven years ago, we were in the worst 10."

Iowa was ranked No. 1 six times previously in the 50-year history of the AP poll — three times each in 1960 and 1961. The Hawkeyes were third in the final 1960 poll but were not ranked at the end of the 1961 season after finishing 5-4.

That was Iowa's last winning season until 1981 when Fry, in his third year on the job, guided the Hawkeyes to an 8-4 record and a berth in the Rose Bowl.

The record of 19 straight sub-.500 seasons has since been broken by Rice, which began 1985 with 21 in a row.

While Iowa jumped to the top, Tennessee, Georgia, Baylor and Texas made the Top Twenty for the first time this season. Dropping out were UCLA, Maryland, Southern California and Virginia.

Behind Iowa and Oklahoma in the Top Ten are Southern Methodist, Florida State, Ohio State, Oklahoma State, Michigan, Louisiana State, Penn State and Arkansas.

Southern Methodist, a 56-21 winner over Texas Christian, jumped from sixth place to third with six first-place votes and 1,001 points. Florida State rallied from a 20-10 fourth-quarter deficit to nip Kansas 24-20 and remained No. 4 with one first-place ballot and 928 points.

Ohio State remained in fifth place with 921 points by whipping Washington State 48-32.

STOP BEING OVERCHARGED!

YOU WORK TOO LONG AND HARD FOR THAT PAYCHECK!...then you shop at a supermarket or variety store. We figure it's because you can afford to give money away! No? We didn't think so. Neither can we. Maybe it's because there was no alternative? Now there is.

IT'S TIME FOR A CHANGE!

It's time for a store that uses a very simple idea: Sell name brand groceries, fresh food and non-food products at as low as wholesale cost. No gimmicks, no decorations, no frills. Just LOW PRICES. That idea is so simple, we wonder why nobody else thought of it. Profit? There's still enough in it for us to live. We just don't have the high overhead costs. We're a bare box store for your bare necessities, and then some.

That's how we can give you the same kind of quality you'd get at a supermarket or variety store without their high prices.

INTRODUCING:

THE BOX

– the simplest idea in saving money. Sometimes the simplest ideas are way ahead of their time.
