'Little Fellow' Can Not Escape His Share Of Country's Tax Bill

Dollars have been the munitions with which America has waged war on the depression. Higher and higher the public debt, federal and state has mounted. Closer and closer comes the day of reckoning—the day when America must pay the bill and face the tax problem. This is the first of three articles by John T. Flynn, noted author-economist, telling all about taxes. Other parts of the series will run Wednesday and Thursday.

BY JOHN T. FLYNN
(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 — Channing Pollock, the well-known playwright, recently wrote a brilliant essay which he entitled: "America Doesn't Gave a Damn." The point he made was that America seems to be interested solely in the sensations and dividends of the present moment and that it doesn't care a hoot about the future which it refuses to think about.

● Despite numerous warnings it drifted easily into the World War.

Ignoring countless storm signals, it sneered at all advice and went gaily through the speculative madness of the nineteen twenties into the disaster of the Great Depression.

And now disregarding signs and portents as plain as a range of mountains, it goes merrily forward with the strange comedy of "Recovery" upon a luminous sea of government credit.

Ahead are burdens—immense burdens — taxes and more taxes and ever more taxes. We rejoice in the present pleasures of recovery now and refuse to think that presently we shall groan under the load of the bills which we pile up

Politicians Shun Tax Problems

ONE of the gravest indictments of the congress which has just adjourned is its refusal even to think about our terrible tax mess. This responsibility belongs to no special party—both great parties ran away from the subject. A politician is more frightened by taxation than by any other form of menace. It's the last thing he will touch. He will run the state into debt and bankruptcy. He will lay sore burdens on the backs of the people in the form of tariffs and hidden imposts before he will come out boldly and put an obvious percentage of the taxation upon anybody's shoulders—except of course the shoulders of the rich. But this alas is the saddest of all illusions.

FLYNN

Here is a clipping from a recent editorial: "Why should the so-called little fellow pay taxes?" The cost of government in this land of vast fortunes and great incomes should be laid squarely on the shoulders of the rich. Why not?"

Why not? The answer is too easy. Because it just can't be done. Figure it out for yourself. Taxes in the last fiscal year—ending June 30, 1937 — in this country — federal, state and local—amounted to $12,500,000,000.

What do you mean by a rich man? Would a man getting $25,000-a-year income be a rich man? We don't know precisely what incomes were last year but they were not more than in 1930. If that is so then if we had taxed everybody with an income of $25,000 or over to pay government expenses, how much would we have to tax them to pay our tax bills? Well, if we took 100 per cent—all of the income of these people, leaving not one red cent for themselves—we would have collected only $3,900,000,000.

As a matter of fact if the government were to confiscate every dollar of income of every man who

Party Strategists From Ten Cities Gather To Map Drive For Recapturing Of Votes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 —Party strategists from ten cities gathered at Republican headquarters today to outline a campaign for recapturing votes and congressional seats in key urban areas.

The meeting of Republican chairmen from cities and counties with more than 500,000 population — the first of its kind — was a prelude to a conference Thursday of the executive committee and officers of the national Republican committee.

Learn Of Resignation

Just before they assembled, the leaders learned of the resignation of the veteran Charles D. Hilles as national committeeman from New York.

His retirement and the recent death of J. Henry Roraback, Connecticut committeeman, materially reduced the ranks of the "old guard" chieftains.

Hilles, who is 70 and a former national chairman, said he wished to quit now so that his successor can get a "running start" for the 1940 presidential campaign, "the plans of which must be determined in the congressional campaign of 1938."

The latter contest, he said, "will be far more than a preliminary skirmish."

To Build Foundations

This week's conferences, aimed primarily at building foundations for next year's campaign, were call-

FDR Prepares For Journey

(By The Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 21 — President Roosevelt will start tomorrow on one of his most energetic cross-country conference and speaking trips since he took office.

In the short space of two weeks, he will make a score or more appearances in eight northwestern and middle western states, leave American shores for a brief visit by destroyer to British Colombia, inspect many federal projects, and deliver at least one "major" speech, at Bonneville dam, near Portland, Oregon.

To Speak At Cheyenne

His first rear platform talk, under a tentative itinerary announced late yesterday at the summer White House, will be made Friday morning at Cheyenne, Wyoming, home town of Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) an anti-court bill leader who penciled the opposition surrender terms when the administration finally gave in on the supreme court increase plan.

He also will visit the home state of Senator Wheeler (D-Mont) another court bill opposition chief, and Boise, Idaho, home city of Senator Borah, Republican foe of the bill that was returned to the judiciary committee after the death

Anti-Communist Crusades Of Germany, Italy And Japan Drawing Fire In Assembly

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Sept. 21 — Maxim Litvinoff, communist Russia's foreign commissar, bitterly attacked anti-communist crusades of Germany, Italy and Japan before the League of Nations assembly today, terming them only excuses for "invasion of other states and breaches of international treaties."

He called on the assembly to "call a spade a spade and aggression or whatever slogan it decorates itself with."

Creates Fresh Stir

The Russian's oratory created a fresh stir in the cross-play of European rivalries in the Mediterranean —a situation which had been relieved by the prospect of a face-saving formula to win fascist Italy's participation in the international piracy patrol.

Obviously referring to the three anti-communist powers, Litvinoff declared:

"In a burst of inexhaustible love for the near and distant peoples they proclaim their mission to be the freeing of these peoples from communism.

Spare No Energies

"To carry out their self-appointed mission of conferring great blessings on other nations, they are ready to spare no energies and resources of their own people, they are ready to reduce to the minimum its most elementary material requirements and leave it on hunger rations only to have sufficient arms to root out communism in other countries."

Anti-communism, Litvinoff asserted, often "signifies a yearning for tin, zinc, mercury and other materials" and denied that either of the present wars—in Spain or China—could be justified as anti-communist crusades.

Both Italy and her major fascist friend, Germany, have sided with the insurgent cause in Spain with the avowed aim of preventing "bolshevization" of the Iberian peninsula. Japan's invasion of China is explained in Tokyo as an effort to suppress anti-Japanism and communistic influences.

U. S. Agent Sits In

The League of Nations' special advisory committee, seeking a formula to curb the Sino-Japanese war, was called into session today, with a representative of the United States sitting in to give his government's view.

Broadway Star Is Claimed By Death Early This Morning

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 (AP) — Osgood Perkins, leading man of several Broadway stage successes, died early today in his hotel suite, shortly after winning applause from a first night audience for his role in Rachel Crothers' new comedy, "Susan And God." He was 45 years old.

The play, in which Perkins was featured with Gertrude Lawrence, was beginning a week's engagement here before opening on Broadway.

Two Insurgent Battalions Are Said Annihilated In Spain

MADRID, Sept. 21 (AP)—Annihilation of two insurgent battalions was reported today from the far southern war front, midway between Cordoba and Badajoz, where government forces thrust forward in important gains.

Government dispatches declared one insurgent battalion was destroyed at Sima in a government counter attack following an insurgent advance protected by a heavy artillerty barrage.

A second battalion, rushed up to reinforce weakened defenses of Granje De Torrehermosa, was wiped out where the government battle lines balloon outward to within 100 miles of the Portuguese frontier.

Reduction In Old Age Rolls Of Lubbock County Noted

Old age assistance rolls in Lubbock county for August carried 43 fewer names and a total reduction payments of $746 as compared with those of July, according to records from the old age assistance board on file this morning with County Clerk Ed D. Allen.

The records, which are filed monthly with county clerks as a matter of accessibility, show checks were issued to 579 persons in the count for a total of $9,523. In July, 622 checks were issued for a total of $10,269.

Rip-Roaring Frontier Fiesta Nears Close; Only Six More Nights Of Merry-Making

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, Sept. 21 — Six more nights and the rip-roaring Frontier Fiesta, greatest entertainment of its kind ever staged in the southwest, will close its colorful two-year performances with everybody in Fort Worth happy over its success.

A million people will have clicked the gates by Sunday night.

Casa Mañana and Sunset Trail are headed for the moth balls, possibly to come back in some new form next year.

Everybody is happy, even that little blonde cutie, Mary Roberson of Fort Worth, the second from the end in the chorus. She hopes to tour the country with an orchestra and then go to Hollywood.

The colorful characters who have made the fiesta live and breathe will be gone Monday. Paul Whiteman will hit the trail with his musicians; another Paul Whiteman, the old cowhand who sits on the porch of Sunset Trail's Astor house, will go back to horse trading right here in town.

Frank M. Pearcy, the general storekeeper with the handle-bar mustache, will forsake his churns, bustles, strong black chewing tobacco and barbed wire, to hunt a job.

"I've done mighty near everything," the 74-year old storekeeper said. "I don't reckon I'll starve."

And so it goes with everybody and everything at the fiesta.

Texas Oil Industry To Face Heavy Tax Guns

AUSTIN, Sept. 21 — The gigantic Texas oil industry may be subjected to attacks on several fonts at the tax-raising session of the legislature starting next Monday.

Petroleum producers long have been a favorite target of revenue raisers. Efforts to boost the production tax to as high as ten per cent of value or perhaps even higher will be renewed at the approaching session. It now is 2 3-4 per cent of value or 2 3-4 cents barrel, whichever is greater.

Great Profits Shown

Governor James V. Allred has urged substantially larger levies on oil pipe lines, claiming some of the lines show tremendous profits. The pipe lines are at a disadvantage in fighting back because all of them are large corporations whereas the producing ranks include many small independents.

Rep. Harry L. McKee of Port Arthur maintained in a prepared statement a few days ago that if the lines were earning too much the proper remedy was a reduction in rates, not a boost in taxes. He pointed out that rates were regulated by the railroad commission.

Hit All Segments

If a franchise tax increase should be proposed, as was done at the regular session last spring it would hit all segments of the oil industry as well as other corporations.

The oil production tax now provides a large share of the state's revenue. It yielded $14,012,743 in the fiscal year ended Sept. 1 and should yield even more during the current year because of greater output.

In addition to the 2 3-4 per cent tax which goes to the school and general funds, oil producers must pay 3-16 cent per barrel for support of proration.

A summary of production tax collections during the past 20 years shows that Texas oil operators already are paying far more than they formerly did. Returns in the last fiscal year were approximately $5,450,000 higher than in the preceding 12-month period. The revenue for the 1926-27 was $5,655,664, or only about one-third of what it may be this year even though no increase is voted.

Legislators favoring a substantial boost in the production impost argue the Louisiana tax is higher and Texas operators, due to their closeness to tidewater, need not fear competition from other states.

New Projects Are Rejected

(By The Associated Press)

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Sept. 21— Announcing approval of final allocations under the 1937 public works extension act, President Roosevelt today endorsed as "sound public policy" Secretary Ickes' rejection of a large number of projects because it was found that the applicants could finance them without federal aid.

In a statement released by Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre, the president was said to have taken this stand in view of the "need to curtail the federal budget and the improved financial status" of many communities throughout the country.

Obligation Fulfilled

The statement also said there had been a "decreasing need" for stimulation of employment through P. W. A. construction "with the passing of the economic extremity," and the president felt that the administration had "fulfilled its obligation under the present law."

The final projects approved were not detailed, but were described as a few of the "border-line" variety. They brought to 1,253 the number of projects under the new program with grants of $113,034,735 and loans of $58,006,700.

Figures Are Shown

Since the P. W. A. began in 1933, the statement added, allotments have been made for 10,605 non-federal projects costing $2,750,172,739. Of these, 7,845 costing $1,208,539,612 have been completed, creating to date 661,088,737 man hours of direct employment.

The bureau of labor statistics, it was said, has found that for each hour of employment at the site, two and one half hours of employment are created in industry.

Screen Bachelor Girl Claims Babies In Need Of Freedom

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21— Wendy Barrie, confirmed bachelor girl of the screen, burst out today with the charge modern babies are treated "like bugs under a microscope."

Some actresses here have adopted children. Miss Barrie has not.

She said, however, she had observed the offspring of her friends.

"They're watched over by swarms of hooded doctors and trained nurses in germ proofed rooms. They're rigidly regimented as to diet, play and exercise.

"What babies most need is a back to nature movement; run around barefoot, dabble in puddles, eat what they want.

"Some day I may lead a crusade for the emancipation of all babies."

The Barrie theories were expounded after a wardrobe attendant tried to persuade her to hurry out of a mudhole in which she had stood for a movie scene at Universal.

"Getting wet in a mudhole is merely commonplace for me, and would not endanger anyone," she retorted.

Great Parade Of 18 Hours Is On Today

Victory Marches Of 1919 Are Recalled As Jaunty Veterans Swing Up Fifth Avenue

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21— More than two hundred thousand veterans of the great war marched up Fifth avenue today in the greatest parade this city of notable parades, vast and magnificent spectacles, has ever known.

It was not just another American Legion convention parade.

To thousands it was a homecoming after eighteen years, and it brought a resurgence of those feelings of happiness and gratitude that marked the victory marches of 1919. These same men, now older, graver, stouter, slower, were then striplings with hard muscles and weather-beaten faces fresh from manning the artillery and the trenches in France.

Throngs In Good Spirit

That high movement of emotions which band music brings was evident long before the parade actually got under way at 8:55 a. m. (daylight time) within the shadow of the eternal light at Madison Square. The throngs were plainly in good spirit. The day, happily, was pleasant for marching and for watching, and veterans stepped along gayly.

Long before the movement of legionnaires got under way New York—at least that part of its citizenry which could get away from the daily job — had moved into Fifth avenue, parking along the curbs with box lunches and thermos bottles, swarming in from the side streets, filling the countless windows of the tall buildings.

March For 18 Hours

They were happy to watch for hours, for the police officials, putting 5,971 men along the line of march to keep order, estimated the vast body of legionnaires would be moving uptown for eighteen hours.

Headed by a detachment of 75 New York City motorcycle policemen, all members of the Legion, the men started up Fifth avenue, marching sixteen abreast, eyes bright with joy, shoulders straight, proud of bearing.

The head of the parade—the combined Legion posts of the New York City police department, Grand Marshal Ray Murphy of Iowa and his staff, and the honorary grand marshals and staffs and detachments of the United States army, navy and marines, reached the reviewing stand at 59th street about half an hour after the parade started.

Colmery Watches Men

National Commander Harry W. Colmery, eyes red from sleepless hours, had been in the stand for close to an hour. He looked about him to see thousands of men, women and children jammed on the sidewalks as far as the eye could see.

He was joined by Major General James Harbord, retired.

They watched together as the vanguard swung up the street. Mayor F. H. La Guardia, a wartime major of aviation, and Governor Herbert H. Lehman, a wartime colonel, marched smartly with Major General William N. Haskell, commander of the 27th division, New York national guard.

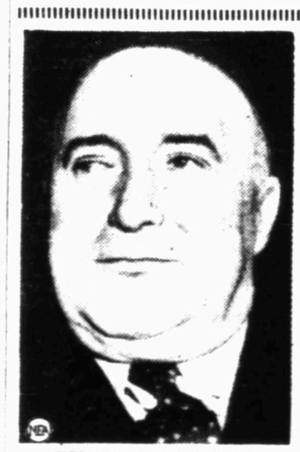

Although official Legion sessions were adjourned until tomorrow, many reunions and receptions were scheduled throughout the day. Committee members, drafting resolutions expected to prove more controversial than any submitted at recent Legion conventions, worked overtime.

Blooming Grove Man Is Dead As A Result Of Shooting

CORSICANA, Sept. 21 (AP)—Monroe Samples, 48, of Blooming Grove, died in a local hospital last night from gunshot wounds.

Samples was struck by a charge from a shotgun. The shooting occurred near Blooming Grove at an early hour Monday morning. Lloyd Hollifield was released Monday on bond of $750 on a formal charge of assault with intent to murder. Sheriff Rufus Pevehouse said Tuesday morning the charge would be changed to murder in justice court at Blooming Grove during the day.

State Rests In Earnest Case

Prosecution rested at 11:20 o'clock this morning after having called an aggregate of six witnesses in the trial of W. E. (Bill) Earnest, former Lubbock city and county officer, on an indictment charging murder while driving when drunk. The case is in progress before a jury in the 99th district court of Judge E. L. Pitts.

The defense called Bural Hahn of Brownfield as its first witness and he testified he talked to Earnest a short while before the alleged time of the fatal automobile collision which led to the indictment and that Earnest was sober at that time.

Husband Is Called

Among the witnesses called during the forenoon before District Attorney Burton S. Burks rested for the prosecution was Henry Bollman of Floydada, husband of Mrs. Lena Bollman, 29, who was fatally injured when a car driven by Earnest allegedly sideswiped the car in which they were riding. Bollman said he, Mrs. Bollman and their baby were riding toward Lubbock from Carlsbad, N. M., when the accident occurred near Wolfforth early on the night of Feb. 14.

Other state witnesses this morning were Dr. E. L. Hunt of West Texas hospital, who said a fractured vertebra was the probable cause of Mrs. Bollman's death, and W. C. (Bill) Alder, state highway patrolman who made investigations following the accident.

Witnesses Monday afternoon were Mary Bordwine, 20-year-old blond waitress and night club hostess of Oklahoma City; R. C. Isbell, a tinner, and Sam Wolfe, garage mechanic, of Monahans. The woman testified that Ernest had drunk intoxicants prior to the accident and both she and the men testified that they had seen the motor car driven by Ernest "sideswipe" the machine in which Mrs. Bollman was a passenger. They said the car in which Mrs. Bollman was riding overturned; that the Ernest car ran into the ditch beside the highway but was guided back onto the highway and continued toward Lubbock.

Members of the jury are Dick C. Weaver, Lubbock route 2; W. D. Boone, Shallowater route 1; V. E. Railsback, Slaton route 2; F. L. Harris, Lubbock route 4; W. J. Bell, 1413 Avenue D; Russel Osborn, Idalou; B. A. Carter, 2001 Twenty-sixth street; A. T. Peterson, Slaton; J. D. Womack, Lubbock route 6; J. B. Parrack, Lubbock; L. F. Jordan, Lubbock route 5; and L. N. Farris, Slaton route 2.

Assisting in the prosecution are Assistant District Attorney Victor H. Lindsey and L. G. Matthews of Floydada, a special prosecutor. Owen McWhorter and L. A. Howard, Lubbock law firm, are representing Earnest.

Hoffman's Libel Case Against Boake Carter Is Settled

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 21 (AP)— Governor Hoffman's $100,000 libel suit against Broadcaster Boake Carter and his sponsors was settled by amicable agreement and became court history today.

The governor opened suit in supreme court more than 15 months ago, charging Carter's radio comments on the Bruno Hauptmann case caused him to be held in "public scorn."

Denhardt Dies When Bullets Riddle Body

Kentucky Political Figure Was To Have Gone On Trial Today For Slaying Of His Fiancee

(By The Associated Press)

SHELBYVILLE, Ky., Sept. 21—Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt, due to go on trial again today on charges of murdering his fiancee, was shot to death here last night.

The three brothers of comely Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, whom the bald, portly, 61-year-old former adjutant general and former lieutenant governor of Kentucky was alleged to have slain, surrendered after the shooting, which occurred on the main street of this rich, small tobacco town.

No Charges Filed

They were jailed without formal charges being filed against them.

Denhardt, "storm petrel" of Kentucky politics who had survived three wars and had been wounded in a political controversy in Bowling Green in 1931, died of several bullet wounds without making a statement.

Patrolman Jeptha Tracey said Roy Garr admitted firing the fatal shots. He was jailed along with his two brothers, Dr. E. S. Garr and Jack Garr.

Tracey said Roy Garr declared "I did it" as he turned over a .45 calibre revolver with two shells discharged.

Others Were Unarmed

The patrolman said he took a .38 calibre revolver from Dr. Garr with all the shells discharged. Neither Jack Garr nor Denhardt were armed.

The killing occurred after Denhardt and one of his attorneys, Rodes K. Myers of Bowling Green, had ended a conference regarding the scheduled trial today at nearby New Castle.

Myers, who was with Denhardt, said the firing began as "we started across the street to the hotel.

"When I told Denhardt 'there are the Garr boys,' Denhardt ran toward the hotel and I dashed in another direction. The first two shots missed. Another struck the general in the back and he fell near the hotel entrance.

Brother Is Quoted

Myers said Roy Garr shouted "you are the —— who killed my sister and I am going to kill [illegible]."

One of the brothers approached him, Myers said.

He said he raised his hand and pleaded "please don't shoot, I haven't done anything to you."

You are the —— who killed my sister," the attorney quoted the brother as shouting.

Another version of the assassination was given by 13-year-old Bruce Tracey, one of the few persons on the street at the time.

He said he was walking behind Denhardt and Myers when he saw three men get out of a car and started toward Myers and the general.

General Fell On Steps

At the first shot, Tracey said, Denhardt ran toward the hotel and Myers fled down the street. The general fell on the steps leading to the hotel entrance.

He said one of the men walked

Today we introduce
"MODERN EYES"
A Marvelous New Form of
CAKE MASCARA
In a Beautiful Metal Case

"A hole in the center of the cake"
Yes, something really new, and good too! Cake mascara in a form that stays dainty and ladylike until all used up. Can't possibly become messy because it's hidden inside the sparkling metal case. And it has a totally new kind of brush that goes between the lashes . . . applies the mascara to the sides of the lashes as well as to their bottom surfaces . . . thus making lashes appear more luxuriant . . . eyes more stunning than ever before. And what a mascara this is! Newly smooth . . . delightfully fine in texture . . . much faster drying . . . actually curls the lashes . . . really tear-proof, non-smarting, utterly harmless. Modernize with "MODERN EYES!"

TO HONOR STUDENTS

Open house for students of Texas Technological college will be held at 7:30 p. m. Friday at the Calvary Baptist church.

Mrs. F. E. Urguette of New York City is here for a four weeks' visit in the home of her son, Harry Urguette, and Mrs. Urguette, 2302 Sixteenth street.

Loan Fund For Students Is Discussed At Club Meet

Chief among the discussions at the first meeting Monday night of the Dairy club of Texas Technological college was relative to a loan fund for students in dairy manufactures. Foy Boone, president, presided.

A committee composed of Arch Lamb, Sam Hill and Bill Tinney, was appointed to investigate possibilities of a loan fund and contact persons associated with the dairy industries of this area. Lamb and Hill were appointed as a membership committee, Boone said.

Other officers are Dayton McWhorter, vice-president; Clayburne Harrell, secretary and treasurer; Lamb, corresponding secretary; Tinney, reporter; and Pete Woodson, sergeant-at-arms.

Hill, Tinney, and Van Scheid were placed on a committee to be in charge of arrangements of an annual dance sponsored by the club. It is to be held this semester, officers said.

More Than 60 Reservations For Fashion Show Received

More than 60 reservations for sample room space have been received for the semi-annual market and fashion show here Oct. 10 to 13, according to announcement this morning by officials of West-Tex New-Mex Wholesale Clothing Market association sponsor of the event.

In addition, the announcement continued, the number of tentative reservations will supply more than enough actual reservations to fill the 76 sample rooms available on the four floors of Lubbock hotel which have been reserved for the event. The general policy in assignment of space, officials said, will be one of "first come, first served," except that the association has retained wide latitude in its acceptance and rejection of applications.

Miss Gertrude Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham, has gone to Fayetteville, Ark., to begin her second year as a student at the University of Arkansas.

Use Of Rabbits In Making Of Serum Has Caused Shortage

DALLAS, Sept. 21 (AP)—The extensive use of rabbits in the making of serum to combat pneumonia has caused a shortage of the animals in Texas.

"We already could not supply the demand for domestic rabbits for meat purposes," J. G. Kirby, jr., president of the Dallas Rabbit Breeders' association, said today, "but now the extensive use of rabbits in making serum for pneumonia has virtually doubled the market."

He said a New York concern has appealed to his association for 200 rabbits a month.

THE OTHER WOMAN LIVES JUST AROUND THE CORNER

It may seem unreasonable, but most men cannot understand why a woman who is usually happy and loving should have recurring periods when her whole character seems changed. He cannot appreciate the distress, the discomfort that all women must endure. He does not know what it is to do housework with an aching back and failing energy. All he does know is that other women seem more cheerful by comparison.

Are you such a three-quarter wife?

Don't let the ordeals that all women face cause you avoidable discomforts or endanger your home. Do as so many wise women have—try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

For three generations one woman has told another how to go "smiling through" with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helps Nature tone up the system, thus lessening the discomforts from the functional disorders which women must endure in the three ordeals of life: 1. Turning from girlhood to womanhood. 2. Preparing for motherhood. 3. Approaching "middle age."

Don't be a three-quarter wife, take LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND and Go "Smiling Through."

Young Mother Leaves Baby

CHICAGO, Sept. 21 (AP) — A woman social service worker turned detective today and found a young mother accused of abandoning her two weeks old baby girl in a cemetery.

Assistant State's Attorney John Boyle identified the mother as Mrs. Blanche Cassello, 21, a WPA clerk.

She told him, he said, her estranged husband, Samuel, persuaded her to leave the mite in a grave yard in Suburban Hillside because "I'd be unable to support it."

Infant Is Unharmed

The infant, hungry but apparently unharmed, was recovered yesterday after she had lain under a hedge for 24 hours with only a blanket and a shopping bag to protect her against the chill winds.

The baby was taken to St. Vincent's orphanage, where the director of social welfare, Miss Bernadine Healey, examined county birth records. She obtained the names and addresses of recent parents and visited each home. After she questioned Mrs. Cassello, she called police. At the prosecutor's office Mrs. Cassello said her husband accompanied her to the cemetery.

"Oh," the young matron sobbed, "I'm so sorry."

Search for Cassello was ordered.

LEG AMPUTATED

BROWNFIELD, (Special)—W. J. Lane, pharmacist for the Star Drug company at Seminole, who was injured in a car wreck on highway 84 Aug. 29, had his leg amputated in the hospital here. A gangrene condition had developed. Lane was reported improving.

Wyoming Secretary Of State Resumes Trip After Visit

Secretary of State L. C. Hunt of Wyoming resumed his journey to southwest Texas Monday afternoon after a brief visit here with Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Bizzell, 1919 Fifteenth street. Mrs. Hunt is accompanying the state official.

Dr. Hunt, a boyhood friend of Bizzell, has been acting-governor of Wyoming several times, including the past three weeks. He and his wife left Lubbock for San Antonio and a national convention of secretaries of state, after which they are to visit in Mexico City by invitation of Mexican president.

Dr. Hunt came into prominence nationally last year when he submitted to surgery so that bone from one of his legs could be grafted to a son's legs.

Circus Fliers To Provide Big Thrills For Local Audiences

Bob Fisher's Five Fearless Fliers

The question is sometimes asked attaches of Russell Bros. circus: "Do you have aviators with your show?" But the inquirers are members of the present generation who do not realize that long before the airplane was invented there were "fliers" in circuses.

Russell Bros. circus, coming to Lubbock on Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 27 and 28 is one of a few leading circuses of the country which still carry "flying acts." (High costs have eliminated them from the smaller shows.) Yet because of their graceful rhythm and split-second precision, there is no phase of circus entertainment more universally popular. Everybody thrills to the spectacle of these bird-like "fliers" swinging out wide on their trapezes, twisting or somersaulting through space to the hands of their "catchers," and then returning to their pedestals by the same daring process. All sorts of tricks and variations, each apparently more daring than its predecessor, keep the spectators keyed to the highest pitch.

Bob Fisher's Five Fearless Fliers, who are featured by the Russell circus, rank high in the aristocracy of circus aerialists, their present eminence being the heritage of generations. This troupe of lithe, dauntless aerial acrobats is distinguished by Frances Fisher, the only woman occupying the difficult role of catcher, while the double-somersault executed by Bob Fisher in mid-air while blindfolded, represents the very acme of circus thrills.

Flying acts are one line in which American performers definitely excell and they are in constant demand in foreign countries. The Five Fearless Fliers are world-toured and internationally famous. France, Belgium, Germany, Sweden, Denmark, Spain, Argentina, Havana, Mexico, Yucatan, Cuba and Hawaii are just a few of the lands in which they have performed.

La Ventana Staff At Texas Tech Chosen

This year's staff of La Ventana, yearbook at Texas Technological college, was selected by Miss Marie George, editor, at a meeting Monday afternoon at the college.

Miss George, a senior in the division of arts and sciences, with a major in journalism, is the first young woman elected La Ventana editor. The annual will have a magazine lay-out and work is well under way. Miss George is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. George. Dr. George is head of the Tech physics department.

Safety Measures For Use In Gas Launched Over Area

Chemicals to give gas in the distribution system of West Texas Gas company an offensive and readily detected odor which were placed in the mains Monday apparently had spread this morning to all parts of the area served, according to officials of the company.

Several calls were received from persons who, whether they had gas leaks or because they had opened gas cocks for tests, had smelled the chemical now mixed with gas. Officials of the gas company said the number was so relatively light there was indication of decidedly few leaks.

Persons who detect unusual odors had been asked through notices from the gas company to call their plumber and to inform the gas company office.

"PAYING FOR DEAD HORSES"

never builds a good highway system!

ROADS that need constant reconstruction keep the taxpayer always "paying for dead horses." Year after year his taxes are paid, yet there's little money for new highways, widening, grade separations and other permanent improvements.

What a difference when each year's program includes new concrete highways! Reports from 21 states show that concrete costs far less to maintain—$88 to $465 per mile less per year—than other surfaces.

As you get more concrete and less inferior roads, annual maintenance costs are cut, releasing more and more funds for new roads, arterial streets, bridges and grade separations.

Even in first cost, concrete saves money over other pavements of equal load-carrying capacity. Concrete carries you safely and comfortably and with low cost for gas, tires, and car repairs.

Demand concrete for your roads.

FLASHES OF LIFE

(By The Associated Press)

Time Marches On

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Sam Cleaver, highway department rodman, tried a "Huck Finn" style vacation on the Cumberland river.

He floated downstream 75 miles in 12 days on the homemade raft "Gurly Anne." He had to report for work Monday morning early, so he took an airplane. He returned in 35 minutes.

He Doesn't Scare

Haven

LOS ANGELES, Calif.—Gandhi, a Java monkey, escaped from a pet shop, frolicked on power poles and spurned the pleas of his mistress, Mrs. Arthur Bentley—until things began popping.

One of those popping things, an exploding firecracker hurled by a spectator, sent Gandhi scurrying to the arms of his mistress.

Camouflage

PORT ANGELES, Wash.—If anybody shoots Roscow, a two-year-old mule deer, it won't be the fault of friendly game protectors.

Roscow had been having things pretty soft, living on handouts from camps and farms. Then he grew a set of four point horns—and hunting season on bucks opened September 16.

Game protectors sawed off his horns in the hope hunters will mistake him for a doe.

Work Or Go To Jail Is Sheriff's Edict

OKEMAH, Okla., Sept. 21 (AP) — If any idle men remain in Okemah, Sheriff Bennie F. Hill exulted today, "they have hunted a hole" to escape his edict of "pick cotton or go to jail."

"It sure worked," chuckled Hill. "You should have seen the boys start for the fields today. We still need more pickers down here but we are using all our local talent instead of watching it go to waste as it did last week."

Hill said he laid in an extra supply of salt pork and beans for the idle men he expected to be his "guests" but found it wasn't needed because the jobless preferred plucking the soft cotton to hitting a hard jail bunk.

Hill's edict came after cotton growers hereabouts complained their cotton was hanging on the plants endangered by possible rain, while around 300 idle men stayed in town and refused to work.

Teachers' Retirement System Will Be Explained In City

Representative of the Teachers Retirement system will explain workings of the system in an address at Senior High school auditorium Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock, according to announcement here Monday afternoon.

The representative is coming to Lubbock on the invitation of Dan W. Powers, president of the Lubbock Classroom Teachers' council. Mr. Powers said so many teachers were withdrawing from the plan because they did not understand that he wired Austin for information. The Austin office told Mr. Powers they would have a representative in Lubbock to answer any questions on Wednesday evening.

Although the meeting Wednesday evening will be a business meeting of the Lubbock teachers' group, Mr. Powers asks that all teachers interested feel free to be present.

DELAY PAVING JOB

LEVELLAND, (Special) — City commission here has planned to delay a street paving program until late in the fall. Rush of fall business was the reason for the delay. It is expected the caliche base will be ready for asphalt topping by spring.

Thrills Await Fans As Cubs And Giants Open Grim Battle Today

League Title Likely Will Be Decided

BY SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

From all angles — pitching, hitting or quadrilateral — the Cubs and Giants figure to show a brand new way of going about the business of beating off each other's ears in their current crucial series for the National league pennant.

Simply because they're two altogether different clubs than they were as late as a month ago, all performances in their previous meetings can be tossed into the discard in figuring the three-game set that got under way in Chicago today.

Giants Are Stronger

The Giants with more power and a vast improvement in their two top right-handers, Hal Schumacher and Harry Gumbert, are far stronger than the team which has lost 11 of 19 games to the Cubs this year.

Chicago on the other hand boasts three far improved twirlers in Larry French, Tex Carleton and comebacking Curt Davis.

King Carl Hubbell will probably see action for the Giants only as a relief flinger if at all. He was taking a well-earned rest after becoming the first National league pitcher to win 20 games this year, with an elegant four-hit, seven-inning relief trick against the Cardinals yesterday as the Giants gassed the gas house gang 10-0. This left the New Yorkers 2 1-2 games in front since the second place Cubs beat Brooklyn 5-4 after stopping a four-run Dodger rally in the ninth.

Hubbell missed by some three hours the distinction of becoming the first 20-game winner in the big leagues. Lefty Gomez beat him to it with a four-hit, 5-0 win for the Yankees over the Tigers.

In the other tilts on yesterday's curtailed program, the Browns and Boston Red Sox split a doubleheader, St. Louis winning the opener 8-6 and dropping the nightcap 7-5. All other clubs had the day off.

Bill Cazzell Will Return To Wrestling Ring In City

Bill Cazzell, who used to be one of the football playing Cazzells at Amarillo High school and who has been tackling athletes ever since, will throw a few body blocks at Buck Lipscomb the Hated Hoosier in the course of Wednesday night's wrestling show at the Auditorium.

Cazzell, returning here after more than a year of touring and gathering experience, looked very good against Vic Weber in a special go last week.

The Cazzell-Lipscomb bout is one of four arranged by Promoter Allen this week. It'll be the special event, or the second on the card. To start the show, Bob Cummings and Ace Freeman tangle. Cummings has looked better recently, and the popular little Hebrew from the Bronx, who has been in other territories lately, is welcomed back. John Nemanic and Don Rainier go to it in the semi-final, and the folks like this little Florida speedster.

It all leads up to Vic Weber and Sheik Mar Allah, who square off for the main event, with no holds barred, maybe, and lots of action.

Purdue Loses Great Back But Cecil Isbell Carries On

CHICAGO, Sept. 21. (AP)—Purdue will be represented in this fall's Big Ten grid campaign by only half of its greatest backfield combination of 1936, but Cecil Isbell apparently is well qualified to carry on where John Drake left off.

Drake and Isbell were recognized as two of the finest backs in the conference last season. Graduation took Drake, but Isbell, a six-foot, 190 pound halfback from Texas, is demonstrating his fitness to pace the Boilermaker offense. Yesterday his running and passing featured a Purdue scrimmage. The Boilermakers open against Butler Saturday.

Indians And Cats Are In Final Series

Texas Aggies Are Favored To Cop Flag

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Sept. 21.—Broken legs, charley-horses, indigestion and heartburns barred, the Southwest conference football race, figured on the intricate straw hat system, should end with Texas A. and M. on top.

At least, that was the name drawn from fading summer's warped and yellowed straw hat after two hours steady shaking of seven penciled slips—Texas A. and M., Arkansas, Rice, Texas, Texas Christian, Baylor and Southern Methodist.

Arkansas Is Second

Innocently enough, the name of Arkansas, defending champion, was drawn second. Quite by accident, to be certain, but it caused some close figuring which revealed the Razorbacks could almost have been pulled simultaneously with the Aggie slip. Perhaps only a half-game prevented a "double pull," figuring a tie somewhere between Oct. 2 and Dec. 4.

A left-handed draw for the third spot brought out Rice institute, with the postscript that it could do better if early season non-conference games leave enough players to finish the season.

Four Teams Left

That left four teams — Texas, Baylor, Southern Methodist and Texas Christian—and the straw hat. Certain only of the straw hat, the pulling bee ended there. Any one of the four remaining teams would suffer an injustice by the slightest mistake, such as catching a finger.

Local Westerners Show Confidence

The Lubbock Westerners were in a merry mood Monday afternoon as they went through their paces, including passing, blocking and tackling.

Coaches Chapman, Keyes and Ayers did not join in the merriment, however, calling attention to the ills of over confidence and the fact that the Slaton Tigers won't recognize the class difference next Friday night. Slaton is in Class B, Lubbock in Class A, but the latter knowledge won't bring the Tigers to their knees in "give up" fashion Friday.

The Tigers, who played a couple of seasons of Class A football, come here for a go with the Westerners Friday night at Tech Field, and they'll bring all their supporters with them.

Over at Slaton, the one-time "traditional" foes of the Westerners are preparing to make history repeat. Under the coaching of Stumpy Hamilton and Jimmy Neely, the Tigers mopped up on the southern teams of District 5-B last year, and barely lost to Littlefield in the district championship game. Hamilton believes he has a better team this year than last. To start the season, the Tigers rolled over Olton, 45 to 0, without putting out a whole lot of energy.

Slaton is getting set this week for Lubbock. Anything can happen.

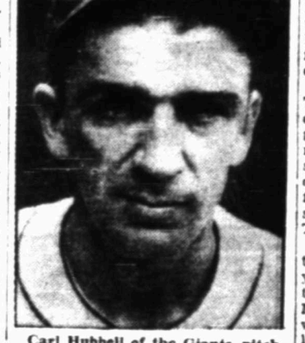

Yesterday's Stars

Gabby Hartnett's two-run double provided winning margin for 5-4 victory of Cubs over Dodgers.

Lefty Gomez blanked Tigers 5-0 with four hits, fanning nine for the Yankees.

Carl Hubbell of the Giants, pitched shutout ball in seven inning relief trick, allowing four hits and fanning six to beat the Cards 10-3.

Ash Hillin To Face Reid In First Game

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 21. (AP)—Oklahoma City's pennant-chasing Indians cocked their menacing war clubs today for the invading Fort Worth Cats who will challenge them for the Texas league championship here tonight.

The Redskins finished the regular season 11 1-2 games ahead of the pack, the Cats in third place. To the team winning four games in the playoff final goes the Texas league bunting and the right to meet the Southern association champs in the annual Dixie series.

Texans Want Flag

Not since 1934 has the Texas league title gone to the Lone Star state. An Indian victory would shut the six-team majority from Texas out of the Dixie series for the third straight year.

The Indians scored a grand slam by finishing first in the regular season, winning the playoff and the Dixie series in 1935. The Tulsa Oilers eliminated by Fort Worth in this year's playoff preliminaries won the Dixie series last year.

Reid To Oppose Hillin

Little Jackie Reid probably will get the call from Manager Homer Peel of the Cats tonight. Reid, whose 22 victories this year belie his more than 40 summers, probably will be faced by big Ash Hillin, who was voted the most valuable player in the league this year after setting a modern Texas league pitching record of 31 victories for the season.

After two games here tonight and tomorrow night, the teams will move to Fort Worth for three games. If neither club wins four of the first five tussles, they will return here Sunday to play a sixth and possibly a seventh game.

New Mexico Military Seeking Grid Opponent For Saturday

ROSWELL, N. M., Sept. 21.—Maj. R. B. Brown, New Mexico Military Institute athletic director, promises there will be a football game on the Institute field next Saturday, but it is not known yet who the cadets' opponents will be.

Wayland college of Plainview, Texas, was scheduled to play here on that date but do not have a grid team this year. Maj. Brown is negotiating with several schools and says he is certain he will find an opponent for the Broncos. On the following Saturday, Oct. 2, the Institute will entertain the powerful Texas Miners.

The varsity squad at the Institute comprises 14 players from last year's squad, nine of whom are lettermen, four from last year's N.M.M.I. Colts and 13 new cadets, all of whom played high school football last year.

Wolverton, a new cadet from El Paso, will probably be in the starting backfield next Saturday along with P. Greene, Holloman and Macgillivray, lettermen.

Good Showing Now Hope Of Red Raiders

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith took occasion Monday afternoon to put their charges through a workout designed to lift them out of the jitters that engulfed them last Saturday. The mentors are seeking to revive some of the hope that existed before then.

These hopes were for a good showing by the Techs against University of Texas next Sautrday in the shadow of the state capitol. Fans who had entertained more optimistic hopes lowered them to the "good showing" variety after the Red Raiders failed to impress in their season opener against the Arizona State Lumberjacks.

Added to Cawthon's worries yesterday was the incapacitation of big Allen Plummer, plunging halfback and demon passer. Plummer turned up with a batch of sore ribs, and it was feared that one or more might be cracked.

Anti-Fumble Practice

Much attention was paid yesterday to polishing a bunch of plays designed especially for the Texas conflict. Inability of the Red Raiders to hold the ball in scoring territory which proved a source of great worry to coaches and fans alike Saturday, brought on a lengthy session of anti-fumble treatment yesterday.

There was a session of passing, and of pass defense, with Coach Bert Huffman's freshman squad, which also has a game this week, sending his huskies against the varsity boys. Dudley Aiken, Bob Holmes, Ed Smith, Gene Barnett and Plummer did the passing. Varsity lined up against frosh for a long tackling practice. Tech linemen bumped shoulders against the heaviest first year men on the field in a grueling, smashing blocking drill.

Leave For Austin Thursday

As for team and individual spirit, it's still out there. The athletes, while more serious than usual, showed a heap of hustle and the "get Texas" cry predominated.

There'll be a hard workout today, possibly a scrimmage, and maybe another Wednesday. The club will take it more lightly Thursday afternoon before boarding the train for Austin. They will go via Dallas, and expect to reach Austin early Friday afternoon.

A special train, carrying students and townsmen, is tentatively scheduled to leave Friday night.

PEYTON PLANS FEEDING

LITTLEFIELD, (Special)—With between 4,500 and 5,000 head of cattle in the pens here, feeding operations at Peyton Packing Co. plant are on the upturn. It is expected within 60 days there will be around 5,500 head of cattle. Maise is reported selling around $9 a ton.

Stomping Ground
by Collier Parris

ANOTHER BIG Sandstorm is brewing up on the North Plains, which doesn't like to be construed as a part of the dust bowl. This storm we are talking about is a Golden Sandstorm, but, blowing in the fall when the storms are supposed to be over, it deals out more grief and hurts more throats than the worst of the dust bowl's "black winds."

You could have taken Amarillo with even money and no points last week, in certain local places, for as much as you could, because a lot of persons had it doped out that the Sandies would start fading from the very beginning. There was a surprisingly low amount of Amarillo money called, in fact, the wise boys and their followers having it all figured out that Clovis would win, or at least tie.

With its manpower, Clovis SHOULD be a tough machine this season, and it no doubt will be before the season is old. It is doubtful if Amarillo meets many, if any, clubs with more of a background that the Clovis team boasts. They have no 18-year age limit rule in New Mexico; no one-year transfer rule.

SO THEY THOUGHT the Sandies couldn't go this year, huh? They lost their coach, and most of their starting lineup. But they ought to have to pay an inheritance tax on what they acquired, or still had, for this good football season. The Cherry-Lynch team was broken up, but Lynch carries on. Most of the regulars on the state championship team were graduated, but that constant supply of talent that the Amarillo school system feeds to the "varsity" hopper was not diminished.

You can tab the Sandies again in District 1. You can figure, also, that Pampa will be up there in the battle of the Big Three. You can discount a lot of what you've heard regarding the football possibilities this year of Plainview and Borger. They still have a long ways to go yet, but they tell us that about all Plainview needs is time.

You can put the Lubbock Westerners down for second place again in the District 1 race. They have enough right now — if they can hold it — to get that far. They probably do not have enough to beat Amarillo. They will take a pretty good banging around by Clovis six days before they play Amarillo, and this will not help matters.

You will see a lot of dash and color, a lot of "try" and spirit when the Westerners play this season. They are good enough for fandom's support, and they'll be good enough on Nov. 25 to give the Sandies more than a battle. Don't give up on them, but don't take last Friday night's walloping of Cisco as indicative of the Westerners' true power. Cisco may have something before the season ends; it just doesn't have it now.

AND DON'T GIVE UP ON THE TEXAS TECHS:

Blair Cherry's gone from the Panhandle, but he's still a thorn in Lubbock's football side. Getting him out of District One eased the high school pain, mentally at least, but as assistant coach and chief scout

Tech Frosh Promise Troubles For Wesley Junior College

With the promise that his gridders will give Nick Dobbs' Wesley Junior college aggregation the stiffest defensive battle on their card, Burl Huffman boards a Greenville-bound bus Wednesday morning with 30 Texas Tech freshmen.

The Picador mentor was a bit uncertain as to which offensive he would throw at the Panthers. However, he assured that the air would be full of pigskins with lanky C. L. Storrs doing most of the chunking for the Fish.

Wrong Side Tossers

Three wrong side tossers dot the freshman roster in addition to Storrs. Walter Rankin, 185 pounder from Colorado looks best among the left-handers at present and is due a starter's position at blocking back. Charles Devoreck will line up at left half, and John Simms completes the quartet of leather-luggers at right half.

The fish have some ends who can gather in the mail as well as a few neat passers. Glen Jones, former Lubbock high terminal, will open hostilities from right end, and Prince Scott, Grapevine pass-sacker, from the left. E. J. McKnight, all state wing from Mexia, is due considerable service from one of the picket posts.

Durwood Herring and J. B. Gilbert will work from the tackle positions, with Lonnie McCurry and Tom McQuillan at the guards. Rafe Nabors, weighing 240 pounds, is due the pivot position.

Other linemen who will board Wednesday morning's bus are: Ray Giffin, Bob Bryant, Hall Rowe, Gordon Miller, Cotson Davis, Charlie Mathis, Tom Shanks, Wayne Hildreth, and Robert Francis. Backs making the trip besides the starting lineup are: Ray Plushe, Woodrow Ramsey, Aubrey Davis, Loyd Neely, Milton Hill, Bill Dodd, Jack Pitts, Mike Svetlik, Hal Gardner, and Jim Davis.

at University of Texas we still have him against us.

Blair was in the press box Saturday, taking a lot of notes. Well, not so many, either, because the Techs did not run a big variety of plays, did not show very much for Blair to write and take home. This is not an effort at explaining away Tech's poor offensive showing Saturday. Coaches deny they were playing "under wraps" for the benefit of visiting scouts. We do not think the backs fumbled on purpose when they neared the Flagstaff goal line. They looked fairly ragged. The weather might have had something to do with it, but if the Red Raiders thought it was hot out here Saturday, wait until they get to Austin.

The game here was changed from night to daylight in order to give the Techs game experience under the broiling sun.

Scout Cherry didn't have a lot to say about the Tech team Saturday, except that it has possibilities.

"We'll be pretty well steamed up for that game," Blair warned us, "because the boys want to make a good showing in their first game for Coach Bible. But we expect a lot of trouble from Tech, and I'm not predicting a victory. Pete's got some nice looking athletes out there, capable of playing good ball, and I imagine they'll put out against us."

Cherry didn't have so much to say, either, about the Longhorns. "Haven't had time to find out much about 'em yet. We're just barely through selecting; we haven't really started developing them yet. There's a lot of nice talent there, and we expect to have a pretty fair team. Bullet Gray probably is our outstanding back right now. He's plenty good, I'm telling you. We expect a lot from Hugh Wolfe, too, and from Charley Haas. Henry Mittermayer, a senior, hasn't shown us too much so far, but he may be a starter."

The Longhorn mentor liked to talk about one of his former Amarillo stars, John Peterson. "Boy, he's the best looking end I ever saw. He is a sure thing, and no fooling. head and shoulders above anybody else among the ends.

The folks'll turn out for the ball game. Blair believes. There's a lot of enthusiasm in the University and in the city, inspired, for the most part, by the presence of Bible.

So let's keep up the enthusiasm here, and ride that special train down the line. Tech may get its ears pinned back, but the Longhorns probably will know they've been in a war.

AND WASN'T THAT a swell baseball game Sunday? A lot of you missed it, and it was one of the best, if not the very best, game of the season. A couple of lefthanders fogged 'em in there, and for seven and a half tense innings there was no scoring.

The same lefthanders will tangle again next Sunday, when the Sinclair Oilers of Coahoma, a suburb of Big Spring (is that right, Hank Hart?) come over here. Lefty Beard really "belongs" to the Sinclair team, the Forsan Oilers borrowing him for the games here. He's a wise old bird, and he may know enough of the Hubbers' weaknesses by next Sunday to get 'em out all the way.

In China, the folding fan is considered the last word in fans because of the convenience in carrying them.

of constipation, disordered stomach, nervousness and kidney trouble. Neuritis and rheumatism too, had the best of me and my hips, limbs and shoulders were affected badly. At times the suffering I endured was almost constant. Oh, it was many miserable years I spent, so tired and worn-out I did not know where to turn next, had no pep or energy and in spite of all I tried I could not find anything to help me—until friends persuaded me to give this new Gly-Cas a trial—they said it was different—and I found it just that."

"Why my bowels are now regulated for the first time in my life, my stomach digests foods properly and I can eat anything I wish without ill effects afterwards," continued Mrs. Johnson. "Even my appetite has been restored, I sleep good and have my former pep and energy and am again able to do my own work. Those years of horrible suffering with neuritis and rheumatism have ended, kidneys are now regular and I am as near a new person as it is possible to be. I would not be without Gly-Cas after what it has done for me."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, this city, and by all the leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

Texas Aggies

on the hatband and leaving Baylor's "upsetting" Bruins in the bottom.

The draw completed, reasons for such coincidences were sought. Perhaps the Texas Aggie schedule gave them that half game edge, plus a fine running attack and burly line that boasts one All-American, one all-conference and other potential candidates.

Memories of last season's struggles which Arkansas made against Baylor, Rice and Texas, lower flight teams, before they came out on top, caused a bit of conjecture. Also, replacements in the line are admittedly weak and Baylor, Rice and Texas are stronger this fall.

Rice Faces Tough Schedule

Better judgment almost ruined the Rice selection, a glance at the schedule which starts with Oklahoma, Louisiana State and Tulsa before the Owls start in against conference competition almost making it five teams left in the hat with any one of them capable of jumping out ahead of the others.

A hunch on D. X. Bible and his Texans wasn't quite strong enough; fear that Texas Christian had bitten off too much of a schedule and over too many miles; uncertainty about Matty Bell's Southern Methodist youngsters who could surprise or disappoint, and a promise made years ago never to "dope" a Baylor team, stopped selections.

Which was the best judgment used in the entire procedure.

Seeded Netters Win First Round Tilts

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 21 (AP) — Led by America's Don Budge and Baron Gottfried von Cramm, of Germany, favorites came through unscratched in opening rounds of the men's singles in the Pacific Southwest tournament at the Los Angeles Tennis club Monday.

Budge and his Teuton rival moved into the second round by defaults and won their next matches handily. Budge defeated Ted Wellman, Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-1, and Von Cramm won from Modeste Alloo, San Francisco, 6-2, 6-3.

Shields, Van Wyn Win

Jioro Yamagishi, Japanese star, won his second round match from Henry Guilmett, Los Angeles, 6-2, 6-3, but his teammate Fumiteru Nakano, lost to Jack Lynch, of Taft, Calif. 4-6, 6-2, 6-3.

England's Charles Hare defeated Val Gress, Los Angeles, 3-6, 6-1, 6-2, and France's Jacques Brugnon won over George Toley, Los Angeles, 4-6, 6-4, 7-5.

Two former United States Davis Cup players Francis X. Shields, Hollywood, and John Van Ryn, Austin, Tex., both strong threats in the tournament, proved winners.

More Than 60 Masons Here At Ceremony Held Last Night

More than 60 Masons from numerous South Plains towns participated in the annual Feast of the Tabernacles given at Lubbock hotel Monday night by the South Plains Scottish Rite club. The dinner likewise was the occasion for a program observing the 150th anniversary of the signing of the national constitution.

Speakers and other persons participating in the program were E. A. Wells of El Paso, W. D. T. Storey of Littlefield, and Carl Svensen, Rev. J. Hodge Alves; Neil H. Wright, R. L. Durham, Dr. J. M. Gordon, Morris Levine, Vaughn E. Wilson, Homer D. Grant, Clark M. Mullican, and Dr. Bradford Knapp, all of Lubbock.

Introductory and special music was by Rix quartet.

Masons from Plainview, Slaton, Idalou, Brownfield, Levelland, Littlefield, El Paso, Sudan, and Lubbock were in attendance.

Prevention Plans Outlined In City

An extensive program of activities for fire prevention week Oct. 3 to 9 was decided upon at a meeting of the city fire prevention board and representatives of Lubbock Insurance exchange at the chamber of commerce Monday.

The campaign will have the objective of maintaining Lubbock's record for seven consecutive years in which it has been on the honorable mention list of the national fire prevention committee. Last year, Lubbock placed second among cities of its population class in the United States.

To Hold Poster Contest

One feature of the activity this year which has not been included in previous campaigns will be a poster contest for school pupils, in which a first prize of $5, a second of $3 and seven of $1 each will be given by the insurance exchange. Posters will be displayed in show windows of the city.

Pupils of the city will, as in years past, be the key figures of the entire drive. Inspection blanks will be distributed to all children except those in Senior High school and through them, the campaign will be carried into the homes. Children likewise will be given special instructions relative to the elimination of hazards. W. B. Irvin, school superintendent, will have charge of that feature of the drive.

Firemen To Have Part

City firemen also will play an active part. They will hold special demonstrations and, directed by Chief W. E. Twitty, will make inspections of business houses and make recommendations relative to hazards.

Talks before civic clubs, distribution of pamphlets and radio addresses also will figure in the drive.

Attending Monday's meeting, additional to Irvin and Twitty, were Cecil Casey, Rufus Scarbrough and Marion Sanford.

Butter prices during the summer months are expected to average the highest for the season in the past 6 years with the possible exception of 1936.

Anybody can see conditions which need reforming. The big problem is what to do about the nice people who make money out of them!

THE past two week-ends have seen a daring burglary. Last week-end it was, of course, the looting of Hanna-Pope & Co., on the mainest part of the Main Drag. The week before it was the robbing of the 19th Street pharmacy located on a corner of a thickly populated community center.

The Plainsman is not saying "I told you so," but considerably less than a month ago he forecast that Lubbock and the entire South Plains are in line for an unprecedented wave of burglaries and thieving unless officials and citizens work together to prevent it.

Perhaps the City of Lubbock already is making arrangements to augment the police department for at least during the busy months which this year promise to last until around March 1. If it isn't, it should.

As we have contended so frequently for some time, Lubbock is under-policed and if the administration thinks the lawless gentry hasn't heard about it, it is just kidding itself.

Not only do we need more police manpower, but we need experienced manpower.

A comparison of the Lubbock police setup with expert statistics gathered by disinterested organizations — including, incidentally, the Federal Bureau of Investigation — will back up this statement.

LUBBOCK is no longer a village. Especially in the last eight months has its rapid growth and terrific expansion placed it very definitely in the medium city class. It can no longer depend upon the same type of police organization it has depended on since the early 1920's. Like everything else in Lubbock, the police department must be kept in step with progress.

In the first place, Lubbock should have at least two experienced plainsclothes officers—honest-to-goodness detectives.

It needs further more "harness bulls"—more patrolmen on beats if you please—a separate traffic squad and a two-way radio system.

And until it gets what it needs, Sherlock Holmes, J. Edgar Hoover and Dick Tracy all rolled into one could not render to Lubbock the police protection its citizens are entitled to have.

Of course all these things cost money. But the time is past here when the police department should be considered as a money-making department or even self-supporting. Like the fire department it should be an insurance policy against loss and destruction.

WHILE we're on the subject of protection, the County commission might also take cognizance of the fact that the district attorney's office has long been at the point where the services of a trained experienced investigator are needed.

The Plainsman firmly believes that the last two and the present district attorney will agree with that statement and if any of the three say an investigator isn't needed and hasn't been needed for almost a decade this column will gladly print the fact. Durwood Bradley, Dan Blair or Burton Burks have been in the D. A.'s office ever since 1926 and they are all here to bear witness one way or the other.

Of course, every city has burglaries and many of them have more per 1,000 population, than Lubbock.

Yet the fact remains that a modern, enlarged police department, an investigator in the district attorney's office and full co-operation of all authorities, city, state and county, will better protect the citizenship from the depredations of the predatory.

These remarks are not a criticism of the police department. As a matter of fact, it is remarkable to The Plainsman that so few men who work such back-breaking hours can do so well as they have done in recent years and are still doing.

That Man on Avenue Q says still you never hear the narrow-minded gossips talking about people who are never naughty!

(Note to J. J. Murphy, Jerry Jarett, Jack Humphreys and Henry Welmaker: Thanks for your interest in The Plainsman's recent search for a job for a very worthwhile local Tech student.)

How those boys will joke!

A committee of the American Bar association, after much deliberation, has gone on record criticizing the press for "making a circus of court trials."

Agreeing 100 per cent with the barristers that the press should not make a circus of court trials, The Plainsman humbly suggests that if lawyers and judges did not conduct their courts as they so often do, there would be no opportunity for circuses in the press.

HOORAY, hooray, hooray! Acting Dean James G. (Jimmie-to-you) Allen is working on a plan to eliminate the middle-of-the-street hitchhiking curse which has been driving Lubbock motorists slightly nutty ever since peaceful Herefords gave way to rambunctious youngsters on the grounds now occupied by Texas Technological college.

Fearful that the present system of "thumbing" will lead to serious injury or death of one or more students, Acting Dean Allen believes he has a plan worked out which will benefit both harassed drivers and those students too tired to walk.

If and when the Allen plan is perfected, watch The Journal for a full report.

Any improvement in the past and existing conditions will be nothing short of Utopian!

Best Dressed Woman

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JUDITH IRVING, heroine, America's best dressed woman.

PHILIP IRVING, Judith's estranged husband.

MARTA ROGERS, Judith's rival.

BRUCE KNIGHT, author, Judith's old classmate.

MILLICENT BAYNE, Bruce's protege.

Yesterday: Judith's pearls disappear at the week-end party. She thinks Marta took them. A night later, as Judith prepared to leave New York, Marta called, suggested, "Maybe I'd better run away."

CHAPTER VI

Marta, who had called Judith at midnight to make a misplaced plea for sympathy, did not run away; nor did she need Judith's request that she remain where she was to keep her there. She was at the couturier's the next afternoon, when Judith went in for a last fitting on a white crepe sports dress covered with luscious rosy strawberries. There was a brief, short-sleeved rosy linen jacket with the dress. A brief green bolero adorned it. Judith had expected to wear it gaily through the summer months. Now it was just something else to take along to Reno.

"Don't be a fool," Anne said. "Men get this way and get over it. Phil's a dear and much too nice to fling to that lioness in pink crepe. It's Marta, isn't it, he wants?"

"He thinks Marta's a woolly lamb," Judith answered, relieved that Anne had guessed without making it necessary to mention Marta's name. "You don't know Phil as I do, my dear. No matter what Marta does he'll forgive her and love her for it. She's a damsel in distress and the wolves are hot on her trail. I was too poised, too unneedful of him, I guess." She laughed ruefully. "Oh, I needed him, but I didn't let him know that I wanted to cling. I thought he would hate it. I know better now. He would have loved it. But — Anne, keep an eye on Phil, won't you? I must run along now. Anne. Goodby, darling. Write to me."

She went back to the apartment later to complete her packing. Millicent called and asked if she might come over for a little while. She came, tossing her big straw hat on a table, and crossing her legs under her as she sat on an enormous cushion.

Suddenly she said: "Judith, may I go with you?"

Too wise to ask questions, Judith nodded.

"I'm a consummate fool," Millicent said. "The show's closing in another week or maybe I would not have courage to do this. I want to get away from Bruce. I seem to love him and he doesn't love me. He's been honest — and yet I don't know. Maybe he does and won't acknowledge it. I can stay here and get all cantankerous worrying about the phone ringing and whether he'll be here and there and get my heart ground to a pulp if his name gets tangled up with somebody else's in the tabloids — or I can go away. At least I won't be expecting to see him."

"I'm glad you are coming, Milly. You're wise for your years. Young people grow up so much more easily today," said Judith. She forgot that she had known this lesson. After all, she had acted on instinct; not figured affairs out as had Millicent.

They did not mention the pearls until Judith thought Millicent had a question in her eyes. "I found them," she laughed then. "Marta wanted an aspirin. I'd left the beads in my purse. It was stupid of me." She could not tell this girl that Phil had broken faith so many weeks ago.

Then Millicent hurried home to pack, new light in her eyes, new eagerness in her step. New places—they helped, Judith thought.

Now Judith filled the sunken pool in the bathroom and climbed into the warm green water, letting it calm her as she closed her eyes and relaxed. She wondered dimly if Phil would take her to dinner or just to the airport. She hoped she could be gay.

When she left the tub she rubbed her body briskly, made up her face carefully and put on gray taffeta lounging pajamas that reminded her of a gray sea on a cool day. She slipped her feet into gray and green mules and clasped a heavy old-fashioned silver bracelet, a long-ago gift from Phil, on her arm. She would wait for him to call, then prepare for the plane.

When the bell rang though, it wasn't Phil. It was Marta.

"Oh my dear, how quaint and old-fashioned," she said, at sight of the pajamas. "I've often wondered if you maintained your remarkable sveltness in the privacy of your home. It's a mistake not to, darling. Women can be too careless. . . ." Then the blue eyes filled with feigned embarrassment. "Oh Judy, forgive me! I didn't know — I mean I forgot. I'm so stupid."

"Hot tea or cold, Marta?" Judith asked quietly. "It's all I have."

"Hot, with three lumps, please."

Judith poured herself a cup and took no sugar. Again Marta smiled. "How can you drink tea without it? But then my figure never varies. I'm always the same. I suppose I could do it, too — give up sugar, I mean—if I had to."

Judith, whose slim, lithe body didn't carry an extra ounce of flesh, did not answer. Marta's rounded curves would be covered with layers of fat some day. She herself would stay slim always. She swam and rode and hiked; all things Marta did not do. Now she changed the subject.

"I'm leaving for the west tonight, Marta. Did you have something important about which to see me?"

"Yes, I did." The voice was brittle. "I'd like a written acknowledgement that I did not steal your pearls."

"But why?" Judith marveled that her voice was so cool when her hatred was so acute.

"Because I don't want any blot to cast its shadows on the love that Phil and I have for each other."

"No blot can come unless you cause it." Judith answered. "I'm very busy. Will you go, please?" Oh, to hold back her anger until this woman left. Marta wanted a written acknowledgement — an acknowledgment to use as proof that there had been suspicion, of course. Her crafty brain held some use for it.

"The written statement?" Marta prompted.

"I've apologized. That will be enough," Judith said.

"You hate me! You've always hated me! You want me to get into trouble," Marta screamed. "You wouldn't do anything to help me. Not you. Not you, ever!"

"How could this help you?" Judith asked calmly enough.

"Why do you want to know? What business is it of yours? Oh you — you . . ." Marta's hand reached out and struck Judith sharply across the cheek. A ring, whose sapphire was turned inward, cut Judith and drew blood. She reached up to touch her cheek. At that moment the bell rang again and Phil appeared.

"Hello, what's the matter?" In the dusk he caught the strained expressions.

He would have turned on the switch that filled the room with glow from many lamps, but Judith stayed his hand. "We like the peace of the twilight. We're being lazy for a few minutes, Phil. This is a modern farewell. Outgoing wife takes tea — without lemon or sugar — with incoming wife and former husband."

If the room became warm with light Phil would detect her bruised cheek. She could stand no more strain. She would scream or fling herself from the balcony rail that surrounded the terrace, or throw the tea cups against the great mirror at the far end of the room. If the emotional problem began again. She was eager now for the ship among the clouds, that would wing its way to the stars, to peace, to Reno.

Marta was a poor little fool. Very quickly she would play her hand with Phil. Ah, it was heartache to know he must be hurt, but Judith was wise enough to sense that she could not stay his moves. She would only antagonize him against her. If she were ever to win him back, she must go now and let him have Marta.

They had tea together, drank a gay toast to love and life and partings, a toast that Judith proposed and Phil drank hesitantly, and then Judith excused herself to dress. Phil stood then, torn between a desire to talk with Judith alone for a little while and a desire to see Marta home.

Judith waited, wondering what his decision would be.

NO SYMPATHY WITH WALL STREET'S HOWL

As was expected by all who know anything of the bulls and bears of Gotham, the recent drop in the market has brought forth new wails from Wall street over the government's efforts to regulate the exchange. The Securities and Exchange commission—one of the real needed agencies promoted by the national administration—is being blamed by recent inactivity in the market and it is being charged that the Federal Reserve board's tight margin restrictions are keeping the public out of the trading.

The Journal hasn't a bit of sympathy for Wall street's latest protest and we don't believe the general public has, either. What happened just before the 1929 crash is fairly good evidence that it doesn't do the country a great deal of good to have the public "in the market."

The stock market exists to provide a free market for securities. It can exercise that function without enlisting the dollars of the little fellow. Gamblers may make fewer killings when the little fellow stays out, but otherwise it would seem that the country is just as well off.

At least that's our view of the situation.

A Thought . .

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 21 — Another immigrant girl, with all her portable belongings done up in 28 pieces of luggage, has come to the Land of Opportunity to labor in a factory where they make movies.

Her name is Inez Sanpietro, but she's on the Paramount payroll as Isa Miranda.

If you have been to Italy lately you'll know that Isa Miranda is that country's greatest screen star. Or was.

I can't imagine why Mussolini ever allowed her to leave. Surely he doesn't think we're going to send him Shirley Temple.

Anyway, Signorina Miranda is here, along with her plump manager and her plump poodle. None of the three understands more than a very little English. The poodle — named Chico, although it looks like Harpo—speaks with the least accent.

The actress reminds you of an animate and amiable Marlene Dietrich. She has nice eyes and golden hair and the sort of leanmobile face that photographs like a million dollars (or 20,000,000 lira, at the current rate of exchange).

Her figure is slim perhaps too slim. Apparently she has been told that Hollywood people subsist solely on lettuce and fan mail, because she still is dieting rigorously and speaks wistfully of her skill at cooking spaghetti.

Her manager bristles at the mere mention of spaghetti, and growls something which you know is a warning that she must touch any.

Hard Climb To Fame

I was the first Hollywood correspondent to interview Miss Miranda and a couple of years from now I may be looking back with astonishment on the experience.

She was friendly and gracious and very eager to please, and was impatient only with herself because she did not speak better the Englees. Frequently we'd look up words in an English-Italian dictionary to make ourselves understood.

If training and background have anything to do with it, the star will not soon go high-hat in Hollywood. She has had a tough time of it.

Her father was a street car conductor in Milan. She had to go to work at 10, as errand girl for a dressmaker. The job paid one lira (5c) a day. Later she worked in a box factory and a handbag factory. At 15 she was a model.

Modeling was better. She saved enough to go to night school and learn typing and bookkeeping. In 1932, as head typist in the office of a publishing company, she saved enough to attend the Academy of Dramatic Art. Her work there won her an acting contract, but at miserable pay.

Meanwhile she had sent some of her photographs to film companies. She began to get extra parts at 54 lira a day, and soon won the leading role in a picture called "Darkness."

But it was a very poor little picture and it sent Miss Miranda back to a stenographic job in a law office.

About that time, in 1934, a nation-wide search was begun for a perfect type of modern Italian beauty to appear in "Everybody's Wife." There were 1000 applicants. Isa Miranda won the part.

No Night Clubber

"Everybody's Wife" was a fine picture, with fine direction. The actress zoomed to prominence. All Italy talked of her. She went from one success to another, among them being "Red Passport," about an emigrant girl who went to America.

She learned German and made two pictures in Berlin. She learned French and her last film, made in Paris, co-starred her with Fernand Gravet.

"Two months ago," she said, "I speak no Englees. In two months after today you come to see me and I will spoke Englees very well."

I believe her. So does Paramount, which will see that she studies diligently for a while before giving her any acting to do.

The best thing she says now is "Okey-dokey!"

She thought up her name, which is pronounced Ee-sa (not Eye-sa). "Miranda," she said, is good in Italian, French and Spanish, and she hopes it will be good in English. She knows no one in Hollywood, but likes the country because it is a little like Italia. She is looking for a little house with a garden.

"Ever in my life," she said, "I have love only my home and my work. Never a night club, never a partee. I am — how you say? — esserious."

Must Be A Case Of Dual Personality

Early Brain Truster Lew Douglas Sought To Make FDR Economize, But Had No Success

This is the second of six columns on the President's "brain trusters" by Rodney Dutcher.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21. — The early New Dealers were a diverse lot of liberals, conservatives and radicals.

Dutcher

When Ray Moley finally went out of the government service, conservatives whooped loudly that this meant the President had turned to the "right." Today, big business men and millions of others consider the Roosevelt policies more radical than ever before.

By far the most significant early New Deal resignation was that of Budget Director Lew Douglas, an Arizona congressman whose personality and grasp of fiscal affairs had made him a Roosevelt favorite by the summer of 1932.

Douglas made a hard fight against the New Deal spending policy and lost. He believed the situation would correct itself if there were genuine successful efforts toward budget-balancing. He held to the old theory that the capitalist system had certain self-corrective forces which would work if much of the existing debt were wiped out. Politics, however, said more debt couldn't be wiped out.

The spenders won and what the interesting results of the Douglas theory under 1933-34 conditions would have been, no one knows. But it was the habit of Douglas in the months before he quit to keep saying:

"Only 60 days more to national bankruptcy, Mr. President!"

Howe Was Always There

Lew's two chief accomplishments were the Economy act, hitting mostly at veterans and federal employes, and an inside campaign which monkey-wrenched the intended fast pump-priming, wheel-turning $3,300,000,000 public works drive.

Meanwhile, Louis Howe was living in the White House, a factor of great weight with Roosevelt. Gnomelike, he had been constantly at Roosevelt's side through the latter's long siege of infantile paralysis. He was terribly jealous of all other presidential intimates. But he was expert at seeming to promise without actually doing so and he kept the brakes on Roosevelt, who is often impulsive.

He was chief of the White House secretariat. All politicians and lobbyists had to go through Louis and usually they didn't get through — certainly not unless they had something to offer.

The death of Howe may or may not have been harmful to Roosevelt. Howe was always cautious, bent only on promoting Roosevelt and keeping his place as the intimate companion. It is doubtful whether F. D. R. would ever have launched his court plan if Louis had been at his side.

LEW DOUGLAS

Helped Moley Down

Howe presumably helped accomplish Moley's loss of power, which waned very slowly after the latter's change from the State to the Justice department, but the actual Moley-Roosevelt break didn't come until early in the 1936 campaign year. Always before, Moley had been the "first draft man," who under presidential directions had constructed the first model of each Roosevelt speech.

Suddenly he discovered that Dr. Stanley High, brought into White House counsels by White House Publicity Secretary Steve Early, had been given that job, Moley then withdrew from the New Deal entirely.

His last appearance in Washington was in a bitter attack on Roosevelt's pet court plan before the Senate Judiciary committee.

Frankfurter's "Boys"

There were other early New Deal advisers. Prof. George Warren ex-teacher of Henry Morgenthau, heavily influenced the administration's early gold policies after gentleman-farmer Morgenthau became secretary of the treasury and for a time Roosevelt was sold on Warren's "commodity dollar."

Felix Frankfurter, who had furnished legal brain trusters to the Hoover administration, big business men and to Justices Holmes and Brandeis, was another important early influence. His "boys" from Harvard Law School were and still are numerous within the New Deal, most important among them Tom Corcoran and Ben Cohen.

Frankfurter worked out many early New Deal policies and still keeps in touch with New Deal proteges. He was offered the solicitor-generalship. But for two years he has been almost entirely out of the Washington picture, consciously withdrawing lest he embarrass Roosevelt, with whom he occasionally speaks by telephone.

NEXT: Richberg and others.

19—Livestock For Sale

We feel that our duty is to satisfy both buyer and consignor. To do this, we must get cattle in when the market is the hottest.

We expect to have the best sale Friday, we have had. Last Tuesday, due to wet weather, we had only 300 head; but not a hoof was passed out, which shows that our market was good.

An unusual amount of inquiries from out-of-town buyers are coming in concerning our Sale Friday. If you have cattle we can assure you a nice profit on all that you consign for Friday's sale.

We expect best heavy calves to bring from 6¢ up and good cows $7 up. Bring us your cattle. We can get them sold for as much or more than you expect.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP) — Cotton futures opened steady, 2 lower to 2 higher with influence of steadier Liverpool cables offset by hedge selling. Oct. 8.73, Dec. 8.63, Jan. 8.67; March 8.77, May 8.90, July 8.98.

While overnight accumulation of southern selling was large it was believed somewhat smaller than yesterday. With trade and foreign buying active, prices rallied a few points.

More Oct. liquidation was evident. Only one week remains before the first October notice day but officials were taken by the trade and shorts.

Dec. recovered from 8.63 to 8.66 with quotations generally 1 to 3 points higher shortly after the first half hour.

Buying from Liverpool and Bombay was again a feature.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21 (AP)—Trading was quiet in the cotton market here early today and first transactions were 1 point net higher to 1 point lower.

Oct. opened at 8.69 bid but recovered to 8.72 soon after the start. Dec. opened at 8.70, Jan. 8.74, March 8.84, and July 9.04. A few buying orders were executed in the first half hour and prices rallied to levels 1 to 3 points above the previous close.

Liverpool cables were better than due and Egyptian futures were higher.

these days.

All the buildings on the grounds, site of Camp Bowie of World war days, will be kept intact. Only exhibits in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce building, will be sent back to their respective towns.

James F. Pollock, general manager, beams when he looks at the ledger. The cost so far this year has been $400,000 and the receipts total $391,745 with still almost a week to run.

"When we close," Pollock revealed, "we won't owe a dime."

Billy Rose is combining a part of Casa Manana with his Cleveland spectacle. It will go on the road under the title, "The Show of Shows."

The Italian troupe and the puppets, one of the hits of the show, will go to Boston for a fling at New England. Vaudeville, radio and night clubs will absorb those not joining the road show.

Thus the great show made by Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, Will K. Stripling, merchant, and everybody else in this western town will pass.

It was a show that startled blase Broadway and Hollywood. Even New York, San Francisco and Paris looked to it for ideas for their own expositions.

FIELD IS EXTENDED

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 21 (AP) Two new producers were added today to the rapidly growing south Miller county oil field.

The Freeman W. Buford-A. A. Capps No. B-1, section 14-20-28, came in yesterday at an estimated flow of 1,000 barrels daily.

The Freeman W. Buford—G. G. Gerald No. 1, section 15-20-28, had a 700-barrel flow.

The wells, just above the Louisiana line, extended the new field to the southeast and southwest.

LEGAL NOTICES

(SEAL)

Certificate No. 3234, Company No. 3071
Board of Insurance Commissioners of the State of Texas. To whom it may concern: Austin, Texas, August 19, 1937.

This is to certify that Farmers Cooperative Insurance Company, Houston, Texas, has according to sworn statement compiled with the laws of Texas as conditions precedent to its doing business in this state, and I have issued to said company a certificate of authority from this office entitling it to do business in this state for the year ending February 28, 1938.

Given under my hand and my seal of office at Austin, Texas, the date first above written.

R. L. DANIEL,
Chairman of the Board.

Denhardt Slain

to the prostrate body of the general and shot him again.

"Another man pointed a pistol at Myers, who had come back with his hands up, the boy declared.

Coroner D. F. L. Lapsley returned a verdict that Denhardt died from a "bullet wound through the head and another through the heart."

An undertaker, however, said Denhardt had been wounded seven times.

Commonwealth's Attorney H. B. Kinsolving, jr., of Henry county (New Castle), who prosecuted Denhardt on the Taylor charge last spring, ordered that nobody be allowed to talk to the Garr brothers. Kinsolving said that when the Denhardt case was called at New Castle today he would officially inform the court of the killing and move that the case be dismissed.

Attorney General Hubert S. Meredith at Frankfort sent state policemen to take charge of the investigation and informed Myers his office would take over the case. Mrs. Taylor was shot to death last November during an automobile ride with the general.

Denhardt contended the vivacious La Grange widow, 20 years his junior, ended her own life because of her family's objections to her marriage to the general, who was divorced in 1933.

However, the state claimed the general slew Mrs. Taylor, mother of two daughters, because she refused to marry him.

The first trial ended in a jury stalemate—a reported 7 to 5 for acquittal. Denhardt was at liberty on $25,000 bond.

Midland Farmer Being Held In Injury Of Three On Highway

MIDLAND, Sept. 21 (AP) — J. C. Hood, jr., 28, of Huntington, Calif., was injured critically today when a car struck him and two companions while they repaired a tire on a road near here.

William Burke of Elko, Ill., and Jack Parmilee of Los Angeles, suffered injuries not considered serious.

Deputy Sheriff Fisher Pollard arrested a Midland farmer for failing to stop after the accident. No charge was filed pending the outcome of Hood's condition.

Robbery Clues Being Sought

Attempts to put the finger on persons responsible for a daring burglary of Hanna-Pope & Co. store at 1111 Broadway over the week-end apparently had reached a dead end this morning.

Store officials and investigators admittedly had upturned no conclusive evidence as to who was responsible for possibly the neatest knob-knocking job ever pulled in Lubbock.

Rings And Cash Taken

Taken from safes were five diamond rings estimated at from $1,500 to $2,000, "less than $1,500 in currency and cash," and several watches.

With systematic method, the men cut their way through the roof of the building after getting there by a telephone pole in the alley, knocked the knobs of two safes, selected all valuables that were negotiable, including rings belonging to Mrs. Ernest T. Pope, wife of the president of the store and left the building from a rear balcony window — climbing down a barred ground store window that substituted for a ladder.

Members of the police and the sheriff's department openly believed the work to be that of professional safecrackers and cited the fact more such attempts might follow unless property owners exercise especial care.

No Loss Reported

Police in the meantime were continuing investigation of a burglary attempt in 1500-block Nineteenth street. By means of a key hung near a rear door, persons entered a residence, but no loss had been reported after checking. The house had been ransacked.

Nineteenth Street Pharmacy had been burglarized Sept. 15 of approximately $100 in currency and cash, an undetermined amount of bonded whisky and several cases of cigarets. No clues in that case had resulted in arrests.

Merchants and other business men said Lubbock and other South Plains towns may expect more break-ins now, because of an expected influx of transient laborers and the usual camp followers.

Two Men Are Named

Two men were named in separate complaints sworn to by H. C. Ragland before County Attorney Robert S. Allen and charging removal of mortgaged automobiles from the state. One complaint was filed in the justice court of S. E. McMillan and the other in justice court of Walter Davies.

Two negroes were charged with fighting with knives in complaints sworn to by John Lemond before Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney, and filed in county court this morning. Charles Iverson was transferred from custody of city to county officials and the other negro, whose jaw was slashed, had not been arrested.

Car Is Stolen

Chas. C. Chase, former assistant chief of police, reported to police Monday night his 1930 Ford coupe, license No. 754-293, was stolen from 1100-block Texas avenue. The automobile had not been reported found late this morning.

Bond had not been posted by J. W. Phillips of Slaton, charged with aggravated assault.

A negro who had been known to authorities here as "Sleepy" Jessie Taylor is to be transferred to Huntsville penitentiary, from which he escaped about 10 years ago after being sentenced to 99 years imprisonment for slaying of an Austin negro woman and shooting her mother. He was identified by picture and fingerprints as the missing Van Turner, said prison officials.

ed by National Chairman John Hamilton with a two-fold purpose.

To obtain reports on local sentiment and trends in regions of concentrated voting power and advance on what the party can do to regain some of that power.

To submit reports on what the national committee is doing in an effort to wrest seats from Democratic congressmen.

In addition, Hamilton was considering asking the executive committee to set a date — perhaps in November or December — for a meeting of the full national committee in Chicago.

Fair Tickets Are On Sale In Stores

Season tickets for the 24th annual Panhandle Plains fair, September 27-October 2, may be bought at any of the following business establishments.

Barrier-Durham dry goods store, Cammack Drug store, Austin Food store at Sixteenth street and Texas avenue, Groce Furniture, City Tailors and Postoffice Drug store.

Booths have been placed in the first three stores by the City Parent-Teacher council, sponsor of the advanced sale, and the other three stores are handling sales for the council.

The council expects to open several other booths by Thursday, the president has announced.

Season adult tickets are $2.50 each, season children's tickets are one dollar each and season parking tickets are one dollar each.

Special Payment Is Announced

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 — Administration leaders said today the 1938 farm benefit program should help return to grass many acres in the Great Plains that should never have been plowed.

H. R. Tolley, chief of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, said an innovation in next year's program announced by Secretary Wallace was offer of a special payment of 50 cents an acre for "restoration land."

This land was described as land on which corn, wheat or other cultivated crops has been grown since 1933, and is designated by county AAA committees as "unadapted to cropping."

"This makes it possible for farmers to set aside land that should never have ben put into crops for a return to grass," Tolley said.

Tolley said limits on amount of land that might come under this classification had not been determined and probably would be decided by state and county AAA groups.

Russian Attack

Bruce, told the assembly the most practical league procedure in the far eastern crisis would be to arrange "a conference of powers most vitally concerned over their position in the far east regardless of whether they are members of the league."

Both the Australian and Russian delegates had kind words for the United States, but Litvinoff scoffed at the contention of covenant revision proponents that American adherence could be obtained if the league's structure were remodeled to the United States' taste.

"I am sure if the United States government thought it possible to join the league on any particular condition it would find a way to let us know," he declared deploring, however, that America remained aloof from Geneva.

The Soviet representative lauded "the American people's profound love of peace and their sincere horror of war."

Cairo Can Hardly Believe Ohio Once Reached Crest Of 59.6

CAIRO, Ill., Sept. 21 (AP)—Eight months after the Ohio river's record flood, Cairo hardly can believe the mighty stream reached a stage of 59.6 feet and threatened the city's destruction.

Today the river is on stand at 9.2 feet, the stage kept steady by manipulation of locks at dam 53 at Grand Chain.

Temple Hen Sets World Mark In Egg-Laying Tournament

TEMPLE, Sept. 21 (AP) — Lady Temple, an English white leghorn hen today beat a world's record and had two days to go in the 51-week John Tarleton international egg laying tournament at Stephenville.

The hen produced 342 eggs for a scoring system total of 367.4, while the world's record was 338 eggs and a point total of 367.2.

Lady Temple is owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ramage of Temple.

Senators Are To Tour Farm Belt

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—A turn around the country to view agricultural conditions will take a senate committee into 17 states within the next month and a half.

Committee members will study the farmers needs at first hand with a view of recommending new farm legislation at the next session of congress.

One group of five senators—Smith (D-SC), Thomas (D-Okla), Bankhead (D-Ala), Ellender (D-La) and Moore (D-NJ)—will take the southroute through the cotton belt.

The second group—Senators McGill (D-Kan), Pope (D-Ida), and Frazier (R-ND)—will cross the northern states.

Both committees will join in four conferences at the end of their tours, at Oklahoma City, Memphis, Springfield, Ill., and Jefferson City, Mo. Those interested in farm legislation have been invited to present their views at the meetings in various towns.

The itinerary for the southern tour is as follows: October 15, Louisville, Ky.; 18, Winston-Salem, N. C.; 22, New Orleans; 25, Houston, Tex.; 26, Dallas, Tex.; 27, Oklahoma City; 28, Memphis; 29-30, Springfield, Ill.; Nov. 1, Jefferson City, Mo.

The western group will hold one of its hearings in Oklahoma City on Oct. 28.

En route to Seattle and back he will stop in Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Illinois.

Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre said there would be only one formal address of the "major" type — at Bonneville dam next Tuesday morning. Other talks would be extemporaneous, he said.

19—Livestock For Sale

We feel that our duty is to satisfy both buyer and consigner. To do this, we must get cattle in when the market is the hottest.

We expect to have the best sale Friday, we have had. Last Tuesday, due to wet weather, we had only 300 head; but not a hoof was passed out, which shows that our market was good.

An unusual amount of inquiries from out-of-town buyers are coming in concerning our Sale Friday. If you have cattle we can assure you a nice profit on all that you consign for Friday's sale.

We expect best heavy calves to bring from $8 up and good cows $7 up. Bring us your cattle. We can get them sold for as much or more than you expect.

these days.

All the buildings on the grounds, site of Camp Bowie of World war days, will be kept intact. Only exhibits in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce building, will be sent back to their respective towns.

James F. Pollock, general manager, beams when he looks at the ledger. The cost so far this year has been $400,000 and the receipts total $391,745 with still almost a week to run.

"When we close," Pollock revealed, "we won't owe a dime."

Billy Rose is combining a part of Casa Manana with his Cleveland spectacle. It will go on the road under the title, "The Show of Shows."

The Italian troupe and the puppets, one of the hits of the show, will go to Boston for a fling at New England. Vaudeville, radio and night clubs will absorb those not joining the road show.

Thus the great show made by Amon G. Carter, Fort Worth publisher, Will K. Stripling, merchant, and everybody else in this western town will pass.

It was a show that startled blase Broadway and Hollywood. Even New York, San Francisco and Paris looked to it for ideas for their own expositions.

FIELD IS EXTENDED

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 21 (AP)—Two new producers were added today to the rapidly growing south Miller county oil field.

The Freeman W. Buford-A. A. Capps No. B-1, section 14-20-28, came in yesterday at an estimated flow of 1,000 barrels daily.

The Freeman W. Buford—G. G. Gerald No. 1, section 15-20-28, had a 700-barrel flow.

The wells, just above the Louisiana line, extended the new field to the southeast and southwest.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 lower to 2 higher with influence of steadier Liverpool cables offset by hedge selling. Oct. 8.73, Dec. 8.63, Jan. 8.67; March 8.77, May 8.90, July 8.98.

While overnight accumulation of southern selling was large, it was believed somewhat smaller than yesterday. With trade and foreign buying active, prices rallied a few points.

More Oct. liquidation was evident. Only one week remains before the first October notice day but officials were taken by the trade and shorts.

Dec. recovered from 8.63 to 8.66, with quotations generally 1 to 3 points higher shortly after the first half hour.

Buying from Liverpool and Bombay was again a feature.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 21 (AP)—Trading was quiet in the cotton market here early today and first transactions were 1 point net higher to 1 point lower.

Oct. opened at 8.69 bid but recovered to 8.72 soon after the start. Dec. opened at 8.70, Jan. 8.74, March 8.84, and July 9.04. A few buying orders were executed in the first half hour and prices rallied to levels 1 to 3 points above the previous close.

Liverpool cables were better than due and Egyptian futures were higher.

Denhardt Slain

to the prostrate body of the general and shot him again.

Another man pointed a pistol at Myers, who had come back with his hands up, the boy declared.

Coroner D. F. L. Lapsley returned a verdict that Denhardt died from a "bullet wound through the head and another through the heart."

An undertaker however, said Denhardt had been wounded seven times.

Commonwealth's Attorney H. B. Kinsolving, jr., of Henry county (New Castle), who prosecuted Denhardt on the Taylor charge last spring, ordered that nobody be allowed to talk to the Garr brothers. Kinsolving said that when the Denhardt case was called at New Castle today he would officially inform the court of the killing and move that the case be dismissed.

Attorney General Hubert S. Meredith at Frankfort sent state policemen to take charge of the investigation and informed Myers his office would take over the case. Mrs. Taylor was shot to death last November during an automobile ride with the general.

Denhardt contended the vivacious La Grange widow, 20 years his junior, ended her own life because of her family's objections to her marriage to the general, who was divorced in 1933.

However, the state claimed the general slew Mrs. Taylor, mother of two daughters, because she refused to marry him.

The first trial ended in a jury stalemate—a reported 7 to 5 for acquittal. Denhardt was at liberty on $25,000 bond.

Midland Farmer Being Held In Injury Of Three On Highway

MIDLAND, Sept. 21 (AP) — J. C. Hood, jr., 28, of Huntington, Calif., was injured critically today when a car struck him and two companions while they repaired a tire on a road near here.

William Burke of Elko, Ill., and Jack Parmilee of Los Angeles, suffered injuries not considered serious.

Deputy Sheriff Fisher Pollard arrested a Midland farmer for failing to stop after the accident. No charge was filed pending the outcome of Hood's condition.

LEGAL NOTICES

(SEAL)
Certificate No. 3234, Company No. 3071.
Board of Insurance Commissioners of the State of Texas. To whom it may concern: Austin, Texas, August 19, 1937.
This is to certify that Farmers Cooperative Insurance Company, Houston, Texas, has according to sworn statement complied with the laws of Texas as conditions precedent to its doing business in this state, and I have issued to said company a certificate of authority from this office entitling it to do business in this state for the year ending February 28, 1938.
Given under my hand and my seal of office at Austin, Texas, the date first above written.
R. L. DANIEL,
Chairman of the Board.

Robbery Clues Being Sought

Attempts to put the finger on persons responsible for a daring burglary of Hanna-Pope & Co. store at 1111 Broadway over the week-end apparently had reached a dead end this morning.

Store officials and investigators admittedly had upturned no conclusive evidence as to who was responsible for possibly the neatest knob-knocking job ever pulled in Lubbock.

Rings And Cash Taken

Taken from safes were five diamond rings estimated at from $1,500 to $2,000, "less than $1,500 in currency and cash," and several watches.

With systematic method, the men cut their way through the roof of the building after getting there by a telephone pole in the alley, knocked the knobs of two safes, selected all valuables that were negotiable, including rings belonging to Mrs. Ernest T. Pope, wife of the president of the store and left the building from a rear balcony window — climbing down a barred ground store window that substituted for a ladder.

Members of the police and the sheriff's department openly believed the work to be that of professional safecrackers and cited the fact more such attempts might follow unless property owners exercise especial care.

No Loss Reported

Police, in the meantime, were continuing investigation of a burglary attempt in 1500-block Nineteenth street. By means of a key hung near a rear door, persons entered a residence, but no loss had been reported after checking. The house had been ransacked.

Nineteenth Street Pharmacy had been burglarized Sept. 15 of approximately $100 in currency and cash, an undetermined amount of bonded whisky and several cases of cigarets. No clues in that case had resulted in arrests.

Merchants and other business men said Lubbock and other South Plains towns may expect more break-ins now, because of an expected influx of transient laborers and the usual camp followers.

Two Men Are Named

Two men were named in separate complaints sworn to by H. C. Ragland before County Attorney Robert S. Allen and charging removal of mortgaged automobiles from the state. One complaint was filed in the justice court of S. E. McMillan and the other in justice court of Walter Davies.

Two negroes were charged with fighting with knives in complaints sworn to by John Lemond before Hugh Anderson, assistant county attorney, and filed in county court this morning. Charles Iverson was transferred from custody of city to county officials and the other negro, whose jaw was slashed, had not been arrested.

Car Is Stolen

Chas. C. Chase, former assistant chief of police, reported to police Monday night his 1930 Ford coupe, license No. 754-293, was stolen from 1100-block Texas avenue. The automobile had not been reported found late this morning.

Bond had not been posted by J. W. Phillips of Slaton, charged with aggravated assault.

A negro who had been known to authorities here as "Sleepy" Jessie Taylor is to be transferred to Huntsville penitentiary from which he escaped about 10 years ago after being sentenced to 99 years imprisonment for slaying of an Austin negro woman and shooting her mother. He was identified by picture and fingerprints as the missing Van Turner, said prison officials.

Fair Tickets Are On Sale In Stores

Season tickets for the 24th annual Panhandle Plains fair, September 27-October 2, may be bought at any of the following business establishments.

Barrier-Durham dry goods store, Cammack Drug store, Austin Food store at Sixteenth street and Texas avenue, Groce Furniture, City Tailors and Postoffice Drug store.

Booths have been placed in the first three stores by the City Parent-Teacher council, sponsor of the advanced sale, and the other three stores are handling sales for the council.

The council expects to open several other booths by Thursday, the president has announced.

Season adult tickets are $2.50 each, season children's tickets are one dollar each and season parking tickets are one dollar each.

GOP Leaders

ed by National Chairman John Hamilton with a two-fold purpose.

To obtain reports on local sentiment and trends in regions of concentrated voting power and advance on what the party can do to regain some of that power.

To submit reports on what the national committee is doing in an effort to wrest seats from Democratic congressmen.

In addition, Hamilton was considering asking the executive committee to set a date — perhaps in November or December — for a meeting of the full national committee in Chicago.

Special Payment Is Announced

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21 — Administration leaders said today the 1938 farm benefit program should help return to grass many acres in the Great Plains that should never have been plowed.

H. R. Tolley, chief of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, said "an innovation" in next year's program announced by Secretary Wallace was offer of a special payment of 50 cents an acre for "restoration land."

This land was described as land on which corn, wheat or other cultivated crops has been grown since 1933, and is designated by county AAA committees as "unadapted to cropping."

"This makes it possible for farmers to set aside land that should never have been put into crops for a return to grass," Tolley said.

Tolley said limits on amount of land that might come under this classification had not been determined and probably would be decided by state and county AAA groups.

Russian Attack

Bruce, told the assembly the most practical league procedure in the far eastern crisis would be to arrange "a conference of powers most vitally concerned over their position in the far east regardless of whether they are members of the league."

Both the Australian and Russian delegates had kind words for the United States, but Litvinoff scoffed at the contention of covenant revision proponents that American adherence could be obtained if the league's structure were remodeled to the United States' taste.

"I am sure if the United States government thought it possible to join the league on any particular condition it would find a way to let us know," he declared deploring, however, that America remained aloof from Geneva.

The Soviet representative lauded "the American people's profound love of peace and their sincere horror of war."

Cairo Can Hardly Believe Ohio Once Reached Crest Of 59.6

CAIRO, Ill., Sept. 21 (AP)—Eight months after the Ohio river's record flood, Cairo hardly can believe the mighty stream reached a stage of 59.6 feet and threatened the city's destruction.

Today the river is on stand at 9.2 feet, the stage kept steady by manipulation of locks at dam 53 at Grand Chain.

Temple Hen Sets World Mark In Egg-Laying Tournament

TEMPLE, Sept. 21 (AP) — Lady Temple, an English white leghorn hen today beat a world's record and had two days to go in the 51-week John Tarleton international egg laying tournament at Stephenville.

The hen produced 342 eggs for a scoring system total of 367.4, while the world's record was 338 eggs and a point total of 367.2.

Lady Temple is owned by Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ramage of Temple.

Senators Are To Tour Farm Belt

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21—A turn around the country to view agricultural conditions will take a senate committee into 17 states within the next month and a half.

Committee members will study the farmers needs at first hand with a view of recommending new farm legislation at the next session of congress.

One group of five senators—Smith (D-SC), Thomas (D-Okla), Bankhead (D-Ala), Ellender (D-La) and Moore (D-NJ)—will take the south-route through the cotton belt.

The second group—Senators McGill (D-Kan), Pope (D-Ida), and Frazier (R-ND)—will cross the northern states.

Both committees will join in four conferences at the end of their tours, at Oklahoma City, Memphis, Springfield, Ill., and Jefferson City, Mo. Those interested in farm legislation have been invited to present their views at the meetings in various towns.

The itinerary for the southern tour is as follows: October 15, Louisville, Ky.; 18, Winston-Salem, N. C.; 22, New Orleans; 25, Houston, Tex.; 26, Dallas, Tex.; 27, Oklahoma City; 28, Memphis; 29-30, Springfield, Ill.; Nov. 1, Jefferson City, Mo.

The western group will hold one of its hearings in Oklahoma City on Oct. 28.

FDR's Trip

of Majority Leader Robinson.

En route to Seattle and back he will stop in Wyoming, Idaho, Oregon, Washington, Montana, North Dakota, Minnesota and Illinois.

Secretary Marvin H. McIntyre said there would be only one formal address of the "major" type — at Bonneville dam next Tuesday morning. Other talks would be extemporaneous, he said.

Tax Bills Pile Up Faster Than Income!

"We refuse to think that presently we shall groan under the load of tax bills we pile up."

earned $500) or over it would get only about ten billion dollars. It would still be short $2,500,000,000 which it would have to find somewhere. Of course taxing that way is sheer nonsense. The truth is that it is silly to talk about shifting the tax-burden to the shoulders of the rich. It may be all right to tax them as severely as possible but the great burden of the tax bill will have to be paid in the end by the small fellow.

Huge Debt Increase In Slump

BUT what of the other point — that the government has taken money in taxes from the rich and given it to the poor? That is a widely held belief. Yet it is not true. As for taxes in the upper brackets, the very high ones have been increased some. And corporations taxes have been slightly raised. But no part of the billions paid out by the government for recovery and relief have come out of these taxes. The relief payments have all been made with money borrowed by the federal and state governments. The recovery expenditures of the federal government alone have amounted to about TWENTY BILLION DOLLARS. And every dollar of it has been borrowed. We still owe it. The government still has to find this money some way and some day. And of course the only way is by taxes.

This is not the most serious face of this picture. I have said the tax bill for the last fiscal year was $12,500,000,000. But what is it going to be in the future? Remember this figure represents the tax bill. But it does not represent the cost of the government. We spent a lot more than we raised by taxes. The federal government, the states, the cities and towns all did a lot of borrowing.

In 1936 we spent about $17,399,000,000. Now of course it is hoped that we may do away with relief expenditures. And hopeful people imagine that will lower our government expenditures and hence our tax bill. But the Twentieth Century Fund estimates that assuming we discontinue relief gradually, by 1939 our total government cost—federal, state and local—will be $16,410,000,000 and by 1940 it will be $17,350,000,000, or right back where it was in 1936 and that with heavy relief cuts. If relief expenditures continue then it is estimated that by 1940 our government costs will be between $18,000,000,000 and $22,000,000,000. The prospect is appalling.

But we will not get away from thinking about it for very long. For the mills of the gods are grinding and suddenly we will be aware that they are grinding out bills — monstrous I. O. U.'s—gigantic tax bills for us all.

Star Arkansas Tackle Victim Of Electric Shock In Room

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 21 (AP)—Lundy Corbett, 21, of Walnut Ridge, star 215-pound tackle on the University of Arkansas football team, was found dead last night in his room at a dormitory, the victim of an electric shock.

Physicians called in a vain attempt to resuscitate him, said he apparently had been electrocuted by a loose connection on a bed lamp in his room.

Corbet was lying on the bed with his leg over a radiator. Fellow students theorized that he was attempting to repair the light connection when the charge went through his body.

A fellow student found the body when he went to Corbett's room on a social call.

Prominent Texas Clubwoman Is Killed In Car Accident

CORSICANA, Sept. 21 (AP) — The body of Miss Dorothy Drane, prominent Texas clubwoman, killed in an automobile wreck near Hammond early Monday was brought to her home here.

Mrs. George F. Baum of Corsicana, who received a fractured right arm and cuts and bruises when the auto overturned on a sharp curve, was at home after treatment at a local hospital.

The two were enroute to College Station when the wreck occurred.

Miss Drane was the daughter of Frank N. Drane, Corsicana business man, and the late Mrs. Drane, former director of Texas Technological college.

She was a past president of the Texas federation of music clubs.

HARVESTING DELAYED

HALE CENTER, (Special)—Rains here have delayed harvesting of the season's first bale of cotton. Precipitation, however, has given the county its best season in years for wheat planting.

A terracing demonstration, scheduled for last Friday, was postponed indefinitely because of rain. Demonstration will be on the G. G. Gilliland farm.

It is said that there are more than seven million dogs in the United States.

KILL STRAY DOGS

HALE CENTER, (Special)—The city council will enforce the ordinance that all stray dogs be killed. Their resolution was made after a report from the State Health department that a dog killed on the J. C. Lane farm had rabies.

Mild Tropical Blow Dissipates In Rain Squalls Over 2 States

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Sept. 21 (AP)—A mild tropical disturbance moved inland from the Gulf of Mexico late Monday and dissipated in rain squalls over north central Florida and southern Georgia.

The chief characteristic of the storm was rain. Wind velocity was minor and no damage from that source was reported.

Forecasters expected some crop damage from heavy precipitation and said some streams may overflow. No serious conditions were looked for.
