Showdown in Texas Demo Party Is Expected Tomorrow

By the Associated Press
Two factions of Texas Democrats look to the first actual showdown of their strength before the state convention tomorrow night. At Fort Worth and McGreggor, faction leaders are bidding for friends and finances.

At Fort Worth you can eat barbecue at 4 p. m. for $2 a plate with the State Democratic Executive Committee, the Young Democrats, the State Organization of County Chairmen and all their supporters of a movement for an untruncated Texas delegation to the National Democratic Convention.

At McGreggor you can eat barbecue at 4:30 p. m. for free with the "Texans for Truman" Democrats. Contributions to national party support, however, are being welcomed.

Congress Has 31 Bills on Abuse of Veto

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

There are before the U. S. Congress 31 bills which, in one way or another, are calculated to deal with the abuse of the veto power whereby Russia has been hamstringing the United Nations. All these proposals provide for a revision of the U. N. charter. However, at least a couple of them are so framed that the present U. N. could be allowed to rumble along while the anti-Red democrats formed a new organization free of Soviet interference.

These bills are concrete evidence of a strong sentiment for some action against promiscuous use of the veto. Moreover, in the U. N. membership itself we find Australia, a big opponent of the veto, and Argentina leading a group of small nations to revise the charter in this respect. The veto right is accorded the big five—America, Russia, Britain, France and China—in the Security Council, which alone can impose sanctions. Thus far the Muscovites have used this all-powerful weapon 23 times, whereas France is the only other power to resort to it. She has used it twice.

Revision of the veto provision would, of course, be a ticklish undertaking. The United States insisted on establishment of the veto as a protection against impingement on sovereignty, and there has been no sign that the Washington government would agree to elimination. However, America has indicated that it would like to disregard the veto except for fundamentals affecting sovereignty. Russia naturally wants to retain it intact, and in fact undoubtedly would employ it against charter revision.

This being the case, where do we turn for relief? Well, it strikes me that perhaps the answer is rapidly being taken care of.

Street Sweeping Schedules Listed

Streets in the downtown business area will be swept and cleaned on Thursday and Sunday nights, and streets in the residential areas are being swept daily during the daytime, the city engineer's office said today.

Although the business area will be swept regularly on these two nights, the city's new Wayne sweeper may clean the streets on any other night.

A city ordinance prohibits parking on downtown streets between the hours of 1 and 6 a. m. daily.

This ordinance will be strictly enforced, Chief of Police Louis L. Allen said.

Texas Will Honor Ship

HOUSTON—(AP)—The Battleship Texas today waited dutifully for its final bit of pomp and ceremony.

Tomorrow, Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, Gov. Beauford Hester and a host of other dignitaries will land the old lady for her 34 years of Naval service and her brilliant record in two world wars.

Decommissioning ceremonies from the U. S. Navy and the acceptance by Hester as a state shrine will leave the Texas a point of interest for Texans and tourists.

The Texas made her last port of call yesterday. Two tugboats moved the veteran of World War I and of the Atlantic and Pacific campaigns in World War II to a permanent berth at the San Jacinto Battleground.

The Texas' forward guns were aimed at a permanent target. The San Jacinto monument, a tribute to Texas valor 112 years ago.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Mark Edwin Andrews will be on hand for the ceremony turning the Texas over to the state of Texas.

Capt. Charles A. Barker, wartime skipper of the Texas, will formally decommission the Texas Navy pennant and the Lone Star flag will fly at the main mast.

The ship's log will be permanently closed with this entry: "Presented to the state of Texas as a permanent shrine."

Funeral services were to be held at 3 p. m. today from the Church of the Brethren for John Clyde Meadows, small son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Meadows. The child died suddenly Sunday afternoon.

Burial, under the direction of Clegg Funeral Home, will be in Baby Gardens, Fairview Cemetery. Services were to be conducted by the Rev. R. G. West.

Mother, Daughter Bruised in Crackup

Mrs. L. E. Cool and her daughter, Polly, were treated at Worley Hospital yesterday afternoon for bruises and abrasions suffered in a Super-Cruiser plane crashup about 14 miles north of Pampa.

Mrs. Cool was retained at the hospital for further treatment. Piloting the plane, which reportedly was torn up considerably, was Mr. Cool.

News to Print Series on Water

The City Commission began at its regular weekly meeting this morning to gather material and figures about the proposed water and sewer bond issue.

All this information will be printed in The Pampa News in a series of articles to begin later this week.

Lewis Escapes Jail Sentence, Is Fined

WASHINGTON—(AP)—John L. Lewis escaped a jail sentence today but was fined $20,000 personally and his United Mine Workers $1,400,000 for contempt of court.

Judge T. Alan Goldsborough accepted a government recommendation for those fines, but said it had been his own inclination to send Lewis to jail.

The fines are just double what the bushy-browed UMW chief and his miners had to pay after they similarly were found guilty in 1946 of contempt for ignoring a court's stop-work order.

Then Goldsborough fined Lewis $10,000 and the union $3,500,000, but the Supreme Court cut the union's fine to $700,000.

The fines Goldsborough imposed today were only for criminal contempt. The judge granted a government motion to consider a penalty for civil contempt against Lewis and the union on Friday.

Lewis and the union each were held guilty by the judge yesterday of both civil and criminal contempt.

Assistant Attorney General Graham Morrison told reporters after the court hearing that the reason for delaying the civil contempt sentencing until Friday was to keep a club over Lewis' head.

He echoed the sentiments of several miners grouped around a radio in a community restaurant. "Demarc added that he 'didn't know' what effect the fine would have on miners' return to work."

"It looks like Wallace for President," said one miner bitterly. "That's how I'm going to vote and I'm going to get lots more votes for me."

"If the case had been thrown out of court when the pensions were granted, we'd have been back 100 percent right now," said Demarc. "That's what this is." (See MINERS, Page 12)

Duo Flies Plane To Mexico City

Two Panhandle men will return to Pampa tomorrow from a short vacation trip to Mexico City by plane.

D. M. Womble, rancher of Morse, Texas (near Stinnett), and Bill Cheek, assistant manager and instructor at Webb Aviation at Municipal Airport, left Saturday for the Mexican capital in a new 4-passenger Stinson recently purchased by Womble.

The best interests of the government would be served if its representatives would stop immediately their attempt to prosecute and punish the miners and their leaders.

Schedule Announced for Picking Up Accumulated Trash During Campaign

Accumulated trash in the four wards of the city will be picked up in Pampa's annual Clean Up Campaign on the first four days of next week in rotation.

Clean Up trucks will gather trash in Ward One on Monday, Ward Two on Tuesday, Ward Three on Wednesday, and in Ward Four on Thursday.

If you are in doubt as to which ward you are in, Foster and Cuyler are the division streets. Everything north of Foster and west of Cuyler, or west of Mary Ellen, is in Ward One; north of Foster and east of Cuyler is Ward Two; south of Foster and north of Mary Ellen, or east of Cuyler, is Ward Three; south of Foster and west of Cuyler is Ward Four.

Persons in each of these wards are asked to put the trash that they want discarded in the alley back of their houses on the day scheduled for that ward.

All trash will be removed except garbage and tree limbs. Since the trucks and labor to be used in the campaign are loaned, tree limbs could not be carried away because too many trips and too many man-hours would be used just for tree trimmings.

The City Street Department will, as it has done, remove tree limbs for a nominal charge per load.

The city's new Wayne street sweeper, that began operation last week, will have all the streets in town freed of winter's accumulated dust and debris by the end of the Clean Up Campaign.

Beginning May 1, the DDT fog applicator, delivered to the Sanitation Department last week, will spray all the alleys in Pampa.

This type of DDT application has proved very successful in other cities in completely freeing those places of flies and mosquitoes.

A April, from the 26th to the 30th, inclusive, is in no sense a contest between civic clubs. It is a united effort by all to help Pampa become a cleaner, more healthful city in which to live.

The city has agreed to furnish the necessary labor in the campaign, but the trucks and drivers needed must be privately loaned.

If anyone has a truck, or a truck and a driver he can lend to the city.

Crushing Defeat for Reds Is Indicated

ROME—(AP)—Returns from three-fourths of Italy's senatorial districts today gave the American-backed Christian Democratic Party almost half the total vote in the crucial election battle between Russia and the West.

Early returns on the Chamber of Deputies indicated a similar crushing defeat for the Communists. The returns raised the possibility that the anti-Communists had seized undisputed control of both houses of the new Parliament.

The interior ministry's tabulations on the Senate vote, counted first, gave the Christian Democrats 8,171,569, or 47.4 percent of the vote. The Popular Front, coalition of Communist and left-wing Socialists got 5,382,976 votes, or 31.3 percent.

Returns from 4,478 of 41,525 sections in the vote for the chamber gave the Christian Democrats 2,131,608; the front, 928,397; and the anti-Communist Socialist, 269,393.

The votes for minor parties swelled the anti-Communist total. Alcide De Gasperi, Italy's Christian Democratic Premier, said the returns were beyond his fondest dreams.

The returns were running steadily at two to one against the Communist Popular Front.

De Gasperi said his party's victory showed Italy's "firm intention not to be bolshevized."

The Communists had little to say. Pietro Ingrao, director of the Communist newspaper L'Unita, said in a formal statement that the front "without doubt will represent a decisive element in the future Parliament and in the country."

Pope Pius XII, smiling happily, told American newsmen he will give them a formal statement within a day or two. There was no mistaking the Pope's obvious satisfaction with the returns thus far in this monumental struggle between Moscow and the West.

The Vatican-backed Christian Democrats triumphantly invaded the so-called "Red north." Returns in Milan showed the Christian Democrat Party and its allies running two to one ahead of the Communists in the chamber elections.

At Genoa, a Communist stronghold, the anti-Communists had a comfortable lead.

Violence flared again at some points.

Milan police said unidentified raiders attacked an Army munitions dump near the city early today. It was the second such attack there. Troops repelled a raid two nights ago.

At Codogno, on the Po River near an Army dump, police reported a raid but gave no details.

In Bologna, known as the "Italian Kremlin," a bomb exploded in front of a Christian Democrat campaigner's store, but no one was injured.

The returns indicated Italy was on the verge of giving the victor of small parties which sprang up with the downfall of fascism and one-party government.

Three minor parties which did fairly well were collecting some 16 percent of the vote. About two-thirds of this vote could be counted upon as allied to the Christian Democrats.

Giuseppe Saragat's lusty young independent Socialist Party, which grew out of the socialist split over fusion with the Communists, gathered more than six percent.

Texas Oil Unchanged

TULSA, Okla.—(AP)—The nation's crude oil output for the week ended April 17, averaged 14,100 barrels daily more than the previous week's production, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

The average daily production totaled 5,414,380 barrels.

Most of the increase was in Kansas production, which was up 13,500 barrels to 297,850 barrels.

Other increases were reported by Oklahoma, up 2,100 barrels to 404,300; Mississippi, 6,050 to 117,235; Louisiana, 1,350 to 481,080; and Michigan, 1,700 to 46,800.

Arkansas and Montana had gains of 900 and 330 barrels, respectively.

Principal declines included: The Eastern Area, down 600 barrels to 67,350; Indiana, off 1,400 to 17,800; Kentucky, 600 to 24,000; Illinois, 3,900 to 170,700; Alabama, 250 to 1,100; Colorado, 1,260 to 43,940; Wyoming, 2,620 to 140,830; and California, 1,300 to 941,800.

Production in Florida, Nebraska, New Mexico and Texas was unchanged.

Real Estate Board Hears CC Speakers

The Pampa Real Estate Board held a luncheon meeting in the Palm Room of the City Hall yesterday noon.

In the absence of its president, J. Wade Duncan, the presiding officer's chair was held by John Bradley.

Ewert Duncan and Aubrey Steele, who had charge of yesterday's program, introduced Joe Key, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Fred Thompson, and Ralph Julliard, members of the Board of Civic Development, who spoke on the possibilities of building a greater Pampa.

Wichita, Kans., Group Welcomed

A delegation of businessmen and professional men of Wichita, Kans., stopped at Pampa for about an hour yesterday afternoon.

The group was received by a large delegation of Pampans for a round of speech-making and hand-shaking at a program in front of the La-Nora Theatre.

The goodwill tour was traveling in a special train of the Santa Fe, and will be on the road for three days.

There were two "casualties": Lee Silberman, member of the editorial staff of the Wichita Eagle, and the publisher, Marsh Murdoch, were left behind. They "lingered" too long at the Pampa Daily News.

A private car took them to White Deer where they caught the special.

Leaves From a Correspondent's Life Note Book

By HAL BOYLE
BROOKLYN ARMY BASE—(AP)—The task of returning American war dead will be completed in half the expected time.

Originally the Army thought it would take five years and $200,000,000. This estimate was based on the belief that next-of-kin would request the return for burial in this country of about 80 percent of the men who died overseas.

Today the Quartermaster Corps hopes to complete the program in about two years. Survivors of only 60 percent of the combat dead of World War I have asked they be returned from the lands where they fell.

An interesting sidelight: Of 243,398 letters dispatched by last February to next-of-kin asking their wishes, some $4,656 have never been answered.

What does this figure mean? It means that one out of every five persons hasn't taken the trouble to notify the government what he wants done with the body of a man who when alive listed him as his nearest or dearest relative.

A charitable interpretation of this inaction is that the 20 percent who didn't reply merely took this means of indicating that they wanted their war dead to remain where they are.

In 10,189 other cases the letters of inquiry were returned as undeliverable. The next-of-kin no longer could be found.

Of some 115,637 reply forms returned and now classified, 79,754 or 69 percent requested the servicemen be returned here for burial in a private or national cemetery.

A majority of the war dead pass through the New York port of embarkation on the way to one of the 15 distribution centers throughout the country where military escorts are assigned to accompany them to their final resting place.

The task is carried on with simple dignity. Each transport is met by 300 to 400 survivors, representatives of veterans groups, and a Protestant, Catholic and Jewish chaplain. A short memorial service is held.

The dead are listed individually on the transport's passenger roster. After each name is the notation—(deceased).

"One mother who came down to meet the ship wept well until she saw her boy listed as a passenger," said Capt. Larry Phelan, combat veteran of the First Infantry Division. "Then she wept."

"Preventive measures, such as immunization procedures, and pure water, milk and other foods have played an important role," Dr. Dublin notes.

Other vital factors have been higher standards of medical care, newer methods of treatment, including chemotherapy, rising standards of living and the spread of health education.

The reduction in mortality from accidents has been relatively smaller than that from disease, amounting to 9 percent among boys and 19 percent among girls between 1930 and 1946.

"The rapidly changing mortality picture at the preschool ages has brought about major shifts in the relative importance of the various causes of death," Dr. Dublin observes. "Accidents now outrank every other cause, accounting for one out of every four deaths among boys and for one out of every five deaths among girls at ages 1 to 4. Pneumonia, which in 1930 was the leading cause of death by a very considerable margin, is now a poor second to accidents. Diarrhea and enteritis no longer rank among the leading causes of death at the preschool ages. A surprising development is the entry of cancer (including leukemia) into the picture as a leading cause of death, now ranking fifth among boys and fourth among girls at the preschool ages."

For more than a thousand years afterward, the Scriptures were preserved and circulated by Catholic monks and scholars who laboriously copied the sacred text by hand. And the Bible authorized by the Catholic Church was the first book produced by Gutenberg upon the invention of printing.

Yes, the Bible is truly a Catholic book. They were members of the Catholic Church who, under God's inspiration, wrote the New Testament in its entirety.

It was the Catholic Church which treasured it and gave it to the world in its original and unaltered form. It is the infallible authority of the Catholic Church that always has been the only sure guarantee of its inspiration.

There are obscure and difficult passages in the Bible, some of which may seem confusing. But with the complete revealed truth of God, delivered to her from the beginning, the Catholic Church has faithfully unfolded the meaning of the written Word of God to past generations of mankind—and does so today.

Those who are familiar with the Bible, as well as those who are reading it for the first time, will find many important questions concerning it clearly answered in a free booklet which we shall send you on request. Ask for Pamphlet No. 3-N.

Established by Christ Himself and rapidly spread among the nations of the world, the Catholic Church was carrying on Christ's work for the salvation of men some 60 years before the Apostle John wrote his book of the New Testament.

The Innocent Impostor

THE six-thirty from Liverpool Street was always crowded. Business girls dashed along at the last moment and threw themselves into it just as it was starting. Men from the city sat in the first-class carriages reading their evening papers, glad that their day was over. Women, up in town for a round of the shops, stowed their parcels away on the racks and were happily contented to be returning to the country.

Patience Mond caught it on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. She went up in the morning on the nine o'clock, hurried into the tube to Oxford Circus, and emerged to cross the street and take the third turning on the left, then to disappear into the first house on the right, where the lift took her to the top floor.

Here she entered the Stanton Academy of Dressmaking where, with several other girls of varying ages she studied and learned and duly digested all that Madame Girard, and the teachers under her, had to teach her regarding the intricate business of dress-making.

Patience was never quite sure whether she really wanted to become a dressmaker. It didn't strike her as a very thrilling profession. But her Aunt Helen and her Aunt Alice, after much discussion, and a visit to London to inspect the academy, had chosen it for her.

And Patience, amazed to find them agreeing that she should embark on any career at all, other than that of a nursery governess, had jumped gratefully at their suggestion that she should join the Academy and go three days a week to London.

She leaned back now in her corner and opened the magazine she'd bought at the book-stall. It was her favorite weekly and she was looking forward to going on with the serial. As the train pulled out of the station she settled down to enjoy herself. And then found that she couldn't. The printed words conveyed nothing to her.

She knew the reason. She wasn't giving them her undivided attention. She was reading them with her eyes, but her mind was telling her he was there again sitting opposite her, his eyes upon her. She'd only to look up and he'd smile and say: "Good evening."

He looked up. "Hello," he said. "Hello," she said.

HITHERTO, though, it had been good evening. Once she'd dropped her magazine and he'd picked it up and handed it to her. He'd tried then to draw her into conversation. But she'd not encouraged him. True, she wanted to. He had such a charming way with him. But no nice girl allowed herself to be picked up by a young man in a train. Or anywhere else for that matter. On this point her aunt was always most insistent.

"Enjoying your magazine?" Her head disappeared behind it. Paul Taylor sighed. He wondered why he bothered with her. For the last month he'd been travelling in her carriage. And it took a bit of doing. The damned train was always so crowded. It meant getting to the station on time and watching for her to come along. He looked at her bent head in the funny old-fashioned round hat that was just like a schoolgirl's. What was there about her that so intrigued him? The very fact that she was so different from other girls, he supposed. Not a spot of make-up. Just a dusting of powder on her small upturned nose. Hair curled of a perm though it deviled nicely on its own, as he saw when occasionally she took her hat off. But nothing small about it. No upward sweep or clustering curls.

Patience turned a page. No, she wasn't. Although a very strict one. She'd a shrewd suspicion it was almost unique. She wondered sometimes if there could be anywhere in the whole of England two women quite so old-fashioned as the two maiden sons to whom she was devoted and who'd brought her up since childhood.

Not that she minded. She'd an idea she was possibly a little old-fashioned herself. She supposed it must be a matter of upbringing. She wondered if a day would come when she'd ever change. When she'd be more like the other girls she met at the dressmaking classes. Learn to use make-up. To go with boy-friends. She sighed involuntarily. It seemed so unlikely. Her aunt disapproved of make-up. They liked her to be nicely and quietly dressed, they always told her. And as for boy-friends. . . . Plenty of time for them a little later on. One day someone would come along to whom she'd be properly introduced. After all, she was still very young. Twenty. What was that? Why, to them still she was very much of a baby!

AT Broxbourne four people got out. Patience shifted in her seat. There was more room now. She laid aside her magazine. He'd be properly introduced. After all, she was still very young. Twenty. What was that? Why, to them still she was very much of a baby!

Paul wished the carriage would empty altogether. Then, hang it all, he'd insist on her talking to him. But there was a parson in the opposite corner and a fussy old lady along the seat from him. He'd no wish to get the snub direct in public. Burst Mill came next.

"Come make for a place, isn't it?" he said as the train started again.

"Yes," said Patience.

Paul sighed. Dumb, he thought sadly, and not even beautiful. He'd give it up. It was altogether too much like hard work. There was a snappy little blonde that "Come on. You'll be home in no time," Paul promised encouragingly as he held out his arms to her. "One, two, three—Be a brave little girl. The big bad wolf won't eat you!"

wasn't to look up at him again. Yes, she knew he was staring at her. Funny how she could feel his eyes upon her when her head was bent over her reading. She hoped the hot tell-tale color wasn't creeping up her cheeks. It was such a ridiculous habit she'd got of blushing. How the girls at the academy laughed at her! And some of them congratulated her. "You don't see many girls blushing these days. Listen, Patience, what sort of a home do you come from that you don't seem to know any of the answers?"

She came from a very nice home, although a very strict one. She'd a shrewd suspicion it was almost unique. Immunization From Diphtheria Is Being Urged

AUSTIN — It is a tragedy that Texas parents continue to allow their babies to suffer and die from that painful and killing disease diphtheria. This is the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, who says "It is up to the parents. If they protect their children with immunization, they need not have diphtheria."

"Babies should be immunized by the age of eight or nine months," Dr. Cox advised. Authorities on the care of infants recommend a first dose by the age of eight or nine months, and sometimes as early as six months. A second dose is usually given later.

To maintain complete immunity Dr. Cox said that a reinforcing dose of toxoid is advised when a child is old enough to enter school if a Schick test reveals the need of one. Children who have never been immunized certainly should be protected with one, any further delay, the State Health Officer declared, and added that it is the responsibility of the parents to save the lives of

BIRD RITUAL
"Bird anting" is an ornithological riddle. For reasons yet unknown, many species of birds have been observed in the peculiar ritual of grasping an ant in their beak, and rubbing it vigorously on their feathers. The performance has been given the name, "bird anting."

Every American Woman Can Assist In the Fight to Conquer Cancer

The American Cancer Society's campaign for $16,042,000 which runs through April in most of the 59 divisions of the Society needs the help of every American, and especially every American woman. Here are a few facts to support the call for action:

In 1948 cancer deaths will occur at the rate of:
584 per day.
22 per hour.
1 every three minutes.

Cancer kills more women between 30 and 54 years of age than any other disease.

Seventeen million Americans now alive will eventually die of cancer unless a drastic reduction is made in the death rate.

Cancer's toll in human lives increased more than 25 percent in the past 10 years!

Now what is being done about it? The American Cancer Society is fighting cancer on three fronts: research, education (telling the story that early cancer may be cured) and service to cancer patients.

The biggest single expenditure goes for research. About 25 percent of all money collected by the Society is channeled into research. During the past two years the ACS has appropriated nearly $6,000,000 for grants in aid, institutional grants and fellowships. More than 235 projects have been aided and 74 fellowships financed to train young scientists for cancer research. Fourteen institutional grants totaling more than $800,000 have been awarded.

In cancer education, ACS during last year alone printed and distributed nearly 50 million pieces of literature. A vast program of information was carried on over the radio, and in the press.

In service to cancer patients, the 59 divisions of ACS spent more than half a million dollars in direct aid to sufferers. This did not include the thousands that were spent on indirect aid, such as loan closets, dressings, thermometers and wheel chairs that were made available for home care.

Other thousands too were spent by the divisions on equipment for detection centers and cancer clinics and for cancer therapy equipment for hospitals.

These are a few of the many things which require money in the fight against cancer. More is needed each year as the job becomes ever greater.

Money Saving Menus And Recipes

Are you one of the thirty-odd million homemakers now finding it difficult to feed your family because of high prices? That's your individual food problem. But did you realize that it's an important part of the nation's food problem, as well?

Our government is trying to save scarce food for Europe. But of quite as great concern is the problem of safeguarding our country's food supplies and nutrition levels, and of combating inflated prices.

To help homemakers save food and money, the Department of Agriculture has prepared a new recipe and menu booklet, "Money-Saving Main Dishes." Its 48 pages contain 150 tested basic recipes and variations for appetizing, economical main dishes, plus suggestions for rounding out balanced meals.

In addition to scores of answers to that daily puzzle—"What shall we have for dinner?", this booklet tells how to get the best dollar-value in basic foods. By following its recipes and buying suggestions, you can reduce your food bills, perhaps by as much as one-third on meat alone. And you can help fight inflation. For, by using the plentiful foods the booklet suggests, you lessen the demand for scarce foods. And that helps hold down food prices as well as saving vital and more scarce items for export.

There's no charge for the booklet. If you're interested in receiving a copy, all you need do is print only your name and address on a post card and address it to Food Conservation, Washington 25, D. C. It's as simple as that. You don't have to ask for "Money-Saving Main Dishes" by name.

Feather Your Feet

Pastel colors in protective footwear may be here soon.

Research scientists now have developed a "white carbon black" that eventually can be used to make gay galoshes and colorful rubbers.

The powdery ash is produced by a complex process from sand and alcohol, and strengthens rubber just like the regular carbon black that for years has caused almost all rubber articles that get severe wear to be black.

Future protective footwear can be colored daintily and designed to make rainy-day gear as attractive as the scarf tied around your neck.

We, the Women

By RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

We've been misled, ladies. By the cosmetic ads, by the movies, and by the type of fiction that fills the women's magazines.

Youth or beauty is not the quality men most want in their wives. It's not the glamor of any kind.

What they want most—according to their answers to a nationwide poll—is a wife who will make them a pleasant, neat home and feed them well.

Since that is what the men themselves say is important to them, perhaps we had better stop spending so much time and money in beauty salons. Perhaps we had better go a little easier on our clothes budgets.

NO CHANGE COMING.

Perhaps we had better quit worrying about our bridge games, spend less time on best sellers and concentrate on keeping our homes in shining order.

But we won't change no matter what the men say they consider the most important quality in a good wife. Because women long ago gave up the idea that a man would rather be met in the evening by a whiff of the delicate aroma of mince pie browning in the oven than by a whiff of Chanel No. 5.

We've sold good housekeeping down the river and put good looks in its place as a woman's first duty to her husband.

Nothing husbands say will ever be as effective as the "hold your man" propaganda we've been sold by the cosmetic and fashion industries as "by Hollywood and popular fiction."

WHY? WHY? This Arab boy's face mirrors his bewildered fright as he peers through the bullet-shattered window of his school bus, fired on by Jews in Jerusalem. Sports Round-Up

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NORFOLK, Va.—(AP)—Walter Hagen, who doesn't make very many public appearances these days, was reminiscing for the Norfolk Sports Club yesterday when somebody asked him to compare modern golfers with the old-timers. "I can't do it," replied the Hag. "When I first started playing, we didn't have as good equipment, golf courses weren't so well groomed and we didn't have the same objectives to shoot for. We patterned ourselves after Harry Vardon, a fine golfer, but there wasn't any sense in trying for distance the way they do now. We just puttered along, trying to stay out of trouble or to get out of it as three games in the local Midget League. Simmons, you remember, claims he didn't benefit much from high school "kid" baseball because it was too easy for him to strike out the batsmen. . . . The "Gorgeous George" influence in wrestling has reached here with Buddy Rodgers getting top billing as the handsomest burper. . . . NO REFUNDS

While Byron Nelson was preparing for last Saturday's Specialists golf match, a fan appeared and said: "Mr. Nelson, I bought your book and it hasn't taken a stroke off my game. I want my $2.50 returned." . . . Nelson just laughed and told one about a really hard-to-please customer in Honolulu who wrote: "I'm returning your book and will expect a refund. Furthermore, I'm enclosing a bill for $19, the amount I lost on a match which I prepared for by studying your book."

The Worsening Meat Situation—What it Means

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Meat experts say America's meat situation still must get worse before it gets better. They say the explanation is simple.

"In the past year we have eaten up our cattle and calves at a record rate," says Berry R. Hurt of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics (BAE) of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

"Heavy slaughter speeded the decline in the number of cattle on farms. The decline has been underway since 1944."

This means so many breeding animals have been slaughtered that beef herds can't be increased quickly. And this in turn means less meat.

The experts say that if the downward trend in cattle numbers was stopped this year the slaughter would have to be limited to 30,000,000 animals. This would cut the beef supply by one-sixth compared with 1947.

Pork supplies might be boosted to make up for the short supply of beef. But the price of corn was so high last fall that many farmers found it more profitable, or more desirable, to sell off their hogs instead of raising pigs and fattening them with corn. Thus the 1946 spring pig crop was a small one.

If meat production patterns follow their usual course it may be 1954 before there is a substantial upturn in the beef supply.

If the corn crop is a bumper one, the pig crop could be increased next year and thus there would be more pork by 1950, but the number of stock sheep on farms is the lowest in 80 years, so the prospect for more lamb and mutton isn't bright.

The BAE now estimates there will be about 10 percent less meat this year than in 1947. This is a reduction of about 2,000,000,000 pounds of beef, pork and mutton.

In 1947 about 155 pounds were available for each person. This year it is estimated the supply will range between 143 and 145 pounds.

The cattle population runs in a cycle. Usually it's from six to eight years between the peaks and the lows. This has been the marketing pattern for years.

A prewar low point was reached in 1938 when the number of cattle and calves totaled 65,200,000. A peak was reached in 1945. There were then 85,600,000 cattle and calves on U. S. farms, an all-time high.

During 1945 and 1946 the slaughter was so heavy that cattle numbers declined. By the end of 1946 they were down to 81,000,000. Now they number 78,500,000, lowest since 1942.

If the cycle follows its usual course it will reach a low about 1950-51 and then start upward. But the beef supply won't climb around 1954 if the cycle behaves in the normal way.

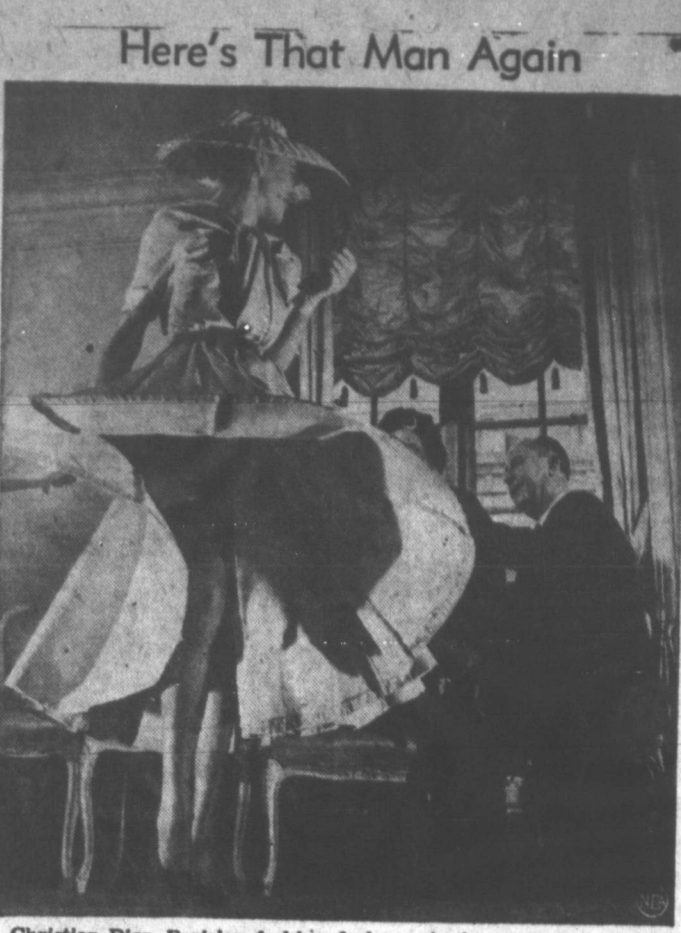

Demand for meat is above normal. More people are eating more meat. Another factor complicating the average man's outlook for more meat is this: U. S. population is on the increase.

This means livestock production in future years will have to be substantially above the prewar level to provide as much meat for each person. The U. S. now has about 15,000,000 more persons than at the start of the war.

DUBBED STUB LINE
DETROIT—(AP)—Three stocky forwards—Jimmy McFadden, Pete Horeck and Bep Guidolin—form a forward line for the Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League that has been dubbed the "Stub Line." McFadden is five feet, seven inches tall, Guidolin five, eight and Horeck five, nine. They weigh 178, 176, 180 respectively.

"DEAD" SPOT
There is a place where nothing has weight, where there is no "up" or "down." This place is about 160,000 miles from the earth's surface, in the direction of the sun. The gravitational pull of the earth and the sun are equal at this point.

MARKED FOR SAFETY
Blind persons in England carry white walking sticks and motorists are requested to give them special consideration when crossing traffic thoroughfares.

Christian Dior, Parisian fashion designer, is the man who started the longer hemline "new look" craze. He's in again—this time with stockings which match, or contrast with, the dress. They range in shades from peach to black, called the "Boulevard Bouquet."

'Met' Stars and GI Aid Orchestra

NEW YORK—(AP)—An American GI's promise to help rebuild the world famous symphony orchestra of Florence, Italy, is well on its way to fulfillment. Back in November, 1945, when the orchestra of the Maggio Musicale Fiorentino (May Music Festival of Florence) of the Teatro Comunale gave a farewell concert for American troops who had remained to attend the U. S. Army University there, the guest conductor was Sgt. Robert Lawrence of New York.

Sgt. Lawrence, a member of the Army University's music faculty, promised Parlo Votto, director of the Teatro Comunale (Municipal Theater), that when he returned to his native land he would strive to raise funds to replenish the percussion and brass sections of the Florentine orchestra.

The instruments had been destroyed by a bomb.

After two years of effort, Lawrence staged in New York a musical festival starring some of the best known Italian artists now in the New York Metropolitan Opera. More than $10,000 was raised.

On a recent tour Lawrence appeared in Genoa where all four opera houses were destroyed by the war. His hopes now are for a concert in behalf of music of Genoa. He hopes that members of the Teatro Comunale Committee will give their services again.

Returned Finns Being Watched

HELSINKI—(AP)—Approximately 400 former Finns who left Finland for the Soviet Union in the early thirties when the Communist party was banned here have returned since the armistice, according to the best estimates. Political opponents are watching their activities closely.

Few, if any, have asked to renew their Finnish citizenship, reliable Finnish sources said. The Communist party machine—which numbers between 40,000 and 45,000 members or one percent of the population—has absorbed them. They have scattered throughout the country, working as organizers or propagandists, these sources said.

SNAKES STAGE BATTLE
BALIK PULAU, Malaya—(AP)—A fight to the death took place between two giant snakes here—a king cobra and a python, both more than 15 feet long. The python (sometimes called a boa constrictor), although bitten by the deadly cobra, managed to twine itself around its enemy and crush the cobra to death. Then it died from the cobra's poison. A government official said it was the first time such a clash between a king cobra and python ever had been reported in Malaya.

BEST WASN'T ENOUGH

New Product Is On Market

Procter and Gamble has announced marketing of another powder soap, Tide, which, according to the makers, will not leave film when used to wash dishes and makes unnecessary the drying of dishes.

The company says "Tide actually gets clothes cleaner because it not only removes ordinary dirt, but it cannot leave hard water film."

Market Briefs

WALL STREET
NEW YORK, April 19.—(AP)—The stock market resumed its upward push today reaching another new average high since last October. Considerable irregularity prevailed most of the session. Demand was active, however, for some of the aircraft, oil and other industries. A number of large blocks changed hands, and some sharp price gains registered. Several pivots which were ignored the rise came to the fore along with gains in the first hour. Although some closed under their last gains ranging to more than a point, predominantly, transactions totaled around 1,000,000 shares.

Yokohama, new 1948 issue, some on wide jump, were Plymouth Oil, Warren Petroleum, Pure Oil, Pundaker, Radio Corp. and New York City Union. Leaders were General Motors, Campbell Soup, J. I. Case, Westinghouse Electric and Union Carbide. The market had a variety of news to digest: another interim freight rate increase, new aircraft orders, the attempt to delay the merger of the union and their leader, and modified labor demands on the automobile companies.

Bonds were mixed.

DALLAS (AP)—You can win first money in the Women's International Bowling Congress, one of the biggest sports events of the year, and still go broke.

That is, unless you are a resident of the city in which the tournament is held. Or live nearby.

The big bowling show now going on in Dallas with contestants coming all the way from Alaska to compete. There were 26 in the group that chartered a plane and flew from Anchorage to Dallas. It cost some $10,000 and when they get back home will have traveled 8,000 miles. They raised the money with entertainments.

But all of those Alaskan visitors had to pay their personal expenses like hotel accommodations, meals, etc.

Winning first or second in singles at the WIBC means $140. First or second in doubles draws the same. First or second in the team event cashes in for $350 (divided five ways).

Now how much profit would you realize if you came all the way from Seattle or Anchorage?

But money isn't the thing, says Mrs. Jeannette Knapp of Millwaukee, who has been president of the WIBC for 24 years. "It's a great sport and we all have a good time and no one is going to worry about losing some money making the trip."

You will become the fair-haired boy of Southern Methodist University football coaches if you just forget that Kyle Role is going to play in the Methodist backfield next fall.

Yes, there's a big move on to the talented ballplayer for the so-called young man from San Antonio who didn't like it enough at Vanderbilt to stay away from his native state.

We understand the SMU mentors would like for the publicity to run something like this: "Southern Methodist expects a good backfield with All-American Deak Walker, Dick McKissack and Paul Page returning along with passer Gil Johnson. Among the candidates for places on the team is Kyle Role who was a star high school player at San Antonio."

Messrs. Matty Bell, Rusty Russell and McAdoo Keaton have about as much chance of it being handled like that as I have to become line coach at Vassar.

Role is going to be mentioned in every breath in Southern Methodist prospects. And rightfully so. We wouldn't be surprised if he put Walker in the shade.

Kyle is one of the greatest prospects the Southwest Conference ever saw. He can do everything.

Frank Anderson, track coach at Texas A and M, is giving Wendell Davis, the 17-year-old Negro sprinter from Kemp High School of Bryan, some tips on running. Davis has done 100 yards in 9.5 so it appears if he learns just a little more he'll smash the world's record.

The other day the Negro ran against Webb Jay, Aggie sprinter, and was beaten by six inches in a time of 9.8 on a wet track.

What Anderson is trying to do is improve the boy's start.

Wendell finishes at Kemp High this year. He has been contacted by several Negro colleges in Texas as well as some Northern universities.

Texas Sports writers are being invited to play in a special flight at the Thirtieth Annual Invitation Golf Tournament at Corsicana.

The sports scribes are to play on May 12.

The way some of those guys get around, however, you may make it a three-hole tournament—the last three holes before reaching the club house.

The only "champion" sports writer golfer we know about is Fuit Powell of Amarillo. He talks a good round.

Two new Gamblin' That, Fulton, Brim: Hits off Gambin' 3 in five innings; off Wells 10 in seven innings; off McCutchen 15 in twelve innings. Double plays: Weathered to Hernandez; Gamblin' to Strike; Gamblin' to Wells; McCutchen to Strike.

Locals Win Over Gold Sox 8 to 7

Five runs in the first inning and three in the fourth gave the Pampa Oilers the necessary count to hand the Amarillo Gold Sox an 8 to 7 licking last night at Oiler Park to complete the Oilers' exhibition schedule before the opening regular season game.

The Oilers play Wednesday night against the Borger Gassers. The local club gained five runs in the first, off six hits of Sox hurler Clyde DeWitt and then were held scoreless until the fourth when they scored three runs on two hits.

The fourth inning Oiler runs came when DeWitt walked Oley Rice made it first on an error by DeWitt, and then Bob Belford, Oiler first baseman, rattled the boards for a double, knocking in two of the Oiler runs. Riley walked. Fortin hit into a double play forcing Riley at second, but scoring Belford on the play.

Going the full route for the Oilers was Johnny Wyssmann, a young right handed rookie from Covington, Okla. The 20-year-old hurler is making his debut in organized baseball this year, and by the way he handled the Gold Sox last night in the pre-season game, made a strong bid for permanent position on the Pampa hurling staff.

Wyssmann struck out nine, walked two, and had one bad inning (the fourth) when he gave up two walks and three singles, which, added to Oiler errors, gave the Sox four runs and enough to tie the score going into the last half of the fourth.

The Oilers came back in their half scoring three and Wyssmann seemed to look better as the game went on to allow only three hits in the last five innings of play.

The Gold Sox scored two in the ninth when Jack Riley muffed Chet Juckno's infield fly, allowing Bob Crues' home run over the centerfield wall to score Juckno ahead of him.

Mike Feduniak made his first appearance as catcher for the Oilers last night. Classified as a class man, Feduniak played last year in the West Palm Beach, Fla., in the Class C Florida International League.

Feduniak looked good behind the plate last night and at bat connected for two singles in four times at bat.

Avon Driggers To Hurl Opener Against Borger

By BILL BEHRMAN

Avon Driggers, left handed hurler who won 19 and lost 13 last year in the Florida State League, has been selected by Pampa Oiler Manager Grover Seitz to pitch Wednesday night's opening game against the Borger Gassers, at Oiler Park.

While pitching with Palatka, Fla., Driggers struck out 212 opposing batters to rank second in the league in this department. In 1946, this left handed artist pitched with Orlando, Fla., and then with Palatka, winning the season with a record of 11 wins and 8 losses. Driggers is classified as a limited service.

Winning the 1946 West Texas-New Mexico League pennant and then handing Henderson of the East Texas League a sound four-game trouncing in the playoff series, the Oilers finished a disappointing fifth, last year.

However, with the breaks in the weather and the injuries incurred by the Oilers last year it was in the opinion of many they did well to finish as high as they did.

Looking forward to again pace the WT-NM League, the Oilers have acquired strength in all departments.

After last year's receiving problems, the Oiler management is taking no chances. To Date Manager Seitz has four catchers on hand.

His action in his first game last night against Amarillo, Catcher Mike Feduniak, a class man, is likely to haul down the job of the regular receiver for the Pampa club, Dick Samek, a holdover from last year's club, will likely see action as utility catcher.

Others working out for this position and showing promise are two rookies, Bob Tranter and Harold Frech.

With Earl Harriman on the sidelines due to an injured hand, Jack Riley, regular leftfielder, who managed the Clovis Pioneers part of last season, will most likely fill in for the injured Harriman.

Old Oiler favorite Tony Range will move over to short, R. C. Oley will be playing his third season at second for the Oilers.

Rounding out the infield will be Bob Belford, 21-year old rookie from Parkin, Ark., at first base. Belford left handed and will be the only regular Pampa batsman to hit from this side of the plate. He has showed up far above expectations in spring training in both fielding and hitting. Last night against Amarillo Belford hit four for five; three singles and a double.

In the outfield, Francis Rice, up from Odessa, of the Class D Longhorn League will be in center, and Joe Fortin, playing his third season with the Oilers, will be in right.

The only regular pitcher from last year's team back to hurl will be George Payte, Payte won 13 and lost 16 for the Oilers last year. He pitched 223 innings, giving up 183 runs, 242 hits, walked 138, and struck out 126.

Foster White, who won 18 games for the Oilers in 1946, but had an unimpressive record of seven wins and 10 losses last year, due to arm trouble, is still a question mark to Manager Seitz. White seems to be lacking the stuff that brought him his 18 victories in '46.

To round out the hurling staff, Manager Seitz has four rookie hurlers working for the untitled spots. They are Johnny Wyssmann, who recently had 14 strikeouts for 5 innings of duty against Amarillo in an exhibition contest. Fries, a southpaw, will be supported by Sid Jamison and Bill Watling, two other returning southpaws.

A definite boost for the Gassers is Hugh "Mountie" King, a rookie wily right hander. King was with Hammond of the Evangelical League and is a native of Canada. Only 18 years of age the youth has been subject of a large amount of comment concerning his possibilities.

Other new faces to appear with the Oilers are Jack Crowder and Walter Heinz, right handers. Heinz was with Wichita Falls last year as a relief hurler and Crowe formerly was an infielder in training with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Old timers returning will include right handers, Roland Pryor and John Marcum of last year's nine.

Jim Jennings, who hurled for the Gassers several years ago, is making an attempt to make the grade. The veteran joined the team last week. Also with the club is T. J. Johnston, former Gasser and Pampa Oiler.

Results of City League bowling last night at the Pampa Bowling Alley are as follows: Dukenel-Carmichael won two out of three games, 114-102, 114-102, 114-102. Cab won two out of three over Brake and Cook, City Drug won two out of three over Coffey Pontiac, and Leder's won two out of three over Montgomery.

Ted Evans of the Brake and Cook team bowled high single game with a 228. Burk Donnell of the City Drug team bowled high three game series with a 538.

Athletics Trip Boston Twice; Yanks and Reds Win Openers

By the Associated Press

Joe McCarthy is back in baseball today—but please, mister, don't remind him.

The former manager of the New York Yankees still doesn't know what hit him in yesterday's American League opener—his first day back since he went into his self-imposed exile a year and a half ago.

Old Connie Mack brought his team, Philadelphia Athletics to Boston for a Patriots Day morning-afternoon double header, welcomed McCarthy back with a "how are you, Joe?" Then proceeded to rip McCarthy's Red Sox apart with a double-barreled 5-4 and 4-2 triumph.

Mack used two World War II vets—Pitchers Phil Marchildon and Lou Brissie—to lead the charge.

Marchildon, spaced seven hits over 11 innings to win the first game. Brissie, for whom doctors once gave up hope after his left leg was nearly torn off by German shrapnel, limited Red Sox sluggers to four hits to win the afternoon tilt.

There were two other openers yesterday—one in each league—and they ran true to form. The Yankees spoiled Washington's annual inaugural by knocking the stuffing out of the Senators, 12-4, behind a 16-hit attack.

President Harry Truman—part of a 31,728 turnout—was on hand to throw out the first ball. The way things went for the Nats, he might as well have thrown the others too.

Even an eighth-inning free-for-all scuffle failed to ruff the calm of lanky Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati's splendid right hander who fashioned a near seven-hit triumph over the Pittsburgh Pirates in Cincinnati. A crowd of 32,147 witnessed the contest.

The majors get into full swing this afternoon with all other clubs making debuts. In the National League Brooklyn is at New York, Boston at Philadelphia, Cincinnati at St. Louis, and Chicago at Pittsburgh. The American League has St. Louis at Cleveland, Detroit at Chicago and New York at Washington with Philadelphia and Boston idle.

The informal fracas in Cincinnati, which almost overshadowed the game itself, was a wrestling match between Babe Young, Cincinnati's first baseman, and Shortstop Stan Rejek of the Pirates. Barging into second on his double, Young collided with Rejek, then grabbed him around the waist.

A spectator leaped from the stands, nearly came to blows with Umpire Beans Reardon and had to be ejected forcibly from the park. A deluge of bottles heaved pelted matters, but peace finally was restored.

Hal Gregg and Vic Lombardi, former Brooklyn Dodgers, also pitched seven-hit ball for the Pirates, but home runs by Bobby Adams and Hank Sauer provided the winning margin for the Reds. Sauer's came with one on in the eighth off Lombardi, who had replaced losing pitcher Gregg in the seventh.

The ninth inning lapse broke a tight pitching duel between San Antonio's Propolio Herrera and Pete Mazan. San Antonio finished with four hits and a Houston five.

Walter Coon's pinch double with the bases loaded gave Oklahoma City the win over Fort Worth. It was the Indians second straight victory over the Cats.

Beaumont swept the series with Shreveport on a 13-hit outburst, sparked by a three-run home run by White. Robert Alexander limited the Sports to three hits.

A change in scenery sends this lineup out tonight:

Fort Worth at Dallas, Tulsa at Oklahoma City, San Antonio at Beaumont and Shreveport at Houston.

Local Golfers To Participate In Dual Meet

Local golfers will participate in a match tournament to be held in Shamrock Sunday afternoon, April 24.

Approximately 25 matches will be scheduled and the Shamrock golfers have promised a return match.

Local tournament chairman W. B. Weathered pointed out that since the local course's greens are in a process of being leveled, the Shamrock meet will give local golfers an opportunity to get in their regular Sunday's play and in a warmup for the three coming local tournaments.

All Pampa golfers interested in going to Shamrock are asked to call Johnny Austin at 1393 at the Pampa Country Club.

Second State Loop Swings Into Action

By the Associated Press

The Lone Star League opens the season tonight—second of Texas' professional baseball circuits to start the 1948 campaign. The Texas League kicked off the lid last Wednesday.

By the end of the week the state's four other loops will have hit the diamond trail.

Tomorrow night finds the Big State, West Texas-New Mexico and Longhorn Leagues swinging into action and Friday the Arizona-Texas League begins the grind.

Crowds totaling close to 10,000 are expected to turn out tonight for the Lone Star League openers which have Lufkin at Bryan, Henderson at Kilgore, Tyler at Gladewater and Longview at Marshall.

Other new faces to appear with the Gassers are Jack Crowder and Walter Heinz, right handers. Heinz was with Wichita Falls last year as a relief hurler and Crowe formerly was an infielder in training with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Old timers returning will include right handers, Roland Pryor and John Marcum of last year's nine.

One Hundred Years Ago This Week

The communication of ideas is one of the most important things in the world. Not only is it the method of the newspaper, but it is the deeds and misdeeds of other portions of the human family, but it is also a means of correcting our own errors, increasing our own store of usable knowledge.

It is difficult to envision what kind of a society we would live in if it were not for the amazing activity of the newspaper, the radio, and the telephone. Right now we are thinking of the newspaper and especially the Associated Press, which brings world, national and state news to our readers.

It was 100 years ago this week that six newspapers conceived the idea of forming an "association" for the gathering and distributing of news. It was the idea of the representatives of these newspapers to devise a method by which to obtain news faster, in greater volume, and from constantly broadening sources.

The result is that now 3,941 newspapers and radio stations throughout the world contribute to and use the news that is carried under the familiar by-line of The Associated Press. Millions read the word of the Associated Press every day.

What started as an idea is now a business of millions of dollars, the cost of gathering and disseminating this information being shared proportionately by the members who use it.

So, we, as a member of the world's largest news-gathering organization, The Associated Press, pause in commemoration to those thoughtful men who made possible the use today of news that is made today in any part of the world.

DUMAS — Dumas will stage Dumas Dog Days and its annual old settlers' reunion Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 20, 21 and 22.

The show this year will feature a giant midway, two day rodeo, an old settlers party on the courthouse lawn in Dumas, a colorful parade and two nights of dancing.

The Dumas show closely follows Frontier Days at Guymon, Okla., and is usually a good spot for a preview peek at Dalhart, Tex., which rolls down in full swing to vie with Amarillo's Wild West Show, and other colorful Amarillo features for parade honors.

Bands and delegations are also expected from Perryton, Spearman, Texhoma, Shamrock, Stratford, Sunray and other communities.

Dumas Lions planning all concessions, entertainment, stands and shows, will open the midway here Thursday night, May 20.

WHAT TO DO?

WASHINGTON (NEA) — What to do about Dictator Francisco Franco in Spain is one of the toughest nuts the U. S. has to crack.

By dint of some fast work in the U. S. Senate, Wisconsin Republican Congressman Alvin E. O'Konski's embarrassing amendment to the Foreign Assistance Act, after it had passed the House, 149 to 52.

The O'Konski amendment was in the bill on a week. But it was long enough for Communist propagandists to get in some awfully good licks against U. S. intentions. They sold Eastern Europe on the idea that America was just another fascist dictatorship, willing to support Fascist Dictator Francisco Franco.

Some of this propaganda has taken exceedingly weird forms. A short time ago Maj. Gen. August W. Kissner of U. S. Air Force stopped off in Madrid after an inspection of the Mediterranean. Kissner is a long-time friend of U. S. Charge d'Affaires Paul T. Culbertson at the American embassy in Madrid. It was a purely social visit and it caused no concern in Madrid. When the Moscow radio got hold of this event, however, it reported that U. S. Gen. Lucius Clay was in Madrid to make a deal with Franco. Clay had never left Berlin.

A short time later U. S. Adm. Forrest W. Sherman came to Madrid to visit his daughter, who is the wife of the U. S. naval attaché in the Spanish capital. The Communist reported this event as a deal by which the U. S. was

Aid Furnishing Ammunition For Commie Propagandists

By UPTON CLOSE

It is apparent already that the Marshall Plan money is a qualified blessing for Europe, at great cost to us.

Whereas it has delighted the Socialist governments which will be most immediate beneficiaries and has drawn some support away from the Communists in Italy and France, it has furnished so much ammunition for Communist propaganda guns as to create a lot of suspicion and distrust of U. S. interference.

It was necessary for Foreign Minister Georges Bidault to make a public denial that the United States is dictating policies for the French Socialist government.

Some European merchants and manufacturers are disturbed lest the plan cut into their business and thus damage such free enterprise as continues to struggle while at the same time supports Socialist regimes so that they can continue to nationalize industry.

And nobody to date has found a satisfactory reply to Communists who charge, not without reason, that certain U. S. exporters and industrialists who backed the Marshall Plan, now stand to get back a big slice of the pie.

EXPANSION SHORT OF WAR
Principally, what the recovery program is doing is what this writer months ago predicted: it is tightening the ties between Russia and the United States.

Unfortunately, the tightening seems to be a matter of power rivalry rather than clarification of ideologies, since we are supporting a Socialist Europe.

If we are going to fight a war of rivalry, how can we expect a victory? The world is a victor of the Associated Press every day. What started as an idea is now a business of millions of dollars, the cost of gathering and disseminating this information being shared proportionately by the members who use it.

So, we, as a member of the world's largest news-gathering organization, The Associated Press, pause in commemoration to those thoughtful men who made possible the use today of news that is made today in any part of the world.

In Hollywood

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — The sad state of financial affairs in the film industry has been going about widely. Yet every major company showed a substantial profit in 1947, most of them tripling their best prewar years. Business is off now, because of a series of bad pictures, and television has everyone in Hollywood worried.

Everyone except Arthur Prince, the dance director, that is. Prince insists he's working on an invention which will replace movie theaters—a combination television set and popcorn machine.

M-G-M thinks so much of Betty Garrett that she'll rate an introducing Betty Garrett title card for her film debut in "The Big City." She's Mrs. Larry Parks, and can take a bow for being at Larry's side during his courtroom battle to break his Columbia contract.

That deal for Ozzie Nelson and Harriet Hilliard to co-star in a domestic comedy series is on the front burner at M-G-M again. Enterprise wants John Payne to join David Niven and Hazel Brooks in "Cairo Incident."

WOT AN ACTOR
Lew Lindsay, who has been working with Orson Wells in Italy, writes that the people at the studio are so accustomed to seeing Orson in a variety of make-ups that when a midget walked on the set one day, an Italian workman turned to another and said:

"That Orson-Wells is amazing. He can portray anything."

Since Barton MacLane can't get Paul Muni for his Broadway-bound play "Black John," he'll settle on his second choice—Barton MacLane. . . . Doctors have decreed no more benefit shows for Red Skelton and have prescribed a diet of taking it easy for six months. He's done 2000 benefit shows, he checked out of the Army.

Enterprise has writers working on the life story of Carl Fisher, "The Fabulous Hoosier." It's the story of an Indiana boy who grew up with a circus, invented various gadgets for early motor cars, founded the Indianapolis speedway and then "developed Miami, Fla., into what it is today."

Indignant letter department: "Don't be too hard on popcorn. When our family goes to the theater, the boss of popcorn is the best buy of the evening. It serves the additional purpose of keeping him from watching the picture." —Santa Ana, Calif.

Quickie from Paul Mosher: "I know a fellow who had a good idea for a picture. But his wife saw her too."

GAG TESTERS, YET
It all started with an advertisement in a Hollywood trade paper which read:

"Are You Normal? Wanted: Normal laugh-reactors. Call for copies of our booklet, 'How to Have Average American Dispositions, which can be used as guinea pigs to test radio dialog for laughs. Persons should be uninhibited, free of all worries, so laughter can emerge easily and spontaneously. Only persons who consider themselves normal, without uncluttered minds, need apply. Laugh reactors will be paid $5 per hour."

The fellow who inserted the ad was Judy Canova's newly-hired press agent, Russell Birdwell. Birdwell later reported. He invited 10 of them to her home for a reading of her latest radio script.

Total cost of the publicity stunt: Ten laugh-reactors at $5 per hour for 10 hours. $500. Most of the result: Press Agent Birdwell, who exploited the charms of Jane Russell for five years, hasn't lost his touch after six years in South America.

Not in the script: "Any woman who places a career before marriage and family life is a fool." —Ruth Hussey.

to turn over British Gibraltar to Franco. Then when Myron W. Taylor, President Truman's personal representative at the Vatican, stopped off in Madrid on his way to Rome, the Communists really got worked up. Taylor made courtesy calls on the papal nuncio, and on the Spanish ambassador, Franco, alone. Communist propaganda reported Taylor had come to assure Franco that Spain would not be excluded from the Marshall Plan. Official assurances are given in Washington that a possible change of U. S. policy towards Spain was discussed. Incidentally, Soviet Russia has no diplomatic representation in Madrid. All this inside information it got as dreamed up by the press.

That Generalissimo Franco is dictator of the worst sort is no longer open to doubt. The U. S. and other Allied nations did business with him during the war to keep him from openly joining up with Hitler and Mussolini, who were also doing business with him.

All this time most American officials were saying privately that Franco would have to go when the war was over. The big question was how to get rid of him. Nobody knows the answer yet. In the meantime, Franco has dug himself in more solidly than at any time since he began his revolution in 1936. Last July Franco put over a plebiscite authorizing him to name his own successor. Out of 17 million eligible voters 15 million voted and 14 million voted "FRANCO, Yes, Communism, No."

THE RUSSIAN FORMULA
The Russian formula for getting rid of Franco is to get rid of the Franco at the same time.

Other countries withdrew their ambassadors a year later, except for Argentina. Peron got real friendly with Franco just as everybody else was giving him the tilted nose. This Spanish-Argentine love match is still going on to such a degree that Madrid radio now reports the two nations might make a pact to stay neutral in any conflict which might break out between Russia and the west.

There is apparently no sentiment in Washington for a change of policy that would accept Franco as a partner. Undersecretary of State Robert A. Lovett says it's up to the European nations to decide whether they want to cut Spain out of their recovery program. So far, none of them does.

Still, any good planning for total European recovery should include Spain as a necessary part of a natural geographic and economic unit. The question is how to include her without taking Franco at the same time.

Common Ground

View on the Present

Today's column is a continuation of the letter written by Leonard E. Read, president of the Foundation for Economic Education, to Honorable Ralph Gwinn of the House of Representatives on his personal views of the present war "situation."

In the last article Mr. Read enumerated and discussed some of the causes of the war hysteria and also set forth the incomprehensibility of the Russian communist system. At the close of the column, Mr. Read pointed out that if Russia attempted to create an industry, she would have to desert her planned economy for a free market economy (because her socialistic type of organization is incapable of creating an industry) and that would simply mean the desertion of communism, the end of the police state, and she would no longer be a threat to us because free peoples do not fight.

I continue with Mr. Read's letter: "Oh, but it is argued, 'look at all the natural resources, and the industry of Europe, and the people with the know-how she is taking over.' Let's dispose of these three false arguments in their order: 1—Russia, we have reason to suspect, is richer in natural resources than nearly any country on earth. Henry Grady Weaver, in his excellent book 'Mainspring,' suggests that nothing is a 'natural resource' until a man has made it useful to human beings. Coal was not a 'natural resource' to Julius Caesar, nor crude oil to Alexander the Great, nor aluminum to Ben Franklin, nor the atom to anyone until 1945. Men may discover uses for any substance. Nobody can know today what may be a natural resource tomorrow. It is not natural resources, but the uses men make of them that really count.

"The point is that Russia, under her system of the police state, has not been able to make any significant use of her own resources. Why, then, should we fear that she can make use of the resources of other countries?"

"2—Now, about industry. How would you like to undertake the organization, today, of an industry producing a total business of General Motors or the United States Steel Corporation? Now and then in history there exists a man with these qualities who, when working in a free market, can do something of this sort. But, today, with socialism rampant in our own country, with the currency debauched, and with the function of management severed by the state and government bureaus, it is doubtful if there is a living person who could perform such a feat.

"Now put yourself in Stalin's shoes, but he gets one has to be done by the state. He is not to be by the hope of reward. His monetary and other economic conditions are incomparably worse than ours, but ours are. He has no incentive to do anything but speak, from the day he started. Except in a criminal way, he is not a brilliant person, as indeed a gangster cannot be.

"That grandiose plan of any body else's organizational brilliance in these shoes, is there one who dares to say that he could organize all of Europe and a great part of Asia into a functioning industrial efficiency? If so, he is a genius not yet known to his contemporaries or to history.

"The police state does not have, nor is it possible for it to have, any competency for this creative function. It can destroy that which is in it and near it—that is all.

"Some may cite the case of Hitler. In that case he drew on a country of great productive enterprise, and skilled entrepreneurs, developed in a condition of freedom much greater than is generally supposed to be the case. He drew all the reserves from a spirited people and all they had built, and spent it. Russia, no part of Europe today, has nothing like this to draw on.

"It is well to remember that industrial rehabilitation is not possible under socialism. As a matter of fact the industrial status quo is even impossible of maintenance. The European Recovery Program, with all of its American billions notwithstanding. See if any evidence to the contrary can be found anywhere, anytime. Actually, socialism ought to be regarded as self-liquidation."

"3—Now about the millions of additional people that Russia is enslaving. Do you imagine that these new slaves to Russian tyranny are going to become cooperators? Isn't it more likely that they will become more tormentors, even saboteurs? Can we see just from our day-to-day relationship with people, in the family and in the office, particularly when we try to make them go step-in accordance with our own designs, that the Russian tyrants are gobsles up the nearer he is to the crash of his whole house of cards? He is using millions around his neck, and being power drunk, believes these to constitute new elements of strength, or at least would have us believe it.

"From the standpoint of an armed threat to America or to any part of the Western Hemisphere, Stalin and his automaton are a blundering joke."

AIR — "Assuming that such factors as finances and resources will force us to give preference to one fighting arm over another, Mister Secretary, which do you think should have priority?"

"Air, by all means," was the unanimous reply.

"Because air superiority might determine the outcome in a few months and prevent a long-drawn-out conflict. It would certainly enable us to defend our own industrial and transportation centers, and possibly to destroy the enemy's."

"It is obvious that, in a war neck and, being power drunk, believes these to constitute new elements of strength, or at least would have us believe it.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The immediate size and shape of this country's land, air and naval establishment has already been fixed in the minds of key members of Congress after a month of frank discussions of the prospective world emergency in close sessions with top level representatives of the National Defense Department, which now embraces all our fighting units.

No punches were pulled at these sessions by anxious M. C.'s or by equally worried leaders like Secretary Forrestal, Secretary Marshall, Chief of Staff Bradley, and former Air Chief Carl Spaatz. Aside from classified data, there is no reason why this information should not be made available to the American public.

The program for preparing our fighting forces for any clash was not presented at a single session or before any single committee. For more than a month, or ever since the Czechoslovakian coup, the staffs of the War, Navy and Bogota directors, the men in charge of national security have been commuting between the Pentagon building in Virginia and Capitol Hill.

Laden with brief cases, they have appeared before such committees as Appropriations, Armed Services, Foreign Affairs and Relations and special groups mornings and afternoons, with hardly any time out for lunch. A composite of their warnings follows:

RUSSIA — "Let's cut out the kidding, Mister Secretary," began the chairman of one of these committees with almost shocking frankness. "The White House, the State Department and you have asked us for an unprecedented, peace-time investment in national defense. In public statements, however, you have been extremely guarded as to our objectives—our possible enemy. We can't afford to shoot in the dark. So, what country do you have in mind?"

"Russia, of course," was the quick and unified answer. "How soon do you expect a war?"

"I can't answer that. It may be five years or five months. But we must be ready for anything at any time, and we are not any now. That is why I am here."

AIR — "Assuming that such factors as finances and resources will force us to give preference to one fighting arm over another, Mister Secretary, which do you think should have priority?"

"Air, by all means," was the unanimous reply. "Because air superiority might determine the outcome in a few months and prevent a long-drawn-out conflict. It would certainly enable us to defend our own industrial and transportation centers, and possibly to destroy the enemy's."

"It is obvious that, in a war neck and, being power drunk, believes these to constitute new elements of strength, or at least would have us believe it.

During the entire court proceedings, Lewis sat stolidly, with scarcely a single motion.

Once or twice this heavy jawed twit.

In civil contempt, penalties are usually based on damages done. So penalties are often fixed to increase if damages continue.

This might result in Goldsborough's imposing a daily penalty in event the miners do not work in protest against the criminal contempt fines.

Many were out of the mines today, waiting to see the outcome of the case.

Lewis' attorney, Welly K. Hopkins, filed notice of intention to appeal the contempt conviction. This was done right after sentence was imposed.

While Lewis sat stony-faced, Goldsborough told him in passing sentence.

"If this court was to use its individual judgment it would impose a prison sentence."

But the judge added that he was only one man and was accepting the advice of the government.

Morison had recommended only the fines and said nothing about prison.

When he proposed them, Morison reminded the judge that Lewis and the UMW were "second offenders."

Morison said the court should "discipline these defendants sufficiently to impress upon them permanently," that they must obey the courts.

There were threats of a full-fledged walkout if Lewis should be sent to jail.

Under civil contempt, it would be possible to impose a fine that increased with each day the mines were idle; a fine of $5,000 a day for instance, for each day the miners stayed out.

Morison said that the defendants (Lewis and the UMW) "Have chosen to set themselves above the procedures of law and to disregard entirely a law of the United States and the mandate of this court issued pursuant to that law."

When Morison concluded, Hopkins, the union's lawyer, told the judge such fines as the government suggested would inflict "grievous injuries" on the miners.

He said the penalties asked for were without parallel.

Speaking of the miners, Hopkins said "I say to the government they are not second-rate citizens," he added:

"There's no caste system of untouchables — as yet."

Libel Suit Filed Against Editor

BORGER—(AP)—A libel suit for $100,000 damages against J. C. Phillips, editor and publisher of the Borger News Herald, and against the Panhandle Publishing Co., Inc., has been filed here by a labor union official.

The suit was filed in 84th District Court yesterday by Joe W. Rigdon, business agent of Local No. 251, International Union of Operating Engineers, AFL.

Rigdon charged that editorials in the News Herald on May 7, 1947, and May 19, 1947, hurt his reputation and were written to discredit him.

Rigdon filed an earlier suit for $100,000 against the Panhandle Publishing Company in connection with material appearing in the Amarillo Times. This suit was filed Dec. 17, 1947.

walkout was about that's all we wanted. Lewis never called a strike. I'm recording secretary and the word strike is not mentioned in any correspondence to our local.

More than a fourth of the 400,000 soft coal miners were idle today in fresh walkouts stemming from the Lewis contempt conviction.

A representative of United Mine Worker District 8 in Pittsburgh expressed relief at the fine. "That wasn't so bad," he said. "Not so bad."

He added, "a jail sentence would have been bad. All the miners would have gone out and that's for sure."
