HOW TEXAS IS GROWING

Fruit packing plants are being built at McAllen, Edinburg, Edcouch, Los Fresnos, Primm and Brownsville in the lower Valley.

Preliminary work is under way on the first $10,000,000 unit of the Southern Alkali corporation chemical plant at Corpus Christi.

A new process oil refinery of 25,000 barrels daily capacity is planned at Houston, giving employment to 100 men in the field where the oil is to be partially processed and 300 in the refinery.

Dallas wash dress plants have a weekly production capacity of 24,000 garments with completion of improvements at one plant which doubled its capacity.

Recent shipments from a desk factory at Temple have gone to Cuba, Mexico and several cities in the Middle West. The factory gives employment to fifty men.

New canning plants are being established at Encinal and Harado.

Public Service Co. is spending $100,000 in erecting a plant which will extract sulphur from the natural gas of the Reagan county field.

Waco is to have a new egg-plant factory with an ultimate annual production of 1500 car loads and giving employment to 150 workers.

New building of the Denison peanut factory has increased capacity to eight carloads daily. The plant gives employment to about 400 workers during the seven month season it operates and has a payroll of $150,000 annually.

Farmersville, which this year marketed the greatest onion crop ever grown in that section, has organized a plant and seed company to help make its production 100 per cent local from the seed to the full-grown onion.

Llano has organized a company to install a granite finishing plant to cost $50,000.

Austin and Lampasas business men are organizing a company to develop the graphite deposits near Burnet.

Annual purchase of 9,000 tons of carrots is planned by the company now constructing carrot products factory at a $100,000 steel and concrete Kingsville.

Construction is under way on a new mineral factory at Mineral Wells, where two existing plants sold a half million dollars worth of their products last year.

Four years ago there was one milk products plant in all of

GUADALUPE RIVER PUT TO WORK

The beautiful Guadalupe river, known as the most beautiful river in Texas, whose fertile valley was the 'end of the trail' for hundreds of pioneers in the days of colonization of Texas' vast domains, prosaically enough, has gone to work.

Hydro-electric plants, those ultra modern means of harnessing nature's potential power and turning it to the service of man, are appearing in ever increasing numbers along the river. Men are flinging their gigantic arms of concrete and steel across her course and by the power of her dammed current sending out over the countryside that modern blessing—electric power.

The Texas Hydro-Electric Corporation has just completed two plants on the river between Seguin and Gonzales along state highway No. 3, known as the Old Spanish Trail. They are the latest and largest plants on this stream. Still others are planned. The Texas Power Co. is building a similar plant near Seguin and other locations have been mapped for possible later developments in this same section of the Guadalupe Valley. There are, with these additions, a total of six hydro-electric plants on the Guadalupe in the 25-mile stretch between these two cities.

The lower dam is four miles west of Gonzales and two miles off the highway to the south. Above it is "Lake Wood," of 490 acres, named for Jim Wood, tax assessor of Gonzales county, from whom the land was acquired.

At least a mile upstream on the south bank of the river, stands a granite slab marking the spot where the first shot was fired for Texas Independence, Oct. 2, 1835. The battle won for Gonzales the name "the Lexington of Texas." — Houston Chronicle.

READ THE ADS

There are a number of advertisements in this issue that should interest every reader. It is a mighty good habit to form to read all the advertisements each issue.

East Texas. As the result of a dairying campaign instituted by the East Texas Chamber of Commerce there are now six large and nearly a dozen smaller milk and cheese plants, most of them locally initiated and financed.

Texas manufactured products in 1930 represented only 2.1 per cent of the United States total. It leads the southern states in value of its manufactured products, but only by reason of its oil processing.

Bonham cotton mills, bought last year from outside ownership by local citizens, installed new looms this year preliminary to working on the new crop. New Braunfels citizens furnished the capital for purchase of the textile mills there and are continuing operations.

A new fertilizer plant at Midland is taking sulphur gas from a nearby field, extracting the sulphur and making it into commercial fertilizer, and having the residue of "sweet gas" available for fuel purposes.

El Paso has a peculiar industry—the slaughtering of horses for chicken feed. Fifty thousand head, obtained mostly from the wild horse herds that roam the mountainous regions nearby, will be transformed into chicken feed this year. San Antonio also has a horse slaughtering industry, using the horse meat for making dog biscuit.

Increased industrial demand in that section of the state was responsible for the erection of a 30,000 horse power substation, one of the largest in the state, at Overton, Rusk county.

Big Spring manufacturers, seeking to acquaint local citizens with the variety and volume of local manufactured products, staged a home-town factory show, Texas Products Weeks, which is to be a feature of the Progressive Texans, Inc., advertising campaign, will use the same idea on a statewide scale, featuring Texas products in every town in the state.

TRUNKFUL OF SEEDS PROVES RICH GIFT

Luther Burbank, the plant wizard, died five years ago, but an old zinc-bound trunk, which he left to his favorite pupil, Paul Stark, has proved one of the most fruitful bequests in scientific history. The trunk contained the seeds of hundreds of Burbank's most prized creations in the world of fruits and plants, and Mr. Stark is still working over the miracles which have resulted from planting those seeds.

"At the end of the first season I grew in my new experimental gardens 1671 individual vegetables, flowers and grains, as well as hundreds of rare fruits," Mr. Stark reports in the American Magazine. "The very existence of many of them was previously unknown to anyone. Burbank had worked them out secretly and alone. Now it is my job to find out what ones are suitable for general use all over the country."

Burbank, in designating Stark as his successor a year or so before his death, said: "That young man is a man after my own heart. He is not yet 35 years old, but he knows more about trees and plants than most horticulturists do at 65."

After Burbank's death his widow, remembering his wish that Stark should carry on his work, leased his experimental farms in California to Stark giving him sole right to Burbank's secrets. A huge new experimental garden was laid out at Louisiana, Missouri, a garden rivaling even Burbank's own Sebastopol grounds in beauty and importance. In that garden, Burbank's little trunk has caused many rare and unique plants to come into being, new and finer-flavored fruits, gorgeous and exotic flowers.

In the work of trying out all the new varieties of plants and trees, samples are sent to every state.

ENFORCING DRY LAWS

Charges that courts are lax in enforcing prohibition laws have been investigated by a statistician for Collier's Weekly. His final figures show a surprisingly effective enforcement for last year, 86 per cent of liquor cases tried in courts resulted in convictions.

MORE MEN GO BLIND

Science reveals that men are more prone to go blind than women. Figures recently produced show that for every 100 blind boys and men in the United States, there are only 74 blind women and girls.

SCHOOLS AND ORPHANS GET VALLEY FARMS

The profits from the lower Rio Grande Valley's orchard and farm lands have begun to pay the grocery bills of a Texas orphanage, to increase the endowment of an Indiana college, and to further the education of young preachers in a Texas seminary.

Of the four projects, the 200-acre citrus orchard owned by the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary at Fort Worth is the largest. Next in size is the truck farm and orchard near Donna, which was recently given to the Methodist Orphanage of Waco by Dr. and Mrs. Jay Askew of Coolidge. In one of the newest developments in the upper valley orchard section, friends of Evansville College in Evansville, Ind., have given over 20 acres of land to the school endowment fund. The last is the 30-acre project of the First Methodist church of Combes, in Cameron county, whose members expect to make a good cotton crop next year.

Bail of $25,000 in each of two cases was set for Shilo Servino, who is charged with the gang murder of Keggy Jones in Houston.

From Local Papers of Towns Mentioned

LOMETA

Lee and Forrest Mc returned Tuesday from City, Mo., where they were with a truck load of pecans.

December term of the court convenes in Lometa Monday, Dec. 7, and is expected to last for two weeks.

McAnelly, besides being a white child born in this county is entitled to a record, we believe. He is the owner of the same for forty years and six months, which is also the age of the animal.

Home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Miller, Lometa, was the scene of a most impressive wedding, Nov. 21, at 3 o'clock, the marriage of Mary E. to Elmer M. Prichard, witnessed in the presence of friends and friends by Rev. Patterson. —Reporter.

LAMPASAS

December term of district court for Lampasas will convene Monday, Dec. 7.

More than twenty minimum loads of pecans have already been shipped from Lampasas since marketing began a few days ago. A minimum of 200 pounds and that means more than 600,000 pounds of pecans have gone out from this county by the buyers.

Thursday evening about 8 o'clock, Herbert (Shot) Sanders, porter at the Mott Co., was killed when the car in which he was riding turned several times after he had control of it. The accident occurred on the Lampasas-Lometa highway about four miles from town. While no one saw the turn over, examination of the car showed that it had skidded some and then turned over. The victim's head was broken in several places and the body was broken just below the brain. The body was found Friday afternoon.

SAN SABA

L. Walker shipped a car and a car of mixed from San Saba to market.

and Mrs. R. S. Crain last week is San Antonio, while Mr. Crain was after some of his property in the Tamale.

feature of the Rotary lunch last Thursday was presence of the 10 high pupils in the high school for the first six weeks of school year.

E. E. Thomson, who was the marriage ceremony for more young people than any other man in the United States, rushed the business last week. Saturday he performed the ceremony which was a double wedding.

N. Magee of the Shaw community and Miss Ino Oliver, daughter of Mr. Finis Oliver of Lynn, were united in marriage Thursday, Nov. 19, at residence of the minister, E. E. Thomson, in San Antonio.

HAMILTON

Charles Baker took a group of his Boy Scouts to Hamilton to attend a field day last Saturday at which Hamilton took part of the day.

There were 11,960 bales of cotton ginned in Hamilton from the crop of 1931 to Nov. 14, 1931, as compared with 8,796 bales ginned Nov. 14, 1930.

Friday during the football game between Dublin and Hamilton, Russell Fuqua ran count on the Dublin team, and as a result he has been entering a bandaged head.

P. and Gus Huddleston called to Prescott, Ariz., last evening on account of the death of their brother, Ernest.

BROWNWOOD

It cost Earl Byrd $24.50 to shoot a mule recently. The fine was assessed by Judge E. T. Perkinson in justice court.

The re-opening of the Citizens National Bank is assured. That conclusion was reached at a mass meeting of stockholders of the organization, depositors, the members of the guarantors committee and others at the Chamber of Commerce Saturday afternoon.

Probability that Miss Jewel Casey, former bursar of Howard Payne college, will enter a plea of guilty, when her case comes to trial Dec. 14, was seen Saturday night in an interview with her attorney, Gib Calloway. Judge Calloway declared: "It is probable Miss Casey will enter a plea of guilty, but the amount of punishment that will be recommended to the jury has not been agreed upon."

Miss Casey faces four indictments of embezzlement in connection with the alleged disappearance of funds at Howard Payne college. She was bursar for a number of years. At a recent audit it was found some $35,000 was missing. District Judge E. J. Miller had set her trial for December 14. —Record.

COMANCHE

Mrs. M. E. Redford of Goldthwaite spent Sunday in Comanche with Miss Velda Franks.

Miss Velma Inez Gorman and Fred Paul Cason of Brownwood were married in Comanche Monday evening, Nov. 23.

A. M. Ruth, fruit stand operator, suffered a broken ankle early Saturday morning, when he fell from an apple truck on the north side of the square to the pavement.

Fire, thought by some to be of incendiary origin, destroyed the Apostolic church in south Comanche shortly after dark Friday evening. The building was completely ablaze when discovered by neighbors.

Comanche county may increase its cotton acreage 9,000 acres next year without violating the new cotton acreage restriction law, according to figures released by the government, which shows that there were 55,000 acres planted in Comanche county in 1931 and that 64,000 may be planted in 1932.

Fire thought to have originated from a defective flue, partially destroyed the 4-room residence of Frank Kirkland in south Comanche at five o'clock Monday morning, when the roof was burned off and the inside of the building damaged by water and smoke. Quick action by the fire department saved part of the building and neighbors carried most of the furniture to safety. —Chief.

MONEY IN WORMS

"Oddest job" honors in Kimble county have been given to young Louzon Tinsley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tinsley of Junction, who has found a lucrative profession in selling old-fashioned fish worms to old-fashioned fishermen.

During the summer months the worms are canned together with a small amount of moist earth and sold to fishermen at a penny each.

This odd business is only in operation during three months of the year, yet in 1929, 1930, and 1931 profits from the worm business totaled $239.40—which is equal to the sale of 23,940 worms.

The young business man has been able to buy all his clothes a bicycle and various other boyhood necessities through the pursuit of his unusual trade.

Ernest Huddleston, whose life had hung in a balance for some time. Ernest Huddleston had been in a government hospital at Prescott for some time, where he was treated for disabilities incurred as a result of the world war.

Late Saturday afternoon at about 7 o'clock, the cars of Messrs. Herman Mickelson and Levi Swenson collided near P. O. Nelson's on the Hico road. See the other, on account of being blinded by the lights. The one of the two was unable to steer, and both cars were damaged and their fenders damaged, but no one was injured. —News.

2 ZEPHYR GIRLS ARE INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

Murle Hallmark, 18-year-old daughter of G. L. Hallmark of Zephyr, is resting fairly well in the Central Texas hospital today, but is still suffering from severe injuries received in an automobile accident Friday afternoon. Elouise Cabler, daughter of Curby Cabler of Zephyr, also received injuries, sustaining a broken left wrist. Others in the car were Tylene and Anna Lee Hallmark, sisters of Murle and Lilla Mae Hallmark, Deputy Sheriff Jack Hallmark and cousin of the other girls. They were only shaken up and bruised.

The Hallmark car collided with an automobile driven by M. C. Morris of Goldthwaite. His father, P. M. Morris, 66, was in the automobile on his way to the hospital for medical treatment. He is resting at the hospital today, but is very nervous from the shock. M. C. Morris was not injured.

The accident occurred about 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon between Brownwood and Zephyr. The cars collided, when the Morris car started around the Hallmark car.

Murle Hallmark was knocked unconscious and suffered a deep gash in the back of her head, concussion of the brain and probable slight skull fracture, according to doctors. First X-ray pictures did not reveal a fracture of the skull, but additional pictures are to be made today to determine whether or not there is a fracture.

The girls were taken to the hospital in the Morris car and emergency treatment was given to the injured.

The Hallmark car was considerably damaged and the other car was damaged to some extent. —Brownwood Bulletin.

OIL: Source of Light, Heat, and Power

CHAPTER XIX

THE world had no satisfactory illuminant available to all people until it found kerosene, a product of petroleum. With kerosene available in quantity, its use was soon extended to the province of heating. Today the kerosene lamp and stove are still extensively used in rural sections in this country, and kerosene is the chief source of light and heat in some foreign countries.

When illuminating gas came into general use and the gas fixture displaced in many localities the kerosene lamp, petroleum still remained in the picture as it does today; for the manufacture of gas for lighting and heating is dependent upon large quantities of gas oil, a petroleum product. Electrical power plants likewise are large users of fuel oil, and their dynamos depend upon petroleum for lubrication.

The use of oil for furnaces in homes and other buildings has become widespread. In its bearing upon comfort and convenience, the domestic oil burner is taking its place with the automobile, the radio, and the electric refrigerator. In outlying sections a product of natural gas, which in nature exists in association with petroleum, is now being marketed in containers to individual homes for use in cook stoves.

Petroleum as a Source of Power

The initial run of the first successful American automobile is said to have been made by Elwood Haynes, near Kokomo, Ind., on July 4, 1894. Two years later there were only four gasoline motor cars in the United States. One of these was built by Haynes, one by Henry Ford, one by C. E. Duryea, and one by Benz of Germany.

With the availability in quantity of a cheap fuel—gasoline—designers of automobile engines were encouraged to improve their product. Today the millions of motor cars, trucks, and buses on our highways refute the early skepticism concerning motor transportation and attest the popularity of the gasoline-driven car.

The automobile has revolutionized life in the country, and a quick and inexpensive transportation to people everywhere, and has well-nigh eliminated distance as a factor in social and business relations.

Twenty-eight years have passed since the epochal flights of Wilbur and Orville Wright with the first practical power-airplane of man-carrying size. From the dreams of centuries these brothers fabricated the airplane of reality. The airplane—its engines driven and lubricated by petroleum—has come into its own; and its application in civil life—argued and urged by the pioneers—has been achieved.

Petroleum on the Sea

Not only on land and in the air is oil essential. Ships and other craft which ply rivers, lakes, and the seven seas likewise depend upon petroleum products for power and lubrication. In recent years there has been great expansion in the construction of small motorcraft using gasoline and Diesel fuel oil, and petroleum lubricants. In the merchant marine of the world, oil for fuel has in large measure displaced coal. The Diesel engine—burning petroleum fuel—is propelling in ever increasing proportion the modern passenger and merchant ships.

Before the outbreak of the World War probably only 4 per cent of the world's total gross merchant marine tonnage was oil-burning. Today, including Diesel ships, 24 per cent is oil-burning.

Oil for Industries and Railroads

Fuel oil is also used extensively in industrial plants. Smelters and mines consume as much as the United States Navy. Among industries using fuel oil are the food industries, the ceramic industries, cement and lumber plants, the logging and lumbering industry, paper and wood pulp mills, the textile, chemical, and automotive industries.

Moreover, Southwestern and Pacific Coast railroads have been using oil-burning locomotives for many years. (Copyright American Petroleum Institute, N. Y.)

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

The low price of a made-to-measure suit will surprise you. Ask Burch.

M. Y. Stokes, Jr., and family returned Monday from an automobile trip to San Antonio, Austin and Lampasas.

L. R. Conro is attending the Masonic Grand Lodge in Waco and will likely remain in that city the balance of the week.

The mattress factory will be in operation when work demands it. Notify Julian Evans at Hudson's drug store.

Miss Garetta Little, who is a teacher in Brady schools, spent Thanksgiving holiday period at home.

Mrs. J. S. Wesson, who home is on route No. 2, was an appreciated caller at the Eagle office a few days ago.

When you have visitors, go for a trip or know any other item in which your friends would be interested phone write or tell the Eagle.

Mrs. John M. Scott of Mullin was an appreciated caller at the Eagle office while in the city Saturday.

Since the opening of the fur season, a good many Goldthwaite buyers have gone to southwest Texas to remain during the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Geeslin and boys were here from Brady Saturday and Sunday, visiting relatives and meeting with their friends.

Those who favor the Eagle with communications or local items are always appreciated at this office.

Rev. and Mrs. Virgil Arnold and daughter of Fort Worth have been visitors this week in the Roy McKinley home. Mrs. Arnold is a sister of Mrs. McKinley.

Prof. and Mrs. E. D. Stringer, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Sullivan spent last week end deer hunting in Llano and Mason counties. They report killing two fine bucks.

Those who read the advertisements are always well posted on merchandise and prices and are able to save money on what they buy.

William Glenn Yarborough was here from Austin Sunday, visiting his home folk and meeting with his friends. He is an employee of the railroad commission and a student in the state University.

B. G. Whitt, R. L. and Herman Ervin returned Friday from the Big Bend country, where they succeeded in bringing down a "mule deer", one of the largest specimens of the deer family. He weighed 217 pounds when dressed.

Miss MaAda Wilson of Corpus Christi spent several days here since last issue, visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. R. L. Armstrong, and meeting with her friends. The young lady spent her childhood here and is decidedly popular, especially with the younger set.

For high class printing of all kinds come to the Eagle office. Our work is guaranteed to be neat, perfect and correct.

Dr. J. M. Campbell and son, together with Claud Eacott, returned the first of the week from southwest Texas, where they spent a short time hunting and had fine success as well as a good time. They got home before the extreme bad weather.

Oscar Lee Conro, who is the editor-in-chief of his school paper in Houston, has been made publicity agent for the Y.M.C.A. in that city, which is quite an honor and distinction for one of his years. One fact that is especially pleasing about the assignment is that he has never had one of his articles rejected by the daily press. He is indeed making good as a journalist.

ROCK SPRINGS

Wasn't Sunday a dreary day? We failed to have Sunday school or B. Y. P. U. on account of the weather, but the weather didn't keep some from visiting.

Our school turned out Wednesday for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Thanksgiving was well spent for some, as some ate turkey and chicken and everything that goes with it. Some had company and some went visiting.

I hope when this is read we have had several pretty wash days and work days.

Mmes. Roberts and Robertson spent last Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. W. A. Daniel and Miss Oleta.

Mrs. Claud Holley from Gonzales spent Thanksgiving with her mother, Mrs. Nickols, and other relatives.

I want to correct a mistake I made in my letter last week. It was Ray Davis and family who moved from Center Point to our community, instead of Ray Stark.

Homer Doggett and wife from town visited in the Nickols home last week.

Mrs. Lillian Miller's son from Coleman visited his mother Thanksgiving. She accompanied him home for a short stay.

Goodlo Miller and daughter from Goldthwaite, Mrs. Lillie Moore and daughter of Brownwood and Mrs. Lillian Miller, and F. W. Chadwick and family enjoyed Thanksgiving day in E. D. Roberson's home on the river.

George Lowery Ballard spent the holidays with his grandparents.

Loy Long and wife from town spent Sunday in the Ellis home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McGowan's daughter and husband from Arkansas made them a visit recently.

Miss Nellie D. Cooke spent Thanksgiving at Abilene with her aunt, Mrs. Strickland, from Temple. She also visited other relatives.

Levy Ponder, Joe Huffman, J. O. McClary and wife, Mrs. J. M. Traylor and Waldine. Mrs. Woody Traylor, Mrs. Eula Nickols visited in R. C. Webb's home Sunday afternoon.

Joe Davis and family spent Sunday with J. F. Davis and wife.

Mrs. Eula Nickols and James enjoyed a good dinner with Woody Traylor and family Sunday.

J. C. Stark is sick at this writing. We hope he soon gets well.

Miss Elsie McDermott spent the Thanksgiving holidays at home.

Mrs. Joe Roberts and babies from town spent Saturday night with her mother, Mrs. Nickols, and sister, Mrs. Claud Holley, from Gonzales.

Beryl Turner and wife from Camp San Saba furnished the wild turkey for the Thanksgiving supper at J. M. Traylor's home.

Jim Gatlin has been seeing after the stock on the Gatlin ranch since Oscar has to stay in out of the bad weather on account of his throat.

Mrs. Woody Traylor and girls enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner with the Robertson's, Dunkle's and Roush's.

Mrs. J. T. Robertson visited Mrs. Roberts, last Wednesday. Herbert Cooke took his sister to her school early Monday morning.

R. C. Webb has been complaining this week of feeling bad.

Mrs. Eula Nickols and her daughters, Mmes. Holley and Doggett, attended the fifth Sunday meeting Saturday at Big Valley.

W. A. Cooke and boys and Mrs. Eula Nickols and boys sat until bed time in J. C. Stark's home Monday night.

The rain didn't keep Jack Robertson and Gus Roush from seeing the sights in town Monday afternoon.

James Nickols hasn't felt so good since the ball game Thanksgiving, only he felt good over winning. This will be his last year. His mother seems pleased over the facts.

Sam Frizzell and family from town visited in W. A. Daniel's home one evening last week.

Will Stark has a cow missing. He hunted for her Monday morning during the rain.

Mrs. M. R. Circle has been helping Mrs. John Roberts quilt.

Mmes. Smith and Nickols spent last Tuesday afternoon in the McClary home quilting.

Rudolph Cooke spent Monday night with his father and brother.

Dwight Nickols and wife sat until bed time in his mother's home Wednesday night.

Woody Traylor and family Marion Robertson and family from Big Valley ate Thanksgiving supper in the Traylor home.

J. A. and Hubert Stark spent Saturday morning with the Nickols boys.

As I close the ground has plenty of water on it for awhile. If it is pretty Sunday let's put on our Sunday clothes and go to Sunday school and B. Y. P. U.

BUSY BEE.

PROHIBITION POLL SHOWS DRY STRONG

At the present time an anti-prohibition amendment to the federal constitution would be rejected by the states. This is the result of a poll taken by Collier's Weekly on the theory now current in Washington that a constitutional amendment along the lines of the Raskob proposal is likely to be submitted to the country in the next four years.

Under the constitutional provisions, only thirteen states are required to defeat such an amendment. And it seems almost certain that there are more than thirteen dry states at the present time.

States listed as dry include: Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Utah, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina and Georgia.

States listed as wet include: New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Ohio, Illinois, Wis-

Lost 20 Lbs. of Fat In Just Four Weeks

Mrs. Mae West of St. Louis, Mo., writes: "I'm only 28 years old and weighed 170 lbs. until taking one box of your Kruschen Salts just 4 weeks ago. I now weigh 150 lbs. I also have more energy and furthermore I've never had a hungry moment."

Fat folks should take one half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—an 85 cent bottle lasts four weeks—you can get Kruschen at Hudson Bros. or any drug store in America. If not joyfully satisfied after the first bottle—money back.

Skeletons of two women and a baby were found near Sealy Tuesday. Indications were that they had been murdered, and they are believed to have been negroes who left Sealy for Eagle Lake last February and had not been heard from afterwards.

MAGAZINE IS PAL OF BOYS

Those boyhood years between the ages of ten and twenty are the impressionable years—the formative years when the fundamental character of a boy is molded into the pattern it will maintain throughout the remainder of his life.

That is why so much importance is placed on the factors that govern the lives of adolescent boys—their companions, their environment, their reading, the food they eat, etc. At this age is determined whether the boy will develop into a cheerful or surly man, generous or selfish, intelligent or dull, ambitious or indolent.

School teachers, librarians, Scout leaders and others engaged in boy activities have found that THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTH'S COMPANION magazine is one of the most favorable influences a boy between ten and twenty can have. Its stories and articles are a force for good—wholesome, alive, inspiring.

The million or so boys who read this magazine every month consider it their closest friend. In it they find the keenest entertainment, adventure, mystery, athletics, aviation, humor, everything that delights a livewire American boy. Its sports articles help boys win places on their articles and biographical sketches aid them in selecting their life's work. Its keenly analytical editorials guide them in their daily problems.

That boy or young man in whom you are interested would have a world of pleasure reading THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTH'S COMPANION. Make a subscription to this magazine your gift to him. Subscription prices are only $2.00 for one year or $3.00 for three years. Mail your order direct to THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTH'S COMPANION, 550 W. Lafayette Blvd., Detroit, Mich.

A FORMER WRITER

Stamford, Texas, Nov. 24. It has been quite awhile since I have written something for publication in the "Old Bird." I am glad when Sunday morning comes for it is then that I get to read what is happening in Mills county and most especially at Center Point.

I see the school is publishing the "Pointer" again this year. I am glad of that and sincerely hope the editor of the paper gets as much enjoyment out of it as I got out of my work with it last year.

Busy Bee wondered if such things as "hard times" existed out here. They really do exist. Mills county can boast of many things this county can not. It has been drouth stricken for the past four years and the farmers and business men, as well, are experiencing trying times. The folks who depend on farming alone are facing winter with practically nothing.

I read reports of good sings at Center Point and Rock Springs. You know, folks, that makes me homesick. We are planning to make Mills county a visit Christmas, though.

Best wishes to you all,
MRS. HERMAN COX,
(Nee Vergie Mae Taylor)

A Critical Time In Every Woman's Life.

"During a critical time in my life I took Cardui for several months. I had hot flashes, I would suddenly get dizzy and seem blind. I would get faint and have no strength.

My nerves were on edge. I would not sleep at night.

"Cardui did wonders for me. I recommend it to all women who are passing through the critical period of change. I have found it a fine medicine."

WHO IS SIMPLE SIMON?

A dispatch from Washington in the Evening Sun of Saturday, after describing the flurry produced by the news of the British tariff, said:

During the last eight months Americans have bought 154 sites of branch factories in England, and leading real estate firms will now increase the sales campaigns they recently have inaugurated to lure still more plants there.

The tariff has long been touted as the bulwark of the American standard of living, but an American workman without a job can not sustain the American, or any other standard of living. And when American factories go abroad American jobs go with them. When the tariff begins to drive American factories abroad, it is menacing, not sustaining the American Standard of living.

The Smoot-Hawley tariff has been the direct incitement of a host of retaliatory tariffs raised against us by nearly every country in the world. But American manufacturers have no intention of losing their foreign markets simply because congress has enacted a silly tariff law. They get around the foreign tariff wall by the process of erecting branch factories behind that wall. In these factories, of course, they employ foreign workmen to fill jobs that otherwise would have gone to Americans, thus adding to the unemployment problem at home. This is one way in which the worker pays the bill for tariff wars.

At the same time many of these manufacturers support the tariff which enables them to charge a higher price for their goods in the domestic market. So the workers in this country are compelled to pay higher prices for all they buy by the very tariff which is making jobs harder and harder to get. The American workman pays the bill, going and coming.

Yet the Republican party is kept in power largely by the votes of American workmen. Query: Who, in this situation, is the chump?—Baltimore Evening Sun.

The Spice of Variety

PERHAPS you have stocked up with Hawaiian pineapple now that production is so large and its price so low.

And perhaps you are at a loss how to serve this healthful tropical fruit in so many different ways that your family will wonder. Perhaps—just one more perhaps—we can help you to solve this problem by giving you some entirely new recipes, recently evolved by a graduate dietitian, for serving Hawaiian pineapple in different delectable dishes. So here goes:

Pineapple Tapioca Delight: Press the syrup from the crushed pineapple in a No. 2 can, add one-half cup orange juice to it, and bring to boiling. Add one-fourth cup minute tapioca, one-third cup sugar and a few grains of salt, and cook in a double boiler until transparent and thick. Soften two teaspoons gelatin in two tablespoons water, and dissolve in the hot tapioca. Cool, add the crushed pineapple, and then chill. Fold in two stiffly beaten egg whites and pile in glasses, garnishing with sections of orange and whipped cream. Serves six to eight.

Try These Shortcakes

Hawaiian Caramel Shortcake: Stir one and one-half cups sugar over a low fire in a heavy skillet until melted and slightly browned. Add three tablespoons of the syrup from a No. 2 can of crushed pineapple, then one-half cup cream or evaporated milk, and stir until smooth and creamy. Add two tablespoons confectioner's sugar, and more cream if it is desired thinner. Split eight slices sponge cake and cover lower layers with the caramel, lay on top slices and cover with the pineapple. Garnish with whipped cream. Serves eight liberally.

Pineapple Strawberry Shortcake: Wash one pint of strawberries, add one-half cup sugar, and let stand for at least an hour; then crush slightly. Make one large shortcake or individual ones in two layers. Split open and butter lower crust liberally, then put on alternate spoonfuls of strawberries and crushed pineapple from a No. 2 can. Put on upper crust upside down, butter well, and again put on alternate spoonfuls of the two fruits. Top with whipped cream. When strawberries are out of season use the canned berries with less sugar. This recipe serves eight.

A Nice Rice Dessert

Pineapple Rice Patties: Soak one tablespoon gelatin in two tablespoons cold water, then bring to boiling half the syrup (about half a cup) from a No. 2½ can sliced Hawaiian pineapple, and dissolve the gelatin in it. Add one cup cooked rice, one-fourth cup sugar, a few grains of salt and one teaspoon vanilla, and cool. Fold in one cup beaten cream, and chill. Mold in flat shallow pans about the size of the pineapple slices (small pie or tart tins), or shape when cold into flat patties with the hands, and let set.

Meanwhile, to the rest of the pineapple syrup add one-half cup water and one-half cup sugar, boil a few minutes, add the pineapple slices and cook gently until they are soft and the syrup thick. Cool. In serving lay a slice of pineapple on each rice patty, pour over any syrup left from cooking them, and top with whipped cream and a cherry. Serves eight.

Some Simple Salads

Holiday Salad: Arrange slices of pineapple from a No. 2½ can in nests of lettuce, and pile one cup diced celery in center. Have ready one-half cup cranberry jelly cubes and one-half cup stiff mint gelatin cubes, colored green, and cover the celery with these red and green jelly cubes. Serve with French dressing. Serves eight.

Pineapple and Melon Salad: Drain two 8-ounce cans of Hawaiian pineapple tidbits (or cut one and one-half cups sliced pineapple in small wedges) and chill these and one cup watermelon and one cup cantaloupe, cut in small wedges. (If cantaloupe is not available, use two cups watermelon.) Toss together and pile in nests of crisp shredded lettuce, and over all pour French dressing to which a little finely chopped mint has been added. Serves eight.

Midsummer Dream Salad: Drain one No. 2½ can of sliced pineapple, and place in beds of lettuce. Have one basket of red raspberries well chilled, and pile in center. Stone one cup black cherries, stuff with salted almonds, and arrange in a border around the outside of the pineapple. Pass mayonnaise to which an equal amount of whipped sour cream and a very little sugar has been added. You may substitute, if desired, strawberries for the raspberries and canned black cherries for the fresh. Serves eight.

MRS. J. W. FEATHERSTON,

MRS. TOM MILLER.

A LOVED ONE GONE

Mr. A. M. Rose passed away Sunday morning, Nov. 22, 1931.

God sent his angel at the beginning of the Sabbath and whispered to him softly, "Come home and abide with me—you have suffered enough." The Lord said, "I have prepared a mansion for your dwelling place." To all who knew Mr. Rose the word of his death, was a universal sorrow and grief to each one of us, especially to his dear wife and children, who loved him so dearly, which was proved by their works, while he lay and suffered so much.

Mr. Rose became a Christian his early life and joined the Presbyterian church. He lived a very quiet life, but was always willing to help anyone who needed help in any way. He did not have the opportunities as we do now, when he was converted to serve the Lord and help financially for the church, but those days he never turned down anything that was for the cause.

Mr. Rose was a great sufferer of stomach trouble and had suffered a long period of time. His good family administered everything that was good for his relief. They carried him to the best doctors they had here and elsewhere, also made several trips to a Temple sanitarium.

But nothing could be done to heal his poor suffering body, but he was so patient and did not want anyone to be worried about him. He was very much attached to his own family and wanted them to care for him, which was done so willingly all the way through. No family could have done any more than these good people did to get to keep him longer, but realizing that God knew best and that His will be done. They will miss him so much, especially his good wife, who is left so lonely without her loved one. He talked so much of his going and always said something joyful about it to his family, so it would not grieve them so.

He leaves to mourn his going a wife, two sons and four daughters: Will Rose, Bethel; Neal Rose, Lometa; Mmes. Jack Shaw, Walter Featherston, Tom Miller of Kelly, Arch Featherston of this city, besides 37 grandchildren, three great grandchildren, sister and brother and other relatives and a host of friends.

Beautiful words were spoken of him by Rev. G. C. Ivins, pastor of the Baptist church, and also by Rev. J. W. Kelley of this city, who was an old time friend of Mr. Rose. The closing prayer was led by Rev. Moreland, pastor of the Goldthwaite circuit and very dear friend of the deceased.

The beautiful flowers covered the new made grave showing the love of friends for the bereaved.

From lip to lip the word grows old.

Shall the record of each word be told;

And though we may not know where the grave is hid,
We know he lived by the good he did.

Written by request of the family.

MRS. H. E. MORELAND.
