GUNFIGHT BRINGS CLIMAX TO SEARCH FOR GUNMEN

MRS. REBA BARBER

Crash Brings Year's Second Traffic Fatality For Big Spring

A two-car collision at 6th and Circle this morning took the life of a young mother, Mrs. Reba Sneed Barber.

Mrs. Barber died shortly after arrival at a local hospital where she had been carried by a Nalley Pickle ambulance following the crash.

Funeral services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Mrs. Barber, 19, and the mother of two children, is the wife of Carlos Barber, 902 Gregg.

Observers reported that Mrs. Barber was alone in a 1955 Ford traveling west on 6th at the time of the accident. Her car collided in the intersection with a car driven by Cynthia Gebert, 1601 Sycamore, who was going north on Circle.

The impact of the accident threw Mrs. Barber out of her car, and she was then pinned between the car and the curb. The 1958 Chevrolet driven by Cynthia Gebert was thrown into the yard on the northwest side of the intersection.

Both women were alone in their cars, the police officers reported. The mishap occurred about 8 a.m.

Mrs. Barber, the former Reba June Sneed, was born on Nov. 5, 1939 in Santa Anna, but she had lived here for the past 10 years and attended school here. She and Carlos Barber were married in September of 1955.

In addition to her husband, she is survived by a son, Rocky Wayne, a daughter, Eunice Elaine; her mother, Mrs. Mary Sneed; three sisters, Celta, Patricia, and Marlene Sneed; and two brothers, Raymond and Leonard Sneed.

All reside in Big Spring.

Already this new year has seen two traffic fatalities in Big Spring. A Carrizo Springs man, Juan Gonzales, was killed early on Jan. 2 on Gregg.

Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax collector, is in Medical Arts Hospital in serious condition from a heart attack suffered last Tuesday afternoon.

She is in much pain and has made only slight progress since admission, according to her husband, Walter Robinson. Mrs. Robinson has been in the hospital several times in the past year.

ATLAS SHOOT

ICBM Falls Short Of Target, Goes Less Than 200 Miles

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A powerful Atlas missile failed to go the full route on the latest attempt to break the intercontinental range barrier.

The 80-foot war rocket soared off on what appeared to be a perfect start but today the Air Force said it flew less than 200 miles. It said trouble developed in the rocket engine system.

The Air Force shot an Atlas the full 6,000 miles intercontinental route for the first time last Nov. 28.

Since that time the rocket has scored two more spectacular successes by orbiting as a satellite and blazing some 4,300 miles over the ocean range.

The Thursday night effort actually was the third intercontinental range attempt. The first try ended in a violent blowup 90 seconds after launching Sept. 18.

The Atlas moon, which relayed back President Eisenhower's "peace on earth" greeting during the Christmas holidays, now is silent and is expected to burn up in the earth's atmosphere within the next five days.

Thursday night's missile gleamed in the rays of floodlights for about a half hour and then thundered toward space at 11 p.m.

The Atlas, with three engines blazing out 360,000 pounds of thrust, knifed through the clouds with a brilliant white glow and disappeared in 50 seconds.

That was the start of a 16,000 m.p.h. flight through space, reaching the target area in less than 30 minutes if all went well.

The Air Force reported only that the shoot was "another in the Atlas research and development program." This was the same announcement that was released at first when Atlas stunned the world by becoming the largest U.S. satellite.

It was the fourth Atlas shoot in seven weeks at the Cape. Convair Astronautics, developers of the missile, followed the intercontinental and satellite firings with a successful 4,300 mile flight of the "C" series Atlas Dec. 23.

Thursday night's Atlas was another in the "B" series" the "C" Atlas, closer to the operational version, is modified slightly, lightening the tremendous load by about 100 pounds.

As the missile flashed into the night sky a fleet of recovery ships gathered off Ascension Island near the African coast awaitint the nose cone's re-entry through the earth's atmosphere.

Cliburn Puts Needle To JC's

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Pianist Van Cliburn, who refused to break a concert engagement to receive an award as one of America's outstanding young men, criticized the National Junior Chamber of Commerce last night.

Cliburn was interviewed by the Post-Herald after his arrival in advance of his engagement with the Birmingham Symphony Saturday night. The Jaycees revoked their award and named singer Pat Boone in Cliburn's place because Cliburn said he could not be present for the awards ceremony in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

"They (the Jaycees) had ulterior motives," said Cliburn. "I feel that their award is invalidated because any award subject to personal appearances presupposes that you haven't been valued for your accomplishments."

Cliburn vaulted into fame after winning top piano honors in Russian musical competition last spring. He said he has played 80 concerts since April 14, but showed no sign of fatigue.

The Texan from Kilgore will go to Europe in March for a three-month tour during which he will spend two months in Russia.

Wreck Victims Said To Be Big Springers

Associated Press reports today said Donald Lee Fortune, 33, and his wife, Margaret Louise, 28, of Big Spring were killed in a highway mishap near Port Arthur Thursday.

The collision of their car and a truck occurred at Port Acres, about three miles southwest of Port Arthur, the AP said.

Up to noon today, The Herald had been unable to locate an address of the couple here. No relatives had been located.

Cosmic Rocket Now At Its Perihelion

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet cosmic rocket now has reached the closest point it will go to the sun—its perihelion, Moscow radio said today.

The rocket was reported 90,968,560 miles from the sun, 372,840 miles closer to the sun than the earth is.

Winter Has Most Of State In Icy Grasp

By The Associated Press

Winter had most of Texas in an icy grasp Friday with freezing temperatures extending deep into the state and the Panhandle-Plains country covered with snow.

In the snow-covered upper reaches of the state, driving was hazardous on most of the iced-over roads. The State Highway Department issued warnings of snow drifts and icy roads Thursday night.

Snow measured about an inch in Amarillo and up to seven inches in the Dumas and Perryton regions of the Panhandle. Some rural schools that closed Thursday were expected to open again Monday.

Skies were clear over the state. Temperatures fell to 9 degrees at Dalhart in the Panhandle, and reached only 41 degrees at Brownsville for the overnight high.

Other low temperatures this morning included Lubbock 12, Amarillo 13, Midland 17, El Paso 29, Presidio 34, Alpine 21, Abilene 20, Dallas 26, Texarkana 23, Waco 24, Austin 31, Junction 17, Laredo 34, Houston 33, Galveston 36 and Lufkin 27.

Forecasts called for even colder weather Friday night with clear skies in West Texas and cloudy to partly cloudy skies over the rest of the state.

A long-range forecast issued Friday by the Weather Bureau called for temperatures 5 to 8 degrees below normal in East and Central Texas and 3 to 6 degrees below normal in West Texas the next five days. The extended forecast said a trend of rising temperatures would set in Sunday and Monday in East and Central Texas and over the week end in West Texas.

Temperatures expected Friday night included 20-25 interior of East Texas, 25-30 near the East Texas coast, 30-34 extreme South Central Texas, 24-30 elsewhere in South Central Texas, 15-20 in North Central Texas, 10-20 in the Panhandle and South Plains, and 20-28 elsewhere in West Texas.

Winter Comes Back To U.S.

By The Associated Press

Wintry weather, after a short rest, was back in business today, dealing arctic air and gusty winds across most of the eastern two-thirds of the country.

Stiff northerly winds, with gusts up to 40 m.p.h., swept across wide areas of the midcontinent, fanning the cold air southward into the western Gulf region and eastward across the Appalachians.

Sub-zero cold and biting winds stung northern Midwest regions. Most of the north central region shivered in near zero temperatures.

Temperatures of 15 degrees below zero and lower were reported in northern Minnesoto and eastern North Dakota, with similar marks indicated in parts of South Dakota and Wisconsin.

Temperatures dropped as much as 30 degrees in most of the area from the Ohio Valley southwestward into the southern plains. It was freezing in Arkansas and western Tennessee and near the 32 mark in parts of Mississippi.

Heavy snow accompanied the cold in parts of the upper Ohio Valley, western New York and northern New England, with three inches in several sections. Snow flurries fell throughout the Great Lakes region.

A mixture of snow and rain and some freezing rain slicked highways and streets in southern New York state and southward across western Pennsylvania into West Virginia. Similar conditions were reported in new England and hazardous driving warnings were issued.

The mixture of snow or rain was expected to continue into the Middle Atlantic states, but changing to snow in most sections as colder air moves into the region.

Midland Officers Capture Thugs In Robbery Attempt

Big Spring Holdup Death Case Solved

By SAM BLACKBURN

A 16-year-old Latin-American, two times committed to Gatesville for juvenile crimes, this morning signed a statement admitting he was trigger man in the fatal holdup of a Big Spring service station on the morning of Jan. 7.

He is Andres Marquez, whose address on juvenile records is listed as 700 NW 7th.

In his statement he named Armando Lopez, 16, also of Big Spring, as his companion.

The confession, made in the police station in Midland early today, brought solution to a mystery which has kept all law enforcement officers on 24-hour duty for 10 days. It also terminated a period in which constant fear prevailed that new violence of a like nature might flare at any time.

Gil Jones, district attorney, said that he had filed a charge of murder with malice against Lopez and that he had been arrested at his home in Big Spring by city police. He was being held in Midland on Friday morning.

Solution of the murder of Gerald D. Liner, young night attendant at the McClure Texaco Station, 701 W. 4th, came as climax to a gun battle at 1:30 a.m. today between Marquez and a Midland Latin American youth, Jessie Munoz, and Midland peace officers.

The bandits, following the same pattern of operation used in the Liner shooting and in the wounding three days earlier of Donald Bippus, young airman, at another station in Big Spring, were apprehended in the act of holding up the Roy Thomas Texaco Station on Highway 80 in Midland.

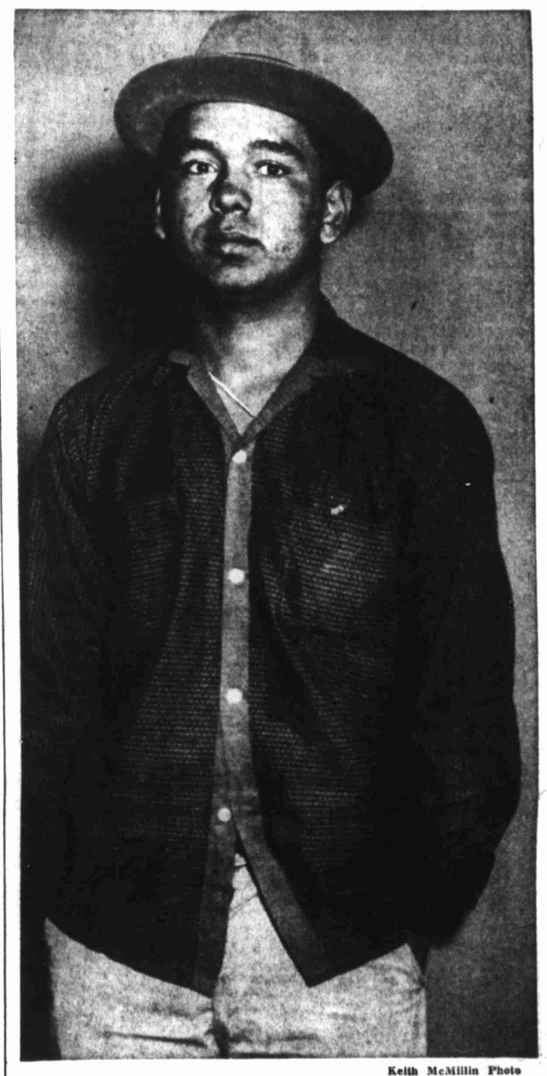

Marquez and Munoz were seen in the station with a pistol held on the lone night attendant by Lt. O.D. Davidson, Midland police officer, as he patrolled the street.

Drawing his gun he ran toward the station. The two bandits saw him and began shooting. Davidson returned the fire. The pair ran from the scene. Deputy Sheriffs Eldon Corley and Gene Howell came up on the scene at that moment and with Davidson gave chase.

The deputy sheriff's car was shot up by the young bandits.

One of Davidson's bullets struck Munoz in the left leg, inflicting a flesh wound. Later he was found in a car and taken to jail. Marquez was trapped an hour later in a vacant house in the Midland Latin-American sector. He was arrested by Maj. Pete Green, former Big Spring police chief.

At the police station, Marquez was questioned by Midland officers, who had been joined by Jones, Chief C. L. Rogers, Detective Leo Hull and other Big Spring officials.

ANDRES MARQUEZ
. . . tells of killing, robberies

He admitted that he was the gunman wanted for the two shootings in Big Spring and named Lopez as his associate in the crime. He said that he was the man who had done all of the shooting, Jones said. Later he amplified his statement to the effect that "he did not see Lopez do any shooting."

He told how he and Lopez came upon the McClure station on the morning of Jan. 7. As officers had speculated, Liner was dozing in the office. Marquez told two versions of what happened, Jones said. In one, he said that he immediately started shooting when he entered the station. In the second, he said he ordered the attendant to his feet and as the startled young attendant came to his feet, he shot him down.

He recited the details of the earlier holdup in which Airman Bippus had been shot in the chest and leg and in detail it was almost identical with that he told of the McClure station job.

He was armed when apprehended on Friday morning. He and Munoz had pistols which Midland officers said were two stolen in a pawnshop burglary at Midland on Tuesday night.

The .22 pistol which had been used to wound Bippus and kill Liner was not on either man.

The two young killers were back in Big Spring shortly after noon and were being subjected to further interrogation.

No claimant exists for the $2,300 reward money which had been posted by aroused citizens for information leading to the solution of the case since their arrest was made by police officers.

Jones said that he and other officers have been concentrating for three days on Lopez and Marquez on information which had been collected in the long and arduous investigation.

They had no car, they told officers, in the holdups.

Munoz and Marquez were afoot in Midland early this morning when they made the attempt to rob the filling station in that city. The attendant was Alton Gault. He was not injured.

Amarillo Judge, 3 Others Named In Death Conspiracy

AMARILLO (AP)— The Potter County Grand Jury returned new indictments last night accusing Randall County Judge Roy Joe Stevens and three others with conspiracy to murder a state agent.

Also indicted were:

George S. McCarthy, a widely known lawyer who recently has been attorney for some Estate Life Insurance Co. stockholders;

Airman William Gerald Miller, 24, of Cincinnati, who is stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base; and Harold E. Erlandson, a bail bondsman.

Stevens and four others were indicted earlier this week on charges of conspiracy to commit bribery of a prospective juror summoned for a murder trial.

Dist. Atty. Wayne Bagley said the murder conspiracy indictments stemmed from two months of investigation into the bribery conspiracy indictments. He said the state agent the men are alleged to have conspired against is Edgar Brannan of Lubbock, a state intelligence agent.

Bagley said the incident occurred early Monday when he and two state agents carried out a plan to test Miller's reliability as a state informer. He said Miller had been suspected of playing a double game in the bribery inquiry.

Bagley called Miller an "investigator, carpenter, handyman and janitor" and said he worked for Judge Stevens off the base.

Bagley said Miller gave state agents a key to Judge Stevens' law office and called this a "deliberate attempt to trap the officers."

Bagley said that when he and two state agents checked at 2:30 a.m. Monday to see what preparations had been made for their coming to Stevens' office, they found two armed night watchmen in a car parked across the street from the office. He said that between 2:30 and 3 a.m., Stevens, Erlandson and McCarthy arrived at the scene, fully dressed and in separate cars.

Specifically, the indictment alleged that the four accused men acted together on Jan. 11 and "did then and there unlawfully conspire, combine, confederate and enter into a positive agreement with each other voluntarily and with malice aforethought to kill Edgar Brannan."

Bagley said that on Sunday, Miller had called him at his home and said something real important had come up and that it was necessary that he talk to the district attorney and Brannan at 9 p.m. Sunday.

Bagley said that at about 4 or 5 p.m. Sunday, McCarthy called Potter County Sheriff Paul Gaither, and that at about the same time Erlandson called Police Chief Wiley Alexander. He said that in both calls, the officers were told that Judge Stevens' office would be broken into that night.

Stevens and four others were indicted earlier on conspiracy to commit bribery.

Dulles, Mikoyan Hold Reich Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anastas I. Mikoyan and Secretary of State Dulles met today for talks on the East-West deadlock over German unification and the future of disputed Berlin.

Their discussion could lead to an early, high level East-West meeting on the whole range of German problems.

Today's session—the second during Mikoyan's two-weeks visit to this country — was described by diplomats as strictly a probing operation with each of the veteran antagonists of the cold war seeking to discover possible weaknesses or concessions in the policies of the other.

Mikoyan, No. 2 man in the Soviet Union, arrived at the State Department in a Soviet Embassy limousine.

On a nearby corner half-a-dozen Hungarian pickets displayed their nation's flag with a black ribbon of mourning. The leader was Ferenc Nagy, Hungary's last non-Communist prime minister who has been in exile since 1947.

As the two men met today, Dulles wanted to know primarily whether the Soviet government is prepared to enter into serious negotiations later this year looking toward an eventual German settlement.

Mikoyan presumably was anxious to find out whether the United States has any counter proposals to make to recent Soviet demands for withdrawal of Western forces from West Berlin and for an early start on writing a German peace treaty.

Mikoyan told a New York news conference Thursday his country still wants a summit conference on world problems. He said the West cannot sidestep one forever.

He expressed interest in Dulles' statement Tuesday that free elections were not the only way to reunify Germany. But he contended that Dulles "did not come up with a constructive alternative" to the Soviet plan.

DEAR ABBY

TIME TO CHANGE

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband died leaving me with four children. Three months ago my daughter and her husband moved in for a vacation. Now I ask you, how long is a vacation? They push my things aside and bring out their own. My house is beginning to look more like theirs and less like mine every day. I love my daughter, but I can't take much more of this. Her husband bosses my kids around. My privacy is gone and my grocery bill is running wild. I feel I am being used, but how can I get rid of them before I crack up? USED MOTHER

DEAR USED: Tell your daughter THEIR "vacation" is over and now YOU'D like one. Alone. Either give it to them STRAIGHT or expect to wind up in a jacket by the same name.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend says we are "going steady." I expected a ring, or a bracelet, but all he says is "I LOVE YOU." Is this enough to "go steady" or should I insist on something I can show my friends? GOING STEADY

DEAR GOING: Don't "insist" on anything. Your friends will just have to take your word for it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: The widow of a professional man sent out "thank you" notes unsealed, thus saving one cent on each card sent. These "thank you" notes were to friends and neighbors who were thoughtful enough to remember her deceased husband. I think this was a very cheap thing to do. What do you think? A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: It's not for us to judge who should save pennies and how. If the "thank you" note was sincere and prompt, who cares how much it cost to get there?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My daughter, age 11, has an adorable little girlfriend her own age who keeps asking her to spend the weekend at her house. My child is an only child and I want her to have friends but here is our problem. The girlfriend's parents run around on each other and I'm afraid if I let my child go there the children might be left alone all night. I can't tell my child the real reason I won't let her go, can I? I hate to hurt an innocent child for she is not to blame for what her parents do. What should I do? DISTURBED

DEAR DISTURBED: When your daughter is invited to her friend's home, simply reverse the invitation and insist that the friend stay with you. No need for any explanations.

* * *

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MAC": With your kind of luck I recommend that you wear suspenders, a belt and carry two safety pins. Good luck!

Nothing New In Jail Cell

DALLAS (AP)—It was no new experience for George Buchanan White Jr., 36, when police put him in jail last night by mistake—and kept him there.

White, of nearby Rockwall, Tex. was released from the state prison last fall after serving seven years for robbing a gas station at Greenville, Tex. Another ex-convict belatedly admitted the robbery.

Last night White went to a parking lot for a friend's automobile. He returned a few minutes later and police arrested him on suspicion of car theft. Checking, they learned the parking lot had delivered him the wrong auto.

But White—who once served a prison sentence for rape—stayed in jail. Police said detectives want to question him on recent robber; ies here.

Flier Survives Ejection Thru Jet's Canopy

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Lt. Cmdr. Ralph Fielding shot himself head first through the canopy of his jet training plane at only 150 feet altitude. He accidentally had touched the ejection button. He escaped with a broken leg; no headache.

"It was quite a sensation," he said in Oak Knoll Navy Hospital. "They said I landed only six seconds after I touched the button. It's almost impossible to say how I really did feel. I was saved by my nylon elevator."

The 'chute opened automatically 1½ seconds after Fielding was shot not more than 50 feet above the plane—an altitude of only 200 feet.

A representative of the Martin Co. which made the British-developed Martin-Baker seat said this was its first emergency ejection. The seat has its own propellant and its 'chute opens automatically and virtually instantaneously.

Fielding, a flight instructor with VF 124 squadron at Moffett Field, near San Jose, Calif., was taking a refresher instrument flight with Lt. John B. McDaniel. As he turned control over to McDaniel, Fielding accidentally touched the ejection button.

Up and out he shot, his head rest crashing through the ⅜-inch plexiglass canopy.

"The next second I was out in the air stream," said Fielding, who is 38. "There was no airplane under me any more. I took only two oscillations (side swings in the chute) and I hit the ground. I think that's when I broke my leg, but the Navy is investigating to see if it was broken in the ejection."

Fielding suffered a compound fracture of the left leg three or four inches above the ankle.

McDaniel highly praised the ejection seat and all its components — propellant, instanteous-opening 'chute. He said it proved its life-saving value and "they couldn't have picked more adverse conditions — nose down at low altitude—to get a first hand demonstration."

Mikoyan Tour Is Great Success From Soviets' Point Of View

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The transcontinental tour of Anastas I. Mikoyan apparently has been a great success from the Soviet point of view.

That was the assessment given by State Department officials today as the Soviet deputy premier returned to Washington after visits to Cleveland, Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco, Los Angeles and New York.

Any assessment of the actual value of Mikoyan's visit in terms of easing tensions or solving cold war problems affecting the United States and the Soviet Union must await the outcome of talks he has arranged today with Secretary of State Dulles and Saturday with President Eisenhower.

There was a noticeable lack of optimism on those points.

But State Department officials credited Mikoyan with making a very favorable impression in many areas with his appeals for peace and trade and his show of frankness on occasion in admitting that the Soviet Union has made mistakes in its relations with the United States in the past.

There was only one point on which they thought Mikoyan occasionally showed sensitivity—the Soviet suppression of the anti-Communist revolt in Hungary in 1956. He sought to defend it by comparing it with U.S. intervention to protect the government of Lebanon last year. Hungarian pickets everywhere Mikoyan went focused fresh attention on the issue.

Mikoyan apparently sought on his tour to reduce tensions between the world's two greatest powers by trying to persuade Americans that under Premier Khrushchev the Soviet Union is run by reasonable men.

He tried to convince those with whom he talked that it is possible for this country to make practical deals and engage in profitable trade with the Soviet Union.

But in his public and private meetings Mikoyan has provided no real evidence of Soviet willingness to make concessions in order to solve the long Soviet-Western deadlock over Germany. He has created in some quarters, however, the impression that Khrushchev does not wish to press the dispute over Berlin to a dangerous point.

The principal points which Mikoyan has made are these:

1. The six months limitation which the Soviet Union imposed two months ago for withdrawal of Western troops from Berlin was not intended as an ultimatum and the time limit is flexible. If the United States does not like Khrushchev's proposal to make West Berlin into a "free city" it should offer counter proposals.

2. The Soviet government wants a high level East-West meeting on Germany and probably other issues, and the sooner the better.

3. The Soviet government will insist on having a veto voting system in any council which might be set up to operate an inspection system for a ban on nuclear weapons testing.

4. The Soviet Union wants to trade with the United States but U.S. government regulations are preventing American businessmen from selling what it wants to buy.

5. The Soviet Union must be treated as an equal by the United States. Some authorities consider this to be a kind of appeal for direct negotiations between Moscow and Washington on many issues now negotiated with several Western Powers at once.

TEXAS CHAMPIONS OF FREEDOM

JOHN O. MEUSEBACH

Seeker of Liberty for All Men

The story of the founding of beautiful, historic Fredericksburg is the story of another German-born champion of freedom and independence for all. Like Prince Carl of Solms-Braunfels, John O. Meusebach gladly gave up a life of security and ease in the homeland to lead thousands of his oppressed and needy neighbors into a new and better life. Iron of will, calm of judgment, with an unyielding sense of justice, Meusebach was one of the wisest and ablest of all the colonizers of the Southwest. When he arrived at Indianola, on Matagorda Bay, in 1845 and headed for the banks of the Pedernales River, he found many of his German immigrants ill and the project's treasury empty. But, on April 24, 1846, Meusebach and his colonists set out for the Hill Country, then largely unexplored. Exposure, hunger and exhaustion took a heavy toll, but idealism and determination kept them going. On Friday, May 8, the weary band stopped their heartbreaking march and began the building of their new homes. They called their colony Fredericksburg, honoring Prince Frederick of Prussia. John O. Meusebach had written another chapter in the history of Texas . . the history of fearless pioneers, seekers of freedom.

Today Texans still demand and get their right to choose the way they want to live. In this vigorous and freedom-minded homeland . . "Beer Belongs" and this is why the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly, in conjunction with brewers, wholesalers and retailers, to assure the sale of beer and ale under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interest of Texans, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with the Armed Forces, law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing Self Regulation program.

Baby Born On Airliner

HONOLULU (AP)—Consider the predicament of Shiu Un Lee, 22, an immigrant Chinese woman from Hong Kong.

Flying in an airliner, high over the Pacific, she was about to have a baby.

There was no one around who could understand a word she said.

Happily, two experienced nurses were among the passengers.

Miss Mary Blair of Hudson Falls, N. Y., and Mrs. Don Lego of Edmonton, Alberta, took charge.

The Japanese-descended stewardess aboard the Pan American Straocruiser figured out a way to make a slight dent in the language barrier.

After other Chinese passengers proved unable to understand Shiu Un Lee's dialect, the stewardesses put questions to her in written Japanese language characters.

Shiu Un Lee's son arrived about 30 minutes out from Honolulu on the stratocruiser's flight from Wake Island.

Mother and baby were hastened to Queen's Hospital. The son weighed 5 pounds 13 ounces. Both were reported in good condition.

Shiu Un Lee was flying from Hong Kong to San Francisco to join her husband, Chung Lew.

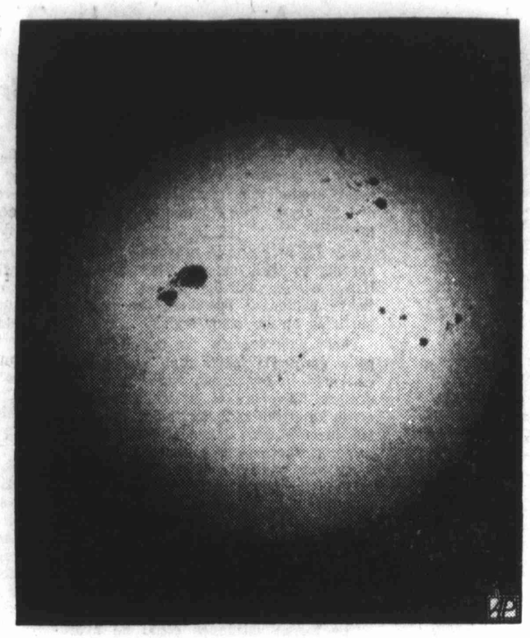

Immigration officers said the boy's citizenship would be determined by that of his parents.

Giant Sunspots Break Out

The largest cluster of sunspots since 1951 has broken out on the sun, says the Mt. Wilson solar observatory at Pasadena, Calif., which took this picture January 9, and just released it. The biggest cluster extends for 100,000 miles across the sun's fiery surface. Fifty disks the diameter of the earth would just about cover it, says solar observer Thomas Cragg. He said the sunspots are gigantic magnetic disturbances whose cause is as yet unknown.

Adjournment Date Urged By Rep. Carr

AUSTIN (AP)—House Speaker Waggoner Carr said today he thought a resolution marking when the 56th session would end could be useful.

"But I don't think the House will approve it as fast as the Senate," he said.

Carr continued his interviews for committee appointments as both houses took their first weekend off from work.

Lawmakers quit yesterday until Monday after failing to reach agreement on where to get $2,300,000 to pay their $25 a day personal expenses, office supplies, secretaries and other hired hands.

"The sine die (a resolution to end the session) will be useful in this way," Carr said. "It will make clear to the members of the Legislature and all those interested in legislation that we must get down to business at hand quickly."

On opening day, the Senate passed a sine die resolution for the the session to end May 12. It is exactly 120 days as provided by the Constitution. The lawmakers $25 per diem stops at that time.

With the Legislature bogged down in trying to find cash for its own operations, Gov. Price Daniel issued a statement reiterating his fiscal recommendations to make up the deficit.

He said he would propose a separate program to retire the present deficit and balance the state's budget by Aug. 31, the end of the fiscal year.

State Treasurer Jesse James said the state stood 38 million dollars in the red this week.

Daniel also suggested that the Legislature could get its own operating funds from the transfer method instead of voting for deficit spending.

The House could not get the necessary vote to take up the money transfer bill immediately. It would transfer unused monies for the permanently and totally disabled fund, $1,700,000, and the operator's and chauffeur's fund, $600,000.

The Senate lacked four of the needed 25 members to bring the bill up for an immediate vote.

For the lawmakers and workers, the rush was unnecessary since the first pay day does not come until Jan. 23. But in the House, Carr said: "The status is now that you have no money to send out the inauguration invitations."

When the bill passes, pay will be retroactive to the start of the session.

Ike Reported Ready To Wield His Veto

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today was reported ready to make forceful use of his veto power if necessary to maintain the scant surplus in the 77-billion-dollar budget he will send to Congress Monday.

The message for fiscal 1960, which starts July 1, is expected to urge bipartisan support for an anti-inflationary squeeze on federal spending and closing of tax loopholes.

Eisenhower's target, administration sources have hinted, is to cut outlays to a level slightly above 77 billion dollars. It is hoped that revenues will exceed that amount, although the margin may be only 100 million dollars or less.

There will also be some bad fiscal news in the message, officials conceded—a slightly higher deficit than was anticipated for the current budget year.

Spending this year is expected to mount fairly close to 81 billion dollars, instead of the $79,200,000,000 estimated officially in September. Much of the increase is attributed to the proposed $1,400,000,000 increase in this country's subscription to the International Monetary Fund, which Eisenhower recommended last week.

Revenues will have risen to more than 68 billion dollars instead of the 67 billion officially predicted. But when the government year ends next June 30 the deficit reportedly will exceed by several hundred million dollars the earlier estimate of $12,200,000,000.

Officials said mounting concern over the depreciation of the dollar, coupled with concern lest this country eventually price itself out of world markets, has reinforced the administration's decision to make a strong stand against deficit financing.

Administration aides suggested Eisenhower will use the carrot-and-club technique to win cooperation from the Democratic Congress.

He dangled the carrot in his State of the Union message — the hope that some tax relief may be possible in fiscal 1961 if the budget line is held in 1960.

The White House was represented as believing it will have support in the economy campaign from the leadership of both parties in Congress. The two Texas Democrats, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and House Speaker Sam Rayburn frequently have taken a conservative line on fiscal issues when some of their fellow party members have been urging new spending programs.

The club which Eisenhower holds is the veto power. The President is prepared, aides said, to take a stiffer attitude than in the past in rejecting legislation which in his opinion would commit the government to excessive spending.

With the greatly increased Democratic strength in Congress, the possibilities have increased that vetoes might be overridden. But the White House has disclosed that the President plans to appeal for public support in a series of television chats.

Eisenhower has not yet used the veto as liberally as did former President Harry S. Truman, but he wielded it effectively against several anti-recession spending proposals in the last session.

He vetoed the omnibus housing bill, the farm price support freeze, a 1½ billion dollar rivers and harbors bill, and a 279 million dollar measure to assist chronically depressed cities and areas.

None of his vetoes has been overriden.

In his State of the Union message last week Eisenhower asked Congress to give him the power of "item veto" — the right to reject specific portions of appropriation bills and approve others.

Over many decades Congress has refused steadfastly to part with any of its power over the national purse strings, and administration officials say they do not really expect to get the item veto now. But the mere mention of the President's veto power was a reminder to Congress that he has that weapon very much in mind.

It's Easy To Catch A Cold

The unseasonable warm weather which was finally broken up, at least partially, by the latest cold snap probably, left a great deal of the so-called respiratory diseases behind it. The common cold, a symptom of a whole family of more serious disorders, especially.

Why do so many people "catch" colds when the weather suddenly turns from one extreme to the other? (In a space of less than a week our area went from 5 above zero to around 75, which is quite a flip.)

Well, the soft weather beguiles them into opening their outside doors to let the fresh air in and the stale air out. Impatient green-thumb gardeners start messing around outdoors — digging, rearranging, poking around. They work up a sweat, without realizing the temperature for all its mildness is still 30 to 40 degrees cooler than in spring or summer.

Or they throw off the covers in the middle of the night, and wake up chilled. Or they keep on eating for cold-weather fueling when the temperature calls for a lighter diet. Or they stuff themselves, at the first symptom of a cold, with a lot of nostrums not fit to drench a horse with, much less a human being. Or they just plain let themselves get run down.

Sudden and extreme changes in temperature are not necessarily, in themselves, bad for the human health. The worst thing for human health is human beings. They are too busy or too careless to take care of themselves, which is something wild and domesticated animals do instinctively, not being pestered with bill and social obligations and worries about atomic bombs and so on.

Freshmen Learn About Old Pros

When the smoke had cleared from the political wars of 1958 and the smashing victory of the Democratic hosts became apparent, with its heavy emphasis on the liberal wing, this newspaper pointed out that the liberals might be guilty of counting the chickens before the eggs were hatched if, as they shouted, they were going to take control of Congress and make the fur fly.

Like heck they will, we remarked in effect. Fledging congressmen have clouded up and threatened to rain many times in history, only to run into something they couldn't cope with: a solid phalanx of Old Pros who operate the congression-all machinery with skill and consummate grace, and traditionally look with disfavor on the wild schemes of Johnny-come-late-lies breathing fire and brimstone.

We said men like Sam Rayburn and Lyndon Johnson, along with their opposite numbers in the opposition party, and along with committee chairmen, were not about to be run over or stampeded by anybody, and when the smoke cleared away the "liberals" would find themselves frustrated and annoyed.

Well, as predicted, that's what is happening. For the details, read W. S. White's column on this page Tuesday afternoon. The eager-beavers among the liberals have already run into a buzz-saw, and what seemed like hog-heaven to them a few scant weeks ago is rapidly becoming anything but heaven.

They are not only going to get what they promised their partisans to produce, but a great deal less than they might have expected had they been more modest and less demanding.

Stand Must Be Taken Against Inflation

WASHINGTON — They have argued about such technical things as Senate rules and are preparing to talk about spending more money to send a man to the moon, but there are no signs that Congress is ready as yet to come to grips with the down-to-earth problem which affects the well being of millions of Americans—inflation.

Until the American people are thoroughly aroused to the crisis that faces them in the present Congress, the emphasis will still be on secondary matters. President Eisenhower puts the case in unequivocal words as follows:

"We must avoid any contribution to inflationary processes, which could disrupt sound growth in our economy.

"Prices have displayed a welcome stability in recent months and, if we are wise and resolute, we will not tolerate inflation in the years to come. But history makes clear the risks inherent in any failure to deal firmly with the basic causes of inflation. Two of the most important of these causes are the wage-price spiral and continued deficit financing.

"Inflation would reduce job opportunities, price us out of world markets, shrink the value if savings and penalize the thrift so essential to finance a growing economy.

"Inflation is not a Robin Hood, taking from the rich to give to the poor. Rather, it deals most cruelly with those who can lease protect themselves. It strikes hardest those millions of our citizens whose incomes do not quickly rise with the cost of living. When prices soar, the pensioner and the widow see their security undermined, the man of thrift sees his savings melt away; the white collar worker, the minister, and the teacher see their standards of living dragged down.

"Inflation can be prevented. But this demands statesmanship on the part of business and labor leaders and of government at all levels. We must encourage the self-discipline, the restraint necessary to curb the wage-price spiral and except only in critical emergencies we must meet current costs from current revenue."

But will "self-discipline" materialize? What is really needed is courage in Congress. And there will not be action by Congress until there is a people's "lobby" bigger than the labor-union lobby which, by its millions of dollars of contributions, buys the election of enough members of Congress to block remedial legislation.

The headlines have told about the corruption inside some big labor unions. Congress has not passed the necessary legislation to deal with the evil. Instead, many labor-union leaders who are themselves honest are afraid the laws will be used in some way to hurt them. The cry is that there isn't any need to pass laws because there are only a few guilty ones. But there would be no criminal laws today if the doctrine were accepted that, because the offenders are a minority, no protective steps should be taken by the people against those offenders.

What is amazing is that, after the sensational disclosures last year, the labor unions won more elections for their candidates in Congress than ever before. The President pointed to these disclosures in his "state of the union" message:

"Last January I made comprehensive recommendations to the Congress for legislation in the labor-management field. To my disappointment, Congress failed to act. The McClellan committee disclosures of corruption, racketeering, and abuse of trust and power in labor-management affairs have aroused America and amazed other peoples. Its disclosures emphasize the need for improved local law enforcement and the enactment of effective federal legislation to protect the public interest and to insure the rights and economic freedoms of millions of American workers. Halfhearted measures will not do. I shall recommend prompt enactment of legislation designed:

"To safeguard workers' funds in union treasuries against misuse if any kind whatsoever.

"To protect the rights and freedoms of individual union members, including the basic right to free and secret elections of officers.

"To advance true and responsible collective bargaining.

"To protect the public and innocent third parties from unfair and coercive practices such as boycotting and blackmail picketing."

But the President does not propose any cure for the biggest single virus—labor extortion at the bargaining table — that has really led to the strike fever in America. The threat of a steel strike this summer is already costing the country many billions in a frustration of planning for plant and equipment. An economic war that is permitted to damage the public by billions of dollars a year and that keeps sending prices upward—to rob the people of their savings by devaluing the purchasing power of the dollar—needs more drastic action than the President has proposed. But evidently the American people are not yet aroused—so Mr. Eisenhower is fighting an uphill battle alone against the most powerful lobby ever to exert pressure on our national legislators.

Russia's Schools Today

Indoctrination Starts In The Nursery

By RUTH DUNBAR

TASHKENT, U.S.S.R.—Communists don't believe in spirits. It wouldn't be good dialectical materialism.

Yet the spirit of Lenin hovers oppressively over Russia's schools. Every schoolyard or lobby has its statue of the great Communist leader—sometimes outstretching his hand in greeting, sometimes poring over a book in intense thought, sometimes enshrined in an elaborate niche with floral tributes before it.

Every school auditorium, academic meeting place and principal's office is dominated by a much-larger-than-life portrait of Lenin.

Often Stalin is there and Karl Marx; sometimes a young Khrushchev, Voroshilov or other Soviet leader, but always the giant Lenin overshadows all.

His words are there, too, screaming in gold letters on red banners strung across stairways or above stages.

Russians live in a land of slogans. Some are quotations from respected leaders, others just exhortations to spur people on toward Communist goals.

A red banner in the hallway of a school in Kiev proclaims: "You can only be a good Communist if you learn all knowledge."

Across the stage of a pedagogical institute in Tashkent, a red streamer urges in two languages: "Under the banner of Marxism, Leninism and under the leadership of the Communist party, forward toward communism!"

EDUCATION THOROUGHLY PERMEATED

The statues, pictures and slogans are only the outward symbols of the thorough permeation of Russian education with Communist doctrine.

From nursery school through college, the aim of Soviet education is to mold the personality and ideas of the young according to the Communist ideal.

Textbooks and school activities are designed to train children to live together in friendship, to be obedient, industrious and, to put the "collective" good above individual desires.

The deputy minister of education for Russia proper said kindergarten is "training in collective behavior."

"Peace and friendship"—"mir and druzhba"—was the phrase we heard most often during our month's tour of Russia. It was mentioned, followed by vigorous applause, at every meeting we had with Soviet educators.

(We also expressed the hope for peace and friendship, and added a third ingredient—freedom. It seemed to puzzle the Russians.)

"Peace and friendship" is not a cliche the Soviets dust off when foreigners come visiting. It is a slogan seen on signboards and banners, a lesson taught in the schools.

In the playground of a kindergarten in Kiev is a big steamboat called "Peace" and a big airplane named "Friendship." Both are big enough for groups of children to play in together. The Russians like large toys, because they think they train children to live in the collective.

Soviet textbooks stress peace as an all-important goal. They also say, "Peace must be fought for." The viewpoint, of course, is the official party line: The Soviet Union is never an aggressor, but the United States threatens world peace.

In an eighth-grade text in Economic Geography of Foreign Countries (translated for use in the English schools) is this passage:

"The U. S. imperialists are claimants for world supremacy; they are putting up military blocs and, having their own gains in view, they desire wars never to cease on the globe."

However, the text makes a distinction between the American people and the imperialists, for it continues: "The American people are against war; together with all the peace-loving peoples, they seek to establish durable peace among all countries in all the parts of the world."

CONTRASTS DESCRIBED

Describing life in the United States, the text states: "The contrast between the condition of the toiling masses and that of the privileged classes of exploiters (capitalists and large landowners) is crying."

And again: "The working people in capitalist countries, exploited by the bourgeoisie, are fighting against the capitalist yoke for a better life. . .The Communist parties stand at the head of the struggle for the interests of the working people. Together with other workers' parties and democratic organizations, they fight for the rights of the popular masses, for universal peace among nations and for the freedom and independence of their countries."

Like America's old McGuffey's Readers, Russian textbooks are not afraid of a moral. Some selections stress the importance of study or of politeness. Others make working on a collective farm sound like the ideal way to spend a summer vacation.

Regardless of subject matter texts are shot through with propaganda designed to make the young believe that communism is the best of all possible systems and capitalism the worst.

For example, the 10th grade English text contains various exercises. In a list of a dozen sentences for grammatical analysis, 11 will be innocuous, the kind you might find in any grammar book. But the 12th will be loaded.

Here are a few samples, taken from different exercises.

1. "Workers in the Soviet Union get high wages."
2. "The wages of workers in capitalist countries are very low, while food and lodging are very dear."
3. "Only in the Socialist world do women have equal rights with men!" (We saw what "equal rights" for women means in Russia—equal rights to be bricklayers, to sweep streets, repair the roofs of seven-story buildings or shovel debris on trucks.)
4. "The Soviet Union has no aggressive plans; it threatens no country and no people."

MINDS OF YOUNG

The Communists also reach the minds of the young through mass youth organizations.

Nearly all children between the ages of 9 and 14 are Pioneers. They study the life and ideas of Lenin, engage in patriotic handicraft projects, have a hand in school discipline and act as class monitors. Sometimes at their meetings they censure members who aren't doing well in school. Their program is an effective blend of education, recreation and indoctrination.

When a student's grades slip badly, he is barred from membership. Children who attend church are also ruled out of the Pioneers.

Older youngsters are eligible to belong to the Komsomol (Young Communist League). In the universities, the Komsomol plays a surprising role. A Komsomol representative is present when applicants take entrance examinations and he votes with the faculty on whether the student should be admitted. The Komsomol dominates student committees that determine who gets a stipend and how much.

Party membership is not required of teachers, except for those who teach the history of the Communist party. The Educational and Scientific Workers Union said 20 per cent of its members belong to the party.

Russian educators spoke proudly of the fact that non-Communists can teach in their schools. They wanted to know if we would permit a Communist to teach in ours.

However, when we asked the history faculty of Lenin Pedagogical Institute in Moscow whether anyone would be permitted to teach in a Russian school if he didn't believe in communism, the answer was:

"Many of our teachers are not party members, but there is not one who doesn't believe in communism—and that applies to the population as a whole."

TOMORROW: What is the key to the success of the Russian school system?

Here's One For Von Braun – Or Someone

A suggestion for Professor Von Braun: A strong magnetic field of wide dimensions can scoop up the so-called radiation band around the earth, sweeping the oribtal areas free (temporarily) of the particles.

Ions follow paths in magnetic fields according to their charge; thus, the positive particles will be guided into the field's center at one end, the negative particles at the other end.

These particles are, for the most part, of a greater velocity than any yet accelerated in cyclotrons and other accelerators. They are of sufficient power to crash through both electronic shield and nuclear repulsion forces of target atoms, bringing about nuclear reactions.

Positive particles of such force tend to bore through a mass of target atoms, breaking into lesser particles upon collision. But if target atoms be arranged in a linear manner, parallel to the angle of approach, and if they be of a solid or liquid substance, the particle paths will be shortened to practicable dimensions.

The target substance could be hydrogen, deuterium or tritium — compressed and frozen into liquidity, or in chemical combination, which would be easier to handle. The substance is best stored in a long, narrow tube parallel to the angle of the particles' approach.

Surrounding this central core is a thick, compressed layer of a carbon compound which has the property of changing gamma radiation to visible light. The third layer is a thin coating of silver, in juncture with semi-conductors, or solar cells. The longer wavelength of visible light is easier to handle, since it either reflects or goes directly into electrical pulsations; whereas gamma radiation is too penetrating. The light eventually will turn to heat; silver might be best for the third layer, since it conducts heat well and will help dissipate waste heat into space.

Negative particles will not be used in nuclear reactions; these will be drawn into a coil which is shielded from the satellite's particle - sweeping magnetic field but is open to the paths described by the negative particles. The electrons' own magnetic fields set up currents in the coil; these in turn act as a brake on the high-speed particles, absorbing their energy as electric pulsations — enough power to fill the satellite's needs. A plate at the farther end of the tube absorbs the slowed electrons and channels their negative charge to the nuclear reaction tube, where they neutralize the buildup of positive charges.

Actually, there will be two tubes for nuclear reaction — the hydrogen tube for lighter particles, the lead tube for heavier particles. A kink in the leading magnetic field separates the particles.

The tremendous power available to the satellite may be used for communications, weather control, or other satellite duties. It may also be applied to an ionic rocket tube which makes use of the medium particles and atomic scraps from the nuclear reaction tubes, for propulsion.

Such a rocket would need no fuel other than the primary charge in the tubes; it would draw its power from space. It could be orbited in a single piece with two or possibly three Jupiter-size rockets.

Mars isn't very far away, Professor.

We Should Show Mikoyan A Solid Front

Well, sir, I don't flabbergast easily. But I never expected to see the day when a young mother would be the subject of scarcely veiled criticism because her infant was unexpectedly offered a piece of candy by a politician, even though the politician is Anastas I. Mikoyan!

But jingoism is having a field day now that the Soviet Deputy Premier is touring the United States. I have just read a censorous piece in re the mother whose hapless infant was a tempting object for Mikoyan and piece of candy when the latter visited a super market on the edge of Washington, D. C.

Apparently the mother, if she had been a true-blue American would have spat in Mikoyan's face and the infant, if it had been a 100 per cent American, would have instantly frowned up on the deputy premier.

Just how chauvinistic can you get? Even the manager of the supermarket got his lumps because he smiled politely at the Russian party, when it made its unexpected visit to his bailiwick. Presumably, he should have run for the egg bin and started pelting Mikoyan.

Every American knows Mikoyan for what he is, a ruthless Communist with all that implies. But he is a guest in the United States, if not an official guest of the United States. And no less a person than President Eisenhower himself, whom, I presume, even the jingoists exempt from any charge of softness toward communism, has asked the nation and its people to receive him politely. Not cordially, just with civility.

Mikoyan is no ordinary tourist, as he claims. He is here as the eyes and ears of his master, Khrushchev. He is only too obviously in the United States to gauge the political climate, to sense our firmness of purpose, our unity as a nation, our industrial capacities, our moral strength, our mental capacities and the sternness of our will to preserve democracy at any cost.

When he goes back to the Kremlin, I would like to believe that he will report that we are 110 per cent in all these qualities. And I do not want his judgment warped by hatred engendered by incivility and rudeness at every turn. One does not even have to be moderately well acquainted with history to know that the course of world events has been changed more often by wounded vanity and outraged feelings than by all the conference tables in captivity.

It is not at all improbable that Mikoyan's visit can be one of the turning points in history, if he goes home and reports to Khrushchev this nation, powerful and united, as he sees it—a nation confident, unafraid and willing to defend what it passionately believes to be right.

But the jingoists are beginning to move in. They are beginning to question the motives of even a baby who received a piece of candy from Mikoyan, much less the business and industrial leaders who have been invited to meet him. How soon will it be, if the chauvinists have their way, before these men are called to Washington to explain why they broke bread with the Russian or showed him the powerful sinews of America in, say, Detroit?

Give the chauvinists their way, and the same kind of spitting, murderous rabble that endangered Vice President Nixon in South America will be threatening Mikoyan.

It is one woman's opinion that in this delicate diplomatic maneuver, because that is what Mikoyan's visit is, we can do without the jingoists who continually shout, "Look at me! My father is more anti-Communist than your father and he can lick any other anti-Communist in our alley." It is pretty tiresome stuff when even babies are interdicted.

Social Security Hits Low Income Group

"Don't get out of humor with me for writing you again and don't be annoyed when I ask you not to use my name. When you have time, please write another article about Social Security," writes Mrs. W. S. M.

"As a working woman (a widow), I am most concerned with the limitation on my earnings. People in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare insist they don't restrict my earnings. Yet they withhold Social Security checks when I earn more than $1,200 a year.

"I wrote you sometime ago that when I earned $1,718, or $518 over the limit, seven Social Security checks amounting to $630.70 were held back. I was out of pocket $112.70.

"I have been with my present firm part-time for three years. When my boss got me a 10-cent-an-hour raise without telling me, it pushed my income over the $1,200 mark.

"I am now in line for a raise, but I shall not take it. I'll lose more than I'll get. People like to feel their work is appreciated. A raise in salary is the way a boss shows appreciation. But that is not for those on Social Security.

"Women who live in the Hotel Plaza in New York, or the Barclay in Philadelphia, or the Sheraton Park in Washington collect Social Security benefits because they get their income from dividends or bond coupons. Some of them need their Social Security checks like an extra hole in the head. But I need every cent I can possibly earn, and I'm not allowed to earn what I can."

Mrs. M. can't quarrel with me. Eddie Cantor and his wife can roll up to a Social Security office in a Cadillac and collect a check, even though the month before Cantor appeared on a TV show and earned a reported $2,000. A man or a woman can qualify for Social Security on a $100,-000 income if the income comes from dividends, bonds, rents or royalties. The law is screwy. See if you can understand it.

The law penalizes the steady worker, the low-income earner. If you earn $1,200, you can collect your benefits in any one year in full. But if you earn $1,200.01, you lose one month's benefits.

You can collect a benefit in any month in which you earn no more than $100 a month. (Formerly it was $80 a month.) Thus, if you earn $4,000 in one month and $100 per month in the other 11 months, you can collect 11 pension checks even though your total earnings are $5,100. But if your total earnings come to $2,080.01, and in every month you earn more than $100, you can't collect a single benefit check.

Why? Because for each $80 or fraction thereof above $1,200, you lose one benefit check. And if your yearly earnings hit $1,280.01, you lose two checks; earnings of $2,080.01 would snatch away all checks because in every month you earned more than $100. (It's hard to believe the human mind could have devised anything so complex!)

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare is painfully and tortuously aware of the strings Congress has attached to benefit payments. It has prepared a memorandum which tries to placate the justifiably disgruntled:

"Since the old-age and survivors insurance program is designed to insure people against loss of earnings from work, it is appropriate that the retirement test take into account only an individual's earnings. . .It is a test of whether the worker has retired—not whether he is in need. By paying benefits without regard to other resources an individual may have built up during his working life-time, the old-age and survivors insurance system encourages private savings."

And, similarly, it discourages work.

When the government has to defend a policy with such perverted logic, it's time to change the law. The cost of eliminating the retirement test is estimated at two to three billion dollars a year, perhaps more. It's argued we can't afford it. As I see it, we can't afford the law as it stands.

If we can't pay old age pensions as a matter of right, then we can't afford to pay the rich while penalizing the poor.

Congress should apply a straight income test, not a retirement test. If persons who are forced to work can't collect Social Security, then the well-off who don't have to work should not collect it.

Thank you, Mrs. M., for prodding me—and, I hope, the 86th Congress.

The Simpsons Are Hosts To Visiting Veterinarians, Wives

Dr. and Mrs. Akin M. Simpson, 1600 Indian Hills, were hosts to 13 visiting veterinarians and their wives Thursday night following a meeting of the men at the Settles Hotel.

The guests had come from an area bounded by San Angelo, Snyder, Pecos and Andrews to hear an address by Dr. A. B. Rich of Austin, head of the veterinary division of the State Public Health Department. While in Big Spring, Dr. Rich is the houseguest of the Simpsons.

Earlier in the evening, Mrs. Simpson invited the women to her home to hear Mrs. Kent Morgan, manager of Fisher's Casual Shoppe, tell of spring fashions. The speaker heralded the season when vivid colors will be fashionable and neutrals will fade into the background. Milady's dresses will return to more feminine shape, she announced, and fitted waists will be again in vogue.

Mrs. Morgan pointed to shoes in jewel tones and colored hosiery as great favorites, and suggested that the women take their spring hats with them when going to the hair dresser. She concluded her presentation with the reminder that "Beauty is a matter of inner serenity," and asked of the audience their own philosophy.

When the veterinarians joined the group, Mrs. Howard Schwarzenbach assisted the hostess in serving. Silver trays on the polished table top were laden with sandwiches and cookies, and bottles of catawaba were chilled in a pink milkglass punch bowl. The centerpiece was a harbinger of spring; Dutch iris mingled with salmon-colored snapdragons in an orchid hat box.

Theme of the assembly was "Family Life or Lutheran Women." The Rev. Dittloff brought the opening devotion, and delegates were divided into three morning buzz sessions. Leaders were the Rev. Martin Taddey, Pecos; the Rev. Oliver Wetzel, Monahans; and the Rev. Burt Faerber, Midland.

Following luncheon, the three groups formed problem clinics to consider personality problems, discipline, and coordinating family and community life. The participating ministers comprised a panel to lead in a round table discussion of the findings.

Several items carry higher price tags this week. These include pole beans, carrots, Florida corn, cucumbers, eggplant, emperor grapes, peppers, green onions, parsley and Florida squash. White onions are considerably higher; yellow onions, up a shade.

Pork, broilers and turkeys are being featured at many stores. Huge marketings of each make these natural leaders among meats. Eggs in Texas carry attractive price tags.

By following the savings plan, he pointed out, the parents teach their children sound habits of finance.

For the refreshment table the hostesses followed a four-seasons theme. On a dark cloth they placed a miniature bird bath under a grouping of four trees, each representing a season.

Hawks Rap HSU Five

Without really working at it, the HCJC Jayhawks clobbered the down-trodden HSU Buttons, 87-60, in a basketball exhibition played here Thursday night.

It's quite probable that the Hawks could have set a new team scoring record had Coach Harold Davis made use of his best horses all night.

As it was, Davis seemed content to have his team grab an early lead and then experiment with any number of lineups. The subs, some of whom really needed the work after long layoffs due to injuries and illnesses, got liberal workouts.

Davis made use of 13 players, or everyone he had on the bench. All but Phil Wallace, who played only the last couple of minutes, managed to score.

Bobby Davis, the Hawks' "big man from Big D", scored 18 points and grabbed off 19 rebounds. He played only about half the time. Davis hit on eight of 13 field goal attempts for a torrid 61 per cent.

The team as a whole connected for 45 per cent, getting 20 of 45 field goal attempts in the first half and 17 of 38 the final 20 minutes.

Tommy Zinn was next to Davis in rebounding with 11. He counted only four points himself but he and Ray Clay did excellent jobs of feeding the ball to teammates. Clay was the only other Hawk to hit in double figures. He wound up with 12 points.

HSU was never in the game but did field the game's leading scorer in Rick Stapleton, who had 24 points. John Hutt wound up with 10 for the visitors, who are still winless after eight starts.

The local collegians have now won 12 starts, compared to five defeats.

They'll be idle now until a week from tonight, at which time they return to West Zone competition, meeting South Plains JC in Levelland.

They don't play here again until Jan. 30, at which time they host Lubbock Christian College.

CRYING TOWEL RITUAL HARD

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Sometimes it's hard for football coaches to stick to the crying towel routine.

Tom Nugent, new head coach at Maryland, told this one yesterday at his first press conference:

"I met Darrell Royal, the Texas coach, at the NCAA meetings last week in Cincinnati and he told me how great he expected his team to be next season."

At the time, Nugent still was coach at Florida State. Then came the announcement he was switching to Maryland — a Texas foe during the 1959 season.

Nugent said Royal hustled back with this comment:

"Hey, I was only kidding. We're going to be lousy next year."

ARAH PHILLIPS

ADVISED TO RELAX

Long-Time Coach Resigns HC Post

By JOE PICKLE

Arah Phillips gladly gave up the cotton sack for teaching, and now after 40 years, she is giving up teaching, too.

Miss Phillips, a beloved coach as well as teacher, resigned Thursday as dean of women and director of physical education at Howard County Junior College.

It was not without some nostalgia and pride that she could look back over a career that touched 13 schools and thousands of lives.

"You will never know what a tremendous decision this has been for me," she wrote HCJC trustees on commenting on her health reasons for resigning. "The two and a half years at HCJC were the most pleasant and satisfying of all. I am so glad I had the opportunity to teach in the college — I could not ask for a greater climax."

Last May she suffered a slight stroke from which she fully recovered, but now she tires more easily and her physician has advised her to relax. She will, when not managing her home, farming and several other business interests, and certainly in maintaining a lively interest in girls sports.

In West Texas, she is regarded as dean of women's volleyball coaches; she might well be regarded as dean of all coaches, for there has hardly been a time in 40 years when she has not been coaching basketball, volleyball or other sports. Boys graduating from her Lomax team once formed the nucleus of a district championship basketball team for Big Spring.

Arah Phillips made her decision to teach early in life. As one of 12 children reared on the farm, she got well acquainted with a cotton sack, and picking was not for her. She stood the teachers' exam, and upon intercession by her father, she landed a job teaching in the Stork school near Knott at the ripe age of 16 years. All she had to do was teach eight grades and coach boys and girls. This was the pattern until 1943 when she came to Big Spring High School as a girls' PE instructor.

Right away she had basketball going as a competitive sport. Then she ventured into another field—volleyball — which had been a sort of after-thought at county meets. Her girls' team clipped the faculty women in an exhibition game.

When Sterling City invited her girls to play a March of Dimes benefit volleyball game, she jumped at the chance. It proved an enlightening experience — Sterling won 117-19. Chagrined, she put her charges to work and later that year Sterling had trouble in eking out a second win.

Her volleyball teams have been something special ever since. In all, the teams won 44 trophies for Big Spring High and in 1955 when the state independent volleyball tournament was organized Big Spring was a state finalist. When the University Interscholastic League took over the sport, her team won the first regional tournament. Coaches honored her by having her serve as rules consultant at the regional volleyball tournament at Texas Tech from 1954-57.

Among her stars were Helon Blount (now a star in Broadway musical comedies), Gipsie Smallwood, Betty Lou McGinnis (Mrs. Don Green), Virginia Costello (Mrs. V. A. Aranda, who named her first baby for her coach), Billie Gene Younger (Mrs. R. E. McClure), Evelyn Arnold, Dot Wasson (Mrs. James Duncan), Pat Mansey, Evelyn Green (Mrs. Tip Anderson), Mary Nell Cook (Mrs. James Shaffer) and many others.

Since starting in 1918, all of her teaching except one year in Salt Branch (Taylor County) has been in Howard County schools. The Salt Branch deviation for a year was purely sentimental — that was where her parents had met and married.

Communities where she taught in the county are Stork, Moore, Cauble, Highway, Fairview and Lomax, now all abandoned or consolidated, and Knott, Midway, Big Spring and HCJC. Once at Knott she was having little luck coaching girls basketball, so she swapped with Supt. Toombs who was faring poorly with the boys. They both had a winning year.

During summers she went to college and took her Bachelor of Arts degree from West Texas State College in sociology. Later she earned her Master of Arts degree from North Texas State.

Her interests and energies extended far beyond the classroom and gymnasium. She has held membership and office in such professional organizations as Delta Psi Kappi (life member), Texas Association of Deans of Women, Southern Association of P. E. for College Women, National Christian Teachers Fellowship, Texas State Teachers Association National Educational Association Texas (and the American) Associations for Health and Physical Education teachers.

Many boys and girls were not only inspired by her to attend college, but frequently she helped them financially. She helped place many girls in part time jobs that made college possible.

She did most of the original sign up work in Howard County for Cap Rock Electric Cooperative, was a charter director and served 17 years continuously as secretary-treasurer and missed only two meetings. She has taught a total of 88 Sunday School classes and is active in her (First Church of God) church as a teacher of senior high and college youths.

During her career as a coach, she has sat calmly through an estimated 1,000 competitive games — and never did develop an ulcer.

Ted Dawson Named Head Coach At Permian School

ODESSA (SC) — Ted Dawson, formerly head coach at Ector High School in Odessa, has taken the head coaching job at Permian High here, which opens its doors in September.

Gail Smith, a former Odessa track coach, has been named principal at Permian High. He was replaced as principal at Ector by Howard Butler.

Fight Titlists No Longer Must Live By Rule

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Big money-making champions don't have to worry any more about the six months title defense rule. The National Boxing Assn. today just about gave the boot to the often disregarded regulation.

The NBA's executive committee said heavy taxation had made it virtually impossible for the major attractions like middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson and heavyweight king Floyd Patterson to hold strictly to the code.

It made the point at a Thursday meeting in which it accepted assurances from both Robinson and Patterson that they intended to defend their crown this year.

Robinson said he would by May or June (probably against Carmen Basilio) and Patterson's manager, Cus D'Amato, said Floyd would defend against a yet unnamed opponent "within a reasonable time."

At the same time the committee warned bantamweight champion Alphonse Halimi to defend his crown by April 15 or face loss of the title. He hasn't had a title fight since Nov. 6, 1957.

Robinson's last title fight was last March 25, when he regained the crown from Basilio. Patterson isn't due for a title defense under the outmoded rule until Feb. 18. He stopped Texan Roy Harris in Los Angeles Aug. 18.

As far as the committee was concerned, little Alphonse was stretching things just a little too far.

Halimi, most likely, will escape action by fighting either Leo Espinosa of the Phillippines in Manila or some opponent served up by promoter George Parnassus in Los Angeles.

Robinson pointed out that he was in the 90 per cent tax bracket. D'Amato consistently has stressed Patterson's similar tax problem.

Abe J. Greene, national commissioner of the NBA from Paterson, N.J., said Sugar Ray had told them it would cost him money to make two title fights in one year.

BILL MAXWELL SHARES LEAD IN CROSBY OPEN

By JACK STEVENSON

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Julius Boros and Billy Maxwell, who both know well the way to golf's pay window, paced a packed field into today's second round of Bing Crosby's $50,000 pro-amateur tournament.

Boros, a former National Open champ, and ex-amateur king Maxwell both caught fire with a string of birdies on the second nine holes of Thursday's opening round to shoot five-under-par scores of 67.

That gave them a one-stroke advantage over U.S. Open Champion Tommy Bolt and fast-rising John McMullin. Nine others were deadlocked at 69. On that list came Art Wall, Dow Finsterwald, Howie Johnson, Bob Goalby, Arnold Palmer, Doug Sanders and Paul O'Leary. Frank Stranahan, Bo Winninger, Except for Wall and Palmer, all the leaders played the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course, easier than the other two used in this tournament — Cypress Point and Pebble Beach.

Each of the 150 pros competing for the $4,000 top prize also is teamed with an amateur in a best-ball event with $2,000 awaiting the pro on the winning team.

Maxwell, of Odessa, Texas., and his partner, Dr. Robert Knutson of San Francisco in that category with a best-ball score of 61. Bolt with singer Don Cherry and Mike Souchak with Bob Goldwater of Phoenix were tied at 62. Boros, of Mid Pines, N.C., and his partner from Las Vegas, Moe Dahlitz, carded a best-ball 66.

The opening day's play also saw a hole-in-one. Pro Jim Ferree's No. 5 iron shot popped into the hole on the 160-yard fifth at Pebble Beach.

August Joe moved from here to Denton but later moved back to West Texas. He stands 5-feet-9 and has another season of eligibility after this year.

Latest records showed Luedecke scoring at a 5.3-point-per game clip.

News that Lamesa High School plans to field a baseball team this spring should please both Big Spring's Roy Baird and Speedy Moffett, the Snyder mentor.

Baird, of course, needs to fill out his schedule with practice games against teams close to home. Snyder has been spoiling for competition within its own conference for a long time.

Lamesa used to field one of the better schoolboy nines in the area.

Florida State University officials are unhappy about their take in the recent Blue Grass Bowl football game at Louisville, Ky.

They say their expenses for the game ran to $15,000 and their income won't amount to half of that.

The bowl will, no doubt, be continued, however. Walter Byers, executive secretary of the NCAA said his organization never counted bad luck in weather against a bowl promoter yet, which means the NCAA will approve it again.

Florida State assured the Blue Grass people it would sell 7,000 ducats to the Blue Grass Bowl game at $6.25 a seat. They sold about 700, which makes for a difference of about $37,000.

Cletus Piper Paces League

The Fireball Muffler bowling team of Big Spring presently is holding down second place in the Longhorn Traveling league, which sponsors bowling once monthly.

Behind Midland's Shamrock Lanes, Fireball has won 14, lost 10. Big Spring's Madewell Humble, the only other local team in the league, is in fourth place with 13 wins, 11 loses.

In the proper order from first to eighth place, teams are ranked: Midland's Shamrock Lanes, Fireball Muffler, Lamesa's M&M Air Service, Big Spring's Madewell Humble, Sweetwater, Snyder's Town and Country Bowl, San Angelo's Sherwood Lanes, and Abilene's Sands Bowl.

Cletus Piper of Madewell Humble sits atop individual statistics with the best game, a 249.

Here are Fireball's team members and their averages: T. K. Price, 177; Ralph Wilson, 162; Keith Henderson, 162; A. J. Ball, 174; and Harry Heise, 174.

Madewell's players and averages are: Virgil Long, 177; O. Scheurger, 174; Ken Olsen, 177; Ray McMahen, 162; Carl Plecker, 167; W. L. Osburne, 176; Cletus Piper, 206; and Billy Carter, 184.

Willis Promoted

CARTHAGE, Tex. (AP)—Carthage High School yesterday promoted assistant Coach J. E. (Red) Willis to head football coach. He succeeds Ralph Murff, who resigned for reasons of health.

Nelson Talks Over BU Job

WACO, Tex. (AP)—Baylor University officials who are looking for a new head football coach showed their wares to Coach Dave Nelson of the University of Delaware yesterday.

Nelson, 38, is high on Baylor's preferential list for a successor to Sam Boyd.

Nelson stopped at Waco en route back to Delaware from the NCAA football rules committee meeting at Los Angeles. He inspected the campus and the Baylor athletic plant.

The personable Nelson has had a colorful and highly successful football career.

He went to the University of Delaware as head football coach in 1951. And he's never had a losing season in his eight years at the school. His over-all record is 46-20 while Delaware had a 5-3 mark last year.

The Detroit, Mich., native attended the University of Michigan in the early '40s and was the wingback in the fabulous backfield of Tom Harmon, Forest Evashevski and Bob Westfall.

In 1946 and 1947 Nelson was head football coach of Hillsdale College in Hillsdale, Michigan. He went to Harvard in 1948 as a backfield coach. The next two years he was head coach at the University of Maine before going to Delaware.

Iowa, which is coached by Evashevski, has won two Rose Bowls in the last three years with Nelson's variation of the Winged-T.

A book written by Nelson and Evashevski, "The Scoring Power With The Winged-T Offense," was published in 1957.

Nelson and his wife have two children, Amy, 5, and Benn, 2.

Longhorns Play In Plainview

Shaken by that three-point overtime loss to Midland, the Big Spring Steers take time off from the District 2-AAAA basketball race tomorrow night, at which time they play Plainview in Plainview.

Even though they are one down in the race, the Longhorns are determined not to let the defeat to Midland throw them. They came within a whisker of upsetting Midland, which is ranked right behind Odessa in the league race.

The Steers dropped a four-point decision (67-63) to Plainview earlier this season and will be the underdogs again tomorrow night. The Longhorns are a much improved outfit over the team that opened the season against the Bulldogs, however, are counting on carrying the fight to the enemy.

Lee Richards, a 6-feet-5 jumping jack, is the leading Plainview threat and a good bet to win all-district honors in the rugged 3-AAAA.

The Steers will carry a 16-6 won-lost record north with them. Other conference schools will be involved in league competition. Abilene opens its 2-AAAA season in Odessa while San Angelo visits Midland. Odessa and Midland rule as solid favorites.

Probable starters for the Steers Saturday are Benny McCrary and Joe Bob Clendenin up front, Zay LeFevre at the post position and Bill Thompson and Preston Hollis in the backcourts.

The B team will make the trip and will see action at 6:15 p.m.

Ex-Mental Patient Slays Own Parents

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—A young man discharged from a mental hospital 2½ months ago told police he shot and killed his parents "because they made me practice the accordion 8 or 10 hours a day."

Slight, sandy-haired David K. Sandahl, 20, was booked on two counts of suspicion of murder Thursday night.

Sheriff's Capt. Harold Guerin said Sandahl admitted shooting his parents with a .22 revolver. He was discharged Nov. 1 from DeWitt State Hospital, a mental institution. He had entered the hospital in May, a month after the family arrived from Pontiac, Mich.

The father, Ewald L. Sandahl, 52, was a production engineer employed at the Aero-Jet rocket plant and had worked on the atomic bomb at Oak Ridge, Tenn. His wife, Elizabeth Mae, was 55.

A traffic accident in which the son was involved led to discovery of the bodies Wednesday. Sandahl fled on foot after running his father's car into a ditch.

The highway patrol traced the car to the Sandahl residence, about 18 miles from Sacramento. The small frame cottage was locked but patrolmen saw the body of the father in the living room. They forced their way inside and found the body of Mrs. Sandahl in a bedroom. Each had been shot in the head.

A motorist, William Mabry, who lives near the Sandahl residence, heard a police radio report. Minutes later Mabry noticed David hitchhiking, gave the youth a lift and persuaded him to let him call police.

David waited, drinking coffee and smoking, at Mabry's home, until they arrived.

Guerin said Sandahl killed his parents Monday night, then stayed in the cottage, sleeping on a couch in the living room, several feet from his father's corpse.

Asked why he killed, he replied "I just couldn't take any more from them. My father made me practice the accordion 8 or 10 hours a day.

"I couldn't get out of the house, go out with girls, play ball or anything else."

Dr. Thomas Harris, a psychiatrist, was asked to talk with the youth, who wears thick-lensed glasses and chewed gum incessantly.

Dr. Harris described him as a "case of extreme adolescent rebellion. He says he's 20 but he acts like 16 or less."

Federal Gold Probe Asked

CORSICANA (AP)—U.S. Dist. Atty. William Steger yesterday asked the Secret Service to investigate the claim of a Corsicana filling station employe of having found $2,408,000 in gold bars.

D. E. Jones, 38, father of eight children—seven of them still at home—said he found the gold while picking berries east of Alto in Cherokee County. He said he buried the gold—in 50 bars weighing a total of about 4,300 pounds—and would not reveal its location until he had established clear title.

Jones said he understood he could safely claim it under a treasure trove statute by June of this year.

Meanwhile Jones' attorney, Tom Pollard Jr. of Tyler, said his client will turn over the gold to proper authorities as soon as he has determined who they are.

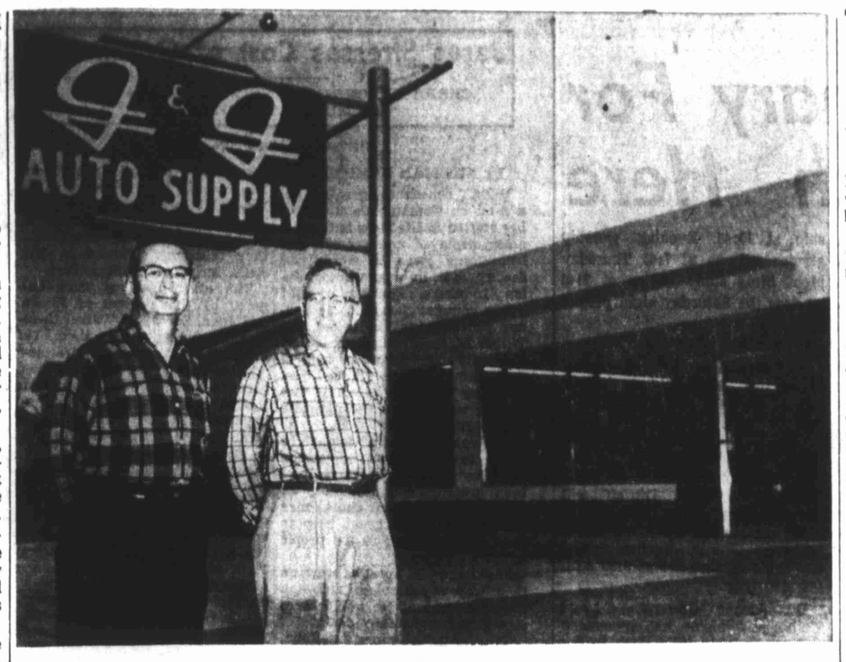

And as for an investigation by the Secret Service, Jones told a reporter, "As far as I am concerned they can investigate all they want to, but I don't think they count the Treasury's money—and I don't want them trying to count mine. I think they will be barking up the wrong tree."

J&J Auto Supply Schedules Formal Opening For Saturday

J&J Auto Supply, a brand new business operating in a brand new building, will stage its formal opening Saturday.

Owners and operators of the establishment, located at 1510 Gregg, are Lucian Jones and James Jennings, longtime Big Spring residents with long records in auto parts and other businesses here.

Jones was manager of Walker Auto Parts Co. for 12 years before resigning to join Jennings in the new business. Jennings also worked at Walker Auto Parts, for two years. Jones was connected with that firm for 14 years, the last 12 as manager.

J&J Auto Supply occupies a spacious (2,400 square feet) masonry building constructed by J. W. (Jim Bill) Little, local contractor. Owner of the property is Dr. R. B. G. Cowper.

Jennings and Jones said they have stocked a complete line of high quality auto parts and accessories. The merchandise is being offered at less than the regular list price, they announced.

Engine and other automotive replacement parts, accessories of all kinds, including mufflers, tailpipes, batteries and "extras," make up the extensive stock.

Rebuilt carburetors, generators, fuel pumps and water pumps also are marketed. A variety of automotive tools are available.

The store is equipped with new all-steel fixtures. Open display of many of the accessory items is featured, and semi-self service is provided.

Saturday's formal opening will be observed throughout the day, with coffee and donuts to be served from 1 to 6 p.m. Visitors will be invited to register for door prizes to be awarded late in the afternoon.

Jones has resided in Big Spring since 1944. He worked for Firestone for a time before joining the Walker firm. He was reared in Illinois and came here from the Dallas area. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have one son, Dennis, who is a sophomore at Texas Tech this year.

Jennings has resided in Big Spring continuously since 1942, and also lived here in 1930-31. He was associated with the Higgin-botham-Bartlett Lumber Co. for 14 years before joining Jones on the Walker Auto Parts staff two years ago. Mrs. Jennings is employed in the city tax office. They have two sons, Jimmy, who graduated from Texas Tech last year and is now employed in the treasury department of Cosden Petroleum Corp., and Jackie, who now resides in Lubbock.

Chionchio Baby Home With Parents

NEW YORK (AP) — Lisa Rose Chionchio, kidnaped from a Brooklyn hospital 2½ hours after she was born on Jan. 2, is home with her happy parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Chionchio called at St. Peter's Hospital Thursday and took Lisa Rose, now 14 days old, home for keeps.

Earlier the Chionchios were among 10 witnesses appearing before a grand jury hearing testimony in the case of Mrs. Jean Iavarone, 43, charged with taking the baby from its hospital crib.

Mrs. Iavarone was arrested last Sunday night in her Brooklyn apartment, where the baby was found in good health. The child was returned to the hospital for observation.

Alabama Jurist Hearing Jan. 26

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — An Alabama jurist must appear in court Jan. 26 to show cause why he should not be punished for refusing to turn over voter records to agents of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission.

Federal attorneys filed criminal contempt proceedings Thursday against Circuit Judge George C. Wallace, 39, for failure to comply with a court order to produce the registration files.

Commission agents, inquiring into alleged denial of Negro voting rights, ultimately gained access to the files. Wallace had given the records to hurriedly called grand juries in rural Bullock and Barbour counties.

Business Tax Break Bill Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would give business firms a tax adjustment based on the amount of income plowed back into the business was introduced yesterday by Rep. Frank Ikard (D-Tex).

The proposal would seek to aid the growth of small and medium size firms.

It provides that anyone engaged in business would be allowed a deduction in an amount equal to the additional investment in his business for the taxable year—up to $30,000 or 20 per cent of the company's net income.

Gen. Marshall In Good Condition

Marshall was stricken Thursday at his home in the resort town of Pinehurst, 60 miles away. He was brought here by ambulance to the new Womack General Hospital and given a private room. His wife took a room nearby.

Town Helps Afflicted Boy

SANTA MARIA, Calif. (AP) — From time to time as Mike plays with his toys, the pain comes in his chest.

He knows, then, that it's time to go sit in a corner and wait for it to happen.

It always does.

Mike faints.

When he wakes up, he rests until he is strong enough to play again.

This will go on, physicians say, for perhaps another three years. Then Mike, now 4, will die. Unless he has an operation.

Mike has heart trouble. There is a hole between two of the chambers of his heart. This makes his heart work too hard. When it slows down Mike turns blue.

Doctors at St. Vincent's Hospital in Los Angeles are going to patch up Mike's heart March 27. To do this, they'll need at least 60 pints of blood.

The going rate is $25 a pint. The hospital will accept blood in trade at the rate of two pints for each pint the boy needs.

The Santa Maria Times, after an appeal for blood donors, announced Thursday that 200 pints have been offered.

Most of the volunteers are men at nearby Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Maj. Francis L. Manning, whose 392nd Field Maintenance Squadron offered 82 pints, told the paper: "Count on us for all the blood that boy needs."

Other Air Force units and other civic and religious groups swelled the total to 200 pints. The pledges are still coming in.

The cost of the operation will be borne partly by the Crippled Childrens Society, San Luis Obispo County. The rest is being raised.

Mike's mother, Mrs. Lynne Pappas, is divorced. She and the boy are living with her parents in nearby Arroyo Grande. She had to quit her job to take care of Mike.

Now a whole community has pitched in to help her.

First John XXIII, Two Others Claimed Papacy At Same Time

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The tourists were downright puzzled. They had just come from Rome, where a vigorous Pope John XXIII rules the Vatican. Now they were in Florence looking at the tomb of Pope John XXIII.

The guide saw the bewilderment on their faces.

"I'm sorry," he said. "I must explain. This is the tomb of a Pope John XXIII who died in the 15th century. He really wasn't a legitimate pope. He was an 'anti-pope, a false claimant to the papacy.

"For years I have told tourists that this is the tomb of Pope John XXIII. I never had to distinguish between him and the present pope. Now I must and I keep forgetting."

Donatello and Michelozzo, two of the greatest Italian Renaissance sculptors, have given the anti-pope a magnificent tomb just outside the historic cathedral of Florence.

How did a man considered a false pope get such a fine tomb?

The antipope, born about 1370, was Baldassarre Cossa, son of a noble family of Naples. He was 8 when the "Great Schism" split the Roman Catholic Church. One pope, Clement VII, set up shop in Avignon, France; another, Urban VI, in Rome.

The schism continued through the reigns of Popes Boniface IX, Innocent VII and Gregory XII in Rome, while the antipope Benedict XIII succeeded Clement in Avignon.

Cossa, a youth of talent and energy, entered the service of the popes of Rome and became a cardinal at the age of 32. Seven years later he played an important part in the Council of Pisa, which sought to resolve the schism. Instead, it merely created another schismatic faction.

The council ruled that both Gregory XII at Rome and Benedict XIII in Avignon should be deposed. Then Cossa brought about the election of Alexander V, now considered an antipope. A year later, in 1410, Alexander died and Cossa was elected Pope John XXIII by the cardinals supporting him.

The schism had political overtones and Cossa had the solid support of the rich city of Florence, which was then building itself into a rival of Rome and of France.

But Gregory in Rome and Benedict in Avignon both refused to give way to Alexander or his successor, John, and until 1415 there were three rival claimants to the papacy.

In that year, the Council of Constance brought about John's abdication. Benedict was declared deposed. Gregory resigned to help resolve the schism.

Two years later, Martin V was elected pope and the schism ended. Cossa paid homage to Martin, who returned the erstwhile Pope John XXIII to the cardinalate.

Cossa had long been a favorite of the flourishing Florentine Republic and he went to Florence to spend his last years. On his death, his magnificent tomb was ordered built by Cosimo de Medici, a founder of the powerful ruling family of Renaissance Florence.

Mental Indolence Called Enemy Of Human Progress

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "The biggest enemy of human progress is mental indolence," said Robert Maynard Hutchins, who will be 60 years old Saturday.

"As Aristotle said, 'Learning is accompanied by pain.' Too many people won't go through that pain," he said.

"The biggest mistake man makes is that he doesn't think through the question of just what is really worthwhile."

The onetime "boy wonder" of the educational world—he was secretary of Yale at 23, dean of its law school at 28, and president of the University of Chicago at 30—is still a figure of controversy as head of the Fund for the Republic.

At 60 he looks 50. His crew cut hair is graying, but his 6-foot-3 frame shows no sign of a paunch. Nor does his mind. He is as ready as ever to fight for his ideas, but still professes surprise that his ideas stir up so much controversy.

"It is remarkable to me that people think of a critic in an adverse sense," he observed. "Criticism to me means appraisal. To most people it seems to mean attack. But to lay the basis for improvement in any field you first have to point out that things are not already perfect."

Hutchins has been assailed as an iconoclast, a cynic and a pessimist. He regards himself as more of an optimist, feels the general level of the world today is better than it has ever been, and is strongly hopeful of human progress.

"I do feel, what many of my contemporaries don't feel, a sense of crisis—and it has very little to do with the Russians. If all the Russians were to disappear tomorrow—or become Republicans—everything wouldn't be fine. We must find our own standards and our own purposes, and not measure our own effort by the activities of people we deplore.

"The crisis I feel is a crisis about the whole American tradition. The question is whether our own democratic institutions can stand the strains and pressures of a large, heterogeneous, bureaucratic society—whether the individual can stay free."

Convinced that civilization cannot withstand another general war, Hutchins sees only final disaster in a continued armament race.

Hutchins still feels American universities spend too much effort teaching students how to earn a living instead of developing their intellectual powers, still feels men will never learn to live reasonably until they first learn to reason better.

His own philosophy, he said, is summed up in this quotation attributed to both Charles the Bold and William the Silent:

"It is not necessary to hope in order to undertake, nor to succeed in order to persevere."

Jesus Stresses Cost of Greatness

CHRIST TEACHES AND SETS US HIS EXAMPLE OF MINISTRY TO OTHERS

Scripture—Mark 10:35-45.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

WHAT constitutes greatness in a man or woman? Is it his or her station in life? Or is it character displayed and concern and helpfulness given in words and deeds? Is it, in other words, ministry to others, regardless of self?

The younger classes in the Sunday school might be asked, Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests, if they had only one favor to ask of Jesus, would they ask it for themselves or for someone else? The answer would show the individual's character.

The older classes might be asked to name men or women who, in their estimation, have been great people in history or now. Would they not choose men who had been of great help to their countries and to the people of their countries?

Jesus and His apostles were on their way to Jerusalem, although Christ knew that He would there face arrest and finally death.

Two brothers, James and John, sons of Zebedee, came to Jesus asking Him this favor: "Grant unto us that we may sit, one on Thy right hand, and the other on Thy left hand, in Thy glory."—Mark 10:35-37. The request was certainly selfish of these two Apostles. Why should they be honored in heaven before others?

The Lord's answer was: "Ye know not what ye ask: can ye drink of the cup that I drink of? and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with?"

They answered in the affirmative, probably not knowing of the martyrdom which Jesus knew was to be His.

And Christ said to them: "Ye shall indeed drink of the cup that I drink of; and with the baptism that I am baptized withal shall ye be baptized: But to sit on My right hand and on My left hand is not mine to give; but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared."—Mark 10:39-40.

Although these companions of Jesus had been with Him and witnessed His selfless services to many, they still did not follow His example in their desire to be honored before their companions. They were not perfect Christians at this time. After Christ's death, they faithfully followed in His steps, forgetful of themselves.

The other apostles were angered by this request of James and John, but Jesus "called them to Him, and saith unto them, Ye know that they which are accounted to rule over the Gentiles exercise lordship over them; and their great ones exercise authority upon them. But so shall it not be among you: but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister: And whosoever of you will be the chiefest, shall be the servant of all. For even the son of Man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give His life a ransom for many."—Mark 10:42-45.

This, then, is the ideal which we must impress on our young people, from the small to the adult groups. Jesus came to minister to others, not to save Himself. So we all must strive to follow His example.

To the small girls in a class it might be asked, do they do cheerfully the household tasks given in their homes? The dishwashing, dusting, etc.? Do the boys in a family take over their "chores" of keeping the lawn mowed, shoveling snow in winter, knowing that is the service which Christ meant as applied to our modern day?

There are many fine organizations in our own country whose aims and ideals are contained in the words, "institutions for service." How many can you name in your own community and in the world?

You and I may never attain greatness in the way that our names appear in newspapers, magazines, etc., "but we can all attain the greatness that Jesus accounts greatness, giving service to others, even if it involves sacrifice," Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests.

MEMORY VERSE

"Whosoever will be great among you, shall be your minister."—Mark 10:43.

Give God A Chance—God Will Open Doors For You!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	II Corinthians	9	1-15
Monday	Philippians	4	6-7
Tuesday	I Corinthians	15	57-58
Wednesday	II Corinthians	4	15-18
Thursday	John	1	15-18
Friday	Psalms	84	1-12
Saturday	II Peter	1	1-8

"For Thy love we thank Thee, Lord . . . for Thy help we pray."

Just a few words, rooted in gratitude. But gratitude means so much . . . to the Giver . . . and to those who receive!

To God it means that we are not too busy enjoying His gifts to understand His love.

To us it means that we have not forgotten the heart of life. We haven't lost sight of the spiritual center toward which the Church constantly points our vision. And to our children it means a family life based on faith and prayer.

Of course, our "blessing" or "grace" is only a small part of the Christian Life to which the Church calls us. But, like every piece in a puzzle, it belongs there!

And the sooner we put all the pieces in place, the sooner we'll understand the WHOLE PICTURE.

Lamesa Council To Annex 145 Acres

LAMESA — Two petitions requesting the city to annex 145.64 acres of land into the city limits were approved on first reading by Lamesa City Council Thursday.

The councilmen also approved a new sub-division ordinance as amended on first reading, approved the second reading of an ordinance to amend the traffic code; approved final payment on the swimming pools; a tax refund for an error in rendition; and accepted the report of the Board of City Development.

One petition for the annexation of property came from A. L. McSpadden requesting that the city annex some 87.084 acres in southwest Lamesa, including the proposed 10-acre plot for the new Lamesa Elementary school. The other petition came from C. A. Hollingsworth and the Lamesa School Board and requested that 58.567 acres in northwest Lamesa be annexed. The schools own over 11 acres in the second tract. Both petitions were approved.

The city's intent of policy concerning the new sub-division ordinance was clarified, the amendment stating "the ordinance shall not be effective as to any property in the city limits by Feb. 15, 1959." The ordinance sets forth that water and sewer facilities and other development costs must be borne by developers for additions to the city after Feb. 15. Final reading of the ordinance will be Feb. 4.

The ordinance amending the traffic code upon recommendation of Citizens Traffic Commission prohibits making "U" turns at any intersection.

Use of Lobo Park for high school baseball games was offered at no cost to Lamesa High School, providing the scheduling could be worked out. The school will field a baseball team this season for the first time in several years.

Water superintendent W. E. Sealy extended an invitation for the council to attend the district water and sewer meeting here Tuesday, Jan. 20 at Lamar Forest Community Center.

Two More Planning Proposals Received

Two more planners pitched their proposals into the circle here Thursday night for the job of conducting a master planning survey of Big Spring and the surrounding area.

Submitting proposals to the special committee handling the matter were Kenneth Esmond Associates of Odessa and the firm of Vogt, Ivers, Seaman of Cincinnati, Ohio. Already, the committee has accepted proposals from Homer Hunter of Dallas, Freese & Nichols, and from S. B. Zisman of San Antonio.

Working on the special committee are two representatives each from the city, county, school, and HCJC governing bodies, plus two from the Chamber of Commerce. However, neither of the county members were present at the interviews Thursday night and the only one each from the HCJC board and the Chamber.

Both firms contacted Thursday expressed about the same ideas concerning the survey as the three previously screened. Esmond, who perfected the Odessa plan only last fall, has met with the committee several times before in outlining to them what was needed in such a survey.

He said that members of his firm would be available to speak to local clubs and organizations about the plan, to see that it was being accepted by the people. He also said that he would let Big Springers do the actual thinking in such a project, by consulting with groups about situations which they understood.

He said it was the plan in Odessa to consult with the school board on school affairs, doctors concerning hospitals, etc.

R. C. Vogt came from Cincinnati to speak to the committee about the survey, and with him was M. A. Heiser of San Antonio. Heiser is with the International Flying firm which would handle the aerial contour map work.

Vogt said it would take a year to adequately make the survey here. He proposed, in addition to the committee's points of coverage, to make maps which would be used by tax collectors in checking property. The committee pointed out that this would be unnecessary since the recent tax revaluation survey brought the tax records up to date.

Two more firms are to be interviewed by the committee before any selection is made. The last two will be screened next Tuesday night.

The organization was formed Saturday night at a meeting of parents of the visually handicapped children. Blair named a committee to draw up a constitution and by-laws for the organization, consisting of Casper Campbell, Howard Ward, and Charles Tipps of Odessa, and W. T. Stephens of Midland.

The group decided to hold meetings on the second Saturday of each month. Its next meeting will be on Feb. 14, when a Valentine's Day party will be held for the visually handicapped children.

For further information write Mrs. Casper Campbell, 1212 Harris St., Odessa.

GUNFIGHT

here are bulky with relation to the two youths.

Marquez was born on May 9, 1942. Hence he will not be 17 until May of this year. Until he is 17 he is still a juvenile under Texas law and cannot be tried in the criminal courts. Lopez will not be 17 until Dec. 27, 1959.

Both have been committed two times to Gatesville and Lopez was released from that school last Oct. 30.

Marquez was first before the court on July 4, 1956, for breaking into Shorty's Pay-N-Take grocery where he stole three cases of beer. For this offense he was released to his parents with the promise he would go to Lovington, N. M., and live.

On Aug. 16, 1956, he was arrested for stealing $315 from Reed Service Station and on May 24, 1957, he is accused of taking $40 from the 87 Truck Stop.

Again Marquez was in trouble on May 26, 1957, when he took $81 from the Reed Service Station. In September 1955, he robbed another filling station, the records disclose.

Lopez first appearance on the records was Jan. 11, 1956, when he allegedly stole a junk car which he later sold to Reece Wrecking Yard.

On May 18, 1957, he broke into a service station at 1003 Lamesa and took candy, chewing gum and cigarettes.

On Jan. 19, 1958 Lopez was with a gang which burglarized a car at the Ace of Clubs, taking several guns. That same night, the same gang broke into the Fowler Used Car lot, stealing other guns and a case of whisky. They also stole a pickup truck in which to cart away their loot.

Bippus in his statement about the holdup on Jan. had insisted the two bandits who shot him were Latin - Americans. Gerald Bell, at the 87 Truck Stop station, repeated the same description that Bippus had given.

Marquez is short, squat and swarthy. He weighs about 110 to 120 pounds and looks older than the 16 years he claims.

He refused when asked if he would pose for a picture.

City police surrounded the home of Lopez before dawn today. At 7:30 a.m. the wanted youth stepped out of the front door and into the arms of the waiting officers.

He was immediately placed in a car and hurried to Midland where his colleague had been under questioning for several hours.

Jones said that he had no statement at noon from Lopez.

Lamesa Church Retires Debt

LAMESA—A note burning ceremony will be staged as part of the worship services of the Church of the Nazarene at 11 a.m. Sunday.

The special service will mark the liquidation of all indebtedness on the church property, now valued at some $60,000. The present auditorium, which has a seating capacity of 300, was completed in 1951 under the ministry of W. J. Benson.

The present minister, Wm. C. Emberton, has served the local church for the past four years, coming to Lamesa from Hamlin.

Speaker for the Sunday morning service will be Dr. O. W. Jenkins of Lubbock, district superintendent for the Nazarene Churches in this area.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A first-degree murder warrant has been issued against Charles E. Montague on the basis of a photograph made of his wife at a sorority party the night of Jan. 6.

The color photograph snapped by an amateur who was concentrating on another subject, showed a profile of Mrs. Ruth Ann Montague, 32, mother of two. She was wearing a large golden earring.

Thirteen hours after Mrs. Montague left the party, her body was found in her car, parked across the street from the apartment house where the party was held. She had been strangled. Her body had been mutilated. No earrings were found on her body or at the scene.

Montague was arrested Tuesday for further questioning. Officers said they found on him a pair of earrings which match the one shown in the photograph. They said Montague told them he found the earrings in his apartment.

Circuit Atty. Thomas F. Eagleton issued the murder warrant Thursday after viewing an enlargement of the snapshot. At the time, Montague was seeking a court order releasing him from Malcolm Bliss Mental Hospital. Police committed him on suspicion of being a dangerous person after Montague, 34, had won a court order Wednesday releasing him from jail.

Montague has been returned to the hospital. He is a ward of the St. Louis Court of Appeals until it rules on his petition for release from the hospital. If and when he is released, he will be arrested on the murder charge, Eagleton said.

Volunteers Are Credited With 'Reclaiming' Mental Patients

Shortly before volunteers effected their holiday activities and a big Christmas party, the Big Spring State Hospital patient census was around 900.

In the wake of this evidence of concern, the patient population dropped to 835 — and it has remained right around that figure despite many new admissions, Dr. Preston Harrison, superintendent, told the Volunteers Advisory Council Thursday evening. More than 50 representatives from various clubs gathered in the Chamber of Commerce offices for the quarterly session presided over by the Rev. Bill Boyd, president.

What Dr. Harrison reported is not an isolated incident, said Miss Helen Colburn, state director of volunteer services.

"What happened to the people of Texas who went into the hospitals was that they reclaimed patients; they asserted ownership of their state hospitals, and look what's happening," she said.

More and more volunteers will be regarded as therapists in their missions of mercy, Dr. Harrison told the group. Miss Dorothea Baldwin, director of occupational therapy at the hospital, told how this might be brought about. She introduced Mrs. Betty Chaffer, who will take occupational therapy on to the women's wards.

J. H. Greene, chairman of the special committee to obtain an amplifying system for the hospital so that musical therapy and other uses may result, said that $2,512 had been raised thus far. He urged every club in Big Spring and Howard County to give something to this project. Many organizations in the 51-county area of the hospital have given.

The Rev. Marvin Berkeland, chaplain of the hospital, cited examples of how individuals had been able to establish contact with patients where staff members had failed. In addition to fitting more and more into the therapy, program, the Rev. Boyd said there were other areas in which volunteers might well serve. For instance, teen-agers in the hospital need schooling (and numerous adults as well), and volunteer teachers are needed.

Nell Brown, secretary-treasurer, reported that nearly $2,000 had been raised for the Christmas parties. She reported on condition of other funds, too. An expression of thanks to M. G. Grigsby, Clift Epps, Fred Gebert, Joe Hedleston, Randall Polk and other merchants who furnished merchandise at cost for gifts were cited for special thanks. Mrs. Ira Thurman, coordinator of volunteer services, expressed gratitude to every club and individual who had a part in the planning nad staging of the parties, wrapping gifts, etc. This work was coordinated by a committee headed by Raymond River. Mrs. C. A. Boyd and Mrs. Robert Mason were thanked for supervising the music for the Christmas pageant the patients staged.

Named as chairmen of standing committees were: Charles Weeg and Mrs. H. W. Smith, Christmas party; Mrs. W. E. Ragsdale, entertainment of patients; R. W. Whipkey, legislative; K. H. McGibbon, finance; Joe Pickle, education and publicity. The council adopted a restatement of its aims and objectives and set the third Thursday of January, April, July and October as regular meeting dates. The name Volunteer was added officially to the organization title.

Hospital Needs Gifts Of Clothing

The Fashion Shop, which outfits needy hospital patients with clothing, can use your help.

Mrs. E. P. Driver, speaking for the sponsoring Woman's Forum, told the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteers Council that gifts of good used clothing are needed.

High on the want list are shirts, wash pants, socks and underwear for men, particularly in medium and large sizes. Large size wash dresses are urgently needed for women patients.

The shop, which is operated once a week by volunteers, including those from the Officers Club and City Home Demonstration Club and the volunteers council, also needs some clothes racks and show cases. Also needed is one or more full length mirrors.

Patients in need of clothing are permitted to go to the shop with requisitions for their needs. The items of clothing, and a small amount of costume jewelry, are given without charge to the patient.

Clothing is left at the office of Mrs. Ira Thurman, coordinator of volunteer activities. It is cleaned and then sized and stored by women operating the shop. The same procedure is followed on costume jewelry.

APPRECIATION EXPRESSED

HCJC Accepts New SUB, Sets Dormitory Charges

Trustees formally accepted the Dora Roberts Student Union Building from Howard County Junior College at the monthly meeting Thursday.

They met in this handsome new building which was erected and equipped at a cost of $318,828.55. The Dora Roberts Foundation gave $300,000 toward the structure which bears the name of the pioneer ranch woman whose name it memorializes. Trustees took occasion, in the acceptance, to express deep appreciation to trustees of the foundation for this investment in the future of the area.

Fees and regulations for the new men's and women's dormitories, now under construction and slated for completion before the next fall semester, were adopted. Dr. W. A. Hunt, president, said that these would be catalogued immediately, and that application blanks would be circulated in the area. A $10 application deposit will be required (it becomes a breakage deposit upon entrance) and the $292.50 board and room fee may be paid in a lump sum or in eight installments.

Accepted with regret was the resignation of Miss Arah Phillips as dean of women and director of women's physical education. Named to succeed her was Anna Smith, who was influenced by Miss Phillips to become a teacher and who for several years was her coworker. Miss Smith has been directing PE for girls in high school and will enter upon her new duties at mid-term.

The board dealt with many small matters such as installation of a water line, setting up a special construction camp, arrangements for advance construction funds.

Approved was the HCJC share of $3,000 toward the joint continuing tax valuation service, although some trustees thought this was disproportionately high to the amount of taxes levied by the college district. The board also approved purchase of a $300 floor polisher and waxer for the new SUB. The way was cleared for exchanging the drivers education car for a new one under a lease arrangement which will cost $780 per year.

A schedule of representations at various meetings was announced. Dr. Hunt pointed out that these were budgeted items. Included are these:

Dr. Marvin Baker to the worldwide conference on off-duty education for the Armed Forces at Baltimore, Md.; Dean Ben Johnson and Dr. Baker to the National Conference on Higher Education at Chicago; Jack Hendrix, music department head, to the American National Assn. of Teachers of Music in Kansas City; Dr. Hunt to the American Assn. of Junior Colleges (he is on the curriculum committee) in Long Beach, Calif. The board also reaffirmed an appropriation of $32.50 for each faculty member who takes part in the Texas Assn. of Junior Colleges meeting in Fort Worth March 6-7.

Castro Continues Defiance On Deaths

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro says Cuba's revolutionary regime wants good relations with the United States, but not at the price of halting executions because of American criticism.

Castro warned Thursday against any U.S. intervention to stop executions ordered by military courts for murder and torture during Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship.

"If the United States comes here, we will make trenches in the streets," the rebel leader told the Havana Rotary Club. The State Department said in Washington that American policy was "strictly one of nonintervention in Cuban domestic affairs."

Soviets Defend Castro Executions

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass today defended Cuban leader Fidel Castro against American criticism of his forces' speedy execution of those they judge as war criminals.

The dispatch called the criticism in the U.S. Congress of the executions "defamatory and provocative."

Pressure Grows For Cuban Legate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional pressures mounted today for the prompt naming of a new U.S. ambassador to Cuba, where the revolutionary government says it plans more executions.

Demands for a new ambassador to replace Earl E. T. Smith who resigned last Saturday came with strong congressional criticism of the executions as developments piled up on several fronts.

Japanese Happy Over 2 Dogs Who Survived At Pole

TOKYO (AP) — Japan's press, radio and public erupted with ecstasies of delight today at the news that two of 15 sled dogs abandoned in the antarctic 11 months ago had been found alive.

"Two dogs survive!" headlined Tokyo's big dailies in type normally reserved for the death of Stalin, the outbreak of war and similar events.

Radios blared the news hourly. Newspapers, radio stations and news agencies were flooded with calls for more information. There was as much rejoicing as there had been protest when the dogs were left behind last February.

A six-man advance party was flown by helicopter Wednesday night from the antarctic expedition ship Soya to reopen the deserted Japanese base on Ongul Island. Masamk Murayama, leader of the party, radioed back that the two dogs came bounding up, wagging their tails in greeting. He said they were in good condition.

Murayama's first message gave no word of the other 13 dogs, or of how the two had managed to survive.

The 15 sled dogs, members of the vanishing Japanese Karafuto breed, were left behind when heavy ice kept the Soya from reaching the base to restock it for the antarctic winter. Bad weather halted flying after removal of the 11 Japanese scientists who had staffed the base and nine other dogs.

The dogs left behind were tied up and had food for only a few weeks.

During the two-year period, Graves was stationed at Ft. Chaffee, Ft. Sill, and for the past year and a half at Ft. Knox, Ky.

No Routine Week For Television Fans

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—It's not such a routine week in television as you might think from a casual glance at the listings for the next seven days.

If anyone cares what I think, here are some programs I'd recommend watching:

On Sunday afternoon:

An NBC news team will analyze the outlook for the 86th Congress from Washington.

The Last Word returns to CBS — by popular demand of a host of viewers who enjoy wit, words and wisdom.

A new program, The World of Ideas, makes its debut, also on CBS. Guests on the program will discuss the principles by which we live.

An hour satire on Hollywood, "Malice in Wonderland," will be seen on Omnibus over NBC.

• NBC's Meet the Press extends its time to a full hour Sunday for an interview with visiting Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan.

The Twentieth Century on CBS offers the first of a two-part study of juvenile delinquency Sunday.

On Monday evening ABC presents "Youth Anonymous," an examination of Detroit's successful curbing of juvenile delinquency.

Bold Journey travels along in its customary spot on ABC, with this one a journey to Costa Rica.

Lowell Thomas offers viewers another High Adventure on CBS — this time on a U.S. Navy IGY expedition to a remote Pacific atoll for a look at the world's first use of rocket astronomy in the study of a solar eclipse.

On Wednesday, Edward R. Murrow is the moderator of a special CBS News study of "The Lost Class of '59" in Norfolk, Va., where the integration problem is keeping 10,000 students from furthering their education. The program examines the effects of the closing of six public schools on the community.

Art Carney stars in what sounds like an interesting Playhouse 90 offering Thursday over CBS — a new Rod Sterling original TV drama entitled "The Velvet Alley."

Phil Silvers is both himself and Sgt. Bilko in a special hour show on CBS Friday night. His guests include Diana Dors and Sidney Chaplin.

National Foundation Places Arthritis High On Target List

Money collected through the March of Dimes campaign now under way will be used for more than polio and birth defects victims. Arthritis, the No. 1 crippler of manpower in the U. S. today, is high among the targets of the National Foundation.

Having sponsored the Salk vaccine, the March of Dimes organization now is tackling new problems, the general chairman, Mrs. H. H. Stephens, said.

"Our expanded program will move forward into broad new areas of unmet health problems, many of which have been opened up by research performed while finding a preventive for polio and rehabilitating its victims," he declared. "That's why our 1959 March of Dimes theme is 'Toward Greater Victories.'

"Medical scientific research, patient aid and the training of professional disease fighters are the core of this program, which will initially cover polio, arthritis, birth defects and research in virus diseases.

"Arthritis and other rheumatic diseases bring pain and crippling to more people in the United States than any other chronic disease. Over 11,000,000 persons are afflicted. Some 320,000 are so disabled they can no longer work. The loss to the nation in wages, working hours and taxes is a billion and a half dollars a year."

The campaign director said the National Foundation will offer patient aid to juvenile and adolescent patients through age 18. Of the 16,000 children likely to seek treatment each year, some 5,000 to 6,000 may need medical care as extensive as that required by paralytic polio patients. Helping this age group creates the possibility of bringing many to maturity able to lead normal, productive lives. What is learned here will be of benefit to arthritis patients of all ages, he added.

Nearly every person over 60 has had some form of arthritis, the director said. But children as well as adults may be victims of this unpredictable disease. Some 30,000 youngsters each year have juvenile arthritis. In addition to swelling of the joints, causing pain, stiffness, restricted motion and crippling, the rheumatic diseases may attack the heart, eyes, kidneys or skin.

Experts say the cause and cure of arthritis are largely unknown, and doctors warn that there are no "miracle" drugs. Aspirin, hot baths and exercises bring relief. Some new drugs like cortisone may reduce inflammation but cannot be counted on to stop the progress of the disease, doctors say.

In most cases, however, crippling can be prevented or reduced if treatment is started early. Techniques of rehabilitation pioneered by the National Foundation in the treatment of polio are available for arthritis patients. Children especially can benefit by these techniques.

Researchers for the National Foundation are now trying to unlock the mysteries of the rheumatic diseases and find causes, cures and preventives. Some scientists believe viruses may offer clues. Others are studying what is known as "the rheumatoid factor" discovered in the blood of afflicted persons, to determine its origin and function.

Graham To Be In Seclusion

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham, ordinarily surrounded by thousands of people, will spend the next month in seclusion.

Mayo Clinic specialists have ordered a month of rest and medication to treat his ailing left eye. Associates said the 40-year-old Graham probably will rest somewhere en route to Australia, where he is scheduled to begin a revival tour Feb. 15.

His personal physician, Dr. Ben Gieser, said "it is hoped he will be able to resume his activities on a somewhat reduced schedule" after the month's rest.

Graham plans to go by car to Minneapolis today after final consultations with Mayo doctors. Exact plans for the next month likely will not be announced, one of his associates said, in order to insure a complete rest.

Dr. Gieser indicated there will be some permanent damage to Graham's vision, but said it was impossible to estimate how much.

Navy Brass Polished Off

NEW YORK (AP) — A woman clerk at a service hospital has rubbed a little lustre off some high Navy brass.

Miss Anna Wasylkow, 39, is a civilian clerk-stenographer at the St. Albans Naval Hospital in Queens. Last July 31 around 4:30 p.m. — official closing time — the telephone rang. She answered it. It was a requisition request, and she left a memo for the proper authority.

A few days later a superior demanded to know why she answered the telephone while "off duty." Miss Wasylkow said she didn't remember whether it was a minute before 4:30 or a minute or two after. But since she was there, she said, she considered it proper to answer the phone.

Came the official reprimand: "You are hereby officially warned for failure to carry out instructions on July 31, 1958. A repetition of this offense within one year may result in applications of higher penalties."

Miss Wasylkow was burned up. She filed an appeal. It was denied. She was told she was "guilty of insubordination." She got a lawyer, Samuel Resnicoff.

Miss Wasylkow, who resides in Floral Park, N.Y., has worked at the hospital for 14 years. She has had one promotion. The reprimand was a blot on her record and a blow to her sense of justice.

Resnicoff filed a brief with Secretary of the Navy Gates. In part, it said "answering the telephone is an automatic reflex" and that the punishment "borders on sheer folderol."

Thursday the Navy spiked somebody's guns. The order came through to expunge the reprimand from Miss Wasykow's record.

3 Indian Children Burned To Death

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — While their mother lay critically ill in a hospital here, three Indian children burned to death on the Cocopah Indian Reservation Thursday night.

Hospital authorities are trying to keep news from pretty Mrs. Elaine Jim, 23. In a two-month battle against cancer she has constantly said, "I want to live for my children."

Her children — Sherrill, 5½, Frederick, 3, and Alfred Jr., 19 months — were trapped when flames engulfed the adobe home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Jim. The grandparents escaped.

Deputy O. D. Jones of Yuma County said children were left with the grandparents when Mrs. Jim was taken to the hospital.

The father received word of the deaths in the Phoenix city jail where he had been serving a sentence for being drunk. Lawmen arranged for his release.

Shot To Death

ROBY, Tex. (AP)—Charles Williams, 45, Negro day laborer, was shot to death yesterday. Fisher County Sheriff Bus Rollans said an itinerant Negro who came here during the cotton harvesting season, was held in the death.
