City Paving Bond Election Carries Eight To One Natural Gas To Be In Perryton Not Later Than September Fifteenth

SIXTY CENT RATE PER THOUSAND FOR SMALL DOMESTIC CONSUMERS

FRANCHISE GRANTED WEDNESDAY TO WM. HORWITZ WHO POSTED TEN THOUS. AND DOLLAR BOND FOR CONTRACT FULFILLMENT

Perryton will have natural gas by September 15 according to the franchise which was granted to William Horwitz and associates Wednesday by the city council. The franchise calls for a rate of sixty cents per thousand cubic feet for domestic users with a minimum charge per month of two dollars. The rate will be graduated down to as low as fifteen cents.

Mr. Horwitz and associates have posted a $10,000.00 surety bond guaranteeing the fulfillment of their contract which calls for gas ready to deliver at the city limits of Perryton by September 1, 1929 and that a distribution system with the city completed and everything in readiness to supply consumers not later than September 15, 1929. Julius Dorenfeld Jr. of the firm Dorenfeld, Foster & Pullington, attorneys of Amarillo was here with Mr. Horwitz and T. S. Durham of Amarillo to draw up the franchise. Mr. Horwitz interests now supply gas to Miami, Magic City, Laketon and Mobeetie. They have the contract for furnishing gas at Spearman to Foote who will own and operate the distribution plant. They also obtained franchises at Higgin, Shattuck, Follett and Becker. Their plans call for the construction of a six inch line in the form of a horseshoe, with the source of supply at each end getting gas from the Stinnett and Wheeler County fields. Farnsworth, Waka, Darnett, Gladier, Gem, Gageby and intermediate towns and farm homes will be served. They also plan to run a line up the Rock Island to supply Morse and Gruver. Actual construction work on the line will be started just as soon as the engineers can make their survey and Mr. Horwitz states that it will be rushed to completion and that he will endeavor to have a gas supply here before the expiration of this time limit.

TWO INTO CITY CLERK'S RACE

C. BEEVER OUT FOR RE-ELECTION; MRS. O. E. BLANK ANNOUNCES FOR CLERK

City politics are commencing to warm up and there is much talk concerning the offices to be filled. The term of Mayor P. P. Rogers expires at this time. Aldermen whose terms expire are M. R. Coffey and Clyde Cofer. City Attorney W. Payne and City Clerk J. C. Beaver are also on the list whose terms expire. Holdover aldermen are Jno. N. Stump, W. C. Bryan and W. Richardson. Mrs. O. E. Blank has authorized to announce her as a candidate for the office of city clerk. Mrs. Blank has been a resident of Perryton for a number of years and there is no question of her ability to fill the office. She followed the teaching profession for a number of years. J. C. Beaver, present city clerk, is also asking the voters that they turn him to this office. Mr. Beaver was appointed by the city council a little over a year ago to serve out the unexpired term of A. McAfee Jr., who resigned. Mr. Beaver has made a good official. Both of the above candidates for the office are well qualified and would make careful honest and efficient officials.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maulsby Monday, March 18, 1929, a girl. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Claybaugh went Saturday and Sunday in Oklahoma City visiting with his brother and family. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg.

Tree Supply Exhausted

All Chinese Elm Trees Ordered by County Agent Guy H. Sheets from the Lubbock Agricultural Experiment Station, came in Saturday and were sold to citizens of this community at actual cost. These trees cost from fifty cents to one dollar and a half at the station. Mr. Sheets states that he is trying to get an additional one hundred trees to take care of the many people who were unable to get trees out of this shipment.

The Chinese Elm is acknowledged to be the best shade tree for this section of the southwest. It is hardy, makes a good shade tree and will stand high altitude, high winds and dry weather. After several years of experimenting with various trees, it has been adopted as the best by both the state and national experiment stations.

Mr. Sheets was aided very much in this campaign by the Boy Scouts who assisted him, both in solicitation of orders and in the planting of the trees. Every town and farm home should be surrounded by shade trees. Do your part toward beautifying the country by planting and taking care of both shade and fruit trees.

BIG EGG HUNT ON EASTER DAY

ENTIRE COMMUNITY INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN BIG EASTER DAY FROLIC AT THE SPRINGS

Plans for the big Easter Egg hunt being sponsored jointly by the Sorosis Club and the Lions Club call for a big day. Mrs. J. B. Nash is chairman of the Sorosis committee and her assistants are Mesdames W. B. Irvin, H. T. Cropper and J. H. Woodward. For the Lions, the following committee has been appointed: Chas. W. Callaway, chairman; R. T. Shindler, Jas. W. Wilson, M. R. Coffee and Van W. Stewart. The hunt, which will be held at the Jines Springs Park on Easter Sunday, March 31, will start with a big basket dinner at 1:30. At 2:30 the grand hunt for the gaily colored Easter eggs will start. It is planned to divide the children into four divisions, according to age. W. B. Irvin will be in direct charge of the hunt. The following group captains have been selected: Mrs. H. T. Cropper, age 6 and under; Mrs. W. B. Irvin, age 7-8-9; Mrs. J. H. Woodward, age 9 and 12; Mrs. R. T. Correll, over age of 12. The group captains are to name their own assistants.

Liberal cash prizes will be allotted to each group, such as for the boy or girl who finds the golden egg, the silver egg and the goose egg, also to the one who finds the largest number of eggs. The merchants of Perryton will be asked to donate small prizes which will be given to finders of eggs bearing the merchants name. It is hoped to have enough prize eggs so that every child who participates in the hunt will receive at least one prize.

It is the intention of the organizations sponsoring this hunt that everyone shall come and enjoy the afternoon. The hour has been set so that there will be plenty of time to reach the Springs after the Easter services at the churches, both in Perryton and in the community. It is to be a community and county-wide affair and everyone is invited and welcome. A large number of eggs will be needed and the committee is asking that these be dyed and donated. Those that care to prepare and give the eggs are asked to bring them to the Shindler Drug Co. on Saturday, March 30.

business should avail themselves of this opportunity to hear Mr. Manley discuss such a vital question as the marketing of wheat.

Legionnaires Banquet

Post Commander Jack Allen Acts As Toastmaster For Very Successful Affair

Over sixty Legionnaires, their wives, fathers, mothers, sisters and sweethearts, gathered around the festive board at the Club Cafe on last Friday evening to partake of a banquet in honor of the tenth anniversary of the founding of the American Legion. Post Commander Jack Allen, as toastmaster and master of ceremonies, had arranged a snappy program which went off without a hitch.

The guests assembled at the city hall where they were "dressed in" with patriotic head dress. Then they fell into chow line and marched in a body to the cafe. One of the features of the evening was the singing of the old army songs led by Roy Hogland and very ably assisted by Rookie Guy R. Sheets.

Allen King, adjutant of Pierce Johnson post, made a report on local post activities and Mrs. Van W. Stewart, president of the Auxiliary Unit gave a report of that organization. Others on the program were H. I. Hudson, Freeman Garrett, Major McFlemkey and Ray Thomas.

COURT IS OVER FOR THIS TERM

DISMISSED JURORS TUESDAY NO COURT NEXT MONDAY GRAND JURY FOUND SIX TRUE BILLS

The regular spring session of the 84th District Court which convened in Perryton Monday adjourned after disposing of a few non-jury cases. Judge Newton Willis, presiding judge of the district, says that Ochiltree County certainly has a high class type of citizens for he has the lightest docket in this county, both criminal and civil, in the entire district.

The grand jury was set to work on Monday and when they adjourned on Wednesday afternoon, they had returned six indictments, five of them being for felonies and the other one for a misdemeanor. The petit jury panel called for Tuesday was dismissed the same day. The petit jurors called for service on Monday, March 25, have also been notified not to appear as there will be no court next week.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Black, Myrtle Conely and Arch Talley were Liberal, Kansas visitors Thursday evening.

PERRYTON TO HAVE TALKIES

CARL ELLIS BUYS EQUIPMENT FOR TALKING PICTURES FOR NEW ELLIS THEATRE

Perryton is to have talking pictures as soon as the new Ellis Theatre is completed, according to Carl Ellis owner and manager of the undertaking also owner of the American Theatre.

Mr. Ellis returned this week from Denver where he purchased all the equipment necessary to give Perryton talking movies. The equipment was purchased from the General Talking Pictures corporation, manufacturers of the DeForest Phonofilm.

The DeForest Phonofilm was the first practical talking picture device anywhere in the world. It has been used in road-shows and as a special attraction in the larger theatres of the United States, such as the Rivoli and Rialto theatres in New York City since 1923. In the 1924 presidential campaign, Dr. Lee DeForest, inventor of the Phonofilm, made the first out-door record that was ever made for talking pictures when he recorded the addresses of Coolidge, Davis and La Follette—the three candidates.

The Phonofilm, as its name implies, is a combination on the same film of picture with voice, music or sound photographically recorded. It will project any sound-on-film picture produced, which is rapidly becoming the most popular method of recording.

With the almost unprecedented advance made in the past five years in the production of motion pictures, with the public demanding greater realism in the staging of its entertainment, with photography at its peak, the enduring popularity of pictures with sound is conceded, not alone by the producers and exhibitors, but by the general public as well.

Pictures with sound have taken a permanent grip upon the public and for this reason Mr. Ellis has gone to the expense of giving Perryton talking pictures.

P. T. A. Country Store

Dave Shanks and "Shorty" Horne are Feature Performers on Monday Nite Program

It has been put out by those that have the inside dope, that Dave Shanks and "Shorty" Horne will be the featured artists who will appear on the program to be given in conjunction with the "Country Store" by the Parent-Teachers Association at the school auditorium on next Monday night at seven-thirty.

There will be no admission charge and all are invited and welcome. Remember the date, Monday, March 25. Not a dull moment during the entire evening. Make your plans now to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ragan are the proud parents of a baby girl born Sunday, March 17, 1929. Mrs. Ragan and little daughter are at the Brewer-Caylor hospital and are resting nicely. The name, Berta Erlene, has been selected for the new arrival.

This means that the paving will be done at once for the council at their meeting on Wednesday afternoon, issued an order calling for the advertising of a notice for bids to be presented to the council on Thursday, April 4, 1929. Bids on nine different types of paving are being submitted. Most of the property owners on Main Street favor brick.

Sealed bids for the sale of the $48,000.00 worth of bonds will also be received by the council on the same date, April 4. By rushing the work, it is thought that the paving on Main Street and elevator row can be completed before harvest.

The starting of the pavement movement in Perryton is one great step forward. Nothing could add more to the city than paved streets. When this program is completed, Perryton will be a modern municipality in every way with electric lights, natural gas, sewer system, city water plant and modern homes, churches, business houses and the highest ranking school system in North Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Patton and children and Mr. and Mrs. Lake Patton and son returned Sunday from a ten day visit with relatives at Fort Worth. Miss Anna V. Patton, who makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Patton, accompanied them and remained at Fort Worth for a few months visit.

AUCTION SALE AT FARNSWORTH

SERVICE STORE TO HOLD BIG AUCTION AND POWER FARMING DEMONSTRATION

The Service Store at Farnsworth is planning a big auction sale and power farming exhibition and demonstration on Friday, March 29, according to B. L. Rogers, manager of the Service Store.

The sale starts at 10:00 o'clock in the morning and is to be followed by a big free lunch at noon. During the day, the complete line of McCormick-Deering implements, handled by the Service Store will be on display and factory representatives from the International Harvester company will be on hand to assist with the display and demonstration. Especially attractive will be the demonstration of the Farmall tractor with the special tillage tools, on the proving grounds, just beside the sale lot. Another interesting sight will be the special showing of the new windrow harvester and picker, something new in the harvesting of grain which proves to become quite popular this year.

Mr. Rogers is preparing for one of the biggest crowds ever attending a Farnsworth attraction. In the event of bad weather, the auction sale will be held in the big warehouse at Farnsworth.

The Perryton Chapter Order of the Eastern Star met Tuesday evening for their regular meeting. A large crowd of Booker and Perryton members were present. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, April 2.

HAWK BRAND CLOTHES ARE SOUTHERN PRODUCT

Twenty years ago the center of the textile industry of the United States was located in the New England section. Today the larger percentage of the cotton spinning, weaving, dying and manufacturing has been transferred south of the Mason and Dixon line.

This result has been a gradual outgrowth of a desire on the part of the mills and cotton factories to eliminate unnecessary freight and steamship charges, and also to reach a more selective source of skilled labor.

In former years when a representative of a cotton industry, take for instance an overall manufacturer, called on a merchant his favorite stock or trade talk was, "My overall is made from eastern denim." Today all that is changed, for the trade has come to realize that even better denims, khakis and shirtings are being produced by southern institutions.

It is a well known fact that better merchandise can be produced more economically at the source of raw materials than at a great distance and for that reason it behooves every citizen of the south, before he buys a cotton product to stop and think, "am I buying a garment made in southern mills and factories from the best materials by skilled operators, or is this made in eastern factories from 'seconds', and by certain processes made to resemble a good piece of merchandise?"

This question is a very important one for it means that each time you demand southern product that you are supporting southern factories, who employ citizens of the south and who in turn spend their money for some of the raw materials produced in your community.

Outstanding examples of this development are the two modern and completely equipped Hawk Brand work clothes factories located at Paris and Waco, Texas. At these two plants, there is now after row of modern machinery, which at full capacity are capable of turning out millions of pants, overalls, auto suits, shirts and play suits, annually. Approximately 800 operators can be employed at one time.

Only the best of materials and most comfortable patterns are used in these factories for experience has shown that the consumer wants good merchandise when he pays out his money.

Plenty of money to loan on land. McLain & Thomas. 34-41-c

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

Did you know that—if the living room be without a natural fireplace—you can have a very charming hearth built in at little cost, and without even cutting into the wall?

A chimney breast of beaver-board can be built out from the blank wall and a "tailor-made" mantel with space for an artificial grate set into the breast. The beaver board should then be covered with canvas and painted or papered to match the old walls. Finish with a cornice or molding at the top to match that used in the balance of the room, and insert a grate for artificial, electric-lighted coals or logs in the hearth-space. Decoratively speaking, the result will be all that one could ask.

Recipe for Cream Hash
Cut up a pint of cold meat and a small onion, add 2 teaspoons butter, stew in a pint of water until liquid is almost absorbed, then add a cup of cream, chopped parsley, salt and pepper. Serve on buttered toast.

Eggs Used With Asparagus
Lay stalks of canned asparagus (drained) in saucepan containing 1/2 cup drawn butter and heat to boiling. Season highly and put in buttered baking dish. Break 6 eggs over surface, dot with butter and seasoning, cover with grated cheese and bake until eggs are set.

Oyster Salad
Drain two cans oysters and chop them slightly; add 3 finely sliced crackers and half as much chopped celery as oysters. Blend with mayonnaise or Russian dressing. Serve on crisp lettuce garnished with stuffed olives.

Salt Preserves Teeth and Gums

The best remedy for incipient pyorrhea is a morning and evening massage of the gums using salt water in proportions of 1/2 teaspoon salt to 1/2 glass hot water. Massage with downward strokes on upper gums and upward movement on the lower set.

RANGE

Mrs. Ed Smith visited in Range Wednesday.

Miss Myrie Shorb was a business caller in Guyton last week.

Jack King and Loyd Burton left last week for an extended visit in eastern Okla., and Kans.

The many friends of Grandpa Shorb will be glad to learn that he is very much improved in health. J. G. Etter and daughter, Mary, were trading in Range Saturday.

Ernest Tindle and family were Range visitors Saturday.

There was quite a number of visitors Sunday at the new railroad that is being built.

J. H. Edwards and little daughter, Francis Gene, were Range visitors Sunday.

Joe Burns, Miss Aline Godley, Bill Godley and Mamie Glen Burns, were among those that watched the railroad work Sunday.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fortner sympathize with them in the loss of their baby boy, Billy Jean, who died Saturday afternoon at 12.30. A host of friends attended the funeral, at Hartsville Sunday afternoon.

Much used to be said about the "march" of progress but the American people aren't doing much marching in these days when they have to step on the gas to get anywhere.

The college students at least show business ability by their success in getting money out of Father.

It is claimed that freedom of speech is not allowed in this country, but anyway people will be allowed to holler all they want to at the baseball games this spring.

PERRYTON GIRL MEMBER OF CANYON COLLEGE BAND

Miss Virginia King, a Perryton girl, has been chosen as one of the twenty-six members of the Buffalo Band of the West Texas State Teachers College to make a concert trip after the opening of the spring term. Miss King plays the piccolo, and the fact that she will go on this tour indicates that she is one of the stronger members of the band.

The band trip will cover some three hundred miles, beginning with a Sunday afternoon concert on March 24, and including three night programs an average of four concerts per day for four days. They will return to Canyon the night of March 27. It is expected that this will be one of the most successful tours the band has made.

GOOD COOKS APPROVE THESE TASTY DISHES

There is nothing that good cooks like to make more than some dish that other good cooks have found delicious. The Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman has a column in which farm women exchange their favorite recipes. Here are three of the "favorite recipes" taken from the March 15 issue:

Aladdin Stew—Cut 2 pounds of chuck beef into small pieces and put on to cook in 1 quart of slightly salted water. Bring to the boiling point quickly, then barely simmer until the meat is tender. Add 1/2 cupful of carrot cubes, 1/2 cupful of diced turnip and 1 small onion chopped fine. Season with 6 whole allspice, 6 pepper corns and a bit of bay leaf. Twenty minutes before serving, add 1 cupful of diced potatoes. Thicken with 4 tablespoonfuls flour to which enough cold water has been added to make a thin paste.

Cheese Sandwiches Filling—You will need 1 tablespoonful butter, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1 teaspoonful sugar, 1/2 teaspoonful ground mustard, a sprinkle of pepper, 1 egg yolk, 1/2 cupful vinegar and 1 pound of American cheese grated.

Mix the dry ingredients in the top part of a double boiler, add the vinegar and then the beaten egg yolk. Add the milk and butter and cook until smooth and thick as cream. Let cool slightly and then add the grated cheese and mix well. Spread between slices of rye bread. This is very fine and is my favorite filling for sandwiches. Other bread may be used.

Banana Nut Tapioca—Mix 1/2 cupful of broken tapioca with 2-3 cupful sugar and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Stir into 1 pint of boiling water and cook in a double boiler until tapioca is clear or about 15 minutes. Remove from the fire and add the juice of 1 lemon, 2 bananas sliced, 1/2 cupful of chopped salted peanuts. Let stand until partially cold and then stir in the beaten whites of 2 eggs. Let stand until thoroughly cold and then serve with cream.

A MITE'S GRANDCHILDREN

Less than 16 days after she is hatched, a female mite will have more than 1,500 grandchildren, according to the March 15 Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman. The thing for poultrymen and farmers to do is to kill the old mites now to prevent a lot of trouble later on. Carbolicum, painted or sprayed on the roosts and poultry house, especially around the cracks, is the best remedy for these parasites.

DAIRY CO-OP BUSINESS

Co-operative dairy association last year handled approximately one-third of the creamery butter and cheese manufactured in the United States and about one-fifth of the fluid milk used for household purposes, according to the March 15 Oklahoma Farmer-Stockman.

OLDEST BRITON DIES

London.—William Walker, 108, England's oldest man, hale and hearty until last June, is dead today at Nottingham.

On his one hundredth birthday Mr. Walker ate five meals and when his health finally failed his only regret was that he could not continue having his daily pint of beer and his favorite meat, pork, to which he attributed his long life.

Mr. Walker achieved note at the time of King George's visit to Nottingham last autumn, when the centenarian was wheeled in an invalid's chair to shake hands with the King.

ALCOHOL TRAIN WRECKED

Jackson, Miss.—The wreck of a freight train near Terry proved no tragedy to the residents of that vicinity. Soon after the train plunged over a bank men came with containers to collect the ten thousand gallons of alcohol dumped into the ditch by accident. The joy was shortlived though, for the alcohol caught fire.

BACK TO SMALL TOWNS

According to recent surveys, there is a decided movement from the big cities back to the small towns. The high cost of living, lack of proper housing, and other discomforts and inconveniences of the city largely influence families to seek homes where a dollar goes further and where happiness is not so restricted.

Improved conditions in small towns, due to distribution of electric power, better opportunities for employment, improved means of transportation, and better school facilities are important factors in favor of the smaller communities.

A new gasoline experience— actually—NEW MILES per gallon

It is a fact that the new Texaco does give better results—measurably better. It has at once overcome the limitations of the older type of engine and enhanced the performance of the new.

You can't be mistaken. You see the record of actual miles rolling up on your speedometer. You notice the ample gasoline reserve and the fewer filling stops. Your car is the same, but the new and better Texaco is a different gasoline—more miles to the tankful.

That's the difference between dry gas and wet! The new and better Texaco, vaporizing to a dry gas, enters the cylinders and ignites instantly. It burns freely and delivers all its power in that split fraction of a second of the power-stroke.

Wherever you stop for gasoline, see to it that your car draws up beside the Texaco pump. Look for the Texaco Red Star and Green T.

Not WET But DRY

A wet gas is an atomized mixture of gasoline vapor with liquid drops of raw gasoline. These drops, separating at every manifold bend, result in uneven distribution and loss of power.

A dry gas, the new and better Texaco, vaporizes completely. It is a perfect mixture of dry gasoline vapor and air which provides an even flow of fuel and power to every engine cylinder.

WARNING ON SPECULATION
THE FEDERAL RESERVE BOARD
$25 A DAY
$2,000,000 MORE FROM J. D. R.

There are bad features about the generally ignorant speculation stocks. Money thus invested might better be invested in other ways. Inevitably buying ignorantly and recklessly, many are doomed to bear heavy losses.

It is necessary to issue warnings and the Federal Reserve Bank warning is based of course on excellent intentions.

But between warnings and ACTION there is a wide margin. To tell outside banks that they must not lend money on call, giving a monopoly to New York City banks and gigantic profit to holders of New York bank stocks, may not be the best way to solve the money and speculation problems.

Another week opening finds Wall Street refusing to be scared to death. Speculators are like "Old Dog Tray, ever faithful." Grief cannot drive them away.

Jack up the interest rate, and still they say, "I think stocks are going to be worth more and so I am going to buy them." The prices lifted up their little heads as soon as the market opened, and kept them up.

One comforting fact for gentlemen that speculate in stocks, paying ten, twelve and more per cent for money. Federal Reserve Bank in 1928 made a net profit of $64,053,000, or $21,000,000 more than in 1927. It seems only reasonable that the Federal Reserve Bank, efficient in putting up interest rates, should get a good share of the profit.

Corporations get good service and government, sometimes poor service. Colonel Lindbergh is named Federal Aviation Advisor, and WHEN HE WORKS his Uncle Sam will pay him $25 a day.

All Hollywood knows that Lindbergh could have had $500,000 for making one picture, which would have paid him about $10,000 an hour for his work.

However, as Lindbergh says, flying is his business, and $25 a day for work on Government flying would suit him better than any price for standing before a camera. Besides, he has a job with General Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania, selecting landing places, etc., for the railroad which will pay a salary considerably better than $25 a day.

If men are welcomed in Heaven in proportion to their deeds on earth, there will be a special committee of welcome to meet John D. Rockefeller when he arrives. May it be fifty years hence.

President Angell of Yale University announced a gift of $2,000,000 from Mr. Rockefeller for expansion of Yale's medical department, the building of a laboratory, etc.

Mr. Rockefeller is the only man that has given away HUNDREDS OF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

Since the people do not know enough to use their unlimited resources for their own welfare, they are fortunate in having intelligent men that collect hundreds of millions and spend them usefully for education, health, scientific research, remedying disease, etc.

Mrs. H. W. Lusher and Mrs. Jack O. Lusher who have been visiting with relatives at Fort Worth and Houston for several weeks were met in Amarillo Monday by Mrs. Lucy Nelson, J. C. Hickernell and Jack O. Lusher. They all attended the opera "Thais" held in Amarillo Monday evening and returned to Perryton Tuesday.

Treatment for Thick Skins
In connection with the treatment for the thick or oily skin I want to say that the first important step to be taken and considered from an extraneous angle is the cleansing.

Of all skins, the oily type seems to attract more of the undesirable elements in the air such as dust and dirt.

Furthermore, on account of the size of the pores, small particles of coarse powder imbedded, and if a thorough cleansing is neglected for any length of time, the pores will become stretched and further enlarged. This is something which should most certainly be guarded against, and the thorough daily cleansing will do it.

For the thick or oily skin I advocate the daily use of a washing preparation, preferably in the form of a pore paste that really penetrates beneath the surface and dissolves the particles lodged in the pores.

These washing preparation do more than merely cleanse the pores. They have a certain gritty action on the skin which eliminates all the poison and waste material.

I also recommend the occasional use of a penetrative washing preparation for any skin of heavy texture, even though the pores are not enlarged and there is little tendency to oiliness and blackheads.

After the skin has been thoroughly cleansed, the next step is to apply your cream with a purpose. By this I mean a cream that best suits your skin's condition; one that will correct a condition that is not normal. And that cream will depend on the individual condition of your skin.

Then the application of your muscle tightening preparation should follow, and this should be applied with firm upward motions that tone and brace, followed by a gentle patting in fleshy spots that will stir up the circulation and help to distribute the fatty tissues.

Regardless of one's features, nothing is so charming as a soft, velvety complexion that radiates health and vitality; nothing is so detrimental to beauty as the clouded, sluggish skin. Indeed, the first draws from us an involuntary exclamation of delight which turns itself inward and makes us realize how beautiful even the least regular features seem—against the background of a lovely complexion. And what a mission lies before those of us who have not now a beautiful skin! With each day's improvement under proper care do we send out a message of hope to others, for as the line above suggests—our changed complexion are to them a mirror which shows them theirs changed, too.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Okla.
That when all citizens have pride in their home city, they will have a happier and healthier life.

That when they are filled with ambition to have a bigger, better and busier city, they will cooperate together in a way that will make their ambitions become realities.

That spasmodic work on behalf of citizens brings no results; constant effort is the price that must be paid for steady, community growth.

That the first essential needed to make a city better is cooperation.

That all citizens should be interested in attracting new businesses and new capital to their city. The benefits derived does much to bring continued prosperity.

That the man who has made a study of his home city is a better booster than the man who has not.

That the man who knows all about his city can be counted on as a community worker, and one who can get results.

That boosting for the home city pays bigger, quicker and steadier dividends than anything you can do.

That it doesn't take eloquence to interest people in a live city; they know one when they see it. The idea is to get them to come and see it.

That courtesy to visitors means much to a city.

A citizen who thinks it isn't worth while to be courteous to visitors, isn't worth while to his home city.

CHINESE EGGS NOW MENACE OUR MARKET

Chinese eggs are the "cloud like unto a man's hand" which has appeared on the horizon of the poultry industry, the Oklahoma Farm-Stockman points out in its March 15 issue.

For years Chinese eggs have threatened to interfere seriously with the market of the American poultryman and at times they have had a serious effect upon egg prices in this country.

Egg prices in China are often as low as 5 or 6 cents a dozen. They are seldom higher than 10 to 12 cents a dozen. It is not surprising that the American market for eggs has attractions for this oriental hen fruit.

A tariff of 8 cents a dozen on eggs in the shell, that has prevailed for several years, has been too much of a wall for most of the Chinese eggs to get over. Once in a while however, they have come to the Pacific coast markets and demoralized prices there for a time. Invariably the other markets take a nose dive when that happens, and the effect is felt all over the country.

The most important effect of Chinese eggs in the American markets is felt in the dried egg and frozen egg trade, which are becoming more and more important as outlets for the eggs produced on American farms. There the Chinese eggs are playing hob with American products.

Present tariffs are 8 cents a dozen on eggs in the shell, 6 cents a pound on frozen eggs, and 18 cents a pound on dried eggs. The poultry organizations are asking for 10 cents a dozen on eggs in the shell, 12 cents a pound on frozen eggs, and a sliding scale on the various forms of dried eggs, running from 30 cents a pound on the yolks to 60 cents on the albumen. They seem to think that this schedule of rates will preserve the American market for American producers.

A new gasoline experience— actually—NEW MILES per gallon

It is a fact that the new Texaco does give better results—measurably better. It has at once overcome the limitations of the older type of engine and enhanced the performance of the new.

You can't be mistaken. You see the record of actual miles rolling up on your speedometer. You notice the ample gasoline reserve and the fewer filling stops. Your car is the same, but the new and better Texaco is a different gasoline—more miles to the tankful.

That's the difference between dry gas and wet! The new and better Texaco, vaporizing to a dry gas, enters the cylinders and ignites instantly. It burns freely and delivers all its power in that split fraction of a second of the power-stroke.

Wherever you stop for gasoline, see to it that your car draws up beside the Texaco pump. Look for the Texaco Red Star and Green T.

Not WET But DRY

A wet gas is an atomized mixture of gasoline vapor with liquid drops of raw gasoline. These drops, separating at every manifold bend, result in uneven distribution and loss of power.

A dry gas, the new and better Texaco, vaporizes completely. It is a perfect mixture of dry gasoline vapor and air which provides an even flow of fuel and power to every engine cylinder.

CARLOAD DELCO LIGHT PLANTS

T. C. SHAW, LOCAL DELCO DEALER, TO BRING IN SECOND CAR LOAD OF PLANTS

The biggest opportunity in the history of the farm electric plant business is knocking at your door today, according to T. C. Shaw, local Delco-light dealer, who is planning a special co-operative carload order. This carload will make the second to be shipped to Perryton within the past year.

"I know there are hundreds of homes in this community that want and need the blessings of electric light and power," stated Mr. Shaw. "I know the homes already equipped with it. And they are better homes today. The heavy burdens of toil have been lifted from the shoulders of the women folks. These same homes are happier and brighter for the young people. And the fathers of these homes have found new ways of labor saving, greater comfort, a way to better profits."

Delco-Light is the standard farm electric plant of the world and is dependable and economical. It gives your farm a complete service of electric light and power. Whenever and wherever you need electric light, the touch of a button will give it to you—a flood of clean, safe, economical light. Delco-Light will furnish an abundance of smooth, quiet electric power, to pump for you, milk, separate, churn, grind, wash, iron and sweep.

If you are interested in a Delco-Light plant, it will pay you to get in touch with Mr. Shaw and investigate the carload proposition, as the saving in buying in carload quantities will go to those who order now.

SPEAKS AT HIGH SCHOOL

Major R. M. McFleming left Monday for Pampa and Binger but will return to Perryton Saturday. He spoke to the high school students here Monday morning and offered a dollar prize to the first answer and a fifty cent prize to the second best for any student that could answer this problem.

A little girl of the age between four and five, with her mother, got on the train at East Berlin, Conn., some twelve years ago and as they both sat down in the car the little girl looked around and saw the beautiful light and then she asked her mother a question. This is the question she asked: "Mamma, who owns this car?" Mother answered, "The Railroad." "Mamma, who owns the railroad?" Mother answered, "The company." The little girl asked again, "Mamma, who owns the company?" And mamma could not answer the question. Any high school pupil that can answer the question, "Who owns the company and the ones that own the company?" will receive the prizes offered.

Question is often asked, why girls leave home? One reason why many of them leave, is that their parents decline to obey them.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

One family that keeps an attractive home place, accomplishes more for its community than a dozen who find fault with everything.

The world made a marvelous advance, when it discovered the art of printing. Similarly, progress concerns make wonderful progress when they get to using printer's ink.

After lustily singing "Home Sweet Home" at the parties, some folks go out of town to buy their supplies.

DUST OFF THAT DICTIONARY!

Some of our folks were reminded of their school days, on reading that Yale university has been giving an exhibit in honor of Noah Webster, celebrating the centenary of that noted man's dictionary.

Also many will recall the old Webster spelling book, of which 60,000-999 copies had been sold at a date many years ago. Many of us used to weep salty tears while studying those thumbed volumes.

To-day the family dictionary usually reposes on some inaccessible shelf. Better remove the thick layer of dust, or buy a new copy, put it on your living room table,
and consult it frequently.

A man may have grey stuff inside that little head of his, but if he can't put the product thereof into well chosen words, the world overlooks him. And uttering words of which you don't know the true meaning, is worse than not using any at all.

Anyone who ever worked in a newspaper or printing office has respect and affection for words. They are the tools with which we build human relationship. They are symbols of thoughts, and thought is the power that shapes the world.
If you want a share in that grand work of construction, dust off that old dictionary of yours, and practice with the marvelous word tools described therein.

MAKIN GOOD

The boys of to-day are very quick witted. But some people claim that as workers they are not thorough and responsible.

"I should think it would pay you to hire in more help, clean up this place, and rush your work along," remarked a traveller recently to a repair man in a shop along a popular automobile route. The place was terribly cluttered up, and its work went slowly.

"Sure, I'd like to," said the artist of valves and cylinders. "But you can't get good help. When I hire new boys, they get everything out of place and they sit around and talk about the dances."

The modern boys have large ideas.
They expect to be earning big money soon, so they can't afford to waste much valuable time sweeping floors and cleaning up litter.

But if many workers are irresponsible, the effect is to create opportunities for those who are more reliable. If some are heedless, those who finish every job completely shine by comparison. We are looking for those faithful fellows in Perryton. Our business men make places for those chaps, and push them ahead.

Heart to Heart Talks

By Dr. Gaines

This is an era of changes. And we relish them to the point of hearty welcome in most instances.
Those who do not change in a while gradually drift into that lethargic state of mind which we call a rut—and everybody resents that.

The same suit of clothes worn for too long grows tiresome to our neighbors, if not to ourselves, though the garments are by no means worn out. People relish contrasts, especially when the change is for the brighter, the newer, the more attractive. And this applies to our reading matter, I think, fully as much to mere physical appearances.

So the readers of this paper will notice our abandonment of things and words with the medical tang.

posal, our editor believes that an

THE DESPERATE LOVER

By E. Phillips Oppenheim

ILLUSTRATED BY FRANK B. DRIEN

Margarita looked like a beautiful wild animal in her passion. Her hair had fallen all over her face and was streaming down her back. Her small white hand was clenched and spread, and her straight, supple figure, panther-like in its grace, was distended until she towered over the little shrunken form before her. Terrible was the gleam in her eyes, and terrible the fixed rigidity of her features. Yet she was as beautiful as a young goddess in her wrath.

"No!" she cried fiercely, "the Order shall not die! You belong to it still, and I—I, too, swear the oath of vengeance—this woman! She shall suffer!"

"She shall die!" he cried. A slight shudder passed across the girl's face, but she repeated his words.

"She shall die! But, uncle, you are ill. What is it?"

"She shall die!" he said, and held her up. He had fainted.

"Where am I, Margarita?" She leaned over him, and drew a long deep breath of relief. It was the reward of many weary days and nights of constant watching and careful nursing. His reason was saved.

"In your own room at the hotel," she whispered. "Don't you remember? You were taken ill."

He looked at her, helpless and gazed. Slowly the mists began to roll away.

"Yes, you were with me," he murmured softly. "I remember now. I was telling you the story of the past—my past. You are Margarita's child. Yes, I remember. Was it this afternoon?"

She kissed his forehead, and then drew back suddenly, lest the warm tears which were quivering on her eyelids should fall back upon his face.

"It was three weeks ago!"

"Three weeks ago!" He looked wonderingly around—at the little table at his side, where a huge bowl of sweet-scented roses was surrounded by a little army of empty medicine bottles at Margarita's pale, wan face, and at a couch drawn up to the bedside. "And you have been nursing me all the time?" he whispered.

She smiled brightly through the tears which she could not hide. "Of course I have. Who has a better right, I should like to know?"

He sighed and closed his eyes. In a few minutes he was asleep. For a fortnight his life had hung upon a thread, and even when the doctor had declared him out of danger, the question upon the balance for another week. He would either awake perfectly reasonable, in all respects his old self, or he would open his eyes upon a world, the keynote to which he had lost forever. In other words he would either awake a perfectly sane man, or helplessly and incurably insane. There would be no middle course. That was the doctor's verdict.

And through all those long days and nights Margarita had watched over him as though he had been her own father. All the passionate sympathy of her warm southern nature had been kindled by the story of his wrongs. Day by day the sight of his helpless suffering had increased her indignation toward those whom she really believed to have bitterly wronged him. Through those long quiet days and silent nights, she had brooded upon them. She never for one moment repented of having allied herself to the wild oath of vengeance, whose echoes still ring in her ears. Her only fear was that he would emerge from the fierce illness under which he was laboring so weakened and shaken, that the desire of his life should have passed from him. She had grown to love this shrunken old man. In her girlhood she had heard stories of him from her nurse, and many times the hot tears had stood in her eyes as she conjured up to herself that pathetic figure, waiting and waiting, year by year, for that liberty which was to come only with old age. She had thought of him, sad-eyed and weary, pacing his lonely prison cell, and ever waiting through his barred window the little segment of blue sky and sunlight which penetrated into the high-walled court. How he must long for the scent of flowers, the fresh open air, the rustle of leaves, and the hum of moving insects. How his heart must ache for the sound of men's voices, the touch of their hands, some sense of loving or friendly companionship to break the key monotony of his weary, stagnant existence. Her imagination had been touched, and she had been all ready to welcome and to love him as a hero and a martyr, even if he had appealed to her in no other way. But when she had seen him stricken down and helpless, with that look of ineffable sadness in his soft dark eyes, it was more than her sympathy which was aroused, more than her imagination which was stirred. Her large pitying heart became his absolutely. She was alone in the world, and she must needs love some one. For good or for evil, fate had brought this strange old man to her, and woven this tie between them.

He held out his hands; she grasped them fondly. "Margarita she came here!" he whispered. "What, here? Here in this room?" He nodded.

"It was two days before you came. I was sitting alone in the twilight. The door opened. I thought I was dreaming. It was she, as beautiful as ever, richly dressed, happy, comely. She came to pity, to sue for pardon. I let her talk, and then, when I had gathered strength, I stood up and cursed her. I thrust her away; I cursed her with the fiercest and cruellest words which my lips could utter. It drove the warm color from her cheeks, and the light from her eyes. I cursed her till her heart shook with fear. She staggered out of the room a stricken woman. I—"

"Tell me her name."

"It was Adrienne Cartuccio. It is now Lady Maurice."

"The Lady St. Maurice! She was my mother's friend then?"

"Yes." Margarita's eyes were bright, and her voice trembled. "When my mother was dying she gave me a letter. If ever you need a friend or help," she whispered, "go to Lady St. Maurice. This letter is to her. She will help you for my sake. Uncle, fate is on our side. Just before I came to you I wrote to Lady St. Maurice. I told her that I was unhappy in my life, and I wished for a situation as a governess. I sent her my mother's letter."

"And she replied?"

"Yes. She offered me a home. If I wished I could teach her little girl."

Her voice was trembling, and her eyes, dry and brilliant, were fixed upon him. He was sitting upright in bed, leaning a little forward toward her, and the sunbeam which had stolen in through the parted curtains fell upon his white corpse-like face. A strange look was in his eyes; his fingers clutched the bedclothes nervously.

"You will go?" he asked hoarsely. "You will go to Lady St. Maurice?"

An answering light shot back from her eyes. She was suddenly pale to the lips. Her voice was hushed as though in fear, but it was firm. "Yes, I shall go. To-night I shall accept her offer."

PART III

"Mother, don't you think that Miss Briscoe is a very strange girl?"

Lady St. Maurice looked up from her work quickly. Nine o'clock was just striking, and her son only a moment before had replaced his watch in his pocket with an impatient little gesture.

"Yes, I do think so," she answered quietly. "I think her very strange indeed. Why do you ask me?"

He shrugged his shoulders.

"Oh, I don't know exactly. It seems odd that she should want to spend all her evenings alone, and that she should have so many long letters to write. Do you think that she quite understands that you would like her to come down with us?"

"I am quite sure that she does, Lumley. I even objected to having her come here as a governess at all. Her mother was a dear friend of mine many years ago, and I told Margarita from the first that I would rather have her here as my daughter. She would have been welcome to a home with us. It was only her pride which made her insist upon coming as Gracie's governess, and I suppose it is the same feeling which prompts her to keep herself so much aloof from us. I am sorry, but I can do no more than I have done toward making her see things differently."

Lord Lumley fidgeted about for a minute or two on the hearthrug. There was a certain reserve in his mother's manner which made the task which he had set himself more difficult even than it would have been under ordinary circumstances. Besides, he felt that from her low seat she was watching him intently, and the knowledge did not tend toward setting him more at his ease.

"You loved her mother, then?"

"I did. She was my dearest friend."

"And yet—forgive me if I am wrong—but sometimes I fancy that you do not even like Miss Briscoe."

"She will not let me like or dislike her, Lumley."

He shook his head.

"It isn't that exactly. I have seen you watching her sometimes—as for instance when she sang the Sicilian song here—as though you were—well, almost afraid of her; a though there was something about her which almost repelled you."

The Countess laid down her work, and looked steadfastly into the fire. There was a moment's silence.

"You have been a close watcher, Lumley."

"I admit it. But, tell me, have I not watched to some purpose. There is no mistaking the look in your face sometimes, when she comes in late to the room unexpectedly. If the thing were not absurd, I should say that you were afraid of her."

Lady St. Maurice held her hand to her side for a moment, as though she felt a sudden pain. She repeated her son's words about looking up at him.

"Afraid of her! No, no, Lumley. I am afraid of something else, something of which her face continually reminds me. It is the shadow of the past which seems to follow her footsteps."

A tragic note had suddenly been struck in the conversation between mother and son. Lord Lumley, who had been altogether unprepared for it was full of interest.

"The past!" he repeated. "Whose past? Tell me all about it. She looked up at him that her face was pale.

"Lumley, it is only ago since your father told you the story of our long and marriage."

"Every word! Every word!"

"You remember the Count di Marioni upon your father, but which I was driven to vent it, and the only Leonardo—the di Marioni against us both?"

WE are glad to introduce this heavy-duty speed truck to our home community because we feel that our friends who have rural hauling to do need its outstanding performance.

It is the one truck designed and built from end to end specially for rural service.

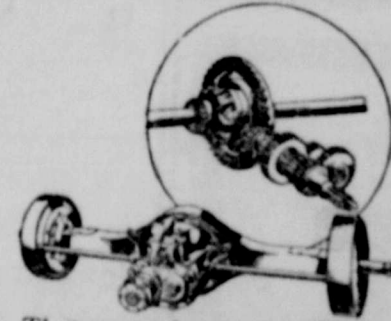

It is the one Speed Truck with six speeds forward and two reverse—and it has 4-wheel brakes into the bargain.

It is the one truck that can pull a 60-bushel load of wheat up a 38% grade, across plowed ground, through deep sand, and in and out of ditches, and then light out at a good, fast clip when it hits the hard highway. The two ranges of pulling power—six forward speeds—do the trick. There's an efficient gear ratio for every road, every load!

METHODIST CHURCH

The services for the next week are like they have been except that the night services will meet at 7 for the leagues and the evening services will be held by the league beginning at eight. We like for the services to begin earlier but people are not accustom to going to church until dark.

Beginning this late all the services will surely need to begin not one minute late and close strictly on time. System, regularity, and punctuality are some of the conditions I think we shall see in heaven. The church work should all be held as a matter of enough worth and seriousness that we all be on time and close on time.

The classes in the Sunday School are all growing and we trust that it will be a permanent growth. That was one objection to the old time contest—it was built on a spurious, or mushroom, growth. People were more interested in beating the other side than they were the good they were doing and the spiritual purpose of the work they were all about.

The classes are reported departmentally and this makes the competition in groups, and some of the groups are growing rapidly. If the Juniors and Intermediate-Senior keep on they are going to have the adults pushed back into their class rooms. Let them work on.

The Sunday School has not been given the proper place in the lives of many people. It has too much and too long been considered a place for women, children, and a few serious minded people. The Sunday School movement started in 1781 in Gloucester, England, where Robert Raikes, a printer was attracted by a bunch of boys and girls dirty, ragged, and swearing. When he was told that they were there every Sunday and spent most of the day in riotous play at chuck, he decided to get some teachers and teach the children some Bible and catechism. He hired four women who should keep some school on Sunday, paying them a shilling a day; and they taught all whom Raikes sent to them.

He raised about 4000 Pounds for this purpose during his life time but at his death in 1811, the work lost some of its momentum, due to lack of funds.

Then some one conceived of running the schools with voluntary laborers,—and he deserves a much credit no doubt, as does Raikes in the work of the Sunday School. The first Sunday School in America was founded in New York in 1816.

Dr. Goucher and Hannah tell us that 84 per cent of the church members come from the Sunday School. But only 20 per cent of the Sunday School come in while in the school and 20 per cent after leaving.

In a class of an average of five pupils one is converted while in class, one after leaving the class, and the other three go away with out conversion and die that way.

There are more people who come into the church between the ages of five and ten than between the ages of 25 and 75.

How all important it is that we get the child to attach himself to the church while in the junior age.

A noted Brooklyn judge says that in five years he has been on the bench 2700 youth have been before him for sentence. Less than 2 per cent of these had ever attended Sunday School and at the time of the crime none of them were attending any kind of religious service, Catholic, Jew, or Protestant.

Forty-five boys and girls a month is a goodly number for just one judge to sentence. Think of the dreadful tax with all the other judges in the nation working at a similar mill grinding out ruin to the youth of the land.

We talk and preach about sacrificing children to Pagan gods in heathen lands, how much better are we, sacrificing ours to the illicit god of crime.

Push for the Sunday School and church which are the greatest forces for reducing crime and hence reducing the taxation of the nations.

You find that those whom suspect of such tell you they feel the all the liberty we have political matters, has such speaking out and those who see the in error of the existing or-

It like the speaker over they like to know if they and where and by if any of you readers that this discussion may a little help in solving evil of divided com- will you not take the trouble to let the editor know? Tell him when you meet him, or better yet write your approval and anything else you think might help, and let's take a place among the rapidly increasing number of progressive communities all over the land, that have risen in revolt and in a noble effort to save themselves and the youth of the country, and have refused to be longer the means of perpetuating the disgraceful division of Christians into separate camps and cliques.

And if the editor will permit, it is again suggested that anyone who feels that this question should not be agitated; anyone who believes that there is any defense for the condition complained in a community like Perryton; let them avail themselves of these columns for such defense. If those who are responsible for the continuance of this shameful state of affairs, have any convictions at all, that their efforts at maintaining these outworn distinctions, can be defeated, why do they not accept the challenge? In another time and another age, there was not such a lack of defenders of these particular dogmas. Are they still defensible? If so where are the defenders? Echo answers; where?

Shall we try to save denominationalism? If you say yes, why don't you say it out loud? How about "be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason?"

Give us your interpretation of Ephesians: 4-13. What is this "unity of the faith" and what was Paul writing about, when he spoke of "Unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace"? What about "One Lord, one faith, one baptism"?

It ought not to be necessary to bring in someone from the outside to discuss this vital question. "Come, let us reason together." What was it that Jesus prayed for "that they may be one"? If there be neither Jew nor Greek, neither bond nor free—but all one in Christ Jesus, according to Paul; how is it that there must be Methodists; North and South; and over two hundred other kinds and classes of Christians? Why? Who will answer?

Why is it that supporters of the denominational theory of church organization talk and act as if they thought this were a fixed and eternal order of things? They speak of "Differences in temperament"; but are there over two hundred different kinds of temperament? And in what way is this denominational grouping, along temperamental lines? Some Methodist churches are as formal as some Episcopalian churches. Some Christian churches are as intellectual as some Congregational churches. And on and on. But you don't find the laymen talking this temperamental stuff, only to laugh at it.

We might change the form of our denominations. If there were denominations grouped around, and organized upon, some of the modern questions of religion, there might be more sense to it. But modern kinds, tend to believe that differing from another man in opinion does not mean that they shall not worship with him nor eat with him. See them together in Rotary clubs, in Lions clubs, etc. Only in religion is separation and intolerance held to be a virtue.

Christianity is sick unto death, today. One of its diseases, not its only one, is its divisions and lack of brotherhood among believers. This leads many to believe that Christianity may be saved only by a radical reorganization of its forces.

Defenders of denominationalism may be in most cases, of good conscience. But the ablest writers on religion today, and the great prophets of today, hold that Christian religion must realize the unity for which Christ prayed or it is doomed.—A. B. LIEVER.

International Sunday School Lesson for March 24

STEWARDSHIP AND MISSIONS
Acts 1: 6-8; 2 Corinthians 8: 1-9
Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D., Associate General Secretary of the World's Sunday School Association

It has been well said that the Church is the force, but the world is the field. There is that in Christianity that makes its appeal to share with others, as is evidenced in no other religion. It is not a question of propagation to obtain a world mastery but to give that others may enter into like precious joys and blessings.

The Bible is still the greatest book. The selected portions for intensive study this time are Genesis 12: 1-3; Deuteronomy 8: 17, 18; Jonah 3: 1-10; Malachi 3: 7-12; Matthew 23: 18-20; Acts 1: 5-8; 13: 1-3; 26: 12-20; Romans 1: 14-16; 1 Corinthians 16: 2; 2 Corinthians 8: 1-15; 9: 1-9. The books for further study covering each portion of the title, are "Changing Foreign Missions," Cleland B. McAfee, and "Money, the Acid Test," James McConaughy.

Abraham was a great foreign missionary as he journeyed from Mesopotamia to Canaan and began the life of the Israelites in Palestine. He followed the call of Jehovah and had basic part in being Father of the Faithful and no race can compare in with the Hebrews in their contribution to the world. Moses can well be classed with Abraham, as he led the nation from bondage to the borders of the Promised Land. Jonah is distinctively a missionary book as it records how his preaching led the Ninevites to repentance.

Rapid developments come with the closing of the earthly work of Jesus Christ. He purposed that all mankind should be blessed in his completed work and gave the Great Commission to the eleven disciples when in Galilee. He told them to "Make disciples of all nations." They were to teach and baptize. As they were obedient they were promised "Lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." The Acts of the Apostles is a history of the fidelity of the early Church in obeying their Lord's com-

It costs to accomplish any program. Giving is spontaneously an act of worship. This is recognized in every religion of the earth. But no work can be maintained by spasmodic gifts. Today we talk about making a budget and this surely applies in connection with our contributions to help make the Great Commission effective. Throughout the Old Testament we find that the Hebrew practiced the principle of tithing. Malachi asks that the "whole tithe" be given over. This means honesty in administration. We must give both proportionately and systematically. Let the tithe be the minimum. Last week a man said to the writer that he planned to give for the Lord's work at least as much as he spent on his home and personal expenses. Paul taught the principle of weekly giving from the amount already laid up in store. This apostle was always taking up an offering for the poor saints in Jerusalem and he was a blessing to them each time he helped them share with others less blessed. One said that personal
