

Corn Borers May Ruin Our Crop Production

From time to time farmers bring in samples of their corn stalks for us to examine, both in the green and cured state. The latest was F. L. (Beargrass) Murray, who lives in the Willow Wells community. Mr. Murray had several stalks taken at random from his field this year, and each had from one to three borers in them, down near the roots, some dead, but some very much alive.

Any farmer in the county will tell you that in places last year they cut their corn yield from 50 per cent to almost nothing. Mr. Murray stated that he had to go over lots of land to get a load, and many stalks have nothing on them. And it doesn't make a particle of difference if you have rain every week, the yield is nil, just the same.

The question is what can be done about them, and if we quit corn and go exclusively to maize and higeria, is there any assurance that the borers will not attack that plant, too? Terry has always had a good corn crop to sell, and as there is not a great deal of it raised in this section, there is always a good sale. Too, the harvest need not come on when the cotton fields are white, but will wait until the following year (after New Year.)

There is no doubt in the world that Terry's corn crop has been damaged a third at least the past year. While some fields have shown a big yield, others have produced practically nothing. Many farmers who like to raise corn, are just like Murray, wondering whether it will be safe to try to raise it this year. They also want a remedy.

This writer quit farming nearly 30 years ago, and only saw corn borers the past year or two. But we remember that the corn borer was ravaging the fields of Iowa, Illinois, and other heavy corn producing states just a few years ago, and you hear nothing of them now in that section. What did they do? Here is the remedy if we remember rightly.

They plowed up all their corn stalks before the weather was hot enough for the worms to emerge, piled them up and burned them. Yes, but what about a fellow that has 300 or 400 acres. That would be some job. True, but it was some job several years ago to control the boll weevil, it was done.

Our idea would be, if worth anything, if you have a large field, flat break it, and rake the stalks for burning with an old fashioned hay rake. Yes, but, says one, we don't have those old rakes in this country. Well, our idea is that you had better buy one if you aim to raise any more corn in Terry county.

Four Candidates On Ballot For Aldermen

Along with three candidates for Mayor and five for City Marshal, the official ballot, which was printed last week contains the names of four for Aldermen. We won't say candidates, either, as this is a kind of voluntary office like school trustees.

These four men, two high men of which will be the men who will serve as, Tom May, Ike Bailey, W. L. Bandy and Tom Cobb, as they come on the ballot. They are all good business men. You have the rest of the ticket in our announcement column, but this is the way they come on the ballot:

Mayor—L. C. Wines, Moon Mullins, Clyde C. Coleman.

City Marshal—Earl Wilson, Roy Moreman, E. Brown, C. E. (Cliff) Fitzgerald, Arch Fowler.

COLLEGE STATION, March 15.—Texas cotton farmers today had piled up a favorable vote of 88.3 per cent for the government's marketing quota plan.

State AAA officials announced today returns from 163 counties showed 164,563 votes favoring the plan while 21,903 voted negatively.

To Make Roads To Hockley Oil Fields

Terry county commissioners are considerably interested along with the people just now about making roads to the various oil fields, in order that workers here and other places, might have easier access to them.

As to the Hockley county field, Judge Simms says we have a pretty good road already from Brownfield through the Pool community, which makes connections with a road running east to Ropes, a mile north of the Cochran-Hockley county lines.

However, a county line road from the southwest corner of Terry county north to the Cochran-Hockley corner, is under consideration, and has a good chance to be built, in order to accommodate travel from Odessa, Seminole, Seagraves and other points, directly to the oil fields of Hockley and Cochran counties.

The Wasson fields are fairly easily to get to from here via Seagraves, and about the best to get to Bennett, Sligo, and Allred fields are via Wellman, leaving highway 51 just this side of that place.

An effort to get the Lamesa road up in good shape is also under way in order to permit quick passage from Big Spring, Lamesa, and other points to the Yoakum, Cochran and Hockley fields.

Negro First in Lamb Co. to Go to Chair

HUNTSVILLE, March 15.—Leroy Kelly, negro convicted of a Lamb county murder, was electrocuted in Huntsville prison here shortly after last midnight.

Kelly was convicted of the murder of Sheriff F. A. Loyd of Lamb county, March 20, 1937, when the officer stopped him for investigation.

The negro was convicted April 5, 1937, becoming the first person ever given the death penalty by a Lamb county jury.

His execution seemed to lack the emotional drama which has marked many of the midnight vigils on condemned row.

The negro stepped quietly into the execution chamber, a moment after midnight. Asked if he had anything to say, he mumbled:

"I'm ready to go."

A few minutes later he was dead. Kelly was the 150th man to die in the electric chair in Texas.

Sunday, Monday, Tues. Typical Spring Days(?)

Yes, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday were typical spring days for this section. For three days the wind whistled and sang sweetly through the branches of the trees, and if there were any spring poets about, they had plenty to write about. But we feel sure the ladies, God bless 'em, had other than poetical feelings about the matter.

Anyway, most of us just let the wind and sand snort and tear till the thing was over with, which was Wednesday, then got down our brooms, sprinkled "sweep-the-dust" over the floor, and bent our backs to the task of getting a gallon or two out of the house. But it was just Terry county sand, and didn't strangle us like the "dust bowl" variety.

However, a white haze hung high over us Wednesday morning, showing the dust bowl proper had been through a pounding. But we'll take them every time to cyclones and floods.

M. S. Skains Has Three-Legged Calf

We have seen calves with more legs and more heads than is common, that is, after they were dead and their hides mounted, but don't know that we have ever seen one that lacked one leg having the required number.

But Mr. M. S. Skains, living on route 4, was in recently, and informed us that he had one with two hind legs and only one fore leg, born about a month ago. Its mother is what is usually termed a milk Durham cow.

Mr. Skains stated that he didn't think the calf would ever be able to get up, and talked about knocking it in the head, but next morning it was able to take nourishment. Now it runs and plays same as the other calves.

Skains stated that the leg seemed to be centering under its body, but one can feel an outline of what should have been another fore-shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Murray are visiting in Spur.

Special Entertainment Used in Color Film "Nothing Sacred"

"Nothing Sacred," David O. Selznick technicolor production, scheduled for showing at the Rialto Theatre.

Carole Lombard and Fredric March in a scene from "Nothing Sacred," a David O. Selznick technicolor production, released thru United Artists.

On Sunday and Monday, co-starring Carole Lombard and Fredric March, and directed by William A. Wellman, will be the first color picture in screen history to utilize new-invented special equipment which makes possible unusual photography.

Devised by Jack Cosgrove, the color process printer, as it is known technically, makes possible the showing on the screen of several different scenes simultaneously. Trick photography of all kinds is now also available to the technicolor cameras, through the invention.

It took a year's research work, and an expenditure of more than $4000 for experimental purposes, under studio subsidy, to bring the device to perfection. Film engineers have been striving for years to achieve this result.

Premiums Increased For Jr. Fat Stock Show

LUBBOCK, Texas, March 14.—Increase of more than $100 in cash prizes to be paid at the eighth annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show in Lubbock April 4, 5 and 6, was shown in the printed premium lists that went out in the mails this week, according to show officials.

The largest of individual increases in awards has been in the Baby Beef Division where a contribution of 20 per cent of the total from the American Hereford Association has made the more generous prizes possible. 4-H Club and F. F. A. Boys in 36 counties and 3 New Mexico counties have been invited to participate in this event, and expectation is that nearly all will be represented.

What About Payment Of 2c Pound on Cotton

For the past two weeks we have heard much pro and con about the two cents per pound on cotton held in government loans by farmers. One young fellow who seemed to be "ringy" at us as well as those who ran the ad termed it a "damed lie." We have had others tell us the same, including some cotton buyers, but in less provocative language, but since then we have had more information on House Bill 8505, which we produce below. Read it and see what you think:

Any time there is any doubt in a farmer's mind as to what is best for his interests in these matters, he should feel free to get that information from the County Agent.

Quoting from Section 381 of that bill or law in part, we find the following:

"(b) Any producer for whom a loan has been made or arranged for by the Commodity Credit Corporation on cotton of his 1937 crop and who has complied with all the provisions of the loan agreement except section 8 thereof, may, at any time before July 1, 1938, transfer his right, title, and interest in and to such cotton to the Corporation; and the Corporation is authorized and directed to accept such right, title, and interest in and to such cotton and to assume all obligations of the producer with respect to the loan on such cotton, including accrued interest and accrued carrying charges to the date of such transfer. The Corporation shall notify the Secretary of Agriculture of each such transfer, and upon receipt of such notice, the Secretary shall as soon as compliance is shown, or a national marketing quota for cotton is put into effect, forthwith pay to such producer a sum equal to 2 cents per pound of such cotton, and that the amount so paid shall be deducted from any adjustment payment to which such producer is entitled.

"(b) The Commodity Credit Corporation is authorized on behalf of the United States to sell any cotton of the 1937 crop so acquired by it, but no such cotton or any other cotton held on behalf of the United States shall be sold unless the proceeds of such sale are at least sufficient to reimburse the United States for all amounts (including any price-adjustment payment) paid out by any of its agencies with respect to cotton to be sold."

Oil Play in Area Brings Increased Interest

What is believed to be a producer came in this week just over the south line of Hockley county line three quarters of a mile. Several hundred feet of oil was standing in the hole last reports. This is known as the Gordon well, and if a producer when tested will be the closest oil well to Terry county.

However, a well is soon to be started just this side of the Terry-Hockley line. A drilling crew came in this week that is believed will handle this well. We understand that one of the best if not the best well in the Bennett field in Yoakum county, was brought in last week.

Brownfield, along with other towns in this section is expecting considerable benefits from this play. Indeed one major company now has its locating crew in Brownfield, supply headquarters at Odessa, and general headquarters at Midland.

The real big supply houses are not ready to move yet, but promise when they do, Brownfield will be duly considered, as it is about the nearest railroad town to the north Gaines, Yoakum, and southern Cochran and Hockley fields.

Terry Endorses Crop Quota By 15 to 1 Vote

By a vote of slightly more than 15 to 1, Terry county farmers Saturday endorsed the new Agricultural Cotton Quota for the year 1938. The vote, according to official information from the County Agent's office, being 872 to 56.

Below we give the vote of other counties in this section, some of which are complete, and others incomplete:

Lubbock, for 1,667; against 138. "Swisher, for 88; against 7. Briscoe, for 357; against 19. Lamb, for 1,536; against 155. Hale, for 591; against 137. "Motley, for 240; against 20. Farmers! Make Out Work Sheets at Once

According to R. N. McLain, County Agent, there are quite a few farmers in Terry county who have not applied to make out work sheets. Of course they have all who complied in 1937, but others must come in if Terry county is not badly handicapped in 1938. As we understand the matter, those who comply will be paid 2c per pound on allowed acreage, and penalized on unallowed acreage, a loss of 4c per pound, which is quite an item.

Some say that Terry county had 160,000 acres planted last year, but McLain believes it nearer 135,000 acres. Anyway, someone is going to be hurt badly if they do not comply, and it won't be the men who made out a work sheet last year, or who has come in and made provisions to do so this year.

Just what percentage of acreage one will be allowed this year, we are not prepared to state, and each one's portion figured out. Mack is quite positive that at least 30 or 40 per cent reduction will have to be made to comply from last year's acreage.

As we understand it, while you are to reduce acreage, there is no limit to amount that you produce from these acres.

Says Brock Gist Took To the Tall Timber

Noah Bell was in Saturday, an said they had heard from his son-in-law, Brock Gist and family at Anaheim, Calif., and stated the three of them escaped with their lives by climbing the big walnut tree in their yard, when the Santa Anna river out there was on a rampage in the recent floods.

Noah seemed to be in a big hurry, and if we did not misunderstand him the Gist home was badly damaged, and that water was up to their waists when they took to the big walnut for safety.

While the Texas papers gave a lot about the flood including many pictures, a Los Angeles paper received from the folks by the writer, gave a lot more.

Mrs. Stricklin's sister, who lives in Long Beach was in less than two blocks of the bridge there that went out to sea, and they could hear people screaming.

However, a letter from this sister stated that people had been warned for 24 hours by the Weather Bureau to keep out of canyons and stay at home if on high grounds, and to get to higher grounds if they lived in low lands.

WIDE CHOICE

Thirteen different types of insurance are listed in Texas by the 1936 census, with 368 companies in all. Local mutual aid companies head the list with 157, and next in order come state-wide mutual assessments, stock life assessments health and accident companies.

WATCH THE SALES

Retail sales should give a fairly accurate picture of times and conditions, and the last available figures show that Texas ranked eighth in the United States in the amount of sales, reaching a total of $1,289,264, 12, 1937. Mr. and Mrs. John G. McCamey, Feb. 10. Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Pence, Feb. 8.

Eight South Plains Counties to Have Shelter Belt Work

Eight South Plains counties are to have demonstrations of shelter-belt work, similar to that in five counties in the eastern part of the Panhandle, K. J. Edwards, district agent leader has announced. Counties include: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Terry and Lynn.

It is planned, Edwards said to plant two miles of trees on from two to four farms in each county. Planting will be ten rows, ten feet apart, with the center row Chinese elms and locust, mulberry and evergreens on either side.

W. T. Webb, Wichita Falls, state director of the shelter belt planning work was in Levelland last year for a conference with Edwards. He said the state forest service and the federal service were cooperating.

Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station, has cooperated with the group and has given valuable help to the shelter-belt work, Edwards said. He is working with the group in the coming program.

After the belt work has been tried out for two or three years, it may be expanded if results expected are attained.

Announces New Equipment For Knit Blocking

A new device for cleaning and blocking knits and boudes, said to be capable of restoring all the original form, size and finish to any type of knitted garment, has been installed at the American Tailors, it was announced today.

In conversation with Mr. Smith he said, "All we need is the correct measurements of our customers. We take these at nine different points, then place the garment on the Glover Table in such manner that it corresponds at every point to these measurements. There it is held securely, in full view of the operator while a large volume of live steam penetrates every fibre of the material at once. Then a strong vacuum thoroughly dries the garment in just a few seconds, imparting the same lustrous finish it had originally and leaving it 100 per cent correct in every detail of form and size.

"This new device has completely removed the many difficulties we formerly encountered with knits and has enabled us to do the highest quality work on all types of knitted garments."

Sen. Connally Praises Farm Tenant Act

DALLAS, March 12.—The federal government's farm purchase program for tenants was declared today by Senator Tom Connally as one of the most sanely progressive steps this country has taken.

The senator made his remarks as he presented a check for $6,003 to Clarence Clark of Van Dand county, first Texas tenant to receive aid toward land ownership under the Bankhead-Jones act.

"The man who tills the soil should own it," the senator said. "Farm ownership gives stability both to the farmer and to the country's institutions."

Another visitor, A. G. (Pat) Mayse chairman of the Texas state FSA advisory committee, said he saw indications a similar program might be adopted by large land owners.

He said several large land holders had discussed the idea with him, and that it is likely some of them would soon start selling their property in small tracts on long time terms and at low interest rates.

Banks Still Show Mighty Good Statements

While there has been some falling off of deposits, cash, etc., and an increase in the loans of the two local banks, the Brownfield State, and the First National since their call of December 31, 1937, this is just a seasonal expectation.

Even with that in view, the banks show up mighty well, and still shows Brownfield among the best financed small cities in this section or perhaps other sections of the state, population considered. Below we give the combined totals:

Assets	$1,488,706.31
Deposits	1,345,489.85
Loans	546,202.75
Cash on hand or quickly available	715,209.52

Making Life Safer For School Children

AUSTIN, Texas, March 15.—Death is not taking a holiday on the open roads and city streets of Texas, but despite increases each year in population and the number of scholastics in Texas schools, fewer children die each year from traffic accidents in this state, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

But the toll is still appalling. Last year 221 under 15 were killed, 154 of them between five and 14 years of age, yet State safety officials, educators and others intensely interested in preserving child health are encouraged. It has been definitely demonstrated that safety measures are effective and the tragic cost in child life can be materially reduced in the future, he pointed out.

That special emphasis be placed on safety as part of health and protection on State May Day is being asked by the Child Health Day Committee, and plans are being formulated to make every Texan conscious of what is being done and what must be done to preserve life of Texas children.

The State Highway Department has done much to help lower the number of fatalities among the school children of Texas, and Child Health Day affords the May Day Committee an opportunity to bring the Department's work along this line to public attention. These are some of the outstanding safety measures the Highway Department has effected:

1. Constructed thousands of hard-surfaced turn-outs at mail boxes so that the school bus will not be forced to stop on pavement in order to discharge or take on passengers.

2. Widened the hard-surfaced portion of the roadway in front of many rural schools adjacent to the highway so that vehicles bringing children to and from school will not be forced to stop on the pavement.

3. Provided for a standard portable "School Children" sign to be placed in the center of the roadway on each side of rural and small towns adjacent to the highway wherever school school boys' patrols are organized by school superintendents to keep the signs in place during the periods of the day when school children are crossing the street.

4. Constructed sidewalks on many bridges in rural areas to safeguard school children and pedestrians.

5. Constructed sidewalks adjacent to right-of-way line in front of many rural schools to reduce congestion and the hazards of groups of school children walking on the road.

6. Chain link fences along the right-of-way line in front of some rural schools to limit crossing of roads to single areas and to prevent school children at play from running on the road.

7. Begun hard surfacing hundreds of miles of road shoulders to reduce hazards of motorists running off the pavement and as an incentive to pedestrians to stay off the pavement when meeting cars.

8. Provided the Red Cross First Aid Course to employees of the Texas Highway Department to increase efficiency in assistance at accidents.

9. Eliminated hundreds of railroad grade crossings in the interest of safety.

Has your community benefited by such activities and yet remained unconscious of it? The interest of highway engineers is not in speed; the paramount consideration is safety. Are you doing your part to make the highways of Texas safe for the children of Bluebonnet Land?

This entire section greatly sympathizes with Snyder in the loss of part of her school plant. While Snyder is quite able and willing to replace their school plant, a fire whether it guts a school, church, mercantile establishment or home, always takes with it much that cannot be replaced.

It seems that Bro. Hitler thinks he has the supreme oversight of all Germans wherever they dwell. Perhaps he will try raising his swastika flag over some of our south Texas counties some of these days. Well, just let that little ant-brained guy try that once. And speaking of whippersnappers, if we had a Hitler mustache, we'd have 'em shaved off before the sun sets. Now you boys keep your tempers, and get a smooth shave.

At a meeting soon, we have been informed that the Chamber of Commerce is to take up the matter of appointing a committee to examine all advertising schemes. Several here have been stung recently on some kind of a law-enforcement scheme. Let's all put up a sign in our establishments directing all solicitors to contact the Chamber of Commerce. Then point the solicitor to that sign and the argument is over unless that body approves the scheme.

Charley Guy wonders why interest in the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth has fallen off so in the past few years. If Charley is nominating us to answer his question, we would say this: Their whole advertising appropriation of late has gone to Amon Carter's newspaper and radio station, with a small sop to neighbor Dallas, included, and the FREE propaganda is sent out to the hinterland. Well, maybe Amon's paper and radio reaches all the people in west Texas, but we seriously doubt it.

Clarence Darrow, "defense lawyer" and agnostic, passed on to his reward, whatever that is, Sunday. To him Christ was a great philosopher, but a belief in him as a supreme being, "kept one from thinking," according to Darrow. Darrow's taking the side of the underdog, as he explained, was somewhat of a farce too, even measuring by world standards. His defense of two "advanced thinking" and wealthy youths, who committed one of the most diabolical crimes in the annals of history, was not, according to our idea, supporting the underdog. To our notion, Clarence Darrow was a very ordinary but learned human being.

There has been much discussion of why the recession of late, most writers agreeing that the fellow who needs and wishes to buy money can't get it, and the other fellow don't need it. Yes, you really buy money, or the use of it, when you pay interest. This fact is borne out by a local banker who recently stated that under the present setup, they could not loan money to what is considered a poor risk, but a fellow who had lots of good, clear collateral can get all he wants. Until the government or some one finds a way to sell money to the man in the lower brackets the recession will likely hang on. However, the Housing Act may loosen up some idle change.

The U. S. mint has cast 50,000 half dollars in celebration of the reunion of Federal and Confederate ex-soldiers at Gettysburg, Pa., this summer, having a likeness of both the U. S. and Confederate flags on one side. This is the first time in history and no doubt will be the last time that the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy will ever appear on any United States coins. They sell for $1.65 each, and are said to be half gone already. Two old soldiers from Terry are making preparations to attend the reunion, one being Uncle Ike Newberry, Federal, and Uncle Joe Bryant, Confederate soldier. All their expenses, as well as the expenses of an escort will be paid by the State of Pennsylvania.

There is a filling station farther west than, in addition to the regular free service dispensed by such places, gives the kids in the customers' cars a lollipop apiece. Selling ice is another service, and the average weekly run is said to be 10,000 gallons

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

By Julian Capers, Jr.

AUSTIN—While the political pot simmered in Texas this week, in preparation for a grand boiling over about April 1, cheerful economic news featured the week, as reports from various reliable indices showed the Lone Star state to be one of the brightest spots on the business map of the nation.

Comptroller George Sheppard released an analysis of tax and revenue collections of the State showing that during the first six months of the current fiscal year, ended February 28th, state revenue totaled $102,385,636—and indicated gain of about $15,000,000 for the full year, over last year. The increase was attributed by the Comptroller to better collections and, in part, to increased rates. Better tax collections are an invariable guide to better business conditions, and Texas has gained steadily in the percentage of taxes collected for five consecutive years.

Auditor Urges Reform

But efficiency in the spending of the $200,000,000 a year of State income can never be achieved under the present hodge-podge taxation system, State Auditor Tom King declared, in issuing an analysis of fiscal operations of the State. He urged reforms which have been pointed out in this column frequently as essentials to efficient and economical government, including a decent system of auditing the State's business, the abolition of more than 100 special funds and putting of the State's revenue into a general fund, to be spent only on specific authority of the Legislature, and a comprehensive post-audit of such expenditures to insure that the revenue has been spent as the law-makers direct.

He also urged creation of a budget-making authority, and some sort of civil service authority to pass on efficiency and qualifications of state employees, eliminating political selection. He voiced this significant warning:

"Fiscal control comes through effective budgeting, and in my opinion unless action is taken to set up such a control in Texas in the very near future, increased taxation may be expected that could be avoided by such action without impairing the government service." King's breakdown showed the three largest items of 1937 State expenditures as follows: Spent on highway $43,372,071; schools, $33,594,075; old age pensions $18,673,213.

Another Prosperity Item

Still another indication of better business in Texas came from figures supplied by W. A. Thomas, the genial Federal Collector of Internal Revenue for the northern Texas district. He reported approximately $1,000,000 more in income taxes paid this year than at the same time last year, with about 10 per cent more individual income tax payers than last year to date.

Insurance Merger

Consolidation of two strong Texas legal reserve life insurance companies, through purchase of control of the Southland Life Insurance by the Gulf State Life Insurance Company, both of Dallas, this week gives the thriving Texas life insurance industry another top-ranking institution, with a widespread representation of financial power on its broad. Headed by John W. Carpenter, power magnate, as chairman of the board, and A. Morgan Duke as president, the new company, known as Southland Life Insurance Company, will retain Harry Seay and Clarence Linz, former executives of Southland as officers of the new concern. Likewise will remain Col. W. E. (Bill) Talbot, long an advocate of industrial development of Texas, as agency director, and gratifying indeed, to Texas newspaper publishers, is appointment of Lorry A. Jacobs, for 10 years with the old Southland Life, as director of public relations for the new company. Jacobs is a pioneer of Newspaper advertising for the sale of life insurance, and he has consistently used newspaper space in both dailies and weeklies throughout Texas. It is believed the new company will continue this policy under his direction of this department, as the Gulf States also has been a liberal user of newspaper advertising space.

Political Notes

Most political activity in Austin this week was behind the scenes, as Bill McCraw and Ernest Thompson were busy with intensive organization work, preparatory to launching platforms and active campaigns about April 1. Thompson conferred here with Myron Blalock, of Marshall, chairman of the Democratic State Committee, who is reported getting ready to manage the red-headed Amarillion's campaign for Governor. McCraw filed an anti-trust suit against six Texas cement companies, alleging price fixing in violation of State laws, and seeking penalties which could total a maximum of $30,000,000 if conviction is had. McCraw, of course, will not likely try the suit, retiring from the Attorney General's office next January.

The new second-string gubernatorial candidates posted their $100 fee. They are S. T. Brogdon, Stephenville architect, and Joseph King, Houston tavern operator. Vann Kennedy, state Democratic committee secretary, declared he is offering the biggest advertising bargain, publishing any man's name to a "million circulation" (the ballots) for $100. Walter Woodul, lieutenant governor, halted his vigorous campaigning for attorney general this week, because of the death of his father in Houston, but was to resume his activity Monday. . . . Walter Woodward, Coleman ex-senator, changed his mind and withdrew from the field for Lieutenant Governor, as ex-Senator George Purl of Dallas, indicated strong he may get into this race, which now lists Sen. G. H. Nelson, Coke Stevenson, ex-speaker, and John Lee Smith of Throckmorton.

A legal tangle which the higher courts will have to solve, grew out of action of the District Court in Austin, enjoining prosecution of Railroad Commission officials for contempt. In Dallas district court, which had granted an injunction asked by Community Gas Company, restraining the Commission from interfering in certain gas rate hearings. Jurisdiction of the two courts and the power of one district court to interfere with orders of another are questions in-

Then a "Hobo" hike of over a mile of well marked, but dangerous trails finally led back to the starting point, where delicious muligian stew, pickles, corn bread and black coffee, was devoured by the hungry hobos, who ate from two clean smooed edged tin cans, which were the admission required for each.

Life Begins at Forty

We, the People Can Send Men Under 40 to the U. S. Senate—But We Seldom Do.

The 75th Congress, Now In Session Has Only 4 Senators Under 40—the Average Age Is 58.

The present Senate has sat through some of the most strenuous sessions Congress has ever had. Seventy-five senators are over 50, seventeen are in their 40's and only four are under 40.

The Constitution says senators must be 30 years of age. But it usually takes much longer to reach this powerful office.

For a man must first acquire through experience the ability for leadership. Then he must prove he has it, get recognition for it.

This rarely happens before 40. Almost half the senators in the 75th Congress started their first term after they were past 50.

The Mind Does Not Go Back —IT PROGRESSES

Some of the most brilliant minds and dynamic personalities in the United States Senate belong to its oldest members. When Congress is in session, they are the leaders whose names make front-page news.

Psychologists say you keep your mental power into old age. Add to this what life has taught you—your knowledge of people—your ability to judge values—and you grow bigger mentally as the years pass.

You should do more important work after 40 than before. If you don't, ask yourself whether you have gone downhill physically. Ill health holds back many people after 40—Saturday Evening Post.

HOME-MAKERS CLASS

The Home-Makers class of the Baptist Sunday School urges you to join it if you are over twenty-five and under forty years of age. Do you know we are studying Mark for six months? Do you know that Mark was the first gospel written? Do you know that Mark tells you where and when the Baptist church was founded? Do you know that Mark tells every Christian what he can do for his Master and then tells him how to do it?

If you do not know all the above, you need to learn it.

We enjoyed our business meeting and social hour Thursday evening in the Intermediate department at the church. The newly elected president, Mrs. Carr, had charge of the games which were diverting, beguiling and entertaining. Refreshments were served.

Meet us Sunday at 9:30 a. m. Will you? -Mrs. J. T. Auburg, Teacher.

SUCH A CHANCE!

The man who used to stand on the corner,
Holding a little tin cup—
And looking so poor and shabby—
Now drives a gorgeous Hup—
He wears a coat made all of fur—
Bright shoes and a silken tie . . .
And I wonder—when I see him pass—
Why—? . . . Why—? . . . WHY—?
I asked my Daddy: "Is he rich—?"
What happened to that beggar?
And Daddy said: "Sure—he's rich
He turned into a Bootlegger—!"

THANKS PEOPLE FOR HER LITTLE HOME

Dear Brownfield People:
I don't know who all gave, but I thank you all for what you did to help me. It may not have been much, but whether or not, I certainly do appreciate it.

It has provided a house for me to live in. Mrs. L. C. Foster gave some herself, and made it up too. She certainly has been good to us for one.

And there was others who helped us by hauling and building a room on the little house for us. Thanking you one and all again, and may the Lord bless you is my prayer.

OBITUARY

Mrs. G. N. Couchman was born May 24, 1867, in Cave City, Kentucky. Came to Texas in 1869. She was married to Mr. G. N. Couchman on September 22, 1887, at Milford, Texas.

To this union was born four children, Floyd L., Dayton W., George D. and Sue Belle, all of these are living except the oldest, Floyd L., who passed away, at Corpus Christi, four years ago. She is also survived by her husband and eight grandchildren.

She came with her husband and family to Terry county in 1917, where the remainder of her life was spent. Mrs. Couchman was a very busy woman and taking delight in doing things for other people. She was seldom seen idle. She possessed strong aesthetic facilities and through this avenue she made beautiful gifts to those of her friends who were fortunate enough to share in the fruits of these talents. She was industrious, hospitable, cheerful, patient and hopeful. Never giving up until she had entirely spent herself in the battle to regain her health, but when the grim reaper called she hastily put things in order and prepared to go.

God willed that her suffering be ended
And tenderly called her away
And where joy with sweet music is blended
We'll be reunited some day.

AROUND THE CLOCK

by e. g. d.

Time heals all things, so they say, and what a task it will be to undo what the elements accomplished in such a short time out in California. The "land of sunshine" was really turned topsy-turvy from news reports, newspapers and local residents who, from relatives or friends, have had news first hand. Vivid accounts of the darkness and screams of those unfortunates who went down to a quick death when the famed Long Beach Pedestrian Bridge gave way.

We wonder how a mind of brilliance as was that of the late Clarence Darrow could have lived through 82 years of floods, storms—and not believe in a Supreme Being.

St. Pats. Day was the theme of many clever parties, and entertainments among, both, the youngsters and the elders.

A bit of wit emanated from the postoffice department, a lady much distressed over failure to get answers from a son in the flooded California area, after having sent telegrams and air mail letters, finally received a postal card, which when received was read over the phone to the lady by a considerate postal clerk, who dubbed his action as only an extension of postal service.

And now before we have mastered the game of "contract" along comes a five-suit bridge card . . . to whom we are indebted for this change we reserve the right to let you know soon as we find out . . . but "Royals" they are called and bear a crown insignia. The new suit has 65 cards with 16 dealt each player allowing the highest bidder the 65th card as an exchange card.

It is said that Uncle Sam's Gobs are the most enthusiastic camera fans on earth, reason given is that they visit so many picturesque ports. When the fleet come in the studios double crews and work day and night.

Spring opens formally for the 1938 season, on Monday, March 21st. Birds are already busy and heralds of spring, such as green leaves appearing on trees, shrubs, vines, and tiny green blades of grass peeping through the brown-blanketed lawns.

A drive over the town shows the pride of home-owners in this vicinity—there is a "heap 'o licin"—look about the wide lawns, flower gardens, fish ponds, picnic corners in back yards, with little home-made barbecue pits.

A successful operation was performed by two budding scientists and may be the starter for a couple of surgical careers . . . For full particulars ask young Bub Smith or Bob Brewer.

For those who are not observing Lent we suggest trying the following

menu—
One can Campbell's vegetable soup.
One can Campbell's ox-tail soup.
One can corned beef, minced.
Cook all three ingredients together until thick, place in refrigerator dish and set in refrigerator where it will congeal without the addition of any gelatine (the ox-tail soup does the trick) cut in squares and serve on lettuce leaf with topping of mayonnaise.

For those who are observing Lent we suggest—Sardines (a new way). Chop sweet peppers fine and add to mayonnaise, roll large sardines in mayonnaise and serve on lettuce leaf with cheese wafers.

"CAT AND CANARY" PLAY PRESENTED

Good sized crowds attended the "Cat and the Canary" on both nights, Monday and Tuesday, and the audiences were very appreciative. Unusual talent was evident and the entire cast deserves praise for their efforts in putting on a good show. The scenery was beautiful and credit for that goes to Mr. Chas. A. Long.

Friday night the play is to be presented in Seagraves, under auspices of the Seagraves band, at the auditorium, and should be well attended after two successful nights shown here.

Presentation of this play is the beginning of a Little Theatre movement, and more of this will be published soon.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

A record attendance in Sunday school, a good congregation, and a spiritual service were had last Sunday. The public is most cordially invited to attend and worship next Sunday. If you are a Methodist, we expect you; if not, we invite you.

An unusually good attendance at the Senior League marked a record for some years, at least. The senior young people are having some very good meetings now, interesting programs and devotional meetings. Mr. W. B. Toome brought a splendid travelogue, and there will be others who will speak interestingly and instructively for them.

Mrs. G. S. Webber is teaching "The Radiant Heart," a little book about Paul's Letter to Philemon. Women are invited to join in this study.

The evening preaching service will again be omitted to give our people an opportunity to attend Brother Rogers' meeting at the Baptist church. The pastor is engaged in the Lubbock Preaching Mission, and will be at O'Donnell Sunday evening. Young people will meet as usual.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Bingham of the Needmore section were in shopping Tuesday.

ACE HIGH BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. M. E. Brown was hostess to the Ace High Bridge club at a cleverly planned St. Patrick's Day party, in her apartment at the Brownfield Hotel. Lovely white Snap-dragons and fern were used to carry out the St. Patrick's Day motif, and a dainty salad plate was served at the close of the games to, Mesdames Glenn Akers, W. H. Collins, R. M. Kendrick, A. A. Sawyer, Mon Telford, L. M. Wingerd, John R. Turner, Jim Graves, Ray Christopher, Ralph Carter, Ike Bailey and Ned Self.

Lovely gifts were awarded Mrs. Glenn Akers for making high score and Mrs. R. M. Kendrick for second high.

THE BOYS RECITAL DATE CHANGED

Due to a conflict in program dates, the Boys Recital presenting Leon and Deverelle Lewis and Albert Lee Hester, piano pupils of Gertrude Rascoe, has been changed to Tuesday night, March 29th, 8:00 o'clock at the High School auditorium. The Public is invited.

PRESENTED IN RECITAL

The private recital presented by little Misses Glenna Fay Winston and Ima Gertrude Akers was a treat and enjoyed by an appreciative crowd of friends. The Winston home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with Spring flowers.

The little honorees were presented gifts of perfume from their teacher, and iced punch was served at the conclusion of the program.

Does Spring begin on March 20th?...or on the 21st? "Begin it today!" pleads your engine. "Bleed out my Winter-poisoned oil. But this Spring help me with more than an oil-change. Change to Your Mileage Merchant! And that's changing to Conoco Germ Processed oil—the only way to change me into an OIL-PLATED engine."

You want this modern exclusive OIL-PLATING because especially in Summer your steady driving demands more than the plain old type of oil-film that slithers OFF the working parts like drops of quicksilver. Exactly the opposite is achieved by the Germ Process—patented. It makes droplets of oil act like a billion tiny suction cups, powerfully attracted and OIL-PLATED to every working surface...Never draining down, never inviting friction, no matter how many thousands of starts and thousands of miles you make all Spring and Summer. And you'll notice Germ Processed oil sticking so close to "Full"—even in older cars—that you'll want to be sticking to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company

Terse Commentaries on People and Places . . . Gentle Iconoclasm with Politics Eschewed

BY DR. JAMES E. POPE
Special Washington Correspondent

EDITOR'S NOTE—Dr. Pope's opinions are his own, and his articles do not necessarily always reflect the editorial policies of this paper.

WASHINGTON'S CRIME WAVE AND CONGRESSMEN AS LAWBREAKERS

When Attorney General Cummings declared recently that the crime wave in Washington had assumed the proportion of national disgrace, he was referring to the District of Columbia's 1937 crop of 65 murders, 980 robberies, 3159 burglaries, and other crimes in corresponding volume . . . an amazing record which has placed this town of monuments and monumental speeches at the very top of the country's list of lawless cities, and set a mark exceeded only by cities with much larger population.

Mr. Cummings was not referring to that small group of Congressmen who are being panned as ruthless lawbreakers and who, by their alleged flaunting of police powers, are encouraging crime and propagating lawlessness through criminogenic precept.

While Washington is known to beauty lovers as a city of magnificent distances, it is also known as a place of tight corners and embarrassing moments to some seekers after political unrighteousness who let themselves get that way. Lo, the poor Congressman from spaces far and wide, with his Congressional privileges, with his passionate love for flattery publicity—but hatred for criticism—and stonehearted news reporters! For right now in this modern Bagdad on the Potomac a publicity barrage is being laid down against lawmakers who are alleged lawbreakers. Couched in short and ugly terms, a few playboys from Capitol Hill are accused of open and flagrant disregard for the automobile parking and traffic regulations of the District of Columbia, in that they persist in parking their luxurious cars where parking is prohibited by law; and furthermore, it is charged, they publicly display their contempt for duly constituted law and order by "jumping" stop lights. It is openly charged that with their fine autos bedecked with tags bearing the Congressional insignia of special privilege and immunity from arrest, these few Congressmen, or, covertly, their clerks and secretaries, impudently flaunt the law and get by with almost anything—typically speaking—to the disgust and discomfort of other motorists, and peril to the general public.

NO MORE FRIED CAT

For years on I have ransacked Washington markets and restaurants of that delectable dish, fried cat—catfish rolled in corn meal and fried to a crisp golden brown—but to date have succeeded in scaling down the culinary social ladder no lower than shad and hardhead. Washington has outgrown its bringingup, and some proprietors of servers in the fine cafes are merely spoofing when they pretend not to understand when I ask for fried cat. I entertain a suspicion that many of them were brought up on it, but their social struggles in the big city are trying to forget.

In one high collared eating place where I asked for fried cat, a foreign looking waiter raised his eyebrows in quizzical grimace and departed kitchenward, to return presently with the polite information, audibly delivered, that they were not raised hereabout, or something to the effect that they were not allowed to shoot them anymore—as if I had ordered a catamount or a weasel. The room was crowded, too!

OUR TOWER OF BABEL

The U. S. Capitol, which houses the Senate and Congress, is not the largest building in the world, but it is the most costly—not for what the builders put into the structure, but for what goes on under the dome. It is the modern Tower of Babel—not because of great height, but because of the great confusion in political tongues . . . where each demagogue shouts in proportion to his undying love for the sound of his own voice, and in a language he hopes only his voting constituents may understand.

It is fascinating to watch this conglobate whirl . . . a few true

SIDELIGHTS

By MARVIN JONES, Member of Congress from Texas.

The provision in the new farm act for seeking new uses and markets for farm commodities should prove of great value.

It is of course of great importance to expand and develop existing markets at home and abroad. This additional provision will make it possible to develop new outlets by finding additional uses for the products of the farm.

Four regional research laboratories are to be established, one in each major farm producing area, and research will be carried on to develop new scientific, chemical and technical uses for farm commodities. Main attention will be given to surplus crops.

Such research will be a part of the permanent agricultural program, and the benefits of this work should increase as the years progress.

Miracles of Chemistry

In our own time we have seen miracles of modern chemistry. Yet science has just begun to explore the uses for farm products. The countless examples of what research has already done for agriculture are indications of what we can expect in the future.

From cotton have come rayon, bebburg, cleanese, tubize, and numerous other products. Cotton is now being used in the building of roads. An average of 32 pounds is used in every automobile.

Woodpulp has been changed into cellophane and newsprint. Texas Technological College has just announced the successful making of paper from Russian thistles.

Waste materials such as corn husk and stalks, as well as the chaff of the grain, have been transformed into chemicals, phonograph records, insulation materials and numerous other products.

A chemical revolution is going on in the world in the finding of new outlets for the products of the farm. The field of research to develop new uses for these products is one that is almost unplowed and one that should bring a valuable yield.

The major part of research has been devoted to industrial products. The products of the farm and ranch have been neglected not only in research but in marketing.

A New Chapter

With the beginning of the new farm program in 1933, a new chapter is being written for the people who live on the farm and ranch. Recognizing the basic nature of this industry, this Administration has tackled in a real way the problems of research, of marketing, of price and income.

The total income of the farm and ranch has been nearly doubled since 1933. It will take years to reach a real solution. No other country in the history of the world has ever undertaken it as the United States and no other country in the world has made the progress that has been made in our own country in these lines.

The movement must go on until the income of the farmer is on a parity with the income of other groups.

Many fine features are included in the new bill, such as soil conservation, removal of freight rate discriminations, research, better prices, wider markets and greater exports.

Local Committees

The new measure gives greater responsibility to county and community committees, both in shaping the policy and carrying out the program. These committees are chosen by the farmers themselves. This is in line with the spirit of democracy upon which this country has been built.

Provision is made for a decision to be made on major policies by the farmers acting either directly or through their local chosen committees. The part which these committees has had in the operations since 1933 is largely responsible for the success that has been shown. With a larger responsibility given to these committees and to the farmers themselves, greater success is possible for the future.

Improvements will be made in the light of experience, both in the law and in its administration. The farmers for the first time are approaching more and more the goal of handling and determining the production, marketing and disposition of their own commodities.

Miss Upton is the daughter of a prominent farmer in Meadow and Mr. Murray is an employee of his father at the Brownfield Produce Company. Found His Child Registered as Illegitimate

AUSTIN, Texas, March 14.—If unexpectedly faced with the necessity of legally establishing the date of their birth, their age, their American citizenship, thousands of Texans would not know whether or not their births were registered with the proper authorities. Great embarrassment, inconvenience, or even serious loss of property could conceivably result from either an absence of registration or an error made in filing it with the State.

Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, cited an unnamed but prominent Texas citizen who upon investigation found that his son had been registered for more than 20 years as illegitimate. Another instance the health official related concerned a Veteran of the World War who, after rearing a family of three children, found that he had been registered at birth as a girl child. The experiences of workers with vital statistics are rich with stories of persons vainly seeking to establish their rights to property because of neglect of their parents or attending physicians to register them properly at time of birth.

The law requires the births of all Texas babies to be registered with the local registrar, who is the Justice of the Peace in rural areas, and City Secretary in incorporated towns, within five days after the blessed event takes place, and forms are furnished physicians and midwives for this purpose. A copy of the registration is returned for permanent filing. These records are "vital" not only to the individual from a legal standpoint, Doctor Cox said, but to the State as well.

"We must know how many babies are born, how many die and from what causes mortality occurs if we are to accomplish the best results from a public health standpoint. Such a program obviously needs the interested support of every Texan. Our Bureau of Vital Statistics is only too glad to cooperate in 'getting the record straight'."

Thompson Urges Equal Break For the Farmers

AUSTIN, March 14.—A farm program for Texas which will assure the farmer an equal break with the manufacturer, was urged last week by Ernest O. Thompson in speeches to several farm groups.

Thompson, state railroad commissioner and a candidate for governor, pointed out that manufacturers had enjoyed the benefits of a protective tariff, but that no similar protective program had been worked out for the farmer.

Prosperity of the state, he declared, starts with the farmer, and a program which will bring farmers better prices for their products and increase their market will benefit all the state.

"Something," he said, "must be wrong in a system where you have to mortgage your farms and ranches and then can't make enough money to pay off the mortgages. Something can be done if we will work out a program that will bring real help to the farmer and the ranchman."

"It is my purpose to work out such a program and to cooperate with the federal government in the work that it now is carrying on. I want to see things in Texas so that the people who raise the things we eat and wear will get an equal break with the manufacturers."

"Back in the early days of our country, the protective tariff was inaugurated to help industry and the manufacturer. But there was no program to help the farmer and the stockman. Only in the past few years has some effort to help them been made."

"I want to see the present work go on and new programs started that will take the penalty out of owning a farm or a ranch; that will make it so owners of farms and ranches can enjoy their share of prosperity and profits."

Thompson, as railroad commissioner, has saved farmers and ranchmen thousands of dollars through reduction of freight rates on cotton, grain and livestock, and through granting of emergency rate reductions in drouth stricken areas.

THIRTY-SIX QUESTIONS ON MORALS

Pastor J. N. Campbell at Meadow Baptist Church at 8:15 o'clock this Sunday night presents the answers of 546 high school students of Meadow, Ropesville, and Brownfield. Mr. Campbell explains that the questions are not straight "black and white," but most of them are "browns and grays"—requiring discrimination; but it is insisted that each one is either "right" or "wrong." And these 546 students have given their vote on each one. Their answer will prove intensely interesting to all; to teachers, fathers and mothers, and most of all to the young people themselves.

Such principles as the following are involved in the questions: honesty, truth, sex, dress, revenge, law, gambling, movies, Sunday, swearing, and liquor. The students in each school checking the true-false test number as follows:

Meadow, 149; Ropes, 156; and Brownfield, 241. And the young people of all three communities are cordially invited to hear Mr. Campbell preach this sermon on, "The Ideals of Our Young People."

The following are samples of the propositions submitted:

"It is wrong to 'fowl' even if it would win you the game."

"Is telling a story for a friend a 'plus' or 'minus'?"

"If a married person falls in love with somebody else, the thing to do is to get a divorce."

"The thing to do is to get even with the one who does you dirt."

"A man ought not to try to get out of paying taxes."

"Betting on your own ball game is just loyal support."

"To think on evil things is not harmful, just so you do not do them."

"It is wrong to want something nice which belongs to another."

Needless to say, some of the teachers and parents will see evidence that the young people have been following their example rather than their precept, says Mr. Campbell.

Let's Talk Clothes

DENTON, March 15.—"Draping," "Front fullness," and "Blousy" are familiar words to fashion-watchers by now, but they will be even more familiar by the time this spring is over.

The loose, cleverly gathered costumes that created such a flurry this winter are going to stay with us a while longer, and will soon have a new member of the society—the dolman silhouette. That wide-armed, spacio-sleeved style was shown in a few fur evening jackets last fall, but its big moments are still ahead.

Fullness is moving up to the shoulders, having started in the skirt and worked up to the bust line. Instead of just plain "Fullness forward," Straight from the shoulder" will be the password for dresses and

It hardly seems necessary to say anything more about pleats, so widely proclaimed have they been; tucks, too, have come in for general notice, particularly the fine ones.

Newer in the spotlight are wide tucks or folds, another expression of the soft, loose treatment. Sometimes these folds have the casual, unstudied effect of an impromptu accent whether in bodice or skirt, and then again you'll see them in serried rows horizontally, forming an entire bodice.

Girls at Texas State College for Women plan to use these crossbars of deep tucks in a great many of their daytime sheers this summer, coupled with the long-waisted fitted bodice of the season.

Sixty-one persons, the largest number in five years, paid taxes on net incomes of $1,000,000 or more last year, the U. S. Treasury Department has reported.
