Lottery sales

HOUSTON (AP) — State lottery officials are looking at starting lottery ticket sales in the dead of night late next month, according to a published report.

The Houston Post said reported Wednesday that sources have told the newspaper that May 29 has been tapped as the probable start-up date.

A top aide to state Comptroller John Sharp said ticket sales would begin in the middle of the night — perhaps around 1 a.m. — in order to avoid computer problems, the Post said.

But Greg Hartman, Sharp's executive assistant, said lottery officials are guarding information about the start-up date. And lottery spokesman Steve Levine said Tuesday the start date would be announced April 30.

Earth Day

by The Associated Press

Balloon rides and tree-planting ceremonies were on the list of Earth Day activities in Massachusetts today, while in Florida, thousands of schoolchildren were to pledge allegiance to nature as "Enviro Cops."

The Boston Globe came off the presses on recycled newsprint, and The Patriot Ledger, an afternoon paper in Quincy, Mass., planned to print about half its copies on recycled paper, up from the usual 30 percent.

In Chicago, about 30 teachers attended a workshop Tuesday at the Field Museum of Natural History to learn how to teach children about the environment.

Students had definite ideas about what they need to know.

"Advise us to keep the Earth clean," said Gulshan Engreji, 11. "Show us how to keep the plastic separated from the bottles. I want the future to be better than it is now."

Woman arrested on robbery charge

A local woman has been charged with robbery after physically resisting Anthony's employees who were trying to detain her for shoplifting Tuesday.

Pamela Yvette James, 24, of 3205 Ave. K, was arrested by police and a sheriff's deputy at 6:57 p.m. in the 3600 block of College Avenue. She was charged with robbery and booked into the county jail. Bond was to be set late this morning.

According to reports, Anthony's employees had been watching a woman they suspected of shoplifting. When she attempted to leave the store, she was confronted and the police were called.

Before the police could arrive, the suspect attempted to flee. An employee was scratched and struck by the suspect during an altercation which ensued, according to police.

The suspect managed to pull herself free from the employee and get in a vehicle, which left the parking lot as police pulled up. The vehicle was pulled over shortly after and the arrest was made.

The driver of the vehicle and another passenger were not charged.

Robbery is a second degree felony, punishable of not less than two years and not more than 20 years in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice prison system and a fine not to exceed $10,000.

Shooting suspect turns himself in COLORADO CITY — A man charged with the attempted murder of two Snyder residents is out on bond after turning himself over to the Mitchell County Sheriff's Department Tuesday.

Twenty-seven-year-old Alfredo Diaz of Colorado City turned himself over to authorities and was released after posting $25,000 bond.

He is charged with a Thursday evening drive-by shooting on Interstate 20 near mile marker 219.

According to a Mitchell County deputy's report, four people were heading eastbound on the interstate in a 1985 Cadillac when a man pulled up alongside in a Chevrolet Camero. Three shots were fired from the Camero into the Cadillac.

No one was hit, according to the report.

In the Cadillac were driver Christina Carreon of Snyder, and passengers Bobby Eagan of Snyder and Delia Diaz and Paul Martinez of Colorado City.

Carreon managed to get the Cadillac turned around and headed back to Colorado City, where the vehicle was stopped by a sheriff's deputy.

Diaz had remained at large after eluding law enforcement authorities on foot near his residence. He remained missing until Tuesday, when, accompanied by his lawyer, he turned himself in.

WTC gets some good news regarding expected shortfall

Some $250 million budget reductions approved by the state Legislature Tuesday could mean good news for Western Texas College.

The action is expected to prevent across-the-board cuts at most colleges, universities and state agencies.

The shuffling of funds could save Western Texas College $20,000 this year, and may mean a more substantial savings for the next budget.

"It could be very good news for us," said Dr. Harry Krenek, WTC president. "I don't know details of how the change was made but it is a shift from what we've been hearing the past few months."

Western Texas College had been expecting a shortfall of one percent, or $20,000, in state funding for the current budget.

"With this action, it would appear the Legislative Budget Board has decided against that action," said Krenek.

He said he has also heard from the Texas Public Community College Association that anticipated cuts in the 1992-93 funding of four to 10 percent might not occur.

"It's good news, particularly in light of the fact we just spent money for a central computer," said Krenek. "This makes us more optimistic about 1992-93."

A provision in the $30.1 billion 1992-93 state budget required some state agencies to find ways to reduce their spending.

The Legislative Budget Board, however, avoided most of the across-the-board cuts by making cuts of its own.

Among the budget reductions approved Tuesday were $115 million by cutting spending on equipment leasing and bonded debt. Another $5 million will be saved with a reduction in appropriations for state employee workers' compensation. Solid-waste disposal fees will account for another $5 million.

The Department of Human Services will see a $81.9 million cut and the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation will see a $7.5 million cut.

Social science contest set Thursday at WTC

Western Texas College will host its annual Social Science Contest for area high schools Thursday in various locations throughout the campus.

Registration and a reception will be held in the Student Center from 8:30 until 9:15 a.m.

Winners will be divided into small and large schools. First, second and third place winners will receive medals.

Area schools participating will be Snyder, Rule, Abilene, Grady, Abernathy, Smyer, Spur, Highland, Westbrook, Aspermont and Hermleigh.

Contest catetories will be Current Events, United States Government, Texas History and Government, United States History, World History and Geography, and Economics.

Almost 100 units taken in local drive

Sponsors Cogdell Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and Scurry County Advisory Council for UBS reported 97 units drawn. There were 21 first-time donors.

Bob Travis received a five-gallon pin. Others receiving pins were Martha Neves, four gallons; Vernest Tippens, three gallons; Ann Casebolt, Mike Parmer and Charles Casebolt, two gallons; and Dixie Burgeron, Jack McGlaun, Naomi Almquist, Anastacia Warren, Effie Witte and Mike Kerley, one gallon.

Receiving gift certificates from Spanish Inn were Mark Molina, Jerry Bloom, Olin Bunch, Doris Spikes, Elizabeth Jenkins, Nancy Herl and Brian Blair.

Says Sadowski...

Government out of control

Jeannie Sadowski, Republican candidate for U.S. Congress District 17, told local citizens gathered at the Senior Center that government needs to be put back in the hands of the people.

"The people of Texas are ready for a change, and I am ready to be that change," said Sadowski. "We (the people) are not being represented in Washington. Until we make a change and limit the terms of our representatives, we will never get government back into the hands of the people."

Sadowski stated that she had never had political ambition, but there were three issues which made her decide to enter the race.

"In 1989, we sent over 60,000 signatures asking congress to protect the American flag. Knowing how we felt, Stenholm went back to Washington and voted not to protect the flag.

"There were calls to his office, 100 to 1, not to vote for the Brady bill. Stenholm not only voted for the bill, he co-sponsored it," said Sadowski.

The candidate added that $20 million was spent on art work for the capital building while there were homeless people on the streets.

"The one issue that made me step forward as an average citizen was when I found out that some of our hard-earned tax money is being used for the funding of hard-core pornography," said Sadowski.

"I decided if we are this far out in left field, someone somewhere has got to stand up and do something."

Sadowski stated that the feedback to her campaign has been positive, and added she wants to get her message out where people can hear it.

"What we need to remember and what congress needs to remember is that it is still the people who vote."

The SDN Column — By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Sometimes new shoes and new ideas hurt about the same."

Reading the newspaper can be informative. Where else could you learn that a popular hymn, sung to the right tune and in a moderate tempo, is an excellent egg timer.

If you put the egg in boiling water and sing all five verses and chorus, the egg will be just right when finished. That culinary tip was in a newspaper advice column.

A fellow has collected many such tips and put them in a paperback collection called "Friendly Advice." Other samples include:

--Harry Truman suggested that the best way to give advice to your children is to find out what they want and then advise them to do it.

--On age, remember you're in the last stage of your life when you will be happy to hear that the phone is for you.

--On success and politics, don't do anything you wouldn't be willing to explain on television.

--On ways to avoid germs, this tidbit comes from the British medical journal. If you must kiss the bride at a wedding reception, either make sure you are near the front of the line or, before applying the lips, wipe the bride's cheeks gently with a diluted solution of hypochlorite or other antiseptic.

--And then advice on law. When the law is on your side, argue the law. When the facts are on your side, argue the facts. When neither the facts nor the law are on your side, holler."

We heard about the guy who wrote his congressman:

"Since the economy has gone bust, I've lost my job and I can't make the house payment. The medical bills are stacking up and the bank is coming to repossess my car.

"You said to call if you could ever be of help. Just until things turn around, do you mind if I write a few rubber checks on your account?"

Witness apparently watched attack

DALLAS (AP) — There was a witness when Peggy Railey, wife of a prominent Methodist minister, was nearly strangled five years ago, a newspaper has reported.

The Dallas Morning News reported in a copyright story today that despite five years of intensive investigation and the presence of a potential witness, a prosecutor has declared that the case is "dead."

The witness to the attack was identified by the newspaper as Ryan Railey, the couple's son who was five years old on April 21, 1987 when his mother was attacked.

The boy has been unable to give authorities a credible account of what happened that night because of the trauma of seeing his mother strangled and left for dead, authorities say.

The statute of limitations ran out Tuesday on federal investigators who had sought to prosecute the assailant or the author of a series of threatening letters sent to the Rev. Walker Railey, husband of the victim.

The FBI expects to close its files soon, the newspaper reported.

But there is no statute of limitations on state charges of attempted murder or murder if Mrs. Railey, who is trapped in a persistent vegetative state, were to die of related complications.

Dallas County Assistant District Attorney Norman Kinne summed up the case's status.

"It's dead," he acknowledged.

Local investigators say they have been able to solve the case primarily because Railey, the former senior pastor of First United Methodist Church of Dallas, never has fully answered questions about his whereabouts the night of April 21, 1987.

Railey, who later gave up custody of the couple's two children to friends and moved to California, recently declined a request for an interview, the newspaper reported.

Police have said he is the prime suspect, but he has never been charged and has steadfastly maintained his innocence.

The son has been questioned over the years by police, the FBI and most recently by a nationally recognized expert in child trauma and abuse.

He has repeatedly identified the attacker. But authorities say the child's testimony is too shaky to be reliable.

At various times, he's not only implicated his father, but also a playmate, the playmate's father, and a balding robber wearing a black mask, the newspaper reported.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is there any harm done to an unborn child if a mother is a moderate smoker?

DEAR READER: Yes. Many studies have documented that nicotine and other harmful substances released by tobacco into a woman's circulation can affect an unborn child. The most common consequence of maternal smoking is small birth weight.

Of course, some fetuses are more sensitive to tobacco products. For instance, the final word is not yet in about whether cigarettes early in pregnancy can lead to birth defects. Also, the amount of smoking is important: The more cigarettes consumed, the greater the risks. Furthermore, definition of the term "moderate" is changing. This used to mean less than a pack a day; now, four or five cigarettes a day are considered "moderate."

You're probably aware of fetal problems stemming from maternal alcohol consumption. When an expectant mother drinks — even regular mild consumption — fetal damage may result.

All in all, doctors are much more aware of (and concerned about) expectant mothers' habits than was the case a generation ago. Tobacco, alcohol and almost any drug (prescription or otherwise) have the potential to cause fetal harm. Therefore, I agree with the experts who caution pregnant women to eschew all such substances.

DEAR DR. GOTT: A relative in Europe has SLE but is unable to obtain any information on his condition. Can you fill in the blanks?

DEAR READER: Systemic lupus erythematosus is an autoimmune disorder that affects many of the body's organs. Although the precise cause is unknown, the disease seems to result when the immune system mistakenly attacks normal tissue in the skin, joints, lungs, lymph nodes, spleen, brain and kidneys. Thus, there is a wide range of symptoms, depending on the severity of the disease and which organs are affected.

For example, most patients with SLE experience joint pains and arthritis; many, but not all, have a skin rash (typically on the face). Pleurisy (inflammation of the lung covering) is frequent; pneumonitis (inflammation of lungs themselves) is rare. Kidney damage may be mild — or it may follow a relentlessly progressive course.

The major signs of SLE are fever, malaise, joint pain and stiffness, rash, poor circulation, muscle wasting and abnormal amounts of protein in the urine. SLE is diagnosed by blood tests.

Mild SLE is treated with anti-inflammatory drugs (such as aspirin) to control symptoms. Moderate/severe SLE requires cortisone. Some specialists, notably those trained in diseases of the kidney, use immunosuppressive medicine (such as cyclophosphamide) to slow the rate of renal damage in severe cases.

Although SLE is a dangerous affliction, much can be done to retard the inflammation that characterizes the disease.

To provide more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Lupus: The Great Imitator." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Boy's Pleas for Own TV Fail To Make the Grade With Dad

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1992 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old boy who wants to buy a television set for my room. The problem is, I am not allowed.

I am an A-B student and my grade-point average is 3.8. I also help around the house. I told my father that I will buy the TV with money that I earn from my job.

Our household has one television set, downstairs. The problem is that I enjoy watching sports and my mother doesn't. Mom says I can watch what I want, but she wishes the TV would be on a different channel. Another problem: My dad listens to the radio when the TV set is on, and he is often on the phone. I constantly beg him to listen to the radio in another room and to use another phone, but he refuses.

Please help me. I'll pay for the set myself. I am a great student and I cause no problems. My mom will let me get a set for myself, but my dad, well — you know.

TELEVISED IN 1992

DEAR TELEVISED: Your father fears that if you have your own television set, you will be tempted to spend more time than you should watching it. Perhaps you are a good student because you have no TV to distract you.

I see no reason why you shouldn't have a set of your own — as long as it is with the understanding that if your grades suffer, your dad can "repossess it."

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been together for 14 years and our marriage couldn't be better. We're as much in love now as the day we were married. We have only one problem. "Rob" wants children and I don't.

Before we were married, I warned him that I didn't have a maternal bone in my body. I told him that just the thought of being pregnant repulses me. I do not dislike children (I love animals), and I would even consider adopting a child or two because we could give them a great home.

Rob won't even hear of adopting — he says, "It's either have our own or none at all!"

I am 35 years old and I hear that the older a woman is, the harder childbirth is.

Also, Rob has to work some evenings, and I'm afraid all the work of raising a child would fall on me. I do 90 percent of all the housework now.

Another thing — I'm not sure I could handle seeing Rob give a lot of affection to anyone else, even our own child.

Do you think it would be a mistake to go ahead and have a baby even though my instincts want something different?

HAPPILY MARRIED IN COLORADO

DEAR HAPPILY MARRIED: You have given three reasons why you do not want a child. You admitted your fear of the pain of childbirth, your reluctance to take on the responsibility, and your unwillingness to share your husband with anyone else. Unless (and until) you can resolve these issues, better to remain childless.

Senior Class available to people 55 and older

Senior Class, offered by Cogdell Memorial Hospital and St. Mary of the Plains, is a program of benefits and services for people age 55 and over, and has over 30,000 members.

Annual dues are $15 for one person or $25 for married couples if paid by April 30. After that date, annual dues will be $25 and $40 respectively.

This entitles members to all benefits and services of the program at both Cogdell Memorial Hospital and St. Mary of the Plains.

For members with Medicare "Part A" and Approved Supplemental Insurance, approved insurance is accepted as payment in full for inpatient acute services (no outpatient services are covered).

According to Senior Class representatives, this can be a significant savings since the Medicare deductible in 1992 is $652 and co-insurance is figured at 20 percent of charges.

For members with Medicare "Part A" and no supplemental insurance, a discount of up to 50% of deductible and co-insurance on inpatient acute services (no outpatient service are covered).

Since 1985, when Senior Class was first offered at Cogdell Memorial Hospital, members have received a special Senior Class gift during their hospital stay, as well as discounts on inpatient acute services.

Lancaster added, "Beginning May 1, new benefits and services will be added at Cogdell Hospital. Sometimes, it's not convenient for local Senior Class members to travel to Lubbock to attend special events and seminars of interest to them, so we plan to offer similar programs right here at home."

In addition, a Senior Class member who needs to pay any portion of a hospital bill not covered by insurance will be able to obtain an interest-free payment plan. Members can also receive free, confidential assistance to help understand insurance coverage, and help in completing the necessary forms.

Also, a free rollaway bed will be provided for family members who wish to stay with the patient. While an inpatient, members are entitled to invite one friend or family member (per hospital stay) to share a meal free of charge.

Many local retailers and services will offer special discounts to Senior Class members upon presentation of the membership card. A list of participating merchants will be available at Cogdell Hospital after May 1.

Director makes lucrative deal

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Terminator 2" director James Cameron has struck a movie distribution deal with 20th Century Fox worth about $500 million.

Cameron, whose films also include "Aliens" and "The Abyss," will direct, produce or write as many as 12 movies for Fox in the next five years, the studio said Tuesday.

"This is the first time I can remember where a director of this stature has said, 'I'll give you my exclusive services as a writer, director and producer,'" said Joe Roth, chairman of Fox studios.

High Court tells 9th Circuit to stay out of death cases

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — In sending killer Robert Alton Harris to the gas chamber, the U.S. Supreme Court had a stern — and extraordinary — message for the nation's largest federal appeals court: Stop interfering with executions.

Harris, 39, was put to death at dawn Tuesday after a dramatic, all-night judicial duel between the high court and the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that had held up California's first execution in 25 years. The appeals court issued four reprieves in nine hours; the high court lifted them all.

"There is no good reason for this abusive delay, which has been compounded by last-minute attempts to manipulate the judicial process," seven of the high court's nine justices said in overturning the third postponement.

Those justices responded to the fourth postponement with an edict: "No further stays ... shall be entered by the federal courts except upon order of this court."

Harris was executed 40 minutes later.

Legal scholars said they had never before heard of such a prohibition.

The conflict can be explained in part by the makeup of the two courts — the conservative, Republican-dominated Supreme Court versus the appeals court, nearly half of whose 28 judges were appointed by Democratic presidents.

The order also reflected the Supreme Court's impatience with death-row inmates' years of back-and-forth appeals. The justices are pushing to speed up executions by restricting prisoners' rights to raise constitutional challenges in federal court.

"I think they probably perceive some sort of a lunatic California force at work here that's going to undermine the authority of the courts and they need to assert that authority," said Gerald Uelmen, dean of Santa Clara University Law School.

He said the high court's order was "a peculiar position for a court to take ... a political position, not a judicial position."

Harris' case underwent a nearly 14-year journey through the appeals courts after he was sentenced to die for the 1978 murders of two San Diego teen-agers. His case had previously gone to the U.S. Supreme Court a half-dozen times.

low from the dummy at trick one. If East wins with the king, declarer is safe. But if East inserts the spade 10, declarer is as dead as a dodo. After South wins with the queen and leads, say, a diamond, East wins with the ace and sacrifices his spade king to dummy's ace. When East regains the lead, he plays his last spade and West cashes three tricks in the suit.

The principle is that if declarer must win a trick in the suit (here the spade queen), you should give it to him as quickly as possible.

Opportunities for both sides

By Phillip Alder

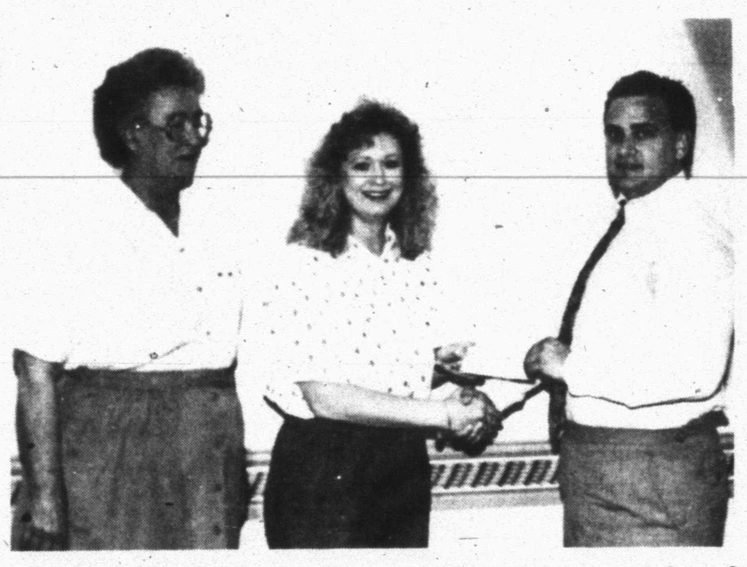

The second mini-quiz book written last year by Hugh Kelsey is called "Test Your Card Play 4" (Gollancz, $8.95, 212-866-5860). There are nine defensive and 27 declarer-play problems; in my opinion the deals are slightly easier than those in "Test Your Card Play 3."

Today's hand is especially instructive because it features both defensive and declarer-play possibilities. The only problem is that the bidding is contrived to reach three no-trump. Even though that contract is excellent, at the table it would be nearly impossible to reach.

Cover the East-West cards. How would you play in three no-trump? West leads the spade four.

East is marked with the spade king and the three missing aces. With careful timing, he can be held to those tricks. You must win trick one with dummy's spade ace and then play a diamond to your queen. No matter how East defends, he cannot win more than four tricks.

Note what happens if South plays

Judge orders enhumation of body examined by Erdmann

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — For the second time in less than three weeks a district judge has ordered the body of a murder victim exhumed following questions about autopsies performed by Lubbock pathologist Ralph Erdmann.

District Judge Sam Kiser on Monday ordered the body of a 42-year-old Potter County murder victim be unearthed. Kiser then placed a gag order on attorneys in the case.

The exhumation order comes 17 days after another judge directed the exhumation of a Randall County murder victim examined by Erdmann.

Meanwhile, a custody hearing in Lubbock has been delayed by questions surrounding a third autopsy Erdmann performed on a 7-month-old baby.

Gregory Van Alstyne is charged with capital murder in the April 17, 1990, beating death of Atkinson.

According to the indictment, Van Alstyne killed Atkinson, a pizza delivery man, while robbing the victim.

In a motion filed Monday by Potter County District Attorney Danny Hill, the prosecution said Erdmann will refuse to testify about Atkinson's autopsy by claiming his Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination.

Dr. Sparks Veasey, Potter County's forensic pathologist, examined Erdmann's autopsy report and photographs. Veasey concluded he must examine Atkinson's body to make a clear diagnosis of the cause of death, the motion says.

Erdmann, who has performed hundreds of autopsies for 41 West Texas counties over the past nine years, was indicted by a Hockley County grand jury Feb. 24. He is accused of tampering with evidence and theft by a public servant.

Living Will seminar set here Monday

Cogdell Memorial Hospital will sponsor a free seminar on the "Living Will" from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. Monday at Martha Ann Woman's Club.

Because seating is limited, persons who plan to attend are asked to call the hospital at 573-6374, extension 445, by Thursday, for reservations.

The program is free to all members of Senior Class, and to those who are interested in obtaining more information about the benefits and services available to people age 55 and over.

The seminar will be conducted by Sister Claire Olivier, chaplain and pastoral care director at St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock, and Reverend David Hartman, a Baptist minister serving on the pastoral council there.

"Their presentations on this subject have been widely acclaimed throughout this area, and we are fortunate to have them share their knowledge with us." said Tim Lancaster, CEO at Cogdell Hospital.

The increased focus on helping patients understand their rights is a result of a new federal law. This law is aimed at improving patient knowledge about freedom of choice in health care and at fostering better communication among the patient, family and attending physician.

Patients have the right to be told about the nature of their condition, the general nature of proposed treatment, the risks of failing to undergo the treatment, and alternate procedures available.

But there are times when a patient may be unable to communicate treatment desires. An accident might result in a coma, or an advanced medical problem may lead to incapacitation. In times like these, an advance directive, also known as a "living will" helps physicians prescribe treatment based on patient desire.

The purpose of the seminar is to provide information on these documents that help individuals make an informed and rational decision about accepting or declining a proposed course of treatment.

The documents will be available at no charge to everyone who attends the seminar. Health care professionals will offer assistance in completing them.

WTC golfers enter region at Odessa

ODESSA — Western Texas College golf team, hoping for a berth in the national junior college tournament, starts Region V tournament play Thursday at Odessa Country Club.

Midland College and McLennan Community College are the favorites, but Coach Milton Ham thinks his five-man squad has a shot at the title and a trip to nationals.

"We've been playing real well, and we've beat them in some of the tournaments." Three of the region's 12 teams will actually make the trip to the national tournament in June, the top two finishers and one at-large selection. Ham said the at-large team would likely be the third-place finisher.

WTC is paced by Mark Wood of Pampa who last week was the medalist at the Mill Creek tournament at Salado. Others on the team are Ryan Teague, John Gatlin, Greg Slicker and Mike Torres.

Teams will pay 36 holes on Thursday and finish with 18 holes on Friday.

SAFE AT THIRD — Yankees' third baseman Nathan Smith tries to get a handle on the ball as Case Hardy slides into the bag during an 8-9 Year-Old-League baseball game Tuesday at Towle Park. Also getting underway this week were the Little League and Farm League season. (SDN Staff Photo)

Still time to enter exes rodeo

The books will remain open until 10 o'clock this evening for anyone wishing to enter the annual WTC Exes Rodeo, scheduled for Sunday in Scurry County Coliseum.

Entries can be made by calling Joyce Kincheloe at 806-756-4388.

The rodeo is open to all WTC ex-students and current students.

Events will include bareback, saddle bronc, bulls, calf roping, steer wrestling, team roping, breakwaway, goat tying and barrels.

The performance will begin at 1:30 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $4 for adults and $3 for students.

Hurler fans nine...

Frenship downs Tigers, 4-1

WOLFFORTH — Junior hurler B. J. Krier, twice earlier a victim to the Snyder Tigers, got his revenge Tuesday afternoon in a crucial District 2-4A diamond contest.

Krier found the inside strike zone, fanning nine Tiger batters as the Frenship Tigers handed the Snyder Tigers a 4-1 district loss.

"He had lots on the ball," said Coach Albert Lewis whose squad lost their fourth district game in a chase being dominated by Lamesa.

"We've beat him twice before," Lewis added, "but he usually walks as many as he strikes out, but he didn't this time."

Snyder's conference mark drops to 2-4 and the season ledger stands at 14-9. On Saturday, the Tigers hit the road again in a contest against the Levelland Loboes. Levelland also stands at 2-4 in district play following a 2-0 loss to Lamesa on Tuesday. In other action, Estacado edged Dunbar 4-2 in a city of Lubbock rivarly.

Snyder was scoreless going into the top of the seventh. Its lone run came when Bobby Clinkenbeard pounded a single followed with another single by Brad Hart. Brian Crawford grounded to third.

Third baseman Shane Stewart tossed to Michael Denson for the force at second on Hart, but Denson's relay to first was wide, allowing Clinkenbeard to score. Two grounders for outs ended the Snyder rally.

Frenship scored three runs in the third inning. Chris Matthews singled and stole second. Denson singled home Matthews and hurler Krier also crossed home plate when Snyder made a wild toss. Denson advanced to third and scored on a triple by first sacker Brad Douglas.

Frenship scored its fouth run in the fifth when Denson hit a single and came home on a single by Douglas.

Snyder right-hander David Patrick went the distance for the Tigers, bringing his season record to 3-3. Patrick allowed six hits, walked only one and struck out three.

Rodeo exes eye roping and golf

Western Texas College Rodeo Exes Association is sponsoring a golf tournament and open team roping Saturday.

Proceeds from the events will go to the WTC Rodeo Scholarship Fund.

Entry fee for the four-person scramble is $80 per team. Entries must be made by 8:30 a.m. at the WTC golf course. The scramble will begin at 9 a.m.

Prizes will be awarded.

Anyone who does not have a team will be paired.

The association is also sponsoring an an open barrel race and team roping Saturday at the Scurry County Rodeo Association Arena on Gary Brewer Road.

Entries will be taken from 1-1:30 p.m. and events will begin immediately after.

The fee to enter the barrel race will be $35. Entry fees for the team roping will be determined by the number of entries.

Following the team roping will be a steak supper at $5 per plate.

A dance will also be held on the concrete slab at the rodeo grounds from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. Tickets are $5 each. "Texas High" will be performing.

Detroit snaps losing streak with Rangers

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Cecil Fielder got to sleep in his own bed after making things uncomfortable for the Texas Rangers.

Fielder had a two-run homer in the first inning and finished the night with three RBI as the Detroit Tigers snapped a four-game losing streak with a 4-2 victory over the Rangers on Tuesday night.

"It's always nice to come home and sleep in your own bed," said Fielder, who is from nearby Irving. "I really enjoy playing here. I like playing in Detroit, but being at home and playing here is something I have to think about."

In addition to Fielder's output, Bill Gullickson gave up five hits in seven innings for the Tigers.

"Cecil's going to hit between 35 and 45 (homers) and we can count on that," Tigers manager Sparky Anderson said. "This ballpark is built for him. For us, it's a nice way to start any series. We've been getting our brains beat in."

Fielder admits he'd like to play with the Rangers when he becomes a free agent after the 1993 season.

For the present, however, Fielder is content to provide the long ball power for Detroit.

Fielder belted a 1-2 fastball from Bobby Witt, 1-2, into the left-center field stands for his sixth homer of the year, tying him with Oakland's Jose Canseco for the American League lead.

"Getting an early lead gave Gullickson an opportunity to go out and throw strikes," said Fielder, who boosted his RBI total to 16. "Bobby (Witt) is always going to come right at you. When I was down 0-2, he just kept throwing fastballs."

Fielder, the reigning major league RBI champ, added a run-scoring single in the seventh.

Mike Henneman came out of the bullpen with one on and nobody out in the eighth, threw a double-play ball to Jeff Huson and got Jack Daughtery to fly out. Henneman, who started the night 8-0 with a 1.18 ERA against Texas, gave up a run in the ninth on Rafael Palmeiro's leadoff triple and Ruben Sierra's sacrifice fly.

But Henneman struck out Juan Gonzalez and after a double by Kevin Reimer, he got Dean Palmer on a ground-out for his eighth career save against Texas.

Astros let Giants return to winning

HOUSTON (AP) — The San Francisco Giants needed a swift return to winning and they got it from Bill Swift.

Swift became the majors' first four-game winner Tuesday night aided by a three-run first inning homer by Matt Williams, as the Giants beat Houston 6-2 and moved into a tie with the Astros for first place in the NL West.

Houston beat the Giants 3-2 Monday night, snapping a four-game Giants winning streak.

"We won four in a row at home then we came here and lost a close game (Monday night) and he picked us right up again," Giants manager Roger Craig said. "He can't be anything but good for our staff. It's like playing golf with a guy better than you, you always play better."

Swift (4-0) pitched seven innings, gave up eight hits and struck out two becoming the first Giants pitcher since Mike LaCoss in 1986 to win his first four games.

"I tend to go with my sinker a lot and I'm putting it where I want to," said Swift, obtained from Seattle in an off-season trade. "Obviously the big difference this year is the confidence. I feel really strong when I throw."

Williams gave Swift a 3-0 lead in the first inning with a three-run homer off Houston starter Ryan Bowen (0-2) after Willie McGee singled and Will Clark walked.

Craig Biggio and Steve Finley singled in the first and Jeff Bagwell's grounder scored Biggio. Swift didn't allow another run until Eddie Taubensee singled to start the seventh and Juan Guerrero doubled him home with his first major league hit.

"For us tonight, the key was the homer by Matt Williams," Clark said. "That really got Bill going. It's important to get a good start against anyone."

Bowen struck out Darren Lewis to start the game, but Willie McGee singled and Will Clark walked before Williams hit a 1-1 pitch over the fence.

Trevino, Hill to defend title

AUSTIN (AP) — New teammates are the order of the day for several players in this year's Legends of Golf. But Lee Trevino and Mike Hill won't be changing a thing.

Trevino and Hill, defending Legends champions, finished 1-2 Sunday at the PGA Senior Championship. They are ranked No. 1 and No. 3 on the senior money list, with $397,229 and $245,662 respectively.

They also like playing together in the Legends' two-man, better-ball format over the 6,775-yard Barton Creek Country Club course.

"We have extremely good chemistry," Trevino said recently. "Neither of us feels pressure when we're playing together. He knows I'm trying as hard as I can, and I know he's trying as hard as he can, so if either of us misses a short putt, it's no big deal."

While they are trying to repeat, a previously winning team has split up.

Al Geiberger and Harold Henning, who won in 1989 and finished second the past two years, each will have a new partner.

Geiberger is playing with a Senior Tour rookie — 1991 U.S. Ryder Cup team captain Dave Stockton. Stockton, an old friend of Geiberger's, turned 50 last November, qualifying him for the Senior Tour.

Henning, meanwhile, will be paired with South African Simon Hobday, who joined the Senior Tour last year and is making his first Legends appearance.

AVISO DE MODIFICATION DE CASERIO

En Octubre de 1986, dos clases, el primero describió como todo Mexican-Americans corrientemente elegible votar y todo Mexican-Americans que en el porvenir se hará elegibles votar en las elecciones para socios a la Ciudad de Snyder Consejo De Ciudad, y Defina como todos Negro corrientemente elegibles votar y todos Negro que en el porvenir se hará elegibles votar en elecciones para socios a la Ciudad de Snyder Consejo De Ciudad fueron certificado en Pena [v] Ciudad de Snyder. Número Civil De Acción. CA5-85-261, pendiente en Corte De Distrito De De los Estados Unidos para el Distrito Septentrional de Texas, Lubbock División. Después de negociación larga, los partidos al pleito referido alcanzó un caserío que fue judicialmente aprobar en Marzo 12, 1987. Debajo el acuerdo, socios de consejo fueron ser eligieron debajo un sistema grande de voto de miembros solos y mezclados. Las líneas solas de distrito de socio fueron recién enmendaron igualar la población entre los distritos. No otras acusaciones fueron hechas. Herramienta del cambio empezará en o antes el Mayo, 1992 elección.

Porque la corte fue requerida aprobar el caserío original, tiene que también repasar proponer enmiendas. Un oído, por lo tanto, estará tener en el 27th día de Abril, 1992, en Sala dejusticia De Distrito De De los Estados Unidos para el Distrito Septentrional de Texas, Lubbock División, a 9:00 de la manana. NOTICE OF SETTLEMENT MODIFICATION

In October of 1986, two classes, the first described as all Mexican-Americans currently eligible to vote and all Mexican-Americans who in the future will become eligible to vote in the elections for members to the City of Snyder City Council, and the second defined as all Blacks currently eligible to vote and all Blacks who in the future will become eligible to vote in elections for members to the City of Snyder City Council were certified in Pena v. City of Snyder, Civil Action No. CA5-85-261, pending in the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas, Lubbock Division. After lengthy negotiation, the parties to the above-referenced law suit reached a settlement which was judicially approved on March 12, 1987. Under the agreement, council members were to be elected under a mixed single-member/at-large voting system. The single-member district lines were recently amended to equalize the population between the districts. No other changes were made. Implementation of the change will begin on or before the May, 1992 election.

Because the court was required to approve the original settlement, it must also review poposed amendments. A hearing, therefore, will be held on the 27th day of April, 1992, in the United States District Courtroom for the Northern District of Texas, Lubbock Division, at 9:00 o'clock a.m. at which time the court will consider the alteration. Members of the above-defined classes will be given the opportunity to object to the change. Their objections must be written and filed with the Honorable Halbert O. Woodward, United States District Court, Room C-210, Federal Building, 1205 Texas Avenue, Lubbock, Texas 79401, Mr. Rolando L. Rios, Attorney for the classes, 115 E. Travis, #1024, San Antonio, Texas 78205, and Mr. Brian P. Quinn, Attorney for the Lubbock Independent School District, 1722 Broadway, Lubbock, Texas 79401. All objections must be received by the court, Mr. Rios, and Mr. Quinn no later than the 24th day of April, 1992.

On the Issues

SS benefits

Editor's Note: The Associated Press asks the major presidential candidates a question each weekday about their views on a particular issue and assembles their responses.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are the views of the major presidential candidates on the question: "The Senate has voted to eliminate the $10,200 ceiling on how much Americans aged 65 to 70 may earn before their Social Security benefits are reduced. The House has voted to raise the ceiling to $20,000. What is your position?"

DEMOCRATS

—Jerry Brown: A spokesman said Brown supported the House proposal.

—Bill Clinton: "Raising the earning limits on Social Security benefits makes a lot of sense. Talented seniors who want to contribute to our economy should not be penalized for wanting to work."

REPUBLICANS

—George Bush: President Bush has voiced support for efforts to allow senior citizens to earn more without losing benefits but promised to veto legislation that would increase the deficit. "We are committed to the higher earnings test," he said. "But we are also committed to trying to hold the line on the deficit."

—Patrick Buchanan: A spokesman said Buchanan had not taken a position on the issue.

Harris said 'I'm sorry' before death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Robert Alton Harris made two trips to California's gas chamber before he finally met his death.

His death around dawn Tuesday — six hours and 20 minutes after he was scheduled to die — came at the end of a dramatic nightlong duel between the nation's highest courts over California's first execution in 25 years.

Harris' first walk to the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison came shortly before 4 a.m. Appearing jaunty, he smiled and nodded several times. He was strapped into the seat.

About a minute before he was to die, the telephone in the witness room rang. A member of a victim's family said, "Oh, God." It was a reprieve — the last of four issued overnight by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Guards returned, unstrapped Harris and returned him to a holding cell.

"He didn't appear to show any change of expression when they unstrapped him," said Lorie Hearn, a San Diego Union-Tribune reporter who witnessed the execution.

About two hours later, after the U.S. Supreme Court overturned the final reprieve and sternly barred the lower court from delaying the execution any further, Harris was back in the metal chair in the brightly lit green chamber.

He looked more somber than he did earlier. He was pale as the straps were pulled tight. He winked at witnesses. There was no smile this time.

Then the 39-year-old Harris, who was sentenced to die for the 1978 murders of two San Diego teen-agers whose car he stole for use in a bank robbery, looked over at San Diego Detective Steven Baker, father of one of the victims.

"He mouthed the words 'I'm sorry,'" Baker said later. "He was probably sorry at the time, but that's 14 years too late."

Harris' head hung down, then rose slowly until it tilted backward. His head sank forward again, and his body convulsed. Harris was pronounced dead at 6:21 a.m., 16 minutes after the gas was released in the chamber.

In a final statement released after his death, he said, "You can be a king or a street sweeper, but everybody dances with the Grim Reaper." The line was apparently derived from a song in the comedy "Bill and Ted's Bogus Journey."

California Attorney General Dan Lungren said his office did not get word of the fourth reprieve until Harris already was in the gas chamber — and then had to verify it.

Hermleigh school board trustee candidates

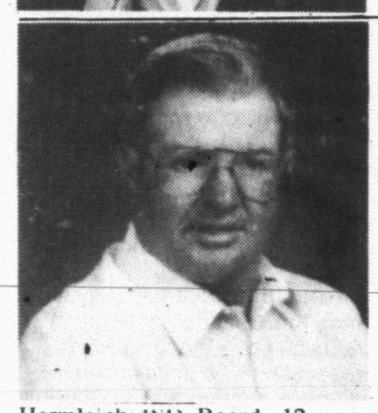

Name: R. Neil Beeks
Age: 47
Address: Box 224, Hermleigh, TX 79526
Occupation (job title if applicable): Teacher, Sweetwater ISD.
Civic, fraternal, church or other affiliations: Hermleigh Methodist Church, TCTA.
Prior board experience? If so, when and where? None

1. State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished within your school district.
The school district exists to provide opportunities for all students to reach their maximum intellectual potential. Also to help in providing opportunities for students to be challenged and successful in preparation for the future.

2. What do you consider the most pressing problem facing your school district today? Outline the solution to this need.
With a society such as ours making constant and changing demands on education, it is necessary that periodic studies of the curriculum be made to see if the offerings of the school are meeting the common and individual needs of our children and youth.

3. If you are required to make a decision to either raise taxes or limit services (programs, staff members, extra curricular activities) which would you choose? Or, do you have an idea to bridge the problem?
This question is very hypothetical, a decision of this nature should be carefully reached on its own merits.

4. Define briefly the role of a school board member.
A board member should show an active interest in all school activities related to school. A board member should be supportive of the administration and the staff and parents in an effort to help every individual student to reach their potential.

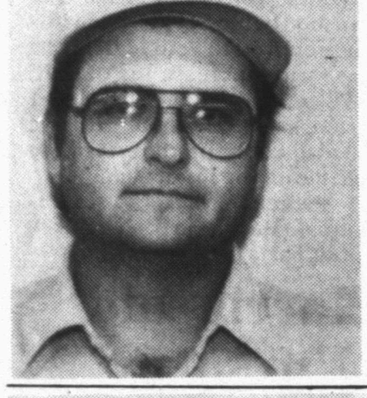

Name: Ronnie Lee Price
Age: 51
Address: Rt. 1, Box 13A, Hermleigh, TX 79526
Occupation (job title if applicable): Co-owner of Price Bros. of Snyder, Inc.
Civic, fraternal, church or other affiliations: Hermleigh Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rites, Shriners and Hermleigh Methodist Church
Prior board experience? If so, when and where? 6 years on Hermleigh ISD Board, 12 years vice-president of Price Bros. of Snyder.

1. State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished within your school district.
Update the school building and facilities a little each year until we have a more modern school. Also to continue to offer updated educational programs for the children.

2. What do you consider the most pressing problem facing your school district today? Outline the solution to this need.
Finance. Before spending money, take time to look at every angle and try combining or rearrange programs and spend as little as possible; but yet give the children the best teachers, education and facilities we can afford.

3. If you are required to make a decision to either raise taxes or limit services (programs, staff members, extra curricular activities) which would you choose? Or, do you have an idea to bridge the problem?
If only one or two students would be using the program or extra curricular activity, offer it next year or when more interest is shown. If no other alternative, raise taxes.

4. Define briefly the role of a school board member.
Understanding the taxpayers' and school system needs and try to make it work in the best interest of everyone. Attend workshops and learn state mandates and make it work for our system. Hire teachers and staff members that work well in our system and community, and let our wishes be known to our representatives in Austin.

Name: Nelson Eckert
Age: 36
Address: Route 2, Box 95, Hermleigh, TX 79526
Occupation (job title if applicable): Farmer
Civic, fraternal, church or other affiliations: First Baptist Church, Hermleigh, Member of Scurry County Jr. Livestock Assoc.
Prior board experience? If so, when and where? None

1. State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished within your school district.
To provide the best possible education for each student in the Hermleigh School District.

2. What do you consider the most pressing problem facing your school district today? Outline the solution to this need.
The state of repairs that is needed on the school buildings and what is needed to be done to them. To do what is needed at the least cost to each taxpayer. To maintain the high standard for education that we now have in Hermleigh by having the best possible staff of teachers and administrators.

3. If you are required to make a decision to either raise taxes or limit services (programs, staff members, extra curricular activities) which would you choose? Or, do you have an idea to bridge the problem?
I would raise the taxes only to the point of where the services could be maintained. The services such as the Chapter One programs and the special education programs are a must for all school districts. My family has had first-hand experience what special services like Chapter One can do for a child with a learning disability. The Chapter One program is a learning aid that must be maintained. All school districts need some extra curricular activities for the students to enjoy.

4. Define briefly the role of a school board member.
A member of a local school board is a guardian of the public trust and, with his fellow board members, is ultimately responsible for the success or failure of local public education. The board serves as the advocate for educational excellence for the community's youth and puts those interests first.

Name: Allen F. Kuss
Age: 41
Address: Rt. 1, Box 51, Hermleigh, TX 79526
Occupation (job title if applicable): Senior pipeliner with Sun Pipe Line Co.
Civic, fraternal, church or other affiliations: Member of First Presbyterian Church, Snyder, TX
Prior board experience? If so, when and where? Served on Hermleigh School Board April 1981-August 1985

1. State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished within your school district.
My first priority would be to see to the continuation of excellence in education. Our children will receive the highest quality education possible. Secondly, to assist the administration manage a sound school system.

2. What do you consider the most pressing problem facing your school district today? Outline the solution to this need.
The most pressing problem we face today is the bureaucracy in Austin. The solution is to establish a stable, long-term program of financing that school districts can plan on.

3. If you are required to make a decision to either raise taxes or limit services (programs, staff members, extra curricular activities) which would you choose? Or, do you have an idea to bridge the problem?
In my opinion, there is no need to raise taxes or cut services; in these times we have to learn to manage with what is available.

4. Define briefly the role of a school board member.
A school board member is there to help the administration manage a strong, sound school system for the community.

Name: Randy Bates
Age: 37
Address: P.O. Box 193, Hermleigh, TX 79526
Occupation (job title if applicable): Area supervisor - Allsup's Convenience Stores, Inc.
Civic, fraternal, church or other affiliations: Central Baptist, Hermleigh
Prior board experience? If so, when and where? None

1. State any specific goals you would like to see accomplished within your school district.
I would like to see the focus changed towards the future of Hermleigh Schools, and not just the survival.

2. What do you consider the most pressing problem facing your school district today? Outline the solution to this need.
If the school continues to grow in enrollment, there is not enough classroom space to meet state requirements. New classrooms will have to be built.

3. If you are required to make a decision to either raise taxes or limit services (programs, staff members, extra curricular activities) which would you choose? Or, do you have an idea to bridge the problem?
Any decision that is made to solve a problem must be based on what is best for the future of the children.

4. Define briefly the role of a school board member.
I would think that the role of a school board member would be to do whatever it takes to assure that the children of their school district receive the education and discipline needed to become prosperous adults.

Perot's numbers are high, but will they hold?

DALLAS (AP) — Polls that create shock waves may be one of the political rites of spring in presidential election years, short-lived phenomena that fade by summer. At least that's what strategists of both parties want you to believe.

Speaking with rare unity of voice, Democratic and Republican figures alike are trying to minimize the significance of a poll this week showing Ross Perot, an expected third-party candidate, to be leading both President Bush and Democratic front-runner Bill Clinton in Texas.

"If elections were held in April, Michael Dukakis would be president of the United States," George W. Bush, a Dallas businessman and eldest son of President Bush, said dismissively on Tuesday.

He was likening Perot's surge to the vanishing 17-point lead the Democratic contender held over his father in 1988.

Another Texan, former Democratic Party chairman John White, said: "Perot is like the new girl on the block. She's the most popular girl in town for a while."

Bush aides shrugged off the poll as a media honeymoon for Perot. Aides to Clinton agreed and suggested Perot's figures would fall once he and his business dealings were exposed to more scrutiny.

Analysts suggest polls this early in an election cycle say little about major-party candidacies and even less about third-party contenders.

As an example, they cite the third-party candidacy of John Anderson in 1980.

In the spring of that year, the former Illinois congressman was regularly drawing in the mid-20s in public opinion polls — about the same levels that Perot has been registering nationally.

But Anderson wound up with under seven percent of the final vote in November.

George Wallace's hard-fought 1968 campaign wound up with just 13.5 percent. And Strom Thurmond in 1948 got a mere 2.4 percent of the vote.

"I think these third-party candidacies always look better in April than they do in November," said Democratic pollster Mark Mellman.

"People point to the more than a million phone calls (to Perot's toll-free petition-drive telephone number) as evidence of grass roots support. It's evidence of something but I'm not sure what. Zamfir the pan flutist has gotten three million calls for his album," Mellman said.

There's one who won't draw a parallel between Perot in 1992 and Anderson in 1980 — Anderson.

Perot's showing in the Texas poll "is an unprecedented showing for an undeclared candidate for president, even given that it is his home state," Anderson said in an interview.

The poll of 674 likely Texas voters indicated that 35 percent would vote for Perot if the election were held right now, 30 percent for Bush and 20 percent for Clinton. The remaining 15 percent were undecided.

Anderson said the poll was "a truly astonishing confirmation of — well, one grasps for words. Meteoric is too weak an adjective to describe the rise he's had in the public minds."

He said Perot holds the real potential of "toppling the establishment" this fall.

"I suffered from the fading factor after the conventions," Anderson said. His campaign was also plagued with money shortages — something that won't be a problem for Perot, who has said he would spend $100 million or more of his own money on a presidential candidacy if needed.

Few analysts now are ready to suggest that Perot can win in November. But if he captures delegate-rich Texas, it would certainly be a major roadblock to a Bush re-election.

In the past, Republican strategists have confidently said they could win in November without California — where Bush is in considerable trouble in the polls — as long as they had Texas as part of their base.

This week's poll certainly puts such assertions in a new light.

And, because of indications that Perot draws from both Democrats and Republicans, Republicans aren't the only ones nervous about these developments.

Perot's capturing of enough states could even deadlock the electoral college, forcing the election into the House of Representatives.

The best finish a third-party candidate has had this century was Theodore Roosevelt in 1912. He got 27.4 percent of the vote.

Does that invite a comparison with the action-oriented Perot?

Democratic pollster Mellman thinks not. "Teddy Roosevelt had already been president. He had a tremendous constituency. And he was more of a hero than Ross Perot. He actually led the charge up San Juan Hill. He didn't have to pay some mercenary to do it."

One political figure not at all interested in interpreting the results of the new Texas survey is Perot himself.

"It's another blip on the screen," Perot told The Associated Press. "I don't pay any attention to polls."

Perot resigns memberships in clubs

DALLAS (AP) — Possible presidential candidate Ross Perot has resigned from two private clubs that exclude minorities after concern was expressed by volunteers working to get his name on presidential ballots.

"I resigned yesterday from both clubs," Perot said Tuesday.

He did not name them and associates later declined to say which clubs were involved.

The business executive has said he would run as an independent presidential candidate if volunteers put him on ballots in all 50 states.

Perot was questioned about his membership in private clubs during an April 10 appearance before newspaper editors in Washington.

"If I run for office, I'll resign ... If I get into this, we'll look at whatever's there and clean it up," said Perot.

He said he was not a racist and that his membership in the clubs was not evidence to the contrary.

"I received an award from the Urban League last year and I doubt they would give it to me if they thought I was a racist," said Perot.

The businessman said Thursday on CNN's "Larry King Live" that "if it bothers the people, I will quit immediately."

"You know, from my point of view, I'll save the dues," Perot said at another point. "And if it bothers the people at all, I'm out of the club."

Perot, appearing Tuesday on CBS "This Morning," told an interviewer:

"I said, I belong to two, and if it bothers the people who are getting my petitions signed, I will resign immediately. I resigned yesterday from both clubs."

It was the second time the issue of discriminatory clubs has come up in the presidential race.

Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton said March 20 he erred in golfing at an all-white club in Little Rock and vowed not to do it again.

Reruns planned during Carson's departure

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Arsenio Hall will air reruns of his talk show out of respect for Johnny Carson during Carson's last week on "The Tonight Show."

"Arsenio's going to be home watching Carson," spokeswoman Dana Freedman said Tuesday. "We're taking the week down. It's a show of respect to Carson by Arsenio."

Abortion issue...

Supreme Court's landmark decision faces severest test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court heard arguments today over a restrictive Pennsylvania abortion law, with the future of legalized abortion nationwide potentially at stake.

Kathryn Kolbert, a lawyer for Planned Parenthood, urged the justices to strike down Pennsylvania's restrictions on abortion and "reaffirm that the right to choose abortion is fundamental."

But Solicitor General Kenneth Starr, the Bush administration's top courtroom lawyer, argued that the justices should rule that abortion is not a fundamental constitutional right and make it easier for states to protect "those who will be born."

Pennsylvania Attorney General Ernest Preate also urged the court to uphold his state's law, calling it "an intelligent statute ... carefully drafted to reflect the teachings of this court."

The enormity of the stakes in this election year has helped make the abortion case the most closely watched of the court's 1991-92 term.

Both sides in the national abortion debate agree that the court's conservative majority fashioned by Ronald Reagan and George Bush may use the Pennsylvania case to reverse, explicitly or implicitly, the landmark 1973 Roe vs. Wade ruling that legalized abortion nationwide.

Questioning from the justices was animated at some points during the hour-long argument session, but not as aggressive as it often has been in cases in which the court was closely divided.

Several of the justices asked only one question. One, Justice Clarence Thomas, did not speak but took notes.

More than 200 people had waited outside in the rain — some for more than a day — to witness the historic arguments. The Pennsylvania law imposes notification requirements and waiting periods on women who want abortions.

Kolbert resisted three requests to discuss the specifics of the Pennsylvania law, choosing instead to speak about what she said was the central issue in the case — "the power of the government to force a woman to continue her pregnancy against her will."

"Pennsylvania's onerous restrictions must fall," Kolbert argued. "Women might again be forced to the back alleys for their health care ... with grave consequences."

Preate, however, argued that states have a "compelling interest" in "protecting the life of the unborn" that the court must recognize.

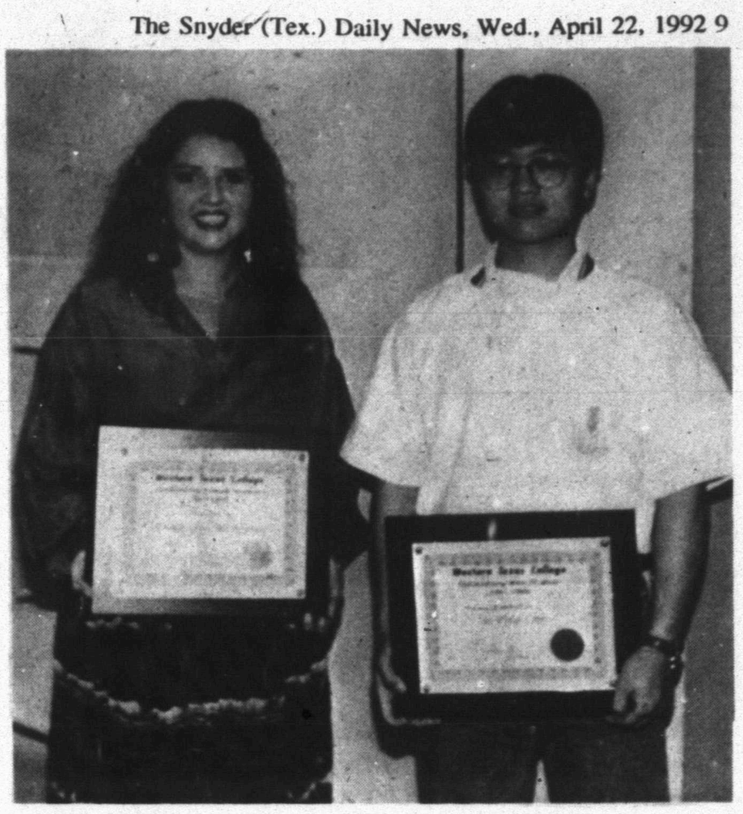

And Starr urged that the justices give state legislatures greater leeway to regulate, and deter, abortion than they were given in the 1973 Roe vs. Wade decision.

Starr contended that the standard for court review should be whether state abortion laws are "rational." He said the Pennsylvania regulations pass that standard.

But Justice David H. Souter interjected, "So would complete prohibition (of abortion), wouldn't it?"

Starr suggested that a state would have a problem if it attempted to outlaw all abortion with no exceptions for when a woman's life was endangered. Justice John Paul Stevens appeared irritated.

"That's not really a fair answer," he told Starr, adding that a total ban on abortion could pass judicial review based on the government's proposed "rational" standard.

Per capita income shrinks in 1991

WASHINGTON (AP) — Adjusted for inflation, Americans' per capita income shrank in 1991 for the first time in nine years, the government said today.

Personal income totaled $19,082 per person last year, just 2.1 percent more than in 1990, the Commerce Department said.

That marked a growth rate only slightly more than half last year's 4.1 percent inflation rate as measured by the department's index for personal expenditures.

It was the first time since 1982 that growth in income per capita fell behind rising prices.

And, it was the third consecutive annual decline in the growth rate. Each year of the Bush administration has seen smaller income growth than the year before. Per capita incomes grew 5.4 percent in 1990, 6.9 percent in 1989 and 7.1 percent in 1988.

The income figures also showed the continuing reversal of a mid-1980s trend, dubbed the bicoastal economy, of incomes growing faster on the East and West coasts than in the country's heartland.

Only seven states saw income increases equal to or better than the national inflation rate last year: Wyoming, 5.1 percent; Montana and North Dakota, each 4.8 percent; Hawaii, 4.6 percent; Louisiana, 4.2 percent, and New Mexico and Arkansas, 4.1 percent.

Still, income growth was lower in 1991 than a year earlier in all 50 states, reflecting the recession that began in July 1990 and continued, according to many economists, throughout 1991.

The states with the five highest per capita incomes and the five lowest remained the same in 1991 as the previous year.

The five highest were: Connecticut, $25,881; New Jersey, $25,372; Massachusetts, $22,897; New York, $22,456, and Maryland, $22,080.

The five lowest were: Mississippi, $13,343; West Virginia, $14,174; Utah, $14,529; Arkansas, $14,753, and New Mexico, $14,844.

The Commerce Department derived the per capita income figure by dividing total income — $4.81 trillion nationally in 1991 — by the total population 252.2 million.

Study to measure hunger in children

AUSTIN (AP) — Efforts to expand nutrition programs should be bolstered through a study to document childhood hunger in Texas and other states, backers say.

"Hunger in this country is a national shame," said Robert Fersh, executive director the Food Research and Action Center, the study's national sponsor.

Texas' survey, expected to be completed in nine months to a year, is part of the second phase of a national study to document hunger among children. Other states in this round include Maine, Vermont, Washington D.C., South Carolina, Tennessee, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Kansas and Utah.

Police work 3 accidents

Snyder police worked three traffic accidents, made one arrest and took two reports of theft Tuesday and early today.

Rhonda Fletcher, 28, of 412 36th St., was treated for a scalp laceration at Cogdell Memorial Hospital emergency room and released following a two-vehicle accident which occurred at 2:21 p.m. Tuesday.

Involved in the mishap, in the 1600 block of 26th Street, were a 1984 Ford driven by Mary Wiggins of 3766 Highland and a 1988 Ford driven by Fletcher.

At 4:22 p.m., officers investigated an accident in the 3100 block of 45th Street. Involved were a 1987 Mercury driven by Veleri Dunn of 4104 Kerrville and a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Alma Riley of 4513 Fredonia.

Police also cleared up a case which had been listed as a hit and run. In that case, a 1984 Dodge van driven by Daniel Salazar of 404 30th St. struck a gas meter at 2100 Peyton owned by Lone Star Gas.

At 9:57 p.m. Tuesday, Stacy Browning notified officers of a grass trimmer which had been taken from a trailer parked at 2501 28th St. A report for Class A theft was filed in the case.

A report of Class B theft was filed at 11:45 p.m. after Earl Ware notified police about a pair of boots that were stolen.

Police arrested a 41-year-old man for public intoxication at the Colonial Garden Apartments at 2:58 a.m. today.

Officers also worked two cases of criminal mischief Tuesday.

At 8:39 a.m., Curtis King told officers someone had slashed the tires on his 1979 Cadillac. And at 6:53 p.m., Terri Stoneman reported that the back window of her Honda Civic had been broken out. Reports for Class A criminal mischief were taken in both instances.

Jr. Olympics registration deadline Friday

The third annual Junior Olympics Festival will kick off at 9 a.m. Saturday, May 2, at Snyder High School stadium. The day-long event will feature track and field events as well as carnival booth activities and is expected to conclude by 3:30 p.m.

The festival is again sponsored by the West Elementary Parents and Teachers Association and is open to all elementary school students in Snyder, kindergarten through sixth grades. Students may register for any three events not including the qualifying relay. Registration applications are available at all elementary school offices and Li'l Rascals. Students must pre-register through their school office no later than this Friday.

No one will be allowed to compete in a track and field event without a written pre-registration and guardian consent form.

There is no fee for students competing but adults will be charged $1 admission at the gate. A parent must accompany all children under the age of 10.

All students will compete against boys or girls in their own grade level.

The highlight of the day is again expected to be the 440 yard qualifying relay. Each elementary school may register one team with four members to represent their school in the boys and girls divisions, grades first through sixth.

Those teams which qualify will be submitted by the physical education coach at each elementary school. Students who wish to participate should contact their PE teacher.

Track and field events include softball throw, broad jump, 50 yard dash, 100 yard dash, 200 yard run, 400 yard run (grades 3-6 only), and buddie shuttle relay run (two man teams, 50 yards each).

Carnival booth activities will feature basketball toss, fish pond and ring toss. The snack bar will be selling candy, drinks and various lunch items.

All proceeds from the Junior Olympics Festival will be donated to the science or math programs or for equipment needed in the local elementary schools.

Steering committee members are Candy Payne, chairman; Helen Lovett, Jerry Casey, Terri Kubena, Kim Gorman, Joan and Travis Bunch, Melissa Alexander, Cindy Brewster, Sheila Wadliegh, Debra Hester and Pam Gibson.

Perot family funneled $184,450 to federal elections since 1978

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats and Republicans alike have benefited from Ross Perot's lack of party affiliation. He and his family have contributed nearly $200,000 to various politicians, parties and causes over the years.

The recipients' ideologies have cut across partisan lines about as often as the views of Perot, the Texas billionaire who is considering an independent presidential bid.

Since 1977, the Perot family has donated $184,450, according to Federal Election Commission records.

Politicians in Texas, where Perot built his $2 billion empire, were by far the most frequent recipients.

Senate Finance Committee Chairman Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, was the most generously bestowed, with $18,800 in Perot family donations since 1978, the records show.

Democratic Rep. Martin Frost received $8,000; Republican Sen. Phil Gramm, $5,900; and Republican Rep. Dick Armey, $5,000, the FEC records show.

The Perots gave $31,000 to Texas Republican party organizations, and another $20,000 to national Republican Party causes. But they also gave $16,000 to national Democratic Party organizations.

Outside Texas, the Perot family has contributed to the presidential and congressional campaigns of House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo.; to New Jersey Democratic Sens. Frank Lautenberg and Bill Bradley; and to House Ways and Means Chairman Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill.

Herbert Clark Hoover, the 31st president of the United States, was born in West Branch, Iowa, in 1874.

Your Birthday

April 23, 1992

Endeavors you'll be interested in undertaking in the year ahead might be a bit slow in picking up momentum. However, when they do start to move, things may happen very quickly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You may have been a shade too stubborn about holding on to ideas and concepts that have proven to be of no value. As of today, you'll start to loosen your grip. Trying to patch up a broken romance? The Astro-Graph Matchmaker can help you understand what to do to make the relationship work. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Developments that have an influence over your material security should not be treated indifferently today. Properly managed, they can become benefits instead of disadvantages.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Partnerships are still "iffy," but it looks like moderating circumstances will start to make things more harmonious.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A major objective can be achieved today, provided you do not scatter your forces and dilute your efforts. This target should be your primary focus.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A recent misunderstanding you had with a friend can be resolved amicably today. Each of you are now more inclined to forgive and forget.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You're in a stronger position than you may realize today, especially if you're trying to close an important deal. Don't make unnecessary concessions.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Something that angered you yesterday will remain in the back of your mind today. However, you'll now treat it philosophically and effectively.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Continue to be prudent regarding the management of your resources. If any requests are made of you by friends, lend advice, not funds.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Owing to something you've recently learned, you may profit today in a delicate relationship. It isn't likely you'll repeat any old mistakes.

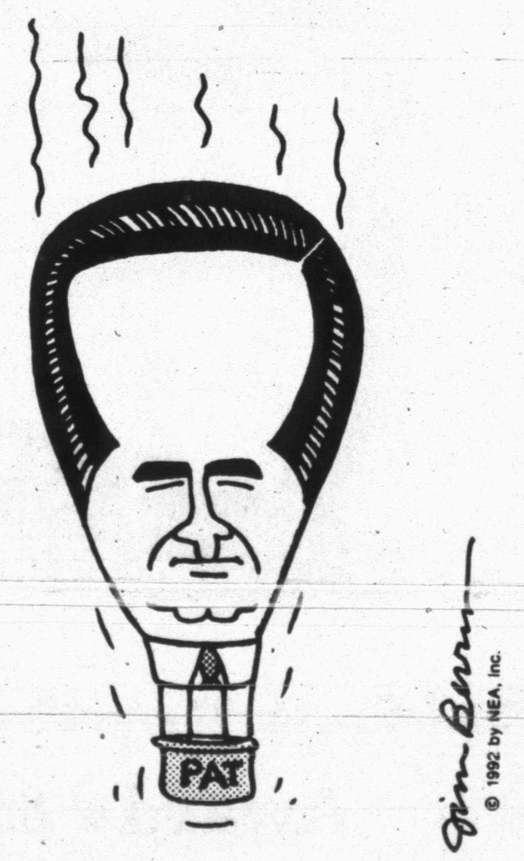

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Something you did for another that caused you considerable inconvenience may, much to your surprise, be acknowledged and rewarded today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) When you initially get together with friends today, you may feel a bit tense and withdrawn. However, these feelings will quickly be discarded once you relax and enjoy yourself.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You might experience some minor setbacks today, but they won't inhibit you from accomplishing your foremost objectives. Treat trifles with the trifling attention they deserve

Nuke dump site selection on going

SIERRA BLANCA, Texas (AP) — Members of a state board have listened to three hours of testimony concerning a proposed West Texas radioactive waste site and must now decide the fate of the proposal.

Witnesses at the three-hour hearing Tuesday night gave testimony ranging from criticism of Gov. Ann Richards to a comment that the economic boon from the Hudspeth County dump could help defray costs of educating schoolchildren.

Some opponents demanded the governor stop the selection process and make creating a nuclear waste policy a priority. They also want the governor to seek an attorney general's opinion on whether the site selection process has been done legally.

Citizens at the hearing before the Texas Low Level Radioactive Waste Disposal Authority board of directors filled the courtroom and an adjacent hallway. Others stood outside and peeked through open windows.

"I being a citizen of this county was never asked for an opinion," said Sandra Salgado. "The politicians wanted a vote when they were running for election and asked my opinion then ... and now that I need them not one of them got up here to represent me and my people."

The hearing was required by state law. Testimony and evidence from the hearing must be considered by the authority's board before it finally approves the proposed site, about 75 miles from the El Paso city limits and 5 miles southeast of Sierra Blanca.

Dennis Kirk, a Hudspeth County resident said the waste should be stored above ground.

"Everyone wants to do like a cat. Dig a hole and cover it up," he said.

Another citizen, Eutimio Salgado Jr., said he worked for oil companies who drilled in various parts of Hudspeth County, and warned the board that dynamite that hadn't been recovered after drilling was still buried in the area.

Laurie Gonzalez said she had not made up her mind until Tuesday where she stood on the issue, but finally ended up supporting the dump.

"I've been here 15 years, and I've seen nothing grow. I believe this may be what this town needs to get it going," said Ms. Gonzalez, 32, of Sierra Blanca.
