JUNIOR LOOPS TO BE FORMED HERE TONIGHT

Final organization of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Junior softball league and an Intermediate Softball league will be tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall when managers and sponsors of all teams are urged, even ordered, to meet. Sandy Hall, president of the VFW committee, will preside.

Tonight's meeting will be positively the last opportunity for teams to enter the leagues. Those not ready by tonight will be left out of the leagues.

Boys who have not reached their 17th birthday on June 30 are eligible to play in the league. Boys not affiliated with any team but desiring to play are urged to report to J. G. Sturgeon at the Sam Houston school diamond between 6 and 7 o'clock tonight for workout and assignment to teams.

The team winning the junior league will be awarded a trophy by the Kiwanis club, which started the league move and then turned it over to the VFW which sponsors state and national tournaments. The winning team will also be eligible to enter the state tourney. The best prospect in the league will be given an award, it was announced today.

Tentative list of entries in the Junior league are Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs, First Baptist church, Phillips, LeFors, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion and Skellytown. In the Intermediate league the Harvester Band boys, Furr Food, Legion, VFW, Phillips and LeFors are tentative entries. That league will be for boys between 18 and 21 years.

League rules and schedules will be adopted at tonight's meeting.

TWO ATTORNEYS KILLED IN LOS ANGELES COURT

LOS ANGELES, June 23. (AP)—Pistol shots that shattered the solemnity of a Los Angeles Courtroom left two attorneys dead today and their confessed slayer, a former South Dakota farmer, in jail without bail.

"I did it," Arthur Emil Hansen, 38, formerly of Wakonda, S. D., was quoted as saying by Sheriff's Captain William Penprase. "I regret nothing I did; I had nothing to lose. I'm glad they're dead; they can't hurt anyone else."

Slain as they were seated side by side in the Hall of Records courtroom were R. D. McLaughlin and J. Irving Hancock, the latter a cousin of G. Allan Hancock, multimillionaire Los Angeles oil man, scientist and philanthropist.

A legal fight between Hansen and Hancock's father, John Hancock, led to the killings, it was indicated.

Hansen won judgment of $7,000 several months ago against J. W. and Katherine Coykendall. Later, the elder Hancock won a judgment against Hansen and levied on the judgment Hansen obtained. The proceedings became more entangled as several other parties levied on Hansen's judgment.

The shooting took place a few minutes before Commissioner Kurtz Kaufman was to give his findings in the litigation.

VALIDITY OF SOUR GAS LAW BEING TESTED

AUSTIN, June 23 (AP)—Trial of a suit testing validity of the State Railroad Commision's proration order for the Panhandle sour gas area began here today before a three-judge federal court.

The suit was brought by F. C. and E. P. Henderson. Circuit Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, Jr., of New Orleans and District Judges Robert C. McMillan and Duval West of San Antonio composed the tribunal.

The commission spent more than a year in careful preparation of an order which it believed would be upheld by the courts. A former order was invalidated by the United States Supreme Court.

Writ Issued To Keep Spy Confessions Out Of N. Y. Newspaper

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Leon G. Turrou, who was the government's chief investigator in the German espionage inquiry until he resigned recently, today declared he had 'signed confessions" from the four spy suspects now in custody.

"They are self-confessed spies and they have already involved many others," he said. The four defendants pleaded innocent to espionage charges yesterday.

Turrou issued his statement in a corridor of the federal building just before a hearing started on an order to restrain the New York Post from publishing a series of articles written by Turrou.

The articles were advertised as the "authenic inside story behind the U. S. State Grand Jury indictments of 14 German officials."

United States Attorney Lamar Hardy obtained the order yesterday, on the eve of the scheduled publication of the first of the articles, requiring the Post to show cause why it should not be restrained from printing them.

Hardy contended publication of the series at this time would hamper the progress of the investigation, which is still under way.

In his statement, Turrou said:

"I never intended in any way to interfere with the administration of justice but merely to reveal the sinister forces behind this spy ring, which will not be revealed by any trial.

Evidence Overwhelming

"I have signed confessions from all four defendants in custody. The evidence aginst them is so overwhelming that they cannot escape. They are self-confessed spies and they have already involved many others.

"All I intend to do is reveal what has already been outlined, to tear the mask from those behind these self-confessed spies. It is a duty I owe to the American people.

"I'm not in the service now and I'm performing a real patriotic duty and no one is going to stop me.

"What I am going to write about has nothing to do with the evidence. There are many people here and abroad who will be tickled to death because of today's proceedings."

At the hearing on the show cause order, Assistant U. S. Attorney John W. Burke contended it would be an obstruction of justice and contempt of court to publish information

HARRY HINES TO LOOK OVER ROAD TO M'LEAN

Harry Hines, member of the Texas Highway commission, will come to Pampa soon to make an inspection trip over the Pampa-McLean road. A group of Gray county residents this week made a trip to Austin and requested that the road be given state designation.

Making the request at an informal meeting with the commission were County Judge Sherman White, County Commissioner Arlie Carpenter of LeFors, Garnet Reeves, Mel Davis and Jack Dunn.

The Gray county citizens also attended a meeting of the Texas Railroad commission when oil allowables were discussed. Mr. Davis, speaking for the committee, congratulated the commission on its action in shutting down the state fields two days a week rather than risk a reduction in price, and also its action in taking off the shutdown so soon, effective July 1.

29 Dogs Let Out Of City Pound In Last 3 Weeks

Dogcatcher J. T. Ashley is having troubles these days. He works long and hard catching stray canines without 1938 tags and placing them in the pound. Then when his back is turned someone smashes the lock or tears the door off and lets the dogs out.

Last night six dogs were released, raising the number during the past three weeks to 29. Today the dogcatcher took his troubles to City Manager W. T. Williamson and Police Chief J. I. Downs.

He reported that four locks had been smashed and the door smashed twice as dogs were released. The practice is nothing less than plain burglary and oneone caught in the act can be prosecuted and sent to jail he pointed out.

FDR LIKELY TO GIVE VIEWS ON TRUST-BUSTING

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The pen of the economist may replace the big stick of the traditional trust-buster in the government's forthcoming monopoly inquiry.

Reports from conferences now in progress between federal officials and some of the nation's biggest industrialists indicated today that the investigation would be designed to produce facts first and law second.

For the clue to the exact direction the study may take, many persons look to President Roosevelt's "fireside chat" tomorrow night. The President, expected to discuss the work of the last Congressional session, also may outline the immediate problems before his administration.

Among these is the revision—possibly the complete rewriting—of the anti-trust laws, suggested by Mr. Roosevelt when he asked Congress to authorize the board inquiry to be undertaken this summer.

With this long-range attack on the nation's economic ills in mind, administration leaders looked anxiously for signs of business improvement in the near future.

Secretary Roper announced that stocks of goods on hand for wholesale distribution were 14.5 per cent lower than a year ago. That fact, he said, indicated "excess inventories as one cause of the present depression have been largely removed." He predicted a decided improvement this summer or fall.

Jobs, Wages Drop

Charles V. McLaughlin, acting Secretary of Labor, reported on the other hand that factory employment and payrolls for May showed a continuation of the "sharp downward movement" which started last August.

He estimated that about 300,000

Legion Will Present Fireworks Display In July 4 Celebration

Plans to assist the American Legion in its Fourth of July program will be made when the Pampa voiture of the 40 and 8 holds its regular meeting at 8 o'clock tonight at the American Legion hut. Dan Kennedy, chef de gare, will be in charge of the meeting.

Pampa's observance of the holiday will include two dances and a fireworks display. The display will be especially for children and there will be no admission charge. Place for the display has not been selected but will likely be at a location near the Southern club if the spot is available.

Fireworks have been ordered. The shipment will include 14 huge set pieces. Among these will be the American flag, a fountain geyser, Niagara Falls, and Star of Hope.

Time of the display will be at 9 p. m. July 4, preceding the second dance which will start at 9:45. A sunrise dance at 1 a. m. July 4 is also planned. Both dances will be held at the Southern club.

Bob Ernest is in charge of the arrangements for the dances. Tickets sell at $1.10 for each dance.

Pampa's celebration of the national holiday has been arranged so that will not conflict with McLean's program. For this reason, no parade has been planned here. McLean's program will include a parade and an amateur rodeo.

WATER WELL WILL BE SPUDDED IN TOMORROW

Spudding in for Pampa's No. 4 water well will probably be tomorrow morning according to D. L. McDonald of Amarillo, contractor.

The derrick was erected yesterday and today drilling equipment was being moved in and set. A 40-day time limit for completing the well was set by the city commission when the contract was let.

Setting of a new pump in the No. 3 well was in progress today and pumping was scheduled for tonight. The pump is a new type and is being tried for a 10-day period.

DAVIS NAMES COMMITTEE TO AID THOMPSON

Mel Davis, manager of Ernest O. Thompson's campaign for governor in Gray, Roberts, Ochiltree, Carson, Hutchinson, Hansford, Wheeler, Hemphill, and Lipscomb counties today announced the names of six men as a committee to handle speakers' arrangements.

Gray county men on the committee are Mayor E. S. Carr and L. L. McColm, both of Pampa, and Vester Smith of McLean. Other members of the committee are J. Sid O'Keefe of Panhandle, Jep Todd of Canadian, and S. B. Hale of Spearman.

Walter E. Rogers had been named as chairman of the speakers of Gray county. He declined the appointment, however, saying that while the honor accorded him by the supporters of Ernest O. Thompson would be cherished through the years, he felt the position should be filled by a committee of men rather than by one man, and in the best interest of Col. Thompson asked that his appointment be withdrawn. He assured Mr. Davis, however that he was "ready and waiting to be of service to you and Col. Thompson and request that you call upon me at your will."

R. R. Sees Archer Kill Rabbit With Bow, Arrow

By THE ROVING REPORTER

The Roving Reporter while practicing yesterday afternoon for the Robin Hood contest tomorrow night, saw a local archer slay a jack rabbit with his trusty bow and a steel-tipped arrow.

If the R. R. can catch a live jack rabbit the contestant promised to pin it to the ground as an exhibition in marksmanship tomorrow night preceding the contest which begins at 7 o'clock. That hour will be the deadline for entering the contest. Persons may telephone their entry to the R. R., or they may wait until they come to the high school campus tomorrow evening to enter.

Entrants should bring their own bows and arrows, or make arrangements to use some one else's bow.

The contestants will shoot at targets placed over bales of hay. The grand prize will be an archery set to be awarded to the first-place winner of the four divisions. Other prizes range from a two-week pass to the first place winner of each division to tickets to see Erroll Flynn in Robin Hood which will open at the LaNora Sunday.

The picture shows the golden age of archery when Robin Hood and his merrie men ruled Sherwood forest, and were the nemesis of oppressors of the poor.

The public is invited to attend the archery contest.

Dog-Cat Fight Causes Furore In City Hall

The dog catcher wasn't around Tuesday afternoon when the quiet of the city hall was shattered. It all happened when a brindle bulldog strolling through the city hall saw E. L. Anderson's pet cat, Ima Neisance, (that is the cat's name). Anyway, the chase started in the basement and ended in the office of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council where Miss Dorothy Mullen was routed from her desk as the cat and dog made a race tack of the office.

The cat, hampered on the slick floor, made a jump for one of the windows but missed. The dog landed on the cat and then the fun began. Cornered, the cat turned and soon bedlam broke loose as cat claws sunk in the dog's head.

The end came when Mrs. Charles I. Hughes from the BCD office rescued the cat, or rather separated the cat from the dog, and a couple of Mexican boys hauled the dog away.

NELSON FLAYS CANDIDATE FOE

Frankly discussing his views on the important questions of state government and challenging his opponents to follow usit, Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock county, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, is in Pampa today during his tour of Panhandle counties. Nelson came here from Amarillo where he spent Wednesday.

An aggressive campaigner, Nelson chose the person-to-person method in presenting his candidacy here. He greeted voters along the streets and in their businesses in preference to making a public address.

Nelson accused his opponent, Coke Stevenson of Junction, of attempting to minimize the importance of the office of Lieutenant Governor and hiding his legislative deeds.

"The lieutenant governorship is the legislative throne of Texas government," Nelson declared. "He has more power over legislation than the Governor. Through the appointment of free conference committees, he is able to exert a de-

THREE CHARGED WITH OIL PROPERTY THEFT

Charged with theft of oil field property, Joe D. Turner and M. D. Barnett, both of Albuquerque, N. M., and Jess Woods of Pampa, were arrested and put in county jail this morning. The trio had not been arraigned up to noon today.

The charge was in connection with the taking of a 15¼-inch "spider" last night from the back yard of the A. B. Keahey residence, county officers said.

A "spider" is a yise used in running casing and the approximate value of one of the 15½-inch size is $200.

BLOW COULD NOT BE FOUL, SAYS REFEREE

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—From a cot in Polyclinic Hospital Max Schmeling could testify today to the power in Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis' fists.

Knocked out in two minutes and four seconds of the first round of his 15-round title match with Louis in the Yankee Stadium last night, Schmeling was under observation at the hospital for a severe back injury suffered in the opening minute of fighting when Louis landed a smashing right above the kidney.

After a thorough examination, Dr. Robert Brennan, professor of surgery at the Polyclinic, confirmed an earlier diagnosis that Max had suffered a fracture of the transverse processes. This was described as fractures of projections from vertebrae on the right side of the back, just below the kidney.

In a formal statement, Dr. Brennan said:

"Mr. Schmeling has suffered fractures of the transverse processes of the third and fourth lumbar vertebrae with a hemorrhage of the lumbar muscles. Prognosis is favorable."

It was the first smashing right hand body punch Louis landed that really settled the fight. The German screamed with pain when it landed and was an easy mark for Louis' sharp-shooting thereafter. The negro champion floored Max three times before the fight was halted, shortest heavyweight title match in history.

Meanwhile Promoter Mike Jacobs delayed his plans for having Louis sign to defend the championship again in September against Max Baer, former title-holder. Mike first wants to get Baer under a long-term contract in order to keep his hold on the leading heavyweights.

Under original plans, Louis and Baer were to have signed at a New York State Athletic Commission meeting today. This meeting now has been called off.

Jacobs said that one of Chancel-

Drama Of Child's Rescue From Canton Ruins After Jap Bombers Fly Away

1. In the sudden, peace-like silence, after Japan's deadly bombers had flown away, a bandage-swathed Chinese of Canton, pawing over the debris left from his bomb-shattered house, heard a feeble cry rising from somewhere beneath the wreckage. He knew the voice—it was his daughter's . . . With much rescue work to be done there were rescue-parties throughout the stricken city. The Chinese father called a group of straw-hatted coolies and steel-helmeted soldiers to help him save his child. Working frantically to reach the buried girl they pushed and pulled the debris away. . . .

2. Finally the terror-stricken child, whose frightened visage can be seen above, was found. Although daylight had reached her and she could breathe freely, the rescue was not complete, for the little girl still lay pinned under bricks, mortar and boards. The rescuers hurried . . .

3. Freed, at last, the child is lifted in the arms of her saviors from the crush of debris which might have been her tomb. A happy ending—for one of China's children. These remarkable photos make up a capsule drama showing what life is like for China's millions under the terror of modern warfare from the skies.

CREATORS OF ART DERIVE PERSONAL JOY

By MARIAN O'BRIAN

Artists are not all temperamental fellows who dash paint on a canvas under a northern light.

The mild-eyed little man who has the men's clothing store is an artist. You can see his love of the beautiful when he strokes the sleek gabardines and brushes the rough tweeds of the materials he sells.

The fellow who draws the location and soil formation maps and makes production charts in the oil office is an artist. Even though he does rely upon the T-square and protractor to perfect his lines, he is an artist and as worthy of the name as the inspired fellow who slaps paint hither and thither and hasn't the sense of humor to laugh when you ask what he has painted.

The truck gardener who arranges his little rosy radishes in graded bunches of twelve and glows with pride when the turnips are fat and smooth and the white and purple blend is perfect, he is an artist. He can look at the beauty of the earthy children of his hand and feel more pride than the broker feels when General Motors jumps 40 points three minutes after he has reached his marginal limit.

The persons who correlate their minds and hands to create works of art, windows that are attractive to the passerby, maps that are definitely lined to show what would take pages to write in explaining, even bunches of vegetables upon a cart, those persons, the creators, derive a personal joy of doing that can never be felt by the person who sees only the material results.

WOOLWORTH HEIRESS OBTAINS COURT ORDER TO GUARD SON AND SELF FROM HER HUSBAND

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—A source authorized to speak for the former Barbara Hutton said today she had obtained a court order for possible restraining steps against her titled husband, 42-year-old Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow, to safeguard herself and the child.

The Danish nobleman was in Paris and there were conflicting reports whether he would come to London today, possibly to shed some light on the mysterious kidnaping and estrangement reports affecting his family.

Scotland Yard men were said to be at Croydon airport this morning prepared to serve papers on the Count if he returned. One report said he might fly from Paris.

The action of the American-born heiress to a five-and-ten store fortune was understood to be based on a dispute with Count Haugwitz-Reventlow over custody of their two-year-old son, Lance, who, it has been estimated, would inherit $20,000,000 from his mother.

A spokesman for the Countess said her husband's "recent behavior" caused her to take legal steps for protection.

The Countess went to court after adopting unusual safeguard measures at her house in fashionable Regents Park. The precautions gave rise to reports of threats to kidnap the boy.

The Countess was reported to be planning to make applicatoin to have the boy made a ward in Chancery, which would require that he be kept in the jurisdiction of the court.

Baron Horder, physician-in-ordinary to the king, was called to the Regent's Park home early this afternoon, leading to belief either the Countess or Lance might be ill.

Lord Horder is noted as a diagnostician.

PARIS, June 23 (AP)—Count Court Haugwitz-Reveltlow remained quietly in Paris today amid reports he was at odds with his heiress-wife, the former Barbara Hutton, oved education of their two-year-old son Lance.

The Count, who has been traveling on the ocntinent, remained at the same hotel as Franklyn Hutton, the Countess's father, who arrived Monday from the United States.

They talked in the lobby last night but Hutton said today he did not "know anything" about a quarrel.

BISMARCK AND HITLER ALIKE, SAYS OSBORNE

Dictator Adolf Hitler's ambition for a great German empire is not new and is only a development of the ideas of Germany's "Iron Chancellor," Bismarck, Doyle F. Osborne, Pampa high school principal told members of the Pampa Rotary club at the regular meeting held yesterday noon at the First Methodist Church.

Bismarck in 1869-70 had the original idea for a Teutonic empire extending from the Baltic to Asia Minor, along the area tapped by a Berlin-to-Bagdad railway, and Hitler's present plans are only an adaptation of Bismarck's ambitions.

An alliance between England and France and the breaking up of the Italian-Germanic relations, with Italy being induced to join England's side, was seen by Mr. Osborne as the sole means of preventing the further execution of Hitler's ideas.

Five new members, three visiting Rotarians, and one guest met with the club yesterday. Visiting Rotarians were Henry English and B. F. were Henry English and B. F. Johnson, both of Dallas, C. H. Everett of Ardmore, Okla., R. C. Hoiles of Santa Ana, Calif, was present as a guest of Sid Patterson.

New members present were Dr. Clifton High, eye, ear, nose, and throat specialist, John Haynes, Gulf wholesale agent, Walter Rogers, city attorney, and James H. Tucker, wholesale baker, and Maurice Clark, of Your Laundry.

TOKYO DISAPPOINTED

TOKYO, June 23 (AP)—Joe Louis' one-round knockout of Max Schmeling—victory and pictures—was front page news in Japan today. Boxing fans said pre-fight sentiment overwhelmingly favored Schmeling.

Fifty-seven Chinese steamship companies with headquarters in Shanghai were put out of business by the Japanese blockade of the China coast last year.

POISON PRICE DEFENDED BY RALPH THOMAS

Answering some complaints he had heard, County Farm Agent Ralph R. Thomas said today the price of 30 cents a hundred pounds for grasshopper poison compound was not unfair. The same price is in effect in other counties where the compound is being sold.

"When the price is less than 30 cents a hundred, the purchaser will find that molasses have not been used in the mixture," Mr. Thomas said.

"Use of molasses adds from 10 to 15 per cent to the killing power of the compound. There's no profit in handling the compound and the price of 30 cents a hundred is a reasonable one."

Mixing stations at Pampa and at McLean are still in operation. The McLean station is open three days a week, on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, while the Pampa station is open six days a week.

An average of five batches a day is being mixed at the two stations. A batch consists of 200 pounds of the poison mixture.

There are ample supplies at both stations. A carload of bran was received last week and eight barrels of poison this week to supplement the supply on hand.

No cases of cattle being poisoned by eating Johnson grass that had been sprayed with the grasshopper compound have been reported to the Gray county farm agent, as was reported in Potter county early this week to the Potter county farm agent.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR O. G. DICKINSON HELD

Funeral services for O. G. Dickinson, 34, were conducted at 11 o'clock this morning in the First Baptist church with the Rev. C. Gordon Bayless, pastor, officiating. Burial followed oin Fairview cemetery under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral home.

Mr. Dickenson, a resident of Pampa for three years, died yesterday afternoon in a local hospital following an extended illness. He underwent an operation three weeks ago. After moving here from Portland, Ore., Mr. Dickinson worked in the oilfield.

Suvivors are the widow, two sisters, Mrs. R. L. Young, Pampa, and Mrs. R. M. Grinn, Leweston, Idaho, and two brothers, David A. Dickinson, Pampa, and Claude William Dickinson, Portland.

NATIONS TRY TO END WARS

(By The Associated Press)

There were vague reports today of new efforts to end the Spanish and Oriental wars.

The conflict in China will be a year old July 7, and Japan, noting the slow progress of her offensive against the Chinese provisional capital at Hankow, today announced a new retrenchment and industrial control program to help the army.

The Spanish Insurgents, who on July 18 will have fought for two years against the Madrid-Barcelona government, made scant gains in their drive against the Mediterranean seaport of Valencia and were believed preparing to abandon it for the moment and try again to take Barcelona.

The Oriental talk of peace sprang from a German transocean news agency report quoting the Chinese foreign minister, Wang Chung-hui, on the "usefulness of mediation by a third party," since the warring nations "desire to terminate hostilities but neither is willing to take the initiative for reasons of prestige."

The possibility of a Spanish truce centers about British efforts to get all foreign fighters out of Spain and thereby hasten the coming effect of Britain's friendship pact with Italy, which has soldiers fighting with the Insurgent army.

Heavy rains interfered with hostilities along the Yangtze, with Japanese warships still 200 miles from Hankow and nearest army column 100 miles away.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

NAZI SHEET BLAMES AMERICAN 'BUSINESS MEN' FOR DEFEAT

BERLIN, June 23 (AP)—Germany took the news hard today that Joe Louis' fists had blasted Max Schmeling's comeback hopes in a little more than two minutes.

Thousands of heavy-lidded Germans went to bed after 3 a. m., after sitting up to hear a ringside radio broadcast of the heavyweight championship fight that left them thunderstruck and unbelieving.

Those who did not sit up scarcely believed what they saw in the newspapers.

"Wasn't it frightful, and in two minutes?" the telephone operator was asked, putting through a call to London.

She summed Germany's reaction in a nutshell.

Schmeling's friends said at the end of his broadcast from New York:

"We sympathize with you, Max, although you lost as a fair sportsman.

"We will show you on your return that reports in foreign papers that you would be thrown into jail if you lost are untrue."

The newspaper Zwoelf Uhr-Blatt charged "certain American business men" should be blamed for Schmeling's defeat. It said they "hindered the fight to the point where . . . only a miracle would enable Schmeling to win."

"Three opponents who stepped into the ring against him this time" were too much for Schmeling, conqueror of Joe Louis in 12 rounds two years ago, the paper explained.

They were "Louis, age and the legend that they never come back."

'AH'M SHO' NUFF CHAMPEEN, NOW!' DECLARES JOE LOUIS

By DREW MIDDLETON.

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—A shy Alexander with no more fistic worlds to conquer, Joe Louis, five years and a million dollars away from a factory job, "I guess I'm gettin' a little better"

The heavyweight champion of the world, surrounded by reporters, photographers and friends, had one thing to get off his chest in his dressing room.

"Ah'm sho, nuff champeen, now," he said.

Outside in Yankee stadium the vast crowd was shuffling out, still talking about Joe's one-round knockout of Max Schmeling. To Joe it was "somethin' of a relief, ah guess. Ah dont know. But Ah feels better about bein' champeen."

Someone pushed through the crowd and announced, "Schmeling says that punch to the body was low."

Joe's eyes widened a little. "'At wasn't no low punch. It was a good one, though. 'At started him going. But Ah finished him with that right to the face. Naw, it wasn't exactly like the one I knocked Braddock out with, but sorta like it."

A wildly enthusiastic Bill Robinson broke through the crowd, flashed a wide African grin and shortied: "Boy, you showed 'em."

Joe smiled sort of sheepishly—after five years in the limelight he is still bashful—and shook off an inquiring hand.

Schmeling Mutters.

"Naw, he didn't hurt me none. Guess he hit me with more than one punch, but the only one I remember is the one he got me with goin' away from the ropes. I was moyin' cut and it didn't hurt none."

Someone asked if he would fight Schmeling again.

"What fo'" asked Joe, "didn't I beat him?"

If there was delirious joy in Joe's dressing room, there was silence and dismay in Schmeling's. A broken man, the German said only, "he haf beat me, but I will fight him again."

Before him stretched the bitter oblivion that is the lot of every beaten man. His tremendous pride in his ability as a fighter dealt its cruelest blow. Schmeling had that to say and one more phrase, "I will be back."

The phrase didn't echo across the hall. It didn't reach the ears of the big brown man on the table.

But it wouldn't have mattered. The champion of champions was supremely happy over being "champion fo' true, now."

Dallas Defeats Houston 3 to 1 In Ten Innings

Rain gave the top clubs of the Texas League race a rest yesterday but the second division teams hooked up in a couple of sparkling performances.

Leading Tulsa and third place Beaumont were idle at Beaumont and second place Oklahoma City and fourth place San Antonio halted their series at San Antonio due to weather conditions.

Today all the teams changed opponents, Tulsa and Oklahoma City drawing lower division teams. The Oilers meet Shreveport and Oklahoma City tangles with Houston.

Al Baker turned in one of his periodic sensational showings to turn back Houston, 3-1, in 10 innings. Houston got but four hits and Dallas garnered only six off three Buff hurlers but husky Marlin Pool, the league's leading hitter, got three of them in the right spots to figure as the key man in the scoring splurge.

Clyde Smoll baffled the Shreveport Sports for eight innings while the Fort Worth Cats were hanging up five runs and Hamner and Reid finished the game without damage though the former left while in a tough spot. Fort Worth won the game, 6-1.

LOUIS DID WHAT HE SAID HE WOULD DO-MURDER MAX QUICK

NEGRO'S FURY TAKES GERMAN BY SURPRISE

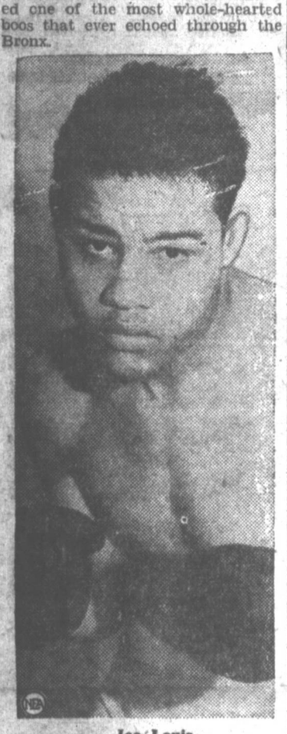

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Joe Louis, 24-year-old Alabama negro, today very likely is the complete fighting man, the incomparable destroyer that the world thought he was two years ago.

Last night, before 80,000 bug-eyed witnesses at Yankee Stadium, the young champion removed the last doubt of his greatness by blasting Max Schmeling, his one formidable rival, into fistic oblivion in two minutes and four seconds, quickest heavyweight championship knock-out in history.

Today there isn't a man left to truly debate Joe's right to the crown he won last summer from Jim Braddock.

He probably will be matched today to fight Max Baer in September, but last night when the laughing Baer was introduced he encountered one of the most whole-hearted boos that ever echoed through the Bronx.

Joe Louis

A terrible right to the kidneys that caused Schmeling to scream with pain and that partially paralyzed his 32-year-old legs gave Louis the revenge he had sought ever since the German knocked him out in 12 rounds two summers ago.

Three other smoking Louis rights to the jaw dumped Schmeling on the canvas. The third time he was down on his hands and knees trying vainly to rise. Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the slaughter. But it was the right to the body, delivered with every ounce of Joe's strength after about a minute of mixing, that settled the issue.

Schmeling still groaned from the pain of the blow in his dressing room as he explained to the German Ambassador, Heinrich Dieckhoff, what had happened. His left eye was swollen almost shut. He said his head had been clear right to the last, but the ringsiders thought he looked dazed.

Max Machon, Schmeling's trainer, threw in a towel when the count over the third knockdown had reached five. "I saw the man couldn't move, so what could I do?" he asked later.

Donovan first threw the towel from the ring, then turned and quickly lifted the struggling Max to his feet. The count by then had reached eight. After a few minutes in his corner, Schmeling walked across to his conqueror, shook his hand and mumbled "you are a good fighter."

It must have been a bitter thing for the proud ex-champion to say. He had been completely confident that he would tear Louis apart again with his right fist and take the title back to Germany.

In the fury of the champion's attack, Schmeling scarcely had a chance to use his one great weapon. He was caught cold, despite the fact that Louis had been proclaiming for weeks his intention of forcing the fight.

Threw Two Rights

So busy was Max warding off his tan pursuer that he threw only two rights. The first was in close, during a mix-up at the outset, and did no harm. The second he shot in desperation, after he had been hurt. The crowd saw it go and there was a brief, sharp cheer, but it was high on Joe's cheek and the champ paid no attention to it.

The moment the bell rang it was all to evident that Louis meant business. He went right across after Schmeling, pumping punches, and giving Max no chance to stand his ground. Schmeling's face was red after the first flurry.

His back still was against the ropes when Louis suddenly brought over a right to the head that turned the German half around and followed it with his blast to the kidneys. It draped Schmeling over the ropes and his yelp of anguish was heard across the ring. The referee shielded him for several seconds before he continued.

Louis charged in and banged him on the chin with another right. Down he went for a three-count, his mouth bloody and his face twisted. He barely was up before Joe clipped him again. This time, clearly confused, he bounced up at the count of one.

Falls to Floor

Now Louis made sure of his kill. As the tottering Teuton stood there his guard barely up, Joe measured him carefully and sent a terrific right to his chin. Max fell straight forward, his face nearly striking the floor.

The sheer brutality of Louis' assault must not have been lost on Baer, who sat in a ringside chair. Though he signs today to fight the negro, it is doubtful Max believes down in his heart he can win. He took a bad hiding from Louis before, and Joe is a far better man now.

As for Schmeling, his future clearly is all behind him. He said he would like to fight Louis again, but the odds are long that he never will get the chance. He is returning to Germany July 1 to receive whatever sort of reception awaits him.

Yankees Humiliated By Cleveland In Twin Bill

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Unless those Yankees of Col. Jake Ruppert soon get around to popping their baseball fireworks, Col. Jake won't have anything but his beer sales to worry about along about world series time this fall.

Of course, there'll be a lot of Col. Jake's brew poured before they wrap up the pennant on this year's American league wars.

But with the season approaching the halfway mark, Gehrig and company is in third place today, 4½ games back of Clevealnd's galloping Indians, and that certainly shouldn't make those who invested a few bob at the 7 to 10 pre-season odds fell any too comfortable.

The late murderers' row had its best chance of the season to do something about the whole business this week in a four-game series with the tribe. But Mr. Vitt's revitalized Indians came from behind for a 10-5 decision in Tuesday's opener, and then humiliated the Yanks all the way in taking both ends of a doubleheader yesterday, 3-1 and 7-1.

Lefty Gomez lost another of his heartbreakers in the opener, making a two-run wild throw in the first inning to hand the Tribe all its runs, and then pitching one-hit ball the rest of the way, which his mates failed to back up. In the nightcap, Johnny Allen tossed a four-hitter for Indians and Bruce Campbell's three-run homer led a 14-hit attack.

With the second-place Boston Red Sox dropping an 8-3 decision to the Tigers, in which Vernon Kennedy handed Lefty Grove his second defeat of the season, the double win boosted the Indians' margin over their nearest rivals to 3 games.

Terrible Bill Terry's Giants, at the head of the National league parade, also gained ground by coming from behind with a five-run outburst in the seventh and eighth frames to clip the Cincinnati Reds, 6-4. By knocking off their closest pursuers, the Terry Terriers boosted their lead to 2½ games.

Monte Stratton's eight-hit pitching, backed by a 17-hit assault, gave the White Sox a 16-3 win over the Washington Senators. The Athletics landed on Rookie Howard Mills with a four-run outburst in the sixth to sink the St. Louis Browns, 7-1.

Lon Warneke's pitching and Ducky Medwick's bat combined to lead the Cardinals to a 4-2 victory over the Boston Bees. The Cubs-Phillies game was rained out, and the Pirates and Brooklyn Dodgers weren't scheduled.

LAST WRESTLING CARD TO BE STAGED HERE MONDAY EVENING

On Monday night at the Pampa Athletic arena Promoter Cliff Chambers will stage his last wrestling card until early in September. For his farewell card until fall, the little promoter has arranged a battle royal to begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock.

Six husky maulers will enter the ring at the same time with John Nemanic as the odd man. At the sound of the gong the six will light into each other and battle until only two survive. They will be the main eventers. The first pair to be thrown from the ring, give up or to put to the mat will wrestle a 20-minute preliminary. The second pair to fall by the wayside fill be the semi-finalists. The main event boys will go the distance.

For his big battle, Promoter Chambers has signed Don Hill, Gust Johnson, Blacksmith Pedigo, Sterling Davis, Jack Hagen and Abie Freeman.

Two of the boys, Hagen and Freeman, will be making return appearances. They were here during the winter but departed for the east and north several months ago.

During the vacation period Promoter Chambers plans to remodel the arena and make a trip to sign up top hands for the winter season.

Several amateur boxing matches will be presented during the summer, according to plans.

Pampa Amateurs Going to Borger

A group of Pampa amateur boxers will go to Borger tomorrow night for a duel meet with Borger mit artists. The boys will be in charge of Cliff B. Chambers.

Because of the vacations or inability of boys to make the arip, Trainer Chambers will be unable to take his full first team to Borger. Missing from the lineup will be Benny Moore, Frankie Bills, Jake Bible and Rusty White.

Eight or nine boys will make the trip including: Richard Stephens, 25; Ed Cassada, 112; J. M. Calhoun, 118; Frank Brown, 126; Arvol Hix, 135; Jimmy Hamill, 135; Jap Gillis, heavyweight. Other local battlers have not been named.

A return engagament, when the full Pampa team can be assembled, will be sponsored by the Pampa Amateur Athletic association.

The matches in Borger will be at the Athletic arena beginning at 8 o'clock.

Country Club Golf Finals To Be Friday

Youth will meet age and experience in the 36-hole finals of the championship flight of the Pampa Country club City Golf championship tomorrow when young John Austin plays the veteran Reg Greenhaw. The two are scheduled to tee off on the morning round of 18 holes at 9 o'clock with the second round scheduled for 2 p. m.

Greenhaw, winner of the Greenbelt golf championship in 1932, defeated Ken Brown to enter the finals while John Austin vanquished his brother, Grover Austin, Jr., to go into the final round.

The two finalists came in on their last round with scores of 68 or three strokes under par. The scores were the lowest recorded since the course was made tougher by moving tee boxes back and constructing bunkers around former easy greens.

Large galaries are expected to follow the finalists on their rounds.

Winners already crowned follow:

First Flight

Roy Ray, junior high school student, swamped Don Donovan, 8 and 7.

Consolation

Zade Watkins defeated R. G. Allen, 2 and 1.

Second Flight Consolation

Haskell Maguire beat Red Payne, 2 and 1.

Third Flight

Poe Parkinson won from Frank Shotwell, 5 and 4.

Fifth Flight

Larry Trenary defeated Dr. Cal Jones, 5 and 4.

Marshall Beats Tyler 10 to 7

(By The Associated Press)

There was ample "breathing space" between all the first division teams of the East Texas League today.

The Marchall Tigers, who last night downed Tyler, 10-7, were two and a half games ahead of Texarkana. Texarkana, which downed Jacksonville, 3-1, was two and a half games in front of third place Henderson, which nosed out Longview, 2-1, in 16 innings. Henderson with the victory, advanced to two and a half games ahead of fourth place Longview.

Palestine defeated Kilgore, 5-4, in the fight between the cellar teams.

Cities Service Beats Stanolind In Extra Inning

A double by young Grover Lee Heiskell followed by Albert Lard's single gave the Cities Service softball team a 4 to 3 victory over Stanolind in an extra inning game last night. It was Heiskell who scored in the eighth inning Tuesday night to defeat King.

The Diamond Shop-Supply Boys game was postponed. No report on the Gulf-Cooper-Christians game could be learned this morning.

Campbell and Roberts was the winning battery with Goins and Harding the losers.

Each team scored in the first inning. The Gassmen went into the lead in the third but lost it in the fifth. Roberts put the Gassmen ahead in the sixth but again Stanolind tied things up. The winning run came in the eighth with two men away. It was Lard's third hit of the night that scored Heiskell. Cities Service came up with 10 bingles to seven for the Oilmen.

Two games will be played tonight at Recreation Park, free gate. The first game at 8:15 p. m., will see King meeting Phillips. The Diamond Shop and Mack and Paul Barbers will meet in the second tussle.

BLACK AWAITS EXECUTION IN TEXAS CHAIR

ALPINE, June 23 (AP)—Francis Marion Black Jr., who confessed a bizarre insurance death plot, lapsed into silence today, his laconic "how long will it be before it's over with?" immediately after a West Texas jury yesterday condemned him to the electric chair remaining unanswered.

The thin-faced San Antonio filling station operator stoically awaited the next step in a fast-moving court drama which will come with a motion for a new trial and an appeal to the highest tribunal in the state, if expressed intentions of his counsel are carried out.

In less than 30 minutes the jury sentenced him to die for the murder of Marvin Dale Noblitt, 13, whose plunge from a 400-foot cliff precipitated a case District Attorney Alan R. Fraser said was "the toughest I ever had to crack."

Mrs. Bobbie Smith, widowed mother of the youth, who said she put her son in Black's care in order to find him a better home than she could provide, had departed for San Benito, Texas, where she resides, but Black's mother, Mrs. Edna M. Black Sr., and his wife, Mrs. Guinevere Kern Black, remained here.

"The only thing Black said was 'how long will it be before it's over with?' and I told him I didn't know," Sheriff Elmer Taylor related.

Taylor said neither Black's mother nor wife made any statement.

Fraser, commenting on the trial, said the state had no case against Black's wife, who was absolved on the state's own motion Monday. However, because she had not pleaded to the indictment, Fraser said, a subsequent charge could be brought.

"But we have no case against her," Fraser said. "The only way we convicted Black was through his confession and 'I couldn't use that as evidence against his wife under the law."

Fraser revealed that the "break" on the case came while he was questioning Black.

"While I was talking with him the telephone rang. It was a San Antonio insurance company. They told me about an application Black had made for insurance on the boy other than the one in which he had a $5,000 policy issued by another company. I didn't let Black know who it was called and questioned him further. Finally, I asked him about the application. He denied making it. Then I knew he was not telling the truth about the whole thing."

Fraser said a motion for a new trial had not been made by Black's attorneys, who have two days in which to take this action. If it is overruled, then the appeal may be filed.

Black was tried and convicted in two weeks time after the death of the boy.

Fight Receipts Total Million

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—Counting the $75,00 receipts gained from movie and radio rights, the Joe Louis-Max Schmeling heavyweight championship fight last night totaled just over the million dollar mark.

The federal tax totaled $89,889.57 as against $47,093.66 received by the state.

Louis received $321,245.20 for his two minutes and four seconds of work or approximately $2,950 per second. Schmeling received $160,622.60, just half of the champ's share.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—In the heaviest dealings since last October, leading stocks bounded upward today for the fourth successive session, many posting gains of 1 to more than 5 points.

A brief and rather slow profit selling interval after the opening was followed by a wild buying scramble centering principally in rails and industrials.

For a while the ticker tape ran as much as 6 minutes behind and the stock exchange's new flash system, for the first time since its adoption last November, was put into operation to speed up the reporting of quotations from the floor.

Brokers' reasons for the continuance of the sharp upswing varied, but most attributed the come-back mainly to expectancy business and industry, aided by government pump-priming, would soon reverse the lengthy decline.

Even with resting intermission, transfers were in the neighborhood of 2,500,000 shares.

Bonds had one of their best days with secondary rails star performers.

Rails led the swift forenoon upsurge, with Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Great Northern and Union Pacific prominent.

Others favored were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, International Harvester, Boeing, Texas Corp., Kennecott, Cerro De Pasco, American Smelting, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, Allied Chemical, DuPont and J. C. Penney.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 23, (AP)—The market rallied briskly later in the morning under trade and speculative buying based on advancing stocks and a more optimistic outlook regarding domestic business.

Near mid-session July contracts traded up to 8.73, Oct. to 8.79, Dec. 8.85, and March 8.88, or 20 to 21 points above the early lows and eight to eleven points above the previous close. Trading was brisk during most of the morning but tapered off toward mid-session.

TICKER TAPE BEHIND ON MARKET ACTIVITY

NEW YORK, June 23. (AP)—The "bulls" had everything their own way again today in the stock market, as prices of leading issues advanced $1 to $5 a share in the fourth consecutive day of "bid 'em up" optimism.

The demand for stocks was so heavy that at one time, at the height of the mid-day rally, the ticker tape was six minutes behind.

BUDGE LOOKS LIKE A CHAMP

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 23 (AP)—Don Budge, looking for the first time like the champion he is, moved into the fourth round of the all-England tennis championships today with a 6-0, 7-5, 6-1 victory over G. Lyttleton Rogers, lanky Irish star.

Budge gave up only one point in the first three games as he blanked the giant Irishman in the first set. He drove over three service aces in the fourth game and won the last two after being down love-40.

Rogers put up a better fight in the second set but the American Davis cup ace withstood seven service aces to win.

The world champion swung back in stride in the third set, however, allowing Rogers only 13 points and one game.

Roderick Menzel, giant Czechoslovakian ace, completed the parade of the seeded players into the third round when he beat W. C. Choy of China, 7-5, 3-6, 4-6, 6-2, 8-6 after their match had been halted yesterday because of rain.

Henner Henkel, German star picked as the most serious rival of Don Budge, was the first of the ranked players to move into the fourth round. He whipped Christian Boussus of France, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

Gene Mako gained the fourth round with a four set victory over Henderson Brooks of England, 6-2, 6-3, 5-7, 6-2. The only trouble Budge's doubles partner had was in the third set when he was troubled by blistered feet and lost the first three games.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan and Alice Marble, members of the U. S. Wightman cup team, advanced in mixed doubles, defeating Jadwiga Jedrzejowska of Poland and Mrs. M. A. Thomas of England, 7-5, 6-3 in a second round match.

which may be presented to the federal grand jury.

"Mr. Turrou was a witness before the grand jury and will be a necessary witness at the trial," Burke said. "On June 20 he resigned, that is, he resigned from active duty. His resignation won't become effective until Sept. 20."

Through his participation in the case, Burke said, Turrou became acquainted with all the government witnesses, documents and other exhibits.

The New York Post was represented at the hearing by Eugene Untermyer.

Publisher Protests

J. Davis Stern, publisher, declared that the government, by endeavoring to enjoin his paper from "printing the news," was making "an unprecendented attempt to erase freedom of the press from the constitution."

"The law places responsibility upon the publisher for news which does any injury," he said. "The constitution protects against the restraint in anticipation of such injury because the exercise of such anticipatory restraint is the entering wedge of a controlled press."

In addition to the four suspects who were held in $25,000 bail each at yesterday's araignment, the grand jury returned indictments last Monday against 14 persons in Germany, including two officers of the German War Ministry. They cannot be extradited.

The four held are: Johanna Hoffman, who was a hairdresser on the North German Lloyd Liner Europa until her arrest last February; Guenter Gustave Rumrich, former U. S. army sergeant; Private Erich Glaser, of the U. S. army corps, and Otto Hermann Voss, expert airplane mechanic.

When he resigned, Torrou said his health had been impaired by the strain of the long investigation. He announced then he would become a writer.

workers lost jobs and that weekly wage payments declined $2,700,000.

Administration officials were hopeful that the start of the $3,753,000 spending-lending proram would check the decline.

The Public Works Administration announced today grants and loans of $77,814,620 to states and municipalities for 590 projects. They estimated that state and community payments also to be made on these projects would raise the total expenditures to $148,795,895.

ciding influence on the passage or defeat of major bills. Consequently, the people should know before election, and not afterward, where a candidate for the state's highest legislative position stands."

Pointing to his "clean hands" as member of the Senate from the 30th district comprised of 24 West Texas counties, Nelson aligned Stevenson with the sulphur interests.

"I want Stevenson to square up his claim that he is for the schools with his land bill in which Stevenson attempted to lower the royalty on sulphur discovered on school lands from one-eighth to one-eighteenth," Nelson said.

"At the time Stevenson introduced his bill there was no sulphur on school lands, but later, in April, 1938, the Humble announced the discovery of sulphur on a state lease," he continued.

Nelson labeled himself as "a friend to the little merchant" and pointed to his record as evidence.

"When I went to the Senate, I cast the deciding vote that placed the tax on the chain stores," Nelson explained. "I have always fought for the survival of the independent merchant."

lor Adolf Hitler's aides had called Max from Germany, asked him about his condition and told him "not to worry."

There had been considerable advance speculation as to just what attitude official Germany would adopt in the event Schmeling was beaten by a negro.

Although Joe Jacobs intimated his belief that the punch that crippled Schmeling was a foul blow, there was little support for that contention from competent observers.

Medical sources said that Schmeling's injury either could have come from Louis' punch or from three subsequent tumbles the German took onto the canvas.

Brig. Gen. John J. Phelan, chairman of the athletic association, was a caller at the hospital. He remained with Schmeling for some time and when he came down told reporters he thought Schmeling would have to remain in the hospital for "at least two weeks and maybe longer."

While Schmeling rested in the mid-town hospital, Louis remained in seclusion in an apartment house on Harlem's gold coast.

(Editor's Note: Other stories on the Schmeling-Louis fight will be found on the sport page.)

MOTHER OF ENGLISH QUEEN DIES TODAY

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—The state visit of King George and Queen Elizabeth to France was postponed until July 19 because of the death early today of the Queen's mother, the Countess of Strathmore and Kinghorne. The visit had been scheduled for June 28.

The 76-year-old countess died in London with the king and queen at her bedside. The funeral will be held next Monday at Glamis castle, the storied family seat in Scotland.

Earlier King George had decreed that only family mourning, not court mourning, should be observed for the countess.

A total of 4,374 trucks and 1,758 automobiles, about 85 per cent of which were American made, were imported by China during 1937, according to Chinese Maritimes Customs figures.

TEXAS TRIBE READY TO DO ANCIENT DANCE

By OLEN W. CLEMENTS.

LIVINGSTON, Tex., June 22 (AP)—A band of Indians captured this town today without firing a shot.

It was the first time Indian war paint had been seen on the street in 102 years, yet none of the 3,000 residents took to the hills because it was all in fun.

Today is the day of the almost forgotten Alabama-Coushatti tribe's green corn festival, a colorful affair of feathers, gaudy paint and gaiety.

War whoops were merely friendly salutations and the few guns in evidence were loaded with blanks—that is, all but the sheriff's six-shooter. He stood around to make sure none of the town's expected 20,000 visitors slipped any of the redmen a shot of red eye.

Young braves, more accustomed to the shag than their tribal dances, were eager to go into the green corn dance. A few of them cut a few capers in front of their downtown tepees just to keep in trim for the colorful dance later.

Gov. James V. Allred was to arrive for the first official visit ever paid the Indian tribe—the last in the state—by a Texas governor.

The Indians plan to adopt Gov. Allred, Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodul and J. E. Josey, Houston publisher.

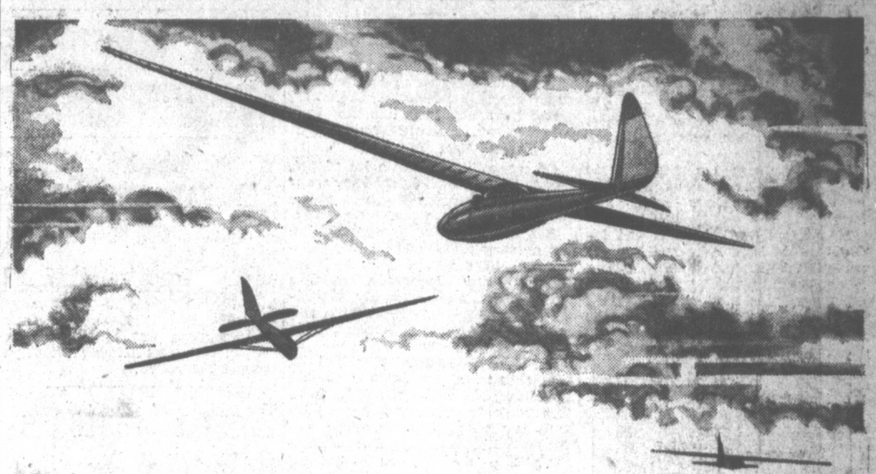

Squaws and long-haired maidens, one of whom will be crowned tribe princess, puttered around the tepees at daylight getting things ready for the big parade and wild west show.

The Indians, who live in a village 17 miles from here, hope to raise enough money through a public ceremonial to provide for indigent tribesmen during the coming winter.

The green corn festival is the ancient Thanksgiving holiday of the tribe. It was abandoned when the Indians buried their tomahawks 90 years ago and decided to live peacefully here in Texas' big thicket.

HOUR PROGRAM WILL FOLLOW NRA PATTERN

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Those stormy, stirring days of June, 1933, when General Hugh Johnson was creating the National Recovery Administration, may have a subdued counterpart when the machinery is set up for the new wage-hour program.

Less broad in its application than the NRA, the wage-hour administration will concern itself with interstate industries and those linked directly to interstate commerce. The NRA, on the other hand, attempted to encompass all industry with 600-odd codes.

On a half dozen or more points, however, the objectives of the wage-hour legislation almost coincide with those of the NRA. Here are some examples:

Wages—The new program fixes a minimum of 25 cents an hour the first year and 30 cents thereafter, with industry committees directed to increase it to 40 cents as rapidly as possible.

The NRA fixed minimum wages by industries. The cotton textile industry, for instance, submitted an original code proposal calling for a $10 minimum for a 40-hour week, or 25 cents an hour.

Differentials — The wage-hour legislation permits sectional pay differentials within an industry, after the 30-cent minimum has been reached. This will be done by letting the committees excuse a portion of an industry from paying higher wages on the basis of economic and sectional factors.

Again referring to the cotton textile code, the NRA was asked to make a definite differential between the South and the North—a $10 a week minimum in the South and $11 in the North.

Hours—the new law would fix hours at 44 a week the first year, 42 the second and 40 thereafter, the time and a half being required for overtime. Seasonal industries, running 14 weeks or less a year, could go up to 56 hours.

The NRA fixed hours by agreement, with a goal of 40, but making exceptions for seasonal industries and others.

Administration—A wage-hour administrator, chosen by the President and confirmed by the Senate, will operate in the Labor Department with a minimum number of administrative employes. The NRA had hundreds of employes under General Johnson's direction.

Industry committees—The wage-hour administrator will appoint committees for each industry, representatives of the public, employers and employes. These committees will fix wages above the 30 cents an hour limit. The administrator will have no power to change the board's orders, but may dismiss it and appoint a new board. His approval of a wage order will be final, except for court review.

Under the NRA, code boards were chosen by the industry. If the administrator disagreed with the codes they drafted, he could suggest changes. He approved them after consulting with an advisory council and representatives of labor and the public. The codes finally were approved by the President.

Exemptions—The wage-hour law will not apply to executives, administators, professional workers or local retailers. It will exempt farm workers and other classes. The NRA also was designed primarily for industrial workers, but it was much broader because it took in retail workers.

BORGER'S PARKING LAW APPLIES TO EVERYONE

(From Borger Herald.)

Chief of Police Bill Bates today cleared up a misunderstanding on overparking fines by declaring, "the law applies to all alike."

Out-of-town motorists will not be exempt from the traffic penalty, he said, and City Manager Claude Alexander repeated his statement that the city police department would make no exceptions or discriminations.

The parking ordinance passed last winter at the request of local business men prohibits the parking over two hours on Main street blocks between Fourth and Seventh streets from 8 a. m. until 7 p. m., Sundays excepted.

Chief Bates said that in the past the department had made a few exceptions in cases of strangers totally unaware of the law, but that everybody in this area now should know about and observe the ordinance.

City Manager Alexander said that the city soon would stencil "Two Hour Parking" signs both on the sides and the tops of the curb in the restricted area so that motorists would have no excuse for not observing the rule.

The city manager also said:

"Until the parking ordinance is repealed, we are forced to abide by its provisions regardless of the fact that it is no pleasure to fine good and otherwise strictly law-abiding citizens.

"There is no duty more discouraging than the one of enforcing traffic laws, for the reason that most people who violate traffic rules are just careless and they are good, upright citizens, friends and neighbors who are out of place in a police court.

"We would rather not bring these people into court, yet it seems to be the only means to cope with a situation involving the general welfare of all our people.

"It is the hope of our police department that these petty traffic violators will become fewer and fewer."

HORSES GET "TICKETS"

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP)—Do horses come under the parking meter law?

Prosecutor W. A. Thornhill Jr., and his assistant, W. H. McGinnis Jr., claimed they don't and said they wouldn't pay "parking fines" for their two steeds.

The lawyers left their horses on a street while they went to the court house and didn't put any nickels in the meters.

A policeman handed the horses a couple of tickets.

JAPAN ANNOUNCES NEW MOBILIZATION POLICY

TOKYO, June 23 (AP)—Reflecting the stringency of Japan's economic position, the government announced today a drastic new retrenchment program expected to begin functioning July 15.

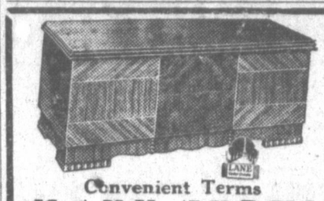

The order, to be implemented by application of those portions of the tion law applying to economic activities, was titled "mobilization of materials."

It affects production, distribution and consumption inside Japan and gives priority to materials to supply arms, munitions and export materials, the government announcement said.

"The ultimate end of the current incident still is very distant," the government communique announced, in an obvious reference to the undeclared war in China, now almost a year long.

The inevitability of protracted warfare necessitates further control over economic functions, it added, and consequently the cabinet approved the plan formulated in a five-minister conference.

WE GO DOWN HILL ALONE

The depression that began in 1930 affected the entire world with almost equal force. Recovery began in 1936 in the U. S. following an earlier recovery in other nations. Our country then registered a substantial rise in its business activity until the summer of 1937. Since that time the United States has been blanketed by a new depression that has steadily grown more severe, and has brought us ominously close to the abysmal lows of 1932. But the rest of the world is in a happier business state.

U. S. government figures tell the story. Using 100 as an average for the years 1923-25, German business stood at 195 in the summer of 1937 and at 180 in 1938; Italian business at 142 and 150, and British business at 130 and 125. Japan stood at 245 in 1937 and is at the same level now. So it goes, down a long list of nations. But where the U. S. touched 118 in 1937, it has now dropped to 77.

Why is that? Well, no country has so inflated its debt. No country, aside from the dictatorships, has pursued so punitive a policy toward private business. And in no country has the confidence of investors been so severely shaken by political persecution of business.

All of Europe is in imminent fear of a major war—yet European business goes on about as usual. And here in America, where our geographical advantages alone make us safe from invasion, and where we possess the greatest natural and industrial resources the world has ever known, we are going steadily downhill economically because, as William B. Warner, chairman of the National Association of Manufacturers, said, we have government competition with business, government policies of shiftlessness, thriftlessness, spendthriftness and politicians coaching the public to distrust business. That's something for the American people to think about.

PRONE TO ACCIDENTS

In every neighborhood are found persons who are "getting burned." There are women who get their fingers caught in the wringers; men that get nails in their hands. There are others that let the water run over the top of the bathtub and leave the door of the refrigerator open when they go away for the week-end.

In an official Federal report that has just been prepared for Congress six reasons are named as major causes for highway accidents. "The accident-prone driver" is one of the subjects presented in a program for study.

About 29 per cent of the motor vehicle accidents involve pedestrians; 53 per cent are collisions with other cars; 18 per cent involve other collisions, running off the roadway and so on

"Cars can't do a thing except under human direction . . . Certainly everything has been done that could be done to make motor cars operate as they should regardless of the driver's skill," is a truth found in the foreword to the booklet called "We Drivers," which has been distributed and read by millions of drivers in the last two years. Inasmuch as a very large per cent of all drivers never engage in serious accidents the statistics and conclusions all prove that there are too many drivers on the highway who are prone to accidents.

Uniform motor-vehicle traffic laws by the states are advocated so that drivers may know what new conditions they face when they cross state lines. The School Patrol has been so successful that many organizations of educators, automobile manufacturers and police and highway officials are favoring educational programs in the public schools. Those who have made thorough studies of safety on the highways believe that by beginning in the schools that it is perfectly reasonable to expect that accident-prone drivers might be educated to overcome their weaknesses before it comes their turn to take a place at the wheel.

STAMPING ON THE FIRE BUG

The National Board of Fire Underwriters reports that during 1937 further notable progress was made in combating one of the most despicable of all crimes—arson.

For the period 1932 to 1936, inclusive, the year total of both arrests and convictions for arson underwent an uninterrupted decline—in spite of increased vigilance by police, prosecuting authorities and insurance company investigators. In other words, the decline meant that the efficiency of this work proved to be a deterrent. A great many people who were tempted to commit arson saw that they could not get away with it.

During 1937, there was a slight increase in arrests and convictions over 1936, which is accounted for by the unfavorable economic conditions prevailing during the last half of the year. Even so, it is a noteworthy fact that in 1937 arrests were the lowest for any year of the past ten, excepting 1936, and that the ratio of convictions to acquittals was improved in favor of the former, which testifies to the success and energy of prosecutors.

The 1937 figures tell the story. Arrests rose six per cent over the previous year. Convictions increased by more than 21 per cent, and acquittals were less than 5 per cent greater. And the ratio of convictions to acquittals was 80 per cent.

This is good news for America. The arsonist deserves no pity. He works in the dark and every time he strikes, the lives of innocent persons are endangered. Due to the surprise element, the chance of loss of life in arson fires is often abnormally high. The men who are fighting arson are serving us well.

A SHORT STEP FORWARD

The new tax bill, which the President allowed to become law without his signature, marks a step toward tax sanity. And at the same time it marks a significant achievement for a courageous group of congressmen, led by Senator Harrison, who realize that you can't make business go ahead indefinitely by punishing it.

The tax bill is frankly a compromise—Senator Harrison and his followers wanted further reforms, but they were impossible to get at this time. Therefore it has not gone for toward correcting tax inequalities and abuses. But it has demonstrated that it is possible to do something to help business in the way of tax adjustment.

At the next session of Congress the friends of tax sanity must push on with redoubled vigor if the nation is really to be given a tax system that will even approach the ideal of fairness, with discrimination toward none.

Tex's Topics

Another of life's mysteries (to me) is how political office-seekers bear up under the wear and tear of everything that goes along with campaigning. . . It seems to me that bidding for the favor of the people in order to get them to vote for you is one of the world's most difficult tasks . . . A politician, or statesman, if you prefer, has to put up with plenty. . . He has to do everything from kissing babies to paying $9.85 per pie at pie suppers which are dished up mainly during campaign season because most people know that the candidates will be there and 'kick in."

One feels particularly chicken-hearted in behalf of the state candidates. . . Getting around over Texas, which is somewhat larger than Rhode Island, is a bit like taking a tour of the United States, and if you haven't got some kind of magic means of stirring up expense money, the first thing you know you have spent more trying to get the office than the doggone thing will pay out in salary after you get it. . . It sure is a tough life, this life of a candidate. . . So, don't be too harsh with the boys who are running for office. . . The row they have to hoe isn't such a much.

There's something else I never could understand about candidates, and the closer it gets to election day the harder it is to figure out. . . . For instance—here in Gray county there are seven candidates for sheriff. . . I have talked to most of them about prospects of the race. . . And not one believes he has a chance of losing . . . Any one of them can give you the "facts and figgers" and show you just why he will get more votes than all the others put together.

Of course, it's a lead-pipe cinch that six of these fellows are barking up the wrong tree. . . It sure is nice though, that none of them will be disappointed until late on the night of July 23. . . They all are buoyed up and full of ginger, which is as it should be. . . . I didn't mind venturing to pick the winner of that Louis-Schmeling fight last night, but I'm, not laying any money on anybody's line about the outcome of the Gray county sheriff's race although it has been intimated to me in a round-about way—not by any of the candidates—that if I will just mention that I have looked into the crystal ball and found that "Mr. So-and-So" will be elected—that that is all "Mr. So-and-So" need to BE elected. . . Well, that's quite a compliment, but what if it didn't work and the thing boomeranged on me? . . . After all, I live here.

Why is it that so many gave me the works last night and today for picking Max Schmeling to win that fight before the seventh round last night? . . . Well, the reason I picked it that way was because I was working on a secret tip that I got when I was in the East last month from a fellow "who knew" . . . This man, high up in the boxing world, told me that Joe Louis was training on night life high, wide and handsome. . . So, it looks like if you want to get in good condition you'll have to go out and take a fling at the bright spots. . . Well, any way, I have definitely succeeded Sports Editor Harry Hoare as an authority on things in the sporting world. . . Then, there's Max Schmeling—he picked it wrong, too.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Lines written in dejection from a sickroom, about 10:35 a. m.:

That's right, Sugar. . . I'm a little blue today. . . My doctor tells me I'm getting along fine. . . He says: "We'll have you up and out of here in no time."

And that's what distresses me . . . I don't want to get out of a nice room like this . . . I don't want to make a "wonderful recovery.". I have no desire to be another speedy triumph for the ingenuity of Alvah C. Bickner, M. D.

A quick recovery in the midst of all this fun would seem the hollowest kind of victory. It would mean the return of responsibilities. They'd shove an oar into my hands and I'd have to start pulling again. And my hands blister easily.

That's the trouble with having a doctor like this man. There is no poetry in his soul. He gets you well too quickly. You get sick and he asks you a few simple question and, like that, he knows exactly what the trouble is. He says, do this and take this, and by golly you're feeling like Dempsey again. Before you even have a chance to relax and get lazy. It's a nuisance, really. He's the man to call if you've got a train to catch. But not if you want to take it easy and come back to normalcy in leisurely stages.

Well, it's my own fault. I knew better. I've seen him work before. A long time ago there was a little girl, and they didn't think she was going to get well, and he took her to the hospital, and I went over there, too, and gave her a transfusion, and Bickner said: "Do this and do thus and so," and she became well. They didn't think she would ever get well, but you should see her today.

This sick room of mine is in Rutherword, N. J., about 10 miles from New York. . . . On clear days you can see the Empire State building, like a blue spear in a crayon sky. . . It is just far enough away from New York to be "removed." . . . There it is at your fingertips, but you can't hear it. . . . No jangling taxi sounds. . . It's like having your cake and eating it. . . Like Coleridge saying, "As silent as a painted ship upon a painted ocean."

This is a small town with shady streets and a station square and a bus line and a movie theater and a place where everybody goes for ice cream sodas on hot days . . . It is 45 minutes from Times Square by bus or train and ferry . . . And yet it is at the end of the world.

One of my pals just brought my mail over from the office. It was a good mail. . . Ninety-five communications from press-agents and maybe a dozen letters from friends. . . . Some of the readers of this column have been jibing me. . . They're lots of fun. . . Well, tomorrow I'll answer them all . . . I'm well enough to answer them now, if I wanted to, worse luck. . . But I don't want to just now . . . I can feel one of those lazy, drowsy slumbers coming on . . . And it feels so good to stretch . . . and yawn. . . No nightclubs, no commuting, no cramming one's self into steaming subways, no swing bands, no telephones, no actors, no nuthin' . . . except . . . sleep.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM.

Have you met Shari Ann Shaw and Patricia Ann Shaw? If you haven't you still have something to live for. If you happen to be in the business section of North Frost street look out for a little girl, seven years old. Look out for brown hair, curled in rolls all over her head; look out for as pretty blue eyes as you will see in a month of Sundays; look out for a kind and well-mannered little girl—that will be Shari Ann. But who is Patricia Ann? Well, Patricia Ann is a rubber doll (she doesn't have a rubber head) that Shari got last Christmas and which Shari still carries around with her some mean boy pulled out most of Patricia Ann's eye-lashes, and the doll cries only when she gets ready, says Shari Ann. You can't make her cry by squeezing her—she cries when she gets ready. Yesterday morning Shari Ann gave Patricia Ann a bath, and brought her down in a loin-cloth bathing suit to show her to her good friend, Mrs. Mickey Conley in whose cafe Shari Ann loves to bring glasses of water to the customers. Shari Ann and her mother are visiting their grand-father and father, L. L. Ladd, founder of the Pampa Daily News, who now operates a printing shop on North Frost street. In the winter-time, Shari Ann and her mother and father live in Moore county and Shari Ann rides the bus to Dumas to school. There is only one thing left for this one to say—you certainly couldn't blame Mr. Ladd for worshipping his grand-daughter, and that being so you certainly couldn't blame Mrs. Conley, or this one, or anyone else. . . .

How's Your Health?

By IAGO GALDSTON, M. D.

By judicious sunbathing during summer, the sufferer from psoriasis (a skin trouble in which scaly patches appear) can definitely improve his condition.

Sunlight and artificial ultra-violet light irradiation benefit the control this skin disease even rarely aggravate them. We don't know exactly why.

Psoriasis is a very chronic condition, yet it should not be considered incurable. It is likely to improve at times, only to become worse again. Much can be done to control this skin disease even though we do not know how to eliminate it completely and permanently.

Its origin remains unknown. There is no evidence that psoriasis is an infection. Some physicians believe it may be caused by a virus.

The tendency to psoriasis appears at times to be inherited. Sometimes it disappears during severe illness. And quiescent psoriasis may become aggravated by minor maladies, such as head colds, tonsilitis, uncomplicated influenza and acute specific fevers.

The "nervous" phase of psoriasis is interesting. Occasionally the disease may clear up temporarily under the influence of suggestion.

If a doctor prescribes a bland and inocuous ointment for a psoriasis sufferer and assures him that it is a new and promising remedy, the odds are high that he will report a marked improvement in his skin condition. But when the same patient is subjected to emotional disturbances and to physical as well as nervous fatigue, his psoriasis is likely to become more "active."

When foci of infection exist, they should be completely eradicated. The highest degree of physical and mental health attainable is desirable if the disease is to be controlled.

The specific treatment of the skin lesions of psoriasis includes frequent bathing for the removal of the accumulated scales, and application of a variety of ointments which of course should be prescribed and used under medical supervision.

Artificial ultra-violet irradiation is generally helpful. A physician's advice should be had on the type of lamp, time of exposure and other factors in its use.

Around Hollywood

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — They're saying that Artist Willy Pogany's suit over the Connie Bennett portrait couldn't get over that Bridge of Thighs . . . Connie winning this one and her action against that British film company for the picture they didn't make with her, looks like 1938's courtroom star. She has another one pending against a commentator for slander.

It's listed among the sandwiches on the studio commissary menu, but it might be a formula for a musical: "Warner Bros. Special (Ham and Cheese and Chicken on Toast)" . . . The Critics' Special (unlisted) should be Roast Ham with Beef.

Standees Prominent

Speaking of beef, our recent one on the "press preview" situation found its best justification at the "Blockade" preview, although that was a picture worth standing for as we (arriving late) did along with other tardy press men . . . The word got around that here was a picture that SAID something, and the promise was so unusual that Hollywood, unaccustomed as it is to that sort of thing, stormed the theater and the whole business got out of hand. . . Other standees: Harry Cohn, of rival Columbia, and Walter Wanger, who made the picture.

A young writer friend of ours has been pounding at the studio gates for years, crashing only the "Indies" and a few air programs. "Ever get discouraged?" we asked solicitously. Never, said he.

"You see," he explained, "if I allowed myself to think dismally for a moment I'd be sunk . . . What keeps me going, though, is the fact that when I do get something on the screen or air the audience laughs at the right places, and cries at the right places."

A Vivious Circle

"Well, doesn't that convince producers?" we inquired innocently.

"Convince them? No! The only thing that will convince a producer is a screen credit on a big picture. . . ."

"But how," we asked, "do you get a screen credit on a big picture?"

"That's just it," said he. "It's like a fellow who can't get a job without experience and can't get experience without a job. Vicious circle."

"Then what—?"

"What's the use, you're going to ask? Well, some day I'll slip up on 'em and click—break through the circle."

I think he will, at that.

In the days of the Roman empire purple dye was so expensive that the emperor and the imperial family were practically the only users of it, hence the phrase "born to the purple."

Sharing the Comforts Of Life . . .

By R. C. HOILES

With the public generally believing that the living conditions of the worker can be improved by laws establishing wages and transferring property from one to another, the statement made by Abraham Lincoln in a reply made on May 21, 1861 to a committee from the Working Men's Association of New York, is certainly sound advice:

"The strongest bond of human sympathy, outside of the family relations, should be one uniting all working people, of all nations and tongues and kindreds.

"Nor should this lead a war upon property or the owners of property. Property is the fruit of labor; property is desirable; is a positive good in the world.

"That some should be rich shows that others may become rich, and hence is just encouragement to industry and enterprise. Let not him who is housless pull down the house of another, but let him work diligently and build one for himself, thus by example assuring that his own be safe from violence when built."

Of course, our sheltered theorists will contend that things are different now, but human nature is just the same now and wealth is created and preserved by just the same principles as was created and preserved when Lincoln made this declaration.

WHOLESALE INFLUENCES

Editor,
The News:

The Pampa paper a few days ago carried an article about divorce and marriage in our county. Within a given period divorces outnumbered marriages two to one. It is a shame and disgrace that Pampa is called a "Little Reno."

Public sentiment should be aroused and some remedy applied. Where divorce is paramount, lasciviousness is also present. If our young people are to be saved, something must be done. Dance halls and pool halls are in so many cases the only means of entertainment for our boys and girls, and there, they are thrown in contact with every evil influence. Places of this sort lead only to senual pleasure. This should be counteracted by providing places that will supply our boys and girls with a wholesome entertainment and enable them to grow into right thinking, majority of these cases and only

In Gray county we have built hospitals, roads and a postoffice. These supply the material need. Why not build a place for our boys and girls which will supply their moral needs. Every right thinking citizen of our town will agree that Pampa must grow on a solid foundation, where our homes are secure and our children protected from evil moral influences. This can be done only when wholesome moral influences prevail.

Negroes Nearly Riot After Joe Whips Schmeling

(By The Associated Press)

With noisy enthusiasm that in some places broke the bounds of police restraint, negroes in the nation's' cities celebrated Joe Louis" prize ring victory over Max Schmeling.

The knockout came so suddenly that it disrupted plans for organized celebrations, and a wild bedlam of parades, dances, hilarity and individual hi-de-ho resulted.

In Cleveland a 15-year-old negro boy was wounded last night by a police bullet and scores, including the officer who fired the shot, were injured in a melee.

Tear gas bombs were released to restore order after a throng estimated by police at 10,000 stormed through Cleveland's negro section, shattering street car and store windows.

The entire police and fire department of Gary, Ind., was called to riot duty after pistol shots fired by celebrants in a speeding automobile wounded a white woman. An angry crowd overturned the car and attempted to seize the three negro youths in it. Officers rescued them after threatening to use a fire hose on the crowd.

Chicago celebrators paraded the streets with banners reading "I Told U So" draped across their chests.

New York's Harlem spent its enthusiasm good-naturedly.

The first president of Harvard College was Henry Dunster.

HOLDUP HONEYMOON

BY EDWIN RUTT Copyright 1938, NEA Service Inc.

This was okiedoke because, Joseph knew, the girls were fighting over which one was to have lunch with him.

CHAPTER 1

Joseph Henderson Sandham was on top of the world. He sat in a low wicker chair on the afterdeck of his trim white yacht and extended his hand languidly for the aperitif that Smithers, his valet and body-servant, was about to give him. Over Smither's shoulder he could see two stewards laying a gorgeous lunch on a table that stood beneath a dark-green canopy. The central motif of the lunch seemed to be pate de foie gras. On the deck near one leg of the luncheon table was a magnum of champagne in a silver ice-bucket. And a degree or so to the sou-southwest of the ice-bucket reclined three tall streamlined blonds in shorts, and coats of suntan.

"Imagine," murmured Joseph Henderman Sandham, "this happening to me."

All at once one of the blonds drew back her doubled right fist and socked her nearest neighbor squarely on the button. Joseph noted this gesture and was faintly amused by it. Of course, in the ordinary way, he did not permit rowdyism aboard his yacht. But this was different. This was okiedoke because, Joseph knew, the girls were fighting over which one of them was to sit at the table to have lunch with him. Wherefore the sock was a kind of subtle flattery. He yawned and stretched out his hand further toward the aperitif that Smithers was holding.

"May the best woman win," he thought he heard himself mutter.

So far as Joseph could see there was just one thing wrong with the setup. He had a slight headache. Nothing much, to be sure. Just an annoying little throbbing in back of his temples. He wished it would go away. It seemed to be affecting his eyes. The three beautiful blonds behind the ice-bucket looked a trifle vague and outliny now. Even Smithers, standing so close to him, was getting somewhat dim and the aperitif he held wobbled in shadowy fashion just out of reach of Joseph's clutching fingers.

For a moment he toyed with the idea of sending Smithers below to get him a couple of aspirins and a pinch of soda bicarb. And then, very suddenly, Joseph Herendeen Sandham woke up.

There wasn't any yacht. There wasn't any Smithers. There wasn't any streamlined blonds. There was, however, a shaft of sunlight that hit directly in the face; a feeling as of the Ford factory working to capacity just in back of his forehead; and a red-headed girl with aquamarine eyes.

The red-haired girl spoke.

"Well, Rip Van Winkle," she said, "I'm afraid you'll find things a bit changed.,, Joseph made a hasty survey of his surroundings. In a vague way he perceived that he was in a well-furnished room. The red-haired girl sat on the foot of the bed. He did not recognize the bed, the room, or the girl. Wherefore he poised a hackneyed, but necessary, question on his lips and let her go.

"Wh-where am I?" he said.

"In bed," said the red-headed girl.

"Who's bed?"

"My uncle Tyler's bed."

Joseph felt carefully beneath the covers.

"Your Uncle Tyler in here too?" he inquired.

"Not this morning," said the girl.

"Oh! Where is your Uncle Tyler?"

"In Europe. As I was saying, Rip, you've got a lot of new things ahead of you. There's the Tri-Borough Bridge, for instance. Theres . . ."

"Hey, just a minute. Who put me in this bed?"

"Simmons. I helped."

"Who's Simmons?"

"My uncle's caretaker."

"Ah, we're getting places. Who're you?"

"Kelly Archer."

"What's that?"

"I said I was Kelly Archer. Like it?"

"It isn't bad. Funny, though. How come the Kelly?"

"Nickname, sort of. Short for Caroline."

"I see. Well, Kelly, just why did you and this guy Simmons put me in this bed?"

The girl spread her hands. "We had to do something with you, didn't we?"

"Why? Wasn't I behaving myself?"

"Oh, sure. But you were out like a light."

"You mean I passed out?"

"No, not exactly. As far as I know, you didn't have a drink. Listen, don't you honestly remember what happened?"

"I don't remember a darn think. Look here, who am I?"

"Heaven only knows. Haven't you a sort of faint idea?"

Joe sighed. "It'll come back to me presently. Meanwhile, my head hurts."

"I'm glad you brought that up. I was just going to ask you how you felt."

"Well, you know now. Terrible."

"It'll pass. The doctor said it was only a slight concussion."

Joe sat up abruptly. "Doctor? Concussion?"

"Yes, we had the doctor. He swore horribly about being called out so late at night."

Joe was silent a moment.

"Look here, Kelly," he said finally, "we're shooting at cross purposes. Suppose we begin at the beginning. Now then! What country is this?"

"We think it's America. But we hesitate to commit ourselves."

"America, eh? Great old place, that. Glad to be here. What part of America?"

"Connecticut. Ever heard of it?"

Joe nodded. "That checks. I remember being in Connecticut."

"So you're beginning to remember, are you? Feel in the back of you head and see if you can fish out your name."

"Name?" said Joe. "That's easy. It's Sandham. Joe Sandham. Things are coming back to me."

And then, all at once, they did —in a big way.

It had happened about midnight, he thought. A sharp dark curve in a lonely country road. A sudden roar, a blinding flash of light. The banshee-like screech of brakes, applied frantically. Then a sickening thud, and nothingness.

"Ha!" he said. "I've got it. I was in a smash-up last night."

Kelly nodded. "Correct. So was I."

"Then you," said Joe, "were the one who hit me?"

"I beg your pardon, Mr. Bones. You hit me."

"Like the devil I did. It was all your fault. You came around that corner going 80 per and . . ."

"Like the devil you didn't. You were 'way over on the left-hand side of the road picking daisies or something. And I wasn't going 80. More like a mid-Victorian 40. And let me tell you something else, Mr. Joseph Sandham. If I hadn't put on my brakes like that"—she snapped her fingers—"you'd have waked up in either a hospital or a morgue this morning. And as for that truck thing you were driving, it would have been a jigsaw puzzle."

"All right, all right," Joe said wearily. "What happened next?"

"Well, I got out and waited for you to get out. But you didn't get."

"Didn't I? Sorry I forgot my manners."

"You couldn't move," Kelly explained. "You must have cracked your head against the windshield when we hit. I thought you were dead."

"It isn't your fauth that I'm not."

Kelly's green-blue eyes clouded. "You're an ungrateful brute. After all the trouble I went to last night on your behalf."

"You might," said Joe, "tell me what you did."

"Well, to begin with. I moved you out of the driver's seat and you were heavy as lead. Then I got in and drove that truck thing, with you in it, over here."

"What about your own car?"

She shook her head. "Wouldn't start again. Something smashed, I guess."

Mr. Sandham suddenly recalled something about common decency.

"But weren't you hurt at all?" he inquired.

"I've been wondering," she said, "when there was going to be a bit of kindly solicitude regarding little me. No, Your Honor, I wasn't hurt. Only scared silly."

Joe leaned back on his pillow.

"I'm glad," he said.

"Glad I was scared silly?"

"Don't be stupid. Glad you weren't hurt. My car wasn't entirely sunk then?"

"No. It got its face pushed in a little, but it still runs."

Mention of his car brought another fact about himself back to Joe. For two years he had been employed by the long-established and respectable firm of Chandler & Sandham, Chocolates, Caramels, Bonbons and Confections, learning the business from the ground up. At the moment he was serving in the capacity of salesman for the New England territory. Hence the car, a Ford built along the general lines of a fair-sized delivery truck. There was a decently upholstered front seat and in the commodious dark recess behind lurked quantities of chocolates, caramels, bonbons and confections, all waving under the proud banner of Chandler & Sandham.

"I don't understand," he said now, "why you brought me here? Why didn't you just toss me into a hospital?"

Kelly looked at him, speculated for a moment on the fact that he had curly dark hair and eyes a nice shade of gray, then said: "Of course, hospitals are sprinkled all over the place, aren't they? Like hot dog stands and filling stations? It was easier to bring you here, that's all. You see, the crack-up happeed only a couple of miles away and I knew Uncle Tyler was in Europe. Besides, I wanted to avoid any —er—publicity."

"That's the old Garbo fight," said Joe. "I shun publicity myself. Live quietly and expensively, is my motto. But where were you going in such a rush?"

Kelly sighed. "Questions. Nothing but questions. What is this, the third degree?"

"Well, you're the girl that knows all the answers. And I've been out with the birdies for the Lord knows how long. Come on, lady. Was there a fire in Boston?"

"If you've got to know, I was on my way to Boston. Cambridge, rather."

"Not a rendezvous with some gent from Fair Harvard?"

She nodded. "Sort of."

"What do you mean, sort of?"

"Well," said Kelly, "I was on my way to meet Gilbert."

"Gilbert, eh? Who's Gilbert, for Pete's sake?"

"Gilbert Mallow. My fiance. You know, the man I'm going to marry."

GOODRICH CALLS ON PEOPLE IN VALLEY

SHAMROCK, June 23—Traveling from town to town through the thickly settled Rio Grande valley in his car equipped with a dual public address system, Lewis Goodrich is telling the voters of the citrus region about his common-sense candidacy for attorney general of Texas. He will be in the valley area the remainder of this week.

The district attorney of the 31st judicial district is conducting a campaign that is unlike the campaigns being waged by any of his opponents in the race, striving to make personal contact with as many Texas voters as possible.

Goodrich is emphasizing that he is not attempting to ride into office on the coat-tails of any class or organization, whether it be corporations or football fans. He points out that the attorney general's office is administrative and enforcement department of the state government, and the incumbent should not be partisan or biased, but fair and unbiased toward all classes.

Goodrich's campaign slogan is: "I have no political debts to pay."
