DALLAS FARM NEWS FIELD MAN HERE.

Victor H. Schoffelmayer, field man for the Semi-Weekly Farm News and C. C. French, Industrial Agent for the Fort Worth Stock Yards were here last week-end and were shown over portions of the county by the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce as guests of this organization.

Each week, or even more often Mr. Schoffelmayer writes an article about some particular section of the State, showing what is being done and what the possibilities of the future may be, as particularly regards farming and stock raising.

He secured data here for such an article about this county and was particularly interested in the possibilities of water power development on the two Llano rivers. A number of pictures of goats, sheep, cattle and farm and ranch houses were taken, and some or all of them will appear along with the article.

Mr. French is an old time stockman and told The Eagle reporter that he had been in this county on several occasions before the county was organized. In 1874 he helped drive a large herd of cattle through here, and later bought sheep here and drove them to Austin.

Nancy Fred, the three year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dunderstadt, happened to an accident last Friday night that came near being fatal. A loaded rifle or pistol cartridge had supposedly been swept into the fire and had been exploded by the heat. The bullet struck the child on the right side of the head, some two inches above the ear and slightly fractured the skull. She was carried to Kerrville sanitarium immediately and the prompt medical aid and the fact that she is small, the wound is healing rapidly and she will be well again in a few days.

S. L. Kirkpatrick was up from Kendall County again this week and says his immediate section had a good rain last week, and range conditions are much better there than here.

SENIOR CLASS WILL PUBLISH H. S. ANNUAL.

The members of the Shreiner High School Senior Class have decided to bend every effort towards issuing an annual at or near the end of the present school term.

While this is quite an undertaking and will require the expenditure of several hundred dollars, the class feel that they can devise ways and means of raising the funds and are starting out with the work. They recently contracted with a San Antonio engraving concern to do the engraving and this week made a deal with Mr. Murf for the photographic work. Mr. Murf has recently completed a job of this kind for the Mason High School.

Albert Mayfield is president of the class and is a very capable and resourceful young man, and with the help of the other members of the class and with others of the school and of the town, he will be able to accomplish much for the class.

Quite a number of Methodist people from here attended the Methodist Workers' meeting at Brady last Sunday. Presiding Elder Draper outlined to those present his plans for the year. Methodists from over this section of the San Angelo District were in attendance. Among those from here were: Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Buster, Rev. and Mrs. J. Virgil Davis, Mesdames A. W. Loeffler, Ada Dockery, Roy Blackburn, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Miller, and Misses Effie Roy Blackburn, Audrey Blackburn and Natalie Lowry. Brady ladies served dinner for the visitors.

Julius Holekamp and a cousin, Mr. Heberer, are here this week from San Antonio visiting relatives and incidentally for a hunt. Julius has been working in the city for several months.

T. W. Ragland of Dripping Springs, and Mrs. Williams of Gonzales County, came in last week to be with their mother, Mrs. J. W. Ragland. Mr. Tom Plowman, a brother of Mrs. Ragland, is also here.

OLD SPANISH TRAIL ISSUES NEW TRAVELOG

San Antonio, Nov. 20.—Old Spanish Trail headquarters have issued a new Travelog, which gives travel and descriptive information from St. Augustine, Florida, to San Diego, California. It is bound in art covers of typical eastern and western scenes. The information includes mileage and road conditions between the towns and cities, mileage from any one point to another point across the continent, population, elevation, local description, old history, maps, pictures of the zero milestones, campsite data, hotels, local O. S. T. officials, etc., and gives locations of information bureaus. The Travelog is unlike any other travel literature in that the information is so systematically arranged it is easy to get a clear understanding of both the roads and the country. The information bureaus are another service of helpfulness to every traveler. Old Spanish Trail headquarters supply these bureaus with literature and information and also display cases.

A new four-color lithograph map four feet long is now in process. This map will show the whole south country, and also in colors the important highways from the North feeding into the Old Spanish Trail.

O. S. T. headquarters state the highway is now nearly 90 per cent improved and that some $10,000,000 in construction projects will soon reach completion, then this great southern transline will be without a parallel as a transcontinental route. At the recent election a $2,000,000 bond issue carried on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, and a constitutional amendment in Alabama, to provide for 13 miles more of bridge construction, including Mobile, Biloxi, and St. Louis bays.

The O. S. T. country from Florida to California, will become a continuous winter playground, the Managing Director, Haral B. Ayers, states. The task of establishing the Old Spanish Trail as one of the first transcontinental highways to be constructed has now been officially settled but tens of millions of dollars must yet be secured. People are learning of the rapid construction progress and inquiries for travel information of all kinds come from all over the United States, and as fast as economic finances these Travelogs, maps, etc., they will be placed at all information bureaus throughout the country.

NEW PERSONNEL IN COMMISSIONERS' COURT.

The new Commissioners' Court will have an entirely new personnel after the first of the year with two exceptions—the Sheriff and Commissioner R. W. Fisher.

A. B. Hodges, Chas. G. Montgomery, E. G. Hill and R. W. Fisher are the new commissioners, A. G. Farmer the presiding officer and L. R. Hodges, clerk.

Mr. Hill was elected to succeed Mr. Wood after the latter had been nominated in the primary, but decided to resign. Mr. Hill received 40 votes at Copperas and 43 at Cleo, his name being written on the ballots.

The commissioners are all ranchmen and are successful business men and the affairs of the county will be properly looked after, as has been the case with the efficient members that will retire on the first of the year.

W. P. Riley was in Uvalde on business the first of the week.

FORMER KIMBLE CO. WOMAN DIES AT EDEN.

Mrs. Horton Allen died at Eden Monday of this week, and was buried at that place Tuesday. G. R. Ragland left Tuesday morning to attend the funeral. Mrs. Allen was, before her marriage, a Miss Sandherr, sister to the late Nat. Sandherr of this place, and formerly lived on what is now the Dunbar ranch on North Llano. After her marriage to Mr. Allen, they lived for a time in Sutton County. For the past few years they have lived at Eden in Concho County.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. G. R. Ragland, a son, Arthur Allen, both of Junction, her husband, three other children, and a sister, Mrs. Davis of near Comstock.

Supt. Mark Riley of the San Marcos Fish Hatchery was here for a short while Wednesday meeting friends he had made on several former trips here. Mr. Riley is rounding out thirty years of continuous service with the Government and will soon retire from active duties with the Bureau of Fisheries.

He is a very efficient official with the Bureau and in his retirement this section of the country will lose, in that service a very valuable friend.

We were glad to meet him again.

Some weeks ago in these columns it was stated that Miss Annie Mae Estes had been elected president of the Players' Club of Kidd-Key College, when in fact she was elected president of the Senior Class of this institution. The young lady, who wrote this paper about the popularity of Miss Estes, was herself the president of the Players' Club, and in the rush, failed to give us the information she intended to convey.

We note from the Banderita New Era that Sod Durst has a considerable acreage of hunting land listed for lease. The advertisement states that he has for lease 15,000 acres with plenty of deer and turkeys.

CHURCHES TO USE NEWS- PAPERS TO SPREAD GOSPEL.

Washington.—Newspaper advertising by churches throughout the country is urged as part of the campaign to "call people to church" in a statement issued today by the commission on evangelists of the federal council of churches.

Co-operation by business offices of newspapers to make the advertising effective has been asked by the church organization. The advertising will be placed by local churches or church organizations and will be in addition to church items printed in news columns.

Dr. Charles L. Goodell, secretary of the commission, explained that since "news columns cannot as a rule carry the straight gospel message, its place is in the advertising columns." In this way, he said, the church can reach people who never enter the church.

"They are the people, many of them friendly to the church, but indifferent, that we want to reach in this campaign," he added. "The church has the wonderful opportunity of the advertising columns. Too often it has been satisfied with using them for mere announcements of service, and though this has its place and is worth while, the church must realize its greater task of using advertising for the story of salvation."

Mrs. Bill Hamer returned Monday from a visit with her parents at Golad. She was accompanied home by her mother, Mrs. Arthur Taylor, who went on to Eden to be with her sister, Mrs. Horton Allen, who is seriously ill. Mrs. Bob Ragland, who is a daughter of Mrs. Allen, is also in Eden. Mr. Ragland took her over Sunday afternoon.

Matt Burt recently sold his ranch on west Bear Creek to Mr. H. I. Robertson, from the Rio Grande Valley. All farm and ranch equipment go with the deal and Matt expects to move to town for the winter. Mr. Robertson will occupy the ranch in about 30 days.

GIVEN FOR BENEFIT OF JUNCTION CEMETERY.

Let us thank God our nation is at peace and our boys are at home. Let us be thankful, too, that behind our frank American smile, behind our whimsical wit, behind our seeming carefree indifference, there stands, rekindled in the American character, that power, that courage, that love of country marked in the lives of the Nation's founders, and upon which rest the safety of American ideals.

Thanksgiving is perhaps the most beautiful of American holidays. It opens the floodgates of memory, it draws from the heart our human love and links anew our kinship with the Christ.

Yet, what say we of those among us who are lonely at this hour, those who try, bewildered, to fathom the mystery of Almighty reasoning, those who in their suffering look with pleading eyes to learn what, in their time of sorrow, they have at hand for which to offer thanks.

In the suffering heart to-day let there be thanks for Jesus and His ability to run the gamut of divine emotion to the last resonant tone. God has ruled that only from out the melting pot of the agonies may come the gold refined and pure.

All is well. The nation lives; angels kiss the cheeks of sleeping childhood, while those who have gone to rest repose in the arms of God—at peace. Let us give thanks.

KEEPING WELL

OVERWEIGHT

DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

WHAT would you think of a man who carried day and night, wherever he went, a 50-pound burden on his back? You'd say he was crazy and you'd probably be right. It's all well enough for Christian in "Pilgrim's Progress" or for fanatics in India or China, but no common-sense American would do such a foolish thing.

Hold on, though! How about that 50 pounds of surplus fat you're carrying? Is that any more sensible?

What's the difference, whether the burden is on your back or under your skin? It's an unnecessary burden just the same.

You wouldn't bet on a fat prizefighter, or put your money on a fat race horse, would you? You'd know they weren't "in condition" and that if you backed them you'd lose.

If you carry surplus and unnecessary weight, you're going to lose. The paunch around your waist isn't all. For every pound of fat you have on your stomach there's another pound inside. Fat in your muscles, fat around your lungs and heart and fat around your blood vessels. And it's all unnecessary weight to carry and needless fat that clogs and impedes your muscles.

Life insurance companies will not issue a policy to anyone who is 40 percent overweight. They know that fat people are more subject to diabetes, kidney diseases, heart diseases and hardened blood vessels than are people of normal weight.

Life insurance companies are run to make money and they don't place any bets on men who are not "in condition."

Why are you too fat?

In 75 percent of cases because you eat too much or use your muscles too little, or both.

You put food in your stomach and the body digests it and makes fuel out of it. But it has more than it needs, so the surplus is stored up under your skin and between your muscles and around your heart to get it out of the way.

It's waste that makes waist. Fat means that you are buying more food than you need; eating more food than you need; carrying more weight than you need, and clogging up your body machinery.

In current business language, it's too much overhead, though it isn't overhead at all.

What's the remedy?

Let less, work more. That's the only anti-fat prescription that's worth taking. Save money, save energy and gain better health by having a better physical machine to work with.

ABOUT CHEVON

"The ranchmen of West Texas have learned the art of properly killing and dressing the goat for table use, and the delicious dishes which they enjoy and in which the meat of the goat figures conspicuously, are well known to all who have partaken of West Texas hospitality."

Doctor Youngblood has expressed his gratification because of the success of the effort and said: "The Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association in establishing the name 'chevon' as an official name of goat meat, little as one may think of it, has made history. No longer will the proud housewife, too frugal in her economies to buy a 'beefsteak,' be humiliated by having to walk into a meat market and ask for a quarter's worth of goat meat. She will now walk in with dignity and ask for a couple of chevons chops with all the self-respect that she would retain should she have the price and therefore ask for the choicest mutton chops or steak."

"If one hoots at the idea of a change in name making goat meat a respectable diet, let him visit on any of the ranches in the Edwards Plateau and partake of the savory roasts and chops prepared by the ranchman's wife in a manner that would tempt the taste of the most critical connoisseur. This I have done to my surprise and satisfaction full many a time during the past twenty years."

NEWTON BOYS OLD RESIDENTS OF RISING STAR.

The older citizens of the Rising Star community were interested Tuesday in reading in the daily press of the pleas of guilty entered by the members of the Chicago mail robbery gang in that city, and who will receive life sentences in the penitentiary.

The Newton boys formerly lived a few miles west of town and it is remembered that they were rather rough characters here more than 15 years ago. It is recalled by some of the older citizens that one of the boys first broke into trouble in this county when he stole a bale of cotton from T. B. Robert's gin. It is not remembered here whether or not he was convicted on this charge, but both the boys were frequently in court at Eastland and on different occasions jumped their bonds and broke jail.—Rising Star X-Ray.

Fire Cracker Johnnie gives us a considerable amount of advertising in the last issue of the Sentinel, the paper he says his "friends" bought for him, and in order to help us out, sent a good number here for distribution. Of course he needs the additional circulation, and the advertising he gave us is appreciated, for we have already gained some new readers and a good deal of favorable comment from people who know F.C.J.'s reputation as Brady's champion liar.

Although he devoted nearly a whole page to us, he developed nothing new, except his usual line of lying and denial. He had plenty of space to spare, too, for his advertising last week exclusive of his foreign ads, professional cards and Klan ads ran a little better than 25 per cent. But he didn't have space for the election returns of McCulloch County. The week before under a big headline, "Land Slide for Republicans," he voted quite a bit of his space to the National and State election, and ended by stating that the county returns were not available; yet the other Brady paper, a real newspaper, carried the returns practically complete that week; but even the following week F.C.J. had not found out how it went, any further than it was unfavorable to him. The fact is, they would have been available had the results been different, but he is in such a habit of lying and suppressing things that are not to his liking that he could not pass this opportunity to continue his ways.

No need to carry on a further controversy with him. The above is just another example, of which we have given some and know many others, that convinces us that he is an unmitigated liar of the blackest type and a person without any sense of right or wrong, and one who will perform any kind of underhanded work for those who pay him the price.

The lies he publishes about us are similar to the general run of his "friends" paper, and people know him too well to believe anything he says.

Common honesty and a respect for the rights of others is a great asset in one's neighbors. If I were to raise a flock of turkeys and they strayed away and roosted in the trees in my enclosure, a neighbor sneaked in at night without my consent, and shot them and converted them to his own use, I would regard him as a common thief. He has no more right to do this than he has to kill a sheep, goat, hog or calf, that might sleep under the trees. Yes, the turkey go wild. So do the hogs, the sheep and the calves go wild, but the fact that they are shy, or wild, gives no one the right to take them.—Sterling City News.

It is now getting time of year when we should all be getting ready to plan for the coming year, and one of the best foundations for the new year planning is the clearing up of all possible debts.

When we pay the other fellow he is able to square himself with his creditors and it keeps going, and everybody is in better standing. If a person can not pay all, he should pay as much as he possibly can, and tell his creditors when he expects to pay the balance. That's the only way to pay fair.

Good credit is one of the assets a man can have. A man with a reputation for paying his debts promptly or making satisfactory arrangements if he cannot pay, need never be in an embarrassing position, while the man without good credit standing has only himself to blame.

It's a grand and glorious feeling, as the cartoonist says, to have the consciousness of having done the right thing—or to be out of debt once, even if you again go in debt.

The first of the year is not far off.

Next to a reputation for honesty, a trade of some kind is doubtless the most valuable asset a young man can possess.

A few years ago it was the custom for most boys to serve an apprenticeship in order to learn a useful trade that would always insure them a reasonable wage, but in this era of jazz dancing, automobiles and ease of securing fairly good paying jobs that require no special training or skill, too many boys are unwilling to devote time to learning a useful trade. The average boy wastes enough time pitching dollars, hanging on the street corners, or in doing other things as fruitless, to learn a good trade that will be valuable through life—an asset on which he has neither taxes, rent or interest to pay, yet they wonder in later years why the world is so unkind.

The papers say that Jim Ferguson was elected (by proxy) but they don't say what his majority was.—Sterling City News. Our good friend and former co-worker in the House of Representatives must have been getting some of these papers, that only give election returns when the returns are favorable to their candidate. Of the five dailies we get, all gave the results of the election in a gradual increase for Mrs. Ferguson, until the latest figures noted, the majority of Mrs. Ferguson was around 120,000.

THANKS!

The Executive Committee of the Kimble County Fair Association wishes to thank all who assisted in the Fair work.

The committee members of the woman's department and the business men who contributed so liberally, are especially thanked.

By beginning earlier and setting the date a month or so earlier next year, we can have a much better fair. Let's all work to that end.

Chairman.

THIS AND THAT.

In the light of experience all of us should concede that within the memory of man the "pork barrel" system has never been known to patch a tax-payer's pants nor feed his hungry mouth. In all good candor, unless the pernicious practice is abated, it will not be long before honest industry, for reasons of decency, will have to remain seated while in the presence of polite society.

In the Legislature a few years since, a bill was introduced to create and establish one State Normal School. After careful investigation it was concluded that there was no need of it and the bill was not enacted into law. For a moment—but for a moment only—tax payers, unwise to the ways of systems, thought they discerned a rift in the gloom of tax oppression.

What do You Think of This? But first thing they knew four bills were introduced providing for the creation of four normals and, although there appeared no urgent reason for the one, all four were created. And how such things do grow! For the two years ending August 31, 1925, the Legislature of 1923 appropriated for support and maintenance of the three in operation, the sum of $1,074,500, of which $691,000 was for salaries. For construction and equipment of the fourth normal, $345,625 was appropriated. For support, maintenance and improvements, as shown by budget estimates submitted, these four recently created institutions are asking of the Legislature to convene January, 1925, the total sum of $2,286,538, of which $1,338,870 are for salaries.

What Do You Think of That?—Facts and Fiction.

A MAN-SIZED JOB.

When Ma Ferguson takes charge of the State Government she will find herself at the head of the biggest corporation in the South. For the State of Texas collects and expends multiplied millions of dollars every year, doing a gross business that is larger in volume than that of any commercial corporation operating within the State, or perhaps, in the whole South.

During the last fiscal year, which ended August 31, last, the total receipts of the State, as announced by Comptroller Lon A. Smith, reached the enormous sum of $61,816,000. The money came from ad valorem taxes, totaling $24,410,000; poll taxes, $1,729,000; occupation taxes, gross receipts taxes, gasoline taxes, franchise taxes, automobile license taxes, totaling approximately $19,000,000 more; from miscellaneous other sources, including the prison system, which contributed $1,779,313.

The expenditures for the same year totaled $59,919,000. Of this amount more than $24,000,000 went to schools, the State public school system receiving three-fourth of that amount and the colleges and university the remainder; more than $12,000,000 went into good roads and expenses of the Highway Commission; and the remainder was expended for miscellaneous expenses of the various State departments, including eleemosynary institutions, payment of pensions, salaries and expenses of the judicial system, maintenance of the prison system and similar items.

With all these figures before us, it is interesting to note that there is now a deficit of approximately $2,000,000 in the general revenue fund, and a prospect that a similar deficit will clear away the deficit for a few weeks, but the insistent demands of the innumerable governmental expenses will soon put the account back in the "red." Of a surety, Ma Ferguson will have a big job on her hands.—Brownwood Bulletin.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY
Good for every member of the familyTAX ON GASOLINE VS. TAX ON AUTOMOBILES.

The question of an equitable distribution of the cost of Government is always open to debate. Recently Farm and Ranch endorsed the suggestion that the tax be removed from automobiles and placed on gasoline as a more equitable distribution of the cost of public roads. A correspondent, whose communication appears in this issue, objects to that proposition, stating that it would favor the automobile associations and automobile manufacturers as against the farmer. He neglects, however, to justify his position by giving his reasons.

The automobile, as a piece of personal property, is taxed along with other taxable property. The Federal Government has assessed a war tax and States have assessed a tax on weight and horsepower. The automobile is burdened with special taxes as no other article in common use. And who pays the tax? Not the manufacturer or the automobile associations, but the man who buys and who owns one of the machines. Therefore, the farmer, if he buys or owns an automobile, pays the tax just the same as he would pay tax on gasoline that he consumed if the tax were on gasoline. Millions of farmers own automobiles, but per man, they do not drive as many miles as does the owner in the city even though they pay the same weight and license tax and the same war tax upon making a purchase of the machine. Therefore, arguing from that standpoint, shifting the tax to gasoline would reduce the farmer of some of his taxes and put it upon the man who makes the practice of driving hundreds of miles weekly. Furthermore, the gasoline tax would be assessed against all transients and tourists who purchase gas in Texas.

The idea of a tax on gasoline for highway purposes is to make those who use the roads pay for their construction and upkeep. Therefore, if a farmer only drive a few miles weekly in his trips to and from town, his taxes would be much less than the man who drives the same make of car, but who traveled many hundred of miles. Under the present system, the farmer owning a car pays an ad valorem tax, and on top of that pays a license and number tax based on weight and horsepower, whether he drives five miles or 5,000. In neither case does the manufacturer or the automobile associations pay the tax. It is the consumer who pays—Farm and Ranch.

A PORK BARREL ON EVERY FARM.

(By C. C. French, Industrial Agent, Fort Worth Stockyards Company.)

According to press reports, one of the great manufacturing companies of this nation is making a saving of $11,000 per day on what was formerly wasted. The writer well remembers when cotton seed wasted; it is now a valuable article of commerce. It is generally understood that the packing industry could never have been such a great success as it now is were it not for the way it has converted into valuable by-products what was formerly wasted. Lard was at one time worthless; it is now a valuable by-product from petroleum. Only a few years ago the sugar cane, after being crushed, was practically a waste; now it is manufactured into a valuable article of commerce.

On a cotton farm that is properly fenced, the hog is a by-product, or side line, and is a consumer of by-products—the waste that is now taking place on nearly every cotton farm. The value of a good brood sow on the farm was never before so well known as in the work done at the A. & M. College by G. W. Warren, Swine Husbandman of the experiment station, W. L. Stangel in charge of school of agriculture, A. & M., and A. L. Ward, secretary Texas Swine Breeders' Association. From a 260 pound hog,

they produced the following:
Home Curing Value of a 260 Pound Hog—
Hams, 38lb @32c----- $12.60
Br'k't bacon, 26lb @30c 7.80
Pork prod., 80 lb @40c 32.00
Pure lard, 4 gal. @ $2.--- 8.00Total -----$56.96
Live Weight value----- 26.00
-----$33.96

The feeding of a litter of 14 pigs by Edgar F. Laird at Amarillo, for 180 days, producing 4,291 pounds of pork and making a profit of $225.00 in 180 days, shows the value of a good brood sow.

When something near these two demonstrations are combined on each cotton farm in Texas, the people of this State will not have to spend seventy-five million dollars for imported pork products.

The Commissioner of Agriculture of Texas tells us that the cotton crop of 1924 will cost 24 1/2 cents per pound to produce.

The writer has seen cotton sell from 31c to 4c per pound at the present cost of production. If cotton goes back to 8c or 10c what will happen? Bankruptcy.

If you contemplate any painting or paper hanging, I want to figure with you. All work guaranteed to be first class. Phone or see Howell Wright. 29-31c

THE HOME PAPER.

The local paper is the small town's greatest asset. No town should fail to appreciate its local paper to the extent of a liberal patronage.—Henry Ford.

But let us see just how Henry is supporting the home town newspapers. On every Ford car sold from the Ford factories the dealer is charged $3.00 for advertising, to be used at the discretion of Mr. Ford. The country newspaper for a time received advertising each week from Mr. Ford but now he has cut this out and is giving them only an occasional contract, displacing the country papers with daily newspaper and magazine advertising. All wrong, Henry; too inconsistent.—Stephenville Tribune.

GETTING BACK TO BUSINESS.

The election over, business men throughout the country have discovered that it was a mental hazard, and are back to work, with new zeal. Even farmers, many of them, found that the political campaigns were influencing their mental attitude and interfering with their ordinary program of work. Many found entertainment in the political speeches, while not a few were made to believe that if certain candidates were elected disaster would follow, all of which, as most of us know, was mere political bunk. One may take it for granted that most people, no matter what their political belief, are desirous of seeing the country prosperous, and so, much of the fear expressed over probable election results, was without foundation in fact. The country is going forward just the same.

During the campaign, farmers, as usual, were given special mention in every speech. For the time being they were the salt of the earth, and they were promised complete financial salvation via the legislative route just as soon as Mr. So and So was inducted into office. It is just as well for farmers to forget all about these promises, as most of those who made them don't remember anything they said during the heat of the campaign. They were after votes, and in all probability were sincere at the time, even if they knew full well that they couldn't make good. The big thing with the farmers at this time is getting ahead with the fall and winter work in order that they may take advantage of the bright days of spring. Political promises do not do the plowing or clean up the cotton patch as a means of fighting the boll weevil.—Farm and Ranch.

KIMBLE CO. POLO TEAM CHALLENGES ANGELO.

The Watson Divide Polo team composed of hard riding Kimble county ranchmen who mount wiry ponies on range saddles, hurls a challenge at San Angelo's fast civilian club, of which Fred Roe of Robert Lee and Dick Waring of San Angelo are members.

The Watson Divide Polo team recently divided a pair of games with the crack army officers' squad of Fort Clark, Kinney County. Its players would like nothing better than a series with the San Angelo trio at the All-West Texas Exposition here in 1925, says O. W. Cardwell of Junction, who has an injured head as a result of a recent game, having been struck by a mallet.

Mr. Cardwell formerly lived in San Angelo. Along with the polo challenge, he announces several deals, one of which is the sale of his irrigated farm at Christoval to C. W. Jennings, at $100 an acre. The farm is on the South Concho river in Tom Green County.

Mr. Cardwell marketed his full short wool and mohair at Uvalde, receiving 55¢ for the wool, 68¢ for the grown mohair and 80¢ a pound for kid clips. He has just received 1,225 high grade Delaine lambs. He paid $5 per head for sheep in the wool and $4 each for those that had been sheared.

Three carloads of fat cows are being fed by Mr. Cardwell on his Kimble County ranch. The daily ration is seven pounds of cake on grass, which will cost him $5.40 a month. He expects to market these cows after the rush of range cattle is over and prices are improved. —San Angelo Standard.

WARNING TO FARMERS ISSUED BY COOLIDGE.

Washington.—In his first address since the election, President Coolidge assured delegates attending the meeting here of the association of land grant colleges that the government would omit no effort to prevent a repetition of recent difficulties encountered in agriculture.

Speaking of the immediate future, Mr. Coolidge warned that more attention must be given by farmers to the marketing problem so the "abnormal and war-stimulated surpluses" may be disposed of. He then pointed to a period he said was "fast approaching, when this nation will be one of the greatest agricultural producing countries and the problem will be the maintenance of a prosperous, self-reliant, confident agriculture in a country preponderantly commercial and industrial."

Education by the land grant colleges, looking to "wise and intelligent farming co-operation in all business operations which affect the farmer," Mr. Coolidge declared, "will be one of the main agencies for protection of this industry." He also stressed the value of organizations and methods which seek economies and greater efficiency in producing and distributing.

The President is expected to discuss in even greater detail his hopes for agriculture in opening the conference next Monday of the commission which he appointed recently to outline a program for permanent relief of farming conditions.

OBITUARY.

A deep gloom was cast over our community by the sudden death of little Mittle Irene, daughter of Brother and Sister E. W. Davis. She was taken violently ill unexpectedly and was hurriedly taken to a hospital in San Antonio, where she passed away two days later.

All possible efforts of skilled physicians and sympathetic friends failed to restore her to home and fond parents' hearts.

Mittle Irene was a very intelligent child, bright and winsome, being endowed with a religious intuitiveness unsurpassed in a child so young of years. She was devoted to her Sunday School, and had learned to sing many of the songs, among which was a favorite with her, "Follow On."

Born February 15, 1921, and died November 11, 1924, gave her the brief span of 3 years, 9 months and 25 days only, here on earth; but that was long enough for her to get her little fingers abhold of many heart strings, for there was a large concourse of sorrowing friends who followed the remains to Junction cemetery, where we laid them beneath the sod, under a most beautiful floral offering, to await the resurrection morn.

Good-bye little Mittle Irene, for a while, then we shall meet to say farewell no more.

Her Pastor,
J. Virgil Davis.

A MOVIE PARTY.

Mrs. Clay Secrest, of Richland Springs, was the honoree of the movie party given Saturday evening by Mrs. Conrad T. Holekamp at the Hankins-Riley Opera House.

After the show all the guests were invited to Mrs. Holekamp's home, where she had planned a most interesting and entertaining contest. The pictures of the different movie stars had been pinned on the wall and each guest was to see how many they could recognize. Miss Dorothy Hodges received the prize: two passes to the show, and the honoree, Mrs. Secrest was presented a very pretty Madera handkerchief, while Mrs. H. G. Perry was consoled with a movie magazine to learn more of the stars.

Refreshments of pimiento sandwiches, hot tea and fruit jelly topped with whipped cream were served.

THANKSGIVING BRIDGE.

Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Irvin Jarvis and Miss Emmaline Ray entertained a number of friends with a four table bridge party at the Ray residence.

After the scores had been added, Miss Dorothy Hodges was presented an attractive China cream pitcher and sugar bowl for high score, while Miss Modelle Jobes was consoled with a very unique incense burner.

Most delicious refreshments of sandwiches, fruit salad on lettuce leaves, cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie and hot tea, were served. The plate favors were little turkey baskets filled with candy corn. The tallies also carried out the Thanksgiving motif.

A SIX O'CLOCK DINNER

Mrs. Roy Williams honored Mr. and Mrs. George Vierling, Jr., with a farewell six o'clock dinner Friday evening at her home on College Street.

A regular chicken dinner was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Vierling left for San Antonio where they will make their home.

Prof. Everett Calender, our teacher, moved to Mr. Jack Hubble's last week, on account of being nearer his school, which is doing fine at present.

OBITUARY.

God has called another little angel home. He blessed the lives of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Young January 8, 1917, by placing in their keeping a little daughter, Jo Mildred. She was an only child and she had many loved ones that were making bright plans for her future; but all plans were hushed November 11, 1924, when Jo Mildred, a little bright star in her home, took her flight from this world that now seems so dark to her loved ones. God needed her and she has gone to Him.

There is now a vacant chair and a sweet memory of a little childish form, of sunny smiles and pattering footsteps. But all is still, yet she is not dead. She is waiting in Heaven for you dear parents. No, she is not dead.

She was ill only a few days. She was born in Kimble County, spent her baby days in London and the last five years in Menard.

She was a grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Brewer of London.

YOUR SUCCESS IS OUR SUCCESS---

As banks prosper only in proportion that their customers succeed, it is only logical that they should be interested in every method or plan that is vital to the conduct of the business of each depositor.

With this thought of mutual prosperity in mind, we invite our depositors to talk over every business problem with us. If we can assist with our experience, we shall be most happy to have rendered a worth-while service.
