ELDORADO OIL STRIKE MIXES PAY AND SALT

First Giant Producer in Arkansas Runs From Ten to Fifteen Thousand Barrels of Oil Initial Day.

Flows 40 Feet Over Top of 112-Foot Derrick; About Third Water; Casing Cut Loose by Pressure.

By Associated Press.

LITTLE ROCK, Jan. 11.—Official cognizance of a reported oil strike near Eldorado, Ark., was taken by the Arkansas legislature today, both houses passed a concurrent resolution recommending the appointment of a joint committee to visit a well, said to be of several thousand barrels, with a view to passing regulatory resolution.

Special to The Record News.

SHREVEPORT, Jan. 1.—Eldorado, Arkansas suddenly sprang into fame Tuesday night with the completion of the first large oil well in Arkansas since operations began in that locality about a year ago. The new strike was made by Matterx and Hinton, Shreveport operators in their No. 1, Armstrong, in section 31-17-15 at 2,223 feet.

It is north of Shreveport. The initial pressure was strong enough to unseat the casing. Casing will have to be reset before the well can be finished.

The well came in flowing forty feet over the top of the 112-foot derrick. The well is located one mile due west of the town of Eldorado in Union county, Ark. Nearby are two large gassers of the Constantine Oil and Refining Company of Tulsa, Okla., the latter spraying about 25 barrels of oil daily.

Nearby Tests Drill Deep

The nearest other promising test is the well of the White Oil Corporation, which came in with about fifteen barrels, but is being drilled deeper in quest of large production.

The initial capacity of the Armstron well is estimated at from 10,000 to 15,000 barrels of fluid.

The oil tests 33 degrees Baume gravity.

The condition of the hole, partly open, has cut the oil somewhat and the well is making about 33 1-3 percent water, according to reports tonight from the location.

Special trains are rushing to Eldorado from Shreveport.

Ask Rating on Crude

The Chamber of Commerce already has applied for a special rating on crude oil.

Tents have been shipped from here to help the town take care of the great influx of oil operators, lease hounds and others are arriving on the scene in every possible conveyance.

Oil men here say that the new strike undoubtedly opens another great pool in the Mid Continental field. The location is about 35 miles north of the Homer pool.

In view of the doubt which always surrounds initial production, estimates of the production of a discovery well, The Record News adds that the special story out of Shreveport given above, is written by Albert Witt, managing editor of The Shreveport Times, and probably the leading newspaper authority on oil in Louisiana. He represents the New York World, The Daily Oklahoman, Beaumont Enterprise and several of the best known oil weeklies in America on oil news from Louisiana.

O'CALLAGHAN CASE GOES TO PRES. WILSON

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11. — Decision as to the deportation of Lord Mayor O'Callaghan of Cork, who arrived in Newport News last week as a stowaway without a passport, was referred today to President Wilson.

The president thus was called upon to decide the position of Acting Secretary Davis of the state department, who has insisted on exclusion of the lord mayor from the United States for attempting to enter without a passport, and that of Secretary of Labor Wilson, who has refused to acknowledge jurisdiction of the state department until the case has been formally presented to it by the labor department.

With the labor department declining to recognize the jurisdiction of the state department, and the state department insisting upon its right to order the deportation of O'Callaghan under war time powers conferred upon the president and his executive agent, the secretary of state, officials of the labor department stated today, the case had reached a point calling for the inter-mediation of the president.

Secretary Wilson is known to be willing to abide by any disposition which the president is inclined to make of the case and is prepared to enter an order for his deportation immediately, if that course should be indicated by the president.

Herrick, may be returned to that post, 'tis rumored. Frank A. Munsey is talked of as ambassador to Italy.

Long Trek to Civilization Brought to Dramatic Climax With Aeronauts Staging Fight

By Associated Press.

MATTICE, Ontario, Jan. 11.—The long trek to civilization of three American naval balloonists came to a dramatic climax here this afternoon when two of them—Lieutenants Farrell and Hinton—came to blows over statements alleged to have been made by the latter in a letter to his wife.

When they emerged from the bush at 2:20 o'clock, after a 16 hours' journey from the Hudson Bay company post at Moose Factory, near where they descended December 14, the three aeronauts, bound in a tie of friendship, through their facing death together, apparently were inseparable.

An hour later Lieutenant Farrell sat in the parlor of the log cabin home of H. P. Williamson, clerk in the Hudson Bay company store here, relating the story of the party's adventures to newspaper men.

During the conversation Lieutenant Farrell was shown copies of news dispatches, among them a letter alleged to have been sent by Hinton to his wife, and published in a New York newspaper, which said, in part:

"Mr. Farrell fell from exhaustion several times. Wanted us to cut his throat and take his body for food and asked us to go on and let him die, but we decided to stick and die together. I was the only one that did not express my feelings and kept them cheered up."

Hinton then came into the room. He told Farrell he should not continue his talk to newspaper men, as he had dispatches from the secretary of the navy, forbidding any of them to talk until an official report had been filed.

"You rat, you have been talking yourself," Farrell snapped back, indignantly. He then accused Hinton of writing false reports, referring to the letter.

Hinton replied that the letter had been published without his consent, but that its contents evidently had been exaggerated. Farrell then went into another room to apologize to Mrs. Williamson for his language. While he was gone, it is said, Hinton declared his remark about exaggeration was made only for Farrell's benefit.

Farrell returned. More words passed between the officers. Then Farrell took off his coat and struck Hinton on the jaw. Hinton was sent sprawling over a table. At this juncture newspaper men and others in the room stepped between the men.

The men left the cabin separately and went to a special train waiting on a siding to take them to Cochrane.

By Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 11.—Attendance of a group of state officials and other men prominent in the affairs of Oklahoma at the inaugural ceremonies of President Alvaro Obregon of Mexico at Mexico City last December was not "necessary to the military service of the state," as stated in the expense bill signed by Governor J. Carter today disallowed a claim of Major T. W. Daley, inspector general of the Oklahoma national guard for an expense account of $108.33 incurred in connection with "the pleasure trip" to the Mexican capital.

INAUGURATION CEREMONIES BE VERY PLAIN

Plans for Brilliant Spectacle Cancelled After President-Elect Harding Asks for Simplicity.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President-elect Harding will take the oath of office next March 4 with ceremonies approximating in simplicity those which attended the inductions into office of Jefferson and of Jackson.

The joint congressional inaugural committee, meeting today to consider the request of Mr. Harding "for the simplest inaugural program," decided that, with the approval of the president-elect, the oath of office should be administered in the senate chamber and that all outside ceremonies at the capitol be dispensed with.

The new president, under the plans formulated by the committee, would thus take the oath of office in the small and almost semi-private chamber of the senate, immediately after the swearing in of Calvin Coolidge as vice president of the United States, and then would deliver his inaugural address within the hearing only of members of the senate and house, the justices of the supreme court and no more than 1,000 persons able to crowd into the restricted gallery space.

"No," he answered, "throw him out."

"We are getting enough notoriety as it is and I do not want fool pictures of me going all over the world," said Harrington.

Harrington then took Birch to the woodshed to whip him. He administered such a beating to Birch that the latter lost consciousness. When he regained consciousness Harrington was gone and two strangers were bending over him. They led him away from the house and directed him to a doctor.

Birch's nose was broken, both eyes were closed and his face was badly swollen from the impact of Harrington's blows. Birch has made no complaint against Harrington and the latter has not been arrested.

Senate Believes Immigration Is Not Threatening

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Testimony taken by the senate immigration committee in hearings on the Johnson bill prohibiting immigration for one year, has failed to prove the existence of an emergency, according to senators who tonight analyzed the evidence submitted by more than 30 witnesses in the past week. They declared the charge that "millions of aliens would flood the United States, increase unemployment and create economic chaos," had not been proved.

One member of the immigration committee predicted that inasmuch as the Johnson bill admittedly was an emergency measure designed to meet a temporary need—that of checking the alleged flood—it probably would be side tracked until such time as the emergency could be proved. Other committee members expressed similar opinions, saying that the present immigration laws would remain unchanged for the present or until the committee was able to draft permanent immigration legislation.

The committee plans to conclude its hearings this week and begin drafting a report to the senate some time next week. Chairman Colt said tonight he did not know the views of the whole committee and could not estimate how long would be required to draft a report for the senator embodying the opinion of the members.

Gronna Bill to Get Approval of Stock Raisers

By Associated Press.

EL PASO, Jan. 11.—The Gronna bill, now pending in congress, providing for a commission of control to regulate the livestock industry, promises to get a prominent place in discussions on the floor of the 24th annual convention of the American National Livestock association, which will open a three-day session tomorrow.

The administration forces of the association, headed by United States Senator Kendrick of Wyoming, president of the association, tonight predicted that the bill would be endorsed after a discussion on the floor of the convention

Delegates from several states, however, met this afternoon and decided to fight endorsement of the bill. E. H. Ammons of Denver, former governor of Colorado and prominent for years in stockraisers' organizations, voiced the attitude of those in attendance at today's meeting by declaring his opposition to any further bureau.

"We are opposed to the control of any private business by federal boards or commissions," he declared.

The executive commission of the association, at a meeting here today recommended that action be begun before the interstate commerce commission to obtain a reduction in freight rates and transportation charges on livestock, which, it is charged, are 65 per cent higher than before the war, while livestock prices are lower than any period for many years.

C. M. O'Donnell of Bell Ranch, New Mexico, was named chairman of the resolutions committee today. This committee is expected to report to the convention in favor of a tariff on livestock, wool, hides and meats.

Delegates tonight were the guests at a banquet tendered by the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

Two Big Wells From 2,100-Foot Sand Completed in South Bend

Two big wells from the South Bend 2100-foot pool in Young county, comprise the features of the week's completion report from the Wichita Falls district. The Godley Oil Company's No. 3, Graham, is reported flowing 700 barrels, being completed on Monday, and on Tuesday the Shamrck Oil Company's No. 1, Graham, was brought in, flowing 500 barrels.

The Godley well is south of the Panhandle Refining Company's No. 3, McCleskey, the first Panhandle well to complete in the 2100-foot sand. This well got the sand at 2090 feet, a little higher than the other producers.

The Shamrock well is between the McCleskey producers and the No. 1 of Chapman, Clark et al, completed a couple of weeks ago, before the Chapman, Clark and Harbin interests consolidated with the Shamrock company. This latest well was the first started drilling before the consolidation, but is the second Shamrock producer in the South Bend pool.

Wichita county drilling operations, slowed up before the holidays, are still under normal, as indicated by the short number of completions. The completions on the Mattie Parker, a few miles west of the city of Wichita Falls, are the most interesting of the few new wells in this county, this new 1300-foot pool showing three new producers.

The Cline Oil Company's No. 2 Parker, 50-acre tract, is pumping 60 barrels, and the No. 2, 20-acre tract, is making 40 barrels on the pump, according to reports from the field Tuesday. The Temple and White and Tillicum Oil Association's No. 2 Parker, which has experienced a considerable delay in getting on the pump is reported making 30 barrels.

Keane and Garrett, who abandoned their No. 1 in Block 21, last week, dry below 1300 feet, have moved on their rig for a second test, in Block 18, offsetting the Cline Oil Company's No. 3, now on the sand. Temple and White et al are drilling around several hundred feet in their No. 3.

A couple of new wells are credited to the old Burkburnett pools. The Humble Oil and Refining Company's No. 25 A. J. Schultz, is reported a 75-barrels well, from the 1630-foot sand. On the Reilly, the Magnolia Company's No. 59, is reported making 15 barrels from the 1300-foot sand.

NIFTY DANCERS PLEASE IN MUSIC VISUALIZATION

The Ruth St. Dennis concert dancers, interpreters of the classical art gave a musical visualization of the Wichita theater Tuesday evening which justifyably upheld the reputation of the famous dancer.

They were accompanied by Ada Tilley, soprano and Everett Olive at the piano.

The interpretation which was perhaps most like Ruth St. Dennis was presented by Claire Niles and ensemble in a dance, "March of the Dwarfs," set to music by Greig. Another representative dance by Miss Niles was "J'ai Pleure en Reve," Hée; with vocal accompaniment by Ada Tilley.

Dorothea Bowen proved to be a captivating little dancer, making her first appearance in Eccossaise No. 1, Chopin. She has about her the atmosphere of impudence combined with charm and personality, enabling her to win her audience with ease.

Betty May whose dancing and personality are similar to Miss Bowen, held her audience remarkably well while presenting Rigaudon, McDowell, and also in Richmond's "Ma Litshared honors with Miss Bowen.

Soaring, Schumann, interpreted by Doris Humphrey and ensemble was the most beautiful number of the program. The color scheme of the Grecian costumes and the great silken canopy of pale blue afforded Miss Humphrey an entrancing setting for her classical number. Her other victories of the evening were Bouree, Bach; and Valse Caprice, Chaminade. In the latter number the dancer was brought back three times by encore.

The 'Golly Wog Cake Walk" by Grace Carson was a bit of grotesque dancing which delighted the entire audience. Another impersonating dance was that of "The Juggleress" by Katherine Laidlaw. The dance was so realistic that one could almost see the juggleress's imagined balls.

Debussy's Arabesque in F was charmingly presented by Elizabeth Bode, as was Schumann's "Evening" by Katherine Hawley and ensemble.

The entire ensemble including Lenora Hellakson were true interpreters of the spirit of Ruth St. Dennis.

The Wing Song, Rogers, and Dobson's "When I Was One and Twenty," was rendered by Ada Tilley, whose melodious soprano won an encore not frequently accorded to singers.

Ordinances Forces Plumbers to Pass Municipal Tests

The new plumbing and sewer ordinance, which, as an emergency measure, was passed by the city council Monday night, and which will go into effect as soon as it is given the proper publication, requires all master and journeymen plumbers to pass an examination before doing work, either as an employer or employe.

The examination will be given by an examining board, consisting of the city engineer, city physician, city plumbing inspector, a master plumber and a journeyman plumber. A license will be issued by the city when the examination is passed in a manner satisfactory to the examining board.

The new ordinance places all plumbing and inspection work under the city engineer's department. It requires an indemnity bond from persons, firms or corporations doing plumbing or work in the city. The ordinance cites in detail the specifications for the various kinds of sewer and plumbing work that might be done in the city. It is expected that the new ordinance will go into effect within a few days.

By Associated Press.

PORT ARTHUR, Tex., Jan. 11.—Peter Haletsos, Greek seaman, was arrested by federal authorities today charged with attempting to smuggle liquor into the United States. Haletsos was alleged to have been caught in the act of landing with 18 bottles of whiskey. He is held under $500 bail

MUTUAL LEASE IN SOUTH BEND AND TEST SOLD

The Young County Mutual Oil company's 42-acre lease in the McCluskey tract, South Bend field, has been bought by the Oklahoma Petroleum and Gasoline company, together with a drilling well, according to reports from the field.

The purchase price is not reported.

The test, which had already started drilling when the sale was made, is now down around 1,800 feet, according to the reports, and should reach the 2,100-foot sand some time this coming week, if not sooner.

G. H. Duffy, Held In Auto Case, Is Released Tuesday

G. H. Duffy of Fort Worth, who at first gave the name of "John Adams" when arrested by police officers a week ago in connection with the supposed theft of an automobile and who during his confinement at the city jail, is alleged to have stolen a diamond pin from a fellow prisoner, has been released. The Ford sedan which Duffy was driving at the time of his arrest and which police believed to be a stolen machine is being held by the police department pending further investigation.

Information from the Ford factory shows that the machine bearing the same engine numbers of the sedan was sold in Cincinnati, Ohio. Due to the fact that the machine is practically new and could not, in the opinion of the police, have been driven from that city here without more evidence of wear, police believe that the numbers have been changed.

It is believed that the machine was taken in Fort Worth or Dallas.

Hundred Owe Dues To Civic League

There are one hundred delinquent members of the Civic League, it was brought out at the meeting Tuesday of the executive board, and a move is now under way to remind these delinquent members to send in their dollar. The Civic League needs the money, as well as an up-to-date membership list, with all members marked "paid up to 1922." The membership chairman, Mrs. J. M. Isbell and her committee have been instructed to commence a quiet campaign, to get all these members on the roll for the present year.

Those members who were not at home when the fall membership drive was staged, or who for some other reason have not had opportunity to pay their 1921 dues, were requested to mail their check for one dollar to the secretary, Mrs. J. V. C. T. Christensen, who will give them credit for payment, and turn the money over to Mrs. R. E. Shepherd, the treasurer.

League Luncheon For Members Set For February 1st

The Civci league's membership luncheon, which will constitute the February meeting, will be held Tuesday, February 1, at the Wichita club, according to announcement made to the executive board yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. J. W. Stone, the chairman of the entertainment department, will make arrangements for the luncheon, and will have the assistance of Mrs. J. M. Isbell, chairman of membership, in making reservations. The price per plate and the time for making reservations will be announced later.

ASK FRANCHISE AMENDMENT

Special to The Record News.

DALLAS, Jan. 11.—An amendment to the city franchise was submitted here today by F. F. Strickland president of the Dallas Railway Company, asking an allowance of six per cent to cover accident and damage suits.

FIRST DAY OF RELIEF DRIVE OBTAINS $750

A total of $750 for the European children's relief, was obtained as a result of the first day's active campaign and the window display at P. B. M.'s, according to an announcement by Jack Culbertson, chairman for Wichita county.

As a result, 75 of the little crosses in the P. B. M. window display have been replaced by small American flags, indicating that sufficient money to save the lives of 75 more of the orphans which have been assigned to Wichita county has been obtained.

The first day's showing is regarded as particularly good for Mr. Culbertson, particularly in view of the inclement weather prevailing, which cut down the number of people who were downtown during shopping hours.

In commenting on the result of the first day's efforts, Mr. Culbertson took occasion to urge those who had received letters from him in connection with the drive to send in their contributions without further delay, pointing out that delay at this time might prove fatal.

The $750 obtained brings the total obtained during the campaign in Wichita county to date to nearly $5,000, or approximately one-fifth of the total quota, which is $25,000.

Cline Driller Hits 1,330-Pay In Five Days

Striking the pay sand at 1,330 feet, five days after the test was spudded in, is the record made by drillers of the No. 3 test of the Cline Oil company on a 50-acre lease of the company in the Temple & White field. The No. 3 test of the same company on a 20-acre tract in the same field probably will strike the pay sand today in a similar period. The test was drilling around 1,300 feet Tuesday.

The Cline company started the twin tests after completing the Nos. 2 wells on the 50 and 20-acre tracts. The latter two have been placed on the pump, and, according to reports from the field, are producing around 50 barrels each. The company has additional locations on its holdings. A power plant for the operation of the wells has been completed on the leases.

In the southeast corner of block 12 the No. 1 of Rowe et al. has set casing and is rigging up with a Star rig to drill to the sand depth. Keane & Garrett, according to reports from the field, have abandoned their test in the northwest corner of block 21 and moved their rig to their lease in the northwest corner of block 18. This test will be an offset to the No. 3 of the Cline company.

If this test is brought in a producer, together with the Cline No. 3, it will prove up the southwest edge of the Bill Rowe Oil company's lease, which has dry tests.

In block 12 the Tillicum Oil association is drilling around 600 feet on their No. 3 test.

Thieves Concert Efforts on New Automobile Loot

Police are working to nab what they believe is an organized gang that has gotten away with three new Ford cars here this week successfully. The thieves evidently have a prearranged plan for looting owners of new cars, which are especially difficult to identify because they have no other marks or numbers save those of the factory.

One of the machines was stolen from J. P. Morgan, 1212 Holliday street, less than an hour after he had purchased the new car. He drove the machine to his home, where it was stolen.

Police are searching for an unidentified man described by Morgan, who was in the auto supply building at the time of the purchase. The description tallies with that of a man whom, the police believe, was connected with the theft of the two other Ford machines stolen last week.

SCHOOL HEATING PLANT REPAIRED ERE STORM HITS

The heating plant of the Sam Houston school which was reported out of order Monday on the eve of the approaching snow storm was repaired and the pupils attended their work in warm class rooms Tuesday, it was announced by W. W. Brown, business manager of the city schools.

Additional room for 600 Wichita Falls pupils will be ready for occupancy at the Austin building on Monday, January 24, according to the present schedule for completion of contracts. The new seats recently received for the Austin building are now being installed.

Tragic Reminder of Europe's Starving Will Face Wichitans Until Cross Give Way to Flags

Today, and the following days, until the $25,000 quota of Wichita Falls for the starving children of Europe is raised and the crosses can be replaced with American flags, business men and women and shoppers, and all others in the business district will be faced with a highly dramatic reminder of what the campaign means for the suffering childhood of Europe. In the central window of the P. B. M. department store, Jack Culbertson, chairman of the local campaign, has had arranged a unique window display, a miniature graveyard, filled with tiny crosses, with a child's casket in the foreground, and the marble figure of a sorrowing angel bending over the casket, symbolizing the graveyard which this city can prevent being filled?.

There are 25 sections in this miniature cemetery, with 100 tiny white crosses in each section. Each cross represents the life of one child, which $10 of American money can save until the next harvest. Four of the sections are filled with tiny American flags instead of the sinister crosses, and in a fifth section 20 flags stand out from the little white markers. These flags represent the $4,200 which Wichita Falls has already contributed of the $25,000 total. As each successive $10 is contributed a cross goes down, and a flag goes up.

Arrangements have been made by P. B. M.'s whereby the public may make contributions at the store, if they desire, or checks can be sent to Mr. Culbertson. All checks should be made out to Edwin Hobby, state chairman.

Indelibly inscribed across the horizon of human sympathy comes the pictorial plea for the 2,100 starving children of Europe belonging to Wichita county, now represented in the center display window of the P. B. M. company of this city.

Against the green moss of the pictured burying ground in this window, are many little white crosses, symbols of the 2,590 orphan children yet to be cared for by the county. Ten dollars will save the life of one of these little ones and as the money is received the white cross will be removed and an American flag replaced on the grave that would have otherwise symbolized the death of the child.

There are 410 children now cared for, and these are represented as being watched over by a guardian angel holding the American flag, the idea being that these little ones are given a chance to proclaim, as does the flag held in the angel's hand, the ideal of America, "the pursuit of life, liberty and happiness."

JAILER BLOCKS FREEDOM PLOT OF HIGHJACKER

Only the efficiency and resourcefulness of County Jailor Cass Tarver in checking up on his "guests" prevented the county from being minus a prisoner Tuesday morning.

It all came about this way:

Several men charged with vagrancy who were brought in Monday by the sheriff among fifty-eight persons from Newtown for investigation in connection with the slaying of A. B. Berlin, soon after dark decided to plead guilty to the charges against them and obtain their freedom by "decorating the mahogany," or paying a fine.

It so happened that in the bear cage, where all the more trusted prisoners are kept, and where the aggregation from Newtown had established quarters in the Wichita county "hotel." was Rex Candlish, better known to his near friends and acquaintances as "Silvertop," who attained a reputation, so authorities say, which elevated him to an honored position in the highjackers union by staging a hold up of several stores in Kemp City a few months ago.

On a charge of highway robbery with firearms "Silvertop" was convicted and sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary. He was being held at the county jail pending his transfer to the state detention mansion.

To get back to the main thought, however, Rex endeavored to impersonate a Newtown vagrant, "and came so darn near doing it," in the vernacular of Jailor Cass, "that the only thing that stood between him and liberty was one little old weak lock."

But to begin at the beginning, Cass ordered all the vagrants who desired to pay their fines to step to one side and be checked off the roster.

Five men came forward.

Holding the ledger in one hand and tightly gripping a pencil in the other, Cass was kept busy for several minutes checking names and receiving fines.

Arriving at the last man, the customary, "What's your name?" was asked. The answer came "Ed Shields," in muffled voice.

Looking up, his attention attracted by the apparent backwardness of the prisoner, Cass repeated the query.

This time the answer was so low that it could hardly be detected.

His suspicions aroused to a high pitch, the jailor stepped forward and jerked roughly at the man, determined to "snap him out of his hop" and get the ordeal over with.

He discovered the grinning face of Silvertop looking up at him from under a large cap which had been well pulled down over his forehead. By obtaining a worn and dirty suit of clothing and rubbing dirt over his face, making a disguise which would have done credit to a professional actor, Candish nearly outwitted the keeper of the jail.

Knowing that his attempt at flight had failed and realizing that he would be put back into a cell for two years, Rex summoned the nearest genuine smile possible and led sheepishly the march to a solitary cell.

He later told Jailor Cass that he was sorry he tried to take an advantage of him because he had been well treated while in jail but that he just couldn't bear the idea of doing two years "time" in a cell.

Bates Adjustment Firm Claims Auto

The Ford car recovered by City Detective Jackson three weeks ago at Bradley's Corner was claimed Tuesday by a representative of the Bates Adjustment company of Oklahoma City. It was shown that the car had belonged to a resident of Wilson, Okla.

The car has been held by the police since its recovery. It was not until Tuesday that the department was able to obtain any clue as to its owner.

JUDGE DEMANDS MEN WHO WILL PASS PENALTIES

"Competent men on our juries, who after weighing the evidence and finding a prisoner guilty, will assess the maximum penalty of the law are given as the most efficient weapon for combatting the present crime wave" Judge Guy Rogers said in an address at the business luncheon of the University Club Tuesday at the Kemp hotel.

The speaker scored the time worn excuse of many men that they can not serve on the jury because of stress of business, saying that the present conditions demand the service of sound and competent citizens on our juries. He argued that prisoners shold always be given the benefit of doubt, but insisted that once they were found guilty they be "given the limit." Laws were now being trampled on by criminals of lax enforcement.

As a means of raising the standards of citizenship by stabilizing the home, which is the basic element of the nation, Judge Rogers argued for stricter divorce laws on the statute books of Texas. He declared that 90 per cent of the divorces in Texas were obtained on the plea of cruel and abusive treatment. This statute is so broad, asserted the judge that a straw of evidence is all that is necessary to leave the judge powerless to return any verdict save granting the divorce. Judge Rogers declared that he favored the establishment of uniform divorce laws in all states.

The need for reduction and simplification of income tax regulations was presented by A. F. Bowden, income tax expert. Mr. Bowden declared that as the income laws now stand, the average citizen was unable to fill out a blank properly without the assistance of either a lawyer or an expert accountant.

Jones Tuesday announced that trial of criminal cases in Thirtieth district court will not begin until Jan. 24 owing to various important details which must be settled before the felony hearings begin. Recover Diamond Pin Mrs. J. Duff Hall Lost

A diamond pin with seven stones, which was stolen from Mrs. J. Duff Hall, 610 Brook street, December 28, was recovered by City Detective Boone in a local pawn shop Tuesday. The stone was taken at her home. According to the records of the pawn shop, the pin was "soaked" January 2 by a man named Kelly. Mrs. Hall stated that she knew no one by that name. The police had made no arrests Tuesday night.

IOWA PARK TO LAY 16 MILES WATER MAINS

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Jan. 11.—Piping for 16 miles of water mains are now being placed here, and city officials announce that actual laying of the piping is expected to commence within 30 days.

The city is drilling for water now just south of town. A test well 100 feet deep, recently finished by the city, failed to find water, but officials are confident that the new location will produce plenty of water to supply the town.

In addition to laying water mains, the city is planning to lay eight miles of sewerage during the late spring months.

The water mains will consist of four sizes of piping, as follows: Two miles of six-inch pipe, four miles of four-inch pipe, and eight miles of two-inch pipe.

The city plans to obtain water from wells for the city mains until the irrigation project is completed and water can be obtained from the Wichita river after the big dam is constructed.

C. L. McCullough, 64 years of age, pioneer resident of Iowa Park, died at Alvord. Reverend Dunn, pastor of the Methodist church, conducted services at the Iowa Park Methodist church. Burial was under the auspices of the I. O. O. F. of which Mr. McCullough had long been a member.

Mr. McCullough had been an influential citizen of Iowa Park for 30 years. He served as assistant postmaster here for a number of years and was appointed postmaster in 1909 on the death of Mr. Yarguer who then held the office. Mr. McCollough had never married.

Dr. West, county health officer assisted by Dr. Frank Clark, city health office of Iowa Park, made an examination Monday of the school children here. They reported a number of enlarged tonsils, a few cases of scabies and a few defective eyes.

The county interscholastic basketball championship will be played here next Saturday by junior teams of Iowa Park and Burkburnett for the junior honors, and between senior teams of Electra and Iowa Park. The first game will be called at 1:30 o'clock.

The casing was placed Sunday in an oil well on the J. M. Blogg farm on the Wichita river and a thorough test is expected by the last of the week. Several leases in the vicinity of the well have recently changed hands, on the strength of reports from the well.

If the well on the J. M. Blogg place, being drilled by Alford, Holbrook & Burton, proves to be 100-barrel producer, experienced oil men say that the strip of land between the well and the Gulf Production company will be drilled.

Gives $2500 Bail In Murder Case

Sidney E. Miller, charged with the murder of Frank Logue several weeks ago on an oil lease near Stringtown, was released Tuesday after perfecting a new bond of $2,500 following his arrest on an indictment returned against him by the grand jury Monday morning.

FIND CAR STOLEN FROM C. A. MILLER

Information was received here Tuesday that the Buick automobile stolen from C. A. Miller of this city Friday night had been recovered at Hamilton, Texas by Sherif Lemons of that city. The information from the Hamilton officer said that a man giving the name of Lester Williams had been arrested in connection with the recovery of the machine.

It is believed that complaint will be filed here against Williams and that he will be brought back here to stand trial. The recovery was made possible through the efforts of the police department who, following the theft Friday night, sent out circulars describing the car throughout the state.

MOTHER COULD NOT KISS HER CHILD SUNDAY

At the request of a number of readers, who are interested in the proposal for a "Lord's Alliance Day"—or national Sunday law ban on amusements—The Record News takes from the Philadelphia Record a summary of a number of the old blue laws of the Puritans. In those early days a woman could not even kiss her child on Sunday. No one was allowed to run on the Sabbath day or walk "in his garden or elsewhere except reverently to meeting."

The Philadelphia Record report on the blue law of Puritanical days went further and reported "serious misdemeanors" which took the stern Mosaic laws for authority.

The account follows:

De Quincey's whimsical observation that the habit of murder, if persisted in, may lead insensibly to procrastination and Sabbath breaking, is recalled by a study of some of the laws which originated in the Connecticut colony in 1650, and were printed by Governor Eaton. Original blue laws were those written for the New Haven colony, or rather, unprinted, but which later were systematized into a sort of code, and, as stated, were issued in printed form in 1656, with the governor's approval. As they were enveloped in blue paper they in time grew to be referred to as blue laws.

Blue Enough to Chill.

The Plymouth and Massachusetts colonies also had their blue laws—stringent enough to chill one's marrow they were, too. Even gay New York, Maryland, Virginia and South Carolina—in fact, all the English colonial settlements of the seventeenth century, had laws, orders and regulations, which in these days would be considered chafing, to say the least. But it remained for Connecticut to evolve the real indigo ordinances, which terrorized her eafly inhabitants, and traces of which remain to this day in certain rural sections.

In April, 1642, were enacted those known as the capital laws, purporting to punish according to the penalities prescribed in the Old Testament all offenses forbidden therein. To make these ordinances the more bloodcurdling the passage of scripture on which they were passed was added to each law—a sort of appendix bugaboo calcualted to make the offender tremble in his top-boots.

Witchcraft is one of the first offenses taken up. It was enacted that "if a man or woman be a witch, or hath consulted with a familiar spirit, they shall be put to death." Also: "If any man shall steal a man or mankind or selleth him, or he be found in his hand he shall be put to death."

Then the pious colonists made slaves of the captured Pequot Indians as the regulation punishment for breaking these laws. They were drawn up and enacted by stern and inflexible mortals who, in the excess of their religious zeal and enthusiasm, adopted such sanctimonious names as are found in the records of early New England—"Stand-Fast-on-High Stringer," "More-Fruit Flower," "Kill Sin Smith," "Fight the Good Fight Fowler," and other pious worthies.

These men went straight to Holy Writ for their authority — skipping anything suggestive and taking the Mosaic law in its rigid sternness as the basis of the ordinances they evolved—which resulted in an uncanny combination of sermon and death warrant.

Naturally, having disposed of the more serious misdemeanors, the Puritan law-makers went on to frame the most minute regulations dealing with every possible crime from sneezing in church to crossing a stream otherwise than by the licensed ferry.

Most of all did they stress the heinous crime of Sabbath breaking in such ordinances as the following:

"No one shall run on the Sabbath day of walk in his garden or elsewhere, except reverently to and from meeting."

"No one shall travel, cook victuals, make beds, sweep house, cut hair or shave on the Sabbath 'day."

"No woman shall kiss her child on the Sabbath or fasting day."

"The Sabbath shall begin at sunset on Saturday."

"If any man shall kiss his wife or wife kiss her husband on the Lord's day the party in fault shall be punished at the discretion of the court of magistrates.

Must Go to Church.

There is a tradition that a man in New Haven, after an absence of some months, reached home on the Sabbath and, meeting his wife at the door, kissed her with such improper gusto that the next day he was haled before the court and stiffly fined for such a brazen breach of the law on the Sabbath.

An equally severe penalty awaited a man in Norwich Town who dared to drive through the highway in his chaise on the Lord's day.

Staying away from church during those strenuous times could not be excused by any such flimsy pretext as a headache, or stormy weather, or tight shoes, or oversleeping—no indeedy! There are many instances of youths and damsels who tried to shirk Sabbath day sermons, but the law saw to it that they were penalized in a was not at all conductive to future efforts to repeat the offense. And the blue makers frowned upon Sunday evening calling; also upon any such "disturbance" as groups gathering on the street corners, or even idly strolling about on that day. The penalties were severe.

Upon children the burden of being strictly good on what is supposed to be the rest day and joy in each week rested heavily. Even as late as the middle of the last century the Sabbath was a time of terror to most children. Edmund Clarence Stedman, afterward the New York banker-poet, passed his childhood in a colonial house at Norwich Town, where anything savoring too much levity as laughing out loud, or looking at pictures on the Lord's day meant, maybe, incarceration in the dark closet under the stairs, or some similar sentence.

As late as 1749, in Norwich, an offender was fined 20 shillings for playing cards, and another five shillings for "laughing in meeting." Talking in meeting cost 10 shillings. Any explosive mortal, who ejaculated "Damn me," was fined, with costs, six shillings apiece.

Method of Filing Claim for Losses On Oil Explained

Methods of filing claims for deduction of losses incurred by bad debts and investments in worthless oil stocks with 1920 income tax returns were received Tuesday by Henry Wampler, chief of the Wichita Falls division, from Collector Scott Reed.

Relative to filing claims, Collector Reed says:

"Taxpayers claiming losses on 1920 tax returns on account of worthless oil stock are required to submit a statement attached to and a part of their return showing the name of the issuing corporation, the amount claimed as a loss, and, if consistent with facts, that the corporation is dissolved or defunct, has no assets, and that no liquidating dividends have been distributed to the stockholders and, further, that such losses were definitely ascertained during the taxable year.

"As to oil leases, a statement showing the ground upon which the worthlessness of such leases is based, must be submitted, as for instance: Dry wells, expiration or relinquishment of lease, etc.

"As to bad debts, a statement must be submitted itemizing the accounts taken as deduction, and showing that such accounts were definitely ascertained to be worthless during the taxable year, how ascertained, and were charged off the taxpayer's books during that year.

"By submitting the above information, unnecessary correspondence will be avoided and the auditing of returns will be greatly facilitated. Failure to supply such information, will result in a disallowance of the deductions and the assessment of additional tax."

1000 EGGS IN EVERY HEN

New System of Poultry Keeping—Get Dollar a Dozen Eggs—Famous Poultryman TELLS HOW

"The great trouble with the poultry business has always been that the laying life of a hen was too short," says Henry Trafford, international poultry expert and breeder, for nearly 18 years editor of Poultry Success.

The average pullet lays 150 eggs. If kept the second year, she may lay 100 more. Then she goes to market. Yet, it has been scientifically established that every pullet is born or hatched with over 1,000 minute egg germs in her system—and will lay them on a highly profitable basis over a period of four to six years' time if given proper care.

How to work to get 1,000 eggs from every hen; how to get pullets layiny early; how to make the old hens lay like pullets; how to keep up heavy egg production all through cold winter months when eggs are highest; triple egg production; make slacker hens hustle; $5.00 profit from every hen in six winter months. These and many other money making poultry secrets are contained in Mr. Trafford's $1,000 EGG HEN" system of poultry raising, one copy of which will be sent absolutely free to any reader of this paper who keeps six hens or more. Eggs should go to a dollar or more a dozen this winter. This means big profit to the poultry keeper who gets the eggs. Mr. Trafford tells how. If you keep chickens and want them to make money for you, cut out this ad and send it with your name and address to Henry Trafford, Suite 1032-S, Tyne Bldg., Binghamton, N. Y., and a free copy of "THE 1,000 EGG HEN" will be sent by return mail.—Adv.

EXECUTOR OF ESTATE FILES SLANDER SUIT

By Associated Press

DALLAS, Jan. 11.—Alleging breach of contract and slander, a suit for $3,000,000 damages, said to be probably the largest sum in litigation of the kind ever entered in an American court, was filed in Fourty-fourth district court here late yesterday.

W. P. Slaughter, brother of the late Colonel C. C. Slaughter, is plaintiff and in his petition names as defendants his niece and four nephews, all children of his dead brother, who shared in the $16,000,000 estate of Colonel Slaughter. The petition sets forth the allegation that in September, 1916, a verbal agreement was entered into between Colonel Slaughter and plaintiff whereby plaintiff was appointed manager of three Slaughter ranches in Texas and a salary of $6,000 per annum. One of the ranches according to the petition, comprises 180,000 acres in Martin, Howard, Dawson and Borden counties; another 36,000 in Hudspeth and El Paso counties, and the third, 10,000 acres in Hill county.

Plaintiff avers he managed these properties until the death of Colonel Slaughter on January 25, 1919, but that on February 8, 1919, he was discharged by defendants, whom he names as D. L. Slaughter, C. C. Slaughter, Jr., A. A. Slaughter, M. Dick Slaughter and Mrs. Minnie Slaughter Veale.

Of the $3,000,000 damages asked, $1,000,000 is in renumeration for "actual damage" claimed to have been sustained by plaintiff, by alleged slander, and $1,500,000 as exemplary damages.

Oriental Rugs Have No Need To Be Secured

By Associated Press.

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 11.—After four years of litigation, the Supreme court of Wisconsin today decided that a host whose home boasts Oriental rugs and highly polished floors, need not nail the rugs down when entertaining and is not liable if guests slip and fall.

The court affirmed a lower court decision denying a damage solt of Mrs. Mildred Greenfield of Chicago against Frank H. Miller of Racine, Wisconsin.

Mrs. Greenfield asked damages for personal injuries when she slipped on a small Oriental rug while a guest in the home of Mr. Miller on December 31, 1916. The court held there was no evidence to show it was customary in Racine to fasten rugs to the floor and that Miller was not negligent in failing to do so.

JACK HALE, AGE 18, GIVES BOND IN CHECK CASE

Bond of $1,000 was set Tuesday by an assistant county attorney pending action of the grand jury in the case of Jack Hale, 18-year-old boy, charged with forgery.

According to statements from attaches of the court, the boy was placed under arrest by the police after the man who cashed the alleged bad check told them that he would not appear against him.

Hale is said to have admitted signing another man's name to a check for $12.50 and cashing it, but declared that he did it only because he needed medicine for the treatment of a disease with which he was infected and which he desired to handle without asking favors.

Several persons who heard of the affair were inclined to accept the unconfirmed information that the man would not prosecute Hale.

The complaint which was filed against Hale before an assistant county attorney was signed by a police officer.

HE THAT WALKETH RIGHTEOUSLY, and speaketh uprightly; he that despiseth the gain of oppressions, that shaketh his hands from holding of bribes, that stoppeth his ears from hearing of blood, and shutteth his eyes from seeing evil:

He shall dwell on high; his place of defence shall be the munitions of rocks; bread shall be given him; his waters shall be sure.—Isaiah 33: 15, 16.

GAINING TEXAS' OIL CROWN.

Announcement that the Gulf Production company and Gulf Pipe Line company expect to move their north Texas headquarters to Wichita Falls, and that R. C. Harvey is negotiating with that company to build for them a seven-story office building here adds another link to the chain of recent big additions in the oil industry of this city.

It confirms the prediction of local operators that this city will soon take premier rank as the logical headquarters of the oil game in Texas.

It is entirely within the realm of probability that Wichita Falls will outstrip Tulsa, Okla., in the race for premier honors in the southwest as the headquarters of producers and refiners.

The apparently well-confirmed report as to the Gulf's intentions follows close upon announcement that the Sinclair interests would locate their Texas offices here. The Sinclair also plans, it is generally understood, to use a considerable amount of office room here and to increase the number of its local employes.

The immediate enabling reason for the change in Wichita Falls' favor is the extension of the Wichita Falls & Southern to Breckenridge as planned by Frank Kell. Mr. Harvey and his associate, W. J. Grisham, consider it so certain of fulfillment that they are not holding back upon making construction of the road a contingent clause in their proposed building contract.

The extension will connect Wichita Falls by railroad with all important Texas oil fields. The road will have trackage rights over the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth line from Jimkurn, where the Gulf is building a mammoth camp and supply yards and warehouses, into Breckenridge and the Stephens county fields. Eastland operations will be hooked up by railroad connections with this city.

The fast developing Young county territory to the south of Wichita Falls, a field local operators have large holdings in, will have here a natural outlet.

The part which the railroad extension by Mr. Kell will play in local development today recalls a similar occasion years ago when Wichita Falls was only a small town and was fighting with another city of about the same size for honors as the biggest town in this territory. It took a railroad line to swing the balance in Wichita Falls' favor and Mr. Kell and J. A. Kemp saw to it that the line was built.

"INAUGURAL POMP"—A DEBATE

Jefferson when inaugurated rebuked the federal traditions of pomp and circumstance by riding up on horse-back unattended, hitching his horse to a fence and walking into the senate chamber. He's what might be colloquially called the "strong holt" of Senator Fletcher of Florida, now that the pomp issue is being debated in the senate 120 years later. But Philander C. Knox flings at him the costly simplicity of the American delegation at the peace conference, and Fletcher can only fletcherize on sweet and bitter fancy.

Knox confesses that Warren Gamaliel Harding could take the oath of office legally and become president at an expense of only 50 cents to a notary public. Yet he proposes a resolution to spend $50,000 on a grandstand and other accessories, and intimates that $60,000 more will be needed for extra poilce. Senator Borah predicts that not less than $1,000,000 of public and private cash will be spent on the inauguration. Knox recalls that President Lincoln kissed each of 34 girls representing 34 states, which was inexpensive. Senator Reed says he favored Jeffersonian simplicity four years ago, but "did not perceive that the spirit of Jefferson hovered over the ceremony." And then he coins an epigram: "This Jeffersonian eruption only appears on the skins of some democrats when they are in the minority."

Such discussion is interesting, perhaps, but immaterial. This is a great and wealthy country of 105,000,000 people, among whom the joy of life is not dead despite prohibition, and the drama of life is fitly appreciated. Inauguration day is a part of that drama. A drama without stage settings is inconceivable.—Brooklyn Eagle (Ind. Dem.)

Editorial Digest

"THE MAN WHO WENT ALONE"

"More of a Faust than a Machiavelli" is the comment that sums up the character of Imperial Germany's recently deceased Chancellor, Theobald von Bethmann-Hollweg, of "scrap of paper" fame. This observation, made by the Chicago Journal (Dem.) fairly reflects the opinion of the American editors who do not insist that "speak no evil of the dead" should, out of patriotism at least, be replaced by "speak no good of the enemy."

While the value of the estimates of the Kaiser's prime minister admittedly can best be determined by future historians it is interesting to note the varying opinions of the modern American chroniclers as to his part in the world war. The Milwaukee Journal (Ind.) questions that his name will be mentioned a hundred years hence but if "it is at all remembered" it will be "because of two things he said which doubtless forever after he wished unsaid. One of these was his statement in the reichstag that Germany was doing Belgium a wrong, but the wrong was made necessary by Germany's plans." The Detroit Free Press (Ind.) likewise doubts that "history will accord him" even the distinction, at present naturally granted, "of being one of the most important influences in the train of events which deluged Europe with blood."

Conflicting verdicts are uttered by the Christian Science Monitor (Boston, Ind.) and the Buffalo Commercial (Ind.). To the former, he appeared as the "least suitable" of all the men around the Kaiser "for steering Germany through a convulsion;" to the latter, "undoubtedly the ablest civil representative of kaiserism in government" and, had his advice been followed "it is doubtful if there had been a war." But it is precisely this fact "that his advice was not followed" which marks his weakness in the eyes of such commentators as the Indianapolis News (Ind.) and the Philadelphia Record (Ind. Dem.). Both newspapers declare him "intelligent" but the latter decries his lack of "backbone" and the former his lack of "courage." The New York Globe (Ind.) believes that if he "had obeyed his conscience he might have saved his country" and the Philadelphia Public Ledger (Ind.) suggests, indeed, that his entire active career represented a conflict with this "conscience that presumably knew the right" and "a courtier's subservience that made him the ever pliant tool of Hohenzollern ambitions and for a world domination on the part of the German war lord"—in short: "the man who went along."

Bethmann-Hollweg's task, the Norfolk Virginian Pilot (Ind. Dem.) believes, was "impossible," since he was by virtue of his situation in the old regime, merely "a puppet," and, though the Pilot grants him a "conscience" too, it characterizes this adjunct as "a strictly Prussian model" and therefore easily suppressed. The Newark News (Ind.) calls the late chancellor "a weak voice, apologizing for the crimes of his emperor and of the military rulers of Germany who set him aside."

The word "pacifist," of late hardly a flattering term, is applied to Bethmann-Hollweg by some writers in an apparently complimentary sense. The Lincoln (Neb.) State Journal (Ind. Rep.) for instance, declares him as a "man of peace," declaring that it was Berchtold, then Austrian premier, and not Hollweg, "who willed the war;" but adds "it was the well-meaning Hollweg who made it inevitable by his blundering." The New York Times (Ind. Dem.) also feels "that there is no reason to doubt the assertion of Bethmann-Hollweg, in his account of the period, that he was anxious for peace, and worked for it—up to a certain point," but he was, though "highly trained" as a diplomat, "uninspired and rather ineffective."

DINNER STORIES

Yesterday everything had been happy. Tonight they sat at the extreme end of the sofa in unbroken silence.

Harold could not fathom the cause. Had he not written a poem in her honor?

"Mr. Holt," said Ethel at length, "do you know that the feet of the statue of liberty, in New York harbor, measure 16 feet 5 inches?"

"So I have heard."

"The waist is 35 feet around," she continued, giving him an icy stare. "The nose is 4 feet 6 inches long; the mouth is a yard across; the thickness of the head is 10 feet. Did you know these facts?"

"Y-yes."

"Then will you kindly explain," she demanded frigidly, "why you state in your poem that I remind you of the statue of liberty?"

"It is remarkable," said Mr. Gruntler, "how mean some people are. I had with me on a fishing trip two friends, who evidently were familiar with my reputation as an angler.

"Before starting, one of them made the following suggestion, 'We will agree that the first man that catches a fish must treat the crowd.'

"I assented to this, and we started. Now, those two fellows both had a bite and were too mean to pull them up."

"I suppose you lost, then?" remarked the friends.

"Oh, no!" replied Mr. Gruntler. "I didn't have any bait on my hook!"

Commutation of Death Sentence Refused Mexican

By Associated Press.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 11.—The state board of pardons and paroles this afternoon refused to recommend commutation of sentence for Pedro Domingues, under death sentence set for execution January 14, in whose behalf the Mexican government has interceded. Domingues was convicted of having murdered a fellow miner.

The board reached the decision at 2:50 p. m., after considering the Mexican government plea that Domingues was a Mexican citizen and insane. The board said it had evidence Domingues was born in Texas, was a resident of the United States and was not insane and it saw no reason for disturbing the verdict of the court.

VIENNA THREATENS TO HANG PROFITEERS

Notice was served upon the government that unless it was able to show before the end of the present month that measures had been taken to suppress profiteering, the members of these organizations would "take the law in their own hands and hang the guilty on lamp posts."

What is MOTHER'S FRIEND

Simply and tersely stated, MOTHER'S FRIEND is just exactly what the name implies—a friend and help to mothers.

It has been made and sold for more than half a century. If it did not possess the value claimed for it, MOTHER'S FRIEND could not possibly have remain on the market. For only that which is really worth while and beneficial can survive.

The mothers who appreciate MOTHER'S FRIEND the most, and who are loudest in their praise of it, are those who unfortunately did not use it with their first baby, and who, through its use with the second one, were able to fully realize the relief it gave them.

DIDN'T EVEN NEED THE DOCTOR

"Dear Sirs: I am willing and anxious to tell any mother about MOTHER'S FRIEND. It did me so much good that I wouldn't be without it if it cost $5.00 a bottle. With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I only had a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick and only sick about ten or fifteen minutes.

—Health and Happiness for Women—

Every woman seeks happiness as the thing to be most desired. Fortunately, the right to happiness is denied to no woman, regardless of her sphere in life. The first and foremost essential is good health. For, without good health, strive after happiness as she may, it is beyond her reach. If she will accept the advice of thousands of women, who have been benefited, she will take Dr. J. Bradfield's Female Regulator—a tonic for women and for troubles peculiar to their sex, which has been sold by drug stores for more than 50 years. Dr. J. Civic League Creates Bureau To Study Coming Legislation And Present Data to Women

Creation of a new department, to be known as the Citizenship Study Department, for the purpose of studying proposed legislation in both the state and the nation and to present in concise form the results of the study to the women voters of Wichita Falls and surrounding country, featured the first business meeting of the new executive board of the Civic League, held Tuesday afternoon at the Kemp Hotel. The meeting took the form of a luncheon, with Mrs. T. B. Smock, president, as hostess, this custom having been inaugurated last year.

Mrs. D. O. Long, the first vice president, was named chairman of this department, following a discussion of the new section in which a number of the executive board voiced their approval of such a movement.

"There are many bills now pending, or proposed to be put into the form of bills in the immediate sessions of congress and the state legislature," the president pointed out, "concerning which I am sure the majority of women, and men as well, know next to nothing. These measures will affect us all, directly or indirectly. So it is to our advantage to know what they mean, in order that we may vote intelligently, or that we may be able to voice our opinion to our congressmen and representatives. To be able to use our newly acquired franchise we must know what our lawmakers are doing. I believe that the women will be found to be as intelligent voters as the men, and the most intelligent way is to study the affairs of the country.

To Save Time

"It would be a trial for the women in general to study over the subject of legislation, for many reasons. Copies of proposed bills would be hard to obtain, time would be an important consideration with many. For this reason, this new department should be welcomed by all the women. This department, through the press, and through the league meetings will be able to present in condensed form new legislation. Inquiries would be welcomed on any subject that is of concern to good citizens, women, or men."

The suggestion was made that this new organization direct its initial efforts to a thorough study of the new city charter, when the question arose, later in the meeting, as to certain provision of the charter, affecting the work of the city beautiful and sanitary departments.

Chairmen Appointed

Mrs. J. E. Sharpe was named chairman of the extension department and Mrs. J. M. Isbell, chairman of the membership committee, these two being the changes made in the department chairman from last year.

Enthusiasm for the work of the coming year was the keynote of short talks made by several of the board members, and in the brief discussion of work planned that was possible at this time there was a forecast of an interesting program for the coming membership luncheon, to be held February 1, when the plans for the work this year will be outlined.

Mrs. J. A. Kemp, guest of honor at the luecheon, was paid a tribute by Mrs. Smock, who spoke of her as "a source of encouragement and inspiration that was never failing." Commendation of her long services as an officer, and the suggestion that she should be made" emeritus something or other" was made by Mrs. Smock. Mrs. Kemp replied in the same vein, adding laughingly that she had always understood that the title "emeritus" was given when an individual was ready to be retired, and that she was indeed grateful that she was being retired. Immediate assurance was given that her retirement was not yet in order.

President Thanked

On motion, made by Mrs. Flora W. Perham, a rising expression of appreciation was given the president for her hospitality, this adjourning the meeting.

In addition to the business features, the luncheon Tuesday was an exceptionally pleasant hospitality. The luncheon table, in the private dining room of the Kemp, was centered [illegible] a basket of gold and white narcissus. The board members found their covers by identifying the characteristics of their position on the board depicted by kewpies. The cards also contained tiny calendar pads, on which the first Tuesday in each month, the Civic League meeting day, was marked. These cards which were much complimented for their original cleverness were the work of Miss Florence Jackson, formerly chairman of the extensive department.

A five-course luncheon was served.

Covers were laid for: Mrs. J. A. Kemp, honor guest; Mrs. Smock, president and hostess; Mrs. J. V. C. T. Christensen, recording secretary; Mrs. W. W. Cook, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Bentley Bacon, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R. E. Shepherd, treasurer; Mrs. D. O. Long, first vice president; Mrs. H. S. Crawford, second vice-president; Mrs. T. B. Smith, third vice-president; Mrs. W. S. Curlee, city beautiful chairman; Mrs. M. H. Glover, sanitation chairman; Mrs. Flora W. Perham, public affairs chairman; Mrs. J. M. Isbell, membership chairman; Mrs. J. W. Stone, entertainment chairman; Mrs. John W. Naylor, publicity chairman and Mrs. W. A. Patterson, community market chairman.

NEW DANCE FROCK RECALLS THE PAST

There may be many new styles in frocks and gowns, but this most unusual and dainty dance frock is not one of them. The fashion experts decree that the dress is the height of fashion and so it is. But way back in the days when our forefathers were fighting for our independence the women of that period were wearing such frocks. This one for Miss 1921 is made of flowered taffeta and old lace and the bodice is trimmed with black velvet lacing.

Mrs. Preston Lea will be hostess the Floral Heights Wesley Girls at her home, 2200 Tenth street, Thursday afternoon, January 13. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. Adair Rembert of 1515 Kemp boulevard will entertain the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club at her home this afternoon.

A. B. Graeber, chairman of the arrangement committee of the D. O. D. T. club, announces that the dance which was to have been given by the club Thursday evening at the Kemp hotel will be given on Friday evening, instead. Music will be furnished by the Doc Ross Bandits.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have one child, a sweet daughter, 20 her last birthday. She is on the road to ruin and disgrace. Her father died before she was born. She is going with a married man. He has a wife and child. I have said all I know to her and told her that his intentions are only to dishonor her and that he will bring her to shame and disgrace.

What I say to her only causes her to curse and abuse me. This man is a scoundrel and is no good. His wife knows all about it and she doesn't seem to care at all. I don't know what to do.

I have an old mother, 72 years old, and I can't get her to consent to leave the girl. I don't feel like walking off and leaving my aged mother in such hands, but I have told my mother if she won't consent to leave with me, I will leave them both.

Sometimes I break down and cry for a whole day. I am so nervous. It seems as if she has thrown herself away entirely. I think when a young girl goes with a married man she has lost all self-respect and she no longer deserves to call me mother. That is the way I feel about it. Sometimes I wish I were a thousand miles away from her. I am thoroughly disgusted at her behavior.

I have a brother I can make my home with in New ork. I don't feel that I can stand her abuse any longer. This scoundrel has set my daughter bitterly against me. Will you please advise me the right thing to do? I have been under a strain for many months, but have stood by her in the time of trouble. She has lost all self-respect as well as the respect of other people.

BROKEN-HEARTED MOTHER.

Your case is certainly pitiful. I think you are wrong, however, in feeling that your daughter is entirely to blame and has forfeited her right to call you mother. Try to share her blame by realising that something was lacking in her guidance. You were not close enough to her as she developed and did not instill into her very soul ideals of morality. It is not enough for a mother to make statements about right and wrong. Statements may be too stern unless they are, developed in a sympathetic understanding.

I believe it would be a good plan for you to go away for a few months. You need the rest and change, and will return to your cares with a new vision and greater strength to bear your burden.

Yes, your daughter has thrown herself away, just as you say. It is a pitiful thing to see her wilfully sacrificing honor and happiness of a lifetime for short-lived pleasures. That which is evil to the core is short lived. One of these days the man will tire of your daughter and then she will turn to you, crushed and broken-hearted if you are ready to receive her with a forgiving and understanding heart. Follow the example of your brave and loyal little mother and stand by your child through good and evil.

Let me advise you again to go away for a while. You as well as your mother and daughter need the change. Perhaps your shattered nerves only excite your daughter to greater hatefulness.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My young man friend gave me a beautiful pair of gloves for my Christmas present, but they are too small. Should I tell him about it, or should I take them back to the store they came from and exchange them for a larger size? THELMA.

Exchange the gloves for a larger size of the same kind and say nothing to the young man about his mistake.

League Urges War Now on Bagworms

The Bagworms, like the poor, "always with us," are becoming a pressing subject to the Civic League, Mrs. W. S. Curlee, the chairman of the city beautiful department reports. They reiterate that the dormant period, now, is the time to start combatting the insidious pest which has already done much damage to the tree owners of the city, could rest easy. And hope is expressed that some day the city can employ such a person, who will spend all his time keeping the trees and shrubs of the city in good condition.

But in the mean time, the Civic League city beautiful department says to all Wichita Falls:

"Start spraying now to kill the bag worm, and all other insects that harm trees. Don't wait until the worm makes his appearanre. He is already in the trees, in a dormant stage, and can be killed more easily right now, than at any later date. Get to work right now, so that we may make Wichita Falls the City Beautiful next summer."

E. Berlin, has been requested of the judge of the Thirtieth district court, it was announced Tuesday by District Attorney Fletcher S. Jones.

Probability that the case will be among the first heard in the criminal session of the present term of Thirtieth district court was intimated in the court's response to the request of the prosecutor. Meanwhile the two men are being held at the county jail without bond.

All of the 22 witnesses who were brought in from Newtown Monday to testify before the grand jury have been released, with the exception of Mrs. L. C. Mills, who is being held under heavy bond as a material witness at the recommendation of District Attorney Jones.

Her importance as a witness District Attorney Jones said, is indicated in the statements made by Bland on Sunday night following his arrest, to the effect that he went to Mrs. Mills' rooming house and retired immediately after the shooting occurred which resulted in the death of Berlin.

"I have heard of him several times both in the east and the west and I knew before I went on the mat that I had a hard man to beat. He had me in a couple of tight places."

Explains Split Hold Use.

The Finn's good natured grin broadened when asked concerning his famous "Boston Split" hold which many fans at the bout Monday night believe was the real cause of Irslinger's downfall as it has been of numerous others. "I worked at that for some time and have been using it more or less for the last two years" Ketonen declared.

The champion conceded that the hold lowered the morale of his opponents and added that it was one of the best holds that he knew of preparatory to a decisive finish.

Ketonen is a native of Finland. He won the lightweight (147 pounds) championship of that country before he was 20 years old. He left that country in 1919, coming to the United States.

First U. S. Bout in 1910.

"The first bout I had in this country was with Harry Swung in 1910," the Finn said. "It was one of the hardest bouts I was ever in. I was a newcomer and the referee could not realize that I was a better man than Harry. I threw him seven times before they gave me the decision."

Ketonen has claimed the middleweight championship since he won from Mike Yokel at Duluth, Minn., in 1916. It is claimed that he has never been defeated by one of his class since that time. Ketonen has a farm at Rutland, Mass., fifty miles out of Boston.

"My wife and kid live there," was the Finn's concluding remark, "and I am going to get back there as soon as possible."

Organized Baseball Virtually Brought Under Control of One Man and Judge Landis Is Chosen

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 11.—Organized baseball in the United States today virtually was brought under the control of Federal Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis for at least seven years, when the drafting committee of the National Association of Minor Leagues officially voted approval of the new national agreement, already accepted by the two major league committees, which creates the office of baseball commissioner with supreme powers ,and with Judge Landis as the first incumbent.

All that remains to put the agreement into effect is the official approval of the various league representatives as a whole, which probably will be given tomorrow. Baseball men tonight said the presentation of the agreement to the club owners tomorrow would be a "mere formality" and that the action of the drafting committees virtually constituted formal acceptance by all the parties concerned.

Minors Given Concessions.

The minor leaguers, reported a few weeks ago to be decidedly hostile to the new agreement on the ground that it did not give them a fair deal, today found the majors ready to concede the demands made by the smaller circuits. Expressing themselves as satisfied with Judge Landis as baseball commissioner, the minor leaguers were doubtful as to whether a man agreeable to them would be chosen when Judge Landis' term expired, but this matter was quickly settled by the proposition from the major that the minors sign the agreement for only seven years, the term of Judge Landis' contract. At the end of that time, if a new commissioner is chosen, either a man who meets with the approval of the minors must be chosen or they may withdraw from the agreement.

The advisory board provided in the agreement to settle baseball disputes, will contain two minor league representatives under the new agreement, the other two members to be the presidents of the National and American leagues.

Disputes to Landis.

When this board is unable to settle any dispute, the case will go before Judge Landis as baseball commissioner, and his decision will be final. The minor league representatives will be selected tomorrow. The minor league representatives, at their meeting today, voted to restore the draft, but made reservations to the restoration which does not make it compulsory.

Any league so desiring may remain out of the draft and the American Association and the New International league announced their intention of not taking part in it. Leagues which do not take part in the draft will not be permitted to draft players from leagues which do go in, but may draft from each other. The Pacific Coast league, the only other class AA organization will take part in the draft.

Draft Prices Set.

The draft season was made from Oct. 15 to Oct. 20 and the draft prices were set as follows:

Class AA, $5,000; class A, $4,000; class B, $2,500; class C, $1,500; class D, $1,000. The draft price of $5,000 for class AA leagues was the one recently suggested by major league representatives. Many of the minor leagues thought $7,500 should be the price.

The minor leaguers also established a new scale of player and salary limits as follows:

Class AA, no salary limit, 35 players until 30 days after the season opens and then 25. This gave the class AA leagues virtually the same rules as are in effect for the major leagues.

Class A Salary Limit.

Class A, salary limit of $4,250; player limit of 20 for 30 days and 16 thereafter.

Class B, salary limit of $3,200; player limit of 20 for 30 days and 16 thereafter.

Class C, salary limit of $2,650 and player limit of 18 for 30 days and 14 thereafter.

Class D, salary limit of $2,400 and player limit of 18 for 30 days and 14 thereafter.

Failure to live up to these limits will result in a fine of $100 for the first offense, $200 if the case is not rectified in 10 days and then a fine of $300 and decision by the national board of control.

The club owners decided to classify leagues on the basis of the last federal census instead of the school census, and under the following scale:

Leagues with 250,000 to 1,000,000 population—Class B.

Leagues with 150,000 to 250,000 population—Class C.

Leagues under 250,000 population—Class D.

Classes AA and A will remain as at present—more than 1,000,000 population.

The annual meeting of the association will be held the first Thursday in December hereafter and must take place in a city represented in the association.

Way past the furnace-pipes,
Few were the locks and keys it showed,
And they were past repair—
The cellar was no place for greed—
No crook would burgle there!
But NOW!—no trench along the Somme
Could show a heavier guard—
By bolt and key and double walls
The thirsty souls are barred!
No longer heaps of worthless junk
Bulk rudely to the eye—
But priceless treasures hold the fort—
Wine, bourbon, gin and rye!

UNDERTAKER'S ADVERTISING.

In nothing does the undertaker stick closer to his work than in his advertising. How neatly and methodically he lays out his thought on a smooth, hard slab of rhetoric. How dexterously he embalms his ideas and dresses them up in solemn words, used only on Sundays and Holy Days of Obligation.

With what an air of dignity and restraint he bids you gaze upon the result of his professional procedure, lying cold and rigid but elegantly attired in its chaste casket of type. As you pass by one by one before the remains you are led to believe that the idea lying so calm and still within must have died a peaceful death, but you do the undertaker a grave injustice. It was only after a bitter struggle that he succeeded in overpowering this idea. And, at the very end it rose on its slab and cried, "I am not dead," and the undertaker, with admirable restraint, "Thabel you ain't," and hit it on the head with an agate rule. Now the placid passivity of its features is an eloquent tribute to the professional dexterity of the mortican.

What undertakers' advertising needs is a little more of what Homer used to call jazz—a jolly slogan such as "Say it with tombstones," or "Eeventually we will bury you—why not now?" A rollicking cut of a customer sitting up in his casket saying, "Since using ——'s embalming fluid, I have tried no other," would be a happy thought, combining as it does the testimonial of a satisfied client with a pictorial representation of the product in use.

Another happy slogan would be "Our customers never kick," or "We have been in business —— years and have never had a comeback. Money cheerfully refunded if you are not satisfied," or "Use Packem's coffins—ask the man who owns one."

The cheerful casket hound might dash off some copy like those smart aleck agency boys, ferinstance: "The next time you shimmy across the great divide, wrap your dear old self in one of our toppy little jimmy coffins. All fluttered up with class and chummy—you ain't got no idear. It will stick to you to the end——"

You get the idea? Once we can persuade our solemn friends with the high hats and the white gloves to get a little elan into their copy, not to mention verve and esprit, then indeed we may say with the prophet, "Oh, grave, where is thy victory? Oh, death, where is thy sting?"

WILL DEL PRATT PLAY WITH BOSTON?

Del Pratt.

Boston Red Sox fans are crying "stung." They say that the Yankees hung one on the Sox owner when the Gotham club swapped Del Pratt, Herb Thormahlen, Muddy Ruel and Sam Vick for Wally Schang, Waite Hoyt, Harry Harper and Mike McNally. They say that Miller Huggins was aware that Del Pratt had decided to retire when he allowed the deal to be made and that Pratt, star second baseman and the most valuable man obtained in the deal, will be lost to the Red Sox. Pratt announced some time ago he intended to quit the game. Whether or not he's still inclined that way isn't known.

National Boxing Commission Is Formed at Meet

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The title of National Boxing Association of the United States was adopted unanimously today at the convention of delegates from sixteen states to organize a governing body over professional boxing in this country. Its object was announced as the regulation and supervision of the sport in the interest of public welfare. The association will hold its annual meeting, beginning, on the third Monday of January, at a place to be designated by a majority of the members.

Plans to have every state represented on the board of directors are included in a recommendation formally agreed upon. The present delegates, if they wish to serve will be appointed and in those states in which the governor has not sent a representative, some person will be chosen by the board.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS
BY JACK KEENE

Now that Harry Greb, the Pittsburgh heavyweight, has placed himself under the management of George Engle of Pittsburgh, he intends to press his claim to a match with Jack Dempsey. Engle has already obtained the consent of Jack Kearns to the match, and it only remains to select the battle ground. Engle wants to stage the bout in New York and will ask Tex Rickard to make an offer. Greb is the busiest boxer in the ring today. He fights on an average of once a week.

There is some talk to the effect that the New York club will peddle Walter Pipp and that Babe Ruth may be shifted from the outfield to the initial sack, that is, unless the Yanks make another deal with the Boston Red Sox and acquire Jack McInnis in exchange for Pipp. Of course, with McInnis in the lineup, the Yanks would be well fortified at first and Ruth could be assigned to one of the outfield berths.

It is extremely doubtful whether the Yank owners and manager would care to take a chance on the big Bambino at first base. In the first place Babe isn't the best first-sacker in the world, although he's far from being the worst, while on the other hand he fairly sparkles in the outfield, not only in nabbing flies and line drives, but also as a thrower.

The risks that a player runs in patrolling an outer pasture patch are not nearly so great as those that arise around first bas and Ruth is too valuable an adjunct to have on the hospital list. Babe, as everybody knows, ranks as the top hand of the Yankee household and no unnecessary and foolish chances will be taken with him. It strikes us that it would be a grievous mistake to spoil a recognized good outfielder and premier home-run slugger to take a chance on developing only a fair first baseman, when as matters stand, Wally Pipp ranks better than the average.

Word has been received from Baltimore that Chick Fewster, the brilliant youngster of the Yankees, is wintering in fine style and has put on 20 pounds during the rest season. It is quite possible that Fewster will be used in the outfield this year. Of course, Chick may be asked to step in and accept the assignment at second base in the event of Mike McNally not coming up to the high standard set by Miller Huggins. Chick has all the attributes of a great second baseman and he is blessed with all kinds of nerve. Not even his terrible experience in Jacksonville when Jeff Pfeffer cut him down with a pitched ball could shake his faith in himself.

Court Majors, captain of the champion California football team, says he does not think it practical for California to go east for a game with an eastern team next year.

This answers a suggestion of eastern football men who saw Ohio State defeated 28 to 0 New Year's day at Pasadena.

"A championship game in the east would mean playing on snow-covered fields," Majors said. "No western squad could give a good account of itself in ice and snow, after training on the Pacific coast.

"A game in mid-season in the east would break into California's western schedule and would be objectionable from that standpoint. Eastern teams, however, can come to California and play in mid-winter without hardships."

DAILY FINANCIAL, OIL AND MARKET NEWS

GRAIN COTTON

DEPRESSION IS SHOWN ON COTTON MART

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 11.—Reactions from the long advance came upon the cotton market today, the opening being lower and prices depressed throughout the session, although there were several periods of partial recovery. By most traders the decline was regarded as logical and natural, following the recent aggressive buying and many traders who have been supporting the market stood by and allowed it to take its own course. Lowest levels were reached after mid-session, when the trading months were at losses of 47 to 53 points. Late in the day, rumors that a reduction in the federal reserve re-discount rates was likely in the near future caused almost a complete recovery, active months coming back to within 5 to 10 points of yesterday close, but a little later heavy selling was resumed and the close showed net losses of 22 to 30 points.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled today. A tendency to take profits on long contracts after a recovery of about 3 cents per pound from recent low records was increased by reports that a good deal of cotton was coming hee for delivery on January and less favorable trade advances from liverpool. Trade buying was reported on declines and there were frequent rallies. The general market closed easy at a net decline of 33 to 68 points. January was relatively easy at the close probably reflecting the effect of notices representing about 2500 bales and reports that there would be fully 40,000 bales of certificated cotton in the stock here by the end of the month.

As soon as January showed signs of easing under scattered liquidation, the general market turned weaker. Reports that private returns indicated domestic mill consumption for December of only 262,000 bales or the lowest on record, may have been a factor on the late decline. One of the Liverpool cables complained of poor business in Manchester and Liverpool bought near but sold late months in the local market.

SUGAR FIRMER

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The local market for raw sugar was firmer for spot and nearby, although sugar shipments were unchanged. There were sales of 8,000 bags of Cubas in port and 10,500 bags afloat at 4 9-16, cost and freight, equal to 5.58 for centrifugal.

Business in refined for fines granulated. Sugar futures were easier earlier with January at 1 to 10 points lower under liquidation but the steadiness in raws brought about a recovery and closing were unchanged to six points net higher on covering and buying by trade and Cuban interests. Closing bids: Januar, 4.70; March, 4.75; May, 4.87; July, 5.00.

COFFEE HIGHER

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—The market for coffee futures showed renewed firmness today owing to reports of a better trade demand and a better tone in Brazil. The market opened at an advance of 6 to 11 points and active months sold 29 to 33 points net higher.

Spot coffee was reported in good demand with Rio 7s, quoted at 6 3-4 to 7 and Santos 4s at 9 1-2 to 10.

RETALIATION THREATENED TARIFF BILL

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Warning that passage of the Fordney emergency tariff bill would lead to retaliatory measures and would breed unfriendliness to American trade among foreign nations, was given today by witnesses before the senate finance committee.

As a result of the testimony, it was expected tonight that members of the tariff committee will be asked for information on the question. Chairman Penrose said that members of the committee "will be on hand tomorrow to answer any questions," and indicated that he desired further information as to how serious the danger of retaliation might be.

The committee will conclude its hearings tomorrow, Senator Penrose announced, and it is planned on Friday to take up the bill in executive sessions Members said they planned "to stay with it until it is reported to the senate."

The chariman said he understood there were numerous amendments to be considered but he did not know what the attitude of the committee would be or to what extent members would seek to change the measure as it passed the house.

Discussion of the possibility of retaliation, however, brought from Senator Penrose the comment that "it is the first time I have heard the question raised." Predictions of retaliatory measures were also coupled today with strong opposition and insistent requests for amendments to certain sections.

Importers of vegetable oil, through witness from New York officials of the foreign commerce association of the Pacific coast, and soap manufacturers for various cities, said their industries had been developed during the war and asserted that the tariff as proposed would handicap their growth and might even result in their failure.

TWENTY-THREE FIRE INSURANCE AGENCIES WILL FILE REPORTS

Blanks for making report of the 1920 Wichita Falls fire record were received Tuesday by Fire Chief McClure from the state fire commission. Twenty-three fire insurance firms in Wichita Falls will be required to make the reports, which will be compiled and forwarded to the commission by Chief McClure.

Losses incurred by automobile fires, fires outside the city limits and buildings insured by mutual companies will not be included in the report, according to the letter of instructions accompanying the blanks. The commission stated that for each five per cent of losses below 55 per cent of the premium paper total. there would be allowed a three percent reduction.

Belief that citizens stood excellent chance to retain the 12 percent reduction now enjoyed by Wichita Falls was expressed by Chief McClure. He said, however, that he hardly expected the city to receive an added rebate of three percent for which he was hoping. Fifteen percent is the maximum reduction allowed.

Ford Gains 557 Votes In Ballot Recounting

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Further recounting of the ballots in the Ford-Newberry eletcion in Michigan by the senate elections committee today gave Ford a net gain of 557 votes for the 580 precincts recounted.

HOME DEMAND SENDS WHEAT PRICES HIGH

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Foreign buying indications of better domestic milling demand brough an advance today in the price of wheat. March delivery touched 1.80 a bushel, the topmost point since November 11. The close was unsettled at ½ to 1 1-4c net gain, with March, 1.78 to 1.78 1-4 and May, 1.68 3-4 to 1.69. Corn finished unchanged to 1-8c higher; oats 1-8 to 1 1-4c off, and provisions showing an uptourn of 12 to 40 cents.

Chief attention in the wheat trade centered on the fact that hedges here were removed on betwen 1,000,000 bushels and 1,500,000 bushels sold for export, mainly for shipment by way of the Gulf of Mexico. Much notice was also taken of signs of improvement in the flour trade. Bulls contended that the United States had already exported too much wheat and that reserves to last until next harvest were uncomfortably small. On the advance, however, profit taking by longs did a good deal to force a reaction and so, too, did an increase of country offerings.

STOCK TRADES REACH HIGHER WEEK'S LEVEL

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—On the largest and most varied dealings so far this year, approximating a turnover of 1,200,000 shares, the stock market today strengthened its forward movement of the preceding session.

In its general aspects the advance appeared to be largely of speculative origin.

Factors which again contributed to the advance included the increased strength of foreign exchange albeit the British rate was somewhat erratic and the easier trend of money. Development extended to time funds, which were in more liberal supply than at any period in the past six months.

Aside from some of the foreign municipal issues, which enhanced recent gains, the bond market lacked definite trend, many popular issues reacting with the ior hdor saddle reacting with the Liberty group and convertible rails.

SAYS BRITAIN HAD SUPERVISION OVER AMERICAN BUSINESS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Charges that the British government exercised surviliance over American business, official as well as private, passing through the British Isles, and that the statement had extended its controversy with the Western Union to bring in the Cuban government, came up today before senate committee considering cable legislation.

Norman H. Davis, acting secretary of state and Newcomb Carlton, president of the Western Union, conducted a cross table argument over the Cuban allegation, when Mr. Davis flatly denied it Chairman Kellog ended the hearing by questioning Mr. Carlton, as to the English practices. Clarence H. McKay, head of the Postal Telegraph Company, another witness, told the committee that English secret service authorities were obtaining copies of all cable messages.

Mr. Carlton several times expressed reluctance to discuss the subject of English surveillance, because it "would make trouble" but at last yielded.

FINISH HEARING ON TARIFF BILL IN COMMITTEE

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Hearings on the Fordney emergency tariff bill were concluded by the senate finance committee tonight.
The close of the hearings brought indications of a concentration of effort among opponents of the bill and the turbulence with which some of them discussed the question was accepted to mean they would go far in their fight against passage of the measure, which is designed as an aid to farmers.
Already a dozen amendments are pending. Some of them, their sponsors openly assert, are intended to be factious, but for the direct purpose of taking up the time of the senate, and, if possible, of killing the bill. Senators Thomas of Colorado and Harris of Georgia, democrats, said today they would seek to have the soldier bonus and immigration bills tacked on to the tariff measure as amendments.

Oil Operator Here Fell Down As Geologist, But Sits Pretty On Leases in Eldorado Fields

Union county, Arkansas, the home of the El Dorado wildcat, which caused a great sensation on Tuesday, when it blew in from 2,300 feet, was the scene of a prominent Wichita Falls operator's first and only attempt at being a geologist, or "rockbiter," as they are sometimes called, according to a reminiscence of the said operator, whose reputation for veracity is only exceeded by his dislike for notoriety.
At the time he entered the geological field he was engaged in scouting for a big company, and was located at Fort Smith. A big land owner, from whom the company was exceedingly desirous of leasing land, wanted a geological survey of his land made before he would lease. There was no geologist handy, so the now Wichita Falls citizen was ordered by the head office to go out and make a geological survey.
"I crawled on my hands and knees all over about one-fourth of Union county," he says, in detailing his experiences. "I had my little hatchet with me and I broke rocks in two, bit them, smelled them, and even listened, in the most approved fashion, for the rumblings of Mother Earth, that are distinguishable only to the trained ear of a geologist. It was hard on the breeches' knees, but it satisfied. And, incidentally, we got a big bunch of leases, on which the company is sitting pake right now, with this new well."

PRESIDENTIAL CAR IS WITHOUT COOK

Delefosse Green.

Delefosse Green, for years chef of the presidential car, has handed in his resignation. Green, during his years of service, had the honor of cooking for many notables, including the president, diplomats and English nobility. When King Albert and Queen Elizabet of Belgium toured the U. S. Delefosse served their meals. The king decorated him. But Delefosse says he can't live on honors and says he's going into more remunerative employment.

DANIELS SAYS TIME IS RIPE FOR NAVY CUT

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The present time was described as ripe for a movement toward limitation of naval armaments by international agreement, by Secretary Daniels of the navy, and Acting Secretary Davis of the state department, in testimony today before the house naval affairs committee.

Secretary Daniels declared that in his opinion, the move might properly be made by President-elect Harding who, he said, could "call and hold an international disarmament conference within two months after his inauguration. Mr. Harding as president, the secretary pointed out, would have complete authorization to call such a conference under the provisions of the 1916 naval appropriation act.

Secretary Daniels told the committee that President Wilson had not called such a conference, because the president felt, in view of the short time he would remain in office, such action would embarrass the incoming administration. Mr. Wilson did not use the powers granted him in the 1916 act at the close of the world war, Mr. Daniels added, because he thought the participation by the United States in the League of Nations would bring about the desired result.

The committee was urged by Mr. Daniels to authorize continuance of work on the uncompleted portion of the 1916 three years naval building program until an international agreement of some kind was reached. He asserted that if such agreement could be obtained from the powers, the United States should be "the greatest navy in the world."

Amusements

WICHITA

Again a sparkling musical revue, "Frank Dobson and his 13 Sirens," will top the bill at the Wichita theater commencing with Wednesday's matinee. Frank Dobson is a light comedian, who is funny without being forced. His methods are clean cut, and unctuous, and he sings and dances more than creditably. "The Sirens" is by Frank Stammers. Mr. Stammers has had enough experience in writing musical pieces to know just how to mix the proper ingredients. There is just enough plot to hold the thing together. The important part is its singing, dancing and comedy, and of course, its production. In this end, Mr. Maddock has been lavish. The scenery and costumes are really excellent. In fact, they could not be improved upon, and the Sirens—this time the word being used to imply to those young ladies who compose the ensemble—have been selected by a beauty expert.

Francis Yates and Gus Reed who appear in "Double Crossing" accomplish a bit of deceit, but you like them all the more for it. Francis Yates has specialized in petticoats for some time. In appearance, he makes an exceedingly attractive woman, but he does not wear the attire for this purpose. It is only to enhance the comedy of the act for he is in reality, a travesty impersonator. He and Mr. Reed make "Double Crossing" 16 minutes of lively entertainment. Both men have good voices and both men have a splendid idea of comedy. The little act is perfectly constructed and runs with absolute smoothness.

Charles Henry's pets is an act that is distinctive and stands alone. The idea of canine actors posing for statues is a unique one, and lovers of dogs are marveling over the perfection of the act. It is difficult for a human being to hold himself steady enough to look like a statue, but when a dog is trained to do it, the feat is almost supernatural. The act is unique, refined and entertaining.

Lord Chester in a comedy sketch entitled "At the Telephone" and Jeanne Childs, known on the stage as "The Joy Girl" will complete the bill for this week.

EMPRESS

Love, folly, joy, tragedy, laughter and thrills—all are in the new William Fox special production "Blind Wives," which is being shown at the Empress theater and scored an emphatic hit. It is based on "My Lady's Dress," the celebrated stage play by Edward Knoblock, and has an intensely interesting and dramatic story. The scenes are laid in New York, France and Russia, and range from the home of wealth to the slums of poverty.

The work of Miss Estelle Taylor, Marc MacDermott and Harry Sothern, who enact the principal roles, was excellent, each playing several totally different parts.

MAJESTIC

"The Golden Trail" the next attraction at the Majestic is a thrilling drama of the far North. Jane Novak, the beautiful screen actress perhaps has never had a characterization that suited her charming personality more than that provided by "The Golden Trail."

The story of "The Golden Trail" was written by Louis Moomaw with a screen adaptation by Miss Elizabeth Mahoney. It was directed by Mr. Moomaw in conjunction with Jean Hersholt.

The drama starts in with a small college town where Miss Novak is the idol and mascot of the football team. One of the features of the production is a splendidly fought football game which was staged especially for "The Golden Trail" by one of the Oregon Universities. The plot terminating in a hand-to-hand fight on one of the highest snow covered peaks that could be found.

The third installment of "The Son of Tarzan" will also be shown.

OLYMPIC

"Hello, hello, hello—oh—!

"Hello. Is this Mrs. De Conrey?"

"Allee same Hong Toy laundlee. You want wash?"

"No, I want to drown that central!"

"Hello, hello, hello- Central, you've given me eight wrong numbers, four busy buzzers and two informations. What else have you?"

Harold Lloyd, basing his investigation on the above experience, which he portrays in "Number, Please?" at the Olympic theater today and Thursday, has been seen delving into voluminous scientific manuscript at the public library recently. He is trying to discover "why is a telephone?"

Writers say that the telephone was invented to save time for busy humans who desire to converse with each other at short notice and at long distance. That, on the face of it, is ridiculous. Why it only takes five days to go from Los Angeles to New York and you can spend them sitting in a comfortable Pullman instead of standing in a stuffy telephone booth.

Louise Huff in "A Dangerous Paradise" is the other attraction at the Olympic.

Sewell Fields' Bond in Murder Charge is $2,000

Sewell Fields, charged with the murder of John Reagan here several weeks ago, was released on bond of $2,000 Tuesday following his arrest on an indictment returned by the grand jury in their report Monday morning.

His case has been set for trial during the criminal session of Thirtieth district court which begins January 24.

W. M. Lowry Mentioned For Deputy Constable

Constable Frank Morgan said Tuesday that he is still making an effort to obtain the services of two men as deputies to fill the vacancies occasioned by the resignation of W. A.
