Bangladesh Visitors Study Greenbelt REC

The acting general managers of two rural electric societies in Bangladesh are studying their counterparts in the southwestern United States, and one of their major stops was Greenbelt Electric Co-op, Inc.

They were Redwanul Bari Farouq, assistant general manager of Comilla Electric Society at Chandina, Comilla, and E.H. Chowdhury, acting general manager of Tangail Rural Electric Society-1 at Tangail.

There is one close tie between Collingsworth County and the Tangail, Bangladesh, rural electric society.

Its advisor is Vesta Lee Orr, who grew up in the Madge-Shinnery area and graduated from Wellington High School. He formerly was with Swisher County Electric Co-operative, Inc. His wife will be remembered as Nelda Terry.

David Pruitt, Greenbelt manager, Donald White and other staff members explained the operation of a rural electric co-operative whose members are widely scattered--sometime miles from the nearest neighbor, in a system that is 100 miles long, across 5 counties. It is one of the oldest in Texas.

By contrast, Chowdhury told of serving an area with 7,211,000 population in an area of just under 500 square miles.

"We began rural electrification of our country in 1978, when the government created the Rural Electric Board. It was started with United States Aid," he said.

"Only the cities had electricity prior to 1977."

Like Greenbelt Electric Co-operative, Inc., Tangail R.E.S.-1 serves not only people in the rural areas and 665 villages, but also small and large industries, educational institutions and irrigation systems.

"We hope by the end of the century the whole country will be electrified through the system," Chowdhury continued.

Rice is a major crop, although not enough is raised to feed the people, and it is a major import item. Other crops include jute, tea, wheat.

It's industrial products include feed, lubric fuel, lubricants, hides and skins, as well as other products.

Bangladesh is just emerging as a country in its own right.

"The British ruled India for 190 years," Chowdhury reminds. In 1947, the Indian sub-continent was divided, part to become India, the remainder Pakistan.

But Pakistan was itself divided into two parts, East and West Pakistan, the Eastern part being a small area to the northeast of India.

Then in 1971, East

Pakistan liberated itself through civil war to become Bangladesh. It is now a country of 54,000 square miles and a population of 90 million people.

Nature as well as war has battered the new country. Only a few years ago, hurricanes and floods struck, killing undetermined numbers of people and flooding much lowland.

With the courage that has characterized this people and nation, it began immediately to rebuild.

Chowdhury enjoys discussing his country--and helping others get a better idea of the area the Tangail Rural Electric Society-1 serves.

Of the 111,233 households in Tangail, 47,259 members have signed up for electricity.

The society has 416 miles targeted for construction, at this time, and so far, 334 miles have been staked.

Two hundred miles are being energized. Farouq and Chowdhury are also visiting Swisher County Electric Co-operative, Inc., and two other acting managers of Bangladesh rural electric services are now visiting their counterparts on the South Plains. It is a first visit to the United States for the group.

Motocross and Mud Drags On Tap Here This Sunday

High Plains Region of the National Motorsport Association will hold national qualifier motorcycle races Sunday June 5 with 22 separate morning races beginning at 7 a.m. and 22 separate afternoon races beginning at 1 p.m.

Jones expects more than 200 riders at Sunday's event. The High Plains Region stretches from El Paso through the Panhandle and includes western Oklahoma.

In order to participate in national finals races in Ponca City, Oklahoma, during the first week in August, motorcycle riders must rank in the top ten in their class from regional qualifying races.

There are 22 regions in the United States, and there are 31 classes of motorcycles, 22 of those classes will run here Sunday.

National Guard to Summer Camp

Fifty-one men from the Wellington area, members of Detachment 1, Support Co. of the 142nd Infantry, are in North Fort Hood for the annual summer camp, in which National Guard units from throughout Texas participate.

Lt. George Collinsworth commands the Wellington unit.

The advanced detachment left Wellington Thursday, May 26, and the remainder of the men went Saturday. They will return Sunday, June 12, according to M-Sgt. Vernon Day, unit administrator.

During the first week of their training, the guardsmen are in garrison at North Fort Hood.

Next week they will bivouac in the field, training under combat conditions and with live fire, Day said.

A new phase of the training for the Wellington unit will be ground surveillance using radar units, with simulators, the unit will receive field training with the Red Eye Missiles, a type of training which Day called, "the nearest training we can get without shooting one of them (missile)."

Those receiving mortar training, using live fire, will aim at targets approximately two and a half miles distant.

"The men will live and eat in the field. This is the nearest thing we can do without going into actual combat," Day emphasized.

Governor Mark White is due to review the troops at Fort Hood Thursday, June 2.

Detachment 1, the Wellington unit, has just finished its Inspector General inspection and was the top rated unit in the Texas

Rayford OC High School Graduate

Aaron Rayford II, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Rayford Sr., graduated from Douglass High School in Oklahoma City Thursday, May 26 at 7:30 p.m.

Aaron ranked in the top 15 percent of his class with a 3.20 grade point average.

The family formerly lived in Wellington.

During his high school years, Aaron received numerous awards, the highest being his selection to attend Boys State, the Outstanding Scholar and Most Popular of his class. He received the Principal's Award; was named All Around Young Man and received an Oklahoma University Scholarship.

He was elected the freshman class president and senior class president; a two-year member of the National Honor Society and a three-year letterman in basketball. He was named to Who's Who Among American High School Students.

Aaron plans to attend the University of Oklahoma to major in education.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Houston Green, Charlie Rayford of Ft. Worth, and Mrs. Dorothy Robinson of Amarillo, and the nephew of Elder and Mrs. Jimmie L. Barber and Mrs. Iva Jackson of Wellington.

In old Japan it was believed that eating ginseng root would help insure long life.

Fun Fair Plans Now in Progress

Planning for Fun Fair, part of the Collingsworth County Fair in September, is now under way and chairman Loretta Wright said the response has been good to last week's call for organizations to sponsor activities at the event.

"We have several organizations which have signed up for events and food booths, and we've already had several entries in the hospital bed races and chili cookoff," Mrs. Wright said.

"We want people to be thinking through the summer about activities they want to help with, and we'll hold an organizational meeting in late August. We still have several ideas for groups that would like to sponsor an event which would be a lot of fun and a good fund-raiser."

Anyone with questions about Fun Fair should contact the Chamber of Commerce office at 447-5848 during the summer.

Panhandle, Sgt. Day reported.

Those with the inspection team called the unit "outstanding." There are 12 units in the Panhandle, according to Day.

The inspection covered every phase of operation, including training, unit readiness, personnel records, and Maintenance.

Breedlove to Boys State

Michael A. Breedlove will attend the forty-third annual American Legion Boys State sponsored by the State of Texas American Legion, and held on the Campus of The University of Texas at Austin. About 960 high school boys from all parts of Texas will attend. State Commander Waggoner Carr of Austin announced.

Michael, 17, will be a senior in Wellington High School next year.

He played football, is on the school honor roll, served as a teacher's aide two years and represented Wellington High School in UIL typing.

He belonged to Future Farmers of America, and was a member of the Livestock Judging team.

This summer he is working for Owens Farm Supply and is taking college

MICHAEL BREEDLOVE courses at night from Clarendon College.

His hobbies are hunting and swimming.

Commander Carr stated, "Not only do the youths learn more about the functions of government but they also see the importance of the role played by each good citizen in discharging his basic citizenship responsibilities in voting. They discover that each individual citizen is an integral part of, and responsible for, the character and success of his government."

The political caucuses and conventions of Boys State are as exciting as any in real life. The secret ballot of the general election instructs the young citizens in the finer arts of being a gracious winner and a good loser as they learn from their experiences of campaigning.

The 963 boys will be housed in 22 Boys State Cities with each city further divided into two precincts, one for the Federalist and one for the Nationalist political party. They will run for office or work for appointments as they organize city, county, and state governments. Climax of their effort is the election of a Boys State Governor, a Legislature, Supreme Court and other State officers.

On Friday, June 10, the citizens of Boys States will visit the State Capitol and actually sit in chairs of the office to which they were elected and mythically run the state government for a day.

CJC Classes Offered First Summer Term

The first session will end on Friday, July 8.

Wednesday, June 1, was the last day to enroll for the first summer session, said Mrs. Wanda Cardwell.

WTU Tougher On Theft of Electricity

Electric utilities in Texas, including West Texas Utilities Co., are taking a tougher stance these days on theft of electricity.

Reasons for the crack-down are a change in the State Penal Code making meter tampering a penitentiary offense and the fact that the cost of producing electric energy has gone up. "We view any form of stealing electric power as a serious crime," said Don Welch of Abilene, WTU vice president and director of customer services, "because we feel a strong responsibility to protect the interest of our good paying customers."

"It costs money to produce electricity," Welch said. "If one customer manages to get some of it free, the other customers have to make up the difference."

The State Legislature amended the criminal mischief statute in 1981 to make diversion of any utility service a third degree felony with a possible punishment of a maximum fine of $5,000 and from two to ten years in prison. The law also allows authorities to make the assumption that the person in whose name the service was last billed is the responsible party.

Convictions have been obtained in several Texas cities since the law was passed, and WTU recently filed charges which resulted in a felony indictment being issued against a customer.

Welch said that meter tampering not only is a serious crime which is becoming more easy to detect, but that it is extremely dangerous.

"Many people do not understand the danger involved," he said. "Property damage, serious injury, or even death can result."

UDC Chapter Plans Decoration Of Graves on Memorial Day

Sabine Pass Chapter No. 2459, United Daughters of the Confederacy met Wednesday, May 25, in the Heritage Room.

Plans were made to place Confederate flags on graves of Confederate soldiers on Memorial Day. There are 7 Confederate graves in Fairview Cemetery and three in Memorial Gardens. There are also Confederate graves in Quail, Dozier, Plymouth and Needwood cemeteries.

Mrs. E.F. Bartlett presented the program on Lt.

Many dads are taking the time this Father's Day to strengthen family ties through an activity that's fun, inexpensive and relaxing—fishing.

But you don't have to be a dad to enjoy America's oldest outdoor sport. Take a friend or co-worker. Enjoying the outdoor experience while fishing together reduces the communication gaps that sometimes exist between people of different age, sex, race, or opinion.

A great time to start fishing, says the American Fishing Tackle Manufacturer's Association, is the week of June 6-12, National Fishing Week.

You can outfit a group of four with fishing equipment for little more than fifty dollars. You probably don't have to go far to find a good place to fish. And everyone can enjoy the clean water, fresh air and peace of mind.

General James Longstreet.

Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Bartlett and Mrs. Melvin Kiker represent the Sabine Pass chapter at the United Daughters of the Confederacy District II meeting in Lubbock May 28.

Mrs. Monty Mitchell, president, led the group through the rituals, songs and pledges to the flags.

Mrs. John Carson read the secretary's report and Mrs. J.R. Ross the treasurer's report.

With this meeting, the chapter dismissed for the summer, but plans were made for a luncheon to be held the last Wednesday in July.

Members present were Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Ross, Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Mary Jones, Miss Hattie D. Wells, Mrs. Willie Wells, Miss Maudie Coffee, Mrs. Florie Graham, Mrs. Florence DeArmond, Mrs. Gertrude Mayhugh, Mrs. Bartlett, Mrs. Melvin Kiker and Mrs. Russell Hill.

Samuel Schaffer, Hedi Vecera Wed in Rites at Crowell

Wedding vows were exchanged by Hedi Lyn Vecera of Crowell and Samuel Carlton Schaffer of Wheeler in First United Methodist Church at Crowell Saturday, May 28. The Reverend Steve McElroy of Slaton, former pastor of the Crowell church, performed the double ring ceremony at eight o'clock in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Vecera, 414 Horner Street, Crowell, while the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Sam Schaffer of Wellington.

An arched brass candelabra was at the center of the altar area, decorated at the base with pastel lilac flowers and salal foliage. This was surrounded by a swirl of spiral candelabra, and centered in front of the altar was a brass pedestal holding the unity candle.

Wedding selections were presented on the organ by Mrs. Leroy Connor of Vernon, who accompanied Scott Manley and Della Fisher as they sang, "You and I." He then sang "Truly" and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harding presented "That's The Way."

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She was the third sister of her family to wear the formal wedding gown of white crystalet and hand-clipped Chantilly lace. The empire bodice featured a Mandarin neckline and lace yoke edged with a self-material ruffle. Lace marked the waistline, trimmed the long tapered sleeves and topped the deep ruffled flounce of the A-line skirt that swept to a chapel train.

A demi-cap of Chantilly lace embroidered with seed pearls held her finger-tip veil of imported illusion. She carried a cascade of lilac stephanotis, white sweet heart roses, and baby's breath atop a white satin-covered Bible.

The matrons of honor were the bride's sisters, Mrs. Rhonda Naylor and Mrs. Anita Manley.

Bridesmaids were Dana Walden of Canyon, Kapi Nance of Tuttle, Oklahoma, who is the bride's cousin, Jonna Naylor of Thalia and Mrs. Diana Bond of Shamrock, sister of the bridegroom.

Their identical gowns were of lilac voile with spaghetti straps tied at the shoulder, camisole style bodice with accents tucking, lace, applique and simulated pearl button trim, with peplums at the waist and tiered skirts. Each carried a white silk parasol, with lilac bows at the points and a mini corsage on the handle.

Myron Jolly of Wheeler was the bridegroom's best man and groomsmen were Billy Stewart, Ronny Gaines and Marvin Grimes, all of Wheeler, Craig Wyrick of Big Spring and Keith Williams of Vernon.

Ushers were Keith Bartley and Richard Vandever of Amarillo, Dean Schaffer of Spearman who is a cousin of the groom, and Mark Gilmer of Wheeler.

Candles were lighted by Jody Graves and Brenda Taylor, both of Crowell.

The ring bearer and flower girls were Drew Jeffers of Anson, Haley Naylor of Granbury, a niece of the bride, and Tabitha Bond of Shamrock, niece of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Vecera were hosts at the reception which honored the couple, held in the fellowship hall of the church.

The bride's table was covered with a lilac satin cloth having an overlay of white Chantilly lace. Swags of lilac satin were caught up with bows and wedding bells. A garland of lilac and white roses decorated the wedding cake, and a candle epergen held an arrangement of lilac and white stephanotis carnations and chrysanthemums. Other appointments were of crystal and silver.

The bridegroom's table was covered with a lilac satin cloth centered with an arrangement of spring flowers and the traditional cake. Silver appointments were used.

Presiding at the tables were Sue Morrow of Capulin, New Mexico, Donna Ferrel of Memphis, Jill Bell of Crowell, Mrs. Patsy Bachman of Rayland, Carolyn Halsell, Reme Norman of Lubbock, Terry McDaniel of Vernon and Mrs. Denise Holley of Crowell.

B&PW Club Hosts Dist. Director, Installs Officers for 1983-84

Mrs. Melba Harvill of Wichita Falls, District 10 director, Business and Professional Clubs, made her official visit to the Wellington Club Tuesday, May 24. She discussed state and national B&PW projects and objectives.

It was during this meeting that 1983-84 officers were installed, with Mrs. L.C. Sweat conducting the installation.

The theme she used was that of a tree, whose various parts represented the parts of a tree.

Mrs. Sam Adams sang the Joyce Kilmer poem, "Trees," set to music. Mrs. Truman Estes was her accompanist.

Mrs. Sweat compared the president, Mrs. Lynn Wright, to the trunk of the tree, Miss Nancy Bigby as first vice president to the branches. Mrs. Bill Lindsey, second vice-president, as the tap root, since she is the membership chairman, the installing officer continued. Mrs. John Thomas as secretary, is the leaves of the tree and Mrs. Estes as treasurer is the sap.

As she talked cut-outs of the tree parts were joined on a poster board by Mrs. Dudley Phipps and Mrs. Joel Sherwood.

Members were told they are the fruit of the tree, which in this instance was apples.

Mrs. Goldie Barnett, retiring president, presented the pin of the office to Mrs. Wright, who then announced the appointees and club chairmen.

Mrs. Sweat is song leader and Mrs. Estes pianist. Telephone committee members are Mrs. Marie Gollighugh and Mrs. Erna Fay Kersten; the yearbook committee is composed of Mrs. Kinyard Poteet, Mrs. Ansel Atkinson and Miss Myra Hays.

Thomas, foundation; Mrs. Charles Britten, personal development; Mrs. Estes, finance chairman; Mrs. Lindsey, membership; and Mrs. Barnett parliamentary chairman.

Mrs. Sweat and Mrs. Phipps were in charge of the program. Mrs. Phipps led the collect and Mrs. Sweat the Salute to the Flag.

Mrs. Barnett conducted the business meeting and gave a resume of the club year and the objectives that have been carried out.

Mrs. D.R. McKinney gave a financial report of the various donations made to the state and national projects.

There were two guests;

Mrs. Sam Adams and Mrs. Larry Adams. Both of the guests joined the club as new members.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT REPORT

by Nancy Bigby

DEVELOP HOME STORAGE PLAN

Today's trend toward smaller living areas means less space for storage. The purpose of storage is to provide a place for items not in use or until they are needed. But most of us have more items to be stored than space in which to store them.

A family storage plan can help utilize limited storage space more effectively. Start by assessing your storage needs. Take a close look at your family's size, composition and lifestyle.

Family composition makes a difference since storage needs change as family members grow and change. In planning for storage space anticipate changes that will take place during the next five years. You may need space to store games and toys right now, for example, but five years from now you will need space to store teenagers' records and stereo equipment.

Lifestyle must also be considered when planning for storage. Consider storage for hobbies and recreational equipment, whether you live formally or informally and how often you entertain. All of these things will affect the amount and type of storage needed by the family. If you hate to dust and dislike clutter, for instance, adding open shelving for storage would not make much sense.

Examine your home's existing storage space next. Take note of the type, size and flexibility of the present storage facilities. Categorize facilities into built-in or portable storage. Now you are ready to match objects with available storage space.

Take an inventory of items to be stored. Solve part of your storage problem by cleaning out closets and discarding unused items. As you take your inventory note the area where the item is normally used, how often it is used, its approximate height, depth and length and the number of items of this type to be stored.

Now you are ready to develop a storage plan. In deciding where to store an item, keep in mind these simple principles:

*Store items near their place of first or last use.

*Place items within easy reach.

*Keep items that will be used together in the same place.

*Store things where they will be protected from damage or adverse conditions.

When you are satisfied with your plan, move items to their new location. As your family changes and your storage needs change, reconsider your storage plan to be sure it still meets your needs.

Reports

BRUCELLOSIS

AUSTIN — Texas is the number one cattle state in the nation, ranking first in terms of the number of cattle and calves, beef cattle numbers, cash receipts, value of cattle and calves and the number of cattle operators. The cattle industry is an important part of the Texas economy, and it will continue to be as long as we can market cattle in an orderly fashion with a minimum of restrictions.

A problem facing cattle owners and operators in many parts of Texas is a disease known as Brucellosis. Brucellosis is a contagious bacterial disease found in livestock. The disease causes abortions, reduced or delayed calving and weak calves. Brucellosis isn't transmitted through pasteurized dairy products or processed meat, though it can be contracted by workers in slaughterhouses, or individuals working with infected animals while aborting or calving. In humans, the disease can cause undulant fever which is an intermittent fever accompanied by an infection.

As a member of the Governor's Brucellosis Evaluation Committee, I have heard many concerns from cattlemen across the state who are faced with the problem of Brucellosis. I subsequently worked on legislation aimed at improving the situation in Texas. Many people feel that the Texas statute needed to come into compliance with the national program.

We are fortunate in West Texas that we do not have the problem of Brucellosis to the extent ranchers have in other parts of the state. Our drier weather and lower humidity in West Texas have helped keep the problem out of our region. While the cattlemen in West Texas have seen less incidence of the disease than those in other parts of the state, West Texas cattlemen could experience financial difficulties from a federally imposed quarantine on the shipment of cattle from Texas.

We worked hard to avoid a quarantine. We feel a quarantine could result in a severe blow to the cattle industry in our part of the state. It would restrict the movement of cattle in our area. A quarantine would threaten our industry because we have a large movement of cattle across state lines.

We realize that Brucellosis is one of the most serious diseases of livestock. Affirmative action must be taken to protect our cattle industry. We are concerned about the swiftness with which the disease spreads, and the fact that it is transmitted to humans makes it all the more serious. We will always do all in our means to make sure the people and livestock of this state are protected.

If you have any questions or comments about Brucellosis, please contact us by writing, Senator Bill Sarpalius, P.O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

Letter From The People

DEAR EDITOR:

I have never written a letter to a newspaper before. This is not a letter of criticism, but just a note I felt I had to write.

Your article on the retirement of Jimmie Kelso was incomplete. For many years Kelso Funeral Home was a partnership and there were co-owners. The other partner was Gladys Kelso.

Gladys is one of the most pleasant memories of my childhood in Wellington. She was happy, energetic and always put others first. Most of all she was a Christian and a credit to Wellington of the past.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—The Governor's proposed tax increase program fell flat in a House committee last week, but even as it closed the regular session, the Legislature braced to return for a special session on taxes.

Governor Mark White overhauled his tax program after the Ways and Means Committee voted 14-1 to kill all bills to which White's program could have been attached.

White's revised proposal would abandon the proposed doubling of certain luxury tax items, and install an expanded sales tax on alcohol, tobacco, video games and other luxuries, and alter the state's motor fuels tax. Under the new fuels tax proposal, gasoline taxes would change from a flat 5-cents per gallon to a five percent rate, and diesel would go from the current 6 1/2-cent charge to 6.5 percent rate.

Since fuel prices hover at slightly more than a dollar at present, fuel taxes would increase only slightly. However, if fuel prices rise, the tax revenue which funds highways and education would automatically rise also.

Special Session

White, who has taken to the television airwaves to push his tax hike to boost teacher salaries and education in Texas, hinted strongly last week of a coming special session if lawmakers do not act... and they did not.

Speculation has the special session being called for anytime from the day after the session to mid-July. Mid-June probably has more believers than any other date.

When White does call the session, no one will be caught by surprise.

Chairman Softening

Even Ways and Means Committee chairman Stan Schlueter, D-Killeen, who has blocked a tax hike at every turn, seems to be softening a bit. Schlueter said last week he would work with White and legislators to formulate the best tax increase program available, even though he would not vote for it.

Indeed, Schlueter's acceptance of the coming session reflects what many lawmakers are conceding privately: that the Legislature, having failed to agree on which state expenditures to cut, must now fight a battle over whether and how much to raise taxes.

Bullock vs. White

When White charged out with his tax hike offensive two weeks ago, even Comptroller Bob Bullock, the governor's nemesis and probable '86 opponent, was silent for awhile. Bullock, after all, had accused White of lacking in leadership, a charge that looked a bit thin after White came out dancing and jabbing.

But last week Bullock showed his mettle: he reduced his revenue estimates for the fourth time this year, trimming off another $93 million from the amount lawmakers can legally budget for the next two years.

Bullock also made headlines last week when reporters discovered he had loaned out his official license plates for two years to one of his major contributors.

The Senate

The Senate last week approved legislation that would:

—Increase the price of what is considered a felony theft from $200 to $750.

—Salvage the state's unemployment fund by taxing employers an additional $1.1 billion over the next three years.

—Allow auto dealers to earn commissions up to 35 percent on credit life insurance policies they sell customers. The bill by Rep. Bill Messer, D-Belton, was opposed by the State Board of Insurance.

—Extend state law requiring school attendance to children in kindergarten.

—Authorize counties to charge up to $5 in extra vehicle registration fees.

The House

Legislation approved last week in the House included measures:

—Allowing consumers to get a refund or a new car if a dealer sold them a "lemon."

—Abolishing the mandatory life sentence for three-time felons, but including a minimum 25-year sentence.

—Removing the fuel tax exemption for gasoline, currently being marketed in many cities as super unleaded.

—Restricting the use of the insanity defense in criminal trials.

Speaker Probe

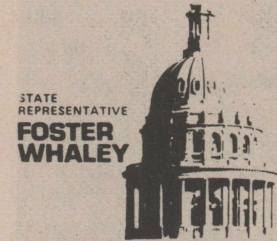

When House Speaker Gib Lewis omitted several business ventures from his financial disclosure report earlier this year, House members quietly agreed to put off any investigation of the slip until after the regular session.

Last week the House Ethics Committee began to review Lewis' late disclosures and will meet again early this summer to consider further action.

Among business partnerships which Lewis failed to mention before he amended his report following a barrage of bad press were partnerships with a one-time horse racing lobbyist and beer and liquor dealers. Horserace betting and DWI legislation figured prominently in the current session.

Although the Travis County District Attorney said at the time that Lewis had actually violated no law, the committee lawyer said any legislator who knowingly filed an incomplete financial disclosure could be prosecuted for perjury.

capitol comment

Paramutuel gambling was defeated by a 75-73 vote on the floor of the House on May 18, 1983. The debate ended quickly when Representative Tejeda, San Antonio, made a motion to table the bill. It would now take a two-thirds vote to bring the bill back to the floor. There is no chance it will be brought back up. Had one person from the winning side switched their vote to the other side, the story could have been different. It has been estimated those favoring horse racing spent well over six million dollars on the issue. The bill had already passed in the Senate.

I was prepared to use excerpts from 250 letters I had received in opposition to the bill had it been necessary. The fight ended quickly when the bill was postponed.

Today S.B. 557 by Senator Sarpalius was passed in the House and should be signed into law soon. This bill would have severely increased the penalties for dog fighting. Earlier I had carried the House version of this bill. I was successful in getting amendments placed on the bill which would provide for the confiscation of vehicles used in the transportation of dogs and dog fighting equipment. This is a gruesome and bloody sport that should not be tolerated.

The final version of the appropriation bill does an excellent job of addressing the maintenance and operations of our schools. Most Superintendents in our 84th District received a nice increase of maintenance and operations funds over and above previous years. I have mailed copies of a printout which shows how each school district was affected in the 84th District. I am sure the Superintendents would be very happy to share this information with you. I have not studied each printout in detail, but most districts received offsetting monies as a result of the removal of cattle and machinery from the local tax rolls.

Most of the committee work has been done. The daily calendar of bills to come before the House is growing. On May 19, 1983, there were 119 different bills on the calendar. Most of the day was spent on two or three of these bills. One bill that would tighten up the exemption on alcohol fuels was debated for two hours. Less than one percent of these fuel mixtures are produced in Texas. The fuels are imported from the cornbelt and from Brazil. Comptroller Bullock said that up to $93 million in tax would be lost in the coming two years if something was not done. An amendment was placed on the bill that would still keep the tax exemptions in place for any tax exempt fuels produced in Texas or elsewhere if the feed grains used in the production of fuels come from Texas.

MELODY MILLER DILLON

Melody Dillon Graduates at Nursing School

Melody Miller Dillon was among the 34 graduates of Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing, receiving a diploma on May 12.

She is now eligible to write the State Board of Nurse Examiners for license as a registered nurse.

Mrs. Dillon is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller of Canyon, formerly of Wellington, and was a frequent visitor while her grandmother, Mrs. Bert Miller lived here.

She graduated from Canyon High School and was selected by the student body as Junior Class Favorite in 1982 and as All-school Favorite in 1983. She is the wife of Dennis Dillon and will be working in the mental health division at Northwest Texas Hospital.

Bowen to HS Symposium

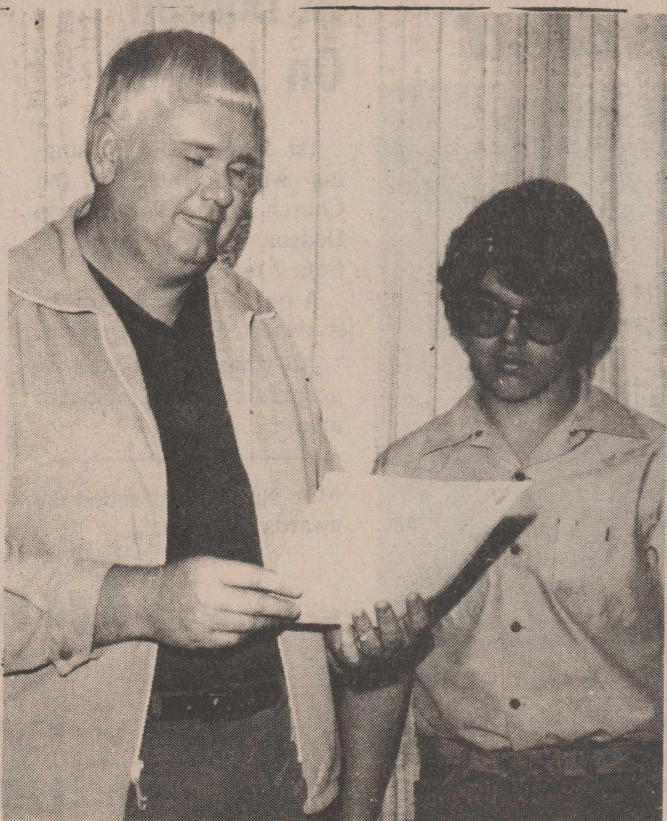

Science students from across the state will converge upon the University of Texas at Austin May 31-June 3 for the annual Texas Energy Science Symposium for High Schools.

Selected to attend from this area is Barry Bowen, student at Wellington High School. Science instructor Allen Gilbert will accompany him to the meeting.

"By attending, students and teachers will receive first-hand information from some of the most authoritative energy experts in the nation. It is truly an educational experience," he added.

Tommy Hudson, local manager of West Texas Utilities Company, said, "Our Company is privileged to help sponsor this event which has proven a great benefit to the young people who have participated in years past.

The Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation was created in 1957 for the advancement of knowledge of energy, particularly nuclear energy, through scientific and educational activities. Its research efforts are presently directed towards controlling fusion reactions through programs being carried out at the University of Texas at Austin laboratories with the ultimate goal of using energy from nuclear fusion for the generation of electricity.

Ten investor-owned utility companies, including West Texas Utilities Company, are members of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation which jointly is sponsoring the symposium with the University.

Participants will spend two afternoons on tours of science laboratories at the University, including those which conduct experiments sponsored by the Foundation in the Thermonuclear (fusion) research.

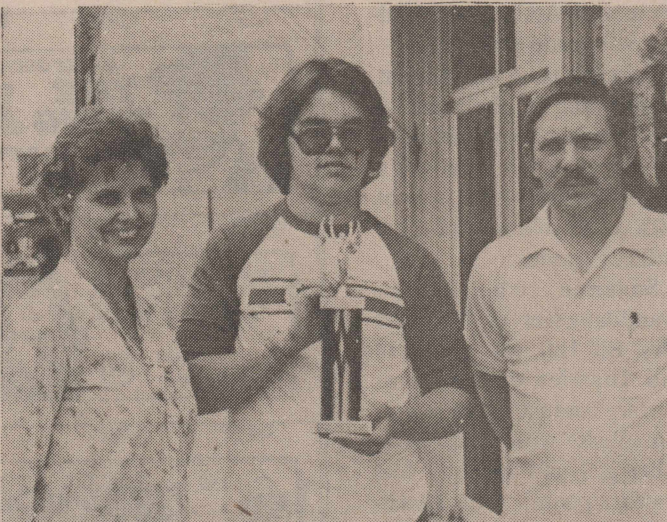

Bowen Wins Computer Event

Barry Bowen has placed second in the Region 16 Science Fair, for the section on computer programming. This was a competition which involved students in the Gifted and Talented Program.

With Lloyd Hayes, high school science teacher as his mentor, Bowen wrote a program which solved triangles using the law of sines.

The program was placed in a computer at the Region SVI Center in Amarillo and judged.

Bowen also submitted the required user information sheet to accompany the program.

Working with Bowen on his program also was Mrs. Deanna Van Pelt, who heads the GATE program in the Wellington Schools.

"He had a good program and lots of effort went into it, Hayes said.

COLLINGSWORTH COUNTY AGENT REPORT by DON REEVES

STORED GRAIN: A VALUABLE ASSET Many farmers in this area have grains stored on their place. And most figure it's almost like having money in the bank. However, that's not necessarily true.

Stored grain is only a true asset if it's kept in good condition, and not devaluated by poor management or insect infestation.

Statistics tell us that only 10% of all stored grains are protected by grain insecticides, and that 75% of all stored grain contains live insects. What does that mean to the individual farmer?

It means that your valuable grain could be far less valuable in a very short time unless insects are kept under strict control. This will be of even greater significance for grain binned this harvest with the new P.I.K. program.

First of all, new weight goes down as insects help themselves consistently to a nutritious feast. Second, insect contamination reduces the value of your grain at the elevator. Heavy dockage is not at all unusual. If weevil damage is evident, or if the webbing caused by Indian meal moth caterpillars fouls the grain, you can absolutely count on downgrading and sometimes outright rejection.

What to do? Fortunately, the answer is just a little more care at time of binning, and a few simple rules to observe.

The first rule is scrupulous attention to cleanliness. Before you bin any new grains this season, get rid of the old residue that may still be around. One of the major causes of new grain insect infestation is contact with old grain that is contaminated.

Be tough about the actual bin cleaning process. Really sweep out bins, sweep down ceilings, get old grain, dirt and dust off the floors, walls, sills, ledges, door ways, cracks and crevices. Clean bins inside and out. Tidy up outside around bins. Cut down tall grass or weeds
