

The Gay Philosopher

By J. W. S.

DROPPED BY Mr. A. E. McNeely's house late Monday and enjoyed looking over his collection of more than 2,000 items from the Indian days. These items include scores of arrowheads, tomahawks, rub rocks, rock needles, rock spikes, rock knives and other gadgets made of rock by the Indians of Texas and elsewhere.

The 2,000 or so items represent an interesting hobby that Mr. McNeely has enjoyed for some 30 years. Most Sunday afternoons he and a fellow hobbyist, Mr. Harry Schaefer, take to the old Indian camping country and hunt rocks and relics.

Mr. McNeely's collection of Indian gear has been picked up, largely by him, in Texas, Alabama, the Ozarks, California and elsewhere. In the past, their vacations have been to areas where he could get in a little rock hunting.

Books on Indian items make Mr. McNeely's finds easy to identify. You can even tell what tribe of Indian made the particular piece by comparing it with pictures and details in the books. Some of his items are from 15,000 to 25,000 years old, according to the books.

Besides his hobby, Mr. McNeely is a pretty busy man. He is the M-K-T Railroad's agent here and he owns a 200-acre rock farm eight miles south of town on the Rising Star Highway. Besides that, he is active in the First Baptist Church, is treasurer for the Girl Scout board, a member of the Cisco Rotary Club and is active in civic affairs.

Mr. McNeely is pretty proud of his farm. They have a 15-acre orchard of peaches and pecans, some fine hogs, cattle and crop and out at the farm.

The McNeelys came to Cisco in 1941 from Bosque County. He has been with the M-K-T railroad since 1912—41 years. When he's not busy with his job, the farm or his hobby, Mr. McNeely plays the violin. He plays regularly at the First Baptist Church. Understand that Mr. McNeely's hunting partner, Mr. Schaefer, has a fine collection of Indian rocks and relics.

HOME FROM Japan and the war country is Captain A. R. Schmitt of Houston and Cisco. He arrived at San Francisco last Thursday and flew into Dallas on Saturday. Mrs. Schmitt joined him there and they are now in San Antonio where he is in the process of being discharged.

Mrs. Schmitt and their three children have lived in Cisco while the Captain spent 15 months in the war country. He is a dentist and practiced in Houston before being called to active duty.

Album Project Is Underway Among Junior Students

Mrs. Harold Durham, junior Red Cross chairman for Eastland County, reported today that work on the albums being made by students in the county is progressing and the books will soon be ready to ship to schools in other counties. The albums depict American life and are being made by classroom groups.

"The program is correlated with the work in all subject matter areas," Mrs. Durham said. "Students learn to study life in their own communities with a definite purpose; they write creatively and informatively about their schools, their games, the food they like, the holidays they celebrate. The students in return will receive albums from children in other countries that afford an intimate knowledge of other peoples and countries."

South Ward, Eastland students completed filling five gift boxes this week. West Ward completed one. These gift boxes are cardboard boxes, 9x4x3 inches, which school children in this country may fill at any time during the school year to send children in other countries. Mrs. Durham stated that the children enjoyed this activity very much. The contents of the boxes include recreational and personal articles and health and school supplies. The boxes are sent to foreign countries where they are distributed through Red Cross channels to children in schools, institutions, and displaced persons camps. The boxes and shipping cost is furnished by the local Red Cross chapter.

Band Parents To Join Lions Club In Calendar Plan

The Band Parents Association voted at the regular meeting Monday night in the band hall to join the Cisco Lions Club in sponsoring a community calendar designed especially for people of Cisco. The two organizations will work together on the project, and committees were named to work out the details. W. E. Band Director Kenneth St. Clair presented his junior high school band in four numbers as the entertainment for the meeting.

Ciscoan Elected To Church Post At Fort Worth

Members of the Tarrant County Baptist Association recently elected Roy Lee Williams, Jr., education and music director. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williams of Cisco.

Williams has been education and music director of the First Baptist Church in Arlington. Prior to going to the Arlington church he was with the Diamond Hill Baptist Church. He is a graduate of Hardin-Simmons University and attended the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary where he worked on his master of religious education and bachelor of sacred music degrees. Williams served with the Navy during World War II and when the war ended was attending officers' school at the University of Pennsylvania.

He will replace Charles McLaughlin in the Tarrant County post. McLaughlin resigned when he was named superintendent of missions.

JUNIOR TEAMS WIN TOP HONORS IN ANNUAL DISTRICT PROGRAM

Out of a possible 130 points in grade and elementary school competition in track, field and literary events, Cisco Junior High School has amassed 70 points to win the district championship, it was announced today.

The final points were made Saturday when the Midgets took second place in the district track and field meet. They were nudged out of the first place slot by Hamilton.

The Cisco team took first and second in the 100 yard dash, first and fourth in the 50 yard dash, third in the 440 yard relay, first in the broad jump and third in the high jump.

Benji Lipsey won high point honors for the meet when he took first in the 50 yard dash, the 100 yard dash, the broad jump and third place in the high jump. Lipsey accounted for 17½ points. David Ewell took second in the 100 yard dash and fourth in the 50 yard dash. Lipsey, Ewell, Tuffy Carlisle and John Doyle ran on the relay team that took third place.

In other competition for the championship, Cisco Junior High School took first in girls volleyball, first in boys volleyball, first in sixth grade spelling, first in seventh and eighth grade spelling, second in number sense and third in baseball.

The school choir will go to Abilene Saturday to compete for honors with other schools in the region. Tuesday morning the choir was to go to Breckenridge for a program in the high school auditorium.

Spring football training for the Midgets will probably begin next week, Coach O. B. Graham reported.

Higher Signs To Be Erected For State Highways

The Texas Highway Department has reached a new height in highway signing, D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, announced today. Greer said existing signs will gradually be replaced by taller one 3½ feet high measured from the pavement level to the bottom of the sign. The present signs range from 18 to 24 inches in height.

"The reason for this change-over," Greer continued, "is to reduce the maintenance cost and to increase readability and visibility, especially during the growing season when native flora often interferes with or partially covers the present low signs if not mowed frequently."

"In the spring, for example, we sow and cultivate wild flowers along the roadside and in order for these flowers to reseed, it is necessary to permit them to reach maturity. However, this is impossible in areas where low signs are in use since the flowers would hide the signs."

Greer said that in wet weather, vehicles continually splashed mud on the present low signs, causing an expensive maintenance cleaning problem.

Greer added that within the next three years this change-over should be completed throughout the state. There are 208,000 signs on the 42,206 miles of state-maintained highways and when replacement is necessary, the new height sign will be used. This gradual change-over will enable the department to erect the new signs at no extra cost to the taxpayers.

He pointed out that when three or more signs are to be mounted on a post, the bottom sign will be 2½ feet from the pavement level so that the top sign will not be too high for easy readability. In the areas where the new signs have been tried, the results have been most gratifying. The higher signs are more visible to motorists and have greatly reduced maintenance cost, Greer said.

CJC Baseballers To Play McMurtry In City Tonight

The Cisco Junior College Independent baseball team will play the McMurtry College nine at the ABC field Tuesday night (tonight) at 8 o'clock, it was announced by the team manager Tuesday.

The Cisco team has two wins over the Eastland Independents this season. They defeated the Eastland team Saturday night in Eastland 12-1. At ABC field two weeks ago they defeated the same team 7-1.

The Cisco team is composed of some fine baseball players from all over Texas. Included on the roster is Bud Miller, former St. Louis Cardinal, who is attending Cisco Junior College.

Admission prices for the game tonight have been set at 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students. Children under six years of age will be admitted free when accompanied by an adult.

Council To Study Water Situation

The City of Cisco struck water again today in a test well drilling program in Lake Cisco Park below the dam, Mayor G. C. Rosenthal reported. And the second well apparently was better than the first, which was drilled last week.

In the second well, thin water sands were found at about 40 feet and at around 60 feet. At 112 feet, the drill hit water and the sand was still present at 145 feet as operations continued Tuesday morning. Mr. Rosenthal said the water tasted good.

Like the first well, No. 2 was flowing a small stream of water when workmen returned to the job Tuesday morning. Mr. Rosenthal said. Well No. 1 has continued to flow since it was bottomed at about 190 feet last week. The well was estimated as capable of producing 13,600 gallons a day. No bailer test has been run on No. 2.

Mr. Rosenthal pointed out that "we are drilling the test holes to see what is under the ground." Samples of the water have been sent to Austin for laboratory analysis.

The water wells and the water situation in general was due to come up Tuesday night (tonight) at the semi-monthly meeting of the City Commission. The council had ordered an ordinance to be drawn and presented for consideration.

Lake Cisco has an estimated 10-months supply on hand without further rainfall. A 1.2 inch rain last week raised the lake level four inches.

Under the proposed ordinance, the city would prevent use of city water for purposes other than drinking and essential household and industrial use. May 1 has been proposed as the date for making the conservation ordinance effective.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday at Thomas Funeral Chapel with Rev. Frank R. Myers, pastor of the Coleman Episcopal Church, officiating. Burial will follow in Oakwood Cemetery with Thomas Funeral Home in charge of the arrangements.

Survivors are his parents of Brownwood; a sister, Marsha Susan Brown of Brownwood and his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Page of Cisco.

Orchard Business Offers Big Returns, Horticulturist Says

Never in the history of Texas agriculture has there been a better opportunity to make good money in the orchard business, according to Tom E. Denman, horticulturist, of the Texas A&M College Experiment Station, Stephenville.

Denman was speaking to a group of Eastland County adults and vocational agriculture students attending the annual Eastland County orchard day program held recently on the fruit farm of J. D. Inabert, two miles north of Pioneer.

Denman said that the potential market for good fruit is the best in history, that horticulturists have succeeded in developing some of the finest and surest producers of fruit ever known, that handling and shipping practices have been perfected, and that chemists have developed sprays that will control all diseases and insects known to attack fruit.

As an example of the market possibilities facing the prospective orchardist, Denman pointed out that the number of peach trees in Texas had declined to a new all-time low of less than 6 million trees, while the state's population had reached an all-time high.

In addition to the state market, Denman said that peaches from the orchard at the Stephenville Experiment farm sold at a premium in distant markets.

"We could have asked and obtained $8 a bushel for most of our 1952 crop," said the horticulturist, "but we were ashamed to ask buyers more than $4 a bushel for them."

Fruit growing is not easy work, but it isn't difficult, he said, if the orchardist will adopt and follow ten fundamental rules in establishing an orchard. He enumerated them as follows:

1. First select a good fruit soil, one that is known to be favorable to fruit growing and known to be free of disease.
2. Make sure of ample moisture, whether from rainfall or adequate irrigation reservoirs or wells.
3. Plant only those varieties that have proven adaptable to the

Pole Planter in Action

THIS VERSATILE NEW TELEPHONE TRUCK can dig a hole, pick up a 20-foot pole and plant it in position faster than a man can set a fence post. This is one of many new technical developments that are helping us push telephone lines out into farming areas at a record-breaking pace. In just seven years we have set 256,000 poles in a construction program that has increased the number of Southwestern Bell rural telephones in Texas six times. And this year we hope to extend service to many more families and businesses in rural areas. SOUTHWESTERN BELL... A TEAM OF 28,000 TEXAS TELEPHONE PEOPLE... AT YOUR SERVICE.

For the Men Who Succeed —

... and for those who will some day succeed them, our suggestion is that they invest part of their earnings in real estate. Wise investments in real properties have yielded fortunes to many people. And those who succeed in this venture never gamble on the title. They buy only quality abstracts made by those who have themselves invested wisely — in their plant — in their personnel — and in their responsibility to the public.

climate and demanded by consumers.

4. Start with healthy, vigorous trees.

5. Be sure you know how to train and prune them properly to get maximum production.

6. Plan a production schedule which will permit thinning fruit on the tree to permit it to develop its best size, quality, and have good appearance.

7. Have adequate culture equipment and know how to use it, as well as knowing what cover crops to grow and what fertilizers to use.

8. Establish an adequate spraying schedule and follow it religiously, using only the best sprays.

9. Know when the fruit has reached the right maturity for harvesting.

10. Establish a production time table that will fit the climate and market.

Each of the points were elaborated on by Dennman, but emphasis was placed on spraying and production timetables. "Enough spray is wasted in Texas each year to take care of the state's orchards for two years if it was properly used," Dennman said.

One of the major causes of spray waste is poor timing. Either the wrong kind of spray is used, or the spray was used at the wrong time. "There are definite times in the year when certain fruit tree insects can be most effectively controlled. If trees are sprayed too far ahead of the time they emerge and begin their destruction, the spray is wasted. If the spray is applied too late, the insects have done their damage and may have entered a stage of development where spraying does no good."

Of the production timetable, Dennman said that the major consideration is the selection of varieties that will mature before the Texas sun begins bearing down, and early enough to be ahead of fruit coming into the markets from other areas.

In the matter of peach varieties, Dennman said that tests have proven the following four as highly satisfactory in the West Cross-timbers area of Texas:

1. Cardinal, which ripens 6-12 weeks ahead of Elberta.
2. Dixied, which begins ripening about June 5.
3. Dixigem, which begins ripening about June 15.
4. Ranger, which begins ripening about June 22.

All of these varieties require about 800 to 1,000 hours of chilling to control their dormancy period. For that reason, they are late in starting budding and blossoming, thereby escaping early freeze damage.

J. W. Foster, Jr., Weatherford orchardist, entomologist, and chemist, explained that there innumerable good spray materials on the market today and explained the most effective kinds for different diseases and insects.

Foster pointed out that sprays containing DDT, while good in controlling some of the worst tree insects is also bad in that it also destroys some of the beneficial insects.

Foster pointed out that after using sprays with a DDT base, many orchardists had suffered unusual damage from aphids since many insects, such as ladybugs, that are natural enemies of aphids, had also been destroyed by the spray.

"Sprays containing chlordane have been doing a good job on insects for Parker County fruit growers," Foster said.

Lindane sprays are also proving satisfactory, he said.

In using any spray, Foster said, it is important to the user to know the chemical strength of the material as well as the correct poundage to use to obtain maximum results.

Foster also stated that sprays, such as DDT which build up a residue, are more effective against certain insects than are other kinds.

He used the pecan case bearer as an example.

The time the case bearer emerges from the nut cluster, travels down the twig to the first leaf buds and then back to the cluster may vary. It is necessary then to have insecticide in a killing spot before the insect enters.

The lasting killing effect of DDT provides a margin of safety in control this particular insect, Foster said.

He stressed, too, the importance of good spray equipment.

He again used the nut case bearer as an example. The insect hatches out in a nut cluster at the end of the twig. If the clusters are heavy, then the insect may find protection against a weakly applied spray inside the cluster. If the spray is applied with sufficient force to penetrate to every part of the cluster, then the insect has no chance to escape. — Abilene Reporter-News.
