Reds Try to Form Fifth Column, Say Prisoners of War

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, Korea — (AP) — Released American prisoners of war said today they believed their Chinese Communist captors tried to make a "fifth column" out of them.

Europe Unity Has Stopover

STRASBOURG, France — (AP) — The European Consultative Assembly set out today on a new road toward European federation, with a stopover scheduled at "special authorities."

"Special authorities" is the disarming title for a gradual and progressive delegation of power which assemblymen propose to lead to an eventual genuine authority over western Europe's defense, foreign policy, finances and commerce.

It is a new name for federal government.

National sovereignty, it seems, is to be surrendered piece by piece, instead of in a single package, but it will be surrendered just the same if the assembly has its way.

The assembly doesn't always have its way. A discussion group made up of delegates from 15 European nations, it forms the lower house of the Council of Europe — a sort of embryo parliament. Assembly decisions are subject to veto by any member of the committee of foreign ministers, the upper house.

But the assembly has begun work on a new statute intended to bring member nations into closer union.

Weatherman Sels a Trend

CHARLESTON, S. C. — (AP) — S. L. Parks, Jr., a filling station operator, sold all his anti-freeze in just a few minutes.

Although the mercury stood at 70 degrees on Friday, weather forecaster W. Howard Ush drove in and got his supply.

Whereupon Parks posted this big sign:

"The weatherman just purchased anti-freeze — how about you?" His supply went like hot cakes.

And the mercury dropped to 16 degrees today, the lowest November reading on record for this old town.

Heavy Red Concentrations Believed Preparing Attack

TOKYO — (AP) — The enemy rolled thousands of troops toward the northwest Korean front Saturday for what may be the first great United Nations end-of-the-war offensive.

Already one big counterattack, believed dealt by Chinese Communists, had hurled back the allied east flank six miles. It was aimed at South Korean troops. The U. S. forces still advanced farther west.

But a field dispatch said the big battle soon may be joined between U. S. troops and the 100,000 Chinese and North Korean troops massing in the snow-mantled hills of northwest Korea.

Air observers said they saw the 5,000 Reds said they were converging five miles north of Kusong, before the U. S. 24th and Second Divisions.

One pilot said the Reds were "swarming all over the countryside."

Americans poured heavy artillery fire into the area. Both the American 24th and Second Divisions moved cautiously forward on a 25-mile front into the teeth of the Red build-up.

A U. S. Ninth Corps spokesman said they met "sporadic" resistance.

Damage, Death Toll Mounting Steadily

By the Associated Press

Paralyzing snows, hurricane-force winds and bitter cold dealt large areas of the nation their worst weather-whipping in years Saturday. The storms caused 67 deaths, paralyzed entire industrial centers, crippled transportation and caused heavy damage.

The worst storm since the 1938 hurricane hit the eastern seaboard, the hurricane-force winds ripped a path of destruction from Virginia to New England running into millions of dollars.

A huge wind-propelled tide smashed beach homes a mile inland on New York's Staten Island. More than 1,000 families were evacuated from flooded east coast shore areas.

Texas, however, began shaking off its latest cold spell which dropped temperatures near zero in parts of the state.

Panhandle residents can look forward to gradually warming temperatures after another chilly night tonight. Temperatures began rising Saturday.

The worst blizzard in 37 years dumped a paralyzing blanket of snow over the important Ohio industrial centers of Cleveland, Youngstown, Akron and Canton. Pittsburgh was smothered under the heaviest continued snowfall in its history. Snow piled up to a depth of 22 inches and more was in prospect. The U. S. Steel Corp. began closing its big plants employing more than 50,000.

The same storm dumped as much as 30 inches of snow on parts of West Virginia.

There was more to come. The Washington weather bureau issued a special bulletin at 4 p. m. (EST) that from six inches to a foot more snow would fall in the snowbound area Saturday night and Sunday.

Forecast heavy snow with strong winds and severe drifting in Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, extreme western Maryland and northeastern Kentucky.

Ohio state police reported snow already had drifted as high as 25 feet in some places in the Steubenville, O., area.

It was the same story in all cities buried under the mountainous snow drifts: trolley, taxi, bus, auto and airline transportation came to a virtual halt.

Trains were stalled hours late. Some big department stores didn't try to open. Hundreds of workers tramped to work on foot, but thousands of others couldn't distribute their Saturday afternoon editions.

Bitter cold and blustery snow spread into the deep South. Forecasters said temperatures of 28 to 32 degrees, probably would pinch Miami and other southern Florida points Saturday night or early Sunday. Mississippi, N. C., highest point east of the Mississippi River, had a reading of 19 below zero.

Much of the Midwest shared in a sub zero cold wave for the third day in a row.

The East Coast storm washed away some seaside homes, covered airports, inundated highways and poured into some areas.

Santa Leaves For Pampa !!

SANTA CLAUSLAND—(Special)—Santa Claus is out and merry with the hearty laugh on his way to make a quick trip around the world, checking up on what boys and girls have been good the past year.

He has taken off with four of his reindeer, Dunder and Blitzen, Dancer and Prancer. Prancer is completely well from his earlier attack of overeating candy, and the little animal is ready to pull his weight all the way to Pampa on the evening of Dec. 1 for the big parade.

Santa took off early this morning with scarcely a word to anyone. His little Brownies were busily putting the finishing touches on some of the toys. Mrs. Santa Claus fixed up a good hot breakfast for the jovial, red-checked, bright-eyed husband of hers. Santa is traveling light and fast now, but he will be back in time to fill his pack and start his rounds of the world on Christmas Eve.

From Santa Clausland, near Sverdrup, Iceland, Santa will speed over the frozen Arctic sea. His route to the United States and Pampa, Texas, where he will join in the Christmas parade at 7 p. m. on Dec. 1, is via McClure Strait, by way of Prince Patrick Island. You can see the route on a globe of the world.

Santa is to arrive at Point Barrow, Alaska, tomorrow. That will be his first stop for rest.

He got loads of mail before he left, and more is piling in each day. Some of the letters he got from the Texas Panhandle are these:

DEAR SANTA: Please bring me some roller skates for Christmas. Thank you. BARBARA DWIGHT

S. S.—Also candy and nuts.

DEAR SANTA: I have wrote you before as I want a sled. An some soap box derby wheels. An to guns on both sides. An boots an spurs an a vector set. An that is all.

Dear Santa, Christmas is near an I hope that it not to much an I hope I get all I want to. An I hope there is enouff to go around an I hope every boy an girl gets something on Christmas Day.

LYNN SCHOOLFIELD

DEAR SANTA CLAUS: I am a little girl who will soon be 4 years old. I have just moved to Pampa and please do not forget me. I want a table and two chairs, a dollie, a cook stove, a Sittland pony, candy, fruit, nuts and I guess that is all. I've been a good girl so please don't forget me.

Love, LYNBA BETH TAYLOR, 1009 S. Sumner St., Pampa, Texas

P. S.—You can bring me a set of dishes, too, Santa.

Attic Fire Damages Home in Shamrock

SHAMROCK (Special) — Fire which broke out in the attic caused considerable damage to the new home of Dr. Royce C. Lewis, Jr., Shamrock physician, shortly after noon, Saturday.

Dr. and Mrs. Lewis had returned home from the office and Mrs. Lewis was preparing their noon meal when she noticed great clouds of smoke coming out of vents from the central heating system.

Firemen were forced to cut a hole in the roof in order to subdue the blaze. The fire was thought to have occurred from a short circuit in the power unit of the heating system.

Water damaged the hallway severely and slightly damaged other parts of the six room house, located at 820 S. Madden.

Neither Dr. Lewis nor Speck Reeves, representative of the fire department, could give an accurate estimate of the damage.

Survivors include his wife, Ruth; a son, Leo; two daughters, Mrs. Maxine Throckmorton and Miss Nancy Smith, all of Plainview; two brothers, Pete and Granville, Tulsa, Okla.; one sister, a Mrs. Luby, Tulsa; and two grandchildren.

Mr. Smith was a former resident of Pampa.

Services Are Held For F. E. Smith, 67

Funeral services for F. E. "Quickie" Smith, 67, who died in St. Anthony's Hospital, Amarillo, Wednesday night, were conducted Saturday from the Blackburn-Shaw Chapel in Amarillo. Officiating was Rev. R. H. Campbell, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Plainview.

Prosecution Due Japan Exporters

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator O'Connor (D-MD.) said Saturday that certain individuals or firms "face" possible prosecution in Japan regarding shipment of more than 4,000 pounds of copper to Communist China.

He announced that a Senate Commerce subcommittee which he heads as acting chairman is taking steps to have Gen. Douglas MacArthur's staff look into the matter with a view to possible action by Japanese authorities.

It will pay you to get Bert A. Howell & Co., 119 N. Ward, and let them check your heating system. Phone 152 for speedy service.—adv.

Puerto Rican Sends Apology

A letter, expressing the feeling of Puerto Rican citizens over the terrorist activities in that little island possession and climaxed with the frustrated attempt on President Truman's life, was received late last week by City Manager Dick Pepin from San Juan City Manager Felisa Rincon DeGautier.

"The overwhelming majority of the inhabitants of Puerto Rico, as loyal American citizens, condemn the principle of terrorism and the principle of governments are changed by ballots and not by bullets, have repudiated vigorously the criminal acts of a group whose total membership does not exceed 800 individuals. That is less than one-twentieth of one percent of the total population of the island."

The San Juan city official pointed out that a similar attack had been made, and failed, on the life of Governor Luis Munoz Marin, governor of Puerto Rico.

Describing the adherents of the Nationalist Party as "harmless," DeGautier declared the party has no grip on the Puerto Rican people who, he added, "regard them as common criminals who should be and are being prosecuted according to the laws."

OILY TO BED — It isn't likely that two-year-old Anthony Kochever will grow up to be a sucker for oil well stock salesmen. He's pictured in a Chicago hospital with nurse Ann Hudak after being pumped free of the fuel oil he drank from a can, using an old piece of rubber hose as a "straw."

STORM

tions of New York City's subway.

The howling winds ripped off roofs, flattened trees, snapped power lines and knocked down advertising signs.

For the first time since the war, a New York mayor alerted civilian defense forces. Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri urged them to aid police and firemen in rescue and emergency repair work. He asked all other civilians to stay off the streets.

Nearby Newark and Jersey City, N. J., proclaimed states emergency because of storm danger. The rain laden winds, howling at 60 miles an hour throughout the storm area, reached a gust of 94 at New York City's Idlewild Airport. A velocity of 105 miles an hour was recorded on the weather station atop Bear Mountain, 40 miles up the Hudson River from New York.

Floods and fallen wires left a half million homes in the greater New York-Northern New Jersey area without electricity. Power failure forced at least seven radio stations in New York and New Jersey off the air. A five-story building collapsed near the Polo Grounds in upper Manhattan.

In New Jersey, waves along the coast tossed 30-foot timber pilings into the air and buckled resort sidewalks.

The New York Weather Bureau said gusts of 70 to 80 miles an hour would continue until late Saturday night.

A blast that partially destroyed a $500,000 power distribution station in the Washington, D. C., metropolitan area was blamed on lightning. It left thousands of homes and business firms without electricity.

Some 3,000 telephones were knocked out of service by the high winds in New Jersey.

The heaviest snowfall recorded was at Lumberton, a small town about 12 miles north of Clarkburg, W. Va. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said the town had a 45-inch fall.

All of Michigan was storm bound. The snow ranged from three inches in Detroit to more than a foot in the upper peninsula.

The snow tapered off late Saturday in Pennsylvania, but forecasters said snow flurries might follow. The storm halted crime and finance. For the first time in 14 years there was no trading at the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. Police had no reports of crimes for a 14 hour period.

Santa Conveyance Varying Somewhat

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — In southern California, at least, the celebrated reindeer of Mr. Claus won't get enough work this season to justify the feed bill.

Oh, Santa Claus will be here all right. But he'll arrive by every imaginable conveyance except reindeer. Some of the places Santa is booked during the Yuletide season and his mode of travel:

El Centro — by stagecoach. Inglewood — astride a donkey.

Long Beach — aboard a canal boat.

Borrego Springs — via airplane.

Fullerton — by helicopter.

San Diego — in a giant balloon.

Newport Beach — by yacht, as part of the Christmas regatta.

Huntington Beach — in company with 20 hands and other marching units.

Hollywood — Santa may be seen nightly parading down Hollywood Boulevard, escorted by movie players. His sleigh is propelled on wheels by a gasoline engine.

Relief Program Is Set Up by UN

LAKE SUCCESS — (AP) — A joint session of the UN Economic and Social Committee completed action Saturday on a $250,000,000 Korean relief program.

By a vote of 37 to 0 and five (Soviet block) abstentions, the committee approved the economic and Social Council's program setting up a Korean Reconstruction Agency (UNKRA) under the direction of a UN agent general operating with an advisory committee of five-member governments.

The program now goes to the general assembly where it is assured the necessary two-thirds majority.

150 Russian Pilgrims Are Received by Pope

VATICAN CITY — (AP) — Pope Pius XII Saturday received 150 Russian Holy Year Pilgrims from western European countries. Russian hymns were sung in St. Peter's Basilica for the first time in many years.

The group was received by the Pope in a general audience with 20,000 other pilgrims. It was the first Russian group to arrive here.

POLIO POSTER BOY—Twelve-year-old Larry McKenzie's picture will appear on hundreds of thousands of posters next January during the 1951 March of Dimes campaign for $50,000,000 to combat polio. Henry Will Do All His Deer Hunting in the Butcher Shop

By HENRY McEMORE

A friend in upper New York state has written inviting me to come up to his lodge in the mountains to go on a deer hunt. As a rule I am slow with my correspondence but this invitation sent me bounding to my desk like one of the creatures he wants me to shoot.

I didn't want to lose so much as a second in refusing this invitation.

There are a lot of things I don't mind doing in this world, such as playing poker with women, changing an automobile tire in the rain, or getting out of bed at three in the morning to answer a wrong number on the telephone.

But the very thought of going deer hunting, particularly in freezing weather, makes me shiver and shake like a dog being given a bath.

Why does anyone want to kill a deer, anyway? You'll find few men, even among the deer-hunting group, who believe that venison can taste as good as a roast or a steak as a meat dish.

There must be 10,000 ways to cook venison and the reason for this is that people are always seeking a recipe which will prevent venison from tasting like venison, meaning gamey and dry.

It can't be that deer hunters seek antlers. Most of the deer killed in this country do not have bumps on their heads as big as most football players have at the close of every Saturday afternoon. You couldn't hang anything bigger than a child's cap on them, and as for a room decoration, they are about as effective as two big toes glued to a wall would be.

The last time I went deer hunting was in the South, and the weather was mild before daybreak when we had to set out in order to be sure to be uncomfortablely perched on our stands before the sun came up.

When I think of how I suffered hunting deer in Florida I get madder and madder at that so-called friend who wants me to come up to the chiblain and frozen ear country and share his agony with him. In really cold weather no one could tempt me even to ride through the Bronx Zoo in a steamheated cab and take a shot at a caged deer.

The dangers of deer hunting have been much written about but they have not been exaggerated. Once a man gets on a deer stand he gets as trigger happy as a coked-up gunman. He will shoot at the slightest rustle, even if the rustle has on a red shirt and red cap and is whistling the "Stars and Stripes."

Before the season is ended, just about as many hunters will have been winged as deer, and what man wants to come out of the woods draped over the hood and fender of an automobile? Or have his head nailed on a trophy room wall or his pelt made into a rug for a game room?

No, where I like to do my hunting is in a nice, well-stocked butcher shop. There, where it is cozy and warm, I can never fail to bring down a loin of pork, or a brisket of beef, or a mess of veal chops. No skinning to do. No dragging it home through the snow and ice.

And there's very little chance of being plugged. Most butchers have no trouble at all in distinguishing between a man and a deer.

Flying Tigers Aid Displaced Persons

SINGAPORE — (AP) — The Flying Tigers airline is making 16 trips to Australia via Singapore from Germany carrying displaced persons to new homes. Poles, Hungarians and Ukrainians—many of whom spent years in displaced persons camps, or fled from Iron Curtain countries—make up many of the transports.

The airline is operated by Gen. Claire Chennault of the famed Flying Tigers of China.

Russians Dissolve Glider Activities

VIENNA — (AP) — In December, 1949, the Russians gave permission to glider enthusiasts to take up their sport again. Recently, however, the Soviets banned glider flying in the Russian zone and proposed that the four allies occupying Austria dissolve the glider pilots' club.

The western allies refused, so Soviet zone pilots now do their flying in the American, British and French zones. The reason for the Russian about-face is obscure. American officials said it is possibly designed to limit glider activity until the Russians themselves make a strong bid for control of the sport through well-organized Communist glider groups.

Some Farmers Better Off in Industrials

DALLAS — (AP) — A panel of experts studying the economy of the Southwest is considering the possibility that a lot of farmers might be better off if they shifted to industrial work.

The interdependence of agricultural and non-agricultural activities was one of the problems discussed here by the agriculture panel of the Southwest Economic Advisory Committee.

The panel reported that 50 percent of the farms produce only 10 percent of commercial farm goods, while another 50 percent produce 90 percent. Economists feel the low producing 50 percent would be better off somewhere else.

Navy Rocket Climbs 107 Miles Into Air

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A Navy Viking rocket reached a speed of 3,600 miles an hour recently in climbing 107 miles into the upper atmosphere over New Mexico.

The Viking, 50 feet long and weighing 5 1/2 tons, beat by one mile the previous altitude record for an American-made single stage missile.

However, a German V-2, fired at White Sands, N. Mex., climbed 114 miles and an American "Wac Corporal" it released at the top of its flight has been officially recorded as attaining a height of more than 250 miles.

During World War I, there were more days lost in the Army from mumps than from any other illness.

Possibility Exists of Aid To America From Europeans

By RADER WINGATE

NEW YORK — (AP) — If the Korean war forces us to stop making some of these luxury goods classed as non-essential, maybe we will be able to get them from Europe.

There is practically no limit to what Europe can make for us, and producers over there certainly would like to sell their wares over here.

While we turn our attention to guns, and planes and jeeps and those war weapons we know best how to make, Europe could sell us any pots and pans and toys and textiles and other consumer goods that might become casualties of the war machine in America.

The idea is nebulous at this time, but European business thinking is running in that direction. After all, we don't know yet exactly where civilian production cut-backs are going to hit — not how hard.

W. Stuart Symington, U.S. defense coordinator, warned against going too fast in any all-industry controls plan before military production gets to rolling.

The thought of European aid for America is being taken overseas in the minds of the European banking mission which has ended a 4,000 mile tour of America under the wing of the Economic Cooperation Administration.

The 27 bankers from 14 Marshall Plan countries sailed for Paris where they will complete a report on "suggestions which will assist the free nations of Europe eventually to be able to stand on their own feet and to resume normal trading with the United States and Canada without the special assistance that has been and is being so generously afforded by the U. S. A. through the medium of the Marshall Plan."

Selling needed goods to the United States isn't as easy as it sounds, these bankers stressed at a press conference.

For one thing, the stronger nations, like Great Britain, are carrying on their own rearmament program in the midst of a long-term civilian recovery driver that has been going on full tilt since the end of the last war.

Oil Delivery Man Gets a Let-Down

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Nicholas J. Potere left his oil-delivery truck and went into a taproom to make a telephone call.

He wanted to ask his office about his next delivery.

"Right back there under the stairs," Potere quoted the bartender as saying when he asked where the telephone was.

Potere walked to the rear of the taproom and into a little cubicle under the stairs. But he never made his call.

When he looked up from where he had landed flat on his back in the cellar, he said he saw the bartender far above him, calling: "Oh, I'm sorry, I forgot to tell

Australian Amputees To Get Automobiles

CANBERRA — (AP) — The Australian government is to give cars to every ex-serviceman who has lost both legs above the knees by amputation. The Repatriation Commission, which is making the gift, will also make an allowance to help pay costs of repairs, gasoline, insurance and registration.

And that, said Potere is why he wants $15,000 damages from the taproom's owner, Charles Feola.

Potere charges he went straight through a trapdoor when he stepped up to the telephone.

Dr. Joe Donaldson Addresses Kiwanis on Federal Medicine

Dr. Joe R. Donaldson, secretary-treasurer of the Top of Texas Medical Assn., told the Pampa Kiwanis Club, Friday, America almost had socialized medicine when the federal aid to education bill, which came up for discussion in Congress recently, appeared with a rider tacked on it which would provide free medical care to children up to 17 years of age.

Dr. Donaldson spoke to the Kiwanians at their noon meeting on the hazards of socialized medicine.

He said that England has instituted a type of socialized medicine which has not worked satisfactorily. The practice has cost Great Britain twice as much as was planned and the medicine is, by no means, free to the people—they pay for it in taxes that are far higher than ours, the medical man stated. He revealed that the socialized type of medicine has been proved to be far below standard.

Dr. Donaldson pointed out that the nearest thing to socialized medicine that the United States has ever had was the army medical practices in the past war. He called to mind the army's habit of often giving aspirin tablets to sick men and gold bricks alike, which is one of the end results of socialized medicine.

Just to show how little money was spent last year on medicine, Donaldson revealed that more money was spent on alcohol last year than on the total of all health costs combined and twice as much was spent for tobacco.

"Socialized medicine destroys the initiative of the individual,"

WORST SEAT—Replying to a coach's criticism, officials say he has the poorest seat in the stadium. This photograph of George Munger seems to bear them out. Pennsylvania's coach appears to be praying, and it was expected that he might do just that when the Quakers met Wisconsin at Franklin Field.

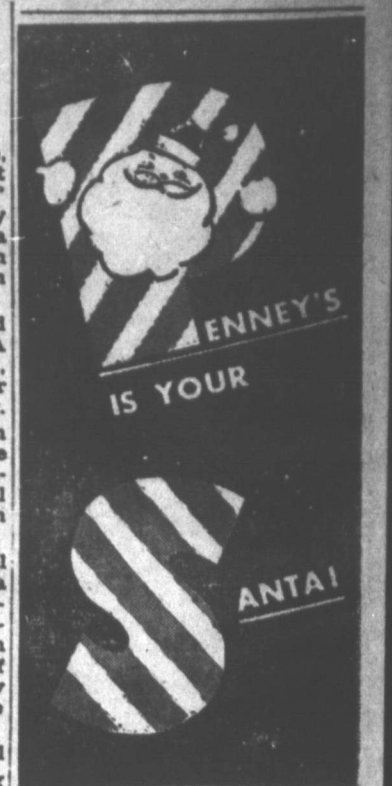

Contribution for Ambulance Time For Rent Farmer

EASTON, Md. —(AP)—"Sure, you never know when you might need the ambulance yourself," said Jim Sewell. So he cheerfully contributed early last week to a campaign for funds to maintain an ambulance in this eastern shore area.

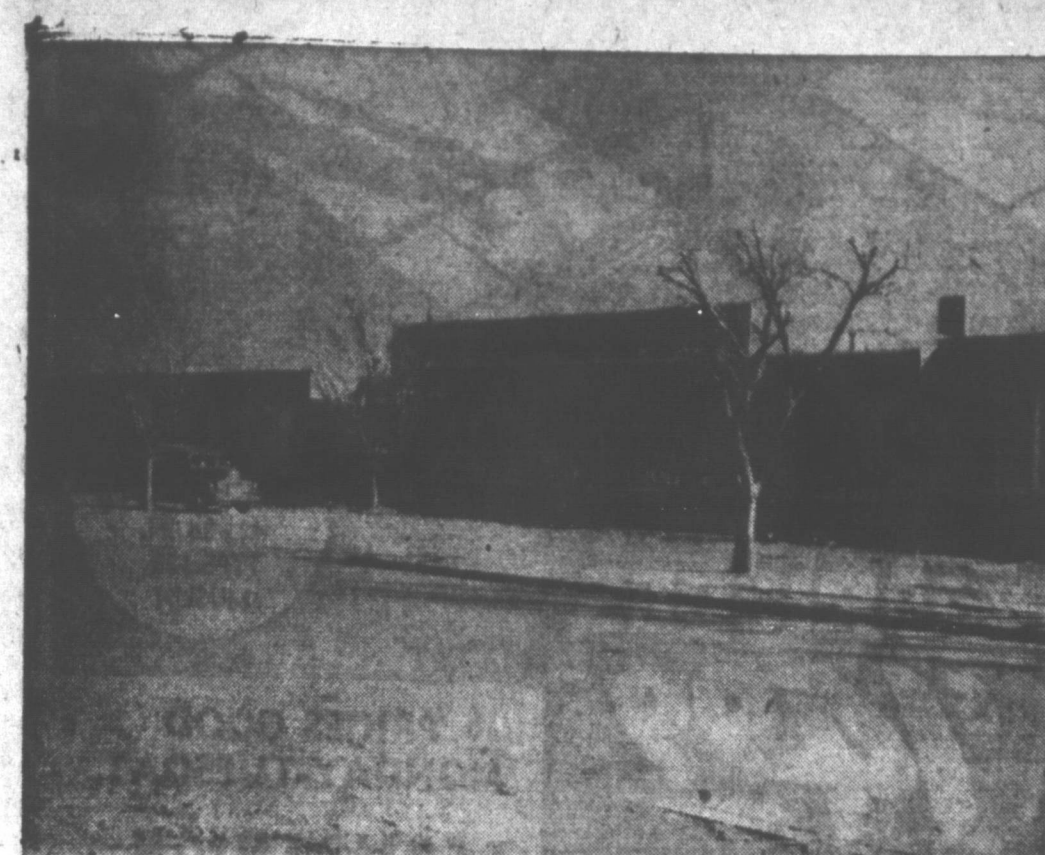

Last Friday the ambulance had a passenger — Jim Sewell. A tenant farmer about 33 years old, he had fallen into a corn picker and lost his right arm and leg. There wasn't much hope then that he would live. But the ambulance crew applied tourniquets on the way to the hospital and made it there faster than ever.

Neighbors besieged the hospital with offers of blood. Monday a brigade led by farm bureau members swarmed over Sewell's 150-acre place to finish the corn picking and plowing and see if there was anything else they could do for his wife and five children.

Now doctors at Easton Hospital said Sewell had stopped bleeding and seemed unbelievably strong. They expect him to recover.

BAKER SCHOOL—The new addition of an auditorium and gymnasium and heating unit for the entire building is almost completed at this elementary school at 300 E. Tuke. All four elementary schools are being remodeled, but Baker is the most nearly finished.

Work Started on Final School Job

The last of the six construction jobs for Pampa schools will be started sometime next month, according to B. R. Cantrell, architect for all the work. Most nearly complete is the Baker Elementary School. J. T. Gohman Construction Co. of Borger is general contractor for this school. James T. Taylor and Son of Fort Worth are contractors for the rest of the buildings.

Baker was the first of the school building contracts to be let. It is expected the additions to the building will be finished by the middle of December. Work has been slowed recently because of a lack of materials for cabinets.

An auditorium and gymnasium combination has been added to Baker along with six classrooms, two students' rest rooms and a complete new heating plant that will serve the entire building.

Horace Mann Elementary School is about half finished, with most of the outside brick work done. This building has been almost completely turned around. The new addition will face Faulkner street and will house a new principal's office, the combination auditorium and gymnasium and new rest rooms and lounges.

This school is receiving more remodeling and more space than the other schools. Cantrell expects this school to be completed before this school year is out.

A new cafeteria unit is being added to Sam Houston Elementary School which will be beneath the first floor on the east end of the original building. Work has been started on the walls of this addition. The playroom and auditorium section will be built onto the north wing. A common corridor will be used through the old and new sections.

The Woodrow Wilson School additions have only been started during the past month. The sub slab is completed and ready for the flooring and the brick work will begin next week. Six classrooms and rest rooms for the faculty will be added along with the gymnasium and auditorium.

Heating plants are being installed to serve both old and new sections in all the buildings except Sam Houston. All the buildings will be finished in time for use for the 1951-1952 school terms.

The foundation for the Carver School has been laid and plumbing work has started, as well as gas lines.

Bids will be received on the last of these school buildings Tuesday night, Dec. 5. This will be the field house for the high school. It will be located just north of the high school building, in line with the old gymnasium and will face Harvester Park. It will be heated from the existing heating plant for the high school.

convention of the International City Managers Assn.

The convention, held for the second time in history in Texas, will be headquartered in the fabulous Shamrock Hotel, in Houston, starting Sunday night and winding up with a banquet Wednesday night.

Pepin has been appointed to serve on the reception and entertainment committees. More than 600 city managers from the United States and Canada have made reservations for the convention.

SPRY AND MIGHTY POWER PLANT

with a proud pedigree

Rushing into the cylinder, the fuel charge strikes the Turbo-Top piston—swirls into a tiny cyclone of terrific turbulence that gives a mighty power-push to the ignited fuel.

HERE you behold the up-to-the-minute version of a high-compression engine that has taught a whole industry something about fuel efficiency.

Fact is, Buick pioneered the deep-breathing valve-in-head engine 47 years ago—and thus blazed a trail that aircraft engines—and more recently automobile engines—have followed.

But don't let that ancient lineage fool you.

Today's Buick engine is not simply a valve-in-head. It's a Fireball—which means that it uses fuel-saving, power-peaking principles that are found in no other motorcar on America's highways.

"This is all very well," you say, "but what does it do for me?"

Mister, that's what we'd like to show you.

Come settle yourself at the graceful Buick wheel. Gently press the handy gas treadle—and feel this spry and mighty motor come to life.

Then head for the open road, and discover what a whale of a lot of fun it can be to have Fireballs under your hood.

Better come in soon, and get acquainted with the engine—and the automobile—that have won more than 200,000 owners of other cars to 1950 Buicks.

No other motorcar engine can match these features

TURBO-TOP piston heads roll the incoming charge of fuel into a whirling "Fireball"

MICROPOISE BALANCING after assembly keeps Buick engines within 1/4 of an "ounce-inch" of perfect balance

HI-POISED MOUNTINGS cradle the engine for smoother action

CYLINDER BLOCKS are super-precision-bored and double-honed for perfect dimensioning

FLEX-FIT RINGS snug up against cylinder walls, increase oil economy

DUREX BEARINGS provide unsurpassed bearing life

FLUTEWEIGHT PISTONS combine lightness with hardness and strength

DOG NOTES by PETER BOGGS

RESIDENTS ATE DOGS

Our soldiers and marines were surprised when they entered North Korea to find very few dogs. In fact it was almost a dog-less country. And yet only a few months ago the dog population of this country was about the same as the rest of the world; namely, about one dog for every other family.

A friend of mine assigned to a South Korean division as an observer wrote me that he had noticed the lack of dogs — usually a pitiful and scared group in any war theater. He interviewed a German national, a Mr. Schirbaum, who had been trapped in Inchon under Communist rule, who claimed, "The food situation was so bad that most owners ate their dogs. All the food was conscripted by the Reds and rationed as they saw fit."

All this is rather shocking in this country but in the Far East for centuries many people have considered dogs as food.

LEANING OUT CAR WINDOWS
"Why do dogs like to lean out car windows?" writes a woman reader of this column. I couldn't tell her exactly why. It may be, as she has suggested, the combination of scents and colors; or like human beings, they may just enjoy catching the breeze. However, allowing a dog to lean out the window of a moving car is dangerous.

Not only may he fall out but if the habit is kept up over a period of time it may cause serious eye troubles. Many a serious case of bronchial trouble has been traced to this leaning out of the car window habit. No great harm will come from letting your dog stick his head out for a few brief moments, but don't let him do it for any prolonged period.

AN OLD BREEDING QUESTION
There was an absurd theory in circulation for many many years that if a purebred female dog were mated to a mongrel, or to any dog of a breed other than her own, she would continue to have mongrel puppies all the rest of her life, even if she were mated in future times to purebred dogs of her own breed.

Long ago science proved beyond any shadow of a doubt that this is untrue and that no past breeding would affect the offspring of any later breedings. Yet the idiotic idea crops out afresh, every now and then, for only last week I received two letters on the subject. Don't worry if a female becomes bred by any dog of another breed — it will not in any manner affect any future breedings and the resultant puppies.

KEEP DOG ALONE
Whenever you start to train a puppy or an older dog, there is one all-important rule for you to follow, namely, be alone with him throughout the hours of training, feeding, and exercising. This is especially good advice even if you are teaching him the simplest of lessons.

When you and your new dog are alone together, there is no person or other dog to distract his attention from you and from what you are attempting to teach him. On your walks, too, and when you feed him, or when he is spending a few hours with you, indoors or out-of-doors, arrange that no other person be present. This may sound foolish, but it is 50 percent of the secret of educating him and making him the one-man dog he should be.

HIS DOG BETTER THAN LAWYER
A few nights ago I had dinner with a lawyer friend of mine in Tulsa, Oklahoma, and learned of an interesting case he had observed in court that day in Tulsa. A man by the name of John McLaughlin was sentenced to jail for a period of 90 days. As he was sentenced he pleaded to be released long enough to feed his dog and find a home for it. This so touched the judge that he replied, "If you are that thoughtful you can't really be bad or dangerous so I will suspend sentence."

Within a few hours it became known around town that this particular judge was an ardent

"Why is it dogs love to lean out car windows? Is it bad for them to do so?"

dog lover. Right away almost every defendant was trying to win "his honor's" favor by bringing something about dogs into the testimony. Latest reports are that it worked once but not any more.

THE QUESTION BOX
Question: We live in the country and twice lately my dog has come in contact with a skunk. How do I get rid of the odor?—K. B.

Answer: Here's what to do. Open a can of tomatoes and wash the dog thoroughly with the can's contents. This will completely deodorize him.

Question: Should I clip or strip a scottie that is six months old?—J. F. D.

Answer: A Scottie should never

Leading Jockeys Meet at Bowie

BOWIE, Md. — (AP) — Jockeys Joe Culmone and Willie Shoemaker will compete for the first time on the same track here Monday in their continuing neck-and-neck race for national riding honors.

Bowie officials said last night the match race between the two top winners is on again. Shoemaker, who has been burning them up on West Coast race tracks, had previously called the whole thing off when he learned he'd be violating rules of the Thoroughbred Racing Association if he let the Bowie management pick up the tab for his trip East.

But that was all taken care of when a local trainer, Frank D. Christmas, agreed to pay the costs if Willie would fly to Bowie to ride Milk War against Culmone in one of the races.

Culmone barged farther ahead of Shoemaker in total number of victories yesterday at Bowie when he booted home five winners. The victories gave Culmone a 1950 total of 341 against Shoemaker's 336. Willie brought in three winners yesterday.

Shoemaker and Culmone will meet in eight — possibly nine — races at Bowie Monday.

That ninth race may be a match event between the two riders on two horses judged of equal merit. Arrangements will be made to get the best possible mounts for the two jockeys in each race.

Building in Texas Rises for October

AUSTIN — (AP) — Building activity in Texas as measured by permits, increased 45 percent in October, compared with the same month a year ago.

Permits totaled $56,153,580 in 58 cities, the University of Texas Business Research Bureau reported, a 1 percent gain from September.

Henderson had a booming 15-fold increase. Corpus Christi permits rose 480 percent; Galveston 355; Waco 209; Tyler 143; Sherman 97; and Temple 96. Marshall, Brownsville, Mission, Kingsville, Borger and Edinburg suffered declines.

Good Samaritans Give Farmer Help

DES MOINES — (AP) — Ernie Huettner hopes his luck has changed. Huettner farms a place near Calamus. First it was sickness which laid him up. For about a year and a half. Then last spring fire destroyed farm buildings and damaged his residence and most of his machinery.

But things are looking up. A new barn has been completed with the help of neighbors who are assisting in the construction of a hog house. Huettner estimated his neighbors' help had saved him about $2,000 in labor.

YOU AND THE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Does an officer of the inactive reserve have a chance of being deferred if he served for five years in the Army and was a prisoner of war for 26 months? Can an inactive reserve officer resign his commission?

A. Not because you were a P. O. W. No, not at the present time.

Q. Can the draft board put you in class 4-F without giving you a physical exam?

A. Yes, if you have some obvious physical defect like a missing leg.

Q. Is a girl who will be 19 soon and who didn't have the chance to go to high school eligible for service in one of women's corps?

A. The Army permits girls in who have the "equivalent" of a high school education. "ould have to pass tests to prove it. But you can't get in the Air Force or Navy women's services without a high school diploma.

Q. My son enlisted in the service last August. I have two daughters whom I must support and only a small pension from the railroad. Am I eligible for an allotment?

A. Yes, if your son contributed to more than one-half of your support.

Q. Our son is 19 and mentally backward. couldn't finish school and can't hold a job. Is there a chance that he might be drafted?

A. Not much. But it will depend on his ability to pass the Army's mental exam.

Q. My son has had the government send me a monthly allotment out of his pay. But it isn't enough to keep me going. Can I have it increased?

A. No.

Men! Here is a Suit that does not end up on the sale racks

"BOTANY" BRAND 500
Why, you ask?

First the FABRICS that go into BOTANY are hand picked and must stand up under rigid tests and they do stand up before BOTANY will accept them to go into their suits; therefore you get number one fabrics.

Second... The tailoring that goes into these suits is done by a firm of long standing, a firm that knows how even down to the LAST BUTTON. So the fabric and tailoring must be and are RIGHT. With this combination of fine fabrics and fine tailoring BOTANY never has to hit the sale racks.

Church Weddings Hold Attention as Winter Holiday Season Begins

Double-Ring Ceremony Uniting Miss Helen Kiser, W. R. Hogge Is Read in Holy Souls Catholic Church

The wedding of Miss Helen Ann Kiser to William Russell Hogge was solemnized in Holy Souls Catholic Church at 9 a.m. Saturday. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Kiser, 1309 Christine, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hogge, Masterson Road, Amarillo.

The double-ring ceremony, preceding the Nuptial High Mass, was read by the Rev. Otto Meyer, C.M. Bobby Waddell and Billy Herr served at the Mass. The altar vases were filled with arrangements of white chrysanthemums, and tapers in branched candelabra decorated the altars. The center aisle of the church was carpeted in white and marked by ice blue satin bows on the pew caps.

William Haley, organist, played a program of nuptial music and the traditional wedding marches. He accompanied Mrs. J. W. Garman, Jr., who sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, chose an ice blue satin dress fashioned with a fitted bodice and long tapered sleeves. The bodice was designed with a matching illusion yoke and satin berth. Handmade French roses of the satin edged the yoke. The hemline of the skirt, with its extreme hip fullness, was caught at both sides with satin roses allowing the skirt fullness to sweep into a cathedral train.

The two-tiered floor-length veil of English silk illusion was attached by satin roses to a fitted cap. The bride's bouquet was a crescent arrangement of gladioli from which fell a full shower of American Beauty roses.

Miss Joan Sawyer, maid of honor, wore a dress of Queen Anne blue styled with an off-shoulder neckline encircled by a berth cuff, a fitted bodice with matching button trim and a bouffant skirt.

Bridemaids were Miss Marilyn Jilka, Salina, Kans.; Miss Anne Moseley, Pampa, and Miss Kay Cummings of Oklahoma City. Dressed like the honor attendant, they wore ensembles of a lighter shade of blue. All carried matching bouquets decorated with American Beauty roses, and wore braided coronet halos of satin.

Robert Detten, Amarillo, served as best man. Glenn Hatfield, Kasey Funk, Amarillo; Frank Hutson, Boston, Mass.; and William Braly, Pampa, were ushers. Ring bearer was Jimmy Hogge, brother of the bridegroom. For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Kiser chose a plum suit with mauve pink accessories and a corsage of white roses. Mrs. Hogge, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gray suit with navy and gray accessories and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with an imported cut-work and lace cloth. The bride's cake was served by Mrs. J. P. Schramm, Leavenworth, Kans., aunt of the bride. Miss Marilyn Jilka poured from the silver coffee service. Miss Colleen Chisholm, Mrs. W. T. Braly and Mrs. Lynn Boyd assisted. The home was decorated with white chrysanthemums.

For traveling the bride chose a midnight blue and white checked suit with navy accessories and wore a gladioli corsage. Following a wedding trip through South Texas the couple will establish a home in Green Acres, Amarillo.

Following graduation from Pampa High School, Mrs. Hogge attended Saint Mary College, northwest of Kansas City, Mo., and completed her junior year at the University of Oklahoma. At Saint Mary she was advertising editor of the school paper. At OU she was a member of the Newman Club and was elected president of Gamma Alpha Chi, national honorary fraternity for women in advertising.

Mr. Hogge was graduated from Amarillo High School where he was a member of the Ken Club, the National Honor Society and the student council. He attended Amarillo Junior College where he was a member of Phi Theta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity, and Sigma Alpha Delta, engineering fraternity. He was graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a Bachelor of Science Degree in civil engineering.

At OU he was a member of the student senate, vice president of the American Society of Civil Engineers and of the Newman Club. He is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity. He is employed by the Hatfield Engineering Company of Amarillo.

Jean Pratt, Don Loshier Marry in Church Rites

At 10 o'clock Friday morning, in the First Presbyterian Church, Dr. Douglas E. Nelson read a double-ring ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Jean Pratt and Don Loshier. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Pratt and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Loshier.

The couple stood before the altar, which bore a cross and two altar candles. The altar cloth was made for the church by Mrs. McVittie of Scotland, mother-in-law of Dr. Nelson. Also in the background were candelabra holding cathedral candles, fern trees and baskets of white chrysanthemums and acacia.

Traditional nuptial music was played by Mrs. H. A. Yoder, organist. Mrs. Yoder also played a solo, "God Bless This House." The bride was attended by Miss Margie Ray Taylor as maid of honor.

Russell Meef served as best man and ushers were Bob Parkinson, Jim Koger, both of Pampa, and Ross Cass of Plainview, a cousin of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in frosted organza over blue moire faille. She wore a small poke bonnet fashioned of the organza over blue and faced with a ruffle of illusion. Her waist-length bridal veil was borrowed from her sister, Mrs. Bruce Detter, Jr., who had worn it at her wedding.

The wedding gown had a fitted bodice, long full sleeves and a Peter Pan collar. The full skirt was floor-length. She wore a three-strand pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, and carried a point lace handkerchief which her grandmother, Mrs. John F. Ross of Amarillo carried at her wedding 47 years ago, and which Mrs. R. L. Cass of Plainview, aunt of the bride, also carried at her wedding. Her bouquet was of white daisies.

Miss Taylor wore a blue net gown fashioned with a full floor-length skirt, and a blue moire faille jacket. Her poke bonnet of blue moire faille was styled after the bride's bonnet and she carried a bouquet of yellow daisies.

Mrs. Pratt wore a wine velvet suit and mauve accessories. Mrs. Loshier was dressed in navy blue crepe with winter pink accessories. Both wore corsages of mauve-pink split chrysanthemums.

For going away the bride changed to a dress of sage green sheer wool with brown accessories and an off white coat. Her corsage was of pink split mums. After the wedding trip to Fort Worth the couple will be at home in Drane Hall in Lubbock.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Loshier are students at Texas Technological College. She is a senior in home economics, and will graduate in the spring. She also attended Kansas State College, Manhattan, where she became a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

Mr. Loshier is a senior in petroleum and mechanical engineering and will also graduate in the spring. He is a member of Sigma Chi Society.

RECEPTION The bride's chosen colors, blue and yellow, were carried out in the decorations at the reception, which was in the Educational Building of the church. The table was covered with white net over blue and centered with yellow acacia and yellow candles.

Mrs. Bruce Detter, Jr. poured coffee from the silver service, and Mrs. Jack Livesay served cake. Miss Margie Dixon was at the guest register. Others assisting were Miss Edna Hill, roommate of the bride at college. Miss Verdina Godwin, Mrs. Arthur Teed and Mrs. W. S. Dixon. All of those assisting at the reception wore yellow split chrysanthemum corsages.

Out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. John F. Ross, Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cass and Ross, Plainview; Mrs. C. R. McIntyre, Herington, Kans.; Mrs. W. N. Taylor, Lancaster, Calif.; Misses Beverly Hibbitts, Jerry Kirkwood, Berdina Godwin, Marlene Godwin, Edna Hill, all of Amarillo, and Miss LeJuana Smart of Canadian and Mrs. Jack Livesay of Canyon.

REHEARSAL BREAKFAST The rehearsal breakfast was served to the bridal party at 9:30 a. m. Thursday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. O'Brien with Mrs. George E. O'Brien and Mrs. O'Brien as hostesses.

The table was decorated with yellow daisies and white chrysanthemums. Place cards were adorned with small drawings of a bridal couple and trimmed with seed pearls.

The breakfast was served buffet style.

Miss Helen Ann Ayers and Charles Dale Thut Are Married in Ceremony in Lubbock Christian Church

A double-ring ceremony read in the First Christian Church of Lubbock at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 22, united in marriage Miss Helen Ann Ayers, Lubbock, and Charles Dale Thut of Amarillo. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Thatcher, Lubbock, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Thut of Pampa.

Dr. Travis A. White read the wedding rites before a background of white gladioli, palms and candles. Aisles were marked with bows of white satin ribbon.

Wedding music was furnished by Miss Billie Ruth Yant, organist, and Rex Webster, soloist, and included "Roses of Picardy," "One Rose," "Because," "At Dawning" and "Clair de Lune."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of ivory satin with a Chantilly lace yoke, and a fitted bodice. The sleeves were long and pointed and the skirt ended in a chapel-length train. Her Juliet hat was trimmed in seed pearls and Chantilly lace that matched that on the veil. She carried a white orchid on a white Rainbow Bible.

Miss Sheila Jondahl, Lubbock, maid of honor, wore a strapless gold taffeta gown with the bodice ending in a point in front and back. The full skirt was topped with a lace jacket of light tulle and she wore a matching Juliet hat. She carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Heathcock, Zandora, King, and Mary Ruth Shannon, all of Plainview, wore strapless tulle taffeta gowns styled after that of the maid of honor, and jackets of dark brown. They also wore matching Juliet hats and carried gold chrysanthemum bouquets.

Donald Thut was his brother's best man and Ted Powell and Delbert Lewis, Dumas, and Warren Fatheree, Pampa, were ushers.

The bride was graduated from Plainview High School and attended Texas Technological College, where she became a member of Sigma Kappa.

Mr. Thut was graduated from Pampa High School and received a Bachelor of Arts Degree from Texas Tech last May. He was a member of Los Camaradas. He is now employed by Southwestern Public Service in Amarillo.

For traveling the bride wore a light tan gabardine suit with dark green accessories and an orchid corsage. After Dec. 1 the couple will be at home at 3102-A W. 11th, Amarillo.

Assisting at the reception, which was in Fellowship Hall, First Christian Church, Lubbock were Mrs. Hank McCleary and Miss Betty Formby, who served, and the bride's sister, Mrs. J. W. Huffaker, who presided at the bride's book.

Wedding guests were present from Plainview, Pampa, Amarillo, Whitesboro and Dumas.

McLean Lions Club to Observe Ladies Night

McLEAN — (Special) — Ladies night will be observed by the Lions Club members of McLean, at a meeting in the Lions Hall Tuesday night, Nov. 28.

The speaker of the evening will be Dr. Marshall Harvey of Lubbock, district governor, and wives of the members will be their invited guests.

DECEMBER WEDDING—Mrs. Lee Osborn, 1205 Woodland, Amarillo, announces the approaching marriage of her daughter, Miss Martha Bailey, and Gene Garrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Garrison, 429 N. Nelson, Pampa. The couple will be married in the Chapel of West Texas State College, Canyon on Dec. 23.

THE NICEST PART of Thanksgiving, Mr. Peg says, is the big turkey and all the trimmings—the foodstuff, you know. All I can say is if he tucks away as much food next Thursday as he did on the first Thanksgiving, well! he's just gonna puff up and blow away. But I'm not going to "talk turkey" any more—until Christmas.

Can you believe that our last scheduled football game is coming up next Saturday? (Not that the bi-district, regional, and state contests haven't been on our calendar all year.) Now I like football and look forward to each game, but my better half is just too much of a caveman at games. Just as I nearly got my neck craned at a point where I could see a pretty orange-lash hat below, well, Mr. Peg clipped me in his excitement over a third down play. And when I got right in the middle of some pleasant chatter, he started jumping and shouting and naturally drowned out any chance of conversation. But the thing that aggravated me most was the way he got excited over the first Harvester and knocked the little curly-cue right out of the feather on my next-best hat! Honestly, those boys on the grid-iron won't even know what unnecessary roughness is until they sit with Mr. Peg in the stands!

CHRISTMAS GOODIES

Since fruit cake is a favorite with a good many people, here's a recipe for a fruit cake that can be opened anytime fruitcake is desired:

1-2 cup shortening; 2 cups sugar; 4 eggs; 4 cups flour; 1 quart pecans; 1 package raisins; 1 teaspoon baking powder; 1 tablespoon lemon flavoring; a package dates; 1 bottle cherries; 2 slices candied pineapple; 1 cup of watermelon preserves; 1 small glass of fig preserves; 1 cup walnuts; and 1 cup almonds.

Use No. 2 plain cans, grease cans, fill 2-3 full. Steam 2 hours in pressure cooker leaving control valve open. While hot seal with home can sealer. Process 30 minutes in boiling water or 10 minutes at 10 pounds pressure.

If your cake rises too high to seal, try pressing it down, or you may have to slice off just even with the top of the can.

APPLE CAKE. This is the time of year we get good flavorful apples. You'd hardly miss fruit cake if this apple cake were served.

Cream together 3-4 cup sugar; 1-2 cup shortening and 1 egg. Stir with 1 cup flour; 1 teaspoon soda; 1 teaspoon cinnamon; 1 teaspoon nutmeg; 1-4 teaspoon salt. Add 1-4 cup raisins and 1-4 cup nuts. Mix all together, then add 1-4 teaspoon vanilla and 3 apples which have been grated on the shredder type grater or diced small. Bake in loaf pan at 350 degrees F. for about 50 minutes. Serve with whipped cream or the following sauce served hot: Butter, the size of egg, browned or melted; 2 tablespoons flour; 1-2 cup brown sugar; 1 cup water; pinch of salt; nutmeg and a little vanilla.

The secret of making good crystalline candies, including fudge, is to understand the process of crystallization. Here are a few tips which may help you make that creamy fine-textured fudge: 1. Stir only occasionally, and do not rake the sides of the pan. 2. When you pour the hot mixture do not "scrape" the pan as this may start the growth of crystals. There's a purpose of letting the candy mixture cool to lukewarm temperature. When the mixture is lukewarm it is so thick the crystals can't get together easily; therefore, the candy mixture can be beaten longer and the crystals broken down to such extent that the texture is velvety smooth. 4. After the candy has been beaten until the gloss is gone and it can no longer be beaten, take the candy in the hands and knead for a few minutes. 5. Add nuts and roll in waxed paper or foil and store in the refrigerator overnight to ripen. Slice when ready to serve and keep remaining candy stored in the refrigerator.

We must make men realize that there is a God, that they are in His presence and His power. The more we make men feel that God is in the world, the more justice and righteousness there will be.

Frances Springer, Steve Walters Marry in Dallas

McLEAN — (Special) — Wedding vows were exchanged Saturday, Nov. 4, by Miss Frances Lee Springer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Witt Springer of Amarillo, formerly of McLean and Steve Walters son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Walters, Sr., of Texarkana, Ark.

The singler ceremony was performed in Dallas by the Rev. Luke Bolin, associate pastor of the East Dallas Church. Decorations were peach gladioli fern and candelabra.

Attendants for the couple were the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Otis Lumpkin, Texarkana, who was dressed in a gray suit with a tallman rose corsage pinned to her shoulder. Best man was Curtis McCullip of Houston.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was dressed in a brown suit trimmed in brown velvet. Her accessories were beige and she wore a pinocchio rose corsage.

Their home after returning from a wedding trip, will be at 300 Van Buren Street, Amarillo.

Mrs. Walters attended school at McLean, was graduated from Abilene High School, has attended University of New Mexico, Baylor School of Nursing and obtained her degree at the University of Colorado. She is director of nurses at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

Mr. Walters was graduated from Texarkana High School and Rice Institute and attended the University of Texas. A reception followed the ceremony. An arrangement of gladioli and orange blossoms formed the decorations.

Miss Springer was honored at a party, a few days previous to her marriage in the reception rooms of Northwest Texas Hospital, with Mrs. Arthur Peters, Mrs. Fred Post, Mrs. Turner King and Martha Ann Clark as hostesses.

The rest of Christ is not that of torpor, but of harmony. It is not refusing the struggle, but conquering in it; not resting from duty, but finding rest in duty.

Highlighted here are style points in fall fashions from New York designers. An iridescent charcoal gray afternoon dress (left) has the new back sweep overskirt. New low-down pockets are set into the skirt of a pumpkin-colored velvet dress (upper center). Contour-shaped self belt (lower center) has reproductions of old gold coins, emphasizes new longer waistline look. Gauntlet sleeve (upper right) is in reversible fabric in brown and aquamarine. Bow-topped collar in white ottoman (lower right) dotted with rhinestones is used for short black velvet dinner dress. These are ideas to watch for in assembling a fall wardrobe.

WE, THE WOMEN

By RUTH MILLET
NEA Staff Writer

There would be less divorce and fewer unhappy marriages if women thought more about keeping their husbands' liking and respect and less about holding on to their love.

In order to keep a husband in love with her a woman will try almost anything. But it's amazing how little thought the average woman gives to keeping her husband's liking and respect.

Here are a few of the things she can do to make her husband continue to like her through the years. And if she has her husband's liking she doesn't have to worry much about his love or about the possibility that she will ever lose him.

She can win his liking by treating his parents and relatives as considerably as she treats her own.

She can keep his liking by the way she never damages his ego by pointing out his faults, harping on his mistakes or blaming him when things go wrong.

She can keep his liking by the way she meets difficulties and hardship — gamely and without complaint.

She can be sure he'll like her if she never damages his ego by pointing out his faults, harping on his mistakes or blaming him when things go wrong.

She can keep his liking by the way she meets difficulties and hardship — gamely and without complaint.

She can be sure he'll like her if she goes out of her way to do things for other people and shows a real sympathy for and understanding of others.

And it will certainly make him like her if he knows that she sees the best in him and seems unaware of the shortcomings he knows he has.

The woman who wants her marriage to last should try even harder to be likable than lovable. For love without liking is not strong enough to keep a marriage safe through the years.

Service Guild Meets in Lefors
A devotional, "Holy Spirit, Truth Divine," by the group opened a meeting of the Methodist Wesleyan Service Guild of Lefors Wednesday evening in the church basement.

Mrs. Edith Watson gave the first part of the lesson on "Learning and Living Amid Unrest in the Near East," which told of the people and their educational facilities.

Mrs. Jennie Callan presented the next part, telling about the hospitals, doctors and nurses in the Near East, and about the various religious and entertainment there. She said Christianity came from that area.

Mrs. Vernon Northcott, the hostess, served refreshments. There were seven members present.

The next meeting will be the second Wednesday in December at 7:30 p. m. in the church basement.

If your eye is on the eternal, your intellect will grow, and your opinions and actions will have a beauty which no learning or combined advantages of other men can rival.

Don't Let Honors Steer You Wrong

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Services

It is often difficult to say how far you should go in the effort to get credit for honors. It's very pleasant to collect an extra 100 or 50 points. It's very unpleasant to see a game for, perhaps, a slight because the honors steered you away from the best contract.

In a very close case, where there seems to be no good reason to choose one contract rather than another, it's quite all right to let the honors influence your judgment. It's even all right to lose a game about once in ten cases and score the extra 100 points in the other nine cases. But this means that the odds must be very good that the honors contract will be safe.

Today's hand shows a case in point.

There was nothing wrong, of course, with South's opening bid and rebid of two spades. After North bid two no-trump, South had a close choice between re-riding his spades and going at once to three no-trump in spite of the repeated spade bids. South should have let well enough alone. He had strength in all suits, and his spades would undoubtedly be very useful at no-trump.

When West opened the three of hearts, South had to play low from the dummy and let the trick ride around to his jack. This was a risky play, of course, since he had to lose three aces sooner or later and would have lost the contract at once if East had held the queen of hearts.

When East played the ten of hearts, South won with the jack and heaved a sigh of relief. He then led the king of spades. West, who could see farther than one trick ahead, played low, and East dropped the seven. South continued spades, forcing out West's ace, and East completed his signal by dropping the five.

West correctly read his partner's signal as showing a third trump. He therefore led the queen of hearts back. Dummy won with the king of hearts, and declarer discovered to his dismay that he couldn't get to his hand quickly enough to draw the last trump.

It didn't matter whether South led a club or a diamond. West was bound to win with the ace and lead a third heart for his partner to ruff.

It is interesting to note that West could not have set the contract if he had taken the first round of spades, for then South could have led dummy's remaining trump to get to his hand. Nor could West have done well with a second low heart, for South would allow that to ride around to his nine!

New Delhi Expecting Huge Voting in April

NEW DELHI — (AP) — The largest number of voters in history will go to the polls next April to elect their representatives to the legislatures.

Nearly 180,000,000 Indians — almost half of the country's population — voting under adult franchise will elect their representatives to the central and state legislatures under the new constitution. The election, scheduled to begin on April 10 next year, will be completed before the end of May.

Texas Cities Set Gains in Receipts

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas cities showed some big gains in October postal receipts, the Bureau of Business Research reports.

For the state as a whole, with 73 cities reporting, there was a jump of 12 percent in October over September. The gain from October a year ago was also 12 percent.

Total for the 73 cities was $3,366,066.

Dallas reported $1,172,442; Houston, $712,038; Fort Worth, $450,779; San Antonio, $413,089; Austin, $155,308.

Bigger September-to-October increases were in Crystal City, 70 percent; Del Rio, 54 percent; Childress, 47 percent; Mission, 46 percent; and Longview and Coleman, 44 percent. Austin and New Braunfels, with 10 and eight percent, respectively, had the only monthly decreases.

Snyder, with a 94 percent gain, recorded the largest increase over October of last year. Other large increases were in Texas City, 27 percent; Big Spring, 26 percent; Midland and Wichita Falls, 25 percent; and Crystal City, 24 percent.

Vagrancy Charge Is Filed Against Woman

Rita Scott, 29, of Sayre, Okla., pleaded guilty to charges of vagrancy in county court Friday afternoon, according to John Studer, county attorney.

She was fined $25 and costs after being confronted with evidence that she had spent over $200 not belonging to her.

A Pampa truck driver, who would not allow his name to be used, said he gave the woman over $200 to keep for him several days ago.

Bob Crotchit asked Scrooge for a great favor—Christmas Day off. "A poor excuse for picking a man's pocket every twenty-fifth of December!" roared Scrooge. "Oh, very well. But be here all the earlier next morning!"

Overjoyed, Bob ran all the way home to Camden Town as hard as he could pelt.

At last Scrooge went home. He had the shock of his life when the face of his dead partner appeared to him on his door knocker. Jacob Marley, dead these seven years! But even more shocking things were to happen to Ebenezer Scrooge on Christmas Eve!

Fighting Cocks Worry Singapore

SINGAPORE — (AP) — Smuggling of fighting cocks from Siam into Singapore is the latest headache of the Customs Department here.

Cockfighting is illegal here. These Siamese death-dealing cocks, some standing nearly two feet high, with iridescent green, black and bronze plumage, may introduce poultry disease and the bloody sport here, the customs fear.

Pakistan Aiming at Record Wool Output

KARACHI, Pakistan — (AP) — Pakistan this year aims at a record export of 25,000,000 pounds of wool. There has been an increased demand for Pakistan wool from world markets in recent months. This is due to three reasons:
China is not exporting any wool, India has imposed a ban on wool export, and Tibet will not be in a position to export with the Chinese invading the country.

State's Traffic Deaths Climbing

AUSTIN — (AP) — Texas' traffic death rate continued to climb last month.

The Texas Department of Public Safety reported 211 persons were killed in October, 19 more than the same month a year ago. The year's total mounted to 1,548, compared to 1,532 for the comparable period in 1949. That was a 20 percent increase.

Expedition Discovers Range of Mountains

LA JOLLA, Calif. — (AP) — A big mountain range under water in mid-Pacific has been found by a U. S. Navy-University of California expedition. It extends from Wake Island to Necker Island and is 1,000 miles long, 100 miles wide and 14,000 feet high. Coral was dredged up from tops of the range at 6,000 feet depth. Since coral grows only above 200 feet, it is assumed that the tops of the range were once above water.

U.S. Carbines Aid British in Battle

SINGAPORE — (AP) — British troops and security forces are using American carbines in their jungle war against Communists in Malaya.

The British bought the arms in the United States in a cash deal, but more substantial military aid may soon be forthcoming if the United States grants a British appeal for $5,000,000 to buy equipment. British officers regard the American carbines as an "A-1 weapon" in the battle against terrorists.

The automatic carbines are equipped with magazines of 15 or 30 rounds of 30 calibre bullets. In addition to lightness, the barrels of the carbines are short — a decided asset for soldiers and police who often have to hack their way into jungle lairs of Communists.

ADMINISTRATION'S PROFIT PICTURE—The proposed new four billion dollar excess profits tax being presented by the administration is expected to live up to the "lame duck" session of Congress. The Newschart above shows corporation profits from 1936 to 1950 before and after taxes. Estimate for 1950 under the present tax set-up shows corporations are expected to make 37 billion dollars profit, of which 15 billion would go for taxes. Figures on Newschart are from statement made by Treasury Secretary Snyder before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Christmas Seals Going Into Pampa, County Mails Dec. 5

Christmas seals from the Gray County Tuberculosis Assn. will go into the mails by Dec. 5, according to Jack Edmondson, president of the association.

The seals, which show three "singing angels" will go out to the people of Pampa and Gray county with a letter and further information about their purpose. Each person will receive two dollars' worth of seals for distribution. In turn, their payment will be made to the association. Stamps have been addressed to the people of Pampa and members of the association and those going to rural routes. McLean and Alameda have been addressed by members of the National Secretaries Assn.

Students in junior high school are in the process of inventing the materials in the addressed envelopes. The original stamp was in Denmark in 1904. In America, the idea of the seal came forth about 1908 and was handled by the Red Cross. In 1928, the TB Assn. was organized and took over the responsibility. Money from the stamps goes to the national antituberculosis fund.

MORALE BUILDER

One of the greatest contributing factors in fortifying our morale during these days clouded by uncertainty is a cheerful, attractive, comfortable home. A refuge where we can withdraw and recapture some measure of our sense of well-being and security. A good dose of color and originality can work wonders along this line—and prove a magical pick-up for every member of the family. Those all-important ingredients of a cheerful room: airiness, sunshine, color and comfortable furnishings, have been delightfully combined in the room sketched above. Yellow cotton-damask draperies stand out importantly against soft blue walls. Bright floral chintz slip covers on love seats have warm rose background, add a note of gaiety to the room. Richness of rose-beige broadloom rug is emphasized by deep velvet-upholstered big wing chair.

Mahogany commodes substitute for end tables, provide storage niches for canasta sets, smoking accouterments, cards and games. Colonial desk gracing window area is also mahogany. Here is a room fundamentally simple, achieved, not by a large expenditure, but by the interplay of color and the gracious arrangement of furnishings.

Come in, let us tell you about other decorating plans that will add to the charm and comfort of your home.

First New Atom Breeder Pile Nearing Completion in Idaho

By HOWARD W. BLANKENLEE
AP Science Editor
IDAHO FALLS, Idaho — (AP) — The first atomic reactor on the vast, new Snake River plains site of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission is nearing completion. On this new oven depends the main hopes for atomic power, and possibly most of the heralded blessings of an atomic age. This reactor, called a breeder pile, is designed for a brilliant, daring and still somewhat doubtful, scientific venture, namely to create fuel. At present there is not enough atomic fuel in the entire world for more than a transitory power. This new work is strictly peace, and it has been rapid. The Snake River site is only a year old. It is an undulating, treeless, 400,000-acre expanse of sage brush and ancient lava, bordering mountains. Two other reactors already are started, for naval power and testing materials. The trio are all but lost to view in the great reservation. The commission announced the breeder would be completed by the end of this year, but has given no specific date since. The size is a secret. However, the breeder's announced cost,

$3,300,000, marks it as a small brother in a family of giants. The other two are costing respectively $26,000,000 and $15,000,000. The spectre of defeat which the breeder will try to correct showed up in the great Hanford Works plants in Washington. There uranium atoms of atomic weight 235 split to convert ordinary uranium into plutonium, which is new atomic fuel. The spectre is the fact that the uranium-235 at Hanford creates less plutonium than the amount of 235 which splits. There isn't much uranium-235, not enough to keep up this losing race. Somehow the uranium-238, before it is all gone, has to be forced to breed like animals — where one sire produces two offspring. In this case, one atom must breed more than one.

Wolverines Nip Buckeyes In Snow, 9-3
COLUMBUS — (AP) — Michigan's Wolverines wrapped up the Western Conference championship and a probable Rose Bowl bid Saturday by blocking two attempted punts to defeat Ohio's favored Buckeyes 9 to 3, on a snow-covered gridiron.

Michigan failed to make a first down.
Michigan was able to gain only 27 yards by rushing. Ohio's vaunted offense was held to 27 yards on the ground and 25 yards on three successful passes in 18 attempts.

Chuck Ortmann, Michigan's brilliant halfback, was the difference in Saturday's climactic contest. His unerring kicking kept the Buckeyes deep in their own territory.
Ohio drew first blood in the opening five minutes, when Vic Janowicz booted a field goal through the swirling snow flakes from 22 yards out.

Late in the same period, Ortmann booted out of bounds on Ohio's three. Michigan's captain, Allen Wahl, broke through to block Janowicz' kick, the ball rolling out of the end zone for an automatic safety.
A bit of quick thinking and another blocked kick gave Michigan its winning touchdown in the second period. Ortmann punted out on Ohio's eight, with less than a minute to go, and Ohio attempted to run line plays to use up the time rather than kick from its own end zone.

After each play, however, Michigan called time out. Ohio was forced to kick with 20 seconds to play. Tony Mossman, brother of Ohio's Bob, blocked Janowicz' kick and fell on the ball in the end zone for the score.

Canadian Meets Happy in Pampa Friday Afternoon
The Canadian Wildcats will meet Happy in Harvester Park Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. In a meeting between the two schools Friday night, Canadian won the flip and elected to play in Pampa.

Happy and Canadian couldn't get together, so Happy named Canyon as their playoff site and Canadian named Pampa. Coach Peterson of Happy called "tails" when the coin was flipped — he lost.

J. T. Morris of Claude presented Canadian with a North-South Class B trophy following their 20-13 victory over White Deer. Both teams were guest of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce Sports Committee in the high school cafeteria following the game.

Hereford, Shamrock White Deer, and Canadian were fed by the sports committee in the school cafeteria.
Leveland and Shamrock met in the Schneider Hotel Friday night and ended up selecting Amarillo as their playoff spot. This Friday the two schools couldn't get together on flipping between Pampa and Lubbock as a possible playoff site. They ended up by choosing Amarillo.

Dickerson Kicks Field Goal For 3-0 Victory Margin

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

DALLAS — (AP) — A long, lazy field goal by Henry Dickerson with only three minutes and thirty-seven seconds left gave Baylor a 3-0 victory over Southern Methodist Saturday and probably knocked the Methodists out of a bowl invitation.

It had been heralded as a scoring duel between two great passing teams but each bungled all sorts of chances for touchdowns and it remained for Dickerson to do the job the great Larry Isbell of the Bears and Kyle Rote of the Methodists couldn't put across.

The field goal came from the SMU 20-yard line as the crowd of 50,000 sat hushed for the only time of the day. With it went SMU's hopes of getting a bid to either the Orange or Sugar Bowl games.

The Methodists had the consolation only of setting a new intercollegiate record for pass completions. SMU ran its completions to 148 for the season and that was one more than Mississippi made in 1947 in hanging up the record.

Four times each team threatened. SMU got to the Baylor three-yard line twice, losing the first chance because of a penalty and failing on the second when Rote fumbled. Baylor never could get closer than the Methodist seven rushing and passing but the time the Bears did they called on Dickerson for the field goal that won the game.

Baylor smashed to 220 yards on the ground and passed for 84. Southern Methodist got 80 rushing and 171 in the air. Southern Methodist, No. 1 in the nation a month ago, but since then losing to Texas and Texas A&M, fell into a tie for fourth place in the Southwest Conference standings with Texas, a Christian and Rice. Baylor took over third.

The faking and wizard ball-handling plus some of the greatest kicking the Cotton Bowl has seen made Isbell stand out for Baylor. He averaged 42.3 on his punting.

Rote picked up 30 yards rushing and caught five passes for 51 yards. Isbell connected on nine of 21 for 94 yards.

It was a raggedly played game as the 143 yards in penalties will attest. The Methodists seemed

Weatherman Plays Havoc With Football

By HAROLD CLASSEN

NEW YORK — (AP) — Michigan and Kentucky grabbed lush bowl assignments Saturday as the other teams lunged onto their helmets and shoulder pads while playing on fields that were swept by wind, snow and rain.

Kentucky, although it lost to Tennessee by 7 to 0, announced it would play in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl game Jan. 1. Michigan, surprise champion of the Big Ten, hasn't been named officially as the Big Ten's Rose Bowl choice but that is a mere formality.

Michigan defeated Ohio State, 9 to 3, in a game that almost had to be postponed because of a heavy snowfall. In fact, the contest started a half hour late so that the field could be cleared. While the weather man frowned on Coach Ben Gonderman's Wolverines, lady luck smiled. Illinois, with its bags half packed for the trip West, was spilled by Northwestern, 14 to 7, at Evanston and dropped out of the running.

Wisconsin, another Big Ten Rose Bowl possibility, downed Minnesota, 14 to 0, but the Badgers finished with a 5-2 conference record as compared with the Michigan mark of four victories and one tie.

The day, last big one of the 1950 campaign, produced its usual share of bowl talk and much more than its share of conversation about the weather.

Games in the Eastern sector were called off because of the elements. The Penn State at Pittsburgh game will be played Monday afternoon but the Colgate at Rutgers contest was cancelled although the teams agreed to meet next November. The Scranton-Niagara game now is billed for today while the Kings College - Gannon contest also was postponed. No new date was set.

Except for the Texas-Oklahoma and Farwest area, the weather was bad everywhere. At Princeton the Ivy League crown by downing Dartmouth, 13 to 7, officials had to hold the ball when the teams went into the huddle. At Athens, Ga., the mercury skidded to 11 and only the ton, where the unbeaten Tigers Georgia eleven kept warm. It drubbed Furman, 40 to 0. Only 17,300 of the 52,000 ticket holders showed up at Philadelphia to see Cornell knockoff Pennsylvania for the third straight year. This time the score was 13 to 6.

Oklahoma, Alabama, Clemson and Fordham all remained in the bowl spotlight.

The Sooners, who decided not to decide between Orange and Sugar Bowl bids until after next Saturday's game with Oklahoma A&M, conquered Nebraska, 49 to 35. For a half Bob Reynolds, Nebraska's sparkling sophomore gave the Oklahomans fits. He scored three times to bring his team into a 21 to 21 tie at the intermission. The Oklahoma sputered to win its 30th straight game.

Alabama, an Orange Bowl possibility, added to its luster by drubbing Florida, 41 to 13. Clemson, also eyeing the same bowl, trounced Auburn, 41 to 0, while Fordham, who is hopeful it will get the Miami invitation, downed New York University, 13 to 0, in a young hurricane.

Texas Christian Tumbles Favored Rice Owls' 26-14

HOUSTON — (AP) — Jumping Jack Floyd made hurdles

meared on the five to halt the drive.
Hasler quick-kicked out to the Buff 28 and again the Buffs started a drive. After Cross, the Canadian Comet, had picked up five, Mayfield fumbled on the 31 and the Tarps recovered. But the Buffs held and took over on their own 26 with three minutes left in the period. By the end of the period the Buffs had moved to the Tarps 33.

Tommy Jinks of Lefors stopped a Tarpon touchdown on the next kickoff when he dragged Clarence Peterson down from behind on the Buff 40. After another punt exchange the Tarps started a drive from their own 35 and marched right on down to score, Harvey Hasler bulging over the final two yards on fourth down for the tally. The conversion was good and the score was 13-7 early in the second period.

Neither club could get a strong drive underway until the final minute of play in the first half when Mayfield hit Dunn with a pass to the Tarpon 8. But four plays later the Buffs had been shoved back to the 13 and the Tarps took over as the half ended.

Two plays into the fourth period the Buffs tallied. Dunn, on and end around, carried to the 14 then Wire Wright added his third TD of the night on a sweep. Dunn failed to convert and the score was 19-7 15 seconds into the final period.

Cross broke loose near the end of the final period for the final Buffalo touchdown, racing 40 yards. Dunn converted and the Buffs led 26-7. A clipping penalty nearly nullified the touchdown, but the foul occurred after the score, and the penalty was assessed on the following kickoff.

Five plays later, all aerials, the downcasters had scored. A 35-yard pass from Reeves to Kirby brought the score. The attempted conversion was blocked by J. D. Covington of Borger and the final score was set at 26-13.

And thus ended one of the most successful years in Buffalo football history.

out of would-be tacklers Saturday while scoring four touchdowns as Texas Christian defeated favored Rice, 26 to 14.

Floyd teamed with quarterback Gilbert Bartosh, both sophomores, to give lightning thrusts to a TCU attack that otherwise was hampered by Rice recoveries of six out of eight Frog fumbles.

After Rice twice had taken first half leads, Floyd kept the Fort Worth team even with touchdown runs of 34 to 63 yards. In the second half he plunged over from the three to climax a 73-yard drive and then took an 18-yard pass from Bartosh.

The TCU defense kept Rice deep in its own territory throughout the third period and permitted the Owls to cross midfield only twice in the final quarter, each time to the Frog 27.

End Bill Howton put Rice into a first quarter lead, scoring on an end around play from the 12 yard line. Safety Rex Proctor gave the Owls their brief 14-7 lead by intercepting a Bartosh pass and returning it 84 yards.

Homer Ludiker kicked the first two TCU extra points but missed both second half attempts. Billy Wright converted twice for Rice.

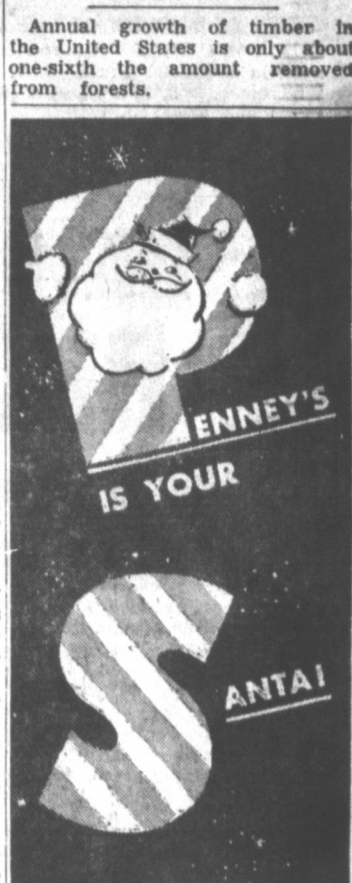

Bartosh, who figured prominently in three of the TCU touchdown drives, finished the game with a total net gain on 343 yards, rushing and passing. He ground out 174 yards while carrying the ball 20 times and completed 13 of 20 passes for 169 yards.

Floyd got 155 yards on 16 carries. His 63-yard scamper came on the first play after the kickoff following Rice's second touchdown. He took a handoff from Bartosh, skirted left end and at the Rice 25 yard line he jumped over a Rice player moving in for a tackle and then raced untouched down the sidelines.

He returned to his hurdling tactics in the third period as TCU broke the 14-14 halftime deadlock with a 73-yard touchdown drive in 10 plays.

Bartosh began the drive by fumbling on the 27, but back John Morton recovered for a 24-yard gain. Bartosh then tossed a 16-yard pass to end Wilson George and another for 11 yards to end Teddy Vaughn on the Rice 22.

Bartosh got seven yards before Floyd, hurdling player on two carries, moved to a first down on the eight. Another jump car-

Purdue Subs Trip Indiana, 13 to 0

LAFAYETTE — (AP) — A Purdue football team that had lost seven of eight games, and with key regulars benched by injuries, packed up its troubles Saturday in a 13-0 victory over its ancient rival from Indiana University. A couple of subs from far down the Purdue roster came through in the bitter clash.

Halfback Johnny Durham, Purdue junior who had played about 10 minutes this season, started for the first time and ran the opening kickoff back 85 yards for a touchdown. He went right down the middle and not an Indiana player laid a hand on him.

Sub quarterback Curtis Jones became Purdue's other hero, scoring in the second quarter after intercepting Dick Ashburner's pass on the Indiana 26.

Tarbet Gallops 91 Yards For Shamrock Touchdown

Shamrock's Fighting Irish branded the Hereford Whiteface eleven 20-6 Friday in Harvester Park to enter the regional finals against Levelland at Amarillo this Friday.

Quarterback Haral Dunnam engineered the Irish offensive attack behind a forward wall who checked the Hereford Split T machine.

Coch Scott McCall's Irishmen struck for a touchdown in the first 20 seconds of the bi-district contest.

Before the 5,000 grid fans had a chance to get comfortable, Vernon Tarbet raced down the east sidelines 91 yards for an Irish touchdown. Tarbet took a hand-off from Kenneth Kidwell on a double reverse on the Irish nine, and behind perfect blocking, went all the way to score. Dunnam, who called a masterful game, kicked the extra point.

Hereford came through with its first touchdown before the first quarter was five minutes old. Leonard Walterschied pounced on the pigskin when Tarbet fumbled on the Irish 37. Bill Kelly smashed through left tackle for six yards, but quarterback Jack Stanton was caught behind the line of scrimmage for a three-yard loss. Stanton, south-paw passer for Hereford, tossed to Walterschied on the Irish 20. Walterschied picked up one-yard through the Irish's line. Then behind perfect protection, Stanton pitched to Bill Kelly, who was wide open on the Irish 19, for the pay off counter. Kelly had an open field to the goal line.

The Irish then struck swiftly through the air for its second touchdown. Taking over on their own 25, the Irishmen made a first and ten on the 36. But on the next play, Shamrock was penalized 15 yards back to the 21-yard line. Dunnam threw one incomplete pass, but his next aerial toss was good for a TD. Dunnam spotted Van Pennington in the clear on Hereford's 45-yard line. Pennington gathered Dunnam's pass in and went all the way for TD number two. The Shamrock end was in back of the Hereford safety and had clear sailing all the way. Dunnam's kick was wide to make the score 13-6, Shamrock.

Right guard Mack Terry set up Shamrock's third touchdown when he partially blocked a Hereford punt and the Irish took over on the Whitefaces' 40. Kenneth Kidwell slashed through left guard for five, and Donald Lea circled right end for 10 to move the ball down to Hereford's 25. Dunnam cracked left guard for three yards and Kidwell picked up 11 more through the same spot for a first and ten on Hereford's 11.

The Whiteface line tightened, but Lea bulled his way into the end zone on a fourth down try from the two-yard line. Dunnam passed to Vaughn Terry for the extra point to make the score 20-6, Shamrock.

Hereford came right back when Shamrock was back to kick on fourth down, but another fumble halted the drive on Shamrock's 31. It was Charles Francis this time who recovered for the Irish. The Irishmen took over and drove to Hereford's eight, but Dunnam fumbled on third down and Walker recovered for Hereford on the 24. The Whitefaces had the ball on their own 46 when the game ended.

For Hereford, Stanton, Kelly, and Dwayne Walker stood out on offense, and Franklin Boyd, Alton Brock, Neil Witherspoon, and Raymond Dement played a stellar game on defense.

Center Billy York played a great game for Shamrock. York handled the punting for the Irish beside playing a credible game on defense and offense. Collinsworth, M. Terry, Joe Douglas, Bill Harris and V. Terry also were standouts in the Irish forward wall.

Sun Bowl Team Defeated 28-0 By Redskins

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Miami's Redskins cast a cloud over the sun of the Sun Bowl Saturday as they drubbed the University of Cincinnati, 28 to 0, in a driving snowstorm to win the Mid-America Conference football championship.

Cincinnati's Bearcats were chosen early in the week to play in the New Year's Day Sun Bowl game at El Paso. Saturday's game was played on a frozen gridiron and in temperature that never got above 15 degrees. The steady snowstorm hampered the visibility of players and the 15,000 spectators.

Miami struck quickly and then piled up all of its points in the first half. Each of the Redskins' first two touchdowns were scored on fumbles with Dick Ulrich recovering the ball each time in the end zone.

The Redskins intercepted a Gene Rossi pass to set up the first score. Jim Bailey plunged over for Miami from the 10 but fumbled. Ulrich was on hand to recover the touchdown.

A 47-yard run by John Pont led to the second touchdown. Norb Wirkowski went over from the one but fumbled and again it was Ulrich who was on the spot to grab the loose ball.

A penalty nullified a third Miami touchdown but the Redskins bounced right back to score. George Acus took a Bearcat punt at midfield and ran 80 yards for a touchdown.

Another similar run set up the fourth Miami touchdown. Acus took a UC punt and raced 50 yards to the five-yard line. From there, Bailey went over in two plays.

From there on both teams froze up and the scoring ended. UC never even threatened to get close to the Redskins.

Lions in captivity are said to grow better manes than those living in the wild state.

Sixteen Teams Left in Class A State Playoffs

By WILBUR MARTIN Associated Press Staff

Seven teams with perfect records and three unbeaten but tied eleven are among sixteen left in Class A high school football's championship playoff. Shamrock, Olney, Mt. Vernon, Jacksonville, Georgetown, New Braunfels, French (Beaumont), Wharton, Sinton and Pearsall yesterday joined Levelland, Kermit, Coleman, Arlington, Athens and Lavega for the second round of play next week.

Shamrock, from District 2, hung a 20-6 licking on Hereford (1); Olney (10) beat Albany (9), 34-12; Mt. Vernon (15) smacked Atlanta (16) for the second time this season, 37-19; Jacksonville (17) came from behind to whip Huntsville (18), 25-20; Georgetown (21) came through again over Llano (22), 27-6; New Braunfels (24) knocked off undefeated, untied Brenham (23), 13-7; French (26) downed Alvin (25), 12-6, in a battle of undefeated but tied teams; Sinton (29) defeated Donna (30), 20-14, and Pearsall (32) slapped South San Antonio (31), 35-12.

Other teams in the second round won bi-district games Thursday.

The schedule next week: Shamrock vs. Levelland (4-A) at Amarillo, Friday afternoon; Kermit (5-A) vs. Coleman (7-A).

Olney vs. Arlington, Athens vs. Mt. Vernon, Jacksonville vs. Lavega at Jacksonville, Friday afternoon.

New Braunfels vs. Georgetown, Wharton vs. French, Sinton vs. Pearsall.

Kermit, Olney, Arlington, Mt. Vernon, Lavega, Georgetown and Pearsall boast perfect records. Wharton, New Braunfels and French are unbeaten but tied.

Frederick Clements and Pasco Parker combined to lead Jacksonville from behind a 13-0 halftime Huntsville lead. Clements scored three touchdowns and Parker two. Parker also kicked five extra points.

Johnny Moore sagged three Mt. Vernon touchdowns and Billy Jack Meredith two. With Kenneth Jaggers booting five extra points to run his total for the season to thirty-eight.

Bailey Marshall ran 35 and 65 yards for two Georgetown touchdowns and passed for another. Littlefield, the defending state champion, failed to get into the playoff from District 4 this year. Mexico, finalist against the Wildcats last year, was beaten by Lavega, 27-13, in the first round Thursday.

Three of the remaining teams—Lavega, New Braunfels, and Pearsall—have scored more than 400 points. Olney, Arlington, Mt. Vernon, Jacksonville, Georgetown and Wharton have 300 or more points to date.

Fry Scores Touchdown in Fourth Quarter for Win

The Canadian Wildcats broke a 13-13 deadlock in the fourth quarter Friday night in Harvester Park and squeaked past the White Deer Bucks, 20-13, to capture a North-South Class B grid game.

Canadian led 13-6 at halftime, but the Bucks roared back to knot the game when fullback Jimmy Buchanan slashed through Canadian's left guard and raced 30 yards for a touchdown. Don Carpenter smashed through center for the extra point to make the score 13-13.

The Wildcats marched 49 yards for their tie-breaking touchdown. Fullback Bobby Fry made Canadian's final tally with a two-yard plunge. Fry carried over for the extra point to make it 20-13, Canadian.

White Deer moved 83 yards with the opening kickoff to take a 6-0 lead in the first three minutes of the ball game. After a five yard penalty against the Bucks, Cordell Pugh knifed through left guard for 19 yards. Then with Franklin Hussey, Buchanan, and quarterback Jackie Freeman alternating at carrying, White Deer moved overland to the Canadian 36.

Freeman then climaxed the drive. The try for extra point was no good. Canadian came right back with the kickoff for its first TD. After a five yard penalty moved the ball up to the 80, Fry

But on a third down play, Fry passed to right end Donald Schaefer on the Bucks' one. Tommy Schaefer then broke through from the one of Canadian's first touchdowns. The big 215-pound defensive tackle and right halfback was hard for the Bucks to stop all night when extra yardage was needed. Left half Franklin Tepe split the uprigths for the extra point as Canadian took a 7-6 lead.

The eluding Wildcats added another touchdown in the second quarter when Schaefer smashed over from the Buck 8. The kick was no good. Canadian started its touchdown (See CANADIAN, Page 18)

Rod & Gun

by
ED FOSS

Up until this week I have always had the greatest respect for all the wardens in the employ of the Texas Game, Fish, and Oyster Commission. Today there is at least one who no longer merits any respect from me. If it were only a matter of resenting the attitude of one warden, it wouldn't be bad. However, a man is apt to base his opinion of all wardens on the actions of those he comes in contact with. Let me tell you my experience, and you see what you think about it.

While returning from a duck hunting trip Thursday night, I was stopped by two wardens. My wife and my baby, who is a year old today, were with me. The warden checked my ducks and, in the process, slung blood all over a pair of dress slacks I had on and over my car cushion. Then he made my wife and baby stand out in the cold air while he went through the back seat. In doing so, he ripped open a paper sack of baby clothes and scattered them all over the floor; spilled a box of vanilla wafers for the baby on the floor; tore through the baby's bedding (we were returning from a two day trip); and left it all jumbled up; and then acted angry because he could find no violations. After making a mess of the back seat, he let my wife and child get back into the car. Then he went ahead and checked my license and my trunk; not once did he display any common courtesy or evidence of good sense.

I believe you will agree when I say that a man of this calibre can only bring ill will and suspicion toward all his fellow officers by such actions. It is a shame that such men are allowed to hold jobs in the public services. The game wardens in any state operate under difficult enough conditions without having some joker who isn't fit to hold the job bringing the wrath of the hunting and fishing public down on their heads.

When a man buys a hunting or fishing license, he buys the right to hunt and fish within the limits of the law. He also buys the protection and cooperation of the game department, not persecution and mistreatment. The possession of a hunting license does not rob a man of his rights to courtesy, nor is it an invitation to get-to-go - like treatment from someone in a forest-green uniform with a little badge on his chest. Let the Commission remember this when it hires its men.

I am going to forget this experience and continue to cooperate with all wardens in any way possible. I realize that there is a joker in every deck, sometimes two. I can understand now, though, why some people feel the way they do about game wardens, and I don't think it is a desirable condition. I put the problem to all people interested in the outdoors.

Duck hunting was good at Lake Marvin Thanksgiving Day. The mallards were flying all day and decoyed readily in the strong wind. There were very few small ducks in the area, most of them having left with the cold front. Hunting was good at McClellan too. Keith Wiesley killed his limit in the first 20 minutes, all mallards.

Fishing is better than it has been for some time. The cooler water has started fish hitting again. Wednesday at Lake Marvin a fisherman from Borger caught several bass, two of which were really nice. One weighed three and three-quarters pounds; the other two and one-half. I saw them both, and they were mighty pretty fish. Fish are really good eating from the cold water now.

Friday will see the opening of quail season in the Panhandle. The season will run from Dec. 1st to Jan. 16th, both days inclusive. Shooting hours are from sunrise to sunset. The bag limit is 10 daily, possession limit 20.

Many of the hunters in the Panhandle are under the impression that the limit is 12, as it is in the rest of the state. The Panhandle has its own game laws, and we are only permitted to quail a day. Our possession limit and shooting hours also differ from those given in the general laws, so be sure to tell your friends who don't read this column to check the special laws on quail in the digest of game laws.

That covers the scene for this week. Don't forget to send me any news you get hold of. I'm particularly interested in club events and club conservation efforts. See you next week.

March on its own 28. With Fry and Schaeff sharing carrying honors, the Wildcats carried to the three, where Schaeff climaxed the drive with a three-yard run through right guard. Buchanan intercepted a pass during the march on White Deer's 31, but he fumbled the ball when tackled and Canadian recovered.

The Bucks moved 71 yards for their second touchdown. Carpenter Freeman and Fugh supplied the offensive fuel for the march. Buchanan climaxed the drive with a 30-yard run.

Both teams packed plenty of offensive power. White Deer rolled up 247 yards rushing

Illinois Chilled By Northwestern Eleven, 14-7

EVANSTON — (AP) — Illinois, the nation's sixth-ranked team, had its Rose Bowl hopes chilled to cold ashes by a rallying Northwestern team which stunned the Illini 14 to 7 on Dyché Stadium's frozen turf Saturday.

The dramatic Big Ten finale before 50,000 shivering fans produced an upset by inspired Northwestern which scored twice in the final half to erase a 7-0 Illinois lead which the Illini fashioned in the first two minutes and 27 seconds of the game.

The loss killed Illinois' Rose Bowl chances, leaving the Illini with a 4-2 league record.

The Rose Bowl assignment unofficially went to Michigan and also, the Big Ten title, with the Wolverines' 9 to 3 triumph over Ohio State at Columbus, Ohio.

The Illini dropped to fourth place in the final Big Ten standings.

A two touchdown underdog, Northwestern tied the score in the third period on Rich Athan's 20-yard touchdown spring, and finished off the fading Illini in the last quarter on Gene Miller's 14-yard scoring spurt.

WISCONSIN WINS

MADISON — (AP) — Senior Bob Petruska who lost his quarterback job in midseason, came back as a halfback Saturday to lead Wisconsin to a 14 to 0 victory over Minnesota.

Tennessee Upsets Kentucky Wildcats

By WILL GRIMSLEY

KNOXVILLE — (AP) — A wee Tennessee halfback named Hank Lauricella stole the aerial magic of Kentucky's famed Babe Parilli and smashed the Wildcats from the unbeaten and untied ranks, 7-0, in a hard-socking, fumbling football game played in sub-freezing temperatures.

Lauricella, magnificent as runner, punter and passer, shattered Kentucky's hopes with a perfect, 27-yard scoring heave to halfback Bert Rechichar four and a half minutes before the end of the half.

Halfback Pat Shires of Alderson, West Va., kicked his 32nd extra point of the season and that was all the point making in this savage fray between two bowl-bound Southeastern Conference powers.

Once-beaten Tennessee is already signed to play Texas in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas Jan. 1. Tennessee's upset triumph over the nation's third-ranked team, achieved before a 45,000 crowd suffering in 15-degree weather, maintained a long time mastery over the northern neighbor.

The Volunteers lost to Kentucky in 1935. The Wildcats have never beaten a team coached by Gen. Bob Neyland.

The Volunteers' fierce line harassed Parilli, one of modern football's great passing masters, all afternoon. The Wildcats never got closer than the 30-yard line to the Tennessee goal.

Tennessee smashed deep into Kentucky provinces on several occasions and drove to the Wildcats' one-yard line midway of the last half only to fail.

This 40-yard excursion followed one of the 16 fumbles that occurred during the wild game. With the ball on the one-yard line Tennessee's top line whacker, Andy Kozar of St. Michael, Pa., took two stabs at the Kentucky line, only to be stopped in his tracks.

Parilli, who through Kentucky's 10 previous victories had pitched 23 touchdown passes and gained 1,477 yards through the air, completed only 14 of his 31 throwing efforts for 150 yards.

The 160-pound Lauricella, who is called "Francis" in his home town of New Orleans, completed four of 10 passes for 71 yards. But he gained 60 yards rushing — high for the Vols — and his tremendous punting duel with Kentucky's Dominic Fucel kept the Wildcats from getting too many ideas.

Under good conditions, seed wheat will keep for two or three years, but by the fifth year its germinating qualities are poor.

Sugar Bowl Picks Kentucky Anyway

NEW ORLEANS — (AP) — Kentucky will play in the 1951 Sugar Bowl football game against an opponent to be announced later, probably Oklahoma.

Kentucky lost to Cotton Bowl bound Tennessee 7 to 0, their first loss in an 11-game season. It was Kentucky's final game of the year.

Oklahoma, their most likely Sugar Bowl opponents, swept past Nebraska 49 to 35.

It will be Kentucky's first Sugar Bowl football appearance, although the Wildcats have appeared in two other bowls. They lost to Santa Clara 21-13 in the 1950 Orange Bowl and beat Villanova 24-14 in the 1947 Great Lakes Bowl game.

Tar Heels Stuck

CHAPEL HILL — (AP) — Billy Cox, the nation's No. 3 forward passer, tossed a fourth down pass to halfback Tom Powers for a 34-yard touchdown Saturday to give Duke a 7-0 Southern Conference football victory over North Carolina.

The play in the third period enabled Duke to register its first victory in five years over the Tar Heels.

Social Register For 1951 Is Out

NEW YORK — (AP) — Society's "best seller" came out late last week the New York 1951 social register.

Among the new "ins": Pretty 23-year-old model Jayne Blodgett of Mayville, Wis., who married social registerite Gordon Murray during the past year.

The Marquess of Milford Haven, who married Mrs. Romayne Simpson of New York last February. It was somewhat of an anti-climax for the marquess, a cousin of the King of England, he appears in another catalogue of notables — Burke's Peerage.

Among the "still-ins" was Mrs. Winthrop (Bobo) Rockefeller, coal miner's daughter and former actress reported separated from the son of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The "outs" include Mrs. Henry Ford II's brother, Gerald McDonnell, who married a contractor's daughter, and Mrs. Pinna Tew Hinton Hart, who divorced a Wall Streetier and married an innkeeper.

NEXT YEAR: INCOME TAX PLUS DEFENSE TAX—We're all going to have to ante up a little more to pay for the Korean war, European defense and the rebuilding of our armed forces. More income tax is one answer. The Committee on Economic Development has recommended a temporary extra five per cent tax on top of the one you pay now. The Newschart shows how it would affect taxpayers in various income tax brackets. You figure your income tax as usual. Then you take what you have left and do it all over again. Subtract the same deductions to give you a new net taxable income. Five per cent of that sum is the extra "defense tax" you'll pay if the CED plan goes through.

God Driving Car Says Rescued 2-Year-Old

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — "God was driving the car," Little Malu Bonanova, age 2, gave that explanation last week after her father's driverless automobile smashed into a light standard with the baby as its only passenger.

The father, Actor Fortunio Bonanova, told police he was walking around the car to lift his daughter out when the brake slipped. The vehicle coasted 200 feet through traffic to the opposite side of the street before it came to a stop.

Cryptaesthesia Can Do It: Lost Things Do Looking

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEW YORK — (NFA) — Next to a can opener and a garbage disposal unit, Dr. Frederick Marion is about as handy a thing you could have around the house.

That's because Dr. Marion can find lost objects. There's no trick to it, no magnets and nothing up his sleeve. It's simply that the missing objects look for him. Or he has the impression that a lost object is looking for him, which boils down to the same thing.

It is, he says, cryptaesthesia that does it. Cryptaesthesia (go ahead, look it up in the dictionary—there, is it?) is the science of being clairvoyant. Clairvoyance is the ability to see invisible things. Only Dr. Marion says that clairvoyance isn't what he uses, which just confuses everything.

To unconfuse things, Dr. Marion is a jovial, balding Austrian who just wrote a book called "In My Mind's Eye." It's the autobiography of a cryptaesthetist. A cryptaesthetist is a clairvoyant, but let's not get into that again.

How Dr. Marion differs from a run-of-the-mind clairvoyant is that he doesn't only use sight to reach his conclusions. He also, on occasion, smells or tastes or feels or hears things which nobody else can smell or taste or feel or hear.

To demonstrate his strange faculty, Dr. Marion took himself to a hotel room. He warmed up by reading notes in sealed envelopes and describing people he'd never met. Then he called for handwriting samples, from which he said he'd reconstruct the life of the writer.

With his eyes closed, he examined the sample — which is a neat trick only the cryptaesthetically-inclined can do. He paced up and down, with his fingertips pressed to his brow.

Finally, he began to reel off phrases. They were disconnected things like "squeezed in," "forced to change," "very fine brain," "very pleasant" and so on. But the witnesses who had submitted the samples said the phrases could have related to the writers.

DR. FREDERICK MARION: But where did he put his keys?

The secret of being a good cryptaesthetist is to avoid thinking, Dr. Marion explained. That trips up many a budding cryptaesthetist, it seems. He just uses his five senses, and lets the chips fall where they may.

One of his first applications of practical cryptaesthesia was in World War I. He was made an Austrian officer because he could find water in Albania with a divining rod. Later, he perfected his ability. He didn't even have to go to Albania to find water there — all he needed was a map of Albania.

He says he first discovered his powers as a schoolboy in Prague, which probably made him the most popular kid on the block. He naturally gravitated into music halls, performing as "The Man With Six Senses" and "The Human Bloodhound." Now he's in this country for a lecture-demonstration tour.

About that finding lost objects business, Dr. Marion was going to demonstrate how he could do that, too. But he had to hurry away. It was most embarrassing, but he had lost his keys. He said it had something to do with vibrations.

Credit, Heavy Auto Stocks Worrying Pampa's Dealers

Pampa's automobile dealers are wearing a few more gray hairs these days as a credit-cutting regulation by the government squeezed potential buyers' pocketbooks and factories set another production record in auto units last week.

Regulation "W"—trimming time payments down to 15 months and demanding one-third down payments on new cars—has done more harm, according to local dealers in new and used models. It has pushed the small-car buyer almost out of the picture in some instances. Sales in the luxury and deluxe car sales have not been bothered to any considerable extent. These are cash transactions almost entirely and therefore do not come under the influence of the regulation.

Used cars, predominantly time-financed, have been hard hit. And, there are more of them on lots. The "junkies" are going about as good as ever, but the late-model autos have slowed to a standstill in most instances. Curiously enough, one dealer in the economy models declared his sales are as good as they have ever been. He said if he had been losing sales he didn't know of it. He said he was getting all the cars he wants and is selling all of them. This is being done, he said, without liberalized trade-ins or cuts in price of the new model. There are, he said, a few more cash buyers. His used car lot had not been losing money. In fact, he was rather low on used units.

Another, carrying the medium-priced models, stated he started yelling with the rest when the regulation went into effect, but later decided it was doing no good, so went back and started selling a bit harder. Apparently, he said, salesmanship is the answer to the regulation. His sales this month—normally slow because of the change-over to new models—were as good as October of this year and November, 1949.

Pampan Heads Crew in Find Of Graveyard

Dr. Arthur L. Bowsher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dallas Bowsher, Pampa, has figured in the discovery of a "majestic graveyard" of sea bottom animals that lived 300,000 years ago. The discovery was made by a party of U.S. government geological led by Dr. Bowsher.

During the past summer, the expedition pushed into the vast Brooks Range, mountain headwall of the Yukon and one of the least explored areas in the world, finding great glacial valleys whose only inhabitants were a few Eskimos.

The barren mountains which towered all around, the scientists found, were once the bottom of ancient shallow seas. This was during the Mississippian era, when the most abundant life on earth were plant-like animals attached by stems to the ocean floors.

These were the crinoids. When they died, their skeletons became part of the muck at the bottom, and then fossils in solid rock. In later upheavals, Alaska rose from the seas, and the mountains which the scientists explored this summer buckled up from the land. The crinoids found by the expedition were largely new types, not before known to science.

Dr. Bowsher's father is district superintendent of Skelly Oil Co., and lives west of Pampa.

and no word has been, or will be, sent out by the factories until the actual day of an increase. It is reasonable to believe, nevertheless, an increased price throughout the automotive industry is in order. When it will come is but a matter of conjecture.

According to a sales manager here, now is the best time to buy an automobile. And, more people will be given the opportunity if the trend continues. The clean, late-model trade-in is more valuable and dealers are going to push the sale of 1950 models to get the floors cleaned for the 1951s. The buyer with cash is in top spot today if he wants to get a brand new 1950 model. The time-payment buyer is a little less fortunate.

However, one dealer said a buyer can save from $200 to $300 by buying now. Too, they are foreseeing a 1951 model with fewer refinements than is now standard on the late 1950 units.

Fossil of Giant Sloth Uncovered In Excavation

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The Academy of Natural Sciences says fossil remains found near Moorestown, N. J., prove the giant ground sloth — a huge bear-like mammal — made its home in the Philadelphia area 100,000 years ago.

The academy had credited the important fossil discovery to James Ruhle, a 14-year-old Morristown high school student who saw the bones unearthed in an excavation for the New Jersey turnpike on the bank of Pennsylvania Creek.

Ruhle took the bones home and reported the find to Dr. Horace

COLD START—If you're having trouble starting the car motor these cold mornings, consider the problem faced by carrier crewmen operating off the coast of North Korea. Here, William J. Lawton, Navy aviator from Manchester, Conn., pulls the frozen prop of a Navy fighter to prime the engine aboard the carrier USS Philippine Sea in a blinding snowstorm. (Navy photo from NEA-Acme.)

G. Richards, the academy's curator of geology and paleontology. Dr. Richards studied the fossils and then announced they were parts of the vertebrae of the large, fur-coated mammal related to the present-day sloths of South America.

A few feet from the remains of the sloth, young Ruhle also reported he found a collection of oyster shells estimated to be 50,000,000 years old.

This discovery, said Dr. Richards, proves further that the Old Missouri Capitol Razed If Not Sold

MARSHALL, Tex. — (AP) — The last landmark here of a strange page in confederate and mid-western history soon may be wiped out in the name of progress.

The relic is the building which once housed the Missouri Government-in-exile during the Civil War. The owner says he'll raze the structure unless he can sell it soon. An apartment house would be erected.

Only recently another landmark of the period — the Missouri Governor's Mansion — was torn down.

The capitol building is an unpretentious one-story frame dwelling. It is badly weathered.

There are a number of conflicting stories about selection of Marshall as the Missouri Government's seat. The most widely accepted is this:

Missouri Gov. Claiborne F. Jackson and Lieut. Gov. Thomas G. Reynolds fled Missouri in 1861 just ahead of federal troops. They carried the state seal with them.

They first set up their government-in-exile in Camden, Ark., and later in Arkadelphia. Still later they moved to Little Rock.

In late 1862 or early 1863, Gov. Claiborne died and Reynolds succeeded to the office, the war ended. Because Missouri had remained in the union and had chosen a new governor sympathetic to the union cause, the official acts in Marshall conducted such of Governor Claiborne and business as he could, until Gen. Reynolds later were declared Robert E. Lee surrendered and void.

Palo Duro Has Three Buffalo, 2 Longhorns

CANYON — (Special) — Few people have seen buffaloes and fewer still have seen the real old-time moss back Texas longhorn steers. These facts, one gathers from comments heard since a good sized chunk of the old Wild West has been added to the attractions at Palo Duro Canyon State Park. This Old West attraction consists of a trio of buffaloes and two aged Texas Longhorn Steers.

The buffaloes are long years and thus far they and the steers have shared the same corral and pasture. Obtained from the U.S. Wildlife Refuge at Cache, Oklahoma, the young buffaloes have quickly adapted themselves to their new home. They pay little attention to the hundreds of camera fans who want pictures of them.

The Longhorn steers, one a roan and the other white with a few red spots, are enormous in size and their horns carried high on their heads, have a wide spread. They were obtained from the S. J. Ranch at Ashtola, Texas, native habitat of the real Longhorns.

The buffaloes and the steers are being kept in a comparatively small enclosure this winter. They may be seen by park visitors at any time as the park is open the year round.

"One gets a new appreciation of the old time trail drivers and cowboys after looking these old moss-back steers over," said a visitor recently. "Imagine the nerve it took to try to stop a stampede of those giants and with lightning playing over their horns."

The steers have been named Evetta and Harold in honor of J. Evetta Haley, Canyon Author, and Harold Bugbee, Clarendon artist. Both have done much to memorialize the Texas Longhorns.

During the decade between 1850 and 1860, more than 40,000 Chinese coolies were imported into California.

Hollywoodians Given History Of Their City

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — (P) — Last week Hollywoodians were treated to a thorough history of their town.

The Hollywood Citizen-News, sole newspaper in the glamor town, issued a five-section edition called "Hollywood — 50 Years of Progress." It disclosed many little-known facts about a well-known town.

Judge Harlan Palmer, publisher of the paper since 1911, recalled when Hollywood and Vine was the site of a home surrounded by a four-acre orange grove.

Cecil B. DeMille pointed out that Hollywood was the first location of the first commercial air lines with scheduled flights for passengers. During the first world war, he helped form the Mercury Aviation Co., which also trained pilots for the Army.

Mrs. Dacida Wilcox, who came to California from Topeka, Kan., in 1883, gave the town its name. On a trip east, she met a lady who called her summer home "Hollywood." Mrs. Wilcox liked the name and called her ranch "Hollywood."

Other facts disclosed in the edition:

A corner at Hollywood Blvd. and Highland Ave. was offered for $9,500 in 1904. Recently a million-dollar offer was refused for the same land.

More than 1,800 firms make products with the label "Made in Hollywood."

"They employ about 50,000 workers."

The Biograph Co. opened the first studio in Los Angeles in 1906. The first picture made here, "The Count of Monte Cristo," was filmed the following year by the Selig Co.

Red Papers Banned For Wrapping Food

BERLIN — (P) — East German Communists started selling their newspapers to West Berlin groceries and fish stores as wrapping paper to get around the western ban on their circulation.

The West Berlin city government has now asked food dealers to shun this source of paper.

Restraint in Buying Asked In Battle Against Inflation

By MAX HALL

WASHINGTON — (P) — The government is asking you for "voluntary cooperation" in fighting inflation.

What sort of cooperation? What do they mean? They attribute inflation to the existence of too much purchasing power in relation to the amount of goods. Are they suggesting you shouldn't buy that refrigerator, television set, or pair of shoes you've been wanting?

Alan Valentine, the economic stabilization administrator, made a speech the other night.

Again and again he asked for the "voluntary cooperation" of industry, labor, and the public. He urged "restraint and self-control" and "personal sacrifice."

He argued, He pleaded. He warned.

Valentine asked businessmen and labor to exercise restraint on prices and wage demands. But concerning the cooperation of the public — the consumer — the average individual who has no direct power to determine the size of prices or wage demands — Valentine wasn't quite so clear.

He only asked:

"Should not American women, who determine most purchases of consumer goods, manage their households and their budgets with greater restraint and less desire to keep up with the Joneses?"

I took a copy of Valentine's speech to officials of the Economic Stabilization Agency and started asking questions.

Q. What does "greater restraint" mean? How does a person know whether to buy something or not?

A. There's no definite line that can be drawn. Much depends on his motive. Mainly it adds up to this: he should buy in a normal way but not in an anticipatory way.

Q. Is it unpatriotic to buy a new refrigerator?

A. Certainly not. We can't ask people not to buy refrigerators. We want people to buy refrigerators. That's normal. But we ask people not to buy beyond their needs. There have been cases of buying two refrigerators and storing one in the basement.

Q. That's anticipatory buying?

A. Definitely.

Q. Some other examples?

A. Well, suppose a person cashes his savings bonds and buys an empty lot that he can't really use at present. Or a housewife buys 100 pounds of sugar. Or a man buys tires that he doesn't need.

Q. You mean panic buying?

A. You can call it that. A good deal of this went on during the summer months, and some is still going on.

Q. If there's a November sale of summer suits, is it wrong to buy one and put it away until next summer?

A. No. Taking advantage of a sale is normal buying, too. But if a person buys suits or shoes that he doesn't need, just because he anticipates shortages or higher prices later, that's anticipatory buying and it helps to cause shortages and push prices up. Real damage is done to the country when people try to stock up on food and clothing.

Q. So when you ask consumers to use restraint, what you're saying is, "follow your normal buying practices."

A. Yes.

Q. How else can the average citizen cooperate?

A. He can save more. The more money that goes into savings accounts, or insurance — the easier it is to hold down prices.

Q. Do you consider it unpatriotic to cash savings bonds?

A. People should make every effort to hold onto their bonds. Of course there are obvious cases where immediate needs require cashing them. There's nothing unpatriotic in that. But a person helps inflation if he cashes bonds, or withdraws savings, just because he thinks his money will buy more now than it would later.

Q. Are there any other ways of cooperating?

A. One important way is to get behind an adequate tax program in Congress. Higher taxes are at the top of the list of anti-inflation measures, and public support is necessary to put the program across.

Q. So when you ask the average citizen for "voluntary cooperation" you are asking him to stick to his normal buying practices, save as much as he can, and support a bigger tax program?

A. Those are the main things.

Dun, Bradstreet Index Is Advanced to $6.63

NEW YORK — (P) — The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food price index last week advanced to $6.63 — highest level since Sept. 19 when it was $6.67.

The index was 5 cents above the previous week and compared with $5.74 a year ago. The low since the Korean war was $6.48 on Oct. 10.

The index represents the total cost at wholesale of a pound each of 31 foods in general use.

Man Gets Suspension 'In View of Honesty'

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. — (P) — The judge suspended hunter Pete Olivette's 90-day jail sentence for shooting an illegal spike buck "in view of your honesty."

Olivette turned himself in to game wardens and pleaded guilty. His excuse: "The deer nudged its head in such a way that the spikes formed a fork. I thought it was a legal animal."

Oil and Gas Completions Maintain High Average

Panhandle is Still Showing A Sharp Increase in Production

The Panhandle of Texas is still showing its superiority in the oil industry by maintaining its lead and showing a sharp increase. Eighteen locations were filed this week with the Oil and Gas Division of the Texas Railroad Commission in spite of the holidays. Out of 14 completions reported, nine were oil completions, while the remainder were gas completions.

Three wells were plugged this week.

NEW LOCATIONS

New Dividends Are Announced

The board of directors of Cities Service Co. today declared the regular quarterly dividend of $1.00 per share and a special dividend of $1.00 per share.
Both cash dividends are payable December 15 to shareholders of record December 1.
In addition, the board of directors declared a stock dividend of five percent (one share for twenty), to stockholders of record December 1.
Application for the approval of the stock dividend is being filed with the securities and exchange commission today and it is anticipated that approval will be forthcoming in time to permit distribution of the stock dividend before the first of the year.
The Cities Service postwar construction and expansion program has been substantially completed. The directors felt that the impact of the defense program resulting from unsettled world conditions makes it advisable to preserve a strong cash position.
Consolidated net income of Cities Service Co. and subsidiaries for the nine months ended September 30, 1950, was $37,378,254, equivalent to $10.10 per share of common stock, as compared with $10.76 per share in the same period of 1949.
Corporate net income for the nine months ended September 30, 1950, was $22,016,001, or $5.95 per share, as compared with $5.3 per share in the same period of 1949.
Net sales of goods and services by subsidiaries in the first nine months of 1950 aggregated $408,897,778, as compared with $408,060,676 in the same period of 1949.

Oil Companies Merge Planned

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Natural Gas Pipeline Co. of America and Texoma Natural Gas Co., both of Chicago, asked the power commission yesterday to authorize a merger of the two companies.
Both are subsidiaries of Peoples Gas Light and Coke Co. of Chicago. They want to complete the merger by Dec. 31.
The Texoma pipelines which Natural wants to acquire include a 74-mile, 24-inch line from Hutchinson County, Texas, to the Texas system near Gray, Okla., and a 70-mile, 26-inch line from Moore County, Texas, to near Gray.

More Hearings Are Scheduled

AUSTIN, Texas — (AP) — The railroad commission has scheduled these hearings:
Dec. 13 — application of W. P. Luce for a special allowable exempt from shutdown days for his J. E. Lemond well No. 1, Kelly-Snyder Field, Scurry County.
Jan. 2 — application of the Delta Gulf Drilling Company for discovery oil allowable rights and a new field designation for the producing reservoir of its H. H. Elland well No. 1, Scurry County.
Survey, potential 2,375 MCF and RP at 213.
Canadian River Gas No. A-12 Killgore, Sec. 19, Blk. P-Mc, EL&R Survey, potential 16,095 MCF and RP at 287.
Canadian River Gas No. B-7 Thompson, Sec. 67, Blk. O-18, D&P Survey, potential 24,465 MCF and RP at 314.
PLUGGED WELLS
Carson County
Cabot et al No. 35 Ware, Sec. 105, Blk. 4, I&GN Survey, TD 3,217 feet.
Gray County
Taylor et al No. G-4 Taylor "G", Sec. 80, Blk. B-2, H&GN Survey, TD 2,945 feet.
Hutchinson County

Gas Saving A Big Factor in Output

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON — (AP) — Gas conservation programs have been a big factor in a postwar boom in natural gasoline production.

Final production figures for 1950 natural gasoline and other allied products as butane and propane probably will triple 1940 output.

A bureau of mines report this week said production the first nine months this year was 5,527,282,000 gallons or 16.1 percent over the same period last year.

The American Petroleum Institute places 1949 output at 4,581,000,000 gallons, compared to 2,197,000,000 in 1947.

Numerous natural gasoline and gas cycling plants have been constructed since the end of World War II.

A recent survey made by Petroleum Refiner Magazine lists 683 such plants in the United States, each with daily capacity of 500 gallons or more. The overall capacity is placed at 28,211,684 gallons a day, including propane and other liquefied petroleum gases.

Much oil was produced during World War II without operators giving heavy attention to conservation of oil well gas. The primary problem was maximum crude output. By the end of the war millions of cubic feet of gas were being flared or burned in the open field each day.

Many of the new plants are a result of conservation officials cracking down on gas flaring since the war. The Texas Railroad Commission threatened to shut down many oil fields until flaring was stopped or reduced to an absolute minimum.

The industry's answer was a plant construction or pipe facilities tying a field with a gas processing plant.

These plants take the gas produced with oil and strip it of such liquids as gasoline, butane and propane. The gas, after stripping, is sold to transmission and utility companies or returned to the underground oil reservoir. In many fields, gas returned underground makes a natural flow of oil wells.

Petroleum Refiner estimates $100,000,000 will be spent by the industry next year on natural gasoline plant construction. Another $30,000,000 will be spent on plant operations.

Industry Labor
A Bureau of Labor statistics report says the oil industry now is employing approximately 40,000 people in its production and refining division.

This is a little less than one employee for each of the nation's producing oil wells, now estimated to approximate 445,000.

The bureau predicts the industry will expect a gradual increase in employment this year.

Crude Production
World crude oil production for June has been estimated at a record 10,430,000 barrels a day by the U. S. Bureau of Mines, Venezuela and the United States accounted for most of the 620,000 barrel increase over the previous month. Venezuela was up 319,000 barrels a day, the United States 235,000.

The nation's crude output can be expected to drop again December 1 when a 160,000 barrel cutback becomes effective in Texas.

National production for the week ending November 18 averaged 5,882,400 barrels a day, compared to a year earlier 5,211,050.

Auto Production on Climb to New Highs
DETROIT — (AP) — Ward's Automotive Reports estimated passenger car production in the United States last week at 97,333.

In spite of the Thanksgiving holiday, car production in many plants to three or four days instead of the usual five, stands above the previous week's revised totals of 95,885. The figure for the same week last year was 94,613.

Well, that's that. I can think of no finer tribute to the API.

Speaking of local chapters, Bob Vail, chief engineer of Carbon Co., gave a wonderful talk on the carbon black industry at the local API meeting last Tuesday. He also presented a film in conjunction with his talk, entitled "A Study in Black." It was really great. A lot of men who attended the meeting are now glad that they did so.

Don't forget the annual API election of officers dinner in Berger Dec. 5. The boys will really have a program for you. It's at the Bunavista Cafeteria in Berger beginning at eight o'clock. Refreshments will be served at seven. Be there, and take it from me, it will be worth it.

Communists Order Signs Taken Down
VIENNA — (AP) — Marshall Plan funds have been used to rebuild federal roads and bridges in the Russian zone of Austria and for several federal agricultural projects. At each project — about 60 in all — Austrian and ERP authorities erected huge signs: "This work is being done with ERP funds."

They have stood untouched up to two years. Now the Russians have realized the signs counteract all the Communist agitation against ERP. Soviet commanders have ordered local Austrian officials to pull them down.

Blast Rips Earth As Big Natural Gas Pipeline Explodes

KING OF PRUSSIA, Pa. — (AP) — A blast, ripping the earth with terrific force, tore up a mile of a Texas-New York natural gas pipeline Thursday, rocking this fertile farm area for seven miles in all directions.

Blinding flames shot 300 feet in the air and seared trees and grass. Windows in homes miles from the explosion were shattered.

Two persons were reported injured. Two outbuildings on the farm of Peter Carmel, where the blast originated, were destroyed by the searing flames. A mile of the pipeline was blown out on both sides. The ground turned hard as brick.

Thousands of automobiles clogged roads in Valley Forge Park and all through the area where the blast was heard — and felt — in an effort to find out what happened.

Firemen and police said they had been alerted to watch for trouble on the new section of Transcontinental Pipelines, Inc.

A pressure test was begun Tuesday and firemen were ordered to "stand by" for possible trouble.

World Production in Oil Still Up

The fifth successive monthly record in total world production of crude oil was established in September.

The world's output of crude petroleum, including estimated Russian and Eastern European production, rose to 11,073,000 bbl. daily during the month. This represented an increase of 251,000 bbl. daily, or 2.3 percent, over the previous month.

Most of the increase was due to the all-time high production in the United States of more than 5,900,000 bbl. daily. Smaller increases were made in many of the principal foreign producing areas, including Venezuela, Canada, Colombia, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, and Kuwait.

World production has shown an almost unbroken upward trend since the beginning of the year. In May it exceeded the previous high levels established late in 1948, and in the following months output went above the 10,000,000-bbl. daily mark for the first time. This rapid rise in production and demand has upset some of the more conservative forecasts of crude oil requirements which were made early this year.

Partial opening of the new pipeline from Alberta to the Great Lakes was mainly responsible for the increase in Canadian output to 89,800 bbl. daily in September. Similarly, in the Middle East, production to fill the Trans-Arabian pipe line from Saudi Arabia to the Eastern Mediterranean accounted for part of the increase in Saudi Arabian production to 594,800 bbl. daily.

Rotary Drilling Also Increased

Rotary drilling activity in oil fields of the United States and Canada established another new all-time record during the week of November 20, it was reported.

With Canadian operations showing a gain of 14 active units and with 9 more rigs busy in West Texas and New Mexico, there was a net increase of 16 rigs for a total of 2515 units.

This number compares with 2499 rigs operating a week ago and with 2498 a month ago. In the comparable week of 1949 there were 2239 rigs operating against 2457 in the same week of 1948.

Industry Has A Good Future

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An optimistic long range outlook for the petroleum industry is in a report just prepared by a congressional committee.

Headed by Rep. Harris (D-Ark) the House Commerce subcommittee on oil also finds the immediate outlook "satisfactory."

Quoting from data gathered by Vice President Chester Smith of Standard Oil of Indiana, the committee estimates the 1960 domestic demand will be 8,000,000 barrels of oil daily, compared with 5,900,000 in 1949 and estimated 6,400,000 barrels this year.

The 1960 estimate, which admittedly would be thrown out of line drastically in event of all-out war, reflects an increase of slightly under 3 percent a year.

Other facts, figures and forecasts in the committee report: Product stocks — gasoline supplies as of Nov. 4 totaled 104,350,000 barrels, approximately a 29 day supply (supply a year earlier sufficient for 42 days); kerosene, 29,115,000 barrels, equal to 67 days supply (supply year earlier was 62 days); gas oil and distillate fuel, 86,886,000 barrels, equal to 61 days supply and eight days short of stocks a year earlier; residual fuel, 44,686,000 barrels, or 28 days supply, compared with 46 days stocks on same date in 1949.

Production — crude output in week of Nov. 4 was at rate of 5,896,450 barrels daily. Crude runs to stills at rate of 6,117,000 barrels daily.

Imports — September average was 525,100 barrels daily, slightly below August. Comparative figures are 436,000 barrels in 1947, 514,000 in 1948 and 640,000 in 1949. Estimated daily imports for all of 1950 placed at 840,000 barrels.

Exports — September rate averaged 280,500 barrels daily, up 30,000 barrels from August. Comparative figures are 450,000 barrels in 1947, 368,000 in 1948, 325,000 in 1949.

Aviation gasoline demands sharply increased by the Korean war, are being met and prospects are for early partial replenishment of stocks.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Texas) was honored guest Nov. 21 at a dinner in Elkhart, one of Texas' oldest oil producing areas.

Rep. Gossett (D-Texas), introducing his colleague, declared that the House leader over the years had been one of the independent petroleum industry's staunchest friends because of his advocacy of the existing 27 1/2 percent depletion allowance permitted on federal income tax returns.

The House Ways and Means Committee, now studying an excess profits tax bill, was told by a Texas natural gas pipeline operator that his industry's profits are fixed by the Federal Power Commission and should be exempted from the proposed tax measure.

Claude A. Williams, president of the Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp., Houston, testified that the 1,820-mile line from Texas to New York soon will be completed and deliver fuel at one-fourth the present cost of manufactured gas.

He noted that the total cost of the pipeline project, with 800 miles of gathering and lateral lines and compressor stations, would be approximately 240,000,000 and said private investors hoped for a six percent return.

This rate of return has been found to be fair, just and reasonable by the Federal Power Commission," Williams said, "and is adequate, but no more than adequate, to assure the economic feasibility of this project."

Commission to Air Program
AUSTIN — (AP) — The Railroad Commission has authorized a six-month experimental water injection program aimed at bolstering reservoir pressure in the Diamond "34" Canyon Lime Field in Scurry County.

Permit went to the Lion Oil Co. to conduct the program.

Company representatives told the commission at a public hearing Oct. 17 the Canyon Lime reservoir performance history indicates reservoir energy must be supplemented to maintain pressure in the field.

The experimental water injection program, they said, would indicate whether such action would be the answer for maintaining the field's pressure.

Ownership to Be Contested Soon

DALLAS — (AP) — A former RFC official testified yesterday in a hearing on M. T. Hartwell's request that Homer Snowden, Dallas oilman, and Texas Consolidated Oils, Inc., be put into receivership.

Hartwell is an engineer from Midland. He says the company and Snowden owe him $8,050, that financial affairs of both defendants are being mismanaged, and that Snowden is "insolvent or in immediate danger of insolvency."

He claims he was employed in November, 1948, by Snowden to evaluate properties of the Swiss Oil Company, which were to be sold to Texas Consolidated. Hartwell says Snowden made the agreement individually, as president of Swiss Oil and "primarily for the benefit of Texas Consolidated."

Hartwell says he never got his money.

Snowden contends he was acting only as president of Swiss Oil, and that Hartwell himself breached the contract.

A. E. Freeze, vice-president of Texas Consolidated Oils, testified before District Judge John A. Rawlins yesterday.

Many of Swiss Oil's properties sold to Texmass Petroleum Company, which became Texas Consolidated in a reorganization this year. Swiss Oil was declared bankrupt on Sept. 19. Hartwell contends that the evaluation he prepared was used by Texmass to get a $15,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation last year.

Texas Consolidated denies any mismanagement or insolvency, and says it's only Hartwell's conclusion that the company owes him anything. Texas Consolidated says Hartwell was working at the time for Swiss Oil and Midway Oils, Inc., another Snowden venture.

Freeze said he believed Snowden had severed his connection with Texmass before the RFC loan came through. He said he had been assistant-controller of RFC until this year, but that he had no connection with the loan to Texmass.

Judge Rawlins temporarily ruled out testimony for two intervenors who also seek receivership of Texas Consolidated. One is C. L. White, who says that Snowden, both as an individual and as an officer of Texmass, had employed him to procure a $4,000,000 loan in 1947. White says he was to get a one percent commission, which never has been paid.

The other intervenor is Olin N. Jaye, who seeks $1,236,000 in commissions from Texas Consolidated, from Ronnie B. Smith, now a director of Texas Consolidated, and from the Petroleum Reserve Corporation, many of whose properties were bought by Texas Consolidated with proceeds of the RFC loan.

HOW THE ADMINISTRATION'S PROPOSED TAX PLAN WOULD WORK

The Newshar above gives an example of how President Truman's proposed "excess profits tax" for corporations would work. The plan, calling for a retroactive increase to July, is expected to have rough going in the "lame duck" session of Congress. Speculation is that Republican leaders may try for a milder corporation profits tax law in the 82nd Congress.

A New Haven reader writes as follows: "Our opponents had a couple of canastas and had melded everything, but kings and queens. They had a couple of six-card melds, and two five-card melds one of which was A-A-A-A-2."

"We had a canasta in queens and two or three small melds that matched theirs. I was pretty sure that my partner was in position to go out, if he drew the right card. After drawing, I held two aces, two kings and a queen."

"My problem was to decide whether to throw the safe queen and trust my partner to go out, or to throw an ace or a king and keep in our position myself. Judging by the result of the hand I made the wrong decision and I wonder what you would have done?"

I really should not try to answer this question because I can't

Romantic Tahiti Is Given Drydock

PARIS — (AP) — Tahiti, the land of romance and fiction plots, has just gone modern with an up-to-date drydock. The Marshall Plan paid for it, through the Paris office of the Economic Co-operation Administration. The plan was to help the French shipping which links the 180 pinpoint sized islands owned by France in the Pacific.

Without the drydock, which cost about $250,000, ships which often battered hulls on the treacherous Pacific coral reefs had to be beached and repaired with sometimes primitive means. Much time was lost and the repairs often were only makeshift. Most of the Papeete harbor traffic is in schooner-loads of copra, or dried coconut meat, ready for oil extraction. South Sea Islanders dry the coconut meat and sell it to the traders, who haul it to Papeete for reshipment to the world's oil markets. Other South Sea Island products handled by the schooners include vanilla and mother of pearl.

Give HADACOL a Chance to help you. If your system lacks these essential elements, you, too, will be amazed at the wonderful results HADACOL can bring you, as it has to thousands of other fine folks who suffered a deficiency of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Niacin and Iron, which HADACOL contains. HADACOL helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to carry these precious Vitamins and Minerals to every organ, and every part of your body.

HADACOL is that wonderful new preparation—promising blessed relief for your indigestion, stomach disturbances (gas, heartburn, sour "risings" after meals), as well as that general run-down condition, and nagging aches and pains, if due to a lack of Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron and Niacin in your system.

HADACOL is so amazingly successful because if your system lacks Vitamins B-1, B-2, Iron and Niacin it acts directly to relieve this deficiency—the real cause of your trouble. That's the kind of product you want—the kind you should buy—the kind you should start taking immediately.

Russians Boost Peace Idea With Dove Song

BERLIN — (AP) — "Little Peace Dove Fly Over the Roof" is the latest Communist song for kindergarten children in Soviet-occupied Eastern Germany. At a recent student festival at Magdeburg, the children sang the new tune while 30 live doves were turned loose. "They flew eastward," reported the Communist newspaper "Volksstimme," "to where the bulwark of peace, the great and mighty Soviet Union, lies."

Texans In Washington

By TEX EASLEY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Test flights, soon will be underway at Texas A & M College with a new airplane designed specifically for farm operations.

Dr. R. D. Lewis of the experiment station, here with President Thomas Harrington and other A & M officials, to attend a Land Grant College conference, described progress of the government-backed project to develop the world's first strictly agricultural plane.

The single-engine, all-metal, one-wing craft will have a low landing speed and can come almost to a stall and yet keep in flight. In that respect it can't compete with a helicopter, but its initial and operating cost is expected to be far less than the windmill type flying machine.

Other planned features are great visibility and such sturdy construction that it can safely chug through telephone lines or fences it might accidentally encounter.

Dean H. W. Barlow, director of the engineering experiment station at A & M, and Civil Aeronautics Administration experts have worked together on it. When they have seen it through the flying tests, Dr. Lewis' staff will finish development of special devices for insect dusting and other farm operations.

Also in the A & M faculty group here were: Dean C. C. French, Dean Charles G. Shepherdson, Dean Ida P. Trotter, Vice Chancellor D. W. Williams, Dean I. B. Boughton, Dean G. G. Gibson, Dean J. P. Abbott, Bonnie Cox of the Department of Rural Home Research and Maurine Hearne, state planning director for home economics.

While here the Aggie officials were honor guests at a dinner given by the National Capital A & M club at the Army-Navy Country Club.

President of the local Aggie ex-student organization is Earl

Around the Capital:

Cautious lawyers in the Justice Department won't speak for publication about the pending charges against Texas Agriculture Commissioner J. E. McDonald and others accused of violating the federal lobby law.

The charges were filed Aug. 31, 1949, in the U. S. District Court for the District of Columbia. The many delays in the proceedings, six in all, have been ordered with mutual consent of attorneys for both the government and the defendants.

It is understood that the latest delay, postponing the case to Dec. 8, was agreed upon to some extent because of the pending fight of the National Association of Manufacturers against the lobby act. The NAM two years ago filed proceedings seeking to have the law declared unconstitutional. A three-judge court may act on the issues later this month, and their decision may have an important bearing on the charges against McDonald.

Others charged with him are: Georgia Commissioner of Agriculture Tom Linder, and Ralph Moore of Washington, D. C., who several years ago was a leader in the Texas Grange.

The American Legion's national commander, Erle Cocke, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., has just learned a basic political trick from one of his rank and file members — Harry S. Truman of 1600 Pennsylvania Ave.

He picked up the point as a result of a trip to Houston and other Texas cities.

In a recent meeting here with President Truman, Cocke referred to one of the trials of his new job — hand-shaking. He said he gets a thrill out of it, but that it's sometimes hazardous.

"Down in Texas I got caught in so many of those Texas from grips that I could hardly straighten out my fingers," he complained.

The President grinned sympathetically, then proceeded to show the Georgian a safety practice.

You bring your hand forward relaxed, the President told him, and then you make contact. A split second ahead of the person you are greeting you let go with a real squeeze, beating him to the punch.

Rep. Clark Fisher of San Angelo, recently returned from an extended tour of Europe and the Middle East, said he was surprised to find a colony of about 40 Texans in Tehran.

Tehran still talks of the 1943 meeting there of Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin and has named the three main boulevards in the city after the trio, Fisher said.

Junior in Trouble, Officers Deal More

HE CAME TO KILL

by ADELINE McELFRESH

XXV

DEPUTY SHERIFF MARTIN PRESTON tossed his bedraggled felt hat on the kitchen table and shrugged out of the field jacket that had been his through weather as warm as this. He looked at the superior.

"The boys all gone?"

Purdy nodded. "They'll be back in the morning."

"What good will that do?" Mart enquired wearily. "We've muffed it all along. Clem. If we had the sense to take Peter in we could have sweated it out of him, somehow."

Leena poured scalding coffee and handed the cup to him. He took it without thanks, too tired even to smile. In another two years it would be dawn, and the search would begin again. Would that, she wondered, be too late?

"I can't understand it," Mart said. "If Sondra left in that taxi he should be in Thorne City—somewhere. She isn't, so—he took deep breath—"we're up a blind alley."

"The cab driver's telling the truth. He drove right back to the Ace, went in for a sport, and then took the prosecutor's assistant home and put him to bed." Tired as he was, he almost grinned. "He sure Sondra didn't hide on the floor of his cab and skip out at the dawn."

"But if she did and—Leena began.

Warned by the frown gathering once on the sheriff's brow, Leena et it go. She sipped her coffee, watched perplexity cloak Mart's tired features, and tried to catch her mental mosquito. Sondra Thorne was nobody's fool; certainly she wouldn't try to leave town.

Deputy Preston roused himself from the moody study of his coffee cup. "If you're going to say he came back here, don't," he advised. "The last thing the boys did was go over the house and grounds till a grasshopper couldn't escape." Leena nodded. "I know. But what if Sondra and Peter had planned to meet . . . somewhere. Couldn't they?"

"So dramatically?" Purdy was skeptical.

"I think not," Mart said, but without the sheriff's sarcasm. "Why put the finger on themselves like that? They're in enough trouble as it is."

"Maybe," Leena admitted. "But if the murderer is Jasper—"

"If," the sheriff snapped. "Well, Mart, I'm shoving off. You stick around till daylight; I'll be back by then if the old bones hold out. As for you, Leena," he said, "Mart will look you in your room. Stay there."

"Mart will do no such thing!"

"I will, too," Preston chuckled. "I will brook no disobedience in the Preston domicile. So long, Clem," he said as Purdy turned to go.

MISS AGATHA was asleep when Leena looked in on her as she went to her own room a little later. One thin hand was curled under the wrinkled, pale cheek; Miss Aggie seemed peculiarly young, as though she had achieved in her sleep the youthfulness she pursued so persistently during her waking hours. Poor Agatha, she thought, living always in Miss Maggie's shadow—on her generosity, which must have worn pretty thin at times. So closely did Margaret Thorne guard the remains of her family's wealth—seeing the money that should have been divided four ways—between the two girls, Leena's grandfather and Peter's and Jasper's father—even bare necessities were begrudged. Leena recalled bitterness that had lessened with the years following Gramps' death, bitterness that had made her father unhappy, knowing that Gramps' life might have been prolonged if Miss Maggie had been different.

Leena tiptoed out of the room, pulled the door shut behind her, and went into her own room. It was not until she shot the old-fashioned bolt into place that she realized Miss Agatha's door had not been locked.

"Strange," she murmured, half aloud.

Wasn't Miss Aggie afraid now? Didn't she realize that there still was Jasper?

Suddenly weak, she leaned against the door, as though to borrow on its strength. Could it be there wasn't anyone—never had been anyone—but Miss Agatha?

Of course! she thought numbly. The connecting bath. Doors opening into the hall locked—against Peter. Miss Agatha volunteering the information that she had told Miss Maggie her nephew was dangerous after he learned terms of the proposed new will. . . . Leena rolled over and sat up.

Had those been Miss Aggie's hands at her throat?

Miss Aggie's fall down the stairs might have been staged to draw off suspicion!

Wearily, she undressed, flicked off the lamp and stretched out on the bed. She slept almost at once.

THE sun, cold and watery-eyed, was hovering on the eastern horizon. Still drowsy, heavy-lidded, she sat up.

From somewhere, too far away to be anything but a buzz, came the sound of voices. Then there was a shout, and another. Snatching up her robe, Leena ran barefooted into the hall.

Cynthia Carstairs met her in the downstairs hall.

"Don't go out there!" the housekeeper pleaded.

But Leena brushed past her, followed the guiding voices outside and around the house. The greenhouse—

Mart was inside, with old Arthur Jones. They turned together, Mart, ashen-faced, came to meet her. Jones just stood there, his seamed old face convulsed with grief.

"It's Miss Aggie," Mart said gently, taking her in his arms. "She's hanged herself."

around the table and look at all the hands when a canasta game is in progress. Also, it is remarkable how much better you can play when you see four hands. However, in the case I am about to discuss it should not be necessary to see four hands to realize what was wrong with East's play.

Both sides needed 120 and the dealer froze the pack by turning up a joker. After several rounds of play South melded A-K-2 and joker-9-9. West drew and discarded and after making his draw North thought a long while (obviously about melding) finally decided not to meld and simply discarded.

East drew and melded joker-king-king and 2-8-8. West added one king to the meld and nothing happened for a couple of rounds.

Finally poor East drew and found himself holding one deuce, one king, two queens and a ten. Three tens had been discarded and it was a cinch that South did not have a pair of tens among his five cards.

Also, I had seen the South hand and knew this. Also I had seen West's hand and knew that he had the worst collection of tripe imaginable. No wild cards or sets of three and only a few pairs. However West did have plenty of safe discards. His hand was so bad that no one could use his cards.

Poor East counted the cards remaining in the stock and found that he had six more discards to make assuming that the hand went to the end. He knew his king was safe since two kings had been discarded and he decided to throw it.

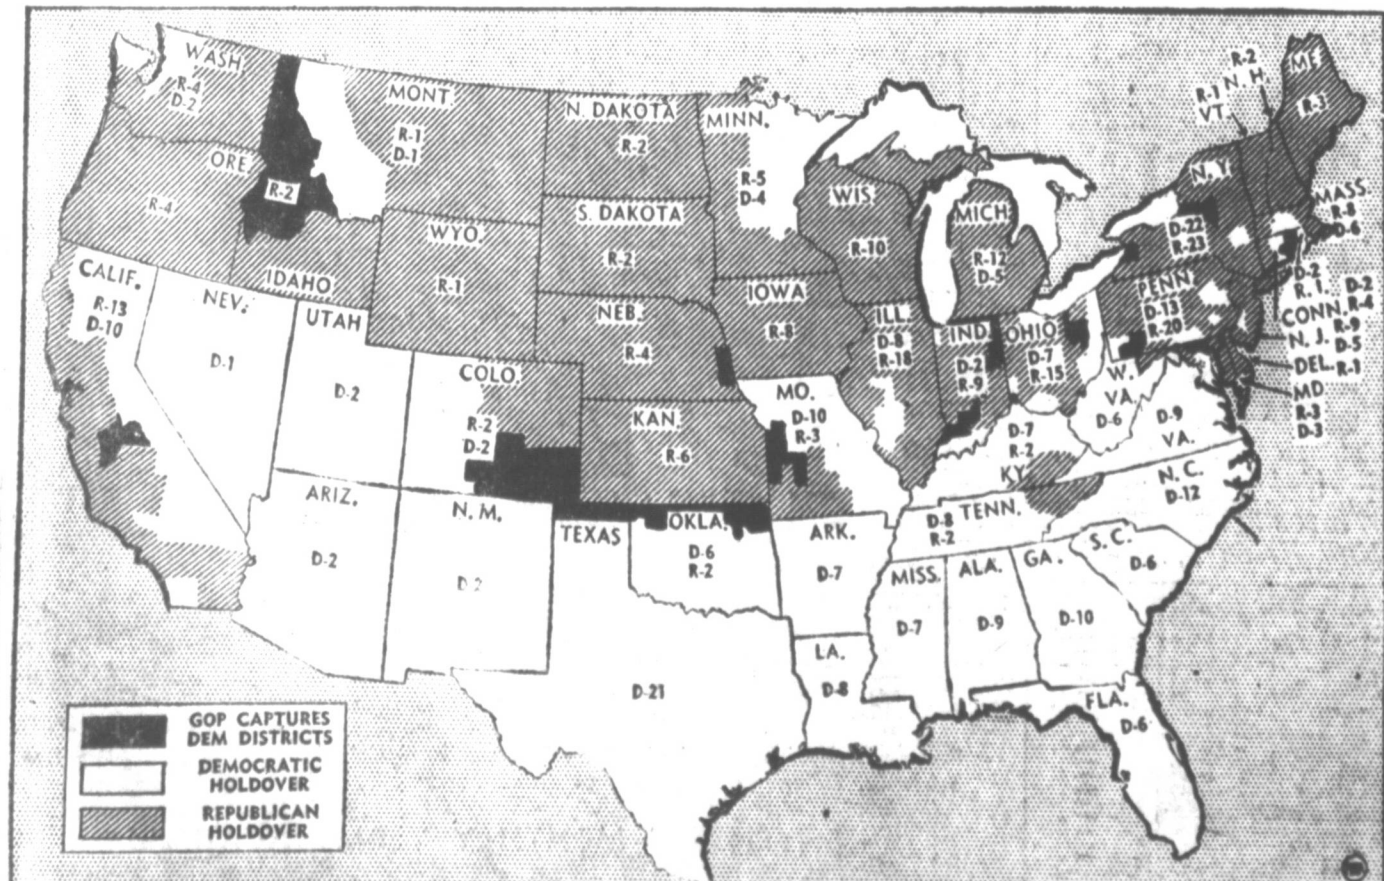

East's next draw was the king and he discarded that also. His next draw was a second ten spot and here is where East went as wrong as it is possible to go wrong.

East discarded a queen. South got the discard pile and before the smoke of the hand had cleared away North and South had picked up over 3000 points.

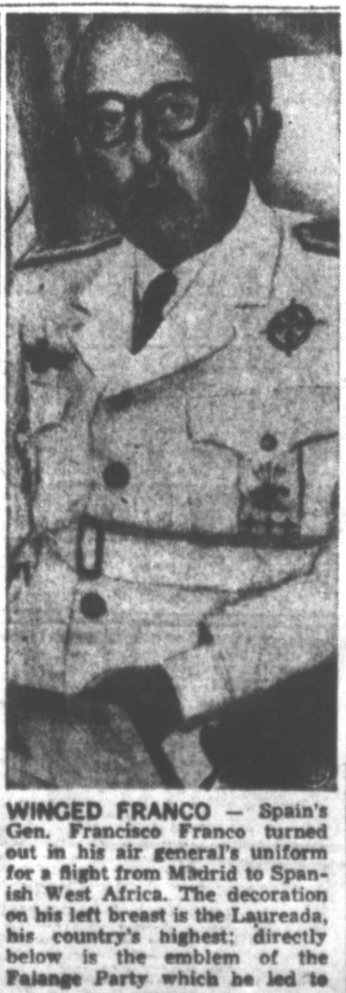

Actually a ten would still have been a safe discard and as pointed out earlier South should have known that a ten was very likely to be safe. However, South should have thrown his wild card away. Two rounds back he had given up his play for out by time he still had six rounds to go.

Now he had four rounds to go, or three after that discard. He might draw badly and have to give away the pack later but he was discarding to a five card hand and he might well draw safe cards on the last three rounds.

Finally, my real quarrel with East's line of play is that he swapped horses in mid-stream for no good reason. When he threw the first king he had decided to try to play safety to the end. Once having made that decision he should have stuck to it as long as he possibly could.

They'll Do It Every Time

TALLYHO! Baseball's Yankee Stadium has a fox to give away—but first they'll have to catch the fox. Here's Sy Hansen, assistant ground keeper, busy fox hunting with binoculars. What looks like a small dugout in foreground is a trap, nicely baited, but the sly fox prefers the exclusive box seats.

Frisky Fox Deals Out Woes To Yankee Park Caretakers

By JIM HART
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Yankee Stadium maintenance supervisor Jim Thomson stood at the entrance of the home team bullpen and scanned the outfield through squinted eyes. He wasn't looking for a lost ball. He was looking for a fox.

"I'm telling you there's a real home-to-pee fox out there someplace raising hob with this ball park and everything and everybody in it," he insisted, with the pained expression of a thwarted outfoxed, that is—huntsman.

"We've been trying to nail him for more than a month, but he's onto all our tricks. I'm wondering if we'll ever catch him. He's no dope that fox."

The object of Thomson's admiration has plagued stadium maintenance men and grounds keepers since he first was spotted Oct. 13.

"Wouldn't you know something like that would happen on Friday the 13th?" came a wail from a carpenter, his hands full of horsehair for one of the myriad traps set all over the park.

"There was a truckload of Army football equipment pulled in here that day from West Point. Almost simultaneously, another truck, carrying tarpaulins from south of Philadelphia, began unloading across the field," Thomson explained.

"That fox was in one of those trucks. He's no city fox. They've got foxes in that wooded park behind the Veterans' Hospital a Kingsbridge—but they're stupid compared to this guy. You can catch them."

When maintenance man Jim Regan announced to a group of Stadium officials that there was a fox sunning himself on the outfield grass, his boss tried to send Regan home.

"I'm telling you, there's a fox out there," Regan insisted. "I know a fox when I see one."

A few days later, Thomson, West Point colonel entered the field, his eyes suspiciously blank. After a moment, he raised a finger in the direction of the field and stammered:

"There's a blankety-blank fox running all over that place!"

Immediately, traps were set. Floodlights bathed the darkest corners of the park. Monsieur (or Madame, as the case may be) Reynard could be seen, but not caught.

A few days later, the small

Ideal Food Stores Sets New Savings, Retirement Plan

A new savings and retirement plan whereby 25 to 27 one-half percent of the yearly earnings are distributed to the employees was explained last week to employees of Ideal Food Stores. T. J. Blakemore, president of the stores, Tom Wortham, secretary-treasurer and Veri Hagaman, manager of the stores in this area were present at the meeting in the Palm Room to explain the plan.

Hagaman said the organization has had a profit-sharing bonus plan and group life and hospitalization insurance for over ten years. Under the plan, employees may retire at the age of 60 and draw out their fund in a lump sum or in monthly installments. Or, in the case of permanent or temporary disability, draw against their fund. The retirement age is not mandatory and the fund will be managed by the employees.

army of cats protecting the Stadium from vermin began disappearing like beaten pitchers heading for the showers.

"Even Minnie—she was the boss of them all—been with us 13 years," lamented Thomson. "Minnie was no quitter. She never would have left this place. She's inside that fox."

"And another thing—we never saw a rat around here before. Now we've got to call the exterminators. I don't know if they're here because the cats are gone or because he just stirred 'em up."

"And you oughta see what he's done to the pigeons. He's eaten up dozens of them. They're none too smart to start with. We even run into them with lawn mowers—but we're running out of pigeons."

Other officials said if that was the only thing Reynard did, they'd just as soon have five more foxes for patrol work.

Night watchman Al Martel is the only one of the intrepid band of fox chasers who threw in the towel.

"That thing made a pass at me the other night and I'll be back when you produce a body?" he said, leaving for foxless Boston.

Yankee auditor Aaron Lanier, liked that such liberties should be taken without benefit of past-board storming.

"That fox suns himself in the most expensive seats in the house."

Ed Fisher, Yankee promotion man, says that hundreds of well-meaning persons have offered ideas on how to trap or kill the fox.

"We even brought in a fox-hound one day," Ed said. "He flopped."

"And we don't want the fox dead. If we shoot him, the ASPCA will be on our necks and if we poison him, he may decide to die under the four-dollar seats. Can you imagine anybody sitting in them next season?"

SPRY AT 104—Celebrating her 104th birthday, Mrs. Santos Ramirez shows how she can thread a needle without glasses. Mrs. Ramirez drank a glass of red wine, picked a tune on her guitar and danced a turn in further celebration.

I have (formerly) applauded efforts to cut the fat out of our defense operations. I did not intend—and I know Congress did not intend—that the knife which trimmed the fat should also cut the muscle.

Photographer Comes Through With Picture

RIVERSIDE, Calif. — (AP) — Mike, a Persian cat had been up a tree two days and two nights; twenty-six feet up.

His blind masters, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fruth, couldn't get him down. The fire department wouldn't answer the call, because the Fruths live outside city limits. A humane officer tried, but his ladder was too short.

"Go out and get a picture of the cat," said Press-Enterprise City Editor Gariand Griffin to

Navy Blue Collars May Receive Raise

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Navy has estimated about one-half of its 175,000 "blue collar" workers will receive pay increases of a few cents an hour soon after Jan. 1.

Most of the employees getting raises will be mechanics. "Blue collar" workers also include helpers, laborers and supervisors.

photographer Val Chaney.

Chaney got the picture. Then he shinned up a few more feet and got the cat.

Little Fellow Gets Burp in Crosswise

DAYTON, O. — (AP) — The little old man had a burp stuck crosswise.

Said he to the policeman directing traffic at Dayton's busiest downtown intersection:

"You're supposed to help people in trouble, ain't you?"

Patrolman T. D. Spreng said he was, and obliged with a hefty slap on the back. It brought an immediate and gratifying response.

The little man nodded his thanks and strolled away into a crowd of grinning Christmas shoppers.

Even now, more than ten years since the discovery of nuclear fission, not one single kilowatt of useful mechanical energy has been extracted from uranium—at least not in this country. And so far as I know, in no other country.

—Dr. Alvin M. Welsberg, research director of Oak Ridge, Tenn., national laboratory.
