Background Of Controversial John Birch Society Outlined

EDITOR'S NOTE: Since the John Birch Society has become a major subject of controversy throughout the nation. The News is running a four part series by M. C. Maloney, a Freedom Newspaper news editor, who made an exhaustive study of the Society. The third article in the series follows:

By M. C. MALONEY

What of the man, Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society — a man charged by some as being a "Little Hitler"?

What of the Blue Book, the so-called "bible" of the group which has been likened to Karl Marx's Communist Manifesto and Adolf Hitler's Mein Kampf?

And what of John Birch himself, the man whose name the John Birch Society bears?

Robert Welch was farm-born in Chowan County, N.C., Dec. 1, 1899. His ancestry, he says, is full of farmers and Baptist preachers, traceable to Miles Welch who came to America in 1720.

He attended the University of North Carolina for four years, the United States Naval Academy two years, and the Harvard Law School two years. Whimsically, Welch includes 40 years in the school of hard knocks in his educational background.

He was for many years vice president, in charge of sales and advertising, of the James O. Welch Co., a candy manufacturing business. He was a member of the board of directors of the National Assn. of Manufacturers and served three years as a regional vice president of the NAM. For two years he was chairman of its Educational Advisory Committee.

Welch has been active in other business affairs which included directorships of a bank and other corporations.

He is also the author of "The Road to Salesmanship," "May God Forgive Us," "The Life of John Birch," and is founder and editor of American Opinion, a monthly current events and analytical magazine.

In January of 1957 Welch gave up most of his business affairs in order, as he puts it in a short autobiographical sketch, "to devote practically all of (my) time and energy to the anti-Communist cause."

Welch says he firmly believes "that the only thing the communists now fear is having the truth become widely known to the American people, about the methods and the progress of the whole international Communist conspiracy."

And it was for this end that Welch says he conceived the idea for a dedicated organization of Americans to combat the engulfing Red tide — not as a defensive battle, but one which would wage an aggressive offense.

"If we heirs of all the ages are to find a turning point in this rapid and sometimes stampeding descent, in which we are abandoning instead of improving our inheritance; if the last half of the 20th century is to see the curve that measures individual dignity turn upward; if the men who really wish to be free and self-reliant are to begin climbing back up the mountainside; then the goal must be known, and the purpose of aggressive offense must replace defensive defeatism as the banner under which we march," Welch expounds.

It was for the purpose of giving reality to this idea that he invited 11 men to meet with him in Indianapolis just little more than two years ago. The 11 were responsible men who shared his concern over the expanding Communist influence.

To them he outlined the background, the methods, and the purposes of the organization he visualized — the now widely controversial John Birch Society.

Welch's presentation to those men lasted two full days.

A transcript, some 180 pages, of this meeting, is the Blue Book of the society.

It is the book which has been labled by some a Mein Kampf or

Eichmann's Death Trek Role Bared

JERUSALEM, Israel (UPI) — Adolf Eichmann was so eager to destroy Jews that he ignored orders from his superior officers in Berlin to halt his exterminations in Hungary, Israel's Attorney General Gideon Hausner charged today.

The prosecutor said Eichmann organized a death march of Hungarian Jews in direct violation of instructions from Heinrich Himmler, head of the German police and commander of the black-shirt SS Corps.

Eichmann had gone to Hungary to take personal charge of the slaughter of Jews, Hausner said. The tide of war was beginning to turn against the Nazis and Germany was becoming more desperate.

The defendant made an offer to the Jews, the prosecutor said. He would trade "blood for trucks." If the Jews could deliver a certain number of trucks to him, he would release a certain number of Jews. The Jewish representative at these negotiations was Joel Brandt, who was instructed to get to Turkey and submit the Nazi offer to the Jewish organizations there. The negotiations fell through.

"Himmler had, in the meantime, ordered all exterminations to be stopped, but Eichmann

Soviets Ask Kennedy To End Cuban Strife

Castro Will Get Needed Aid, Khrushchev Warns; Fidel Lauds His Troops

MOSCOW (UPI) — Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev cabled President Kennedy urging him to put an end to the aggression against the republic of Cuba.

Tass news agency announced the message had been sent shortly after an official Soviet government statement acused the United States of preparing and starting the invasion of Cuba.

The government statement was broadcast over Radio Moscow and copies were handed to the U.S. and other embassies here.

Both the statement and Khrushchev's message warned of possible Soviet help to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro. The statements did not, however, specify just what type of aid.

Khrushchev charged that "the bands which attacked Cuba were organized in the United States." He pledged that the "U.S.S.R. will give the Cuban people and its people and its government all aid necessary to repulse the armed attack."

"The Soviet Union is sincerely interested in a relaxation of international tension," Khrushchev had said. "But if others aggravate it we shall reply in full measure."

Kruhshchev said that "military technology is such that any small war can cause a chain reaction."

"It is not too late to prevent the irreparable. The government of the United States still can prevent the flames of war kindled by the interventionists on Cuba from spreading into a conflagration which it will be impossible to cope with."

While Tass was broadcasting the Khrushchev message and the Government statement, hundreds of young Russians demonstrated outside the U.S. embassy.

They shouted "Down with the colonialists" and tried to push past a cordon of police to reach the embassy's gates. The embassy had been warned in advance. The women and children were moved upstairs. Doors and windows were locked.

One hundred Soviet policemen arrived to help control the situation.

The statement was the first official reaction by the Soviet government on the invasion of Cuba by the anti-Castro forces.

It called on the United States government "at this crucial moment to take measures to halt the aggression against Cuba."

It also demanded that the United Nations "examine the question immediately."

(The United Nations already is discussing the Cuban situation.)

The Soviet government branded the invasion "an open challenge to all freedom-loving peoples" and said the Soviet Union "reserves the right, should armed intervention not cease, to render all necessary aid to the Republic of Cuba."

Cubans Held For Alleged Death Plot

MIAMI (UPI) — Radio Havana reported today that 20 men and nine women have been arrested on charges of plotting to assassinate Premier Fidel Castro and other key government figures.

The broadcast said the group "received instructions and training from the Yankee intelligence department," presumably meaning the Central Intelligence Agency.

Among those arrested was Humberto Sori Marin, former agriculture minister and legal expert for the Castro regime.

Sori was reported in house arrest in December. Recently he was said to have been wounded "while resisting arrest." It was not clear whether he had been released and rearrested or whether he was still in custody when he was implicated in the alleged plot.

Another of those arrested was Eufemio Fernandez, secret service chief under ex-President Ramon Grau San Martin and a well-known leader of the resistance to Fulgencio Batista.

Fighting Heavy In Inland Area, Envoy Informed

United Press International

Fidel Castro proclaimed over an emergency national radio hookup early today that his forces were "fighting valiantly" against Cuban revolutionary invaders in Las Villas Province.

The bearded Cuban premier's message gave no specific information. But it was an admission that the anti-Castro soldiers had gained a strong foothold and still were battling more than 24 hours after they had landed.

Castro's communique, read by an announcer, said that "in the next hours, there will be new details to report to the people of the successes obtained by the army. . ."

Top exile sources in the United States and Mexico said the initial victory belonged to the invaders.

Jose Miro Cardona was poised to speed to Cuba to set up an opposition government as soon as he determined his troops had secured a sizeable piece of territory.

Miro Cardona is head of the Revolutionary Council. He was Castro's first premier after the Cuban rebel ousted dictator Fulgencio Batista from power Jan. 1, 1959. He and Castro later split.

In Moscow, Cuban Ambassador Faure Chaumont said he had spoken by telephone to President Osvaldo Dorticos this morning and received word that the invaders were encircled by Castro forces.

He said Dorticos told him heavy fighting was going on in Matanzas Province. This would put the invaders at least 20 miles inland.

With the Castro regime severing all commercial communications channels with the outside world, the main sources of information were Castro's own radio and the exile leaders in the United States and South America. There were no independent eyewitness reports of the fighting.

At the United Nations in New York, the United States branded as a lie a charge by the Castro regime that U.S. forces from the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo had invaded Cuba.

UPI Correspondent Norman Cornish reported directly from Guantanamo that naval officials there also formally denied the charge. Security precautions were tightened at the base. Marines and sailors patrolled the 17-mile fence with dogs and took positions in pillboxes.

Senate Group Starts Tax Study; Senator Hudson Assails Governor

AUSTIN (UPI)— A Senate subcommittee, mindful of pressures for a sales tax, will study a House "catch-all" tax bill with a caption broad enough to include the broad-based levy as an amendment.

The House met only briefly Monday, without passing any legislation, before a joint session to hear West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

The Senate began work on a bill to give the University of Houston full state support, but stopped short of final action on the measure, adjourning in the midst of a hot floor fight.

Afternoon Senate committee hearings turned to Padre Island, small loan regulation, and the tax question.

The Senate State Affairs Committee heard several hours of testimony the past week from sales taxers, headed by Midland lawyer Tom Sealy of the "Citizens For A Sales Tax."

The committee sent the catch-all bill, by Rep. Charles Ballman of Borger, to a subcommittee, instructing committee chairman Sen. Wardlow Lane of Center to name four senators to work with him in studying the bill.

The final debate included an accusation that Gov. Price Daniel is a "political hypocrite."

The catch-all bill was designed around a new corporation franchise tax formula and a graduated gift tax. It is drawn up as a $43 million levy now, but amendments could raise that to erase the $63 million expected general revenue fund deficit or to get into the state's planned $200 million in new spending.

Sen. Hubert Hudson of Brownsville rose during the hearing on the bill to criticize Daniel.

As Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College at Canyon, explained the advantages of a sales tax, Hudson broke in.

"Wouldn't you say Gov. Daniel is a political hypocrite?" Hudson asked. When Cornette hesitated, Hudson added, "Well, I think it's time for somebody to speak the truth."

Sen. Abraham Kazen of Laredo urged senators to consider supporting a constitutional amendment, if they decide on a sales tax, to put a constitutional ceiling on the levy.

"Then the heavy spenders could not come back in two years and raise the rate of the sales tax," Kazen said.

Sen. Robert Baker of Houston, sponsor of the University of Houston bill, was thwarted in bringing up amendments he said would make the bill easier to finance. The Senate adjourned before Baker could bring amendments to a vote.

He wanted to change the measure to make it effective 1963 instead of this year to make its curriculum controllable by the higher education commission, and to give Houston a $200 tuition.

Lane said of the bill, "It's not the right thing to have a university at every fork of the creek."

City Commission Delays Naming Tax Equalization Board Group

Pampa's new city commission got off to a cautious start this forenoon in its first regular meeting in City Hall.

Top subjects for discussion proved to be the naming of a new three-man city tax equalization board and a request by Texaco Inc., for purchase of water rights on city-owned land in Gray County Section 36 some nine or ten miles south of the city limits.

Aubrey Jones, city tax assessor-collector, appeared before the commission and asked for the appointment of three men to the official tax equalization bard.

Jones said the usual procedure had been to take three men from the city's 10-man tax advisory board which has been serving to lay the groundwork for the equalization board. Jones said any three men could be appointed but men on the advisory board already were experienced. Five names already had been removed from the list because three of them were serving on the school equalization board and two others could not serve.

Commissioner Leon Holmes wanted to name five men to replace them so there would be ten names from which to pick the three instead of only five names from which to make the selection.

Tax Collector Jones explained the commission could add as many names as it wished and appoint any three men upon whom they could agree. Jones said his only point was that three men from the present advisory board would already have the experience.

Commissioner L. P. Fort said he felt he couldn't vote intelligently on the matter until it had been given further study.

Commissioners finally agreed to hold a later impromptu meeting and compile a list of names from which to select the three tax equalization board members.

On the Texaco Inc. request for water rights for the construction of two water wells, the commission asked the company to submit a proposal of some sort to the city.

Mayor E. C. Sidwell suggested that some sort of an agreement possibly could be reached but said he wanted to be certain that there was adequate protection of the city's water reserves.

The commission passed on third and final reading a paving assessment ordinance for street improvements in W. 25th, Hobart and Harvester Sts.

None Hurt In Borger Plant Fire

BORGER, Tex. (UPI)— A fuel line ruptured and set off a small, but highly dangerous, fire Monday at a multi-million dollar artificial rubber plant near Borger and burned out of control for about 30 minutes.

The plant is located at Buenavista, about four miles from Borger. It is owned by Phillips Petroleum Co.

Workers brought the fire under control with automatic spraying devices and by clearing lines to keep fuel from feeding the fire.

None of the workers was injured.

The fire broke out in the purification section of the plant. An automatic spraying system went into action, and valves on pipes leading to the area were shut off.

The plant makes butadiene, a substance used to make artificial rubber from petroleum.

Goldwater Proposes U.S. Blockade Cuba

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Monday night the United States should surround Cuba with a military blockade if necessary to enforce an economic embargo in support of the insurgent forces.

Goldwater, in a speech opening the 70th Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR), called on the administration to aid anti-Castro Cubans and to officially declare that the Castro regime will be overthrown.

His remarks were prepared before word was received of the rebel invasion of Cuba but he said they still stood.

In a welcoming message, President Kennedy told the estimated 3,000 DAR delegates that a "spirit of cooperative achievement" is necessary to turn the tide of history toward liberty.

Goldwater, in his speech, declared that the Castro regime was "the most important Russian victory of the cold war."

He said the United States had displayed "astounding timidity and indecision" in the Cuban situation, acting like a "paralyzed confused giant who is only vaguely aware of the danger confronting him."

He said the United States should make it clear that "Communist governments will not be tolerated in the Western Hemisphere and that the Castro regime, being such a government, will be eliminated."

RKO Buys Three Pampa Theaters; No Management Change Planned

Pampa's two downtown motion picture theaters and drive-in movie have been sold to RKO General Inc., it was announced in Oklahoma City today by C. O. Fulgham, vice president of Video Theaters Inc., present owners.

RKO, in purchasing control of Video Theatres, acquired controlling interests in the Capri, La Vista and Top O' Texas Drive In theatres.

The announcement indicated there would be no change in local management or personnel.

Purchase price of the deal in Oklahoma City was not disclosed but it is known to involve the purchase of more than 100,000 shares of Video stock.

The three Pampa theaters are part of a chain of 128 movie theaters owned by Video in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. Video also is the parent company for Mesa Micro-Wave Co., a communications carrier serving about 20 Oklahoma cities; Vumore Co., which operates 15 community television antenna installations in Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Mississippi; and the Tele Hi-Fi Co., which supplies background music to commercial firms.

Fulgham said the transaction involving the Pampa theaters and the other properties is subject to approval of the Federal Communications Commission because of Video's extensive holdings in the broadcasting field.

U.S. Not Aiding Foes Of Castro, Rusk Declares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said yesterday the anti-Castro invasionof Cuba was not staged from American soil but that the United States is sympathetic with the aims of those participating.

Rusk said the Cuban affair was one for the Cubans themselves to settle but that the United States was not indifferent to the extension of Communist tyranny in this hemisphere.

He pledged again that there would be no armed American intervention in Cuba. He hedged, however, when asked at his news conference whether this meant the United States was abandoning its traditional right to go to the aid of endangered American citizens.

Rusk said that was a question he would have to leave for the future.

Nor would he predict what action the United States might take if Russia intervenes on Castro's side.

While ruling out intervention to aid the anti-Castro forces, Rusk said there was no doubt of U. S. sympathy for those fighting for freedom.

Rusk said that, on the basis of the information so far, he did not believe that what was taking place in Cuba was a "full-scale invasion."

There had been landings on the coast by anti-Castro forces, he said, and disorders were mounting in the country. But he would not characterize it as an all-out affair as yet.

Rusk dodged a number of specific questions on Cuba on the grounds that the matter was under debate in the United Nations. He did, however, reject Premier Fidel Castro's assertion that the United States was behind the landings and other attacks.

He declined to say how close his contacts had been with Jose Miro Cardona and other members of the anti-Castro council in New York.

New Jersey GOP Balloting Today

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — New Jersey Republicans go to the polls today to choose a gubernatorial candidate in a contest that pits experience on the state level against the prominence of high office in the federal government.

James P. Mitchell, the secretary of labor in the Eisenhower administration, in his first bid for elective office faces two state senators, both powers in state politics.

The outcome may indicate whether public service on the national level outweighs political office on the home front.

Mitchell, 60, is opposed by Sens. Walter H. Jones, who has spent 18 of his 48 years in the state legislature, and Wayne Dumont Jr., 46, considered the underdog in the GOP race.

Birch

a Communist Manifesto.

"Throughout all history," the Blue Book begins, "the bearer of bad news has been a most unpopular person. So I, (Welch) certainly am not seeking any garlands of opportunity at present. For I am now spending my whole life spreading bad news, every day, everywhere I can.

"But the man who is to me the most profound of all Americans, Ralph Waldo Emerson, once said that every mind must make its choice between truth and repose. It could not have both. Today you have left your choice somewhat in my hands. And I am not only bringing you truth instead of comfort, but truth which may shatter a lot of the comfort you already feel."

With this introduction began his mission.

Perhaps it is this "truth" that most disturbs critics of the society.

By Welch's figures the communists are two-thirds of the way toward their goal of world domination — using the strategy laid down by Lenin in a three - step program:

"First," Lenin is paraphrased, "We will take Eastern Europe. Next, the masses of Asia. Then we shall encircle that last bastion of capitalism, the United States of America. We shall not have to attack; it will fall like overripe fruit into our hands."

The Birch Society founder states that the Reds have accomplished all of the first step (Eastern Europe, plus three-fourths of the second (Asia), plus one-fourth of the third.

Speaking in the Blue Book, at a time when Fidel Castro's forces were still fighting in the mountains of Cuba and more than a year before Castro assumed control of the Central American country, Welch called the shot this way:

"If you have any slightest doubt that Castro is a Communist, don't. If he is successful, time will clearly reveal that he is an agent of the Kremlin," he warned.

In speaking of the political direction of the United States and of the world, the Blue Book says:

"There are many stages of welfarism, socialism, and collectivism in general, but communism is the ultimate state of them all, and they all lead inevitably in that direction."

Far from attempting to conceal its purposes and methods, the society publicly advertises its Blue Book, through newspapers and other media. The book, which sells for $2, can be obtained by writing the John Birch Society, Belmont 78, Mass.

Members themselves are expected to either read the Blue Book before becoming members or to see a film in which Welch presents in summary form, the Blue Book's principles.

John Birch is the symbol of the organization — a symbol selected by Welch because the young American Army captain epitomized the best of America and because, Welch feels, he was probably the first American casualty in World War III.

"With his death and in his death," Welch says, "the battle lines were drawn, in a struggle from which either communism or Christian-style civilization must emerge with one completely triumphant and the other completely destroyed."

John Morrison Birch was 27 years old when he was shot and bayoneted to death by a detachment of Chinese Red soldiers. Birch was leading a group of 11 men on a mission, the exact nature and purpose of which has never been revealed, according to Welch, just 10 days after the surrender of the Japanese in World War II.

Welch says he ran across the story of John Birch by accident as he was reading, in the Senate Office Bldg., "the dry typewritten pages in an unpublished report of an almost forgotten congressional committee hearing.

"Suddenly I was brought up sharp by a quotation of some words an Army captain had spoken on the day of his death eight years before."

With this beginning, Welch dug more deeply into the story of the captain.

Birch was a Christian missionary who was in China when the United States entered World War II. Born in Landaur, India, of missionary parents who returned to this country when John was 2½ years old, he received a typical American upbringing. He received his B.A. at Mercer University in Macon, Ga., then attended the Bible Baptist Seminary in Fort Worth, Texas.

Birch had volunteered for and been assigned in 1940 to missionary work in China.

On July 4, 1942, Birch officially joined Gen. Claire Chennault's forces in Chungking as a volunteer. He organized Chennault's intelligence service, rose to the rank of captain, and, Welch says, served with unsurpassable bravery and brilliance throughout the war, winning commendations by both associates and superiors.

Birch is credited with getting the then Lt. Col. James Doolittle safely into free China after Doolittle led the first American attack of World War II on Japan proper. He was also instrumental in rounding up and saving a number of the other fliers who had staged the daring attacks on Tokyo, taking off from the carrier Hornet, then crash landing their planes on the China mainland.

Welch claims the story of John Birch's death was purposely suppressed in Washington and that it took five years to "pierce the blanket of oblivion which had been so brazenly thrown over his life and death."

The Saturday Evening Post, in an editorial, said:

"Amazingly, there were in Washington responsible officials who were willing to suppress news of the murder of an American officer, apparently to prevent the American people from rising in their wrath and vetoing further appeasement of communism. Not a great deal can be said for the judgment, discretion and reliability of those responsible for suppressing the tragic and revealing story of Capt. John Birch."

Eichmann

found a way to circumvent Himmler's instruction," Hausner said.

Hausner, continuing his opening statement against the man charged with the extermination of six million Jews, took the courtroom today on a blood-soaked tour of World War II in Europe. Nation-by-nation, he made a catalogue of Eichmann's oppression of the Jews.

Hausner pictured Eichmann as a man sitting behind a desk issuing endless memorandums of destruction, urging subordinates to more cruel and severe measures in occupied Europe.

Eichmann, his head cocked slightly to the left, sat in his bullet-proof glass box and listened to the blistering words through his earphones as Hausner's Hebrew was translated into German.

No emotion, except for an occasional slight twitch at the corners of his mouth, could be detected on his face. He wrote frequent notes that were passed to his lawyers.

Two Wanted Men Caught In Nevada

Sheriff Rufe Jordany said today the two remaining Pampa men sought in connection with the Pampa area breaking and entering cases had been apprehended in Las Vegas, Nev.

The men are Darwin Malone and Jack Robertson both long time Pampa residents, alleged members of a six man ring accused of breaking and entering into a house on the O.S. Epperson Farm, eight and one-half miles east of Pampa on Feb. 25. The men also have been charged with several other burglaries in Pampa and Gray County, the sherrif said.

According to Sheriff Jorden, Malone and Robertson will be returned to Pampa to stand trial.

Garden Club Members Are Told 'To Go West'

Borrowing a bit of Horace Greeley's advice, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., says, "Go West, girls." Just another way of inviting garden club members throughout the State to attend the 33rd annual convention in Odesa, April 25 through 27, with headquarters at the Lincoln Hotel.

Mrs. O. R. Littel, convention chairman, and Mrs. Garland Basham, co-chairman, both of Odessa, though the theme "Kaleidoscope of the West," promise a changing western picture to those in attendance. Specifically, the convention programs will present the changing pattern in irises.

Immediately after the state board meeting on Tuesday, April 25, a chuck wagon get-acquainted supper will be held in Floyd Gwin Park. Garden clubbers will get their first change — into patio attire —for this event. The typical western affair will tell the visitors the "Cattleman's Impression of Iris." Western background music will be played — or can you have a background of western music? It may just be way out front!

Registration and business sessions will follow the two breakfasts scheduled for Wedneday, April 26. One breakfast will be held for those interested in garden therapy with Mrs. Dorothy Denn as speaker. At the Junior Breakfast, where awards won by sponsored junior garden clubs will be presented, Mrs. A. P. Shirey of Midland will speak on "Know Your Awards."

Wednesday's luncheon, honoring national and state officers, will tell the story of the "Farmer's Impression of Iris." The principal speaker will be Mrs. George L. Doolittle of Albuquerque, N.M., who is director of Pacific Southwest District of American Rose Society. Her subject will be "Roses and Iris in Landscape Design." Mrs. Doolittle is an author of note, having compiled and published material on the advancement of gardening in the Southwest. She has written many articles on gardening, and for some years wrote the section on "Arid Southwest" for the American Rose Society Magazine.

A tea and tour of Odessa gardens is slated for Wednesday afternoon, followed by the banquet with its theme of "The Oilman, His Impression of the Iris."

Don Johnson, instructor in landscape design at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, will present the program, "Let's Arrange Flowers," that evening.

On Thursday the National Judges breakfast will start the day, with additional business sessions following.

Luncheon, honoring the governors of Texas Garden Clubs will be at the Odessa County club. Mrs. Guy Rogers, well known iris hybridizer of Wichita Falls is to be the speaker. Her subject will be "Iris Around the World."

A highlight of the afternoon will be when Mrs. Frank G. Harmon of Dallas, president of Texas Garden Clubs, presents the Sears Roebuck Company awards for Landscape Improvement Projects undertaken by clubs. This is a first-time event for TGC.

Thursday afternoon a tour of pioneer Rimrock City will be made. The awards banquet, with Mrs. Robert H. Dooley of Dallas, state awards chairman presiding, that evening will culminate the convention proper. There is a post convention tour of the Big Bend Country.

Installation of officers by Mrs. Harmon will follow the awards presentations and immediately thereafter a reception will be held at the Odessa Athletic Club honoring Mrs. Chester B. Kilpatrick of San Antonio, the new president, and other incoming officers.

Mormons Carry Baseball Bats And Bibles On British Mission

LONDON (NEA) — It's called the Mormon Invasion here. Not since John Wesley traveled 250,000 miles on horseback to spread Methodism in the 18th Century has Britain seen anything quite like it.

Nearly every liner that docks at Southampton and every plane that arrives at London airport from the States have quotas of bright-eyed Mormon missionaries, most of them barely out of their teens.

They come to Britain armed with baseball bats, catchers' gloves and Bibles, and the zeal of their forefathers who trekked to Utah in prairie schooners.

They ring doorbells or push religious tracts under the doors in the ugly industrial Midlands towns.

They cycle down that narrow, cobbled streets of Welsh mining villages.

Teyh climb musty attics or invade crumbling churches to microfilm parish registers containing the names of their British ancestors. (The Mormons believe in vicarious baptism — "baptism of the worthy dead," as they call it—of those who died prior to 1830, before the word of the church's founder, Prophet Joseph Smith, was spread.

And, above all, they introduce American sports.

John Wesley is said to have preached 40,000 Methodist sermons in his lifetime; today's Mormon missionaries find that they make more recruits by simply taking a baseball and bat into the nearest park or playing field. In no time at all, they have a crowd of British kids around them who prove equally receptive to the Bible and the mysteries of the swat.

Thanks to this combination, the Mormon Invasion is getting results. In the past two years this Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints, has nearly doubled its membership here to 20,000.

In the next three years the Mormons will build 50 new chapels in the British Isles at a total cost of $30 million.

First of these new chapels, the million dollar Hyde Park Chapel, was opened in the heart of London last month. A functionally modern building, it boasts a 90-foot tower, with a 40-fot golden spire; it also has one of the best pipe organs in London.

Typical of the young Mormon missionaries now operating in Britain is May Ann Clyde, 23, daughter of the governor of Utah, who arrived here in January for an 18-month tour of duty. Her first assignment: Basingstone (population 15,978) in Hampshire.

Miss Clyde, an attractive, blue-eyed university graduate said the Mormons find Britain such a fertile field for conversion "because we are so youthful in our outlook. Young people find that our church is not just a place to go to on Sunday, but a whole way of life.

"We offer them a sports program, classes in drama, choral singing, dancing, as well as Bible lessons. In the Mormon church everyone participates."

The Mormons made their first converts in Britain in 1837, so why did the mother church wait for 124 years before making the big recruiting drive in Britain?

T. Bowring Woodbury, a Kansas investment banker serving as nonpaid mission president here, says:

"First of all, you must realize that 80 per cent of American Mormons are of British descent. Secondly, the opening of a British Mormon Temple in Lingfield, Surrey, in 1958, marked the beginning a new era here. Until that time British Mormons had to journey to the Temples in America in order to take part in various religious ceremonies. Now we encourage them to remain at home and to build up congregations in their own communities."

Finch, Tregoff Start Serving Life Sentences

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dr. R. Bernard Finch and Carole Tregoff started serving life imprisonment sentences today for the 1959 murder of the once wealthy surgeon's wife.

The lovers were formally sentenced Monday.

Finch, 43, was ordered by Superior Judge David Coleman to be confined at the California Institute for Men at Chino and Miss Tregoff, 24, was sent to the Women's Prison at Corona. Finch may be transferred to San Quentin later.

A motion for a new trial was denied.

The lawyers for Finch and Miss Tregoff plan to appeal the decision against a new trial.

Ruling Upholding Union Hiring Hall Hailed By Labor

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor leaders today gleefully hailed a series of Supreme Court decisions permitting union hiring halls and otherwise strengthening union security.

Gerhard P. Van Arkel of Washington, general counsel of the International Typographical Union (AFL-CIO), said: "These decisions knock out much of the guff of the EEisenhower-appointed National Labor Relations Board. They will give the new board members a clean slate to write on."

Hiring halls serve as a pool of labor for employers who for years have looked to unions to supply workers. They are historic in the maritime industry and the building trades. They also are common in the trucking industry and in spots like newspaper mailrooms where casual workers are hired for a day.

For years, the NLRB has been insisting that the hiring hall system is illegal unless workers who are not union members are protected by iron-clad guarantees against discrimination.

The Supreme Court's opinions, written by Justice William O. Douglas, said the hiring hall was a matter between the union and the employer and could not be restricted by the NLRB under present law.

Eight Anti-Castro Men Are Executed

MIAMI (UPI)— Havana Radio announced early today that eight anti-Castro men were executed by firing squads last midnight for alleged terrorist activities.

The identities of the executed men were not given immediately.

Understanding The Ruble

We thought we knew something about the Russian ruble, but after we read an article by Robert V. Jones, economist, sent out by the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy, we learned a great deal more about the ruble and how it enslaves mankind.

The author pointed out how the ruble fools the people in America. When Russia makes a grant to Egypt or to India of a reported 100 million dollars, people who do not understand the ruble think the Russians are doing something that the United States ought to try to match. Then Mr. Jones goes on to explain what it really means.

In the first place, he points out that the grant is made on the basis that the ruble is one-fourth of the value of a dollar, while in reality the ruble sells on the free market for about one-thirtieth of a dollar, if it can be sold at all. It is true that the Russian government will exchange a dollar for ten rubles for sightseers. That makes them think that maybe the ruble is worth one-tenth of a dollar.

Of course, these grants in rubes are not transferable into gold and grants, so - called, that are made can be spent only in Russia and at prices arbitrarily set by the Russian government. The rubles cannot be spent in other places, as the dollar can be spent when the United States makes a grant.

The author explains that bread and clothing and things like that sell at very high prices measured in hours of labor of the Russian worker. What is bought is very expensive in rubles, much more than the actual cost. And they have to do this because that's the only way Russia can get income. Then the government can give other services, like schooling and medicine, without direct cost. But of course, the consumer of food, clothing and shelter pays for the so - called free service by higher price in the things he buys, just as the people in the United States are paying for the welfare state by higher prices on everything else they buy.

So the next time you read about Russia making a grant of 100 million dollars, remember it is figured in rubles at four for a dollar and that the rubles can only be spent in Russia at prices fixed by the Russian government. The gift is probably not over, in true value, 100 thousand dollars.

This article was reprinted from "Modern Age" for the Winter, 1960-61.

Would that more and more people understood what the ruble means. If they would understand how rubles, that are not convertible in gold, really mean the complete government planning of the lives of the individuals, then they'd better understand the necessity of keeping the dollar so that is can be exchanged for gold. Of course, the dollar cannot be exchanged for gold by American citizens, but the dollar that is in the hands of the foreigners can be exchanged for gold. But the way the gold is being drawn from the country, it will only be a question of time, if this rate continues, that we'll be in the same place as Russia as far as our money is concerned. Then we'll not be able to buy anything if our dollar becomes as worthless as the ruble and the government steps in and fixed prices and wages.

We have already been fixing wages and some prices, which is a form of socialism. And the trend will continue unless more people begin to understand that we must have a single standard of rightness rather than a political standard of rightness, which is different from the standard of rightness of each and every individual.

World Government Again

The belief that governments can solve the very problems they create continues to grow.

Latest evidence of this belief is a series of mailing pieces emanating from Denver and put out by a group calling itself: "Committee for a World Constitutional Convention."

Dr. Malick of the University of Colorado is apparently a sort of faculty adviser to the movement which contains several students presumably attending the university.

A number of direct quotations taken from these mailing pieces tell the story.

"We are students working for peace— we invite you to join us . . .He (Dr. Malick) indicated that your interest is not subject to the shallowness which seems symptomatic of students in the United States."

"It is important that we begin laying plans for a strong fall program at Colorado University. . ."

From past history, we know that the problem of world peace cannot be solved by treaties among independent nations, negotiations among heads of states, or even by leagues of nations lacking power to make and enforce world law. We are convinced that the time has come to establish a federal world government, democratic in structure, with powers adequate to supervise disarmament and make and enforce world laws relating to those problems which now lead to international tensions and conflicts."

It is instructive to note at this juncture that whereas the World Federalists have correctly despaired of bringing world peace into reality by means of treaties, negotiations or leagues, they still fancy they can do so by means of a government, if only the government is strong enough. They picture world government with some envorcement agency within that government strong enough to set aside the armies and navies and air forces of any and all national governments.

The size and strength of this armed force showed at once strike the intelligent reader with apprehension if not outright fear. If a government is ever formed which is powerful enough to put down any combination of other governments, how powerful would it have to be?

And what would the ordinary taxpayers of this nation do when they find themselves oppressed and mastered by such an overwhelming force as this?

What is, we feel, even more to the point, is the list of distinguished names affixed to an "agreement" which is among the items included in the mailing kit.

Among those who are listed as exponents of world government are such individuals as Dr. Linus Pauling, the Cal Tech chemist who advocates "peace" and disarmement on nearly any occasion, and former Gov. Culbert L. Olson of California, the Rev. Arthur Miller, moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, Mark Van Doren, the Connecticut writer, and quite a number of other people including ministers, businessmen, politicians and union brass.

There is enclosed a copy of a "Three Year Plan" which calls for a world convention of all nations and people to be held in the fall of 1962 or sooner.

While it is certainly true that world peace is a desirable goal, we cannot be among those who optimistically imagine that world peace can be brought into existence via legislative efforts. And the move to set up a world government which would seek to prevent war by means of laws is clearly of that stripe.

The unfortunate result of efforts such as this, if successful would be to create world slavery in place of nationalized slavery under excessive governmental duress.

Moves such as this are always dangerous. They are dangerous in two ways. They seek to enlarge government and would result in larger controls and more oppression against people. They frequently engender a reaction which serves to enlarge given governments as they strive to offset the peril they face at the hands of world government potentialities. Either move is wrong.

To have a world peace, we must first have a world of freedom. Steps taken which deprive individuals of freedom do not provide peace. They may provide slavery.

It is time the promoters if stunts such as this realize that a mere lack of war is not necessarily a world at peace. It could be a world so sadly enslaved and so totally regimented that death would be preferable to existence in it.

William McKinley was the last Civil War veteran to become president of the United States. He was in the army at the age of 18.

Looking Sideways

NEW YORK — Through the long centuries since man first achieved the ability to reason and raised his eyes to the mystery of the heavens, one of the things that has perplexed him and occupied much of his thinking was whether life, life in moving, procreative form, existed elsewhere in the universe. There is, for the first time, apparent proof that it does.

It is, actually, the second time in recent days, but some formidable scientific skepticism has clouded the first claim. The second one seems to have more validity. Briefly: in 1950 in Kentucky a meteor fell and enough fragments were recovered to furnish laboratories with pieces fit for dissection and examination. The National Health Institute received some of these fragments, broke them open and found inside living creatures. These living creatures were infinitesimally small and not even provably living until a culture medium was devised, they were placed in it and were seen to multiply. This proved them live and cultivatable. The creatures have no name, are shaped like twisted rods and range from eight to sixteen-millionths of an inch long. But they do reproduce in a culture and therefore are to be called alive and obviously extra-terrestrial since they came from inside a meteor fragment after it was split open.

On March 16 last, the first claim came from Fordham University scientists and an associate team. These said they had found waxy compounds like those appearing in terrestrial butter inside an opened meteor fragment which had fallen near a village in France in 1864. Promptly, Dr. Harold C. Urey of the University of California declared this, in somewhat more polite language, to be scientific nonsense. . .he said the fragments were almost 100 years old, they were porous, and could have been contaminated by earth matter in that time. When he heard of the new discoveries and the cultivation of life form in a culture medium, he said he was also skeptical but added that it is something quite different when one finds living particles that can be cultivated in a laboratory. He did not specify why he was skeptical and perhaps was only, in this second case, pursuing the normal course of a good scientist who always doubts first in order to certify last. He also said the new findings were not only interesting in themselves but came from "an interesting source." This means he approved the scientific team that developed the little colony of creatures.

Not being a scientist, I cannot take learned part in any of this, but it seems to me that if the hard, burned, charred, fluxed surface of a meteor fragment is totally sterilized and cleansed of earth contamination, and that fragment then is split open to its core and reveals creatures that yield to cultivation, the proof of a life form from outer space is evident. Naturally, great precautions were taken to insure pure findings. In this the team had the help and advice of Dr. Frederick Sisler, who is not only an oceanographer but who has passed 15 or more years in extracting bacteria and other micro-organisms from ancient rocks. For the last six years he has himself worked on a search for extraterrestrial life forms in meteorites.

For the layman's purpose, it can therefore be said that life from outer space has been pinned down on this earth and the average layman will accept that. Most people, scientists or not, take the end view that it isn't mathematically possible for this tiny planet to be the only seat of life in the universe. Our one galaxy, which is only one of thousands of galaxies, has certainly two billion suns, perhaps as many as six billion. It is reasonable to think that most suns have at least three planets. We have nine. Taking the lowest figure, two billion, at three planets each, you face a multitude of six billion planets in just our own galaxy. It is simply not to be believed that of six billion planets our minescule little cinder spinning in space is the chosen single one with life on it. Life of some kind, that is.

Let us welcome to our earth the little creatures 16-millionths of an inch long who endured and survived the long, arduous trip from — somewhere.

"As Long As They're Talking—"

Allen - Scott Report:

Rep. Miller Now Slated As Next Chairman Of GOP National Committee, Following Nixon OK

ROBERT S. ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Representative William Miller is due to be the next chairman of the Republican National Committee.

The young, able New Yorker has the prize just about sewed up — thanks to former Vice President Nixon. He has swung the pendulum to Miller by giving him his blessing.

Previously, Miller had won the backing of Governor Nelson Rockefeller and Senator Barry Goldwater, Ariz. Nixon's approval gives Miller a decisive edge in the Executive Committee of the National Committee over the two other leading aspirants — former Postmaster General Summerfield and Ohio Chairman Ray Bliss.

As a result, Miller will be formally recommended for the chairmanship when the Executive Committee meets in Washington late this week.

This Executive Committee endorsement is virtually certain to be ratified by the National Committee when it convenes in the Capital June 1 to elect a successor to retiring Chairman Thruston Morton.

Miller was not the first choice of either Nixon or Morton.

Nixon favored replacing Morton with two co-chairmen. His choices were Bliss and Miller. That was also urged by Senator Hugh Scott, Pa., one-time National Chairman and close Nixon adviser in last year's campaign.

But Governor RGockefeller and Senator Goldwater vigorously objected on the ground a dual chairmanship would be "weak and ineffectual."

In the face of this potent opposition, Nixon agreed to Miller's selection.

Morton was against Miller because he is a member of Congress. Morton, who is also Senator from Kentucky, held the National Chairmanship is a full-time job and should be filled by someone who can give all his efforts to it.

But with Nixon, Goldwater and Rockefeller swinging to Miller, Morton is going along with them.

If named National Chairman, Miller will quit as head of the House Republican Campaign Committe. He is also intimating he may not run for Congress again in order to concentrate wholly on the National Chairmanship.

"I will undertake the most vigorous organizing drive in the recent history of our party," Miller is saying. "I am firmly convinced we can capture control of both the House and Senate next year if we develop a strong nationwide organizational basis for that."

Leading contenders for his chairmanship of the House GOP Campaign Committee are Representatives William McCulloch, O., Melvin Laird, Wis., and John Byrnes, Wis. Friends of Byrness claim he is favored by House Leader Charles Halleck, Ind.

SIZING HIM UP — Former Vice President Nixon is telling one time congressional colleagues he has pretty well decided what he will say about the Kennedy Administration in the series of speeches he plans to make starting next month.

"I intend to measure the political sincerity of the Kennedy Administration," Niron told a Republican senator, "by citing the differences in the President's words and deeds and the Democratic platform on which he was elected and which he pledged to fulfill. These differences are many and glaring."

Nixon is also saying he will stress that unless Congress sharply modifies Kennedy's proposal in agriculture, housing, education and medical care, government spending and controls will appreciably increase with resulting big budget deficits, higher taxes, increased prices and "less freedom of opportunity."

On foreign policy, the 1960 presidential candidate is less specific.

"I am going to play that by ear," he explains.

POLITICALS — Governor Rockefeller has "tentatively" agreed to address the state convention of the New Mexico Young Republicans Albuquerque July 14-16. Senator John Sherman Cooper, Ky., also will speak. . .Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen, Ill., and House Leader Charles Halleck, Ind. have decided to include prominent guests on their weekly television program. Among the notables they plan to invite are former President Eisenhower, former Vice President Nixon, and Republican governors throughout the country. . .Senator Thruston Morton, who is quitting as National Chairman in June to prepare for his re-election campaign next year, is telling colleagues he expects to be opposed by Democratic Lieutenant Governor Wilson Wyatt. Morton is saying he has been "reliably informed" former Governor "Happy" Chandler will run for that office again and not seek to return to the Senate, which he quit to become Baseball Commissioner.

The American Way

BOYS MEN'S ERRANS

Just as we were about to pen a few words of criticism regarding President Kennedy's plan to launch a "Peace Corps," comes a copy of a letter that completely concides with our thinking.

This letter was written on March 9, 1961, to the Editor of the Tulsa (Okla.) Tribune by Mr. A. Arutunoff, President of the Reda Pump Corp. of Tulsa. His letter packs a punch — it's short, so we quote it in full:

"President Kennedy has announced the formation of his 'Peace Corps' and has asked Congress for legislation to organize the Corps on a permanent basis under the supervision of the State Department.

"For the task at hand, we need the 'Peace Corps' as a dog needs fleas. To stop losing the Cold War and to start winning it, we need a plan of action such as People to People, Mass Exchange of Youth Plan (MEP), and not the Kremlin sponsored 'Cultural Exchanges,' and now, not the Kennedy sponsored Babes-in-the-woods Peace Corps".

We would like to add our two cents' worth to Mr. Arutunoff's terse comment. We have the greatest respect and admiration for today's American youth. But we do believe that for the important assignments envisioned in President Kennedy's "Peace Corps," the experience which youth lacks is a must. Let's not be sending boys on men's errands.

Accidents in the U.S. take more than 42,000 lives among men between the ages of 15 and 64 each year.

Everybody's Money

By MERYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

The dramatic rise in average stock prices since the slump culminated last October points up the need for a mature, long - term investment policy.

If builders of financial independence will buy only when it is popular to do so during the excitement of bull markets, they pay a needlessly heavy penalty for conformity in going along with the crowd.

The function of the analyst is to detect values and he and his clients should have enough confidence in his studies to buy at advantageous times of transition when the speculative mood of pessimism creates market bargains.

As a young journalist on a summer job while still a university student, I had Mondays off. Thus I learned that the customer at Coney Island does better in comfort and service during the lull on Mondays than on crowded Sundays. If possible, it is desirable to plan your life to keep off subways and other modes of public transportation at the peak morning and evening hours.

The commercial air lines some years ago observed that there was a tendency to bunch travel demand at weekends. In order to even out demand through the week, they inaugurated the family plan, whereby a husband on a business trip could take along his wife and minor children at reduced fares on lighter traffic days.

But some persons are herd-minded, and are psychologically unfitted to buck the trend.

Wall Street is the only place where mark-ups stimulate buying more than mark-downs. On the other hand, in department stores, when prices on standard merchandise are reduced, there is usually a broadening of sales volume. But in the security markets nothing seems to whet the buying appetite as much as the spectacle of rising prices.

But except for pshychology and short-term factors, the premier stocks and even the glamour issues were intrinsically the same last October as they are today.

It's true that in October the outcome of the election was uncertains, and business was undergoing a short-term recession. But even under the existing uncertainties in October, it was a fair assumption that the strong corporations would survive the election and the recession.

Despite the remark of President Kennedy in his State of the Union message that the national economy was in trouble, the market, since October, has been discounting the current bottoming out of the recession. Some of the Monday morning quarterbacks in Wall Street also ascribe the upswing to a good reaction to the administration's effort to put America "on the move." A non-political appraisal would also give weight to the motive of stock buying as an inflation hedge in light of the administration announcement of forthcoming substantial deficits in the federal budget in the next two fiscal years. The propposed additional spending for "welfare" projects, on top of enlarged military outlays, revives the view that equities — stocks and things — may be a better protection for the future than fixed dollar investments (high-grade bonds).

Be that as it may, Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, rendered a public service last week in undertaking to calm down the speculative excitement.

Mr. Funston gave a warning against the indiscriminate emotional inclination to exchange dollars for pieces of paper (certificates) without knowledge as to what assets and earning power stood behind them.

Reckless investment practices, growing out of wishful thinking, have led to immediate premiums on new issues of untried and untested companies, especially if they were tagged scientific electronic or photographic.

A little analytical discrimination on the way up militates against unduly great trouble in ultimate corrective movements marketwise.

The vast swings in prices from October to April constitute a potent argument for regular, systematic investment habits. One way to avoid being victimized by the ups and downs of collective optimism is the technique of dollar averaging, whereby the investor periodically — monthly, quarterly or annually — deposits the same number of dollars in precisely the same standard securities.

While politicians decry "boom and bust," undisciplined persons contribute to instability by successively waxing hot or cold concerning the long-term future of the American profit-and-loss system.

If President Kennedy is to collect in taxes the funds he needs to finance his program and if he is to make good on his promuse to accelerate economic growth, then logic points to the need of fostering business prosperity rather than hamstringing it. This premise is one that has appealed to stock buyers.

Nobody can quarrel with Mr. Funston's counsel that investors should have well - defined objectives and should select securities designed to meet such goals. Investors should measure the risks as well as the rewards in apraising securities, and should have the perspective to recognize that the stock market is not a oneway street.

(Mr. Ruckeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with stamped, self-addressed envelopes should be sent in care of this newspaper. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Italians No Like Our Villians On TV

By HENRY McLEMORE

NAPLES, Italy — Not having met so much as one thug since I have been in Italy, I am wholly in sympathy with the Italians' objection to the TV portrayal of their countrymen as assassins, hijackers, rum-runners, and banditti in general.

But the objection does pose a problem. When the police records show that a Giuseppe or a Rocco was the mischief maker, would it be entirely sporting to pin the wrong on, say, a Polynesian, a Tibetan, a Turk, or a Greek? These, too, are very sensitive peoples, and undoubtedly would raise an outcry at the injustice.

How then, still to have villains in TV serials and plays without hurting anyone's feelings? It's a question worthy to be put to a Delphic oracle, and on my next trip to Greece I am going to do just that.

In the meantime, I'll pinch hit for the oracle and offer this solution:

Create a mythical race, just for TV, and have members of it guilty of all crimes. All the rest of the races would be as free from crime as a lamb in spring.

What would be a good name for this non-existent country and its people? What about Kubeb for the land, and Kubebs for the inhabitants? To be sure that no country would be offended, the Kubebs, both in manner and dress, could be a composite of ALL the races.

Kubebs would always be shown wearing a monocle (English), leather trousers (German), smoking a clay pipe (Irish), eating a massive sweet (Turkish), kissing one another (French), bowing (Japanese), and riding in a mile-long car with fins (American).

Also, Kubebs, when they went about their crimes, would now and then pound something with the heels of their shoes (Russian), eat a mixture of rice and macaroni (Chinese and Italian), and stop every now and then to place a bet (Australian).

No one could possibly object to a Kubeb's actions. The names of the Kubebs would be carefully chosen, again so as not to make anyone mad. They would have hyphenated names embracing half the globe.

A gang chieftain, when ready to rub out the opposition on the other side of town, would summon his torpedo men thusly:

"Okay, Algernon - Fritz - Joe-Pierre, you handle the shotgun and you, Mustafa - Nicolai - Rocco-Sandy stay at the wheel of the getaway car. When the job is done, all of you meet at the abandoned house that is a combination villa-bungalow - skyscraper - ranch house - temple-grass shack - chalet and hacienda."

This mixed architectural style would prevent anyone from identifying Kubebs with a real country.

To further cloak the identity of the Kubebs they would speak Esperanto, brew an illegal alcholic drink called "Kufa," a mixture of bourbon, Scotch, vermouth, gin, sake, kava, and Tokay.

The Kubebs, I believe, would settle the problem. For a while, anyway. Of course, before too long some man, or group of men, would claim to be gunuine Kubebs and set up a holler, threaten court action, and vow never again to use a drop of the glue made by the glue company sponsoring the Kubeb program.

The Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Tuesday, April 18, the 108th day of the year with 257 more to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Saturn and Jupiter.

The evening star is Mars.

On this day in history:

In 1775, Paul Revere took his famous midnight ride to alert sleeping Americans with his message, "The British are coming!"

In 1906, San Francisco was struck by an earthquake, the worst quake ever to hit the United States.

In 1945, Ernie Pyle, American war correspondent, was killed by a bullet from a Japanese machine gun in World War II.

In 1959, President Eisenhower named Christian Herter as Secretary of State.

A thought for today: British philosopher Bertrand Russell said, "It is preoccupation with possession, more than anything else, that prevents men from living freely and nobly."

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Generalissimo Francisco Franco is about to complete the long, hard road back to international respectability.

This will have been achieved when British Foreign Secretary Lord Home pays an official call on Franco in Madrid next month. It will be the first time in Franco's 22 years of power that a British official of Home's rank has visited Spain.

It follows a pattern set by French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, President Eisenhower, John Foster Dulles and West German Foreign minister Heinrich von Brentano.

For Franco it is the end of an international guarantine dating from his joining the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo axis shortly before the beginning of World War II.

Neither the United States nor its European allies have forgotten the fanfare with which Franco greeted a triumphant Hitler after Nazi armies overran France in the fall of 1940. Nor his outspoken hope that the Axis powers would win.

Nor, no doubt, has Franco forgotten the repeated Allied snubs after the war, the fact that he was barred specifically from United Nations and from receiving Marshall plan aid.

But although neither side has forgotten, time brings changes.

As Russia and its former allies became cold war enemies, Spain's strategic position overlooking both the Atlantic and the Mediterranean became of paramount importance.

Political objections, once enough to touch off anti-Franco demonstrations in the streets of Paris and London, receded in the face of the new danger.

In 1953, the United States and Spain signed agreements providing for U. S. construction and use of air and naval bases in exchange for U. S. economic and military assistance to Spain.

That aid to Spain now totals more than $1 billion.

In 1955, Spain joined the United Nations.

Britain and France, once bitterly opposed to Franco Spain's membership in NATO, now travel to Madrid to discuss Western defenses with Franco.

Another important visitor soon will be Germany's financial expert, Ludwig Erhard. From this may come Spain's integration in the European Common market—another step toward respectability.

Baptist Youths Pledge Support Of Integregation

WACO (UPI)— Some 800 Baptist students representing 55 Texas colleges and universities Sunday adopted a five-point resolution condemning racial prejudice and pledging support of school integration.

The resolution was adopted by the annual statewide Baptist Student Union planning Conference with two dissenting votes. However, several delegates abstained from voting.

The students did not mention specific areas or schools for integration, and said the resolution was to let school officials know their attitude about race problems.

"We are not here to make a rabble - rousing statement and shock the world," said BSU executive committee president Dick Hester of Baylor University. "We are just expressing our convictions."

The resolution was believed to be the first stand ever taken on the racial issue by any Baptist group in the United States.

Negro Requests Place On Ballot In Senate Race

BEAUMONT (UPI)— A Beaumont Negro minister who claims the U. S. post office did him out of a chance to run in the special U. S. Senate race April 4 said yesterday he has appealed to Gov. Price Daniel for a place on the ballot for the May 27 runoff.

The Rev. M. T. Banks said he sent a Western Union nightletter to Daniel containing the request, but has received no reply.

"On April 4 I was denied a place on the ballot for a cause beyond my control," the message said.

"The assistant postmaster here in a letter to me said my letter to the secretary of state was post dated here in Beaumont April 3, and arrived in Austin at 5 a. m. April 4, early enough for the morning delivery of mail, but failed to have a special deliver (sic) stamp or endorsement on the letter which I paid for in Beaumont.

"This letter was not received by the secretary of state until April 6.

"I am obliged to ask you to please place my name on the ballot along with (Republican candidate John) Tower and (interim U. S. Sen. Wiliam) Blakley. I will be grateful to you.

"In Beaumont about three years ago in a mayor and council primary election a candidate did not have the money to pay the high filing fee, but in the general election he asked the mayor to place his name on the ballot, the mayor granted his appeal by placing his name on the ballot.

"I am looking to hear from you soon, I am the last liberal Democrat survival (sic)."

Science Program Employs Many Gadgets To Illustrate Lessons

NEW YORK (UPI) — Don Herbert hefted a ping-pong ball. He fingered an array of colored plastic balls, half-inch to BB size.

He pulled out a drawer labeled "misc. misc." (meaning "miscellqwneous miscellany," which is about as highly various as you can get). He drew there-from a suction cup, paper skeletons, a rubber face mask horrible to gaze upon — then dropped them back.

"Ping-pong balls are great molecules and atoms; they bounce around very well; in the atomic energy field they're a big help," said the man who has rounded out 10 years on NBC-TV as "Mr. Wizard."

"In outer space, centrifugal force is a great help—waster in a length to show how a satellite stays up. And of course we've got all shapes and sizes of baloons And rubber bands—they make good motors.

"This big room is our combination workshop and rehearsal place. We build things special for each program. We've got stored here just about all the things that could conceivably be found around anybody's houe. Thoe pie tins are used as clutches. Chewing gum wrappers help explain static electricity. Moth balls dance to show the effects of carbon dioxide. A potato plunger demonstrates air pressure."

Using everyday articles, Herbert through the decade as the teacher of things scientific on his Saturday "Watch Mr. Wizard" show has pulled off 5,400 experiments. Although the show is aimed at the 11-14 age bracket—and mothers have written ha even children 6 and 7 wach — he and his staff feel about half the audience is adult.

"Why? Many adults feel they've never known about science and want to catch up with it, and some know science but want to be brought up to date. The ideas we include are no necessarily childlike—they are essentially adult. I find people sometims are apologetic; they'll say: 'Well, I wach it —I learn a lot from that show'."

"W've investigated many engineering fields—how to build a bridge, how your telephone works. We've even tackled semantics, and that's the toughest program I've ever done although mathematics is tough, too. I ried for four years in seccession to put on a semantics show, and each time gave up — it was so hard to make visual the idea of what words mean and how you can be sure what they are. We made it the fifth try."

"Mee Mr. Wizrd" goes live every Saturday to 80 stations on the network, and about 10 more take a kinescope of it. Herbert always has a bright child on with him, a boy one Saturday and a girl the next. His current team are Douglas Lane, 14, and Irene Strom, 11. He has used up nine boys and four girls during the 10 years. The kids ask quetions and sometimes take part in an experiment.

"We renearse Friday morning," Herbert said. "The kids don't know what they're walking into. If they know the answer, they tell me. If they don't, they don' know it on the air. They ad lib their way in rehearsal and ad lib on the air. But we keep them on their toes all the time; they've to o hink all he time.

Herbert ad libs his way, too, working from a guiding ouline working from a guiding outline before both as an actor and a writer, having always been interested in the theater. He got degrees from LaCrosse (Wisc.) State Teachers College in general science and English.

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Uniformed Firemen's Association has named Edward V. McCarthy of United Press International winner of its annual award for the best feature story on firemen. Hearing Denied Convicted Killer By High Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Supreme Court yesterday for the second time denied a hearing to Howard B. Stickney, sentenced to death for the murder of Mrs. Shirley Elaine Barnes of Houston, Tex., in 1958.

The brief order again leaves Texas free to carry out the execution. An earlier appeal was turned down by the high court last May.

Stickney's attorney, O. John Rogge of New York, argued that the conviction had been based on a coerced confession.

Stickney is a former laboratory technician for the Texas Highway Department. He was arrested in Canada.

The confession stated that Stickney murdered both Mrs. Barnes and her husband at West Beach, on Galveston Island. He later brought the body of Mrs. Barnes back to her Houston apartment, where it was found on May 27, 1958.

Her husband's body was found in a wooded area in Fort Bend county, near Sugar Land, Tex.

Wildcatters Keep Up Ratio Of Successes

AUSTIN (UPI) — Wildcatters kept their success ratio above last year's by bringing in five oil and 19 gas wells the past week, the state Railroad Comission said today.

The completions brought the wildcat total for the year to 156 oil and 80 gas wells compared with 109 and 30, respectively, to the same time last year. Dusters for the past week totaled 64, bringing the year's total so far to 889 compared with 870 for the same period of 1960.

Regular oil well completions for the week totaled 196, including 20 duals and three triples, one quintuple and one sextuple.

Ike Comments On Space Feat

CHICAGO (UP.)—Former Pres-ideten Dwight D. Eisenhower said Sunday the successful Soviet man-in-space shot resulted from concentration on the spectacular, and "we can afford to congratulate them."

Eisenhower, en route by train to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm, said it would be "wrong and dangerous for us to look only at this one feat and judge from that. The United States in a relatively very short time has come a long way in space exploration and missiles"

THE LOOKOUT

PHS Hosts Sandie '9' Here Today

Pampa and Amarillo, two clubs who have already removed themselves from the District 3-4A baseball title picture, met at 4 p.m. today at Harvester Park to wind up the Harvester's five-game homestand.

The Harvesters were looking for their first win since April 4 when PHS downed Palo Duro, 3-1. Since then, Pampa has fallen four straight times to fall into sixth place with a 2-5 record.

The Sandies are in seventh place (2-6) after losing a weekend pair to Lubbock, 11-7, and Monterey, 4-2 in eight innings.

Either Mike Clark (2-2) or Jerry Glover (2-3) received the starting call today in an attempt to halt the Pampa skid towards the bottom. Clark fanned 13 men in Saturday's Tascosa game, but lost 3-1 as Pampa fielding lapses and light hitting led to his downfall.

In other games today, Borger (4-1) goes to Palo Duro (1-6), Monterey (7-0) takes its district lead to Tascosa (3-3) and Lubbock (7-2) hikes to Plainvicew (3-5).

Grand Slammer Nips LA; Yanks Triumph

By NORMAN MILLER
United Press International

For the benefit of those who thought the St. Louis Cardinals' 1960 third-place finish was a fluke, manager Solly Hemus' boys are showing off some power that indicates this year they're seriously shooting to go even higher.

Shortstop Daryl Spencer topped off a three-homer outburst Monday night with a grand slam blast that gave the Cards a 9-5 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers. Joe Cunningham and Don Taussig also hit St. Louis homers.

Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees and comeback-bound Gary Geiger of the Boston Red Sox also hit important homers in Monday's abbreviated major league schedule.

Mantle's homer, with a man on base, was his first hit of the year and helped the Yankees gain a 3-0 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

Geiger, out for the last half of last season because of a collapsed lung, hit a seventh-inning homer that proved to be the deciding run in the Red Sox' 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Angels.

Duke Snider hit a two-run homer in a losing cause but it enabled the 34-year-old Dodger outfielder to reach a significant milestone. This was the 370th homer of Snider's career and placed him seventh on baseball's all-time homer-hitting list.

The Cards were one of the big surprises of last season when they wound up in third place. This season the consensus picked the Cards to finish fourth, but their early-season showing hints they could be a serious pennant threat.

Cunningham, whose batting average slipped to .280 last season after a .345 mark in 1959, collected a homer, double and two singles Monday night. Spencer hit his grand slam — the third of his career — in the ninth inning off reliever Larry Sherry. Spencer also drove in a run with a single.

Bob Miller, who took over the St. Louis pitching after starter Bob Gibson was knocked out in the seventh, was the winner, through he needed help from Mickey McDermott in the ninth. McDermott retired Wally Moon for the final out with the bases loaded.

The victory moved the Cards into a first-place tie with the idle San Francisco Giants. The Cards-Dodgers game was the only one played in the National League.

In the American League, Mantle's homer and Whitey Ford's three-hit pitching sent the Yankees on to victory over the A's. Mantle also had two singles and a walk. He also drove in the Yankees' third run. Ford struck out eight and did not permit a runner to get past second base.

Jerry Walker, usually Mantle's nemesis when he pitched for the Baltimore Orioles, yielded the three Yankee runs during the seven innings he worked.

Jackie Jnsen's single, a bases-loaded walk and Geiger's homer supplied the Red Sox with their three runs against the Angels. Mike Fornieles, who last season set an AL record of 70 relief appearances, came to the rescue of starter Tom Brewer in the seventh when Ted Kluszewski and Steve Bilko hit doubles.

BILL SHARMAN
...eyes new goal

Sharman Signs As Jet Coach

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Bill Sharman, for 11 seasons a deadly shooter with the Boston Celtics, will join the executive branch of basketball as coach and general manager of the new Los Angeles Jets.

Sharman is the seventh coach to be named by the American Basketball League, which plans to start play next November.

The appointment of the former University of Southern California basketball and baseball star was announced Monday by Len Corbosiero, president of the Jets, at a press conference.

Sharman said present arrangements between himself and the Jets management call for a three-year contract to coach and be general manager. The three years' salary was put in the bank by the Jets to demonstrate the club's financial stability.

Hoak-Less Bucs Prep For First Home Game

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The "Beat 'em, Bucs" bandwagon goes into high gear today when the Pittsburgh Pirates open their home season, but like at Mudville there was a certain amount of gloom.

The gloom arose because fiery Don Hoak will not be in the line-up against the visiting Chicago Cubs. Hoak is under a three-day suspension because of a hassle on the West Coast with umpire Ken Burkhart.

It will be the first time since opening day of 1959 that Hoak will not be starting at third base. Manager Danny Murtaugh said Gene Baker will fill in for Hoak at the hot corner.

Hoak was preparing to work out with the Pirates Monday when he was notified of the three-day suspension and unrevealed fine. Club officials said National League president Warren Giles suspended Hoak in the wake of last Saturday's game with the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Despite the disappointment to a lot of Pirate followers, the opener will be a sellout of 35,507-seat Forbes Field. But the weatherman may intervene since he has forecast cloudy, windy and cold with a chance of rain showers and snow flurries.

Murtaugh named lefty Vinegar Bend Mizell to start for the world champions against the Cubs. Mizell has been very successful against the Cubs in recent years. Right-hander Don Cardwell or southpaw Dick Ellsworth will start for Chicago.

Gold Sox Rebound For Victory, Slate Home Opener With Tulsa

By United Press International

Fireballer Bob Lasko set Tulsa down on five hits Monday night in the Texas League to lead Amarillo's Gold Sox to a 7-1 victory and grab part of a four-way tie for second place.

It was about the same story at Victoria, where Dick Lemay went the distance, hurling a six-hitter for Valley's defending champion Giants and a 7-2 decision over the Rosebuds.

San Antonio, on top of the pack a half bulge, was idle along with Austin's Senators, which trail with an 0-3 mark.

The Gold Sox started things rolling in the opening frame with a four-run outburst that chased Oiler starter, and loser, Harry Fanok. In all, Amarillo launched a 13-hit barrage against three Tulsa twirlers.

Valley put Victoria moundsman Dave McNally behind with single runs in the second and fourth, and sent him to the showers in the fifth with a three-run explosion that gave the Giants a 5-0 edge. Valley pounded four pitchers for eight hits.

Tonight, Tulsa and Amarillo move to Amarillo and Victoria and Valley move to Harlingen while San Antonio opens a series with the Senators at Austin.

Giles Unhappy With Ump, Too

Durocher Sits Out 3-Day Suspension

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Dodger coach Leo Durocher is riding out a three-day suspension for his shin-kicking duel with umpire Jocko Conlan in comparative contentment. The penalty, in effect, was just a slap on the wrist.

National League President Warren Giles set Lippy Leo down for the three days, Monday through Wednesday, but at the same time indicated he was less than pleased with the conduct of Conlan who, like Durocher, has a low boiling point.

Durocher and Conlan exchanged kicks to the shins Sunday in the fourth inning of the Dodger-Pittsburgh game after the Dodgers staged a mass protest over a foul call by the plate umpire on Norm Larker's pop fly.

Durocher, in numerous rhubarbs with umpires during his tenure as manager of the old Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants, laughingly said he was "overmatched" because Conlan wore shin guards.

When he was first asked if he had anything to say about the suspension, Leo kept his lip zipped and replied, "No. Not a thing."

He loosened up a little later and told reporters, "Whether you're right or wrong, what can you do? Giles is the president. I've been suspended before and I know I can't touch an umpire. What made me mad was getting thrown out of the game in the first place."

Conlan thumbed Durocher out of the game, he said, for throwing a towel on the field. Durocher claimed the towel did not go on the field but landed in the dugout.

'Babu' Sprints To Easy Triumph

By United Press International

Babu, a 7-year-old Chilean-bred horse, belied his age Monday with an almost record-breaking performance at Aqueduct.

The South American invader, paying $57.80 as the outsider in the USO Handicap, came within one-fifth of a second of tying Kelso's track record of 1:48 2-5 for one and one-eighth miles.

Babu, who closed the famed Jamaica track with a victory over Sword Dancer in the Brooklyn Handicap two years ago, failed to draw a serious challenge as he beat Air Pilot by three and one-half lengths.

The victory was the first in more than a year for Babu, who finished 11th his last time out.

Honey's Tiger, another aging thoroughbred, scored a neck win over Seven Corners in the six furlong feature at Laurel. The 8-year-old gelding was more than two lengths off the pace when he launched a stretch drive that carried to victory. He was clocked in 1:11 4-5 and paid $7.60.

Garden Fresh won the Suffolk Downs Inaugural before a 17,568 opening day crowd. The King Ranch filly made it four victories in her last six outings with a head triumph over Bull Story. Garden Fresh sped six furlongs in 1:11 3-5 and paid $9.60.

Brown Set For Fight

LONDON (UPI) — Joltin' Joe Brown of Houston, Tex., is looking ahead to another easy pay night when he gives Dave Charnley of EEngland a second crack at his world lightweight title tonight at Earls Court Arena.

Brown is a solid 7-4 favorite for the scheduled 15-rounder, which will start at approximately 8:15 p.m. (3:15 p.m., EST).

In their first meeting at Houston in 1959, Brown cut up Charnley so badly the pale-faced English fighter was forced to quit at the end of the fifth round.

"He's the first guy I ever knocked out sitting on a stool," Brown bragged.

For tonight's scrap, which is expected to attract a sellout crowd of 16,000 Brown will receive about $50,000.

This will be his 10th defense of the 135-pound crown he won by outpointing Wallace (Bud) Smith at New Orleans almost five years ago.

Miss Taylor, Lancaster Win Oscars

Elizabeth Taylor

Burt Lancaster

Shirley Jones

Peter Ustinov

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Elizabeth Taylor, beset by tragedy and scandal in recent years, stood with her golden Oscar today at the pinnacle of her career—the best actress of 1960.

The dark-haired beauty won the coveted award for her role of a footloose lady in "Butterfield 8."

But her acceptance of the statuette Monday night at the 33rd annual Academy Awards presentations was as dramatic a moment as any she had been called upon to play in the movies.

Leaving a sickbed to attend her triumphant hour, Miss Taylor was accompanied by husband Eddie Fisher and her physician. She is still recovering from a near-fatal attack of pneumonia suffered last month in London.

Muscular Burt Lancasteer won the best actor award for his performance as the hell-raising preacher in "Elmer Gantry."

After receiving the award Lancaster said, "Next year I hope to costar with Liz in "A Child is Waiting,' about retarded children. Liz says she wants to do it very much."

Shirley Jones won the best supporting actress award for her portrayal of a prostitute in "Elmer Gantry." She was offered the role by Lancaster after a succession of good-girl roles in musicals.

Bearded Peter Ustiovn, the Eglinsh character actor, ran off with the best supporting performance award. He played a rogue in "Spartacus" who ran a school for gladiators.

Best picture voted by the Academy was "The Apartment."

All four winners in the acting categories were first-timers.

Billy Wilder accepted three awards — best director, best original screenplay (with I.A.L. Diamond) and the producer's award for best picture, all for "The Apartment."

All the top winners were involved in rascality and sex. Miss Taylor played a girl of easy virtue with many lovers. Lancaster portrayed a preacher who specialized in seducing women. Miss Jones was an out-and-out prostitute, and Ustinov's role called for him to provide girls for the gladiators.

"The Apartment" was a study in loose morals with costar Jack Lemmon providing his living quarters as a trysting place for his bosses.

Tre two-hour, ten-minute Oscar show was nationally telecast with Bob Hope as master of ceremonies as a crowd of more than 2,500 persons crowded Santa Monica Civic Auditorium. Another 5,000 movie fans stood outside in the fog-shrouded evening to cheer their favorites.

A dramatic moment was the presentation of a spcial award to Gary Cooper for his "many contributions to the motion picture industry."

The actor was at home, ill. His friend, Jimmy Stewart, accepted the Oscar on his behalf and was almost overcome with emotion as he said, "Coop, we're very, very proud of you. All of us are tremendously proud."

Miss Taylor appeared tired, showing the strain of her illness. She was pale, and circles rimmed her violet-blue eyes. She spent 5 minutes in the ladies room before she was able to take her seat in the auditorium.

Eisenhower, Lee Called 'Too Nice' As War Generals

NEW YORK (UPI) — British Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery said Sunday the trouble with Dwight D. Eisenhower and Robert E. Lee as generals was they they were too nice.

Montgomery, whose nation was beaten by America in the 18th Century, picked up his criticism of Eisenhower's World War II activities by comparing him to the Confederate hero Lee.

Blaming Lee for the Southern defeat at Gettysburg, Pa., in 1864, he said, "I think Lee was at his worst at Gettysburg. He was a wonderful soldier . . . but he just let things go. He lost the battle and in so doing he lost the war.

"I think that Lee allowed his corps commanders to push him about. They would not do what he told them and he had not got the courage to say to them, 'You do what I tell you.'"

Much the same applied to Eisenhower, who acted like a chairman of the board, Montgomery said on the CBS-TV program "Accent."

"The reason why I think he found it difficult to give decisions was that he was a terribly nice person and he did not like to upset anybody," Montgomery said.

Portugal Pouring Troops Into Angola

LISBON, Portugal (UPI)—Portugal poured fresh troops and supplies today into Angola where new terrorist attacks were reported and soldiers battled "hundreds of rebels."

(Terrorists swept through the northern Angola village of Lucunga today, leveling the buildings still left standing from an attack five days ago.

At the same time, the 6,000-ton cargo ship Sao Tome sailed from Lisbon and the first flights of a regular military airlift began shortly after nightfall.

The newspaper Diario de Lisboa said "almost every transport plane the air force has at its disposal is being pressed into service."

Premier Antonio Salazar, who moved into the defense minister's post Friday in a government shake-up because of the Angolan crisis, ordered the airlift of troops to the Portuguese possession in West Africa.

MALIBU, Calif. (UPI) — Jackie Coogan, 46, a famous child star during the era of silent movies, pleaded guilty Monday to a drunkenness charge in Malibu Justice Court and paid a $52.50 fine.

Playing Barber Brought McNear To Public View

By J. A. ST. AMANT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Howard McNear, a member of a pioneer Northern California family from Petaluma, so-called "egg basket of the world," has been an actor for years, but he had to become a barber to start being recognized on the street.

After long years with stock companies, on the radio and in the movies, he's achieved his greatest fame through TV playing Floyd, the fussy barber, on the "Andy Griffith Show" (CSB-TV), and his services are much in demand.

"I can't understand it," he said. "After all these years, now people are beginning to recognize me on the street and in restaurants. They even mistake my brother for me and he's quite flatered."

He's appeared on TV wih George Gobel, Jack Benny and in the Peter Gunn series among others, and for 10 years has been the voice of Doc in the radio version of "Gunsmoke."

"My first TV show was with George Gobel," said McNear in an interview. "I was scared going out there in front of 30 million people — all at once—but George was very helpful to me."

McNear said he was shy as a boy and he claims he still is hy.

He speaks in awe of Jack Benny —"He' a big star but he took the trouble to call my wife once and tell her how well he thought I did in one of his shows. My wife was in tears afterwards — she was so happy."

Sometime it is difficult to tell whether McNear, in his whimsical fashion, is pulling one's leg.

"They say Jack Benny is cheap," he said, but I don't think so. He paid me $800 for a little commercial."

Howard got his first dramatic training from Patia Power, mother of the late film star Tyrone Power. "My mother agreed to let me go to the school," he recalled, "bu I was so shy I walked up and down in front of it for three days before I had the courage to go inside."

McNear was born in the heart of Los Angeles at Hope St. and Jefferson Blvd. His mother was born in Petaluma. His father died at the age of 27, but there are many McNears left in northern California.

The family name is perpetuated along the coast in such spots as McNear's Beach and McNear's Point.

McNear grew up in San Gabriel near Los Angeles and drew inspiration from a kindly neighbor, John S. McGroarty, California's beloved poet laureate.

McGroarty wrote and staged the annual Mission Play depicting the life of the Franciscan missionary Junipero Serra. McNear got his first taste of theater life as an usher at he play and then won a part in i.

For many years he was wih the Savoy Players Stock Company in San Diego, Calif.

He was not confined to comedy in those days.

"I played the part of a young man who was executed in a very dramatic thing called 'The Noose,'" he said. "I played the part of a prizefighter in 'Izatso?' and my opponent hit me harder than he meant to on the nose. I bled all through the next act."

At 55, McNear is content with his career. One of his main interests in life these days is his 16-year-old son, Christopher — Kit.

The boy was named after a McNear ancestor who was a sea captain.

Young Kit doesn't want to be an actor like his dad.

"He wants to be a fishing boat captain," said shy Howard, shaking his head at the intrepidity of the youngster.

Many Ignorant Of Holy Bible, Pastor Learns

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Some months ago, a Protestant pastor adminisered a Bible quiz to members of his congregation.

The questions were very simple. Anyone with a general knowledge of the Bible should have been able to answer all of them easily.

The results staggered the pastor. Only five per cent of his flock made a commendable grade on the test. Fifteen per cent failed to give a single correct answer. Sixty per cent were unable to name the four Gospels. Seventy-five per cent could not identify Calvary as the place where Jesus was crucified.

Some congregations might do better than that. But not many. The vast majority of Americans today are Biblical illiterates. They simply have never read the book which they profess to regard as "the word of God."

Why?

The eclipse of the Bible as reading matter can hardly be attributed to disinerest in is messides record church membrhip, that Americans are actively seeking the kind of religious knowledge and insight that is found preeminently in the Bible.

Nor can the churches be blamed for failing to stress the importance of the Bible. There has been a notable revival of "Biblical theology" since World War II, and the new generation of clergymen now occupying America's pulpits draw their inspiration—and sermons—from the Bible to a far greater degree than their predecessors.

That leaves one explanation. A great many people have turned away from the Bible because, when they do try to read it, they find they cannot understand it.

This is hardly surprising if he Bible they try to read is the King James version, as it is very likely to be. The King Jame is a majestic piece of literature, and it has played a role of incalculable importance in the religious history of English-speaking people since it was translated in 1611. But the passage of 350 years have made it language archaic. To the modern reader, it has a remote and antiquarian flavor. It is likely to leave him with the impression the Bible is an ancient history book that has no real relevance to his life here and now.

Biblical scholars have realized for a long time that the way to get the Bible read again is to present it to modern man in his own idiom.

In 1947, a team of scholars at British universities, working under the sponsorship of the major Protestant churches in Britain underook an entirely new translation of the Bible from the original Hebrew and Greek into modern English. The painstaking care they have devoted to their work can be judged from the fact it took 13 years to complete the translation of the New Testament. And at least six more years will be needed to finish work on the Old Testament.

The New Testament portion of this "New English Bible" was published on March 14 by Oxford and Cambridge University presses.

The public response has been phenomnal, far exceeding the most optimistic expectations.

In England, nearly a million copies were sold on the day of publication. Lines formed outside of book stores. One leading British distributor, who had laid in what he thought was a six months supply, found his entire stock exhausted before tea-time.

In the United Sates, the initial the country at a rate of 10,000 a has already been raised to 550,000 and new orders are pouring in from book stores in all parts of th ecountry at a rate of 10,000 a day.

The tremendous public demand has already been raised o 550,000 haps, to some extent, stimulated —by widespread critical acclaim.

Revolutionary Force Will Battle Castro Everywhere, Leader Says

By United Press International

Soft-spoken Jose Miro Cardona, first premier in the revolutionary government of Fidel Castro, emerged less than a month ago as leader of the forces seeking to oust the Cuban dictator.

"We will fight him in the mountains and wherever else we find him," the soft - spoken Havana-born attorney announced.

A newsman wanted to know how soon.

"Muy pronto—very quick," Miro Cardona replied in his quiet manner.

Miro Cardona is president of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, which was organized as a central unit of the hodgepodge of anti-Castro groups which sprung up in Miami, New York and other citigs as thousands of refugees fled into exile.

These groups differ sharply on policy. But they agree that the 58-year-old former law teacher at the University of Havana is the best symbol for their united front.

He broke with Castro's regime July 5, 1960, seeking asylum in the Argentine embassy in Havana. He told the world he no longer agreed with the goals and government of Castro who installed him as premier for six weeks in January and February of 1959, soon after Castro-led revolutionaries ousted President Fulgencio Batista.

Miro Cardona was a leader in the overthrow of Batista.

He wrote fellow attorneys in March, 1958: "It is the destiny of our profession to fight dictatorships without any weapons other than those of reason, but "dangerous dignity is always preferable to a useless life," as the apostle of our liberties stated."

He said recently he felt the same way about fighting Castro.

Miro Cardona is the son of a Cuban general who fought for independence from Spain. He resigned as premier in a dispute over the reopening of Havana's gambling casinos.

Subsequently, he became the Cuban ambassador to Spain. Later, Castro appointed him ambassador to the United States, a move interpreted to ease the strained relations between the two countries because of Miro Cardona's support of inter-American unity.

But he sought asylum in the Argentine embassy before he could begin his duties in Washington.

After reaching the United States Miro Cardona began working to unite the forces dedicated to overthrowing Castro. This culminated last month with the formation of the CRC.

"We are not counter revolutionaries," he said. "We are revolutionaries against Castro. We promise you an end to the firing squads. We promise you law and order. We promise you free elections 18 months after Castro is out. He made you a similar promise. The difference is, we will keep ours."

Miro Cardona pledged the new coalition will outlaw the Communist party and end all ties with the Soviet Union.

Castro Reported To Have Escape Haven In Mexico

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Student groups supporting the Castro government today called a public demonstration for Tuesday against "the Yanqui attack on Cuba," and newspaper reports said that Fidel Castro had arranged asylum in Mexico.

Repercussions of the anti-Castro invasion mounted as reports of the invasion spread like wildfire.

Cuban exiles swarmed into the United Press International offices here, and special detachments were watching the Cuban embassy.

Others kept an eye on the offices of Cubana De Aviacion.

A "students front" in defense of the Cuban revolution announced that a "permanent assembly" has been established at the National University of Mexico.

"El Grafico" said it had learned that Castro agents had bought an hacienda in the state of Michican, ex - president Lazaro Cardenas' home state, and that reinforced fences are being put up there.

"The demonstration this afternoon was called by the "youth delegation" to the recent Latin American "conference on national sovereignty, economic emancipation and peace."

The university students invited the public to participate in the assembly to learn of "Mexican students decision to defend with their lives, if necessary, the revolution of the sister republic of Cuba."

Court Postpones Trial Of Jurist

CLEBURNE, Tex. (UPI)—Dist. Judge Penn J. Jackson has postponed indefinitely the perjury trial of former Randall County Judge Roy Joe Stevens, who was to have been tried on May 1.

The postponement was granted on the joint request of counsel for the defense and the prosecution. The trial was transferred to Cleburne on a change of venue.
