Hopes For End Of War Are Shattered

Governor Orders Legislature To "Buckle Down" To Work

Pensions And Taxation Are Being Offered

Allred Issues Frank Message And Declares That People Are Sorely Disappointed At Outcome Of First Session

Bills Speeded Up

Thousands Of Persons To Be Removed From Relief Rolls With Passage Of Legislation Now Pending

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 16.—The legislature started its second special session today, admonished by Governor Allred to buckle down and solve pressing problems.

In a frank message the governor stated the people were sorely disappointed at the outcome of the first, which ended at midnight last night, and urged the legislature to "get to work and stay at work." He submitted only old-age pensions and taxation and asked that no bill for relief of the aged be passed without providing revenues.

To Speed Up Bills

Rep. Walter E. Jones of Jourdanton, chairman of the house revenue and taxation committee, said revenue bills would be speeded to the floor and called a meeting for tomorrow night to consider all proposals. No hearings will be held on bills publicly discussed at the first session.

The senate finance committee approved two pensions bills limiting payments to persons in need after disapproving a general sales tax for revenue. Floor consideration may be started this week.

Burden of initiating revenue measures rested on the house after a bill to regulate liquor and levy a tax for pensions and the sales tax were ruled out in the senate.

Can Balance Budget

Pointing to overwhelming approval of the pension amendment last summer, the governor asserted the budget could be balanced and old-age pensions financed without hurt to anyone if the legislature would do its duty.

"It would be unfair to the people if the legislature should authorize old age pensions, yet fail to finance them—a type of politics justly and surely to be condemned at the polls," he said. "I cannot too earnestly emphasize the necessity for immediate, consistent, continued attention to this important problem. It is no criticism to say the

Wheat Prices Go To Lower Levels

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. (AP) — Heavy selling orders dumped into the wheat pit today on reports of a sudden change in the Canadian government's marketing policy, plunged prices down almost five cents a bushel.

The decline of prices built up in recent weeks largely on the strength of war complications in the eastern hemisphere came simultaneously with a sharp break in the Winnipeg grain market. The effect was felt in the New York financial district where stock market bull forces were disorganized by the semi-demoralized selling wave in the grain pits.

Prices were carried to the lowest level since the first of the month. All deliveries of wheat except December at one time sold below $1.00 a bushel, and May closed at 99 7-8 @$1.00.

Albert B. Fall Is Being Treated At Army Hospital

EL PASO, Oct. 16. (AP)—Physicians at William Beaumont general hospital here tonight described the condition of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, as good.

Fall was brought to the army hospital late Tuesday night from his ranch at Three Rivers, N. M.

Long discussions with his attorneys over legal angles in recent ejection orders brought against Fall by the Petroleum Securities corporation, a property belonging to the late E. L. Doheny, life-time friend of Fall, were blamed by Mrs. Fall for the former cabinet officer's collapse.

Family Skeletons Remain In Hiding

Efforts To Prove Hereditary Insanity For Zenge Ruled Out; Family Takes Stand

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. — The family skeletons of the Zenge clan remained in their closets tonight as Judge Cornelius J. Harrington ruled out efforts of defense attorneys to prove that hereditary insanity might have played a part in the emasculation slaying of Dr. Walter J. Bauer for whose death Mandeville Zenge is on trial.

In the first night session of the trial, held to speed the proceedings, Judge Harrington heard, out of presence of the jury, the testimony of a handful of relatives concerning the traits of Mandeville's relatives.

Proof Is Promised

Earlier, Defense Attorney Joseph Green had promised to prove that 17 of Zenge's blood relatives became insane.

Eight witnesses gave testimony. Without commenting on the nature of the evidence they had presented, Judge Harrington, after an hour and a half of the night session, summoned the jury and dismissed it until morning.

He announced he had ruled out all testimony concerning relatives more distantly removed than uncle or aunt.

Green indicated he would close his case tomorrow with the testimony of nine character witnesses and a psychiatrist, Dr. Harold S. Hulbert.

Dr. Hulbert, after a pre-trial examination of Zenge, gave the opinion that the defendant was "convalescent from a type of cyclical insanity."

Prosecutor Charles Daugherty said rebuttal testimony would be brief. He indicated he would place Dr. Harry H. Hoffman, head of the Cook county behavior clinic, on the stand again in an attempt to counteract defense efforts to prove Zenge the victim of a form of temporary insanity.

Woman Not On Again

Whether Louise Shaffer Bauer, widow of the murdered doctor and childhood sweetheart of Zenge, would face the ordeal of another session on the witness stand, was undecided tonight, with Prosecutor Daugherty temporarily committed to the decision that she would not be called back as a witness.

The trial headed for a protracted battle of alienists after the witness-stand appearances of the defendant's parents.

AFL Speaker Thinks Labor Is Threatened

United Mine Workers Head Is Fearful Communism, Fascism May Organize Laborers Not Under Federation Flag

(By The Associated Press)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 16. — Warnings that workers in the vast mass production industries might turn to communism or fascism for organization unless brought under the banners of the American Federation of Labor were handed the federation convention today by John L. Lewis and Charles P. Howard.

These warnings came a short time after the federation declared Italy an "outlaw nation" and urged all countries to deny her financial and commercial assistance in the Ethiopian war.

Policy Approved

The declaration was carried in a statement, adopted by the organization, approving the neutrality policy of President Roosevelt and congress.

In the tense atmosphere that surrounded the start of the federation's biggest family fight on the convention floor, Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, told the delegates that continuation of the federation's present organization policy "will spell ruination of the labor movement.

"There are forces at work in this country," he said, "that would wipe out the labor movement here just

Houston City Council Will Suspend Its Police Chief

HOUSTON, Oct. 16. (AP) — The city council voted a second time today to suspend B. W. Payne as chief of police here pending completion of its inquiry into the slot machine situation in Houston. A second vote was necessary to override a veto by Mayor Oscar F. Holcombe.

Taking the leadership in the investigation away from the mayor, the council instructed the city legal department to prepare subpoenas for the appearance tomorrow of nearly a dozen witnesses who might shed some light on the operation of slot machines here. Council members also decided to broaden the inquiry to include all forms of gambling.

Eleven Jurors Are Chosen For Trial Of Arthur Huey

STINNETT, Oct. 16. (AP)—Eleven jurors were selected today for the trial of Arthur Huey, Hutchinson county tax assessor - collector, charged with embezzlement of more than $8,000 county funds.

Selection of the jury started after Judge E. J. Pickens overruled defense motions to quash the indictment and for a continuance.

New Federal Farm Plan Is Being Mapped

Next Cotton Adjustment Program Will Cover Period Of Four Years; Would Include Years 1936 To 1939

Action Set Soon

Chester C. Davis Claims That Crop Not Greatly Different From Present One In Size Will Be Preferable

BY JERRY GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—The farm administration's next cotton adjustment program, it was indicated today by Chester C. Davis, AAA administrator, will cover four years.

This step would be in line with the general plan of the farm administration to favor long range adjustment, Davis said, and the new cotton contracts probably would include the years 1936-39 inclusive.

Evidence Is Studied

Evidence obtained at a hearing at Memphis, Tenn., last week is being studied by AAA executives in preparation for the new contracts. Officials have said privately they would prefer a crop not greatly different in size from that this year. The last official estimate placed the 1935 crop at 11,489,000 bales.

The long range contracts, Davis said, speaking at a press conference held by Secretary Wallace, would eliminate the bookkeeping and other work associated with annual campaigns to get farmers to sign the contracts. It was said provision would be made to permit AAA to terminate the contract at the end of any crop year.

May Stage Referendum

An annual referendum on whether the program would be continued probably would not be mandatory, Davis said, but such balloting might be advisable.

While a test case involving validity of the Bankhead cotton control act, designed to help enforce the voluntary acreage reduction program, is now pending before the supreme court, Davis was asked whether an effective program could be carried out without the enforcement law.

"That, of course," Davis said, "is in the realm of speculation, but I think we could."

The Bankhead act provides assessment of a ginning tax on each pound of cotton ginned in excess of a national allotment.

Action on the new cotton program is expected within a few weeks.

Police Reserves Are Called Out; Bitter Battles Staged

CARDIFF, Wales, Oct. 16. (AP)—Police reinforcements went on riot duty in the coal villages today after "stay down" strikers fought a bloody battle with rival workers 800 feet underground and strikers' women supporters battled police at the pithead.

The executive council of the miners federation recommended tonight that all strikers return to work, thus ending the possibility that 176,000 workers would walk out.

Man Loses Final Attempt To Beat Electric Chair Death

AUSTIN, Oct. 16. (AP) — Ramiro Galvan lost a final court attempt today to escape a death sentence imposed for the slaying six years ago in El Paso county of Ivan Scotten, United States border patrolman.

The court of criminal appeals denied Galvan's motion for a rehearing of its affirmance of the conviction. Upon issuance of a mandate, the trial judge will set a date for Galvan's execution.

Life Of Mrs. Public Enemy No. 1 Is Hard, Hopelessly Says Mrs. Karpis

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, Oct. 16—Being Mrs. Public Enemy No. 1, even if you haven't seen the errant husband for four years, is a hard life, says Mrs. Alvin Karpis.

The latest setback for the comely wife of the fugitive criminal, who recently sued him for divorce, was ejection from a business college here, where she was studying to be a stenographer.

"I had a job promised just as soon as I had learned to be a stenographer—and now what," she said hopelessly. "I don't know what I'll do. I guess I'll try to go to another school where they don't know me."

Being ousted from school is but one of the trials the auburn-haired young wife has undergone. In 1931-32 she spent 30 days in jail, over Christmas and New Year, because officers were looking for her husband for a West Plains, Mo., murder, she said.

'I don't know why people can't leave me alone now," she said.

"I was doing fine, nobody knew who I was, until I filed suit for divorce. I almost wish I had not filed it. I waited four years thinking maybe I would not have to get a divorce, but looks like that is the only way I can get rid of him."

Karpis, hunted for the Edward Bremer kidnaping and a string of other crimes, hasn't done half the things blamed to him, his wife believes.

"I am through with Alvin," she said. "I wouldn't do anything to hurt him but I don't want to have anything else to do with him."

Mrs. Karpis first met her husband in Tulsa in the spring of 1931 and married him after a brief acquaintance.

"He was nice to me. I thought he was a jewelry salesman, he always had plenty of jewelry around," she explained.

Soon Karpis was arrested for a jewelry store robbery in Henryetta and after he was paroled they moved to Chicago, where he left her in October, 1931. She hasn't seen him since, she said.

Big Road Program To Open

Seventeen Years And Millions Of Dollars To Be Required To Pay Off Damages For Injuries

Government Is Carrying Huge Load With Its Employes On Various Relief Projects

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16—A growing stack of damage claims prompted officials to estimate today that it would take 17 years and $28,000,000 for the government to pay for all injuries suffered by those getting jobs in the work-relief program.

The estimate, worked out by officials of the United States employes compensation commission after consultation with those of the works program, was based on experience gained during Civil Works administration.

Many Claims Filed

Already there have been 2,440 damage claims filed because of injuries to employes in the new works program. Officials considered this a small figure, however, which would rise weekly as new men went to work.

The compensation commission is paying out $35,000 a month on claims form injured Civilian Conservation corps enrollees. This figure, too, is rising each month as new men go into the camps under the expansion program of that organization.

The commission still is paying claims to workers injured while employed by the CWA of two years ago at the rate of $60,000 a month. This figure is going down, slowly, however.

Under the law, an employe permanently and totally disabled by accident in the line of his work would receive two thirds of his monthly salary as long as the dis-

Oil Stands In Bennett Well

Approximately 4,000 Feet Is Reported Standing In Hole Wednesday; Prospects For Producer Good

(By Staff Correspondent)

PLAINS, Oct. 16.—With between 3,800 and 4,000 feet of oil standing in the hole and with 4,650 feet of seven inch seamless casing resting on top of the hard lime, prospects were believed good late today for a possible producer in the C. J. (Red) Davidson-Honolulu Oil Co., No. 1 Bennett on the L. P. Bennett ranch southeast of here.

Casing was run Tuesday and Wednesday, the job being completed about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Two Bailers Show Oil

Two bailers showed oil. The first bailer hit top of the oil in the hole at around 1,000 to 1,200 feet, Bill Brewster, drilling superintendent and associate of Mr. Davidson said. The second bailer went down to about 3,500 feet. It was unable to get down further, owing to a bridge or obstruction.

"There is absolutely no water in the hole," Mr. Brewster said after an examination of both bailers.

The casing, unloaded early in the week on the operations, was not expected to be run until the last of the week. Orders came unexpectedly to start work.

Will Cement Hole

"As soon as the hole is cleaned out, we will cement it," Mr. Brewster said. Further operations, he explained, had not been decided upon.

Only a small crowd of people was at the rig during the day. Several Lubbock people, including A. B. Brown, Bob Williams, W. S. Hodges and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Estes were at the location. Sheriff Joe Ellison and a number from Plains, some from Lamesa, Seagraves and other towns, were there.

Mr. Davidson is in Mexico City, having gone there with a group of

Millions For Projects Are Now Released

Highway And Grade Crossing Plans Approved Wednesday In 27 States; Texas Is To Be Given Share

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 — The bureau of public roads today released $36,274,750 of work relief funds for highway and grade crossing elimination construction.

The bureau announced that it had approved projects from 41 states and the District of Columbia, totaling $27,557,700 from a $200,000,000 allotment. It also approved grade crossing elimination work in 27 states, totaling $8,717,050, from another $200,000,000 allotment.

State quotas from the entire $400,000,000 allotments were assigned several months ago, but work could not start until specific projects had been approved by state Works Progress administrators and the bureau.

Slowness of state highway commissions in submitting projects had prompted Harry L. Hopkins to consider canceling some of the allotments.

The bureau announced that contracts for highway construction totaling $8,532,412 and grade crossing elimination adding to $2,478,864 had been awarded.

Programs Approved

Simultaneously, the bureau announced that President Roosevelt had approved programs submitted by four states and the District of Columbia, totaling $6,828,487, for highway and grade crossing elimination. These included the projects already approved by the bureau of public roads, and others not yet cleared.

Projects approved by the bureau of public roads include:

State	Highway	G. C
New Mexico	$84,000	$143,000
Oklahoma	$164,000	$433,000
Texas	$2,174,000	$101,000

Hungry Child's Love For Pet Rabbit Greater Than The Craving For Food

(By The Associated Press)

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 16—Eugene Trushel, 12, was hungry—but his love for a pet rabbit was greater than hunger.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Trushel of Willard, have been on relief more than a year. Their food ran out last night.

Today the family went without breakfast and lunch. As evening approached and their five children grew hungrier, the parents became desperate.

Why not kill Eugene's rabbit and serve it for supper.

They studied it over and agreed that was the best thing.

They began a search for Eugene to break the bad news.

But when they found him he was dead. His body was hanging from a belt attached to his neck and a stair railing.

Coroner J. D. Bradish gave a verdict of suicide.

Mrs. Trushel told him she believed the youngster overheard their plans to kill the rabbit, became despondent and hanged himself.

Eugene's death caused the rabbit's life to be spared.

Residents of the community took basket after basket of food to the Trushel home tonight.

Strong Bands Of Ethiopian Raiders Are Reported To Have Captured Two Towns In Italian Territory

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 16.—Hope faded tonight for a peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian war through the mediation of Premier Laval of France.

Replies of British and Italian ambassadors to the Laval proposals were said by authoritative sources in Paris to indicate a stalemate even as news from the African war zone indicated a turn about in the game of military invasion.

Refuses To State Terms

The Paris reports said Mussolini had refused to state his terms for peace; that Great Britain had refused to lessen her Mediterranean naval concentration and that Il Duce had declined to negotiate while the British warships remained.

With European eyes again focused on America, tardy dispatches from East Afric said strong bands of Ethiopian raiders had captured two towns in a swift penetration of Italian Somaliland.

The League of Nations, wrestling with sanctions and how to make them stick, hailed the American Federation of Labor indictment of Italy as an "outlaw nation" in the light of new vital aid to economic pressure on Italy.

Ask American Aid

In Paris, officials disclosed both France and Great Britain intend to ask the United States whether it would support a worldwide embargo against Italian exports, should Geneva approve such a boycott.

Tension in the troubled Mediterranean went unabated.

London heard the British cabinet had refused to withdraw any of her men o'war from that troubled sea, at least while Italy continues to send troops to Libya.

Defense preparations went on at top speed along the northern coast of Egypt, regardless of an internal political crisis in that ancient land. Alexandria's harbor was choked with

THE BROADWAY GAG

THE phrase, "New York cast," is merely a figure of speech when a play is brought way out here far from the Great White way. John Rosenfield commented on this in his "Notes on the Passing Show," in the Dallas Morning News concerning the opening of the farce, "Three Men on a Horse," that is playing in Dallas the middle week and in Amarillo Saturday.

The present company is not the New York company for the simple reason that the New York company is still playing in New York, but each of the actors has had experience in Broadway productions, which makes an honest man out of the press agent billing it a "New York company."

IT'S ABOUT BETTING

SOMEONE questioned us concerning the plot of the comedy, which plays matinee and night at the Paramount in Amarillo. It is essentially a race track story, centering about Erwin Trowbridge, a Jersey commuter who makes his living writing verses for greeting cards. His hobby is doping out the races, although he never capitalizes on his luck. He reveals his gift to a trio of track men who kidnap him and force him to spend all of his time picking horses for them. The comedy is said to build to a rip-roaring climax in a race involving all of the previous winnings of the group.

AS TO LECTURES—

PERHAPS the actors are changed before they get this far inland, but lectures given here are the same as those heard by city folk. We have concrete examples illustrated by clippings from the Sioux City Journal, where recently Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen, minister to Denmark, and Amelia Earhart, world-famous aviatrix, spoke. Their talks were almost identical with those made in Lubbock last year and in 1933. Mrs. Owen told her hearers that Denmark judges America in three ways: first, as depicted in the press; second, as reflected on the motion picture screen and third, by the Americans living there. She elaborated at length on these here, you remember.

Miss Earhart, addressing a club at Sioux City, regaled her audience with a description of her flight over the Atlantic, the same talk that she gave in this city, supplementing it with an account of her hop from Honolulu to Oakland, which she made after leaving here. She gave the testimony that in some places she is known as "the woman who swam the Pacific," a statement that practically put them in the aisles in Lubbock High school auditorium.

MRS. FINE we offer you our apology for not having printed the song, "Texas, Our Texas," before this. Here it is for the women to clip and paste in their hats or on a piece of cardboard and we hope they have more luck in carrying the high notes than the City Federation of Women's clubs here.

Butler Seeks City Position

Lubbock Architect Is Latest Aspirant To Toss His Hat Into Political Ring; Platform Is Given

A Lubbock architect, M. C. Butler, Wednesday tossed his hat into the ring circumscribed about Lubbock's latest political race—that to name a successor to former City Commissioner George E. Benson, resigned.

"The people have expressed themselves as being dissatisfied with the gas rate, by voting revenue bonds at a recent election," said Butler, who was an unsuccessful candidate against Benson. "I will endeavor to carry out the mandate of the people to the very best of my ability.

Entitled To Ample Gas

"We are entitled to an ample supply of gas that will outlive the revenue bonds; it must be as good or better quality than we now have at a rate we can afford to pay; nothing less will satisfy me.

"The people also are entitled to a dollar's worth of material and service for each dollar spent; it will be my duty and purpose to see that they get it—giving to Lubbock labor preference at a living wage.

Proud of Citizenship

"The people of Lubbock know me, my training and business experience," Butler continued. "This is my home and I am proud of my citizenship among the good people of this splendid progressive city."

Butler declared he had 'no ax to grind, no friends to favor, no enemies to punish."

Neither Butler nor Raleigh Martin, who previously had announced for the place, officially had asked for a place on the ticket, it was said at City hall.

Lubbock Man Is Again Being Held

A Jekyll-Hyde temperament governed, said authorities, by intoxicants or lack of them, Wednesday once more had drawn a Lubbock man into coils of legal restraint.

A complaint of simple assault was sworn by Sheriff Tom Abel before Assistant County Attorney Madison S. Rayburn and filed in county court. The man was alleged to have choked a 19-year-old daughter.

The man's difficulties have reached authorities before. About two years ago he was charged with being an habitual drunkard. His wife divorced him. He left. Upon his return their differences were patched, and County Judge E. L. Pitts remarried them without cost, authorities said.

It was only a brief time afterward that the man was hailed into court upon a charge of choking his wife. He showed results of battery himself, and explained his daughter had come to her mother's aid with a broom handle.

Hospital Plans Being Advanced

Conveyance Wednesday through warranty deed of the Biltmore hotel, 1520 Tenth street, to West Texas hospital advanced a step nearer the hospital's plan to establish headquarters for a school of nursing, teachers of the department, a dietetics department and a foods laboratory.

Tenant's lease does not expire until Dec. 1. If tenant arranges to vacate before that time, however, plans will proceed at once for renovation and refurnishing of the hotel.

The deed was executed by H. C. Glenn, receiver for Temple Trust company, and filed in the office of Ed D. Allen, county clerk. Consideration was $11,000 plus taxes to be assumed.

No Teal Verdict Given Wednesday

No verdict was reported Wednesday by a 99th district court jury which began deliberating at 5:30 p m. fate of J. W. Teal, charged with forgery by alteration.

Defendant pleaded not guilty.

The indictment charged that Teal altered a receipt for $9 to make it read for $99. The defendant was represented by Hill Stewart and W. F. Schenck. Prosecutors were Burton S. Burks, assistant district attorney, and D. E. Kemp, a special prosecutor.

John Henry Childers waived jury trial and was given a three-year suspended sentence on a charge of hog theft.

The Teal case marked conclusion of jury cases for the week, and the remainder of the panel was dismissed by Judge Clark M. Mullican.

Penney Store Managers Are To Gather In Lubbock Today

Selection of merchandise will be made by J. C. Penney company store managers of West Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Southern Oklahoma at a meeting in Lubbock hotel today and probably Friday.

Program details were to be made on arrival of Ray Jenkins of Oklahoma City, district manager for the company, who will be in charge of meetings.

About 30 managers are expected, E. J. Parsons, manager of the local store, said.

Former Itasca Guardsman Is Killed In Automobile Crash

HILLSBORO, Oct. 16. (AP)—Travis Burks, former lieutenant in the Itasca national guard unit, was killed late yesterday when thrown from an automobile in a collision with another car near Venus.

The 27-year-old victim was a graduate of Itasca High school and Austin college at Sherman, where he was a well-known football player.

Three other occupants of Burks' car escaped with slight injuries, as did the driver of the other car.

Uncle Sam Dips His Pen In Red Ink; Deficit Is High

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16 (AP)—Uncle Sam dipped his pen in red ink today, and reported his deficit had passed the billion-dollar mark for the present fiscal year.

The treasury in a statement put the deficit at $1,007,457,156 through Oct. 14. This compared with a deficit of $687,211,671 on the comparable date of last year.

At the present rate, the government is operating at a $9,500,000 loss each day. At this rate, the deficit on June 30 next, would be $3,477,000,000 compared with a $3,281,000,000 revised estimate made public recently. Last January's annual budget message forecast a deficit of $4,528,000,000.

No Charges Will Be Filed Against Woman After Plot

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16 (AP)—Assistant County Prosecutor Michael O'Hearn said today he could file no charge against Mrs. Lottie Crumley, 34, who detectives said confessed a double murder plot designed to end in her wedding a street car operator.

O'Hearn said Mrs. Crumley had committed no overt act and therefore he could take no formal action.

He instituted a plan, however, to arrange transportation through the welfare board for Mrs. Crumley to the home of relatives at Chattanooga, Tenn. Meanwhile Mrs. Crumley was taken to a hospital for observation.

Black-Draught's Refreshing Relief

Don't neglect constipation! Take Black-Draught at the first sign you need something to help restore regular elimination.

"I feel like Black-Draught is a mighty good medicine and don't know how I would get along without it," writes Mrs. W. D. Jowers, of Minden, La. "I take it for constipation and biliousness. When I let myself get constipated, I feel dull, sluggish and drowsy; can't settle down to my work for that tired feeling. I take a small dose of Black-Draught at bedtime for several nights and soon feel fine. If I am bothered with a tight feeling, or gas on the stomach, I take a pinch of Black-Draught after meals."

Black-Draught costs less than most medicines for constipation.

Tune in to Dr. B. J. Palmer, Oct. 19th 11:00 to 11:30 p. m. WHO, 1000 kilocycles

NOW.. Low Long Distance Night Rates Begin at 7 P.M.

Tonight, and every night after 7 o'clock, most "station-to-station" calls cost about 40 per cent less than during the day.

Formerly this lowest night rate did not begin until 8:30 p. m. Moving it up to 7 makes "voice-visiting" more convenient . . . you are not delayed if you're going out in the evening, and the person you are calling is more likely to be at home.

It's easy to make a "station-to-station" call. Just tell the long distance operator that you will talk with any one who answers at the called number.

Enjoy tonight a short, inexpensive voice visit by telephone with an out-of-town friend or relative. It's surprising how little it costs, and it's easy to do; the service is fast and you hear as clearly as on a local call. Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

These reductions do not apply on "person-to-person" calls, which cost the same at all hours.

Geneva Puts More Weight Behind League Sanctions Against Italy Yesterday

Support From America Seen

Member Nations Being Urged To Quickly Fulfill Duty And Take Necessary Steps For Sanctions

BY WADE WERNER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

GENEVA, Oct. 16. (AP)—Geneva put more weight behind League of Nations sanctions against Italy tonight, grateful for new and powerful encouragement from American labor.

Officials believed the American Federation of Labor's indictment of Italy as an "outlaw nation" opened a way for effective American cooperation in the enforcement of drastic economic measures against Benito Mussolini—avoiding, at the same time, any departure from the United States government's official attitude of strict neutrality.

Resolution Adopted

The League itself closed its day with adoption by its "general staff" of 52 nations of a resolution urging member states quickly to fulfill their "duty to take the necessary steps to enable them to carry out" their sanctions obligations.

Earlier, the heaviest artillery for economic sanctions—a "buy nothing from Italy" plan—was rolled into committee discussion by Great Britain's energetic Anthony Eden.

The British minister for League affairs observed with satisfaction that no open opposition was expressed to his proposal to prohibit importation of "all goods manufactured in Italy," although the economic sanctions committee has not as yet definitely adopted it.

Quick Action Seen

Once economic sanctions—a key products embargo and the "buy nothing from Italy" boycott—have been finally approved, the first phase of the League's sanctions drive will be ended.

That, the British hope, will come by the end of the week.

From then on League of Nations sanctions activities likely will be confined to watching over enforcement of measures adopted.

Argentina, through her delegate, Enrique Ruiz Guinazu, announced today that South American government was "considering most carefully" the legislation necessary to put sanctions into effect, and already was proceeding to make an arms embargo against Italy effective.

Cooperation Promised

From Venezuela came a promise of "cooperation in collective action." Cesar Zumeta, the Venezuelan spokesman, said that nation was "carefully examining" the applicability of each of the proposed sanctions.

These expressions were voiced at the third public session of the committee of 52, which also adopted and clarified President Roosevelt's list of what constitutes implements of war. Hungary, as before, abstained from voting.

The revised list includes "all appliances and products for use in chemical or incendiary warfare."

As the meeting closed, word arrived from Cuba, Poland and Greece that those governments had put into effect an arms embargo against the fascist state.

Rumors of peace proposals, meantime, worried the delegates of some smaller nations.

As one of these delegates put it: "If the League is merely being used to bring pressure on Mussolini to help the big powers concoct their own peace settlement, then we little nations will be left holding the bag of Italian resentment and possible retaliation."

School Child Obeys Father; Salute Offered Flag; Others Still Refuse

SAUGUS, Mass., Oct. 16. (AP)—One of eight school children here who had refused to salute the flag changed her mind at the command of her father, a World war veteran, and complied with a school rule by pledging allegiance at patriotic exercises held today to give the youngsters a chance to reverse their stand.

After the seven others, whose parents are members of "Jehovah's Witnesses," a religious sect which believes any man-made symbol is "an emblem of the devil," refused to salute, the school committee announced it would meet tonight to consider what action it should take against them.

Virginia Messenger, 11-year-old daughter of Carl L. Messenger, a former soldier, brought a note to junior high school today which said: "I have pledged my allegiance to God and the new kingdom, but my father has ordered me to salute the flag. I am under age, so I will obey my father."

Although Messenger is not a member of the sect, Virginia's grandmother, Mrs. Ann Messenger, is, school authorities said.

Ten Students Are Inducted Into Future Farmers Group

Ten students were inducted into C. Luker chapter of Future Farmers of America Tuesday evening at Texas Technological college.

Arvle Elliott and Cleveland Littlepage, who left Tuesday for Kansas City with the livestock judging team, also are new members of the chapter.

Students initiated were Owen Benn, Guy Bratcher, Howard Preston, Lee McElroy, Raymond Puryear, Willie Rogers, Walter Grist, Brigham Young, Cecil Ayers and Coleman Cowan.

Chapter membership was increased to 17.

Another Head-On Crash Is Reported At Tragic Spot

TERRELL, Oct. 16. (AP) — Twelve hours after two persons had been killed at almost the same spot on highway 15, another head-on collision occurred today.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Slater of Longview were injured and brought here by ambulance.

The couple was en route to Fort Worth to attend the funeral of a relative when they were in collision with an eastbound automobile. The driver of the other machine was unidentified.

Thompson Is To Open Fair

Railroad Commission Leader Will Be Principal Speaker As Eight-Day Affair Opens At Midland Saturday

MIDLAND, Oct. 16. (Special) — Col. Ernest O. Thompson, chairman of the railroad commission of Texas, will officially open the Midland Fair in its new $50,000 plant Saturday at 1:30 p. m. addressing the audience in the 5,500-person steel grandstand through the loud speakers just before the $3,000 "open to the world" rodeo starts its initial show.

Four high school bands, including Odessa, Monahans, Fort Stockton, and Midland, will appear in the two-mile long parade Saturday morning, and the bands of Crane, and Wink will play at the Fair on two days next week.

Six Days Of Racing

Rodeo events will be staged Saturday afternoon and night, Sunday afternoon and Monday night. Horse races open for six days on Monday afternoon, with total purses of $6,000.

A feeder cattle show and sale will be held Monday and Tuesday, 2,000 head of choice Hereford calves and yearlings from ranches of the Midland section going at auction.

Fair officials today predicted a total attendance of 50,000 people at the rodeo and races during the eight-day fair. More than 150 race horses have stall reservations.

Col. Thompson, while at Midland during the week-end, will be the guest of the City of Midland. Claude Duffey, independent oil operator, is in charge of entertainment features.

Automobile accidents on North Carolina highways during the last six years have cost the state $180,000,000, it is estimated, substantially more than the cost of government during that period.

Salvation Army's Goal Is Revealed

Cooperating with an international campaign with the Salvation Army, the corps at Lubbock seeks an individual goal of 150 conversions within the next 15 months. Twelve have been counted, said Capt. John G. Churchill, officer in charge.

"There are 91 countries cooperating in this 'World for God' campaign," Captain Churchill said. "It is the first world-wide evangelistic effort of the Army. Heretofore the work has been national only, in scope.

"Our Lubbock quota is 100 senior converts and 50 juniors. We also have set an increase in the corps membership of 15 seniors, ten juniors and 20 home league members. Our goal is 110 in the Sunday school."

Following a recent meeting of all Texas corps officers with the new Salvation Army divisional commander of Texas, Major George Gilks, a program outlined at the Waco meeting was set up.

A "standard of excellence" for both senior and young people's corps has been set up. The standard includes: 20 per cent of converts enrolled as soldiers; one third of the corps wearing uniforms; raising of 20 per cent of the local maintenance within the corps; a census board to work in each corps; each local group must show steady progress at each semi-annual inspection.

In a revival meeting being held here, 12 conversions have been reported; ten in a revival at Post and two in Morton. At the latter place Reverend John Churchill, father of the captain, is conducting the meeting.

The local songster brigade and string band are being reorganized and a junior choir is being organized.

In the Lubbock corps there are 67 senior members, 26 juniors and 91 in the Sunday school.

The state division is going more and more into parole work, working with the state penitentiary system. Some progress has been made along this line in recent weeks, he said.

Why Capudine Gives QUICKER HEADACHE RELIEF

A Blotter will Show the Reason

If you put a solid remedy, such as a tablet or powder on a blotter nothing will happen Not until you have dissolved these solid remedies in liquid can the blotter absorb them. The same applies to them in your stomach «Your system cannot absorb them until they are first dissolved, and, of course, you cannot get relief until they are absorbed. This means unnecessary waiting and prolonged suffering.

Capudine Liquid is absorbed at once because its ingredients are already dissolved even before you take them So why not take Capudine Liquid and avoid useless suffering. Capudine eases headache, neuralgic or muscle aches, and periodic pains quickly, gently, soothingly. Contains no narcotics or dope. Adv.

Lubbock Lady's Health A "Wreck" Until The Gly-Cas

Stomach Distress, Nervousness and Kidney Trouble Had Caused Her Constant Suffering—Now Enjoying Good Health Again; Husband Received Great Benefit Also

There have been many medicines introduced here in Lubbock in past years but never before has any medicine received such widespread and sincere praise that absolutely refused to die-out—but continues to grow with each day—as is that being accorded this new Gly-Cas at the Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway;

MRS. G. W. MAY

Just recently, Mrs. G. W. May, 1611 18th street, Lubbock, well known and highly respected local lady, made the following statement lauding the action of this new medical discovery in restoring her to good and glorious health that her many friends and acquaintances might learn of Gly-Cas and profit from its use as she has;

"After every meal I ate I was sure to suffer severely," said Mrs. May. "Regardless of my diet I would vomit my food almost as soon as I would leave the table. It seemed I could not keep anything on my stomach at all. I was so nervous I could hardly stand it at times and often I could not quiet my nerves to sleep at night. My kidneys were out of order too and what little rest or sleep I could get was disturbed by night risings. My bowels were irregular too, dizziness was frequent and headaches were continually bothering me. In spite of all I tried I could not find anything to help me until I began Gly-Cas—it was the one real medicine of them all."

"Gly-Cas went to the very source of my health troubles," continued Mrs. May, "and today I am feeling the best I have in sometime. I am enjoying the blessing of good health again, my stomach, kidneys and bowels have been regulated until I can eat and sleep good, my nerves are quieted and those dreadful headaches are at an end. It is wonderful that suffering people can get a medicine to give such outstanding results. My husband was actually confined to bed with rheumatism when he began Gly-Cas and it freed him of all that cripling suffering until he is now up and around and he too is enjoying good health again. We join in lauding this new Gly-Cas—it gave us the results we had been searching for."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway, and by all leading druggists in surrounding towns.

Gly-Cas $1.00 per box—6 boxes $5.00. Add 2c postage for each box ordered. Send money orders made payable Mark Halsey Drug Store. Don't send cash. Checks not accepted—no C. O. D. mail orders.—Adv.

Young Turkish Student At Tech Learning Fast And Is Becoming Accustomed To Strange American Habits

BY OPAL McMAHON
Avalanche Staff Writer

Novelty in having a last name has worn off for Hikmet Shukru, Turkish student at Texas Technological college.

Since he came to America eight months ago from Constantinople, where he had no last name, the young Turk has become accustomed to many American customs and slang phrases.

Now what does that mean, he pondered the first few times he heard "How're you comin'?

Tech Provides Knowledge

Texas Technological college is providing him with education which he will carry back to his country to use in working for the government as a textile chemist, a highly profitable trade since the Turkish government began its industrial program. Textile imports will not be allowed in the country after a few years.

Shukru came to Texas because he wanted to learn the trade in a cotton country.

The two principal Texas products, he decided from information he received in Turkey, are cotton and cowboys.

He finds more democracy here than in his country, he said.

Some Are Not Taken

A few things he has not taken in his stride, among them the student habit of "hitch-hiking." He will take a ride but he will not "thumb" a ride, he said. Also he finds "dancing the same to fast and slow music" disconcerting.

What does he miss more than other things?

"I wish I had some Turkish fellow to talk Turkish with," he answered.

He learned to speak English in a school of higher education in Constantinople. He is a junior student at the local college. Before coming here, he was a student at Iowa State university a short time.

Referred To Tech

On writing to Texas university to inquire about taking textile courses, he was referred to the local college, he said.

The student, black-haired, brown-eyed, dark-complexioned, plans to be graduated from college in America and to work a year in a factory here.

When he returns to Constantinople he must take military training for two years, he said.

Laxity in conduct of American children in presence of parents seemed unusual to him when he arrived here. In Constantinople children must sit properly and do not smoke while with parents, he said.

Unmarried girls are seldom taken to dances there, he said.

Last Names Adopted

His family name is Tuzcu, nearest pronounciation to which in English probably would be Tuz-oju, he said. Last names have been adopted since he left the country and he will take that name when he returns, he said. When he came here he adopted his father's first name as his last. Many Turkish young men are coming to America to study textiles, Shukru Said. The government is paying for the education of some and will soon begin paying for that of Shukru, the student thinks.

According to a law of his country, not more than $75 can be taken out monthly. Thus the Turkish student could not pay at one time all expenses incident to his starting to college. He is paying by installments his college tuition, which is higher than it would be were he an American.

Many Come To America

More Turkish young men are coming to America to obtain higher educations than to any other country except Japan, Skukru said.

He finds students congenial at the college. He likes the school spirit.

Many old superstitions exist in Turkey but the younger generation is becoming too well educated to accept them, he said. Language, customs, religion, industry and other phases have undergone a change the last few years, he added.

He is a Mohammedan, he said.

Would he like to remain in America after he completes his college education?

Would anyone want to remain out of his own country? he answered.

GET COTTON CHECKS

MULESHOE, (Special) — One hundred twenty four cotton checks, first payment, were received here, J. B. Waide, jr., county agent, reports. They amounted to $1,790 Checks for first payments, received so far number 519 and amount to $9,430.

The earliest specimen of tapestry-work which can be accurately dated was found in 1903 in the tomb of Thumosis IV (1420-1411 B. C.) at Themes.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 32c.

Lubbock And Sweetwater High Teams Gird For Battle Here Tomorrow Night

Tougher Scrap Expected From Mustang Team

Sweetwater Gridsters Improve As Season Advances; Plans To Upset Lubbock Made By Mustang Mentors

Taking things seriously despite the fact they are touchdown favorites for the moment, Lubbock High school's Westerner footballers pounded through a warm workout yesterday in preparation for tomorrow night's tiff with Sweetwater High school's Mustangs, District 3 title contenders.

Coaches Weldon Chapman, Goober Keyes and Bennie McWilliams attempted to make the Westerners forget last week's parade against Snyder, and look to a much tougher combat Friday night when the Mustangs arrive.

Arrive Tomorrow

Coaches Ed Hennig, Braxton Gilmore and Larry Priddy and 18 Sweetwater High players are expected to arrive in Lubbock about midafternoon Friday.

Reports from Sweetwater indicate a sweeping improvement in the Mustang ranks. Starting the season as a very weak sister, the Mustang crew has improved steadily from week to week, defeating Cisco and Eastland recently and showing considerable strength in those games.

"Railbirds and second guessers were pleased early this week," a Sweetwater sports writer announces, "with the zip, fire and fight displayed by the Mustangs as the coaches hustled the youngsters through preparations for their game Friday night in Lubbock.

"Pleased were they to see that two former Pony players had been promoted from the ranks of the B team to that of the A squad and that the two meriting the promotion were giving the old heads a tough scrap for the positions in dispute.

See Lubbock Plays

"The two Ponies moved up were Cotton Spencer, former guard on the Pony squad, and Riley Simmons, a center. Spencer is working at end position, and Simmons at a tackle post. Both lads are giving demonstrations of the stuff—fight—that brought them promotion. It is possible these two will start against the Westerners."

Other changes are being made in the Sweetwater lineup, the account says, with backs as well as linemen alternating in long and strenuous practice sessions.

"The coaches have been spending considerable time on a defense against the Westerner spinners, reverses and 'sucker' plays," the paper continues.

"With one Mustang team equipped with Lubbock plays, the other was put on defense trying to solve the probable attack of the Westerners . . . . but the Mustangs are not devoting all of their time to defensive tactics. They are getting plenty of instructions on an offense to use against the Westerners."

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the Lubbock-Sweetwater game, which starts at 8 o'clock Friday night, are on sale at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers.

It is Lubbock's last game until the powerful Pampa Harvesters come here a week from Saturday to open the District 1 championship race.

"Merchandize" Skeet Shoot Is Scheduled Sunday; Men To Compete For Groceries

Skeet shooters from Lubbock and surrounding towns, possibly as far away as Amarillo and Big Spring, will compete in a "merchandize" shoot at the Lubbock Skeet and Gun club Sunday, Jack McCreary, president, has announced.

Thirty local business firms have donated approximately $100 worth of prizes, running from groceries to shaving sets, which will be put on display at Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers this afternoon.

The firms offering prizes are: Terry and Childress Hardware, Piggly Wiggly stores, Hub Clothiers, Mallory's, Hotel Lubbock Drug, Wooten Wholesale grocery, J. C. Penney, Redwine Drug, Moore Bros. Hardware, Hanna-Pope, Bowen's Drug, Hemphill-Wells, Mark Halsey Drug, Halbert's Grocery, Clark's Drug, 19th Street Pharmacy, Tyson grocery, Walton's men's shop, King's jewelry, F. E. Crume, Dalby Motor freight, Everybody's Service Station, Furr Food Stores, Levine's, Jones and Gann service station and Amarillo Hardware company.

British Golfers And Tennis Stars Go Home Empty Handed

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. (AP) — Two British sport expeditions which failed to achieve their objectives in their country—the men's Ryder cup golf team and the women's Wightman cup tennis squad—leave America's shores tomorrow night empty-handed but not discouraged.

The invading golfers, beaten nine to three, parted with the valuable gold cup in one of the worst defeats of the series, while the tennis players' bid to recover the international trophy fell short by only one point. They were beaten four matches to three at Forest Hills.

Detton Shows Old Form In Taking LaRue In Two Falls Of Main Mat Tilt

Strong Men Perform With Stratton In Winning Role

Dorry Detton, the Salt Lake City Mormon, returned to the local wrestling wars last night after nearly a year's absence and demonstrated he still has the grappling "it" by snapping off John "Legs" LaRue of Dallas in two straight falls of a scheduled three-fall main event at Sled Allen's Auditorium.

Brown as a pecan and lithe as a panther after nine months of seaside sunning and middleweight wrangling on the Pacific coast, Detton threw off the fatigue of yesterday's drive from El Paso and threw on his familiar flying blocks and scissors to thwart a stubborn attack from La Rue in 21 minutes of the first fall and 19 of the second. Then it was all over.

LaRue Threatens Twice

LaRue, by the way, was fighting one of his best fights last night, using long, wiry legs to advantage in keeping Detton well under control for a large part of both rounds. But in the end it was the same Dory, a highly respectable and respected citizen, with the same clever footwork, the same brainy headwork and the same fast wrestling, embellished with more experience and more poundage, that made him one of the most popular grapplers ever to work in this circuit that annexed victory.

Once in the first fall, with his belly-crushing hook scissors, and once in the second with a neck-squeezing leg scissors, LaRue made serious threats. His legs long enough to put on a terrific hook scissors about the opponent's middle, Long John gave Detton some anxious moments. The match went along slowly for the first 20 minutes, then suddenly Detton went to work with his flying block, catching LaRue three times with smashing collisions, and smothering him for the fall in 21 flat.

Detton tried his "bulldog" slam in the second fall, but to no avail, being unable to follow it up with a body block, and then almost got in trouble as LaRue fixed his right leg around Detton's neck. Thrice the tiring Detton worked out, and on the fourth time he caught LaRue's legs, forced him backward and up, and pinned him in 19 minutes.

Stratton Tames Blacksmith

Promoter Allen gave a crowd of about 1,600 fans a good show last night, bringing together in a special "strong man" event two worthy muscle men who have added wrestling ability to their body building routine. Pleasant Walter Stratton from Des Moines, holder of eight American and two world records for weight lifting, met Blacksmith Pedigo from Louisville, Ky., and it was quite a scrap.

Stratton won, applying his powerful shoulders and arms to a full nelson and swinging on until the Blacksmith, himself possessed of extraordinary strength, gave up in anguish before he was brought down. He writhed on the floor for a full minute after giving up, acting as if his neck was broken. It required two men to get him to the dressing room.

They hammered and twisted each other something pitiful for 18 minutes, at which time Stratton locked on his nelson. It was with this hold that he threw Buck Weaver a week ago. The match started slowly, with the biscuit-bodied men, the Blacksmith snarling and self-confident, Stratton smiling and dancing, sparring at each other and opening carefully. It did not wax rough until late, when Pedigo used his fists a few times and indulged in a bit of choking, all the while growling like a mother bear whose cub has been caught in a trap.

Van Bebber In Draw

Between the first and second falls of the main event, Stratton returned to the ring and impressed the gathering with an exhibition of muscular control, weight lifting and bar-bell drill.

Jack Van Bebber's scheduled "comeback" fell on an unappreciative crowd. His preliminary match with Blondy Crane of Abilene resulted in a scoreless tie after 20 minutes, and it was crammed with anything but action. Slow and without the graceful movements that made him one of the best amateurs in the country and a good professional for a year after he turned pro, Van Bebber failed to get going. Crane, a clean, active person who made his debut here, got a stake hold after 10 minutes of useless and colorless grappling during which many fans napped, and action picked up a bit. Jack stood off the stake hold, breaking clear and retaliating with a split, his most important gesture.

Oklahoma City Greets Cream Of Golf Links

National Pro Tournament To Start This Morning; Twin Hills Course Is Scene Of Heavy Activity

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 16. (AP)—The glittering pick of the gentry good enough at golf to make it their business as well as their hobby were keyed tonight for another keen grind to crown a winner.

The rugged, tree-lined, gully-cut Twin Hills course has been the scene of a lot of fun this past week, but the going gets serious at 7:30 a. m. tomorrow, when more than 100 competitors will whack their first tee shots in the 18th annual national tournament of the Professional Golfers' association. Twin Hills, the private course of Dorset Carter, sr., blossomed in earnest today with the preliminary doings of a large tournament. Bunting and hot dog stands went up, and the practice galleries grew as the last of the golfing "somebodies" arrived for this, the most imposing event of the world of sport ever to be played in Oklahoma.

Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., is here to defend the title he won at Buffalo last year, and the little fellow is roundly regarded as a big threat to repeat. Several have termed Twin Hills "just his kind" of a course—not too long but requiring every shot down the straight and narrow.

But eight of his Ryder Cup teammates are on the ground to see that he does not repeat. One, Gene ("I need a title") Sarazen, came a full week ahead to familiarize himself with the layout. Olin Dutra is the only Ryder selection not competing.

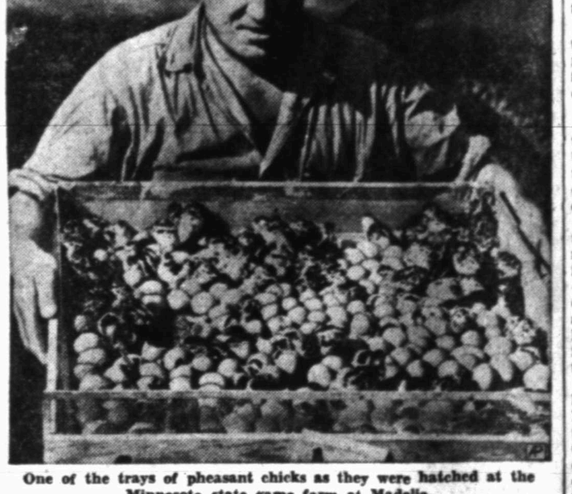

Walter Hagen, who has won the P. G. A. five times, more than any other, got a big following when he appeared on the course today, the gallery totaling approximately 400 persons.

Runyan's Crown Sought By Professional Golfers

A brilliant field of golfers will have to be overcome by Paul Runyan (center), of White Plains, N. Y., if he successfully defends his national professional golf championship crown at Oklahoma City, October 17-22. A big group of seasoned veterans will oppose him, including such outstanding players as Gene Sarazen (left), Olin Dutra (lower left), and Walter Hagan (lower right). (Associated Press Photo)

Minnesota Hatches Pheasants By The Thousands For Its Hunters

One of the trays of pheasant chicks as they were hatched at the Minnesota state game farm at Madelia.

MADELIA, Minn., Oct. 16. (AP) — Twelve thousand pheasant dinners are in the making for Minnesota hunters next fall.

Hatched in electrical incubators, the chicks are cared for until they are able to stand afield, then are distributed by state game officials and sportsmen organizations in areas where they will find sufficient cover and feed.

Normally these pheasant chicks never would have seen the light of day. They have hatched from about 40,000 eggs that otherwise would have spoiled or been destroyed had it not been for sportsmen organizations, which undertook an egg rescue campaign this year.

Eggs were gathered by the thousands in fields and along waysides where mowers cut off the first crop of hay. These were eggs the hens never would have returned to but because of the egg campaign, Minnesota's pheasant population will be increased 12,000 this year.

About 30,000 eggs were gathered in this fashion, while employees of the state game farm here had found about 20,000 more. About 10,000 of those gathered by sportsmen were not fertile and were destroyed. Of the remaining 20,000 a hatch of about 50 per cent resulted.

The hatch of the 20,000 eggs gathered by the state game farm employees yielded about 70 per cent though these eggs were subjected to more careful handling and had not been shipped in by rail or bus.

In former years, common hens have been used to hatch pheasant eggs but with development of the electric incubator plan by Frank Blair, state propagation superintendent at the farm, about three times as many chicks as before were hatched this year.

Judging from results this year, Blair expects to increase the Minnesota pheasant population many thousand next year.

Schmeling To Be Easy---Joe

Chocolate Soldier Says Max Schmeling Will Be An Easy Mark For Him; Will Go On Through Champ Braddock

DETROIT, Oct. 16. (AP)—Joe Louis catalogued Max Schmeling as "easy" today and then declared he would "go right into" James J. Braddock whenever he meets the New Jersey longshoreman in a heavyweight championship bout.

The "brown bomber," in Detroit for a brief court appearance as witness in a civil suit involving a member of his entourage, never has seen the German in the ring. But he said he has a definite idea of the style and ability of the former champion, who in all probability will be his next opponent, sometime in 1936.

On the basis of a close study of the motion pictures of Schmeling's fights with Young Stribling, Jack Sharkey and Max Baer, Joe quietly drawled:

Friends With Braddock

"I don't think he's so hot. From those pictures it looks like he can be hit with either hand and I don't think he can punch—at least not enough to hurt me much. He'll be easy."

The dusky dynamiter intimated the German will not give him as much trouble as did Baer, who fell in the fourth round.

"What do I think about Braddock? Well, he and I's good friends and I'm not saying anything against him. But I wouldn't go around him if we meet—I'd go right into him the same as I always do."

Joe isn't worrying about when his next fight will be held. He leaves all that to his managers, who pointed out to Madison Square Garden recently that Louis is under option until 1940 to Mike Jacobs and the Twentieth Century Sporting club.

The bomber is starting on an exhibition tour within a few days and says he is near ring condition now.

The youthful Louis, whose wedding took place an hour or so before he knocked Baer out, was asked how he liked married life.

"Oh, there's nothing like it, right now," he grinned and then stammered, "I mean all the time!"

Night motorcycle races have drawn large crowds in California during the 1935 season.

Center Is More Than Passer; He's Key Defense Man

BY JIMMY DONAHUE
Sketches by Buzz Wetzel

The change to a five and six-man line of defense has made a back out of the center.

In past years, anything but a seven-man line was unheard of. But with the advent of the lateral, a five and six-man forward wall has been set up as a defense against this method of offense, allotting more men to the backfield to combat the aerial attack.

The center, when drawn back from the line, has the responsibility of calling out the various types of defense for field play. In some games a team switches its defense to meet various offensive maneuvers.

If playing a zone defense, or a combined zone and man-for-man defense, the center is responsible for a certain section of the line.

On offense, the center of today is the key of the attack. He must keep the ball pointed straight ahead, so he does not give away the play. His feet are kept on a straight line with one another to enable guards to pull out. The modern snapper-back must be a fast charger and good blocker, for his duties don't cease after he has passed the ball.

The lateral pass has given him the opportunity to carry the oval, and you'll find a lot of centers running down the field this year, grabbing a lateral out of the air.

Cowboys Meet Lamesa Today

Lubbock Junior High Gridmen Face Lamesa Juniors Here At 3:30 O'Clock; Game Is Booked For Tech Field

Coaches Mule Davis and Lovie Liston send their Lubbock Junior High school Cowboys, conquerors of Littlefield's juniors in their latest game, against the strong Lamesa Whirlwinds, junior gridders of the Dawson county capital.

The game is to start at 3:30 o'clock, at the Texas Tech field.

The Lubbock lineup probably will consist of Ernest Winters and Wayne Johnston or O. B. Southard at ends; Homer Hensley and Joe Pytell at tackles; Jerry Nash and Leroy Stewart at guards; Lloyd Sanders at center; Dutchy Cawthon at quarterback; Bill Sessions at fullback and Hugh Harbert and Harold Parsons, halfbacks.

Indianapolis Golf Tourney Committee Is Charged With Giving 'Bad Check' Prizes

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 16 (AP)—County Prosecutor Herbert M Spencer announced tonight that Robert Harlow, tournament manager of the Professional Golfers' Association of America, has alleged that checks awarded in the recent Indianapolis $5,000 open tourney were worthless.

The Indiana department, veterans of foreign wars, sponsored the tourney which ended here October 6.

Spencer said Harlow informed him that a $1,000 check given to Al Espinosa of Akron, O., first place winner, came back marked "no funds," and that Harlow was here to see that Espinosa and the other professionals obtained their money.

Frenship School Cagers Cop Double Bill From O'Donnell

WOLFFORTH, Oct. 16 (Special)—The Frenship school girl basketball teams made a clean sweep of a double header with O'Donnell here tonight. The Frenship "A" team won from the corresponding team from O'Donnell, 35 to 25, with Helen Alexander leading the attack with 22 points. In the second game, the Frenship "B" team won, 40 to 10, Thelma Jenkins and Ila Jean Davis leading the scoring with 15 points each.

Kathryn Bailey stood out as the leading guard on the floor.

Matador Squad Sweats It Out In Long Drill

Lights Go On For Practice As Tech Gridders Undergo Hard Grind; Coaches Contemplate Changes In Lineup

They didn't exactly burn the midnight electricity out at Texas Tech field last night, but when the glimmers did go off, it wasn't far to this morning. And lights were not the only things which burned.

Coaches Pete Cawthon and Dutchy Smith forgot supper time, and when it became too dark for the regular afternoon workout, the incandescents went on and the work went on. It was a rough workout, just like they'll all be until Wednesday when the squad boards the special train for Los Angeles and the game Friday night with Loyola's Red Lions.

The coaches began their remodeling campaign yesterday, but so many positions are still in doubt that to go into detail now might mean a retraction of statements later in the week.

Shockers Move Up

From the ranks of the shock troopers will come men bidding for Team No. 1 positions, and as the shuttling continues, hitherto recognized regulars may find themselves shunted to the background.

Regulars made a feeble showing Saturday, the second and third stringers going better, if there was any contrast at all, than the main team against De Paul's Demons at Soldier Field, Chicago.

Although it was a scoreless tie and Tech remains undefeated this season, the Matadors, coaches and players, consider that game a moral defeat for them, and the work this week is as hard and driving as if the Matadors had drawn a 20 to 0 licking by an inferior team.

Mrs. Moody, Fred Perry Head Ranks In Tennis World

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. (AP)—As a reward for her comeback conquest at Wimbledon, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody once again has been designated the foremost woman tennis player of the world.

This ranking, which she held for seven years until she retired from competition late in 1933, was restored by A. Wallis Myers, prominent British expert, whose selections generally are accepted as official by the tennis world.

Helen Jacobs, four times American champion and victim of Mrs. Moody in the historic three set Wimbledon final this year, was rated second but only after Myers had given serious thought to bracketing her with Mrs. Moody, he said.

"But any player who can win the title at Wimbledon from 5-2 down in the third set against such a ruthless opponent as Miss Jacobs has earned pride of place," Myers concluded.

Allison Is Fourth

Kay Stammers, the English girl who scored victories over both American Helens, was ranked third.

Fred J. Perry again was accorded No. 1 spot in the men's division, Jack Crawford of Australia and Baron Gottfried Von Cramm of Germany retained second and third, respectively; Wilmer Allison, American champion, fourth; H. W. (Bunny) Austin, England, fifth; Donald Budge, Oakland, Calif., sixth; Frank X. Shields, New York, seventh; Vivian McGrath, Australia, eighth; Christian Boussus, France, ninth, and Sidney B. Wood, jr., New York, tenth.

Terrorism In Mexico Seen

Further Rumors Reach International Boundary Wednesday; Governor Will Seek Federal Help.

NOGALES, Sonora, Oct. 16 (AP)—Rumors of more terrorism reached the international boundary here tonight as Gov. Ramon Ramos of Sonora flew to Mexico, D. F., to seek federal aid against roving rebel bands.

Governor Ramos, recently inaugurated in a tense ceremony marked by a protest parade of thousands left Hermosillo by plane to ask President Cardenas for troops, arms and ammunition.

Mayor Said Slain

One unconfirmed report reaching here said the rebels had swooped down on the town of Sahuaripa, about 170 miles southeast of here, last night, and killed its mayor, Pablo Cordova.

Nine persons previously had been killed by the raiders, who turned against the government's religious and agrarian policies ten days ago.

Federal soldiers and deputized citizens continued to guard Nogales and Agua Prieta. Across the border at Nogales, Ariz., the armory was being watched lest the rebels raid the arsenal to replenish their supplies.

Assurance Sought

Various assurances failed to satisfy the National City bank of New York that five prominent Americans on a hunting trip in the Sonora mountains were safe after having been relieved of their firearms and ammunition by the rebel band.

The band dispatched J. J. McNamee, its advertising manager, to Douglas, Ariz., by airplane. He was asked to get direct word from the hunting party if possible. One of the hunters is J. H. Durrell, a vice president of the bank.

From Hermosillo, the state capital, government planes have already hopped off seeking to locate the rebel band.

Decisions By U. S. Delayed

Attitude Toward Sanctions Of League Is Not Revealed By Officials; Hull Avoids Any Commitments

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP) — The United States was represented in official quarters tonight as determined to withhold any decisions on its attitude toward League of Nations sanctions against Italy until the countries directly concerned have defined a clear-cut program.

This word capped a cautious discussion by Secretary Roper of suggestions that the United States embargo against arms and munitions exports to Italy and Ethiopia could be extended to include raw materials for war.

Would Be Inferable

Asked at a press conference if a League ban on such materials for Italy might be ineffective if this country did not participate, Roper said "that would be inferable, at least." He added that the national munitions board of which he is a member is not yet prepared to make any recommendations on this question to the president.

In another quarter it was said that after Italy, Great Britain, France and other League members have agreed upon definite courses regarding specific issues, Secretary Hull will examine each question in any way affecting the United States before a decision is reached.

Hull avoided any commitments today concerning United States participation in future developments.

Chess And Checker Expert Mixes With Local Players

Newell W. Banks, Detroit, lost one game at chess and drew two at checkers when he met 19 local players simultaneously in Lubbock hotel ballroom last night.

J. R. Taylor was winner of the chess game. Draws at checkers were gained by Leonard Ware, a Texas Technological college sophomore, and Otho Clendennen. After Banks completed the simultaneous exhibit, he played four games at checkers without sight of the boards. At the same time, he engaged in a game at chess. Blind folded, he defeated V. C. Stanphill, former Texas checker champion; Ware, and Charles Graves, and drew with Clendennen.

About 40 persons, who did not play, saw the exhibit.

NEWS BRIEFS

Completion of organization for Lubbock county teachers' evening class will be made at 7 p. m. today in room 210, administration building at Texas Technological college. The class will study technique of curriculum production.

W. E. Renfrow, state highway patrolman, has returned from Vernon, where he aided Wichita Falls officers to conduct a campaign aimed at defective automobiles.

Dr. Bradford Knapp, president of Texas Technological college, will make a dedicatory address Friday night when Slaton and Brownfield teams meet in the new stadium at Slaton. Thursday noon he will address Levelland Rotary club on adult education and National Youth administration programs.

Charged with rudely displaying a pistol in a public place, a 35-year-old negro Wednesday pleaded guilty when arraigned before J. T. Trigg, justice of the peace, and was fined $1 and costs. Deferred judgment was entered. He was one of two negroes who exchanged shots without injury Tuesday afternoon in the Flats. The other negro had not been arrested late Wednesday.

A 23-year-old woman who Tuesday while in jail attempted suicide by severance of forearm arteries with a broken bottle Wednesday pleaded guilty of drunkenness before Justice of the Peace J. T. Trigg and was remanded to jail in lieu of fine of $1 and costs. Improved, she said she was "on the water wagon for life." She told officers a man had picked her up on the Littlefield road and had given her two drinks. She said she believed she had been drugged. She had never been in jail before, she said.

Included in "Proceedings of the Geological Society of America" is an abstract from a paper delivered by Dr. Leroy T. Patton, head of the geology department at Texas Technological college, at a meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Pittsburgh last December. Subject of the paper is "Some Observations on the So-called 'Lakes' of the Llano Estacado of Texas."

A West Texas Cotton Co-operative association branch office has been opened at Ralls, with R. M. McCurdy, formerly of Dublin, as manager.

More than 50 teachers are expected at Ralls tonight, when it is proposed to organize a County Rural Teachers association. R. H. Nowlin, Crosby county superintendent, will be principal speaker, and M. L. Kelly will direct the program.

J. O. Jones, Dr. Bradford Knapp, and Ray Allen left Lubbock Wednesday afternoon for Austin, where they planned joining a West Texas delegation that left earlier in the day for a conference with the Centennial commission of control Thursday morning. Approximately 26 representatives were to hold a caucus at an Austin hotel Wednesday night.

Orphans of Mrs. W. T. Milam's Opportunity home will be guests of Palace theater Friday afternoon at showing of "O'Shaughnessy's Boy," featuring Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper.

A Lubbock man paid a fine of $15, a woman of $10 Wednesday after pleading guilty in corporation court to complaints charging theft under $50 resulting from loss of a blanket by a tourist camp.

Deadline for nominations for a queen for La Remuda is 5 o'clock this afternoon. La Remuda, which will take the place of the rodeo given the last few years, will be conducted Oct. 25. Social clubs meeting Wednesday evening were to make nominations and give them to John Manning or Winburn McAlister. Election will be conducted Monday.

Three swindling with worthless check complaints were filed Wednesday in county court.

Winifred McNabb, eight-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. McNabb of Meadow underwent surgery to correct an intestinal disorder Wednesday night at Lubbock sanitarium. His condition apparently was improved early this morning.

F. M. Lester, said by police to be a cab driver, was taken to West Texas hospital at 10 p. m. Wednesday for treatment of a stab wound under the left arm. The man, who lives at 2316 Ninth street, was not considered in serious condition but was kept at the hospital overnight for observation. Police said they had arrested a 51-year-old man in connection with Lester's wounding, which, they said, happened at a wrestling match.

Contract For Hotel Is Let

Work Of Remodeling Lubbock Hotel To Start In City On Monday; Extensive Plans On Building Arranged

Awarding to W. G. McMillan, local contractor, of a $10,000 contract, which included two sub-contracts, for construction on the Lubbock hotel was officially announced Wednesday afternoon. Work will begin Monday and will last approximately two months, McMillan said.

Delta Electric company and Roche Newton plumbing company were given sub-contracts.

An open court between the ballroom and the junior ballroom on the mezzanine floor will be filled in to make a 50 foot square ballroom Three private dining rooms will be placed where the junior ballroom now is and the present ballroom will become a banquet hall.

Walls To Harmonize

New exterior of the building made by the wall which will fill in the court to make the ballroom will harmonize with the present exterior, McMillan said.

Minor changes will be made in the coffee shop. New floors will be placed in the kitchens.

McMillan's contract does not include kitchen equipment or installation of an ice water circulating system. A total of approximately $50,000 will be spent for remodeling and additions, according to officials.

The ice water system is being installed this week.

Higher Institutions Being Urged To Require Course In Bible For Studes

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 16. (AP)—An appeal to universities and institutions of higher education to make courses in Bible and religious study compulsory was issued by the international convention of the Disciples of Christ assembled here today.

The resolution, passed by the committee of 300 and adopted by the general convention, recommends that colleges and universities introduce Bible study courses and make credits in those courses necessary for all students seeking diplomas.

Another resolution pledged social education and activity as part of the church's objectives for the coming year. The church will work toward social security legislation, according to the resolution.

THE CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN

Ladies and gentlemen:
The circus has come to town—
Listen to the circus band—
The lion's roar—
The laughter of clowns—
And, leading the parade are Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper, the screen pals of "The Champ' and "Treasure Island," who bring you all the thrills of the Big Top in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, "O'Shaughnessy's Boy,'

WHICH WILL BE AT THE PALACE FRIDAY AND SAT.

Every One Likes A Circus

Do you like the circus. Of course you do—who doesn't? And Wally and Jackie have had the time of their lives making this picture of circus life. They invite you to water the elephant, come under the Big Top, climb aboard the circus train and travel with the show.

And what a show!

It has elephants, lions, tigers, monkeys, camels, water buffalo, polar bears—all the animals you can think of, and the greatest circus act you have ever seen.

Wally, as "Windy" a famous animal trainer does an act with a tiger, an elephant and a hoop of fire that you have never seen before—at the circus or on the screen—because it has never been accomplished in the history of the circus—but Wally does it!

This, and other dangerous animal acts, a big circus parade, the menagerie tent, the side show—in fact, the whole circus—have been brought to the screen by Wally and Jackie.

GREAT CAST

Wally and Jackie are surrounded by a great cast—Spanky McFarland, of "Our Gang" fame; Henry Stephenson, Sarah Haden, Clarence Muse and Ben Hendricks.

Remember! The performance starts under the Big Top at the Palace Theatre tomorrow at 1 p. m.

The EYES
and why they cross...

A MESSAGE EVERY MOTHER AND TEACHER SHOULD READ

(Reprinted by Permission)

GOOD EYESIGHT is the birthright of every child." At birth vision is very imperfect, but after a few weeks the child begins to notice objects, and his vision improves. As his eyes develop, normally, he begins to see objects with both eyes, he has binocular single vision. If his eyes are badly farsighted, or more especially if one eye is badly farsighted and the other normal, he will be unable to "Fuse" the objects seen with his two eyes. He will lack the fusion sense which keeps both eyes working together. As a result he will see clearly with the one eye, and neglect the image of the other, and this eye crosses. Eyes are not crossed by measles, whooping cough, and other diseases of childhood, unless there is present the underlying reasons stated above.

Eye physicians have found that 90% of all cases of crossed eyes occur between the ages of one and four years. It is thought that the fusion of objects seen with the two eyes begins about the end of the first year of life, and fusion development is completed about the end of the sixth year. The fundamental principles involved in treating these cases, then, is fusion training. Hence we see the importance of treating these cases early. An oculist should be consulted when the eyes first cross. The time to begin treating a crossed eye is as soon as it crosses if possible, within a few days or weeks. The treatment should begin with a very careful examination to determine the state of the eye. The oculist can determine the total disturbances, and will be able to direct his treatment properly.

Usually it will be found as indicated above that the child is farsighted in both eyes or in one eye only, and frequently with astigmatism in one or both eyes. In such cases the proper procedure is to place accurately fitted glasses on the child. Some may think it foolish to place glasses on a small child, but a child a year old or over can and will wear glasses with ease. In very early cases, properly fitted glasses will usually suffice to correct the fusion sense and therefore correct the crossing. In cases that have gone on for a few months or even years active means of fusion training and training of the crossed eye will have to be instituted. In all the cases the utmost care and cooperation on the part of the mother is imperative.

We frequently see children ten years of age and older who are brought for treatment of a crossed eye. Parents have been advised by friends, and occasionally a doctor who does not deal with the eyes in particular, to wait until the child is older before having their eyes treated. Results are always bad. In over 90% of such cases the crossed eye can see only about one-tenth normal, and cannot be improved to a great extent. These eyes can be operated, and straightened, but they cannot be made to see very well.

Lubbock—Wholesale Center

LUBBOCK's position as a wholesale center for this section of Texas is again emphasized by the 11th semi-annual West Tex-New Mex Wholesale clothing market, dates of which are October 19 to 23.

Not many are aware of the fact that this city is the market for many business concerns throughout the year; that hotel sample rooms throughout the 12 months house many traveling men who regularly display goods to merchants.

In Lubbock are ten or twelve traveling clothing salesmen who reside here, call this city headquarters and spend the week-end here. Most of these men have regular sample rooms at one of the hotels. These rooms are open every Sunday in the year, to customers.

On a bright Sunday, just before the opening of spring, summer, fall and winter seasons, many clothing merchants in nearby towns drive here to inspect the stocks of these men. Other salesmen are here from every few weeks to every six months, with lines shown in a sample room.

Not only is Lubbock a center for clothing, but for other lines as well. Dry goods, ladies ready-to-wear, shoes, drugs, novelties, sundries, etc., also are shown here.

Other wholesale lines, bread and pastries, plumbing goods, barber and beauty supplies, candies, cigars, tobaccos, groceries and various other items are carried by local wholesale men. While some of these lines do not draw people here in the same spectacular way that other goods do, they all have a part in making Lubbock a wholesale center.

KEEPING IT IN MIND

Regardless of the specific merit of various new proposals aiming at the promotion of highway safety, such as the suggestion of a New Jersey conference that driving shall be made an elective course in high schools and that at least one per cent of all state revenues from motor use shall be allocated to attack upon road hazards, and the move of the Pennsylvania highway department to lessen the danger of driving in mountainous districts in fog, these moves are encouraging evidence of a quickening public consciousness of the gravity of the motor toll.

For 20 years there has been agitation over the rate of automobile slaughter. There has been an enormous multiplication of motor cars on the road. At the same time there has been demand for higher speed, and manufacturers have supplied the power called for, at the same time building sturdier cars and equipping them with more efficient brakes and more durable tires. Everybody is driving faster than most people did 20 years ago and better cars and better equipment undoubtedly have lifted the margin of safety in speed. Increase in the death and accident rates is due to the drivers, rather than to the cars. The needed gadget is something to control the driver's mind in the interest of safety.

Painting yellow lines on straight and safe sections of highway to enable the driver on a fog-bound road to distinguish between them and the white-marked danger sections is not a measure that will get far by itself, nor will teaching high school students to drive safely insure their post-graduate practice of the best precepts. But these measures indicate, among hundreds of others, enlivened official concern with road safety. And they add to the accumulatory reminders that there is danger on the highway, which may help.

SILKEN SPINDLES

by Laura Lou Brookman — © 1935 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GALE HENDERSON, pretty and 23, works in a silk mill. She and her 19-year-old brother, PHIL, support their invalid father.

STEVE MEYERS, who also works in the mill, asks Gale to marry him. She delays giving the answer. Meanwhile, she meets BRIAN WESTMORE whose father, now dead, built the mill. Brian is much attracted to Gale but, through the trickery of VICKY THATCHER, society beauty, Gale concludes Brian's attentions are insincere.

Vicky, whose father, ROBERT THATCHER, is general manager of the mill, is scheming to win Brian for herself.

Phil loses his job. ED VOGEL, mill employe, is shot in a street fight and Phil is arrested, accused of firing the gun. Gale goes to see Phil. Later she asks Steve if there is news of Vogel.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIII

Steve shook his head. "No," he said. "I called the hospital a little while ago and they said Vogel was just the same."

Gale's eyes searched his. "Then what is it? There's something—"

"Wait until we get outside,' Steve told her. When they were on the street he went on, "I thought I was going to have good news for you but Wilkins, the lawyer I hoped would help us, is out of town. May not be back for a week, they said."

"We've got to have a lawyer," Gale said firmly. "Everyone's against Phil and, oh, Steve, he's innocent! We've got to do something!"

"I know. There's a fellow Joe Gillaspie was telling me about—young fellow who hasn't been practicing law very long. Joe said he's smart though of course, he hasn't had as much experience as some of the other lawyers. I'll find out where he lives and have a talk with him tonight."

"Will you, Steve? Oh, I hope you can persuade him! It's so dreadful—Phil in that jail and nobody doing anything to help him!"

"A lawyer is the only one who can help him. I'll see this fellow Joe told me about. If he won't take the case I'll find someone who will."

"Oh, Steve, I'll be so grateful!"

"I only wish I could do more Gale."

They walked in silence for a few moments. "The main thing," Steve went on, "is that you mustn't worry. It won't help and you'll only make yourself sick. You've got to be calm about this, Gale. Got to keep your nerve—"

"I'll try. I've been trying!"

"You've done a swell job," he told her, "so far. And I know you're going to keep it up. You can't go back on Phil, you know."

* * *

The words ran through her head like a refrain. It was what she must remember, what she must tell herself over and over again. She couldn't go back on Phil! He needed her as he had never needed her before. Phil falsely arrested, held in jail. Facing the possibility of a trial for murder. Phil, her little brother, accused of shooting a man—

A sob burst from Gale's lips. "But he didn't do it!" she cried. "Oh, Steve, he didn't!"

"See here—you promised to keep hold of yourself. You're not going to let yourself. You're not going

"No—"

"All right then. We've got to keep our heads. It's the only way we can do anything to help Phil I want you to promise—"

"I promise, Steve! I'll be all right. I won't forget again."

She said goodby at the door of her home. Steve said he'd drop in after he'd seen the lawyer and tell her the news. He went on down the street and Gale went up the steps slowly. A thousand years, it seemed since she'd climbed those steps the night before.

Her father looked up from his book. "Late, aren't you?" he asked.

"Yes. I—walked over town with Steve."

Tom Henderson went on with his reading. It was going to be hard to tell him what had happened—terribly hard.

Gale went through to the kitchen where Mary Cassidy was standing before the stove. Mary turned and asked, "Did you see him?"

"Phil? Yes, I saw him."

"How is he?"

"Oh, he's all right. He'll have to stay where he is—at least for a while. They won't let him leave until they know about Vogel."

"Mrs. O'Connor told me Vogel's awful bad."

"Yes. Steve telephoned the hospital a little while ago. They still won't say whether he's going to live or not."

Ruthie Cassidy got up from where she was sitting by the window. She had a sheet of paper and a pencil with which she had been drawing. Ruthie held out the finished sketch for Gale to inspect.

"See," she said proudly, "I been makin' a picture!"

The sketch showed something that might have been a house. There were windows and a door rather disproportionate, and on top a roof with a chimney from which smoke was issuing. Yes, there was even a garden in front of the house with a flower, almost as tall as the dwelling itself, blooming in the foreground.

"Now, Ruthie, run along," her mother said harshly. "Don't bother Gale with your nonsense. The poor girl's near at her wit's end—"

"It's very fine," Gale told the child gently. "I didn't know you could make such nice pictures."

"Want to see me make one?"

"Not now. I'd like to watch you some other time." Gale turned again to Mary. "Father hasn't heard anything?"

"No. I told him I thought Phil went out when you did this morning. I had to make up somethin', God forgive me."

"Yes, of course."

"You poor lamb! I know you dread tellin' him about it."

Gale said, "Yes, but there's no use putting it off." She went back into the living room. All day she had been dreading the moment when she must tell her father about the shooting and Phil's part in it.

The ordeal proved easier than she had expected. Tom Henderson listened, asked a few questions. When Gale had finished he said, "Phil didn't mean to do any wrong. I know that."

"He didn't do it, Father! He didn't!"

Tom Henderson shook his head. "No," he said, "I don't think he did. And if the boy's innocent there must be a way to prove it. You say Steve's gone to see a lawyer?"

"He's going tonight. He said he'd stop here afterward."

Tom Henderson took his daughter's hand. He said almost the same words Steve had used. "Try not to worry, Gale. It can't do any good and you'll only get yourself worked up. We'll find some way to help Phil—"

Gale turned so that he could not see that her eyes were moist. She said, "Yes Father." For an instant the two hands clasped firmly. Then Gale said, "I'd better go help Mary—"

Her father had certainly taken the news better than she had expected. Gale was surprised. It was after the evening meal when she was wiping the dishes as Mary washed them that Mary said. "Your father don't look so good, do you think so?"

"Why—I thought he seemed rather tired."

Mary nodded. "Looks sort of peeked," she went on. "I noticed it when he first come to the table. I don't believe all that readin' he does is good for him. Sits there all day with his nose in a book. And he didn't eat nothin'—hardly nothin'. But then you didn't eat more than a mouthful yourself."

"I wasn't hungry."

"You ought to eat just the same. A body can't keep goin' 'less they eat."

Gale did not answer. Her eyes were on the clock on the shelf across the room. She said, "I suppose it's too early to look for Steve yet."

"Did he say when he'd come?"

"No. Just said he'd stop in after he'd seen the lawyer."

Mary soaped the dishcloth and washed a plate. "Lawyers," she said, "cost money."

"I don't care about that. I'll work—I'll find some way to pay if only they will set Phil free. You see he didn't do it, Mary! He didn't have anything at all to do with it. The whole thing was framed—!"

"I know! I know!" Mary had heard all that before. She washed another dish. "I don't say I believe it," she went on, "but I think you oughta know what they're sayin'. They're sayin' Phil and Ed Vogel was fightin' over that no-'count Ruby Griffith. They say there'd been trouble between 'em before. I was down to the grocery this mornin' and I heard Sam Watson shootin' off his mouth about it. I told him they wasn't a word of truth in it!"

Gale said, "Yes, I know. I heard the same thing at the mill. It isn't true, but that doesn't help Phil any. Everybody seems to be against him. Everybody seems to believe—"

A knock on the living room door interrupted. Gale put down the dish she was wiping and said, "Maybe that's Steve!" She hurried to open the door.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

NO matter how hard the League of Nations cracks down, authentic diplomatic advices report that Italy is prepared for a two-year war against the world. Il Duce is supposed to have salted away enough gold and raw materials to subsist for that period without commercial or financial reinforcements from the outside.

Mussolini's own gold supply and appropriation of foreign securities held by Italians give him a monetary basis totalling more than $1,000,000,000. Within his own dominions he has sufficient copper, cotton, oil, etc. to feed his war machine, and this does not allow for imports from Austria, Hungary, Germany and the Balkans.

But Italy's deep and gnawing fear is the effect of Great Britain's enmity. Though he has consolidated his military and economic position at home, Mussolini cannot combat Britain's world influence. Greece, Spain and Portugal—Mediterranean nations—are traditionally pro-British, and so is the United States for that matter. Il Duce cannot counteract British propagandists in the world forum. Though he may win his present fight, he realizes that he may emerge as a world outlaw. He doesn't like the prospects at all.

GYPPED: Comptroller General McCarl may force a sweeping revision of the schedule under which the United States pays out $29,000,000 a year for ocean mail subsidies.

In seven years the government has dished out more than $200,000,000 to lines which carry the mail. The contracts are based on the speed and tonnage of the vessels employed—the faster the speed, the higher the payment. The subsidies range from $1.50 to $12.00 a pound depending on the swiftness of the ship. No checks were made to determine whether the lines were showing the time required under their contracts.

But Mr. McCarl grew suspicious when he scrutinized the logs of sample vessels. Ships supposed to make 13 knots an hour were barely making 10, and so on. More than a year ago he ordered a series of tests to determine whether the government was getting the speed it paid for. He got no action until he refused payment of $416,000 to a certain shipping company. Then the post office drafted naval navigators and engineers to investigate. So far only three of 12 tests have proved up to standard.

WET: Senator Capper's prediction that prohibition is just around the corner does not strike the government's liquor poohbahs as fantastic. They do not discuss publicly the troubles they are having with some of the nation's leading distillers and brewers.

Beer and liquor makers have made more than hay during the time when there was virtually no federal supervision of their industries—a period of almost eight months. On the ground that the federal law refers only to "interstate commerce" brewers have financed saloons within states and defied Uncle Sam to prosecute. A certain Chicago brewery is furnishing fixings, commercial backing and advertising funds to 1,000 saloons. Distillers which agreed to eliminate ads portraying women as lovers of liquor have contracted for space depicting feminine tastes. They seem to have gone mad for profits.

These excesses have revived talk of a government monopoly of liquor manufacture and sale. President Roosevelt favored that system in the early days, but so many influential Democrats owned large liquor stocks that it got nowhere. Now certain White House advisers think it the only solution if this experiment is to be preserved.

TARDY: Preliminary mistakes in framing state statutes to conform with the federal Social Security law reveal that local lawmakers must exercise extreme caution. They can benefit from the experience of authors of the District of Columbia code, which is to be used as a nationwide model.

The federal law says that unemployment compensation shall be effective only in a shop where there are eight or more employes. It also provides that states may lower the total of workers affected in accord with local needs. But D of C lawyers soon discovered that application of the law to employers of eight or more would bar thousands of employes from the law's benefits. They have found it necessary to apply this provision to employers of "one or more persons."

Difficulties like this are slowing up administration of this new social reform. It may be late in 1936 before it will get under way—too late for practical, political use in the Presidential campaign.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

JOE KENNEDY'S retirement as chairman of the Securities Exchange commission has taken him out of public life—but probably not for long. The best informed New York sources understand a sensational cabinet shift is being seriously considered which would make him secretary of the treasury.

It is most important to Mr. Roosevelt—from the angle of his renewed bid for right-wing support—that Kennedy should not become another Lew Douglas. He is too highly admired and respected all around to be allowed to join the opposition. No one associated with the New Deal commands a higher degree of confidence among conservatives. They know he knows what finance is all about and they trust both his judgment and his integrity. Secretary Morgenthau—while he stands much higher in New York esteem than he did when first appointed—is still rated a comparative amateur who would bring moderate reinforcements up in a pinch.

No move could be more shrewdly calculated to reassure business and financial leaders than the selection of Kennedy for the key Treasury post. No final decision has yet been made on the shift—but don't be surprised if it is announced before the end of the year and perhaps within a few weeks.

CREDIT: What would happen to Henry Morgenthau, Jr. under this plan? New Yorkers understand he would probably be transferred to the chairmanship of the new Federal Reserve board. It would mean sidetracking Marriner Eccles—whose reappointment has practically been confirmed in advance—but that could be arranged without upsetting anyone but Mr. Eccles. Mr. Morgenthau in this job would be a tower of strength to FDR—assuring administration of the board's new powers in accordance with White House wishes.

Whatever happens Mr. Morgenthau will remain in the picture. New Yorkers familiar with the inside situation say that he and the President stand in a Jonathan and David relationship. He has proved himself loyal, dependable, an excellent executive and coordinator. He carries out policies entrusted to him faithfully and without going off at tangents of his own. In some respects he has taken Louis Howe's place as a White House balance wheel.

Keen observers say he also rates credit for recognizing his own limitations as a financial expert and naming assistants of high calibre and experience—such as Undersecretary Jeff Coolidge.

UNRUFFLED: Curiously—considering how sharply they have criticized him for inexperience—New Yorkers are not perturbed at the thought of Morgenthau heading the Federal Reserve.

This is partly because the board — for all its broader powers under the banking act of 1935—still cannot dictate the policy of individual member banks. Bankers also remark that the board would undoubtedly take orders from the administration anyway—so what difference does it make who is chairman?

The big banks are remarkably unruffled about the new act in general—though you won't catch any of them committing the faux pas of approving it in public. They feel it will still allow them to make neat profits when money rates and the demand for credit rise. The law may be a great triumph for the people over Wall Street—as many liberals claim—but Wall Street certainly isn't worrying.

TARZAN AND THE FIRE GODS, No. 22

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The sound of firing sent Garetto scurrying down the mountainside. In the village he found his loyal cohorts fighting desperately to stem a mutiny. "It is the Light, master," Nazir cried. "They fear some disaster will befall us unless we leave this country of the Light."

Then luck came to Boris Garetto. The strange light in the east began to fade as mysteriously as it had arisen. Finally it ceased altogether. The mutineers surrendered and renewed their solemn vow of loyalty. But the village was suffused by an undertone of ominous foreboding.

All through the night the brigand chieftain brooded in his hut, seeking some solution to his dilemma. This village must remain his headquarters, for it was an impregnable mountain stronghold, a fitting seat for the slave-trading bandit domain he intended to establish.

Yet he could not hold together his band of fighting men as long as they feared the strange, illomened light that sometimes appeared in the east. Toward dawn he sprang up excitedly. Boris Garetto had an idea. He commanded a guard to send to him the swiftest courier.

Rates, Rules and Requirements of Classified Advertising Of The

Lubbock Evening Journal
Lubbock Morning Avalanche
Sunday Avalanche-Journal
(Sunday Morning)

All classified advertising will appear in both the Morning and Afternoon papers—both papers counting one insertion. All classified advertising is printed in the Lubbock Morning Avalanche first and the Daily Journal of the same date, no classified originating in the afternoon paper.

Classified for Sunday's issue will appear in the Avalanche-Journal counting one insertion, as this paper is sent to all subscribers of both the afternoon and morning papers.

AVALANCHE-JOURNAL
Combined Rates:

Minimum words per insertion, 10.
One insertion, per word ——— 4c
Two insertions, per word ——— 6c
Three insertions, per word ——— 7c
Seven insertions, per word ——— 12c
Thirty insertions, per word ——— 45c

These rates are for consecutive insertions only. Additional consecutive insertions over 30 times at 1½c per word each.

All out-of-town ads, received by mail must be cash with order. No exceptions. "NO REFUNDS" on ad stopped after it has appeared in paper.

PHONE 13, 14 OR 15

Our experienced ad taker will receive your ad and help you to word it, then our collector will call the following day. These accounts are "accommodation accounts" for our patrons and for one day only.

No advertisements accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisement under the proper classification and reject unclean or objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rates.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors, or any unintentional error that may occur, further than to correct it next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

Classified Advertising accepted until 6:00 p. m. on week days, and 9:00 p. m. on Saturdays and all advertising received after 6:00 p. m. will be placed under "Too Late To Classify."

For classified display advertising information—

PHONE 13, 14 OR 15

TO DISCONTINUE AN AD

Notice to Discontinue an Ad must be given after 8 a. m. and before 5 p. m., to some member of the Classified Advertising Department. We cannot be responsible for notices given before or after these hours, and to a member of some other department.

Lunacy Count May Be Filed

Man Arrested Near Anson On Wednesday In Investigation Of Slaying Of San Angeloan On Bronte Street

ROBERT LEE, Oct. 16 (AP)—Possibility of a lunacy charge being filed against a man arrested near Anson this afternoon for investigation in connection with the fatal beating of Sam S. Bobbitt, 47, San Angelo World war veteran, was seen by Coke county officers tonight as they questioned the man and his mother.

District Attorney Glenn R. Lewis of San Angelo is here handling the inquiry.

Bobbitt, whose head had been smashed, was found on a street in Bronte by T. F. Sims, nightwatchman a short time before he died.

The suspect, with his three children, were traced by Sheriff Frank Perciful, Robert Lee, from Bronte to Sweetwater and on to near Anson where they were picked up.

Bobbitt's body was brought here this morning and is being held in a local funeral home pending arrangement.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas: County of Lubbock

By virtue of a Pluries Execution issued out of the 99th District Court of Lubbock County, Texas, on September 13, 1935, in Cause No. 5439, wherein Interstate Trust & Banking Company, a corporation, recovered judgment against C. E. Moreman for the sum of $2,261.40 on January 19, 1934, with interest on $1,965.29 of said amount at the rate of 10% per annum, and on $296.11 of said amount at the rate of 6% per annum from date until paid, which judgment bears a credit of $762.80 and costs of suit paid on March 28, 1934, said Pluries Execution directed and delivered to me as Sheriff of Lubbock County, Texas, commanding me to make the said sums out of any property of the defendant, C. E. Moreman, individually and as Administrator of the Community Estate of himself and his deceased wife, Lucy Moreman, the said judgment being also rendered against the said Estate of against the said C. E. Moreman as Administrator of said Estate, as well as against C. E. Moreman individually; and,

Whereas, on the 17th day of September, 1935, at 3:00 o'clock p. m., I levied on the following described property as the property of the said defendant, C. E. Moreman, individually and as Administrator of the Community Estate of the said C. E. Moreman and his deceased wife, Lucy Moreman:

FIRST TRACT—The West Half (W 1-2) of Lot No. Four (4), Block No. One (1), of the Southwell Addition to the City of Lubbock, Lubbock County, Texas, together with all improvements thereon; and,

SECOND TRACT—All of Block No. Two (2), a ten acre block, in Lubbock View, being a portion of Section No. Fourteen (14), Block "B," in Lubbock County, Texas, as shown by plat recorded in the Deed Records of Lubbock County, Texas; and on the 5th day of November, 1935, the same being the first Tuesday in the said month, between the hours of 10:00 o'clock a. m. and 4:00 o'clock p. m., at the court house door of Lubbock County, Texas, in the City of Lubbock, I will offer for sale and sell the said property at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, and apply the proceeds thereof to the payment of the said judgment, to the extent of same.

Witness my hand this 17th day of September, 1935.

TOM ABEL,

Sheriff, Lubbock County, Texas.

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. (AP)—Wall street lost some of its bullish appetite today and allowed the stock market to slip a cog in spite of an advance by the rails.

From the start the market had to face profit-taking which, brokers said, came from Wall street sources a little skeptical of recent advances.

The initial selling burst soon dried up and the list steadied with the aid of the rails which were being pushed forward by early loadings reports.

The market got another jolt when wheat at Chicago and Winnipeg broke under the impact of unconfirmed reports that the newly elected Canadian government might offer Canadian wheat more freely.

Measured by the Associated Press average of 60 stocks, the market declined 0.2 to 56.6. At 34.6, the railroad average was up 0.1. Transactions totaled 2,345,411 shares compared with 2,381,810 on Tuesday.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 16. (AP)—Hedge selling vs. trade buying was the cotton market line-up today with the purchasing side exerting the more pressure and bringing about small net advances.

The market was higher most of the session, at one time running up to net gains of 50 cents a bale under the impetus of sustained buying by domestic mills and the cotton trade. Hedge pressure continued to be the main influence on the other side of dealings and resisted any important advance in active options.

Final prices of 10.83 for Dec., 10.89 for March and 10.95 for May were closely in line with Tuesday's final prices. In the spot market middling advanced four points to 11.10 on sales of 6,396 bales.

While the demand for contracts lightened perceptibly today reports from small interior towns and the great spot market at Memphis and Dallas indicated that the demand for actual cotton was still holding up well.

Liverpool was quiet today, with the most of the business professional in character.

Port receipts $1,005; week 246,753; season 2,346,065; last season 1,764,061. Exports 24,874; week 116,353; season 994,063; last season 997,450. Port stocks 2,278,-088. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston were 95,416; last year 91,853. Spot sales at southern markets were $7,173; last year 36,853.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Oct. 16. (AP)—The cotton futures market slipped today after attaining net gains of about 50 cents a bale in mid-day trading. The close was barely steady, net unchanged to 2 points higher.

Prices were steady at the start in response to relatively steady Liverpool cables. Comparatively light hedging from the south was absorbed by continued trade buying coming partly from abroad and prices worked up 9 to 11 points. The rise then met increased offerings and closing quotations were at the lows. A sharp decline in wheat appeared to be a factor in the decline.

The weekly report by the weather bureau indicated good progress of ginning and picking over greater part of the south.

Exports today 24,874, making 1,031,479 so far this season. Port receipts 48,004. U. S. port stocks 2,298,439.

TICKER NEWS

Courtesy Norman Mayer & Co.

NEW YORK. — Journal Of Commerce says:

Principal developments effecting prices yesterday were the lessening of hedge pressure from the heavy volume of day before and the continued insistent trade offtake. Speculation continued dormant. The impending test of the AAA through the Hoosac case, higher production indications in Northwest Texas and in India, and a slightly brighter outlook than heretofore for settlement of the Ethiopian dispute were among principal news developments of the day. Ring sold at the start but prices did not go down. The market stiffened when some Liverpool buying came in on the differences.

New Orleans—Cotton News Bureau Observer says:

The trading public on both sides of the Atlantic is waiting on the next development in European politics. Some people point out that the threats from Mussolini are not as loud as they were, while others are impressed by the quiet determination with which the other powers are going about their experiment in economic sanctions against Italy. This is something new, and in some quarters, it is held that if it is successful it may become a powerful weapon in the hands of the League Of Nations to prevent wars from now on. Withholding from Italy of further supplies of cotton from the south is not as important as it would have been some years ago because Italy is not taking much American cotton. Total stock of cotton at Genoa is 60,000 bales against 40,000 a year ago.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 16. (AP)—Receipts for the day at midwestern markets totaled 47,700 against 45,572 last Wednesday and 46,394 a year ago. Fed steer and yearling offerings found an uneven outlet, generally steady to 15 lower, spots off more. Demand centered upon better grades of light steers and yearlings. She stock was comparatively light, heifers remaining steady and most cows showing a weak trend. Stocker and feeder classes in light supply brought steady to easier prices. Highly finished steers in Chicago reached 13.25 with yearlings at 12.50. Short fed western grass steers ranged from 8.00@10.00, some common grassers down to 5.50. Fed heifers bulked at 8.00@10.00. Medium stocker and feeder steers ranged from 6.00-8.00.

Receipts of hogs show an increase of around 14,000 over last Wednesday, against 76,197 arrivals a year ago. Values uneven, generally steady to 15 lower, with underweights showing the least decline. Chicago realized a top of 10.70.

Fat lambs fairly active, generally steady to stronger. Sheep and feeding lambs held steady levels. Some choice 86 lb. Colorado offerings turned at 9.65, with best natives at 9.50. Western ewes cleared up to 4.60 and feeding lambs of good grade at 8.25@9.00.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16. (AP)—Hogs 600; 10 to 15c lower; top 10.00 paid by packers for most 185-285 lb. averages; packing sows steady to weak, 8.50@8.75.

Cattle 4,000; calves 1,800; most classes slow, steady, calves steady to 25c lower; better grades practically absent; beef cows mostly 3.50@4.50; bulls 3.25@4.25; good slaughter calves 5.50@6.50; heifer calves 6.50 down.

Sheep, 1,200; market mostly steady; some sales yearlings, wethers strong; fat lambs 8.25@8.75; good wooled fat yearlings 6.65; aged fat wethers 4.35@5.00; including 2 decks of good shorn wethers at 4.50; feeder lambs 6.50@7.25.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 16. (AP)—In semi-demoralized trading of huge volume, wheat suffered a sensational smash today, and at one stage showed nearly 5 cents a bushel collapse.

Evidence pointing to an abrupt change in the Canadian government's policy of holding wheat for higher prices was responsible.

Wheat in Chicago closed flurried, 1 7-8 to 3 5-8 cents under yesterday's finish, Dec. 1.00 3-8@1.00 5-8 down, Dec. 60 1-4@60 3-8, oats 3-8 to 5-8 off, and provisions varying from 22 cents setback to 12 cents advance.

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16. (AP)—Demand for cash grain at Fort Worth today continued fair. Estimated receipts were wheat 15 cars, corn eight and oats one.

Prices quoted: Delivered Texas gulf ports domestic rate, wheat No. 1 red winter 1.23 1-2@1.26 1-2.

Delivered Texas gulf ports export rate or Texas common points: Wheat No. 1 hard according to protein and billing 1.28 1-2@1.48 1-2. Barley No. 2 nominally 55@57c; sorghums No. 2 nominally milo per 100 lbs. Nominally 1.10@1.12; No. 2 white kaffir nominally 1.10@1.12.

Mother Undecided

She declined to join Mandeville's three brothers and father in maintaining her boy was deranged. Asked if she believed he was insane, she gave this soft-voiced reply:

"I could not say."

The senior Zenge told of his son's great love for the girl who jilted him.

"Louise," he said, "about three years ago began calling me 'dad'."

"Have you an opinion as to his mental condition?" the father was asked.

"My opinion," he answered deliberately, "is that he was insane."

Some fast work was had in running the pipe. The first 100 lengths averaged about three minutes per length. As the length became heavier, time was lengthened and the last 50 were run in four and five minutes each.

Total weight of the pipe was above 112,000 pounds, or 56 tons. The derrick is capable of handling 386,000 pounds of pipe.

Gas was seen escaping from the top of the pipe, after it had been set. Also, gas escaped through the 8-inch casing and it was noticeable for several hundred feet from the derrick.

Young Roosevelt Rids Self Of Charge By Paying Fine

EXETER, N. H., Oct. 16. (AP) — Franklin D. Roosevelt, jr., 21-year-old son of President Roosevelt, rid himself today of a charge of speeding 65 miles an hour on the LaFayette highway at Hampton, Sept. 18.

He appeared without counsel at a special private session in the local office of Judge John W. Perkins of Hampton municipal court, and paid a fine of $5 and court costs of $6.70.

as they did in Germany and Italy. . . ."

Originate With Workers

Howard, president of the typographical union, told the convention that the change would originate with the workers themselves.

"Let me say to you, the workers of this country are going to organize," he said. "If they're not going to be permitted to organize under the banners of the American Federation of Labor, they're going to organize under some other leadership—or under no leadership."

Like Lewis, Howard said that "subversive" forces were at work among American workingmen.

Issue Explained

The issue was whether the convention should reaffirm its San Francisco declaration that mass production industry employes should be organized along industrial lines, with due protection of the rights of craft unions, or whether the federation should organize these workers into industrial unions irrespective of their craft.

Continuation of the San Francisco policy was urged by Matthew Woll, vice president of the photo-engravers and one of the federation's conservative leaders, who said the proposed change would "spell ruination to the labor movement."

Will Aid Thousands

The governor said enactment of pension legislation would remove thousands from relief and again called attention to the grave situation threatened when direct relief is discontinued in December.

He expressed continued opposition to a general sales tax for any purpose, asserting it was a tax on poverty and all interests should be required to contribute to far reaching functions of government.

The governor signed the only major piece of legislation passed at the first called session, a graduated tax on chain stores. The levy ranged from $1 on single stores to $750 on units in chains of 50 or more.

Death Claims Hal Brennan

Former State Department Commander Of American Legion Claimed By Death Wednesday In Mexico City

LAREDO, Oct. 16 (AP)—Hal G Brennan, former state department commander of the American Legion died in a Mexico City hotel today, relatives here were advised.

His death was unexpected, as he apparently had been in excellent health.

Brennan, 46, left here two weeks ago for the Mexican capital on a business trip in connection with his customs brokerage business in Laredo.

The body will be brought back for burial at Laredo.

Reared At Laredo

Brennan was a son of the late City Marshall Mike Brennan and was born in San Ignacio, Zapata county. He was reared and educated in Laredo.

As a young man he engaged in railroading, starting with the Texas Mexican railway in Laredo. He served as ticket agent for the Gulf Coast lines at Brownsville and became traveling auditor for the El Oro Mining and Railway company in Mexico.

Beside his widow, Brennan was survived by one daughter, Mrs. Will Callahan of Houston.

His nephew, Clyde Brennan, left here at noon for Mexico City to bring back the body.

Big Entertainment At Ormsby Dance

A "Show of Shows" providing 40 minutes of entertainment and the rest of the evening devoted to dancing to the latest hits of the radio-vaudeville-night club band will be afforded when Frankie Ormsby's orchestra plays at the Auditorium Friday night.

Ormsby, the leader, is one of the country's finest saxophone players and is credited with assembling one of the season's outstanding novelty bands.

Margie Lee, Ginger O'Day, Ruby Rogers, and Jean White, members of the floor show, will be presented in individual numbers, and also are featured in team and quartet numbers.

Slayer Declares He Wishes That Mob Would Reach Him

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 16. (AP)—Shouting "I wish the mob had lynched me," Pascal L. Boyer, a butcher, was hurried back to jail here tonight after his arraignment today on a first degree murder charge at Bountiful in connection with a triple slaying.

Told he was being taken to Bountiful for arraignment, Boyer said:

"Will there be a mob there? If there is I want you boys to leave me alone, don't get hurt. Let them kill me."

Armistice Plans Being Perfected

Plans for observance in Lubbock of Armistice day were perfected Wednesday night in a meeting at American Legion hall of a general committee, composed of representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, auxiliaries of the VFW and of the Legion, Reserve Officers association, and the Salvation Army.

The program will be opened with a breakfast at 7 a. m. in Hilton hotel. A parade that is expected to include governors of Texas and of New Mexico and their escorts will wind its way over downtown business streets. Others in the parade will be: 131st field artillery band, cadet corps of Texas Technological college, mounted troops of Battery C and a service battery, Texas National Guard, Texas Tech band, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, Salvation Army, Gold Star mothers and disabled veterans, VFW and Legion auxiliaries, CCC recruits, reserve officers, Senior High school band, and Boy Scouts. Also, there will be numerous floats from Texas Tech and various organizations and clubs.

Others who wish to enter floats are asked to communicate with Sgt Walter McGinnis at the National Guard armory.

Next meeting of the committee will be at 7:30 p. m. Oct. 25, at the Legion hall.

Nursing School Student Is Killed In Fall From Window

DALLAS, Oct. 16. (AP) — Miss Frances McHam, 18, second year student in the Baylor university school of nursing, was injured fatally today when she fell from a third floor window of the nurses home. Bryce Twitty, superintendent of Baylor hospital, said death was caused by internal injuries.

It was at first thought that a broken arm was the only injury received. Her fall was partly broken by shrubbery and flowers.

San Antonio Pays Tribute To Jesse Jones At Banquet

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 16 (AP)—San Antonio paid tribute tonight to Jesse Holman Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, as a Texan of outstanding achievement.

He was the honor guest at a banquet specially arranged for him, that drew hundreds of bankers and civic leaders from the San Antonio trade territory stretching to the Rio Grande valley and the Mexican border.

Peace Efforts Reported Lost

Mussolini Refuses To State His Terms And England Is Refusing To Lessen Naval Concentration Plans

British warships, returning from maneuvers.

Vague Reports Denied

Vague reports of a clash between British and Italian troops on the Somali frontier were denied in Rome.

Some Ethiopians thought Italy's big offensive on both fronts will begin when Lugi Vinci-Gigliucci, the fascist minister to Addis Ababa, finally leaves for home.

Large forces of Italian troops were reported massing for a dash across 230 miles of waterless desert from the Ogaden front at Jijiga, to cooperate with the northern army.

Plan Flanking Move

The main Ethiopian army, under Dedjazmatch Nessibu, was massed in the Jijiga sector while the hordes of Ras Desta, 100,000 strong, moved through the Webbe Sibeli valley for a flanking movement against advancing Italian southern regiments.

Emperor Haile Selassie declared his warriors are undefeated; that he ordered them not to fight at Aksum and Aduwa and that the fall of those cities had no strategic importance.

Ethiopia, he said, is waiting for the Italian advance to reach the mountains. Then he expects the first major battle of the war.

He denied an Ethiopian offensive in the southern Ogaden, and said defense, not offense, was the plan of his armies.

Towns Are Bombed

Some minor clashes were reported and Addis Ababa claimed Italian planes still were bombing southern towns.

Italian war correspondents charged that British-made "dum-dum" bullets had been found cached at Aduwa and Aksum.

The Italian embassy in London denied published reports that Italians were using such bullets.

Paris considered the peace moves of Premier Pierre Laval a last warning to Italy before League of Nations sanctions reach a critical stage. He was seeking, it was said, to get Mussolini to state the terms for a possible compromise solution.

Anthony Eden, Great Britain's minister for League affairs, made another strong demand at Geneva for quick action on a proposed "buy nothing from Italy" boycott. There was no definite action on that, but the League's general committee of 52 states urged speed in application of sanctions by all nations.

Seeking Blockade

In Rome, informed circles saw Great Britain as seeking a blockade against Italy and thereby hindering the Laval peace moves. Italy is taking no part in these, it was stated.

A dispatch from Addis Ababa, published in the Cairo newspaper Mikattam, stated more than 200,-000 Ethiopian warriors now were participating in an attack along a line south of the Franco-Ethiopian railroad. There was no confirmation of this from any source, however.

(A Havas dispatch from Cairo said it was reported Italian troops in Libya were digging trenches, placing underground mines and constructing other fortifications on the Egyptian frontier).

Adjusted Payment On Cotton Predicted By Head Of Pool

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 16. (AP) — Predicting an adjusted payment of 1 1-2 cents a pound to co-operating cotton growers this year, in addition to the 12 cent guarantee, Oscar Johnston, head of the AAA cotton pool, today told a crowd of several thousand here at the annual Mississippi State fair that the AAA cotton control program would continue even if the United States supreme court should invalidate the processing tax and the Bankhead act.

Invalidation of these laws by the supreme court, Johnston said, would merely mean that congress will have to find other means of financing the program.

Man Acquitted In Dallas Of Slaying; Jury Acts Quickly

DALLAS, Oct. 16. (AP) — Jack Baker, 30, was acquitted late today of what the state contended was the vengeance slaying of William Henry Hunter, 31. The jury deliberated only long enough for one ballot.

"I thought he was going to stab me just like he did my father five years ago, and I fired," Baker testified in support of his self-defense claim.

ability continued. Partial disability would be compensated according to the extent of the injury.

Not Over $3,500

However, in case, either death or total and permanent disability, does the law allow payment of more than $3,500 in total compensation. Medical treatment does not end for those totally disabled, however, when the $3,500 is used up.

No compensation is allowed for workers who die of illness, even though the disease might have been contracted because of his work while in the employ of the government.

Whisky Redefined By Federal Unit To Conform With March Of Science

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16. (AP) — The Federal Alcohol administration redefined whisky tentatively today to "conform with the march of science in distilling."

The new definitions were contained in tentative regulations issued by Franklin C. Hoyt, Federal Alcohol administrator. Hearing on the proposed new rules will be held Oct. 30 and 31, after which the final draft will have the effect of law.

Definitions Given

The definitions include:

Straight whisky, a product which has been aged in charred oak barrels for a minimum of one year before bottling. By June 30, 1936, the FAA hopes to extend this ageing requirement to two years.

Blended whisky, a product containing at least 20 per cent of one year old straight whisky.

The single word "whisky" will be used to label "all distillates from grain distilled at more than 160 degrees proof, regardless of age, and all of the immature distillates distilled at less than 160 proof and aged for less than a year."

Labels on "whisky" stating the age will be required as in the past.

Product Is Same

"Gin" means "gin" and there are, in the tentative regulations, no more distinctions between "distilled" and "compound" gin on the grounds that "the product is substantially the same whether distilled or compound."

The standards of identity for Scotch whisky, Irish whisky, brandy, rum, cordials and liquers "have not been substantially altered," the FAA said.

Indecent advertising and "statements with reference to the therapeutic or curative effects of the product" which would mislead the customer also are barred in the proposed rules.

All advertisements must show the alcoholic content on the products advertised, the new rules provide.

Court Of Criminal Appeals Receives Briefs And Oral Arguments In Cases Involving Newspapers

AUSTIN, Oct. 16 (AP)—The Texas court of criminal appeals received briefs and oral arguments today in cases involving the right of a trial judge to restrain temporarily publication of testimony in a murder case.

District Judge M. S. Munson precipitated the test when he cited six Houston newspapermen for contempt for violating his injunction to delay publishing testimony in the trial of Clyde Thompson, life-term convict, for a prison farm slaying.

He fined three reporters $25 each and three editors $100 each. They were George W. Cottingham, editor of the Chronicle; Max Jacobs, managing editor of the Post, and E. M. Pooley, managing editor of the Press; and Ed Rider, Frank L. White and Harry McCormack, reporters for the Chronicle, Post and Press, respectively.

Authority Attacked

Authority for Judge Munson's order was attacked by the newspapers in appeals from the contempt judgment as an abridgement of constitutional guarantees of freedom of the press.

Numerous amici curiae briefs were filed by Texas lawyers in support of Judge Munson's action.

Attacking the order, Frank A Liddell of Houston, attorney for the Chronicle and Post, said:

"Since the protection of public morals or of property rights was not involved or undertaken, such judgment is in violation of sections 8 and 10 of the bill of rights of the state of Texas and the first and fourteenth amendments to the constitution of the United States and is therefore void."

Former Governor Dan Moody, associated with T. B. Greenwood, former associate justice of the state supreme court, and others filed briefs for the state as "friends of the court."

The temperature of the sun near its surface is about 6,000 centigrade degrees.
