TULLERS IN CUSTODY — Charles A. Tuller, left, and his son Jonathon Ross Tuller wear handcuffs as they are led by Federal Bureau of Investigation special agents Monday in Washington. The Tullers, accused of three murders and the hijacking of an Eastern Air Lines plane, surrendered after spending nearly three years in Cuba according to the FBI.

Skid Row Hotel Fire Kills Eight

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Eight men died here Monday night when flames raced through an 80-cent-a-night skid row hotel. Police said they arrested a 61-year old man near the hotel early today and charged him with murder and arson in connection with the blaze.

Portland police identified the man as John Joseph Newvine, who they said lived near the hotel.

Fire officials said there was no doubt that the blaze which severely damaged the three-story brick building was "incendiary in origin."

Twenty-five other men and one woman were injured, eight of them critically, authorities said. The injured included three firemen with noncritical injuries.

None of the dead or injured was identified.

Firemen said when they arrived at the Pomona Hotel the windows were crowded with trapped men screaming for help.

The building, located just off of Burnside Street near the west end of the Burnside Bridge, is in the core of what used to be one of the toughest, largest skid rows on the West Coast. The area now includes only a few run down hotels, several bars and the remains of a once-bustling Chinatown.

The inside of the hotel was charred and blistered by the heat, which Lt. Les Pratt of the Portland Fire Bureau said may have reached 1,000 degrees on the upper floor.

BRO. JIM, THAT'S WHO

"What's this item to Jim Doe in the list of vouchers," one councilman questioned this morning

"That's John Doe's brother," the mayor quipped. When the laughing died down, City Manager Harry Nagel explained that there is a Jim Doe in Big Spring and the bill was for transmissions and speed axles.

Prisoner Shoots Guards In Court

PARIS (AP) — A prisoner being tried in a Paris criminal court today shot and wounded two guards and took the presiding judge and a prosecutor hostage as he escaped.

The two court officials were found a short time later tied to the steering wheel of the getaway car, police said. They were unharmed.

Witnesses said that a woman pretending to be a lawyer had entered the courtroom with a grenade which she threatened to explode and handed a pistol to the prisoner.

A witness later said the woman was the wife of the prisoner, identified as Jean-Charles Willoquet who was being tried for an armed holdup.

Giselle Bauwens-Mille, an attorney, was just getting into her car behind the Palace of Justice when she said she saw a man waving a pistol.

"He was a big man," she said. "When he came by my car he said 'You, get out of the way.' Behind him I saw President Cozette and another court official. Behind them was the wife of Willoquet, still dressed in fake attorney's robe and holding the grenade in her hand. All four got into a small car that had been badly parked and drove off immediately."

Witnesses said that the woman came into the courtroom brandishing the grenade while Willoquet was being questioned by the court president. Willoquet hopped over the rail in the prisoner's box after he had been handed the pistol and bounded to the bench where the court president was sitting.

The court president, identified as M. Cozette, called on people in the court room to be calm.

As Willoquet took his two hostages he put handcuffs on Cozette.

The commander of the guards at the Palace of Justice tried to intercede as Willoquet and the hostages left the building. The officer was shot and apparently gravely wounded. A guard lieutenant also was shot but seemed to have suffered only superficial facial wounds.

Ford Formally Announces Candidacy For Election

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gerald Rudolph Ford, the first man to become vice president and then President without election, announced today he is a candidate for the presidency in 1976.

Ford, who made his long-promised announcement in a low-key statement at the White House, said he hopes to project the image of a president rather than a campaigner.

A congressman from Michigan for a quarter century, he was named vice president by former President Richard M. Nixon in 1973 when Spiro T. Agnew resigned because of a graft scandal. Ford became President on Aug. 9, 1974, when Nixon resigned under the weight of Watergate.

Before he became vice president, Ford planned to serve one more term in the House of Representatives, then retire from politics. As vice-president designate, he told Congress he would not run in 1976. But 10 weeks after becoming President, he told an interviewer, "I just love it. It's got my adrenalin going again."

He said then that he probably would seek election in his own right because a two-year presidency would not be sufficient to do the things that needed doing in foreign and domestic affairs.

After making it known in recent weeks that he would seek election next year, Ford was advised by some aides to make his plans known formally but without fanfare. They contended a simple, businesslike statement of candidacy would permit him to continue emphasizing his presidential role rather than the role of an office-seeker.

Ford's announcement came as the Miami Herald said former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has decided to oppose him for the Republican presidential nomination.

In a story from Washington in Tuesday's editions, the newspaper said Knight Newspapers learned that Reagan made his decision after months of intense urgings by party conservatives.

The Herald said Reagan's decision will be made public later this month with the announcement of a Reagan-for-President committee to organize his campaign and raise funds.

The World At-A-Glance

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — President Isabel Peron has agreed to scrap her 50 per cent ceiling on wage increases to appease the striking labor wing of the Peronist movement. But she continues to reject the union leaders' demand for the ouster of her closest adviser, Jose Lopez Rega, informed sources reported today. Leaders of the General Labor Confederation (CGT), who paralyzed Argentina Monday during a two-day general strike, scheduled a meeting today to consider Mrs. Peron's offer. A communique indicated they would accept it.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An experimental program proposed by the Civil Aeronautics Board would let the nation's airlines raise or lower their fares and start or suspend service on certain routes without first getting board approval. The proposal announced Monday by the board came as an apparent move to head off increasing pressure from the Ford administration and Congress for reform of the CAB's regulation of the airlines.

Bus Crash Injures 21

WEST SILOAM SPRINGS, Okla. (AP) — Two persons were critically injured Monday and 19 others were hurt when a chartered bus and a lumber truck crashed near here.

The bus, carrying youths to an Arkansas Methodist Church camp, originated in Lubbock, Tex., carrying youths from northwest Texas and parts of New Mexico.

The Highway Patrol said the lumber truck approached another vehicle from the rear, skidded about 185 feet and crossed into the path of the bus. The truck and the bus hit head on.

City Council Blesses Idea Of Revaluation

The City Council today agreed to recommend to other taxing agencies that a complete revaluation of all properties be held next year.

This action came after council members heard a report from Dave Brazel representing the board of equalization. Brazel brought examples of inequities within the city that came to the board's attention this year. He discussed these with the council.

The recommendation was that the current appraiser group be allowed to hire a staff sufficient to conduct the revaluation. The recommendation is to be passed to the schools and the county.

Brazel said that about 40 per cent of the property is under-evaluated, 40 per cent is over-evaluated and about 20 per cent is right.

Eddie Acri, councilman, pointed out that he had six calls last night and all were against revaluation. He abstained during the vote.

LITTER LAWS

City Manager Harry Nagel pointed out that the ones who object "are usually the ones who know their property is under-evaluated, and that some are afraid it will be raised."

In other action, the council heard a report from Mrs. Edna Womack on recommendations of the litter committee.

That the animal ordinance be changed to include a leash law. The panel asked that an ordinance be passed requiring property owners to be responsible for cleaning alleys behind their property and that if they do not comply within 10 days after written notice that they be charged with a misdemeanor, subject to a $10 fine.

The committee also recommended that notices required on weedy lots and dilapidated houses be either by personal service or by registered mail. Members requested the staff to make a cost analysis survey of container pickup. The council turned these items over to the staff for consideration.

LIGHTS REMOVED

The council approved the traffic commission minutes and the recommendations of removing the light in front of Runnels and at 10th and Johnson, replacing with stop signs and other items approved by the traffic group.

The council also approved the parks and recreation board minutes and the tourist commission minutes. It approved an ordinance for a zone change from residential to multifamily for the purpose of a triplex rent house requested by Gerald Harris.

Council members approved on first reading an ordinance for a zone change from two family to retail for a greenhouse requested by Russel Johnson. Johnson appeared and also had a letter of approval from the neighbors. All voted for except Acri who voted against on the basis that it was spot zoning.

James Gregg, city attorney, pointed out it was under non-conforming special use permit under "unusual circumstances."

The council awarded bids for 25 side-loading sanitation containers on the low bid that met specifications to Duncan Manufacturers for $4,914. K&R bid $4,667 but did not meet specs. Dempster Bros. bid $5,758.48 and Pak Mor bid $5,876.

POSSIBLE ANNEX

The city manager's report covered the areas of preparation of the budget, and also suggested that the council consider annexing the land that holds the landfill.

The request would go to the Eleventh Place Extension but not include the roadway and would take in several businesses in that area. This will be brought to the council in detail at an early meeting.

Mrs. Polly Mays, mayor pro-tem, thanked Roy Crim, city engineer, for sending to Texas Tech information on engineering historical sites in Howard County.

Spot Hopper appeared on a request in connection to damage to his vehicle in an accident. It will be placed on the next agenda.

Earl Reynolds appeared again in connection with sewage problems in the area near 601 W. 17th. The city manager and director of utilities were asked to look into the matter.

Council members present included Mayor Choate, Harold Hall, Mrs. Mays, and Acri, with Charles Tompkins out of town.

Human Guinea Pigs Try Drugs For Loot

MIAMI (AP) — Lured by money, an unemployed clown, a furloughed construction worker and an idled machinist were volunteer human guinea pigs for experimental drugs.

They are among applicants who answered an advertisement for "healthy males needed for medical research project." The fees vary from $50 to $250 for tests which range in length from two days to two weeks.

"There's always a risk," admits Dr. Albert Cohen of Peninsular Testing Co., which tests drugs for pharmaceutical companies before the U.S. Food and Drug Administration will accept them for marketing.

"The first time I was scared to death," said Larry Hodges, 23, a some-time construction worker who has returned for 10 experiments.

He had just completed a test on an antidepressant in a program. It involved a week's stay at the Miami testing center.

The drugs involved are what Dr. Allan Liyook, an FDA research scientist in Rockville, Md., calls "Phase 1" test programs in which drugs are used on humans for the first time.

Since the FDA first began requiring the tests in 1963, there have been "no instances of permanent harm to any subject," Lisook said. He said the drugs are first tested on laboratory animals.

Gigs LCRA Insistance On It's 'Pound Of Flesh'

BRYAN, Tex. (AP) — The Lower Colorado River Authority's (LCRA) insistence on its "pound of flesh" is like an employer telling a worker he can't go to the doctor if he gets sick, Oscar Wyatt's lawyer argued today.

Wyatt's firm, Coastal States Gas Producing Co., signed a contract in 1962 promising to furnish LCRA natural gas at 20 cents for 1,000 cubic feet for 20 years.

Before 1962, gas had gone up in price only 9.6 cents in nine years, said Tracy DuBose. Since then, it has jumped more than 10 times, to $2 per 1,000 cubic feet.

DuBose, a tightly-wound, chunky man whose stress words seemed to explode from his compressed torso, said the contract was like a 20-year employment contract that says, "and if you get sick, you can't go to the doctor. And if you get sick, die. I want my pound of flesh."

Yet, when the Texas Railroad Commission said Coastal States could go to the doctor and Coastal States got a prescription (higher rates), LCRA said, "No, you can have that prescription—I'm going to hold it and I'm going to sue you for it but meantime I want my new gas (bought with the new money)," DuBose said.

Forty-two per cent of all the natural gas LCRA has received since September 1973 came from that prescription, DuBose said, and now LCRA doesn't want to pay for it.

The son of special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski, representing Coastal States' subsidiary, Lo-Vaca Gathering Co., told the six-man, six-woman state district court jury Monday that LCRA's $26 million lawsuit was "a case of capital punishment."

Neither Coastal States nor LoVaca can survive the judgment in favor of LCRA, said Joe Jaworski.

After eight and one-half weeks of testimony, the final arguments were expected to be completed late today.

LCRA, which uses natural gas to generate electricity for customers in 41 Central Texas counties, is suing Coastal States for $26 million. That is how much it has had to pay, LCRA says, to replace fuel it should have gotten from Coastal States under a 1962 contract.

LCRA's lead attorney, Hume Cofer, argued Monday that it was the greed of Coastal States founder Oscar Wyatt—not a mistake on how much Coastal States had in gas reserves— that put the company in its present fix.

Cofer said Coastal States' own witnesses testified it had enough gas in 1971 to satisfy its contract with LCRA, but that Wyatt then agreed to sell a trillion cubic feet of gas at a higher price to Texas Utilities Fuel Co. (TUFCO), which serves North Texas.

Wyatt, seated on the front row, had looked bored through much of Cofer's summation, but when Jaworski began talking he moved down the row to get closer to him and leaned foward.

Jaworski said LCRA "took the lead" in asking the Railroad Commission to allow Lo-Vaca to charge more for its gas. But after getting $13 million worth of new gas that Lo-Vaca obtained under the commission's emergency order, LCRA now insists on the old price, he said.

"They live by the axiom that you can get something for nothing," Jaworski said. "I've been taught since early childhood by my folks that that's not the way you do things. That's not good faith."

Name Mother In Two Deaths

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A young mother has been charged with two counts of involuntary manslaughter after leaving her children in a closed car on a sun-baked lot. Two of the youngsters died in what authorities estimated was heat as high as 140 degree inside the car.

Connie C. Crockett, 22, of Wichita, also was arraigned Monday on one count of endangering a child. One of her three children, Stephanie Crockett, 3, was treated at a hospital and released after the incident Sunday afternoon.

A deputy county coroner attributed the deaths of Victoria Crockett, 5, and Melvin Crockett, 22 months, "to the effect of the heat on the brain."

A sheriff's office, spokesman said Mrs. Crockett left the three children in the car in 97-degree heat while she visited an inmate at the county jail.

Black Mayor Is Grave Digger, School Janitor

ROSLYN, Wash. (AP) — William Craven is this town's gravedigger and school janitor, and also apparently the first black mayor of a city in Washington state.

"As far as we can go — which is to say, all the way — there's just no evidence of there being one," said Tom Mayer, historical librarian for the Washington State Library.

"A black mayor? In this state? No!" was the response of Yolanda Williams, executive secretary of the Seattle Urban League, when asked if there had ever been another black as a Washington state mayor.

And Seattle City Councilman Sam Smith, a black, said, "I don't have any doubts he is probably the first black mayor in the state. I hope he handles his duties well."

Craven was unanimously appointed mayor by the City Council of this mountain town of 1,031 some 80 miles east of Seattle last June 10.

"Roslyn always comes first with me," says Craven, who was born in Roslyn — at one time a coal-mining boom city of 4,000.

The father of three children, Craven was 1 of 12 children of a coal miner who came "all the way from Texas to work in the coal mines."

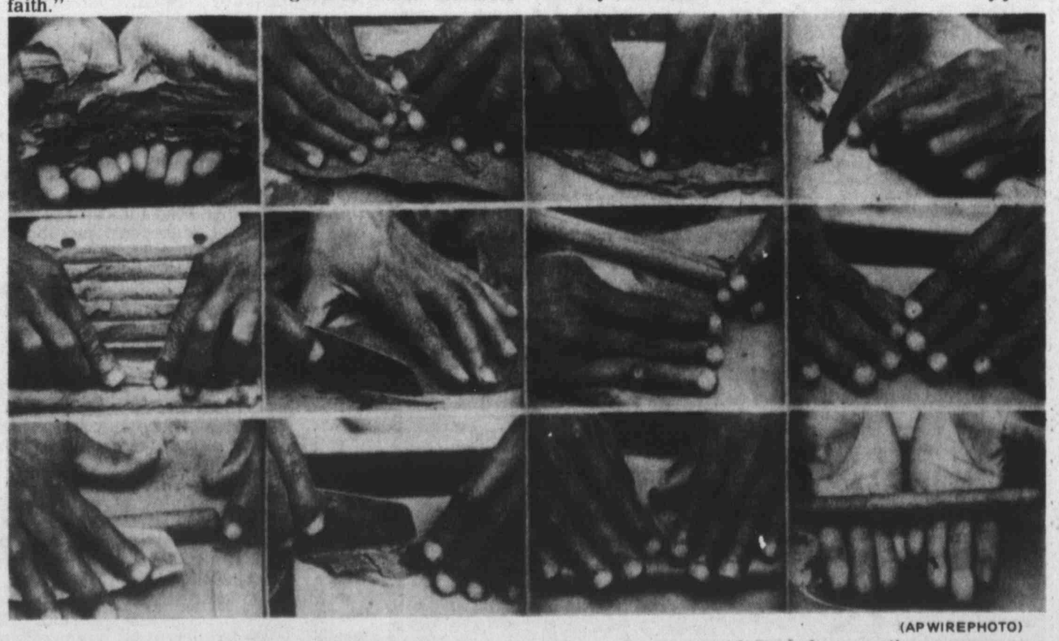

The 36-year old Craven has served on the City Council since 1971. He works as a maintenance man for the Cle Elum-Roslyn School District and, in his spare time, moonlights as the town's gravedigger.

"Some people tell me it isn't fitting for a mayor to do such work," he says. "I tell them the mayor's got to make a living, too ...

"A lot of people wonder about having a black man as mayor. It doesn't bother me — I've lived here all my life."

"Some people will like me, some won't. I didn't run for this job as a black man, but as a man. I wanted an equal chance to try. If I can't do it, the people will vote me out in September."

Roslyn's new mayor wants to launch a city clean-up campaign. He has urged residents to clear their property of debris and rubbish.

Insulation From Politics

Concerned by the low estate of the Department of Justice, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas says he will offer a bill designed to remove the department from politics. The measure could command bipartisan support.

Bentsen would prohibit a president from appointing anyone from his election campaign to the positions of attorney general, deputy attorney general, solicitor general, or assistant attorney general. The proposed law would also provide for the appointment of U.S. attorneys and U.S. marshals by the attorney general, rather than by the president, and place their staffs under a departmental merit system. Partisan political activities by any departmental employe, including the attorney general, would be prohibited.

In theory at least the attorney general should be one of the most capable lawyers in the land, whose sole concern should be the interests of the United States without reference to political considerations. In practice, the office has become a political plum, usually reserved as a reward for a president's campaign manager. Some very capable men have been appointed. But the department can hardly survive many appointments such as that of John Mitchell who placed politics above the public interest.

A good argument can be made that the attorney general should be a career official, serving under more than one president in the tradition of Britain's civil servants. Congress may wish to consider this aspect of the office as it considers the Bentsen measure.

The nation's "first lawyer" must be above reproach, morally and politically. He cannot be as long as he is a political appointee.

An Idea That Didn't Work

The enlightened city of Amsterdam has rediscovered that freeing young people from virtually all official restraint is good for neither them nor society as a whole. This has been learned the hard way since the city adopted what amounted to an anything goes attitude toward devotees of the hippie counterculture.

This policy naturally attracted "liberated" young people from all over the world. Thousands of them bedded down in Amsterdam's Vondel Park, taking advantage of a lifestyle free of official interference or control.

The freedom was abused. The Vondel Park sanctuary became progressively corrupted, with drugs and crime — even prostitution among the so-called "flower children" — more and more prevalent. As a step in dealing with this problem the City Council has outlawed open air sleeping in the park.

It was an experiment in letting the young behave just as they wished. The experiment has failed. Once again, we are reminded that bad seeds find nurture in freedom where there are no reasonable constraints on personal behavior for the general good of society.

But Beware —

Around The Rim

Jo Bright

Pink and white oleanders bloom by my door and, in the evenings, I groom the pretty bushes by searching out and plucking any yellow leaves.

I MAY NOT do that anymore.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has sent a warning that just handling the leaves and branches of this deadly plant can cause dermatitis. It especially warns novice campers not to use stout oleander twigs as skewers for roasting, or it might be their last meal. Even the smoke from burning oleanders affects some people.

Since this is the time of year when more people head for the great out-of-doors, it's a good idea to bone up on the perils that lurk among beautiful flora that surrounds us. It's a pity — but true — that some vegetation can be hazardous to your health.

A RELATIVE of oleander is dogbane which is found in open ground, edges of woods and stream banks. It resembles a milkweed and has a toxic, milky juice.

Water hemlock found in wet, low ground such as swamps and stream banks is definitely not the beneficial parsley which it resembles. A single bite of the roots of water hemlock can kill a man by convulsions. Poison hemlock also looks like parsley, but this notorious plant of fields and roadsides lives up to its name by causing fatal paralysis.

DON'T ADD wild hydrangea buds to your outdoor salad, unless you can tolerate cyanide compounds. And don't let your children chew on the acorns of oak trees. These are edible after much preparation, but they have a high tannin content which can cause severe stomach upset. Indians used to remove the outer shell, grind the kernels into meal and leach the meal many times before use.

Horse chestnuts look tempting, and Indians also used them for food, but only after leaching to remove the poison. Anyone picking them up for a quick snack can end up with a nervous system affected to the point of paralysis and death.

YOUNG SHOOTS of the horsetail, a rushlike plant of swamps and stream beds, have been sadly mistaken for wild asparagus. Another toxic deceiver, for onion lovers, is the multi-layered bulb of a plant called fly poison, found in sandy bogs and open woods. Even handling this plant can cause poisoning, from hands later touching the mouth. Death camass, found in similar areas, also resembles wild onion, though both it and fly poison lack an onion smell.

All Texans are fond of bluebonnets, but shouldn't chew on them. Most lupines, especially the ripe seeds, have some degree of toxic alkaloids which can cause fatal convulsions. Juices of the common buttercup can injure the digestive system and cause temporary blindness.

OF COURSE, you don't have to step outside your own backyard to encounter dangerous plants.

Lilies-of-the-valley, daffodils mountain laurel, iris and morning glories are just a few of the familiar beauties that can kill. Don't put these things in your mouth — let beauty remain only in the EYE of the beholder, and you're more likely to be around to enjoy your garden next spring.

My Answer

Billy Graham

I am a college student concerned about my future. As a Christian, I know how I use my life relates to my faith. What fields of work do you suggest for a coed today?

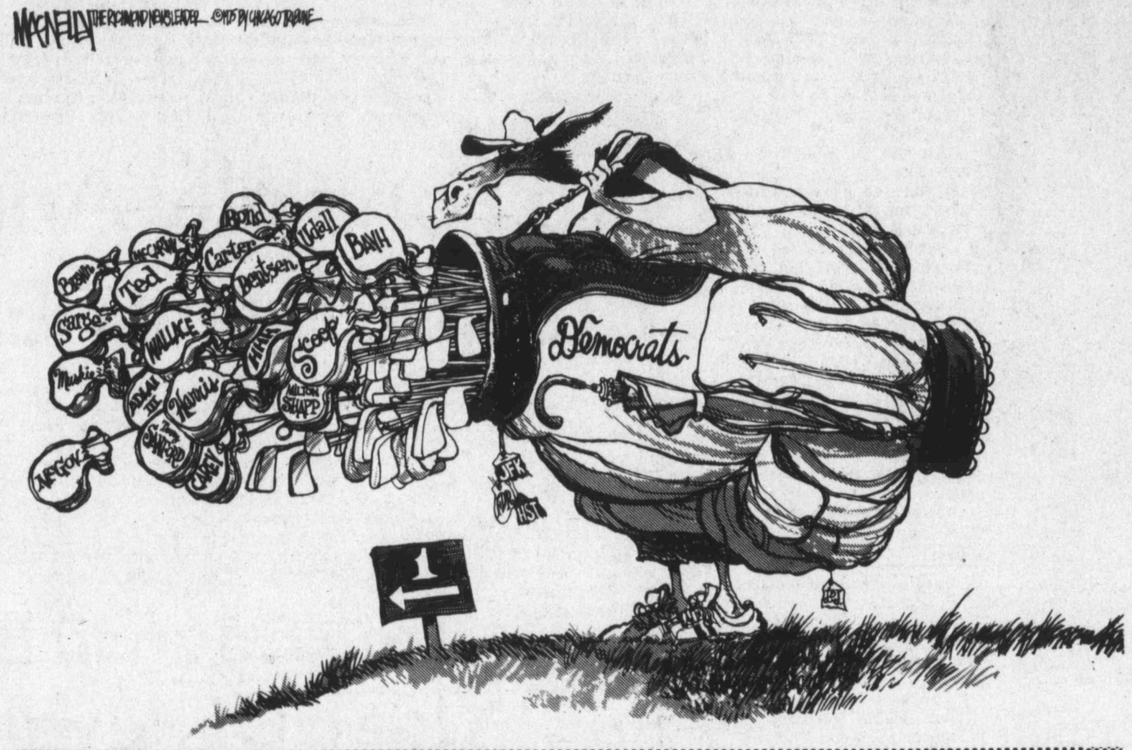

R.U.

Opportunities for women are greater now than ever before. While many will still choose the God-given career of wife and homemaker, yet this lifestyle cannot be made the stereotype for all women.

Composing now one-third of the labor force, women are moving into executive ranks never before occupied. As a Christian, you would want your life to capitalize on whatever gifts God has given you. Perhaps an aptitude test would be helpful here.

Generally, occupations that have a "serving" dimension are particularly challenging to the Christian. These would include medicine, education, social work and certain management jobs in business, government and industry. In the fields of transportation and communication, more and more women are being employed in influential positions.

There are several placement services available which specialize in securing positions that combine the Christian witness with challenging job responsibilities. Your church office can give you contacts. Keep alert also to part time and summer employment opportunities which may help you in a career decision.

Tidal Basin 'Jaws'

WASHINGTON — The great white shark swam back and forth in the reflecting pool in front of the Lincoln Memorial. A Democratic congressman was skinny-dipping in the pool with his girlfriend after a hard day's work. Suddenly the shark's eyes spotted the body in the water and attacked. His huge jaws clamped the torso of the congressman who screamed once before disappearing into the depths of the pool as a pinkish red circle of blood rose to the top.

THE FRIGHTENED girl ran to a park policeman. "A shark in the reflecting pool just ate a Democratic congressman."

The park policeman wrote all the information down, and at the end of his shift reported it to his superiors. The next morning his superior turned in a report to the Department of the Interior. Three days later the report landed on the desk of the secretary of the interior who thought he'd better make a report to the White House.

THE PRESIDENT learned about it the following morning.

He called a meeting of the National Security Council.

"What should we do?" the President asked.

"We ought to close the reflecting pool," someone suggested.

"But this is the height of the tourist season," the President said. "If word goes out about the shark no one will come to Washington."

"YET IF WE don't act and another Democratic congressman get killed by the shark they might accuse us of a coverup," an aide pointed out.

"I think the first thing to do is to find out how the shark got there. Does anyone know if the CIA put a shark in the reflecting pool?" the President said.

The director of the CIA replied, "If they did, it was without my permission."

"The Soviets wouldn't put a shark in the reflecting pool, would they?" the President asked.

"Not while the SALT talks are going on," the secretary of state said.

"SIR," THE AIDE said, "it's our responsibility to alert Congress that there is a shark in the reflecting pool even if it means closing down Washington."

"I don't see why," the President said.

"But as President it's your job to alert the country when a shark is in its territorial waters," the aide argued.

"I think we should give it another week or two," the President said. "If the shark eats another congressman I'll close down the pool."

"THAT WILL be too late. The Democrats will charge you with being soft on sharks in 1976. You've got to take some kind of action now."

"Oh, all right. Nelson, how about setting up a National Shark Commission to investigate any illegal domestic acts by sharks in the United States? And I want a full report in six months.

Wasn't All That Good

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — When the economy was a full year into recession, some of the self-acknowledged experts were still debating whether there was a recession at all.

Now that there are definite signs that the recession is hitting bottom, and in some instances even rebounding a bit, some of the same observers are declaring the nation's troubles over.

The tendency is not limited to a few commentators, nor does it seem to be related to a person's station in life, other than for employment and politics. If you are employed you can afford to be optimistic; if your party is in power, you must be.

Alan Greenspan, the chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers comments that for all practical purposes the recession is over, while AFL-CIO head George Meany is aghast at between 7.9 million and 8.5 million jobless.

Headline writers tend to get in the swing of things. So do those who conduct polls and surveys. So do the hucksters who want to spur sales.

Consumer confidence, as measured by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center, rebounded "sharply" in May. But note: It still resides at one of the lowest levels in three decades.

The results for May, said the authors of the study, remain "below the lowest point reached in any previous post-World War II recession." The recovery, therefore, "will be somewhat slow, rather than fast."

The National Association of Purchasing Management, a trade group, surveyed its members and found what is described as a surge of new orders. But the news really wasn't all that good.

The survey shows that 33 per cent reported increases in new orders during June, but that 20 per cent showed declines. Several areas of weakness were noted, in publishing, lumber, furniture and steel.

The nation's farms are expected to produce record harvests, and this might well be the case. But does this automatically mean lower food prices, as some expect, or instead will we be fed explanations of how drought or flood or blight or distribution problems aborted the high hopes?

Probably more important, will high oil prices disrupt the plans and forecasts? The situation is unstable from almost any perspective.

Without sufficient oil the U.S. economy cannot operate effectively or remain under control. And yet, there is a basic conflict between the country's energy policy and its economic policy.

That is, the country wants to put its under-utilized plants and idle workers to productive use, while at the same time trying to discourage, through high prices, the use of energy.

The existence of that high jobless rate, discouraging in itself, will also tend to hold back the economy.

WASHINGTON — Giddy with his latest veto triumph over the Democratic Congress, President Ford is now ready for a new round of energy hard-ball: force Congress to accept his plan to decontrol "old" oil, comprising about two-thirds of all domestic production, or watch him veto legislation extending the controls law, which expires Aug. 30.

ON THE performance of his recent veto battles with the overwhelming Democratic majority in the House — four battles and four wins for Mr. Ford — the President is now confident he could sustain a veto of the bill extending the basic price control authority, called the Emergency Petroleum Allocations Act.

Moreover, Republican leaders in Congress have quietly informed the White House they will accept all political risks in such a new game of energy hard-ball.

THOSE RISKS are formidable. Allowing the controls law to expire would trigger a rapid rise in gasoline prices of between 10 and 16 cents a gallon, and a similar, but possibly smaller, increase in all other petroleum products.

The President's decontrol plan has been sitting on his desk for weeks waiting to be sent to the House and Senate. It would phase decontrol over a two-year period. Once the plan gets to Congress, either House can kill it by a majority vote.

Thus, the Democratic Congress holds the whip hand on presidential decontrol. But with the controls law expiring, Mr. Ford holds a more potent whip; power to veto the extension bill.

FOR WEEKS, presidential aides and energy czar Frank Zarb have hedged on whether to use such hard-ball strategy to force congressional decontrol. Decontrol is essential to a major part of the Ford energy plan — use free-market mechanisms and the $2 oil import duty to raise the price of energy, reducing consumption and dependence on foreign oil.

Strongly tipping the balance toward tough action was House Commerce Committee approval of a decontrol plan last week regarded as totally inadequate in the White House. It would take effect gradually over five years and sets a $7.50 ceiling on almost all domestic oil (the price of uncontrolled or "new" oil is now about $11.50). In the short term, it would actually reduce the cost of energy — exactly reversing the Ford strategy.

BARGAINING TO avoid an explosive veto showdown will get serious when Congress reconvenes after its July 4 vacation for a mere three weeks before its August vacation. Mr. Ford will offer to stretch his decontrol plan over three instead of two years.

But because Mr. Ford now feels so confident he holds the upper hand, he won't offer much beyond that.

A footnote: Mr. Ford's willingness to risk an explosive increase in gasoline prices is partly based on private polls now under White House study showing that 50 per cent of the public is now aware of the energy "crisis" and wants something done.

Letter To The Editor

DEAR EDITOR:

Thank you so much for giving the people of Big Spring a glimpse into the past. I would like to thank Joe Pickle and all the Herald staff for our Fourth of July paper. We appreciate people who worked so hard to collect pictures and history of the past of our city and county.

We have a year ahead of us to make the City of Big Spring a better tomorrow. We want our Bicentennial year of '75 to be the biggest and most elaborate and spiritual in the life of our nation. This is a time to remember the past, live into today, and look for a better tomorrow.

For a slogan for our city, we need a good one for this is a friendly place to live. A suggestion: "Big Spring, Texas U.S.A, Bicentennial Time Is on it's Way."

Pope Paul VI May Visit U.S.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — If Pope Paul VI attends the 41st International Eucharistic Congress here in 1976, it will be his first official visit as Pope to this country. He visited New York in 1965 but it was an official visit to the United Nations, which is international territory.

In endorsing the congress and its selection of the City of Brotherly Love as its site Aug. 1-8, 1976, Pope Paul indicated that he hoped to be in Philadelphia for the event.

"It is expected the Pope will favorably respond by coming," says the Rev. Walter J. Conway, executive secretary of the congress.

Must Pinpoint Colitis

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have your booklet on colitis, but nowhere do I find a description regarding diet restrictions or recommendations. A friend of mine had colitis a few years ago and advised me to take cereal, spinach and prune juice, while another friend tells me not to eat any coarse, bulky food. Could you specify on diet?

S.A.R.

I plead not guilty on this. I suspect you either read the booklet hastily or neglected to read it to the very end. The last six pages of the booklet contain very specific dietary recommendations, plus an extensive list of foods arranged in order of their fiber content. As you know, the colitis diet should be low in fiber type of food.

Now, as to your specific question, colitis is a rather general term applied to a variety of bowel disorders. For example, there may be an irritable colon found in tense individuals and in those who abuse laxatives. There is an allergic colitis, caused by a sensitivity to certain foods. A more serious type is ulcerative colitis, which is featured by ulceration and often bleeding in the bowel.

Hence, the type of colitis you have should be defined first. In general roughage in the diet should be minimized. Bran products, foods with husks such as corn, and some raw fruits and vegetables are also to be avoided, although some colitis patients can tolerate cooked fruits and vegetables. Nuts are taboo.

Meats, fish and fowl have a low residue and are essential for protein needs in such diets, as are dairy products, unless an allergy is traceable to these. Since there is a greater dependence on cooked food, vitamin supplement is usually recommended. Fruit juice helps, if it can be tolerated.

Don't rely too heavily on your friends' advice. The prune juice is fine, but it could be too laxative for your condition. You will not go wrong if you follow the suggestions in the booklet, beginning on page 30. For others, who feel this booklet can help them understand colitis, it is still available. For a copy, send 25 cents to me in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope for mailing purposes.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Please write on how to read a fever thermometer. I'm 67, and at times I feel as though I have a fever. If I take my temperature in the morning, leaving it in my mouth three or four minutes, I get a reading of a little over 96. But in the afternoon, around 2 or 4 p.m., I get a reading past the arrow.

Does this mean that it should be checked? My blood pressure is 140 over 80.

Mrs. M.S.

The reading differences are not unusual, especially in a person your age. At night, when sleeping, the body's metabolic processes slow down, and this can account for a lowered temperature reading upon arising in the morning.

As the day wears on, and you move about and engage in various activities, the metabolic rate necessarily increases. Thus the reading later in the day can be, and usually is, somewhat higher.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation." For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 3999, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

Searching For Colonel, Shun Kidnapers' Demand

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Lebanese security forces are continuing their search for Col. Ernest R. Morgan despite his kidnapers' demand that the hunt be called off.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman said today the government is continuing talks with the Lebanese Moslem revolutionaries who took Morgan prisoner nine days ago and vowed to kill him unless the United States met ransom demands by 9 p.m. Wednesday.

Morgan, 43, is from Petersburg, Va.

In a letter to Ambassador G. McMurtrie Godley, the kidnapers demanded that authorities stop looking for the U.S. Army colonel and that the embassy supply free food, clothing and building materials to the Moslem slum dwellers in the Slaughterhouse district of Beirut.

Godley called on Lebanese Foreign Minister Philippe Takla today and Foreign Ministry sources said the talks dealt with the abduction.

In Washington, State Department spokesman Robert Anderson refused to say whether the U. S. government would pay the ransom, but he added: "Our policy is very well known." That policy has always been not to comply with such demands.

Anderson stressed that the Lebanese government was dealing with the situation.

Premier Rashid Karami promised that there would be no letup in the search for Morgan. Police interrogated several persons who had been kidnaped by gunmen during the street fighting in Beirut. They told police they saw Morgan at a building somewhere in the country, but they said they could not locate it because they had been blindfolded.

Morgan was taken from a taxi at a traffic circle near the airport on June 29, at the height of the fighting between Palestinian and Lebanese leftist Moslems and militiamen of the right-wing Christian Phalange party. The colonel is stationed in Turkey, and was stopping for the night in Beirut on his way back from a meeting in Pakistan.

A terrorist group calling itself the Socialist Revolutionary Action Organization said it abducted Morgan. Its ransom demand was accompanied by tape recordings presumably made by the colonel in which he said he was being treated well and was in no immediate danger. But he warned that his captors "are serious in their demands."

Cotton Acreage Date Is July 15

Cotton producers were reminded today by Tim D. Hall, county executive director of the Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Service, that July 15 is the deadline for certifying cotton acreage. He also cautioned producers not to destroy any program crop before receiving an appraisal from the ASCS office. The signup for cost-share requests on previously announced practices is continuing.

Sen. Eastland Breaks Ribs

CLEVELAND, Miss. (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., is in the hospital after breaking three ribs in a fall at his Doddsville home.

"He is rather uncomfortable right now, but it is nothing too serious," his wife said Monday. Mrs. Eastland said her husband, 71, "got up early Sunday morning and didn't bother to turn on the lights in his room. He fell and apparently hit his side against the bedpost."

Juvenile Case Load Shows Most Cleared

The juvenile report for the quarter including March, April and May shows 192 cases handled by the city department, with 126 or 66 per cent cleared. The margin of cleared cases is up sharply compared to the years juvenile cases were handled through conventional channels.

Twenty-one cases were referred to the county juvenile and probation officer. During the month, the city juvenile officials conferred with 83 adults, and 74 juveniles were talked to by the department during that time.

The department also received retribution for $6,636.82 worth of stolen or damaged property in comparison with a total of $7,865.03 that was either stolen or damaged.

The top number of cases is runaways with 58 reported, and 44 were cleared. The department also had a high percentage in clearing thefts, with 19 of 23 apprehended, and 15 burglaries out of 21 reported.

Bicycle thefts, which are kept in a separate category, are one of the hardest to clear because nobody ever seems to see anybody getting the bikes. There were 28 reported stolen in three months and only six recovered. This is not necessarily an all-juvenile o offense, however.

There were six new assault cases. Seven were cleared, including one from the previous quarter. There was one rape case, one arson case and four sex molesting cases, all cleared in those categories.

The other elusive juvenile crime, according to Lt. Jim McCain, head of the city's juvenile division, is criminal mischief.

"We only cleared five of 23 cases because very few persons will help give information on criminal mischief. People don't get upset until something happens to their own property. When it happens to other people's property, they consider it kid stuff."

Demos Meet Saturday

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Final plans for electing Texas Democratic delegates to the 1976 state and national conventions will be made Saturday by the State Democratic Executive Committee.

State Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest, Bryan, called the meeting Monday.

For the first time in the state's political history there will be a presidential primary election this year, aa provided by the recent legislature. Under terms of the bill, often called the "Bentsen Bill," because it was vigorously supported by backers of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex. for the Democratic nomination, three-fourth of Texas' delegates to the national convention will be picked in the primary and the other one-fourth will be selected at the state convention.

The presidential primary, will let Texas Democrats vote directly in each senatorial district for their choice for national convention delegates, which will be identified on the ballot as supporters of the various candidates for the nomination.

The selection of the remaining 25 per cent at the state convention will be according to party rules and the nominations made in each of the 31 senatorial district caucuses.

The state committee also is expected to discuss the national and state fund-raising telethon July 26-27, with state headquarters in Dallas.

Rangers Outhit Yanks, Lose 5-2

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees invented a new kind of hit-and-run play Monday night. Almost every time they got a hit, they also got a run.

And, although outhit by Texas, they got enough hits and runs to defeat the Rangers 5-2.

Texas took a 2-0 lead against Doc Medich in the first inning but the Rangers wasted most of their nine hits. Meanwhile, the Yankees were producing these kind of hits:

—Roy White hit his seventh home run of the season off Bill Hands in the bottom of the first, chopping the Texas lead in half.

—Hands walked Ron Blomberg and Thurman Munson in the fourth and Graig Nettles and Rich Coggins then delivered the Yankees' second and third hits, back-to-back two-out singles which drove in the second and third runs. It was the first RBI for Coggins, who came into the game batting just .087 and was playing only because Manager Bill Virdon didn't want to risk Bobby Bonds' tender knee in the wet outfield.

—The Yanks didn't get another hit until the seventh when Nettles walloped his 14th home run and Jim Mason slugged his second.

That made it five runs on five hits, a streak which ended when Munson doubled in the eighth but was stranded.

Texas scored its two runs on singles by Cesar Tovar and Lenny Randle, an infield out and Jeff Burroughs' single. But the Rangers wasted several scoring opportunities.

Jim Sundberg and Randle singled in the third inning and Roy Howell flied deep to center field. Sundberg took third on the drive but Randle was doubled up to end the inning on a throw by Coggins when he tried to go to second.

Howell opened the sixth with a double. After Burroughs struck out, Mike Hargrove walked, but Jim Spencer fouled out and Toby Harrah fanned.

New York right fielder Terry Whitfield dropped Mike Cubbage's fly for a two-base error to open the seventh but Cubbage was cut down at third when he tried to advance on Sundberg's grounder to short. Tovar then lined out and Randle struck out.

Spencer opened the ninth with a double but Harrah grounded out and Cubbage and Sundberg fanned to end the game.

BLACK MAGIC — This 1968 Nova, dubbed "Black Magic" and driven by Billy Wash, Big Spring, covered the quarter mile in 11.9 seconds with a top speed of 118 mph at the Green Valley Raceway in Fort Worth over the weekend, lowering the world record time by one tenth of a second.

New Record Set By Wash

By TROY BRYANT

Billy Wash, Big Spring, piloted a 1968 Nova sponsored by Forsan Oil Well Service, Forsan, to an 11.9 run in the quarter mile Saturday during qualifying at the Green Valley Raceway in Fort Worth to set a new class record. He then went on to win the Super Stock Eliminator trophy at the race Sunday.

Wash, aboard a Chevrolet 327 powered stocker named "Black Magic," lowered the Stock Formula 2 record from 12.5 to 12.4 seconds. American Hot Rod Association rules say that the record can only be lowered by one tenth of a second at a time. He actually beat the old record by .6 second. The car reached a top speed of 118 miles per hour.

The car looks basically like it did when it rolled off the showroom floor, but a completely blueprinted Chevrolet 327 engine provides the power through 12½ inch racing slicks.

The rules for his class say the slicks must be inside the fenders so the rear axle had to be shortened to make room for them.

Forsan Oil Well Service owner, Bob Wash, and Billy's father, also has a Plymouth Roadrunner raced by Billy's brother and is having another one built, a Corvette.

Billy defeated Freddy Kirkpatrick, Dallas, for the Stock Eliminator title and some $1300 in prize money.

White Inks Contract, Thinks Super Bowl

DALLAS (AP) — Randy White, the Dallas Cowboys' No. 1 draft choice who signed a three-year contract with the National Football League team, says the only thing on his mind is to help the Cowboys win another NFL championship.

"I'm happy, the Cowboys are happy, and the only thing on my mind now is to come down here and help this team win the Super Bowl," the Maryland lineman said at a press conference here Monday.

But there's one slight hitch. Both White and Kyle Davis, an Oklahoma center tapped by the Cowboys in the fifth round, will play in the College All-Star Game Aug. 1 in Chicago against NFL champion Pittsburgh.

So White may be out of sight, but as far as the Cowboys are concerned, he won't be out of mind. Just out of position.

At Chicago, White probably will play defensive end instead of middle linebacker where he's been projected in Dallas' plans. That means he'll spend three weeks drilling in the position that propelled him into the All-America lineups, only to be told to forget it when he gets to the Cowboy training camp in Thousand Oaks, Calif.

"I was picked on the team as a defensive end and that's probably what I'll play," he said. "If I'm going to play linebacker with Dallas, I'd much rather be working out there. But the way things are, if you're picked there (at end) there's nothing I can do about it."

The 6-4 250-pound Outland Trophy winner had been sought by the World Football League, but White said "I never really considered the WFL. I'm happy with what I've got."

Cowboys vice-president Gil Brandt, who signed White Sunday night, quipped "Randy likes to get paid. I was never worried about losing Randy to the WFL."

White, who has been slated by Cowboys Coach Tom Landry to play behind Lee Roy Jordon, said he hopes everything "will work out all right" with the all-pro.

"He's got everything all over me. I just want to come in and learn all I can."

Landry said Davis, 6-2 and 240 pounds, who was a key in Oklahoma's record setting Wishbone, is "capable of stepping in right now" to replace Dave Manders, who has been twice brought out of retirement to handle Dallas' snapping chores at center.

Ruffian, Undefeated, Buried At Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Ruffian, the fabulous filly whose life was filled with the sounds of cheering and victory, has been laid to rest in the quiet of darkness.

Ruffian was buried at Belmont Park Monday night before a small, subdued gathering that included her trainer, Frank Whiteley, and her last rider, Jacinto Vasquez.

"Frank Whiteley requested that we make it as private as possible and we think that is only right," said New York Racing Association Board Chairman Jack Dreyfus Jr.

Only a few friends of racing came to watch Ruffian's private burial at Belmont, the site of her final, abortive race. The digging, done by an automatic crane, began at sundown and ended 90 minutes later in the dead of night as Ruffian was lowered into the ground on Belmont's infield.

The burial party dropped a bouquet of roses into the grave, the final resting place for the filly said by many to be the best ever to grace a racing program.

The quiet of Belmont Park Monday night provided a stark contrast to the festive atmosphere only 27 hours earlier, when Ruffian shouldered Vasquez and the hopes of millions of females against the colt Foolish Pleasure.

A nationwide television audience — millions of people — saw Ruffian break down a half-mile into the $350,000 match race, a victim of a shattered right ankle, as Foolish Pleasure raced on to a less-tragic finish line. Barely a score saw her buried.

Ruffian underwent an operation late Sunday night but in the end, this magnificent competitor, who was too much horse for every filly she ever raced, proved too much horse for herself.

Upon awakening from the anesthesia, she lashed out and smashed her cast, causing severe damage to the injured leg. "The cast had become an entangled mess and there was intensive swelling and hemorrhaging," said Dr. Alex Harthill, part of the veterinarian team that worked feverishly to save Ruffian.

It was then that Ruffian, who was always favored to win on the track, became a longshot to live. "If we were to put her through anesthesia and another operation, it would only be worse the next time," Harthill said.

Stuart Janney Jr., Ruffian's owner, decided on the course of action. "Don't let her suffer any more," he said.

The broken ankle injured Ruffian but her fierce, competitive spirit killed her.

"She didn't accept confinement," said Dr. Harthill. "She fought with vengeance, like a tiger."

If Ruffian had not been such a splendid race horse, she may have been put to sleep immediately after the injury. But extensive efforts were made to save the 3-year-old filly, victorious in all 10 races before Sunday, because of the hope she could transmit some of her greatness to her offspring.

"Many horses with injuries as serious as Ruffian's have been saved for breeding purposes," said trainer Elliott Burch.

Irwin and Lou Graham, the man who ousted him as U.S. Open champion this year, will be among a strong field seeking the $40,000 first prize.

DENVER (AP) — Reggie Barry, a defensive back obtained by the Denver Broncos in a trade with San Diego last month, has signed his 1975 contract with the Broncos.

Congressman Defends NFL's Rozelle Rule

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Rep. Jack Kemp, R-N.Y., one-time president of a football players' association, testified for the National Football League Monday in defense of the league's "Rozelle rule."

Kemp said the rule has benefited players and led to an increase of players playing out their options and signing with different clubs.

"It seemed to me it was a reform," Kemp said.

The rule, under challenge in U.S. District Court, allows NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle to award players or draft choices to a team which loses a player to another team. A suit by 15 past and present players contends it restricts their ability to sign with other teams.

Kemp was president of the American Football League Players Association from 1965 to 1970. The AFL and NFL player associations merged in 1970.

Now a third-term congressman, Kemp played quarterback for seven different teams in three leagues before ending his career with the Buffalo Bills in 1969.

Kemp echoed the testimony of club owners and management officials who have testified against the players' suit.

Reviewing his leadership of the AFL players group, Kemp said he opposed any links with trade unions and said collective bargaining was used only for items such as pension plans, not individual salaries.

An "option clause" in all contracts allows the player to take a 10 per cent cut in salary for one year after expiration of his contract, then become a free agent. The "Rozelle rule" means that compensation must be provided by the team that gets the player.

Kemp said, as a player representative, he had never considered the rule worth striking over.

"I think ultimately, if you don't have the Rozelle rule, you will have to come up with something to preserve competition," the congressman said.

Marshall Leads All-Star Pitchers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Mike Marshall, last year's Cy Young Award winner, and two other Dodgers have been named to the nine-man National League All-Star pitching staff to face eight American League hurlers in the July 15 All-Star Game.

Los Angeles Manager Walter Alston on Monday announced his choice of Marshall, honored last year for his consistent relief pitching efforts, along with Dodger starting pitchers Andy Messersmith and Don Sutton, 12-8, to the National League All-Stars, who have won three straight mid-season classics.

Alston, manager of the National League All-Star team, also named Tom Seaver and southpaw teammate Jon Matlack of New York, left-hander Tug McGraw of Philadelphia, lefty Randy Jones of San Diego, southpaw Jerry Reuss of Pittsburgh and Phil Niekro of Atlanta.

The four National League southpaws and five right-handers will face an American League pitching crew including Vida Blue and Rollie Fingers of Oakland, Catfish Hunter of New York, Jim Kaat and Rich Gossage of Chicago, Nolan Ryan of California, Jim Palmer of Baltimore and Steve Busby of Kansas City.

All but two of the National League choices are repeaters on the All-Star squad. The exceptions are southpaws Jones and Reuss. Seaver's selection marks his eighth return to the squad.

Of the American League All-Star choices for the midseason classic at Milwaukee's County Stadium, Fingers, Hunter and Busby are repeaters from last year.

Astros' Dierker Provides 5-1 Win

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston pitcher Larry Dierker says he had to get tired before he could start throwing strikes Monday night in the Astros' 5-1 victory over the Montreal Expos.

"All of my walks (four) came in the first four innings," said Dierker, who went the distance to improve his record to 8-9. "I felt extra strong and I was overthrowing the ball. I settled down after that because I got a little tired and I throw better when I'm tired."

Dierker shared the spotlight with Houston outfielder Wilbur Howard, the last Astros to get a chance to play regularly. Howard clubbed a two-run single to cap Houston's five-run fourth inning.

"He (Howard) is the only player on the club I can truthfully say I haven't given a chance to play until now," Astros Manager Preston Gomez said of Howard, who has hit safely in eight of nine games since breaking into the starting lineup. "When (Cesar) Cedeno got hurt, we put Howard in there and he's been hitting ever since."

Steve Rogers yielded Houston's five runs in the fourth, which included all four Houston hits for the game.

Bob Watson got the first hit off Rogers, now 5-7, and then scored the first run on Doug Rader's double. Cliff Johnson scored on a passed ball and Derker squeezed home Rader before Howard delivered his two-run single to end the scoring.

Montreal's only run came in the fourth when Larry Biittner singled to rightfield and later scored on Dierker's wild pitch.

Dierker settled down in the latter innings but had to pitch himself out of trouble in the ninth. He gave up back to back singles and went to a three balls, no strikes count on the next batter, Tim Foli, before striking him out to end the game.

"Dierker's best inning was the last one," Gomez said. "You cannot afford to walk Foli in that situation. Dierker came back and got him out ... his biggest out of the night. One more base hit and Montreal would have been back in the ball game and Dierker would have been out of there."

Brewers Luck Changes In 13th Inning

By The Associated Press

The San Antonio Brewers may be rubbing a rabbit's foot and watching out for black cats with new respect for superstition after "13" came up lucky for them in Texas League baseball action Monday night.

Andy Rodriguez's single with two out scored Wil Aaron for the winning run in the 6-5 Brewers victory in 13 innings over West Division leader Shreveport.

Winning pitcher Dennis Kinney put the clamps on the Captains for 5 2 3 innings of scoreless relief until Aaron scored.

In other TL action, Jackson took 10 innings to trounce Alexandria 12-9, Lafayette squeaked by Arkansas 4-3 and El Paso upended Midland 8-6.

Cubs Return Home For 10 Game Stand

MIDLAND, Tex. — The Midland Cubs return to Midland Cub Stadium on Thursday, July 10th to open a 10-game series with the Lafayette Drillers and Jackson Mets. This will be the only visit to the Tall City by the Drillers and Mets in 1975.

The Cubs will have a new look when they open their current homestand on Thursday evening against the Drillers. The Cubs have made three player transactions since they were last at home.

Former Midlanders Joel Green and Bernie Beckman have moved to the Cubs AAA affiliate in Wichita, Kansas and former first baseman Aaron Randell has moved to the class A Florida State League in Key West. Replacing Green on the roster is former Midland Most Valuable and Most Popular Player, Bill Huisman, second baseman. Steve Hamrick, pitcher, and Steve Verban, first base, moved up from Key West.

Cub General Manager Stoney Feeney has planned a number of activities during the upcoming homestand.

Thursday, July 10, the Cubs open their Homestand with the Lafayette Drillers. The Drillers are currently leading the Eastern Division of the Texas League. Thursday will be Ladies Night with all escorted ladies admitted to the general grandstand as guests of the Cubs. Unescorted ladies will be admitted for the reduced rate of 75 cents. All ladies will be able to register for a Hotpoint washer to be given away August 14.

Friday, July 11, the Cubs continue their series with the Drillers and it will be Guarantee Win Night. One of the most popular of Cub promotions, the Cubs guarantee that their fans will see them win, or the fans will be admitted to Saturday night's game free of charge.

Saturday, July 12 the Cubs and Drillers will duel in a doubleheader. The first game is slated for 6:30 p.m., and it will also be KCRS Night at Cub Stadium. This annual affair features the KCRS "Goldenhitters" against the Cub wives "Mama Bears" in a fun-filled softball game.

Sunday, July 13, the Cubs and Drillers conclude their 5-game series with Family Night. Bring the whole family to Cub Stadium for only $2.00.

The Cubs will take two days off for the Major League All-Star game on Tuesday, July 15, then will continue their race for a Western Division pennant with the Jackson Mets of the Eastern Division on Wednesday, July 16. The Mets won the Texas League title in 1974 as the Victoria Toros, but during the off-season moved to Jackson, Mississippi.

Featured promotions during the Jackson series will be Ladies Night again on Thursday, July 17; Two Bit Beer Night on Friday, July 18 and Webb Air Force Base Night on Saturday, July 19. Also featured on Thursday will be the Cubs salute to the Midland Police and Fire departments.

Assassins Report 'Absurd'

LONDON (AP) — A U.S. Navy psychologist says a report that he told the London Sunday Times the Navy trains assassins to be stationed in U.S. embassies "is totally and blatantly false and absurd."

Lt. Cmdr. Thomas Narut, a psychologist at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Naples, Italy, was summoned to London on Monday to discuss the report with Adm. Thomas Engen, the chief of staff for the Navy in Europe.

"I stand by every word," said Peter Watson, the author of the story in last Sunday's paper. Watson is a psychologist who is writing a book on military psychology.

His story said Narut told him the Navy runs two training centers, one at the Naples hospital and one in San Diego, Calif., where assassins are taught to cope psychologically with the idea of killing.

Narut said some of the trainees are convicted murderers picked from military prisons, and after training the men are assigned to commando-type units or to U.S. Embassies, Watson reported.

"The assertion attributed to me that convicted murderers have been assigned to embassies as assassins is totally and blatantly false and absurd," said Narut in a statement released by the Navy.

Watson said his report was based on nearly two hours of discussion with Narut at a North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference in Oslo, Norway, last week.

A Navy spokesman in London said Narut was speaking hypothetically.

DA Fails To Get Parr Testimony

HEBBRONVILLE, Tex. (AP) — District Court Judge O.P. Carrillo today recessed the office removal trial of suspended Duval County Judge Archer Parr until Wednesday to study a motion for an instructed verdict.

"I am seriously considering this motion. I want briefs on the law before I act," he said.

The judge ordered jurors to report back to court at 9 a.m. Wednesday and told lawyers to complete their briefs by 5 p.m. today, then return to the courtroom Wednesday at 8 a.m.

The motion, asking for an instructed verdict against Parr, was filed Monday by Dist. Atty. Arnulfo Guerra after Parr failed to appear in San Diego for a deposition hearing.

Parr, a nephew of the late South Texas political boss George B. Parr, was temporarily suspended from the offfice he has held for 16 years after Guerra filed a civil suit March 24. The suit, filed in behalf of Duval County grand jury foreman Jose R. Nichols, noted Parr's federal perjury conviction and accused the longtime South Texas politician of acts of official misconduct and conflict of interest.

In his motion, Guerra said Parr had been legally notified of the deposition hearing and failed to appear. The motion asked the judge instructed the jury of nine men and three women to find Parr guilty of "incompetance, gross carelessness and official misconduct."

The instructed verdict would remove Parr from office.

Judge Carrillo took the motion under advisement and ordered Guerra and defense lawyer Marvin Foster to submit legal briefs on the matter "as soon as possible."

"Whatever is done, I am going to take my time. I am not going to rush to judgment," Judge Carrillo said "All the court is doing is saying 'show me' and I will act."

The judge also told Guerra to draw up papers for Parr to show cause why he should not be held in contempt of court for failing to appear for the deposition hearing.

Guerra said Foster gave no reasons for Parr's failure to appear for the deposition. He said he needs Parr's testimony to complete his case. "Every day it is getting more difficult to proceed with my case without his testimony," Guerra said.

The deposition hearing was necessary because process servers have been unable to subpoena Parr to testify in person.

Most of Monday's session was devoted to legal arguments concerning Guerra's motion.

Fidel Cuellar, a San Diego contractor, testified that he renovated an old bank building for Duval County at a cost of about $120,000. The building is now used to house state welfare offices.

Cuellar testified that Parr and Duval County Commissioners gave him the job without advertising for bids, signed no contract, and agreed to pay him cost plus 10 per cent.

Duval County auditor Walter W. Meek testified earlier that the county budget did not include funds for renovation of the building or purchase of the building. He said the building was purchased from Mrs. Thelma Parr, of Corpus Christi, the first wife of the late George B. Parr.

Cuellar testified Monday that he had worked for the renovation project for more than a week when the county discovered it did not own the building.

Police Arrest Two Suspects

Two burglars were caught behind Vernon's Liquor Store in the alley in the early hours this morning by three city patrolmen.

Charges have been filed on Richard Keith Adair and David Stanley Ward. Bond was set by City Judge John R. Coffee at $1,500 each. They were still in city jail shortly before noon.

Howard Koss, James Nettles and Sgt. J. D. Carter were the arresting officers. A window at the liquor store was broken with a rock. Three bottles of whiskey were missing and a like number was found on the suspects when stopped by the officers, according to the report.

Roosevelt's Suit Rejected

LONDON (AP) — James Roosevelt's libel suit against the Sunday Telegraph of London has been rejected by Britain's highest court and Roosevelt has been ordered to pay court costs for his effort.

The suit involved a 1971 Telegraph story on Investors Overseas Services and its former director, Bernard Cornfeld. Roosevelt, 67, became a director of IOS in 1967.

Story Hour Off

The pre-school Story Hour, held weekly each Friday at the Howard County Library, will be discontinued until September. A spokesman for the library said that the regular reader was no longer available for the sessions.

Classes Changed At College

One course tentatively scheduled for the second six-weeks of summer school at Howar College has been scrubbed, but two others added. All are in the business education department.

Business 1317 (Human Relations) has been abandoned, said Dr. Larry Key, occupational education dean.

Added are Business 2324 (Business Law) Monday, Wednesday, Thursday 7-9:30 p.m.; also Business 2364 (Principles of Management) Monday, Wednesday Thursday 7-9:30 p.m. Registration for the next six-weeks session of summer school will be Monday at Anthony Hunt Library.

Attorneys Probably Will Balk At Oath Request

Neither County Attorney Bill Eyssen nor District Attorney Bob Moore have received letters from the Texas Welfare Department asking them to sign oaths not to divulge information about affairs of the Texas Welfare Department. If they do, they probably will refuse to sign it.

Eyssen said, "I haven't heard anything about it until you called, but I'll guarantee you that I won't sign it if I do get one."

Moore wasn't available for comment, but Guy Talbott, district attorney special investigator, said that the office handles the welfare cases as "a courtesy" and that he felt that they certainly would not operate under bounds of secrecy.

District and county attorneys across the state have been getting the letters asking them to sign secrecy oaths, which are required for counties to get 75 per cent federal funds for administration support in the child support collections program. The program is part of the Aid to Families with Dependent Children.

The federal program was to go into effect July 1, but has been delayed a month, according to a Texas Welfare Department spokesman.

Attorneys who have received the letters say that they have been advised that if they refuse to sign, the welfare department could lose its federal funds. Still, several of them have refused to sign.

Map Strategy For Battle With Ford Administration

BOSTON (AP) — Leaders of the nation's big-city mayors are holding a closed session to devise a new strategy in their fight with the Ford administration for more federal aid to cities.

Upset by President Ford's budget decisions and the failure of Congress to override his vetoes, these mayors are seeking a way to restore urban problems to the top of the national agenda, according to sources close to the participants.

One strategy under preliminary consideration was to bring Republican and Democratic congressional leaders into a series of cities for tours and conferences in which "they could actually see the problems and talk to the people in the streets," according to one source.

Today's session was called by Mayor Joseph Alioto of San Francisco, president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors meeting here. He invited fellow Democratic mayors Moon Landrieu of New Orleans, the conference's incoming president; Kenneth A. Gibson of Newark, N.J., incoming vice president; Kevin White of Boston and Abraham Beame of New York.

Several sources said the mayors were seeking strategies to regain the attention they had in the early 1970s when a Legislative Action Committee of mayors, led by John V. Lindsay of New York, toured the nation's major cities.

The tours attracted more attention to the mayors and their problems than any previous activity and the mayors believe the trips, which they dubbed the "big dog and pony show," helped marshal support to pass a federal revenue-sharing program. That $30.2 billion, five-year program, which ends next year, gave states and cities the first federal aid that could be spent any way local officials wanted.

between mayors and the Ford administration over whether there should be changes in this program. Both sides want the program renewed this year by Congress, and Ford has asked for $39.8 billion over five years.

A resolutions committee of the conference has approved a call for more money overall, and revision of the distribution formula to give the neediest cities a greater share.

Ford administration officials here have said they fear that, if the full conference approves this on Wednesday, a debate might ensue pitting governors, county officials and mayors against each other and jeopardizing chances for renewal by Congress.

On Monday, the White House sent telegrams inviting mayors around the country to a discussion of revenue sharing Thursday. Jim Falk, associate director of the White House Domestic Council, has said Ford will join the meeting.

Convenient Location

If there's such a thing as a convenient place for a mishap, then two motorists experienced this Monday.

Two persons were injured in a wreck behind Malone-Hogan Hospital. One walked down the hill to the emergency room, and the other was carried by private car.

The wreck happened during the noon hour Monday when two small cars driven by Adrian Dale Hendrix, 168A Fairchild and Ruby Green Anding, 4217 Hamilton collided.

The second car was pulling out of the hospital driveway and was in a collision with the first car which was headed west on FM 700.

The victims received bruises and lacerations, and one receiving cuts around the face.

A wreck at 9:59 p.m. occurred at 4th and Birdwell with several persons receiving minor injuries.

A vehicle driven by Ray Charles Sneed, Bldg. 18, Webb AFB, one driven by Dennis Michael Richardson, 200 S. Goliad, were in collision.

Sneed was treated in the emergency room of a local hospital and released. Betty Van, 15, 308 NW 8th, Delbert Ford, 1508 Bluebird, and Jeanie Moten, 15, of 206 N. Goliad, all complained of minor injuries but went to their homes, according to the traffic report.

Will Seize Inventories For Failure To Pay Taxes

AUSTIN (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock said today he plans to raid about half a dozen businesses in the Dallas-Fort Worth area this week to seize their inventories for failure to pay state sales taxes.

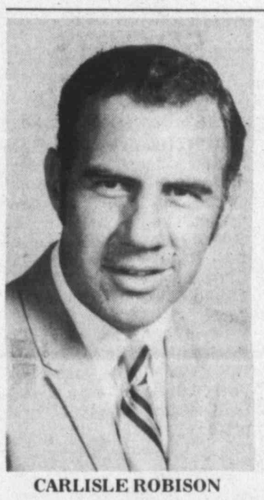

"These are all either old, aggravated or big cases involving delinquent taxes," a Bullock spokesman said. "There are about half a dozen in the direct Dallas-Fort Worth area. The amounts involved range from around $5,000 to $9,000."

Bullock and his office would not give further details on the time and place of the raids.

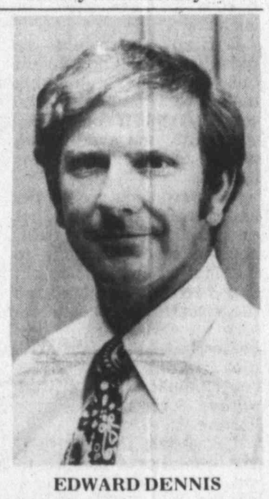

The total involved could not be estimated "because we are still looking at several more firms and they might be included," the spokesman said today.

Bullock has previously sent his agents into liquor stores in San Antonio and drug stores in Conroe to seize inventories for nonpayment of the state sales taxes collected from customers but not refunded to the state.

Bullock has estimated there are 70,000 such delinquent accounts in Texas, ranging from $5 to $400,000.

Court Mulls Alteration For Proposed Computer

County Commissioners, after meeting as a board of equalization for a while Monday, met to discuss possible changes in the courthouse building necessary to install a computer system.

Mrs. Zirah Bednar, County Tax Assessor-Collector, said that two walls will have to be built in her office to enclose the computer and air conditioning for the room. This will cost $1800. She said that if humidity control is required, the cost will be $2,500 and if dust and humidity control is required, the cost will be $3,000.

She also reported that this year's tax rolls will be run on Howard College's computer instead of the machine in her office. She said her machine is in need of repair or replacement and probably will not finish the tax roll.

She also reported that a sales representative from IBM asked to be placed on the agenda for next Monday to discuss his systems. A representative from NCR visited the court last week.

They placed on the agenda for next week a discussion of what to do about offices in the basement vacated by the State Welfare Office.

Patrol Of Key Intersections

Funds will be made available to the City of Big Spring for the STEP program, according to Police Cheif Vance Chisum.

The program will allow state payment to police officers for after-hours work at intersections where there are special traffic problems.

Chief Chisum said that 22 intersections have been selected where officers will be on duty at different times. This is expected to slow speeders, and probably will increase the number of tickets, Chisum added.

Ted Critical Of Ford Unemployment Policy

BOSTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy called on President Ford Monday to make reducing unemployment the nation's first priority instead of a presidential afterthought.

In a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, the Massachusetts Democrat sharply criticized Ford administration policy on aid to cities and endorsed many of the programs sought by the more than 300 big-city mayors attending.

"The ... basic flaw in the President's budget and in the President's policy is the acceptance of the worst unemployment since the depression," Kennedy said. "Putting those Americans back to work cannot be a presidential afterthought, it must be our No. 1 national priority."

Kennedy outlined what he called a comprehensive and national policy of action for urban America. It included:

(AP WIREPHOTO)

EDWARD M. KENNEDY

—Enlargement of the federal general revenue sharing program, due to expire next year, to protect cities and states from the effects of inflation and recession.

—Full funding for housing legislation and the renewal of the commitment in the 1968 housing act "for a decent home in a decent environment for every American.

—A new approach to crime, avoiding a law and order rhetoric and concentrating on aiding victims, plus effective gun control.

— Greater federal support for urban mass transit as the most efficient and effective response to the energy crisis in cities.

—Reversing cutbacks proposed in health, education and antipoverty programs because "the character of justice in the land will be judged by how well we provide justice to the least powerful among us."

—Permanent public service jobs programs to aid Americans "who even during prosperous times are working full time at below poverty wages."

Sues Hereford School District

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — A Hereford junior high school English teacher who was dismissed for "passing out unauthorized literature in class," has filed suit in U.S. District Court here against the Hereford Independent School District.

Wayne Woodward, 30, who claims the dismissal violated his rights to free speech and due process, is asking the court for $400,000 in damages if his contract is not renewed. If the judge orders the school district to rehire him, he asks for $80,000 in damages in addition to reinstatement.

Woodward, who has taught at La Plata Junior High School for the past six years, was dismissed shortly after admitting his membership in the American Civil Liberties Union to the school's principal.

Weather Pro Bjerknes Dies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. Jacob A. B. Bjerknes, 77, who helped originate the modern method of weather forecasting, is dead of cancer. Bjerknes worked with his father, Vilhelm, in developing forecasting techniques by observing polar fronts and air masses. He died Monday at UCLA Medical Center.

Butcher Murders Mystery

HOUSTON (AP) — State Dist. Judge Arthur Lesher has ruled that Charles F. Rogers, sought 10 years as a material witness in the mutilation murders of his parents, is legally dead.

Rogers disappeared in 1965 after his elderly parents' bodies were found in the refrigerator of their home here.

Lesher acted on a suit filed by Henry M. Martin, Roger's cousin. Martin asked that Rogers, who was 44 at the time of his disappearance, be declared legally dead to protect Rogers' property for his heirs.

Martin said in the suit that 10 acres in Southeast Houston owned by Rogers is in danger of being condemned by the city and also is being claimed by an outside party now living on the land.

Martin, 49, said he has not heard from Rogers since the slayings. Martin's attorney said he contacted 37 of Rogers' relatives and asked them to contact him if they heard from Rogers but there have been no responses.

Police discovered the bodies of Rogers' parents after receiving a call from a concerned relative.

Authorities said none knew Rogers well, not even his parents. Rogers cooked his food on a two-burner hot plate in his attic room at his parents' home.

Rogers quit his last known job as a seismologist for Shell Oil Co. in 1957 but continued to leave the house early in the morning for unknown reasons and not return until late at night.

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — John R. McLean, a retired aircraft executive and oilman, died of cancer Monday. He was 59.

Texas Hurricanes Set Some Records

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — A snowflake drifting gently to the ground and a swirling, destructive killer hurricane have something in common—no two are exactly alike, says a Texas A&M University researcher.

Hurricanes can form anywhere in oceans from 150 miles off the Texas coast to Africa's west coast, said Patrick McCormick, a graduate researcher in A&M's Center for Applied Geosciences.

The hurricane season can start as early as February and end as late as January, but in Texas the season is usually from June through October, McCormick said.

Hurricanes which smash the Texas coast can affect weather hundreds of miles inland. Sometimes the storm's rains are a welcome relief from a long drought, but they can have disastrous results—flooding, erosion and ruined crops, said Dr. Dennis Driscoll, meteorologist with the center.

On the coast, storm surge causes most deaths and destruction, Driscoll said. It is like a quickly rising high tide and it cannot be forecast, McCormack said.

"In Hurricane Audrey in 1957, it is thought that the majority of people who drowned sought safety by climbing into high trees, and then fell into the rising flood waters after they were bitten by snakes alsotaking refuge in the trees," Driscoll said.

High winds of 50 miles an hour to 200 m.p.h., in extreme storms, break tree limbs and blow down houses.

"With a driving rain, the force is even greater. Few buildings are designed to withstand such force," Driscoll said.

Hurricanes also spawn tornadoes, generally to the right of the storm's movement and between 60 to 240 miles from its eye. Hurricanes moving northward spawn more tornadoes, Driscoll said.

Texas holds records for the most deaths in a hurricane, and for the most tornadoes spawned by a hurricane, Driscoll said.

In 1900, the Galveston Hurricane killed 6,000 to 8,000 persons, and destroyed more than 3,600 homes when 15-to 20-foot tides battered the island. In 1967, Hurricane Beaulah triggered more than 100 tornadoes and dumped more than 30 inches of rain in some areas.

Driscoll and other researchers here have published three free booklets, entitled "Hurricanes on the Texas Coast," to describe hurricanes and precautions to take before they strike.

So you're going to get a home fire extinguisher — what kind? Any UL-approved extinguisher is marked to indicate the type of fire it fights, and how big a fire it can theoretically handle.

Class A fires involve ordinary combustibles — wood, paper, cloth, etc. Class B fires involve gasoline, oils, grease and other flammable liquids. Class C fires start in electrical equipment or wiring and may combine with other kinds of fire.

Pressurized water-type extinguishers are only good for Type A fires. These are seen mostly in rural areas, or where fire-fighting services are hard to come by.

Of the dry chemical extinguishers, only the multi-purpose type will handle all kinds of fires. It's more expensive, but worth it.

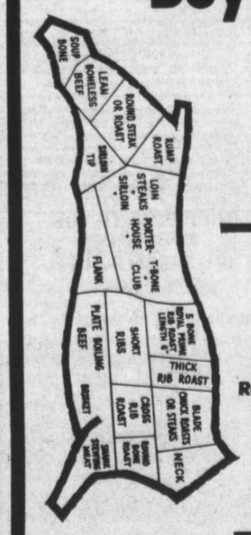

Be sure the extinguisher you buy is big enough. The small-size units are dissipated very quickly when fighting a fire. Several of the five-pound size would be more suitable for the average home than the one-pound size people often buy.

Home fire extinguishers will help protect you from small household fires. And adequate fire insurance is always on the job. Discuss your insurance needs with the experts at Stripling-Mancill Insurance Agency, 102 Caylor Office Building, 600 Main.

Spiro Agnew's Son Charged

BALTIMORE (AP) — James Randy Agnew, 29-year-old son of former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, has been charged with trespassing after a man complained he and his wife caught Agnew looking in their window, police say.

Police information officer Dennis Hill said Agnew was released on his own recognizance Monday after he was arrested.

Hill said the northern Baltimore man who complained told police he had been watching television early Monday morning with his wife when she went into another room, saw what she thought was a face at the window and called her husband.

Showers Dot Texas

By The Associated Press

A few showers dotted extreme Northeast Texas near Texarkana today but skies were mostly fair elsewhere over the state.

Temperatures at sunrise edged toward 80 degrees in many areas.

Thundershowers ranged across northern and extreme western Texas and the Panhandle Monday afternoon and evening but most of the rains dissipated before midnight.

Only a few temperatures in the 60s were cooling far North Texas points at 5 a.m. today. Dalhart reported 63 degrees, Amarillo 66 and Lubbock 69.

Galveston's 82 degrees was among the state's early highs. But even some Northeast and North Central Texas points were in the 80s at dawn. Dallas-Fort Worth reported 81 and Tyler 82.

Monday's maximums varied from 102 at Wichita Falls to 84 at Marfa, which had nearly half an inch of rain. Other hot spots were Cotulla at 99 and Childress and Mineral Wells at 98.

Forecasters predicted clear to partly cloudy skies over Texas through Wednesday with scattered thundershowers in extreme West Texas, the Panhandle and parts of Northwest Texas.

California Earthquake

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP) — A major earthquake hit the Gulf of California south of San Diego today and was felt as far northeast as Tucson, Ariz., the National Earthquake Information Service reported.

Service spokesman David Carver said the quake occurred at 5:37 a.m. EDT, about 270 miles south of San Diego, Calif., and measured 6.8 on the Richter scale of earthquake magnitude. He said there were no reports of damage or injuries.

"That's a very sparsely populated area of the world, and we don't really expect any damage," said Carver, although he noted an earthquake of that magnitude would be extremely dangerous to a populated region.

Carver said the tremor was felt slightly in Tucson and in Long Beach, Calif.

Patrolman Shot To Death

WOLFE CITY, Tex. (AP) — T.D. White, Wolfe City's only patrolman, was found shot to death in his car this morning, Hunt County Sheriff Wayne Green said.

Green said the body was discovered with a bullet wound in the head by a local delivery man beginning his early morning rounds.

White's car, with its inside dome light burning, was parked in front of a local bank on the main street of this North Central Texas town of about 2,000 residents, Green said.

The officer's car keys and revolver were missing, Green added.

No motive for the slaying was readily apparent and Justice of the Peace R. L. Mullins has ordered an autopsy.

White was in his mid-60s.

Suggests Change In Lake Name

The Horizons Committee of the Bicentennial Commission recommended to the City Council at its meeting this morning that the name of Cosden Lake be changed to something relating to the early history of Big Spring.

The suggestion of the committee was Comanche Lake. The council agreed to put the item on the next council agenda, and allow two weeks for other citizens to suggest a name if they desire.

Anyone having a name of historical significance that they would like to suggest should contact the mayor or any member of the committee headed by Mrs. R. B. G. Cowper.

Mayor Daley Gains Award

BOSTON (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago has received the public service award of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Mayor Joseph L. Alioto of San Francisco, who presented the award to Daley on Monday at the U.S. Conference of Mayors, said of the 73-year-old Chicagoan: "He is the prototype of all the great mayors. He is a mayor's mayor. He is the greatest mayor of all time."

Older Adults Invited To Kentwood

An area-wide meeting of all older adults will be held Wednesday at Kentwood Older Adult Center, 2805 Lynn, beginning at 10 a.m. There will be a covered dish luncheon, music, singing and table games. In making the announcement, a spokesman said, "This is a fun day, and we hope many older persons will join us. All are welcome to come out and meet old friends as well as make some new ones."

The Kentwood Center has become a popular meeting place for persons of retirement age, and numerous activities are scheduled each week.

For Dessert

Combine fruit and syrup from 1 can (30 ounce) fruit cocktail with 2 tablespoons maraschino cherry syrup and 2 tablespoons fresh lime or lemon juice; chill thoroughly. Roll 6 firm balls of vanilla or lemon ice cream, lime or orange sherbet in flaked coconut until coated. Spoon fruit cocktail into serving dishes and top with ball of ice cream. Makes 6 servings.

PAGEANT WINNER — Tessa Underwood, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Underwood, Gail Rt., was named "Miss Dainty Dixie Doll" and placed first in her age group at the Southern States Pageant held Saturday. The pageant was presented in the Scott Theatre, Fort Worth.

Future Bride Honored At Gift Shower

Miss Linda Crawford, bride-elect of Robin Hoover, was honored with a "paper goods" luncheon recently in the home of Mrs. Jack Alexander. Other hostesses were Miss Sherri Alexander and Mrs. John Thomas, the latter of Denver City.

Guests included the honoree's mother, Mrs. Delaine Crawford of Lubbock, and the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. R.E. Hoover.

The luncheon table was accented with matching centerpiece, placemats and napkins created by the hostesses, and these decorations were presented to the bride.

During the afternoon, the guests made rice bag flowers using Miss Crawford's chosen wedding colors of pink and apricot.

The couple will be married Saturday in St. John's United Methodist Church, Lubbock.

Child Is Born At Lubbock

Mr. and Mrs. Adron Welch, 2715 Carol, announce the birth of a daughter, Lisa Rene, at 9:32 a.m., June 30 in the University Hospital, Lubbock. The couple has one other child, a son, Bryan Lee, 22 months.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Welch of Arp, and the maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T.B. Coker, Colorado City.

Dates Changed By Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary has changed its regular meeting place, date and time; all future meetings to be held at 7:30 p.m., the first Thursday of each month in the Kentwood Older Adult Center.

The decision about the changes was made Thursday evening at a meeting in the center with Mrs. Ernest Grubach presiding. Also, Mrs. Evelyn E. Mabry was accepted for membership in the auxiliary. This makes a total of 140 members, which surpasses the auxiliary's goal.

An installation ceremony was scheduled Aug. 7, after which the women will reconvene at the Brandin' Iron for dinner.

Mrs. Grubach announced receipt of a certificate of appreciation for the Junior Auxiliary in appreciation for a $25 donation to the Korea Foundation.

In other business, auxiliary members made final plans for their participation in the Department of Texas convention July 17-20 at the Blackstone Hotel, Fort Worth.

Dear Abby

Wives Should Help Give Love Scene Happy Ending

DEAR ABBY: About that wife who complained because her husband showed her no affection after lovemaking: She remarked, "If a man would just take his lady love in his arms and hold her, and maybe give her a little kiss on the nose afterward, it would mean so much."

In response, you wrote that you wondered how many women suffered in silence from such a seemingly minor oversight.

My question is: "Whose oversight is it?" If the lady wants a hug or a kiss on the nose, why can't she give HIM one in the hope that he'll respond in kind? Why assume that it's the man's responsibility to know what's going on in the woman's mind? By what mysterious talent are men supposed to know this?

If a woman is so stupid that she just suffers in silence, it's no wonder that she doesn't get the kind of attention she wants.

I would say, "Do unto others . . ."

A MAN

DEAR MAN: My reply was intended to tip off the man who rolls over and starts snoring three minutes after the big love scene. It's hard to kiss a man on the nose when he turns his back to you.

DEAR ABBY: I appreciate your answer to the young lady who inferred that because her boyfriend did needlepoint, he was less of a man.

I've been doing needlepoint for a year, and I find it tremendous therapy for the nerves. (I do crewel and crochet, too). I still have time to work 60 hours a week, play tennis, chess and backgammon. And in case you're wondering about my masculinity, my wife is expecting in December.

PETE IN SCHNECTADY

DEAR PETE: Congratulations — on all counts.

DEAR ABBY: Another solution to "Prune Face," that doctor's wife who wanted a face-lift, but whose husband said no because he didn't want her to look like his "daughter":

Persuade the good doctor to join his wife and get a face-lift, too! We'd just as soon you didn't use our names, but it's no secret to our friends and family that my wife and I had a "joint job." We shared the same room and nurses — and were delighted with the results.

We were in our mid-50s at the time. It didn't hurt a bit except when I wrote out the check.

"Do the best with what you've got (left)," we say.
