Area Braces For Hurricane Anita

HERMAN JOHNSON, CITY SECRETARY AND DIRECTOR of emergency planning, watches Hurricane Anita move slowly across the Gulf of Mexico on the city hall tracking map.

At presstime Tuesday afternoon, city and county officials were watching closely the first serious hurricane of the season, developing in the Gulf of Mexico. Designated as Anita, the hurricane was approximately 340 miles east-southeast of Galveston, moving to the north-northwest at about five to ten miles an hour.

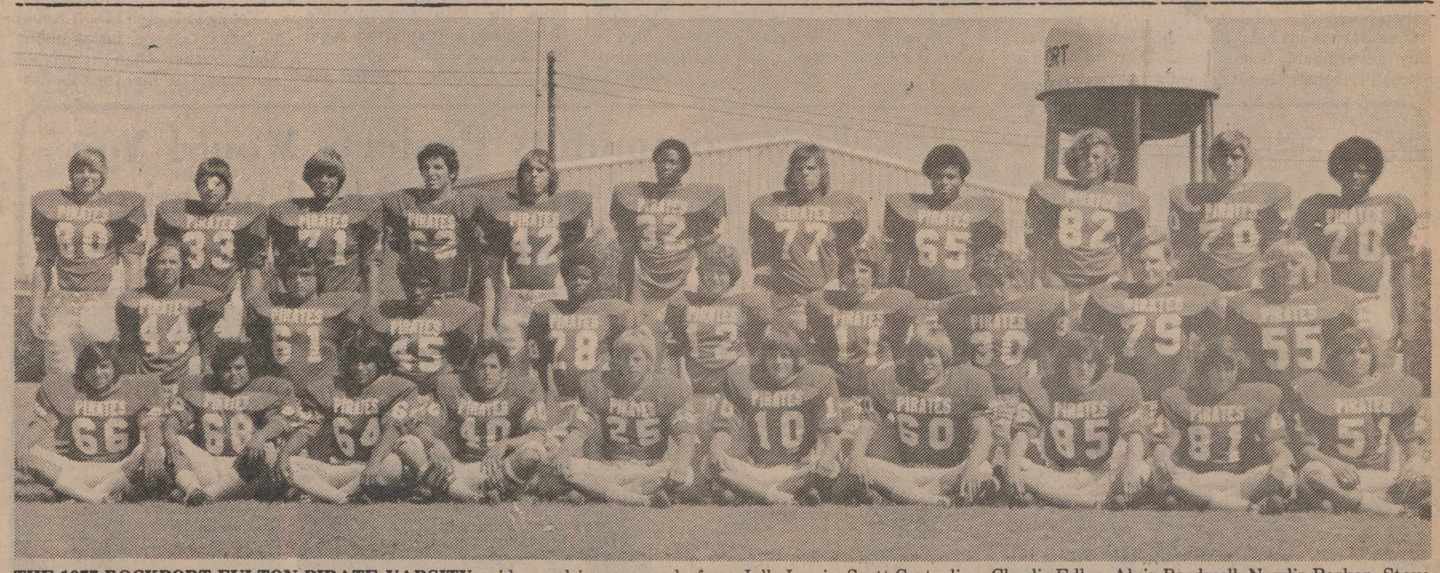

"What we don't like is the fact that for right now it is moving slowly and that means it can build," said Mr. Herman Johnson, director of the city's disaster team. "Right now," Johnson went on, "it's pretty far out but we will watch it closely through the night and day.

"In the morning (Wednesday), we will know a lot more about it and be able to make the decisions that may be required at that time," the director explained.

The watch will go in three phases. Phase One will be the hurricane watch. "In that time," Johnson commented, "we just watch the storm and the path it is taking. If things begin to really look bad, we call a meeting of the city and county officials. Actually that's not hard at all because most of them are all together anyway--watching."

According to Johnson, if the officials involved feel that the time has come, the second phase will be launched. "At that time," Johnson went on, "we designate an official shelter." The third phase is very simple. "If we feel, on the strength of the weather advisories and information from the weather service, that the hurricane is imminent, we will put out a call for evacuation. This is done by means of a loud speaker truck going up and down each street advising the citizens to evacuate the town," Johnson added. According to the city secretary, the news media in Corpus Christi will also be asked to make the announcement on radio and television.

"Of course," Johnson went on, "we hope that it will never come to that. These storms are tricky. Right now it's just a wait-and-see time and that's all we can do, except be ready if we have to be."

Notable Notes

ABC Begins Sept. 6

The ABC Learning Center will begin its classes for three and four-year-old children on Tuesday, September 6, at 8:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. Children registered for two or five days a week will begin on Tuesday, and children registered for three days a week will begin on Wednesday. Some enrollment vacancies are still available. For information contact 729-1512 or 729-5695.

Young Homemakers to Meet

The Aransas County Young Homemakers will hold their first regular meeting of the 1977-78 year on Tuesday, September 6, at 7:00 p.m. in the high school homemaking department. The program will include the installation of officers for the new year.

Adam And Eve To Appear

It's not the real Adam and Eve, but rather the Alpha-Omega Players performing their version of Mark Twain's celebrated play "The Diary Of Adam And Eve." The performance begins at 7:30 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the First Presbyterian Church of Rockport. September 1, this coming Thursday, is the date of the performance.

VFW Benefit

A benefit dance is scheduled for September 2 at the Devine, Tx., VFW post for longtime Rockport resident, C.J. "Coon" Roy, who is ill. The dance gets underway at 7:00 p.m. and live music will be provided. Betty Redus in Devine and Martha Gough in Rockport will provide extra information on the program sponsored by the VFW Cancer Drive.

TOPS' Plans Announced

Kay Snapp was crowned Queen of the Week at the recent TOPS meeting at St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Sara Bates and Jewel Moody were also honored. A luncheon is scheduled for the TOPS members on September 15 at the Rusty Anchor Restaurant. Another upcoming TOPS function will be a garage sale at the Lions' Club in Fulton on September 10.

Rockport MD Drive

The Rockport chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy drive will be on the alert to take phone pledges for the Jerry Lewis Telethon which is set to get underway September 4. The volunteers will be working out of headquarters at the Rockport VFD and will be working with Channel 3, the Rockport Chapter 1536 of the AARP and the national MD drive.

ROCKPORT-FULTON VARSITY CHEERLEADERS for the 1977 football season are Mary Walston, Hallie Gorham, Rhonda James, Renee Fair and Nancy Hicks. The squad recently completed summer cheerleaders' camp where they received honors for their performances.

Budget Request Made

Public hearings for the 1977-78 budgets of both the City of Rockport and the Aransas County government are scheduled for the evening and morning of September 12, and staff members of the auditing department of both governmental bodies are presently hard at work making the latest updates on the proposed financial statements

Regular meeting of both bodies in recent weeks have been getting requests from area organizations and government branches to modify the budget, usually for more funds to their department.

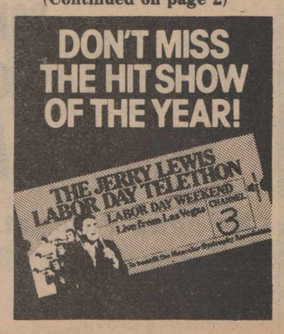

A recent example of such requests was the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Inc. request for additional funds to support the new county ambulance service. Part of the request was for the salary of a new EMT who has joined the ACHVI staff.

Shaw said that the additional staff member would alleviate some of the problems the ambulance service has had due to its shorthanded situation. The program, more successful than had been anticipated, necessitated the addition of the new staff member. Proof of the need for another EMT was provided in the fact that though ACHVI estimated 125 ambulance calls would be received in the first six months of operation, 239 calls were actually received.

Shaw said that the state is suffering from a shortage of EMTs because of the number of programs being instituted, and the importing of part-time personnel was not working out because those part-time EMTs could make more money in their home towns by working overtime.

Slow collections, running about 39 percent, will pick up when insurance companies complete the processing of claims filed by patients, said Shaw. The collections are running behind original estimates of ACHVI because of the "newness" of the ambulance

Burglary, Suicide, Are Crimes Of Past Week

Theft was again the major crime of the week, according to reports from both the Rockport Police Department and the Aransas County Sheriff's Office.

The RPD reported one theft, from a tugboat in the Heldenfels Shipyard. Entrance to the tug was gained through a window, and some tools were taken.

The police department also reported two disorderly conduct arrests over the week.

The Aransas County Sheriff's Department reported a busy week, with theft constituting the majority of offenses.

Aransas County Airport officials reported the burgulary of the airport offices during the past week. Entrance to the administration building was gained through a back window, and access to the office was made by forcing open a door. Approximately $300 was taken in the burglary.

Dale James reported the theft of a suitcase, three pistols and approximately $385 in cash from his residence last week. Entrance was through a window.

John R. Dollar reported the theft of his 1951 Harley-Davidson panhead motorcycle from his garage last week. Value of the motorcycle was estimated at approximately $1,200.

Dr. Daniel D. Altgult reported the theft of a Gruen watch from his residence. The diamond watch was valued at between $2,000 and $2,500.

James Merrett reported the theft of a motorcycle from his garage over the past week.

The Sheriff's Office also investigated a suicide and an attempted suicide over the past week.

A sheriff's deputy was dis-

Pirates Open At Home Against Aransas Pass

Bands playing, people cheering, and stomachs trembling all mark the opening of the 1977 Texas Schoolboy Football Season. In Rockport it will be no different as the Pirates of Rockport-Fulton take on the Aransas Pass Panthers in a contest at Pirate Stadium.

The Pirates will enter the game hoping to have all of their nagging injuries healed and their flying shoes on in the battle with the Panthers.

The Pirates will be relying heavily on some proven performers in the backfield and an experienced offensive line to provide the fireworks for the team.

The names of Darryl Green and Charlie Edler make opponents sit up and take notice because they are possibly the two fastest young men in South Texas. Add to this the name of Mark McCabe who gained over 1000 yards on the JV last year after transferring in from Louisiana, and you have three break-away threats capable of scoring from any point on the field.

The Pirates have Bruce Barre, Newlin Parker, Gary Heasley, Bill Adams, and Sammy Solis all returning from last year's squad. If Adams goes strictly defense, then Kenny Matlock will step into a guard position. Joe Brooks, Paul Harris, and Jerry Kelly will most likely round out the starting offense.

The Pirate defense will be spear-headed by Brooks who played every down next to last year's All-State Pirate John Picton, and ranked second to Picton in total tackles.

The Pirates might well be called the No Name Defense because people have been shifted and others brought up from the JV team of a year ago, but already in the two pre-season scrimmages, they have proven that they will come at you and play for keeps.

In the Aransas Pass Panthers' game, the Pirates will meet an opponent picked to finish first in District 30-AA after coming off a 6-4 season last year. The Panthers have a fine trio of runners in Caleb Brown, Jim Chessnutt, and Tim Robles.

The rest of the team will be made up of people who have been moved around or brought up from their JV, which by the way fought to a tie with the Pirate JV a year ago. The Panthers think they have a couple of outstanding linemen in Paul Ivicic and Sam Ince.

Game time will be 8:00 p.m., and with the new field house erected on part of the parking area used a year ago, come early and get a good place to park and a good seat.

Offices Close For Holiday

All city and county offices will close for the Labor Day holiday, September 5. Offices will close at the end of the business day, Friday, September 2, and will open again Tuesday, September 6.

The Aransas County Independent School District will also observe the same time for all school students and personnel.

Monday trash collections will also be suspended for the three-day weekend. Homes which usually have trash pickup on Mondays will be rescheduled for the following day.

A spot check of businesses in the area showed that most shops will be open for the holiday as will the restaurants and recreations centers.

The Rockport Pilot will observe usual hours on the holiday but the classified deadline will be Friday, September 2, at 5:00 p.m.

Reserve Tickets To Go On Sale Friday Advance

If you'd like a choice reserved seat for this Friday's football game between the Pirates and Aransas Pass, the Aransas County Independent School District will be more than happy to accommodate you with its pre-game reserved seat sales.

The superintendent's office will have reserve seat tickets on sale until 4:00 p.m. Friday afternoon for that game. Reserved tickets will be sold Friday night only at the ticket office on the south side of the field.

Long lines are a common occurrence at the night-time sales, and the very best seats are usually taken right off the bat. To save time and insure the ACISD advises Pirate fans to drop by the superintendent's office this Friday and buy tickets ahead of time.

CONGRESSMAN JOHN YOUNG became a signed member of the Rockport-Fulton Booster Club at his appearance before members of the Navigation District, county and city officials and business representatives last Friday. Young was present to hear plans and problems for an expasion of Cove Harbor and the Rockport approach channel.

Young Hears Expansion

Residents and government officials of Rockport and Aransas County took advantage of an opportunity last week to detail the need for improved waterfront facilities to a federal government official.

Representative John Young, on a campaign swing through the counties in his district, was on hand at the Navigation District building to hear about the need for deep water channels and an extension to the Cove Harbor complex.

A dozen representatives from the Navigation Board, the county Commissioners' Court and the city of Rockport, as well as delegates from prominent local businesses which have close ties with the waterfront, were present to itemize the reasons for an improvement program and hear Young's thoughts about how to implement those improvements.

Young's track record for helping the local navigation district is in excellent standing. It was largely through Young's office that the funds for the upcoming Fulton Harbor dredging project were acquired. Representative Barbara Jordan and Seantors John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen also supported the program.

After formalities and introductions had been completed, navigation board member Dick Fox got the meeting underway by pointing out the need for expanded facilities at the Cove Harbor complex, south of Rockport. Cove, said Fox, has no more room for the 150 individuals and businesses which are on a waiting list for dockage at the harbor. To make things worse, the possibility of enlarging Cove Harbor has been hindered by government bodies which prohibit construction on wetlands abutting the harbor.

Those wetlands are property of the Navigation District, and the board of directors has for some time been considering the possibility of using that land for an extension to the harbor.

But to their frustration, the navigation board has been informed that any attempt to use that property as a part of the Cove Harbor facility would be blocked by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. "We have this land," exclaimed Fox, "and we can't touch it."

Several participants in the meeting said the federal agency's reason for prohibiting development on the site is because a certain variety of grass, which is a food source for birds, grows on the land.

Fox proceeded to explain a navigation board plan to donate a portion of the 90-acre tract to the federal agency, if the navigation's district's portion could be retained for development purposes. "But that idea has been nixed," said Fox.

"The heck with giving it away," replied Young, "Who says you can't give it away?" "Fisheries," was the response from several participants at the meeting.

The congressman was then filled in on details of a recent Corps of Engineers permit which was given to Houston Oil and Minerals to develop a section of that land. The Fish and Wildlife Service filed a complaint against the development, so the Corps reduced the amount of land that could be used in the HO&M project.

Aransas County Judge John Wendell then asked Fox whether a permit had been filed for the Cove Harbor expansion. Reply from members of the navigation board was that an application had not been filed because the board fears a possible negative response to the application.

Young chastized the navigation board for not filing the applications. "What is your objection to filing?" he demanded. Board members explained that it would be "...like a brick wall" which would bring an objection from the Fish and Wildlife Service and an expensive legal battle.

"I think Johnny Wendell put his finger right on the thing," said Young, pointing out that the final decision in a locked case would probably be resolved by the Corps of Engineers and the Department of the Interior at the Washington level.

Young recommended that the navigation board submit the applications for permits as soon as possible. Navigation district board of directors chairman David Maguglin indicated after the meeting that the board would undertake steps to fill the applications at the next meeting of the navigation board, on September 6.

Young indicated that it would be advantageous for a public body, rather than a private company, to file the applications. The navigation board had considered that alternative previously. One participant in the meeting pointed out that public hearings, which would be held after a permit had been filed to the Corps, would probably bring in little local public objection. It was noted that the Cove Harbor complex currently employs about 150 local residents and brings in two million dollars to the community each year.

Navigation board member Hal McKnight queried Young about filing applications for "...all our projects we have planned in the next 10 years." Young recommended that applications be filed for all projects currently in the Navigation Board's future plans.

Discussion then centered around the chances of the permit getting a Corps okay if a legal battle did occur. John P. Mitchell, Jr., of the First National Bank, explained to the assembly that a legal battle over use of the property could have an excellent chance to end in the navigation district's favor. The majority of businesses which use Cove Harbor are oil companies, explained Mitchell. The fact that fossil fuel producers are basing much of their operations in Cove would be an important factor for the Corps to consider before handing down a final decision. Young agreed with Mitchell, and emphasized that the factor was a point in the navigation district's favor.

In addition to the discussion on the Cove Harbor expansion, Young heard presentations on the need for deep water maintenance in the Rockport-Fulton area.

Fulton Harbor will undergo dredging operations in mid-October, but both the Rockport turning basin and Cove Harbor are in need of deeper channels as well as maintenance dredging.

The Cove Harbor complex is presently suffering from silting which will require draglining of the harbor interior. The operation had been tried once before but was halted when environmentalists objected to the operation. A permit to the Corps for draglining in the harbor has been filed and should be approved in the near future.

Rockport's problem is more serious, as it has stunted the growth of local businesses. Rockport Yacht and Supply Company representative Tommy Smith was on hand to explain to Young that his company and other local firms have been hurt because of the shallowness of the Rockport approach channels.

Smith explained that RYSCO has had to turn down several promising bids for vessel construction because their design was such that they could not be floated out of RYSCO's yards and through the present Rockport approach channels. Those contracts could have totaled a million and a half dollars each for RYSCO.

Smith pointed out that local boat docks have been hurt by the shallow channels because some boats cannot fuel to capacity in Rockport. Just enough fuel is pumped into the larger vessels to get them to a deep water port, where they can top off their tanks.

Present depths in the Rockport and Cove approach channels often make it necessary f[or] a boat to "dredge" its o[wn] channel in the soft silt w[hich] sometimes causes minor damage to the hull. A 10 to 12-foot channel would alleviate those problems, according to facts presented at the meeting. Current channel depth averages about six feet.

The meeting closed after Smith's presentation, and Navigation Board members expressed their satisfaction with Young's assistance, which will be vital in the coming months. "We may not win all of them, but we win our share,"

What Community Projects Would You Like To See Aided In The Upcoming County And City Budgets?

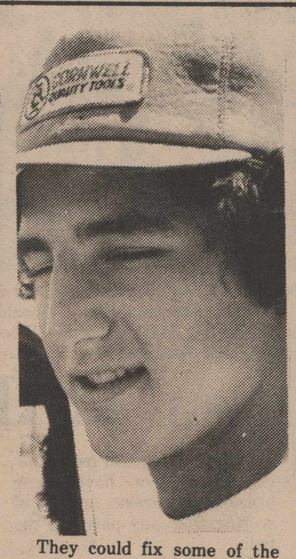

The hospital, we have this fine ambulance and it would be nice to have a good hospital, too. MARK GILLIM

The beach, they need to fix it up, like clean it up and make sure it's clear. LINDA GAINES

Keeping the parks a little cleaner and nicer. I think the playground equipment and the picnic area in Fulton can be improved. MRS. GEORGE T. LAMVERT

They could fix some of the streets, both the city and county. They're all pretty bad. The beach could have a little work done on it, too. GREG FARMER

I'd like to see the ski basin sharp...it's really something good for the town. I'd like to see something downtown developed, something to make it look pretty. I'd also like to see that emergency hospital helped. LARRY KELLER service and the pending nature of suits which will eventually pay but cannot now be considered collected, Shaw explained.

County Judge John Wendell indicated that the collection rate could force the county to levy a tax to support the service if it doesn't improve. Both the county and the city subsidize the service.

Shaw informed the court that the city's subsidization was recently increased by $6,500, from $4,000 to $10,500 in the 1977-78 budget, and asked the county for an increase in their appropriations for the service. No action was taken to increase the county's funds, but Wendell explained that the upcoming county budget had $9,000 in the ambulance service subsidy, the amount that the county put into the service this year.

Shaw pointed out that the service was "...breaking even except for insurance" and this was due partly to some cost-saving measures used by the service. An example cited by Shaw was the use of the service's lightweight ambulance for long distance transports. The practice had led to a monthly gas bill of just over $200, only slightly more than when one vehicle was used for all transportation.

Shaw also pointed out that the service has been receiving more calls in the city than in the county. Shaw also predicted that the ambulance service has the potential to provide the "...highest per capita ratio in the United States for trained paramedics."

Other items which have been formally and informally presented to local government bodies in the form of budget request include road equipment for the county, salary increases for the district court, reporter, and a possible new zoning code for the city.

Workshops are presently being conducted by both the city and county governments and budget requests should be submitted to those government bodies before the first public hearing on September 12.

Comptroller of Public Accounts

Dear Mr. Bullock:

I am a widow and am considering doing sewing in my home to supplement my social security check. My customers will provide the materials and I will be doing only the sewing.

Must I collect sales tax for my work?

Yes. A seamstress is considered a manufacturer or processor and manufacturing and processing labor is taxable under the law. Therefore, you must collect the tax.

Contact my Field Office nearest you. They will assist you in obtaining a Sales Tax permit, and provide any information you may need on collecting the tax.

Dear Sir:

Are soft drinks and other snacks dispensed by vending machines subject to the sales tax?

Yes, if the sales price of an individual item exceeds 16 cents. In most cases, the tax is included in the price to the customer.

How much state and federal taxes do Texans pay on gasoline?

The state tax on gasoline in Texas is five cents per gallon, the lowest in the nation. There is an additional federal tax of four cents per gallon.

An attempted suicide last week which was reported to the Sheriff's Office necessitated the arrest of the victim. The victim had refused medical attention when deputies arrived, and it was necessary to handcuff the victim and transport him to a hospital where he was treated for a gunshot wound to the abdomen and later released.

BE SEEN AND LIVE

[T]he many variables which combine to cause an [a]ident on the highway, one is visibility of the "target." [T]he less visible your car is, the higher its chances of [b]eing struck.

According to recent tests at the University of California, the colors blue and yellow were judged the safest if you want your car to be seen on the highway. Blue shows up best during daylight and fog, and yellow is best at night. The worst color from the visibility standpoint is gray. It seems to blend into the background and appears to be much farther away than it is.

Luminous tape is also a major visibility factor at night. Its reflective ability triples the distance that your car can be seen. And here's the visibility tip for the day. Why not paint the inside of your car's trunk with luminous paint? In case of a breakdown at night, your raised trunk lid will glow as a warning to other motorists.

NIT PICKINS...or something

By John L. Leslie

As I return to meeting the deadline, please notice two things: (1) My new name for the column (2) That I use my middle initial "L" in my by-line so that I will not be confused with my son John "D". (He's also my advisory editor) and lives in Rockport.

I am glad to be back after a hot summer of loafing--not a day passes that I do not receive this question, "When are you going to start your column again?" Had same question from an oil man in Norway--he subscribes to The Pilot, too.

So here I am--a humble man--who realizes his words can't accomplish much--just give people something to think about. As one of my fans said, "I am glad Rockport has an ear to hear--eyes to see and a mouth to speak out"--O.K., Vi, I will try to justify your confidence in my ability to do some good.

Anyone with an idea for the good of Rockport--pass it on to me in writing care of The Pilot. We'll use it if possible. I need your input.

Now as I look back over my first six months of trying to write a readable column, I cringe at the many things that I have mentioned that have not moved a peg--failure to incite action--then again I am proud of some of the things I have advocated. So guess it was worthwhile. Do you, my readers?

PLACE THE FOLLOWING COMMENTS whereever "the shoe fits."

Our Post Office still has two yellow stripes with buttons on each street--why and what for, no one seems to know! Cars still go west on Market Street (when able to get through the intersection) then make an illegal left turn in the middle of block to dash into a parking place on the north side of the Post Office. Never saw an officer give a ticket for this (but do see them sitting on side streets waiting for traffic violations). Mail collection boxes are still where they have been forever (no one can find money to move them I am told). One good thing the P.O. has going for it is Ms. Robles who I guess is still acting P.M.--her smile--her every readiness to come to the window when the lobby is overloaded. She has improved service a gread deal. I hope she gets the P.M. job permanently --but who knows--politics is strange. Better get ready for those winter visitors.

U.F. officers have announced their budget for 1978. I congratulate them for acknowledging that the cost of living must be reckoned with. I still can't agree with their 13-cent letter method of raising this budget. I predict--and hope I am wrong--that it will be December 31--three months after kickoff--before this goal is raised. That's what it has been for the past six years. That small goal--$17,000 --should be raised in 30 days. Let's everyone sign our pledge, write our checks and mail them, the day that we get that 13-cent letter. PROVE ME WRONG!

Our banks still continue to show growth. New businesses are cropping up here and there. Our churches have completed their building programs and are happily occupying new quarters. Our Medical Center really received a "shot in the arm." Congratulations to him or her, whoever obtained this big donation. I have no doubt that Aransas County will raise their $250,000. They are approaching this campaign as this type of campaign must be approached--PLAN, PLAN, PLAN--then comes lots of personal leg work. Our ambulance is proving its worth every day. What did we do without it?

Our seven Boy Scout units are all under good leadership and going into the winter season in good shape.

Sales taxes are up--that means good business. The city indicates its finances are in good shape. All elections are over--let those elected make good on their promises. Stop bickering and let's see Rockport and Aransas County go, go, go. I bet most of us will make it to the end of 1977. Who knows?

Thanks for reading this and to Perry Carter for furnishing the space.

Corps Receives Permit Request

The Army Corps of Engineers has received a request for a permit to conduct maintenence dredging in Aransas Bay, State Tracts 217 and 218.

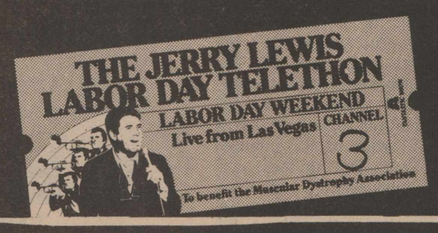

The permit request, filed by Claud B. Hamill, 2306 First City National Bank Building, Houston, filed to request to conduct maintenence dredging on an existing channel approximately four miles south of Rockport. It is expected that 20,718 cubic yards of spoil will be removed and placed in an existing disposal area and retained by levees

Plans of the proposed work may be seen at the office of the District Engineer in the Essayons Building, 400 Barracuda, Galveston, Texas, or at the Corpus Christi area office.

Nursing Home News

Activities at the Aransas Pass Nursing And Convalescent Center were many and of various kinds. Monday afternoon was "Bluegrass" music time with Altic Albers, John Blair, and Fannie Brunson from Rockport, doing the honors. They do so enjoy this type of entertainment.

Tuesday through Friday, they had their exercise and reality orientation classes, which many of the residents benefit from.

Tuesday evening, the residents were given a nice treat by members of the Pentecostal Church of God of Aransas Pass. They came out and put on a musical program. Everyone really enjoyed it very much.

Wednesday evening was the Aransas Pass Lulac's time to come out and play bingo with the reisdents. This dind of entertainment is always looked forward to and thanks goes to those who come to the residents' home.

Thursday morning was Pentecostal Hour, led by the Pruitt sisters of the Pentecostal Chruch of God of Aransas Pass.

Friday morning, Bonnie and Jean were out for our residents painting class. Thanks ladies, for your "caring".

Sunday afternoon was "Sing In" time by the Pastor and members from the First Christian Church of Ingleside.

Local Girl Completes UT PT Curriculum

Laurie Sue Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James T. Little of Rockport, was one of 49 students who were graduated recently at the ninth annual commencement ceremonies for the University of Texas School of Allied Health Sciences at Galveston

Ms. Little, a 1973 graduate of Rockport-Fulton High School, had also attended Stephen F. Austin State University in her field of education.

The physical therapy major has served in various positions at Spohn Hospital in Corpus Christi in the physical therapy department and as a volunteer at the Nacogdoches Treatment Center.

Ms. Little was awarded a Bachelor of science degree with honors and a Certificate of Proficiency in Physical Therapy for the successful completion of the 14-month UT curriculum.

Green-Anthony Nuptials Exchanged In Rockport

After a wedding trip to Houston, Mr. and Mrs. David Ray Anthony are at home in Rockport, following their wedding August 12 at the Calvary Baptist Church.

Mrs. Anthony, the former Betty Susan Green, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Green of Rockport. Mr. Anthony is the son Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Anthony of Rockport.

The couple was united in marriage, officiated by the Rev. C.J. Molmen, in a double-ring ceremony. There were approximately 200 guests. The reception followed in the Fellowship Hall of the church, hosted by the bride's parents.

The bride's gown was white satin and trimmed with Chantilly lace and seed pearls. The bridal bouquet was composed of monarch daisies and white roses.

The bride's attendants were gowned in yellow chiffon and the flowers were daisies.

Maid of honor for Mrs. Anthony was Katherine Brock of Rockport. Also attending the bride was Barbara Dobson of Glenview, Illinois. Emily Cessac and Charlotte Green of Rockport were bridesmaids. The flower girl was Mechelle Cessac and Jamie Cessac was the ring-bearer.

Best man for the groom was Allen Anthony of Ingleside.

Ushers for the event included Jimmy Cessac of Rockport, Bill Barrow of Rockport, and Marshall Dobson of Glenview, Illinois.

Mrs. Anthony is employed by the Rockport Parts Headquarters as a bookkeeper and Mr. Anthony works for Dudley Bracht Auto and Marine Supply. The couple will make their home at 116 S. Island Drive in Copano Cove.

Resident Completes Training

Mrs. Sharon Ellison was one of three Del Mar College Students honored with an "outstanding" classification this summer session. Mrs. Ellison was chosen as the outstanding student in the vocational nursing program for 1977. Her senior average was 99.6 and she was on the Dean's List during her entire training period.

Mrs. Ellison took her training at Taft Hospital. In October, she will take the state examinations to receive her license.

Mrs. Ellison cited her husband as a great help in obtaining her degree. Why not? Now he has a private duty nurse in the house all the time.

Ladies Club Discuss Tour

A discussion of the tour through the Texas Marine Institute Lab at Port Aransas highlighted the recent meeting of the Copanoakers Ladies Club of Holiday Beach.

The meeting was led by Gwen Woodward, president. Other members in attendance included Cecelia Blankert, Bessie Glass, Kathryn Hargrove, Hilda Ogle, Marcie Pye, Annie Roberts, Annie Rush, Louise Smith, Faye Stephens, Melissa Voss, and Louise Wilken. Velma Perkins was a guest with the group.

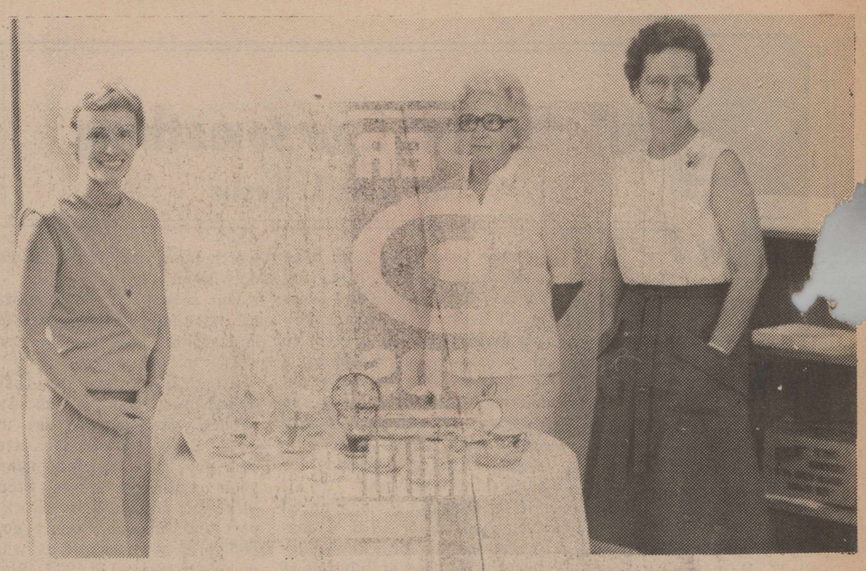

In other business, the club discussed plans for the Christmas bazaar.

Sara Bates To Head Rockport Area MD Telethon

The community of Rockport will be able to join in the fight against Muscular Dystrophy. Mrs. Sara Bates will be coordinating the pledge center in Rockport allowing residents to be able to call in their pledges to the Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon.

The Jerry Lewis Labor Day Telethon, which will originate from Las Vegas, will be seen on KIII, Channel 3, beginning at 10:30 p.m., Sunday, September 4, and continuing until 5:30 p.m., Monday, September 5. Arthur Forrest, noted New York TV director who is both directing and producing the telethon, is helping Jerry Lewis line up the nation's top talent, an estimated 100 TV, movie, stage and concert stars.

Mr. Bob White will be the local telethon emcee, with a local cutaway of 15 minutes every hour. During local cutaways, businessmen and other individuals will have the opportunity to make their contributions on camera---and to urge their fellow townsmen to join in supporting this vital cause.

Hospital To Form Auxiliary

Lyman Roberts Hospital, in Aransas Pass, is now forming a Junior Auxiliary for boys and girls between the ages of 14 through 18. Applications may be picked up at The Oil House, 404 South Austin, or by calling 729-5264. All applications must be signed by a parent or a guardian.

"For those youngsters who have thought of a career in the medical field, this will be a good opportunity for them to get their feet wet and see if its really what they want," explained Elizabeth Trank, instructor for the program. "In addition," she went on, "they will really be of benefit to the hospital and the patients."

The young people involved in the program will work with all stations in the hospital, including the labs, X-ray, floor duty, and the office work. Students will participate in the program after school and on weekends.

The first session for interviews and instruction will be Monday evening, Sept. 5, from 6:00 to 8:00 p.m. in the conference room at Lyman Roberts Hospital.

Picton Named To UT Spring Honor Roll In Business

Claire Elizabeth Picton of 1217 Sabinal in Rockport has been named to the 1977 spring honor roll in the University of Texas College of Business Administration.

Elizabeth, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Picton, qualified for the honor roll by carrying 12 or more semester hours of graded work, passing all courses and compiling at least six hours of A above a B average in all courses taken.

The list of honor roll members, compiled by Dean George Kozmetsky, included 1,027 students.

Vaughn Named To Committee

Malcolm Vaughn, resident of the Rockport vicinity, has been named to the Chruch Pension Committee for the West Texas Diocese of the Episcopal Chruch.

The appointment was made by Bishop Scott Field Bailey.

Nolan, Gaubatz Win At AARP Card Party

On Thursday, August 25, the American Association of Retired Persons Chapter 1536 of Rockport sponsored the weekly card party at the Paws and Taws Building, Fulton Beach Road. Mary Harle was hostess for the day and served the players some delicious cookies with the refreshments.

Mike Nolan lead the men's bridge and Red Lamberton was second.

Pearl Gaubatz was high in the ladies bridge and Minta Lancaster, still in the running this week, was second.

There were two finale prize winners, Hazel Dailey and Frank Lenoir.

The next party will be Thursday, September 1, beginning at 1:15 p.m. at the Paws and Taws Building on Fulton Beach Road.

Alpha—Omega Tours Country

50,000 Miles In A Van

Many people will see a white van scooting around the country this fall and are going to know that the Repertory Theatre of America is coming to town and that a performance is on tap. The play may be a comedy or a deep drama, but the show will go on in the best tradition of Broadway in Oakbrook, Illinois, or Linville, West Virginia. Rockport residents may never have heard of either town, but the name of Rockport will be introduced across the continent.

Officially known as the Alpha-Omega Players of the Repertory Theatre of America, the group has had Rockport as homebase for nearly three years now. The group has a fluctuating membership but the cement for the idea of touring theater is Drexel Riley, a native of Portland, just a few miles from Rockport. He graduated from Southwestern University with a degree in drama and psychology. Graduate work was done at Baylor University in drama. Starting out in Dallas, Riley went to Hollywood to get into films and joined a theater group that soon folded. Though the group may have failed, it was the inspiration for Riley to start his own company.

In 1969, Riley moved back to Dallas with his dream and his performers stayed there until 1974. "I like to fish a lot, so I came on to Rockport," the director remembered. "We are proud to be here and to make our home here."

The setup for the group is simple. Each year, Riley auditions aspiring thespians, mainly at the Southeastern Theatre Conference. The ones that are chosen make up the group. Most stay for only one season. Bookings for the group are made well in advance. Heavy rehearsals start in midsummer and the tours start in the early fall. Generally, there will be a fall tour and another in the spring. This year two groups will tour simultaneously along the Eastern Coast and the Midwest and the south.

Through the years, the players have traveled a million miles and have staged over 3,000 performances in nearly all the states and Canada. "At least a million miles," Riley pointed out, "and the only state we haven't played is Nevada.

"This year we expect to do about 50,000 miles with each group,"Riley explained. "About sixty percent of the performances will be for college audiences. Churches account for twenty percent and country clubs and supper clubs will make up the rest," he added.

The selections the players will present this year include "The Star-Spangled Girl," "The Diary of Adam and Eve," and "Waiting for Godot." Last Sunday night, the group did "Waiting for Godot" for a local audience at the First Presbyterian Church. Over the weekend, "The Star-Spangled Girl" was given to benefit the hospital fund. "We play Rockport when we are booked in Rockport," Riley commented. "A hometown audience gives us a reaction to our shows before we take them on the road."

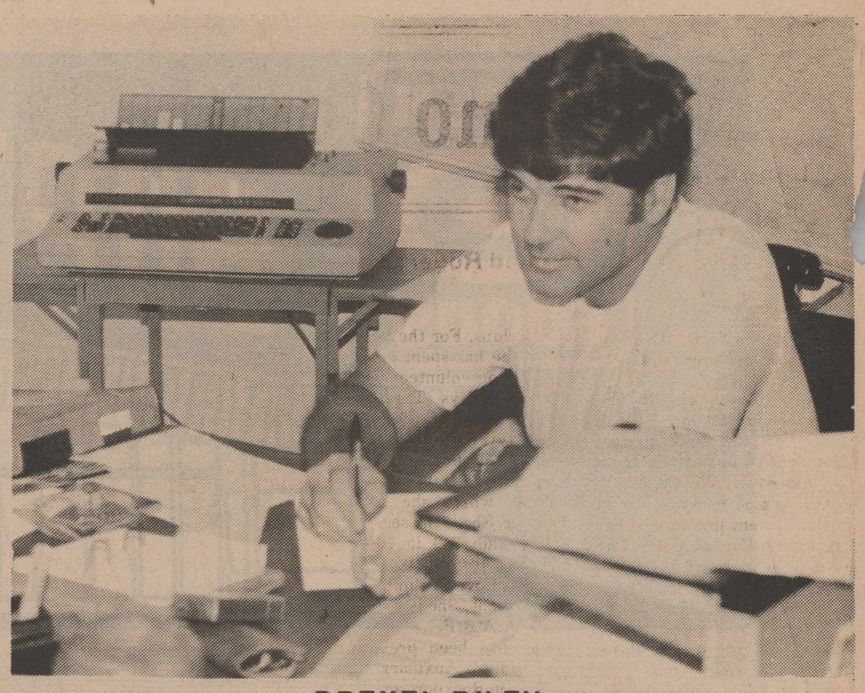

On the road, the players in the companies live like families. "And like most families," Riley said, "They grow to love each other or hate each other. Six weeks in a van means helping and cooperating with each other," he added. Most of the players work within the group for the experience. "The money isn't much," one actor noted, "but the experience is priceless." Another member once noted, "You're in a different town every night and you don't know anyone in town so there's really no choice but to be together all the time. It's worse than marriage."

In many cases, on tour, many towns are played where live theater has never been before. If the actors are learning, so is the audience. Because the company is small, props are limited and the audience has to use its imagination. Interest in the theater is growing across the country. "The dinner theater has really introduced many people to the world of the stage," says Riley. "The motivation for getting people there is the meal. The theater afterwards is an extra, but the concept has made plays more popular," he went on.

Riley stays in Rockport to run the home office, with help of his wife, Jackie. "Occasionally, I'll make a spotcheck of the groups and see if I can help them in any way," he said. "Most of our people handle everything well and do a good job," he added.

The young actors are good and they are eager. For some of them, Rockport may be a step up on the ladder to success. To others, it is experience for other phases of theater life. Many will go into teaching or work within churches or community theater. Regardless of the plans, most, see the company as good experience and enjoy the work and the fun.

Logging 50,000 miles a year, the players get to see a lot of country and a lot of the country sees them. Not only are they traveling actors, but also roving ambassadors for Rockport.

Booster Fish Fry Nets Almost $600 For Pirates

At the Booster Club fish fry last Friday night, approximately 150 people turned out to help raise money for the stop-action projector being bought for the Rockport-Fulton High School athletic department. Proceeds from the dinner, membership fees and caps bring the total to almost $600. The dinner preceeded the Bloomington scrimmage.

Total funds raised so far by the association stand at the $1400 mark. This will be barely enough to pay for the projector. With solid community support, other projects can be realistic.

Membership in the association now stands close to 125 supporters of the athletic program. The membership drive will continue through the next three home games for the Pirates. Persons wishing to join may contact any Booster Club member. At the home games, there will also be a table set up for the purpose of selling memberships.

A deer rifle will be given away later to a lucky person who joins the club. The community support for the teams is very important and everyone is urged to join and be active in this group.

Birthdays: Sept. 1, Kate Vetters, Joe Burns and Lorraine Winkler.

Anniversaries: Sept. 3, Chris and Louise Borkholm.

We received several nice comments on our article about Jon last week. We thought it would be nice to write stories about different people who live out here in Copano Cove. This week we've decided to tell you about our neighbors, George and Kay Snapp. The Snapps live right next door to us. Where else can you get better information than from your neighbors? You know the old saying, "Your neighbors know everything that is going on." Surely, we know quite a bit about them.

George has retired from the Naval Air Base in Corpus Christi after 31 year, three months, and 15 days of service. Well, ol' George just isn't the type who can just sit around after retirement. Now he works part-time in Taft for John's Welding and Blacksmith Shop.

Kay is something else. She is involved in several activities in Rockport. She takes pride in all of her clubs. For the last three years she has spent one day a week doing volunteer work for the Castaways Thrift Shop. Another day of the week is spent working for the Concern Center. Kay is also past Noble Grand of the Rebekah's Lodge No. 88, where she is still a member. She is the secretary of TOPS Club 849 in Rockport. She is also active in the Copano Cove Volunteer Fire Department. She is a chairman of the A.A.R.P.

Kay has been president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the V.F.W. in Rockport and Corpus Christi. Kay became a member of the V.F.W. on the qualifications of one of her ten veteran brothers. Her mother, Caroline Morson of Mankato, Minnesota, was the Veteran's Mother of the U.S. for many years. She is a member of the Episcopal Church in Rockport.

George and Kay have three children, Larry who is stationed in Korea with the U.S.A.F., James who is in the Army at Fort Bragg, North Carolina, and their daughter Dorothy Gannaway who is in Pensacola, Florida with her husband who is with the Navy.

We do not feel that anyone could have better neighbors than George and Kay. We are very proud to say they are our close and dear friends. People with the community spirit are the backbone of our neighborhood. The Snapps certainly have the spirit.

Rockport Resident In Naval Training

Richard B. Wren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Wren of 48 Blue Heron Drive, Rockport, is undergoing summer training at sea. He is a midshipman at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Maryland.

During their one-month cruise in the Mediterranean, the midshipmen receive instruction on shiphandling, navigation, seamanship, communications, damage control and gunnery. In addition to formal instruction, they gain practical experience by standing watches as regular members of the ship's crew.

Library Notes

From The Aransas County Library

New reference books added to the reference shelf include "Formulas, Methods, Tips and Data," by Kenneth M. Swezey. This book contains thousands of formulas as varied as they are useful: testing for gold and silver, varnish removal, mildew control, septic tank chemicals, mosquito repellents and many others. "Fisherman's Knots and Nets", by Raoul Graumont and Elmer Wenstrom, is packed full of practical and valuable information for every fisherman, including a chapter on net making and repairing.

The library gratefully acknowledges donations and memorials from the following: Mr. Chester Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Borden, Mary Brown and Mrs. Everal L. West.

Aransas County Library patrons are reading "The Thornbirds" by Colleen McCullough, "The Rich are Different", "The Camera Never Blinks", by Dan Rather, and "The Path Between the Seas", by David McCullough.

The library is open Monday through Friday from 12 noon to 6 p.m. and is located in the court house square

Castaways Enter Sixth Year Of Aiding Needy Residents

For about six years, now, a dedicated group of women from three Rockport Churches have been meeting regularly in a small, cramped office, filled to the brim with articles of every size and imaginable description.

The small store is called the Castaways, and the women are members of church groups from the First United Methodist Chruch of Rockport, St. Peter's Episcopal Church, and The First United Presbyterian Church of Rockport. The three church groups sponsor the Castaway store as a place where second-hand articles may be obtained by needy persons for extremely reasonable prices.

On one day last week, several members of the women's group from the Methodist Church were taking an inventory of aritcles which had been brought in by a regular contributor. Mrs. Roy Burke, Mrs. Minta Lancaster, Mrs. Billie Blackshare, Mrs. Jerry Brueggeman and Mrs. Dona May Schocke were hustling to prepare and tag the sudden influx of goods.

"We've got everything from fruit jars to overcoats," exclaimed Mrs. Burke, throwing a gaze toward the racks of men's suits and women's blouses. Mrs. Burke noted that the store carries a policy of providing items free of charge if a needy individual brings in a note from the welfare department or a local clergyman.

Everything donated to the small shop is used, says Mrs. Burke, who pointed out that items that are repairable, such as torn jeans or jackets, are usually sent to missions in underdeveloped countries.

A Corpus Christi company makes regular trips by the Castaways to pick up itmes which it passes on to a mission network in Mexico. "Every bit of it is used," says Mrs. Burke.

About 30 women are participating in the program on a regular basis, and the store has a lot of help from occassional volunteers. The store has been in operation in one form or another for six years, and it has been at it's present location on Concho St. For about two years this January. Mrs. Burke says the location has many advantages over the other sites, because of it's proximity to the busisness district.

A quick browse around the store revealed a mulitude of very strange and unusual items, as well as some fundamental household goods. Clothing is the most abundant stock in the store, but there are other itmes, such as small household appliances; women's accessories; an excellent assortment of books, magazines and sewing patterns and plenty of shoes. Mrs. Burke says that several young boys make regular purchases of shoes at the store. At the other extreme is a bizarre stock of motorcycle tires, a neck brace, and Mrs. Burke's favorite-a four foot stuffed poodle doll.

Castaways operates like any other business, it pays state sales taxes and has a board of directors to oversee the business end. In a year's time the organization may contribute over $7000 to local charities and organizations and the amount of clothing sent to missions is noteworthy.

The purpose of the Castaways apparently goes beyond providing goods to the less fortunate people of the community. It provides the workers with a sense of accomplishment, and the rewards of having helped a fellow man. "you feel like you've really done something good when you spend the day here," smiles Mrs. Burke.

Holiday Beach and Lamar

Linda Stubbs

Welcome to the "Lamar Outlook." My name is Linda Stubbs. I was born October 18, 1946, and raised in San Antonio, where I graduated from Thomas Jefferson High, and met my husband Otis, who is from Houston. I have been married thirteen years and have two sons, Toss 10, and Carl 5. We have lived and been in business in the Lamar area almost eight years. We own and manage the S & S Drive Inn in Lamar Community. I have always been close to the coastal area since my father, Allan Dubose, who also resides in Lamar Community, has always owned a weekend home on the coast.

I have been asked to write this column weekly in order that all of The Pilot's readers can know what is happening on Lamar Peninsula, which includes Lamar Community and Holiday Beach area. To make this column a success, I would like the people of the Lamar area to call 729-0020, or mail to Star Route 1, Box 89, Rockport, Texas 78382, or stop by the S & S Drive Inn, and report their news items. Next week I will start the regular column, so everyone pitch in and get your news items to me. Let's let everyone know what our community is doing.

Library Joins Co-op Library System

Aransas County Library is one of 20 area libraries which have qualified for membership in the regional library system for 1977-78.

As system members the Aransas County Library will take part in cooperative activities made possible by funds appropriated under the Texas Library Systems Act of 1969.

Activities promoted by the organization include the sharing of local expertise, a reference service from Corpus Christi, and technical assistance from the system staff.

Other programs include the appropriation of funds for special collection projects and membership in a cooperative venture for movies.

Copano Ridge

rain in this area has been very sparse. A number of irritated citizens are prone to place the blame on neighbor Frank Herman. Frank, at the least indication of rain-filled clouds or grumble of thunder, backs up his car from the garage hoping for a free car wash courtesy of heaven.

Donald and Ouida Monroe returned last week from California where they visited their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Monroe and family in Port Hueneme. Before returning, the Monroes toured the Queen Mary, docked at Long Beach. In Ventura, of special interest was the town's museum. Officially named the "Walking Historical Town," the museum is spread over several acres. One of its special features is a display of antique agricultural implements. The Monroes made the "walk" in the rain.

Among our distinguished citizens of the week are Mr. and Mrs. Elton Spillers, who retired to the Ridge from San Antonio four years ago. Mrs. Spillers, Alta, as she prefers to be called, before her retirement was Ladies' Professional at Pecan Valley Country Golf Club for three years. Before that time she was an amateur golfer for 35 years. In her amateur years she was twice winner in the San Antonio City Ladies' Championship contest and 11 times winner in the Brackenridge Golf Course Amateur Tournament. Elton, a CPA, retired from partnership in the nationally known Alexander Grant Co.

J.E. (Red) and Mabel Johnson are hauling in new dirt for their fall garden, anticipating an even greater success than was their spring garden. These people will readily dispense tidbits, various and sundry, on the joys and benefits of gardening.

Mrs. Johnny Ochoa is in L Angeles to be with her father, Homer Cadena. Mr. Cadena, who was in Los Angeles to participate in a wedding, became seriously ill and had to be placed in an intensive care room of a Los Angeles hospital.

New Ridge residents are Mr. and Mrs. George Heuring, who as yet do not have a telephone. Through a misunderstanding, it was thought that George was Reverend Heuring. And so certain deferences were made--such as, wear a dress, not pants, to meet these exalted personages. Reverend or not, the Heurings will add to our community.

GARY JAMES, LOCAL MANAGER OF HEB, is shown presenting a check for $1000 to Bill Tilden. The money is a contribution from the H.E. Butts Grocery Co. to the hospital fund of the Aransas County Hospital Volunteers, Inc., and will be used toward matching the recent grant given to the ACHVI.

Aransas Retail Sales Show First Quarter Growth

A press release from the state comptroller's office indicates that the gross sales of Aransas County, as well as that of the business throughout the state, are in healthy shape, and growing over the receipts from last year.

Aransas County registered a gross sales of $15,802,621 for the first quarter of 1977. The figures were derived from the reports of 337 outlets in this county.

Gross taxable sales from that amount totaled $9,316,729. After applying deductions of $3,359,003 and use tax purchases of $24,356 to that figure, the first quarter of 1977 yielded $5,982,082 as taxable amounts of sales.

Bob Bullock, State Comptroller, reported that figures indicate an average increase of better that 19 per cent in reported gross sales over the same period of time last year.

Nueces County indicated near average growth, up 18.3 percent with a total increase of $1.2 billion dollars.

Statewide, the gross sales were $33.8 billion dollars during the first quarter period.

Rotary Governor Praises Organization

Dion R. Holm Jr., of Victoria, Rotary District Governor for this area, was generous in his praise of the accomplishments and plans of the Rockport Rotary Club during an official visit here August 23 and 24.

He met with officers and directors of the club Tuesday evening and was speaker at the club's weekly luncheon meeting at the Sandollar Restaurant the next day.

"I am very favorably impressed by the leadership of your officers and accomplishments of members in worthwhile civic enterprises," he said, adding that on the basis of the club's present plans another good year can be expected.

Governor Holm expecially commended the club on its support of the American Heart Association's campaign to provide life saving training in CPR (Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation) by contributing money to purchase a training mannequin and training film, as well as participation of individuals in the training program.

He also praised the club for member leadership and participation in Rockport's annual SeaFair community celebration, as well as long-time birthday contributions from club members to the Aransas County Library.

Holm said that while the Rockport Club's record of attendance at meetings was above the average for the district, there was room for improvement. He made special note of Rotarian John Mitchell's 37 years of perfect attendance.

He asserted that vitality of any Rotary Club depends on service to the community by individual members.

The more than 50 plastic buoys reading SLOW--NO--WAKE that were installed by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department at Lake Corpus Christi State Park seem to be doing the job they were intended to do--protecting the swimmers from fast boats and water skiers.

Law Enforcememt supervisors of the TP&WD say that the buoys have corrected what they considered to be a dangerous situation. The water skiers would turn loose their tow ropes and come sailing in among the swimmers at high speeds. A "NO--WAKE" zone means that boats must be traveling dead slow as they proceed through the area.

SeaFair Marches On

Bob Lawler, parade marshall, reports that several groups have already responded to appear in the parade and he expects the tide will start to come in the first of September.

The boat parade entries will become heavy toward the middle of September. This comes from Russ Wilhour, chairman of that event.

George Craig, leading the committee on personnel and community involvement wants just that- people to work and community involvement. If you are not already involved in this Rockport endeavor, do your share and call George

Outdoors 'n Things

By L.D. Nuckles

To catch more bass you must understand the bass. You need to know how he lives, what he lives on, where he likes to live and what will tempt him to strike your lure. A great deal of highly sophisticated equipment and an expensive bass boat with a tremendous outboard on it may be good, but a little knowledge is a lot better.

First you must consider the fact that the bass is a predator. In fact, he is a killer who likes to lay in wait for his prey and strike from ambush. He prefers semi-darkness and will seldom, if ever, cruise around in clear, shallow water in the bright light of day. Sure, he will feed in the shallows but it will usually be at night, very early in the morning or late in the evening.

During the bright daylight hours the bass like to hide out in dark, shady places not too far from deep water. If he can find such a place that is also attractive to the small bait fish that he feeds on--so much the better.

One of the best places to look for bass during the hot summer days is under or around man-made structures. Piers that are built close to the water with no spaces betweeen the boards of the walkway and no missing boards seem to be about the best place. This is especially true if the outer end is in or very near deep water. This type of structure has all the requirements that the bass wants--it is near deep water, an escape route, it lets in very little light because it sits down close to the water and almost always the little bait fish tend to hang around it.

When fishing the pier, try to keep your boat well away and cast small lures as far back up into the shade as you can. Most people who really study the bass will use very light spinning tackle in this situation. These bass are reluctant to hit anything that looks a little suspicious. He really doesn't want to come out of his dark retreat, but he will rush out, grab a little bite to eat and rush right back into the deep shadows. A lot of people may cast right near him with big lures that make a big splash and line so big that he can see it without getting a rise of any kind. The thin spinning line with the tiny little lure just might be the thing that will fool him.

Unless the sun is straight overhead, do your fishing on the shady side of the pier. Bass tend to hang around the pilings that support the pier so try to cast in such a way that your lure lands the other side of the piling and works past it.

Of course, piers are not the only man-made structures that harbor bass. Boat houses, bridges, railroad trestles and even individual pilings furnish shade and may have bass around them.

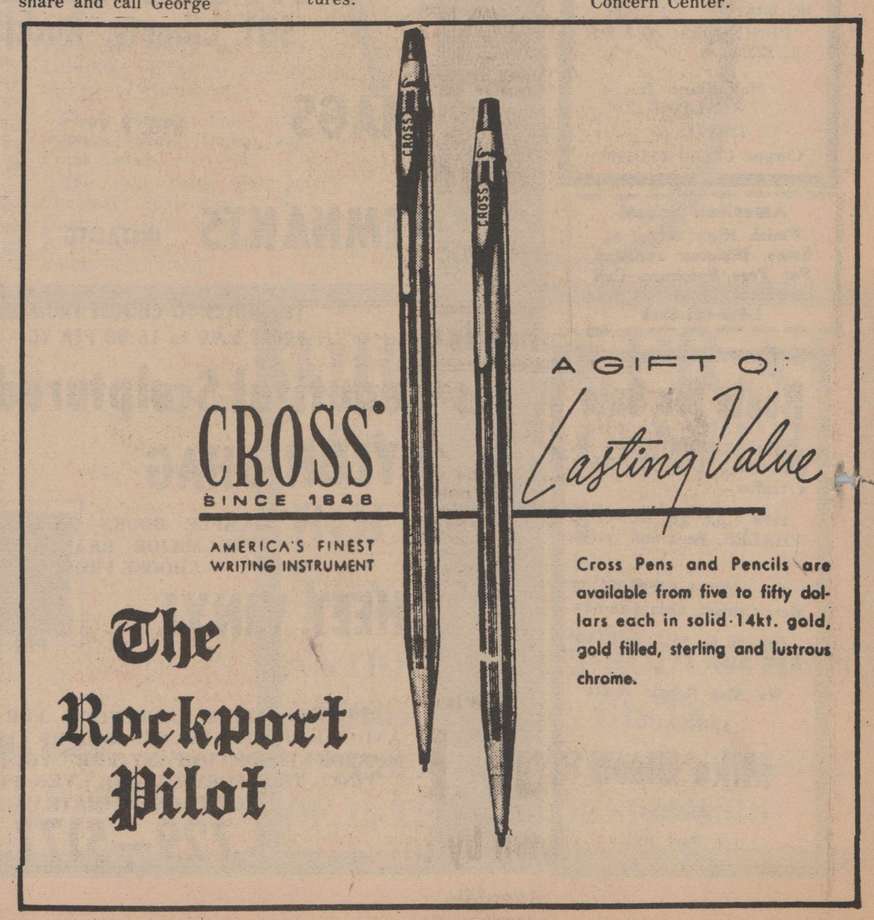

If you've got a big fancy bass boat and you just like to run the full length of the lake every time you want to fish a little, that's fine--go ahead. But, if you would like to ease around close to shore and, with no fuss or strain, take home a nice stringer of bass--try the piers and other man-made structures.

Hill To Pro At Goose Island Lake Estates Club

Sharon Hill, former professional at Rockport Racquet Club, has been appointed professional in charge of Goose Island Lake Estates Tennis Club.

A daughter of Roger Hill, who for many years has been Aransas Pass High school tennis coach, represented the school in regional and state tennis tournaments. Later she played college tennis and at one time was ranked third in the state in womens singles.

Miss Hill plans to give group and individual tennis lessons.

Bad Weather Brings Early End To RSC Cruise

Threatening weather resulted in a less than anticipated participation for RSC cruising skippers, according to Park Gerdine, cruise chairman.

Four boats from the Rockport club sailed Saturday for the anchorage south of Lydia Ann Island. They were joined by three boats from Corpus Christi clubs. Skippers and crews gathered on the beach in the evening for a bonfire party. Threatening weather Sunday caused boats to depart early.

Portland Man Sets New Record For Dolphin

New saltwater Texas State Fish Records continue to be set as the summer goes on, the latest for dolphin or dorado taken by Jeff Carey out of Port Aransas.

Carey's 62 1/2-pound dolphin easily surpasses the 57-pounder on the books of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department only since last summer.

The new record was 69 inches long with a girth of 33 inches. It was landed July 13 in 75 fathoms of water.

Carey, of Portland, Texas, used 80-pound-class tackle to land the record dolphin.

Fishing

KEY ALLEGRO MARINA

It was another bad weekend, high winds and rain slowed down much of the bay fishing and shut down the offshore fishing completely. In the bay, what fishing was done was for speckled trout which made up 80 to 90 percent of the fish brought in.

Future disturbances offshore will keep Gulf fishing down, but periods following those occasions, when the weather calms down and the moon is not full, you can expect some good fishing. After a period of poor weather the fish have been undisturbed and they'll be in good shape again.

ST. CHARLES BAY MARINA

Despite the rain and wind out on the more open parts of the bay, we had a tournament here over the weekend that turned out great for all the participants, and really gave us a nice surprise.

Four boats took part in the tournament which will be open to the public next year, and the winners brought in a total of 62 pounds of redfish. From what we hear, all the fishermen were hanging them on golden spoons, and no one used live bait. There was a survey crew from the redfish program here, and they registered some sizeable fish.

Nearly everyone got something this weekend, if not redfish, then trout. We think that the next week or so might continue to show good fishing, the water is high and clear, and for the most part is relatively smooth.

SEA GUN MARINA

The fishing this weekend was spotty, due to the wind and rain that the area received. Effects of the elements on fishing can be seen in our rundown of the week's catch. Last Wednesday fishermen brought in 171 trout; Thursday, 154; Friday, 172; Saturday, 196; but after Sunday morning's rain the total catch on the Whooping Crane and charter boats dropped to 48.

The water is presently murky, but is showing signs of clearing up rapidly. Water temperature was a warm 86 to 87 degrees before the rain.

Only one or two gafftops showed up this week, and the redfish haven't shown up much on stringers here. Deep sea fishing has, of course, been stifled because of high wind. Most of the trout were taken on live or dead shrimp.

KLEINE'S RATTLESNAKE POINT FISHING CAMP

Fishing was very good in our vicinity, the best weekend that 've had in several weeks.

Most of the fish were reds, drum and some keeper trout. One group of visitors from Austin, the Morgan and Walker families, fished off the bank during the rain. They brought in quite a few during that interval, mostly reds and drum.

Mr. Addington, who has fished here for some time, began catching skipjack this past week, the first time he has ever hung any here.

Larry Hease and sons tried some wade fishing, and it proved very successful around the reefs, where they got most of their trout.

A few flounder are showing up at night in the sloughs. There haven't been too many gafftops.

The water in our area is still pretty clean and clear, but the back bay is pretty muddied up.

DEEP SEA HEADQUARTERS

Fishing over the past week has been slow, due to the tropical disturbance which has been sending some heavy swells and rain our way.

The most frequently caught fish over the past week have been sharks, which are coming in at about four or five a day. Kingfish are showing up also, but not to the extent of previous weeks.

Cats Snub Pirates In Simulated Game Scrimmage

Preseason scrimmages ended last Friday night for the Rockport-Fulton Pirates, leaving only four days of practice before the Pirates open the regular season with area-rival Aransas Pass in Pirate Stadium this week.

Meeting what could be one of the Class AA powers last week in a scrimmage, the Pirates banged heads with the Bloomington Bobcats in a productive practice session for both clubs. The coaches agreed to each club's running 20 offensive plays, then 15 plays, and then operate under game conditions with the scoreboard clock.

Neither team could score during the first two sets of offensive plays, but in the game situation, both teams managed to score with Bloomington coming out on top by the narrowest of margins, an extra point kick.

In the opening group of plays the Pirates moved the ball well, driving down to the Bobcat 24-yard line before stalling out. Joe Brooks snared a Darryl Green pass good for 15 yards on the initial play, then Charlie Edler ripped off a nine-yard run which nearly broke clean, and Bloomington committed a pass interference infraction to move the Pirates down the field. When the Pirates then decided to stay on the ground, they were stopped cold.

All night the Bobcats used the pass to hurt the Pirates, and in their first series of plays connected on passes good for 12 and 16 yards, moving the ball to the Pirates' 26 before the defenders shut them down.

In the second series of plays the second units went at each other, and the Pirates controlled things on offense with Algie Simmons making the biggest dent in the Bobcat defense with 25 yards in four carries.

When the Pirates had to go on defense, Brooks had to double up with the second unit because the Pirates have some linebackers out, and he made his presence known by spearing a pass interception to stop the Bobcats.

Things went differently during the session under the clock. Bloomington took the ball beginning on their own 30-yard line and marched the length of the field to score on a one-yard plunge after the Pirates had made a gallant try at a goal line stand. In that 70-yard drive the Bobcats managed to gain 56 of the yards on three passes. The kicker's toe was true, and under game conditions, Bloomington led 7-0.

The Pirates stormed back with a 70-yard drive of their own. This time Green was instrumental in getting most of the first 50 yards in the drive with two runs good for 40 yards and throwing a seven-yard pass to tight end Paul Harris.

With the ball at the 18-yard line, running back Mark McCabe blasted for runs of four, 11, and finally three yards to score for the Pirates with the forward wall of Harris, Newlin Parker, Bruce Barre, Gary Heasley, Kenny Matlock, Sammy Solis and Brooks opening the way. The Pirates went to the well once too often, however, and the Bobcats stopped McCabe in his effort for two points, leaving the Pirates behind 7-6.

Bloomington didn't stop their efforts, controlling the ball for the rest of the quarter and moving the ball some 52 yards before the final seconds ticked away.

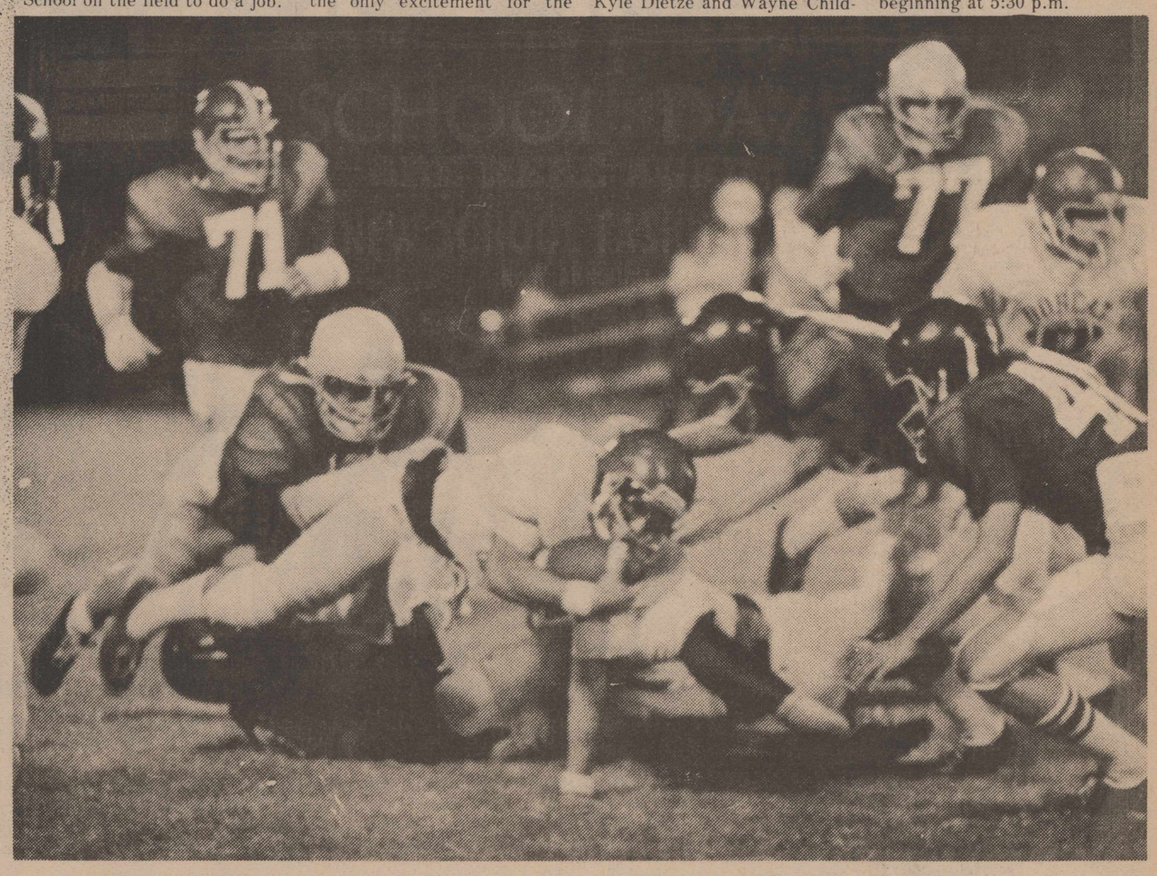

The Pirates had some bright spots on defense with Bruce Barre leading the team in tackles with 11 hits along with Brooks; meanwhile, Steve Naylor added 10 tackles from a linebacking position. With at least five tackles were Brent Glover, Reggie Morgan, Raymond Bauer, Harris and Billy Howland.

All-in-all, the Pirates had to have mixed feelings about their performance in the practice sessions. One thing for sure, this Friday night the Pirates will have no coaches behind them on the field to position them or give them little tips after each play as the coaches will take to the sidelines, leaving only the 11 Pirates representing Rockport-Fulton High School on the field to do a job.

In the junior varsity session neither team could score, and the Pirate defense had most of the spotlight with Bill Schendel leading with nine tackles. The offense seemed to lack any punch, and Ty Riley provided the only excitement for the Pirates by snaring a 15-yard bullet from quarterback Jim Garrison.

The 1977 edition of the freshmen team took the field earlier and played well, especially on defense where David Hays, Kyle Dietze and Wayne Childers led in tackles. The one big offensive effort for the frosh came on a 50-yard bomb from Jim Eaton to George Solis who nearly broke it all the way.

The JV and Frosh open this Thursday in Aransas Pass, beginning at 5:30 p.m.

RSC Board Races To Conclude Saturday, Series Over

The Rockport Sailing Club's board boat racing activities for the season will end Saturday, September 3, with a Labor Day Regatta.

Participation will be limited to club members and invited guests. Races will be held in Little Bay off Edgewater Lane, Key Allegro. Registration will be between 10 and 11:30 a.m. A skippers meeting will be held at 11:30 and races will start at 12 noon. Hot dogs, soft drinks and beer will be furnished by the club.

There will be seven races, for beginners, advanced juniors, advanced seniors, husband and wife team, lady skippers, old salts and an overload race. Trophies will be awarded to winners in all but the last category. Second and third place winners will recieve trophies.

The RSC fall series of board boat races ended on Wednesday of this week. Final results of the six week series were not available at press time.

In the last week's series Gail Harper was first with two first places and one third. Don Kamans was second with a first and two third places. Al Barnes placed third with two fourths and a fifth.

Bay races for larger boats and club cruises will continue through November. Area sailing enthusiasts interested in joining the club may contact the commodore, C. M. Henkel Jr.

Rockport Team Wins Tournament

In the Port Lavaca tournament last weekend, the SeaGun softball team went on a hitting streak to win the five game series. In the five games the team racked up over 120 runs. Of these, 50 were homeruns.

The team defeated players from Port Lavaca, Victoria, Edna and Palacios. The team is managed by Bobby Lewis.

Snook Populations Appear To Be Increasing Locally

There are some indications that snook, one of the finer saltwater game fish, are increasing in Texas waters.

Snook always have been around but seldom have been caught by rod and reel anglers until the past year or two.

Up until now most of the fish were speared by divers around rocky jetties.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists have known snook were in coastal waters because each time there was a cold-weather fish kill snook were found dead along the lower coast.

There have been few blizzards in past years and more of the highly prized fish have been showing up on stringers.

P&WD biologists also are finding more snook in cove rotenone samplings. A recent sample made in the Lower Laguna Madre found 15 snook up to 15 pounds with an average weight of one and one-half pounds.

Biologists say this could mean the fish are increasing, or it simply could mean biological sampling techniques are becoming more effective.

State Official Recommends Long Term Relationship With Engineers

A representative from the Texas Department of Community Affairs says that efforts to develop a countywide sewage system can be strengthened if the county will form a lasting relationship with an engineering firm.

John A. Clary, director of the TDCA's Division of County and Rural Services, said last week that one of the key factors in the success of community development programs is the formation of a secure and lasting relationship between the community government and a capable engineering firm.

Clary explained that such a relationship can lead to a spirit of cooperation and thoroughness which enhances the possibilities of grant fund appropriation, and usually results in a willingness of the engineering firm to provide special attention to the particular problems of the project, thereby insuring its successful completion.

Clary said that in many instances across the state, such a relationship has led to cooperation over a number of years, taking in a number of community development projects.

Jack McDavid, chairman of the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, said the district is currently seeking an engineering firm for work on the study of a countywide sewage system. Negotiations with several firms is in progress, but McDavid explained that it would be necessary to reserve comment on the specifics of the negotiations until some concrete agreements had been reached with one of the firms.

Clary said that a study conducted by an engineering firm for a countywide sewage system should include specific information concerning the overall plan such as the number of treatment plant--either a single central plant or several smaller plants--and their locations, line locations, geographical information concerning water tables and geological formations, an estimate of the population and the expected growth rate, and other specifics which funding agencies would want to have knowledge of before funding would seriously be considered.

Clary reemphasized the point brought out at the recent public hearing between the ACCRD and various state agencies, that a complete countywide sewage system would most likely have to be accomplished in a two-step operation. The Live Oak Peninsula, which has been receiving the vast majority of attention, would be the first portion of the county to receive a system. The Lamar Peninsula, because its growth rate is not expected to have as great an impact on the population and public utilities, would be the second phase of the project.

Clary also pointed out that it might be necessary in the future to reinstate the taxing power of the ACCRD to fund the engineering study. McDavid, at the courthouse meeting, said the "...biggest problem facing us now is the funding of this thing," and indicated that the district might appeal to the next state legislature to give the district taxing powers. That would be two years from now. The district was granted ad valorem taxing powers when it was first formed to provide funds for the early operation of the district.

Ironically, according to law, the district cannot be the body which applies to the funding agencies for money. Terms call for a "general purpose" government to make the application, and indications are that Aransas County will make the funding applications. The county commissioners passed a resolution last week informing the district of their intent to help out as much as possible.

Clary, at the public hearing, suggested that the county provide his office with preliminary costs, priority, concerns and plans at the earliest possible time.

County Judge John Wendell agreed that actions should be undertaken as soon as possible, saying, "It's at the point where something's going to have to be done."

Teachers Attend Seminar

If "home economics" conjures up visions of girls stitchin' and stirrin'--look again! The Texas vocational homemaking teachers of 1977 have their fingers in many pies--but most of them are not for eating. Vocational Homemaking Education is on the go these days. It is an expanding, lively career field where young women AND men learn skills that will help them get a piece of the pie--the economic pie. They learn how to earn money, manage their resources, and how to lead a quality life.

To keep abreast of the latest teaching materials and innovative teaching techniques, vocational homemaking teachers spent a week in Dallas attending the State Inservice Conference for Vocational Homemaking Teachers. Mrs. Elizabeth F. Smith, State Director for Homemaking Education, Texas Education Agency, and her staff direct the conference. Miss Mary Strange and Miss Frances Mutscher, local homemaking teachers, were participants in the conference.

Sessions dealing with "Effective Fatherhood," "Sensitizing to the Process of Aging," "Breaking the Stereotype Mold," "Techniques to Conserve Energy," "The Homemaker in Transition" - displaced homemaker - and sixteen other special interest sessions and seminars, plus two general sessions, provided the opportunity for the teachers to learn ways to integrate new knowledge into their teaching.

The Awards Banquet of the VHTAT honors outstanding legislators, the outstanding administrator in the state, and the voacational homemaking teacher of the year. Also receiving awards for tenure were 137 teachers of vocational homemaking education totaling 2,735 years of service to Texas school children.

More than 2800 teachers were to participate in the week-long meetings, according to Ms. Erie Hodge, Dickinson, president of VHTAT.

Lion Budget $6,300

An activity fund budget of $6,388 was voted at the regular meeting of the Rockport Lions Club last Thursday noon, August 18, at the Sandollar Restaurant, according to secretary-treasurer Josef A. Barton.

Presented by Finance Chairman Joe Randow, local school superintendent, the budget includes funds for Eye-Care (glasses for indigent school and pre-school children), Cub Scouts, Little League, ABC Learning Center, Halloween Party, Toast of the Coast Relays trophy and Memorials.

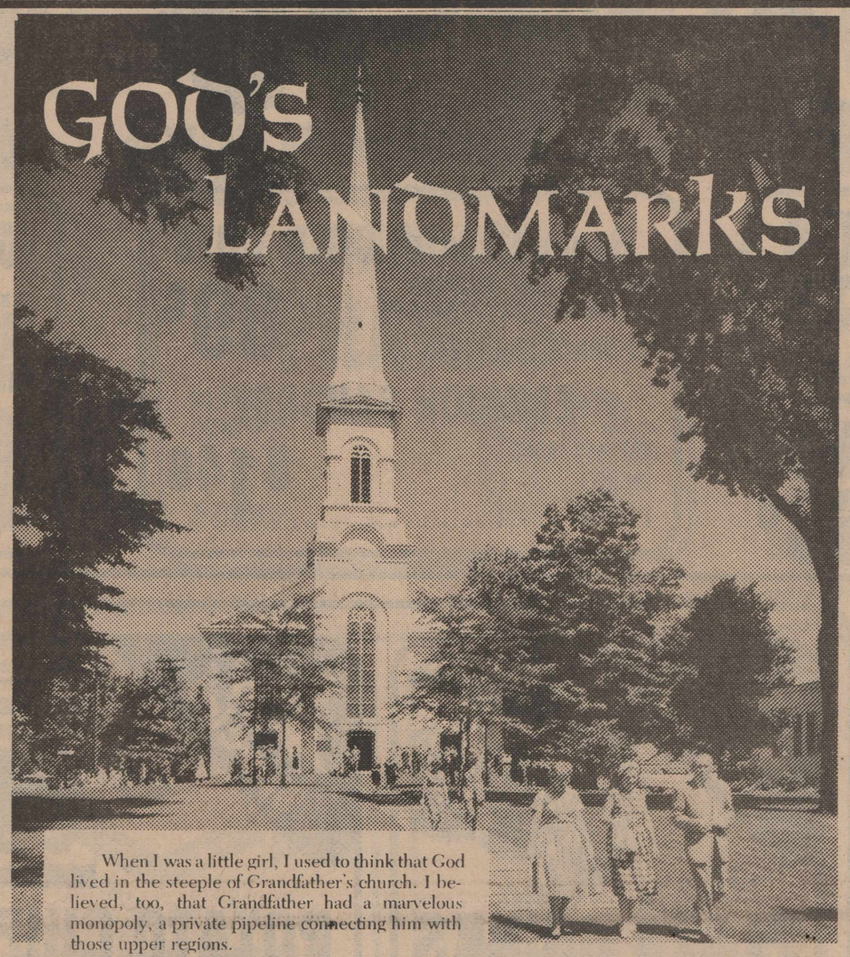

It was voted to expand the annual scholarship awarded to a graduating senior, starting in 1978, from a one-year $200 to four-years at $200 annually for a total of $800. Also, for four consecutive years an additional recipient is to be named until four such scholarships will be operative simultaneously.

$3000 was voted for the expansion and improvement of the public barbecue facilities maintained by the Rockport Lions in the Navigation District Park at Rockport Harbor.

Funds are raised in the community with the annual July 4 BBQ, a food booth at SeaFair, a fruit cake sale, and the annual Spring Broom and Mop Sale featuring items made by blind people in various Lighthouses, and through memorials.

GOD and HIS CHURCH

AMERICA'S First Line of Defense

When I was a little girl, I used to think that God lived in the steeple of Grandfather's church. I believed, too, that Grandfather had a marvelous monopoly, a private pipeline connecting him with those upper regions.

When I told him, Grandfather hugged me close and chuckled. "Child," he said, "You can't shut God up in a church or in one man's heart. He's everywhere — in whispering winds, the wild goose's call, in winter's purple clouds and scarlet leaves of fall. Wherever you see beauty — you see God."

Not long ago I went back to that little town and visited the church. It looked just the same. The white spire gleamed in the sun, piercing the blue summer sky. Wide doors stood open and inviting, and a gentle breeze wafted faint strains of an anthem to me. I remembered Grandfather's words, and a prayer of thanks rose in my heart for his church. Silently I prayed too for all the landmarks of God — His churches that spread across this land, symbols of His might and glory.
