TEST WELL FOR LUBBOCK CO. OIL FIELD IS NOW ASSURED

BLACKWELL TO DRILL WITHIN COMING MONTH

GEOLOGIST'S REPORT OF PROSPECTS HERE IS GLOWING

Independent of local capital and having absolute confidence in the gas and petroleum possibilities of the territory south and east of Lubbock, Blackwell & Hurley, of Amarillo, will within a few days start actual operations to make a test of this field by the drilling of a well some where south or east of Lubbock.

B. V. Blackwell, a member of the firm, was here yesterday with a trained geologist who made a favorable report on the territory south and east of Lubbock, expressing the belief that gas in large quantities can be found and that a pool of oil as large as any found in fields of West Texas is located in that territory. The geologist brought to Lubbock by Mr. Blackwell is one of the leading men in that profession and has been responsible for the location of some of the large producing wells in the Amarillo field.

Mr. Blackwell is a millionaire who has had a great deal of experience in the oil business, and has been responsible for a great deal of development work.

Leases Secured

A large body of land that has been leased for the purpose of oil an gas operations has been secured by Blackwell & Hurley, and Mr. Blackwell stated that no time would be lost in getting drilling equipment on the ground and that the first well will be spudded in not later than April 1st.

The report that was mande on the territory south and east of Lubbock by the geologist who was here yesterday was so favorable that no time will be lost in an effort to secure local capital to join in the drilling of the test well, Mr. Blackwell, who will finance the project said yesterday.

It is a "lead pipe cinch" that Lubbock will be given a test well, an that such test will place Lubbock in the center of one of the biggest oil an gas fiels in the state is an opinion in which eminent geologists and numerous practical oil men are joined

Good Equipment

The very best equipment necessary for handling a well from 2500 to 3500 feet will be brought to the location here and no delay in completing the test, which the Amarillo capitalist seem eager to develop in the least time possible, is expected.

MORE NAVY BLIMPS ADVOCATED IN CONGRESS

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Picturing dirigibles crossing the Atlantic at 60 knots an hour with a full military load, the house naval committee in a report today urged congress to enact legislation for continuance of lighter than air development.

The committee recommended passage of the Butler bill providing for a five year building program for the naval air service which would give it 1,064 planes and two dirigibles of six million cubic feet capacity.

Airships of adequate size, the committee said, hold greater possibilities as adjuncts of the fleet. To abandon lighter than air development as a result of the Shenandoah disaster, they declared "would be un-American."

"The committee does not feel," the report said, "that the crash of last September, terrible as it was, should discourage further experiments with airship navigation. All the world's air accomplishments that are of any vlue have cost money and lives. Money and lives are not wasted if only the work goes on. They are wasted if the work is abandoned."

BANDITS STEAL DISGUISE, MAKE NEAT GET-AWAY

HOLD ACTOR AND WIFE FOR 5 HOURS IN HOTEL AND TAKE CLOTHES

By United Press

FT. WORTH, Feb. 27.—Calmly attiring themselves in their victims clothing, two gunmen escaped today from the twelfth floor of the Texas hotel after a gun battle while police and detectives swarmed the lobbies and corridors and formed a cordon around the block.

F. L. Clampitt, of Kansas City, federal postoffice inspector early this morning engaged in a gun battle with the two robbers after he found them looting his room.

The two men then entered the room of Edgar Mason, an actor, and held him and his wife under threat of death five hours. The bandits agreed that Mason should accompany one of them to a clothing store where they could purchase caps and other clothing to be used as a disguise.

Attiring himself in Mason's golf suit, one of the robbers carried out this plan. The nervy bandit then returned to M. n's room where the disguise was affected.

The bandits then walked out, nudging shoulders with men ready to shoot them on sight.

A patrolman and the clerk of the Texas were witnesses to the gun battle between the two prowlers and Clampitt. They had gone to Clampitt's aid but were stopped by the bandits themselves with drawn guns.

The theory the prowlers were seeking data supposed to have been collected by Clampitt in connection with big oil stock selling scandals was discredited by police.

Not Yet Vindicated, Says 'Ma'; Would Hold Her Office Till Scutcheon is Clean

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, in announcing yesterday her candidacy for re-election, said; "While it is true that the people elected me in the belief that the stigma of impachment would be removed from my family name, yet I am sorry to say that it has not yet been done. I am again a candidate on this issue, and as long as God shall give me strength to work and faith to pray I am going to continue to ask the people of my native state to help me remove the cloud that has hung over me and mine all too long."

The full text of her statement follows:

"To the people of Texas:

"Subject to the democratic primary I hereby announce my candidacy for re-election to the office of governor of the state.

"In making this announcement I am not unmindful of the fact that I shall enocunter active opposition. I am fully aware of the arguments that will be advanced by those who will oppose me.

"Already the contention has been made in the columns of one of the big daily papers that I should not be a candidate because I am a woman. To this idea let me call attention to the fact that under the new enacted law of the country and approved by our courts women have been emancipated and have been given equal rights not only to vote but to hold any office in the gift of the people. Therefore if anybody now raises objection to me or any other woman holding office they are defying the laws of the land and should be treated as any other enemy of our democratic form of government.

"No sooner than this my announcement appears in the public prints, we will hear from the mouthpieces of those who are anxious to be governor, that I promised I would not again be a candidate.

"If I had promised that I would hold the office for a life time, you would not have heard them say anything about sacred promises. But as my election will greatly interfere with the ambitions of some who claim to have heard a call from Divine source to save the country, it is to be expected that we will hear loud and vociferous discussion about my statement that I would not again be a candidate.

"The candidate or the friend of the candidate who raises that plea simply wants to deny the people the right to vote for me if they want to, and I think the people will so understand.

"But I shall not dodge the facts. Here are the facts about me not again becoming a candidate. Just after the first primary in 1924 I gave out this statement to the press: (These are my exact words) 'I want to thank the people who from every part of the state have tendered me their support in this contest. I yet believe that God will answer

BLOCK ATTEMPT TO EXPAND LEAGUE COUNCIL

By United Press

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Expansion of the League of Nations council to include Poland and perhaps Brazil or Spain, in addition to Germany, as permanent council, has apparently been blocked, so far as the league meeting March 8 is concerned.

Sweden is understood definitely to have informed Germany that the Swedish council member will vote against seating any new member, except Germany during the coming meeting. An unanimous consent is required in this instance, there will be two alternatives, if Sweden voted as she has intimated to Germany that she would:

First, Germany and no other would be added to the league council, or secondly, any council member might object to the addition of Germany without Poland, Brazil or possibly Spain and the matter would be left in stalemate with Germany still a non-member of the league.

This latter alternative would nullify much of the peaceful work at Locarno. Europe has been aroused to intense interest in the intrigue and wire pulling to create additional permanent counsil seats for nations other than Germany. During the past week, the continent has divided into two distinct groups, France and Italy with the French hegemony of central European states and Poland, favor election of Poland as a permanent member of the council.

The Scandanavian countries, Holland and England oppose the entrance of any other nation except Germany.

TREASURY PREDICTS $20,000,000 MORE REVENUE IN SPITE OF CUT

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The government's financial situation took an unexpected turn tonight when it was learned authoritatively that the treasury officials are confident of an increase of $20,000,000 or more in revenues, despite the $387,811,000 tax reduction.

The development contrasted sharply with President Coolidge's pessimistic announcement that there should be no tax reduction next year, coupled with his statement that appropriation measures being seriously considered by congress would cause a $100,000,000 deficit at the end of the fiscal year.

The present considerable degree of industrial prosperity, together with the theory of Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and other tax experts that lower rates bring in larger revenues, both are contributing factos to the expected increase in revenue.

Receipts of income taxes are expected to jump nearly $10,000,000 despite the lower normal and surtax rates which went into effect yesterday when the president signed the measure passed by congress in 80 days.

Last year's collections were about $1,760,000,000 in income taxes. Miscellaneous taxes will bring in about $950,000,000 this year, compared with $822,000,000 last year and $954,000,000 in 1924, it is estimated.

In 1927 the tax reduction which is just going into effect will be felt more severely by the government, although the reduction will amount to only about $343,000,000 in that and subsequent years.

Receipts for later years will probably decline around $20,000,000, due ous taxes.

TO RULE ON BIMBA BLASPHEMY TUESDAY

BROCKTON, Mass., Feb. 27.—Anthony Bimba will not know until Tuesday whether he has been convicted of blasphemy under Massachusetts' 229 year-old statute. On that day Judge C. C. Carroll King will rule on the case of the Brooklyn editor.

Final arguments were concluded shortly after noon today and Judge King took the case under advisement. It is the first time within years that the hoary "blasphemy law" had been invoked.

Prosecutor I. Manuel Ruben and Harry Hoffman, Bimba's attorney, scarcely referred to the antiquity of the statute in the last minutes of the trial. They recognized the issue involved as intensely modern and in their closing argumesn eectnedtr upon whether the denial of God constituted blasphemy.

"I don't care what you do with this case," Hoffman told Judge King. "Bimba has committed no crime."

Hoffman pointed out that in his opening address, he had said the evidence was not much in dispute.

"Bimba did deny the existence of God," the attorney said.

The government has attempted, however, to insert other evidence in order to make the charge more colorful.

"Th government has tried to push me close to the line of profanity. Is it blasphemy for a man to say Christ was only a man and not a God? Do all men believe in Christ? We do not know they do

We do know they do not. Is it blasphemy to deny the divinity of Christ I am sure it is not."

Prosecutor Ruben took the position that Bimba's guilt on blasphemy charge was assured but that the issue to decide upon was whether this blasphemy had a fillful or malicious purpose.

The state's attorney accused Bimba to Brockton to create propaganda "for the destruction of our government."

Hurrying home to tell his wife of a prize he had won for careful driving, Karl Stark of Detroit was arrested for speeding.

College, of Lubbock. There will also be a State contest at the A. & M. College following these, the former two being contests for the West Texas schools only.

The teams will be eligible for the state contest, even if they fail to win at Canyon and Lubobck, as these are not eliminative contests, and will not prevent a team entering the state wide event. The boys are very optomistic and are working hard to make a good showing in the contests.

The poultry team will judge three classes of exhibition birds and three classes of production birds taken from the breeds of Rhode Island Reds, Barred Rocks and White Leghorns. WILL PLAN LIQUOR LAW PROBE TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—Despite lack of cooperation from political leaders the house alcoholic liquor traffic committee decided today to carry out a searching inquiry into the results of prohibition.

Definite plans for the survey which is expected to begin in about a week will be made at the meeting of the committee Monday.

As matters shape up now, the committee will be somewhat hampered in its work by its lack of power to subpoena witnesses and call for documents and statistics. Another obstacle loomed today when the accounts committee failed to take action on a resolution authorizing the liquor traffic committee to employ a clerk. This will cause committee members to handle the details in addition to carrying on the regular investigation work.

Starting the proble, the committee plans to "invite government officials connected with enforcement of prohibition to appear and present the government's view of the success of the six year "sociological experiment."

Blanket invitation will also be issued to all wet and dry organizations to testify.

COTTON QUARANTINE OF TERRY COUNTY IS FALSE

There has been a wide spread rumor throughout the south plains section that Pink Boll worms had been located at Brownfield and that government men had been sent there by the state to place Terry County under quarantine. After investigating the facts we find that this statement is partly true, that is there are government inspectors at Brownfield at the present time doing state work but any or all of the counties in the state are subject to the same inspection and it is only there regular duty that requires them to make inspection of this kind that causes the mto be at Brownfield at the present time.

There was so much interest and so many representations of the source of trouble that a telephone conversation with Mr. T. I. Brown, a prominent cotton man of Brownfield revealed the actual facts which are that the government men have inspected that section for the last ten days and up to a late hour this evening there had been no PINK BOLL WORMS found.

The last legislature passed a bill providing for re-location of the prisons system but it was vetoed by Governor Ferguson practically the same bill will be introduced in the next legislature, Mrs. Spear said.

GIRLS' DORMITORY IS DONATED TO S. M. U.

By United Press

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—A fifty room dormitory for women, the cost of which will be approximately $150,000, has been donated to Southern Methodist University by Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Snider of Wichita Falls, Texas, and will be ready for occupancy by the fall term of 1926.

In view of this recent action, president Selesman of the University has decided to abandon the $250,000 campaign for a new dormitory to relieve the crowded condition caused by the fire which recently destroyed the buildings housing the men of the university. Instead another campaign will be conducted to raise another $150,000, with which to erect a building to match the Snider donation. These two buildings will accomodate the university women for the next two years, according to Selecman.

According to press reports, seventeen of the twenty policemen of Uniontown, Pennsylvania, have signed temperance pledges.

THE GOD OF OUR FATHERS—"And he blessed Joseph, and said, God, before whom my fathers * * did walk, the God which fed me all my life long * * The angel which redeemed me * * * bless the lads * * and let them grow into a multitude." Gen. 48: 15-16.

HIGHWAYS

"Don't shoot the piano player—he's doing the best he can."

How many times have you heard that old adage? We don't know when or where it originated, but we do know it is applicable to present-day situations. For instance, the men charged with the responsibility of building and maintaining the highways in West Texas have doubtless done the best they can. They have had more handicaps under which to carry on their work than any other class of builders, and we don't want to suggest shooting them—"thy're doing the best they can", but is it enough?

There are few highways in this section at this time that are capable of taking care of the traffic that will be headed this way when the grass gets green and the lure of the road is felt by tourists from everywhere.

West Texas sandstorms are playing havoc with recently graded highways and lack of moisture makes dragging out the chug-holes an impossible task.

County commissioners, men connected with the highway department and others have done the best they can under existing circumstances, but that they have failed to give the people of West Texas in general good roads is not questioned. A trip west to Littlefield over Highway No. 7 is proof that dirt highways will not stand the strain of heavy traffic and the high winds, despite the fact that that highway has doubtless been given as much or more attention by efficient roadmen provided with the very best machinery available as any other strip of highway in the state.

The dirt of this section is absolutely no good for roadbuilding if our observations have been correct, and as long as expensive machinery and labor is applied in shifting the dirt from center to grade and grade to center on plains highway just that long will the taxpayers who are footing the bill pay for something that is not worth the cost.

The only situation as we see it is to spend much or spend nothing. Every highway on the plains that is not accomodating sufficient traffic to merit the construction of a first class, hard surface would best be left alone and let those compelled to use it have little or no worse conditions to contend with than are to be found on the highways as they now exist where heavy traffic is being accomodated.

Some 18 months ago a meeting was held in the court house here when bankers, merchants farmers and owners of large bodies of land in Lubbock county agreed that something should be done to improve the condition of the highways leading into Lubbock.

That this meeting was marked with a degree of sincerity on the part of each speaker was not disputed, but if anything has resulted from it it is still on paper.

What Lubbock county needs is an opportunity to spend her highway money on a reasonable basis—an investment in roaways that can be blown away overnight is folly.

We believe brick or concrete surfacing is the only solution, even if it does cost more.

A CHRISTIAN ADORNMENT—ARE YOU CLOTHED WITH IT?

Humanity may be defined as consisting in profound self abasement before God, arising from a deep sense of our sinfulness, and in a low estimation of ourselves, as we stand related to our fellow-creatures, whatever be the extent of our attainments, or the importance of the station we occupy. It is described by the apostle Peter as a disposition which leads us not to think of ourselves more highly than we ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith. Upon this subject too much stress cannot be laid, for without humanity religion cannot possibly exist. A proud Christian is a contradiction in terms. We might as well speak of a wise fool, of a wicked saint, of a sober drunkard, or of a chaste harlot as of a proud Christian. We may as soon expect the fragrant olive tree to flourish in the barren wastes of Siberia, or in the frozen regions of Lapland, as that true piety should grow in a heart that is proud and haughty. A vine might as well thrive when a worm is gnawing at its roots, as that the soul should prosper and be in health when its arrogance and self-consequence are not subdued.

Without the spirit of humanity no happiness can be enjoyed in Heaven. The proud,, were they admitted there, would feel no real or lasting enjoyment. The outward glory of the place might dazzle the eyes for a time but they would not relish the society and employments of that blessed place. The honors conferred upon patriarchs, apostles, martyrs and such would be likely to excite the envy of the proud, and before long they would attempt to sow the seeds of discord among the heavenly host.

Reader, if you would enjoy true happiness, both here and hereafter, cultivate a humble spirit. "True humility", says Matthew Wilks, "is a lovely ornament; it is the only becoming dress for a saved sinner." Oh! let us seek then to be clothed in this robe, that we may be brought to lie low at the footstool of our Maker and Redeemer; and that, in all our intercourse with each other we may look at our superiors without envy, and upon our inferiors without contempt.

In the saints of old this grace appeared with marked prominence. There was Abraham, the father of the faithful and the friend of God. How great was his humility! How profound his self-abasement. There was David who speaks of himself as "a worm and no man;" Job who cried out, "Behold, I am vile!" Moses said, "Who am I?" Paul, the great apostle, on one occasion remarked that he was not worthy to be called an apostle, at another time that he was less than the least of all saints, and when penning one of the last of his epistles he designated himself "the very chief of sinners". Paul was brought to know himself—a knowledge in which all wisdom centers; and if we know ourselves as Paul knew himself, pride and self complacency will find no room within us.

Our greatest example in humanity; however, is the Saviour, and He testified of Himself, "For I am meek and lowly in heart." If ever a person had a cause to be proud He had; all the fullness of the Eternal Godhead dwelt in Him; devils trembled at His rebuke; and flew from His presence to the abodes of misery; yet how meek, how lowly.

With the apostle let us say, "Let nothing be done through strife or vain glory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem others better than themselves. Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others. Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus."

Against the proud the displeasure of Heaven has been manifest in all ages. Pharoah's language, "Who is the Lord, that I should obey Him?" met with Heaven's rebuke in the destruction of his kingdom under the Red Sea. Nebuchadnezzar's haughty remark, "Is not this great Babylon that I have built, by the mighty of my power, and for the honor of my majesty?" God punished him and he was turned out of society and made to eat with the beasts of the field. Herod took unto himself glory that belonged to God, and was smitten and eaten of the worms.

While God resists the proud He has promised to give grace to the humble. The lowly are the objects of His special regard. "Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth." Not only is this promise to the humble, but he is promised another place of habitation. "This is my rest forever, here will I dwell, with him also that is of a contrite and humble spirit."

OUR SCHOOL SYSTEMS

During the week ending February 27, the National Education Association meets in convention at Washington and the principal topics to be discussed are:

What shall our schools teach? Are we teaching our boys and girls too much? Have we departed from fundamentals in the frantic effort to meet various demands? If we must prune our course of study, what subjects shall we cut out.

Hitherto most of the great educators and school administrators of the country have kept silent under the fire of criticism and insistent pleas on behalf of this or that subject of study, but the growing complexity of the public school curriculum has thrown these questions more vividly than ever on the educational horizon, until it has become the burning topic of discussion among both teachers and the general public.

Participating in the discussion will be nearly all the leading educators of the nation, including national, state and city superintendents and representatives of the large colleges and universities which exert a tremenduous influence in the training of teachers. The convention promises to be the most important in the history of our educational institutions.

A letter just received from the secretary of the bootleggers' International Association for the Prevention and Cure of Colds asks that we use our "good position and fully recognized influence and altruistic sympathy" in behalf of that "very worthy institution" to prevent Uncle Sam's minions of the law from interfering with their vested and sacred rights. We have taken the matter under advisement and will render our decision just as soon as we can locate the headquarters of this "worthy institution," since the letter was dropped from an airship.

A California judge says that divorces would be reduced considerably by a revival of the ducking stool for gossips. The ducking stool was adopted in the latter part of the fifteenth century and was practiced until the early part of the eighteenth century. It was occasionally used as late as the beginning of the nineteenth century. Its purpose was to punish the common scold. The ducking stool was altogether different, though occassionally confounded with the other form of punishment. It was used for both men and women, who were fixed in a stool at their own doors, to be pelted and hooted at by the mob.

Politics is in the air and the atmosphere will be surcharged from now until after November elections. Governors are to be elected in 33 states 34 United States Senators and the entire House of Representatives are to be elected. If the Democrats and Progressives succeed in gaining ten seats in the United States Senate it will change the entire complexion of party rule. The first primary will be held in South Dakota on March 23, and the second in Illinois on April 13.

The country is assured of a supply of hard coal for five years. After that those of us who do not live in the South may be getting heat by radio.

Our Pet Peeve

Is Ready to Carry Out Divorce Pact

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Paulette Picard-Whiting after more than a year of hesitation finally has agreed to get through with the "divorce breakfast" agreement she is said to have made with her wealthy husband on New Year's day, 1925.

The Gold Coast matron, who made doubly famous the maxim, don't marry a man to reform him, by marrying two men and failing to reform either, has decided to get a divorce.

In court here Friday, her attorneys were granted permission to amend her petition for separate maintenance. It has now become a bill for divorce.

The change is regarded as a concession to Bradford Hill Whitting who claims his wife agreed to divorce him a year ago at a strange breakfast party attended by the Whittings and the Richard Tomkinsons. Whiting wanted to be free to marry Mrs. Tompkinson, whose husband agreed to release her but Mrs. Whiting is said to have reneged.

The only reason given for her present change of heart is that a satisfactory property settlement has been made upon her.

The divorce case in, which she charges her clubman-husband drinks to excess and continues his attentions to the former Mrs. Tompkinson comes to trial next Tuesday. Whiting refuses to say whether he will marry his affinity when the divorce is granted but it is known that they are still friendly.

SO THINK WE

We think the passing of the hairpin is rather pathetic, but the pasing of the apron string from common use would be much more disastrous.

We think the fellow that was sent to the penitentiary for marrying two wives should have known better. Most men get into enough trouble by marrying one.

We think it is alright to get the marriage ceremony over the radio, but it is very uncertain when you will be able to get it, and then there is liable to be a lot of static connected with it. We think the same couple would be very would be very much disappointed if they expect to try to get their meat and bread the same way.

We think the people of the city and the farms as well burn up entirely too much of their trash and growth that come off the ground. This impoverishes the earth, and it should be used to fertilize it.

We think we know some folks who have Sunday religion and do not believe it is worth a "tinker's———? any other day in the week.

We think there will be more homes built in Lubbock this summer than any other one year.

We think now is the time to build that new home in Lubbock.

We think several hundred homes would look better painted up.

We think there is very little use for anyone to chase his hat when it blows off. He cannot catch it anyway, and some other fellow farther down the line will get it for you.

We think the guy who is displeased with the seasons and think we should have more hot weather in winter and more cool weather in the summer, possibly is an evolutionist, and would have the people of this day and time regulate the seasons, in place of having them regulated to the plan that was mapped out by the maker of heaven and earth.

We think that out of 9,999 Methodist of benefitting the farmer, none of them have been successful. The 10,000th one will probably hit the spot.

We think while we are in a pessimistic mood that about the time we have learned to make the most of life, the most of life is already made.

We think that Lubbock has a lot more things than ninety percent of the people of this city know anything about. Better get acquainted with Lubbock.

We think there are very few towns that do not have some outskirts that will not do to look at. We think Lubbock has some places like this and we are of the opinion that it must just simply be "pure de" contraryness (parlor expression for what we really mean) that the road between here and Slaton is not changed to avoid going through nigger town.

We think there will possible be a remark from some minister who will preach a sermon to "gentlemen only" in place of for men only

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that a mechanic that works on one of the garages in a nearby town has two black mules. We would not have thought it so strange had it been white mules, but we do not know so much about the black mule part we are rather "leery" about.

It is reported that about all you cannot buy these days on the installment plan is peace of mind, and that seems to be a drag on the market even for cash.

It is reported that a young Lubbock man asked a sweet young lady a few days ago when she was thinking of getting married. She replied very promptly and distinctly "constantly."

It is reported that the Rotarians are possibly the only organization that insist on calling each member by name. We wonder if they call Mussolimi in the Rotary Club, "Muss"? By rights they certainly should.

It is reported that in a certain club the question has been brought up as to when a child is old enough to obey. We believe we can answer this question by saying when the kid is old enough to disobey, it is also old enough to obey.

It is reported that another Davidson has broken into politics J. B. Davidson, a doctor at Bledsoe has announced as a representative from this district.

It is reported that since Charleston has come out that Lubbock people do not propose to be out done and there will probably be a new dance originate here known as the "Huz-hug."

It is reported that one fellow says that he is sure that spring has arrived for he saw some boys spinning tops on the sidewalk Signs of the time fail to reveal the correct definition of seasons for we saw a lady wearing a spring hat sixty days ago. and now the designers are talking about fall stuff.

It is reported that a Lubbock fault finder has subscribed for a research work. Wouldn't think it would be necessary. We thought that when a follow started out to find fault he was on an endless chain, and would never need to stop to search for anything.

It is reported that one fellow says that many people merely play at religion. We know a lot of folks who have never taken a hand in the game yet.

Radical and Otherwise

Cost of Government

Cost of federal, state and municipal government in the United States shows a grand total of $10,252,000,000 for the year 1924, compared to $2,919,000,000 for the year 1913.

These statistical facts are compiled from the official records of government, by the National Industrial Conference Board.

A more vital fact is also shown in the decrease of $385,000,000 or 10.6 per cent in federal expenditures for 1924, while state and local governments increased their expense by $492,000,000 or 7.6 per cent.

In spite of the large reductions possible by the federal governments in lopping off war expenditures, due to state and local extravagance there was a net increase for 1924 of $107,000,000.

The problem presented by a steady increase in state and municipal tax rates concerns every individual, whether or not he is a property owner.

High cost of government contributes directly, as must be admitted, to the high cost of living generally.

In the practice of gerater economy in the cost of government the beginning must be at the top, working downward—rather than at the bottom working upward.

Proper Bridge Surfacing Essential

According to bridge experts too much importance cannot be attached to selection and design of road surfacing for highway bridges. Several fundamental requirements must be met.

The surface must be smooth, light in weight, low in cost and shock absorbing; must be able to withstand vibration, should be of the kind that can be laid and repaired easily and quickly, ought to be as as noiseless as possible, must be free from joints and should be fireproof, waterproof, weatherproof and resistant to wear and the impact blows of heavy traffic. Bridge engineers favor asphaltic material as best meeting these requirements.

TEXAS

By J. MARVIN NICHOLS

Relics of the Centuries

SAN JOSE: San Jose de Aguayo was erected in 1718 and named St. Joseph; reputed husband of the Virgin Mary, and Marquis San Miguel de Aguayo, Governor of Texas at the time. It is the most beautiful of all the Missions. The sculpture is the work of the celebrated Huica, sent from Spain for that purpose. Eight years were spent in its erection. The main door is a masterpiece of art. It is made of live oak, covered with cedar, richly carved. Around this door were six images: St. Ann (gone), St. Joaquin (headless), the Virgin and the Child, St. Joseph, St. Nanon, and San Domingo. The spiral staircase and the cedar ladder are reminders of ancient days. As one lingers in its silent halls voices speak out of the distant past.

CONCEPCION: Nuestra Senora de la Concepcion was begun in 1731 and, after twenty one years of patient toil by the monks and Indians, was completed. It derived its name from the doctrine of the Immaculate Conception of the Holy Virgin—a new and absorbing question in that age. The style is moresque, has a square front and dome covered belfries on either side. One was used as a vestry and the other as a baptistry. Over the front door is a triangle of the finest workmanship. In the center of the arch is an ancient coat of arms. The walls are all covered with geometric figures. The floor is native tiling, the vestibule very large, the chapel very small. The stone altar is most curious. Time and vandals have worked havoc with it. This Mission was a favorite resort for the Texas pioneers. It was here that Bowie routed the Mexicans in 1835. This old ruin has been the silent witness of many a deadly Indian fight.

SAN FERNANDO: The old San Fernando Cathedral, while not built as a fortress-church, is a structure of unwavering interest. To this day it is used. It was originally built by subscription in 1732, and only the sacristy of the first building forms the altar of the one of more recent date. The Marquis de Casa Fuetes persuaded Spain to send sixteen royal families to this new possession. The church was erected for these royal families. They were brought over from the Canary Island and the name of the Pueblo was changed to that of San Fernando in honor of Fernando III, King of Spain. In 1883, when the Alamo was sold to the State of Texas by Bishop Nersz, the bones of the monks were dug up in the Alamo and buried within the walls of old San Fernando.

In those far-off days, around these moss-covered Missions, many deadly conflict took place. No war correspondent witnessed those battles. Victory meant only other tragic days to come. Defeat meant the burial of valorous deeds in an oblivion that had no messenger. This Mission territory has been fought over inch by inch for more than two long centuries. This Empire of the Great Southwest has been won for posterity by an heroism that has no parallel in all the pages of history.

Lowery Has Host of Track Material For Cinder Club; Will Meet Post And Slaton Clubs March 5th Here

As the curtain fell on the cager season in the Lubbock High School the Westerners immediately began their training for baseball and track In looking over the material for the track events this season, Coach "Pinky" Lowery makes comment as to the outcome of the team this season and he states that he has on hand better material for cinder and weight events than he has ever had in the years before.

Lowery's club in the past years has been strong in track events, but on the other hand he has been very weak in the weight events and it therefore has lost several meets for him. In the dual meet with Amarillo at Abernathy last year he lost to Amarillo due to the fact that he was weak in the field events.

A tri-met with the Post and Slaton track clubs will be staged in Lubbock on March 5th. This meet will be the first contested meet that will be held in Lubbock other than the regular county and district meets. Lowery is striving to put out one of the best clubs in the history of the school, in doing so, he is arranging several meets which will enable his club to accomplish more in the determining meets.

Abernathy Meet Annual

Each year the Abernathy Chamber of Commerce and Abernathy High School have staged an All-Plains and Panhandle track and field meet in which the high schools of that section have ben invited to attend and take part in that phase of sports. For the past two years the Lubbock High School and the Amarillo High School have been the main contenders of the class A schools, Lubbock winning the first year and Amarillo the last year.

District Meet in April

According to A. W. Evans, of Texas Tech, the director general of the Interscholastic League of Texas, the annual district meet will be held on the 23rd and 24th of April. Coach E. Y. Freeland has charge of the athletic department of the Interscholastic League.

Preparation Being Made for Track

All of last week and part of this week men have ben at work in building up, leveling up and filling in the athletic field of the Texas Tech, one quarter mile track with a 220 yard straight away is being made for all Tech meets and for the district meet of the high schools of the Lubbock district. It is hoped by Freeland that in a very few years the college will be able to have a regular cinder track prepared for the meets and thus enabling the high school lads to establish better records in the events that they take part in.

Twenty-six Report

Lowery has twenty-six men that have reported for the early training in track, several of which have been in service of the high school some years before: others are new material that have the ear marks of good track men. In the field events Lowery has: L. Allen, C. Allen, L. Smith, H. Bowen, Crosby, B. Adams, Freeland, Payne, Thomas and Reeder. In the track events he has: Dollahite, L. Smith, C. Allen, Hedgecoke, Bowen, Crosby, Barton, G. Jones, Standifer, McIlhaney, Ater, B. Adams, Freeland, Payne, Thomas, Wilson, E. Ing. Rav, Hardberger, Odom, and Brown.

WESTERNER NINE TO REPORT MONDAY

Coach "Mule" Davis stated yesterday that he would issue a call for the candidates for the high school baseball club Monday afternoon. He is expecting an enrichment in the baseball material for the coming training season and is in a very optimistic mood as the prospects of the high chool nine this season.

Along with the new material Davis has several old men in the lineup to begin with. He has in Payne one of the best high school catchers that may be found in the West Texas schools. This will be the last seanson for Payne and he is expected to be in the best of condition for th egame. Payne is one of the steadiest mn Davis has and he is countiny on his strong.

Dillard Back

Overton Dillard, the long lanky red faced lad, and a great high school pitcher will be trained by Skipper Allen this season. Sled sees great prospects in Dillard and is taking much interest in him. Dillard last season got as many as twelve strike outs and lost the game due to the lack of kicks and boots of his team mates that were proven costly errors.

Dillard has a world of speed and a great curve ball—he is a bit wild—but has the ball player enough in him to have the ball in there where it is called for. "I like Dillard pitching in that if he is called to throw a bean ball—it is a bean ball" commented Sled Allen in talking of Dillard's pitching.

Three Men Lost

Davis lost three men off of his last year's nine—first sacker, short stop, and third base—all infield positions. He has his outfield to work with again this season. With the material on hand Davis stated team would represent Lubbock high that he thought a much stronger school this year.

Allen to Assist

"Daddy of baseball in Lubbock" Skipper Allen will aid the high school lads in their training this season. He has for the last two years lent his efforts a ndkn wledge to the high school lads and again this year he has consented to assist the Westerners. Allen expects much of the club this year and is going to put in much time working with the team.

Poor Suzanne Is Sicker and Sicker

By United Press

NICE, France, Feb. 27.—Suzanne Lenglen, still shaken from an attack of nerves and suffering a wracking cough told the United Press today that she probably would not defend the French tennis championship at the tournament to be held at Paris in June.

The French title holder said that she keenly felt the undercurrent of public opinion against her withdrawal from the courts, but believed that out of justice to herself she should take a long rest.

After the doubles match at Monte Carlo today with Didi Vlasto against Mrs. R. Platt and Miss Radecliffe, which the former team won at 6-3, 6-0, Mlle Lenglen staggered to the club house holding her hands to her head and said:

"I feel terrible. I didn't think that I could finish that match. The doctor is right. I will have to stop and take a long rest."

Miss Wills, who already had survived the semi-finals round for the Duke of Connaught's cup, did not have to play today.

Senorita Leorna De Alvarez, Spanish champion, won the other half of the semi-finals and will meet Miss Wills in the finals.

U. S. NETMEN EVEN SCORE BY TAKING TEAM TITLE

By United Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—After one of the most desperately fought battles ever seen in a tennis court, the United States defeated France in the international team matches by a score of 3 to 2.

The burden of saving the American team from the further loss of prestige fell upon the broad shoulders of Big Bill Tilden, the world's champion, and it took him three hours to deliver by defeating Jean Borotra in the deciding match at 6-4, 8-10, 11-13, 6-1, 6-3.

When the final singles matches started early in the afternoon, the United States was enjoying a lead of two to one, but the French team tied the score at 2-all when Rene Lacoste winner of the recent national indoor tournament downed Virginia Richards rather handily in straight sets, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Tilden was busy doing his acting in a Broadway matinee and it was later than 5 o'clock when he appeared to do his tennis stuff in the final singles match.

The champion started out like he was in a hurry for supper and ran all over Borotra in the first set, but his ga meslipped and after a marathon chase he reached the ten minute rest period after the third set with th score 2-1 against him.

The three sets had taken two hours and a half and had thrilled a record gallery af almost 5,000 spectators.

When Tilden came out for the fourth set he looked at the clock, realized that the curtain call would be sounding soon in his theater and he went to work.

In less than 30 minutes he took two sizzling sets away from the French star and had the gallery in a frenzy with the brillance of his game. For the first time since he has been playing indoors this season, he played real Tilden tennis and he had Borotra in such a bad way that Borotra stumbled and almost collapsed when he was trying to reach his chair at the end of the match.

Lacoste played like a perfect tennis machine in defeating Richards. The young American had his game working well, but Lacoste kept him glued to the base line with a most beautiful lob attack and Richards could not come up to his volley forte.

PRATT HAS HARD JOB WITH WACO MOUND

WACO, Feb. 27.—Manager Dell Pratt of the Waco Cubs will arrive here Monday to find two tough problems facing him in the formation of the Cub machine. One is to assemble a consistently winning pitching staff and the other is to find a third baseman to fill the place left vacant by Deebie Foss. The Cubs may have a Hebrew third baseman to pair with their Hebrew shortstop, Andy Cohen, as Ralph Talpis, a Hebrew from Chicago, seems to be the chief candidate for the hot corner.

The Cubs will start stiff work at the Katp park Monday, as Manager Pratt has only a short time in which to assemble a team to meet the St. Louis Cardinals who play a pair of games here during the coming week end.

Haskell Indians Win Illini Relay

By United Press

CHAMPAIGN, Ills., Feb. 27.—A quartet of American Indians from Haskell institute drew first blood in the mammoth Illinois relay carnival this afternoon, winning the two mile relay for colleges. Their time was 8 minutes and 13 seconds, breaking the carnival record held by Cornell college of Iowa by 3 2-5 seconds.

A few minutes later another carnival record was broken when four sprinters from Ohio Wesleyan negotiated the medley relay for colleges in 8:15 3-5, against the record of 8:27, held by Wabash.

Six hundred athletes were at work in the armory striving for records in a score of events. The carnival is the biggest indoor meet of the collegiate world and names to be reckoned with on track and field were among the starters.

Records Fall Fast

CHAMPIAGN, Ills., Feb. 27.—Records were broken with utter abandon in the ninth Illinois relay carnival this evening with 600 of the greatest collegiate athletes in the middle west competing.

The outstanding feat of the evening was the setting of a new world's indoor record for the shot put by John Kuck, of Kansas state teachers college. Kuck tossed the weight fifty feet six and 3-4 inches, breaking his own world record of 49 feet 1-4 inch.

Four Illinois relay carnival records were broken and another was tied.

"Choppy" Rhodes of the University of Nebraska won the all-round championship of the carnival by scoring 5,355 points in the seven required events.

HERE AND THERE IN LOCAL SPORTS

Finis Vaugh, son of W. C. Vaugh of this city, a student in the West Texas Teachers College of Canyon writes his father that he is selected as one of the five track men to represent the Canyon teachers at the Texas relay game at Austin on the 26th of March. He further stated that the Buffaloes were to meet with the Texas Tech on the 10th of April at Lubbock. He says to tell the Tech boys taht "if they want to out run me they had better quit smoking cigarettes and eating candy because that is what it is going to take if they compete with the W. T. S. T. C. track club."

The Canyon Eagles decisively won the bi-district championship on the Plainview floor Friday evening entitling them to represent Panhandle and South Plains at the state meet to be held in Austin on the 5th and 6th of March.

The district meet of the track and field events of the South Plains Interscolastic League will be held under the supervision of the Teeh Tech this year. The meet is to be held on the 23rd and 24th of April.

The program for the district meet has been arranged and announcement to that effect has been sent the athletic directors of the counties.

Mule Davis states that the Westerner high school nine will start their initial workouts in the great American game on Monday evening. Skipper Allen will assist Mule Davis in developing the high school club. It is thought that there is better prospects of having a district championship club this year than ever before.

The candidates for Texas Tech nine have been reporting for daily workouts for the past few evenings.

Canyon Buffaloes lost their chances for the T. I. A. A. Conference in droping a hotly contested tilt to the Denton Teachers Friday night.

"Duckie" Allen coach of the Plainview Bulldogs high school baseball says that he will start training Monday. He is of the opinion that Plainview will have a good club this season.

Dalhart, Texas, boasts of the fact that they will have a good club this season in the great American game. Perhaps Skipper, will have a chance to prove their baseball ability.

It seems that the Plains-Panhandle towns are getting the baseball spirit somewhat early—it used to take them about the middle of the summer to get pepped up over the game.

Coach Freeland stated, yesterday that he hoped to have things so arranged that he could begin with the real training in track and baseball by Monday or Tuesday. The new athletic grounds have been completed and will be put in first class condition in the near future.

Letter men of the Texas Tech basket ball club will be announced by E. Y. Freeland and Coach Higginbotham some time Tuesday.

Baseball uniforms for the Texas Tech baseball nine have been ordered and will be here at an early date.

Some of the Tech lads have already been chasing the apple far into the depths of the garden are getting familiar with the "Billie Doak" again for the season.

Texas University Ex-Students of Lubbock To Celebrate The Texas Independence Day Tuesday Evening

The ex-students of the University of Texas will celebrate the anniversary of the Texas Independence on Tuesday night, at the Texas Tech cafeteria at 8 o'clock. President Vickers, of the Vickers, Campbell and Schenck law firm, has sent out invitations to some 150 Texas-exes, who reside in Lubbock and Lubbock county, and it is expected that a greater majority of that number will be in attendance on that evening.

According to Richard L. Douglass chairman of the arrangements committee, there are quite a number of ex-students who have not been informed of the occasion and he would greatly appreciate any aid that might be given him in extending further invitations to those that have not been informed. Mr. Douglass is very anxious that those ex-es who have not made reservations ofr the banquet yet to do so before Monday afternoon. He pointed out that this was necessary so that the committee could make definite arrangements for the banquet.

Mr. Douglass states that all Texas exes are cordially invited to attend the celebration even though they are not residents of Lubbock and Lubbocy county.

A very interesting program has been prepared as follows: Judge J. E. Vickers, president of the ex-students association of Lubbock will act as toastmaster for the evening.

BARRIER BROTHERS BUSINESS SHOWS BIG INCREASE DURING JANUARY AS COMPARED TO SAME PERIOD IN 1925

Barrier Brothers Department Store, a pioneer Lubbock institution that has grown with the passing of each season since its establishment, made larger gains in gross sales during January 1926 as compared with the same month in 1925 than was expected by the management.

During January 1926 sales exceeded those made during January 1925 by the neat sum of $15,164.19, an amount that would occasion some surprise even during normal times, and that the increase would have been much heavier this year had the crop condition, on which business is so depended in this section, been better.

Paul Barrier, sales manager of the store, expressed optimism over business prospects for the remainder of this year and declared yesterday that the management of the store is pleased with the liberal patronage the business has been accorded at the hands of the buyers of Lubbock and the south plains.

Barrier Brothers department has made perhaps as much or more growth than any other business on the south plains, and that a great deal of this has been due to the aggressiveness of the management is not questioned.

Departments have been added and older departments enlarged from season to season until the business now occupies two floors and the balcony of the company's building between Avenues I and J, additional help has been employed and in fact every possible advantage for better serving the people of this territory has been readily taken by the management.

While several members of the Barrier Brothers family are now devoting their entire time to the Gold Bond Stamps business which has been established on a large scale, Paul, Mike and Clifton Barrier are still active in the store looking after the enlargement of its many departments.

OKLAHOMA OFFICERS TELL OF ATTEMPT TO TAKE INMAN FROM LUBBOCK, AND UPHOLD SHERIFF JOHNSTON RETURNING

Lee Pollock and Luther Bishop special officers for the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and Identification of Oklahoma, who were here last week with Grady county officials in an effort to gain possession of Joe Inman, alleged Oklahoma terror who was arrested early this month in Reagan county by Sheriff Johnston, Deputy Ford and W. B. Jones of the Santa Fe, have just filed their report with the chief of their department in which the work of Johnston in retaining possession of Inman is commended and the incidents connected with the handling of the prisoner thoroughly explained.

Due to the fact that lengthy accounts of Johnston's activities connected with the arrest of Inman, an attempt to return him to Grady county and the Floydada incident which resulted in Johnston's returning the prisoner to Lubbock and later delivering him to the penitentiary official at McAlister, were published in this paper, readers have exhibited so much interest in the case that the report is given in full for their further information, as follows:

Report of Lee Pollock and Luther Bishop

For your information will state that on the 15th day of February, I received a wire from Sheriff Johnston of Lubbock, Texas, stating that he had Joe Inman in jail there.

I talked to Dave Hill of Chickasha, Oklahoma, over the phone and had an appointment to meet him at the Kingkade Hotel in Oklahoma City, at 5 o'clock p. m. Mr. Bishop and myself met Hill at the Kingkade Hotel and told him about having Inman in jail at Lubbock. Hill suggested that we go to Lubbock in his car and go by Chickasha and get De Arthur Wilson, Sheriff there, which we did. We left Chickasha and drove all night; had breakfast in Granite at the penitentiary, left ther and drove in to Lubbock that afternoon, arriving there about 4 o'clock.

We immediately went to the Sheriff's office, got Sheriff Johnston and talked to him a few minutes, and Sheriff Johnston, Mr. Hill went to the jail and interviewed Joe Inman. When they returned Hill told me that Inman agreed to go with us without requisition, but did not want Sheriff Wilson to return with him, or to have anything to do with him. Finally he got mad and told Hill that he would not return at all and stated that before he would return to the penitentiary at McAlister that he would turn himself in to the officers there on a murder case that had been committed in Texas, and would not have to come to Oklahoma at all. The Sheriff then told Mr. Bishop and myself that Inman was willing to return to Oklahoma and would have returned if it had not been for Hill and him (Inman) getting into an argument and fuss.

So we went to the hotel and stayed all night, and the next morning the Sheriff called Mr. Bishop and told him that he had talked to Inman and Inman had agreed to come back to Oklahoma again with Bishop and I, but would not return to the penitentiary with the Sheriff Wilson at Chickasha, Oklahoma, and Dave Hill.

The Sheriff later called Mr. Hill and asked him to come to the Sheriff's office and talk to Joe Inman again. Which Mr. Hill did, and Inman agreed to come back to the penitentiary again with myself and Hill. Then Hill and him got into another argument and cussed one another, so the Sheriff told me; and Inman swore that he would not come back to Oklahoma with the necessary requisition papers, and that he would not go to Chickasha to the jail there, and said also that he would not return with requisition or without requisition papers, and that he would turn himself in there and take chances of being hung, or of getting a life sentence, before he would come back to Oklahoma and go to the jail at Chickasha, and be beat up and probably killed there, to make statements that he did not want to make and would not make, and he would cut his own throat in the cell of the jail at Lubbock, Texas, before he would return to Grady county.

We then went back to the hotel and stayed all night again and the Sheriff called Mr. Bishop and asked him to come over by himself and talk to Inman, which Mr. Bishop did, and Mr. Bishop then called me in and I went over with Mr. Bishop and we both talked to Joe Inman. Inman told us that he did not think he would return to Oklahoma at all. He (Inman) later told Sheriff Johnston that he would come back to Oklahoma with the Chief of Police of Lubbock, Bishop and myself and the Sheriff, if Hill and Sheriff Wilson would get out of town, and have nothing to do with it at all. Mr. Bishop told the Sheriff that Wilson was going to Austin after requisition papers and he and Hill would not know when we were leaving, and would not interfere or have anything to do with Inman at all.

The Sheriff also made an agreement with Inman to that effect, and told him that we would return him to the penitentiary at McAlister. Sheriff Johnston got his own car, got the Chief of Police and two high-powered guns, and someone had come over from the hotel and told the Sheriff that they heard a conversation at the hotel, and that Hill and Sheriff Wilson was going to try to take Inman away from them on the road. The Sheriff at that time asked Bishop if Wilson had gone to Austin after those papers. Bishop told the Sheriff that he understood that was the case, and that there was an agreement that Wilson was to leave and to go to Austin on the 12 o'clock train that night, and he thought he had, as he had not seen him.

We then left Lubbock with Inman in the car, on our way to Oklahoma City, or the state penitentiary, and drove sixty-five miles East of Lubbock on the road to Oklahoma City to Floydada, arriving there about 2 p. m. We stopped and ate dinner in a cafe, and had just sat down and turned in our orders when Mr. Hill and Sheriff Wilson walked into the restaurant. Sheriff Johnston turned to Bishop at that time, very mad, and said to Bishop, "I thought you told me that Wilson had gone to Austin after those papers." And said, "if anything starts I am going to give Inman his gun and I am going to stay with him, I am not going saidto have him murdered." He then said, "I don't like to be done this way, I am not going any further, I am going to take Inman back to Lubbock, and I think I will turn him loose and give him his guns. It looks to me like I am being double crossed, and run in a hole." "They may go ahead over the road, and get in a ditch and kill us all."

Bishop and I then talked to the Sheriff a few minutes, tried to get him to go to Amarillo with him. He said, "No, I am going back," so he and the Chief of Police and Inman turned back to Lubbock; Bishop and I caught a buss there at Floydada, and we then drove to Plainview, Texas, and I wired you that we had lost Inman. Bishop and I then went to Amarillo, Texas, caught the Rock Island train, arriving here at 12:25 p. m., on Feb. 20.

I feel that the Sheriff at Lubbock was fair and conscientious, and really believed that it was a "frame-up" on him, and Bishop and I being strangers to him I am sure that he did not know where he was standing. He was very fair in his dealings with us.

Dated this 20th day of February, 1926.

CAN DRIVE AUTOS ON OUT-OF-STATE LICENSES

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 27.—Since the work of the recent codifying commission there is no law in Texas at the present time that in any way relates to the operation of motor vehicles upon the public highways by non-resident owners nor is there anyprovision authorizing the registration of such cars in this state, Assistant General C. L. Stone has advised county attorney J. L. Wohlford, at Canyon in answer to an inquiry.

It is the opinion, however, of the attorney general's department that a non-resident who operates his motor vehicle upon the highways of Texas for a limited time only should be permitted to do so if he has complied with the laws of another state for the registration of such motor vehicle and that if such person had paid the money required by the other state for the registration of the motor vehicle, it would be sufficient to permit him to operate his motor vehicle upon the public highways of this state; that is, if there was no question as to his having paid the required registration fee in the other state.

CONCILIATION WILL BE POLICY WITH MEXICO

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.--Charles Beecher Warren, of Detroit, political adviser to President Coolidge and former American ambassador to Mexico, returned to the state department to help determine the next step in engotiations with Mexico over the alleged confiscatory alien land and oil laws.

Warren decided to continue the conciliatory attitude aimed at securin gfrom President Calles regulatory decrees removing objectionable features of the laws, involving American property valued at $1,300,000,000. After studying the Mexican note, Warren and Secretary Kellogg had not decided whether to reply by note or through personal representations by Ambassador Sheffield in Mexico City. Both American and Mexican officials here are hopeful that a satisfactory compromise agreement will be arranged.

Warren and the state department are as firmly convinced as ever that the laws are retroactive and virtually confiscatory, in violation of article 14, of the 1917 Mexican constitution and Mexican supreme court decisions and also of the Payne-Warren agreement under which this government recognized Mexico.

But the latest Mexican note denies that the law is in actual operation, retroactice or confiscatory, it is understood.

The anticipated Calles executive decrees making the laws effective are therefore considered by both parties to the dispute as the conclusive practical test.

Officials re-emphasized today that the United States is not and can not under international law interfere with Mexican laws and regulations concerning religious schools, and expulsion of alien priests, which is a domestic matter.

Ambassador Sheffield's activities in behalf of American priests and nuns who are alleged victims of Mexican religious laws, are limited to unofficial representations to secure a reasonable time awrning in closing and deportation cases. These cases are not being injected into the formal negotiations proceeding between the two governments, it was said authoritatively today.

The present exchange of notes concerns only the alien land and petroleum laws, passed last December and their effect on American property in Mexico acquired before the 1917 constitution, if these properties include oil, mining, church land, agricultural holdings.

The law in question are enabling acts for article 27, of the constitution which provides that only Mexicans can acquire ownership or concession, in land, water and mineral rights, except special rights granted to foreigners who renounce all alien privileges including protection of their own government.

cause it holds the backing of the administration and of labor. The gooding bill long and short haul, may pass the senate in two or three weeks, but its fate in the house is doubtful. The railroad consolidation bill of Senator Cummings, republican, Iowa, will be reported in the senate within a few days and will lead to some extended discussion.

Nominations:

The nominations of Wallace McCammant, as judge of the circuit court of appeals, Oregon, is expected to be voted upon by the senate judiciary committee unfavorably but its consideration on the floor is not expected to require much time. The final outcome is in doubt.

The nomination of Thos. Woodlock, New York, to be a member of the I. C. C., is now pending before the senate, but inasmuch as it faces possible defeat no effort will be made to press it for a few weeks.

Farm relief:

A half dozen bills are pending but no progress is being made upon any of them, as the general concensus of opinion is that only a co-operative marketing measure which has the support of the administration will pass.

Election contest:

The senate privileges and elections sub-committee considering the contest brought by Daniel Steck, democrat against Senator Brookhart, republican, Iowa, is expected to vote next week, probably unfavorably, to Brookhart, and the contest will be taken up on the floor within 10 days.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27—Motorists will get the entire benefit of the $71,400,000 automobile and tires and accessories tax reduction of the new revenue bill, Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile Association, has been assured by manufacturers.

Purchasers of new automobiles will save the entire $46,000,000 involved in the reduction from five to three per cent on automobiles Henry announced tonight.

Elimination of the tire and accessories tax will save motorists $25,000,000, he said.

"Manufacturers have notified the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce in writing taht every cent of the tax reduction will be deducted from the F. O. B. price of vehicles."

The parts and accessory manufacturers also have promised to discount prices to the extent of the war tax repeal, Henry said.

The rubber people, however, have refused to commit themselves definitely on any price rduction because of the uncertainty of the rubber market, but intimated that the tax reduction would be discounted in full.

Texas Favored In Grain Rate Ruling

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The interstate commerce commission today suspended until June 29 reductions in the rates of grain from Western states to points in Louisiana which were found to discriminate against routes crossing Texas. The proposed rates would be lower by way of Arkansas than by way of Texas, it was found. By routing through Texas, the rate proposed would be the same as at present.

FERGUSON

my prayer for the vindication of my family name, which my good husband and I am seeking, not for revenge, but for the good of our children an dtheir children who shall come after us. I am not in this race through any great desire to hold office and I shall not become again a candidate if our prayers for vindication are answered. But for two years I want to give the people a devoted service. Mother won't you help me.'

This was are only statement made by me on the matter of re-election.

"I take it that everybody understood that when I spoke of vindication, I was referring to it indication against the judgment of impeachment that had been rendered against my husband.

"While it is true that the people elected me in the belief that the stigma of impeachment would be removed from my family name, yet I am sorry to say that it has not been done. I had hoped and prayed that the black page of impeachment yet on the pages of the public records at Austin, would in response to the verdict of the people be stricken and blotted from the records, so that I might have been further relieved from the cares and burdens of public life and public office.

"It is true that the legislature passed the amnesty bill, which had for its purpose to relieve those who were laboring under the stigma of impeachment. But this bill does not mention anybody's name, and when in response to said bill, the senate of Texas, which had rendered the verdict of impeachment against my husband, was asked by proper resolution to expunge the judgement of impeachment, refused to grant the relief and voted down the resolution. If nothing further is done thirty years from today the finger of scorn may be pointed at my children and it can be said that the Ferguson name is branded with impeachment, and that the public records show. Mother, sister, father, brother who love your family as I love mine, this is the main reason why I am again a candidate on this issue, and as long as God shall give me strength to work and faith to pray I am going to continue to ask the people of my native state to help me remove the cloud that has hung over me and mine all to to long.

"There are those impelled by their own personal ambitions who want to deny me the right to again appeal to the people and say that I have received vindication, and in the next breath they say that the amnesty bill is unconstitution. It therefore does not lie in their mouths to say that I have received vindication and should not for that reason run again.

"For this reason I am again taking my case to the people and am asking that I, though a woman, be given the same second term that has been given to men in Texas for more than 50 years. Let those who oppose me be frank enough with the people to say why I should not be given the same consideration as has been given to men. I shall meet any charge and if I have proved myself unworthy I must bear the consequences. If it is not proven that I have been unfaithful and unworthy then in fairness and in the name of my sex, I shall insist on the same second term in office that has long been given to men.

"I have tried to administer the duties of office to the best of my knowledge and ability. At no distant date I shall take the people into my confidence and render a full account of my stewardship. Upon my record I shall ask the people for a continuation of their support and confidence. In invite careful comparison of my administration with that of any other governors.

"I am fully aware that I have made some mistakes. But I don't think they have been any more than other governors have made serving their first term. My experience will enable me to avoid the same mistakes in the future. I have asked the advice of able men in Texas affairs. I shall continue to do so.

"I am fully aware of the criticism that has been raised and will continue to be raised because I am advised many times by my good husband. Many of these would be statesmen seeom to be greatly disappointed because my election did not break up the Ferguson household. They seem to think that my husband should have gotten mad and left home just as soon as I was elected. And if he had left home they would have had him arrested for wife desertion and said he was the meanest man that eevr lived.

"If a woman governor can't consult her husband then a man governor ought not to be allowed to consult his wife. And if this crowd is sincere about me consulting my husband then when they elect their next man governor (which won't be this year) they must demand that he divorce his wife, for fear that seh might give him some good advice about how to run the office. If they are correct then, the wives of all the governors of Texas have been enemies of th state.

"My experience with the governor's office has learned me that filling the office is a little too big for one man or one woman. It takes the ma and pa both to get over the rough places. If a man governor does not have a good sensible wife and if a woman governor does not have a good sensible husband, then there comes many times when things will look mighty blue and lonesome and the people will not get what they are entitled to.

"So in order that nobody may be deceived or mislead I want it distinctly understood that Jim and I will continue to pull together in the same old way.

"MIRIAM A. FERGUSON."

YOUTHS CONFESS TO BRUTAL MURDER SO. DAKOTA

CARSON, N. D., Feb. 27.—Goaded into a murderous frenzy by visions of an easily gotten $3,000, two youths brutally murdered Fred Stoller, robbed the body and then attempted to hide their crime by fire, they admitted to police today.

Prospects Good For Ball Team At Dalhart

Aciording to local baseball fans, prospects are extremely bright for a winning team this year. A good, big nucleus of last year's team is expected, including Carson, the favorite pitcher of last year. It is said, also there there is a probability of Carson's brother, another real pitcher, joining the Dalhart aggregation.

Vic Stewart seems to be the unanimous choice for manager. His generalship last year is praised very highly, and, if he will accept the important position again, the chances are that players and rooters will rally about him to a man.—Dalhart Texan.

COUNTY AGENT GRANTED FOR GAINES COUNTY

Members of the commissioners court of Gaines county were notified the first of the week that a county agent would be granted to this county. Application was made for an agent by our commissioners several months past, but owing to the large demand, many counties asking ahead of this one, it was necessary that we wait our turn.

The only information we have is that he is expected to arrive the latter part of this week.

There has been quite a demand for a County Agent in this county, more especially from the Loop and Seagraves communities, and the farmers are the ones that profit most, but in order to get the most good from this investment all must co-operate.

Two More Famous Athletes Entries In K. C. Games in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—Four of the world's greatest athletes, instead of two, are to compete for the international all-around track and field championship at the Knights of Columbus games on March 15th.

Emerson Norton, and Anthony Plansky, both of Georgetown University, have been added to the competition which originally was arranged for Charley Hoff of Norway and Harold Osborne of the Illinois Athletic Club.

Hoff, whose challenge to Osborne led to the proposed test of individual all-around skill, not only welcomed the entries of Norton and Plansky, but told the United States:

"The man among us who beats Emerson Norton will win."

When announcement first was made that Osborne had accepted Hoff's challenge, hundreds of letters and telegrams poured in upon the Knights of Columbus headquarters, urging that other all-around stars be included if the test was to be for the unofficial championship of the world. Norton and Plansky were mentioned most frequently and both accepted the opportunity to test their skill against Osborne and Hoff.

NEW DEVELOPMENT OF ANTI-AIRCRAFT CANNON

By WILLIAM J. McEVOY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—By continuing development and experiment, Maj. Gen. C. C. Williams, chief of ordinance, believes anti-aircraft guns can be made effective against all aircraft except the smal lpursuit planes.

Tests conducted at Fort Tilden last summer were very encouraging, Williams reported to Congress.

"We believe," Williams said, "that within its limitations, anti-aircraft fire can be made effective. We do not claim that when it comes to pursuit planes—that is, the little one-man planes with tremendous speed of from 180 to 200 miles an hour—that that is the proper target for an anti-craft gun or a ground gun.

"The plane that is dangerous to material on the ground is the bombing plane, and the greater the weight which the bombing plane has to carry, the greater its size has to be and the less its maneuverability will be, and the easier it will be to hit as a target. It is a bombing plane which carries the element that is destructive to material on the ground, and it is the bombing plane that we believe can be, to a certain extent, counteracted by the anti-aircraft gun."

The Ordnance Department is now building new 3-inch guns which will reach approximately 34,000 feet in the air and 4-inch guns that Williams says will go far beyond that altitude.

"The new 4-inch gun," Williams said, "gets way up in the air, really beyond the point of observation. Our guns will reach up in the air as far as any effective bombing plane."

High altitudes, according to Williams, are advantageous to anti-aircraft batteries and just the opposite for the airmen.

"The higher an airman goes," he said "the more difficult it is for him to hit his target. It is more difficult for the man on the ground to score a hit when the plane is at lower heights.

England Wide Open to Attack by Air, Says Minister of Aviation In Warning To Parliament, Outlining New Plans

LONDON, Feb. 27—Twenty-five of the fifty air squadrons for home defense of Great Britain have been formed and more may be added before the end of the year, Sir Samuel Horne, air minister, told the house of commons Thursday, in a speech emphasizing the present vulnerability of the country against the air attack.

Expenditures authorized by the government for aviation, Sir Samuel said, had been planned for a long period. He assured commons that the air ministry was prepared to rush the program to completion on short notice if a delicate international situation warranted it.

In submitting estimates in the ministry's air program, the air minister expressed the opinion that before the normal end of the present parliament airships would bring Bombay nearer to London than Edinburg was a century ago. Two airships for this route, were contemplated, he said.

An airplane route to India should be begun before the end of the year, according to Sir Samuel who said that the extension of aviation in Great Britain was demanded first for the home defense, secondly, for imperial defense, thirdly, for army and navy requirements and finally to aid in the development of civil aviation.

Four airplanes would start a flight from Cairo to Capetown next Monday, he announced. The planes will follow Cobham's route. A flight to Egypt is expected to follow.

Premier Baldwin announced that the government will not re-open the question of air arm of the service separate from the air ministry. Instead, he said, imperial defense would be sufficiently organized on the existing basis of three services equal in authority.

WILL EXTRADITE TWO ARKANSAS MEN

By United Press

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 27.—Extradition warrants issued today by Governor M. A. Ferguson on requisitions made by Governor Tom J. Terral of Arkansas, for return to the state prison of Arkansas of A. J. Gurley, former sheriff of Miller county, Arkansas, and W. H. Hall, former chairman of the Arkansas state board of control, were in possession of Tom W. Caldwell, personal representative of Governor Terral, when he left tonight for Little Rock, Ark.

Gurley and Hall, the former convicted of embezzlement of public funds, and the latter of grand larceny, have been out of the prison since last October under pardons granted by acting Governor S. B. McCall during the absence from the state of Governor Terral and which were revoked by the governor upon his return to the state.

Decision by the Arkansas supreme court that the pardons were not valid because the Arkansas statute requiring applications for pardons to be published 30 days in advance of issuance of the pardons had not been complied with, was followed by Governor Ferguson, who, after an extended hearing Saturday decided to honor the Arkansas executive requisitions for the return to the Arkansas authorities of Gurley and Hall. Gurley has been making his residence in Texarkana, Texas, just across the state line from his former home at Texarkana, Arkansas. Hall is reported to be in El Paso, Texas.

In the extradition warrant to be served on Gurley, Mrs. Elisha Barber, of Miller county, Arkansas, is named as agent, while Deputy Sheriff W. M. Henson, of Little Rock, is to serve the papers on Hall.

The fight to prevent the return of Gurley and Hall has not ended, their counsel said here Saturday. Habeas corpus proceedings probably will be instituted as soon as the exradition warrants are served.

Dr. Jeans, president of the Royal Astronomical Society, states that recent discoveries indicate that the earth is situnted not far from the center of the universe.

EJECTED PRIEST IN TALE OF TERROR IN MEXICO

By United Press

DEL RIO, Texas, Feb. 27.—Juan Militello, Villa Acuna, Mexico, priest, ejected from Mexico in connection in regarding regulations concerning religious schools, arrived here today with the story his life had been threatened by Mexican officers and that his property had been confiscated.

He came here by way of Eagle Pass, he said, as a safety measure and so that he could be near his pupils in Villa Acuna, which is just across the Rio Grande from here.

"Flee to America, trouble for you here" read a warning the priest received signed "friend."

"Since leaving I learn that police ransacked my house and confiscated my property," he told authorities here.

Militello, who is an Italian said all religions were being banned in Mexico, "especially Catholic." He asserted that it was his belief that the Mexican-religious school law would be in effect a long time.

Women's Department Club at Childress is Busily Preparing to Entertain T. F. W. C. of Seventh District April 19, 20, and 21

The Woman's Department Club, of Childress, will be hostess to the clubs of the Seventh District T. F. W. C. on April 19, 20, 21, at Childress. In preparation for this event the club women have been busy in various ways.

Mrs. Q. S. Barrett, president of the Department Club writes that everything is progressing nicely, and everybody interested. She will complete the appointment of all committees this week.

"42" Tournament

The "42" tournament was held last Friday afternoon and evening. Everyone seemed to enjoy themselves and 16 tables of enthusiastic players were present in the afternoon. Mrs. D. B. Gentry won high score and was presented with a membership in the Department Club. Refreshments of cake, tea, olives and candy were served. Mrs. Chas. Barnes, Ernestine Barkley and Frances Ann Scott furnished enjoyable music. In the evening, the high score was won by Dick Price for the men. He received a reading membership and Mrs. Kileen Atkinson won high for the ladies. The club wishes to thank all who helped cake the tournament a sucess; the Elks for the use of their lovely rooms, the press for their publicity and the ladies who helped with the arrangements. The candy booth realized a neat sum from candy sales.

Department Club Accomplishments

The Childress Department Club is the only federated club in the city, having a paid membership of over 150 and some 30 or 40 honorary members. This courtesy being extended to all teachers and ministers' wives. The club is run along department lines, each department having its officers and extra dues. There are at present six departments. The Book Club, 26 members; The Music Club, 45 members; Garden Club, 20 members; Little Theatre, 25 members; Physical Culture, 6 members; Civic, 50 members. Some members belong to one or more of the departments.

The regular business meetings of the club are luncheon meetings at one o'clock on the second Wednesday of each month. A program is given during the luncheon and the business meeting later.

The various departments have their meetings twice a month, meeting in the homes and some of them serving refreshments.

The Little Theatre meets at the club house. The Book Club has a study course on current literature and makes the library its special work. They have had a book shower this year and keep the library open one day a week. Each year they give the books they study to the library, these are worth $50 or more.

The Music Club conducts a study course in musical appreciation and has charge of the music memory work in the public schools. This year they gave a beautiful valentine tea and musical for the members of the Department Club.

The Garden Club is the youngest club, being only two months old. Their work is to study flowers and vegetables and sponsor a garden contest this summer.

The Little Theatre was started by the Book Club, the object is to study and present plays and develop talent in this line.

The Physical Culture Club meets for exercise and promotion of health.

The Civic Department undertakes the civic work, conducts clean-up campaigns, works with the county fair, and this year raised the money by subscription to pay for one of the curtains at the city auditorium. They are planning to get a "Girls' Work Director" for the town similar to the one that has been here for two years working with the boys.

The president of the Department Club is Mrs. L. S. Barrett, who founded the club in 1902 and has been an active member ever since. The Department Club is a pioneer club, having federated in 1903.

They own a small club house and some valuable lots. The city is paving in front of the club property which will cost the Department Club $2000.

Elements Involved in Public Speaking

(Flora Powell McGee.)

The four elements involved in the process of public speaking are: (1) one needs to have a knowledge of his subject; (2) he must have the ability to weigh, to consider, and judge. In other words, some kind of a conclusion must be reached; (3) he must have the ability to reach an audience; and (4) he must have command of the English language.

If one does not have a knowledge of his subject, how can he talk? For this reason it is well for a speaker to talk on a topic of general interest, on a topic about which he knows something, on a topic about which he can get some information, and one in which he believes. One must have more information than he can give in allotted time. Not only must a speaker be "satiurated" with his subject but he must—to be effective—be able to pack into a well organized speech all the xital things, and force the unimportant into the background. The speaker should choose an interesting subject for a speech; he should read everything available on the subject; he should arrange the material systematically and logically; and then give the message in as pleasing and forceful manner as possible.

A speaker should have the ability to weigh and to consider. This means both in preparation and in delivery of the speech. If no results or decision are reached in a speech, then the speaker has been talking at random.

A speaker must have the ability to reach an audience. By voice inflection, pitch, and quality of voice, messages are "carried" or not "carried across." A speaker must believe make himself understood; and he in the thing he is saying; he must must convince, if not conviet, the hearers.

How can a man be anything but a failure as a speaker if he does not have command of the English language? Not only must he know words, but he must be able to choose quickly the exact expression he wants at that instant. The audiences will seldom tolerate slow thinking, abrupt expressions, and prolonged pauses. Neither will people endure a speaker who is wholly lacking in attractiveness and in personal power.

P. T. A. ORGANIZATIONS ACTIVE IN THE FEDERATION

It is interesting to note the large number of Parent-Teacher Organizations taking part in the federation. In the Dalhart P. T. A. the Tri-State meet, the big school event of the year, has just been held. 270 contestants taking part. The three branches of the association furnished homes and breakfasts to those taking part and to the visitors, and Boy Scouts assisted by directing and conducting the visitors about the city.

The P. T. A. at Lockney is to help in the Floyd County Fair, March 26-27. The association will build a tennis court costing $38 and buy records for the music memory contests in the schools at a cost of $32. Three loving cups are offered in basket ball in rural schools, class A schools and class B schools. In order to finance these things the P. T. A. will serve lunch the first day of the fair. The children of the schools recently gave an excellent Lincoln's birthday program to which the mothers were invited.

The Crosbyton Parent-Teachers' Association has placed three framed pictures in the public schools, "October," "Oxen Ploughing," and "The Boy and the Rabbit." A Texas flag will be given the room in the school completing the Health Castle first. The giving of a Texas flag should be commended, as many little Texans do not even know one when they see it. The Camp Fire Girls in Crosbyton are sponsored by the P. T. A. and are doing excellent work. They are planning to build a permanent camp, and a silver tea was given February 22 at the home of Mrs. Clayton Carter for the benefit of this fund. The girls are interested in honors and are taking tests to become "Wood Gatherers."

Mrs. Robertson To Be Presented In Program

Of course all the club women of the state are interested in Mrs. Lexie Dean Robertson, of Rising Star, who won the prize in the Texas Federation for the best poem in 1925. The Dallas branch of the League of American Penwomen will present Mrs. Robertson in a program of original poems Monday afternoon, March 1, in the Palm Garden of the Hotel Adolphus. Mrs. Robertson delighted the club women with three of her poems at the state meeting in Austin in November.

Notice to Clubs, Old and New

Mrs. Price requests that every club which has not mailed the names of the president and corresponding secretary for the year 1926-27 do so at once. This is imperative, as the material for the new year book must be sent in at once to the state officials. The roster for the Seventh District should be complete.

New clubs which send in their applications for membership in the federation now will not have to pay dues until October, 1927. Mrs. J. C. Nagle, state chairman of membership urged all new clubs to make application at once as the new ruling concerning memberships will take effect in October of this year.

MRS. PERCY SPENCER,
Ch'm Press and Publicity
Seventh District T. F. W. C.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lindsey and children, of Rule, Texas, who have been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Peters at 1712 16th St., during the past few days, will return to their home today.

MISS ALICE JOHNSON
Charming Bride-Elect

Engagement of Miss Mary Alice Johnson and Frank Jones Announced At Brilliant Reception in Meador Home

The engagement of Miss Mary Alice Johnson, one of Lubbock's most popular and beautiful girls, to Mr. Frank Jones was announced Saturday afternoon at an elaborate reception at the home of Mrs. W. H. Meador with Mrs. Meador, Mrs. Neil Wright, and Miss Mary Meador as hostesses.

Mrs. Meador's home was charmingly decorated with sweet peas and fern, a color motif of orchid and white being used. Palms were used in the living room and at each side of the buffet in the dining room which was the decorative note of central interest.

A broad streamer on the buffet, draped across a bank of orchid sweet peas and white tuberroses and fern, made the announcement of the approaching marriage which will take place March 23. At one end of the ribbon was a snow white dove seemingly just alighted with the joyous message carried in its beak.

The dining table held a centerpiece of orchid sweet peas and was covered with beautiful filet lace over orchid satin. Grape ice and dainty tricorne sandwiches were served from shing cut glass.

The beautifully dressed girls and the women handsomely gowned added to the charmingly decorated receiving rooms made this one of the most brilliant affairs of the month of February, which has been crowded with elaborate social events.

Beside the three hostesses and the honoree and her mother, Mrs. J. S. Johnson, the receiving line and house party was composed of the following: Mesdames Hub Jones, W. S. Posey, H. T. Kimbro, H. A. Davidson, Roscoe Wilson, Floyd Beail, Sam Denman, Jed Rix, Carey Price, F. R. Friend, W. O. Stevens, T. B. Duggan, J. T. Krueger, Claude Hurlbut, Joe Flaig, W. B. Powell, S. C. Arnett, Jack M. Lewis, D. D. Roderick, Louis Hunter, Carl Roberds Jr., Lee Duggan; Misses Lula Mae Cravens, Laura Street, Mildred Street, Evelyn Posey, Kathryn Atkins, Margaret Street and Edith Carter.

About one hundred and fifty friends called during the afternoon this being the first of a series of charming parties to be given for Mary Alice.

Miss Johnson has during the last few years been voted the most popular girl in the Lubbock High School and was crowned Queen of the May in 1925.

Sickness in many of the homes kept part of the members away. The attractive home was made more attractive with vases of carnations and pot plants.

Mrs. Barclay and Miss Grayum delighted us with vocal and instrumental numbers. Mrs. Barclay, assisted by Miss Grayum, served a plate lunch consisting of delicous chicken sandwiches, olives, gherkins, potato chips, hot tea, and date delight with whipped cream to Mesdames: J. N. Department Heads Strut Their Stuff At Regular Monthly Meeting of Faculty Club at College Cafeteria Friday Night

The Faculty Club of the Texas Technological College held its regular monthly meeting on Friday evening at the college cafeteria. Miss Weeks, the president of the club, presided over a short business session, at which certain amendments to the constitution were adopted and other business disposed of. A vote of thanks to the Lubbock Country Club was given for the hospitality of the Country Club on account of the fact that the previous meeting of the Faculty Club had been held at the Country Club as the guests of the body.

Dr. Granbery, who was in charge of the program of the evening, had arranged a series of talks and demonstrations by various members of the faculty, representing certain departments of the college. These demonstrations were both interesting and instructive and Dr. Granbery has the thanks of the club for arranging a program of this nature.

In connection with the recent celebration of Washington's birthday, the History department of the college presented a playlet in costume, showing a meeting between Mr. Ford as Washington; Miss Boone as Mrs. Washington; Mr. Eaves as Lafayette; Mr. Curry as a negro servant, gave a very pleasing picture of colonial life. The hostesses of the evening, all dressed in colonial costumes, were in the background as this playlet was presented and added greatly to the realism of the scene.

The Physics department followed with certain scientific demonstrations. Mr. George showed that he was both a musician and a scientist by displaying his skill in drawing several old time favorite tunes from the series of glass tubes which he had prepared. His demonstrations were made by use of a folded paper striking the hollow tubes somewhat after the fashion of a xylophone player, and in other cases by means of compressed air as it was released to pass over a series of tubes. Everyone now feels that he understands something of the nature of a calliope.

Mr. Mast demonstrated the peculiar phenomenon of making cold water boil, and showed how eggs might even be "boiled" in cold water. The experiment was performed by means of a tube of water which had been previously heated and sealed. Then it was reheated and cooled. The condensation of the steam was responsible for the peculiar "boiling" of the cold water.

Mr. Hill then gave a demonstration of an instrument which makes visible on a scren the human voice. Several persons sang into the instrument, and the group had the pleasure of seeing the effect of the various tone as they were represented in the shifting bands of light.

Mr. Studhalter represented the Biology department with a short talk on the devices which his department make use of in order to make clear to the students the third dimension of a specimen observed under the microscope. He passed around some models of such specimens as they had been observed and modeled by students.

Mr. Patton gave a talk on the logs of various wells of the State of Texas, with especial reference to the salt beds. His lecture was made more graphic by means of charts and diagrams which he had prepared in the course of his geological work throughout the state. These charts showed the logs of the wells, the distribution of the wells, and their depths.

The club was very glad to have among its guests for the evening, Mr. J. J. Taylor, State Press of the Dallas News, a man well known to all Texans. Mr. Taylor was introduced by Dr. Horn and then made a sort talk on the college, its work, and its future.

The hostesses of the evening were Mrs. Michie, Miss West, Mrs. Murdough, Miss Stafford, Mrs. Mahoney, Mrs. Doak, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Camp, Miss Whatley. They had prepared delicious refreshments consisting of ice cream, kisses and coffee.

Mrs. J. B. Slaughter, Jr. Honoree at Party Thursday

Again the women of Lubbock endjoyed a delightful social affair with their Post friends when about a dozen of them motored to the U Lazy S ranch Thursday afternoon to attend a reception given by Mrs. John B. Slaughter, honoring her daughter, Mrs. John B. Slaughter, Jr., who was until her marriage a short time ago Miss Skeeter Cowan, of Lubbock.

Mrs. Slaughter's lovely ranch home was brilliantly lighted and colorful with a profusion of sweet peas, carnations and snapdragons. Candle sticks with pink tapers added cheer to the decorations. Music was furnished throughout the receiving hours by an excellent orchestra. The handsome and charming gifts received by Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter, Jr., were displayed in the upper hall and admired by the guests of the afternoon.

The Post friends of the house party who assisted Mrs. Slaughter were Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. R. V. Stoker, Mrs. Jordan, Mrs. Jim Powers, Mrs. Clyde Connell, Mrs. Douglass Morrel, Mrs. Cap Roy, Mrs. Giles Connell, and Mrs. John Reed. About seventy-five guests called during the afternoon.

Those who attended the party from Lubbock were Mrs. A. B. Conley, Mrs. W. A. Myrick, Jr., Mrs. O. L. Slaton, Mrs. H. L. Johnson, Mrs. Murray Jones, Mrs. Dick Jarrett, Mrs. C. A. Pierce, Mrs. Tom Stone, Mrs. E. C. Simmons, Miss Della Wilkinson and Miss Ruth Slaton.

The Merry Twenty-four Club Charmingly Entertained

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Carter delightfully entertained the Merry Twenty-four Bridge Club at their home Friday evening. Pink and white carnations with fern and pot plants were effectively used in decoration.

At the close of a number of enjoyable games prizes were awarded Mrs. W. T. Raybon receiving a dainty fern bowl, and Mr. Clayton Gamel a box of mints.

At the business meeting which followed the games it was agreed to call the club the "Merry-four Bridge Club."

Dainty refreshments of chicken salad sandwiches, potato chips, olives, pineapple salad, and coffee with whipped cream with Manhattan candies as plate favors were served to the following guests and members: Mrs. Rayta Lee Collum, Mrs. T. G. Waldrup, Miss Frances Conley, Miss Louise Jennings, Mr. and Mrs. John Porte, Mr. and Mrs. Childress, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Broughten, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Terry, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Raybon, Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Russel, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Gammil, Messrs. Sylvan Sanders, Vaughan Wilson, and Terry.

"Las Chaperitas" Club Entertained At Bridge Party

One of the prettiest parties of the spring season was given by Misses Willette Waters and Anna Chipley at the home of Miss Chipley of Broadway Friday afternoon, when they entertained the members of the "Las Chaperitas." The score of bridge was kept of pretty blue tallies suggesting spring. High score was won by Pauline Tripett which was a basket filled with flowers and a pretty pair of garters was the consolation for Mattie Mae Renfro. The spring scheme was very effectively carried out in the refreshments of Bavarian cream, angel food cake and a red and green candy flower.

A short business meeting was held when Rex Keys, business manager of the La Ventana, proposed to the girls that the La Ventana campaign be sponsired by this club until March 10, when the sale of annuals will be over. Each girl will be given a receipt book this week and a reward of $5.00 will be awarded to the girl selling the most annuals. The Las Chapertias will have lunch at the caferita Friday. The next meeting will be with Misses Verna and Sylvia Wilson, March 13.

Leading Artists Will Be Presented at Music Festival

Four of the best artists of America have been secured to appear here March 24, 25, 26 and 27 during the third annual South Plains Music Festival. They are Edwin Hughes, pianist; aJmes Stanley, basso baritone; Madame Dorothy Wellin, darmatic soprano, and Max Pollikoff, violinist.

Edwin Hughes, pianist of international reputation, has established a firm place for himself in American musical life as well as being one of the few American artists who have been able to establish themselves in European musical life. His name has been considered of sufficient importance on the other side of the Atlantic to be included in Tiemann's Musical Lexicon and other encyclopedias of music.

Madame Dorothy Wellen is one of the foremost singers of today and posseses a voice of pure lyric qualities of which she has complete control. She was born in New York City, where she received her early training. Further study took her abroad where she remained three years studying under the guidance of the foremost masters.

While abroad Madame Wellen made several successful concert tours in the principal cities of Europe. Her repertoire includes a long list of songs by the master composers of foreign tongues and a very large number of choicest English and American compositions.

ames Stanley at nineteen appeared in concert with the great Nordica. Since that time he has sung with notable success at Madison Square Garden and various other occasions with Madame Galli Cucri, the Kneisel Quartet, the New York Symphony Orchestra and the Russian Sympohny Orchestra. He is possessed of great magnetism and has a record of never having failed to arouse the complete and unqualified enthusiasm of his audience.

Max Pollikoff is a young American violinist who was born in Newark, New Jersey. Through the help of the Student Fund of the MacDowell Club of New York City, he has been a pupil of Leopold Auer for four years, he has studied piano and ensemble with Carl Herrmann and harmony and composition with Prof. Cornelius Rybner.

Lubbock is sponsoring one of the best musical programs ever attempted by a city of its size in Texas, when they bring these artists, Miss Mary Dunn, president of the South Plains Music Teachers' Association stated recently.

Lubbock Music Talent Heard Over Radio Friday

Miss Lucy Smith, teacher of piano and expression in the Lubbock schools, with five of her pupils, Misses Gladys Lindsey, Mary Lois Gamel, Betty Hamilton, Frances McKee and Mary Frances Felty were heard over WDAG Amarillo, Friday night in a most beautiful and interesting programme. Numerous telegrams and telephone messages from over the State and city came during their programme with congratulations and requests for other numbers. These were responded to with beautiful numbers from Padereski and other master by Miss Smith and Miss Betty Hamilton.

The radio fans insisted on a return engagement of Miss Smith at her earliest convenience.

Mrs. James E. Hamilton, of 1701 Ave. Q. took the young ladies up to Amarillo, in her automobile, all report a most delightful time. Their many friends appreciate with them this unique honor and privilege of being the first Lubbock talent to broadcast.

The following appeared in yesterday's Amarillo Daily News.

EVENING GOWNS
By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for United Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 27—Reds and greens have at last stepped aside giving white first preference for evening wear. Of course one still sees many rose and light green shades at evening events but the majority of smart women choose white ornamented with crystals, pearls or rhinestones. Pastel rose and greens have become so popular for dressy afternoon occasions that they are not important for evening.

Palm Beach as well as New York is favoring the all white evening gown and there under the Summer setting white is enlivened by Spanish shawls and by red or green satin slippers matching the huge roses in the shawls. Next to white, Palm Beach is favoring silver cloth and luxurious brocades for evening. Fanny Ward of screen fame wears a gold cloth evening wrap bordered at the hem in large roses. Her turban is a draped affair of jade green and gold cloth. Many well known women who run 'figures' rather than girlish lines are wearing highly colored brocade gowns of semi-draped effect and with these gold or silver wraps

Younger girls and women at Palm Beach are wearing tulle dance frocks but so far we have sen very few of them in the New York shops due to the fact that tulle is too perishable. The crispness of tulle lends itself well to flaring hemlines which are popular with the younger set. Often the tulle frock has a long slender bodice with ruffled skirt. Again the skirts are full and cut in points or layers of uneven panels which stand out as does the ballet skirt. The corsage is the usual ornamentation. Necklines are youthfully rounded or V-shaped.

Taffeta frocks of simple type with uneven hemlines faced in gold or silver are chosen by some. Usually this type of frock is seen at afternoon occasions rather than formal evening affairs. The hem may be short in front and rear and dipping at the sides or it may be short in front and slope to a deep dip at the rear.

AT THE CHURCHES

First Christian Church

Corner 14th and Ave. N.

Important services will be held at this church today. We invite the public to attend any and all of them.

Sunday School begins at 9:45 with Mr. L. C. Ellis as superintendent. All are urged to be present and on time and receive the benefit of this splendid service.

At the morning service at 11:00 o'clock the pastor will preach, bringing a message on the subject, "The Potential Powers of the Church."

The evening service at 7:30 will be a most interesting service. It will be a layman's service strictly at which time Mr. H. D. Woods and Mr. R. D. Campbell will speak to the congregation. Mr. Woods has just returned from Dallas and Mr. Campbell from San Antonio where they attended the great conventions for the laymen of the church. In many ways these were record breaking conventions and these two splendid speakers will bring back to us some of the inspiration. You cannot afford to miss this service.

The deacons of the church have requested that the elders meet them in joint session at 4:00 this afternoon. This is a most important meeting, and every member of both bodies should be present.

"I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord."

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

A man was standing in a telephone booth trying to talk, but he could not make out the message. He kept saying: "I can't hear, I can't hear," the other man by-and-by said sharply: "If you'll shut the door you can hear." The door was not shut, and he could hear, not only the man's voice, but the street and shop noise too.

Now a great many Christian people are going lean and hungry along life's journey, because they do not shut the door more frequently that shuts them in with God, and shuts out the noise and worry in life's struggles. The Lord's day affords an opportunity for you to attend divine services, where you can shut out the noise and din of the street and open the windows of your soul toward God. All church doors of our city swing open to receive you.

Our Bible School begins at 9:45 a. m. There is a class for you if you are not already in Sunday School. At 11:00 a. m. the pastor will have for his sermon theme: A Whole-hearted Devotion to the Kingdom of God. The Junior and Intermediate Endeavor societies meet at 3:00 p. m. The Senior Endeavors at 6:30 p. m. At 7:30 p. m. the pastor will speak to the subject: The Chief of Sinners and His Conversion.

The choir under the direction of Mrs. Dana Harmon Trent will furnish special music at each service. We extend to the general public a personal invitation to all our services.

FINE ARTS CLUB HAS MEETING AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Presbyterian church was the meeting place of the Fine Arts Club on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 24, at 4 o'clock. A number of guests (of the oldest residents of Terry county) had been invited and the the storm raged, the comfort and beauty of the little church was felt and seen The drapery of red, white and blue was beautiful, while the library table was adorned with a lovely vase of carnations. Shades were drawn and the electric lights on, which added to the beauty of the room. Mrs. Savage read a master paper on the History and Romance of the Southern Ports, which was enjoyed because of the content, and the dignity in which it was given.

Mrs. Lloyd's ability was quite perceivable in her treatment of the "Thousand Mile Circle about Our National Parks."

Mrs. W. A. Bell talked on the "Traditions and Development of the Ancient Llano Estacado," coupling this with the first experiences in Terry county. This was complimentary to the loyal people who were pioneering here. Mrs. Bell's talks are always enthusiastic and beautifully made.

Misses Downibg and Brown sang two very sweet songs, one patriotic "The Good Old U. S. A. and Gavotte by Liucke.

Mrs. O. W. Fagala and Mrs. H. O. Longbrake delightfully sang—with sentiment, the old song—"My Old Kentucky Home." Miss Robbie Marion Hardin played a piano number, "Remembrance" with expression which was appreciated. A reminiscence meeting followed the regular program in this period: talks were had from Mrs. W. G. Hardin, Mrs. R. W. Rambo, Mrs. J. C. Green, Mother Daugherty, Mother Adams, Mrs. Powell and other guests, recalling the inconveniences, long drives, sparcely settled communities —some recollections bringing a tinge of sadness, yet withall a pleasure of having braved the obstacles of the pioneer, the loyalty of the frontier days were very sweet indeed and the kindly interest in each new family moving to Terry County. Some of these reminders brought humor and applause was heard following these incidents. Misses Brown, Downing and Hardin served delicious candies, prepared by Mrs. McKinney, Mrs. Dallas, Mrs. Sawyer and Mrs. McDuffie.

FIFTH GRADE CHILDREN TO HAVE PARTY FRIDAY

Mrs. J. J. McGowan, chairman of committee on entertainment at the grade school, will be assisted by Mrs. O. W. Fagala, Mrs. W. R. McDuffie and Mrs. W. H. Dallas in serving the fifth grade children at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. In the recent contest this room won the party for securing the largest number of members for the Parent-Teachers Association. The membership was increased by this contest, and the children will feel repaid for their efforts.

MRS. LEES AND CHILDREN TO VISIT HOME

Mrs. H. G. Lees of Big Spring with her two children, Herbert, Jr., and Mary Jean, are to be the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Dallas and family. Mrs. Lees will arrive Sunday and spend some time in Brownfield.

Song: "Onward Christian Soldiers."
Devotional led by Mrs. C. E. Ball.
"Aim of our Federation"—Mrs. Dallas.
Special music—Mrs. Longbrake, Mrs. W. W. Price.
"The way to accomplish this aim"—Round table discussion.
Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Walters, Mrs. H. H. Copeland, Mrs. Shelton.
Bible story—Mrs. W. H. Collins.

MRS. WEBBER AND MRS. LONGBRAKE HAVE LOVELY PARTY

On February twenty-second from the hours, 4 to 6 o'clock, the Methodist Missionary Society was charmingly entertained in the pretty home of Mrs. G. S. Webber, the president of the society. Mrs. Harry O. Longbrake was hostess with Mrs. Webber. This was indeed a happy event and the clever entertainment was not a great surprise—knowing the abilities of the president and vice-president; they were anticipating a wonderful party, and fully realized their vision.

The social meeting of this church with that of Washington, gave the hostesses ample material for the celebration. Various games were played, carrying out as nearly as possible the ideas of the day. Lovely refreshments of devil's food cake and cream were served. Dainty and tiny little red hatchets were used as favors. Guest list included the following ladies of the society: Mesdames. Cox, Thompson, Wooldridge, Smith, Thomas, Downing, Michie, Casey, and McDuffie.

DICTIONARIES PRESENTED TO HIGH SCHOOL FEB. 22ND

Superintendent O. W. Fagala of the high school, in behalf of the student body accepted a recent addition of material for the high school in the form of two Webster International Dictionaries of the English Language. The latest, authentic quarto edition of the Merriam Series —a gift of the Fine Arts Club. On the fly leaft of the books are these words: "To the High Schol of Brownfield, Feb. 22, 1926, with the assurance of our interest and support. Signed, Fine Arts Club."

GUESTS DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED AT HOME OF MRS. McGOWAN

The beautifully decorated rooms of Mrs. J. J. McGowan's home were opened to the Idle Wives Club and a few other guests, on Tuesday, afternoon, February 23. The charming hostess arranged the tables for 24 players of "42" and at 4 o'clock promptly the progressive game began with the usual lively interest.

Two cut prizes were given: Mrs. H. R. Winston, an embroidered tea apron, high cut; Mrs. Earl Alexander, vari-colored plaque for low cut. Mrs. Ray Brownfield drew high, buffet set, in beautiful linen. Mrs. J. W. Casey drew low, dainty guest towel. These prizes of exquisite linen and embroidery were handiwork of the hostess. Mrs. McGowan's delicious angel food cake was served with brick cream, in pink and white. Pink carnations were in lovely cut glass, occupying spaces in the living room and dining room. Pink and white mints were served at the close of this long party. Guests enjoying this afternoon were Mesdames. S. L. McDonald, Henry Alexander, Earl Alexander, Jno. King, J. B. Miller, J. E. Shelton, J. H. McKinney, A. W. Enderson, Fred Smith, O. W. Fagala, Tom May, W. R. McDuffie, A. A. Sawyer, Bob Bowers, J. W. Casey, W. A. Bell W. H. Dallas, Morgan Copeland, H. R. Winston, J. H. Griffin, W. B. Downing, G. S. Webber, Ray Brownfield and Miss Bell.

LOVELY PARTY AT THE HOME OF MRS. SMITH

A most hospitable hostess, Mrs. W. C. Smith, entertained the Friday Forty-two Club and invited guests on Friday afternoon, February 19th, in the form of a lovely Colonial Party. Nine tables of "42" played progressively. The tiny tallies were beautiful cards of cherries and hatchets in red, white and blue.

Refreshments served by the hostess and Mrs. Dalton Lewis and Mrs. Tom Glover, carried out the national colors. Chicken salad, topped with cherries, pickles, sandwiches, cherry pie and whipped cream constituted the menu, which was greatly enjoyed.

Guests were: Mesdames. Sawyer, A. A. Sawyer, Tom May, Thompson, Collins, Renfro, Downing, Williams, J. L. Randal, Dallas, Winston, Scudday, Bailey, Ditto, A. M. Brownfield, Ray Brownfield, Bell, McDuffie, Henry Alexander, Criswell, Copeland, Lewis, Smith, Glover, Hurst, Kendrick, Holgate, Enderson, Henderson, Fagala, Hamilton, Brothers, Harris, Adams Tiernan.

LUBBOCK WILL BE REPRESENTED AMONG THAT ARMY OF MEN WHO WILL INVADE FRANCE AS MEMBERS SECOND A. E. F.

Members of the Allen Brothers Post of the American Legion are looking forward to the second A. E. F. to France as an opportunity to again review the fields of battle over which doughboys trod during the war and if plans materialize at least three and perhaps a half dozen Lubbock ment will be included among those who will make the trip. The following information and appeal to make the trip was sent out from the offices of the local Legion post yesterday:

Have you as an ex-service man had a desire to go over the same ground that you did when you were in the service for your country. It is a known fact that most men would like to visit the places that they have ben before. It seems that all humanity runs in that channel. The American Legion has arranged whereby all members of the American Legion and the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion post can visit the place where you were stationed while in the American Expeditionary Forces. As an ex-service man wouldn't you like to ride one boat that you could do as you please on. To ride one that you would not hear the command that "you can't stand there soldier."

Can you remember what a big lump you had in your stomach when you went down into the bottom of the that you went over on; say, do you remember what you asked the boy in front of you, "How deep is this old tub anyway?". You had the old feeling that just as sure as a tornedo hit the boat you knew that your head would be the nearest place to the explosion.

Remember how long you went without a bath on this boat, the ages that you stood in chow line waiting for your slum. None of this will happen on this trip. Everything will be in readiness and they will have you live as though you were somebody. You cherish all these memories and you have sworn by all that is holy that you would some day make this trip as a triple-starred general. If you were shuffled about by fate and did not have the privilege of going over, you remember how you swore that you would go over and see the many things that they all told you about, you can remember how you felt when there was no more sailing orders.

Remember every doughboy a general and every sailor an admiral. A visit to the cemteries where the buddies and relatives have been at rest for eight years. These cemeteries are not visited by the general line of tourists that visit France. You surely do remember how you promised yourself that in time to come you would show your respect to these buddies that made the sacrifice, by visiting these places in the future.

This all can be had at a very reasonable cost, the trip from your post can be made to Paris and back for as little as $175. This will include your state room and berth while on the ship, and transportation to Paris for the French Port and hotel bill while in Paris, all your meals on the boat and while on way to Paris, as well as breakfast each of the seven days that you will be in Paris. Luncheon and Dinner will not be given to you while in Paris, for each day there will be trips made out of Paris, and the arrangements could not be made whereby you could be at a definite place each day. Now for medium accomodations the cost will be $325—you will have the same arrangements as the above mentioned, but they will be just a little better. The best accomodations will be $450, which will include anything a general would want.

For the minimum trip a person should save up at least $300, for there will be some little trips that you would like to make that will not be included in the trips out from Paris that are already arranged for.

The railroad fare from your post to the port where you embark will have to be taken care of individually, however, the railroads have agreed to give a round-trip ticket, to and from embarkation point, for the price of a single fare. The return trip on the railroads will only be good to Dec. 1, 1927, and it is required that you travel on the same road. The Texas boys will embark at Houston and Galveston.

Reservations will not be accepted until Nov. 15, 1926. Each department will have the privilege of filling his quota up to March 15, 1927, after this reservation quotas will be thrown open to fill up any quotas that are not filled. The final date for accepting quotas will be May 15, 1927, for the French wish to have four months' lapse before the arrival of the delegation so they will have time to make housing arrangements.

Keep in mind that no person is eligible for this trip unless he or she is paid up for the years 1926 and 1927, in the American Legion or American Legion Auxiliary. It is not possible, either, to wait until 1927 and then pay up for both years. Now keep in mind that the 7 days in Paris will be taken care of and included in either of these trips, but should you want to stay over until Dec. 1927, you can do so at your own expense. Of course, should you have relatives or friends living near where you would like to stay this will eliminate the expense from your gross trip while staying in Paris, the seven days that were allowed. By staying over a few days it will give you the chance of visiting the small villages where you slept on the hand full of straw and thought it was as good as a feather bed. It will also give you a view of the front yard monument that so long haunted you in your dreams and will give you a much better chance to get a good whiff of the well-seasoned cheese.

The trip with seven days in Paris, will take only thirty-five days. Now can you imagine anything that would be better to remember than this second A. E. F.?

The arrangements of this will be discussed from time to time at your local American Legion post.

"Keep to the left," soliders while in France.

MINISTER INVESTIGATES WITCHCRAFT PHENOMENA

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Impressed by the endurance of peasant belief in witchcraft in rural parts of England, the Rev. Charles Kent, of Merton Rectory, Thetford, Norfolk, expressed the opinion after an investigation "that there is something in it."

In an address at Norwich, Kent said he had been summoned a number of times by country folk who believed themselves bewitched and that he had been able to obtain "cures" when the patients seemed at the point of death. Kent said so-called witchcraft could be classed under three heads of psychological phenomena—first, the control which the will of one person may exercise over the will of another; second, hypnotism; and third, telepathy.

ADOLPHUS HOTEL IS PROVIDING FOR THE NEWSPAPERMEN

By United Press

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—Pity the poor, hard-working newspaper reporter.

His is a dog's life.

Eternal grind with "thirty"—quitting time, never in sight.

But, regardless of how city editors feel, the Adolphus Hotel here has a kindly feeling for "gents of the Fourth Estate."

On the twenty-third floor of this $6,000,00 resident institution, the management has three large, airy rooms set aside for the Dallas Press Club.

There, working Dallas and Texas newspaper men may gather, play "checkers," tell cute little stories, write yarns for papers or while away an hour or two waiting for "that something"—the 'scoop-a-boo" of the profession, to break.

The club quarters are equipped with eight new typewriters, reams of copy paper, three "inside" and two straight line telephones, maid and bell service, free ice water, files of eight Texas papers and plenty of chairs.

And, rent on these elegant rooms is 50 cents a year, payable in advance.

Here's the catch:

The management of this beautiful hotel, built by brewers, stipulated in the contract that any time intoxicants are taken inside the quarters—

That's all there is.

There ain't no more.

Winged Dirigible "Air Train" To Fly New York To London Announced By Detroit Engineer

By FOSTER EATON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

DETROIT, Feb. 27.—(U-P)—A goliath of the air, consisting of four metal-clad, winged dirigibles coupled together in a mammoth aerial train, will ply between New York and London with 240 passengers in 36 hours by the summer of 1927, according to J. Nelson Lewis, Detroit aeronautical engineer and originator of the project.

Back of the unique venture Lewis asserted in an interview with the United Press, are "nationally prominent capitalists" whose identity will be revealed this spring. The undertaking has no connection with any similar proposal heretofore announced, he said.

Lewis was formally a mining engineer, and became interested in lighter-than-air aeronautics several years ago. In 1916 he applied for a patent on a metal-clad dirigible, and obtained it seven years later, he said.

Some of the more startling features of the proposed "Lewis Aerial Train," as outlined by the designer, are:

1. The coupled train will have a speed of 100 miles an hour; its component parts—which will be capable of separate operation at will or in event of forced separation—will have a speed of 80 miles an hour.

2. Propulsion will be by 16 engines of 500 horsepower each, altitude being attained at all times on an "even keel" through use of the winged surfaces of the plane attachments.

3. A high safety factor would be attained because of the coupled, or flexible nature of the train, which would permit bending under stress of storms.

4. In violent weather conditions, the train could be "uncoupled," permitting each unit to operate individually through use of emergency noses and tails.

5. Landing would be a comparatively simple operation by utilizing "harpoon anchors," which would be discharged forcibly into the earth fro ma low altitude. Lines atached to the anchors would be reeled in, drawing the train to earth.

6. Great unit structural strength will result from use of center vertical trusses running the full length of the shins and extending down into and becoming an integral part of each underslung gondola.

Lewis is modestly certain the project is not 'visionary,' and that it will solve many of the admitted defects of present type dirigibles. The outer covering of the units, he said, will be constructed of duraluminum. Freight capacity will approximate 100 ton cargoes "passenger-light," while with 240 passengers aboard he estimates each may carry 10 0pounds of luggage in addition to some 40 tons of mail and freight.

The dirigibles would use helium gas, Lewis said, loss of which would be materially if not wholly eliminated by virtual removal of the necessity to value it in ascending or descending.

"The outstanding advantage of the train," Lewis said, "will be its ability to bend in the air." He asserted it "would do this with more ease than a passenger train takes a curve."

RICKARD ABANDONS LIGHTWEIGHT TILTS

By FRANK GETTY
United News Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—The exigencies of boxing, which have more to do with dotted lines and gate receipts than padded mitts and right hooks, have forced Tex Richard temporarily to abandon his idea of a lightweight elimination tournament.

It is generally agreed, however, that Phil McGraw, the Greek flori from Detroit, and Stanislaus Laoyza of Chile are the two outstanding contenders for the crown which now rest uneasily upon the swarthy brow of Rocky Kansas of Buffalo.

Kansas holds the lightweight championship but isn't quite sure what to do with it. He probably shares the opinion of most of the sporting world that he will lose i the first time he ventures into the ring.

This makes it all the more important that a truly "logical contender" be built up. The lightweight tournament was a good idea, but most of the boys won't play ball unless they are given 90 per cent of the gate receipts and a bonus besides. This lets out such otherwise useful little men as Sammy Mandell.

McGraw and Loayza, on their records as fighters, stand out above the rest, and the question of which is the better probably will be determined by 11 p. m. March 1.

The promoters of the Bronx Hospital fund bouts, which will be held at Madison Square Garden next Monday night, have matched this pair and have done a good job thereby. Loayza is a fighting fool who would be lightweight champion today and he not broken his ankle in his bout with Jimmy Goodrich during the last lightweight elimination tournament. The Greek is a rugger bruiser and from this distance it looks to be anyone's fight, with both boys facing the opportunity of their lives. Either one can whip Rocky Kansas.

MANHATTAN SYNCOPATION

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—A lad and gal were hailed before a New York City Court.

"They necked," the officer complained, "this Jane and silly sport."

And did the Judge impose a fine of twenty bucks or so? He merely smiled and said to them: "Deans, take your hats and go. I often see the flappers neck in shows where lights are slight. It pleases me. I think it's nice. What's more, I think it right for them to kiss in public joints. Such lovers help enhance a drab world which is too prone to stifle young romance."

Drive For $6500 Texas-Brazil Work

AUSTIN, Tex., Feb. 27.—Plans are being formulated by the Texas-Brazil committee of the Methodist Student Federation at the University of Texas for the $6,500 drive that is to begin April 4.

Every Methodist student will be given an opportunity to pledge to the drive. The funds received are divided between the local work and the foreign work, with the greater part, $5,400 to be used in paying the salaries of three ex-students of the University who are now missionaries in Brazil, and to the school established by the missionaries in Passo Fundo, Brazil. The remaining $1,100 will be used for the support of the student work of the local church.

Gypsies Gather to Honor Dead "King", Seventh Son of Seventh Son, Victim of Apoplexy In Old Age

By United Press

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 27.—"Royalty" passed on here Friday when Steve John, venerable "king of gypsies," succumbed to a sudden attack of apoplexy in his 65th year.

When the word was passed that "the seventh son of a seventh son," himself father of seven sons, had died as weird a scene as Detroit ever witnessed was enacted.

Afoot and in automobiles, scores of Serbian gypsies flocked in rough dignity to the bare little home where the "king's" body lay.

Golden bangles and necklaces of gold coins, bracelets of the same material, flashed and glinted in the sunlight as "subject" after 'subject' arrived to pay respect to the departed leader.

All day long King John's abode was the mecca for Romany land, and the scene of respectful homage. fro within, groups of men gathered While wailing women moved to and in front of the home to mourn the "king's" death and to discuss the question of a successor. A new king will be elected by vote of the tribe.

Steve John came to America 40 years ago from Serbia, bringing with him his wife Marie Therese, there are seven sons and four daughters.

In recent yars the "king" had travelled extensively, visiting gypsy bands in other parts of the country.

Plans for his burial have not been announced.

TO PROMOTE IDEALS OF SPORTSMANSHIP

A sportsman's code of honor, with a recognition pin or button, originated by the Sportsmanship Brotherhood, has been introduced in public schools in New York and Massachusetts, and it is being tested by daily conduct in classroom and athletic activities. Schools deciding to become a chapter in the brotherhood are allowed a limited number of the emblems, which are awarded each semester by vote of the pupils to boys and girls considered as best embodying the high ideals expressed in the code, "to keep a sound soul and a clean mind in a healthy body."

MODERN TELEGRAPH SERVICES FOR MEXICO

DALLAS, Feb. 27.—Following dispatch received today from First Vice President Mr. J. C. Willever in Mexico City regarding cnotract.

"Subject to approval President Calles, the boards of Western Union and Mexican Companies, a contract has been concluded with Mexican Government for introduction in to Mexico of modern Telegraph service, including extension of international traffic of Nightletter, Dayletter, Night Messages, and Money Transfer. Western Union in conjunction with Mexican Telegraph Company thus brings Mexico City as close to New York telegraphically as Chicago or Boston. Regular tariffs to be adjusted based uopn zones and distance. Night Press rate two cents per word. This direct service to Mexico will be extended to Sister Republics south through All America Cable. Direct operation Mexico City to New York made possible by single control, giving almost direct service to Cuba, and also to Spain via New York Azores cable. Commendation due Eduardo Artiz, Acting Secretary Department of Communications and A. G. Montero, Director General National Telegraphs for their understanding and appreciation of thi snew bond between Mexico and the United States and what it will mean in the advance of education and business."

This opening of the Gateway to Mexico and Republics South means the end of the monopolistic handling of the communications system in Mexico and will hereafter open the way to the Western Union and all other American communication systems.

COLEMAN OFFERS FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

In the proper column in this issue of the Avalanche will be found the name of M. M. (Max) Coleman, who enters the race for the office of County Attorney. In making his announcement, Mr. Coleman says "I came to this country in 1892, and have therefore spent most of my life here. I have served a time as a peace officer and know the problems of law enforcement, and having held the office of Justice of the Peace have gained practical knowledge of judicial matters that will be a great help to men in the performance of the duties of the office of County Attorney. Since performing the duties of the above offices I have made a thorough study of law.

Mr. Coleman will have more to say along the line of the duties of the office of county attorney as he sees them, before July primaries, as it is his intention to see the voters personally or as many of them as is possible between now and the July primary date, and will try to get his platform before the voters in a general way before they are expected to cast their vote for the man to fill this position.

Mr. Coleman is well known to the old timers here, as well to many of the people who have not been here so long. He is young and ambitious, studious and industries, and we do not hesitate to state that if elected to this office he will certainly be found on the job and performing the work of the office to the very best of his ability and understanding of the functions of the office. He should certainly have the close consideration of the voters before they cast their vote in the Democratic primary in July.

It is reported that Federal Judge Hickenlooper, of Cincinnati, dismissed the application for citizenship of an alien who admitted he had pleaded guilty to violating the prohibition law. "An alien who expects to be admitted as a citizen of the United States must show devotion for five years to the Constitution of the United States, including the Eighteenth Amendment."

Stamford Kicks in With Funds For Highway Job

BY HAMILTON WRIGHT
Secretary, Dallas-Lubbock Highway Association

STAMFORD, Feb. 27.—Stamford was the first town on the Dallas-Fort Worth-Lubbock Highway to raise its quota fo finance the association. The campaign to put over a budget of $3,500 to advertise and promote the highway starts officially next week, when the secretary will visit every town on the route.

The board of directors of the association will hold a meeting here March 17 in connection with a visit of the State Highway Commission, state and federal highway engineers and others. At that time the highway will be officially named.

S. W. Cooper, secretary of the Crosbyton Chamber of Commerce, and chairman of the promotion and publicity committee of the Dallas-Fort Worth-Lubbock Highway Association, has suggested that the highway be named the "Texas Transcontinental Trail," or plain old TTT. Another suitable cognomen is the "Double Mountain Highway," as it passes near the double mountains near Spur and Jayton.

Tourists bureau experts declare that when the highway is properly advertised and improved it should command about 90 per cent of the California, Grand Canyon and Colorado traffic that now passes over the Bankhead through Abilene and Sweetwater. At present most of the California traffic goes through the sand dune country of extreme West Texas to El Paso and through sand deserts to California. Over the Dallas-Lubbock Highway the tourist trades verdant plains land for sand, magnificant New Mexican mountains for barren rocks and uninviting hills.

The movement which has been started is expected to increase traffic over the new Plains Short Line, or D-L highway, three hundred per cent by opening of the summer. It is hoped by the association to stimulate the movement of 75 per cent of the traffic from this territory to Amarillo during the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention over the Dallas-Lubbock Highway.

Flu Epidemic Covers Floydada Territory

FLOYDADA, Feb. 27.—Between five hundred and one thousand persons of Floydada territory are being affected by the flu, and grippe epidemic, according to reports from local doctors. This is easily the worst epidemic since 1920, but the number of fatalities is far less, there being only a few cases of pneumonia reported up to the present time. It is thought that a rain or a norther would materially help matters now.

Of this number more than one hundred are school children, there being fifty absent from high school yesterday.

Floyd County Farmer Shows That A Farm May Be Operated With But Little Capital If Managed Right

B. E. S. SHOAF
(Special Correspondent)

LOCKNEY, Texas, Feb. 27—It is commonly said amongst business men that farms are under-capitalied; that farmers are working under a handicap because they lack the capital necessary to stock their farms and to buy the necessary machinery to handle the work easily.

This may be true to a certain extent, but it is also true of men in all lines of business. The fact is, successful men are those who capitalise their knowledge and make it bring the necessary buildings, livestock, implements, etc.

In farming, as in other lines of business, one man will make a success without much capital, while another makes a failure on a good farm with money to handle it in the most approved fashion. A good farmer is just as much of a business man as a merchant or a miller, and his chances are better, because he is engaged in a safer business.

A shining example of what a man can do with small capital is that of Albert King, Lockney farmer. King, a few years past, started with practically little or no capital, and by using business methods all the way has made a big success of farming. King's farm is run on the department plan, every department must show that it is paying, or methods are used to stop the leakage. Books are kept on everything, and it is little trouble to ascertain whether the farm is making or losing money.

King's farm consists of 350 acres planted in wheat, kafir and maize. In 1925 the wheat crop was of little value, and most of the land was planted in row crops. Enough feed was produced to thrash 3,132 bushels and have enough left over to feed 16 head of mules and 28 cows. In the dairy department six cows were kept and the skimmed milk was fed to the chickens, and the butter fat sold, which netted the sum of $720. The cows kept and young heifers brought eight heifers and three male calves; the males were sold at three months for $25 each. The cows were made to pay for their barn as they went, and this year an extension will be necessary to care for the additional heifers. All of the cows are high grade Jerseys, save one, which is registered. Later on all registered stock will be kept, by this time King will know enough about dairy cattle to properly care for the registered stock in such a manner that it will pay good dividends. The hog department is handled in the same fashion as the dairy, last year 119 hogs were raised which sold in September for $2,500, the advance in price from September until February was not as much as the feed.

The garden is handled on the same plan, and King 's cellar contains over 1000 half-gallon jars of fruits, vegetables and berries. 600 pounds of beef and 450 pounds of hog meat were canned for the winter, making the grocery bill very light the year round.

The chickens pay for their houses as the flocks are increased, and the same with the turkeys. Everything kept must show that it is making a profit or it is discarded. This year the Kings are making preparations to hatch 3,000 White Leghorn chicks, the eggs being hatched from last year's pullets and hens. No buildings are built or implements bought until money has been made with which to make the purchase.

Besides running the farm, the Kings find time to devote to education and social affairs. Mrs. King is a good business woman and takes active part in home demonstration work, and was recently elected secretary of the Lone Star Community Chamber of Commerce, which is a unit of the Lockney Chamber of Commerce.

King is strong for education, and believes that the farmer that is educated is in better position to handle the business of a farm than one who is not. In January King had his son to miss school in order that he might attend a farmers' short course, believing that the short course was of more benefit than the three days in school.

B. F. Bennett, manager of the Panhandle-Plains division of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, upon a recent visit to the King farm declared "It is the best managed farm that I ever visited in the South."

Paul Huey, county agent of Hale County, says, "we need more farmers like King, who believe in making things pay for themselves as they go, and who practice diversification and live at home."

Took Him to U. S. to Cure Him of Drink And Made It Worse

By United Press

ASCRINGTON, England, Feb. 27.—Mrs. Elizabeth Mullir, of Clayton-Le-Moorn, is back from the United States with her husband, after having taking him to prohibition America to cure him of the drink habit. His fondness for liquor made her life unbearable, she said. So she persuaded him not to take her to a "dry land."

"It was worse than ever over there," she told the judge in asking for separation. He built a complete brewing plant and drank an average of 35 half pints daily. He got fired for taking beer to work with him. So I brought him home again, but he couldn't quit. Prohibition had finished his ruin."

Her suit for separation was granted.

TEXAS UNIVERSITY BEQUEATHED OVER MILLION DOLLARS FOR ASTRONOMICAL OBSERVATORY

AUSTIN, Tex. Feb. 27.—It is not known by Dr. W. M. W. Splawn, president of the University of Texas, just how soon the bequest of the late William J. McDonald, of Paris, Texas, for the establishment of an astronomical observatory at that institution will be available for use. Morris Fleming of Paris is executor of the estate which is estimated to have a value of more than $1,500,000. Of this sum $120,000 is in bequests other than to the University. The First National Bank of Clarksville is financial agent of the estate. Under the provisions of the will which has been filed for probate the University shall receive all of the estate except the $120,000 which is otherwise bequeathed. That part of the document which refers to the University of Texas reads:

"All the rest, residue and remainder of my estate, I give, devise, and bequeath to the Regents of the University of Texas, in trust to be used and devoted by said Regents for the purpose of aiding in erecting and equipping an Astronomical Observatory to be kept and used in connection with and as a part of the University for the study and promotion of the study of Astronomical Science. This bequest is to be known as the W. J. McDonald Observatory Fund. As soon as my executors shall have paid off all charges against my estate, settled with all legatees and have the estate in shape to turn over the residue to the Regents, they shall do so using only such time to accomplish this as in their judgment is necessary, reasonable and proper. Upon receipt of such residue the Regents shall proceed dat such time and manner as in their judgment may seem best to execute the trust and they shall have full power and authority to administer and handle the same for the purpose of carrying out its purpose and object, and in so doing they may apply all or any part of the income from the bequest and all or any part of the corpus of the bequest as they may deem proper to use towards such erecting and equipping the Observatory, it being my intention that the Regents shall have full power and authority to handle, use and appropriate this bequest, corpus and all accrued income in such manner as to them may seem best in order to carry out the object of the bequest, the only limitation on their authority and power being that the bequest is intended solely for the use and benefit of an Astronomical Observatory in one or all the ways hereinbefore mentioned. The Regents shall have power to sell any real estate at any time.

"All investments are to be made in such bonds and securities as are prescribed by law for the investment of the State Common School Fund.

"In handling the notes due my estate the Regents are requested to use the utmost liberality and leniency in the matter of renewals and extensions consistent with safety."

This generous gift to the University came as a complete surprise to Dr. Splawn and all other persons connected with that institution. Mr. McDonald, so far as is known, had never visited the University and it was not known that he was specially interested in its welfare.

Dr. Splawn has high praise of this latest benefactor of the University.

"It seems to me that Mr. McDonald had a remarkable insight of the situation in the Southwest when he made this generous gift for the promotion of the science of astronomy to the University of Texas," he said. "He could have given the money to a number of things that would be quite useful but which are ordinarily provided by the people. Instead of doing this, he selected a line of service that will be of benefit to all mankind, but it is something that the people are not called upon to support. The science of astronomy is carried on by means of private benefactions. It is a science that has been of incalculable benefit to mankind. The results of the research and study that may be done at the McDonald Observatory of the University of Texas will serve to bring great honor and distinction to the entire State, and to the people of the Southland. As a memorial to its donor, it will be most distinctive. His name will be internationally known through all the years because this observatory will be the greatest in the world."

"The establishment of a great observatory as a part of the University of Texas will mean great things for the advancement of astronomical science," said Dr. Benedict. "The astronomical observers of the world are associated into an international astronomical society. The entire field of astronomical study is divided among the several observatories so that unwise duplication of work is largely avoided. The advice of the heads of the great observatories must be sought to determine wisely the special work to be undertaken by the McDonald Observatory. There is cooperation and collaboration between all of the observatories. The bequest of Mr. McDonald is sufficiently large to give the University one of the largest observatories to be found anywhere in the world. It will have to be decided whether the principal instruments shall be visual or photographic or of both kinds, and also to what phase of astronomy planetary, solar, positional, or astrophysical, the observatory shall be devoted. Practically all observatories contain certain standard equipment and serave certain standard purposes, some of which may not have any direct connection with astronomy. These include the equipment of a weather station, and seismographs for registering earth tremors. There are three classes of observatories.

Astonomical observatories fall into a small number of classes, depending on their modes of support and character of work. The great national observatories, nationally supported, were founded in the interest of navigation and geography, but now carry on various branches of work. The Greenwich Observatory of Great Britain, for example, among other things, specializes on the position of the moon. In the main, this class of observatories specializes in the positions of the heavenly bodies. On the other side, there are of course numerous student observatories, connected with universities equipped with rather small instruments and intended for teaching. The McDonald Observatory will be in the same class with the Lick Observatory of the University of California, and the Yerkes of the University of Chicago, and the Harvard Observatory. These great observatories, founded by private donations although some advanced students work in them, are primarily for the purpose of discovery, the finding out of new facts about the universe. The great solar observatory on Mt. Wilson is maintained by the Carnegie Institution and variously scattered over the world are some large private observatories. All told, 264 observatories are listed in the American Ephemeus and Nautical Almanac but most of them are small and relatively unimportant.

"The Harvard College Observatory is located at Cambridge, Mass. It was founded in 1843 about the time interest in the study of astronomy was reawakened by the comet of that year. Its work is devoted principally to stellar photography and photometry. Since 1891 a station has been maintained in the southern hemisphere at Arequipa, Peru. Together these observatories cover the whole sky. There has been gathered at this observatory a large collection of more than 200,000 negatives. Among the important discoveries made at this observatory were the ninth and tenth satellites of Saturn, several novae, and many new variable stars. The results of the investigations have been published in the "Annals of the Harvard College Observatory" of some 70 volumes."

The Lick Observatory is located on Mount Hamilton, a mountain in the Coast Range of California, 4,209 feet high. It was completed in 1888. Here is located the second largest refracting telescope in existence, the objective having a clear aperture of 36 inches. It is surpassed only by the telescope of the erkes Observatory which has a telescope with an aperture of 40 inches. The focal length of the telescope is 57 feet, 10 inches. It rests on a cast iron column, the base of which extends 17 feet north and south, and 10 feet east and west. The point of suspension from the floor is 86 feet. The dome has an exterior dimeter of 76 feet, and is moved by water power as is also the observation platform. There is a smaller dome containing a 12-inch telescope. On a site 100 yards in extent made by blasting off a peak of the mountain is located the meridian circle, a transit instrument, and a photheliograph. On a slightly lower hill is a 3-foot refracting telescope. A lens for photography is arranged so that it can be attached to the end of the big telescope. The entire fund for this observatory was given by James Lick.

Yerkes Observatory is located at Williams Bay, Wis. It is used principally for observation of close or faint double stars and spectroscopic work. It contains the largest refracting telescope in existence, being 40 inches. It was endowed by Charles Tyson Yerkes ,and was completed in 1896.

GERMAN EXPEDITION TO TRAVERSE WORLD

By United Press

FRANKFORT On MAIN, Germany.—An expedition around the world in automobiles, led by the famous African explorer and Frankfort professor, Leo Frobenius, will leave Berlin early in May on a fifteen months' tour.

Five months each will be devoted to Africa, Asia and North, South and Central America. It is particularly the intention of the explorers to visit art centres and the seats of learning enroute.

The purpose of the journey, above all, is to tighten the bonds between the old and new world and between Germans abroad and the Fatherland.

The autoists will traverse thirty-nine countries; 70,000 kilometers will be covered by automobile and 30,000 on ship.

Cattle Deals In Snyder Section Bring Good Price

SNYDER, Texas, Feb. 26—L. E. Long of Borden County has contracted 250 steer yearlings to Simms and Price of Panhandle, Texas, for spring delivery at $42.50 per head. The Nine R Ranch, R. L. Gray and Nick Beall, all of Borden County, sodl around 750 head of steers to the same parties and at practically the same price as was paid Long.

These are the highest prices paid for steers in this section in several years. In fact, since the slump in cattle prices along in 1920 and 1921.

Elmer Long, son of F. M. Long, deceased has established a record of many years' standing of always topping the market in this section of the country on his steer crops, famous Long cattle are known the country over. The feeder buyers of the Northern and Middle Western States are always eager to get steers of the Long brand.

The late F. M. Long started the strain of cattle many years ago. His sons, Elmer and Marion, succeeded him at his death and since that time they have bought only the registered Hereford cattle for breeding purposes. Today their herds probably grade higher than any in Western Texas as far as quality, color and versality counts.

In 1922 a shipment of steers raised on the Long ranch were bought by E. M. Brass of Grand Island, Neb. He later shipped them to the Chicago market. Recently Brass wrote Long, in an endeavor to contract some more yearlings, and said: "That last bunch I bought from you was placed on the market in Chicago. They brought the highest price paid on the market for their class during that whole year and the commission buyers said that they were the best al-around lot of steers they had seen on the market during the year 1922."

NEW IRRIGATION PLAN

WICHITA, Kan., Feb. 27—A plan to irrigate the valleys of the Arkansas and Platte Rivers by a hydraulic system is now possible, according to M. E. Blatchley, Kansas City, who has worked for 13 years on the plan.

Blatchley, who has been granted a patent on his invention, intends to secure waterpower from the two rivers by means of his hydraulic device. The water would be obtained from an underflow of the Arkancas river bed.

PALATIAL FILM HOUSE IS OPENED IN BERLIN

By United Press

BERLIN—Schoenbrunn castle in Vienna, the Scala of Milan and l'Opera of Paris have just found a rival in Berlin. Germany's biggest film company, the "Ufa," has just opened its newest and most elaborate theatre—the first to be built in Germany along most up-to-date American lines.

The new edifice is not merely a movie-house, but a lavish setting for social festivities, concerts and theatrical performances. Built in the barroque style of South Germany with marble stair-cases, winter garden and cozy lounge, experts have described the building as "the eighth wonder." Yellow silk tapestries, antique chairs, flowers and rare old carpets afford the background for a gay crowd which dances amid the galleries.

One hundred and eighty reflectors with a capacity of 54,000 candle-power produce lighting effects, ranging from glittering "sun-light," to faint gloaming.

Credits earned in approved evening high schools of New Jersey will be recognized hereafter in meeting requirements for entrance by professional schools and colleges accordance with reciprocal arrangements recently made by the State Board of Education of New Jersey with the State Departments of Instruction of New York and Pennsylvania.

The Haunted House

TALES about it were as numerous as its dark broken windows. Oaks shadowed it thickly; winds sucked through its halls. The shutters sagged and were ivy-eaten—the windows giving into an emptiness at once forbidding, dreadful.

Excitement ran agog when the place was bought—school children huddled to watch the rooms renovated. To watch the beauty that was added to its outward appearance. A sign was hung out: "Stop Here For Tea". Lights sprang up. It became a frequent pleasure to drop in of evenings. In time the town people loved the place. The inviting newness, the cleanliness, the light banished fear.

What Miracle Did All of This?

There is only one answer—and it is not a miracle—a real farseeing business man, with sound business judgement, spent a few dollars for high grade Paints and Wallpaper decoratives, and had them properly applied.

CENTENARY CELEBRATION OF SAVARIN MARKED BY PERFECT LUNCH

By JOHN O'BRIEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PARIS (United Press)—Disciples of Brillat-Savarin, the King of Gourments, who sat down to the centenary luncheon at which his memory was honored in the Hotel Crillon, were pleased to notice that one of his famous aphorisms had not been forgotten. It says: "He who receives his friends and gives no personal care to the repast prepared for them does not deserve to have friends."

Everything was done to perpetuate the lessons of the author of "The Physiology of Taste.' The menu was made up recipes from his book. The table ornaments were of the Restoration period recalling the days when Louis XVIII and Talleryand preached and practiced the doctrines of Brillat-Savarin. Here was the menu, as far as a translation into English permits one to do justice to its antiquated phraseology:

A glass of rare old wine of Maderia.
Fat pork rissoles of Bugey
Hot sausages of Vairomey
Beaujolais, pink Burgundy and Chablis.
Omelette of the Priest
Chateau La Mission-Haut-Brion
Stewed Eels with Crawfish Souce such as Mme. Briquet cooked for the Priest of Talissian.
Chablis or Chateau Cheval Blanc 1914
Truffed Turkey with Sausages
Cote des Nuits, Reserve Bouchard, 1911 Salad, Cheese, Meringues Glacees

Prosper Montague, proprietor of one of the choisest restaurants of Paris, contributed an editorial to L'Oeuvre, calling on the French to uphold the old gastronomic traditions—to eat slowly, wisely and scintifically, according to the rules of Brillat-Savarin. The Prefect of the Department of the Seine and other notables attended the posing of a commemorative plague on the house, at the corner of the rues Richelieu and de Filles Saint-Thomas, where Brillat-Savarin died in 1806.

HIGH SCHOOL SUBJECTS ON VOCATIONAL BASIS

Pupils in Detroit (Mich.) high school must hereafter earn the right to pursue the so-called elective studies. To this end, the curriculum has been divided into core and elegtive subjects. All pupils are required to take the core subjects, which include health, English, social science general science, general mathematics and auditorium attendance. All other subjects are elective and are considered vocational or prevocational. Among "prevocational" subjects are higher mathematics, languages, and the specialized sciences, those studies necessary to higher education and leading to the professions.

The purpose of the plan is to throw back upon the pupil himself the responsibility for making the grades and to obviate the necessity of dividing students into different achievement groups. It is expected that the plan will make of each class a picked group of students doing intensive study in their chosen subject. Every available method of motivation is utilized.

Alfalfa Is Money Crop for Deaf Smith County

Special to The Avalanche.

HEREFORD, Tex., Feb. 26.—Alfalfa is proving to be one of Deaf Smith county's best money crops for the irrigation farmer, and with the abundance of water that can be obtained in the Hereford shlalow water belt, and with the high price of alfalfa hay, the industry is expected to grow within the next few years. Alfalfa hay is now $30 per ton on the local market.

J. J. Kropff, irrigation farmer living one and a half miles north of Hereford, is staging a public sale Friday of his teams and horle-pull implements, and plans to motorize his farm. Mr. Kropff will specialize in the raising of alfalfa and hogs, but all of his work will be done by motor power.

This man has 78 acres in alfalfa now and plans to put in 50 acres more within the near future. Mr. Kropff is proving to be one of Deaf Smith county's best irrigation farmers and is making a record with alfalfa and hogs. In 1924 he had only thirty acres of alfalfa and states that he cleared $68 per acre after expenses were paid. Last season he cut around two tons per acre per cutting from some of his alfalfa. With the proper care alfalfa here yields five cuttings each year with an average of a ton per cutting.

While Mr. Kropff is putting a number of Jersey cows in his sale, he does not plan to give up the live at home plan. He will always keep six or eight good milch cows, a good flock of chickens and plenty of hogs. He now has sixty-five head of fine hogs, including eleven brood sows.

HEALTH SURVEYS

MISSOURI

NEW YORK, Feb. 26—The general death rate among Missouri's wage-earning population dropped nearly 30 per cent between 1916 and 1924, in spite of serious increases in the rates for cancer and diabetis, according to a study made by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company of the experience of its Industrial policyholders.

Particularly was there a decline in deaths from contagious diseases. The mortality from diphtheria, whooping cough, influenza and pneumonia dropped about 50 per cent. The most significant single reduction was that of tuberculosis. From being the cause of nearly 170 deaths pe r100,000 people in 1916, it dropped to 83 per 100.00 in 1924.

A slight decline in the death rate for heart diesease and a somewhat larger decrease in the rate for Bright's disease were also reported. Deaths from typhoid fever were reduced about 65 per cent largely as the result of sanitary improvements in cities.

Some improvement was observed in the deaths from external causes, but in line with the experience of other states, many more were killed by automobiles, in 1924 than in the earlier year.

LONDON NIGHT CLUBS ARE OPEN ALL NIGHT DESPITE LEGAL RULINGS

LONDON (United Press)—Liquor can be obtained at any hour of the day or night in the majority of London's night clubs, despite the restricted hours in vogue in Britain.

From time to time the authorities make a regular clean up, but within twenty-four hours of the fine being paid, the club's bars are working at top pressure again.

Visitors are charged heavily for the drink they consume. A glass of whisky costing eighteen cents in an ordinary pub, costs fifty cents in the night resorts. Similarly champagne costs from ten to twenty dollars a bottle instead of from five to ten. Food is charged at almost a prohibitive price, while charges for "service" are another costly item in the bill.

A "wild" night costs anything from one hundred to two hundred dollars.

The heavy fines imposed by the police for the illegal sale of liquor does not hit the finances of the club heavily. It is the public which pays.

Every night club has its bevy of beautiful girls ready to help visitors spend their money. They need no encouragement to beg a drink. A dance with them costs a dollar. In some of the questionable haunts a man needs a padlock on his pocketbook when dancing with some of the girls. They are expert pick-pockets.

Anyone entering the lower type of clubs is taking a big chance. Drinks have been known to have been doped and the victim either awakes to find himself on the cold kerb, or in a hospital or a police station.

When seeking distraction in London visitors should learn th eslogan "tread warily." If they must see night life then go to the reputed high-class clubs.

These are safe—but extremely costly.

INCREASED STIPEND FOR RHODES SCHOLARS

Rhodes scholars from the United States and Canada during the past 20 years, according to a statement of the American secretary of the Rhodes Trust, have made almost identical academic records at Oxford University. Among the 420 candidates for appointment considered at the last election of scholars to enter the university in October, 1926, Ohio led with 39 candidates, and Pennsylvania had 30. The stipend has been increased recently and the 32 men elected will have an annual income of 400 pounds each for the three years of their residence at Oxford.

A Page Of Special Interest To Farmers

Articles and Local News about South-Plains Farmers; Prepared by Welton Winn, Practical Farmer

What the Farmers Are Doing

We met Mr. J. R. Carver, who lives at Lamesa, in the city Tuesday morning. Mr. Carver is in the general produce business at Lamesa. He said everything was all right, that farmers were turning their attention to diversified farming down his way. He thinks there will be a material reduction of cotton acreage and also a material increase in dairy cows, poultry, and hogs. He says they have a fine feed crop and he thinks will give much more attention to the things mentioned and less effort to growing cotton. Mr. Carver has lived on the North Plains at Wheeler, in Wheeler County, and he says that the farmers up there where they did not grow cotton, but went to producing cream and poultry were all now in good financial condition without an exception. Mr. Carver was in the same line of business at Wheeler, as he is at Lamesa, and has had occasion to keep in close touch with the farmers at both places. He says he thinks the South Plains is the best place in Texas for dairying and the poultry business. He says the North Plains are too cold for him, but the South Plains are ideal. He says the posibilities of the South Plains as a dairy and poultry farming section is almost beyond comprehension. Mr. Carver is now buying poultry for the Swift plant here. He handles, poultry, eggs, cream and hides, and is on the job all the time.

Bob Ellis was in the city Saturday and when asked about the farmers out his way, which is in the McClung community, said out that way, they were all elated over the fine school building that is now being erected. He said the farmers are now beginning to prepare their land for the new crop. About all the cotton had been gathered and all had made fine feed crops. He said some are listing their land, others are breaking and some discing. All are optimistic over this year's outlook. He thinks there will be much better cultivation of all crops this year as last season taught some very valuable lessons along the lines of better or more intensive cultivation of the land. He says the land seems to be in excellent condition for breaking, or other methods of preparation. He thinks there will be quite a reduction in cotton acreage. He says the farmers are giving more attention to better seed for all crops. They have found that good seed is one of the most important things in successful production. Mr. Ellis said the people in his neighborhood were more interested in growing a real living on their farms than ever before. They will try more to grow and save by canning and otherwise, all things they grow for a living at home. He thinks they will grow more hogs, poultry, and keep more good cows than they have before. Mr. Ellis mentioned one other thing that should be considered by all the farmers of the plains, that is, they should grow some good cane and make syrup for home use and for this market. Isn't it funny that we buy all our syrup from other states when Texas could almost supply the United States with syrup if we would only try. Mr. Ellis said they used to grow lots of syrup before they took such a cotton craze; said where the seeded ribbon can had been used it made a fine grade, much better than most of the syrup now sold on this and all South Plains markets. We have often called attention to the importance of growing more syrup here on the farms of the plains and we still think it would be a very profitable crop to grow this year.

Mr. W. B. Stegall, who lives in the Grovesville community, was in the city Saturday, and gave us some points from that part of the county. He said the farmers in his neighborhood were about thru gathering cotton and was preparing their land for this year's crop. He said listing was the usual plan used in preparing the land. He did not know about cotton acreage reduction, but said the farmers would be sure to try to grow plenty of feed, as last year had taught a good lesson on that line. He said there was no small grain sowed in his section.

Mr. R. A. Heath, who lives out west three miles was in the city Monday and when asked about his farm said he and his boys would run their farm this year. He said there was more plowing done at this time than any year before since he has lived in this county, which is six years. Mr. Heath does not know what the sentiment of the farmers will be in regard to reduction of the cotton acreage, but he thinks the feed crop will be kept up to the standard as the short feed crops of 1924 taught the importance of growing plenty of feed for all purposes. Mr. Heath thinks the farmers will grow more poultry and keep more good cows and will try to grow some hogs, in fact he thinks there will be more real diversification than ever before this is very encouraging and as it should be.

Mr. Odem, who lives on one of the Tech Farms was in the city Monday and when asked about his farming said he would be at the present place this year. Mr. Odem is a good farmer we visited his farm last fall and he had the crop to show what he was as a farmer. Mr. Odem is listing his land, but has run a drag over his stalks first. Said he would like to have a disc harrow but could not afford to buy.

Mr. A. O. Lacy, who lives on one of the Tech farms was in Monday and we had quite a talk with him about farming in this section, he is here from East Texas and was glad to have our ideas about this county and its farm operations. He will cultivate 127 acres. Will have forty acres in feed balance in cotton. He has been here three years. These men are good workers and will be sure to produce good results this season.

Mr. Curry who has the fine irrigated farm south of the city, was in this week and gave us some points about his irrigated farm. He said at present he only had some onions, but was making good preparations for the best crop he has ever grown on his farm. He said his past experience and the increased demand for his vegetables in the city was the cause of his increased effort for more vegetables. Mr. Curry had not had very much truck experience when he first bought his splendid little farm, but has studied carefully how and what to plant until he now has a very fine outfit. He has also secured the help of an expert and is now in shape to grow a fine lot of vegetables for this market. He is delighted with the prospects of Lubbock as a good market for all and more than he can grow of all the vegetables that do well on the Plains. He further thinks he will learn from time the time that he can grow more varieties than most people think will do well here. He is making many experiments while he is feeding or helping to feed the people of the city. Last summer when we visited his place we saw the heaviest crop of tomatoes that we ever saw on vines, anywhere in this state, so that places this section in the very front ranks as a tomato growing section, it is not necessary to go to East Texas and Arkansas for tomatoes but just learn that we have a fine tomato growing country right here at Lubbock. Why not the farmers of this county organize a tomato growing association and grow thousands of cans of this fine vegetable here in Lubbock and the country round about Lubbock.

We met Mr. E. P. Norwood on the streets Wednesday. He said the men on his farms were about thru breaking and listing their land. He said listing is the usual way of preparing land out there. He said the land is in very fine condition for plowing. Said they did not need rain to get ready for plowing but that it is now in fine condition for plowing. He said by good deep cultivation and good preparation of land last year, they had killed most all the blue weeds, out that way, said the farmers did not dread the blue weeds as they once did. He said there were fine feed and that the farmers would be crops grown out there last year more careful to grow feed crops than they were before, that the short feed crop in '24 had taught them a good lesson on feed growing. They would not soon forget.

Mr. Norwood said the farmers were going in more for poultry and good cows, he thinks the time has come for farmers to try harder than ever before to grow all the things they need on their farms —let this be the first consideration in planning crops to be grown. He thinks there should be more hogs grown in this county especially while we have such a fine lot of feed on hand.

We very heartily agree with the ideas set forth by Mr. Norwood and have so stated in these columns many times; this is the only true way out of our present difficulties, and we are indeed glad to see so many entertaining these views.

Mr. Bertram, who lives near Meadow, was in the city Tuesday and gave us some interesting items from his part of the county. He said about all the cotton had been gathered and that farmers are now preparing their lad for this year's crop. He said there had been made a fine feed crop down his way and that farmers would continue to grow more feed. He thinks the short feed crop of 1924 would serve as a good lesson for a long time in the feed growing business. Mr. Bertram who has about 300 acres in farms said he would plant about 100 acres in feed, balance in cotton. He said the usual way the farmers prepared their land is by listing, though some were breaking their land this year. He said he likes to break his land at least every third year. He thinks this is better than to list all the time. He said the farmers out his way were giving much more attention to poultry and to good milk cows than they have heretofore an dthinks they will begin to raise more hogs. He says there are very few hogs in the country but with the splendid feed crops they now have he thinks they will turn to raising hogs again. He says the farmers seem to begni to think that the first thing to consider on the farm is growing a good living, and save all they do grow, to can all surplus vegetables and fruit for future use. He thinks much more corn could be grown and canned for home use.

That good farmer, Mr. G. F. Copp, who lives out south of the city, was in Tuesday said he had his land all well flat broken and was now ready for planting when the time comes. Mr. Copp is one of our most progressive farmers and had to give up most of his nice little farm for the extension of the city but he cannot give up farming and has rented some land to farm on this year.

Mr. Copp has all the time been converted to teh idea of fewer acres and better cultivation and has practiced this plan ever since we have known him and he never fails to make good crops.

Mr. S. P. Eoff was in the city Wednesday and said he had 200 acres of his farm listed, had about 75 more not plowed. He will plant about half his land in feed crops which has been his practice all along. He is never out of feed, believes in keeping over some feed until it is known what the next crop will be; he said he could sell lots of feed now but preferred to wait until the next crop was in sight. Mr. Eoff has about the largest orchard we have seen in the county. It will be remembered that his orchard bore two crops of peaches in 1924, we saw and used quite a lot of the second crop of peaches, late in the fall. They were small but very sweet and delicious. He told us that his orchard had grown two crops soveral times before. Mr. Eoff is in the list of our very best farmers as well as fruit growers.

We met Mr. Bob Penney today and asked him how the farm work was progressing on his farms. Mr. Penney has large interests in this county—has four farms out north and has three farms at Wolffarth. Mr. Penney says his men are all preparing their land much earlier this year than last year, and the land is in fine condition for plowing. Mr. Penney was one of the men who did not wait for rain last year but encouraged his men to plow and disc their land while it was still dry, had one thing done that was a surprise to many old timers, that was to have about 100 acres of sod broken when it was so dry last year that most men thought they could not plow. This land was broken when the land was very dry and when the rain came it was ready to plant and could be worked like old land. This set a new example for farming in this section in regard to plowing or breaking sod. Mr. Penny is a very progressive thinker, he disclaims the title of being a good farmer, but studies the principles of agriculture and encourages the things that will produce the best results.

Mr. Penny says he is leaving the feed business with his men, is letting them plant as much feed as they want, he thinks it is a good plan to have plenty feed in the country all the time, and the best way to do this is for all farmers to grow plenty for their own use with some to sell each year.

One item we overlooked in the interview we had with Mr. Bertram was that he said some of his neighbors had been making a good grade of syrup for some time and that he sold all he had to spare at a good pdice each year. He thinks much more syrup should be produced here each year. We are glad to hear of this, we have called attention to the importance of growing and making syrup here several times with very little response. We are sure as fine and healthy syrup can be produced here as anywhere in the state except possibly in East Texas where they grow the real ribbon cane. We hink as good syrup can be made right here as any we usually get that we pay very high prices for, why not grow some more cane for syrup making this year. We think it would be a good plan to put up some good premimums on the best syrup made in this county this year.

It is remarkable that it requires good premimums put up on crops to get farmers to do their best in growing them. See what wonderful results we have had in the production of cotton since the large premimums have been paid on large yields. But we guess thi shas been true for more than a century as we have read the history of the high premimums put up and won on cattle in England more than a century ago, so after all money helps to make things go to the best, so we would just as well fall in line and put up good premiums on the crops, all the crops we want materially increased in yield.

Mr. J. Lindsey, who lives out south three miles was in the city today (Wednesday). He is here for his first year from Bell county, he likes the plains well and thinks he might locate here after this year. He was in having his disc plows sharpened up, is breaking his land instead of listing, which is the general practice here on the plains. We have always preferred breaking land instead of listing, there are several reasons for this, but we will only give some of them, but just here we want to say we are glad to hear of more breaking this year than any year since we have been on the plains. First of all, we want to say that all land should be first double disced before breaking, for the following resons, the discing cuts up all the stalks and the top crust of the land so when it is turned under it unites more readily with the soil below, that is it is turned down in the furrow and leaves less air space. Then all these are out of the way for the balance of the season. Then when the land is broken it can be broken at least two inches deeper than if at first disced, this has ben so well demonstrated that we will pass on. When these are turned under good and deep they will get wet when it rains and will retain the moisture much better than if left partially covered up. This was well brought out by the I. H. C. lecturers that we had with us recently. The other and we think the best reason for the breaking is that the land will not dry out as bad as if listed. We fill up the low places in the roads, or should do it, so that they will dry out, and become passible, if put up ridges in low places in the roads will cause them to dry out the same principle will apply to listing up high beds in the fields. It will cause them to dry out more than if left level. We will not try to answer the common plea of bedding to prevent blowing, we will only say if the land is broken deeply it will not blow as bad as man yseem to think, so we will just suggest that you try it one time and tell us of the results; we mean by that you really break the land and not merely scratch it. Mr. Lindsey says he thinks the safe way for farmers to do is to have some good cows and good poultry and by having these with a good market a farmer can be on the safe side while he is farming. He says all cows should be tested and known to be healthy and then all the best sanitary measures used in handling milk this is the only safe plan for farmers to follow for best results.

Economics of Farm Changing

by J. C. PRIDMORE, Agronomist, Atlanta, Ga.

As styles have changed in skirts in late years, they have likewise undergone changes in farming methods and operations in Texas. In fact, we might say that very decided changes have taken place and are in the making in farming methods in this State. These changes affect economic conditions of the State very markedly.

Forty or fifty years ago the cultivated area of each farm was larger more land per plow was tilled, and, generally speaking, an exploitive or mining system of growing cotton was followed. Even so, the lands were comparatively new and produced a half bale per acre. Without regard to soil depletion, or to restoring the plant food removed by crops, the methods followed then were practiced pretty generally, with the inevitable result that cotton yields have decreased by ten-year periods from around a half bale to a little more than 125 pounds per acre. Such yields as the latter are not sufficient to pay production costs at present prices of cotton, to say nothing of giving a profit to the grower.

Must Change Methods

In recent years the farmers of the State have come to a full realization of the economic necessity of changing their plans of farming from the exploitive or mining system to one of more intensive culture produein gthereby larger yields per acre with the hope of getting more money from their work. Efforts of the A. and M. College in an educational way along with the inspiration of the wonderful yields obtained in the "More Cotton on Fewer Acres" contest so ably conducted by The Dallas News and The Semi-Weekly Farm News, with the A. and, M. College co-operating, an dother factors have produced a great tendency toward smaller units or farms with more intensive cultural practices. As evidence of this tendency to more and smaller farms we could cite statistics showing that Texas has more farms today than she had five years ago, and a smaller number of acres per plow or per man than was the case in the past. Along with the tendency toward smaller farms we find that the farmers themselves are taking more interest in good farming methods, as indicated by the increased use of better seed, more terracing and keener demand for definite knowledge of the proper uses of commercial fertilizers, soil improvement practices and other factors that influence yields and control profits in farming.

This tendency to smaller farms, along with more intensive cultural practices, including the more liberal use of high analysis fertilizers alone, is bringing about bigger net returns to the farmer than was possible when he cultivated large areas and obtained small yields at high production costs. We speak positively on this point because investigations in Texas and elsewhere show that, generally speaking, the large yields of cotton per acre are made at a smaller cost per pound and, therefore, give larger profits to the grower. On the other hand, the surveys show that small yields make small profits or cause actual losses to the producer.

We have but to review the records of Adams, McFarlane, Nash, McCaleb, Jaggers and hundreds of others in The Dallas News and Semi-Weekly Farm News contest of the last two years to prove that big yields mean larger profits and that the tendency of the cotton farmers of Texas to smaller units with more intensive cultural practice is sound economically.

Use of Fertilizers

In connection with the production of larger crops on fewer acres, particularly cotton, I can not pass by the opportunity of emphasizing not only the necessity of, but the profits to be derived from giving more attention to good soil management practices and particularly to a more liberal use of high analysis fertilizers, one of the important factors which made possible the high yields in the contests of the last two years, and without which these world record yields could not have been made.

In the case of Mr. Adams in 1925 we not that he applied 1,200 pounds of fertilizer per acre, which, in terms of an analysis, was equivalent to approximately 10 per cent phosphoric acid, 5 per cent nitrogen and 4 per cent potash.

While we do not advocate such heavy applications in general farm practices, we do urge that farmers of Texas use more fertilizer per acre than they have been applying in the past, particularly in sections where it has proven to be profitable, using a high analysis goods, properly prepared and balanced with respect to their phosphoric acid, nitrogen and potash content and made to meet the needs of the soil and crop and in line with the recommendations of the A. M. College and Texas experiment station, information on which can be had from the College for the asking or consulting the county agents.

Considering the world's demands for cotton, along with the fact that the last two years have given approximately two million bales excess of consumption, we can easily see the possible danger of over-production, and that the production in 1926 of much more than was made in 1925 might prove disastrous and bring about lower prices to the great disadvantage of the growers.

We believe in a safe system of farming, which consists of the production of farm and home necessities, as far as possible, making larger yields of cotton on fewer acres, letting this be the clean surplus cash crop. We believe, too, that the future is bright for the Texas cotton growers and that the factors and that the factors influencing the tendencies to smaller farms, better farmers, more intensive production, bigger acre yields and larger profits to the growers, are remaking the State's agriculture on a sound economic basis.

A Better Day is Dawning for the Farmers

We noticed recently where a delegation of farmers had met in Washing, D. C., to present their claims to Congress, but they could not agree on what was the most important thing needed to be done, but to take the matter from the different parts of the country, it is clear that all are agreed on one thing, and that is that all should try harder than ever before to grow all the things needed for the families on the farms in the several parts of the country. This we think is the soundest doctrine of all and when put into practice we will need no more laws but will have better days for the farmers of the entire Nation.

Our Visit To The Dillard Dairy Barn

We made a short visit to the dairy barn of W. B. Dillard Saturday. We had known of this enterprise, but had not visited it before. We found young Dillard very much interested in his small bunch of real dairy cows. He only had six, but they were real cows. We have visited most all the herds in this section and have always taken pleasure in reporting the splendid condition of the cows around this city. We think the people of Lubbock are to be congratulated on the splendid class of cows from which they get their milk supply. Young Dillard has his cows in the best condition in the way of flesh of any herd that we have seen. They are real fine beef at present.

Mr. Dillard has his scales right at hand so that he knows each morning and evening just what each cow is producing. This would be a big task for a large herd, but we think for smaller lots this is a fine idea, and would be good for all herds to be tested out occasionally. Then he tests his cows for butter fat, and his herd shows a splendid yield which we failed to note down, but think it was 4.7 per cent butter fat. He showed us on ecow that looked to be a fine Jersey but on a rigid test was found to be a mere boarder. This was interesting to us and we think all cows should be tested both for production an dbutter fat.

Mr. Dillard uses a college formula in mixing his feed, has his own grinding machinery, and puts his feed in the best possible way for the best results in producing the best yields.

He has a grinder for his bundle sorghum, that cuts and grinds his feed very fine and he keeps the ground feed in the bins all the time. He feeds the concentrated feed by weight, so that his cows have the right balanced feed all the time. In discussing this plan of feeding Mr. Dillard said when cows were out on pasture they kept eating all day and when in lots should have a forage that will keep them eating all the time. We think this is a fine idea. He keeps the forage before them all day and feeds the balanced concentrated feed twice per day.

He is arranging to comply with the city ordinance and aims to stay in the business. He gave us his formula for mixing his feed as follows: 140 pounds cotton seed meal, 200 pounds of wheat bran, 550 pounds of ground milo heads or kafir heads, well mixed.

We were glad to look over this nice lot of cows and equipment. His cows produce the highest average of milk per day of any herd we have visited.

CANYON PARAGRAPHS

By Glenn Burgess

There always comes the time in the history of any community when the young people grow backwards or bashful and quit taking any part in the social and religious activities of their community. There seems to be "nothing doing." If one crowd tries to get up something, the others stand back; will not help, and criticize unmercifully. Those capable of taking parts in the Sunday school, singing, and young people's meeting, turn up their noses as if insulted when asked to take part and help out.

They are afraid to take the place of those who have moved away or have out grown the younger set.

When the above condition exists, strangers find little welcome. When they come into church, they are met with inquisitive stares mingled with amused smiles. If these strangers do not measure up to standard there is a general wave of "sniggering" and coughing. During the services, the younger folks pass the time more quickly in taking sidelong glances when the strangers are not looking. After the services are over, the strangers walk out without having met any one, and it is doubtful if they will come back soon.

The city churches are accused of being too conventional and "stuck up," but let us compare with a certain Baptist church in our capitol city. A teacher (of a Sunday school class of some three hundred members appoints three young men to meet every one at the front door. These men introduce themselves to strangers, tell them where to go and do it in such a way that any one coming there are made to feel at home. The teacher, who is a judge on the State Court of Criminal Appeals, also meets every one as they come in. In a short time he knows the names of his entire csals and can tell you all about them. This is just one example of friendliness that all of us have encountered when in a strange place.

Why not some of this friendliness good cheer, and co-operation among the young folks in our rural communities? Try it—it might work.

Giving advice is so easy that it is hard to stop and hunt up some real happenings in the community. Most communities run so smoothly on the surface, one would think that its happenings would be to commonplace to relate. However, in looking over this week's calendar we find that February 22, Truly Thompson gave a Washington Birthday Party in honor of Miss Marie Kincaide, of Shallowater. A large number of Lubbock's and Canyon's young people enjoyed the games and the singing and music rendered by Mr. and Mrs. Brooks of Lubbock.

Speaking of things with a kick in them, E. Sherrod says he has found the best yet. On Sunday afternoon he approached too closely to the rear end of one of his mules, and the kick received on his shin was stronger than that in a Ford or in all the "moonshine" in Lubbock County.

H. D. Bently has been on the sick list lately and was unable to teach Monday and Tuesday. Miss Vada Sides has taken his place until he shall be able to resume his duties again.

On Monday a number of boys thought that it was April Fool and took the day off. We hope they enjoyed the day for we have heard that school is just a little harder after a holiday.

Mr. Ab Sides went to Posey Monday afternoon to see the train wreck.

BECTON NEWS

The sand has ben blowing here lately, but we realize if we live in West Texas we will have to become accustomed to it. We are in hopes the sand will quit blowing and we will get a good rain. It is real dry but we are in hopes it won't be dry long.

SMYER LOCALS

Today, Wednesday, we had one of the quickest snow storms. It began snowing about 10 a. m. and in 30 minutes the ground was covered to a depth of an inch or more. In a few minutes the sun came out and by noon it had all melted.

Mrs. J. L. Huddleston and Mr. H. H. Hodges returned Saturday from Knox City where they had been for a wek at the bedside of their father, Mr. H. H. Hodges. They reported that their father was in a critical condition and at present he has shown no improvement.

The first wedding of the Smyer community was solemnized Thursday evening at 7:30 at the home of Mr. R. P. Markham, Justice of the Peace when Mr. Ernest Watson of Smyer and Miss Dorris Stafford of Farmersville were united in marriage, with Mr. Markham officiating. There were quite a few of uninvited guests since this was Mr. Markham's first effort in performing matrimonial ceremonies. Despite this fact he went through the ordeal with only a slight nervousness from which, we understand, he is now fully recuperated. The writer extends congratulations to the bride and groom and also to Mr. Markham.

ANDERSON-CLAYTON CO. OBJECTED TO COTTON PRICE

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 24.—Fixing of the price of cotton caused the break between the Anderson Clayton & Co., and the Houston Cotton Exchange, it became known late Wednesday.

When its protest was ignored and its appeal to the board of directors was denied, the company withdrew from the exchange, it was learned.

After 17 years of perfect attendance at Sunday school, W. H. Starnes of Asheville, N. C., had to miss on account of measles.

COMPILED BY MUNN & CO., PATENT ATTORNEYS

Of 943 patents issued in the last week, Texas inventors obtained 13.

That these inventions are worth while is attested by the number of patents that already have been assigned for manufacture and sale. In other cases the inventors are planning to manufacture them themselves or still are negotiating for assignments or royalties.

The following information is compiled by Munn & Co., of New York, Washington, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

AS HARD GET DIVORCE IN PARIS AS AT HOME SAYS FRENCH MINISTRY

By United Press

PARIS,—The famous "divorce mill" of Paris has not been working overtime after all, at least in the year 1925, according to statistics gathered by the Ministry of Justice.

Prominence has been given to the divorces granted by the Paris courts simply because the parties concerned belonged to very wealthy families, lawyers here assert. The official spokesmen pointed out that, although 49,414 Americans obtained identity cards in Paris in 1925, only 120 divorces between American citizens were pronounced.

The proportion of divorces between French citizens is much greater. This is given as proof that it is not laxity of procedure which induces Americans to come here for the purpose of having their marriages dissolved but rather the rapidity and secrecy of the divorce proceedings in the Paris courts. The secrecy was especially evidenced in the case of the Valentino divorce, even the officials of the courts being unaware when the divorce of Monsieur and Madame Guglielmi was pronounced, that one of the parties was the famous film actor.

Frederic Allain, a Paris lawyer who has had long experience in legal tangles interesting Americans, explained that in reality it is no easier for an American to obtain a divorce in Paris than it would be in the State from which he or she comes. The reason for the divorce must be one justified by the legislation of that state. Thus a person from the State of New York seeking a divorce in Paris must prove infidelity. Persons from American States which do not permit divorce cannot obtain one here.

"What is important here," he added, "is that the law of 1880 forbids the newspapers to give details of the case. The conditions to be fulfilled by persons seeking a divorce are strict. They must be residents of Paris, although the law does not specify for how long a period. Both parties must accept the competence of the French courts. Thus, there cannot be forced consent on the part of husband or wife. The motive invoked by the person bringing the suit must be one which is valid in the state wherein he or she habitually resides or in which the marriage was celebrated."

AMBULANCE AIRPLANE CARRIES MEDICAL AID OVER ICY LAPLAND

STOCKHOLM, (United Press)—By his intrepid exploits as pilot of a Red Cross aerial ambulance, rescuing suddenly stricken inhabitants in the most desolate and inaccessible regions of northern Lapland F. Cornelius, an aviation sergeant attached to Sweden's most northerly fortress at Boden, near the Finnish border, has become a national hero.

This is the third winter season that the flying ambulance has been in commission and at frequent intervals new feats by the daring aviator are announced.

Though all roads may be blocked by snow for months, the aerial ambulance flies high over the frozen wastes and being equipped with pontoons in summer and skiis in winter it lands either on open water or on the snow.

Sergeant Cornelius' latest feat was to carry a patient stricken with appendicitis from the interior of Lapland to the hospital at Lulea on the coast, though the temperature was fifty-four degrees below zero. The aviator's face was badly frozen.

CHINESE LADIES INVADE RED LIGHT AREA

TOKYO (United Press)—Reports from Mukden state that the recent warfare close to that capital was not without its advantages to some, especially as it turned out hat Mukden was safe from looting and massacre. The few anxious days when the rebel general was fighting his way forward, driving in the Mukden armies, gave the aristocratic Manchu ladies of the Manchurian stronghold their first, and perhaps their last, chances to see for themselves how the the other half of the Mukden world moves and lives and has its being.

With General Kuo's approach to Mukden a wave of terror swept the city and the Chinese aristocrats, military officers and wealthy merchants hastily gathered up their valuables, including their harems ,and dashed with these into the near-by Japanese citly. Every available room in the Japanese section was son engaged, at profiteer prices. When the hotels, rooming houses and private houses were all occupied to capacity, the Chinese refugees invaded the red light quarter and rented every vacant room there, installing their first, second, third or fourth wives, as the case might be.

This was the first time the majority of these ladies had ever been allowed outside of their own little neighborhoods in the Chinese city, and most of them took full advantage of their new freedom. They twittered their way along the broad streets, comparing these and the plate-glassed stores with the narrow thoroughfare and barred store windows of their own city; they ventured into foreign restaurants and Japanese tea houses and giggled happily over the funny things some people actually eat; some even essayed the cabarets, where they found short-skirted Russian women going round and round on the floors in the clasp of men who were actually not their husbands. This shocked the Mukden ladies down to the seventh wife circle

Chrysler Demand Shown In the New Buildings

One of the most remarkable facts in connection with the large production increase effected by Chrysler during the last two years is that it has not necessitated the addition of very much new floor space. Ordinarily, the consideration of increased manufacturing schedules is the signal to increase at once the working space, but with Chrysler the tendency has been to increase the effectiveness of the already available space rather than add new space. Thus, operating expense and upkeep have ben kept at the absolute minimum, and consumer values have been improved proportionately.

That there was a limit, however, to the possibilities of "space engineering" became apparent several months ago, with the result that there is now in process of construction at the Highland Park Plant a new five-acre addition to be devoted chiefly to increased motor production.

This new building is of the most approved machine shop type of construction, namely one-story structural steel, with saw-tooth roof and with unbroken walls of steel windows to insure the daylighting of every square foot of its working area.

The new building was staked out December 4 and according to working schedules, will be completely equipped and in operation by March 15. Some idea of the aggressiveness with which operations are being pushed may be gained from the fact that it is one of the largest construction jobs ever built during a northern state's winter and completed in less than ninety working days. The total cost of the work will be approximately half a million dollars.

Special attention has been given to the matter of arrangement and equipment, with reference to employee comfort and welfare. Recreation rooms, rest rooms and wash rooms are provided in all departments.

Additional new Chrysler construction, now under way includes (1) an entire new system of receiving and shipping docks, comprising a total trackage of more than five thousand feet, with depressed tracks to facilitate car loading and unloading; (2) a new service garage for the storage of factory trucks and cars; and (3) a paved parking space of 600-car capacity fo rthe use of employees.

All phases of the work are being rushed at the utmost possible speed in order that the new facilities may be available in time to meet the increased spring demand for Chrysler cars.

A profesional school for women has been established at LaPaz by the Bolivian Government in response to a vigorous campaign conducted by women's clubs and societies. Its curriculum is designed to include all subjects which are necessary in home making and to enable a woman to maintain herself, if she is thrown upon her own resources. No public school of this kind has existed in Bolivia heretofore.—Jesse S. Cottrell, American Minister.

Oldsmobile Sales Reach High Peak Elliott Declares

P. W. Elliott, owner and manager of the Elliott Oldsmobile Company, is pleased with the way business has started off on the 1926 course, and believes it will be a record year for Oldsmobile sales.

Elliott points out that actual sales of Oldsmobiles from January to February 15 have been nearly four times as great as during the same period last year. And on February 15 there were more unfilled orders with immediate shipping instructions on file at the Olds Motor Works, Lansing, Michigan, than the scheduled production for the remainder of the month.

These facts tend to substantiate the optimistic attitude of business experts regarding the 1926 automotive industry. A year ago conditions were considered good by Oldsmobile officials. But the start of this year indicates that all previous records will again be broken by this veteran of the automobile business.

An analysis of retail sales so far this year shows a strong demand for the second and third car among families. Each individual adult today, according to the survey, is desirous of owning their own car, and the only limitations to the number of potential buyers are financial ability and the number of adults in the country.

This feature has been most strikingly brought out in the analysis of sales of the DeLuxe four passenger roadster and the two passenger coupe—two models introduced by Oldsmobile at the New York automobile show. The roadster has found ready sale among two predominating classes. One is composed of women who own a closed car in choosing a second car prefer an open model built along the graceful and sportive lines of the roadster. The second class is the younger set and men who use a car in business.

New York City has more than a hundred languages and over a thousand dialects.

LUBBOCK COMPANY FINANCES REPAIR OF USED CARS

George Benson, head of the Lubbock Auto Company, yesterday announced that through the co-operation of the Neches Finance Company, of which J. L. Cunningham, is manager, a Ford reconditioning plan, offering Ford users an opportunity to have their cars reconditioned on an easy-payment plan extending over a period of as much as eight months, has been established.

Mr. Cunningham has his offices in the Lubbock Auto Company Building, and will be enabled to take care of all of the paper that can be created through the new plan, according to Mr. Benson.

The matter of re-conditioning, repainting, putting on new casings and in fact every means of improving the mechanical condition and usefulness of a Ford will be taken care of in the workshops of the Lubbock Auto Company.

Kuykendall Offers Cars At Auction Here on Monday

The group or auction selling plan has been injected into automobile business here as a means of handling the used car problem by Geo. P. Kuykendall, owner and manager of the Kuykendall Chevrolet Company.

Tomorrow the Kuykendall company will offer for sale at public auction 30 used cars in which some splendid values will doubtless be offered and purchases will be made at perhaps better advantage on the part of the purchaser than is usually offered in this line.

Mr. Kuykendall has developed splendid business in the handling of used cars, and has established a lead in this field on the South Plains.

The auction sale will be watched with unusual interest by automobile men and prospective buyers if inquiries received at the Kuykendall sales room are to be taken as an indication of what to expect Monday.

The Secretary of the National Association of Real Estate Boards has been quoted as saying that the year 1925 will record the largest building program in the history of the United States.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS ARMS CONFERENCE IS HELD UP

By J. W. T. MASON
Written for the United Press

NEW ORK, Feb. 27.—Postponement by the League of Nations of the contemplated conference on further limitations of armament does not mean that Europe is trying to get away from this issue. On the contrary, there is so much at stake, financially, in being able to curtail expenditures on armies and navies that the trans-Atlantic powers are anxious to go ahead, if at the same time their future security will not be left unguarded.

The problem of disarmament, however, revolves around the relations between France and Germany in particular, coupled with the disbelief in the European chancellories that war will be made more and more improbable by reducing armament costs. On the contrary, there is a conviction among the European chancellories that war will peace is still far from having been realized and there will assuredly be other wars before the futility of belligerent settlements of disputes becomes recognized.

At present, France has a preponderant position, militarily, compared with Germany. France believes her security rests fundamentally on maintaining superior preparedness over the Germans. By the provisions of the treaty of Versailles, German armament costs are now at a minimum. If all the world powers were to reduce their expenditures for making war to the present German level, disarmament would be eralized almost to an ideal extent. By agreeing to any such proposal, however, or by cutting her own army below its present strength, France would be offering a gratuitous reduction of her military strength to the Germans. That is to say, the French believe they would be making their own frontier less secure, without getting any exchange value from Germany.

Therefore, before there can be any important lessening of French military costs, it will be necessary to secure pledges concerning the future from Germany. These will have to take the form very largely of crippling Germany's power to strike a quick blow at France, in addition to permanent curtailment of Germany's experiments with chemical means of combat. The further widening of German western territory within which it will become illegal to construct fortifications and military depots will largely guarantee France against any such quick catastrophe as happened when the Germans mobilized with such great rapidity at Frances' frontier, on the outbreak of the World War. How to check Germany's future experiment with new weapons of warfare, however, has not been worked out.

Furthermore, the attitude of Russia in any European scheme for decreasing armaments must play an important part in any permanent agreement. It would be tempting fate for the western Europeans to agree among themselves to weaken their offensive and defensive strength while Russia held back and reserved the right to increase her own military power. It will not be forever that the Bolsheviks hold irresponsible power in Russia. The return of Russia to the position in Europe she held before the war cannot be permanently prevented even by the Communists in Moscow. Russia is destined to come back and to wield enormous influence because of her innate wealth and man-power.

But, for the moment, the Bolsheviks, who are engaged in internal strife among themselves, cannot offer to the rest of Europe any agreement for a permanent reduction of armament. It is necessary to wait, therefore, a better opportunity than the present before any conference on disarmament can have hope of a useful success. This is the reason the League of Nations is moving cautiously and is not inclined to rush forward idealistically only to find hat practical consideration remain to trip the unwary.

Nevertheless, the financial urge for economy in Europe is constant insitence in all countries. This is ly making itself felt with increasing the main pressure which eventually will force a reduction of armament. Neither idealism nor a real belief that warfare has been abolished will exert much influence on the European statesmen. But, the possibility of reducing taxes always appeals to the party in power and there is this practical aspect which is permanently present. So, eventually, a disarmament conference will sit in Europe and will doubtless accomplish much; but before it can be called, there must be a reasonable probability of success based on informal understandings reached in advance among the leading countries.

ALL UNDER AGE WORKERS ATTEND CONTINUATION SCHOOLS

Nearly 800 New Jersey boys and girls employed in New York City are compelled this year to attend continuation school for four hours a week. A tuition fee of $2 a month is charged. The continuation school law of New Jersey requires attendance of children until 16 years of age; in New York the maximum is 17, or completion of the high-school course. It was found that, as a consequence many employers in the city, to avoid the inconvenience of school attendance by their workers, were giving the preference to young people from New Jersey. To prevent this discrimination the New York education law will be applied impartially to all under-age workers.

CHINESE PAY DEBTS AS NEW YEAR NEARS

By United Press

SHANGHAI — Shanghai's financial resources are being subjected to a heavy strain in order to meet the annual settlement with the coming of Chinese New Year. In even ordinary years there is some measure of difficulty because of all elements of the community requiring money at the same time, but this year the general strike which extended through last summer and the trade slump due to boycotts and wars have been factors in creating a stringency more acute than ever before.

Chinese customs, centuries old, dictates that at the coming of the New Year one must have a clean slate free from all debts. This requires that every Chinese, whether he be coolie or banker, merchant or manufacturer, must square up all accounts in the period immediately preceding. If he does so, he proclaims the fact proudly by pasting a cherished bit of red paper on his outer door. If he doesn't he has an automatically confessed bankruptcy.

An additional strain is occasioned by reason of the fact that bonuses to employes are all paid in the days preceding the New Year.

There are 4,105 Masonic lodges in England.

AMUSDEN PREPARES FOR POLAR FLIGHT

LENINGRAD (U.P.)—The well-known Norwegian explorer Captain Roald Amundsen, is expected to arrive in Leningrad this month to superintend the construction of the runway from which his airplane will take off on the occasion of his next dash for the pole.

The construction of the necessary preliminary works for Amundsen's flight has been placed under the direct charge of the inspector of the Leningrad military distrikt. Amundsen expects to make a direct nonstop flight from Leningrad to Spitzbergen and some of his associates have already taken up the preliminary details of arranging the flight with the Soviet aviation authorities.

Finer Transportation at Lower Cost

More Buicks are now being sold than ever before in Buick history. And an important reason is the fact that, though expensively built, a Buick may be inexpensively purchased.

Buick could spend less money building its chassis, and still keep the quality up to the average in Buick's price class. The famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine is a more expensive type to build. Buick could use a steering gear less expensive than the 5-control-surface steering mechanism which adds so much to Buick's driving ease. The Torque-Tube Drive also adds expense to Buick manufacture, as do the "Sealed Chassis," the "Triple Sealed" engine, full pressure engine lubrication, the Buick multiple-disc, dry-plate clutch, and Buick mechanical 4-wheel brakes.

Buick closed bodies are built by Fisher to the most exacting standards laid down by any manufacturer today.

Quality, regardless of its cost, rules Buick design. But thanks to the sustained popularity of this quality, purchasers actually pay less for it. Vast volume gives Buick owners finer transportation at lower cost. Your next car should be a Better Buick!

WHITE RUSS REFUGEES IN CHINA RELIEVED FROM THEIR SUFFERING

By RANDAL GOULD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PEKING, (United Press)—For the first winter since the Russian revolution the distress of the "white" refugees in northern China is no longer acute. The plight of these exiles, many of them untrained for labor, trying to compete with Chinese, has been desperate but at last they seem to be adjusting themselves to the new conditions.

Four factors are noted in the gradual relief of those Russians. In the first place, most of the aged and the weakest have died under the years of acute privation they were forced to endure.

Among the others who were unable to fit into life in China a large number took advantage of the opportunity to repatriate themselves after China and the Soviet signed their treaty of diplomatic recognition.

Of those then remaining in China it is evident that they have succeeded for the most part in establishing themselves in business. All of the large cities now have bakeries, laundries, clothing stores, and other shops operated by "white" Russians. They are also prominent in China as musicians, engineers and teachers.

The fourth manner in which these formerly helpless refugees have established themselves appears in their congregating in certain rather out of the way places and there creating new colonies which are rapidly becoming not merely self-supporting but actually prosperous.

It ahs already ben widely commented upon that the "white" Russians in Mukden are an important part of that city. Throughout the alert atmosphere of this Manchurian town that the Russian mark is evident. It appears in Russian signs over innumerable stores, and well dressed Russians on bicy freshlry past equally well dressed but more leisurely Russian women wheeling baby carriages.

Word has come to Peking from General Yang Tseng-hsin, the governor of Sinkiang, that there are now thousands of Russians in Tihuafu the capital of that northwestern frontier province. Two centuries ago a Russian quarter was established to segregate the foreign fur dealers there and this small settelment has now become an independent city, arrogant in its dealings with the Chinese officials of Tihuafu.

Gold and oil mines are now known to be in the vicinity and General Yang is anxious to take away the control of the commerce of the region from the Russians and to distribute it more widely among other foreigners. To this end he has reported to the Government that he is in favor of creating a free port of Tihuafu. In the meantime th silittle heard of city is answering the question of many Russian refugees as to how they shall earn their livings.

JAPAN WILL NOT INTERFERE IN CHINA MINISTER DECLARES

TOKYO (U.P.)—A declaration of Manchurian policy has been made in the House of Peers by the Foreign Minister in response to taunts from the opposition that the present cabinet had failed so far to protect Japanese interests in Manchuria and Mongolia.

Inferentially, the opposition takes the stand that Japan should double or treble the number of Japanese troops in Manchuria, to a strength sufficient to enforce a policy of "closed season on all war north of the Great Wall."

Baron Shidehara, who said he welcomed the opportunity of making a plain statement of Japanese policy towards Manchuria in particular and China in general, replied in effect that Japan will not hesitate to employ all necessary means for the protection of her treaty rights in Manchuria, rights recognized by all the world, but Japan will not go beyond that, nor undertake any action that could be construed as interfering in any domestic affair of China.

If Chinese choose to fight Chinese, in Manchuria or anywhere else, that is their business with which Japan will not interfere so long as Japanese rights are not involved and Japanese life and property is not endangered, Shidehara pointed out.

Japan is a party to international agreements to respect the terfitorial integrity of China and Chinese sovereignty over her recognized territory, and Japan intends to abide by her international agreements, she continued.

20,000,000 motor vehicles now travel the American highways.

50,000,000 Americans ride in these cars every day in the year.

Safety for this vast army of travelers is a national issue; and where safety is involved plain speaking is a public duty.

It is high time the public realized—as experts have long realized—that automobile bodies should be made of steel—not of wood or any other fragile material.

Indeed, it is one of the mysteries of this usually progressive industry that the all steel body is not already in universal use.

It will be before long. Public opinion will demand it—as it now demands that railway sleeping cars be all steel.

For even a child knows that steel is stronger than wood—that steel will not splinter or burn—and that all steel bodies will stand up under impacts that would crush ordinary bodies to bits.

That is why Dodge Brothers pioneered in introducing the the all steel body—pioneered again recently, in improving and perfecting it—pioneer, now, in urging its adoption by every automobile builder in the world.

The issue is plain—

Manufacturers must build safely if the automobile industry is to hold its present high place in public usefulness and esteem.

And the all steel body—as exemplified in Dodge Brothers Motor Car—is the greatest single advance in motoring safety made in the last fifteen years.

The car will continue to be a "four." No reasoning buyer will be distracted from the issue of QUALITY by mere CYLINDER propaganda.

Memory of Cattle Industry of Texas Established on Exterior of Garrison Hall

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 27—Imprinted upon blocks of terra cotta 38 cattle brands of the larger and representative ranches of Texas will adorn Garrison Hall, the new office and class room building which is now being erected upon the campus of the University of Texas. The purpose of the architectural decorations is to perpetuate the memory of the great cattle industry of the state. Although there are thousands of cattle brands still in active use in the ranch regions of Texas, there are a comparatively limited number of outstanding brands. Some of these have a historic interest that make them unusually noteworthy, it is stated. One of them, that designed and owned by Stephen F. Austin, the first colonizer of Texas, dates back to the days of Mexican rule. In matter of importance next came the brands of H. M. King, Major George W. Littlefield, S. M. Swenson and S. B. Burnett. The remaining brands are of ranches of Mariano Sanches, Pedro Ibarbo, Spanish cattle raisers of early Nacogdoches cattle days; Jose Antonio Navarro and Jose Antonio de la Garza, both early Spanish cattlemen of San Antonio; Ike T. Pryor, A. H. "Shanghai" Pearce, Capitol Land Syndicate; C. C. Slaughter, Al M. McFadden, Oliver Loving, Mrs. Babb of the trail-driving period, Dillar Fant, John R. Blocker, Ellison and Deweese, Job Gunter of the Panhandle T-anchor brand fame, Preston Rose, Charles Goodnight; S. A. Maverick, Anna Martin and Sons, George W. Saunders, D. H. Snyder, J. J. Myers, John Lytle, Mark Withers, R. B. Millet, W. T. aggoner, and H. L. Kokernot.

The terra cotta slabs bearing impressions of the cattle brands are each 14 inches in diameter. They will ornament the exterior of the building. Besides this effort to permanently record the more important cattle brands of the state, the archives of the library of the University contain a great deal of information concerning these and other brands.

THOUSAND EDITORS TO ATTEND MEETING

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Feb. 27—More than 1,000 of the country's newspaper editors, hailing from every state, will be visitors to Los Angeles and Southern California during the 41st annual convention of the National Editorial Association, June 30-July 2, according to local committeemen.

Following the three-day convention in Los Angeles, the editors will be escorted on a two-weeks tour throughout California.

At least three governors will attend the editorial conclave, according to advance registrations. Governor Theodore Christensen, Minnesota; Governor Harry Byrd, Virginia, and Governor Friend W. Richardson, California, have accepted invitations to be present.

The latter, who is president of the California Press Association, will welcome the visiting delegates at the opening session.

Denver, Chicago and Miami are reported making preparations to bid strongly for the 1927 convention.

EUROPEAN TOUR THE REWARD OF ORATORY

A personally conducted tour of Europe during the summer of 1926 is offered this year, instead of a cash prize, to the seven finalists in the 1926 national oratorical contests, according to recent announcement of the director.

These student contests are financed by representative newspapers in the United States to promote better and more intelligent citizenship. Last year, it is estimated, more than a million and a third high-school boys and girls participated in the State contests leading up to the final test in Washington City in June. A somewhat similar contest, but entirely independent, was conducted in 1925 in Mexico.

The contest this year has assumed an international character, not only in the award of a personally conducted European tour for the seven successful contestants in the United States, but independently conducted national contests will be held in Canada, England, Mexico, France, and Germany, culminating in a meeting in Washington next October of the national winners. Each nation's contestant will discuss the governmental contribution of his own country. The director of the contests in the United States is also international director.

In the United States the subject, as heretofore, will focus on constitutional government. The seven finalists will sail from New York City July 3, and all expenses for their tour, except for passport and personal expenditures, will be met by the 26 metropolitan newspapers sponsoring the purject.

DEAD AREAS SHIFTED BY STATION CHANGES

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Fading and weakened radio signals are not altogether the result of atmospheric conditions, according to Reeve O. Strock, chief engineer of a radio station here.

Strock said that both of these conditions can be attributed largely to the broadcasting station itself. This conclusion, Strock said, was reached after he had gathered 11,080 reports from persons all over the country.

"By correlating the changes we made in the transmitter design with the reception ports," Strock said, "we found that we could shift 'dead areas' by changing the circuit constants in the transmitter. We also found that atmospheric conditions had only a minor effect on the 'fading' of our signals. We found we could change this situation also by making changes in the transmitter."

WOMEN MAY BE INTELLECTUAL THOUGH MARRIED

How may an educated woman live a normal life as wife and mother and at the same time maintain her intellectual activity, professional or otherwise? To aid in the solution of this question, Smith College, Northampton, Mass., has established an institute for the co-ordination of women's interests, to be financed for three years by the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Foundation. The study will be approached from two directions: How women may, by the elimination of wasteful occupations in the home, reduce to essentials the duties of home-keeping; and to discover methods of so modifying technical training for the professions that new subdivisions of professional work may be made which will be adapted to part-time employment of women or carried into the home without interference with normal home life.
