City Installs New Officers; Buys Fire Truck

John Coleman was sworn in as mayor of the City of Wellington, as were two members of the city council who were re-elected to their posts, Sam Adams and Howard Holton.

The oath of office was administered by Hiram Cudd, the retiring mayor.

Mr. Coleman will take over his duties May 1.

The council then awarded bids for a new fire truck and equipment at a total cost of $15,911.

The bid for the equipment was let to the Boardman Company of Oklahoma City for $10,-920.

Sid Stout Ford of Amarillo received the bid for the truck on a bid of $4,991. This will be a tilt cab model, said Russell Yates, city secretary.

The fire fighting equipment will represent the most improved to be had of the type.

A 180-day delivery schedule is set up for the truck and equipment, Mr. Yates said. It is expected that the truck will be taken from Amarillo directly to Oklahoma City for installation of the equipment before it is delivered in Wellington.

This truck will replace the LaFrance Fire Truck which the Wellington Fire Department has had since 1929.

THE DAY THE HORSES COME TO TOWN
Wellington is Horsetown, USA, on one day each year—Western Day that marks the opening of the Wellington Future Farmers Rodeo. Here are some of the riders—and their little brothers and sisters. In fact there were more who wanted to ride than there were horses. The Collingsworth County 4-H Riding Club and both adult and junior riding clubs from several near-by towns participated. A few hours later came the first of two-nights of Rodeo events which drew teen age contestants from approximately 20 Texas and Oklahoma towns.

Pulitzer Prize Winner

Seniors Present "Our Town" As Class Play Friday, April 28

"Our Town", Thornton Wilder's Pulitzer Prize-winning drama, will be staged by the Wellington seniors as their class play Friday, April 28 at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The students will follow the play's now familiar format, the stage bare of props except for a few chairs, two small tables and a couple of ladders from which part of the characters give their lines.

It is peopled by both the quick and the dead, and the thoughts of the latter are sometimes the more penetrating. The two realms mingle at the funeral of the young heroine, Emily Webb Gibbs, who has died giving birth to her second child.

Nor is the cast confined to the stage; several characters will rise from the audience to give their parts.

The first act genially outlines the history of Grover's Corners, New Hampshire, delving into the character of its citizens.

During the second act the love affair between George Gibbs, portrayed by Lewis Watkins, and Emily Webb, played by Peggie Crawford, develops and the act closes with the moving wedding scene.

The cemetery where Emily's funeral is taking place, is the setting for the third act. It closes by revealing how she does return among her friends.

The role of the stage manager is taken by Jimmy Campbell, while Henry Wells has the part of Dr. Gibbs. Others in the cast are Joe Crowell, who delivers papers, Mark Owens; Howie Newsom, the milk man, Dwight Bowen; Mrs. Gibbs, Regina Ferguson; Mrs. Webb, wife of the editor, Nancy Holton; Rebecca Gibbs, the daughter, Becky Brewer; Wally Webb, Emily's brother, Randy West; and

Professor Willard, who gives all the facts about the town,

Senior Citizen of Year Sought

The Collingsworth County Senior Citizen of the Year will be chosen—an event that is one part of the county's observanne of May as Senior Citizen month.

Plans were announced by Mrs. Cecil Masten, Texas Home Demonstration Association chairman for Collingsworth County. The Home Demonstration Clubs are sponsoring the events that will make up the observance of the month.

Another event will be the tea on May 8 honoring senior citizens of the county. This will be given in the Farm Bureau building, also sponsored by the Home Demonstration clubs.

Nominations for the Senior Citizen of the Year may be made by anyone living in the county.

These must be submitted by May 1, and the honored citizen will be chosen by a committee living outside Collingsworth County.

The Senior Citizen of the Year may be either a man or a woman, Mrs. Masten said.

The nominee must be over 65 years of age and a resident of the county.

Along with the name of the man or woman nominated, there must be a summary of that persons work and activities, both during the active years and since retirement, if he or she is retired, and reasons why that person should be named the Senior Citizen of the Year, Mrs. Masten explained.

"In 1960, fourteen per cent of this county's population was over 65 years of age, and that percentage is higher now," Mrs. Masten reminded. "From this group, we have many men and women who are worthy to be selected as Senior Citizen of the Year."

City Warnings Reviewed

Time to Watch That Wiggly Cloud Again

With the arrival of the storm season, Police Chief Donald Nunnelley reminded that Wellington residents are covered by a weather watch that includes city and county law enforcement officers, some city employees and private citizens over the county who have CB radios.

The familiar storm warning will be used, two long even blasts from the siren atop the fire station.

An all-clear is not blown. Residents are to decide for themselves when the storm is over.

Chief Nunnelley said the warning will be sounded:

—If a tornado funnel is sighted.

—If a cloud looks severe enough to seem dangerous.

—If a tornado has been reported nearby.

A second warning may follow in an hour or so if the need continues.

"These are warnings to alert people. They are to use their discretion as to the action they want to take," the police chief said.

Chief Nunnelley, Sheriff John Rainey and Deputy George Hooten, whose cars are equipped with both police band and CB radios, are on watch duty during stormy weather, usually at a distance of several miles from town. City Manager Doc Barjenbruch and Jake Leach watch, usually near the edge of town. Leach has done this as long as the watch system has been in operation.

In cooperation with Vumore, emergency warnings are given by interrupting programs on all five TV channels.

The cooperation of CB radio owners in reporting funnels or other conditions is requested.

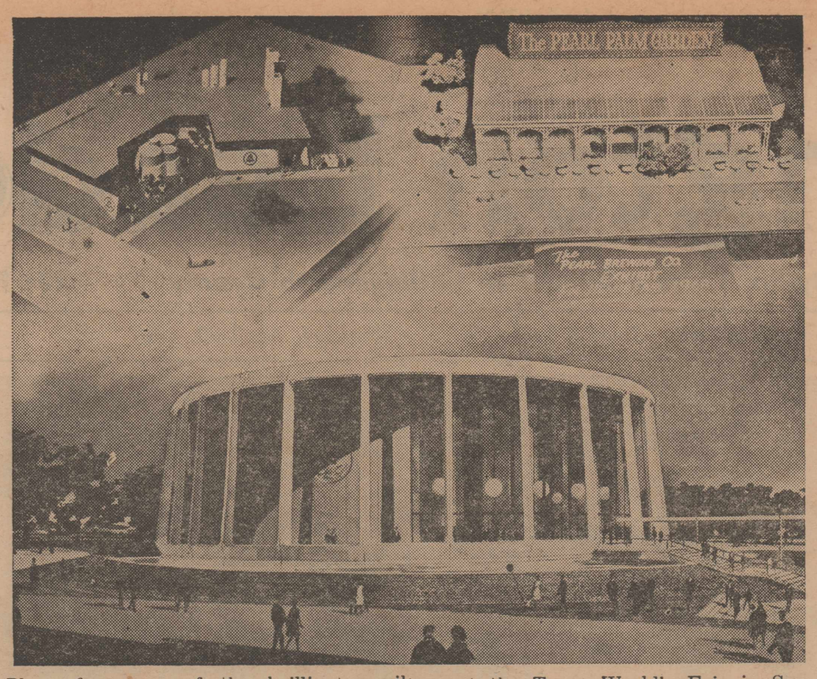

If the city's power supply is interrupted, as it was Tuesday night, April 11 by a tornado near Goodlett, the fire station siren cannot be operated. If the weather is severe enough for a warning, fire trucks will be driven at two block intervals over the city sounding the warnings, Chief Nunnelley said.

This was done once last year.

The fire department has a portable generator stored in the basement of St. Joseph's Hospital to furnish emergency power, and another at the fire station. It would be used should there be power interruption along with destruction of buildings or multiple injuries.

Lights would be strung from it, but this would provide emergency light until power service could be stored.

Plans for some of the brilliant pavilions at the Texas World's Fair in San Antonio in 1968 are going from drawing boards to contractors. Three of those scheduled for construction starts in the near future are the United State Confluence Theater (lower), the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (exhibiting with American Telephone and Telegraph and Western Electric) at the upper left, and the Pearl Brewing Company pavilion at the upper right. Bell's exhibit will trace the history of communications, while Pearl will capture the Gay 90's atmosphere in its entertainment and decor.

30 Seek Licenses

108 Attend Drivers License School Here

Attendance at the three-day drivers license school reached a peak enrollment of 108, and approximately 30 of these persons signed applications asking to take the drivers license test.

Patrolman Chester Fant of Quanah, who taught the class, told city and county law enforcement officers it was the largest and most successful school held in the area.

The three-night program, Monday through Wednesday, April 10 to 12, covered information that would enable an unlicensed driver to obtain his drivers license.

Police Chief Donald Nunnelley estimated that approximately one third of the number seeking drivers licenses are young people, another third in their middle years and the remaining are older residents.

One person who attended the school and who has a valid drivers license asked to take the licensing test just to see if he could pass it.

"There's just one drawback. If he takes it and fails, when the time comes to renew his drivers license, it will not be renewed until he can pass the test," said Chief Nunnelley.

The group seeking licenses will meet with Patrolman Leon Hugres, drivers license examiner, who is in Wellington on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. His next regular visit will be April 25.

CANCER'S WARNING SIGNALS ACT AS RADAR FOR THE BODY

If every American knew and acted promptly on Cancer's Warning Signals, thousands of lives could be saved and untold suffering prevented each year from cancer, according to the American Cancer Society.

Years of experience have developed evidence that these Warning Signals are part of the body's early warning system — a radar that signals the presence of disease. If any Signal appears, and persists for more than two weeks, it should be brought to the attention of a doctor even if there is no pain. He can determine what it means. The chances are it is not cancer. Or it may be a precancerous condition which can be easily removed and cancer prevented.

However, if the Signal should be a symptom of cancer, the patient has a much better chance of survival and cure if he heeds the Warning Signal than if he ignores it.

Most Curable

This is based on the fact that cancer is among the most curable of the major killing diseases—if it is found early and treated promptly and properly.

However, the patient's responsibility for his own health does not end with the Warning Signals. Cancer is often a "silent disease" and does not always give an early warning of its presence. Thus, a patient has a better chance of avoiding the disease by not only knowing the Warning Signals but by having an annual physical checkup.

Pap and Procto

Through such checkups, many cancers can be found in their early stages even if the patient has noticed no symptoms. For example, the Pap test can detect cancer of the uterus before the symptom of bleeding. A "procto" examination of the rectum and lower bowel can find cancers when they are still very early.

Thus, the best insurance against cancer is — see your doctor regularly, and learn Cancer's Warning Signals.

Now Tentative

Regulations Set on Cotton Fee Collection

LUBBOCK.—The 20-member Cotton Board has adopted tentative regulations to govern the collection of $1 a bale from U.S. producers to finance a cotton research and promotion program, designating the first buyer as the collector of the assessment.

The regulations were adopted by the Cotton Board on April 4 and published in the Federal Register April 7. They will not become final until interested parties have had an opportunity to file views and comments and the Secretary of Agriculture gives final approval.

Comments must be filed by April 24 with the Hearing Clerk, Room 112-A, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C. 20250.

The collecting handler, or first buyer, is described in the proposed rules as any person who purchases a bale of cotton from a producer. This person will make the collection when he first makes any payment or any credit to the producer's account for the cotton, and he will be required to give the producer a receipt indicating that the assessment has been paid.

The collecting handler will be the ASCS County Office when cotton is tendered to the Commodity Credit Corporation for Form A loan except when another person such as a marketing cooperative advances the loan value to the producer, in which case the collection responsibility rests with that other person.

Producers who consume domestically or export their own cotton will be considered the collecting handler, and the procedure for other eventualities, such as cotton bought from the producer in the field, is also spelled out.

These first buyers, as described, will remit their collections to the Cotton Board twice a month, along with a report for the period. A separate report will be required of the buyer on cotton from each gin, bearing the gin code number and listing the names and addresses of all producers from whom collections were made.

The Cotton Board will either approve or make available the necessary forms for these reports.

The ginner's involvement in the procedure, except when he is also the buyer, is limited to in-season reports and a final report at the end of the season. During active ginning operations, each gin will report to the Cotton Board the cumulative number of bales ginned as of the close of business on July 31, Aug. 15, Aug. 31, Sept. 15, Sept. 30, Oct. 17, Oct. 31, Nov. 13, Nov. 30, Dec. 12, Jan. 15, and Feb. 28.

Within 10 days following the end of its ginning operations each season, but in no event later than Feb. 28, ginners will report an alphabetical list of producer names, addresses, and the number of bales ginned for each.

These reports, too, will carry the gin code number, and will presumably be used as a control check against first buyer reports.

When the regulations have been finally approved by the Secretary, they will have the force of law. Handlers required to make reports will be required to "maintain such books and records as are necessary to verify the reports." It is specified that these records shall be retained by the handler for at least two years beyond July 31 of the year in which they are applicable.

A producer is defined by the regulations as "any person who owns or shares in a cotton crop or the proceeds thereof as landowner, landlord, tenant or sharecropper."

Producers may request a refund of the assessment by submitting to the Cotton Board a prescribed form within 90 days after assessment is paid.

Where more than one producer is involved requests may be filed either separately or jointly, specifying the proportionate share of all producers.

In all instances the first buyer will give the producer a receipt for payment of the assessment, and this receipt or a copy of it must accompany refund requests as proof of payment. The Cotton Board will be required to make the refund within 60 days from the date it receives a properly executed application.

A complete copy of the proposed rules and regulations may be obtained from Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, or by writing the Cotton Division, Consumer and Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

They Come from Guymon to Matador

Youths Earn Rodeo Titles Over Bucking, Lively Stock

Teenage cowboys from as far north as Guymon, Okla., and as far south as Matador tried their hands at roping and riding in the two-night Wellington FFA Rodeo Friday and Saturday, April 14 and 15.

Boys and calves were out for the first time this season. For the most part, the calves, frisky and wild, could not be roped and could not be ridden.

Altogether, youths from 21 towns in Texas and Oklahoma competed.

Winners of the events were announced at the close of the show Saturday night. Standings were tallied Monday and Jim Reeves of Pampa was named the best all-around cowboy. Second place went to Tut Garnett of Matador and third to Tim White of Wellington.

The Saturday night performance was delayed more than an hour while a power line was repaired. Police Chief Donald Nunnelley said someone ran a vehicle into a guy wire of a power pole, breaking it and cutting off the electricity.

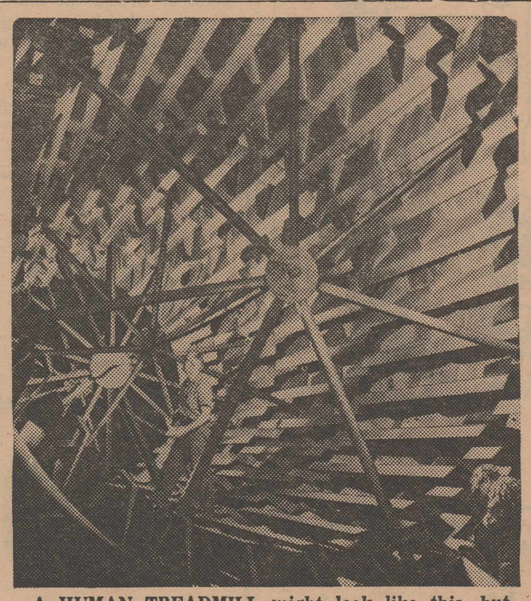

First place in the bareback bronc riding went to Vick Bridwell of Miami, riding Dear John. Bridwell chalked up his win Saturday.

Other winners, all riding Friday, were: second, Tim White on Alkatraz; third, Tommy Yarbrough of Wellington on Doc Jeckle; fourth, Alfred Allred of Wellington on Hangman; and, fifth, Guy Bell of Amarillo on Little Joe. This contest drew 21 entries.

Jim Reeves of Pampa was winner in the tie-down calf roping, while second place went to Bill Hexa of Clarendon; third, Tut Garnett of Matador; fourth, Mike Johnson of Borger; fifth, Jacky Breede of Carter, Okla.; and sixth, Vick Bridwell of Miami.

Only seven boys out of a field of 28 got their calves.

After the two go-rounds of ribbon roping, Garnett of Matador had the top place. Other winners were: second, Tommy Yarbrough of Wellington; third, Jim Reeves of Pampa; fourth, Lawrence Lanning of Vinson; and fifth, Lonnie Cox of Pampa.

A HUMAN TREADMILL might look like this, but this inspector is checking the struts and braces of a huge rotary dryer for drying phosphate products, being built by Allis-Chalmers.

Only three youths out of 24 could ride their bulls long enough to qualify. First place went to Gene Davidson of Childress; second, Tim White of Wellington; and third, Francis Bolin of Borger.

Four events were open to both boys and girls.

Wanda Green of Spearman placed first in the barrel race for 13 years and older; second was Carla Atwood of Vinson; third, Pam Patterson of Wellington; fourth, Betty Lou Tolbert of Miami; fifth, Tresa Ford of Dumas; and sixth, Kay Ford of Dumas.

The barrel race for 12 years and under saw Bart Patterson of Wellington place first; second, Marilyn Wooldridge of Vinson; third, Teresa Patterson of Wellington; Bobbie Sue Greenhouse of Miami fourth; Stacy Jo Ratliff of Miami fifth and Kathie Patterson of Wellington sixth.

Winners in the pole bending for 13 years and older were: first, Pam Patterson of Wellington; second, Tresa Ford of Dumas; third, Carla Atwood of Vinson; fourth, Kay Ford of Dumas; fifth, Betty Lou Tolbert of Miami; and sixth, Susan Lowe of Wellington.

Kathie Patterson of Wellington was first in the pole bending for 12 years and under; second was Teresa Patterson of Wellington; third, Mike Williams of Wellington; fourth, Joe Bridsell of Miami; fifth, Marilyn Wooldridge of Vinson; and sixth, Stacy Jo Ratliff of Miami.

Childress Methodists Plan 80th Birthday Celebration

All area Methodists are urged to attend the 80th Birthday Party of the first Methodist Church in Childress county.

The Anniversary celebration is planned at 6:30 p.m. April 19 in Fellowship Hall of First Methodist Church in Childress with an old fashioned "basket supper" featuring plenty of fun and fellowship along with birthday cake and homemade ice cream.

Dr. Burgin Walkins is the pastor.

The First Methodist Church of Childress was organized in the half dugout of Mr. Thomas Arnold Williams on the night of April 19, 1887. Charter members were Mrs. T. A. Williams, Mrs. John Q. Adams, Mrs. Ella Forbes, Mrs. A. N. Blair, Henry J. King, Tilman J. King and Ike Coffee. Rev. James Taylor Hosmer, who lived at Vernon, was present for the organization. He continued to hold preaching services as often as possible in Mrs. Williams' home.

In 1889 the little congregation built their first church, on the site now known as 211 4th NE. With the growth of the town and the increase in membership a new building was erected in 1907 on the site now occupied by the federal post office building. With a church membership of about 600 in 1926 and the need of a more modern building, the church at 201 Avenue, NE was completed. More recent improvements include the building of a beautiful new sanctuary near this location.

Teens Need Regular Checkups

COLLEGE STATION.— The forgotten years in the medical profession might well be the teen years, says Mrs. Patsy R. Yates, Extension family life specialist at Texas A&M University.

Pediatricians care for the child until he or she is 10 or 12. Specialists in various diseases or in fields such as gynecology, geriatrics and surgery take over when the person becomes an adult.

Does this mean the teenager doesn't need medical attention? Quite the contrary, says Mrs. Yates.

The adolescent period of life is one of rapid growth spurts, both physically and emotionally. The teenager is torn between feelings he had as a child, and those feelings now expected of him as he takes his place in the adult world. It is often a period in which malnutrition causes problems such as anemia, sigh difficulties, acne, and emotional depression. These problems often have led to teen suicides, the fourth leading cause of teenage deaths in this country.

It is too easy for parents to pass off irritable, moody behavior or complaints about ill health as a stage or "just a period he's going through." Maybe it is, but a friendly and competent family physician is one of the people every teenager should know well. He is often an emotional outlet as he plays his role of teen confidant.

Frequent physical check-ups can reassure both the young person and the parents that all is well. It may also point up the cause of emotional or psychological problems. Good health is vital to a happy, successful adjustment to any stage of life. It could be all important to your youngster.

A Georgia school teacher, Eli Whitney, invented the cotton gin in 1793.

Flame Resistant

You can make cotton fabrics temporarily flame retardant with two inexpensive, easy-to-obtain chemicals.

Because the chemicals are water soluble, the treatment doesn't last through washing, but it can still be practical to treat again, after washing, such articles as curtains, draperies, potholders and upholstery padding.

Dissolve seven ounces of borax and three ounces of broic acid in two quarts of hot water. Thoroughly wet the cotton items to be treated and dry them by any convenient means. The items will be flame resistant (but not fireproof, of course) until wet or washed.

While doing your spring cleaning, why not take a little extra time to be extra safe?

What Will Homes Be Like in 1980?

No one knows for sure, but a group of National Real Estate editors came up with a list of predictions: Increased emphasis on multi-family rental housing for young married couples. More built-in work savers, total entertainment facilities, complete control of temperature, humidity and air purification, and new building material which will require little or no maintenance.

More built-ins because our mobile society is tired of moving furniture, and an increase in special purpose storage. Use of closed circuit television, dry cleaning equipment, fire alarm system, space saving corkscrew staircases that move up and down, under pavement de-icing systems, and swimming pools that anyone can afford.

The future home's use of utilities will be recorded by a distant computer and charged to the home owner's bank account. Even with all these predictions, the 1980 home will still look like those of today.

Instant Fruit

Research has brought another convenience product to the homemaker — instant fruit. Peaches, strawberries, and blueberries are reduced to puree to which sugar and chemicals are added. The puree is frozen into pellets which are dehydrated by a freezing-drying process. This removes the moisture from the pellets without changing their physical characteristics. Fruit that are too mature for shipping may be successfully used in the process.

Pruning Makes Difference

Pruning makes the difference between an expert gardener and an amateur. Good pruning is essential to keep your property attractive and to keep ornamental plants healthy. However, you won't need to prune as much if you put plants in the best locations.

Early spring — before growth begins — is the best time to prune evergreens and late flowering shrubs. Early flowering plants, blooming in March, April, May and early June, should be pruned immediately after flowering. Avoid early fall pruning. It tends to produce late, immature growth, which is less tolerant to winter cold.

Prune or remove completely any dead, diseased, broken or injured branches at any season. And prune all plants when you are transplanting.

Ornamental plants can be pruned several different ways. Shearing or clipping the ends result in symmetrical shape which is usually very different from the plant's natural shape. These geometric outlines are usually very undesirable and shearing often results in a bushy plant with a brown or bare interior due to shading. Hedge plants are an exception: they lend themselves to this type of pruning.

Most ornamental plants are pruned to keep their natural shape as much as possible. This means thinning, removing old branches at ground level, cutting back some branches, removing dead, diseased and broken wood. It's more difficult and time consuming than shearing, but it improves flowering, natural beauty and plant health.

For more details ask your County Extension Agent for B-977, "Modern Pruning Methods."

1954 Club Hears Police Chief

Safety in the home was discussed by Police Chief Donald Nunnelley for members of the 1954 Study Club when they met in the Greenbelt Electric Cooperative directors' room on Thursday, April 13.

He pointed out that the most important thing in case of an emergency is to "keep calm and use your head." An accident is often caused by fear itself, he told the women.

Safety on the part of another individual can keep a person from having an accident, Chief Nunnelley reminded. Many who say they have never had an accident can do this because someone else was observing safety rules.

Hostesses at this meeting were members of the yearbook committee, Mrs. E. W. Clement, Mrs. L. B. Bratten, Mrs. A. J. Fires and Mrs. James Richardson. Mrs. Bill Hatch conducted a short business session and Mrs. Clement reported on the Top of Texas district convention in Amarillo March 30 and 31, which she and Mrs. A. J. Fires attended.

Disulfoton Gets Label Clearance

COLLEGE STATION, --Disulfoton (Di-Syston), a systemic insecticide, has received a new label clearance for cotton seed treatment from the Pesticides Regulation Branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

John G. Thomas, Texas A&M University Extension entomologist, said the prior label clearance permitted a maximum rate of 4 ounces per 100 pounds of cotton seed.

Thomas said the new label clearance would provide for cotton seed treatment at the rate of 8 ounces per 100 pounds of delinted cotton seed, an increase of 4 ounces of insecticide. At the old rate, the length of the control period was not satisfactory.

A systemic insecticide is a chemical that is applied to any part of the plant and is translocated throughout the plant in sufficient quanities to result in an insect kill.

Former County Resident Honored as Harmon Teacher of the Year

Mrs. Sam Crow

Mrs. Edna (Sam) Crow, Hollis Home Economics teacher for the past 18 years, was named Harmon County's teacher of the year at the annual O.E.A. banquet. Prior to her teaching career in Hollis, Mrs. Crow taught two years in the Ron schools (now a part of the Hollis and Gould schools). She holds a B.S. degree and Masters degree from West Texas State University in Canyon, where she was a member of Alpha Chi, national honor society, and Kappa Omiconn Phi, national home economics society.

She is Harmon County's Red Cross Youth Chairman, a director of Harmon County's Red Cross board, supervisor of the Blue Angels, and F.H.A. advisor.

In 1965, the local unit of the American Red Cross chose her the "Most Outstanding Woman in Harmon County." Each Sunday will find her working in a Sunday School class with a group of 16-year-old girls in the First Baptist Church in Hollis. In this same church it has almost become traditional for her to be in charge of decorations for the Valentine Banquet.

Her reputation for willingness to work, coupled with her artistic decorating ability has brought her calls for help from many of the local clubs and organizations as they prepare for their banquets and festive affairs. No doubt this ability has had a large measure to do with her being selected each year to either the junior or senior class sponsorship.

Mrs. Crow takes pride in the fact that many of her former students are now Home Economics instructors or in related fields.

She is a graduate of Dodson High School and was raised near Wellington. She is the daughter of E. S. Copeland of Wellington.

Spring Checks

A Free-swinging cape coat and dress costume is artfully interpreted in black and white cotton checks. Triple jet buttoning accents both coat and dress.

Eye-Catching

Water repellent cotton twill in a bright shade of lime shapes a versatile coat for Maid of Cotton Georgia Pearce. Style details include a stand-up collar and A-line silouette.

Two For The Patio

Be colorful, be dramatic, and here's how! At left, a cotton homespun in dazzling stripes provides the impetus for this patio dress, scissored up the sides for a provacative effect. It also features batwing sleeves and an empire bodice. At right, the season's favorite fabric, crinkle cotton, shapes a graceful patio gown with a double halter neck. It it in swirling black and white print sprinkled with colorful paisley leaves.

Former City Teacher Ill

Mrs. Ralph Coburn, who formerly taught in the Wellington schools, is seriously ill in Wichita General Hospital, at Wichita Falls.

She entered the hospital April 9 to undergo cobalt treatments, Mr. Coburn said during a short visit in Wellington on Monday, April 17. It is not yet known how long she will be a patient there.

Friends wishing to write her may address their letters to Room 354, he added.

Mrs. Coburn underwent surgery in November, which was followed by cobalt treatment.

The family lived here from 1952 to 1966, while he was manager of the Lone Star Gas Pine Line.

Upon his retirement Jan. 1, 1966, after 45 years with the company, the couple moved to their ranch near Petrolia where they are raising about 100 head of white face cattle.

Mrs. Coburn taught in the Wellington school much of the time they were here.

Before coming here the Coburns lived at Shamrock from 1935 to 1952, and before that at Midland.

She began teaching in 1927.

Their daughter, Carolyn, now Mrs. Keith Sylvester, lives at Plano and their son, Ralph Coburn, Jr., is a senior in the University of Texas, majoring in industrial management and accounting.

Karen Richardson and Sandra Carter spent the week end in Lubbock.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Richards visited in Shamrock Sunday with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Winslett.

Rotary Hears Sister Duo

Two popular singing sisters, Bobby and Billy Skidmore, were featured in the Rotary Club luncheon program Tuesday, April 18.

Their program included Mexican ballads, country, western and popular songs.

The girls opened their program with four songs, all they intended to sing, but Rotarians called a long list of requests that kept the girls singing.

During the business session, plans were made for the district conference in Hereford, which will be attended by Billy Moseley, president, Jack Neeley, president-elect, King Bowen and Paul Guthrie. The latter two will be the official pianist and song leader for the conference. It will open Thursday evening and continue through Friday.

Plans were started for the annual chicken barbecue at Ellison Park, and President Moseley appointed an arrangements committee composed of Jim Moss, chairman, Henry Sullivan, J. B. Oney and Clyde Drake.

The date of the barbecue will be set later.

Inspection Due Battery A By State NG Team

A command maintenance inspection was scheduled for Wellington's National Guard Battery A Wednesday afternoon, April 19, Capt. Jim Chappell, commander, announced early this week.

An inspection team, stationed at Fort Worth, represented the Texas National Guard Adjutant General's Office at Austin.

Members of the Battery completed preparations for the inspection Sunday evening, April 16, after returning from week end drills at Ft. Sill, Okla., rifle range.

"We had some of the highest scores I've seen fired," commented Capt. Chappell. Men shooting .45 pistols were above the sharpshooter's rating of 160 out of a possible 250 points.

Men firing M1 rifles were above the 300 points necessary to qualify.

The Battery, with 100 percent attendance went to Ft. Sill Saturday afternoon and returned about 3 p.m. Sunday.

April Is Land Bank Month

The Federal Land Bank Associations were cited by Gov. John Connally as he declared April "Federal Land Bank Month." In an Official Memorandum, the Governor praised the Federal Land Bank System and called upon all Texans to pay tribute to those engaged in farming and ranching.

The Federal Land Bank System, encompassing 3 local associations in Texas and 700 associations throughout the United States, is observing its 50th Anniversary this year. The Anniversary Year is dedicated to America's Farmers: Providers of Plenty.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Shamrock is participating in the year's activities by recognizing the farmers and ranchers of Collingsworth and Wheeler counties.

April, 1917, marked the beginning of the Federal Land Banks, thus providing the first nationwide means of making private capital investment available to farmers and ranchers so that their holdings could be improved and the productive capacity expanded.

Mayors and county judges from all 132 counties of the WTCC service area have been given special invitations to attend this particular session.

All presidents of local chambers of commerce will meet in a special breakfast meeting on Tuesday morning. This second annual President's Conference is considered by many to be the most important session of the year due to its instructional and indoctrinal nature.

"Container" Speeds Fresh Vegetables

How would you like to find a wide variety of fruits and vegetables in your supermarket bins regardless of the season? Soon you will, as more and more produce is shipped in large "containers" (some van-sized) which can be moved from train to plane to ship to truck without removing their contents.

Such "containerisation"-type shipping, notes a report by the Resources and Transport Division of the United Nations, means no fresh fruit or vegetable is out of season anywhere in the world.

"California strawberries have already been flown over the polar route to Finland and placed on sale within 24 hours," according to the report. Other advantages: (1) Refrigerated containers can be taken directly into fields for loading perishable foods; (2) special container ships can be unloaded and reloaded in 12 to 24 hours instead of the 6 to 15 days required by conventional ships.

There's a Difference Between Storm Warnings and Watches

Tornado season has arrived, and with the Weather Bureau's stepped up coverage of stormy weather in recent years, along with the alert systems in effect in most localities, we have become not only storm conscious, but sometimes storm-confused.

Collingsworth and Wellington law enforcement officers, who do much of the official cloud-watching here, urge a common sense approach, with this explanation from the Texas Civil Defense Office.

The Weather Bureau cannot predict the occurance of tornadoes or where they will strike; however, it can identify areas approximately 100 miles wide and 250 miles long in which weather conditions suggest a high probability of tornado generation.

Tornado watches are issued when there is a potential for tornadoes. They are to allert persons in a specific area for a specified time. Those living in the area should not interrupt their normal routines except to watch for threatening weather.

TORNADO WARNINGS are issued when a tornado has been sighted in the area or detected by radar. Often they are made possible through the work of public-spirited persons, such as those who assist officers here.

If a tornado warning is issued, then is when persons in the path of the storm should take immediate safety precautions.

Signifying Signs

Our fine new superhighways are so clearly and simply marked it's almost impossible to get lost on them.

But not on our other roads. For in too many places you have to wonder if the people who put up the signs aren't on a different wave length from the people who read the signs.

Here's a sign that says Route 64 turns to the left. A nice, neat arrow points invitingly down the street to the left. So you turn left.

You shouldn't have done it. For what the sign really means is that Route 64 turns to the left a block BEYOND where the sign says it turns to the left.

Or you are following Route 36 through a strange city. On streets where you couldn't possibly turn off, there are Route 36 signs galore. But when you get to the business district, in heavy traffic and a maze of intersections, the 36 signs disappear—completely.

Or at least that's what you think. Later you find good old 36 merely hiding behind a convenient post.

No one knows for sure if accidents are caused by desperate drivers searching frantically for road signs they can't find or figure out.

But many a driver knows for certain sure that what started out as a fun trip has suddenly become very unfunny because he missed a sign, lost his way, blew his top and convinced the Little Woman he wasn't fit to be around kids, the bum.

We are getting better cars, happier highways, miracle gas and heavenly tires.

Now, how about magic signs that are always at the right spot and mean just what they say?

And please, Mr. Sign-Putter-Upper, don't tell us to get lost! —The Independence Examiner

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN.—House of Representatives has passed to the Senate a far-reaching consumer credit code regulating most consumer loans and allowing banks higher interest rates.

Gov. John Connally recommended the code which resulted from a two-year study of the credit field.

Bill by Rep. Randy Pendleton of Andrews establishes maximum credit charges, limits required insurance on loans, requires disclosure to borrower of all charges he must pay and prohibits misleading advertising.

Pendleton said his measure would provide Texas with one of the most "comprehensive and effective" regulations of consumer loans in the nation.

But Rep. Paul Floyd of Houston claimed the bill would "increase cost of money to borrowers."

Code covers all fields of credit under $2,500, whether loans are by banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions or pawnbrokers. Installment purchases, including those of autos, are included.

Proponents contend that consumers will have a better loan market if banks and other lending agencies can charge the same rates as finance firms.

Although opponents emphasize that the bill allows up to 240 percent annual interest (on a loan of $10 for one month), rate permitted still is a reduction from that now fixed as a ceiling in that class of small loans. (Actual charge on the $10 transaction under the code would be $2.) Reduction is about 25% below those now charged for loans under $100.

These rates are authorized by the code:

—Auto installment loans — $7.50 per $100 on new cars, ranging to $15 per $100 on autos over four years old.

—Regulated loans — $18 per $100 annually on first $300 and $8 per $100 above $300, to $2,500.

—Secondary mortgage loans on residential property — $8 per $100, same rate as on installment loans.

—Retail installment sales and services would be limited to $12 per $100 for first $500, ranging down to $8 over $1,000.

—Revolving credit maximum would be 1½% per month for first $500 of unpaid balance, and 1% on unpaid balance over $500.

WATER RIGHTS LAW

After 50 years of effort, Texas now has a water rights adjudication act to help solve water disputes without prolonged and costly court battles.

Act follows the "Oregon plan" of administrative procedure in refereeing water wrangles, plus automatic judicial review.

Riparian users must file a record of their claims with the Texas Water Rights Commission, the administering agency, by Sept. 1, 1969.

Backers of the bill said they hope it will prevent repetition of cases like the Rio Grande Valley water rights suit which has cost an estimated $10,000,000 ($400,000 of that out of state funds) over years of litigation. Case now is on appeal.

INDUSTRIAL AMENDMENT PASSES

Legislature has cleared for submission to voters next year the first constitutional amendment of this lawmaking session—to permit cities and counties to issue revenue bonds for industrial development.

If approved by Texans in the November, 1968, election, bonds could be used to build industrial plants for private concerns and repaid through revenues of the corporations. No tax funds would be obligated.

MEDICAID BILL ADVANCED

Senate has passed a bill to implement the "medicaid" program of medical assistance to needy which would provide a program totaling more than $200,000,000 in the next two years.

Federal government will match state expenditures on a four-to-one dollar basis. Bill, virtually assured of House passage also, would provide hospital, nursing home and physicians services to public welfare recipients, including aged, blind, disabled and families with dependent children.

MH/MR LEGISLATION

Last week was a big one for Mental Health-Mental Retardation.

House passed a bill to allow MH/MR board members to be paid for every day they work instead of just the days they attend a meeting; bill transferring the authority to license private mental hospitals from the State Department of Health to MH/MR; and a bill to allow the voluntary admission of mentally retarded persons to state schools.

House MH/MR Committee favorably reported a bill setting out the schedule of monthly payments for persons in mental retardation facilities; bill to allow MH/MR to make contracts for the provision of MH/MR services with hospitals and other private facilities; and a bill to require county attorneys of counties where community centers are located to file suit to collect fees for the treatment of non-indigent persons in those centers.

TRAFFIC SAFETY

House Committee on Highways and Roads favorably reported two bills and sent two others to subcommittee.

Reported back to the House were bill to expand motor vehicle inspection requirements to make them conform with Federal statutes and bill to provide for reflectorized license plates to be issued in Texas beginning in 1969.

Sent to subcommittee were bill to establish a uniform crime reporting system and bill to increase the amount of damage required before a written accident report must be submitted to the Department of Public Safety.

MORE BILLS

Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall introduced resolution urging Congress to take action toward a constitutional amendment to permit voluntary prayers and Bible reading in public schools.

Senate passed bill to authorize creation of institutes of urban studies at University of Houston and Arlington State.

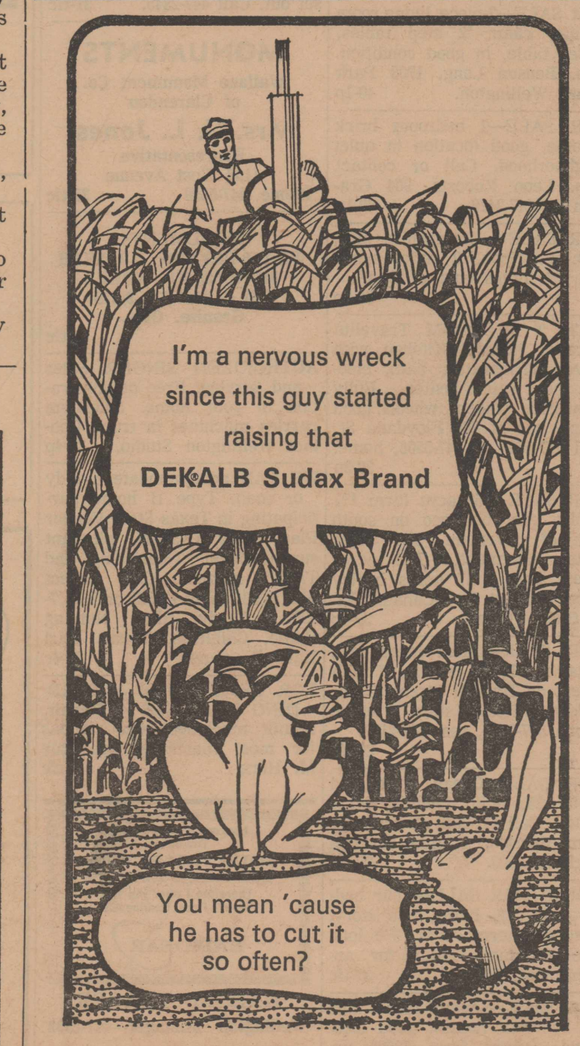

House voted for new medical school at Houston, dental school at Dallas.

House Agriculture Committee sent to subcommittee the bill to allow Agriculture Commissioner John C. White to issue "stop-sale" orders when he finds a violation of the state's weights and measures laws on food packaging.

Price Asks Hearing on FW&D Request

"Passenger train service between Denver, Walhart, Amarillo and Dallas is both needed and necessary and should not be discontinued," Representative Bob Price told the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission today.

In a letter to ICC chairman William H. Tucker, Price asked that the commission order public on-line hearings before approving the railroads' notice of discontinuing the trains on May 10.

For the past two months Price has conducted a running battle with the Post Office Department over the removal of railway post office cars that were carried by the trains. The removal of the postal cars on March 31 resulted in a $300,000 a year revenue loss to the railroads, Price said and has resulted in the notice of discontinuance.

Price had also protested the Post Office action to the chairman of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

"The mail from the trains which was diverted to airlines should have been left on the trains," Price said. "Airmail service was already available at airmail rates for those who wished to use it and pay airmail rates."

"Also," Price said, "the Federal Government is subsidizing high speed rail transportation between Washington, New York and Boston, where there is already frequently scheduled passenger service."

"It seems entirely inconsistent to me," Price added, "that another agency of the Federal Government should cause the loss of the only remaining passenger service on the Ft. Worth and Denver line."

Price told the ICC chairman that there would be a serious inconvenience to the communities served by the trains if they were discontinued.

Ingrams Move to Fort Worth

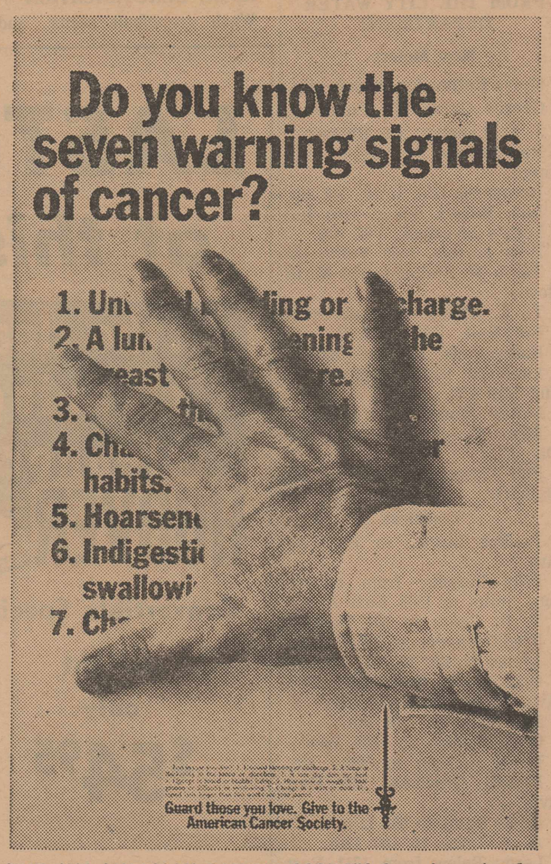

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Ingram and baby son, Heath, of Quail have moved to Fort Worth, where he is attending a 10-weeks school.

At the end of that period he will begin work on the assembly line at General Dynamics, according to Mrs. Ingram's mother, Mrs. Z. J. Neeley.

Ingram was released from the Air Force recently after a tour of duty in Viet Nam. He formerly was stationed at Amarillo Air Force Base.

Mrs. Ingram and the baby lived with her parents at Quail while he was overseas.

County School Census Shows 1183 Enrolled

Collingsworth County schools have 1183 boys and girls on the census rolls a completion of the list in the office of the county superintendent shows.

Approximately two-thirds of these attend school in Wellington, the count shows. Enrollment in the four schools are:

Wellington—786.
Dodson—115.
Quail—105.
Samnorwood—177.

Boys outnumber girls in all schools, and of the county as a whole. There are 626 boys and 557 girls.

Wellington has 407 boys and 379 girls; Samnorwood an even 100 boys and only 77 girls; Dodson 61 boys and 54 girls; and Quail 58 boys and 47 girls!

The total enrollment is down 95 students from a year ago, when the scholastic census showed 1278. Dodson enrollment is up 5; Samnorwood is the same as last year; Quail dropped 10; and Wellington scholastic count is down by 90.

Bagworm Control Measures Should Be Taken, Says Agent

Bagworms, damaging insect pests or evergreens and occasionally of broadleaf plants, are beginning to make their springtime appearance.

Evergreens should be closely examined, says County Agent Sammy Helmers, and if newly hatched bagworms are found, control measures should be applied.

The worms immediately spin a bag of silk around themselves and attach bits of foliage to the outside of the bag as they feed. The larvae carry those bags wherever they go with only the front part of their bodies protruding for feeding and movement. The bags enlarge as the bagworm grows. A heavy infestation, warns the county agent, can completely strip the plant of foliage. When this happens, the plant can be lost.

The effective "camouflage" presented by the bags makes the insects hard to detect and damage may be extensive before they are noticed. They are much easier to control when they are still young.

If bagworms were present on a particular plant last year and control measures were not applied, chances are very good, says Helmers, that an application of insecticide will likely be needed in the near future.

Recommended control measures are outlined in L-199, Texas Guide for Controlling Insects on Ornamental Plants. Copies are available from Mr. Helmers' office.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Us boondockers hear that official and unofficial overdogs are still bent on making us get shed of, or to register, our rabbit rifles and our home defense arms.

My anti-criminal neighbor says this is just another phase of the national Crimicare program set up by the Supreme Court and others wishing to preserve criminal rights.

He figures that gun registration would be a big help. Then the ambitious criminal could go to the courthouse and look on the gun register and find out who he can tackle without running any risk of getting shot at.

The thing that appears to be keeping whole herds of social engineers awake nights is that their Population Explosion problem in the U. S., has sort of evaporated.

News is that The Pill or something has done away with the overpopulation threat here and has left the people-planners just standing there with a whole mess of solutions on their hands.

My junior citizen neighbor says now the problem that is worrying him is: When he is 65, will the reluctant mammas have produced enough working young folks to keep the Social Security and Medicare pots filled for him?

My leisure-prone neighbor has been reading about federal Guaranteed Income Program to give $3000 a year to all families whose providers would rather not work.

And he wants to sign up for this deal in advance, so as to get ahead of all the other 57,999,999 household heads who may be just as tired as he is of giving the cream of their labor fruit to the politicians and the bought voters.

But he's a little juberous about the "Guarantee' angle, because some experience with a "guaranteed" washing machine has taught him that a guarantee is no good when the guaranteer has stuck his neck out too far.

Big deal now is a plan to use some lottery system instead of having somebody to consider and decide who gets drafted.

It is argued that rolling dice or drawing straws or spinning a computer is more fair, because Chance can't be influenced by prejudice or prestige.

But my luck-lorn neighbor says if Chance is such a good people-picker, why don't we choose our Presidents and congressmen, etc., by lot? Using some method, say, like having the candidates for each job hold a Russian roulette tournament.

All the experts predict that big strikes and lockouts are going to harass and inconvenience and hang higher prices on us public this year.

But the folks who take this means of improving their personal lot will say what else can they do when ordinary bargaining doesn't get them what they think is a fair shake.

And my strike-discommoded neighbor says they have got a point there. It is the same one the armed robber uses: he does what he does because of feeling like otherwise he won't get a fair split of the national wealth.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

John Coleman has returned from a reunion of the survivors of the Death March from Bataan. Some 450 of the survivors were able to return for the ceremonies that marked the 25th anniversary of this grim march, in which men died by the hundreds from starvation and disease or were shot or clubbed to death when they broke ranks. John Coleman said that he did not believe he could have survived if a small Philippino boy had not slipped him a raw egg which he managed to swallow without the Japanese guards observing the action.

★ ★ ★

This time the survivors rode over the route of the deadly march while cheering thousands lined the entire way to wave and shout greetings and when possible touch the hands of the gallant survivors. John Coleman said it was the most memorable and emotional occasion of his life.

★ ★ ★

It is hard to realize that it has been a quarter of a century since the Bataan Death March; but an entire generation has been born, started families and have children since those weary, sick men were forced to make that brutal, fateful journey. To this younger generation it is something they read about; but it is something that all of us should remember just as we should realize constantly that another generation of Americans is engaged in another bitter, ugly war in swamps, jungles and mountains on that side of the world.

★ ★ ★

We are now starting in on our spring rainy season and the grass and shrubs and trees have an invigorating freshness that gladdens the heart. The next two months constitute the main rainy season and we should catch up on our moisture deficiency during that period. The April rains are a bonus and enable the farmers to get the land in shape for planting.

★ ★ ★

This is also the season of the year when people start thinking of wild greens such as lambs quarter and polk greens, even though the grocery stores are lined with spinach, mustard and other greens at a cheap price. Mrs. John Robert Henard gathered some watercress this week and gave some of it to Bonnie Willis who passed a part of it on to us. It is delicious in salads and grows in abundance on some streams; but you need to know what you are doing and what plants are what when you start picking greens. Lambsquarter and polk make good greans; but they must be parboiled to be safe.

Mrs. Horace Holliman was hunting phosphate to put under her tomatoes this year. She intends to bury it fairly deep under her tomato ground and cover it with dirt so that the plants will be well rooted and well advanced before they ever start reaching the fertilizer. It will undoubtedly make more tomatoes sooner but I wonder what the result will be in the hot days of late July and August.

Mary Ingram, of Wellington High School, set a new record for Texas at the girls track meet in Panhandle Monday of this week. Her throw was 110.2 feet as compared to 109.5 which was set in Waco only last year. Wellington athletes have had an outstanding year in several sports this year, particularly in basketball.

★ ★ ★

Sports fans in Wellington have a lot to look forward to in the 1967-68 season; but I do hope that we can get in a more practical district from the standpoint of distance by the beginning of the 1968-69 season. I like the towns of Olney, Seymour, Electra and Iowa Park and the people I know who live in them; but the distance is too great and will hurt the athletic finances of the schools involved and dampen the enthusiasm.

Riders Hurt in Falls Friday

Two Wellington students were injured in falls from horses during the FFA Rodeo Friday, April 14, although neither was in competition at the time.

Regina Ferguson, 18-year-old senior and daughter of Mrs. Tom Ferguson, fell from her horse after the parade of horses to downtown Wellington.

The accident occurred behind the high school where the riders gathered after the parade.

Taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, Regina remained there under treatment until Monday morning. It will be several days before she returns to school, her mother said.

Ted McLain, 14, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen McLain, was injured when he fell from a horse at the Wellington Rodeo arena Friday night. He and a friend were reported as riding double.

The youth was treated at St. Joseph's Hospital until Tuesday morning and he has not returned to school.

Neither Regina nor Ted knows what caused them to fall from their mounts.

Youth setting forth its own problems and seeking its own answers were highlighted in the District Youth Conference in Plainview Saturday, April 15. Eight Wellington high school boys and girls participated.

Senior Citizen

May has been designated by Governor John Connally as Senior Citizen Month.

This co-ordinates with the work of the Governor's Committee on Aging which works under an agreement with Texas A&M Extension Service. The purpose is to provide assistance in the development of local committees on aging on a state-wide basis. Other agencies, including the State Department of Health and the State Department of Public Welfare.

A Citizen's Advisory Council, composed of two representatives from each Senatorial District assists on a volunteer basis.

The Governor's Committee on Aging was created by a bill passed by the 59th Legislature and signed into law by Governor Connally in May 1965. The bill provides for a 9-member committee appointed by the Governor for 6-year teams. It also states that this committee should be the designated state agency to handle programs of the Federal Government relating to the aging, not otherwise designated as the responsibility of other state agencies.
