JUDGE C. M. MULLICAN PLASTERS BIG FINE ON ABSENT WITNESS

LOWRANCE ON TRIAL ALLEGED BIGAMIST GIVES TESTIMONY IN HIS OWN DEFENSE

"FINED $500" SAYS JUDGE
AND SENDS SHERIFF FOR HARRIS

The closing hours of yesterday's session of the 22nd district court, where Lowrance was on trial on a charge of bigamy, were enlivened by Judge Clark M. Mulligan assessing a $500 fine against Dr. W. L. Harris, of Littlefield, when the doctor, called as a witness, failed to appear. Judge Mulligan told Sheriff H. L. Johnston to bring Dr. Harris into court, but late last night Deputy Sheriff Vernice Ford said the missing witness had gone back to Littlefield, out of the jurisdiction of the officers of this county, and that if he were taken into custody it would be by Lamb county officers. Sheriff Johnston went to Littlefield last night, but Ford said it was on private business.

Lowrance, now on trial in this city on a charge of bigamy, took the witness stand in his own behalf shortly after the noon recess. Lowrance stated that he was married to Mrs. Lee Allen in 1924, and that they lived together as man and wife for a period of almost four years. That in January, 1924, his wife was granted a decree of divorce, custody of their child, and $10 a month alimony. The decree stipulated that neither party should marry within a period of six months, though he stated that he married again the following month.

The defendant pointed out his second wife, and also their two children, who were in the court room at that time. He lived with his second wife for more than two years, but claimed that he left her last December. He admitted, however, that he had lived with her and helped support her at intervals since that time.

Lowrance, according to his own testimony, left Oklahoma late in July of this year and came to Littlefield. He stayed only a few days and then returned to his home in Blackhawk county, Oklahoma. A few days later he returned to Littlefield and on the 25th day of August married Mrs. Lillie Frances Cox of that city.

State Attorney Proof

The state attempted to prove that he was still the lawful husband of Mrs. Lee (Thacker) Lowrance, and he admitted that he had left her in Oklahoma only a few weeks prior, but that they were not living as man and wife. She was staying at the home of his and her parents. He visited her but not as man and wife. He also stated:

"We're going out again today," Mayor Phil T. Parvish, chairman of the drive, stated last night. "The people must realize that this drive is one of the most important things in the work of the city. Every team will make a difference in the work of the city."

Should the drive not go over in the business district, it is possible that the residences will be made by a women's committee and teams.

VENES TODAY

(By the Associated Press)

GEORGE WEST, Texas, Nov. 17. (AP)—Mrs. J. A. Ramsey, is scheduled to take the stand as first witness against the man accused of the murder of her husband, when the court convenes here Thursday for the trial of Harry J. Leahy.

The state indicted Wednesday evening that Mrs. Ramsey would be the first prosecution witness. She is expected to tell all of what she knows of Ramsey's relations with Leahy, of business deals between the two men and of the night last May when Ramsey was asked to visit at patient. Ramsey never returned from that call.

Weeks later his body was found in a shallow grave near Matilda on the Liveoak county line. The state charged that Ramsey was killed at the instance of Leahy because of differences over a business transaction.

LONG SEARCH ENDS

GIRL CONVERTS ACCUSE
PURNELL; LEAD 3-YEAR
CHASE

(By the Associated Press)

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., Nov. 17. (AP)—"King" of the house of David cult, told the Associated Press today in a short interview the first obtained since he was arrested in hiding early today.

The cult leader, long haired king, who in 1924 founded the colony from which it has been estimated he derived $200,000, was taken from his sleeping quarters early today by state police, released under $10,000 bond and a few hours later re-arrested when a circuit court judge held that the bond was not satisfactory.

Labor he was released on bonds totalling $120,000 on charges of criminal assault preferred by two former cult members of the colony.

The cult leader was forced to supply $10,000 on each of two captives served in connection with dangerous suits started by the girl complainants. This was in addition to the $20,000 bond of $30,000 each.

Fable Old Man

It was no dashing playboy when the police found when they entered the colony administration building. Instead, there was a feeble old man, hardly able to walk without assistance, a taciturn, silent man, who admitted his identity and then left without more there was to be said to his wife, "Queen Mary."

It was with "Queen Mary" that Purnell left the Kentucky foothills more than a quarter of a century ago to preach his strange doctrine—that he is the brother of the savior and that those who believe with him will be immortal.

The Purnells went to Detroit and became members of the colony of the notorious "Prince Mike" Mills. When Mills was sentenced to prison on charges involving women the Purnells followed him.

Eaton Says Sledged Cotton Not Much Lower in Grade Than Pulled Staple; Is Only Logical Method Now, He Declares

With the shortage of labor, expense of snapping cotton and the low price of all grades of cotton, D. F. Eaton, county farm agent believes that the sledging of the cotton, which the farmers are practicing in the valley, is the logical thing to do. Eaton has been out in the various parts of the county in the past several days and reports that a majority of the farmers are sledging their crop. He has also examined the graded product of hock and sledged cotton and the pulled cotton and states that there is not much difference between the two grades.

The only evil about the sledging, Eaton points out, is the removing from the fields a large amount of valuable matter which ought to be put back into the soil. The harm, he declares, has been shown to contain a wealth of mineral properties and should, if possible, be left in the fields. The removal of them will not make as much difference this year but in the years to come, the weakness will show up, he said.

Some farmers over the county are sledging as high as four and five bales of cotton per day. Eaton said and the stuff is being gathered up and that it has to be left piled on the ground until the gins can catch up. Many of the gins of the county are on this side of the past week in order to hasten the further cotton.

"Our crop won't make much value for," Eaton said yesterday. He gave the average of the recent and more or other large bales of the seed which was shown him is pretty bad and a certain part of it is being run down up of the bolls.

salad, graham bread, caramel custard, milk coffee.

Young children should never be allowed to eat fried foods so the parsnip fritters must be taken for children under school age. With this exception there are no dishes mentioned on the day's menu that may not be served to children as young as four years of age. The baked onion without the stuffing, is excellent for small persons and the dinner dessert is planned especially for children.

Parsnip fritters are unusually good and a decidedly "different" way to cook an everyday vegetable.

Parsnip Fritters
Three large parsnips, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, cracker crumbs.

Cook parsnips in slightly salted boiling water until tender. Plunge into cold water and slip off skins. Wash and season with salt, pepper, sugar and butter. Beat well and form into small flat cakes. Roll in cracker crumbs, dip in egg slightly beaten with 1 tablespoon cold water and roll again in crumbs. Fry in a frying pan in butter and bacon fat until a delicate brown. Brown first on one side and then on the other.

An extra parsnip can be cooked and served to a child with butter and a little salt.

TECHNICAL TOPICS

By C. W. RATLIFF

INTRA-MURAL GAME POSTPONED

Because of difficulties encountered, the aggie-engineer game has been postponed until Saturday at 2 o'clock on the Tech gridiron. Both teams were primed for the game and have been practicing for the past three weeks in order to put up a good fight. Yesterday afternoon both teams worked until late, the engineers having more than 30 men out with the aggies, a fewer less in number. The officials of the game have not been selected but they will likely be members of the Matador squad.

SHADOW PLAY PRESENTED AT SOCK AND BUSKIN CLUB

A shadow play, the first to be given at the Tech, was presented Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the Sock and Buskin club and met with the hearty approval of the club members. The play, "Goodnight," was presented by Miss Rosale Beth Bennett and John Burroughs. A piano solo by Clarence Whitesides also made a hit with the club.

Regular work is now being done by the club and no new members will be admitted until the winter term. At the next meeting of the club, Dr. Luther Pfeiffer will present "The Land of Heart's Desire," under his direction.

ALL COLLEGE FORENSICS ORGANIZED

All activities of the Tech in forensics will be handled under a complete organization in the future and in a strict business like manner. Irvin Coleman has been selected as business manager for the organization and will handle all their business. He has just recently completed answers to the challenges of the various schools over the state and a number of debates will be taken by the Tech team.

More than 30 men are now interested in the forensics and Miss Ruth Pette, head of the public speaking department, urges that all men interested to see her.

GIRLS MAKE BIG HIT AT PALACE PROGRAM LAST NIGHT

Playing to a large crowd at the Palace theatre last night, the girls of the pep squad received a large ovation and a larger crowd is expected for the programs tonight. The musical chorus and the girls were greatly enjoyed. The feature of the program, however, was the girls' orchestra, which gave some timely numbers of jazz music.

The programs will be repeated at the Palace tonight at 7 and 9 o'clock.

FAILING STUDIES GETTING INTERVIEWS

Those students who showed promise of failing behind considerably in their work for the fall term are being called into the offices of their respective deans. They are called upon to give reasons for their low grades and warned that in the extreme cases, dismissal will follow at the close of the term if their grades are not up to the usual standard. A number of students had unsatisfactory grades in the mid-term reports.

TECH HAVING HER PICTURE MADE

With Wellington Brink, member of the staff of the Texas Farm and Ranch publishing company on the campus, the Tech is receiving close-ups from all sides. A photographer is at work taking views of the campus and buildings as well as every unit of the textile mill and engineering building. The pictures will be reproduced in a booklet which is being compiled by Brink giving all the information about the textile mill and the work of the school.

The booklet will be published through the courtesy of John T. Carpenter of Dallas and the Texas Farm and Ranch publishing company and will be sent to every cotton manufacturing concern in the world.

At a regional meeting of the West Texas chamber of commerce at Ballinger Monday, President Paul W. Horn, was one of the principal speakers of the day. His subject was "It Can Be Done." Below is a clipping from a San Angelo paper telling of the meeting, and Dr. Horn's talk:

Dr. Paul W. Horn, president of Texas Tech at Lubbock, said that Texas greatest "crop" is its boys and girls and that the only way to improve this "crop" is through education. This is attained in three ways: through association with the right kind of people, reading good books and studying the things about you. Under the last topic, he cited that Tech students are finding out what it is in the soil that makes crops live and grow, what feeds fallen livestock and how to turn raw materials into finished products.

Botany as related to agriculture and zoology in livestock raising once were laughed at by farmers and ranch men, but both are proving invaluable aids, said Dr. Horn, Texas to be great must become a manufacturing as well as a producing state, said Dr. Horn, and Texas Tech is doing its part toward this end, he said.

PRE-LAW SOCIETY TO ORGANIZE

Eighteen students, all studying for the legal profession, met in room 221 at 4 o'clock Tuesday and discussed the organization of a Law society. A committee composed of W. A. Carter, J. W. Jackson and Wilbur Edmonson was appointed to draw up the by-laws.

WHAT MEN ADMIRE!

All men admire a healthy woman. She is not beautiful to them no matter how regular her features, if she is sickly, ailing. No chance of a marriage proposal for such a girl. If she is pale, weak and nervous, she is doomed to be an old maid. Fortunately for such a young woman there is an old reliable remedy that will restore cheer and youthful bloom. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, made of herbs, will tone up the nerves, relieve woman's weaknesses, and with renewed health, beauty will follow. Send 10c for trial pkg. to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y.

PREACHERS UNDERPAID?

Baptists Declare Ministers Are Either Lazy or Are Not Being Paid Enough to Satisfy Them

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 17. (AP).—The preachers in Texas are restless either because of "downright laziness" or because of poor salaries, speakers told the annual Baptist Laymen's conference here today.

Dr. J. J. Kellum, pastor of the Calvary church in San Antonio, told the assembly that the unrest was due chiefly to the fact that many pastors are underpaid, but this attitude was attacked from the floor by the Reverend Leland Malone of Carthage.

"Preachers need to pay more attention to the Bible and less to the pay envelope," the Reverend Malone declared.

TAHOKA GROCERY CHANGES TO CASH AND CARRY

(Special to The Avalanche)

TAHOKA, Nov. 17.—One of the most up-to-date grocery stores in Tahoka has proven that the hard times have not hit the plains as bad as some people seem to think.

This company has changed the policy of their business from a charge to a cash and carry system, according to A. I. Thomas, head of the Thomas Grocery company.

The entrance to the store has been re-arranged and when completed the store will be as neat and complete as any on the South Plains.

RURAL EDITION OF PAPER DRAWS MUCH COMMENT

TEXLINE, Nov. 17.—Comments from sections in and out of the state have been received by C. H. Walker of Dalhart on publication of a Rural Life Supplement to the Dalhart Texas Hartley County News, and Texline Enterprise recently. The forty-eight page edition was dedicated first and foremost to the "dirt farmer and his family" and featured farm and livestock development in Dallam and Hartley counties. Additional "Rural Life Supplements" will be issued at various times, according to plans of the publishers announced to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

TWO REGENTS VISIT CANYON TEACHERS COLLEGE

CANYON, TEXAS, Nov. 17.—West Texas State Teachers College was visited today by two members of the State Board of Regents of the Texas Teachers College, in the person of Mrs. Margie Neal and Hon. A. B. Martin. Mrs. Neal and Mr. Martin were appointed by the Board of Regents president to inspect the college at Canyon and find out its needs.

Mrs. Neal is senator-elect from Carthage, Texas. She has served for six years on the Board of Regents, being the first woman to hold this office, and retired from it to become the first woman senator. A short speech by Senator Neal was enthusiastically applauded by the student body of the Teachers College at Canyon.

OUR EDUCATIONAL MACHINERY

Charles R. Ellen, educational consultant of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, in an oral statement on November 10, declared that the growing conception of education as a social agency is that "its business is to give to every individual within the range of what organized education can do, what he needs when he needs it, whether he be youth or adult, man or woman."

The old idea that education was only for the privileged few has rapidly changed to the conception that education must in some way reach all members of the social body who can be efficiently served. It is hard to realize that only a few hundred years ago, education, to the extent to which it may be said to have existed at all, was a cherished possession of the few, and that the great mass of people were regarded as being of no importance whatever so far as the purview of the educator was concerned. While, owing to educational lag and educational conservatism, we still find a situation which is very far removed from democracy in education, we do find a very rapidly changing concept as to the relation of educational service to different social groups.

If the purpose of education is to contribute to the ability of the individual to play his part as citizen of a democracy, evidently we can not say that education should be confined to any particular group of citizens or prospective citizens. Referring to the numerous recent advances made in educational methods, Mr. Allen pointed out that primitive man had few desired ends and that what little social organization then existed was due primarily to the necessity of obtaining food, shelter, clothing and protection. As society has become more complex there has come about an increasing complexity in the purposes for which society was organized, and very often this has been accomplished by increasing differences of opinion as to the actual aims of the social body. All of this has been reflected in our educational programs. In the broader sense education may be regarded as the measure of the degree of adjustment of any individual to the demands arising from any life experiences to which he has been exposed up to any given time. In the narrower sense, and in the sense in which it is used by school men, education refers rather to the results of those experiences which have been included in the school as an organization and which have been operated and controlled by the school teacher. In considering the value of any educational system, as used in the narrow sense, it would be naturally assumed by the uninformed man, that the program would be determined by two factors. These may be stated as those major demands which society makes upon the individual, who must adapt himself to the particular form of society in which he is to live, and the inclusion in the organized program only of those objectives whose efficient attainment was known to be possible in the stage of the development of professional knowledge which existed at the time that the evolution was made. With a constantly changing situation on the one hand and a constant attempt, at least on the part of some of the more progressive educators, to adjust so far as possible the organized program so that the school will contribute most efficiently to social adjustment, it is natural that concepts as to the social function of education should be continually changing. One of these reforms in educational thinking centers around what we believe to be the cardinal purpose of education. There has been a shift from the idea of education for the benefit of the individual to the idea of educating the individual for the benefit of society. Thirty or forty years ago the boy or girl was told that if they went to school and "got an education" they would be able to obtain more financially profitable employment. This conception of education as an agency for giving to each person, increased equipment for successfully competing with his fellows, was coupled up with the very general acceptance of the theory of faculty training and the use of especially selected content for the purpose of formal discipline. If we are to regard the organized educational program as a social agency operated and paid for by the public, not primarily for the benefit of society, we have knocked out the foundations on which practically the entire old scheme of instruction was built. Therefore, we find ourselves today, working with a system intended to secure certain results which we now know are not desirable. It is much like the manufacturer who has a factory well equipped to turn out wash boilers, and who is endeavoring to use that factory in making automobiles. Mr. Allen expressed the belief that in the future further advancement must be made in an effort to provide educational opportunities to all persons able to profit from them. It is probably safe to assert, he said, "that the United States is the first country in which there has been a definite effort to formulate a plan of public education which was open to everyone from the kindergarten to the university. With this tremendous fact in mind, we can safely suggest that the coming in of mass education here has resulted in the attempt to render certain types of educational service to everybody, with an educational machine which was organized to render educational service to a relative few people. Perhaps this effort has been responsible for the degree to which our present programs include attempts to deal with fundamentals rather than with special applications or than attempting to promote the ability to or which attempts to furnish information rather use information intelligently in dealing with the actual affairs of life.

THE CHURCH AND LABOR

The recent incident in Detroit involving the Church's attitude toward labor has called forth a deal of comment from the press. The religious press is united in its expression of regret for the unfortunate occurrence and in its maintenance of the freedom of the pulpit from the dominance of capital. Doubtless the labor issue in Detroit is more sharply drawn than it is in other cities where the annual labor convention has met, which explains the effort of the Board of Commerce to influence the Churches against having labor speakers address the congregations. Perhaps the capitalists of Detroit feared the effect of the national labor convention, hence their move to exclude the outstanding labor speakers from the churches. Just how far the influence of the circular letter of the Board of Commerce, representing the capitalists, affected the cordiality of the Churches to labor speakers is not very clear; that it did have a depressing effect on the enthusiasm of many Church leaders is certain; that there were courageous Church leaders found to stand for the independence of the pulpit is a matter of congratulation. The Detroit incident brings up some vital questions in relation to the Church. One of these is the message of the pulpit. The World War had much to do in developing a certain laxness in the use of the pulpit for messages not distinctly in line with the purpose for which it was dedicated. The war spirit tended to make loyalty and religion synonymous and to bring into the pulpit both speakers and themes not strictly religious. We need to be more restrictive in the use of our pulpits. The preacher is the man chosen of God, and his message is not like the message of the ordinary man of affairs; his message has to do with the eternal verities and their application to all conditions and classes of people. The message of the pulpit involves its freedom. In this matter it seems that there can be no question of the final responsibility of the pastor to decide who shall speak in his church. But the chief concern concerning the Detroit incident has centered in the Christian Church is aligned against labor, and about this there has been unanimous concurrence of the Church press. The Church is now and has always been the friend of labor, not as an organization opposed to capital, but as a group of workmen seeking to improve their condition economically. Even admitting that some of the Detroit Churches lacked the moral courage to withstand the pressure brought to bear by capitalists, labor should not accept this incident as an indication that the Christian Church is aligned against labor. The hundreds of instances where the Church has proved its friendship for labor should more than cancel this one mistake, serious as it may look to the outside world. The very genius of the Church is its friendship for the oppressed, and in labor's long struggle to obtain justice it has had no stouter supporter than the Christian Church. It has always stood for the arbitration of differences between these two mighty organizations and for the application of the Golden Rule principle. The Church is partial to no organization and is interested only in men and women who are stirring to deal justly with each other.

Little Avalanches

For the sixth time in four years, Premier Mussolini of Italy escaped death when a bullet fired by a would-be assassin at Bologna cut through his coat, but did not touch his flesh. A youth of 18, who is said to have fired the shot, was stabbed and beaten to death by the crowd. Again the superstitious see the hand of Providence in the premier's escape. Even the Pope is quoted as saying: "This is a new sign that Mussolini has God's full protection."

As a result of a national referendum, 525,423 to 415,637, Norway will shortly abolish prohibition in effect since 1917, although the sale of beverages containing less than 12 percent of alcohol has always been permitted. A curious incident of Norwegian prohibition was the erection of a tariff wall against Norwegian fish by Spain and Portugal until wines from those countries were admitted into Norway in 1923.

If an Associated Press dispatch from Vienna is to be credited, Darius Green's dream has at last come true. M. Lutch, inventor of an individual flying machine with wings and an 80-horsepower motor carried between the shoulders, made successful short flights in which he was able to guide himself in any desired direction. He predicts that his contrivance, when perfected, may be retailed for about $300.

OUT OUR WAY

SO THINK WE

We think any town suffers or benefits by the conduct of its athletic or sports associations. When the teams that go out and in from the home town accept defeat and victory in the same sportsmanlike manner, always profiting, but the team that shows a bad disposition and try to pull ugly stuff when defeat comes their way always has a flareback that is sure to hurt.

We think about the most tiresome little upstart that we know of is the little Alee that always says "absolutely" instead of ordinary "yes."

We think even at our tender age that we can remember when the eight hour day threatened to create chaos in the country. Now we are threatened with five day weeks and we guess this will happen some time or other.

We think from all reports that men are guilty of using cosmetics as well as the women folks. A report in the papers recently stated that the manufacture cosmetics says that about 500,000 men use these preparations in secret. That may be but we have never seen a man risk his own life powdering his nose as he crosses the streets.

We think that incidental expense certainly covers a multitude of items and saves much embarrassment and a lot of trouble itemizing it.

We think Lubbock is fast getting into the real city class. The old aerial telephone cables are now coming down and going into the ground.

We think there is one thing that is pretty certain, and that is women are most perfect when they are most womanly.

We think there is a tendency to get people to be out late at night the midnight picture show is responsible for keeping young people out all night Sunday night and Monday morning. And we doubt the wisdom of the program.

We think the habit many people have of living beyond their means, their income is very ruinous to the people of the great American nation.

We think that when people are always busy there is little time for them to interfere with the other fellows' job, and there is seldom ever any trouble.

We think that when a fellow gets into his head that society owes him a living, he is just getting in good condition to be very badly disappointed about getting it.

We think that most people are like the letter "b"—says in debt.

We think there is no mistake about this being a representative government—just look at our halls of congress and the state representatives. They represent all classes.

We think there must surely be something in a name. So many men put all the property they have in their wife's name.

We think most men are satisfied with one wife, and then they get more than they usually get, and a bunch of trouble. No boot.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that the Dawson County sheriff is in possession of a lot of dry goods that he can not find an owner for. This stock was recently found down in the breaks of the river not far from Lamesa. It is not uncommon for the sheriff's department to possess plenty of wet goods with no one to claim them, but a stock of dry goods is rather unusual.

It is reported that the investigation committee is going into Texas garden records. We wonder if they put on the gas mask before they entered the

Steals Storm Secrets in Arctic

By ISRAEL KLEIN

Science Editor, NEA Service
Tentative readings brought back from the "North Pole of the Wind" in reedland will start Professor William Herbert Hobbs of the University of Michigan on his study of one of Europe's most perplexing weather problems.

Professor Hobbs is back at his desk in the geology department after a nine-week expedition over the top of Greenland, where it is said the heavy storms that molest Europe originate.

There, on an expanse of ice two miles thick, the members of the Hobbs expedition fought the strong winds about which they were seeking information. Sometimes the gales rose to a speed of 100 miles an hour, biting into their flesh and forcing them to dig into the ice and lean low against the gale to keep from being blown away.

Send Up Balloons
Yet the cold air and high winds did not prevent Professor Hobbs and his men from taking observations and establishing stations for continued readings.

In their nine weeks' stay, the explorers sent up 80 captive balloons for readings and checked up on their height by means of the theodolite—an instrument used for measuring angles and determining distances. The balloons attained an average height of 7000 meters, about 23,000 feet. Many of the balloons were followed to 10,000 meters, while one of the air recorders registered 14,000 meters.

These balloons carried thermometers, barometers and other instruments for measuring the speed and direction of the winds through which they climbed. With records of temperature, pressure, velocity and direction, Professor Hobbs hopes to be able to deduce certain formulas on which he could base a system of forecasting the weather, especially the approach of hurricanes, for the east Atlantic and Europe.

He has therefore established a base for observation on the ice cap of Greenland itself, the very center of these cold storms, and one at the edge over which they blow.

How can a fellow tell he's done a day's work when the wife sets his supper in the breakfast room.

Overcultured School Spirit

The recent occurrence at Waco when a cadet from the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college was fatally injured in a melee between supporters of the Baylor and A. & M. football teams is one of the deplorable results of what might be termed overcultivation of college spirit.

There are varying accounts of the affair, but it seems pretty well agreed from all of them that A. & M. cadets became enraged at a stunt being staged between the halves by Baylor supporters and sought to break it up.

There followed a free-for-all fight that resulted in the fatal injury of an A. & M. cadet.

Student bodies of both institutions have issued statements as might be expected, and each blames the other. The presidents of the two colleges joined in a statement, deploring the affair and each accepting for his school the entire amount of the blame for the unfortunate accident. This is about as far as the presidents could well go, due to the practical impossibility of making a fine appraisal of the responsibility for the incidents leading up to the fight which resulted in the death of a cadet.

A statement issued a day or two following the affair by a young lady in Houston, who was an eye-witness, will probably be accepted as about as near a truth as will ever be known. This witness expressed the opinion that it is doubtful if any one knew who struck the blow that resulted fatally to the A. & M. student. College spirit is commendable thing and can be made into a thing of real value, both to the students of the college and universities. But it seems that at this instance, which is unique only in the one point of having resulted in death, students are encouraged to resent to the point of physical resistance any stunt that seems to take light of the prowess of their football team.

It is natural, of course, for a loyal student of a school to resent any intimation that the representatives of his school are in any way deficient in athletics. But there can be little said in defense of a resentment that manifests itself in violence which can result only in equally violent retaliation from supporters of the other schools' team.

Here is an opportunity for the responsible faculty members to curb student enthusiasm to the point where it will stop short of provoking a riot. There should be immediately besides students to pass on what stunts will be staged. This is a responsibility that rests on the faculty of our colleges and universities. At any rate, yell leaders, who seem to be charged with the duty of arranging and staging student demonstrations, ought to have some other qualifications, aside from their own propensity to think of stunts calculated to arouse the fighting proclivities of the rival rosters.—Vernon Record.

JUST FOLKS

WHAT ALL LOVERS SHOULD KNOW

When John saw Mistress Mary's face
And marked her touch of gentle grace,
Something within his breast began
To burn as only spirit can.
"Of all the girls there are," said he,
"Here is the only one for me.
Here is the perfect one divine,
Nor can I rest till she is mine."

Likewise when Mary looked upon
The man that I have labeled John
His outward heart at once began
To tell her: "Here's a perfect man!"
Though reason whispered: "Love is blind,"
He, too, has fruits which you will find.
Niss Mary said: "No fault I see,
He is the only man for me."

Thus these two perfect souls were wed.
Now what think you must be ahead
Will love remain or love depart?
What trifles with a difference start?
For John and Mary both possess
The faults of human nature or less.
Or this there's not the slightest doubt,
And soon the two will find it out.

It all depends on Mary's wit,
And John's good nature, I submit,
Love's glamour soon must disappear
And fruits grow plainer year by year.
I give this truth for what it's worth
There are no angels on the earth.
Love marries us, and when we're dead
Says: "Now let reason be your guide."

TECH'S LAST HOME GAME THIS SEASON TODAY

SPECIAL TRAIN WILL CARRY WESTERNER FANS TO AMARILLO

MATADORS MEET HOWARD PAYNE YELLOWJACKETS, WHO SPOILED LAST YEAR'S PERFECT RECORD

This afternoon at three-fifteen the warriors of the Scarlet and Black will present to the grid fans of Lubbock and the South Plains their last performance for 1926 on the Matador field. It is the closing game for the Tech college eleven in Lubbock and happens to be with one of the strongest machines in football activity in Texas, the Howard-Payne Yellow Jackets, who were the only ones to manage a victory over the Freeland men in the 1925 calendar. It is said that there are people in Lubbock who have not had the occasion to witness the big "bull-fighters" since the beginning of the institution—this is their last chance for 1926.

Yellow Jackets Are Strong
Leading in the Texas Conference teams for the title of conference champion, the Yellow Jackets have a strong combination and will present a tough series of plays for the Matadors to handle. Always the Yellow and Black have had a mean offensive attack and are equally as strong in defense. As the followers of Freeland's crew know—it was "Daddy" Amie's crew of Jackets that took the Matadors under with a terrific tide of off tackle plays; it was the Jackets that put over the first victory on the state's youngest institution; it was the Jackets that plowed, plunged, and slashed the Freeland defense into a shred of ribbons and skirted the snail for yard after yard but were unable to defeat the Matadors by a score of 20 to 6.

However, the Amie's crew has been hindered with one or two injuries, but they are here with dogged determination to repeat the last season's victory on the Matadors. "I have heard since coming to Lubbock that we have our second team here with the Matadors," stated Coach J. B. Chaney. "Tell the fans through your columns that this is not true, for we are all here." It is true that several of the crew are out, but this is something that was unavoidable and comes to every football team," the coach continued.

Staten Led with Jackets
McAttee, fullback with the Jackets, is a Staten lad and one of Amie's surest bets at full. McAttee has been on the Howard-Payne crew for several years and is one of the Jackets most valuable backs. He is a good around gainer, and handles the oval in a fashionable manner.

Arrived Too Late for Workout
Due to the north-bound Santa Fe being something like an hour late the Jackets arrived in Lubbock too late for a light workout. It was the original plan of the coaches of the visiting aggregation to get here in time to take a light workout and get familiar with the Matador gridiron. The visitors ordered the lads to bed at an early hour last evening and are planning on having a good day in Lubbock this afternoon.

Matadors Are Ready
With the biggest game of the season on the coaches of the Scarlet and Black played their last troup yesterday with a light workout and are now waiting for the Jackets to play their card. A strong dose of scrimmages and workouts have been handed to the "bull-fighters" through this week's training and the Tech crew is going into the game with a strong line-up. Remembering the trample of a crashing offense—and most of all the heavy score the Jackets piled up last season, 39 to 6—the Pleaders have sworn revenge and will attempt to reverse the huge count to the Scarlet and Black. A spectacular offense is promised today with the strong offense machine of the Jackets in action, and with the Matador offense gaining considerable strength in all games. The Matador offense has just begun to startle the fans. In the last three games the Toradores have played much improvement has shown up in the offense department and Luginbootham has developed one of the fastest backfields to be found in the state in Walker, Stevens, Hill and Woolridge.

Everyone knows a Freeland line to be one of strength and dependable at all stages of a game. The Freeland lines have been known to the grid fans of the state for several years, and are always recognized as the main strength of the club he has under him. This afternoon "Big Up" will use his best and is counting on his crew of linemen to assist the Higginbotham backs against the Jackets.

Great Crowd Expected
A much greater attendance is expected for this afternoon's clash than attended the Armistice Day affair with the A. C. C. Wildcats. All preparations have been made by the members of the athletic committee for a much larger attendance for the contest this afternoon. It will be the last time the flashy jerseys will perform on the Matador grid this season.

The Probable Line-up
The probable line-up of the two teams for this afternoon will be: Howard-Payne—Prine, center; Johnson and Cagle, guards; Ethridge and Brown, tackles; Casbeer and Butcher, ends; Murrah, quarter; McAttee, full; Cottle and Zarnfontetis, half.

Tech—White and Jennings, ends; Carpenter and Aldridge, tackles; Smith and Reed, guards; Calloway and Corley, center; Woolridge, quarter; Stevens and Walker, half, and Hill, full.

New York U. Goes West to Hold Record

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—New York University's unbeaten football team sped westward tonight on a two-fold mission.
Not only will Chick Meehan's warriors seek victory next Saturday against the Nebraska Cornhuskers as a fitting climax to the Violet's most successful season in gridiron history, but there also will be a defensive road to uphold. In their march to eight straight triumphs thus far, the Gotham's griders have yielded but ten points to their opponents—a feat which ranks second only to the performance of Notre Dame.

J. T. Hall, manager of the Cicero Smith Lumber company at Littlefield was a visitor here yesterday.

Strolling Down Sport Lane With James R. Dow

Those stinging Yellow Jackets are here today to take part in the Matadors' last show in Lubbock. This is the Matadors' last performance in Lubbock for 1926; their last game will be played Turkey Day in Canyon.

Remembrances come to the Matadors preparatory to their game with the Howard-Payne crew of the manner in which they were defeated in their contest with the Brownwood institution and a vain effort will be made by the Pleaders to reverse this count.

Coach Amie did not accompany his club to Lubbock but attended the game with the Simmons Cowboys yesterday instead. However J. B. Chaney, assistant coach, is here with the lads.

Chaney was formerly a member of the Jacket crew, graduating from the college in 1924. He was the fastest man in Texas at the time he attended school. "I understand that it is generally thought in Lubbock that we brought our second team to meet with the Matadors," he stated. "This is not true," he added.

Several of the Jackets' best men are suffering injuries received in the Austin college game last Thursday—but with that they are here with a strong combination.

The special train to Amarillo for Saturday's clash has been practically assured. Over 100 followers of the high school eleven had made reservations for the trip yesterday afternoon, 200 or more are expected to take the trip Saturday.

W. A. McIntosh states that he predicts a victory over the Westerners on Saturday. According to the News of Amarillo he has not lost a prediction

The fans of Lubbock are rather glad that Mr. McIntosh holds a clean slate on his predictions of victories—for it is a long road that never turns.

OFFERS BUSINESS COLLEGE SCHOLARSHIP TO SCOUTS

Some Lubbock boys scout will have a chance to gain a business education for the Lubbock Business college is offering a complete course to some worthy scout during the coming year, according to an announcement made yesterday by H. B. Palmer, scout executive. The college is giving the scholarship to a scout who plans to enter some form of business and wants a way to complete his education.

Golf Date May Stop Historic Contest

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—A conflict in dates which threatens international competition on the links between American and Great Britain next year loomed tonight on an eve of a meeting of United States Golf Association executives to arrange 1927 title fixtures.

For the first time in several years the American open at Oakmont tentative has been fixed for June 23, 24 and 25, a period which falls within the week already chosen for the British open.

WINS BILLIARD TITLE

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17. (AP)—Ralph Greenleaf of New York tonight won the world's pocket billiard championship when he beat Erwin Rudolph of Chicago, 125 to 52 in the final match of the round robin tournament which started at the Elks Club on November 5.

MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED ALREADY HAVE SIGNED FOR TRIP TO SEE HIGH SCHOOLS IN TITLE GAME SATURDAY

Assurance was made yesterday afternoon for a Westerner Special train to be run to Amarillo Saturday for the title clash of the Panhandle with the strong Sandie crew of the North Plains city. Over 100 followers of the Von Tungenmen have signed up and made reservations for the trip Saturday. Yet there are something like twenty-five more tickets to be sold before the guarantee for a train will be made; these tickets will be sold before noon today, it is thought.

E. J. Lowery, manager of the high school athletics states that he thinks the rest of the necessary number will likely come out of the student body but is very anxious that as many of the fans from town that can make the trip to do so.

Word comes from the Superintendent of the Amarillo school, W. A. McIntosh, that the Sandies will win. Not only that but the head of the Amarillo schools has a perfect percentage on his predictions of the 1926 Sandie games. It is okay for the school head to make predictions and the fans of Lubbock are glad that he has made perfect all his predictions for this year, for somewhere down the line the road is sure to turn.

Intense workouts have been thrust on the local high school club and the Westerners are in excellent condition for the contest with Haystack in Amarillo Saturday. No injuries have affected the Westerner plans; however, Jack Rutledge, one of Frink's best linemen will not be able to take part in the game Saturday, as he is suffering with a broken leg. The rest of the crew came out of the Bullhead clash last Saturday unscathed.

Von Tungen plans to leave Lubbock Friday afternoon and to arrive in Amarillo in time for a slight work-

Goose Egg Looms for Chicago Team

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP)—The University of Chicago has had an on and down in football for more than thirty years, but never before have the Maroons faced the danger of the season ended of playing a full conference schedule without a victory.

That, however, is just what Coach Stagg and his men face this week, for in four successive Saturday's Chicago has fallen before four successive big ten teams and only Wisconsin remains. Moreover Wisconsin despite a bad year, his recorded victories over Iowa and Indiana and is improving steadily.

The rumor persists at the midway that if Wisconsin wins from Stagg, the veteran coach will award four of any letters to members of the team. Purdue is a distinct favorite against Indiana as the teams prepare for their twenty-ninth Hoosier classic. Snow which tonight swept across many big ten gridirons dampened scrimmages, but did not dim the order. Illinois worked out strenuously for Ohio state hoping to find the Buckeyes in eclipse after their losing for Michigan. A victory would enable Illinois to finish with a single loss.

Because of a lack of attendance the exhibition in Soerabaya, Java, to arouse interest in foreign products, has been closed.

P. A. is mild everywhere. And shows with every bit of him and pack removed by the Prince Albert process.

PRINCE ALBERT makes the grandest home-rolled cigarette that ever took form in your fingers. That isn't a mere claim. It's a statement of fact, backed up every few minutes by happy roll-your-owners everywhere! It's the tobacco, Men—that's the reason.

For P. A. is tobacco that is tobacco . . . the finest that ever lifted its head to the sun. First of all, it's crimp-cut and ideal for rolling. Doesn't take wings of the first little breeze. It saves time, temper, and tobacco. It burns better, too, for the same reason.

But that taste! That's the big thing after all. A cigarette made with P. A. is cool as a tree-top breeze. It is sweet as a melon, ripe and cold. It is fragrant as flowers that beckon the honey-bees. You'll roll 'em and smoke 'em morning to midnight, and enjoy every one.

If you sometimes smoke a pipe (or would like to), try Prince Albert this way too. Pipe-smokers who thought they were all set on a smoke-program have tried Prince Albert and found it a revelation. Buy some P. A. today. Try this wonderful tobacco both ways.

LONNIE LOWRANCE

ed that he moved his two children and his second wife to a little "shack" this year, and that he stayed with them for two weeks.

The witness stated that he loved all his three wives at one time, or at least, he thought he did, but he insisted that he wished to live with wife No. 2.

Was Mad Poor Health.
Lowrance says that he was stricken with paralysis on the 24th of December, 1925, and that his health had not been normal since that time. He was arrested on a charge of larceny, by Deputy Sheriff Vernice Ford of Lubbock and brought to this city from Littlefield.

During the course of trial lawyers for the defense attempted to cite certain portions of the Oklahoma statutes, but objections by the state were sustained by the court, who insisted that only the Texas laws would be considered. A number of depositions signed by physicians in Oklahoma were also passed.

Oklahoma Testifies

E. L. Davis of Carter county, Oklahoma, was the next witness on the stand. He stated that he had known Lowrance for many years and that as far as he knew his conduct was good. He knew of his sickness last year and said that at times since then "Lowrance looked wild out of the eyes."

T. N. Deaton, 67-year-old farmer of Wilbarger, Oklahoma, stated that he knew the defendant and that so far as he knew he was a good, law-abiding citizen. On cross examination he stated that he had heard of his giving "cold checks." He did not know whether any legal action had ever been taken.

Peace Officer Is Heard

J. E. Dees, of Greer county, Oklahoma, farmer and deputy sheriff, stated that he is well acquainted with Lowrance, and that he knew him to be a law-abiding citizen. He knew of his numerous marriages, but had never heard of his being arrested.

George Lowrance, father of the defendant was then placed on the stand. He stated that he is an Oklahoma peace officer. His son, he said, so far as he knew was a good son, and a law-abiding citizen. He had been sick a great deal, and the father felt that at times he had been mentally unbalanced. He declared he knew nothing about his son's third marriage until after it had taken place.

Just as the father was leaving the stand a storm came over the courtroom when Judge Mullican announced that attorneys for the defense had asked for a suspended sentence. As the father was leaving the stand state attorneys asked him if it were not a fact that he had said that "the last word Lowrance as long as he could and that he understood his last wife was able to take care of him and he was going to let her do it."

The witness emphatically denied the allegation.

Defendant Again On Stand
The defendant was again called on the witness stand and admitted that he had given some "cold checks" but had paid them off. He said he borrowed the money from his wife's father-in-law.

L. W. Wynn, city marshal of Littlefield, stated that he knew Lowrance, but considered him a normal man, rather than an invalid.

Deputy Sheriff Ford stated that he arrested Lowrance in Littlefield, brought him to Lubbock, and ordered the county health officer, Dr. W. L. Jaugh to examine him as the witness claimed to be ill.

Doctor's Word Heard
The doctor testified that he made the examination, found the defendant slightly indisposed, but not sick enough to go to the hospital at the county's expense. Lowrance was allowed to go to the hospital at his own expense.

Dr. W. L. Harris of Littlefield was then called to the stand, but the doctor was missing. As he had been in the courtroom and left without excuse the court assessed a $500 fine against him and instructed the sheriff to bring him in. The sheriff immediately left for Littlefield to get the missing witness. This was his second trip; he having brought the doctor in shortly after noon, or three hours earlier in the day.

State's Witness Heard
During the morning session witnesses for the state testified. All of the relatives of Lowrance's second wife testified that he was legally married, but without their approval. The girl (wife No. 2) was only 15 years old at the time of her marriage. It was said, and that was why they opposed it. Lowrance told them he had been married before, but stated that he had a divorce. They are said to have run away to Texas and married, and after their return to Oklahoma, Lowrance showed them his marriage certificate proving the legality of his second wedding.

He lived with her, according to the evidence, for more than two years and to whom two children were born. When Lowrance came to Texas he gave no reason and they knew nothing of his whereabouts for a few weeks and then they were informed that he had married again. The testimony said.

Other witnesses will be heard this morning and it is thought the case will likely go to the jury during the afternoon.

cells came to Benton Harbor and founded their colony which grew from a handful to a membership of nearly 1,000 at its peak in 1921.

World Wide Search
Two sisters—Ruth Bamford Reed and Gladys Bamford Rubeck, made the charges which prompted a world wide search for the man who once was denounced by Federal Judge John E. Slater as the man who "played sin with the gold of religion."

The girls, one 29, and the other 22 years old, swore that Purnell had criminally assaulted them while they were members of the colony. "Blood purification rites" was the explanation the "King" made for the liberties the Bamford sisters charge were taken, not only with them but with other girl members of the colony.

Four thousand dollars in rewards was the lure that brought a definite line to the authorities of Purnell's whereabouts.

Besides the criminal charges Purnell faces action by the state which seeks to disband the cult. The state in its court proceedings has branded the King as "a religious impostor, a pious fraud and a bigamist." Purnell and "Queen Mary" also are charged in the state petition for a receivership with converting thousands of dollars worth of property contributed by members of the colony to their own uses.

SAN ANTONIO, Nov. 17 (AP)—Texas Baptists must forget themselves and restore sanctification in the church and get a $6,000,000 debt, or commit denominational suicide, M. H. Wolfe, of Dallas, told the pastors and laymen's conference of the Texas general convention of the church Wednesday. The conference was preliminary to the convention which opens here Wednesday evening. He said the denomination is in grave danger and that if the battle for Christ is won, self must be forgotten, confidence restored and the Baptist institutions put on a sound basis so that work can go forward.

BROWNFIELD GINS
WORK OVERTIMEYARDS CROWDED IN SPIKE OF 24 HOUR DOUBLE
SHIFTS

(Special to The Avalanche)

BROWNFIELD, Nov. 17.—Cotton picking is being pursued at a rapid rate and the past several days of open weather has enabled the farmers to harvest to the best advantage. All gins are working with double crews on a twenty-four hour basis but the yards are crowded at all times and this is expected to continue for the next several weeks. A few of the growers have practically finished but in most cases pickers have been hard to secure and it has been necessary to use home forces which will be better in the long run as several hundred thousand dollars will be left in the county that would otherwise be carried out. This of course will make money easier to secure another year but it is not thought that house will be as heavy as in previous years as farmers have come to the conclusion that they are going to practice the live at home idea as never before and go more on a cash basis.

Cotton will be planted as heretofore but not in such large quantities as the present slump in price has taught the people that over production may prove disastrous.

Corn, sorghum and other grains have been produced in large quantities and it is thought that no farmer now in this county will be called upon to purchase feed for the next year or two and that there will be a surplus that will go on the market as soon as prices are placed on a profitable basis.

RUNNELS IN FAVOR OF DIVERSIFICATIONBANKERS UNANIMOUSLY BACK
PLAN AT MEETING IN BALLINGER

(Special to The Avalanche)

STAMPFORD, Nov. 17.—The Runnels County Bankers' association voted unanimously to endorse the diversification program and cotton acreage reduction plan of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at their meeting in Ballinger, November 17.

The endorsement was made following explanation of the diversification movement by a West Texas Chamber of Commerce official. According to plans formulated by the special cotton committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, recommendation has been made that the 1927 cotton plantings be reduced not less than 25 per cent under the 1926 planting, and that bankers of Texas protect the acreage reduction plan in the matter of extension of credits, and provision of funds for all practical diversification in the matter of loans, feedstuff, livestock and poultry. Action was taken by the Bankers' association upon these measures and full endorsement given them.

The Runnels County Bankers' association meeting was held at the chamber of commerce in Ballinger, where an elaborate banquet menu was served following a break in which paper plates topped with corn bread, sour fruit and "cow bells" was first presented to the surprised guests. On the program at the convention were John Q. McAdams, W. R. Hubbs, Carl Hendon and Bert R. Low, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce who a special guest and took part in the round table discussion held.

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Cotton goods were in fair demand today, khaki, colored cottons and wide sheetings being ordered more freely. Gray cloths were steady with a good call for a few numbers of broadcloths and print cloths that are scarce for early shipment. Yarns were steadier on several numbers. A weak case off here but remained steady in Yokohama. Cables from Calcutta reported some easing in burlap. Burlap locally were bought in small lots. Business on some lines of part wool blankets was good.

COTTON SEED OIL

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—The cotton seed oil market was quiet today with prices lower under selling by refining interests in liquidation, with net losses of 2 to 7 points. Sales were 7,000 barrels. Prime crude 6.50; Prime summer yellow spot 7.75; November 7.75; December 7.95; January 8.00; March 8.15; May 8.27.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Wheat today established new low price records for the season but was rallying on the day close to an end. Favorable crop reports from Argentina, a dearness effect, and so likewise did announcement that world supplies of wheat had increased 13,897,000 bushels for the week. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled 3-3 to 7-8 cents net lower; corn 3-4 to 13-8 cents up; oats at 1-3 9/16 to 1-4 cent advance.

Falling off in receipts with enlarged commission houses gave strength to the corn market. Oats sympathized with corn.

SUGAR

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—The raw sugar market today was firmer with spot Cuban quoted at 4.55 duty paid. Sales included 28,000 bags of pipe, November-December shipment at 4.60 and 21,000 bags for January-February shipments at 4.55 all to operators.

Reports that the most Cuban crop would be curtailed, strength in London and increased buying in Cuba by Holland, led to active trade outside buying in raw sugar futures. Opening prices were 2 to 4 points higher, and after showing further gains of 1 to 2 points, prices reacted partially under realizing, but again firmed up, closing at the highest and 4 to 6 points above the previous close. Approximate sales 115,000 tons. December closed 2.87; January 2.89; March 2.88; May 2.95; July 2.94; September 3.11.

Futures in the raw market led to a little better demand for refined sugar, although prices were unchanged, ranging from 5.55 to 5.90 for fine granulated.

FORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, Nov. 17. (AP)—Conditions in the cattle trade here today were far from ideal, resulting in a tone of stand by steady weak. In hog market, the reverse was noted, prices being about 15 cents higher. Sheep remained steady. The count was for 4,000 grown cattle, 1,300 calves, 350 hogs and 300 sheep.

COFFEE

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. (AP)—Coffee futures were lower today under liquidation or realizing by recent buyers. The general market closed at net declines of 3 to 20 points. Estimated sales 24,000 bags. Closing quotations: December 13.54; January 13.40; March 13.10; May 14.00; July 14.15; September 13.50.

Spot coffee quiet. Rio 7 1/2 to 10 1/2; Santos 4 1/2 to 21. Cost and freight offers included: Mart Bourbon 8's and 9's 19.55 to 19.65.

BANKERS APPETITES ARE VICTORIOUS OVER THRIFT

BALLINGER, Nov. 17.—A banker's banquet as a usual thing would bring up pleasant visions of aromatic delicacies, but invited guests to the Bankers Association dinner here November 12, were confronted with a menu of sour kraut, corn bread, and "saw belly." Carrying out instructions of officials for an economical "feed," the committee in charge presented paper plates on which reposed bacon, corn pone, and cabbage. Even Banker's thrift could hardly resist the menu when gastric juices were flowing for spicy foods and seasoned viands, so loud protest was voiced around the banquet table. When the hungry guests had reached a point of desperation, the lowly fare was removed and a regular banquet plate brought in. Properly the "economical" affair were typed on waste brown wrapping paper.

COURT SETTLES RADIO DISPUTE

WGES ORDERED TO BROADCAST SO AS NOT TO INTERFERE WITH STATION WGN

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (AP)—Radio station WGES was directed today by Circuit Judge Francis Wilson to broadcast on wave lengths which "will not materially interfere" with the broadcasting of WGN pending a supreme court decision on radio air rights.

WGN, the station of the Chicago Tribune, sought to enjoin WGES from broadcasting on a wave length within forty meters of its own, claiming interference with its programs and asserting its priority in use of that air zone.

The court held that the supreme court must pass on the case before it finally could be established whether forty meters is too small a divergence between broadcasting stations in the same locality to enable the clear reception of both.

The Biggest thing at the Cooking School

What is Accomplished by Mrs. Chitwood With Gebhardt's Eagle Chili Powder is easy of accomplishment By You

Ladies in attendance at this week's cooking school no doubt are marveling at the many ways Mrs. Chitwood is employing Eagle Chili Powder, the beautiful finishing touch she gives to salads with it and the delightful flavor it gives everything on which it is used.

Of course all have used Eagle Chili Powder for making home made Chili con Carne and other Mexican flavored dishes. But to many it is a revelation to find Mrs. Chitwood using this unique condiment in place of paprika, giving not only a more beautiful color and decoration to salads and other dishes, but adding a distinctive and pleasing flavor.

Be sure and get a copy of "Mexican Cookery for American Homes" and make careful notes of what Mrs. Chitwood has to say about Eagle Chili Powder. The combination of this unique cookbook and the splendid recipes of Mrs. Chitwood will enable you to secure unusually pleasing results in cookery.

Eagle Chili Powder is absolutely pure and wholesome. It is made from only selected genuine Ancho peppers that are grown especially for and under the direction of Gebhardt.

DAILY MARKET

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Nov. 17 (AP)—The cotton market was more active and firmer today, prices reaching the highest levels since the last government report. January contracts sold up to 12.77, or 1 1/2 points above yesterday's closing quotation and 30 points above the low price of November 3. They closed at 12.73; the general market closing steady at net advances of 11 to 14 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 to 3 points in response to steady Liverpool cables and encouraging reports from the cotton goods trade in Manchester. There were some overnight selling orders in the market, partly from the south and partly in the way of further near month liquidation, but spot house brokers were again buyers of December against buyers of December against sales of later months, while there appeared to be rather an active demand for May and January for trade or investment account.

Some brokers attributed this buying to covering of shorts, but whatever its character, it seemed to leave the market comparatively bare of contracts, and prices advanced during the early afternoon on covering or rebuying by early sellers. December sold up from 12.67 to 12.70, and May from 13.68 to 13.70, net advances of about 15 to 19 points on active positions. There was some realizing in late trading, but very little southern selling was reported here after the first half hour. Last prices showed reactions of 4 or 5 points from the best.

Private cables from Liverpool reported trade calling in the market there, which with local and Bombay buying, absorbed hedge selling. They also said the large cloth demand was maintaining with a fair business in Egyptian yarns.

The weekly report of the weather bureau seemed to make rather a bullish impression on sentiment, as it emphasized the delay and gaining by recent rains, which suggested damage to cotton still in the fields.

Export today 116,698 bales, making 2,412,460 so far this season. Port receipts 59,247. U. S. port stocks 2,613,882.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17 (AP)—The cotton market was only moderately active today but prices showed an advancing tendency. Trade buying was the main support of values although the faintest weekly weather report and freezing weather in the west were the supporting influences. Following an opening gain of six to seven points, the market after a slight reaction of four points again improved and kept on the upgrade most of the day showing gains of 14 to 15 points in the early afternoon due to rather fair trade buying although there appeared to be no lack of offerings on every point advance. Large exports were also a sustaining factor during the afternoon. The market continued to improve during the final hour and at the highest prices were 16 to 17 points above the previous closing levels. After easing off 3 to 4 points the market closed 13 to 16 points up for the day.

Liverpool came in better than due and first trades here showed gains of 2 to 4 points. Prices gained a few points after the call on moderate trade buying, the weather and crop report, December trading up to 12.64, January to 12.69, and March to 12.81, or six to seven points above the previous close.

After easing off four points during the first hour the market again rallied and by noon December was at 12.68 and March 12.86, or 11 points up from the previous close. The advance continued during the early afternoon, December reaching 12.72, January 12.76 and March 12.90.

The market continued to improve slowly in the final hour, December advancing to 12.73, January to 12.78, and March to 12.92, or 16 to 17 points above the previous close. The close was 3 to 4 points off from the best. Exports were large, totalling 116,698 bales.

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 17 (AP)—The University of Kansas' invitation to entertain the 19

VALUABLE RELICS ARE IN POSSESSION OF PANHANDLE PLAINS HISTORICAL SOCIETY, KEPT AT CANYON TEXAS

(Special to The Avalanche)
CANYON, Nov. 17.—The Panhandle Plains Historical society has recently come into possession of valuable relics, and its collection of regional relics has been greatly increased.

George Doughty, a citizen of Post, Texas, has placed in possession of the society, a number of valuable geological specimens, pieces of pottery and other Indian tools. Mr. Doughty has collected pottery in the Mimbres river valley in New Mexico. This pottery represents the finest Indian workmanship, and is estimated to be 1000 years old.

A spear head, about four by eight inches, obsidian arrow points and an arrow polisher are among the collection.

The Hank Smith Collection
H. B. Smith, of Crosbyton, is the donor of a collection of letters written by his father, Hank Smith, over a period of years from 1863 to 1877. These letters give first hand information concerning Ft. Galtman, which is located near El Paso and Ft. Griffin and the South Plains region.

For many years Hank Smith and his wife, who was affectionately known as "Aunt Hank," lived in the rock house at Mount Blanco, Crosby county; this was the first house built on the South Plains.

Among other documents in this collection, are day books of army officers while in service in Western Kansas, Colorado and West Texas, and daybooks and ledgers kept over a long period of years by Hank Smith himself.

The Charles Dublin Collection
From Big Spring, Texas, there has come a valuable collection of foreign coins, arrow heads and other Indian tools and relics of the world war.

Among the latter, there is a crucifix which was taken from the body of a German soldier who was killed in his trench; the crucifix bears not only the usual figure of the Christ, but also a skull and cross bones. The crucifix is of silver, inlaid with ebony. The whole is about seven inches long.

A diminutive spur, scarcely an inch across, and an eight-ply quilt just six and one-half inches long, show careful workmanship.

Erie-Adair Collection From Tahoka
When Henry Wadsworth Longfellow wrote some of his poems, he used a quill pen which is now in the possession of the Panhandle Plains Historical society. With the pen is an autobiography copy of the "Hemlock of the Crane," which was presented by Longfellow to his sister, Mrs. A. L. Pierce, at Portland, Me.

Pierce later presented the book to Miss Juan L. Erie, a sister of H. C. Erie, of Tahoka, Texas. With this collection, too, there is a bound volume of the issues of Peterson's magazine for 1964. This magazine is somewhat like Godey's "Lady's Book." It contains stories of the day, recipes, sermons, and other directions and stories. This old magazine becomes increasingly interesting if compared with magazines designed for women readers of the present day.

Newspapers, other books, photographs, a sketch of the first church built in Hingham, Maine in 1651, a sword used in the Civil war and an old Swiss watch, are other relics of interest in this collection which has come to the Historical society through the kindness of Mrs. H. C. Erie, of Tahoka. The collection will be known as the Erie-Adair collection.

Letters on Indian Affairs
Letters from Lieutenant J. W. Myers, who saw service on the Kansas frontier during the late sixties, who was moved south into the Indian territory in 1869, and finally to Fort Griffin, Texas, where he was killed, tell of Indian affairs during a period over which historians are still disagreed. Lieutenant Myers was a man of broad experience and his comments on topics of his day show intelligence and keen insight. Some of his letters are addressed to the New York Sun, but it is not yet ascertained whether these letters were copied of those actually sent or whether they were prepared for sending and then filed away. These letters are a source of material which has never been gone into by students of Indian affairs of this period.

BRITISH NOBLEMAN MAY BUILD UPTON COURT HOUSE

(Special to The Avalanche)
RANKIN, Nov. 17.—A British nobleman may build the Upton county courthouse and have the district expenditure of its $30,000 bond issue raised for the erection of a building. Sir Frederick Hurrell, of London, who visited here last year, set his geologist, proposed that should oil be discovered near his land he would pay for the construction of a court house with his own money. The Hurrell community is located twelve miles west of here where oil has developed, and the English noble will pay for erection of a courthouse there if the county seat is removed to that place.

LOTS OF BLOODED STOCK IN DAWSON

FARMERS KEEP SUPPLY OF FINE COWS AND HOGS ON PREMISES

(Special to The Avalanche)
LAMESA, Nov. 17.—Dawson county has perhaps as many as well bred and blooded cows and hogs as any county on the plains. A recent survey by the Chamber of Commerce revealed the fact that the majority of substantial farmers either have a sufficient supply of hogs, cows and chickens or having some shipped into the county.

According to C. B. Martin County Agent registered bulls, heifers, and hogs are being shipped into the county and every farmer is supplying his farm in order that henceforth he can "live at home."

There is at present no veterinary surgeon in Lamesa and Dawson county. With it heavily stocked as it is and will be, the county will need a "horse doctor" in the west way. The chamber of commerce is making an effort to secure for Dawson county the service of a good veterinary.

500 Tax Judgements Will Be Rendered

Judgment in all tax suits filed in the county on which service has been completed, estimated by court attachers to be approximately 500, will be rendered in district court here Saturday. It was said Wednesday. It was explained that many people have either neglected to take action, or have passed the matter of service of papers up with an indifferent atmosphere, and that in all such instances judgment probably will be granted the state, complainant in all cases.

Such matters can be settled much more readily out of court, it was said, and at much less expense, for the suits must travel through several hands in the process of completion, with the cost mounting at each instance. This cost eventually must be paid by the property owner after judgment is granted, for taxes remain a first lien against property until paid regardless of whether such is a home.
