Manufacturers Pledge Aid To Government

Eleven-Point Program Given Approval; Cooperation For 1939 Is To Be Urged

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 — The National Association of Manufacturers late today unanimously approved a 1939 platform urging "cooperation with the government." Without argument on the floor, the convention approved a program drawn up after a bitter fight behind closed doors in the resolutions committee.

The faction which favored cooperation with the New Deal succeeded in:

Halts Open Criticism

(1) Preventing open criticism of the whole policy of the reciprocal trade agreement.

(2) Striking out a proposal to revise the Wagner act.

(3) Eliminating another proposal to abolish special federal regulatory commissions.

The 11-point program called for cooperation of industry, commerce, agriculture and labor with government, and said "we in industry admit our share of mistakes."

Restore Men To Jobs

For the future, while recognizing a need of continuous unemployment relief, the program called for restoration of 9,000,000 unemployed to industrial jobs in the following manner:

(1) Business to realize human responsibilities, accept economic and social responsibilities, be frank with the public, maintain high standards, lower prices as feasible, maintain sound employe relations, be a "desirable citizen" of the community.

(2) Business to recognize labor's right to bargain collectively without intimidation from any source, continued good working conditions, adjustment of complaints, fair wages and incentives for advancement and a cushioning of the effects of technological unemployment.

(3) Government to adjust fiscal policy to attract investment, to create new machines, to create new jobs for the unemployed. (Provisions of the securities act of 1933, and the securities and exchange commission act of 1934, were described as "unnecessarily severe," but no definite recommendation of modification was made).

(4) Increase purchasing power by increasing production rather than by curtailment.

(5) Business to recognize govern-

New Texas Tech Director Takes Oath Before State Officials

This is the first oath of office ever taken by a state official in Texas that omitted the "I have never fought a duel . . . or acted as second . . . or sent or accepted a challenge to fight a duel." Mark McGee, Fort Worth attorney and former adjutant general, is being sworn in as a member of the board of directors of Texas Technological college, under appointment succeeding Clifford B. Jones. In the picture, left to right, are Bob Barker, senate secretary; Senator Frank Rawlins of Fort Worth; Judge John N. Sharp of the supreme court, administering the oath; Director McGee, Gov. James V. Allred, Judge Richard Critz of the supreme court, and Edward Clark, secretary of state. The dueling clause was omitted from the oath for the first time after voters approved a constitutional amendment eliminating it.

S. M. Reed Dies Last Night Of Pistol Wound

Body Is Found Sprawled On Floor Of Bathroom; Wife Heard Shot And Fall

S. M. REED, 56, of 2311 Thirteenth street, died at 9:25 o'clock Thursday night in a sanitarium of a gunshot wound in his head. The shot had been inflicted about 7:30 o'clock.

On entering the bathroom at the residence after hearing a shot, residents found Reed's body sprawled on the floor. Investigating officers found a .45 calibre single action pistol. In the bath tub they found a slug which had been fired from a .45 calibre gun.

Heard His Body Fall

Mrs. Reed said she heard a shot in the bathroom and heard Reed's body fall, either against the wall or to the floor.

"I didn't go in; I just couldn't," she said.

She said he had been in ill health several years and had returned Saturday from a sanitarium in Dallas.

An attending physician said the slug entered Reed's head from behind the right ear and emerged from the left temple. The slug tore through the man's brain.

Rushed To Sanitarium

He had been rushed to the sanitarium in a Rix Funeral home ambulance and was admitted to the sanitarium about 7:40 o'clock.

Si Anderson and Ralph Goldwater of the police conducted a routine investigation at the residence and Melvin Alvey and O. E. Rush, also of the police, assisted in investigations at the sanitarium.

No inquest was conducted by a coroner.

A son, Clayton Reed, was killed in an automobile accident near Midland Sept. 10.

Lived Here 10 Years

Reed had lived here approximately 10 years, moving here from Memphis, Tex. He was born in Tennessee, but came to Texas when only three months old. He spent most of his boyhood in Italy, Tex.

He was a member of the First Methodist church here.

It was indicated Thursday night that funeral services probably would be conducted here and burial would be at Memphis. However, no definite arrangements had been made that night.

Other than his wife, he is survived by two sons, Howard Reed of Los Angeles, Calif., and Sumner Reed of Levelland; a sister, Mrs. G. M. Springer of Memphis, Tex., and a brother, J. B. Reed, also of Memphis. Sumner Reed is a former student of Texas Technological college, and only recently moved to Levelland to work.

Cullen Thomas Death Victim

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 8.—Cullen Fleming Thomas, 70, United States commissioner-general for Texas' recent centennial exposition and long a prominent member of the bar, died at his home today.

Thomas labored for years on a plan to celebrate the state's hundred years of independence. After 11 years of sponsorship he was named commissioner-general by the federal government, and was instrumental along with other prominent Texans, in obtaining a $3,000,000 federal appropriation for the exposition.

Declined Important Jobs

In his law career Thomas declined two important positions—membership on the state railroad commission in 1922 and the judgeship of the court of civil appeals in 1923. He was a trustee of Baylor university.

Thomas was born in Rutherford, Tenn., June 16, 1868 and went to the U. S. Naval academy. He received an LL. B. from the University of Texas and an LL. D. from Howard Payne college. He practiced law in Waco until 1909, having served as district attorney there for four years. He moved to Dallas and played an active part in Democratic party activities since then.

Survivors include the widow; a son, Cullen Sheppard Thomas; three daughters, Mrs. William A. Powe, Elizabeth and Barbara Thomas.

Man Sought To Obtain Estate

(By The Associated Press)

RENSSELAER, Ind., Dec. 8. — Ralph Myers, 45, of Rensselaer was reported by state police detectives Fremont Lemler and Edward Rose today to have confessed a plot to have his 72-year-old father, George M. Myers, slain so he might get his $75,000 estate.

The detectives said they posed as Peoria, Ill., hoodlums to trap the younger Myers last night. He was arrested beside an automobile in which the detectives were seated with a third man in the downtown section. Earlier, they said, he had met them in the country near here and outlined a plan for his father's slaying.

Willing To Plead Guilty

Lemler and Rose reported Myers, in jail, had expressed willingness to plead guilty to a charge of conspiracy to commit murder.

The detectives withheld the name of the man who tipped them off to the plot. They said Myers had admitted going to the man Saturday and offering to tell him how he could earn $1,000 for a risky "job."

"It may be a one-way ride if you get caught," the detectives said Myers told of advising the informant.

The man told a minister, Lemler and Rose said. The minister warned

Innocent Man Is Said Held

(By The Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 8.—From a death cell in San Quentin penitentiary came a letter from outlaw Ed Davis claiming he and four other desperadoes staged a $11,000 bank robbery at Clinton, Okla., for which a man now is serving a 25-year sentence.

The other four were Harvey Bailey, now serving life at Alcatraz for the Charles F. Urschel kidnaping; Big Bob Brady, the notorious Wilbur Underhill and Jim Clark, Davis wrote.

Was Working On Farm

In a McAlester penitentiary cell since Jan. 11, 1935, has been Walter Philpot, 55, sent up from Clinton for the robbery, Philpot insisted he was working on a farm at the time of the robbery.

"I am sure," Davis wrote Mrs. Juber Philpot, the convicted man's mother, "that myself, Bailey, Clark or Underhill never so much as seen your son."

Fred Cunningham, state pardon and parole board attorney, said he would confer immediately with Warden Jess Dunn and Custer

Seven Forgery Suspects Held

Pages and pages and hours and hours were needed to record the statements made by seven suspects here Thursday night in recent forgery cases at Brownfield, Meadow, Ropesville and Snyder.

"We'll probably be here all night," said Ches Gore, Terry county sheriff who is heading the investigation. Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney who was taking the statements, nodded an assent.

Arrested Near City

Four men and three women were arrested on the outskirts of Lubbock about 8 o'clock Thursday night by Sheriff Gore and two deputies, Joe Price and Sam White, after the suspects had passed a $11 forged check at Brownfield and another for a similar amount at Meadow, according to officers.

Those held also are suspected of forging and passing three $11 checks at Snyder. Authorities of this area had been warned to be on the lookout for suspects several days ago.

Checks For $11 Passed

A $11 check was passed Thursday to Johnny Rayburn of an auto supply store at Brownfield, Price said. The name C. C. Farmer had been affixed to the instrument. They attempted to pass a check for a similar amount on J. J. Conner at "every drug store in Brownfield," it was reported.

One of the girls held was 14 years old and said she had been married since August. Her husband was among the suspects. All of them said they lived at Snyder.

Grady Harrist and Jas. P. Posey, Lubbock county deputies, assisted in investigations. The suspects were mugged and fingerprinted at police headquarters.

Two of the girls, officers' said, were in love with the same man. Words flew thick and fast between

Southern California Swelters In Weather Of 92 Degrees

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 8. (AP) — There is nothing a southern Californian likes to talk about more than the weather—his weather—unless it is the kind he felt today.

Then it becomes distasteful. He can alibi the rain and explain the wind, but when one of the year's hottest days comes along right in the middle of the Christmas shopping season, he is speechless.

Los Angeles sweltered today for nearly two hours in an all-time December high of 92 degrees.

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 8. (AP)—A careening automobile with a dead man at the wheel sent scores of Christmas shoppers scurrying for safety today.

The machine finally crashed into a fire plug. Coroner W. G. Stroble attributed death to heart disease.

Another Crisis Faces Europe

(By The Associated Press)

PARIS, Dec. 8. — Something like a European crisis has risen over Italy's "unofficial" clamor for French-protected Tunisia.

Italian and anti-Italian demonstrations and disorders in the French North African protectorate, heavy reinforcements of the mobile guard there and reports that Italians in Tunisia were planning to defend themselves were the newest factors of the near-crisis today.

Troops Are Gathered

Reports from the French-Spanish border that 40,000 Italian troops were massed in insurgent Spain just across the Pyrenees from France emphasized fears Italy might be preparing to translate agitation into military action.

When The Last Christmas Carol Fades Away And Tot Leaves Her Toys For Bed—

Father Must Decide Fate Of Little Girl With Blue And Laughing Eyes—A Fate Meaning Almost Certain Doom

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 — When the last Christmas carol fades away and 7-year-old Dorothy Lewis has left her toys for bed, then and only then will the little cripple's father decide her fate—a sentence of almost certain doom or an operation, with death a 10-1 probability.

Surgeons have told him the decision is his alone.

Amputation of the child's right leg, afflicted with sarcoma, or cancer of the thigh bone, would give her a meager chance to live.

Without an operation, they said, death would be virtually certain in from 8 to 10 months.

And he must decide soon . . .

"But I can't decide yet," said the anguished father, William Lewis, a Queens park department employe.

"I cannot look at her happy, innocent face now when she is looking forward so eagerly to Christmas—and decide.

"I could not bear to watch her on Christmas day if I knew I had decided on her life, one way or another.

"God knows, it is a terrible decision to make."

His wife died a few months ago after an operation, Lewis recalled as he spoke in shaken terms of his ordeal — alone to resolve what may be a life-or-death sentence for the little daughter with blonde curls and blue laughing eyes.

"She does not know, yet," he said.

On Saturday, Dorothy will celebrate her eighth birthday, with a party planned by neighborhood children who have vowed to hide any intimation of her plight.

Cotton Harvest For 1938 Is Being Estimated At 25,346,000 Acres

Farmers Will Vote Saturday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—The agriculture department estimated the the 1938 cotton harvest at 25,346,000 acres today. This compares with the approximately 27,500,000 acres to which growers will be asked to restrict their plantings next year.

The report, which estimated this year's production at 12,008,000 bales, was issued while cotton farmers prepared to vote Saturday on the question whether marketing quotas should be applied to the 1939 crop.

Two Thirds Must Approve

If two thirds of those voting approve, the quotas will apply. This will mean that sellers of cotton grown on acreage which is in excess of that allotted will be subject to two cents a pound penalty. Quotas are in effect on this year's crop.

The production estimated in the final report of the year was 129,000 bales below the production indicated a month ago and compared with a 1937 crop of 18,946,000 bales.

The census bureau reported that ginnings to December 1 totalled 11,233,157. bales.

The cotton referendum will be one of three to be held Saturday on marketing quotas. Flue-cured tobacco growers and rice producers will vote on 1939 sales restrictions for their crops under provisions of the 1938 farm act.

Beautifiers Known As Pants And Aprons Must Not Be Used On Streamline Trains

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP) — The beautifiers known as pants and aprons must not be used on streamlined trains because they raise too much dust, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers was told today.

Pants and aprons are the coverings over trucks, wheels and other underbody parts of a railroad train. The troubles they have caused were described by B. S. Cain, of the General Electric Co., Erie, Pa.

In a slight side wind, he said, a high speed train rolls up a "wedge" of air on its leeward side. This wedge travels alongside the train with hurricane force.

Cloud Of Dust

On some roadbeds this results in a cloud of dust and gravel, which appears to rise from the locomotive wheels. It becomes higher and wider as it goes back, until it masks the whole side of the streamliner. The remedy is in two parts. One is to permit an easy airflow cross the train from side to side by taking off the pants and aprons, Mr. Cain said, and by rounding the roof and underside as much as possible.

The other is to produce a downdraft of air on the roadbed to keep the dust from rising. This is done by shaping the "cowcatcher" for downdraft and by placing deflectors under the locomotive.

Pythons attain a length of 30 feet.

Driest November In Years Is Seen In Crosbyton Sector

CROSBYTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—W. M. Curry, official weather observer of Crosbyton, reported driest November in years. He said total moisture for the month was .6 inch, minimum temperature 10 degrees Nov. 24.

"Effect of the dry weather is beginning to be felt by wheat, the farmers say," said Curry. "It will be necessary to have moisture if the crop is to survive the cold dry weather that has prevailed during the month."

Postal officials say that when a letter is delivered several years late it's a 99-1 chance that a careless patron, not the mail man, was at fault.

Guild Members Are Arrested

CHICAGO, Dec. 8. (AP)—Five Chicago newspaper guild members were arrested and blows fell on a dozen heads in a melee today along the picket line at the Hearst building where guild members are on strike against the Evening American and the Morning Herald and Examiner.

Those arrested were Harry Wohl, president of the Chicago guild, affiliated with the C. I. O., American Newspaper guild; Don Stevens, executive secretary of the Chicago guild; his wife, Sada; Virginia Gardner, a newspaper reporter; and Nate Aleskovsky, Herald and Examiner copyreader.

About 100 persons were on the picket line on Wacker drive when truck drivers pulled up to load papers. The melee started when police began opening the line of pickets to let the drivers through.

The guild issued a statement saying the truck drivers "attempted to crash the picket line wielding rubber hoses."

Police Lieutenant William Mc Carthy said his men gave the pickets "every chance in the world to picket peacefully," he added that hereafter no picketing would be permitted on the Wacker drive side of the building.

Amarillo Man Faces Federal Sentence

DENVER, Dec. 8. (AP)—Adolph E. Krause, 45, of Amarillo, Texas, was sentenced today to a three and a half year term in Leavenworth prison after he pleaded guilty in federal district court to passing counterfeit notes in Denver beer parlors.

Krause pleaded in a statement to secret service agents that the bogus money was brought to Denver from Texas "by a man named Mitchell in a wooden leg."

The prisoner said the counterfeit money dropped out of Mitchell's artificial leg when he took it to a repair shop. "He didn't know where they came from and he gave them to me to take care of," Krause added.

Judge J. Foster Symes, in passing sentence, said he was convinced Krause had "guilty knowledge" of the source of the counterfeits.

Sixty-Six Girls Will Be Initiated Into Girl Reserves Tonight

The Woman's Angle

By Mildred Turner

"London is sending a committee to the United States to study traffic control. We have no idea where they'll find any."

* * *

TODAY'S FAVORITE GAG

Mother (from next room)—"For heaven's sake, Tommy, turn off that loud-speaker. That woman's voice goes right through me."

Tommy—"That isn't the loud-speaker, mother. It's Mrs. Brown come to see you.

* * *

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner: I read with interest the story in Sunday's Avalanche. What the famed Ethel Barrymore was quoted as saying. And from what I've read, and all my experiences, the noted actress is one hundred per cent right. Where is where, and in what chaos would the whole world be in today, if some young, inexperienced person were Prime Minister of England in the present maelstrom?

People couldn't exist if it were not for the experience that maturity brings. Call it "training" or "education" or whatever you like, it is still experience.

No young person has gained success and "stayed there" without the help, in more ways than one, of some mature and experienced individual.

Perhaps Ethel Barrymore "cared little for her daughter's ambitions" because she cared so much for her daughter. And no intelligent, mature man or woman wants youth, their own or someone elses, to pay the price they themselves have paid for experience, or success whatever the object may be.

But will youth listen?

They will not?

When Ethel Barrymore gave up the stage to "coach ambitious births" she was offering those youngsters the benefit of years and years of training and experience. And long before they are grayhaired they will wish for, and need, that voice of experience.

I grant you some few will "get along" and make good. But it is much harder, and takes a lot longer, to learn by experience, than from it.

And I, too, am convinced, there never will be a time when it won't be the chief reliance of all nations." And may I add, their salvation.

I could fill page after page, telling what age, maturity, and experience have done, and will continue to accomplish.

Sorry, but right now I can't think of one single thing that youth has done that was not fool-hardy or accidental, more often, both. And so the battle of youth and age goes on. And some day these youths are grown up and after years of training will be doing and speaking with the voice of experience.

Very truly yours, Mrs. J. D. Bynum, 1905 Dixie Drive.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Bynum: Thank you for your thoughtful letter. Your last paragraph was particularly interesting to us. As we sit here we are thinking of a Youth who, at the age of 12, amazed the wisest men and whose life should be a challenge to every young person who grows discouraged in a world which, to all odds, seems run for and by older people. We still maintain youth should be given a break—what's the harm in a world you admit is chaotic.

STIMULATED by recent books and lectures and the boost given the Yogi "daily dozen" in the international set by Lady Mendl, who stands on her head every morning and acts 25 years younger than her age, Yogi exercises are a rising fad in London and are said to be arousing increasing interest in New York.

Well, we heard of a pretty young Lubbock matron who almost broke her toe recently when she toppled over after standing on her head, so we don't advocate that. There's a man named Rose (no kin to Billy) who is teaching Yogi regime in London to crowds at so much per head.

Here's a typical exercise that anyone can do that we'll give you free: "Close the right nostril, inhale deeply through the left, then close both. When holding the breath becomes a strain, exhale slowly. Take next breath through the right one, with the left closed, then close both, and so on."

Twenty such breaths, each day, upon rising, at midday, at sundown and before retiring, does all this: Your body will be rejuvenated, and you will possess a sweet odor, your skin will become pure, your appetite and digestion good, and your voice, although softer in tone, will carry to exceptional distances. You will have greater courage, enthusiasm and personal magnetism."

You might try this exercise for a time and if you find a great change coming in your life drop by the desk and let us give you the once over.

Relieve the Misery As Most Mothers Do
Rub baby's back, chest, and throat with Vicks VapoRub and tuck him deep into bed. What a comfort to know that VapoRub goes to work right away to relieve the misery of his cold without "dosing"—without risk of stomach upsets. And what a comfort to know that long after restful sleep comes, VapoRub will still be working—two ways at once—direct through the skin like a poultice, and direct to the irritated air-passages with its medicated vapors. You'll find that often by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Table decorations, a Christmas scene, and food were prepared by the last group.

The chamber of commerce group were guests of an assembly program given by freshmen after the luncheon. Program consisted of piano solos by Phyllis McReynolds and Betty Lou Turner, readings by Corrine Cates and Mary Frances Landreth; vocal duet by Johnette and Billie Wicker; an accordion solo by Juanita Elliott, a hawaiian guitar solo by Mary Bell Coverley, and a scripture reading by Billy Lokey.

Other activities the homemaking group has participated this year were a tag party for the girls and an Armistice tea for the high school faculty.

Slaton High school is one of 10 schools in the state offering four affiliated credits in homemaking.

Garner-For-President Boom In Texas Regarded As Significant By Observers

Strategic Advantages Are Seen For Getting Into Field Early

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. — The Garner-for-president boom in Texas, rivaling in political trappings the movement started a year ago by Indiana Democrats for former Governor Paul V. McNutt and the "ham-and-beef-and-cabbage" dinner for Senator Bennett Clark of Missouri, is significant in the opinion of politicians here.

All three booms have a common keynote, although it was sounded openly only at the Garner rally. That is their "no third term" theme song aimed at Roosevelt boomers like Senator Joe Guffey of Pennsylvania.

Are Good Advertising

Various tactical and strategic advantages of getting into the field early appeal, no doubt, to the boom-makers. The booms are good advertising, for one thing, keeping the candidate in public eye.

But they have sometimes quite another underlying purpose. They provide a rallying point for party leaders from states which have no prospective favorite son candidates. It is that aspect of the new Garner boom in Texas that first catches politicos' eyes in Washington.

No Third Term Basis

The fervor of the Texas demonstration for Garner attracted less attention than the fact it was founded outspokenly on a "no third term" base. That gives it implications to political writers of a more definite "stop-Roosevelt" movement in the making than an indication that Garner wants or would accept a presidential nomination.

Doubt as to the vice president's attitude is widely held among some in Washington who know him well. He wanted to retire in 1936. Yet that doubt probably only increases, in the minds of anti-Roosevelt partisans, his availability for the role in which they seem to be casting him. At this distance it looks like the same role he played in 1932; but in reverse.

Balance Of Power

Around Garner's candidacy in that year clustered the balance-of-power combination in the Chicago convention, which halted a formidable Al Smith-guided "stop-Roosevelt" alliance in its tracks. A McAdoo-Garner, California-Texas maneuver beat a tentative Indiana-Illinois grouping to the punch, nominated Roosevelt and set the New Deal on its eventual way.

Doubt prevailed then that Garner, the convention runnerup, actually wanted the nomination. It still exists in many quarters, six years later.

The political map as re-made in the recent elections does not indicate the deepest south is a happy hunting ground for Democratic 1940 presidential timber. It does point to the middle west; and there Senator Clark of Missouri, reputedly picked by Garner long ago as a 1940 presidential possibility, must be reckoned with.

No Criticism Involved

The "no third term" declaration at the Garner boom rally were tempered for Roosevelt ears by the fact they were based on maintenance of the Jeffersonian political philosophy and were declared to involve no criticism or impeachment of anybody. That did not lessen the fact they offered a rallying place under a Garner standard.

Whether the Guffey pro-third term statement was timed to offset the Texas anti-third term demonstration, or was merely incidental to an assertion by Guffey of a post-election claim to control of the election-shaken Democratic organization in Pennsylvania, is not clear. There is no suggestion the Guffey call for another Roosevelt term was sponsored by the White House, and the president laughed it aside at a press conference.

It emphasized, however, just as much as the Garner rally in Texas did the no third term sentiment, the fact that the threat of a third term candidacy, even perhaps at the price of a complete party rupture in 1940, is a weapon in Roosevelt hands to help meet a new party leadership test in the new congress. What seems certain is that neither Mr. Roosevelt nor the vice president will disclose his actual 1940 intentions for many months to come.

Five Persons Facing Charges Of Fraud By Use Of Mails

TEXARKANA, Dec. 8 (AP) — Five persons were under $1,000 bonds today following their arrest yesterday on federal grand jury indictments charging them with conspiracy to defraud by use of the mails.

One indictment named Mrs. Dovie Rowning, Harvey A. Loveless, Griffin Smith and Dr. F. O. Taylor, physician, who were accused of conspiring to defraud insurance companies by "falsely" representing the cause of death of Mary E. Taylor.

The other indictment named Gus Miller, Dr. Taylor and Smith on charges of conspiring to defraud insurance companies by allegedly misrepresenting the cause on death of Fannie Stewart.

All defendants' postoffice addresses were listed as Winfield, Texas.

Delaware Man Is Chosen To Head State Road Officials

DALLAS, Dec. 8. (AP)—W. W. Mack of Dover, Del., was elected president of the American Association of State Highway Officials today at the close of their twenty fourth annual convention.

The 1939 meeting place will be chosen next June by the executive committee.

The association recommended that state legislatures amend laws so that the "model code" of motor vehicle laws would become standard throughout the nation. It urged the ban of miscellaneous advertising and other signs along highways and offered its services to the government in any road building plan concerning national defense.

Chicago City Council Has Struck A Snag In Loss Of Man's Pair Of Pants

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP) — The city council's finance committee — it has appropriated millions for streets and sewers and civic services—struck a snag today in a pair of Sunday pants.

The trousers belonged to Helmar Kreklow as of July 24. He checked them at a municipal beach house on that date and went for a swim. When he returned they were gone. So was a watch and $3.50 in change. To cover his limbs, loss and embarrassment, he filed a claim for $60.

The committee deferred a decision pending due deliberation on the problem.

Persons Who Oppose FDR For Third Term Face Hard Job

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8. (AP)—Secretary Ickes told his press conference today that persons who opposed President Roosevelt for a third term were picking out a hard job for themselves.

"If I were looking for an easy job," he said, "I certainly wouldn't look for the job of trying to keep the president from running for the third term if he wanted it."

Estranged Daughter Of Clarence Mackay Is Named As An Heiress In Last Will

MINEOLA, N. Y., Dec. 8 (AP) — Clarence H. Mackay named his daughter Ellin, whose marriage more than a decade ago to song-writer Irving Berlin caused a three-year estrangement, as an heiress in his will filed for probate.

The communications magnate who died Nov. 12 bequeathed his widow, the former Anna Case of the Metropolitan opera, $50,000 cash, $2,000,000 in securities, virtually all of the furnishings of his town house and lifetime use of some of his rarest tapestries.

Mrs. Berlin, with whom he became reconciled after his mother's death, was named to share equally with his two other children in the residuary estate. The grandmother was said to have urged the reconciliation before she died.

In a codicil, Mackay provided for his eight grandchildren — three of them the Berlin children—leaving $25,000 to each.

The will of Mackay, head of the Postal Telegraph company, philanthropist and art patron, was dated July 30, 1935. It included a request that his funeral be "quiet and simple."

He left $5,000 to St. Mary's Roman Catholic church at Roslyn, near his Long Island estate, Harbor Hill, but left nothing to charity, because, he explained, "I have donated liberally and desire that my beneficiaries and legatees be free to do likewise without special suggestions from me."

Eucharistic Congress Being Planned For Bernalillo, N. M.

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 8 (AP) — Archbishop Ruidolph A. Gerken of Santa Fe said today he had received assurance a southwestern Catholic eucharistic congress would be held at Bernalillo, N. M., May 21-23, 1940.

He said plans for the congress, suggested by him to the commission planning New Mexico's observance of the 400th anniversay of Coronado's explorations, were approved by Bishop Joseph Schrembs of Cleveland, chairman of the national eucharistic congress.

Archbishop Gerken said all archbishops and bishops and many priests were expected to attend from the southwest areas, including California, Arizona, Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada.

Proposed Regulation Governing Transfer Of Property From Mexico Opposed

Threat Seen On Tourist Trade

WASHINGTON, Dec. 8 (AP) — Three representatives of New Mexico and Texas protested to the treasury today against a proposed regulation which would require Americans to stay in Mexico for at least 24 hours before they were entitled to bring back $100 worth of merchandise free of duty.

Representative John J. Dempsey (D-NM) told Assistant Secretary Stephen B. Gibbons that the 24 hour rule might cut tourist traffic in New Mexico and Texas in half. He explained that merchants and hotel keepers believed that many Americans who now come to the two states with the intention of visiting Mexico would stay away if they had to pay tariff on their Mexican souvenirs, or had to stay in Mexico 24 hours to avoid the duty.

Other Spokesmen

Other spokesmen for the southwest states were Captain E. H. Simons, of El Paso, representing chambers of commerce in Nogales, Douglas, Laredo, Brownsville and other border towns, and Northcutt Ely of Washington, representing Wirt Bowman, a Nogales banker and merchant.

W. R. Johnson, a customs bureau attorney, countered the testimony with an allegation that although large merchants and hotel keepers on the border opposed the 24 hour rule, it was favored by small merchants. Treasury officials also said that California businessmen also favored the 24 hour rule.

Celebrity Racket Is Stealing Spotlight In The Night Club Life Of Manhattan

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—A revolutionary change has taken place in New York night club life as the result of what some operators bluntly describe as a "celebrity racket."

Today the question is no longer "who's on the floor" or "who's entertaining" but "who's at the tables."

The days when a personality connected with a club drew the crowds passed on with Texas Guinan, Harry Richman, Helen Morgan and the lady who was known as "Hotsy Totsy."

Sherman Billingsley, once just another "sooner" from Oklahoma and now a $1,000,000-a-year caterer to the so-called cafe society, summed it up this way:

"Now celebrities mean everything and are every place. They compete to be shown off in the clubs, the clubs compete to show them off, the columnists compete to get paragraphs about them and the night club public looks for them everywhere."

Clubs such as Jack Krindler's "21" and the Colony don't even attempt entertainment—no bands, not even a lone piano player, just "celebrities." Even girl shows at Nils T. Granlund's Midnight Sun and the Paradise are secondary.

Billingsley said there are fewer "suckers" from out-of-town nowadays—"they seem to have spent all their money before they reach here."

Wife Joins Hubby In Asking Freedom Of "Other Woman"

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 8. (AP) — A deserted wife joined today with the husband she admitted "doesn't love me any more" in an attempt to free the "other woman" from a year's jail sentence.

Mrs. Dolores Clark, 22, and her husband, Kenneth, 24, asked Assistant District Attorney Jacob Shulgold to seek from Judge Harry James the freedom of Norma Pancoast, 22, pretty blonde cigarette girl, sentenced Nov. 23 for an assault on Mrs. Clark after police raided a darkened apartment and found Clark and the Pancoast woman together.

Clark said he intended to marry Miss Pancoast "as soon as she gets out of jail."

Where Italian students and young fascists had shouted, "Tunisia for us!" the French demonstrators cried, "Venice for France! . . . Ethiopia for the Negus!" similar manifestations occurred late yesterday in several cities of France.

There were fresh demonstrations in Italy as the Italian press told of "new violence" against the Italian population of Tunisia.

In the midst of this resurgent colonial rivalry between France and Italy, French Premier Daladier went before parliament in an attempt to strengthen his government's position at home the better to meet Italy's clamor.

Wrong Man Is Believed Slain

(By The Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 8—Dr. E. S. Garr was quoted by the Louisville Times today as saying in an interview that his sister, Mrs. Verna Garr Taylor, was not killed by Brig. Gen. Henry H. Denhardt.

The paper quoted Dr. Garr, one of three brothers who admitted they shot General Denhardt to death after their sister was killed, as saying, however, that the general was "in cahoots" with Mrs. Taylor's slayer.

Has Material Evidence

The Times said the La Grange, Ky., veterinarian reported he had advised Attorney General Hubert Meredith he now had "material evidence" to that effect.

Meredith said at Frankfort that he had talked with Dr. Garr "and am considering what he said and will determine whether what he said warrants any further and more minute investigation of the matter."

"I'll see that the truth about Verna's death is known if I die for it. And when the real story breaks it will blow the top off the court house," The Times quoted Dr. Garr.

Tried For Murder

General Denhardt, 61, former lieutenant governor and adjutant general of Kentucky, was tried for murder after the body of the attractive 41-year-old widow, his fiancee, was found in a roadside ditch two years ago.

The jury failed to agree.

Four months later—on the eve of his second trial scheduled Sept. 21, 1937—the general was shot down on the main street of Shelbyville, Ky.

Dr. Garr and his two brothers surrendered to police and later were freed on charges of killing the general.

Slaying Plot

Myers' father and he reported to officials. The detectives arranged to have the go-between tell Myers he was obtaining gunmen from Peoria, Ill., to do the job and ask Myers to meet them near the city, they said.

Yesttrday, the detectives related, they drove out to meet Myers in an automobile borrowed from a garage here and were introduced to him as the Peoria gunmen. They reported he told them he wanted his father's estate. He suggested, they said, that they kill his father and drive his car, with the body in it, into the Kankakee river near here, or that they take him to Chicago, slay him and leave the corpse with the pockets turned wrongside out as if in a robbery.

Man Held For Murder Because He Wanted To Be American

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8. (AP) — Severino Calandre is on trial for murder, his attorneys said today, because he wanted to be an American citizen.

He was prompted to arm himself, the lawyers asserted in opening his defense, after six months of abuse by countrymen who accused him of being "faithless to Italy and Mussolini."

"You're no fascist and we're going to cut your heart out," Attorney Martin A. McCormack quoted the tormentors as crying at Calandre after he applied for citizenship. He is charged with shooting down two neighbors in a beer parlor.

Three Suspects In Theft Of Cattle Are Held In Dallas

DALLAS, Dec. 8. (AP) — Sheriff Smoot Schmid said three suspects were jailed today in connection with the theft of more than 50 head of cattle in Dallas and adjacent counties.

Schmid said the trio, two of them aged 23 and the other 20, admitted they had stolen livestock regularly since Oct. 1 to packing houses in Dallas and Fort Worth. They said they received $1,000 for the loot.

Bottles are the earliest form of glassware made in America.

Four Hurt In Train Wreck

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—The engine and seven coaches of the speeding Sunshine Special, Missouri Pacific passenger train, left the rails 15 miles north of here today, and careened crazily over the right-of-way, but only four crewmen and none of the 50 passengers were injured.

The cause of the derailment was unknown because the 12-coach train ripped up more than 100 yards of trackage before it came to rest—the engine spilled on its side, a badly smashed baggage car listing sharply and six other coaches upright but strewn zig-zag fashion across the tracks.

Most Seriously Injured

Most seriously injured was Engineer J. C. White of San Antonio who suffered a broken leg and scalp lacerations when he was pinned in the overturned engine cab.

He coolly directed the work of rescuers who hacked away at the metal wreckage to free him.

J. K. Brown, fireman, received severe bruises on the back and chest. George Hynes, an express messenger, and J. D. Muckleroy, a baggageman, also were bruised. All reside in San Antonio. They were taken to an Austin hospital for treatment.

Escape Proves Puzzle

How other crew members and passengers escaped death or injury was a puzzle in view of the debris-strewn tracks.

One coach swerved into a freight car on an adjoining track and rammed it into a trackside building. Two men working in the box car escaped injury.

Some observers advanced the opinion the northbound special ran into an open switch while others said a defective rail might have caused the accident.

Railroad men predicted the engine and cars could not be righted before tomorrow.

Some of the derailed coaches bumped into freight cars on a siding which possibly prevented them from toppling.

A physician who treated the injured said Brown, the fireman, undoubtedly saved the life of Engineer White whose head was buried in dirt and wreckage. White, stunned by the force of the impact, would have suffocated the physician said, had not Brown had the presence of mind immediately to clear away the smothering dirt from his colleague's head.

Miss Chaney, who traveled with the Roosevelts on the 1936 campaign tour, said she developed the "Glide" from impromptu lessons Mrs. Roosevelt gave her at the White House recently in her favorite old-fashioned steps, including waltzes, polkas, mazurkas and square dances.

War Hymn Is Still Aggies'

COLLEGE STATION, Dec. 8. (AP) The author of the Aggie war hymn, "Goodbye to Texas University," today assured ired alumni and students it still belongs to Texas A. & M. and can be played by any college band at any time.

J. V. (Pinky) Wilson came here from his ranch at Florence to dispel misapprehension concerning his transfer of the song's copyright to the Thornton W. Allen company of New York.

Aggies May Use It

"One of the first considerations in making the contract," Wilson said, "was provision that Col. R. J. Dunn and the A. and M. band and all musical organizations or groups representing college could play the Aggie war hymn without reservation.

"In transferring the copyright I did so in order that anybody anywhere would have no difficulty in obtaining permission to use the number," he explained. "It might be pretty hard for anyone wanting to use the piece to locate Pinky Wilson, but the Thornton W. Allen company is publisher of several hundred college and university songs and can be located easily."

Wilson said the song could be used over any radio system.

Only Restriction

"The only restriction is for electrical transcriptions, phonograph records, motion picture use and to prevent some company from adopting the number as its theme song," he said.

The Aggie band announced it would stop playing the number after receipt yesterday from the publishers of a letter misinterpreted to mean the number could not be played in a series of broadcasts planned by the band. Battalion, student publication, started a campaign to select a new war hymn but will abandon it.

Wilson left home for College Station to clear up the situation after he and the school began receiving telephone calls of protest from distressed alumni. His explanation and a careful reading of the contract followed.

Sheep Raisers Face Problem

SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 8. (AP)—Rustling, declared to be one of the three big problems facing sheep and goat raisers, came in for serious discussion by 1,000 delegates to the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' association, which opened a two-day convention here today.

J. T. Baker, Fort Stockton, president of the association, declared that tariffs and freight rates along with stealing of cattle and sheep are the three big problems facing raisers. The association hires a special ranger who devotes full time to detecting thefts, and a special attorney to aid in prosecution, Baker declared. "We ought to have three or four inspectors devoting full time to catching these thieves," he said.

Thefts Are Reduced

The association was organized in Del Rio 23 years ago for the sole purpose of taking action against thieves. Baker declared that it has succeeded in reducing thefts greatly, but said he was unable to estimate the saving.

Sheep and goat thievery now is usually a highly organized occupation, according to Baker, who explained that the hardest to catch are those with henchmen in different counties, making it possible to shift the stock through several hands before disposing of it.

The 128 directors of the association were entertained at a preconvention dinner last night. After approving an annual payment of $5,000 for the promotional program of the National Wool Growers association the directors passed on to the convention such subjects as reciprocal trade agreements, steel trap legislation and revision of truck load limits.

Ellsworth is director of the course.

Building Here Goes Rapidly

"More residental progress is going on in Lubbock under the Federal Housing administration program than in any other town its size in Texas," said P. S. Luttrell, state production manager of FHA, before a group of 60 persons in the Chimayo room of the Hilton hotel Thursday night, preceding a presentation of a special film made for the FHA.

Critics may charge that Lubbock is overbuilding itself, he said, but this criticism may be answered by saying that a city that has reached the point where no construction is going on, has progressed all it can.

Scenes Are Presented

Scenes were presented showing how dilapidated buildings replaced by modern structures have helped living conditions through out the United States. According to authorities, average rent on houses and apartments built under the FHA program is $32 a month.

Pictures showed Germany's replacement of outmoded buildings with new, constructed with a minimum of waste and a maximum of efficiency. Germany's housing program has been in existence since 1919.

Palestine's housing progress, sponsored by the British empire, is a symbol of a new civilization, built within the last years.

Sweden and Switzerland also have been active in similar housing programs.

The FHA encourages large scale rental projects, authorities said, and that rent from houses and apartments should retire the debt in approximately 25 years.

A housing program sponsored by the national government is safe and sound economically, as shown by foreign countries, authorities said.

About two-thirds of all fresh water fish produced in the United States come from the Great Lakes. These waters are the only commercial source of such species as the Lake trout, yellow perch, chubs, lake herring, blue pike and sauger.

Youth Is Held For Stabbing

OAKLAND, Calif., Dec. 8. (AP)—Rodney Greig, 21, Berkley railway clerk faced renewed questioning into the stabbing death of beautiful Leona Vlught, 19, after inspectors said they were "not satisfied" with his purported confession of a fatal incident in "lover's lane."

Greig, 21, was quoted by Inspectors Tom Duffy and Lucien Jewell as saying he stabbed Miss Vlught, former University of California student, "for no reason at all—I don't know why I did it."

The body of Miss Vlught was found early yesterday, several hours after Greig reportedly kept a 2 a. m. "date" with her following a "chance meeting" in a night spot.

Inspectors said they were seeking a motive from the slender, 6-foot, dark-haired youth, who slept soundly early today, after prolonged questioning.

Texas Prison Probe Is Being Promised

TEMPLE, Dec. 8. (AP)—The Temple Telegram says Rep. Jo Ed Winfree of Houston declared today a general legislative investigation of the Texas prison system would be started "as soon as possible" after the legislature convenes.

Speaking to the paper in a telephone conversation from the office of Dr. C. W. Butler, a member of the state prison board, in Crockett, Winfree said "there is a great deal of absolutely colossal waste and inefficiency in the system, and I am going to make it my job to see that it's investigated."

Winfree, Dr. Butler, and other legislators and board members, began a tour of inspection of prison farms in the Houston area last week, but it ended when O. J. S. Ellingson, general manager of the prison system, discharged an employe.

Winfree said there was no use in going further with the inspection because "the first man who told the truth got fired."

Ever Wonder Why You're Constipated?

Do you ever have days when you just have to drag yourself along, when you feel tired, sunk—because of that constipation? Then why not find out the real cause of your trouble?

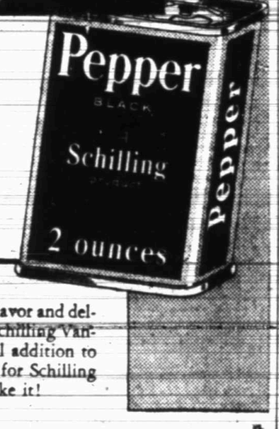

What have you had to eat lately? Just things like meat, bread and potatoes? If that's it, you may not have to look any farther. It's likely your trouble is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and aids elimination.

If "bulk" is what you lack, your right is a dish of crisp, delicious Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day. It contains the "bulk" you need plus Nature's great intestinal tonic, vitamin B1.

Eat it every day, drink plenty of water, and join the "regulars"! Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Westerners, Breckenridge Clash For Title Of West Texas

Eyes Of State Are On Two Captains

Texas schoolboy football's two greatest backs lead their respective elevens against each other this afternoon at Tech field for the championship of West Texas in the day's only quarter-final clash.

Captain Wild Walter Webster paces Lubbock's mighty Westerners in their attempt to stop Blastin' Bill Ramsey and Breckenridge's battling Buckaroos' spectacular rush to gridiron glory.

Game time is 2:30, and the winner advances into the semi-finals against the victor of tomorrow's Highland Park-Masonic Home tussle.

Officials: Referee, Curtis (Texas); umpire, McCullough (T.C.U.); headlinesman, Morris (Texas A. & M.); field judge, Lipscomb (Centre).

Probable starting lineups:

No.	Name	Wt.	Pos.	No.	Name	Wt.
21	Joe Bob Foster	148	LE	40	Harris	170
33	Avon Sewalt	230	LT	32	Knox	160
25	Joe Pytell	165	LG	28	Thorp	164
24	Wayne Pipes	179	C	36	Wragg	150
26	Lloyd Sanders	148	RG	31	Collins	170
23	Pat Farris	164	RT	43	George	170
22	Ernest Winter	162	RE	27	Sparks	147
29	Harold Parsons	147	QB	21	King	150
28	Wayne Johnston	160	LH	39	Ramsey	185
27	Leete Jackson	160	RH	38	Hamil	165
37	Walter Webster	180	FB	37	Kimble	168

Coaches: Lubbock—Weldon Chapman, "Gnober" Keyes; Breckenridge—Eck Curtis, G. B. Morris.

The football faithful from miles around flock into Lubbock today for a glimpse of the powerful Green Wave from Breckenridge which has smashed all opposition and predictions since mid-season. That machine now threatens Coach Chapman's finely polished squad that has crushed all Texas teams with the best running attack in the school's grid history.

All-State Candidates

All-state possibilities of several players will be impressed on the citizens of this area but the performances of the team's two captains, "Jumbo" Webster and Blastin' Bill, will come in for the major portion of the limelight. Each has led his team from the bottom of the Interscholastic league heap at the beginning of the season to the point where the winner of today's contest is being picked to advance to the state championship game.

Webster has met and conquered Blazin' Bill Thompson of the Amarillo Sandies, and Southal of Vernon's Lions. Should he emerge on top in today's duel he should have a smooth path to a berth on the state's mythical eleven. But he is meeting a worthy foe in Ramsey. The big 185 pound left halfback has led his Bucs on a rampage that has the critics groggy. Coach Curtis' squad has improved considerably with each game and though Lubbock rules favorite the fact obviously does not phase the green suited boys.

Boasts More Stars

But should the teams successfully bottle up their ace ball carriers then other backfield men may grab honors. Coach Chapman has built a versatile running and passing attack in Harold Parsons, quarterback, Wayne "Rusty" Johnston, left half, Leete Jackson, right half, and Webster. That quartet has steadily improved since the season started and now is rated one of the best in Texas.

Coach Curtis has some neat ball handlers other than Ramsey and who no doubt will push the Westerners for the headlines. Ramsey's mates are light and fast and will give the Lubbock line plenty to do before the afternoon is over. Sharing part of the credit for the Bucs' success is Gabby Hamil, 168 pound right half, Jimmy Kimble, 165 pound fullback and King, quarterback.

Both lines stack up about even in weight with Lubbock's holding the better season's record for offensive and defensive play. Several times this year the Westerner forward wall has made spectacular goal line stands to take the ball on downs. That same Lubbock line has smashed gaping holes in the opposition to be a major factor in the total of 55 points scored in the last two games against Amarillo and Vernon. It is probably the best forward wall in the state.

The fact that Lubbock is the favorite has little to do with the final score of the game as far as the Buckaroos are concerned. It is natural for them to be the underdog, and then win. For Lubbock's Westerners it is their opportunity to bring glory to themselves and this section of West Texas.

STUDENTS GET PERMISSION

Dean J. M. Gordon of Tech announced last night after many requests had been received from Tech students for permission to attend the game, that those students who have classes between 2 and 3 o'clock may attend if they have an understanding with the professor whereby they can make up the work missed within a week. He also said that students who can afford to miss a class, provided it is not laboratory work, due to the fact that a certain number of "cuts" are allowed each term, can attend.

Amarillo And Vernon Support Westerners

Lubbock Westerner fans are not confined to Lubbock and immediate vicinity today as the Chapman team goes against Breckenridge in a quarterfinal game. From all points in Northwest Texas, and most especially from Amarillo and Vernon, have come words of encouragement and inducement to win. "We're strong for you," most of the messages say.

A delegation of Amarillo fans, including several members of the Golden Sandie players, will be here to see the game this afternoon. A large number of Amarilloans saw the Lubbock-Vernon game last week. When asked by a reporter in Amarillo if they'd like to see today's game, the Sandies chirped: "Sure, if we can; we'd like to be there and help pull them through. They ought to win the state championship, and we hope they do."

To Sit On Bench

The Sandies attending today's game will occupy the bench with the Westerners, as special guests of the club.

From Vernon comes the report by local business men who have visited there recently that the town is "behind Lubbock 100 per cent, and pulling for the Westerners to win. Any team that can beat our Lions like the Lubbock team beat us deserves to go right on through."

Baseball Trades Not Completed

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 8. (AP)—Anticipated wholesale swapping of baseball talent at the annual Minor League assemblage had failed to materialize today.

Rumors were plentiful but lacked confirmation on the second day of the 37th annual session of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, the principal scene of winter swapping. Trading moguls began departing tonight, many heading for New York for conferences at the Major League convention next week.

The major deal now pending involves Zeke Bonura, hard-hitting Washington first baseman who possibly is headed for duty with the New York Giants.

Before the Giants can buy Bonura he must be waived out of the American League. New York is faced with the problem of outbidding the Chicago Cubs and the Pittsburgh Pirates before President Clark Griffith of Washington can put him on the block.

Principal action of the minor League association was defeat of a proposed amendment that would have repealed a provision of the "Baltimore Agreement" preventing Major League clubs signing sandlot players in a manner referred to by organized baseball's commissioner, K. M. Landis, as "subterfuge."

The Minor Leagues decided to stand pat on the present agreement which permits the practice of Major League clubs signing sandlotters. An official said the consensus was that this angle involves a principle of "covering up" that would continue despite legislation to the contrary, "so why not let the bars down."

Grid Season's Laughs Given Press Award

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Upon sober reflection, the Associated Press has decided to make its annual award of a fur-lined nose guard for the season's "oddest" gridiron performance to a nameless but spirited member of West Virginia university backfield.

There were plenty of others that rated high, and for a time it looked like Referee John Getchell, who got seriously mixed up in the Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game, might force our Mountaineer hero to a photo finish for the prized trophy. But there was a dream-like quality to the tableau at Morgantown that finally swayed the judges.

Referee Gets Mention

The nomination was made by members of the Michigan State team, who, like all the others, were asked to name their goofiest memory of the dying campaign. They told it thus, dazedly:

"When a West Virginia backfield player in our game at Morgantown apparently overheard a derogatory remark from the stands, he raced off the field during play, dashed into the stands in search of his critic, swatted him, took a poke at a policeman on his way back, and continued play without remark."

Getchell, the runner-up, will, of course be remembered as the luckless arbiter who told the Carnegie Tech quarterback it was third down, when it was, in fact, fourth down. Notre Dame promptly took over the ball and scored the touchdown that deprived the Tartans of an undefeated season. Getchell at least qualified hands-down as the season's "goat."

Another official figured in a diverting incident in the game between William and Mary and Richmond University. There was a pony mixed up in it, too. The pony, William and Mary's mascot, trotted onto the field during play, and the referee slapped a 15-yard penalty on W. and M. It was a nasty situation until Captain A. B. Marchant of Richmond declined the penalty.

Among the coaches, Jimmy Phelan of Washington rated high in the balloting after his mental lapse in the final game with Washington State. He rushed in all of his seniors for the closing minute of play, and discovered too late that he had Bob Purdue, 157-pound quarterback, playing guard. Purdue played a very good guard while it lasted.

This Manager Got Results With Two Pitchers To Amazement Of Chattanooga Club President

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8. (AP)—Said Joe Engle, president of the Chattanooga baseball club, to new manager Kiki Cuyler:

"Get us a first baseman."

Cuyler hustled out, signed Roy Mort from Hollywood.

Engel promptly forgot his request to Cuyler and bought Alex Hooks from Montreal.

When the oversupply was discovered today, Joe decided Mort was surplus and sold him to Dallas.

Chattanooga Club Sells Malone To Oakland, Mort To Dallas

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8 (AP)—Joe Engel, president of the Chattanooga Lookouts, Southern Association, announced the sale to Dallas, Texas league, of first baseman Roy Mort whom Engel purchased yesterday from Hollywood. Pat Malone, veteran Major League pitcher with Chattanooga last year, was sold by Engel to Oakland, Calif.

They'll Make It Interesting For Westerners At Tech Grid Today

Plans Completed For Court Loop

Lubbock's Independent Basketball league was organized last night at the Lubbock hotel and Joe Bob Stephens was elected president of the group. Fred Rich was named secretary.

Four clubs have joined the circuit and officials of the group want four teams to complete the league. Memberships will be accepted at the next meeting Sunday afternoon at the auditorium or by contracting any officers of the organization.

A rules committee appointed last night will meet at 2 o'clock Sunday to discuss the rules and regulations of the league, then present them to league members for approval at 3 o'clock.

National Team Scheduled

Teams already in the league and their managers include Hub Clothiers, Curly Wilkinson; Panhandle Refinery, Clyde Plemmons; Peel-Barnett, T. D. Peel; and Ernest Dowell's club, to be named. These managers also are members of the rules and regulations committee.

No entrance fees for team or players will be assessed, officials announced.

Headlining the list of nationally-known professional basketball squads which will play here will be the apperance of the House of David quintet the afternoon of Dec. 25. No decision was made as to which of the league teams would oppose the whiskered boys.

Olson's All-America Redheads, girls' team playing under men's rules, will play here Jan. 8. Another girls' squad, the Ozark Hillbillies, perform here Jan. 15. All games are to be played on Sunday afternoons and Monday nights.

Tennessee Coach Proposes That Grid Officials Wear Numerals

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Dec. 8 (AP)—Bob Neyland, head coach of Tennessee's unbeaten football team, wants no more of grid officials scurrying about their chores cloaked in the anonymity of identical uniforms.

"I think officials should wear numbers and be identified in programs just as players are," he said today. He indicated he might bring the matter up tomorrow at the Southeastern conference meeting in Gainesville, Fla.

The "precious" metals are gold, platinum, and silver; mercury, also, sometimes is so classified.

What Do They Mean? Just One More!

TEAGUE, Tex., Dec. 8 (AP)—Just one more, please — the "meat and bone" bowl game.

The game will be played here Dec. 9 with merchants, teachers, preachers, railroad engineers, traveling salesmen, physicians, undertakers, bankers and mechanics the players.

Teague merchants decided to honor their Teague High school team—a team that had a puny season, winning less than half their games.

And where did the name of the newest "bowl" originate? From the fact that one squad will average 250 pounds per man; the other 160 pounds.

No other "bowl" game in the nation will see a team spotting the other 90 pounds per man.

West Texas League Season Discussed

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8 (AP)—The New York Giants announced here today at the convention of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues that its organization had taken over the franchise of Salisbury in the North Carolina State league and would operate the club as a Class "D" farm.

The announcement said the Giants would transfer all of its players from Blytheville of the Northeastern Arkansas league to Salisbury.

The West Texas-New Mexico league made tentative arrangements here today to open their playing season on April 26 and close on Aug. 28.

Yankee, Red Sox Pitchers Have Best Records For 1938 Season

CHICAGO, Dec. 8 (AP)—The best whitewashers in the American League during the 1938 baseball season turned out to be the New York Yankee and Boston Red Sox pitching staffs.

Records announced today by the league's service bureau showed Yankee hurlers had shut out rivals 11 times during the campaign, while the Red Sox recorded ten "whitewash" jobs. The Yanks were blanked only twice, and the Red Sox were humiliated four times.

Little Items Pay Grid Dividends

By PRICE HOWARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTA, Dec. 8. (AP)—The little things paid big dividends in football this season.

The one, two and three-pointers, resulting from points after touchdowns, safeties and field goals, brought victory or prevented defeat 236 times throughout the nation.

Gridmen, great and insignificant alike, can thank extra points for 123 triumphs and field goals for 48. They converted safeties into 22 victories, and turned defeat into 42 ties with points after. Two other safeties accounted for a freakish deadlock.

Extra Point Wins

Accurate toes gained a former foothold as a scoring weapon. They booted 156 goals from the field, many in dramatic closing minutes, compared with 126 last year. Fifty-nine teams found they were not needed to win and 49 others kicked them in losing causes.

Safeties totaled 145, an increase of 24 over last year. Forty eight were made by losing elevens and 73 others swelled already winning scores.

Several teams were involved in multiple uses of the three scoring weapons.

Tulane lost one and won one on field goals in addition to kicking two others which made no difference.

Texas Tech kept its undefeated and untied status with an extra point once and with a field goal another time. The Texans did not let a safety worry them in the Marquette game.

Oklahoma's unbeaten and untied Sooners trimmed Rice with a point after and kicked a field goal for a safer lead over Iowa State.

Tennessee's unstopped Vols were in three games involving field goals and a safety.

Among 19 3-0 victories were those scored by Alabama, Oregon, Rice, Louisiana State, Fordham and Manhattan.

A safety produced one of the South's major upsets, giving Florida a 9-7 win over Auburn.

Ties decreased to 157, compared with 187 last year and 174 in 1936. One-point victories dropped from 125 last year to 112 this season. The 34 two-point decisions were 13 under a year ago, but 54 others decided by three points were five more than last season.

Lubbock, Scotties, Lions Given Edge

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Staff

They play the West Texas finals in the state schoolboy football race Friday when Breckenridge's battering Buckaroos troop with bouncing Bill Ramsey into Texas Tech stadium for a crack at Weldon Chapman's mighty Lubbock Westerners.

It's the opening battle of quarter-final week—the other three games all being scheduled Saturday, with Tyler meeting Temple at Fort Worth; Highland Park playing Masonic Home at Dallas and John Reagan clashing with Corpus Christi at Houston.

Lubbock Holds Edge

Breckenridge, "dark horse" from the oil country, goes into the game with Lubbock a decided underdog but with a team that jams the scoreboard with touchdowns as Ramsey roams the gridirons.

Matching Ramsey will be Walter (Jumbo) Webster, Lubbock's iron man who packs a threat in every step.

Lubbock, unbeaten by a Texas team this year, has twice taken the measure of Vernon, a club that blasted Breckenridge 21-0, but it's a far cry from that non-conference game to the Breckenridge that swept through the Oil Belt and crashed over Bowie of El Paso in the bi-district test, 40-0.

A hard-fought game was in prospect with the Ramsey-Webster duel an outstanding feature.

Tyler Undefeated

Tyler's undefeated, untied Lions, made favorites long ago to take the state championship and living up to their reputation nobly, face their greatest battle from the very potent Wildcats. Just how to stop Tom Picket was a question that threatened gray hairs for Coach Ed Hennig's head. But Hennig is ready to fight fire with fire. He once coached Sam Baugh at Sweetwater high and Sam became quite prominent as a passer. Hennig has come up with Walton Roberts at Tyler this season and that young man can also chunk the leather.

Highland Park hopes to reach the semi-finals for the first time Saturday with the mighty mites of Masonic Home as stepping stones. Redman Hume's hard-charging, pass-minded team, riding along with Dick Dwelle, another young man for the opposition to worry about, ruled favorite to beat the Masons though the latter hold a victory over the Highlanders in early season play.

Corpus Christi Favored

Corpus Christi's high-powered machine appeared destined to roll over John Reagan, a fighting team that can take the knocks and come back for more. The unbeaten Buccaneers want to run up more than two touchdowns against Reagan. They remember what happened to Port Arthur last week when the Yellow Jackets did that and then found their passes backfiring in the last quarter to give Reagan a 16-14 victory.

This week's schedule:

Friday—Breckenridge vs Lubbock at Texas Tech field, Lubbock, 2:30 p. m.; Saturday—Tyler vs Temple at T. C. U. stadium, Fort Worth, 2 p. m.; Highland Park vs Masonic Home at Ownby stadium, Dallas, 2:30 p. m.; Corpus Christi vs John Reagan at Rice field, Houston, 2:30 p. m.

Vic Hurt Takes Position With Kansas As Assistant Mentor

TULSA, Okla., Dec. 8 (AP)—Head Coach Vic Hurt of the University of Tulsa announced today he had accepted the post of first assistant to Gwinn Henry, new head coach at the University of Kansas.

"It was too good an opportunity to pass up," Hurt said. "I am very much pleased with the set-up at Kansas and I'll be happy to work with Gwinn Henry, my old coach."

National Girls Cage Champs At Meadow

Big time basketball moves into the South Plains today and will be demonstrated tonight at the Meadow High school gymnasium.

From Galveston comes the Anico team, winners of the National A. A. U. girls basketball title last year. They play the Meadow girls team tonight in a game calculated to fill the gymnasium.

The Anico team, under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Peyton Shelton, recently started a barnstorming trip over the Southwest, and were attracted to Meadow because of that school's recent prominence in state and sectional girls basketball. Jamie Ruth Dennard, star of the Meadow teams for two seasons and back again to carry on this season, is a strong candidate for all-American honors in the feminine basketball field.

On the Anico squad appearing in Meadow tonight are four girls who received All-American honors last year after winning the national championship.

The Anico team is establishing South Plains headquarters at Hotel Lubbock here today. The squad of ten players and the sponsors is expected to arrive about noon today.

Memorial Medal Given Dempsey

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—The first Edward J. Neil Memorial Medal, perpetuating the memory of the grand boxing writer and Associated Press war correspondent who was killed in Spain a year ago, was awarded today to Jack Dempsey as the man who has done most for the fight game in 1938.

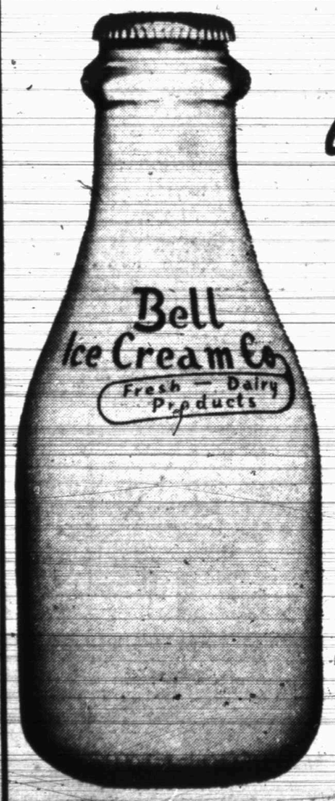

The New York Boxing Writers' association, donor of the medal, made the award to the ex-heavyweight king after deciding it should go annually to the boxer, past or present, who has meant most to the sport in the current year.

Dempsey, as shy as a schoolboy, at first refused nomination for the award, protesting it should go to a fighter active in the game. However, Jack finally accepted after a discussion among the writers during which it was pointed out that such an action would be too confining; that Dempsey, in all his activities still associated with the fight game — as referee, manager and speaker—is constantly working for the betterment of the game, and that to fight fans throughout the world he is the No. 1 figure of the sport.

Even when he finally accepted Dempsey maintained he did not deserve it, but "it's the finest thing I ever got."

Former Envoy Death Victim

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 3. (AP)—Cyrus E. Woods, 77, former U. S. ambassador to Japan, died today.

Mr. Woods was the only envoy in Tokyo who remained at his post during the disastrous earthquake of 1923.

At that time an attache rushed into his office imploring:

"Your excellency, you must leave. There is an earthquake."

"Phone Mrs. Woods, I won't be home for dinner," the envoy replied.

He remained in the city and directed relief activities for the American Red Cross.

Mr. Woods, a resident of Greensburg, Westmoreland county, came to Philadelphia Nov. 1 for hospital treatment.

Rep. Abe Mays Being Hinted for Secretary Of State Job

FORT WORTH, Dec. 8. (AP) — Members of the legislature have received letters from Governor Elect O'Daniel asking if they would approve the appointment of Representative Abe Mays of Atlanta as secretary of state, it was learned today.

The appointment of Mays has been recommended by several members of both the house and senate, O'Daniel said in the letter.

Mays, a wholesale grocer, is reported to have been an "original O'Daniel man" and an active supporter in his campaign for governor.

He conferred with O'Daniel here today.

News Briefs...

A man whom officers said they expected to arrest late Thursday night or early today was charged with theft of 10 gallons of motor oil from C. Conger. The oil was valued at $6. Conger swore to the complaint which had been prepared by Robert J. Allen, county attorney.

M. T. Nicholson Thursday was charged by complaint filed with S. E. McMillan, justice of peace, with driving when intoxicated. McMillan said late that day the defendant had not been arraigned. D. O. Wilkerson and B. L. Patterson, both of the Texas Highway patrol, arrested Nicholson at Wolfforth.

Mrs. G. C. Burke of Wolfforth Thursday night remained in critical condition, according to authorities at Plains hospital where she is receiving treatment. She was admitted to the hospital after having taken a poison tablet by mistake.

An unestimated amount of money was taken from penny scales at Lloyd's Dry Goods store early Thursday, according to police reports.

Eleven cases of cigarets were taken Thursday by a burglar or burglars who entered a box car at Sterley junction on the Fort Worth and Denver City railroad between Lubbock and Plainview, according to Don Reeder, chief of police.

Daniel Ellis, charged by complaint with felony theft over $50, Thursday posted bond of $500, according to attaches of the office of Tom Abel, sheriff. Ellis is a student, officers said.

Mrs. A. H. Leidigh of 2101 Seventeenth street is improving slowly in condition, it was reported Thursday. She has been confined to bed since she suffered fracture of a leg Sept. 1, except for a few minutes this week when she has stood up for the first time since suffering the fracture. She became ill during convalescence from the injury. She is the wife of the dean of agriculture at Texas Technological college.

W. M. Pearce of 2902 Twenty-first street Thursday reported to police that a Gladstone bag and a pair of field boots were stolen from him. Officers said they had received no trace of the missing articles.

H. R. McKee, superintendent of the Slaton division of the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway company, visited Dr. Harry L. Kent, director of administrative research at Texas Technological college, Thursday afternoon. McKee recently was transferred to Slaton from Las Vegas, N. M. He knew Dr. Kent when Dr. Kent was president of New Mexico A. & M. college.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Haxlewood of Lubbock and Judge Marshall Formby of Dickens will leave this morning for Dallas to attend a meeting of alumni and ex-students of Texas Technological college tonight in Dallas. Organization of a Dallas branch of the alumni and ex-student association is to be perfected. Haxlewood is administrative secretary of the association and Formby is first vice president.

Semi-monthly meeting of the city commission, scheduled Thursday afternoon, was postponed because of the absence of a quorum. Commissioners Hub Jones and W. B. Price were out of the city and Commissioner W. G. McMillan was ordered to bed during the day with a light attack of influenza. Mayor Carl E. Slaton said the postponed meeting likely will be held Monday or Tuesday afternoon of next week.

LEADING ISSUES RETREAT
NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP) — Mild selling troubles beset the stock market today and leading issues retreated fractions to a point or more.
Brokers blamed the set-back partly on additional year-end tax adjustments and a revival of apprehension regarding widening of the breach between Italy and France over the former's unofficial clamor for French-owned territory.
The principal comfort derived by analytical forces from the day's proceedings was the dwindling volume on the decline. Transfers amounted to only 739,150 shares compared with 1,104,880 yesterday.
Quotations in most cases were around the lows at the close, although a handful of favorites managed to retain small gains. The Associated Press average for 60 issues was off .5 of a point at 50.2.
There was nothing particularly discussing in the general run of business news.
Steels and motors were accorded some current support occasionally as the outlook in these fields was viewed as promising.
Among principal losers were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Anaconda, Kennecott, J. I. Case, Sperry, Texas Corp. and American Can.

Tour Of Texas Cities Will Be Made By Highway Officials

DALLAS, Dec. 8. (AP)—A tour of East, South and Southwest Texas will be started tomorrow by 160 state highway officials, after the close of the American Association of State Highway Officials' convention here today.
Traveling in buses, the state officials will make stops at Lufkin, Port Arthur, Houston, Corpus Christi, and at San Antonio, where the tour ends Sunday.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8 (AP) — Cotton prices traded narrowly and uneven here today under hedge selling and liquidation which met trade demand and covering by shorts. The close was steady at net declines of 1 to 7 points.
A reduction of 129,000 bales in the official forecast of 12,008,000 bales failed to snap the market out of the lethargy which characterized recent sessions and prices fluctuated within a range of but 2 to 14 points despite favorable trade buying on dips.
Aside from the official figures, the market was without incentives but the undertone was supported by firm foreign advices and a favorable outlook regarding the Saturday marketing quota referendum.
Closing prices, however, were near the lowest with Dec. at 8.50, Jan. at 8.38 bid, March at 8.32, May at 8.15, July at 7.90, Oct. at 7.53, Dec. (new) at 7.55 bid and March (1940) at 7.50 bid. Spot cotton continued quiet and middling lost 2 points, closing on 8.10. Sales totaled 500 bales.

NEW YORK REPORT
NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—December liquidation overshadowed a moderate reduction in the government cotton crop estimate and cotton declined today. March eased from 8.31@8.17 and closed at 8.21 with final prices 5 to 10 points net lower.
The official estimate for a crop of 12,008,000 bales, a reduction of 129,000 bales from last month, about equalled trade expectations.
The market rallied from small early losses to net gains of 1 to 6 points on covering before the bureau report. Scattering liquidation developed after the report, but demand proved slow. December eased to a net loss of 17 points, while other months sold off 7 to 11 points net. The near month quickly recovered 7 or 8 points from the lows when covering appeared.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 8 (AP) — The average price of middling cotton today at ten southern spot markets was 8 points lower at 8.38 cents a pound, average for the past thirty market days 8.57 cents a pound.

management for operating expenses. And the program, Sanders assured, will be appropriate and will measure to the usual Cactus theater standard.
Meanwhile, contributions Thursday kept the Goodfellows' pot boiling briskly. Donations received during the day were $111, increasing the total to $319.50. However, there is still a long way to go before the $1,500 goal is reached.
The first is the procurement of names of children between the ages of one and 14 years living in Lubbock who may be forgotten on Christmas day. If you know any children who may be in that class, tell the Goodfellows. A convenient blank will be found on page 2 of this issue of The Morning Avalanche.
Fill it out and mail to the Chief Goodfellow, P. O. Box 561. Or send or bring it to The Avalanche-Journal, 1211-13 Avenue H.
Then, of course, there is the matter of money. The need is a minimum of $1,500, which will mean a Christmas of real meaning to more than 2,500 boys and girls. Any contribution from 25 cents up will be welcomed. Mail your part to the Chief Goodfellow, or bring it to The Avalanche-Journal.

Former Ambassador Is Facing Charge

HANOVER COURTHOUSE, Va., Dec. 8. (AP)—William E. Dodd, sr., former ambassador to Germany, was charged with hit-and-run driving in a warrant sworn out today by State Trooper Carlisle Johnstone.
Johnstone left for Dodd's home at Round Hill, Va., to execute the warrant which charged that Dodd failed to stop after his car struck and injured Gloria Grimes, 4-year-old negro, near here Monday.
Dodd, speaking by telephone from his home, said he continued on his way because he thought the child had escaped injury. He said the girl ran into the path of his automobile as he was traveling about 45 miles an hour, and that he applied the brakes and swerved the car.
Hospital attaches said the child's condition was critical.

Dallas Boosters

ested in the plans which will be related at the dinner tonight, chamber of commerce officials here were assured by J. Ben Critz, manager of the Dallas chamber.
The visitors are scheduled to arrive at 8:20 o'clock this morning aboard two chartered Pullmans attached to the regular Santa Fe train.
"Waiting to greet them at the Santa Fe station will be bands of Texas Tech and Senior High school as well as many other well-wishers. A parade into the business district will be formed at the station if the visitors are willing.

Day's Schedule Outlined
The day's schedule for them will include tours of the city and college, a luncheon, the night dinner and places of honor at the Lubbock-Breckenridge football game in Tech stadium where they will present a between-halves program.
The visit here has been timed so that members of the group will have opportunity to see the high school game. The winner in the quarter-final battle here will engage the winner of the Masonic Home of Fort Worth-Highland Park game of Dallas in a semi-final contest next week. The Masonic Home-Highland Park game is scheduled Saturday.
A Lubbock committee headed by Archie Underwood will be waiting in Slaton to board the special train when it arrives there, and will ride with the visitors to Lubbock.
After the welcome at the depot, in which all citizens are invited to participate, the Dallas delegation will be taken to Hilton hotel, which they have selected as headquarters.
At 10:30 a. m., members of the chamber of commerce good neighbor committee of which Chas. Whitacre is chairman will escort them on a tour of Lubbock. A luncheon for the Dallas group and a few others is planned at Tech at noon, after which they will inspect the college.
The football game will be next. DeWitt Landis, manager of KFYO, will be master of ceremonies of the between-halves program.

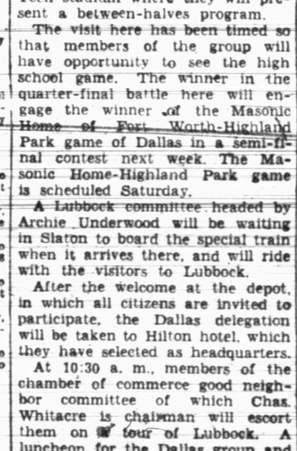

Infantile Paralysis And Fruit At Ripening Stage Connected

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8. (AP) — Dr. John A. Toomey, professor of pediatrics and contagious diseases at Western Reserve university, today closely connected infantile paralysis and the ripening of fruit.
He said his own research pointed to the entry of the infantile paralysis virus into the body by way of the digestive tract rather than through the nose, as commonly believed.
"Infantile paralysis occurs when perishable fruits and vegetables begin to ripen in the fall," he said. "This is true in every country."
Dr. Toomey said he had not proved conclusively that fruit carries the virus, but that there have been strong indications that it does.
He suggested that such things as apples and grapes be washed before eating as a precaution.

Italians, French And Arabs Seethe Through Tunis Streets In Mad Clamor

Demonstrations Are Conducted

TUNIS, Tunisia, Dec. 8. (AP) — Throngs of Italians, French and Arabs seethed through the streets of Tunis tonight in demonstrations fired by the fascist clamor over Tunisia.

The French government strengthened police with patrols from the interior and ordered reinforcements of mobile guards to Tunis from neighboring French Algeria.

Protest Is Lodged

The Italian consul general, M. Silimbani, protested against anti-Italian outbreaks and was understood to have been assured the French police had been commanded to restore order.

Italian residents were reported to have warned they would draw up a self-defense corps if the anti-Italian disorders continued, but French officials denied this was true.

Many demonstrators were arrested today, but demonstrations continued tonight with roving bands colliding intermittently with the police.

The strains of rival songs, the French "Marseillaise" and the French "Marseillaise" and the fascist "Viovinezza," sounded through Tunis' streets.

The fresh demonstrations were unloosed by the march of 1,000 French and Arab railroad workers last night on the Italian consulate-general, a white building they splashed with red and blue ink to represent the French colors.

Reply Is Brought

This protest against the Italian agitation over Tunisia, launched Nov. 30 in the chamber of deputies in Rome, brought a reply this morning from Italian students in Tunis.

Linking their arms, a crowd of youths paraded, singing and chanting.

French and Arabs massed near the Italian consulate-general, where they were kept back by mounted police forces.

All Italian business houses as well as the consulate-general were placed under heavy day and night guard.

Legislative Report Is Being Discussed

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—The senate's general investigating committee held an executive session today to discuss its report to the approaching session of the legislature.

Members present were Chairman T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, who was defeated for renomination, Albert Stone of Brenham, R. A. Weinert of Seguin and Joe Hill of Henderson.

One important question confronting the group was whether to recommend legislation making flood control the paramount purpose of future river development projects. The issue was pushed into the foreground a few months ago by the disastrous Colorado river flood, which occurred despite existence of federally-financed Buchanan dam.

In addition to the Colorado river flood, the committee inquired into the possible need for changes in the land leasing laws and certain complaints against the state game department.

FUNERAL IS HELD

GAINESVILLE, Dec. 8. (AP)—Funeral services were held today at nearby Myra for Mrs. Vina Cobb, 93, who is survived by three daughters, two sons, and 71 grand children and great grandchildren. Mrs. Cobb was a pioneer resident of Cooke and Fannin counties.

In the southwestern dust bowl 1,701 farmers and ranchers are cooperating with the federal government in demonstrating the effectiveness of practices designed to prevent land erosion.

Marie Wilson Promises To Be New Queen Of Naivete

By PAUL HARRISON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 8.—Without any doubt, or any serious competition, Marie Wilson is emerging as the new queen of naivete and all-around dumbness. Gracie Allen has been doing all right, but Gracie has had a long reign and must be very tired of simulating stupidity.

Miss Allen, of course, never has had any part in the writing of her radio and picture roles. Miss Wilson, however, is her own best stooge and mentor. She thinks up cracks and pulls them, too, but with such wide-eyed candor and quiet shyness that they seem sincere. Miss Wilson really doesn't look dumb, except that it is easy to believe that anything so beautiful cannot possibly be possessed of intelligence.

She Was Dramatic

As recently as a year ago Miss Wilson dreamed of being a straight dramatic actress. I remember an afternoon when she wept happily while telling of her triumph as Camille during her little-theater apprenticeship.

But the studio never would take her ambition seriously, and gradually she began to accept her new flutter-brained personality. Actually, however, she got her Warner contract by playing a monolog skit about a silly female applying for a job. And she wrote it herself. The skit, I mean. She probably could have written a pretty good contract, too.

The intention of her worshippers in the studio publicity department is quite plain now; they are going to build her up as a sort of blond goddess of imbecility. Well, it will be good fun and it may make a million dollars for Miss Wilson. I hope so, anyway. Her salary is so small now that she is able to give away almost every dime of it. Nick Grinde, her fiance, long has tried to persuade her to save some of it. But she just says, "Why, Nicky, I don't need money. If I had lots I would just use it to buy clothes. And if I need clothes for a party or anything I can always borrow them from the wardrobe department."

Thought She Was Overpaid

Once when her agent was battling with the studio for a big increase in salary and was confident of winning, his client blandly confided that she believed she was already being overpaid! The agent is one person who's convinced that Marie Wilson is even dumber than she's cracked up to be.

These qualities of absolute honesty and confidence and her faith in everybody are a little confusing even to people who know her. It is argued that no one could be so childishly trusting and still have good sense.

She Was Silly Anyway

But it isn't an act, and I'm sure that the following is a true story: Returning by plane from a middle-western personal appearance recently, Miss Wilson and some studio companions were tossed around by bad weather. None of them was a seasoned air traveler, and they were scared silly. The blond actress, though, sat as still as possible in her seat and uttered no word. But her lips were moving, and rapidly.

Naive and beautiful Marie Wilson aspires to be the new goddess of imbecility.

After waiting through what might have been an inordinately long prayer, a friend asked, "What in the world do you keep mumbling about, Marie?"

"Well," she admitted, "since we're all going to die, I decided I would say just the very nicest things I can about all the people I know!"

During her stay in Oklahoma City, where she was a guest at an exhibitors' convention, Miss Wilson was interviewed on the air, and before the broadcast she thought up the best laughs in it. One, for example, was her surprised comment on the large number of radio stations in Oklahoma City. She hadn't known there were so many in the whole world, and here there were thousands—

"Thousands?" asked the surprised announcer. Sure, said the actress, she saw 'em out in the suburbs—those tall towers! . . . They were oil derricks, of course.

Some People Are Just Plain Lucky

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 8. (AP) — A woman tucked $3,092 into a spectacle case and put the case into a new purse.

Deciding she did not want the purse she returned it to the store, forgetting to remove the money.

The store sold the purse to another prospective customer. She noticed a tear in the lining, so the purse was sent back for repair.

Several days later the owner of the $3,092 discovered her loss, returned to the shop and recovered her money—still inside the repaired purse.

Two Sought In Jayton Warehouse Case; Dickens Farmer Shoots Himself

Funeral Arrangements Pending; Three Arraigned At Abilene

The swirl of the "Jayton warehouse case" marked time late Thursday night, when preparations were underway to bury one of its victims and federal authorities awaited apprehension of two persons of 15 who had been charged with conspiracy to defraud the government.

J. N. Lawson, 51, prominent Dickens county farmer and member of the county school board, shot himself in the heart with a .410 gauge gun early Thursday, four days before he was to go before a federal grand jury here.

Communicate With Children

At Spur, where the body was at Ward Funeral home, directors said communication with two California children was awaited before funeral plans would be announced.

It was said the two children, Miss Evelyn Nichols and Cecil Lawson, both of Los Angeles, probably would arrive tonight and that Rev. J. P. Stokes, pastor of the Afton Methodist church, probably would conduct services Sunday afternoon, in Afton Baptist church. Burial will be in an Afton cemetery.

Live At Afton Residence

The widow and two other children, Jack and Billie Joe, sons, live at their Afton residence.

One of the 15 men charged had died of natural causes before drawing of complaints.

"He was charged through necessity," said federal officials.

"It takes more than one to enter a conspiracy."

Records showed the following had been charged:

Lawson; G. A. Benham, of near Afton; T. I. Brown and W. R. Troutt, both of Lubbock; one of near Lubbock who had not been arrested; R. C. Burleson, Bill Burleson and B. L. Thompson, all of Brownfield; Guy Nickels and a man who recently died, both of Jula; Jack Simmons and Horace C. Barton, both of Brownfield, and A. J. Bell and J. P. Moore, both of Stamford, and J. E. Bernard who was said to live near Abilene.

Bail of $1,000 Set

According to an Associated Press message late Thursday from Abilene, Bell, Bernard and Moore were released on bonds of $1,000 each several days ago returnable at Lubbock Monday. All the defendants arraigned here posted $1,000 bonds, said Mrs. Olive Fluke, United States commissioner in Lubbock.

Lawson's death was at his own hands, ruled S. T. Johnson, Dickens precinct 1 justice of peace, early Thursday afternoon, according to information from the office of John Koonsman, Dickens county sheriff who investigated.

The farmer arose about daylight, lit an oil burning stove and walked out the back door.

Sound Of Shot Heard

The sound of a shot was heard. Jack Lawson, information continued, rushed out and found his father, barefoot and clad only in his underwear, lying face downward on a back porch.

Lawson was dead.

The gun was nearby.

At an inquest conducted by the justice of peace through assistance of Sheriff Koonsman, it was testified that the gun apparently had been pressed against the farmer's chest, just over the heart.

The gun and Lawson's underwear were bloody.

Witnesses and federal authorities in Lubbock said Lawson had made bond in the charge Monday, but had been in Lubbock late Wednesday to "inquire about it."

He reached his residence "about midnight."

Dickens was described by County Judge Marshall Formby as "in a state of shock. Mr. Lawson had a rather large farm, was a member of the county school board and was widely known and respected. He has an excellent family, his widow and two children living here and the other two children living in California."

All complaints were filed by H. E. Wallace, administrative assistant for the Commodity Credit corporation. Material witnesses and sureties on bonds were found from all over West Texas.

Cases Echo Announcement

The cases echo an announcement made several days ago a federal grand jury will be impaneled in the Lubbock division of the northern federal district, in Lubbock, Monday, to consider the Jayton case.

Approximately 32,000 bales of cotton were stored at the Jayton warehouse and placed in the government loan. Grade later was found inferior to that given at the warehouse, it has been alleged, and the government demanded that adjustments be made.

Must Have Conspired

Several thousand farmers are mixed in the controversy, but it had been announced that farmers, unless they had conspired to place in the loan cotton they had not produced, need have no fear of consequences. At the same time there was a hint there would be several indictments grow out of the case.

With exception of those arranged at Abilene, Bell, Moore and Bernard, charges set out defendants "did unlawfully and feloniously conspire, confederate and agree to defraud the United States government by overvaluing cotton and by misrepresenting title and ownership of cotton, such overvaluation and misrepresentation being made to secure loans upon said cotton in violation of section 16-a of the Reconstruction Finance corporation act as amended and in violation of section 88, title 18 USCA."

Only the conspiracy count involved those arraigned at Abilene, said Mrs. Fluke and other authorities.

Conspiracy Is Charged

Those charged where alleged to have committed conspiracy at various places or times: Lawson, Benham and one person not apprehended, at Jayton, Jan. 4 to Jan. 8, this year; Brown, Troutt and a man not apprehended, at Brownfield, Dec. 17, 1937, to Feb. 15, 1938; the Burlesons and Thompson, at Jayton, Dec. 28, 1937, to Jan. 14, 1938; Nickels and the man who died of natural causes, at Jayton, March 5 to March 22, 1938; Bell, Moore and Bernard, at Jayton, Nov. 9, 1937, to March 31, 1938.

One of the most remarkable district court sessions ever conducted in Lubbock is expected, it had been predicted since announcement of the government move in the Jayton cotton case.

Thousands Gathered In Meet

Several thousand farmers had gathered in Dickens county to protest the government's action soon after federal authorities announced there apparently had been irregularity in handling of loan cotton and that farmers would have to absorb losses.

Later, in Lubbock, there was another meeting, in which representatives of the farmers met with Commodity Credit officials from Washington for further hearings.

Had Been In Abeyance

The matter had been in abeyance from that moment until an Associated Press dispatch informed the Morning Avalanche there would be grand jury action to determine those responsible, if any, for the controversy.

C. E. Luce, United States deputy marshal, and Elmer Reed, United States probation officer, have "been all over West Texas" in recent days serving subpoenas in the case.

It was Luce's call from Dickens, to Reed, late Thursday morning that informed officials here of the death of Lawson.

Quiet Funeral For Murderer

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 8 (AP)—Anna Marie Hahn was buried today, quickly and quietly.

Only her attorneys, the wife of Ohio penitentiary's warden, and the matrons who attended the poison-slayer in her last hours were there as mourners; only one basket of flowers, anonymously sent, graced the unconsecrated grave of the woman who moaned the Lord's Prayer as she was electrocuted last night.

Chaplain Performs Ritual

The penitentiary chaplain, Father John Sullivan, performed the simple ritual at a downtown funeral parlor.

The dramatic fanfare that marked her 16 months' fight for life had died with the 32-year-old woman.

In the death chamber, where she pleaded vainly for life, her picture will be hung in a few days—along with those of 213 men. Warden J. C. Woodard said that act would end "the Hahn case."

In Cincinnati the state nolled a murder charge in the poison death of George Gsellman, one of four old men she was accused of killing for their money. She was executed for murdering Jacob Wagner, 78.

Had A Good Reason For His Holiday

OAKLAND, Md., Dec. 8. (AP)—Nicholas Long, 12, of Broadford, enjoyed a holiday from school, loafing around the school grounds, and the principal of the Oakland elementary school didn't beckon him to come in.

A solicitous neighbor saw him and called "sonny, don't you go to school?"

"Yes, ma'am," he replied shyly.

"Where do you go?" he pointed to the nearby school.

"Well, why aren't you in there now?" she asked.

"I skun me a polecat," he grinned.

Lubbock County Farmers Are Expected To Cast Big Vote

Lubbock county cotton farmers are expected to vote in large numbers Saturday at their respective voting places on the cotton marketing quota referendum, it was indicated yesterday.

While there has been little talk outside of strictly farm meetings, consensus was that the proposal would carry in the county and also over the South Plains. Farmers, it was pointed out, have generally made up their minds and some, at least, have resented outside efforts to get a strong vote opposing the plan.

Names of the committees that will conduct elections in the several communities will be completed today, it was indicated.

WAR SCARE COSTLY

ROME, Dec. 8 (AP)—An official announcement indicated today that the September war scare cost Italy more than $64,000,000 for extraordinary military expenditures.

WHY...

HARD CANDIES ARE BETTER FOR CHILDREN

Give the children hard candies like pralines and taffy that dissolve slowly, and reserve for grown-ups the soft, creamy ones that are inclined to slip down too fast. Because the more diluted sugar enters a child's tummy, the better it will be for him. If you make your children's Christmas candy with Imperial Pure Cane Sugar, you'll know it will be wholesome.

★ RECIPE FOR PRALINES ★

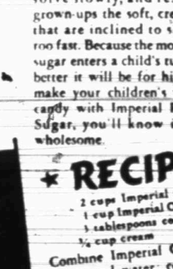

2 cups Imperial Granulated Sugar
1 cup Imperial Old Time Brown Sugar
3 tablespoons corn syrup
½ cup cream
½ cup water
2 teaspoons maple flavoring
1½ cups pecans

Combine Imperial Granulated and Old Time Brown Sugars, corn syrup, cream and water; cook to the soft ball stage. Cool to room temperature. Add flavoring and pecans. Stir until candy will hold its shape. Drop rapidly onto waxed paper to form patties.

Movie And Radio Stars Receive Smuggled Goods; Summoned As Witnesses

Prosecution Is Not Expected

NEW YORK, Dec. 8 (AP)—A federal prosecutor said today that several movie and radio stars had received goods smuggled into the United States by Albert N. Chaperau, self-styled Nicaraguan commercial attache and cosmopolite.

The same federal grand jury which voted smuggling indictments against Chaperau and Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of a New York state supreme court justice, has called for testimony Katharine Hepburn, George Burns, Jack Benny, Wallace Ford, Josephine Moskowitz, movie executive, and Ralph Mitz, hotel magnate.

Assistant U. S. District Attorney Joseph Delaney said the witnesses had received smuggled articles of clothing or jewelry from Chaperau, and he wanted to give them an opportunity to explain their possession.

Can Be Prosecuted

They can be prosecuted under the law," he said, "but we do not wish to do that if proper explanations are given."

David G. Berger, counsel for Chaperau, said meanwhile that the government's injection of Miss Hepburn's name in the case, "has proven the straw that broke the cinematic camel's back. My client doesn't know Miss Hepburn and she doesn't know him."

Berger also gave out a statement in which he quoted Chaperau as "confessing" that he "smuggled in a dwarf for Snow White, a wig for Shirley Temple, a necktie for Charlie McCarthy . . . and I also failed to pay customs on a novel deep frog for the throat of Fred Allen."

Yugoslavia has now decided to compete for winter sports and great ski centers have been established at Ljubljana, Bled, Kranjska Gora and on Mount Orjen, where snow files from October till May.

Gly-Cas Responsible For Present Health

Mrs. Hill Says It Is The First Medicine Not To Disappoint Her; Years Of Poor Health At An End

"My entire family joins me in praising the merit of Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Laura L. Hill, 2300 Willow St., Austin, Texas. "For years I had been miserable with muscular aches and pains and growing worse each day. I could not sleep, was up at all hours because of frequent bladder action, and was always tired and worn-out. I lost all desire for food for to eat meant suffering afterwards as nothing seemed to agree with me. Poisons clogged my entire system and at times the unbearable pain I endured all over my body got the best of me until I was almost crippled. For six years I had not been able to walk to town. But all of this was soon changed once I gave Gly-Cas the opportunity to help me."

"I did not realize such a remarkable medicine was on the market," continued Mrs. Hill. "For my entire system was soon toned, body was cleansed of poisonous impurities, stomach and bladder relieved. I now eat and sleep good and enjoy more strength than I have had in years. I just went to town for the first time in six years and walked for three hours without any ill effects whatever. No medicine, in my estimation, can be compared with Gly-Cas—it really gave me results."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug Co., 1219 Broadway this city, and by the leading druggists in surrounding towns. —Adv.

Smiles All Around As President's Birthday Party Planners Meet

The "Fight Infantile Paralysis" committee named to conduct the national campaign climaxed with the annual President's birthday balls throughout the coun ry on Jan. 30 is pictured here at its first meeting with the President in Washington. Left to right, Mr. Roosevelt, Keith Morgan of New York, renamed chairman; George E. Allen of Washington, campaign director; Joseph Schenck of Los Angeles; Basil O'Connor, New York; George W. Baker, jr., San Francisco. Funds from the birthday parties are used to fight infantile paralysis.

Questions Of Vital Importance To The State's Sportsmen Will Be Discussed

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—Questions of vital importance to the state's hunters and fishermen undoubtedly will flower into considerable oratory in the general legislative sessions starting in January.

Will J. Tucker, game commission secretary, said today issues of paramount interest include suggested adoption of a universal hunting and fishing license and a proposal to confer regulatory powers upon the commission.

Sports organizations probably will petition their lawmakers for a universal hunting license of $2 applying to all persons over 17 years old and exempting only those who hunt on land on which they reside and a fishing license of $1 for those over 17 permitting them to fish in lakes and navigable streams. No permits would be required to fish in creeks.

Plan Working Out

Twenty-two counties in Central Texas have the universal license and Tucker says "it's working out very well." Advocates of the licenses point out it taxes all sportsmen alike instead of, as under present laws, only an undetermined percentage.

Some legislators, however, are afraid their constitutents among the poorer classes could not bear the burden and argue that a person who wants to shoot squirrels or go fishing "of a Sunday afternoon" should not be taxed for the privilege.

The universal license, Tucker estimates, would double the present revenues of about $500,000 on which the department operates.

"They would permit us to increase our understaffed game warden force of 90 to a needed 150," Tucker said, "provide for more adequate research and restocking programs, permit us to salvage more fish from stagnant, drying up waters in drouth seasons and eradicate more gars and turtles which prey on other marine life."

Eighty-two out of every 100 persons under 60 years of age, and 23 of every 100 under 20 years of age, have defective eyesight, studies reveal.

Former Texans Face Long Prison Terms

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 8. (AP)—Robert Hill, 23, and Harry Lane, 20, former Texans, pleaded guilty to kidnaping charges today and were sentenced to 20 to 25 years imprisonment each.

They were charged with holding up Robert L. Hutchinson, night clerk at an exclusive club here, forcing him to drive them out of the city and then taking his automobile. They were arrested the following day in Douglas, Ariz.

Their sentences denied them any chance of parole in less than 20 years.

Lane formerly lived in Texarkana, Tex. Hill, who escaped from the Huntsville, Tex., prison, has a wife in Fort Worth.

Howdy, Dallas Visitors!

HOWDY, neighbors! We're always glad to join in the general welcome when our friends from Dallas visit us.

We are especially glad on this occasion to greet those who have come from the Big City to tell us personally of plans for the Cotton Bowl football game there January 2 in which Lubbock, West Texas and Texas Technological college are to figure so prominently. It should not be necessary to repeat here that the Tech Red Raiders are to meet St. Mary's Gaels in the game there.

The pleasures of greeting are enhanced for a number of reasons. We are sufficiently human that we respond when you make a long trip to tell us that you think we are a pretty fair lot of folks. We like to gossip with you about something in which we both are more keenly interested at this time than in any other approaching event. Then we are glad that you will have the opportunity of seeing for yourself just what the Lubbock, South Plains and Tech right now actually are. Unless we miss our guess, you will take enthusiastic word of what you see back home with you.

And when you do return to your home city, bear this in mind:

We'll be seeing you — in the Cotton Bowl.

We Know Where We're "At!"

PROBABLY the most general comment which will be heard concerning parking meters since the Court of Criminal appeals has ruled them valid will be that the worrisome proposition seems to be finally settled at last.

The controversy has dragged on for two years. The meters were here most of that time, but no one knew positively that they had a legal right to be here. No considerable number of the population became greatly agitated, but any uncertainty is apt to become a bit irritating.

The courts now have said with about as much finality as they can say that the gadgets are legal. There is one possible loophole, but it is no more than a bare possibility. It is a safe prediction that the contraptions will remain here as long as the City commission wills them to stay. This "non-revenue measure," as it was humorously called by the City Dads, will keep on producing revenue at the rate of some $25,000 a year. And the city will keep on paying for them at the rate of $58 per meter until they are paid out—and possibly worn out so that the city may have to buy some more.

While the upholding of the legality of the meters probably won't make the average motorist any happier, he has become so accustomed to digging for nickels it has ceased to be a bitter dose. And now he at least knows just where he stands.

Santa: Wise Toy-Maker

WHILE Santa Claus is sweating away at the North Pole with last minute preparations for what may be his busiest Christmas in many years it is well to consider how the hearty old fellow has kept ahead of the procession of new ideas and new methods of toy making.

Probably the best quarter of a billion dollars spent in any country is that $250,000,000 spent annually for toys in the U.S. It is a staggering sum, spent for the highest possible good—the giving of hours of happiness to others.

It is spent most judiciously by the mothers and fathers of the nation. Toys must be rugged, else they earn the contempt of Junior and his sister. They must be colorful, easy to clean and enduring. An old toy that has weathered the tempests of childhood is treasured more than a new and more attractive one. These desirable qualities have kept Santa humping for new ideas. He has also kept in mind that toys must be smooth-edged to prevent possibility of injury to their youthful owners.

For these mechanical improvements, father and mother join the youngsters in a great big hand for the old fellow and a promise of a long rest for him — after Christmas.

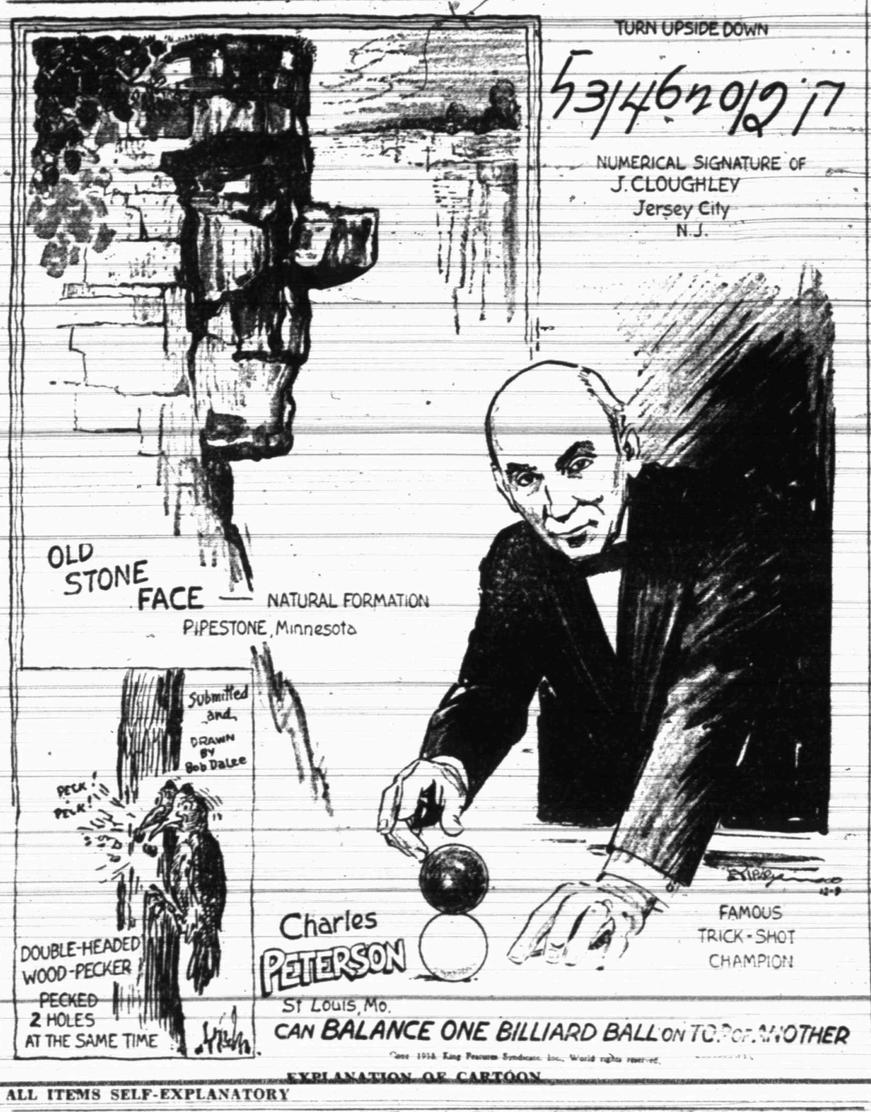

With Our Contemporaries

"Our observation is that most people who come to our place soliciting funds on account of the fact that the husband is disabled or the wife has to be carried somewhere for treatment, is that if they would get on speaking terms with a bathtub, it would help matters some," Andy Jack Stricklin the close observer, reports in the Terry County Herald, Brownfield.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

JUDY ALCOTT — admiral's daughter. She faced a choice between two navy suitors.

Dwight Campbell—Ambitious lieutenant. He faced a choice between his wife and duty.

JACK HANLEY — flying sailor. He faced a test of a patient love.

MARVEL HASTINGS—navy wife. She faced the test of being a good sailor.

• • •

Yesterday: Judy can never quite forget Dwight; memory of him tortures her. For the first time in her life she hates the demands of navy life.

CHAPTER XII

Judy Alcott didn't want to go to Dwight Campbell's wedding. She shrank from the thought of it equally as much as she had shrunk from the very idea of acting as bridesmaid. But not to appear would be to conform undeniably and forever, that what people were saying about her was true.

The bridge party, that afternoon, had been bad enough. Maybe the others had tried to be kind. They had succeeded only in emphasizing the fact that they were thinking of her as the girl Dwight had jilted. By their very omissions—by the careful way no one spoke of the wedding invitations that everyone had received that morning—they made the thing huge and plain and inescapable. Judy Alcott, the girl Dwight jilted. Be kind to Judy. Don't mention the wedding. . . .

She had lived through the bridge party. Even smiled and laughed and thanked her hostess for a good time. She had lived through the tea that Mrs. Lane, as the wife of Dwight's skipper, could not avoid giving. But every time she remembered those tortured minutes in Mrs. Lane's living room, she clenched her hands.

She and Jack Hanley came in late. Purposely. Judy wanted the room filled with people, with talk and laughter, so that no one would notice her especially. But as it happened, Mrs. Lane was pouring tea when they arrived, and Marvel was sitting in a wing chair, Dwight bending over her solicitously. Mrs. Lane had evidently called some remark to Marvel across the small space between the table and the chair where Marvel sat, because there was a lull in the room—one of those waiting hushes.

And as Dwight smiled down at his fiancee, Jack Hanley and Judy came into the room.

• • •

Marvel balanced her teacup and said coolly, "How are you, Miss Alcott?" She nodded to Jack, who was leading Judy toward their hostess. Then Marvel said, "I really don't know where we'll live, Mrs. Lane. Is it usual to take one of these little houses?"

So Mrs. Lane had asked Marvel where they would live. . . . That ordinary question shouldn't have the power to hurt. But it had. The skipper's wife had known it would hurt Judy. Dwight and Marvel—together. Married. A house made it so real, so final!

Dwight took Judy's hand and pressed it warmly. "Haven't seen you for a long time, Judy. How have you been?"

"Just fine," she said crisply, turning to Jack. But it had been agony, after that, to see him smiling at Marvel. Whispering to her. Once he took her arm and brought her to Captain Lane's side, and the very expression on his face seemed to shout aloud, "Isn't she wonderful, sir?"

"We must get out of here as soon as we decently can," said Judy hurriedly. Jack answered slowly, "We've just come." He gave her a sandwich. "That's one of those thin nutbreads you always liked. What's your hurry?"

"Stand here and take it. Chin up," he replied. He knew what her hurry was, all right. And he knew, too, that she mustn't be routed; she mustn't turn tail and run.

Nothing had changed since then. She must brazen this out, and the wedding, too.

• • •

On the morning of the day they were to be married, Judy rose early and went to the window. Dwight's wedding day. The sky was deeply blue, already the sun was warming the dew from the grass on the lawn. "I hope he'll be happy!" she said fiercely. "Even if—even if she's the one!"

It was to be a high noon wedding. All through her shower, all through the hair brushing and the face fixing, Judy thought of Dwight. He would be jubilant, today. His big day. She wondered, with aching heart, what he was doing this minute. Getting ready for his wedding. Singing, maybe.

She thought of his pride in Marvel; he thought her beautiful, miraculous, even witty. He did not see the hardness under the beauty. "Please be good to him!" Judy whispered.

Judy looked at the dress hanging on the velvet hanger. It was lovely, splashingly colorful print, not too formal for a noon wedding, and yet special enough so that no one might feel Judy hadn't cared what she wore to Dwight's wedding. She and Diane had ransacked the town for it. Diane had said practically, "You'll be able to wear it all through the summer—it's a gorgeous thing. Teas — Sunday afternoons—" But Judy had thought distastefully that she would never want to wear the dress again, after it had seen Dwight's wedding. That was morbid, she knew. She shook the feeling from her.

Her narrow patent leather pumps, her pretty new gloves, that were exactly the golden-rust of one of the jungle flowers splashed across the dress. A wide, flat sailor in natural straw completed the costume.

Her father was in full-dress uniform, as the ushers and bridegroom and other officers would be, too. Driving to the church, she avoided her mother's wise eyes. She said, "You look lovely, Mother." Mrs. Alcott wore a pale cream and lavender print.

Entering the church, murmuring, "Friends of the groom," Judy caught sight of Diane and Bill. Diane was stunning in a scarlet polka dot, the skirt of which repeated the pattern in purple. They had bought their dresses at the same time. Bill, with his Viking blondness, looked very handsome. And then Jack was at her side. Judy's breath caught in her throat. He sat between her and her mother. He, too, was very good-looking in the dress uniform, his epaulets emphasizing the breadth of his shoulders.

• • •

It was a polite, handsome assemblage. Smart hats, pretty women. On the other side of the church, Judy saw the "friends of the bride." They were stunningly dressed. The men in civilian clothes were not the same type as the naval officers, but they looked bland and accustomed to ease.

Lilies were banked at the altar. There were tall ferns, the scent of flowers. Judy closed her gloved hand tightly on her bag. She must stop thinking. She must get through this somehow without giving in to the wild desire to scream.

The organ's sonorous pealing began. Jack whispered, "They're doing it up brown!" and Judy gave him a tiny, grateful smile.

It was then, while the organ played, that Judy saw the man again. The one who had lunched with Marvel. That smooth, dark head; the self-possessed, assured air. The long, thin face—the lips that were set in an almost mocking expression. She had never forgotten him. The man who was so perfectly the sort Marvel would know. There was no doubt about it—it was he.

"But of course," Judy said to herself. "He'd be at her wedding if he's a friend of hers." Yet that had been more than a friendly lunch. She remembered again the way the man's hands had reached for Marvel's.

There was a stir in the church, and people turned their heads. The bride. The bride coming down the aisle, on the arm of her uncle.

Jack said involuntarily, "By God, she looks good!" She did, Judy admitted. Her dress was of exquisite white tulle. It billowed about her like soft, lacy clouds. The shining, burning red of her hair was veiled by a simple length of tulle, crowned by a tiny wreath of orange blossoms. There was color only in her hair, and in the flaunting, amazing fact that instead of the traditional white bouquet, Marvel was carrying deep red roses. Rich, heart's blood red.

Judy watched her walk slowly down the aisle. Dwight, his love shining in his eyes, was waiting for her. Judy felt a sob gathering in her throat. Her fingers went to her lips, but before she could stifle it, Jack had heard her moan, "I can't stand it! I can't, I can't!"

Mrs. Bergdoll Will Urge Her Husband To Return To U. S.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. (AP) — Mrs. Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, eager to end the exile that has made her a woman without a country, was on her way to Germany today to urge her husband to return and serve his five-year sentence as a World war draft-dodger.

With her on the liner Hamburg are four of her five children, all traveling on a German passport which carries a curt notation that "the owner of this passport is not a citizen of Germany."

Mrs. Bergdoll is German-born. Eighteen years ago her husband, an American citizen, escaped from military guards and fled to Germany.

Mrs. Bergdoll said she would spend Christmas with her husband.

"I want to live in Philadelphia and bring up my children in the United States," she said. "I am sure my husband will come back as soon as I am admitted as a permanent resident."

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

PRESIDENT Roosevelt is not giving a thought to the idea of forming a third and liberal party, despite all reports to the contrary. From a careful and conscientious checkup Whirligig can say that not once has F.D.R. indicated that he would emulate his namesake—T.R.—or the late Bob LaFollette.

The President's closest confidant on these matters, a man who has been closeted with F.D.R. many times since November 8, was asked what Mr. Roosevelt was planning in the way of a political redivision. The Roosevelt man's answer was allegoric. It reminded him, he said, of a day he spent in the law courts. The witness spoke a foreign language, so an interpreter was impounded to translate for the judge and jury. The witness testified and gesticulated for almost 15 minutes and then the judge asked: "What did he say, Mister Interpreter?" The answer was: "Noddings your honor." That's what F.D.R. is saying about formation of a third party. He hopes to win in 1940 for himself—or for his next political kin—through the regular convention channels.

• • •

POSSIBILITIES: Washington has glued its eyes to F.D.R.'s selection of an Attorney-General to succeed Homer Cummings. The man appointed, in the politicos' opinion, may be his 1940 favorite, despite all this railbird chatter about Harry Hopkins.

If Mr. Roosevelt names Bob Jackson, you can bet that the Jamestown lawyer sits on the presidential knee, despite his failure to make the grade as New York governor. The A.G.'s office has been a political graveyard in the past—remember "Mitch" Palmer—but with a Roosevelt's backing it might become a stepping stone instead of a tombstone. Recently, however, F.D.R. has told friends that he's not so sure" about Jackson's capabilities for this post. With only one exception—Brien McMahon of Connecticut—there is nobody else in the department who rates the promotion.

It is extremely doubtful whether Messrs. Jackson, Thurman Arnold or Joe Keenan could be confirmed by the Senate; they have antagonized numerous powerful politicos. Mr. McMahon, on the other hand, has youth—he is only 35—he has won every case he has handled before the Supreme court; both the brain trusters and the Congressmen like him. And, though Homer is playing no favorites, the retiring A.G. would probably endorse the boy from his home town. Incidentally, New England will have no representation in the cabinet when Mr. Cummings quits. So watch this boy, Brien McMahon for the A.G.-ship, and Harold Stephens—another likely youngster—for the Cardozo vacancy on the Supreme court.

McCOY: James Aloysius Farley has told friends in all seriousness that he will hand in his resignation as Postmaster General early next year—probably January or February. He means it—he's broken-hearted and disgusted—but everybody who knows him is betting that he won't quit.

Jim doesn't know how to quit—that's the trouble. F.D.R. will not call for his resignation—dare not—although they parted political company more than a year ago—over the court fight, the reorganization battle, the so-called purge and the elections. Jim walked out when Harry Hopkins walked in. Some people think that Jim was pushed out, and so does he. But the P. G. is too fine and loyal a man to show his resentment—to walk out on the man he still calls "boss". He would like to take a dive, though.

Note to G.O.P. Chairman John Hamilton et al: Jim is broke. It would be the cheapest 1940 investment you could make to persuade some wealthy Republican to offer F.D.R.'s ace politician a $100,000-a-year job and remove him from the Roosevelt orbit. But the trouble is—and we'll bet a three-cent stamp against any amount you name—that Jim wouldn't take it. Jim Farley—no matter what the guy next door may tell you—is one of the squarest men who ever trod the political stage. Those are fighting words in lots of places, but they're the McCoy.

ATTACK: Uncle Sam, disguised as Franklin D. Roosevelt—has lost no time in taking over one of the most powerful mediums for appeal to the voters. The Rooseveltians won't admit it, but 18 federal agencies are now turning out films glorifying federal activities.

Agriculture's two pictures—"The River" and "The Plow That Broke the Plains"—have been shown in more than 5,000 commercial motion picture houses. Films taken and distributed by other agencies—Interior, Treasury, War, Navy, etc.—have been run off millions of times for the benefit of social, civic, political organizations. Both the scenes and the sound, strange as it may seem, eulogize the accomplishments of the administration in every field, from the making of pennies to the fabrication of battleships.

The G.O.P.-ers—realizing that federal control of movies and radio may insure political control of the White House and Congress—will launch an attack on these expenditures at the next session. They will have the silent reinforcement of many Democrats, who feel that radio and movie subsidies should be classed as extra-political activity.

REPRISAL: Tommie Corcoran is a brilliant and likeable boy, but so inept that it is painful. So White House Secretary Early thinks, and here's why:

Thanksgiving weekend Steve and several economic and royalist friends were shooting duck in the remote recesses of the Eastern Shore, Maryland. The hunting was good, for Steve supplied the tables of Washington's upper classes (not that famous undernourished one-third) with food for at least a week. But in the midst of his firing his gun was silenced by word that "The White House wants Mr. Early on the phone—urgent."

Steve rolled out of his blind, tramped two wet and chilly miles and finally found a rural phone. On the other end was Tommie yelling about a presidential problem of no particular importance. Which explains why, though Steve gave ducks to all his high-toned friends in Washington, Tommie had to eat hamburger!

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

TO New York political sharps the biggest surprise in the nation on election day was the narrow margin by which Senator Frederick Van Nuys of Indiana, a popular and effective campaigner, squeaked through ahead of his colorless and unknown G. O. P. opponent, Raymond Willis. It is still suspected that Willis would have won but for the "long count" from Terre Haute.

G. O. P. strategists have been anxious to discover whether the close outcome was due to a deep anti-New Deal groundswell or whether it was chiefly the result of local conditions. It makes a big difference in their future national calculations, as Indiana is a key state. Their research has unearthed the following backstage angles:

Neither the New Dealers nor the McNutters nor the faction headed by Governor Clifford Townsend really wanted to renominate Van Nuys. They combined to do so merely because they were afraid that if they refused him renomination, and he ran as an independent, any other Democratic nominee would be doomed to defeat. Even after he was named, they were afraid he would run way ahead of the rest of the Democratic state ticket, so they hardly broke their necks on his behalf. For instance, Governor Townsend, in 45 campaign speeches, never mentioned Van Nuys once. Behind-the-scenes friction and jealousy between the McNutt-McHale machine and the Townsend organization was also a factor in reducing Democratic efficiency at the polls. Shrewd observers conclude that the Indiana result was not so much a Republican comeback as evidence of Democratic disintegration.

HOTBED: New York insiders learn that substantial cuts are pending in the W. P. A.'s administrative personnel (as distinct from relief rolls). The occasion will be taken to "purge" major and minor executives whose loyalty is suspect.

Meanwhile the whole W. P. A. administrative set-up is a hotbed of office politics. The boys and girls are so busy pulling wires to save their jobs that they find it hard to keep their minds on their work.

Texas Topics---By Howard Marshall

AUSTIN, Dec. 8. (AP)—The Smith-Sadler coalition on the Railroad commission appears to be clicking right along.

At present it seems to be concerned chiefly with firing a batch of commission employes, but there are those about the capitol who are asking whether later on it will go farther and re-shape policies of this government agency which have been in effect a number of years.

Those policies, especially as regards oil and gas regulation, generally have been prescribed by Ernest O. Thompson and C. V. Terrell, who often differed with Lon Smith.

Sometimes Smith agreed with Thompson and Terrell; sometimes he didn't. When he didn't, Thompson and Terrell went right along as they pleased, constituting a majority which Smith was powerless to block.

• • •

Scrap Over Patronage

When in the recent campaign Smith supported Jerry Sadler in Sadler's successful attempt to defeat Terrell and Thompson supported Terrell, the political lines division within the commission were sharply drawn.

Now, with Sadler scheduled to take office Jan. 1, Smith and Sadler are beginning to make effective outcome of the election and the shifting of the majority control.

Just how far this alignment will go none can say. Possibly Smith and Sadler do not know themselves. They assert they are merely interested in displacing employes who were appointed by Terrell.

It has been Smith's contention that the patronage of the commission long has been unevenly distributed among the commissioners, Terrell having more than his share.

He has claimed that at one time of 440 commission employes 200 were Terrell appointees while a little more than 100 each were the appointees of himself and Thompson.

• • •

ONE viewpoint among capitol observers is that Sadler and Smith will think well before materially altering long-established commission policies, that they may do a lot of talking but in the end will proceed cautiously when fundamentals are involved.

This is a matter of great importance because of the power the commission has in regulating the oil industry and the position of that industry in Texas" economic life.

The opinion also has been heard that leaders in the industry generally will not be concerned with changes in commission personnel but will pay closest attention when questions of policy arises.

It has been suggested that these leaders would very quickly revive agitation for a separate commission to administer oil and gas conservation laws if they thought, for example, the lid were to be taken off production.

This sort of talk was heard immediately after the election of Sadler but subsequently subsided.

Kilday Appointment Noted

Evidence of the working of the Smith-Sadler lineup was the appointment of James Kilday of Houston as chief of the motor transporation division of the commission in succession to Mark Marshall, veteran commission employe who organized the division 12 years ago.

Kilday was a warm supporter of Attorney-General William McGraw, one of Thompson's opponents in the contest for governor. Thompson had little to say about the Kilday appointment except that he was a good Democrat and always willing to bow to the will of the majority.

The consensus is that he may have plenty of opportunity in the next two years to make the bow.

• • •

AT the same time, there is a feeling evident that Thompson will be able to hold his own in important issues, especially with reference to oil regulation, because of his generally admitted knowledge of the petroleum industry and his standing throughout it, inside and outside Texas.

The experts don't get too expert for Thompson. He is one himself and his knowledge and [illegible] are expected to stand him in good stead if clashes over matters that really count develop within the commission.

A high state official said one time about Thompson that he (Thompson) was the man most listened to in Washington when a congressional committee was studying proposed federal control of the oil industry. Thompson strongly opposed such control.

Thompson was listened to because he knew more about the industry as a whole than any other man at the hearing, the official said.

Two years ago Thompson delivered an address at an international congress on oil held in Paris, France.

The earth is the heaviest of all planets, per unit of volume.

FOR AAA

Editor, The Avalanche: Cotton farmers, let us not be fooled into not voting to continue our AAA. I heard J. E. McDonald's talk against the AAA and in favor of domestic allotment instead, and I am thoroughly convinced that we would be ruined if we vote off the AAA.

Even if the domestic allotment plan would give us relief, the chances are too great that it would never be adopted by the government if we vote against the present government control plan. That would be taken to imply that we are tired of regimentation, subsidy, etc., while in fact, the domestic allotment plan involves as much regimentation and more class benefit and subsidy than the AAA.

Here is the substance of the domestic allotment plan. The government through regimentation similar to that in AAA is to figure out the proportion of each farm's normal yield to the normal yield of the nation. Then whatever proportion of this normal yield of the nation is consumed in this country will be the proportion of each farm's yield to assign it as its domestic allotment. In the case of cotton it will now be about one half. If they figure your farm's normal yield with proper diversification should be 40 bales of cotton, then your farm will be alloted 20 bales as your domestic allotment. Upon that amount the government will guarantee you parity price, 16 cents per pound or more. Then you will be free to put all your land in cotton if you wish and sell all above your allotment at whatever you can get. Of course everybody will do as they did in 1937, only moreso, and perhaps produce over 20 million bales in this country, adding 12 million to the world's already overwhelming surplus. Of course the world price would drop below three cents and our government would have to pay to the farmers the difference between this world price and the guaranteed 16 cents the allotment of eight million bales, a total of about 600 million dollars.

It is suggested that this subsidy be raised by an excise on manufactured cotton goods. But that would make cotton goods so high that their use would decrease and in spite of high tariffs cotton from cheap cotton countries would ruin all our home cotton factories that must buy our high priced cotton. This fantastic class subsidy benefit to the farmer would be greater but it would be costlier to the whole people and therefore less likely to be adopted by the government.

Even the advocacy of the domestic allotment plan implies that the farmers must now be helped by the government. But it is a stupendous falsehood to say that the farmers are not helped by the AAA. To prove that farmers are better off now than in 1932 just compare the records of that year and this year on delinquent farm debts, delinquent taxes, delinquent store accounts, and amount spent for Christmas gifts. If those records and the more smiling faces don't show we are now better off there might be some good reason for killing AAA.

Otherwise do not kill the goose that lays our golden eggs. Rather let us continue and improve the AAA adding to it some form of allotment if that is wise. But the great need is to limit production to demand, and especially to limit individual production and save our tenants.

W. P. Florence,
Slaton.

TARZAN AND THE FORBIDDEN CITY. No. 5 — By Edgar Rice Burroughs

With lightning swiftness Tarzan wheeled upon the man who was about to plunge a knife into his back. Steel-thewed fingers gripped the would-be assassin. Then Tarzan lifted Lal Taask high above his head and hurled him to the floor. The man lay motionless.

Then Tarzan fixed his flashing gaze on Atan Thome. "You're next," he said grimly. "Wait," Thome begged; "let us reason." "I do not reason with murderers—I kill!" "But I only wished to frighten you, to make you give me the map to Athair," Thome pleaded.

"I have no map," said Tarzan; "and I know nothing of Athair. What do you want there?" "You know what I want at Athair," snapped Atan Thome; "you know what we both want at Athair—the Father of Diamonds. Will you work with me—or against me?"

Tarzan shrugged. "I don't know what you're talking about," he said. "All right, you fool," growled Thome; "if you won't give me the map, then you nor anyone else will ever use it." From a shoulder holster he whipped a pistol, and leveled it at Tarzan!

Get Acquainted Program Held

Members of the Kiwanis club who attended yesterday's luncheon in the Lubbock hotel found out something about each other in a get acquainted program sponsored by the educational committee, with Dr. Fred W. Standefer, chairman, presiding as program head.

President O. W. English presented L. S. Morgan, new Optimist club president, who invited Kiwanians to that group's charter night on Saturday, Dec. 17, at the Lubbock hotel. He also announced cancellation of a board meeting, scheduled for this noon, so that members could attend the high school football game this afternoon.

To Collect Toys

O. J. Sexton announced next week would be "toy week" for the Goodfellows. Chief Goodfellow has asked service clubs to collect either toys worth up to 50 cents each, or that sum, from all members, for the Christmas party.

Plainview Kiwanis club's ladies night is Tuesday night and B. Sherrod, inter-club committee chairman, is to head a delegation there, said President English.

Chairman Standefer called on the following to introduce all Kiwanians at their respective tables. Sexton, Thomas B. Duggan, jr., Rev. Carl E. Hereford, L. E. Davis, Earl M. McClure, Charles Read, R. J. Allen, B. Sherrod, Dean A. H. Leidigh, Marion F. Sanford, Franklin D. Brown, Arthur N. Gamble, George Berry, Ray C. Mowery, Dude Buster.

T. A. Price, Dallas News special writer and Coach W. B. Chapman of the Westerners spoke briefly.

Cooperation Of Public Again Asked In Football Traffic

Law enforcement authorities Thursday again solicited the cooperation of the football minded public today in keeping down law violations.

"We have a clean slate in the way of accidents and infractions at football games and going to and returning from the games this year," said an authority, "and we are issuing a plea for this record to remain unmarred after today's game."

Texas Highway patrolmen; sheriff's officers, and police joined in the plea for law observance to the letter today.
