By Nanalee Nichols

"I've got it just the way I want it". Sound familiar? Ever used those words? Whether applied to a home, a yard, a repair job to an automobile or the creation of a deer camp, most of us have spoken these words or those equally famous ones "One of these days I'm going to get it just the way I want it".

But have you ever actually managed to get ANYTHING exactly the way you want it and then remain satisfied with it from then on? I didn't think so.

Humans are very peculiar creatures, to say the least.

We set our sights on doing something, and work long and hard towards that moment...then, shortly after achieving this goal we begin wanting to add to, change, rearrange or completely redo whatever project it was.

Like birds building nests we keep pulling at the straw, string and bits of cloth that we line it with, perpetually re-arranging, constantly changing.

I know a man who spends his life building houses. Supposedly retired, he and wife have a house built, decorate and landscape it, then promptly put it up for sale!

They do it over and over...and love doing it.

While their case may be a little extreme, they just take to greater lengths what most of us do.

Men will, of course, accuse women of being the culprits in this. But I beg to disagree. I think men are as guilty as the female sex.

While it's true that women keep changing curtains, bedspreads and decor inside the house, it's the guys who keep adding decks, porches, fences and other touches to the old home place. Some even undertake total remodeling projects.

They also spend a lot of time adding tools to their collections, messing about building new work benches, or generally pursuing the "getting it just the way I want it" goal.

The whole point is...we aren't EVER going to get it just the way we want it.

Tisn't gonna happen! Why not?...because we just aren't built that way. It's the working towards that's important...not the finishing!

Put it down to human nature. Or, if you are one of those rare creatures who really don't do this...who don't go onward towards new projects, who never, ever redecorate, disagree with and leave it at that.

But think about it...have you ever really gotten it "just the way you wanted it"? Nope...I didn't think so.

She has worked as a commercial artist and has now found her way to full-time painting and drawing. She is currently represented by such galleries as Saffie Gallery, Paris; American Design, Dallas; Gallery at Shoal Creek, Austin; Sol del Rio Galleries, San Antonio and Harris Gallery, Houston.

In the Jeffery building on Main Street in Bogata Tallie has plans for a studio where she can work uninterrupted in quiet and solitude to create her powerful landscapes.

The artist says of her work, "My paintings are unadorned landscapes without references to people; perhaps that suggests that everyone could use a little solitude and an uninhabited place."

Veteran's Photos Can Be Picked Up Now

The Veteran's Edition is over again. We want to express our thanks to everyone who has told us how much they enjoyed it.

It is a difficult edition to do, because of the hundreds of photos of various sizes and types that must be reduced to half tones, but it's really worth it when folks tell us that they sat down and spent a hour pouring over the names and faces.

Even youngsters have spent time

The photographs for Bogata are at the Bogata News office and may be picked up there.

The photos from Deport are at the Deport Times office and may be claimed there.

Blossom pictures will be returned by Liz Irwin and Nancy Brown will return the Talco pictures.

Thanks to each and everyone who brought these pictures in for our use.

Country Cooking

By Judy Screws

When I got out of the car at the Wright home this week, I was greeted by a big, red, flop-eared pup named Rusty and a feisty little white dog whose name I didn't catch. Laying to the side of the path was old Bullet, a German Shepherd. He didn't react to noise, and I was afraid there was something wrong with him. I watched a while to make sure he was breathing before going toward the house. Laura came out on the porch and I commented that he didn't seem very interested in his surroundings. I thought she said he was dead. I told her that he couldn't be dead because he was breathing. She then explained that Bullet lives in a world of silence. He isn't dead. He is deaf.

Laura and Donnie Mack Wright with their daughter and son, Lindsay and Matthew, live northwest of Deport. Laura is employed by Guaranty Bank-Deport and Donnie works for TU Electric. Lindsay is a freshman at Prairiland. She enjoys playing on the volleyball team and Matthew is in the seventh grade at Deport. His interests include basketball, baseball, swimming and golf. The Wright's older daughter, Stacy Huddleston, is a third grade teacher at Deport. Stacy and her husband, Allen Dale, operate A&R Grocery.

Laura says that the cooking she does usually consists of repeats of the family's favorite dishes because they don't enjoy trying too many new things. She says that during cool weather they eat a lot of soups and Donnie Mack's 2-Alarm Chili. They also enjoy goulash type casseroles, using the small sized elbow macaroni. She tries to keep either beans or peas cooked at all times. She uses her great Aunt Hester's preserve pot for this. By doing this, they can accommodate their busy schedule by just running in and fixing a salad and a pan of Mexican cornbread and they are ready to eat. She did mention the speed at which the entire family goes through sweets.

Laura Enloe Wright grew up in Paris. She attended J.G. Wooten, Paris High and PJC. Her father Stanley Enloe, traced their lineage back far enough for Laura to become a member of the DAR. Her great-grandfather donated the land for the railroad to come through the community of Enloe. The Enloe home in Paris was one of the first to burn in the 1916 fire. When the home was rebuilt, the furniture had to be replaced. Laura is preparing to bring the dining room table and chairs to put in the room with the rest of her antique collection and he collection of old Japanese wear. When she picks up a delicate pitcher or a brightly painted plate, her eyes show the pleasure she gets from this hobby. One week of her vacation each summer, she takes off with her mother, Vivian Enloe, and her sister in search of antique stores and flea markets to add to her collection.

The Wrights attend the Presbyterian Church in Deport. At one time Laura taught a Sunday School class but she prefers to just go and listen now.

Donnie had some funny anecdotes to relate about Laura's learning to cook some of the things he enjoys. They sounded vaguely familiar to me. I'm sure they would be easy for most wives to relate to if they'll remember back when they tried to fix the things their husbands were accustomed to eating. Especially if their mother-in-law was a good cook, as Mildred Wright is.

Laura had some very good sounding recipes to share. If there isn't room in this week's paper, they will be featured at a later date.

Carrot Cake By Vivian Enloe

Mix together: 3 cups flour, 2 cups sugar, 2 tsp. soda, 2 tsp. cinnamon and 1/2 tsp. salt. Mix together 3 eggs beaten, 2 full cups grated carrots, 1 small can crushed pineapple, 1 1/2 cups Wesson oil, and then gradually add above. Add last 1 cup nuts and 2 tsp. vanilla.

Grease and flour tube pan. Pour mixture in and bake at 350 for 1 hour or until done. Cool about 5-10 minutes before turning out cake plate.

Wesson Oil Cake

Mix in order:

1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups flour
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda
3 tablespoons cocoa
5 tablespoons Wesson oil
1 cup cold water
1 tsp. vanilla
1 tsp. vinegar

Icing:

2 cups sugar
1/2 cup milk
1 stick oleo
1 tsp. vanilla
a little Karo
4 tablespoons cocoa
Grease and flour 2 cake pans. Cook at 325 for about 25-30 minutes. Don't

Buttermilk Cornbread By Mildred Wright

3/4 cup meal
1/4 cup all purpose flour
1 cup sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. baking powder
1 egg
1/2 tsp. baking soda

Combine dry ingredients and sift into large mixing bowl. Then add egg and enough buttermilk to make a good runny mixture. Pour into cast iron skillet with oil very hot. This begins cooking process right away. Bake 20 minutes in bottom rack of oven then as top looks dry, move to top rack to complete cooking of the top of cornbread. Remove and cut. Makes wonderful cornbread dressing.

Buttermilk Biscuits

1 cup buttermilk
1 tsp. baking soda
1/2 tsp. soda

Combine all in a large mixing bowl and stir well. Sift self-rising flour into wet mixture and mix until you have a good elastic mixture. Then place onto floured dough board and knead with flour already on board. Pat out dough into large circle then use a cutter and cut biscuits. Put oil in pan and dampen each side of biscuits. Cook about 20-25 minutes.

Rebels Face Tough Basketball Schedule

The Rivercrest Rebels, defending champions of District 17-AA, will open the pre-district basketball schedule at home on November 17. They will play Mt. Pleasant. Game time for Varsity girls will be 6:00 p.m. The Varsity boys will start at 7:30.

Mt. Pleasant is a AAAA school that will be rated in the top 20 teams in AAAA in the state. Rivercrest begins the season rated in most polls number 14 among AA schools. Coach Wood is quoted as saying, "we would like to have a packed house for this game. The Rebels will be the underdogs. However, we can guarantee you an exciting game with two of the best teams in the state going at each other. If you like basketball, you will love this game. The game is expected to be a high scoring affair, since neither team is bashful about shooting the ball."

The starting lineup is undecided at this time, but could come from the following: Seniors, Shawn Barker, 5'11", forward; Reggie Alford, 6'6", post; Dean Tiffie, 5'9", guard; Juniors: Eddie Williams, 6'4", forward and guard; Jerry Francis, 6'2", forward; Clay Pirtle, 5'11", forward; Shannon Richeson, 5'11", forward. We have many other promising Varsity players. A few names to watch as the season goes along are: Elliot Pogue, Miquail Jackson, and Kyle Kennedy.

This year's schedule will be one of the toughest the Rebels have ever had. They are playing Mt. Pleasant, Paris, Idabel, Hugo, Hughes Springs and Paul Hewitt, who are all AAA of AAAA, except, Hughes Springs who is picked to win their district. The Rebels three tournaments are Mt. Vernon, Prairiland and Leonard. Their toughest district competition should be Honey Grove and Prairiland.

Everyone is encouraged to attend the first game on November 17 and support the Rebels. A cheering, supporting crowd can make the difference between victory and defeat.

Rebel Sports Report

Rebels End Season With Disappointing Loss To Honey Grove

The Rivercrest Rebels faced the top team in the District at Rivercrest Stadium on Friday, November 6.

The Rebs were unable to control the ground rushing and passing by the Warrior team and were held to only 76 yards on the ground. They suffered two costly fumbles, both leading to Honey Grove scores.

The Rebel defense picked up the pace in the second half, but it came too late. Rebel running back, Tony Sanders, was held to 56 yards on 20 carries. The final game of the season ended 47-0, Honey Grove.

Overall, the Rebels have had a better season than expected, and the team worked hard and gave Coach Swann their best. They are looking forward to next year.

The team will lose three players, seniors David Jones, Jonathan Savage and Tony Sanders.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Contel of Texas, Inc. has filed an amendment to its application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas for approval of its Universal Emergency Number Service 9-1-1 tariff. The proposed tariff establishes rules, regulations and rates including the provisioning of the B9-1-1, C9-1-1, and E9-1-1 services; optional services, such as Selective Routing and Data Base Administration; additional services, such as Forced Disconnect, Called Party Hold, Emergency Ringback, Switched Access System; and Public Safety Answering Point Equipment.

Customers affected are either 9-1-1 districts or councils of government with 9-1-1 responsibilities. The application does not propose changes to emergency fees charged to end-user customers.

Twenty-three customers would be affected by the Universal Emergency Number 9-1-1 tariff, which would increase annual revenues by $10,107.12, a 2.92% increase in the revenues generated by the contract rates of the current customers. Customers will have the option, however, of continuing the rates under their contract for up to one 12-month renewal term.

The deadline to intervene in this proceeding is December 24, 1992. Correspondence or any other communication regarding this matter should reference Docket No. 10929.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in this proceeding should notify the Commission. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information, should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Information Division of the Public Utility Commission at (512) 458-0246 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Rivercrest Is Awarded American Classics

The Rivercrest High has been awarded a 60-volume set of the Library of America, the series described recently by Governor Ann Richards as "a priceless educational resource."

Rivercrest is participating in an innovative program called CLASSICS, designed to help public high schools improve book collections in their libraries. The award was made to the Rivercrest High School after it sent an application to The Library of America and pledged $600 from local funds toward the cost of the books. The pledge was matched by $600 from the Brown Foundation of Houston.

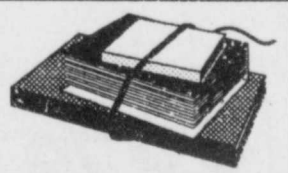

The library of America is a non-profit publishing enterprise that is committed to preserving the works of America's greatest writers in handsome and authoritative hardcover editions. Volumes published to date include the works of Henry Adams, Willa Cather, Stephen Crane, W.E.B. Du Bois, Ralph Waldo Emerson, William Faulkner, Benjamin Franklin, Henry James, Thomas Jefferson, Abraham Lincoln, Jack London, Flannery O'Connor, Eugene O'Neill, Edgar Allan Poe, Mark Twain, Edith Wharton and Walt Whitman.

In the letter pledging her support for CLASSICS, Governor Richards said, "All that is inspiring, entertaining, and enlightening in the American library and historical tradition can be discovered in the volumes of The Library of America." The governor remarked that the series would help encourage in students a sincere and lasting love of reading, and added, "There is nothing greater our schools can hope to give them."

Although a set of 60 volumes normally costs $1,850, CLASSICS enables each participating high school to acquire the books for only $600, foundation funding, and a substantial price reduction by The Library of America exclusively for this program, puts the cost of each volume at $10, or one third of the price.

Each volume averages 1,200 pages in length and includes several works by one author. The supplementary notes and the chronology of the author's life and career in each volume make the collection especially useful in schools. The Rivercrest High School will receive the first 40 to 50 volumes of the series within the next few months; the remaining volumes will be shipped within a year's time.

TIPS ON STAYING SAFE AND SOUND WITH NATURAL GAS.

For more than 80 years, Lone Star Gas has been providing safe, dependable energy to its customers. By following a few simple rules, you can help make sure you and your family stay safe and sound with natural gas:

- Always have qualified service people install, regularly check and maintain all gas heaters and appliances, following the manufacturer's instructions for installation, ventilation, and operation.
- Always use a gas appliance only for its intended purpose. An oven, for example, should not be used to heat a room.
- Always keep flammable materials and substances away from gas heaters and appliances. Remember, a pilot light is constantly burning.

IF YOU SMELL GAS in your home, or know you have a gas leak, follow these rules:

- 1 Everyone should leave the house immediately, leaving the doors open for ventilation.
- 2 Do not switch anything electrical on or off.
- 3 Do not use your telephone (telephones use small amounts of electricity).

- 4 Do not strike a match or do anything else that might cause a spark.
- 5 Go to the nearest telephone and call Lone Star Gas Company. Wait until we have found the cause of the gas leak before returning to your home.

If you smell gas while you're outside, contact Lone Star Gas immediately.

CONTRACTORS, BEFORE YOU DIG, call your local Lone Star Gas Office, and we'll help you avoid any potential problems.

SAFETY TIPS. We've put together a brochure that includes safety tips designed to educate your whole family about the proper usage of natural gas. For a copy, or if you have any questions, call us at 1-800-545-3427.

Postal Service QWL-ET & Ronald McDonald Join Hands

The Red River Valley QWL-ET Workteam of the U.S. Postal Service will be collecting items for the Ronald McDonald House in Dallas.

Since 1981, this Ronald McDonald House has served thousands of families of seriously ill children by providing a home away from home while their children are receiving treatment in area hospitals. Because of the assistance and generosity of thousands of concerned individuals, corporations and community groups, the Ronald McDonald House is able to continue to serve and sustain families when catastrophes strike the most cherished part of their lives, their children.

Collection boxes will be placed in the lobbies of the following Post Offices: Bagwell, Clarksville, Detroit and Talco.

A 1992 Wish List will be placed on each decorated box.

Everyone is encouraged to join your Postal Service in "Delivering Love to the House that Love Built".

Basic Principles Of Community Benevolences Are Determined

The statement which follows is a guideline established by the various benevolent concerns in this community who, in a series of meetings to discuss the basic attitudes and capacities of each group, set forth the following criteria and recommendations. It should be noted that each entity is dedicated to doing what is within its power to be of assistance in emergencies to persons and families in the Bogata and surrounding communities.

A) We'll help you develop management skills, but we haven't the resources in money to pay your bills, (utilities, etc.).

B) Don't come to us with unrealistic expectations; you will only bring more distress and disappointment to your situation.

C) We don't distribute emergency funds until we have discussed the need within the steering committee, i.e., it will require generally a one day waiting period before receiving assistance.

D) So, don't wait until desperate to call us. Let us participate with you in locating alternate solutions to an otherwise "trapped in" situation.

E) A simple and basic history will be maintained for future reference as a means of guiding recipients to a sounder future.

In summary, our community wants to act responsibly and caringly toward one another. There are ways we can not help, and there are ways that we can. What we want to do is clarify what our role can be. (This information was provided by Rev. Bob Bush.)

The marker is located about 5-6 miles west of Highway 37 on FM road 410, just south of the Red River.

CLEAN TEXAS 2000

QUESTIONS TO THE CLEAN TEXAS 2000 HOTLINE: 1-800-458-9796

Q: I pass by an abandoned tire dump every day and it doesn't look as if anyone has started cleaning it up. Whom do I tell about it?

A: Call the Clean Texas 2000 Information Line to report the tires. If a Texas Water Commission District Office is listed in your telephone directory, it would be best for you to call that office, because the people there will probably be more familiar with your area. If none is listed, then call the Clean Texas 2000 number or call our tire specialists at 512/834-6683. We've identified about 350 abandoned tire sites in Texas. We're tackling the worst sites first, so it's possible that we know about the site you have mentioned. Nevertheless, we encourage you to call about any sites you know of. We'd rather hear about them twice than not at all.

Q: What's the single most important thing I can do to reduce waste?

A: If you are a homeowner, the most immediate thing you can do to reduce what you send to the landfill is to cut back on yard waste through mulching and composting your grass and leaves. But the single most important thing you can do to reduce total waste produced by our nation is to learn to buy products that don't produce waste by-products in their manufacture. It's not always easy, but you can look for products that don't require much wasteful packaging, for products that can be reused and for natural products that don't use petroleum as a base. When you shop, keep in mind the motto, reduce, reuse, recycle! And you could consider adding 'repair' to that list as well.

Your newspaper runs this column as a public service in cooperation with the Texas Water Commission. If you have questions about reduction, reuse or recycling of waste, call the Texas Water Commission Environmental and Recycling Information Center at 1-800-458-9796, or write CLEAN TEXAS 2000, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087.

Article Tells About World's Largest Gin!

Mr. & Mrs. Vernon Lollar, of Fairfield Bay, Arkansas, formerly of Deport, sent a copy of an article run in the Arkansas Democrat-Gazette down to us here at the paper thinking we might be interested in it, which we were.

The article tells about Leacville Mississippi which is now the home of what is reputed to be the world's largest cotton gin.

Charles Dean "Boe" Adams says that the gin will have the capacity of about 2,000 bales per day.

Adams has a net investment of $7.5 million in the building and equipment, and more than two acres are under one roof.

Under ideal conditions it could put out about 120 bales an hour.

There are ten gin stands in the huge plant.

Most of the cotton ginned will be in modules, and Adams has ten module trucks that will cotton from about a sixty mile radius. Trailer cotton will be ginned only at designated times.

It is estimated that the gin will handle the cotton from about 62,000 acres. About 100,000 bales this year and about 120,000 in the future is predicted.

The entire operation is state-of-the-art.

He says that they try to make $40 to $45 per bale through marketing and ginning, anything above that they return to the farmer.

the gin will operate two twelve hour shifts daily with 17 people per shift.

Adams was once a basketball coach, and owns about 30,000 acres of land.

He also has pursued insurance in the past.

He and his family have recently moved into a 17,000 square foot home, complete with a 4,500 square foot guest house and indoor tennis court!

He also operates a farm supply store as well as a fertilizer and chemical business.

Parents Can Help Child's School Performance

The key to a child's success in school does not depend on parents' employment, but involvement, according to a family specialist. Many working parents tend to feel guilty because they're not able to attend school functions during working hours, but they can do a number of things to help children with school performance.

All parents can provide an environment conducive to learning by following some basic steps such as these:

- Encourage children to eat a nutritious breakfast and lunch each day.
- Check school opening and closing times to determine proper times for arrival and departure.
- Participate in parent activities or organizations related to school.
- Volunteer to be a home-room parent. Even if you cannot attend every meeting or activity, you can make some contribution.
- Keep a list of your child's class schedule at your workplace. This listing should include class, time, teacher, and location. Also list names and telephone numbers of school secretary, nurse, and counselor as well as principal.

- Keep your child's complaints about school in perspective. Avoid criticism of the school and its personnel in your child's presence.

- Assist children with homework, but allow them to do the work. Provide a suitable study area and proper resources and supplies. Plan together and show interest in every aspect of your child's work.

Since more parents of school-aged children are employed outside of the home today, schools are taking steps to adjust. Parents should share needs with school administrators and become involved in cooperative and supportive ways that lead to a good educational environment for their children.

Letter To The Editor

I have been a subscriber of the Bogata News for several years. I think it is the best little newspaper I know of. I read every page to keep up with what's going on in my home town and the surrounding communities and enjoy it very much but I was shocked and disappointed when I read the topic on the election in last week's issue.

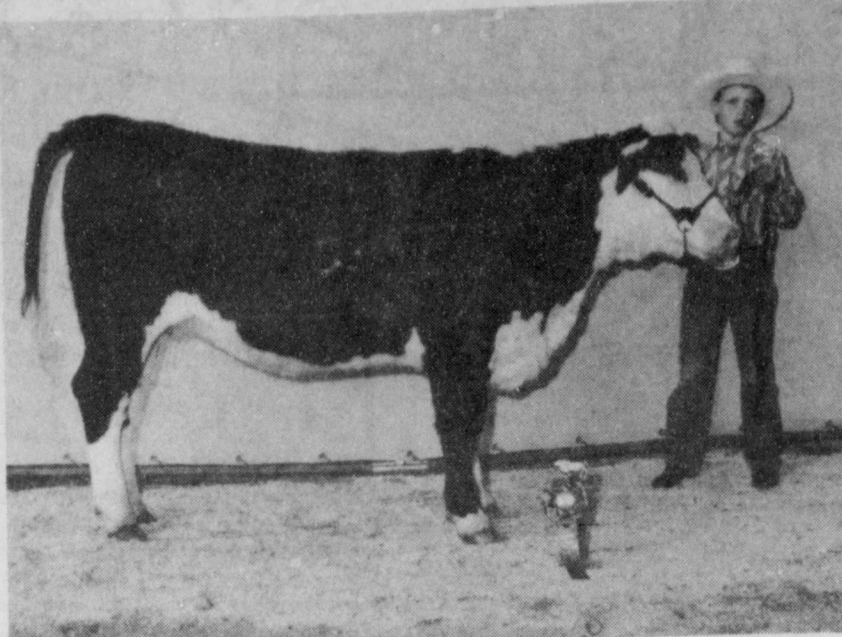

I don't think it was in good taste to call the leaders of our country rascals as a lot of people that live here have a different view of this matter. I believe we need to respect our leaders regardless who he or she is even if we don't agree with them on everything.

A thought for the day.
Lore Roach
Well, I put my foot in it and didn't even mean to!

I truly didn't mean to be disrespectful to our nation's leaders. Democrat, Republican or independent, they DO deserve respect by virtue of their position.

The term I used, which was in quotation marks "Throw the Rascals Out" is one which since the 1930's has been used by newsmen whenever voters create sweeping changes. It is meant as a descriptive phrase to explain that the voters seem to have wanted a major change. I didn't mean it to have anything to do with specific candidates or political parties. Looking back upon the story last week I can see that it certainly could have been taken as a direct insult or political statement...which wasn't how I meant it. I do apologize for using the phrase to anyone who took it wrong.

Everyone has the right to vote as they please...All I advocate is that they DO vote. Differences of political opinion are what makes this nation special!

RESERVE CHAMPION!
Pearis C. Abernathy, III, member of the Cuthand 4-H, won Reserve Champion with his
