Recycling bins will be replaced, city officials say

Recycling bins formerly located at the Big Spring Herald have been temporarily taken to the landfill. The bins were removed due to the sale of the property north of the Herald office.

"We are hoping to relocate the bins in a short while," said Emma Bogard, assistant city manager. "We hope to find a place near the location where they were to accommodate citizens in that area."

In the meantime, Bogard encouraged citizens to use the recycling bins at the Big Spring Mall, Coronado Plaza or the landfill.

Gasoline price increase may be prompting more drive-offs here

By CARL GRAHAM
Staff Writer

With gas prices continuing to rise higher, gasoline drive-offs at service stations and convenience stores have been on the rise as well.

According to Big Spring Police Chief Lonnie Smith, an increase has been noticeable.

"I have just been looking over the figures from this past week and of the 18 convenience store thefts, approximately 15 of those were from gas drive-offs," said Smith. "It used to be beer

SMITH or other items customers were taking without paying but the trend is certainly changing with the gas price increase." The price of 87 octane unleaded gasoline ranges from $1.49 to $1.64 in the Big Spring area.

Police Sgt. Roger Sweatt echoed Smith's comments.

"With so many convenience stores and service stations going to the pay at the pump method, it is becoming harder and harder to detect who is driving off and who is paying," said Sweatt. "I have had some older folks thinking that they had paid for the gas at the pumps with their credit card when in reality they had not because it never was scanned properly. Those are legitimate mistakes as far as I'm concerned."

Sweatt said that the use of cameras inside the stores and the use of posters with pictures of thieves lugging beer out of stores have helped cut down the theft of beer.

"We have seen a significant decrease in beer theft from convenience stores while on the other hand an increase in gas theft," Sweatt said.

Howard County Chief Deputy Kerry Fritz said that drive-offs have not really been a problem as far as he can tell.

"We have a couple here and there but they are usually travelers who just didn't have the money to pay," said Fritz. "We have a pretty good relationship with our store clerks and we have asked them to help us by getting tag numbers and information that can help us apprehend someone driving off without paying. We just haven't experienced any significant increase."

Administrators disappointed over court's ruling prohibiting prayer sponsored by schools

By GINA GARZA
Staff Writer

Crossroads area school administrators are disappointed in the 6-3 decision made Monday by the Supreme Court declaring that praying in public schools must be private.

Locally, this decision will affect public schools in that students will not be allowed to lead stadium crowds in prayer before sporting events.

"We've been waiting for this decision since the Dole vs. Santa Fe case last year," said Big Spring Independent School District superintendent Bill McQueary. "We are very disappointed and so are most of the people I have talked to."

Coahoma Independent School District superintendent Bill Kingston also said they were disappointed the the Supreme Court's decision.

"I'm disappointed but not surprised," he said. "Our legal sources anticipated they (Supreme Court) would rule that way."

Forsan superintendent Jim Yancey also stated he was disappointed in the court's ruling.

"I was really hoping they would go another way, but was disappointed," he said. "Faith is very important to us and our kids out here."

All three school districts stated they will probably continue the moment of silence before a football game. "We will probably continue to have a moment of silence before a football game as long as the law allows us to," added McQueary.

The court opinion, written by Justice John Paul Stevens, was largely based on a 1992 court ruling barring prayer led by members of the clergy at public school graduation ceremonies.

"Nothing in the Constitution prohibits any public school student from voluntarily praying at any time before, during or after the school day," wrote Stevens. "But the religious liberty protected by the Constitution is abridged when the state affirmatively sponsors the particular religious practice of prayer."

Joining Stevens in his decision were Justices Sandra Day O'Connor, Anthony M. Kennedy, David H. Souter, Ruth Bader Ginsberg and Stephen G. Breyer.

Missing Children program to offer youth ID cards again at HEB

By ALLISON THOMAS
Staff Writer

Parents will be able to receive a free photo and fingerprint card for their children on Saturday, July 8, at the HEB Grocery Store. In the event that a child becomes missing, the identification card will provide everything that the parents need to get their child back as soon as possible.

The fingerprint/photo ID program is conducted by the Missing Children Alert Program (MCAP), a registered non-profit agency.

"This is totally free to the public, and it really does help," said Darla Pritchett, the West Texas regional manager of MCAP.

"We photo the child in the store, take their thumbprint and give the parents some safety tips," said Pritchett. "It's all totally confidential."

Parents will receive a three-piece, fold-out card six inches wide and 12 inches long. It contains the child's dental chart, anatomy chart, physical description, medical history and DNA sample. It even includes what kind of bike they ride and who their best friends are.

"This is the most thorough card you can get," said

Pritchett.

The card can enable parents and police officers to find missing children in the shortest amount of time possible by providing quick and accurate information.

"The first three hours after a child disappears are very crucial because there's less of a chance that they are out of the area," said Pritchett. "This card saves a lot of time. It has all the needed information, so the police can begin knocking on doors immediately."

It is recommended that parents have their child photographed and fingerprinted every year in the event of such an emergency.

"Many people can't afford to buy school pictures every year, so they don't have a recent photo of their child," said Pritchett. "This is a good opportunity for parents to have that done."

Latest rains bring year's total so far to 10.92 inches for Big Spring; more forecast

By DEBBIE L. JENSEN
Features Editor

Big Spring received an official .32 inch of rain Monday night, bringing the month's total to 5.72 inches.

The city has received 10.92 inches so far this year, compared with the normal total for the year at this date of 8.73, according to the USDA Agricultural Research Service.

And a chance of rain continues throughout this week, according to the National Weather Service of Midland.

"We received reports of about .25 inch last night in the Big Spring area," said Chris Smallcomb, forecaster for the NWS. "The heavier amounts of rainfall were to the south, in the Fort Stockton and Big Bend areas, where they received one to two inches."

A 20 to 30 percent chance of rain continues for the local area through Saturday, Smallcomb said.

"There's a lot of moisture out there as you can tell just by walking out the door. That's not going to go away anytime soon."

Smallcomb said during the last few days, thunderstorms have been forming near mountainous areas west of Big Spring, due to high afternoon temperatures. As night falls, the storms move east.

"This is unusual for June," he said, "this is an August or September thing. But the good

Mr. Studer died on Sunday, June 18, at Scenic Mountain Medical Center following a lengthy illness.

He was born on May 24, 1924, in Seymour. He attended school at Odgen. He was a veteran of the U.S. Marines, having served during World War II. Following the service, he worked for the Matador Ranch and The Pitchfork Ranch. He had been a resident of Big Spring for about 22 years, moving from Lubbock. He was a member of the Westmoreland Church of Christ in Lubbock.

He is survived by: two brothers, Loyd Studer of Arvin, Calif., and Troy Studer of Idaho; one sister, Frances Popen of Waco; and several nieces, nephews and friends.

Arrangements are under the direction of Myers & Smith Funeral Home.

south Highway 87, said the increase in gasoline prices is getting out of hand.

"Our customers come in complaining about our raising our prices but we are trying to keep up our profit margin," said Moore. "It appears to me we are getting gouged the same as the customers. The gas drive-off situation just simply reduces our margin of profit. You just wonder sometimes when it will ever end."

Penny Smith, new owner of Wasson Road Grocery, has a Texaco dealership. She said she hasn't seen an increase in drive offs.

"We bought the store about three weeks ago and we have just not experienced any while I have been here," said Smith. "Before coming here I lived in Midland and they are probably getting 75 to 100 a day over there."

Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist and Justices Antonin Scalia and Clarence Thomas disagreed with the decision.

"Even more disturbing than its holding is the tone of the court's opinion," wrote Rehnquist in the minority opinion. "It bristles with hostility to all things religious in public life."

The ruling bars students from leading stadium crowds in meditation but could go much further to restrict prayer in public schools, casting doubt on prayer at graduation ceremonies or even moments of silence.

"It seems to me the courts have stepped over the line and dictate to the students they don't have the right to profess their faith publicly," said Carroll Kohl, associate pastor of St. Paul Lutheran Church of Big Spring. "It's taking away our right to freedom of speech. The decision of student-led prayer should be of the local school districts and not the courts."

"We feel it is important for the community and the safety of children," said Kirk Kiser, HEB manager. "It is a very positive thing that everyone has enjoyed doing in the past."

news is it's helping the drought situation."

Basically, Smallcomb said, expect the weather over the next few days to resemble that of the last few days.

More good news is that temperatures have stayed below averages recently, including Monday's high, which was 88, compared with the average high of 94. The low, meanwhile, was 66, slightly below the average low for that date of 68.

Skakel will

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — Schoolmates of a Kennedy cousin accused in a 25-year-old murder case are expected to tell their story in court for the first time this week.

Fairfield State's Attorney Jonathan Benedict said he plans to call seven witnesses during a hearing that will determine whether Michael Skakel, 39, is tried as an adult in the 1975 bludgeoning death of a 15-year-old neighbor, Martha Moxley, in the prosperous suburb of Greenwich.

Because he was only 15 at the time of the killing, the case has so far been handled in juvenile court.

The hearing, which was to get under way Tuesday, is expected to last up to five days.

Benedict's witnesses are expected to include several students who attended the Elan

School in Maine with Skakel. The prosecution says Skakel admitted to one or more students at the school for troubled teens that he killed Moxley; Skakel denies it.

Police officers who investigated the killing also are expected to testify.

Under the law in effect at the time of the killing, Skakel, now 39, could face a maximum of only four years if he is convicted as a juvenile. If he is convicted as an adult, he could get 25 years to life.

Skakel lived across the street from the Moxleys in a gated community in Greenwich when Martha was killed Oct. 30, 1975. A grand jury consisting of a single judge ruled in January that there was enough evidence to arrest Skakel.

Hundreds protest imminent execution

NEW YORK (AP) — Hundreds of anti-death penalty activists marched down the east side of Manhattan on Monday, calling on presidential hopeful and Texas Gov. George W. Bush to stop that state's imminent execution of death row inmate Gary Graham.

The crowd of activists held signs saying, "Stop Bush from Executing an Innocent Man" and broke into chants like, "1-2-3, Stop Bush's killing spree."

"Murder is murder, whether it's by the state or by people," said Paul Robeson Ford, speaking to the crowd that swelled to about 500 people at its largest point.

Graham, convicted of a 1981 murder, is scheduled to die by lethal injection on Thursday. If he is executed, he would become the 222nd person put to death in Texas since 1982.

Graham contends he is innocent and that a single eyewitness who identified him as the killer was wrong.

The witness, Bernadine Skillern, has reaffirmed her trial testimony, saying she was certain Graham was the gunman. Nothing had changed in 19 years, she has said.

The activists started their protest at Madison Avenue and 45th Street before marching down to a building at Lexington Avenue and 40th Street.

Several activists from the International Action Center, the organization sponsoring the event, went into the offices of the state Republican Party in that building to call on New York state Republicans to pressure Bush into pardoning Graham, organizers said.

Those activists were arrested, according to the organizers, but police had no information on the arrests Monday evening and could not confirm them.

Those opposed to the death penalty are hopeful that the spotlight of an election year will get more people, especially politicians, talking about the issue and hopefully coming out against capital punishment.

"It's becoming a hot topic," said Sarinya Srisakul, 19, of Brooklyn. "If more people were educated about it, I'm sure they would be against it also."

IN BRIEF

Dickenson returning to Bulldogettes helm

Rob Dickenson, who guided the Coahoma Bulldogettes to the Class 2A state football championship in 1998, is returning to Coahoma after spending two years of coaching at Brownwood and Snyder.

Dickenson replaces Robert Royer, who announced last week that he was moving to Houston after two seasons at the Bulldogette helm.

Although Dickenson coached Brownwood's Lady Lions into the Class 4A playoffs in 1999 and Snyder's Lady Tigers to the same level this season, his family has continued to make their home in Coahoma.

"I'll be returning to the school, but I'm not returning to Coahoma," Dickenson explained. "My family never has left here. Our home's been here, I've just been working in other towns and coming home on the weekends."

Rangers looking for a way to stop sinking in AL West

ARLINGTON (AP) — The Texas Rangers are in last place in the AL West, five games under .500 and even more behind the division lead. They're coming off their worst road trip in 14 years.

That's a lot of emotional baggage to carry into a three-week stretch that could make or break their season.

What makes the upcoming weeks so crucial is how many things are going in the Rangers' favor: 15 of 18 games until the All-Star break at The Ballpark with nine against Oakland and Seattle, the two best teams in the division. Throw in two off days, and it marks the perfect opportunity for Texas to get on track — or seriously derailed.

"We're going to make it," manager Johnny Oates said. "We go through streaks like this every year. We'll get the starting pitching straightened out and we'll get home, regroup and it will be fine."

Texas has lost 10 of its last 11 games since peaking at a season-best four games over .500. The Rangers just concluded a 1-8 road trip, their least productive since going 0-7 in 1986.

The demise has featured the dreadful combination of bad hitting, bad pitching and bad defense.

A good illustration of the woes was a 6-1 loss to Tampa Bay on Sunday, when a seventh-inning error by second baseman Luis Alicea led to four unearned runs while the lineup hit into two double plays and failed to get an extra-base hit for the second time this season.

"It seems like everything that can go wrong is going wrong for me right now," said ace Rick Helling, who lost his fifth straight decision Sunday, dropping him to 7-6 despite a 3.90 ERA. "It gets frustrating. You get tired of going out there and feeling like you're doing the job and have nothing to show for it."

Hitting has always been Texas' strength. Even without Juan Gonzalez, the lineup was supposed to produce.

But Ivan Rodriguez has been the only reliable bat. The Rangers finished Sunday's game with four starters hitting below .240 — Greer (.222), Royce Clayton (.227), Chad Curtis (.238) and Gabe Kapler (.238).

The offseason emphasis on improving the pitching staff has backfired.

Justin Thompson, the key to the Gonzalez trade with Detroit, won't throw a pitch all year because of arm trouble. Free agent signee Darren Oliver has a devilish 6.66 ERA. Last year's free-agent bust, Mark Clark, is at 8.82.

The two best starts of the year have been by rookies, Matt Perisho and Ryan Glynn.

Perisho's performance — which came this past Saturday, ending a nine-game losing streak — should keep him in the rotation for awhile. Glynn is back in the minors, but may return soon.

Giving them innings would be about the only byproduct of this skid. Texas also has given Mike Lamb a chance to develop in the big leagues and the third baseman has hit a respectable .278.

LONG POND, Pa. (AP) — As he rode the rear bumper of a slower Dale Earnhardt with the outcome hanging in the balance, Jeremy Mayfield decided he could win.

So he treated Earnhardt the way the seven-time NASCAR has dealt with others throughout his magnificent career. Mayfield tapped his rear bumper — nearly sending Earnhardt into the wall — and drove on to victory.

"You've got to do what you've got to do," Mayfield said Monday after taking the Pocono 500. "Just because people think and say he's 'The Intimidator,' I'm not intimidated by Dale Earnhardt and never will be."

He proved that to a crowd at Pocono International Raceway whose response to his questionable tactic was almost one of reverence.

They and so many others can't forget how many times Earnhardt has been second and nudged the apparent winner aside. Perhaps Mayfield had that in mind when he used Earnhardt's very words to describe the decisive move.

"I just wanted to rattle his cage a little bit," he said.

That's how Earnhardt described the most infamous of his last-lap taps, one that sent a victory-bound Terry Labonte spinning out of the lead last August in Bristol, Tenn.

Mayfield says he had been bumped around by Earnhardt in the past and done nothing about it. In a scenario all too familiar to him, he would finish as an also-ran muttering about Earnhardt.

"That Earnhardt, he got me again," Mayfield remembered thinking to himself. "I've done that three or four times. I'm not going to do that again."

Make way for "The New Intimidator."

Dale Jarrett was among those who understood the fire within Mayfield and joked about Earnhardt's aggressiveness.

"We all know he wouldn't have done that if he had been in the car behind," Jarrett said. "It would be hard for that guy to say anything."

Earnhardt said little about the contact in the fourth turn at Pocono International Raceway, a tap just a quarter-mile before he would have taken the checkered flag for his 76th career victory.

But he drove up alongside Mayfield on the cooldown lap, put his arm out the window and extended a finger.

"I told him he was No. 1," Earnhardt said of the gesture.

Although he admits his contact decided the outcome of the race, Mayfield felt justified because Earnhardt was holding him up and not running a smooth line.

"I never hit him first," Mayfield said. "He got loose first."

That wasn't the way Richard Childress saw it.

"He just knocked him out of the way to win," Earnhardt's car owner said. "That's just racing. There'll be another day."

Mayfield said he saw a few thumbs-up signs from crew members of other teams.

Yankees reverse slide; White Sox win eighth straight

The ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hitting the road changed the fortunes of the struggling New York Yankees.

The streaking Chicago White Sox didn't slow down a bit after coming home from their most successful road trip in years.

The Yankees handed Boston its most lopsided home loss ever, breaking loose for five home runs Monday night in a 22-1 romp that snapped a four-game skid.

"You just can't figure this game," Yankees manager Joe Torre said. "You never want to beat somebody up like that, but you can't control it."

The White Sox won their eighth straight game, getting a homer from Herbert Perry and 6-2-3 scoreless innings from Kip Wells to beat Cleveland 6-1.

The White Sox, who won three games in Cleveland and four at Yankee Stadium to complete a perfect seven-game road trip, moved 8 games ahead of the Indians in the AL Central.

"Baseball is a momentum sport,"

Perry said. "Right now, this team is in a giant vacuum and we're just letting things go. We're not thinking about anything else. We're just playing baseball."

In the other two American League games on Monday, Oakland edged Baltimore 13-12 in 10 innings; and Tampa Bay beat Seattle 10-3.

In the National League, it was Philadelphia 5, Atlanta 2; Montreal 2, Pittsburgh 1; Milwaukee 2, Florida 0; and Arizona 3, San Diego 2.

At Fenway Park, Shane Spencer hit a three-run shot in a nine-run eighth inning and Scott Brosius added a three-run drive in a seven-run ninth for the Yankees.

"It was embarrassing. It doesn't matter if it's the hometown Little League," Boston catcher Jason Varitek said. "It's embarrassing for every one of us."

It was New York's highest-scoring game since Aug. 12, 1953, when it beat Washington by the same 22-1 margin. Only the Yankees' 25-2 win over Philadelphia on May 24, 1986, was by a bigger score in team history. Derek Jeter, Jorge Posada and Felix Jose also homered as the Yankees bounced back in a big way from a humiliating four-game sweep at home by the White Sox.

"You're not going to see us get 22 runs very often, just like you probably won't see Boston give up 22 runs again," Jeter said.

A standing room only crowd of 43,062, the fifth sellout of the season, gave the major league-leading White Sox (45-24) a standing ovation as they took the field to start the game.

"That was very moving," manager Jerry Manuel said. "It was a great moment for the team and for me to be received in such a way."

Chicago's eight-game win streak is its longest since the White Sox won eight in a row May 17-26, 1996. It was the Indians' seventh loss in their last eight games.

"Too many guys are putting pressure on themselves," Cleveland's Omar Vizquel said. "They go up there thinking they have to do something."

Athletics 13, Orioles 12

Jeremy Giambi's RBI single in the bottom of the 10th inning capped Oakland's seven-run comeback and gave the Athletics their sixth straight win.

Jason Giambi singled off Mike Timlin (2-2) with one out in the 10th. One out later, John Jaha walked. Jeremy Giambi then pinch-hit, singling to left to drive in his older brother.

Combined with the 21 runs they scored Sunday at Kansas City, the A's tied an Oakland record with 34 runs in a two-game span.

Jeff Tam (2-2) pitched the final three innings for the win.

Devil Rays 10, Mariners 3

Fred McGriff drove in four runs and hit his 13th homer, and reliever-turned-starter Albie Lopez (4-4) pitched six strong innings as Tampa Bay won at Seattle.
