Norris Calls On Republicans To Discard Partisanship To Elect Roosevelt

'REBEL' FLAYS HOOVER, LAUDS DEMO NOMINEE

Only Hope for President Is Party Spirit Influence, Senator Claims

CONSCIENTIOUS VOTE

Speaker Declares Hoover Denies Rank and File Own Privileges

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17. (US)—In an appeal to the Republican voters of Pennsylvania to vote their "conscientious convictions" in the interest of the national welfare, instead of blind partisanship, Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska, veteran progressive leader, tonight opened his campaign in behalf of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic presidential nominee.

Denouncing partisanship as the instrumentality of political bosses to control government for selfish interests instead of the masses of the people, Norris declared:

"Everybody knows now that if every voter in the state of Pennsylvania followed his conscientious convictions at the coming national election, Governor Roosevelt would carry the state of Pennsylvania by a majority which would be overwhelming.

Hoover's Only Hope

"Everybody knows that the only hope of carrying Pennsylvania for President Hoover, and, for that matter, the only hope for the re-election of President Hoover, is the controlling influence of party spirit.

"Party regularity is the dominating cry and through the influence of this party spirit, men and women are expected to forget their convictions and to vote their party prejudices."

Declaring there is "nothing sacred about a political party," Norris cited George Washington's warning against the evils of party spirit in his farewell address and quoted Lincoln as saying:

"I will stand with any man who stands right. I will stand with him as long as he is right and I will part with him whenever he goes wrong."

Modern Slogan

In contrast with that principle, Norris said the modern slogan of the political bosses is:

"Stand by your party, right or wrong. Be regular though the government falls."

Norris paid his respects to the famous political bosses of Pennsylvania such as Quay and Penrose and added:

"She now has her Vare and her Mellon, the only man in the history of our country who has had the distinction of having three presidents serve under him."

Norris announced the opening of a fight to amend the constitution to abolish the electoral college, thus giving the people an opportunity to vote directly for president and curb the control of political bosses.

Assails Hoover

President Hoover was assailed by Norris for his opposition to the "lame duck" amendment to the constitution. He gave Speaker Garner, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, credit for passage of the resolution through the house to end a 12-year fight.

Discounting party labels, Norris declared that Theodore Roosevelt "who called himself a Republican would have stood manfully for the rights of the people against monopoly just the same if he had been a Democrat." He added:

"Now we have another Roosevelt who stands for practically the same things; who believes in the same kind of government; who believes in equality before the law; who believes that political machines and political bosses have no place in our government; who stands for the

Synthetic Lion Hunt Ends As Officers Use Machine Gun

Tricky Deputies Kill Beasts While Hunters Out For Lunch

COMMERCE, Mo., Oct. 17. (UP)—Deputies killed the lions today while the hunters were out to lunch—and that was the end of America's strangest lion hunt.

"If anybody ever says lion hunt to me again, I'll hit him," said Denver Wright, the St. Louis billfold manufacturer who bought two female lions for $75 so that he could hold an African hunt in the Missouri veldt.

"Lion hunting was my life long ambition," he almost sobbed, "and these—these—" emotion overcame him; he pointed disconsolately at Deputies Tom Hotchkiss and W. E. Wise.

"We're not either villains," said Deputy Hotchkiss. "We were afraid the lions were going to eat us while you were out eating sandwiches."

"Yes sir," continued Deputy Wise, "they were hungry looking lions. They stalked up on us and growled. We had to shoot 'em."

The hunt began this morning. Wright, steely-eyed; two companions, shivery in the cold, the lions, Nellie and Bess; and seven dogs, unnamed; the deputies, antagonistic; and half a dozen newspapermen, trembly in the knees, ferried to Commerce island in the middle of the Mississippi river.

Wright climbed upon the lion's cage, opened the gate, and pounded on it with a club. Nellie and Bess finally took the cue and strolled into the thick underbrush which covered the 40-acre island.

Wright, O. W. Brinkmeyer, plumber, and M. V. Harris, barber, waited until Nellie and Bess disappeared.

"Gentlemen," said Wright, "this is the biggest moment in my life."

With Brinkmeyer and Harris at his heels, he stalked into the jungle. The deputies and the news men remained on the shore, ready for a quick plunge into the Mississippi, if necessary.

For three hours Hunters Wright,

Henry Ford Warns Employes Hoover 'Must Be Elected' For Sake Of Jobs

DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 17. (UP)—The Ford Motor company sent a message to its employes today urging the re-election of President Hoover.

The message, posted on bulletin boards at the River Rouge plant, said:

"Hoover has overcome the forces that almost destroyed industry and employment. He must be elected."

Hoover Invades 'Doubtful Michigan' Next Week-End In Quest Of Support

Vigorous Fight Being Waged by Democrats Prompts President to Speak at Detroit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (UP)—President Hoover will make a third campaign venture into the hotly contested middle west area this weekend, carrying the battle to "doubtful" Michigan with a speech Saturday night at Detroit.

Like his trips to Des Moines and Cleveland, it will be a "hurry-up" visit, according to the White House announcement today. The president probably will leave here Friday night, and is expected to return to the capital immediately after the address.

He will appeal for support in the familiar surroundings of Olympia arena, where he spoke two years ago to the American Legion and temporarily checked its endorsement of the cash bonus.

In deciding to go to Detroit, the chief executive yielded to pressure of his advisers who have been highly pleased with the "fighting" campaign role he has essayed in the last few weeks.

Michigan Republicans have appealed insistently for a personal visit because of the determined fight that Democrats are making this year. Democratic registration has gone up by leaps and bounds, reflecting the unemployment in the state and particularly in the automobile and other industries in Detroit. Straw votes show Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt in the lead in the state.

ROOSEVELT OFF ON TOUR TODAY

'Surprise' Promised By Demo Candidate

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 17. (UP)—Surprises were hinted at by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt tonight as he prepared to set out on another high pressure campaign tour, one that will carry him into important mid-West and border states.

He refused to intimate in any way what he would discuss on the eight-day trip which he begins tomorrow. Data on 10 subjects were slipped into brief cases at the executive mansion tonight.

"I will speak on six of those subjects, but which four I will discard, I won't say," Governor Roosevelt said as he joked with a group of correspondents gathered in his private office in the big red brick and brownstone mansion.

He is expected to state his position on the soldier bonus, in one speech. Speculation has pointed to a declaration opposing blanket payment of the cash bonus in face of a growing treasury deficit for permitting full cash redemption in needy cases—a proposal similar to that advocated before a congress last winter by Owen D. Young.

Governor Roosevelt leaves Albany at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow. His first scheduled stop is at Rochester

Gandhi Reported Paralysis Victim

LONDON, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Daily Herald tonight quoted "close personal friends" of the Mahatma Gandhi as asserting the frail Nationalist leader of India had suffered a paralytic stroke in Yeroda jail at Poona, Bombay.

These friends, who were in London, said the mathama was stricken soon after he had ended his recent "fast unto death" in the interest of Indian unity, and this was why the government had suddenly stopped visitors at Yeroda jail.

The paper added that throughout the fast doctors had been worried for fear Gandhi would be stricken with paralysis, since he suffered a slight stroke two years ago.

Veterans' Relief Fight To Be Made in Congress

WICHITA, Kan., Oct. 17. (UP)—A renewed fight will be made in congress this winter for further relief for world war veterans, Louis A. Johnson, national commander of the American Legion, said today in a stinging attack upon opponents of such measures.

Speaking before the Kansas conference of legion post commanders and adjutants, Johnson charged those opposed to additional relief expenditures are "deliberately misrepresenting the facts and inciting class against class."

Notorious Texas Guman Killed By Policeman at Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 17. (AP)—The bloody career of Cole Oglesby, Texas gunman wanted for bank robbery and murder and involved in the $2,000,000 Rondout, Ill., train robbery of 10 years ago, was ended by a policeman's bullet here today.

Officer Jerry Campbell, fired upon as he was taking Oglesby to the police station for investigation as an automobile theft suspect shot Oglesby four times.

Identification of Oglesby was established by fingerprints. His aliases included Elbert Oglesby and Ted Charles Watson.

He was wanted in Abilene, Texas, for a murder there Aug. 8, 1928, and in Columbia, Miss., for a bank robbery Jan. 4, 1932. He once was given a five-year suspended sentence for auto theft in Texas.

Oglesby was shot as he and Campbell were riding to the station, with Officer George Baker and Peery following in the police scout car.

"Keep both hands on that wheel," Campbell said he warned Oglesby. "In another moment he had a gun pushed against my chest. I shoved it upward just as he fired and whipped my own gun out."

POSSE SLAYS FOUR NEGROES HUNTING ONE

Some Reports Say Seven Blacks Killed By Armed Whites

SENATOBIA, Miss., Oct. 17. (AP)—Conflicting reports tonight placed at from three to seven the number of negroes killed today by enraged posses scouring the hills of Tate county for Jesse Williams, 45-year-old negro who killed Deputy Sheriff Walker Williams yesterday.

At least two other negroes and a deputy sheriff were wounded.

District Attorney Milton Thompson said he knew of only three negroes who had been killed. Perry Poe, newspaper man of Coldwater, said he had seen the bodies of four and heard reports that possemen had killed three more.

Deputy Slain

A posse was organized hastily by Sheriff A. C. Williams, father of the slain deputy, and a trail was followed to the home of "Judge" Crawford, a negro farmer.

"Reports made to me indicate the posse was fired upon from within the Crawford home, one of the shots slightly wounding Deputy Max Lloyd," Thompson said.

Posse Returns Fire

The posse returned the fire, killing Crawford, one of his sons and a son-in-law. Crawford's wife and another son were wounded.

"My office will make an investigation of the entire matter," Thompson said, "and our evidence probably will be turned over to the grand jury next week."

Governor Conner said he would order troops to Tate county if necessary, but local officials indicated they were not ready to make a request for outside aid.

'Sleeping Beauty' About To Awake From Illness

OAK PARK, Ill., Oct. 17. (UP)—Slowly but surely, physicians said today, Patricia Maguire, 26-year-old "sleeping beauty," is awakening from the strange slumber that has held her in dreamland for eight months.

The petite, blonde victim of sleeping sickness is emerging from what her physicians believe is the longest nap in medical history.

The medical men were almost amazed at her recovery as they were at the rare disease which first made its appearance last Jan. 19. The young woman first became drowsy in midwinter. Day by day she became less conscious until her stupor became complete by Feb. 24.

Now for the first time the girl is able to turn over in bed. With effort she is able to half raise herself to a sitting position.

Foul Play Feared For Missing Ranger

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas, Oct 17. (INS)—Believing that Hout Smith, special Texas ranger from Eagle Lake, may have been the victim of foul play, South Texas rangers were in this vicinity today investigating his disappearance.

The rangers were uncommunicative, but it was reliably reported that they were seeking some trace of the missing man, last reported seen at Odem on June 14.

On that date, Smith identified himself to Sheriff Frank S. Hunt of San Patricio county, at Sinton, and told him he was looking for a Mexican with a crippled right hand, suspected of the killing of a section foreman at Eagle Lake. Smith had interested himself in the slaying and had a clew that the Mexican was in Odem.

Smith had a special ranger's commission as a result of his effective work in tracking down and convicting cattle thieves.

TYLER, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP)—Accuracy of a senior survey was questioned in a suit involving 255 acres of land in the heart of the Van oil field in federal court today by the Petroleum corporation of Arkansas.

The Pure, Gulf, Texas Shell and Roxana Oil companies and 250 royalty owners were named defendants.

The plaintiff alleged it had bought land from Nacogdoches county in 1930 as part of school land the county owned when it was laid out. The defendants claimed Nacogdoches county sold all its land more than 50 years ago,

HUMBLE ISSUES REFUSAL TO MEET OIL HIKE

Standard of New Jersey Company Challenges Balance Claim

MAY CONCUR LATER

W. S. Farish Declares Use And Supply of Crude Still Unfavorale

HOUSTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Humble Oil and Refining company today pointedly refused to join in the advanced oil price movement in the midcontinent, saying it would meet the increases only after sponsors of the advance had fulfilled three major "promises."

At the same time, the company announced it had posted, retroactive to Oct. 1, crude in East Texas, where it has vast holdings, at 98 cents, 12 cents under the top paid there since last Saturday by purchasers which met the advance. Humble previously had posted no price in East Texas, offering what it termed the "going price" there.

Hopes for Balance

"The sponsors of the advance and curtailment program promise that a balance between supply and consumption demand will be attained; that production in excess of (pro-ration) allowables will be eliminated; and that wholesale product prices will be realized that will justify the advance," President W. S. Farish said in a statement.

"We earnestly hope and we believe that these promises can be fulfilled, but we are unable to increase the existing disparity by paying higher prices under present conditions. In the light of past experience, deliberate consideration compels us to await the fulfillment of these promises before posting higher prices."

Cites Earlier Warning

He referred to a statement of last April, in which the Humble company met the advances of that month but warned simultaneously "balancing supply with demand is imperative if the new price schedule is to be maintained."

To maintain even the April increase, Farish said, had "entailed a continuing substantial loss for all refiners operating on purchased crude.

"The conditions stipulated in this April statement as prerequisite to a sound price advance have not yet been realized," he added.

DEEP ROCK MEETS CRUDE INCREASE

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 17. (AP)—The Deep Rock Oil corporation today met the crude price increases posted by other midcontinent companies. The advance is retroactive to last Saturday.

In a statement announcing the price advance, the company explained the delay was caused by the price of John L. Gray, manager, from the city.

Poetic Minister On Trial Today

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 17. (UP)—A handsome minister, the Rev. S. A. Berrie, 52, is scheduled to go to trial tomorrow, charged with poisoning his first wife so he could marry a petite Sunday school teacher less than half his age.

Hope that the proceedings could be delayed by a change of venue was expressed tonight by attorneys for the preacher, who has been spending his hours in jail composing verses and hymns.

"The state is ready," said County Attorney Phillip Oldham. "I have a strong circumstantial case."

The first Mrs. Berrie collapsed while attending church last March 21 and died. Her death was blamed on an overdose of sedatives. A short time later, Reverend Berrie married 19-year-old Ida Bess Bright, who had taught his Sunday school.

O'Brien to Be Candidate For Full Term as Mayor

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—Surrogate John P. O'Brien, Democratic candidate for the unexpired term of former Mayor James J. Walker, today announced his intention of being a candidate for a full mayoralty term at the election next year.

Asserting that the "nomination was suddenly pushed upon my shoulders," O'Brien unexpectedly launched into his declaration at a luncheon before about 200 editors, publishers and writers of foreign-language newspapers.

"O'Brien is not a stop-gap for any mayor," the surrogate said. "I'm going to be mayor of New York City. While I'm there I am going to so conduct myself and roll up such a record that these will be a general acclaim for my election next year."

Clears Up Movie Man's Suicide

MRS. CONSTANCE SMITH

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17. (AP)—A coroner's jury decided today that George A. Davidson Jr., film test director of a movie studio, killed himself. The verdict of suicide was returned after Mrs. Constance Smith, blond young matron from Dallas, Texas, testified at the inquest that Davidson shot himself after holding her virtually a prisoner in his apartment for three hours. She said he called her, threatening to come to the home of her parents and shoot himself. She said she rushed to his apartment because her parents were ill and she did not want trouble on the premises. Fastening the door with a nail and screw, Davidson threatened her, forced her to write various notes and finally shot himself over financial affairs.

CITY BUYS GAS AT 17 CENTS

N T U Contract 23 Cents Below 'Gate Rate'

Renewal of a contract with the North Texas Utilities company for the supplying of fuel gas to all local municipal buildings at a rate of 17 cents per 1,000 cubic feet for one year ending Sept. 15, 1933, was authorized by the city council at its regular meeting Monday night with all aldermen present.

By Way of Comparison

The contract covers the provision of fuel gas in all municipally owned buildings in the city, representing more than 12 meter connections. The rate stipulated for this service, involving delivery of natural gas to several different locations within the city, is approximately 23 cents per 1,000 cubic feet less than the present rate charged by the Lone Star Gas company at the city gates to the Municipal Gas company, local distributing concern.

It is about one-fifth the rate now paid here by individual domestic consumers, and is 33 cents per 1,000 feet less than the rate established by city ordinance last year for retail consumption. Application of that ordinance has been suspended by the state railroad commission pending action of that body on the question of city-gate rates chargeable by the Lone Star Gas company in this state.

Transfer of $25,000 from the water fund to the city's general fund was authorized by vote of the council.

Parnell, to use the Memorial auditorium at 7:30 p. m., Oct. 28, for the presentation of a choral program for the public with no admission charge. It was stipulated that voluntary offerings will be accepted, and that such proceeds will be devoted entirely to the Scottish Rite hospital for crippled children. The institution is located at Dallas.

MATRON SLAYS CHILDREN AND ENDS OWN LIFE

Woman Takes Tragic Path To Allow Husband To Marry Another

TURNED ON GAS JETS

Plans for Divorce Precede Death of Three, Probe Of Officers Show

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—Rather than stand in the way of her husband's love for another woman, a young and comely matron took her own life and that of her two children today.

"She did it because of her love for him," said District Attorney Elvin Edwards of Nassau county, who thus reconstructed the tragedy disclosed with the discovery by Guy Phillips, dramatic coach, of the bodies of his wife and two children in the gas-filled Phillips home in Woodmere, on the southern Long Island shore.

Discussed Divorces

Phillips, 35 years old, had been named defendant less than two weeks ago in a $50,000 alienation suit filed by Joseph Seltzer, a salesman, also a resident of suburban Woodmere. Phillips was free in $1,500 bail in connection with the suit.

Last night, the district attorney learned, Mrs. Seltzer was a dinner guest at the Phillips home at which he said plans were discussed for divorces in both families so that Phillips and Mrs. Seltzer could marry. Seltzer was said to have been invited to the dinner conference, but declined.

One of the last things Mrs. Phillips said at the dinner, the district attorney said, was:

"Make up your mind what you want to do and don't change it."

After the dinner Phillips walked home with Mrs. Seltzer and then returned to his own house. The door of the room where Mrs. Phillips slept with one child and the door of the room where the other child slept was closed, he told the district attorney, and he went to sleep in a front room.

Smelled Gas

About 7 o'clock this morning he awoke, he said, and smelled gas. Investigating, he found the door which had been closed last night standing open and gas pouring from several jets.

He closed the jets, he said, and then telephoned police. A policeman who rushed to the home found Phillips, clad in pajamas and a bath robe, unconscious on the floor and the house filled with gas. The body of 32-year-old Mrs. Phillips was found in her bedroom, fully clothed. On the bed was the body of their 9-year-old daughter, Norma, and on the floor of another bedroom, in which Phillips was found, was the body of the couple's 6-year-old son, Christopher.

Phillips was taken to a hospital, where he regained consciousness and from his statements and that of Mrs. Seltzer the authorities reconstructed the events.

"It seems to me," said the district attorney, "that Mrs. Phillips decided that by removing herself and the two children she would put an end to all of her husband's problems. She had told some of her neighbors a few days ago that she might do away with herself and the children. I believe she did it because of her love for him and so as not to stand in his way."

Attempted Suicide

He said no charges would be placed against Mrs. Seltzer.

Seltzer, in his suit against Phillips, alleged that on Aug. 6, Phillips called at his home and openly professed love for Mrs. Seltzer. He also alleged Phillips exerted an influence over Mrs. Seltzer that caused her to attempt suicide, and, failing in this, she deserted her husband and took their three children to live with her mother in Brooklyn.

Phillips, said the district attorney, is an Oxford graduate and a very brilliant man, but "there was a conflict apparently between the duty to his wife and his love for the other woman."

Poisoned Vinegar Seized By Agents

BUFFALO, Oct. 17. (INS)—Seizure of 48 barrels of vinegar containing white arsenic in sufficient quantities to kill users was announced today by F. L. Wollaid, chief of the federal food and drug administration for the Buffalo district.

The barrels were shipped by a concern in Middleport to a chain store in Pittsburgh, Wollaid said.

Wollaid said his agents seized the shipment before any of the adulterated product had been distributed.

The barrels were found in a Pittsburgh warehouse, Wollaid said.

The barrels in which the vinegar was shipped came from Mexico, where they had been used as containers for Mexican white arsenic sent to the United States as a base for tree spray, Wollaid said.

The containers were painted and coated with paraffin at a Rochester cooperage company and then sold to the Middleport company, he said.

Tammany Orders Stringent Economy

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (INS)—Tammany, reacting to the charge that it has forced New York City to the brink of a grave financial crisis, today called for a total reduction of $67,000,000 to $100,000,000 in the 1933 budget.

This action came after a powerful group of Wall street bankers had warned they would not extend credit to the city unless a drastic retrenchment program is put into effect.

Comptroller Charles W. Berry presented a sweeping program to save the city's credit after Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the National City bank, had called upon the board of estimate publicly to disregard politics and effect "greater cuts" in the budget so that public confidence would be restored.

"Pilot Jack," a large porpoise, met and accompanied ships into the harbor at Wellington, N. Z., for years. It was protected.

Deputies Beat Hunter to Lions

Brinkmeyer and Harris fought brambles and stumps. Not a lion did they see. So the hunters took time out for lunch on the other side of the island. While they were doing that:

Deputies Hotchkiss and Wise were smoking cigarets and wondering how hungry a lion has to be before the lion chews a deputy's leg. As they were recalling that Nellie and Bess hadn't been fed for a day, they saw two streaks of tawny hide in the underbrush not 25 feet away.

The streaks were Nellie and Bess, decided the deputies, and Nellie and Bess were hungry. The news men took one look and prepared to dive into the muddy water. The deputies raised their machine guns and fired.

The lions died in their tracks, the brave news men began to look brave again, and the deputies started to explain to Wright, who came running up as soon as he heard the shots. The deputies still were explaining tonight.

Wright was so angry he was hardly interviewable.

"It was my lion hunt," he sputtered. "I had fed those brutes 12 pounds of raw meat a day for two months. I spent a lot of money outfitting this affair. I traveled more than 1,000 miles looking for a good veldt. Everywhere I went these southeast Missouri sheriffs made me move on.

"And then these—these (words failed him)—they killed my lions right out from under my nose."

Fight Manager Escapes Charges in Oklahoma

ANADARKO, Okla., Oct. 17. (AP)—A felony charge against Leonard Sacks, manager for Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion in connection with an automobile accident in which his car struck a truck loaded with negro cotton pickers, fatally injuring one man, was dismissed in justice court here today for lack of sufficient evidence.

Only two witnesses appeared against Sacks in the preliminary hearing and Justice William Townsend said there was no evidence of criminal intent.

Pythons are generally sold to a zoo by the foot. A 25-foot python sells for about $40 a foot.

PAINFUL PILES

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when Allison's Drug store and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID tablets with guarantee of money refunded if they do not end your Pile misery.—Adv.

NORRIS OPENS DRIVE FOR F. D.

Republican Flays Hoover In Pennsylvania Speech

rights of the common people as against the overpowering domination of wealth and political power.

"But he calls himself a Democrat. That means but little, if anything, to the patriotic voter. The people of the country want righteousness; the protection of their homes and firesides. They demand honesty, courage, and belief in the doctrines of Washington and Lincoln. The same theories of government which were advocated by Theodore Roosevelt are now advocated by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"Glorious Opportunity"

"Would Governor Roosevelt be any worse, or any better, or any different, if he called himself a Republican? Are we going to turn down this glorious opportunity simply because he is dressed in a different suit of clothes?

"If the people of this country will think only of the happiness of our people, the welfare and the perpetuity of our homes and firesides, Governor Roosevelt will be elected by a majority which will be more outstanding and more overwhelming than the majority which put Theodore Roosevelt in the White House."

In condemning partisanship, Norris cited the vitriolic attacks on Hoover when he was food administrator under the Democratic Wilson administration by Congressman Will R. Wood, Republican, of Indiana, in which he questioned the president's honesty and Americanism and Wood's subsequent defense of the president since he has become a Republican.

Norris also quoted liberally from the anti-Hoover allies in the preconvention campaign of 1928, including Vice President Curtis, Senator Watson, of Indiana, Republican leader of the senate, and Senator Dickinson of Iowa, keynoter of the Republican convention this year and questioned their sincerity. He added:

"It is proper in this campaign to ask these Republican leaders whether they were telling the truth when they attacked Hoover before the party whip was unleashed or whether they are telling us the truth now."

Hoover's Party Record

As a further argument against partisanship Norris referred to the fact that Hoover allied himself with the Democratic party in 1917, appealed for the election of a Democratic party in 1918, did not know to which party he belonged in 1920 when he was proposed for president and became a Republican when he accepted the commerce portfolio in the Harding administration. He added:

"Mr. Hoover today is the embodiment of partisanship. He and his followers deny to the rank and file of the Republican party the same privileges which he has exercised himself.

"Without the sinister influence of partisanship, he has no chance of being re-elected president. He must be elected by people who do not believe in him but who vote for him on account of party, or he cannot win."

In discussing the president's personal fortune and his methods of unemployment relief, Norris said:

"Writing in the Mining magazine May 7, 1912, Herbert Hoover explained his ideas on the issuance of stock and bonds of large corporations. He was discussing a corporation which, for the purpose of his illustration, sold stock to an unsuspecting public and that the insiders had pocketed the proceeds and the investing public were left out in the cold.

"This is what he wrote, at a time when he had no intention of ever becoming a candidate for public office, 'from an economic point of view this 880,000 pounds of capital in the hands of the insiders is often invested for more reproductive purposes than if it had remained in the hands of the idiots who started with it.'

"This is a keynote to Mr. Hoover's character," Norris declared. "It explains how, according to his theory, it was proper to make fortunes in the way he probably made his own. His theory, in this respect, is shared by millions of persons all over the world.

"It is generally understood he is a very wealthy man, but no one knows of what his wealth or property consist, where his investments are, and the waters are very muddy as to how he made it."

Expert Tells Women How to Keep Youth

Quoting Helena Rubinstein, dean of beauty specialists, her personal representative who arrived in town last night, said, "There is no reason, nowadays, why any woman should look within 10 or even 15 years of her age. Science has taught us that the skin is constantly in a state of renewing itself. Nature, however, does not keep itself young. It needs help from the outside. A skin which is kept scrupulously clean and which is scientifically stimulated and nourished by the proper correctives, will remain healthy and young even into old age. In fact, with the scientifically correct preparations to keep the skin basically healthy and the artistic application of good cosmetics to bring out its best points, every woman, no matter what her features, can look charming and young at any age."

Madame Rubinstein's representative will be at P.B.M.'s for the next four days, and will be glad to show you how this seeming miracle of "eternal youth" can be accomplished. She will be available, at the toilet goods department, for private consultation on individual skin health and beauty problems. She will also recommend simple and effective home treatments for the skin according to Helena Rubinstein's world-famous methods and she will create for every woman requesting it a personalized make-up especially created from Helena Rubinstein's smart Parisian cosmetics, to bring out all the charm and beauty in every type of face. This service is entirely without charge and gives the women of Wichita Falls a most unusual opportunity to take stock of their looks on the advice of an expert.

She will be here Wednesday through Saturday.

Murray Outlines Program To Spend Funds Given Counties Through R.F.C.

Construction of Dams Principle Item in Plans Made to Provide Jobs for Oklahoma's Idle

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 17. (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray today placed Ira Mitchell, an employe in his office, at the head of a system of superintendents to be named by the governor to direct relief work in the state this winter.

Murray announced the amount by counties for the 20 counties receiving allotments Saturday from the Reconstruction Finance corporation, for relief purposes and outlined how the money will be spent.

The entire program is under the control of the governor. Murray will direct which county roads will be constructed, where dams are to be built to form lakes and how the money may be spent.

He will name committees to pass on those entitled to relief work under the relief program. He will appoint superintendents for each county or district to oversee the work and check pay rolls and accounts. Details will be handled through his office by Mitchell, and all reports and applications are to be sent to Mitchell.

More Funds Available

Relief funds for 47 additional counties including Oklahoma, Tulsa and Seminole, were expected to be distributed within a week, Murray said.

The governor said other counties did not get funds Saturday because they did not "get the facts in here in time for the department to act upon them."

The governor listed the following rules for expenditure of the money.

Money must go to the unemployed in the county where the unemployed live.

None of it may be used to purchase supplies or even tools. The laborer must furnish his own shovel, grub-hoe or pick.

The names of those entitled to work will be certified to the superintendent of the work by a committee, "for the most part to be composed of the local Red Cross, a Farmers union official and the head of the unemployed organization, sometime by the county commissioner or other officers."

Discrimination Barred

Murray said this rule was to prevent control by one political faction and there would be no discrimination of races, religion, politics or class.

Wages will be 30 cents an hour for a man, 15 cents for a team, 20 cents for a wagon and team, except that old men not able to work without "resting spells" will be paid 12½ cents an hour.

Where hauling is to be done, it will be given to men with wagons and only where absolutely necessary, will the man with a truck be permitted on this work.

The work may done either on county roads or on damming draws for water and fish ponds, depending upon the circumstances and location, the governor said. He said other public work might be done, depending upon future development and progress of the program.

There will be a superintendent selected for each county or district composed of more than one county to check pay rolls, certify the amount of work done and superintend generally the work under direction of the governor's office.

Murray Names Heads

These superintendents will be selected by the governor. Murray said accounts for labor done must be itemized and sworn to before a notary public.

Where county roads are to be constructed the county commissioners will designate the roads subject to the approval of the governor. The county will pay for materials. The labor will be paid from the relief fund.

Murray said it is his design to construct in the four sections of the state and one or two near the center, "dams for the impounding of large lakes, deep enough never to dry, for the raising of fish."

He said every citizen should have the right to fish in these lakes without charge, "for the reason it is getting so that no one can fish except in a private pond, then it has been the policy of the fish and game department in the past to seine the fish out of the shallow ponds and put them into private ponds."

"It is entirely possible to raise enough fish in Oklahoma by the construction of these lakes to give every man, woman and child in the state a pound of fish a day, but even a pound a week would be a tremendous lot of food without labor," the governor said.

He said the people of McCurtain and Pushmataha counties are now living on fish as their only meat.

Murray said the work will be supplied as soon as organizations can be perfected to handle it efficiently, economically and honestly and "since these are federal funds, it must be remembered that Uncle Sam has got his eye on every man that handles any of this money."

The governor announced the apportionment as follows: Bryan $12,000; Caddo $212,975; Canadian $4,089.38; Carter $20,625; Cleveland $1,500; Comanche $3,551.25; Creek $2,400; Garvin $1,856.25; Greer $2,568.75; Harmon $2,616; Harper $1,000; Jefferson $2,512.50; Kay $15,980.63; Kingfisher $6,019.50; Latimer $5,362.50; Muskogee $16,366.22; Okmulgee $33,750; Osage $8,512.50; Pittsburg $16,301.25; Pottawatomie $11,325.

Canadian Brewer Buying U. S. Plants

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17. (INS)—Convinced that the people of the United States will restore legalized beer and light wines within the next two years, Frank J. Parker of Montreal, head of a $40,000,000 Canadian distillery combine and former Chicago business man, today was in Southern California seeking to purchase two or three breweries.

Flying his own plane, Parker came to Los Angeles and drove on to San Diego today, declaring he intended to purchase 20 breweries at strategic locations throughout the country as quickly as possible.

"There is no question in my mind but what the United States will return to beer and light wines," said Parker. "I am purchasing plants in this country purely as a business investment."

Parker said he has already invested $1,500,000 in brewery plants in the United States, has options on seven more plants and expects to acquire about 12 more plants within the next few weeks.

PLYMOUTH SIX ARRIVES SOON

New Model Expected To Prove Sensation

Persistent rumors that a new Plymouth car shortly to be announced would be a six-cylinder automobile of lower price than that of current Plymouth models, was confirmed here today by Loy McClure of McClure Brothers.

Although no definite announcement date was named, Mr. McClure stated that the new cars would make their appearance here within a few weeks.

"The new Plymouth Six," said Mr. McClure, "is the product of a new era of automobile manufacture. The recent economic stress has stimulated the progress of automotive design far ahead of the amount of advance usually achieved in any three-year period. Machine tool manufacturers have volunteered more new designs recently than usual. Machine tool design has kept pace with the demand for finer but more economical manufacturing methods. Intricate machines that operate to almost unbelievable dimensions are now available. Amplifying gauges that literally split hairs not once but many times, are a part of the general production scheme.

"Thus the engineering laboratory model may be reproduced in the commercial product with absolute accuracy. The Plymouth six is a product of these new conditions. Only these recent developments permit the production of a car of so low a price and the quality of past Plymouths with many new features. The mammoth Plymouth plant in Detroit has been completely retooled. Millions of dollars have been spent for new machinery."

At the request of factory officials, the local dealer is not yet announcing the specific features of this new Plymouth. However, he stated the new Plymouth six is a full size, full tread car and it retains the features which distinguished its predecessor—namely, floating power, automatic clutch, free wheeling, easy-shift silent second transmission, all-steel body, rigid-X frame and a six-cylinder engine of Chrysler motors' exclusive design and build.

"The new Plymouth six," said McClure Brothers, "is, moreover, a beautiful car, skillfully designed to combine the most popular beauty and style elements found ordinarily only in cars of a much higher price range.

"We have not been informed as yet of the exact price of this new motor car," he said, "but we know that it will bear the lowest price ever placed on a Chrysler Motors' product."

at 1:45 p. m. He reaches Buffalo at 5 p. m. The address at both points, he said, will be extemporaneous, and 98 per cent devoted to state politics.

Leaving Buffalo, the Democratic candidate will swing across to Pittsburgh, Wheeling, W. Va., then in Indiana, and Illinois, after which he will head for the border and into the old South before returning to Baltimore for the last major address of the trip. His route covers 3,000 miles and takes him into 17 states. Terre Haute, Ind., and Knoxville, Tenn., have been added to the schedule.

In contrast to the grim, tense, fighting atmosphere in Washington, there is a light-hearted confidence about the soft carpeted executive mansion, a sense of riding the tide. Governor Roosevelt displays a casual attitude toward the job of preparing his speeches. Whereas President Hoover begins to toil days in advance of a speech and labors over every line until the final hour, Governor Roosevelt appears to depend on his "brains department," his research staff, to assemble data on subjects designated.

With this material in hand, the actual form of the final language seems to worry Roosevelt little. Tonight he said he had not drafted any of his speeches. He hoped to get a couple of hours dictation on them before going to bed.

"—my skin became clear..."

—and you don't know what a happy day that was in my life." Then why not pause a moment and reason in a common-sense way the cause of many skin troubles. Such common ailments often result because of a lowered resistance below the skin surface—frequently due to lowered blood vitality.

Increase the red-blood-cells and their hemoglobin content and more of the life giving oxygen is carried to every part of the body—even to the skin. "Step up" the ability of the resisting cells to devour infectious pimple germs. Then you will have laid the foundation for a sounder physical condition.

Bridge Shower Honors Lovely Bride-Elect

Whether it is June or October, a party for a bride is always to the front in items of interest and the beautiful bridge shower honoring Miss Emily Mitcham at the Wichita club Monday afternoon with Mrs. Anna Witherspoon and her charming daughter, Miss Wenzella Witherspoon as hostess has not been eclipsed in beauty by any pre-nupital honor of the season. Miss Mitcham's wedding to Harold Lesley is looked forward to as one of the most interesting events of October.

The honoree's chosen colors of lavender and purple were carried out in the entire party. Flowers in lavender and purple were massed in lovely bowls; lavender linen covers were on the bridge tables and the tallies and score pads were of lavender and purple with tiny bridesmaids featuring them.

Miss Mitcham, whose blond beauty was striking in the handsome burgundy ensemble she wore, was presented by the hostesses with a set of lavender linen sheets and pillowslips in a pretty jewel box. An enormous box, covered with lavender then with cellophane wrappings inside, and tied with wide tulle ribbons jingling with silver horse shoes held a beautiful assortment of gifts. All were wrapped in either white or purple and many had bridal wreaths as special additions.

Pretty Prizes

Mrs. J. Warner Zimmer was winner of high score, a lavender silk boudoir pillow and Miss Hallie Broday received a set of lavender hand towels for consolation. Each presented her gift to the honor guest.

Lavender and purple were marked in the pretty refreshment covers placed before a delicious refreshment plate was served to the honoree and guests.

Washington is the world's greatest storehouse of all kinds of knowledge. You can draw on it free of charge through our bureau there. Any question of fact you may ask will be answered promptly in a personal letter to you. Be careful to write clearly, give your full name and address, and enclose three cents for reply postage. Q.—What is the name of the bird which often alights on the back of the rhinoceros?—S. M.

A.—It is called a rhinoceros bird or beef-eater. It feeds on the ticks and insects found on animals.

Q.—How much caffeine is there in coffee?—G. C. H.

A.—It contains from .8 to 1.8 per cent of caffeine.

Q.—How did clipper ships compare with other ships of their day?—B. R. M.

A.—The clipper ships were ships specially built and rigged for fast sailing. The clipper as compared with the ordinary sailing vessel was longer and generally of less beam in proportion to length. They were very sharp at the bows which were hollowed more or less below the water line, and gracefully fined away toward the stern, which was almost always elliptical. The name clipper was first borne by the Baltimore clippers famous as privateers in the early wars of the United States.

Q.—What causes the rings about the sun and moon?—I. P.

A.—The weather bureau says that there are two kinds of rings about the sun and moon. Those that the close in—only one to four or five diameters of the moon, say, away—which we call coronas, are caused by water droplets. The smaller the droplets, the larger the ring. The other rings, the true halos, occurring much farther away, are caused by ice crystals. There are several such rings, but each one always has the same angular size. This size depends on the shape of the crystal (usually, but not always, a short six-sided column with flat ends perpendicular to the sides), the course of the light through the crystal, and the amount of bending this light undergoes as it enters a face of the crystal at a given slope.

Q.—For what purpose is a prayer rug used in this country?—W. S. R.

A.—A prayer rug is, in the home of an American, used merely as a scatter rug or, if it is especially beautiful or valuable, hung on the wall as if it were a tapestry. It might also be gracefully arranged on a baby grand piano.

Q.—Did the introduction of two-cent postage in England increase the volume of mail carried?—A. E.

A.—In 1839, before the introduction of the reform, 75,907,572 letters were carried. Letters for the following year, after its introduction, reached 2,323,600,000.

Q.—Why are the parcel post rates increased?—D. M.

A.—During 1930, the parcel post mail was handled at a net loss of $15,000,000. Most of this loss occurred within the first three zones. The slight advance in rates for these zones, put in effect Oct. 1, is designed to lower this deficit.

Q.—What is meant by the three-year eligibility rule in football?—P. F.

A.—It means that students shall not be eligible to play on a college team more than three years.

Q.—From what plants is the straw made which is used in women's hats?—S. W. T.

A.—Some of the straws are: Bakou, from the pandanus plant in Java; Manila hemp, from abaca in the Philippines; Leghorn, Turin, Florentine, from wheat straw in Italy; split bamboo, pandan, from bamboo in Java; Panama from carludovica (looks like palm) in Colombia and Ecuador; Porto Rican straw from yaray palm in Porto Rico.

Q.—What is tea-lead?—M. M.

A.—It is lead-foil used for lining tea containers when shipped from the Orient.

President Hoover pronounces economics correctly, with a long "e," says Christopher Morley. If this election hangs upon pronunciation, maybe Hoover will get it.

Must Uncle Sam Stand Alone?

WITHIN a month, the United States and the members of the League of Nations must confer about the crisis in the far east. The Lytton report on Japanese aggression in Manchuria presents an issue that must be settled once and for all.

In advance of the confgrence it might be a good thing for American citizens to get a few facts definitely in mind.

Three international treaties cover the Manchurian situation.

The nine-power treaty guarantees the integrity of China. The Kellogg pact pledges signatory nations not to resort to war as an instrument of national policy. The covenant of the league binds its members to go to the aid of any member which is a victim of aggression.

Of these treaties, the first two bind the United States. All three bind the leading nations of Europe.

Now it is common knowledge that the only great power which has steadfastly and effectively opposed Japan's ambitious moves in Manchuria is the United States. England and France, the most important members of the league, have gone through the motions of making a protest but that is all. Furthermore, it is commonly reported that England and France plan to let Uncle Sam continue as the one serious obstacle to Japanese aggression.

Remembering all of these facts, you might let your memory go back to 1914.

In that year Germany invaded Belgium, violating an international treaty. England sprang to arms at once. English and French leaders were horrified at the notion that a treaty could be "a scrap of paper." It was, they insisted, the solemn duty of signatory nations to defend such a treaty to the limit.

But it appears that there is a difference between a treaty guaranteeing Belgium's integrity and one guaranteeing China's—or else the nations of Europe have lost their noble regard for a treaty's sacredness.

If that exalted talk of 1914 was more than empty words, England and France will side with the United States on the issue of making the Lytton report effective. If they don't—well, Uncle Sam's education will have progressed another notch.

Toll of the Third Degree

AN unexpected flare-back from a case of police brutality came in an Ohio city recently. One Francis Bush, paroled from prison after serving a few years on a charge of robbery, attempted a holdup, with a pal; his pal was killed, a policeman was shot and three innocent bystanders were seriously wounded in the gun battle that followed.

The precious Mr. Bush, obviously, got a parole he didn't deserve. And why did he get it? Well, largely because the prosecutor who sent him up recommended it; and the prosecutor recommended it because Bush, when first arrested several years ago, had been given by the police what the prosecutor called the most vicious bit of third-degree torture ever administered.

Because of that torture, Bush got a parole he wouldn't have got otherwise. Because of that parole there was a gun battle on the city streets and four innocent people were shot.

What was the value to the community of that particular bit of police brutality?

Britain's Wall Goes Up

THE fruits of the imperial conference at Ottawa last July are about ready to be plucked. Prime Minister Bennett's recent announcement of the details of the trade agreement executed at that time indicates that the attempt to make a self-contained economic unit out of the far-flung British empire is going to be made in a whole-hearted manner.

South of the international border, this agreement is not likely to call forth any thunderous cheers. Lower duties on goods exchanged between Canada and England, higher duties on goods coming in from other nations—these are not exactly measures that will help industry in the United States. Eventually, according to British estimates, the scheme will reduce American exports by millions of dollars.

It is too early, of course, to say just how effective the agreement will be. It is quite clear, however, that it is far from an encouraging bit of news for the American exporter.

Bravery and the Beasts

AN EXCEEDINGLY odd example of sportsmanship is furnished by that St. Louis man who is keeping two lions in a cage and who plans to turn them loose somewhere in the Missouri woods and put on a synthetic big game hunt.

Big game hunting, at its best, is rather a diluted sport. It rarely serves a good end, save to make the hunter feel that he is quite a fellow; it has greatly diminished the world's wild life resources and it has left both Africa and North America measurably poorer.

But real big game hunting, even at that, is a different proposition than this. The real lion hunter at least goes to the jungle where lions live and takes some risk. He hunts his beasts on their native stamping grounds. This proposition of turning two lions loose in a middle western forest plot and hunting them down with rifles—can any true sportsman get excited about it?

SO THEY SAY!

On Broadway

Was It Possible?

He sent her blooms to match her eyes,
A bright red scarf to mate her lips—
He told her lots of lovely lies,
And praised the glad lines of her hips—
One kiss he thought a glass of wine,
While two were drunken ecstasy—
He swore her laughter was divine
And marveled that such grace could be.

I met this paragon today.
The first time since she broke his heart—
Our greetings were so light, so gay,
But as we smiled and moved apart
I heard the voice of conscience cry:

"To think that that damn' fool was I!"
—BILL CARPENTER.

No Wonder!

Or: "Why Women Are Hard to Understand," by William J. Funk, who found the definition in Cassell's French-English dictionary:

"Demoiselle: Young lady; unmarried lady; hot-water bottle; dragon-fly; Numidian crane; paving beetle."

Panecdote

Frank and Milt Britton, who with their batty bandsmen were in the great glorifier's last "Fol-de-rollies," recall two of the terpsichorines in the troupe, who got along with each other like a mustache and a cold in the nose.

They finally agreed not to talk to each other and silenced their opinions for two years. One day Ziegfeld reconciled them in his office. After kissing and clinching, one of them said: "Well, Hazel, I wish you all you wish me."

"There, Mr. Ziegfeld!" screamed Hazel, "who is saying nasty things now?"

No Kiddin'?

The big difference, remarks L. Ashendorf, between a superstitious person and a columnist is that the superstitious one only knocks wood.

Tee, Hee

"They killed another columnist in the new picture at the Roxy," reports the Hurld-Trib's cinema oracle, Richard Watts Jr. "Mr. Rian James, the author of 'Hat-Check Girl,' is, roughly speaking, a columnist himself, but he appears to have something of a grudge against his profession, and he is never so happy as when writing a novel wherein a sinister journalistic gossip is done away with by some amiable public servant. Apparently these literary massacres fill some need in his soul.

"It is to be feared, however, that whatever psychological satisfaction is thus supplied to the author is the only pleasure that is likely to come to any one through the new Roxy screen work."

The author is better identified as a Brooklyn echo of F. P. A. and other paragraphers. Once he complained to a theatrical editor (who tried to reconcile the columnar craft with him on his complaint) that he couldn't understand their indifference to him. "I don't know why they won't talk to me," he said naively. "I want to be friends with them." The editor was Sime Silverman. The movie critic, it appears, is psychic.

When Lindbergh returned from Paris, three reporters introduced themselves to this department at the pier with this: "We are on the staff of the Brooklyn Eagle—and we're NOT Rian James!"

Which gives you an idea.

Dave Murrayisms

"So Joe is an individualist?" . . . "Yeah. When he goes to a movie he looks at Marlene Deitrich's face" . . . Some radio announcers have such kind voices you can't believe they'd let a soprano sing . . . First Golfer: "What's your handicap? . . . Second Golfer: My wife insists on going around with me . . . Love certainly is a wonderful thing . . . Look at all the crooners and song-writers who make a living out of it . . . A genius is a guy whose stuff is fit to be stolen by the following generation.

The Morning Mail

"Dear Walter," affectionately writes Fred Allen, who will soon make a bigger name for himself on the airwaves, "the scene is a Broadway haberdashery. A customer walks in, speaks briefly to a salesman and leaves without making a purchase. Furious, at the loss of a sale, the boss rushed over to the salesman and said: 'Sam if you let another customer get away I'll give you a piece of my mind!'

"'That's all right with me,'" said Sam, "'I'd rather have that than a piece of the business!'"

"Izzy Elinson is wrong about school teachers being willing to work for apples that the scholars bring. If the kids had apples their fathers would be selling them on street corners!"

The Retort Proper

Miss Etting would have you believe it happened up-state. A grouch, who brought his own expensive beer to a restaurant, had to leave the room. To make sure that no one would drink his unfinished lager he penciled "I've poisoned this!" on a menu and placed it on the glass.

When he returned he found a P. S. on his sign. It read: "Me too!"

Form of Criticism

Added to Capsule Comments from Caustic Critics: The Journal des Debats, once the great oracle of France, published this single line as a review of Rossini's "Barber of Seville"—"Barber of Seville,' an opera written by a very, very young man, opened last night."

What a lot of us would like to know is whether the recent greeting, "You old potato!" by Alfred E. Smith to Governor Roosevelt was really friendly, or did Mr. Smith have Thomas Overbury's words in mind?

BABES ON BROADWAY

By JANE DIXON (Copyright, 1932, Jane Dixon)

SYNOPSIS

Tony Brookes was orphaned when she was 18 by an automobile accident in Centerville, her home town. She lost her first job, in a New York dress shop, and one in an art gallery because she was too honest about the wares she offered. Leslie (Lee) Moran, a model, was discharged at the dress shop the same day as Tony. Lee had no money and Tony shared her third floor back room at Mrs. Higgins' with her. Lee became a taxi dancer at El Tango where she met middle-aged Adam Leonard, whom she called Uncle Lenny. While the two girls were at a night club with Leonard and Dold Kemp, a lawyer from another city, Mrs. Leonard saw them and made a scene. Leonard, unhappily married, had Kemp arrange a divorce for him. Lee astonished Tony by telling her she was to pose as correspondent. Tony fell in love with Tom Stewart, a young engineer who was in love with Lee. He waited for Tony at Mrs. Higgins' one night just before he was sent to New Mexico, kissed her and seemed to be about to make a declaration of love when the victim of a "ride" was dumped on the sidewalk at their feet. Tom hurried Tony into the house and disappeared, and Tony waited in vain for word from him. Lee moved to an apartment and induced Tony to stay with her pending the divorce trial. Lee prevailed on Tony to accept an invitation to a week-end party to be given by Hal Sample at fashionable Haven Beach. Tony had been designing dresses for some time now in the studio of M. Montieu, a client of Kemp's. Kemp had been very attentive and Tony knew he loved her.

INSTALLMENT XVII

"Adam Leonard cares for Lee Moran," Donald Kemp told Tony. "He's counting on marriage once his case with his present wife is settled. He's given me to understand Lee concurs in his plans. He's a proud man. For years he has been wretchedly unhappy. Clara Leonard led him a life only a man of his forbearance and steadfastness could endure over a period of time. She has struck his pride a terrific blow. Another blow, coming on the rawness of this one—well, he is no longer young and endurance has its limits in the best of us."

"Lee will not marry him, unless—" The words were out before Tony could check them.

"Unless nothing better shows up in the meantime," Kemp finished for her. His catching her thought this way was uncanny. She would have to stop thinking.

"You believe Adam Leonard would make trouble for Lee if she refused him?"

"No. He would be more liable to make trouble for himself, and that might involve Lee. The whole situation is charged with dynamite. I'd like to think that you are clear of it, if there is an explosion."

Ought she to tell Donald Kemp of the week-end trip, ask his advice about going to Haven Beach on Lee's party? He would veto it, she was sure. She had given her word to Lee. She would have to risk it, this time.

"I'm glad you told me what Adam Leonard expects of Lee," she said gratefully. "I don't know whether Lee had given him any definite reason for hoping she would marry him or not. Life has buffeted her about mercilessly. Lots of things we'd call dishonest she calls getting even. Adam Leonard is no child. He's matching money against youth and pleasure. He ought to be prepared to lose like a gentleman."

"I agree with you. Only Leonard doesn't admit he is playing that game. The trouble with age is it seldom recognizes itself, especially where the heart is involved. It deliberately blinds itself to the fact that the kind of love it can get is the kind of love that is for sale. Love stirs youthful fires to warm its chilling blood. It rejects the proven theory that these fires are but phantom ones, pale reflections of fires that have been, and have burned to ashes. Leonard, like most men of his years, fatuously believes he can win young love by warming over the fires of his youth. There, I'm propounding, when we should be thinking of adieus."

"It's been such a short visit, I wish it weren't ending."

"So do I, young Tony." Fires had not burned to ashes in Donald Kemp. His entire being was aglow with them. Lit by the girl who was abashed by their nakedness. "I shall have much to say to you one day—tonight—let's say cheerio." He switched suddenly to banter. "And here's hoping I'll be able to run in on you again before you have had time to forget me. Don't neglect to tell me about the golden girl in the wood dress. I've a hunch she is due to make a sensational debut at Montieu's."

Shortly after noon on Saturday a car drew up before the ornate house in which Lee Moran had her apartment. The car was of the limousine type, gray with aluminum hood and liveried chauffeur in trig black to match its onyx trimmings. A man alighted, leaving his companion, another man, in the car. He was shown to apartment 6H and greeted vociferously by Lee herself who pushed aside the capped and aproned maid to give him welcome.

"Hail, Hal, old scout!" Lee called and drew the caller through the bijou foyer into the main room. "We're all packed and straining at the bit. How about a snort of cold cure before we start leaping?"

The man chuckled. "Don't lure me," he admonished. "Jock Selden is down in the car gnawing his nails to the quick, waiting the grand entrance of the ladies."

"You mean the Selden. That's a laugh. His mother almost bit Tony's head off once because a dress Tony tried on for her at Simone's would not do right by Mrs. Selden's figure. She helped to lose Tony her job. Catty, I'd say, what? With Tony being no thicker than a match and Mrs. S. having more curves than a star baseball pitcher. Hi, Tony, come see who's here."

Tony gave her nose an extra pat of powder and emerged into the living room. She was committed to the party now. She must make herself agreeable, likable, as attractive as possible. That was only fair return for Mr. Sample's generous hospitality.

"Meet the boy friend." Lee was abubble. "Hal, this is Tony. Brookes, in case you care. I'll hop into the coat and hat. The porter will bring down the bags. Bags, bags. That reminds me, where's my handbag."

"Why bother, you might loose it?" Sample said. "How d'you do, Miss Brookes. I've been hearing things about you. Mighty sporting of you to join us—sight unseen."

"It was kind of you to ask me." This much was true. It was kind of Mr. Sample to afford Tony this holiday—sight unseen. She liked his looks. He would be jolly, with that rotund figure and that round boyish face crinkled with laugh lines.

"The percentage is all ours. Jock's in luck."

Was it a gesture of warning Tony saw in the mirror over a side table? A warning to Sample from Lee? Jock? Who was Jock?

Lee injected a hasty, "Hal brought along one of the he-guests to save himself being double-vamped. I don't care so much for threesomes myself. Some one always gets the short cut and it's sure to be me."

Sample protested. "Now, now, that calls for lip salve. If I say you wouldn't come out on the short cut I'll be inferring that Miss Brookes—mayk I make it Tony for short?—thanks—would be the short. You've got me in a devil of a hole, Lee."

"Then let's get out of it." Lee swept them out of the apartment and into the elevator. She lingered a moment to instruct the grinning maid. Tony heard the low words: "If he calls, tell him—" The rest was lost in the hum of the elevator.

Tony's first impression of Jock Selden was that he thought very well of himself. Very well, indeed. He held others, and the world in general, in another metier. Antithesis. His eyes were sullen—the lids drooped. And his lips, which had been moulded to strength, had relaxed into a careless smile, half contemptuous, half cruel. Indulgence had gouged deep furrows from nose to chin line, and hung puffiness under his eyes. For all these ravages he was impressive. Handsome in a remote aquiline way that held the attention in surmise if not in admiration. The advent of ladies in the car Selden met with bored tolerance. But Tony felt that underneath his drooped lids he was taking a careful estimate of her and of Lee and that the result was not entirely unfavorable.

Jock Selden was silent so long that Hal Sample twitted, "What's the row, Jock, old boy. Steam running low?"

"When wasn't it?" Selden lifted deprecating shoulders. "I sampled that rolling supply of yours while you were upstairs. You should change your bootlegger."

"Come, come," Sample said. "You must have had a bad night. That's a special order, by plane, from Canada."

"When did you start believing in fairies?"

"I never stopped. Haven't I just rounded up two and herded them into the car?"

"Neat," Lee cried. "We deny nothing, do we Tony Listen, Prince Charming, this fairy's wings are all dry. Maybe if they could be wet down with some Canada dew . . ."

"Righto." Sample extracted a tall silver flask from a compartment under the seat and brimmed the top, which was a silver cup. He presented it with a flourish to Lee. She sipped it sagely, then let it trickle down her throat.

"First grade," she approved. "Right over the border."

Sample brimmed the cup again and extended it to Tony.

Tony hoped her smile was bright and that her refusal carried the impression she did not happen to be thirsty at the moment.

"What, no steam?" Sample protested.

"I'm steamed up already," Tony assured him. She was. She was going to Haven beach for a holiday with Lee and with Mr. Sample who was jolly, and with this Selden chap who was—interesting. There they would meet other guests, some of them sure to be jolly and interesting, too.

Come, Tony," Lee urged, "You need the lift. One gulp and I hear birds sing."

"I'll save the singing for later," Tony said and despised herself for the subterfuge.

Tony caught the wraith of a sneer at the corners of Jock Selden's contemptuous lips.

"I take it you don't go in for the popular pastimes, Miss—er Miss—I'll call you Tionette. It suits you."

"With my permission?" What right had he to patronize her so smugly?

"Naturally." Jock Seldon stared at her from world-weary eyes. She had been guilty of another crudery.

They were going over a bridge. A silver ribbon of water wound beneath them. Lee tipped the cup again. Oh, please don't, Lee, Tony thought. Don't spoil our beautiful holiday. Tom Stewart, riding the desert on a dow pony. What were cow ponies like. They had spotted coats. Donald Kemp was right. She did not belong here with Lee and these reckless merry-makers.

"Look, Tony, if you're going to spoil the fun," Lee complained, thrusting the silver cup at her.

"Oh, but I'm not, Lee I just . . ."

"Drop it, will you, Miss—er—Lee?" Selden barked. "Tionette's the first girl I've met in months who didn't gurgle at sight of the brew."

Lee bridled. "Is 'at so! Who ever told your you was boss of this party?"

"That bird you just heard singing."

Hal Sample applauded. "Look, I suppose we hold the main bout this evening. We ought to sell out ringside the way you two are rehearsing."

"I want Mister Seldon to know he can't pull any of the high and mighty on me, even if he is a society pet," Lee mumbled.

Jock Selden gave Lee the edge of his shoulder—he was sitting beside her in the car—and devoted his attention to the scudding landscape outside the window. Not an auspicious beginning for their party.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

JAMES A. REED

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—The fact that former Senator James Reed's selection to reply in Des Moines to President Hoover's recent speech there drew fire from Republican national headquarters might be taken as a tribute to the Missourian's powers on the stump.

Whatever good was hoped for from picturing Governor Roosevelt's acceptance of Reed's support as something of a slight to the memory of Wilson, to revive memories of his anti-Hoover attitude, dating back to before the war, is to be rated good campaign strategy.

The effect of the volley from the Republican publicity organization was to suggest to readers that there would be a personal motive behind anything Reed would say at Des Moines.

Going Away Back

Reed long ago had conceived for Hoover, the committee statement said, "one of the great hates which have been the ruling passion of his life."

At that time, however, from 1917 until Mr. Hoover himself clarified his personal party alignment on the eve of the 1920 presidential campaign—he was regarded by many as a much more likely Democratic than Republican presidential nomination aspirant.

He actually received the endorsement of Michigan Democrats for the job in 1920, if memory serves.

Looked at in another way, Senator Reed might be said to have contributed greatly to making Hoover president, for all his alleged hatred. He did not do it wittingly, of course.

Who could have foreseen in 1920 when the Kenyon campaign expenditures committee met in Washington just before the Republican convention and thrust a potent finger into the Republican presidential nomination fight, that Harding of Ohio would be the next president and Hoover his commerce secretary?

That is the way it worked out, and eight years later Hoover, whose nomination in 1920 was so coldly received by the convention itself, was nominated on the first ballot at Kansas City.

Reed Dug It Up

And the man whose skillful examination of witnesses before the Kenyon committee brought out the picture of an "old-fashioned" preconvention campaign among the trio of leading rivals that year for Republican nomination honors, Wood, Johnson and Lowden, was Senator Reed.

Archer County Jail Without Prisoners

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Oct. 17.—The Archer county jail is empty. It is without prisoners for the first time in years, nor are prospects bright for increased "business" in the near future.

The 30th district court, which will convene here Nov. 7, has but two cases on its criminal docket.

However, the grand jury has several cases of burglary and theft to investigate and its findings possibly can result in the jail having at least a few tenants in a few weeks.

Prison Agent to Take W. H. Foster to Huntsville

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Oct. 17.—W. H. Foster, 70-year-old farmer convicted last year of criminal assault on a young woman employed at his home, will be taken to the Texas state penitentiary on the next trip of Bud Russell, prison agent. Foster is under a 20-year sentence.

Foster has been denied rehearings twice. The criminal court of appeals affirmed his sentence in July. A final mandate was issued last week after a motion for a new hearing had been denied.

COYOTES TO PLAY GRANDFIELD TEAM HERE FRIDAY AFTERNOON

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

They Should Keep This Up

The Coyotes have a mighty slim chance to stay in the district running, after their 6 to 0 loss to Quanah, but the boys who fought for Ted Jefferies and their school so nobly out there Saturday may be expected to make the most of that chance.

Any team that can improve so much in one week should be able to show twice that improvement in the two weeks that separate the Coyotes' game with the Vernon Lions.

A week before the Quanah game the Coyotes did not look so good in winning a 7 to 0 decision from Electra. A week before that, the team was about a class C outfit in winning from Ardmore. Between the Ardmore and Electra game the boys showed some improvement. During the week after the Electra game, the Coyotes began hitting their stride.

They are not perfect, by any means. But that bunch of boys that played against Quanah showed 100 per cent improvement over the gang that beat Electra. If the Coyotes had played Electra while in the form they displayed Saturday, the Tigers would have been smothered under a heavy score.

This writer does not think it the slightest exaggeration to say that the Coyote team on the field Saturday was the best Wichita Falls High school has had in at least three years, and maybe more than that.

We can only speak for the years we have been delegated to watch the teams. The Coyotes in 1930 and 1931 didn't know what the word fight means, compared to the manner in which these Jefferies-coached lads scrapped Saturday.

We hold to this opinion in spite of the fact the Coyotes pulled blunder after blunder in Saturday's game, and were completely smothered on the offense for the majority of the game. The distinction of being the best Coyote team here in three years can be taken to mean little, because Wichita Falls hasn't had a team worth salt in three times three years. But it is a distinctly optimistic note to watch a Coyote team coming out of the doldrums, improving steadily. We do not doubt in the least that by the end of this season Coach Ted Jefferies will have a team on the field that any city could be proud of. One reason being that Jefferies is a splendid coach. The second and not by any means the less important reason is that Jefferies has a willing bunch of fighters.

Stars Get Tough Test

Capt. Ed. Greenwood and Charlie Hard, star Coyote ends, went through the mill against Quanah. Both were great on the defense, each making fine tackles. But on the offense the powerful Quanah line gave them a good drubbing. On punts especially, both Greenwood and Hurd were boxed in regularly and never once did they get down under the kicks.

The All-District Center

Quanah has several candidates for all-district berths. Perhaps it is a little early to delve into the matter, and anyway the coaches are the ones who will make the final decision; but the performance of Barnett at center for the Indians left little doubt that this husky young fellow is at the top of the heap in the race for the honor team job.

Besides being a demon on the defense and a center who knows how to handle the ball, he is perhaps the best punter in this district. If there is a better one we would like to see him—but not in action against the Coyotes, as Barnett was Saturday.

Barnett was a distinct pain to us because he was so good. Quanah may justly be proud of that boy. Last year he was crowded off the all-district team by Monty McDannald of Electra. Even with McDannald as his opponent, Barnett received much consideration from the coaches. He is one of the best all-around football players in this neck of the woods.

More Second Guessing

Playing the role of a drug store quarterback was never much in our line. We have gone about the business of covering football games the last several seasons with considerable diligence and many bad colds. Our task has been, first, to announce who will play and when, and, the next day, to record the ensuing success or failure of the Coyotes. On occasion, a game would give us a thrill, but it rarely lasted longer than it took us to get out the second edition. But that contest Saturday had the old Rambler on the verge of manly tears. Never in our experience have we wanted a Coyote team to tie the score, or win, as much as we did Saturday. When Hawthorne was held for no gain on the fourth down when only two yards separated him from the goal stripe, the Rambler got one of the most profound blows in his whole life.

And ever since we have been figuring out ways in which Hawthorne COULD HAVE done it. If Quarterback Pierson had followed our directions, we have lofty confidence that the Coyotes would have won.

We feel, for instance, that Pierson did the wrong thing when he called for a reverse play on that fourth down. The Coyotes had two downs in which to make two yards. Pierson called a straight line buck the first time and it failed. Then on fourth down he called for the reverse. Hawthorne took his station at the right wing back position. He was to cut to his left as the ball was snapped, get the ball from the spinner player, and try to go over the right side of the Quanah line.

It was the wrong play because the entire Quanah secondary was right there backing up the line, and a reverse requires more time than was available under the circumstances. Then were on Hawthorne and had him down a split second after he received the ball from the spinner position.

Another sheet straight at the line should have been called, to our way of thinking, despite the fact it had failed just before. Hawthorne was fresh; he had just entered the game a few minutes before; he had been responsible for getting the ball down there; he should have been called upon to buck with might and main. Even if he had been smothered with tacklers, he should have been able to drag 'em two yards.

Well, I've played football now for the first time in my life. I always wanted to in high school but that crazy coach we had was so blind he couldn't see how good I was. It's good to get in there at last—even as a drug store quarterback!

More Fight Pictures

Fight fans will get another chance to see boxers in action via the screen. The Schmeling-Walker bout of a few weeks ago is to be on the bill of fare at the Majestic for three days beginning today. Fans who saw the Schmeling-Sharkey pictures here recently probably will want to compare Schmeling's showing in the two fights.

PACK RESUMES TRAINING GRIND

Rice Shifted to Backfield In Hunt for Plunger

The open date on the Wichita Falls High school Coyotes' program this week-end was filled last night when Coach Ted Jefferies and school officials closed a contract with the Grandfield, Okla., team for a game here Friday afternoon.

Temple, Okla., had been originally booked for the date but it was only a tentative proposition and Temple recently withdrew in favor of playing the Tigers at Electra Friday night.

Somewhat downcast but not dispirited over their loss to Quanah last Saturday, the Coyotes hit the dirt with vim and vigor yesterday as Pack mentors paced the squad through a heavy scrimmage session.

Rice Sent to Backfield

The immediate object of the scrimmage yesterday, and what likely will be the object of many scrimmages in the future, was a good, line plunging backfield man. Absence of such a player cost the team its defeat last Saturday.

Coach Jefferies began the shifting process immediately and made some radical changes in the lineup. The most radical of all was the shift of Charlie Rice, elongated center, to a backfield job. J. Z. Powell gave way to Dub Hawthorne at the quarterback post. Preston Thompson was given ample opportunity to show his driving ability, and it is likely he will be on the job regularly in the future. Jimmie Hill and Burns McKinney alternated at the other backfield position.

Jefferies also altered his team's system of attack following the failure of the wingback formation to function against the tough Quanah line.

Warmup for Vernon

The game with Grandfield here Friday will afford the Coyotes a good chance to get in shape for their battle with the Vernon Lions a week later. Also, it will give fans a line on the comparative strength of Wichita Falls and Vernon. The Vernon boys recently defeated Grandfield, 39 to 0.

Grandfield has always had tough football teams and this year is no exception, in the opinion of those who witnessed the Vernon-Grandfield affair. The Lions rolled up their handsome score only after putting out of commission Grandfield's star backfield threat, Creighton, around whom most of the running and all of the passing of the Sooner eleven is built.

All members of the Coyote squad were reported scholastically eligible for the Grandfield game.

School officials yesterday announced official figures on attendance and gate receipts at the Quanah-Wichita Falls game. Total attendance, it was reported, was 3,785, of which 3,429 were paid admissions.

Each school netted a profit of over $500 after all expenses had been deducted. Quanah received a net profit of $563.77 after expenses of the trip here had been deducted, and Wichita Falls received as its share a total of $506.77.

Next Monday's sweepstakes will be held at the Fort Worth Meadowbrook Country club course. Eighteen teams played in today's event.

Many Scouts to Appear Before Review Board

One of the largest Boy Scout classes assembled in recent years will appear before a board of review at the First Baptist church Tuesday night at 6 o'clock in preparation for the monthly session of the court of honor at 7:45 o'clock, according to Frank B. Creighton, scout executive.

In connection with the court of honor, Mr. Creighton will tell the story of the flag, and members of troop No. 12 will present a demonstration of the meaning of the scout laws.

Rev. Finis Crutchfield, pastor of the Floral Heights Methodist church, will preside over the court of honor. Advanced ranking and merit badges are to be conferred upon a large number of scouts.

LION RETAINS SCORING LEAD

Vernon Captain Ahead With 33 Points

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Oct. 17.—Although failing to score as Vernon won its first conference game of the season last week from Childress, H. A. Thompson, captain and brilliant halfback of the Vernon High school eleven maintained his lead in the individual scoring race in district No. 5, class A football, with 33 points, eight points more than his nearest rival, Jones of Quanah, who also failed to score as the Indians beat Wichita Falls. The reports were issued Monday through the office of W. T. Lofland, superintendent of Vernon schools and chariman of the district executive committee. The individual scoring is on the basis of season play to date, including both conference and non-conference games.

Buddy Mitchell, Quanah end, climbed from a tie for fifth place to a tie for third with Edwin Garner, diminutive Vernon back, by scoring Quanah's lone touchdown against the Coyotes Saturday. Miller of Vernon climbed into a tie for sixth by scoring against Childress and Watson of Vernon went into a tie for ninth by crossing the Childress goal line one time.

An Electra back broke into the select group of players who have scored 12 or more points by scoring twice against Henrietta in a non-conference battle. Smith, the Tiger player, is the first Electra player to reach the select group, Electra having failed to score until the past week-end.

The individual scoring record:

Player—Team	TD	PAT	SA	TP
Thompson, Vernon	5	3	0	33
Jones, Quanah	4	1	0	25
Garner, Vernon	4	0	0	24

BIG BASEBALL DEAL REPORTED

Trade Involving Four Clubs Rumored

BOSTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Evening American says one of the largest trades in the history of organized baseball, involving the Boston Braves and three other National league clubs and seven players, was near consummation today. The players involved were valued at approximately $500,000 the newspaper said.

Besides the Braves, The American says, the other clubs are the New York Giants, the Chicago Cubs and the Cincinnati Reds. The players include Wally Berger of the Braves, Freddy Lindstrom and Frank Hogan of the Giants, Babe Herman of the Reds and Pat Malone, Kiki Cuyler and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs.

Berger, a slugging outfielder, will land with the Giants eventually, The American says, while in return the Braves are to get Cuyler, also an outfielder and Hartnett, the Cubs' star catcher.

The trade, as described by The American, would send Lindstrom and Hogan to the Cubs in exchange for Malone, Cuyler and Hartnett. Cuyler and Hartnett then would be transferred to the Braves in exchange for Berger. Malone would go from the Giants to the Reds in exchange for Babe Herman.

The newspaper said the trade was understood to have originated with Billy Terry, manager of the Giants.

CLUB HEADS DENY TRADE IS PENDING

BOSTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—Published reports of an impending baseball deal involving four National league clubs and seven players valued at approximately $500,000 tonight brought denials from Charles F. Adams, vice president of the Boston Braves, and William L. Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs.

Adams, when informed of the report, told the Associated Press the Braves wished to strengthen their roster, but no deals so far had advanced beyond the talking stages.

He said President Fuchs and Manager McKechnie were traveling in search of new material, and observed it was "hard enough" to make a deal involving "two clubs, without drawing in half the league."

Veeck said his club had not talked with any one in regard to getting rid of any of his three players mentioned. He said he had no idea of letting any one else have Hartnett, Malone or Cuyler.

LONGHORNS GET SET FOR OWLS

Team Bruised Up After Sooner Game

AUSTIN, Oct. 17. (AP)—Suffering with slight bruises, received in their contest with the Oklahoma university Sooners at Dallas Saturday, when they emerged on the long end of a 17 to 10 score, the University of Texas Longhorns settled down to preparations for their opening conference game of the season with the Rice Owls at Houston next Saturday.

Coach Clyde Littlefield announced today that the Steers would not engage in scrimmage this week but would polish off the rough spots exposed in their tilt with the Sooners. Outstanding among those faults, were a weak forward pass defense, lack of precision and a tendency to fumble at critical moments, the Steer coach said.

"If my team plays the same type of game against the Owls next Saturday as it played against the Sooners, it will be defeated," Coach Littlefield said, adding that he regarded the Owls as a much more dangerous aggregation than the Oklahomans.

It is the opinion among local Longhorn supporters here that should Texas succeed in defeating the Owls, it should win the Southwest conference championship.

AGGIS SCRIMMAGE WITH FRESHMEN

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Texas Aggies scrimmaged with a freshman team today in preparation for the Baylor game at Waco Saturday. All players were reported in good condition after their 17-0 defeat by Texas Christian university last Saturday.

ARKANSAS SQUAD FREE OF INJURIES

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 17. (AP)—Home from Little Rock, where the defeated Baylor Saturday, the Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas worked on blocking and tackling today under direction of Coaches Thomsen and Bassett.

For the first time since the football season opened, the Porker squad reported today with no injuries. Jordan, quarterback; Johnson, end, and Stout, tackle, all regulars, worked out again after recovering from injuries suffered early in the season.

LaForge, Biddle and Jordan were expected to carry Arkansas' main attack against Louisiana state at Shreveport Saturday.

OWLS GO BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS

HOUSTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Rice Owls, pointing for their game of games, next Saturday's engagement here with the University of Texas, went back to drill on fundamentals today.

Coach Jack Meagher is prepared to "shoot the works" against Texas and hopes to be able to put upon the field the finest eleven from his squad of 44 players.

Kelly Scott, star back, Lou Hassell and Fay Lagow, two of his best bets in the line, will be back in the lineup and the team, all observers agreed, would be stronger than any Meagher has sent out to do battle this season.

The Owls' 14-7 victory over Loyola of New Orleans last Saturday was not impressive, but it was due in large measure to the fact Meagher took no chances of having the stars hurt.

BRUINS POINT FOR AGGIE CONTEST

WACO, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP)—The Baylor university Bears were back at practice today after their disappointing trip Saturday to Little Rock, where they lost to the University of Arkansas gridmen, 21 to 6.

Baylor's passing game was negligible, because of a wet field, and its running attack was helpless against the Razorbacks. The Bruins, however, returned home with hopes of defeating the Texas Aggies here next Saturday. A. & M. also had a disappointing brush Saturday with the Texas Christian university Frogs of Fort Worth, losing 17 to 0.

Like Baylor, the Farmers do not have "it" this season. The A. & M. line is weak, and although the Farmer backfield is little better than the Baylor backfield, Baylor does not have two backfield stars the equals of Clifford Domingue and Ted Spender.

The game next Saturday will be home-coming day and for that reason, Baylor fans have hopes of seeing the Bears victorious.

FROG REGULARS TAKE IT EASY

FORT WORTH, Oct. 17. (AP)—After watching the reserves pass their way to a pair of touchdowns in quick time in a scrimmage with the freshmen this afternoon, Coach Francis A. Schmidt put the Horned Frog regulars through a light drill. Joe Coleman heaved passes to Jewell Wallace for both of the touchdowns and a 14 to 0 victory.

Only one Frog regular, Foster Howell was unable to participate in this afternoon's workout. The 200-pound tackle received an injured wrist in the A. & M. game and was not in uniform. Although the injury may keep Howell out of this week's game with Austin college he will be ready for the Frogs' next conference game, which is with the Baylor Bears here Oct. 29.

Metcalfe is expected to name Pat Page, above, former coach at Indiana and Stagg's present assistant, as head football coach.

PONIES MEET GENTS NEXT

Centenary Expected to Be Rough on Methodists

DALLAS, Oct. 17. (AP)—Coach Morrison and his Southern Methodist university Mustangs, conquerers of Syracuse university on the latter's gridiron Saturday, will return to Dallas tomorrow.

The Ponies, reported to be in fighting trim with the exception of Whitey Baocus, who re-injured a knee in the Syracuse game, left New York City last night and St. Louis at 6:30 p. m. today.

Given hope by their first victory of the current season and their success in upholding their reputation as the Southwest's leading foreign campaigners, the Methodists will get back to work Wednesday afternoon in preparation for their important clash here Saturday night with the Cententary college Gentlemen of Shreveport, a contest that probably will put the Morrismen to a thorough test.

The Gents boast one of their strongest teams in years. In their first four games they have beaten the Henderson Teachers 41-0, the University of Texas 13-6, Louisiana Normal 41-7, and the University of Mississippi, 13-6.

The Shreveporters would rate giving the Ponies trouble under any conditions and particularly so under the arc lights, because of the Dallas teams aversion to night play.

Lake Park Drive Home Damaged $2,500 in Fire

Damage estimated at $2,500 resulted from a blaze at the home of H. B. Roblin, 3512 Lake Park drive at 9:55 o'clock Monday morning, fire department officials reported. The flames ignited in an attic storeroom and swept through the residence. Members of the Roblin family were out of town. Units of the fire department used 1,000 feet of hose in controlling the blaze. The house was owned by Miss Mabel Garrison, 1635 Pearl.

A unit of the department answered an alarm to control a prairie fire two miles west of City View at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon. The department also extinguished grass fires at 1800 Wilson and at Seymour road and Santa Fe street at noon Monday.

TURNEY GETS BROKEN ARM

Sub for Nicklas Hurt As Herd Beats Bellevue

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, Oct. 17.—The football fates apparently have decreed that if the Graham High school Steers are to win the district class B championship they must not only face rival football teams, but conquer a pernicious injury jinx.

Last Friday afternoon when Graham defeated Bridgeport here in a conference game, "Blackie" Nicklas, triple threat quarterback, broke his leg. Today, as the Steers rolled up a 38 to 0 count over Bellevue in another conference game, Roland Turney, crack halfback who took Nicklas' place when the latter was injured, suffered a broken left arm.

Hurt Late in Game

Nicklas sustained his broken leg in the first minute of play in the Bridgeport game. Today Turney got his injury in the last three minutes of play.

The Steers up until the very last had employed only second and third string men to roll up an overwhelming score against Bellevue. With but three minutes to go, Coach Knieff sent nine regulars in to relieve the substitutes of the toil. Turney was one of the regulars to go in. And on the third play thereafter while carrying the ball he was tackled and fell with his left arm oustretched. The fracture will keep him from the game the remainder of the season.

With both Nicklas and Turney gone, the Steers have one more field general to call upon. He is Whatley, who before injuries started taking their toll on the squad, paired with Turney at a regular halfback post. Whatley will be shifted to quarterback for Graham's conference game with Decatur here Friday afternoon.

The Steer squad found Bellevue easy today. In the first quarter Knight intercepted a Bellevue pass. The team made two first downs in a row to get the ball in scoring position and Whatley lugged it over. In the second quarter Bullock intercepted a Bellevue pass and after the Steers had made two first downs Whatley got off for a 45-yard run for the second touchdown.

Triple Passes Good

The Steers scored three times in the third quarter. Two of them were made via triple passes, Whatley to Hayes to Stevens. The first was good for 30 yards and a touch down and the second for 21 yards and a touchdown. The third score was made by John Wheeler, who snagged a 10-yard pass from Paggett and looped the remaining 32 yards to the goal stripe.

Passes accounted for the final tally in the fourth period. A triple pass, Jack Wheeler to John Wheeler to Thomas Cook, was good for 15 yards and a first down 20 yards away, and a heave, Jack Wheeler to Hayes, ate up the remaining distance and ended the scoring.

POWER BOARD'S RIGHTS UPHELD

Supreme Court Decision Backs Commission

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—The supreme court today upheld the right of the Federal Power commission to determine the cost of hydro-electric power plants built under federal license and cleared its docket of scores of cases accumulated during the summer.

The court's far reaching decision on the authority of the power commission, was rendered when it refused to review the appeal of the Clarion River Power company from lower court decisions upholding the commission's right to value the company.

In other cases, the court agreed to review litigation involving the validity of a tariff change under the flexible provision of the law, but refused to consider cases questioning the legality of the flexible law itself. It agreed to review a suit covering the legality of state regulation of motor vehicles operating under private contract.

An echo of the old Teapot Dome litigation was heard when the court refused to decide whether H. Leslie Parker of Wyoming was entitled to any share in the profits of Harry F. Sinclair in the sale of stock of the Mammoth Oil company, which he organized to operate the Teapot Dome lease.

The court announced it would take an adjournment from Oct. 24 to Nov. 7.

Railroad Dispute Argument Is Set

AUSTIN, Oct. 17. (AP)—Arguments will be heard before the Interstate Commerce commission in Washington next Monday on the application of the Kansas City Southern to lease all the property of the Texarkana and Fort Smith railway and acquire full control of its offices and lines.

The case involves removal of the offices of the Texarkana and Fort Smith railway from Texas to some city outside the state. It was contended by the state that removal of the offices would be a violation of a Texas law requiring railroads operating in Texas to maintain general offices within the state.

Elbert Hooper, assistant attorney general, who will represent the state, said the commission's examiner found in favor of the state and that the arguments before the commission would center on exceptions of the Kansas City Southern to the examiner's findings. Hooper said the state would contend that the Interstate Commerce commission had no authority to grant the railway permission to remove the general offices in defiance of the state law.

Supreme Court to Pass On Stock Employes Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17. (AP)—The supreme court today consented to pass on the jurisdiction of the federal courts in New York state to decide the validity of a "stock employes' plan" of the American Tobacco company, under which 312,968 shares of its common stock B was set aside for sale to employes at $25 a share when it was claimed the stock had a market value of $112 a share.

Suits brought by Richard Reid Rogers to set aside the plan resulted in the federal district court for southern New York, holding that as the tobacco company was a New Jersey corporation, the controversy should be tried in that state because its decision required a construction of the laws of that state. The second circuit court of appeals took the same view.

BANDIT ROBS SHOP OF $500

Hard Boiled Hijacker Sets Up Objection to Silver

Special to The Record News.

SHAMROCK, Texas, Oct. 17.—A bandit robbed the Perry Bros. five and 10 cent store of $500 here this morning as the manager, C. A. Newberry, was opening the establishment for business.

The gunman, a tall man in cap and overall jumper, followed Newberry into the store at 7 o'clock. He forced the manager to the rear of the store where Newberry was ordered to open the safe.

He escaped through the rear of the store as a woman customer entered the front.

Newberry said the bandit scorned checks in the safe and was angered by the large amount of silver.

Authorities here believed the man escaped in an automobile, although he was not seen to do so. Only a meager description of the gunman could be given.

It was believed the bandit was the same man who bought a suit at a clothing store here a few minutes after the robbery of Perry Bros.

EAST TEXAS BANK ROBBED OF $3,800

OMAHA, Texas, Oct. 17. (AP)—Two robbers who looted the State bank of Omaha of $3,878, at noon, were believed trapped late today 15 miles northwest of Omaha, in Morris county, while Sheriff J. B. Ponder held a man and woman believed to be confederates of the robbers.

The automobile used by the holdup men was found abandoned north of Cooper's Chapel by a posse of officers. The two men apparently had dashed into nearby woods after dividing the money. Several currency bills were found where they had been dropped at the edge of the wooded area.

Officers arrested the man and woman believed implicated in the robbery as they drove along in an automobile, about a mile from the spot where the robbers' machine was found. The two were taken to Mount Pleasant and lodged in the Titus county jail.

Oklahoma To Build 10 Miles Of Road From Randlett To Red River Bridge

Special to The Record News.

WALTERS, Okla., Oct. 17.—Ten miles of highway from Deep Red creek to the Red river free bridge at Burkburnett will be constructed under plans recently announced by the highway commission. Bids have been asked from contractors by the commission, and will be received at Oklahoma City Oct. 25, and the contract awarded.

Work on the project, extending from Randlett to the free bridge, will begin shortly after the right of way is secured, it was announced.

The project is a part of federal aid received by Oklahoma, and involves highways 70 and 277.

Right of way controversies are expected to delay the start of construction.

State highway workers now are claying and graveling the highway leading from the bridge to Randlett, but will be withdrawn to work graveling three miles of road on highway 36, from Texas Hall's corner to a point where 36 intersects with the newly designated highway 277.

Other road work to be started soon is the graveling of state highway 5, between West Cache corner and highway 36, in Tillman county.

Plans have been made for the completion of highway 32, between Temple and Hastings. This project probably will be advertised this month, according to A. Montgomery, district engineer.

Baritone to Open Series Of Concerts Tuesday

Dramatic interpretations which bring the characters of a song vividly to life will comprise the song programs to be given on Tuesday and Wednesday in local high schools by John Valentine, baritone, and Marshall Elder, pianist, under the auspices of the public school music department.

Marked dramatic ability combined with a well trained voice of thrilling natural timbre explain the popularity of the Valentine programs throughout this and other countries. Groups of songs to be given will offer effective variety. Sea songs, songs of the range, and negro songs are prominent on the entertainment to be offered by Mr. Valentine.

Two concerts are scheduled for Tuesday. At 9:30 a. m. Mr. Valentime will sing at Wichita Junior college, and at 10:45 a. m. at the Zundelowitz Junior high school. On Wednesday morning at 10:45 o'clock he will present his concert at the Reagan Junior high school. The second program Wednesday, and the closing one of the series here, will be given at 3:30 p. m. at the Junior college auditorium, and is for the public as well as for elementary school pupils.

Two Convicts Shot In Ontario Battle

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 17. (UP)—An attempted break for freedom by some of the 900 convicts in Portsmouth penitentiary late today resulted in the shooting of two convicts and the calling out of the local garrison of the Royal Canadian artillery.

The troops were on guard about the prison walls tonight, although the disturbance in the prison was reported to have been quieted.

Prison officials would make no official comment on the escape attempt, but it was learned that the trouble started about 4 p. m. in the blacksmith shop of the prison.

Child Wife, Bought With Mule Team, Shot In Leg By Second Ardent Lover

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., Oct. 17. (AP)—Louise Green, 16, who ran away from her 45-year-old husband three years ago claiming her father had swapped her to him for a mule team, was shot and wounded here today by William Perrigo, 23.

Perrigo surrendered and was ordered held to await the outcome of the girl's wounds. Her right leg was struck by a load from a shotgun. At the hospital here it was said it would have to be amputated.

Perrigo said he would marry the girl, even if she was crippled, if he did not have to go to prison for the shooting. Police quoted him as saying he shot her "because I loved her and did so because I wanted to and I don't care if I get 99 years." He was said to have become angry because the girl refused to come to his home today.

Louise was only 13 when she was married to Ed Green. She soon ran away from him and litigation over the mules and wagon and harness followed. Meantime several fights in which brickbats, stones and at times pistols were used took place between members of the Green and Gibbs families. She is the daughter of Henry Gibbs. Perrigo came here from Dover, Tenn.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (AP)—Cotton was generally lower today under some southern selling and liquidation promoted by the easier tone of the stock market.

December contracts sold off to 6.25 and closed at that figure, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 15 to 17 points.

The opening was 3 to 5 points lower under southern selling. Prices worked gradually lower, reaching the bottom in the late trading. March sold off to 6.40 and while a little more trade demand was in evidence on the decline to 6.25 for December closing quotations were at, or within a point of the lowest.

Sales in the spot markets officially reporting on Saturday amounted to $2,490 bales compared with 64,860 the previous day.

Much of the southern selling seemed to come from the Southwest where the weather was clear. The heavy rains reported east of the Mississippi river were expected to cause further delay in picking and the movement.

According to the final revised figures of the New York cotton exchange service world's cotton production of all growths last season was 26,535,000 bales and world's consumption 22,974,000, including a small amount destroyed, with a carry-over of 17,575,000 bales at the end of last July compared with 13,946,000 last year. These figures gave foreign growths in bales of 478 pounds.

Liverpool reported that liquidation and hedging had been absorbed by trade calling in that market.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 17. (AP)—Cotton was comparatively quiet today and the price trend was downward with only a few slight rallies. Under the influence of hedge selling and weakness in stocks, the close showed net declines for the day of 15 to 17 points.

The market opened easy although Liverpool cables came in about as due to 1 penny point better than due. Private cables said there was liquidation and hedge selling offset by trade calling. Manchester cabled feeling was more optimistic over the labor situation, with improved cloth sales to Africa and the continent. First trades here showed losses of 5 to 8 points despite the cables and the market continued to ease off after the opening largely on rather liberal hedge selling and absence of buying support. The detailed weather reports showed very heavy rains all over the eastern belt but the market made no response.

Before noon December had dropped to 6.28, January to 6.32, and March to 6.43, down 12 to 13 points from the previous close. Around noon there was a slight rally of 1 to 2 points on covering, but the market again turned easy in sympathy with stocks, helped by hedge selling which such trade demand as developed was insufficient to promptly absorb. Prices made new lows for the day right at the end with December at 6.25 and March at 6.38. The close was at the botto, December showing a net decline for the day of 15 points and March 17 points.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 4 penny points down.

Port receipts 42,215, for week 83,616, for season 2,196,102, last season 2,647,043. Exports 17,190, for week 43,064, for season 1,595,680, last season 1,123,087. Port stock 3,854,793, last year 4,148,342. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston, 151,210, last year 152,819. Spot sales at southern markets 72,508, last year 62,879.

Futures closed steady at net declines of 15 to 17 points.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 17. (INS)—Good business was done in spot cotton at the opening today with prices easier. Receipts totaled 2,000 bales, none American.

At midday, middling fair was quoted at 6.62; strictly good middling, 6.17; good middling, 5.92d; strictly middling, 5.67d, middling, 5.47d, strictly low middling, 5.37d, low middling, 5.22d, strictly good ordinary, 5.02d, and good ordinary, 4.72d.

Futures opened steady, with Oct. at 5.19d; Jan., 5.15d, March, 5.16d; May, 5.17d;, and July, 5.19d.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Oct. 17. (AP)—Cotton was heavy and slow today and the close on the board of trade was 15 to 20 points net lower and at the bottom for the day. The opening was 6 to 7 points down on weakness at New York and New Orleans. Cables were about four points better than expected but were ignored. Economic and political uncertainty held back buyers and while hedge selling was comparatively light, it was more than enough to offset the slow demand. It is expected that the peak of the crop movement will have been reached and passed within the next two weeks.

Stock Prices Fall Off As Trading Declines Below Million-Share Mark

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 17. (US)—Under extreme dullness, stocks today slipped fractionally lower. Bonds maintained their previous levels though here, too, trading was the quietest in months. Stock trading fell below a million shares.

Commodities were inclined toward lower price levels. Corn options went to the lowest levels of the season, wheat held relatively firm, and cotton descended closer to the record low, July cotton approaching within 22 points of the extreme low.

At the session's bottom of 6.56 cents per pound, this option compared with a low of 6.34 recently, and with the peak of 10 cents. Lacking any incentive whatever, the share market merely drifted all day long.

Absence of a short account was noticeable in the softness of quotations, yet it was equally apparent there was no great pressure of offerings. Election odds were reported 2½ to 1 in favor of the Democratic nominee.

Some of the better-known bear speculators were reported to have sizable short commitments, but it is very evident that even these big bears are operating on a relatively modest scale. Some of them have been very unfortunate in their near-term speculations and those who have retained their winnings are in no mood to become over-extended at this stage of the depression.

In fact some of the former aggressive bears have been virtually out of the market for months; not a few have been trying to catch turns on the bull side. This is so with one of the former most outspoken bears, whose control extends into several investment companies.

It was difficult to glean any significance from the apathetic market. The railroad shares, to which the bulls had looked for additional leadership, failed to provide any such forecasts, selling off about as much as the industrials, on the average.

A few stocks associated with prohibition repeal prospects were inclined toward greater activity, and the local traction shares were stimulated by the latest developments concerning New York City finances, especially the prospects for reduction in annual expenditures of the city.

Brooklyn-Manhattan was an early favorite, finally yielding part of its gain with the general reaction. Oil shares were firm, although without any untoward activity.

A feature which probably will occasion comment was the unusual percentage of rail shares among the most active group of the day. Six railway issues were included in the 15 leaders, Delaware-Lackawanna, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Atchison and Union Pacific. Chief buying of Canadian Pacific recently has come from London, where the issue is well known and a favorite among the rails. Union Pacific's setback was a disappointment to those who lean heavily upon European sentiment.

Union is a particular favorite of European speculators and investors in American rails and it is claimed that when any substantial buying develops from abroad Union Pacific is almost certain to be among the first benefited. Among the leaders, United Aircraft slipped off 1¼, Steel common 1⅜, Telephone 2½c, Radio ⅝ and corresponding losses were scored in all other most active shares.

Several pool operators questioned the advisability of attempting any activity in their pets under prevailing circumstances. The tendency is growing to delay bullish demonstrations "until after election." This is quite a shift from the former policy of attempting to capitalize everything "before election," but then Wall street speculative sentiment shifts very rapidly and violently.

There is a disposition toward viewing the election with greater equanimity, as if assuming that the economic problems still requiring solution will be present regardless of the election outcome. The dominant factor at the moment, just as it is virtually at all times marketwise, is earning power. There is more disposition to await the third quarter income statements as a market factor than the outcome of the election.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 17. (AP)—Prospective reentry of the United States into world wheat markets on a competitive basis helped to steady grain values late today.

Rallies developed after wheat had fallen to within ¼ cent of the season's low price record, and corn December contracts were down to the bottommost point since 1897. Authoritative trade statements said it was the first time in almost two years wheat had been on the verge of a competitive export basis.

Wheat closed irregular ¼c off to ¼c up compared with Saturday's finish, corn at ¼c decline to a shade advance, oats unchanged to ⅛c higher and provisions varying from 15 cents setback to a rise of 2 cents.

Contributing to the late recovery of wheat values here was the fact that more attention was being paid to drouth conditions in domestic winter crop territory West and Southwest. Reports both from Nebraska and Kansas were more disquieting and it was predicted acreage would be reduced materially unless rains came within the next week. There were also advices from Northern Alberta, Canada, that the quality of unthreshed wheat had been hurt by rain, sleet and snow. Decrease of 1,760,000 bushels in the amount of wheat on ocean passage was construed as bullish and so too was notice taken that owing to a steady advance in the Canadian exchange rates, Winnipeg December wheat contracts were now closer to Chicago than for some time. On the other hand, wheat prices here were bearishly affected at intervals by relative heaviness of securities, and by word that Argentine and Australia crops were making favorable progress. There was a decided improvement shown in Domestic milling demand for wheat.

Commission house buying developed in corn when wheat rallied. An opposite factor was that the corn visible supply showed the largest October total in 35 years except 1927. Oats shipping demand was better.

Packers selling eased the provisions market.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, Dec. 47⅝@⅝, 48⅝@⅝; May 53@53¼, 54¼; July 55⅝, offers. Corn, Dec. 25⅝, 26@26¼; May 30⅝@⅝; 30⅞@31; July 32⅛, 32⅛.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 17. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Estimated receipts of 115,400 cattle at 11 markets exceeded by about 16,000 the arrivals of last Monday, but were about 16,000 short of the same day a year ago. In some cases medium weight and heavy steers took the full 50c decline. Chicago secured $9.50 on 1,260-pound steers and sold several loads of choice quality bullocks at $9@9.40, but elsewhere top prices ranged largely at $8.25 and down. Majority of fed steers and yearlings were of quality to sell in a spread of $5@7.00. A few plain western grass steers brought around $3@3.65. Stockers and feeders made up a sizeable portion of the run at various points and sold at steady to weak levels. Most replacement steers turned at $3.25@5.25 with a few loads of yearling stockers at $5.75@6.00. Better grade stock steers brought $5.75@6.25 with some choice 427-pound weights in Omaha up to $7.50.

As compared with Friday's average business hogs cleared on a steady to 10c lower basis with a top in Chicago of $3.90.

The initial session in the lamb department found values working on a weak to mostly 25c lower basis as compared with the close of last week. Majority of better grade fat natives and rangers brought $4.50@5.25 with a few closely sorted natives in Chicago at $5.50@5.75. It's Folly to Sell Stock Now

Here's the Feeding Plan Cattle Men Have Dreamed Of

Don't accept present ruinous prices for your grass fat and feeder cattle without investigating the new Bowles plan of Contract Share Feeding. Prices at 25 per cent to 100 per cent higher for corn fed stock are almost a certainty for 1933. See how easy it is to hold your stock for this rise and see how soundly Bowles National Supervision assures you of getting the maximum profit.

Never before has there been an organization like Bowles National. We have obtained as our exclusive Supervisors most of the nationally known feeders in the entire Corn Belt, such men as: JOHN HUBLY, ED HALL, ENE TOLAN, BILL FRAZIER, WAYLAND HOPLEY, and HENRY HORTENSTINE—all famous International and Royal Live Stock Exposition show feeders.

Other Bowles National Supervisors include the largest, and most successful feeders in the Corn Belt states, such men as: O. M. (Bean) Lyons, McKenna Brothers, Ralph McElrath, Leslie Lemon, Julius Peterson, Stanley R. Pierce and many others.

In the Bowles Plan there is only one charge—half of which is deferred until the stock is sold—40c per cwt. for cattle. The Bowles Plan with the most expert feeding supervision in the world actually costs less than many other plans offered you, and "the BEST is the CHEAPEST in the end." The entire freight bill also may be deferred.

Get the full details. See why banks are willing to cooperate with stock men under this amazing plan. Write or wire today.

Wichita Falls warmed up Monday for the third day of Indian summer weather with the temperature reaching a maximum of 90 degrees during the afternoon. Cool temperatures for the past month definitely heralded the fall season.

A minimum temperature of 55 degrees was registered Monday morning and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon the mercury had dropped to 86 degrees. Creomulsion is powerful in the treatment of all colds and coughs no matter how long standing, yet it is absolutely harmless and is pleasant and easy to take.

Your own druggist guarantees Creomulsion by refunding your money if you are not relieved after taking Creomulsion as directed. Beware the cough or cold that hangs on. Always keep Creomulsion on hand for instant use. (adv.)

186,000 Cans of Home Food in Storage Here

Work of women's home demonstration clubs, 4-H clubs, and other organizations for rural residents of the county was discussed before members of the Kiwanis club Monday noon by Miss Ethel Luise Webb, county home demonstration agent.

Miss Webb praised the character building organizations for farm boys and girls. Residents of the rural section have learned to prepare for adversities, the speaker said, and declared that all pantries now are filled to the brim with canned foods for the winter.

"With 11 women's organizations in Wichita county," she continued, "there are 186,000 cans of home-canned food. When we make a check of all such organizations in the county, we'll have a larger total than that."

Mrs. L. R. Gardner of Wichita Falls offered two vocal selections, "Homing" and "Thanks Be to God," as the musical program of the meeting. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. H. Maheffey. Dr. O. W. Wilson was program chairman.

Wichita Area Responds To Demo Plea

$500,000 Needed By Party At Once

Local organizations in the Roosevelt-Garner medallion campaign are getting under way an intensive drive throughout the entire 13th congressional district, according to information received at the local Democratic headquarters Monday.

Simultaneous with a message from Democratic national headquarters announcing a present need for $500,000 in the Roosevelt-Garner campaign, reports of increasing returns throughout this area were received.

Reports of a medallion sale of increasing momentum were sent from Bowie for Montague county by Frank Moss, county Democratic chairman, and Mrs. W. R. Potter, who are in charge in that vicinity. They are to conduct a workers' rally at Bowie Tuesday night, and will launch a more intensive county-wide drive Wednesday.

From Nocona, Mrs. Cad McCall reported a heavy sale of medallions. W. L. Scott of St. Jo and C. C. Bock of Petrolia, chairmen in those areas, sent in similar reports.

The medallion drive got under way in Archer county Monday with Miss Mocy Wilson, Mrs. E. H. Trigg, and Judge Harold Dycus having been appointed by Judge J. S. Melugin to conduct the drive there.

E. G. Thornton and W. C. Harrell are in charge of the campaign at Olney and Newcastle, with impressive results in both communities. Wichita Falls continued Monday to subscribe heavily to the Roosevelt-Garner fund.

CITY MANAGER CUTS EXPENSES

Payments for September Lowest in Years

Expenditures of the city for governmental operations have shown a gradual decline during the past three years, and have dropped consistently during the past three months, according to figures announced Monday by City Manager V. R. Smitham.

Governmental costs for the month of September were $32,953.99, it was shown, a cut of several hundred dollars below the recording-breaking minimum of $33,000 set in July. That schedule of disbursements includes all of the city's outlay of funds except that for the interest and principal of bonded indebtedness.

Expenditures in this group of governmental activities since the fiscal year began on April 1 have been $301,751.88. For the same corresponding period last year, the total was $390,488.49. September, 1931, expenditures were $42,046.93, almost $10,000 greater than in the past month.

While October, November and December are the lowest months of the year for revenue, Mr. Smitham said, the city's revenue during September was $29,307.49.

THE INDIAN RAID

"Nature in the Raw"—as portrayed by the celebrated artist, Fred Madan . . . inspired by that wild, bloody scramble of covered wagons in the Colorado Gold Rush (1858), as described in the National Geographic Magazine. "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes.

Copr., 1932, The American Tobacco Co.

No raw tobaccos in Luckies —that's why they're so mild

WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.
